Federal Dispute Reaches Showdown

Old Man Prohibition Is Boxed In A Coffin After Long Fight For Life

With a tug and a hoist and a boost, girls of the Art Students League in New York prepared Old Man Prohibition for burial. Bunny Swanson (left), representing the spirit of repeal, draws him toward his coffin preceding the funeral procession up Fifth avenue.

Child's Stocking To Be Missing As Santa Claus Visits; Taken By Death

Lad Drinks Invisible Ink; Death Follows Short Time Later

LITTLE Reade Wendell Barber's stocking will not hang beside those of his four older brothers on Christmas eve.

Death, caused by drinking a solution of "invisible ink" with which the brothers were playing, claimed the 3-year-old brown-eyed, fair-headed lad at 7:10 o'clock last night at Idalou.

Carried To Physician

The child drank the solution, principal compound of which was cobaltous chloride, at about 6 o'clock at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Barber, a mile west of Becton. Russell Smith, Becton school teacher, and Mrs. C. R. Lail carried Reade Wendell and his mother to an Idalou physician.

"I went right through Idalou and didn't know it," the father said brokenly.

He was returning from Lubbock. He learned of the tragedy after his son died.

Antidotes Administered

The solution of cobaltous chloride may have looked like grape juice to Reade Wendell. There had been grape juice in the home only a "few days ago," and the boy liked it.

The Idalou physician administered antidotes, and it seemed the child was not in a critical condition. Once, he sat up and said, "Want to go home." Five minutes later he died.

The chemical, when used as an ink, is invisible under normal conditions. When the paper is heated, the writing becomes a bright blue.

Got It Through Ad

The "invisible ink" had been at the Barber home for perhaps six weeks.

"I didn't know it was poisonous,

Lubbock Parents Urged To Send Their Kiddies To Big Lions Club Matinee Friday

Well-to-do parents of Lubbock are urged by the Lions club to send their children to the special 'toy matinee' at the Palace theater this afternoon between the hours of 4 and 5.

Any youngster under 12 years of age will be admitted to the show in exchange for a substantial toy. Playthings thus received will be painted and put into tip-top order by Lubbock firemen and will go on the Lions' Christmas tree for underprivileged children just prior to the Yule holiday.

The Palace offerings for tomorrow's matinee is Buck Jones in "The Thrill Hunter", and "Tarzan".

Stop Warning Is Given By Police

Lubbock police yesterday again emphasized that "stop" on a traffic sign meant "stop!"

"Whether the driver is going straight ahead or turning to the right, he must stop at a stop-sign," Police Chief Wiley L. Metcalfe said.

Several persons have been fined this week for failure to comply with the signs.

"If the motorist gets tagged for over-running one of these signs, he can blame no one except himself," the chief said.

Cars, making a right turn on a red signal, also must be halted before the turn is made.

PROBE DROPPED

DEL RIO, Dec. 7. (AP)—Investigation of the death of Mrs. J. N. Wilkerson, 59, in a hospital here Sunday from burns was dropped today. Her husband, who said their home was in Oklahoma City, told the sheriff's department that his wife's dress caught fire from a camp fire.

SENATOR MARRIES

Austin Child Dies Of Burns Received In Blaze At Home

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—Four-year-old Harry Wilson, jr., died today of burns received when his parents' home was destroyed after an attempt to use kerosene to start a stove fire.

The child's father was in a serious condition. The mother, less seriously burned, lapsed into unconsciousness when informed the burns had proved fatal to her son.

Fair Weather Forecast For Today; Colder At Nightfall

Today and Saturday are forecast to be fair, although tonight is scheduled to be slightly colder.

The mercury dropped to 26 degrees at Lubbock Municipal airport early yesterday morning, as compared with a low reading of 18 there Wednesday morning.

Plan To Stabilize Gasoline Prices Is Reported Reached

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Divergent interests in the oil industry agreed today on a plan to stabilize gasoline prices by removing distress supplies from the market and Secretary Ickes, oil administrator, indicated he would look with favor on such a proposal as a possible substitute for price fixing.

The secretary announced after a visit to the White House that the conflicting factions had prepared a new oil plan for him, but he declined to discuss it pending further analysis. No announcement of whether Ickes would approve was expected until tomorrow or Saturday.

Federal Criminal Docket To Be Called Here On Thursday

Judge James C. Wilson of Fort Worth has informed Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy United States district clerk, that the criminal docket will be called here next Thursday. A jury has been ordered to report at that time.

Equity cases have been set for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and law cases for Dec. 18, 19 and 20.

De Valera Claims Ireland Is Threatened

Fears England Would Employ Force Of Arms

"Irish Mussolini" Says That But For This Threat Irish People Would Be Free Within Next 24 Hours

Must Avoid War

Insistent Demands Being Made By Followers For Establishment Of Republic; British Avoid The Issue

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Copyright, 1933, by The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 7. — Eamon De Valera, steel fisted president of the Irish Free State, today declared in a cable to the Associated Press that England is keeping Ireland within the British commonwealth by threatening to employ force of arms.

The "Irish Mussolini" asserted that but for this threat the Irish people would be free within twenty-four hours.

No Real Friendship

"While relations between the two countries rest on the basis of force," continued De Valera, "there can be no real understanding, no real friendship between us and the British people.

"For 750 years Ireland has striven to win back her independence. She will not cease now."

The president's message was in answer to a request that he declare his position in view of England's latest refusal to discuss the age old question of Irish independence.

Republic Demanded

This issue, which neither diplomacy nor the boggy battlefields of Ireland have solver, cropped up the other day. It came to the fore again, partly because of the insistent demands of many of De Valera's followers that he establish a republic forthwith.

The president once more demanded that the British government make an unequivocal declaration as to whether it would resort to force of arms if the Irish people declared their absolute independence. He has long tried unsuccessfully to get an answer to this query. His fresh effort met with no better result, Downing street declining to discuss what was described as a hypothetical queston. At this juncture the Associated Press asked De Valera for a statement of policy.

No Uncertain Terms

In response, this history-making ex-college professor, whose dominating personality has carried him to well-nigh dictatorial leadership via the bloody route of revolution, departed from his taciturnity towards the press. He cabled his answer in

Leniency Will Be Offered To Pro Violators

Government Busy Aiding Flow Of Legal Liquor And Halting That Of Bootleg; Dry States Offer Problem

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The government busied itself today in aiding the flow of legal liquor and halting that of the bootleg product.

While the treasury department, the federal alcohol control administration and the agricultural department worked to clear the way for domestic production and foreign importation, the justice department was laying down a policy for the future.

Attitude Mellowed

Attorney General Cummings disclosed that repeal had mellowed the attitude of the government toward some of the prohibition offenders. The general attitude of his department toward first offenders, said Cummings "will be one of extreme leniency" if the previous character of the offender has been good.

Cummings foresaw a problem in attempting to give federal protection to 28 dry states with 700 justice department agents. He indicated that how it would be met would depend somewhat on whether the treasury department took over the task of enforcing the revenue laws. If it did, he said, justice department agents would be free to work in the dry states.

Many Cases Pending

The end of prohibition. Cummings said, found 2,219 federal criminal cases pending, of which 500 were offenders against the recently repealed law.

The state department had its

Arguments Of Attorneys In Trial Slated

Testimony In Readhimer Case Closed Late Thursday And Judge Starts Preparation Of Charge To Jury

Delay Is Expected

Case Likely Will Reach Jury Late Today Or Early Saturday, Pending Action On The Court's Charge

AFTER a day of rebuttal testimony taken up mostly by questioning on details of the slaying testimony in the trial of J. R. Readhimer, 57-year-old Hale county farmer, for the shooting of Stokes Campbell, Floydada High school student, was completed Thursday afternoon in 99th district court.

Reading of the court's charge and attorneys' arguments are scheduled for today. Judge Clark M. Mullican was preparing his charge for scrutiny by attorneys yesterday afternoon and the document was being studied last night.

Delay Is Possible

Arguments may be delayed by defense exceptions as was the case in the trial of the defendant's son, Vert Readhimer in October.

Thursday morning and until 2 p. m. was consumed by the state in presentation of rebuttal witnesser after which defense counsel put two witnesses on the stand before they closed their case. The state returned with four additional witnesses, each testifying regarding the movements of John Eudy, another high school student, who was with the Campbell boy just before the shooting occurred in front of the Smith and Smith sanitarium.

Details Described

Rebuttal witnesses for the state described details of the shooting scene, location of the various parties, distances, etc., and actions of young Eudy. Defense witnesses, Misses Mildred Olson and Nita Merle Hanna testified Eudy ran by them on the sanitarium lawn before the shots were fired while the boy

Charge Of Battery Will Be Filed Against Opera Singer

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7. (AP) — Deputy City Attorney Charles Higgins said late today that, on the basis of new evidences, he has decided to issue a complaint against Mary McCormic, opera singer, charging her with battery against Grace Williams, writer and hostess.

Higgins said he would sign the complaint.

The charge will be based upon an asserted altercation between the two women several weeks ago in a newspaper office here, where the singer, in a burst of temper, slapped Miss Williams, who had offered to divulge the details of a property settlement between Miss McCormic and Prince Serge Mdivani.

Virtual Halt In Buying Of Gold By America Indicated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP) — A virtual, if temporary, halt in the administration's gold buying program was indicated tonight by Chairman Jones of the Reconstruction Corporation with a statement that hardly enough gold had been purchased abroad to supply the metal for a good piece of dental bridgework.

To this estimate of extreme negligible foreign purchases observers added the fact that the RFC price on newly mined domestic gold had remained unchanged for a week after a series of increases that raised it from $31.36 to $34.01.

Famous Flier To Appear At High School Tonight

Amelia Earhart Will Speak; Air Travels To Be Described

AMELIA EARHART, who learned to fly before she could drive an automobile, will address a Lubbock audience at Senior High school at 8:15 o'clock tonight. The appearance of the only woman to fly alone across the Atlantic ocean is sponsored by Texas Technological college artists course.

Traveling in an automobile borrowed from a Fort Worth friend, Miss Earhart, who in private life is Mrs. George Palmer Putnam, was in Amarillo yesterday. She spent Wednesday night at Wichita Falls, arriving there unannounced.

Holds Many Records

Slim, tousle-headed, Miss Earhart is holder of a record of "firsts" which no other woman in aviation has equaled.

After her first Atlantic flight, as a member of the crew of the "Friendship" in 1928, Miss Earhart was the first woman to fly alone across the Atlantic.

Later, Miss Earhart established several women's speed records. She was the first woman to solo in an autogiro, and now hold's the autogiro's altitude record for women. She was first person to take an autogiro from the Atlantic to the Pacific and back again.

Is Awarded Medals

She is the only woman who has flown non-stop across the continent, and holds the women's record for distance, having flown 2,400 miles or more from Los Angeles to Newark, N. J. She is the first woman to whom the Distinguished Flying Cross has been awarded, as well as the gold medal of the National Geographic society. Miss Earhart and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh are the only honorary members of the Lafayette Esquadrille. She soon will receive the first gold medal awarded by the Society of Women Geographers, an American organization of women explorers.

Despite the fact that she has these and other decorations, Miss Earhart never wears a medal or a ribbon, and she seldom talks about what has been bestowed upon her.

She usually flies wearing an ordinary sport skirt, comfortable low shoes, and a short, light leather jacket supplemented with a scarf. She does not wear a hat—likely accounting for her tousled head. When she is piloting in a closed cockpit, she discards her goggles and helmet.

Miss Earhart's lecture will be illustrated with motion pictures of her air travels.

Johnson Case Given To Jury

Arguments In Murder Trial At Lamesa Heard At Night Session And Case Reaches End After 11 O'Clock

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Dec. 7.—A jury in 106th district court after 11 o'clock tonight received the case of John Johnson, Lynn county deputy sheriff, tried for murder.

Arguments were opened before Judge Gordon B. McGuire at 7 o'clock tonight, County Attorney Dyrel Kirk speaking first for the prosecution. Carl Rountree of Lamesa and Tom Garrard of Tahoka, defense attorneys, next spoke; and District Attorney G. H. Nelson, of Tahoka closed for the state. Four hours were devoted to arguments.

Testimony Ends

Testimony ended about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, after both defense and prosecution had offered evidence regarding powder burns.

Tom Cooksey, former Dawson sheriff, a state witness, said that a shooting victim could suffer burns as far as 4 1-2 feet from the gun. Sheriff B. L. Parker of Lynn county and Cleve Cobb, a railway special officer of Lubbock, testified that the maximum distance which powder burns could be suffered ranged between 9 and 15 inches. The state previously had offered evidence showing there were no powder burns on the body of B. O. (Bunk) Best, for whose slaying the deputy sheriff was on trial.

BOOKS ARE CLOSED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—President Roosevelt late today ordered Acting Secretary Morgenthau to close the books on the treasury offering of $950,000,000 in two and one-quarter per cent certificates because of oversubscription. The offering was made public only this morning.

Peek Offered Another Post After Parley

Exact Proposition Not Known And Friends Are Divided On Whether He Will Take Place Or Offer Resignation

Conference With President Is Held; Chester C. Davis Is Mentioned As Successor If Rift Is Not Healed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—Secretary Wallace tonight offered a new post to George N. Peek, the farm administrator, in a shakeup of the department aimed at ending disputes among his aides.

Just what proposition was put up to Peek was not disclosed pending a decision by the latter.

Friends Are Divided

It was believed that it was a "take-it - or - leave - it" proposition and friends of Peek were divided on whether he would take it or resign.

The showdown came after conferences at the White House and agriculture department. Wallace went to the White House with Rexford G. Tugwell, assistant secretary who has been at odds with Peek.

Should Peek resign Chester C. Davis, director of the production section of the farm administration, was mentioned in official circles as a likely successor.

Differences Involved

The disagreement among Peek, Wallace and Tugwell involved differences with the so-called liberal element of the farm administration which includes Jerome Frank, administration attorney; Tugwell, formerly a Columbia professor; Dr. Mordecai Ezekiel, economic advisor to the secretary, and Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers counsel.

On almost all important questions Wallace has sided with this group and its members have sided with him.

Rumor Is Denied

A report that Peek might go to the national recovery administration to have charge of codes transferred there from the farm administration was waived aside by the broad

C Of C Group Is Chosen To Study Traffic

Homer D. Grant Is Chairman Of Committee; A Thorough Study Of Traffic Problem Will Be Made

Appointment of a Lubbock Chamber of Commerce traffic committee, duties of which will be to make a thorough study of the traffic problem here, was announced yesterday by Dr. I. E. Barr, chamber president.

Homer D. Grant is committee chairman, and other members are S. J. McFarland, J. A. Fortenberry, S. C. Wilson, and Mrs. Vaughn E. Wilson.

Recommend Action

Doctor Barr, in a letter appointing the committee members, said the group's recommendations would be presented to the chamber board of directors.

"After the board of directors have approved the recommendations, the committee will be asked to work with the city administration and all groups in putting said recommendations into effect," Doctor Barr said.

Is Great Problem

"It is our idea that the municipal traffic problem is one of the greatest in the nation today. We know that it is worrying every town and city in the nation, and that it will not be finally solved for many years to come.

"We also believe that, in addition to recommending as to traffic regulations, you should recommend a plan to educate the public, both as to their duties and rights, in order that any regulations adopted will have the greatest support possible."

Pamphlets on traffic safety by various national groups have been sent to the committee members.

Offer Of Louisiana Chief To Call Election Rejected

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 7. (AP)—Definite rejection of Governor Oscar K. Allen's offer to call a sixth district congressional election April 15, 1934 that would cancel the protested Long-Allen December 5 "election" and obviate the citizens independent balloting set for December 27 was announced late today by the citizens election committee.

The rejection rendered virtually certain the poll arranged by citizens mass meeting and thrown open to all candidates, despite proposals from several quarters that would have resulted in it being called off, and which would likewise have erased the result of last Tuesday's bitterly resented balloting in which Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp, as the only Democratic "nominee" was "elected" to her late husband's congressional seat without a primary.

European Conference Being Rumored; Is Not Confirmed

GENEVA, Dec. 7. (AP) — Reports that a European political conference may be convoked to consider disarmament and the reorganization of the League of Nations reached Geneva tonight but were not confirmed.

A League spokesman said the universal interest aroused by the Italian demand, made yesterday, that the League should be readopted to a changing world proves the League of Nations is not dead, but, rather is very much alive.

Guns Blaze Along Border Of Texas

EL PASO, Dec. 7. (AP) — Guns blazed in fights at two points along the Texas-Mexico border today as officers intercepted alleged smugglers attempting to slip liquor into Texas, still "dry" after prohibition repeal, and the toll was counted tonight at three known dead and one wounded, while search was continued for bodies of two possible additional victims.

A U. S. border patrol exchanged volleys of shots with a band of 16 men in the Rio Grande river at the foot of Park street here and one patrolman and two of the rum smuggling suspects were shot dead. They were Dorne C. Melton, 31, formerly of Conyers, Ga., U. S. patrolman; Francisco Gonzales and Higinio Perez, both of Juarez.

Francisco Mosqueda, 19, former high school student here, was shot twice and is in a critical condition at Liberty hospital.

At Laredo, Texas, four Mexicans who were said to have tried to slip sacks of liquor and alcohol into that city, were routed as they crawled through the muddy waters of the Rio Grande.

Negro's Heart And Other Organs Cut Out; Body Dragged Through Streets

(By The Associated Press)

KOUNTZE, Tex., Dec. 8. (Friday) A frenzied mob early today mutilated the body of David Gregory, negro ex-convict shot to death by officers hunting him for the murder of a white woman, Mrs. Mellie Williams Brockman. Before cutting out the negro's heart and other organs, the mob dragged his body at the end of a chain through the negro section of Kountze for 35 minutes.

A bonfire had been built on the highway running through Kountze a town of about 1,200 population, but while the negro was being dragged behind the car, the fire died down. The mob had intended burning the body but it would have been necessary for them to rebuild the fire to do so.

The body was tied behind the car again and taken on another circuit through the negro section.

Six negroes who had been arrested for investigation in the Brockman killing are in the Hardin county jail at Kountze and some members of the mob, which numbered about 200, were reported to have considered taking two of these men. The two negroes mentioned in this connection were the ones believed to have aided Gregory in escaping from Kountze a few days ago.

While the body was being taken through the negro section, negroes living there kept under cover. The mob shouted some as it carried out what was intended to be a gruesome "object lesson."

Officers said the negro never regained consciousness after being shot in the belfry of a negro church at Voth, another small town near Beaumont.

Wounded in the neck with a charge of buckshot fired by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Chance, the negro was brought to a hospital at Beaumont. Officers then heard reports of a mob forming at Kountze and took the wounded negro from the hospital in an automobile, driving him about the immediate vicinity. Death came to the negro as the car was being driven to Orange.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

SINCE you have been reading so much about President Roosevelt's visit to Warm Springs, Georgia, you, too, may be interested in a letter from Miss Bonnie L. Abel, daughter of Sheriff Tom Abel and Mrs. Abel of 2019 Main street. Miss Abel is receiving treatment at the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation where the President went to receive treatment and to rest recently. She writes:

• • •

ALTHOUGH I am a patient of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, which is the center of so much activity at present, I still have constant thoughts of the old Home Town and am yielding to the temptation of writing a brief sketch of the President's and our holidays together.

Since President Roosevelt's arrival here at the Foundation, on November 18, the place has been transformed from a quiet Institution into one of the busiest spots in the eyes of the public today. The Foundation is one of the greatest of its kind, devoted to a great humanitarian cause. We, the patients, are enjoying mingling with the many visitors which consist of notables and numbers of press men from their various newspapers. Everyone is congenial and there is always much laughter and smiles of greeting.

One of the high lights of the holidays was the tea, given in honor of the President's mother, Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt. The invitation list included all the patients and employees of the Foundation. The affair was given in the lobby of our new Georgia Hall. The decorations were beautiful, of fall leaves and flowers. Mrs. Roosevelt proved to be very gracious and we are all proud of having met her.

Typical of our little colony, Mr. Roosevelt was greeted with much cheering and many songs. It was evident to all the spectators that our affectionate welcome instantly reached our resident's heart. He is known here as "Our Chief" and is our greatest inspiration as he is also a patient and we feel he is one of us.

Our beautiful new building, Georgia Hall, was given to the Foundation by the people of Georgia. An unforgettable occasion was the banquet at which Mr. Roosevelt accepted and dedicated the building. Only Georgians, local officials and notables were present at this affair, and it is our opinion that the photographers worked over time.

A pleasant memory, that will forever linger in the hearts of those present, was the Thanksgiving dinner which was held in the new Georgia Hall dining room. President Roosevelt was a guest of the Foundation. A very interesting program was presented by officials and patients. There was much singing in which everyone joined. "When we all get tosether" proved to be a popular song. Mr. Roosevelt's speech was very inspirational and we all felt much the better for having heard it. Gus Genriche, the President's bodyguard and a great comedian furnished us much fun and entertainment during the holidays.

A few of the many visitors of the Foundation since the President's arrival were, Ambassador Sumner Welles from Cuba, Henry Morgenthau jr., acting Secretary of the Treasury; Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, head of N.R.A.; Harold L. Ickes, Public Works Administrator; Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace; Ambassador to Russia, William S. Bullitt; E. R. Black, head of Federal Reserve; George Foster Peabody, philanthropist; John Harris, builder of Radio City, and Eddie Cantor.

With best wishes to you and your paper,

BONNIE L. ABEL.

Guests for the tea hour were Mesdames James M. Gordon, D. T. Jennings, J. R. B. Cooper, C. E. Roberts, Chester Hubbard and L. R. Caldwell.

NEWS BRIEFS

In the first cases to come to trial as a result of a concerted police drive against traffic law violators, three persons were tried in corporation court Thursday afternoon for speeding.

George S. Berry waived trial by jury and was found guilty by Judge J. T. Inmon; C. H. Grollman was found guilty by a jury, and L. D. Casey was acquitted by a jury. Both Mr. Berry and Mr. Grollman filed notices of appeal. Their fines were set at $5 each.

Police yesterday had reports of two automobile accidents here. None was injured in the crashes. A Buick sedan driven eastward on Tenth street, by H. A. Clark, 1916 Twenty-second street, and a truck piloted westward on Tenth street by Jack Stringer of 2202 Twenty-fifth street, were in a collision near the intersection of Tenth and Avenue H about 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The other crash involved a Chevrolet pickup driven westward on Broadway by J. A. Cobb, jr., of 1312 Avenue K, and a Chevrolet sedan driven southward on Avenue G by Jim Ladd. The automobiles were in a collision at the intersection of the avenue and Broadway.

Charlie Smith, 6, of Littlefield suffered a broken right leg and bruises when he was struck by an automobile early yesterday afternoon five miles north of Anton. The boy was received at Lubbock sanitarium at 2:05 o'clock, remaining for treatment. The lad's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smith, were moving to Hart's Camp. The party had stopped, and the child was behind the car when he was struck. Driver of the other car stopped, carrying the Smiths to Anton.

A 72nd district court jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for Samuel Koretsky, who was sued for damages by Nelma Jo Gramm. The suit was an aftermath of an automobile accident.

In a trial before County Judge E. L. Pitts yesterday morning, Ed F. Aycock, jr., was acquitted of swindling. Aycock had given a check for $7.50 for money lost in a slot machine, according to County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson.

Lubbock Kiwanis club members, at a luncheon meeting at Lubbock hotel yesterday, were hosts to 20 members of Texas Tech football squad, including 8 varsity players who have played their last game here. Del Morgan, freshman football coach, presented the players.

R. H. Smith, 30, of 1612 Fifteenth street, pleaded guilty of short changing and was fined $20 and costs by County Judge E. L. Pitts yesterday morning. Smith was charged in connection with theft of $5 by short changing from Mrs. C. B. Oglesby, 1906 Avenue H. Smith returned $5 to Mrs. Oglesby and $5 which he said he took from J. W. Kolb, 2206 Nineteenth street. Preston Carver, 18, of 609 Fourth street, charged in the Oglesby case, pleaded not guilty. His bond was set at $300. The complaint was filed by County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, after the men were arrested by police.

Mexicans Free Texas Rancher

Brewster County Man Released From Villa Acuna Jail When He Pays Fine; Another Still Held In Jail

ALPINE, Dec. 7. (AP)—E. E. Townsend, representative from Alpine, said today that E. E. Bandy, Brewster county ranchman held in jail by Mexican authorities for three weeks had been released upon payment of 350 pesos.

"Cricket" Rutledge, another Brewster county rancher, arrested with Townsend, was held in the Villa Acuna, Mexico jail, because he was unable to pay a fine.

Three Are Arrested

Bandy, Rutledge and a Sergeant Folk of Fort Sam Houston, who was visiting the ranchers in the southern part of this county, crossed the river about the middle of November looking for strayed stock. They were arrested by Mexican officers and taken to the Villa Acuna jail.

They stated that while riding they saw Mexican officers and waited for them to ride up but were unable to

Filing Of Complaints In East Texas Investigated

KILGORE, Dec. 7. (AP)—Capt. E. N. Stanley, chief investigator for the state railroad commission, today sent Travis L. Golay, an assistant, and Allen J. Burns, commission field man, to Longview to consult Edward Clark, an assistant attorney general, on the matter of filing complaints against refinery lease operators who purportedly used weapons to chase away investigators.

Burns and Harry V. Matthews and Joe C. Hemphill, interior department operatives, were removed from property where eight wells were flowing through a bypass to a refinery.

"This sort of thing must stop," Stanley said. "It is a wonder field men haven't been killed before this."

Stockholders To Be Helped

Dividend Disbursements More Liberal; Stockholders Are To Receive Larger Portion Of The Earnings

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — Some high Wall Street banking circles see in the more liberal dividend disbursements of recent weeks the beginning of a new policy of passing on to stockohlders a larger portion of corporate earnings.

This is explained as in keeping with the theory which has been advanced in Washington that the storing away of part of the profits of production in the form of corporation surplus accounts has tended to aggravate the twin problems of overproduction and underconsumption. The suggestion has been made that corporate surpluses should be subject to special federal taxes, which would tend to drive them out into consumptive channels.

Practice Defended

The building up of large corporate surpluses in boom years has been defended on the grounds, however, that it has bolstered leading corporations to withstanding the strain of the depression years, and in some cases, maintain dividends. For instance, the paying of dividends out of surplus by the U. S. Steel Corp. reduced its cash and equivalent from approximately $195,000,000 at the end of 1929, to $112,000,000 at the end of 1932.

In general, nevertheless, leading corporations have maintained large cash balances during the lean years. A tabulation by Standard Statistics Co. shows that total cash and equivalent for 433 industrial corporations for which comparable data are available aggregated $3,658,000,000 at the end of 1929, and at the end of 1932 it had been reduced only to $3,361,000,000.

Used For Expansion

Not only the practice of building up huge cash accounts developed during the depression years, but many corporations used a large proportion of their earnings to expand plant and equipment. Proponents of the liberal dividend theory assert that paying to stem the larger proportion of corporate profits would have tended to stem the building up of excess productive capacity, and would have tended to expand consumption, thus narrowing the disparity which developed between what the producer could produce and what the consumer could buy.

Those who oppose the theory, however, assert that the problem is not so simple as it seems. They say that these cash surpluses are not necessarily idle. If they are in the form of bank deposits, it may be assumed that the banks are lending the money for constructive purposes that spur employment and consumption, or if they are in the form of U. S. government bonds, they are financing necessary operations of the government. The turning of earnings back into plant and equipment, they say, provides employment for the workers who make the materials.

OFF COMES FAT Hips--Bust---Chin

GET THAT KRUSCHEN FEELING

Gain Physical Attractiveness — Be Free From Constipation, Gas and Liver Troubles

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—your eyes sparkle with glorious health—you feel younger in body—keener in mind. Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

Get a jar of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts 4 weeks. If even this first jar doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at Mark Halsey Drug Store.

Guardsmen Are Held Prisoner

Four Canadians Are Captured By Crew Of Suspected Rum-Running Craft; Refugees In Seized Boat Escape

GLACE, N. S., Dec. 7 (AP)—Four Canadian coast guardsmen were captured today by the crew of a suspected rum-running craft, who turned on the guardsmen as they were being towed into port and escaped with their seized vessel.

The escape was effected after the coast guard cutter Stumble Inn had seized the ship Kromhout seven miles off Flint island early today.

Seamen Assigned

Captain E. L. Croft assigned four seamen to the Kromout and began to tow it into North Sydney, along with the reputed rum-runners.

Striking quickly, the Kromhout crew overpowered their guards, cut loose their ship and raced out of the range of the coast guard's guns.

An extensive search for the seized ship was started immediately off the Cape Breton coast. It was assumed the four guardsmen were still prisoners.

The ships had not proceeded far through the choppy sea after the arrests when men on board the revenue cutter heard sounds of a struggle on the Kromhout. A sailor on the latter ran to the bow and hacked at the towing cable with an axe.

It parted, and the Kromhout's 125-foot hull swung about and headed for the open sea. The Stumble Inn turned about and headed for North Sydney, where it made a report. She then put back to sea to continue the search.

Shipping along the coast was advised to be on the lookout for the Kromhout, which is not listed in shipping records.

Son Of Vernon Man Fatally Injured In Fall Under Train

CHILDRESS, Dec. 7 (AP)—Robert W. Wharton, 17, son of O. W. Wharton of Vernon was injured fatally last night when he fell between cars of a freight train on which he was riding to Dallas to see his mother.

He was walking on top of the train toward an empty car when he fell to the ground, losing his right arm and leg.

Lubbock Greatly Changed In Few Years, C. C. Dana States

Lubbock has greatly changed since he was here several years ago, C. C. Dana, Chicago, freight traffic manager of the Santa Fe system, said while here yesterday afternoon.

"It has changed and grown a lot," he said. "I have passed through here several times since, but this is my first time to stop off for some years."

Conditions are improving, Mr. Dana said, along many lines. Railroads are feeling the upturn in the freight traffic department.

Mr. Dana was accompanied by T. B. Gallaher, Amarillo, general freight agent of the western lines of the Santa Fe, including the Panhandle and Santa Fe. The two men visited with E. Kancher, E. A. Tusha and I. M. Robinson of the division freight office. They inspected local feeding operations, visited with the chamber of commerce and a number of business men and looked over the city. Mr. Dana and Mr. Gallaher left last night for Sweetwater.

SHOT TO DEATH

COOPER, Tex., Dec. 7. (AP)—Milton Cooper, 23, was found shot to death ten miles southeast of Cooper last night by a searching party. The top of his head had been blown away with a shotgun charge. He left his home yesterday on a duck hunt. Officers believed Palmer might have been slain and B. B. Tynes, justice of the peace, withheld a verdict after an inquest.

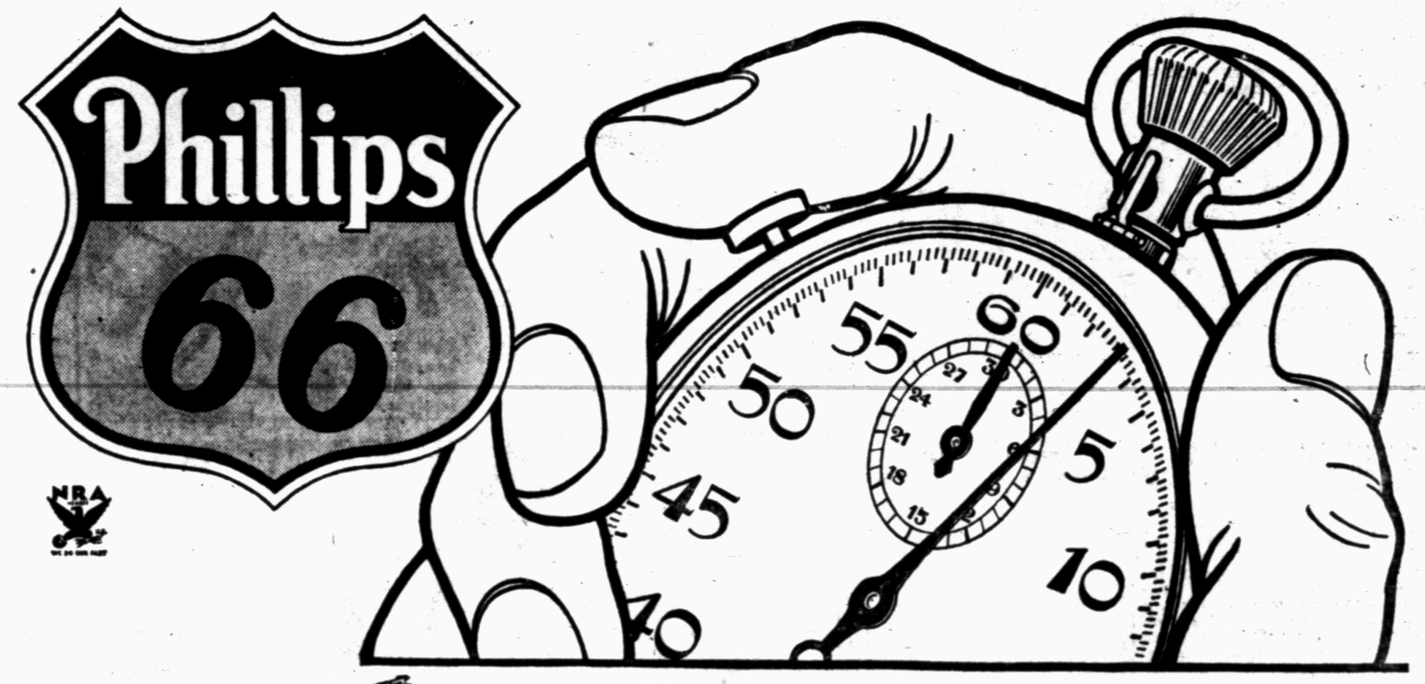
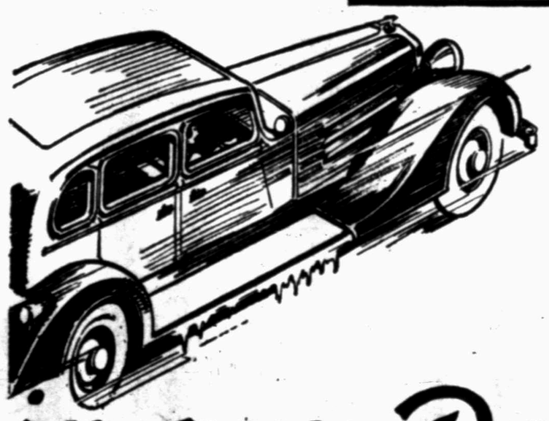
Phillips 66



Split-second starting in any December weather



These figures prove Phillips 66 is Honest High Test

65.6° TO 72.4° GRAVITY

Flows at 50° Below freezing-great for instant starting PHILLIPS 66 MOTOR OIL

For fastest cold weather starting, get the gasoline with the highest gravity. (See figures at left which prove how high the test of Phillips 66 is.) Even on days below freezing, you need step on the starter just once! That is enough for this super-volatile motor fuel to snap your icy motor into instant action.

You marvel at the lack of sputtering and coughing . . . at the smoothness of the engine so soon after starting. You get that feeling of flexible power, that zip and get-away, which have made Phillips 66 the most sensational success in the highly competitive oil industry.

Your first experience with a cold, balky motor will probably send you searching for a gas station which sells Phillips 66. But why wait until you actually have starting trouble?

Remember: as the thermometer drops, up goes the gravity of Phillips 66. Week by week, its high test is adjusted to the weather wherever it is sold. That is how the Phillips method of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY protects you against loss of starting speed, against loss of power and mileage, as your weather grows colder.

Phillips extra high test does not cost a single cent extra, because Phillips is the world's largest producer of natural high gravity gasoline. Let the first Orange and Black shield, which you see, remind you to get a trial tankful of this greater gasoline.

"HIGHEST TEST" AND anti-knock at the price of ordinary gasoline

Bedroom Death Scene Reproduced In Court At Toy G. Woolley's Trial

Reputation Of Girl Attacked

Woman Says Mae Cantrell Had Bad Reputation For Telling Truth; Defense Moving Toward Climax In Case

DALLAS, Dec. 7 (AP)—A replica of the bedroom in which Mrs. Toy G. Woolley, 20, was shot to death a month ago was thrown up in front of the jury box at noon today as the defense moved toward a climax in Woolley's murder trial.

The unusual spectacle was permitted after Currie McCutcheon, defense attorney, had petitioned Judge Noland G. Williams and the privilege was granted.

McCutcheon said he wanted the Woolley furniture transferred from the home to the courtroom before Miss Mina Woolley, 20-year-old sister of the defendant, testified. Miss Woolley was the only eye-witness to the shooting.

Reputation Described

The lawyer declined to say when Woolley would testify.

Mrs. Marcum Shockly, another witness from Comanche county, was questioned at length concerning the reputation of Mae Cantrell, Woolley's first wife, for truth and veracity and, upon cross examination, replied tersly to the questions of Ted Monroe, special prosecutor.

Monroe asked her to name those Comanche county citizens whom she had heard say "that little lady's reputation for truth and veracity was bad."

Names No. 1

"Name another."

"No. 2 is Miss Juanita Arnett. She is here as a witness, too."

"Any more?"

"I can't think of more names just now. But that is her reputation where I live."

"So," Monroe asked, "you came all the way from Comanche county to testify against this girl with whom you were raised—your friend?"

Haven't Been Asked

"No," Mrs. Shockley replied, "I came here to testify about the good reputation of Toy Woolley."

"Well, you haven't have you?"

"I haven't been asked yet."

"So, you are willing to sacrifice one friend to help another?"

"I am here willing to tell the truth and that's what you have got from me."

Livestock Head Says Things Are Going From Bad To Worse

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 7 (AP) Charles E. Collins of Kit Carson, Colo., president of the American National Livestock association in a statement issued here today declared "things in the cattle industry are going from bad to worse and agriculture continues to be the sick man of America's economic household even though beneficial effects of the president's recovery program are being felt in other industries."

"A condition now exists for the beef-grower," he said, "which calls for an immediate change of program if the whole industry is to be saved from irremediable disaster."

British-made films are showing a profit of two to three times more than American-made films in Great Britain.

Letters To Santa Claus From The Kiddies

AWAY AT CHRISTMAS

Dear Santa Claus: I want to spend Christmas with my grandmother but if you will please leave part of my gifts here and the others at grandmother's. If you have enough presents to go around please leave me a writing desk and chair, a little mop, broom and dust rag and a little toy washing machine, some dishes and a doll.

Don't forget my baby sister who is seventeen months old. She wants a doll and a kitty.

With love,
Mary Kathryn Burks,
2429 21st street.

HE'S GETTING BIG

Dear Santa: I am getting to be a big boy now. When you come to see me I hope you will leave me a little steam engine, a box of tools and a toy automobile and, of course, you won't forget the candy, fruit and nuts.

Burton Burks, jr.,
2429 21st street.

HE'S NOT BASHFUL

Dear Santa Claus: I am a little boy five years old. I try to be good but sometimes I am not so good but I am always sorry when I do wrong. So please bring me a great big train and a blackboard. I want lots of things but there are lots of little children who have to have toys so I won't be ugly and want too much.

I would like to have a few small toys, some candy, nuts and all kinds of fruit. I have a little brother two years old and I want you to bring him a kiddy car and some nuts, fruit and candy.

We will have our stocking by the chimney and you can fill them. I am going to be a good boy and go to my Sunday school class and my Sunbeam class.

Yours truly,
Charles Franklin Bratcher,
1809 15th street.

NEEDS A PUPPY

Dear Santa Claus: I want an electric train track, a switch and a tunnel. And please bring me an erector set. My mother and my father say that Santa can bring live dogs, and so will you please bring me a Scottie pup?

Santa, I will take some of my old toys to the firemen so you can collect them to give to poor little boys and girls. You will find me at 830 Grand avenue, Beaumont.

With love,
Billy Jackson,
2515 22nd street.

P. S.: There will be cookies for you.

FROM L. G. HALL

Dear Santa Claus: Mother said I had been a nice boy this year. So please bring me a coaster and some candy, nuts and fruit.

Love,
L. G. Hall,
Route 1.

REMEMBERS PARENTS

Dear Santa Claus: I am a little girl 12 years of age. I have been a pretty good girl this year. I want you to bring me a rubber doll and a phone, a pair of mules (house shoes), and a book of "Little Orphan Annie". Think of my dear mother and daddy.

Love,
Anna Belle Graves,
Route 6.

WANTS TOOL CHEST

Dear Santa Claus: I am a little boy six years old. I want you to bring me a tool chest. I want a little car with electric lights. I want lots of nuts, candy and, oh yes, a bathrobe and some house shoes.

Your little friend,
Sam Brown,
1921 15th street.

IS EIGHT YEARS OLD

Dear Santa Claus: I am a girl eight years old. I want a doll's bed, set of dishes, bathrobe and a pair of house shoes, some nuts, candy and fruit.

My name is Joyce Adams,
2017 14th street.

HAS SMALL TRICYCLE

Dear anta Claus: I am a little girl four years old. I have been a pretty good little girl and would like very much for you to bring me a doll, set of dishes, table and chairs, tricycle and candy and nuts.

Santa, don't forget the poor little boys and girls. I have a good tricycle that is too small for me. You could have for someone.

Love,
Betty Jo Long,
2117 9th street.

WANTS BUGLE, TRUCK

Dear Santa Claus: I have been a good boy. I am eight years old. Please bring me a bugle, an airplane and truck with lights on it. Also some fruit, candy and nuts.

Lots of love,
Windell Melton,
1911 Avenue J.

REMEMBER LITTLE SISTER

Dear Santa Claus: I am a little girl six years old. I started to school this year. Please bring me a "tickle toes" doll, candy, fruit and nuts. I also want a box of crayolas, a box of handkerchiefs and a pair of scissors.

I have a little sister nine months old. Please don't forget to bring her a rubber baby doll and some oranges.

Love,
Roma Lee Clemmer,
1819 Avenue C.

ASKS FOR PONY

Dear Santa Claus: How are you this year? I'm just fine. I have tried to be a good boy this year.

Santa, please bring me a pony, cowboy suit, scabbard and gun, a racer car, an Amos and Andy car and some caps.

With regards,
Teddy Alley,
2607 26th street.

ORLEAN HAS MOVED

Dear Santa Claus: I will drop you a line to let you know that I have moved to College avenue. I want you to bring me a baby doll and a writing desk, some candy, nuts and lots of fruits. I hope you come to see all the poor little children.

Lots of love,
Orlean Ratliff.

A LITTLE HOME-MAKER

Dearest Santa: I want you to please bring me a doll that cries and sleeps, a broom and washing machine.

Remember all of the little poor children.

With love,
Dorothy Dell Bush,
Carlisle.

WANTS WRITING DESK

Dear Santa Claus: Please bring me a scooter, a writing desk, a drum and horn, some nuts and candy.

I live at 1112 17th street.
Heath Raymer.

TO BE IN FT. WORTH

Dear Santa Claus: I have tried to be a good little boy. I am six years old and I want you to bring me a gun, a small truck, a knife and a tricycle. You can leave my things at Fort Worth. I will be there Christmas.

A little friend,
C. W. Meyers, jr.,
Route 2, Lubbock.

ANOTHER TRUCK NEEDED

Dear Santa: I am a boy four years old. Will you please bring me a truck with headlights and some fruit, candy and nuts? Please bring me a cap and sweater too.

Don't forget Joan. She is my baby sister and she was not here last Christmas.

Love,
Jean Clemmer,
1819 Avenue C.

P. S.: Santa, Rowena still lives at Shallowater in the same house as last year.

Tokyo Curious Over Changes

Japan Not Seriously Concerned Until League Movement Develops Beyond Stage Of European Affairs

TOKYO, Dec. 7. (AP)—Mild, aloof curiosity characterized Tokyo officialdom's reaction today to reports from Europe of a movement to reform the League of Nations.

The consensus here was that Japan would not be seriously concerned until the movement develops beyond its present purely European stage.

Decline To Comment

Officials declined to comment on the possibility the proposed changes in the League would tempt Japan to cancel the resignation she submitted last March 27.

A foreign office spokesman said it would be impossible to define Japan's attitude until the motives and objectives of the proposed reform were clarified.

Condition Is Given

He added that a reformation whereby the League would abandon its political functions and aspirations and confine its activities to cultural and humanitarian enterprises would facilitate Japans cooperation.

In fact, the Japanese government already has decided to continue its participation in such League activities—despite its resignation; hence, many believed, there would be no serious difficulties in Japan's reentry into a League reformed along such lines.

The Associated Press learned yesterday that a program of radical reorganization of the League has been under discussion in several European capitals.

In connection, Italy has gone so far as to threaten to quit the league unless reforms are instituted.

Many of those sponsoring the changes would like to bring Japan and Germany back in and also the United States and Russia.

Among other things, Italy wants to do away with League articles binding signatories to use military and economic weapons to preserve boundaries set up under the treaty of Versailles.

Seven Convicts Given Clemency

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (AP) — Two full pardons and five conditional pardons were authorized today by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson for Texas convicts.

Full pardons granted were: Albert Bernard Ormsby, Tarrant county, burglary, two years; convicted in January, 1933.

Eula Williams, Jefferson county, murder, two years; convicted in March, 1933.

Conditional pardons granted included:

Frank Shields, Midland county forgery and passing forged instrument, two years, convicted in April, 1933.

State Observes Union Entrance

DOVER, Dec. 7 (AP)—While the nation still echoes to the action of the state gatherings which added a 21st amendment to the country's fundamental law, Delaware today celebrates the 146th anniversary of its entrance into the union.

On December 7, 1787, Delaware became the first state to ratify the constitution, Pennsylvania following its example five days later.

This is the first year, however, that the governor, acting under legislative authorization, has declared "Delaware Day" a holiday in the so-called "first state in the union."

Approval of the new federal government was a daring step back in 1787, but the 30 delegates to the state convention acted unanimously. Delaware had won its fight for equality with the larger colonies in the senate, and it was satisfied of fair representation.

The session at Dover lasted one day and cost 128 pounds, 17 shillings, 3 pence.

Negro Sought After Attack

Group Of 40 Or 50 Men Gather About Mississippi Jail As Report Spreads That Suspect Is Being Held

MERIDIAN, Miss., Dec. 7. (AP) — A group of 40 or 50 men gathered at the county jail here today after reports were circulated that a negro sought for the bedroom-attack on a young white woman yesterday had been identified, but dispersed after Sheriff B. M. Stephens conducted two of the group through the jail.

A. E. McGee, jailer, was awakened at an early hour by members of the party who said they had learned that one of two negro suspects assertedly taken into custody had been identified as the attacker, and asked that they see the negro.

Not Satisfied

"When I told them no negro had been brought to jail in connection with the investigation, they appeared not to be satisfied," McGee said.

Sheriff Stephens said one negro suspect was taken before the young woman, but she was unable to identify him.

The 19-year-old woman was choked and attacked by a negro who forced entrance to her home. She was placed under the care of physicians.

The search for the negro continued, but no definite progress was reported.

Carl W. Wickman Remains In Bernalillo County Jail

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 7 (AP) —Unaware that officers said poison had been found in the body of his fourth wife, Carl W. Wickman, druggist charged with killing her by striking her over the head with a tire tool, remained, incommunicado in the Bernalillo county jail today.

The district attorney's office has made no effort to question Wickman about the autopsy report which yesterday was alleged to have revealed a sufficient amount of poison to have caused the death of Mrs. Danalda Chicoine Wickman here November 25. Wickman has allegedly signed a confession declaring he struck the woman over the head with an iron tire tool. He has pleaded not guilty.

Youth Runs Into Adventure While On Way To School; Train Is Saved

OREGON CITY, Ore., Dec. 7. (AP)—On his way to the routine of the classroom, Hubert Bigej, 13, walked smack into unexpected adventure and probably saved a passenger train from a tragic plunge into the Willamette river.

Hubert, who lives six miles south of here, waited till the Southern Pacific's No. 16 northbound passenger train rumbled past yesterday then followed in its wake on the tracks that curve along the bank of the Willamette toward Oregon City.

Suddenly there was a crash and a roar. Hubert quickened his pace. Ahead of him he saw the road bed slipping and saw a great part of it slide with a splash into the river.

He knew the southbound passenger train was due soon. He ran at top speed back to New Era station and pantingly told William Dustin, the operator there, of the slide.. A telephone call to Portland stopped the train at Oregon City.

Click Declares He Was An Unwilling Tool Of Leaders In Kidnaping Plot

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 7. (AP)—Clarence Click testified at his trial today that he was an "unwilling tool" of leaders in the kidnaping of Miss Mary McElroy for $30,000 ransom last spring.

He declared he was forced by Walter McGee, now under death sentence for participation in the kidnaping, and Clarence Stevens, an unapprehended alleged leader, to help them hold Miss McElroy prisoner in a Shawnee, Kas., house while ransom negotiations were being carried out.

McGee Testifies

McGee, who hopes to escape the gallows through an appeal to the state supreme court, was brought to the courtroom to testify for Click.

He exonerated Click of willingness to help.

Both Click and McGee testified that Click did not know of Miss McElroy's presence in the Shawnee house, which Click had rented, until the morning after the young woman was abducted from her home.

Click objected to use of the house by the kidnapers, both said, and an altercation followed in which Click was knocked down.

Leniency Toward Violators Of Pro Law Being Promised

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Attorney General Cummings said today the justice department's general attitude toward prohibition law violators "of previously good character" would be extremely lenient but he promised vigorous prosecution of the habitual criminal type.

He estimated that of 2,219 federal criminal cases pending 500 were prohibition cases and said that 3,764 federal prohibition offenders were in jail out of a total prison population of 16,557.

The prison population was described by Cummings at 6,809 below the figure for a year ago. He attributed the decrease to a more liberal treatment of prohibition cases because repeal was in sight.

Indians believed that a scalped man could never enter the Happy Hunting Ground, the red man's heaven; by scalping all his victims he assured himself that there earthly enemies would not bother him later on.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.

Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today, 25¢ at drug stores.

Refuse "something just as good" for it may gripe, loosen teeth or scald rectum. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for. © 1933, C.M.Co.

Assistant To Gen. Johnson Is Reported Drawing Big Salary

Young Woman Gets $5,780 Per Year For Her Work In NRA Setup; Defense Is Offered By Administrator

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Miss Frances Robinson, administrative assistant to Hugh S. Johnson, was revealed today to be getting paid $5,780 a year, one of the largest NRA salaries and on a par with the compensation of some of the most expert government employes.

After publication of the fact in a morning newspaper (the Washington Post) reporters inquiring of Johnson were told by him:

"I think that was one below the belt."

Makes Many Trips

The story had said Miss Robinson was elevated from a $25 a week clerkship to her present salary in NRA's short career. Johnson's assistant, with him long hours, has made many extended trips across the country with the administrator.

"In the original setup of NRA," said Johnson, "Miss Robinson and Bobby Straus (Robert K. Straus, son of the ambassador to France) were personal assistants to the administrator at a salary of $5,000 a year.

"Miss Robinson came recommended to me as an excellent administrator and executive from RKO (Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation). In many ways she knows more about this law and this organization than anyone else. I am sure that nobody here ever thought she was a mere stenographer or secretary. She has been my personal assistant straight through."

Has No Objections

Asked whether he had any objections to publication of the entire NRA payroll, Johnson said he had not and that "I think people will be surprised when they see it."

He added that only Donald Richberg, general counsel, Alvin Brown, administrative assistant and Boaz Long, newly designated deputy administrator for Puerto Rico were drawing more than $6,000. That is Johnson's own salary.

Capitol Chatter From Austin

CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Dec. 7 (AP)—The women teachers of Texas did not succeed in electing one of their sex president of the Texas State Teachers' association, notwithstanding that women control more than 80 per cent of the association's votes.

The women lost after a hard fight. They had offered Mrs. Roy C. Owens of Tyler, prominent in the teaching profession, for president but lacked enough support to elect her over J. O. Loftin of San Antonio.

Tired Of Men

Women members of the association who supported Mrs. Owens avowedly were "tired" of seeing a man elected annually to preside over an organization whose membership was perdominantly feminine. They proposed to elect a man to the presidency during the years the legislative holds its regular session and a woman in the "off" years.

Loftin's workers advanced the argument that legislative years had little to do with it and that in the "off" years it was necessary to make advance preparations for the legislative sessions.

To Return Again

The "Owens for president" group was defeated but not annihilated, and served notice they will return with renewed vigor next year and seek to force through a resolution to require the election of a woman teacher every other year.

The teachers gave more than usual serious consideration to school financing, a problem that has been increasing with them since school revenues started fading a couple of years ago and many school units were forced on a deficiency basis.

The association proposed that the school system be supported from other than property taxes. The property tax has a habit of fluctuating, sometimes to such an extent that school officials have difficulty in planning their activities.

In the last regular session of the legislature the teachers supported a special tax program for school support, but it failed of enactment. It is thought probable the profession will again press for a solution of its revenue problems at the next session.

'IRON KEY' IS GRID TROPHY

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP) — After 43 years of intense rivalry, Wabash college and Butler university this year put up a tangible reward for the winner of their annual football game. It is "The Old Iron Key," a bit of hardware 15 inches long, with the handle shaped by a "B" and the teeth in the form of a "W".

Accident Victim Is Buried At Plainview On Thursday

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 7. (Special)—Funeral of Dr. David Dial Shropshire, 32, of Levelland, victim of an automobile mishap Tuesday night near Matador, was conducted at Halfway Methodist Episcopal church at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Dr. Shropshire, member of a prominent Hale county family, was buried here. A widow, two children, and his father, County Commissioner J. E. Shropshire of Hale county were survivors.

Crop Loan Representative To Be In City December 15

Farmers who have government loans unpaid and who have not contracted the crop production loan representative, Fred N. Warren, Plainview, will have one more opportunity to meet him, he said while here yesterday.

"I will be in Lubbock Friday, December 15, for probably the last time," he said yesterday. "I want all farmers who have not seen me and who have not paid their loans, to call on me at the conty agent's office at that time."

Mr. Warren hopes to have a 100 per cent collection of government loans from Lubbock county. There are only a few unpaid loans, most of them farmers who have not received their cotton plowup checks.

Loans, Grants Being Sought

Applications Are Presented Totalling $10,536,000 To PWA Board; Reservoir For Neches Valley Asked

FORT WORTH, Dec. 7. (AP)—Application for loans and grants aggregating $10,536,000 were filed before the PWA state advisory board today.

They included a request of the lower Neches valley authority for $8,000,000 to construct a water impounding reservoir, 24 miles long, on the Neches river; $60,000 athletic stadium for Waco and $1,300,000 grant and loan for a Starr county irrigation project.

Lake Planned

Mayor T. J. Wright of Bowie requested a loan of $200,000 for a lake for water supply and for a municipal sewage system.

City Manager C. C. Crutchfield of Yoakum applied for a $48,000 loan to build a municipal ice plant and $60,000 for extending sewer connections to residences.

H. P. Davis, secretary of the Pecos Chamber of Commerce, requested a $300,000 loan to bring soft water from wells 10 1-2 miles south of that city for a water supply.

A. N. Peckham, Port Arthur, president of the lower Neches valley authority, said the proposed lake in that section would solve the water problem for ever and would benefit all of East Texas.

Soviet Troops Being Massed

Precautions Against Attempt Of Manchukuan Officials To Oust Russians From Railway Being Taken

HARBIN, Manchuria, Dec. 7. (AP)—Reports to Japanese military agencies here assert that the soviet union is concentrating 80,000 picked soldiers along the Siberian-Manchurian border as precaution against any attempt of Manchukuan officials to oust the Russians from joint control of the Chinese Eastern railway.

The same sources are pessimistic about negotiations for sale of the soviet interests in the road which have been hanging fire in Tokyo. They point out that Moscow wants $200,000,000 gold for its share of the line while Manchukuo is offering only $25,000,000.

The soviet forces are said to be designated "the special far eastern army" and to be under command of General Blucher, who, under the name of "General Galens," became widely known for his work in assisting Chiang Kai-Shek to establish the present Nanking regime in China.

Said To Be Well-Equipped

The reports further assert that the red army is equipped with tanks, both large and small, with scout and bombing planes, heavy and light artillery and chemical weapons.

Three principal air bases are listed, at Vladivostok, Nikolsk and Spassk. Additional airdromes are said to be located along the Amur river.

The Japanese agents claim too that the soviet union has been withdrawing the peasant population from frontier towns and villages, moving them westward toward Chita and replacing them with trained army reservists who know how to handle rifles and gas masks. Bomb-proofs are reported to have been excavated at many of these places.

Long Raids Held Possible

It is the Japanese theory that if the situation developed into an open rupture, the Russians would wage a vigorous defensive campaign, prolonging hostilities on the theory that Japanese-Manchukuan finances would not permit the alliance to keep up a long struggle.

This defensive would, the theorists argue, be punctuated with numerous air raids over Hsinching, Mukden and Dairen, chief cities of Manchukuo. They might even be extended to Japan for the Russian air fleet is believed capable of taking off from Vladivostok on raids which conceivably might reach Tokyo.

Blue Law Mayor Clamps Lid Upon City Night Life

PEIPING, Dec. 7 (AP)—Once the gayest city in northern China, Peiping has joined the "blue law" towns of the world.

Yuan Liang, new reform mayor, has closed all the dance-halls and cabarets of the ancient capital. He wants Peiping to shine only as a center of culture, art, beauty and historical classicism.

Several hundred professional dancing girls and cabaret performers, members of the Dancing Girls' Union, implored the mayor to reconsider his decision, but to their entreaties Yuan Liang returned only a serene smile and said nothing.

The edict also affected foreign princes, diplomats, statesmen and 700 American marines, who offset the tedium of life in Peiping by visits to the places of frolic.

If anybody wants to dance in Peiping now, he must go to the European hotels. There one must dance with one's wife or husband or relatives or friends, and the lights go out while the night is still young.

Health Campaign Planned By Nazis For All Germany

BERLIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—A vast program to combat disease has been outlined by Prof. Hans Reiter, newly appointed president of the federal board of health.

The problems of cancer, tuberculosis and infantile paralysis, he stated, would be attacked, especially cancer, as, owing to the world war, there is today in Germany a greater percentage of the population at an age which seems especially liable to that scourge.

Food is another vital question, he continued. "Our business," he said, "is to determine what foods yield the maximum of human efficiency and endurance."

In this connection the effects of nicotine and alcohol on the human system will be closely studied.

Before his government appointment Prof. Reiter held the chair of bacteriology and serology in the University of Rostock.

Thirty-Day Jail Sentence Imposed On Alfred C. Read

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (AP)—A 30-day jail sentence was imposed today on Alfred C. Read, jr., former Oakland stock broker, for theft of $11 from the purse of Claire Windsor, film actress. Municipal Judge Clevement D. Nye diregarded Read's plea of leniency.

Miss Windsor was not in court when sentence was pronounced.

Read's lawyers asked for a new trial. When that was denied they asked for probation. Judge Nye also denied this and in passing the sentence remarked that 30 days in jail was light punishment for the offense.

"The defendant has made his own bed," said the court. "Now he can lie on it. I am told you come of a good family and this indicates to the court that you knew better."

ATTEMPT REVOLT

ALGIERS, Algeria, Dec. 7 (AP)—Two or three convicts aboard the convict ship La Martiniere, enroute to the French prison colony in Guiana, attempted a revolt against their guards on the passage between St. Martin De Re and Algiers, it was announced here tonight. Reports that forty prisoners had been killed in a geenral mutiny were denied. The rebellious prisoners were put in irons.

A lease for 20,881 years held on a farm in the old parish of Kirkhill, Scotland, is without parallel; it was drawn up 200 years ago and when the government attempted to confiscate the land after the Jacobite Rebellion of 1745, the highest Scottish court declared the lease to be valid.

Lindberghs Are Expecting To Be Home By Christmas

NATAL, Brazil, Dec. 7. (AP)—Anne Morrow Lindbergh revealed tonight that she and Col. Lindbergh plan to return to the United States by way of the northwest coast of Brazil in time to be home for Christmas.

In conversation with women acquaintances in Natal she said they planned to fly northward by way of Para (Belem) Brazil and reach New York and home in time to spend the holidays with their small son.

Col. Lindbergh had the big red monoplane in which they flew the South Atlantic from Bathurst, West Africa, ready for a take-off and their departure tomorrow was expected, although this was not confirmed either by the flier or his wife.

Theft Of Cotton Believed Cleared

Arrest of a 22-year-old Waco man by county and state officers yesterday afternoon was believed to have cleared a series of Lubbock county cotton thefts.

Sheriff Tom Abel and State Highway Patrolman Jack Reaves, following the tread of a truck on which stolen cotton was loaded at the C. W. Liner farm at Acuff, found the man at Abernathy with a check for $49.66—the proceeds from the sale of the ginned lint. Sheriff Abel said the suspect admitted cotton was stolen from the Liner and two other farms Wednesday night.

M. O. Pugh, living about 15 miles west of Lubbock, said that between 1,000 and 1,200 pounds of seed cotton was loaded onto a truck from his wagon about a week ago. Sheriff Abel said he believed the suspect was responsible for this theft.

Restoration Of Tariffs In Effect In 1928 Is Sought

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 7. (AP)—The Pan-American conference was called upon today to restore tariffs to a basis of those in effect in 1928, before the United States' Smoot-Hawley act went into effect.

Sponsored by Uruguay, a resolution was introduced providing that on July 1, 1934, the 1928 duties go into effect for five years.

Cotton Expert Local Visitor

Alston H. Garside Speaks At Texas Tech; Colleges Over South Are Being Visited By New York Man

Here on a trip to look over the local cotton industry and to "sell" the importance of the operations of the exchange to the industry and the public, Alston H. Garside, secretary and economist of the New York Cotton Exchange, spent a busy day in Lubbock Thursday, leaving late last night for Dallas and Fort Worth.

Arriving at noon, he was a guest of Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture of Texas Tech at the Kiwanis club and then spoke for two hours in the auditorium of the division of engineering. Last night, after talking with a number of local cotton men he continued his trip.

Exchange Explained

"I am visiting a number of the leading colleges of the South to explain the use of the New York Cotton Exchange and how merchants and spinners use cotton futures for price insurance," he said. Mr. Garside is head of the statistical work of the exchange and furnishes reports, data, etc., to members of the industry.

On this trip he visited Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, the University of Tennessee at Knoxville; University of Arkansas at Fayetteville; Oklahoma A. and M. at Stillwater and Tech. He goes to Fort Worth and then to Dallas where he visits Southern Methodist university. Enroute home he will stop at Texas A. and M., the University of Texas at Austin and Baylor university in Waco before returning to New York.

Reduce Loss Risk

"Ninety per cent of the American cotton crop is sold in ways in which the exchange is used to reduce the risk of loss through adverse changes in cotton prices," Mr. Garside said. "This system permits cotton merchants to handle cotton on a very much narrower margin than they would have to command if the facilities of the exchange were not available to them.

"This narrowing of the margin increases the price received by the growers and reduces the price paid by the consumer. Also, since the merchants, by using the facilities of the exchange, can buy great quantities of cotton from the growers at harvesting time, without risk of loss through a decline in the price, this system helps to sustain the price of cotton at harvesting time when the growers are selling."

Powerful Telescopes Being Made By Star Gazing Amateurs At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 7. (AP)—Telescopes more powerful than many from the hands of expert craftsmen are being, and have been, made by star gazing amateurs of San Angelo.

At least one such instrument in service here cost its builder $65 and probably could not be replaced on the market for several hundred dollars.

Simple Apparatus Used

Moreover, in grinding their reflectors, these amateurs use a simple apparatus consisting of a 15-cent oil lamp, a bit of tin and an old razor blade, which affords one of the most accurate measurements known to science. A variance of one millionth of an inch can be detected by the combination.

Time, as most folks count it, means little to these amateurs. It is a common occurrence for one of them to spend a year (at odd times, of course) in grinding a reflector only to find, perhaps, that it is not the exact shape required. Variance of the slightest fraction means that planets will not be reflected correctly. When the slightest flaw is found there is nothing to do but start over.

Some of the more active amateur astronomers here are: Frank Friend surveyor for the University of Texas lands; Jessa Conklin, his chief assistant; W. C. Perkins, druggist, Oscar Ruffini, retired architect; and Leroy Ingraham.

Three Chief Elements

There are three chief elements to the telescope-reflector, prism and eye piece. The reflector is the main concern of the amateur. The prism simply turns the reflected light rays by a 90-degree angle so that it may be seen in the eye piece.

Friend has completed a reflector which magnifies 191 times, but the size of the reflection may be regulated by the eye piece. For instance, the moon can be brought out at such a size that only a part of it may be seen at a time and that it is necessary to move the instrument around to see other parts. Or, by changing the eye-piece, the entire moon may be seen in less detail.

The homemade reflector was shaped from a piece of glass, one inch thick and six inches in diameter. The glass is ground by using hand power only, in a concave shape, known as a parbola. This exact shape must be obtained before the glass is polished and the silver coating applied.

Belgians Fortify Eastern Borders Despite Expense

BRUSSELS, Dec. 7. (AP)—Despite economic difficulties, the Belgian government is to seek legislative approval for spending nearly $20,000,000 for fortification of the eastern frontier.

Already voted by the council of ministers, headed by the king, the money is sought for a formidable defense of the entire 80-mile border.

Plans have been made to use the credit for speeding up completion of modern concrete fortifications along the whole line, for powerful artillery, and for anti-aircraft defenses.

The new defense line, stretching closely along the German frontier north of Liege, has been planned so that the whole Belgian army may be opposed to any aggressor from the east.

Meanwhile, work is proceeding on a new fort at Eben-Emael. It will defend the Lower Maas and the approaches to the new strategic waterway, the Albert canal.

An Enterprising Young Merchant--

NEWSPAPERS are an important factor in the progress of the world, supplying all of the news from at home and abroad to every interested person at a negligible cost. The service which they render has come to be taken more or less for granted, but there is one factor that is deserving of your attention and consideration.

The carrier boy who delivers your newspaper daily, regardless of weather or other interfering forces, is the principal link between the publisher and the reader. It is through his enterprise and industry that you are able to enjoy the convenient service that characterizes newspaper delivery.

This young man in most cases is not a newspaper employee. He is an independent young merchant, buying and paying for his papers by the week and selling them on a weekly credit basis to his customers. His profits for the service that he renders are small, yet many of these boys, by thrifty management, are paying their way through school with their earnings and at the same time putting something away for the future.

Encourage your carrier boy in the thrifty habit which he is forming by paying him regularly for the service that he is rendering you.

Lubbock Westerners To End Inter-School Grid Season At Cisco Today

Chapman Takes Only Eighteen Lads For Game

Inter-Squad Game Here Next Tuesday May End Season; To Play Benefit Game At Lobo Field This Afternoon

Seven Westerner gridmen finish their high school football careers today as the Lubbock high school eleven goes into an inter-district benefit battle with the Cisco Loboes at Lobo field.

Coached by Dexter Shelley the Loboes, formerly under the aegis of Weldon Chapman, are always a threat in Texas schoolboy football, and they will have a double motive for getting torrid this evening.

Only 18 men—the regular starters, four replacements, and three new aspirants from the Cowhands—departed from Lubbock yesterday for this the last road trip of the season. Ossie Griggs and Starkey Whitehorne, regular Lubbock wings, will have to play the entire route without relief, for they are the only ends making the jaunt.

Young At Center

Blackie Young, Westerner pivot man of all-district calibre, will hold down the center of the line by himself. Robert Dowell may share some of the tackle duties along with the regulars, Wimberly and Doherty, and, if necessary, he could suddenly reform and qualify as a center.

Comparative scores point to a Lubbock victory. In the heart of the campaign the Westerners defeated Abilene 6-0, while the Ciscoans were only able to hold the district champion Eagles to three touchdowns.

Lubbock is expected to get right on their aerial game today, after failing on the passes all season. The three Cowhand backs should strengthen the Westerners in all departments. With Lubbock showing the driving, speeddemon, Morris White on one wingback opposite the equally high-geared Rufus Ryan, the Loboes should not be in condition to point at the moon, if any, when final gun fires.

Upton And Hill

Othie Upton and Robert Allen Hill, promising men from Swede McMurry's squad, are possibilities for next year's team. Coach Chapman believes that next season's crying need is a blocking halfback, and he will have the old eye on Upton and Hill today.

Griggs, Doherty, Young, Newton, and possibly Hodges, Ryan, and Hale are Lubbock's candidates for all-district mention. Some of them will have to play bang-up games today to eke across the mythical line.

Although the game today finishes the official season for the Westerners, a squad game is booked for Tuesday afternoon at Tech field with the graduating members of this season's squad meeting a team composed of regulars and candidates for next year's aggregation.

With two smart and brilliant backfields, one made up of this year's secondary starters, and the other composed of Vergil Griner and Morris White abetted by two or three of the Cowhands, Tuesday's conflict bears all the earmarks of a regular game.

Swede McMurry will tutor the departing stars, while Assistant Coach Burl Huffman is the board of strategy for the eligible gridsters of next year.

Large Field Is Ready For Joust At Coral Gables

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 7. (AP)—With practice rounds behind them, the greatest field that ever competed in a golf tournament below the Mason-Dixon line was primed tonight for the $10,000 Biltmore open, which begins tomorrow over a 72-hole route that may see a new champion crowned before sundown Sunday.

Denny Shute, who also holds the British Open title, faces one of the most formidable arrays of top notch players in his career as he goes up against an entry list of more than 170, seeking the Biltmore championship he won here last year and a shot at the $2,500 first money.

Three major campaigners in the 1933 season stood out tonight as the crack shotmakers most likely to give the defending titleholder trouble. These are Johnny Goodman, National Open champion; Gene Sarazen, P. G. A. champion, and Joe Kirkwood, Canadian Open titleholder.

Shute, however, has proved he is in top notch condition by virtue of his two up victory over Goodman recently in a round in which he tied the course record of 68, three under par.

The improved condition of the 6,640-yard par 71 course with 18 new greens, has brought a winning score prediction from the experts.

Chuck Collins, left end on the famous "Five Horsemen" team at Notre Dame in 1924, is serving his eighth year as head coach of football at the University of North Carolina.

"Plenty Offense"

Here's the veteran Fielding H. Yost, who has entered the controversy among coaches relative to the question: "Which side has the advantage—offensive or defensive?" (See story below).

Yost Believes Offense Is OK

There's Plenty Of Scoring To Please Average Fan, States Old Man Of Michigan; Defense Doesn't Have Advantage

(By The Associated Press)

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 7.—Fielding H. Yost, grand old man of Michigan football and member of the National Rules committee, turns a deaf ear toward suggestions that the defense now has most of the advantage on the gridiron.

Yost argues that when Army and Notre Dame pile up a total of 25 points in their annual game, it indicates there can be plenty of scoring under present rules, "if you have teams which are trained to get touchdowns."

"Princeton 27 and Yale 2, Southern California 31 and Georgia 0, Florida scoring 19 points on Maryland, Villanova 18 and Rutgers 13 should satisfy people who like scoring," he said.

Spontaneous Reversal

"Recently," Yost continued, "I heard a coach complain that the defense has all the advantage, and in the next breath he appealed to any and all present to tell him how his team could stop that rival halfback in his game."

The rule which makes a fumbled ball dead has done a great deal for the offense, in Yost's opinion.

"If you let defense players run with a recovered fumble, lateral passes and other sensational plays would disappear again immediately," he said. "And it seems to me there already is sufficient penalty for the mechanical error of fumbling. Loss of the ball means loss of position on the field, which is a very important factor.

Change of Positions

"Supposing you have the ball on an opponent's 40-yard line. There you have position for any sort of play and you are threatening to score. Losing the ball on a fumble means the other team can kick deep into your territory. It is likely to give your opponents the favorable position you just had."

Ending the play when a ball carrier's knee touches the ground has resulted in less piling on and has reduced the number of injuries, he believes and such a factor toward safety is not likely to be abolished.

Metzenthin Of Texas Forms No Opinion Regarding What To Do With Arkansas Squad

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—W. E. Metzenthin, chairman of the University of Texas athletic council, said today that his mind was still open in the matter of awarding the Southwest conference football championship to Arkansas university.

"I wish to state most emphatically that I have in no wise committed myself to any course of action, privately or publicly, in respect to the question of the University of Arkansas being awarded the football championship for the season just ended," Metzenthin said.

Metzenthin had been quoted as saying he would vote to award the conference championship to Arkansas, "unless additional evidence caused him to reverse his opinion."

Arkansas' claim to the title had been questioned because an ineligible player had participated in two games that were won by the Porkers.

Two younger brothers of Julius Alfonse, sensational sophomore halfback of the University of Minnesota team, are starring for Cumberland, Wis., high school this year.

Miami, Okla., high school's football team was unbeaten for three years until Claremore ended the string in a 6-0 game.

Major Leagues May Use Same Ball In 1934

Baseballs To Be Topic For A Big Discussion When Majors Meet Next Week; Nationals Hope To Retain Ball

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—A simple solution of one of the major controversies confronting the baseball magnates at their annual gatherings in Chicago last week—the difference between the American and National league baseballs—was offered today by Ed Barrow, the man behind the big guns of the New York Yankees.

"A compromise is the logical thing," he said. "Major league ball should be played with similar implements in both big leagues. Put the American League cover on the ball. Add the thicker stitching now used in the seams of the National league ball. That should satisfy everyone."

Apparently this is a compromise that will be discussed at great length when the magnates get together Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, argue over many things including 'synthetic" double headers, the re-election of Commissioner K. M. Landis, the suggestion for a regular series of inter-league games, and the constant plight of minor league ball.

A Pitchers Paradise

Last year there were devout protestations through and beyond winter meeting time that identical balls would be used in both leagues. But when the season rolled around, the American League was a hitters' circuit, the ball fast and agile. The National League was a pitchers' paradise, with Carl Hubbell achieving an earned run average of 1.6 per game that eclipsed everything since Grover Alexander's mark of 1.55, made with the Phillies in 1916.

The makeup of the two spheres, from the cover into and including the core, was identical Barrow said, although it had been thought the American League ball was wound with a finer yarn. The difference was all on the outside.

The American League cover was made from flank horsehide, and was lighter and more resilient than the leather used in the National League ball. The National League ball's cover was two grades thicker, with heavier thread, thereby giving the pitchers a better grip.

American Went Faster

"Hitting those two balls brought quite different results," Barrow said. "The American League ball traveled faster on the ground, lifted farther. When the National League ball was hit dead center it traveled just as far as the American League ball. But if it wasn't hit solidly, grounders were easier to handle and fly balls softer."

Such a compromise probably would meet opposition from Bill Terry, manager of the Yankees' neighbors, the world champion Giants. The Giants won the National League pennant and the World Series chiefly on brilliant pitching, backed with little real clouting. Undoubtedly they'd like another order of the same for 1934.

San Angelo Cats To Play El Paso

EL PASO, Dec. 7. (AP)—San Angelo High school's Bobcat football squad, 24 strong, arrived in El Paso late this afternoon but was put through a short workout by Coach Harry Taylor on the College of Mines football field in preparation for their bi-district clash Saturday afternoon with Bowie High school, of El Paso.

Taylor gave his gridders a passing drill until it became too dark to see a football.

The Bobcat coach said he plans to start the same lineup against Bowie that he used throughout the game against Sweetwater last week when the Angelo entry won the District Three championship. Another workout is slated for tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on the field of the high school stadium where the game will be played. The field was flooded today to soften it up for the bi-district tilt and was too soft for use this evening.

Chet Wynne Of Auburn Named To Coach At U. Of Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 7. (AP)—Chet Wynne, football coach at Auburn, will succeed Harry Gamage as coach of the University of Kentucky football squad next season if an agreement can be reached on contract terms, W. D. Funkhouser announced today.

Funkhouser's announcement came after a special meeting of the athletic council this afternoon. Wynne was interviewed by the council yesterday and returned to Alabama last night, saying he would have to "talk things over" at Auburn before making a decision.

"Roaring Roy" Morstadt, star basketballer, is starting at halfback on the Marquette university eleven this fall after previously serving as a guard and end.

COACH SYSTEMS

THERE is a tradition that universities usually change coaches to get a system of formations that will win championships. The man who has played football knows that almost any coaching system will win if the material and the breaks are there.

If there is anything over-rated in football it is the importance of coaches in winning conference championships. Glance back over a few of this year's Southwest conference games.

Coach Ray Morrison of Southern Methodist, and Coach Clyde Littlefield of Texas do not teach the same system. Texas beat Southern Methodist this year, 10 to 0, because a field goal was made possible when Shuford and Smith got mixed up on a reverse play in the Mustangs backfield and handed the ball to a Texas player on their 48-yard line. It wasn't a system that made this play possible. Instead it was just a football "boner" by a couple of sophomore backs. Texas later scored a touchdown because the Mustangs passed from behind their goal line. Morrison doesn't teach that kind of a system.

Texas Christian started a victory march over Southern Methodist when Captain Jack Graves rushed through and intercepted a short quick reverse lateral pass from Shuford to Turner in the Mustangs backfield. Coach Schmidt did not have a system for Graves to break through. Coach Morrison did not have a system to avoid such a break of the game.

ARKANSAS got a jump on Texas Christian when Ralph LaForge took the opening kick-off and raced through a broken field for 90 yards and a touchdown. Coach Fred Thomsen has never shown LaForge how to run 90 yards. LaForge simply had an open field and some blocking, and got away with it when he and Coach Thomsen probably would have been satisfied with a 10-yard return.

Texas A. and M. whipped Baylor 14 to 7 on probably the outstanding fluke touchdown of the season. Call this a system if you wish, but Baylor was the offensive club on the 18-yard line. A snap-back from center was untouched and rolled for a seventeen-yard loss when four Baylor backs got crossed on their signals and not only failed to handle the ball but allowed A. and M. to recover it on the goal line for an easy touchdown. Coach Morley Jennings doesn't teach a system in which his backs fail to handle the snap-back, and former Coach Madison Bell doesn't teach a system that makes the oppositions give his teams such glaring breaks.

GODWIN of Texas A. and M. kicked a 35-yard field goal against Texas because he is a fair kicker and because he had a strong wind at his back. Had the wind been against him no coaching system in the world would have aided him.

Winning and losing games go on and on in the same manner but no coach has a system that will win consistently without the material and the usual breaks that all winning teams get.

Dr. D. A. Penick, veteran faculty member and tennis coach at the University of Texas, rides a bicycle about the campus.

Rotan Invades Lamesa Today In Bi-District

Golden Tornado To Defend Its Field In Second Bi-District Class B Game; Is Favored To Beat Rotan

LAMESA, Dec. 9 (Special)—The Yellow Hammers of Rotan high school deploy on Lamesa today, meeting the Golden Tornado for the bi-district championship of Class B, Reigon 1.

Dope leans slightly toward the local team, which has a superior offensive and defensive record. Lamesa team is more of the powerhouse variety, while the Yellow Hammers are most deadly with the aerials possessing two excellent receivers and a howitzering back to toss them. Both teams are high scoring machines, Lamesa having run up 293 points to opposition's 7 during the fall, while Rotan has scored 159 points and held the enemy to two markers.

Expect Large Crowd

With interest high in both towns over the titular game, Lamesa authorities are making ready for the largest crowd of the season.

Today's game will be the second bi-district contest played in Lamesa, since the local high school joined the interscholastic league. In 1929 the Tornadoes lost to Hereford by a touchdown on the home field.

Cubs Get Ward In Bidding Contest

CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs today outbid four other major league clubs in purchasing Dick Ward, 22-year-old pitcher star, from the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league for cash and three players.

The players exchanged for Ward are Frank Demargee and James Mosolf, outfielders, and Ray Henshaw, a left handed pitcher who came to the Cubs from the University of Chicago. Demaree and Mosolf were sold outright while Henshaw was released on option.

Ward, a strapping 185 pounder nearly six feet tall, led the Pacific Coast League last season in games won and lost, winning 25 and losing nine. He has been playing professional baseball only two years, starting out with Wichita, Kan., a year ago. His home is Everett, Wash.

Las Vegas School Wants In Circuit

TEMPPE, Ariz., Dec. 7. (AP)—William D. Taylor of the Arizona Teachers college here, president of the Border Intercollegiate Athletic conference, announced today New Mexico Normal university at Las Vegas, has formally applied for membership in the loop.

Taylor said he would present the application at the midwinter meeting of the conference at Lubbock, Texas, next Monday but that no action could be taken until next spring. The constitution reads all applications for membership must be filed 30 days before the meeting.

Two Children Are Treated After Suffering Injuries

Two children were treated at West Texas hospital late yesterday after they had suffered injuries in separate mishaps.

Olan Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Walker, living on route 1, Lubbock, suffered a broken right shoulder and right wrist when he fell from a truck. He was received for treatment at 5:30 o'clock.

Mary Louise McMullan, daughter of Mrs. Ollie McMullan, 1411 Avenue L, suffered a severe laceration above her left eye when she ran against a post while playing. Several stitches were required to close the wound.

Game Warden Advises Against Hunt Of Birds Out Of Season, And Such

T. A. Harris, district game warden, of Lamesa, said yesterday that deputy wardens would be added to his staff in order to effect strict enforcement of game laws in Borden, Dawson, Gaines, Lubbock, Cochran, Hockley, Lynn, Yoakum, and Terry counties.

The warden declared that some hunters were shooting game from automobiles exceeding the bag limit, killing doves and prairie chicken out of season, in many instances without even having paid the hunting lecense fee.

The licenses, required for all persons who hunt outside their home county, may be procured at sporting goods and hardware stores or at the offices of county clerks.

Mr. Harris pointed out that minimum fine for shooting any game from an automobile was $25, and killing of a prairie chicken is punishable by a minimum fine of $50.

He also called attention to laws protecting a farmer's property, if the owner did not give permission for hunting on the farm.

"We don't like to fine anyone," Mr. Harris said. "When the game laws are violated, and we arrest the offender we have lost our game and he will have to pay a needless fine."

"Sleepy" Allison, giant Texas Christian lineman, won his nickname from teammates who said he fell asleep on the bench during a game.

CADET IS HONORED

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Dec. 7. (AP) — Ray Murray, star left end from Mercedes has been voted the most valuable Texas A. and M. football player for the 1933 season. His selection was made by a committee of coaches and donors of an annual award which will be presented Murray at a banquet next week. Murray lettered at end for the Cadets the last three years.

Walter "Pudge" Heffelfinger, Yale's all-American guard of the 90's, was the first player to pull out of the guard position to run interference.

Schoolboys In 2 Bi-District Battles Today

Corsicana Tigers To Play At San Antonio This Afternoon And Corpus Meets Brownsville Tonight; 6 Tomorrow

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The first of eight Texas Interscholastic league bi-district championship football games will be played Friday afternoon and Friday night when four of the sixteen Class "A" district champions swing into action.

Friday afernoon at San Antonio, the Corsicana Tigers, defending state champions, will take on the powerful Brackenridge High Eagles of San Antonio. Corsicana won the District 11 championship for the fourth straight year. Brackenridge won the District 12 title. By virtue of playing on their home gridiron, Eagle Field, the Brackenridge aggregation rules a slight favorite over Coach Johnny Pearce's Corsicana Tigers.

Friday night at Corpus Christi, the Brownsville District 16 champions will do battle against Corpus Christi, champion of District 15. The Brownsville lads, because of their playing in a weaker district and their inexperience, are doped by critics to lose. Corpus Christi rates as one of the strongest teams in bi-district competition.

Saturday afternoon games follow: Abilene (District 2) at Pampa (District 1).

San Angelo (District 3) at Bowie, El Paso (District 4).

Dallas Highland Park (District 6) at Wichita Falls (District 5).

Fort Worth Central (District 7) at Dallas Tech, Dallas (District 8).

Tyler (District 10) at Greenville (District 9).

Port Arthur (District 14) at San Jacinto, Houston (District 13).

Duke University and Kentucky have played annually since 1930 and Duke has won all four games.

The Christmas Spirit

REGARDLESS of whether we of the South Plains have collective or individual prosperity we should know one thing well. Good times or bad times, or anything relative, have nothing to do with the exaltation of Christmas. Thanks be, feeling here comes first, mind second. Millions of hearts respond to centuries of tradition. Detail vanishes and controversy surrenders. The tremendous assertions of love as power, redemption as truth and the Savior as fact, take possession. Our better selves are borne on a tide.

The worst the darkest thinking can say is extinguished by the Christmas spirit. There is no measure. By comparison of that past within the memories of living men, these are good times and this a good year. Taking a range of nearly 2,000 years and noting how, amid such desperations as we now can scarcely conceive Christmas was observed, becomes another reflection. But Spartan philosophizing is needless. There is no measure, least of all a money measure. We are seized by that in the heart, forget restraints and—give. It can be no one's boast and becomes towdry with too much show. It is normal.

As the Romans on the streets above in orgies celebrated the Saturnalia, or the ancient Feast of the Sun, the first celebrations of Christmas are said to have been held by the early Christians in the catacombs of Rome, below. In 400 A. D., by the Pope's action, Christmas became an ordained Church festival. Gradually, in the Christian world, Christmas supplanted earlier celebrations held prior to a concluding celebration of the New Year. Its centuries promulgated the conception of another sovereignty er life and the spirit as well, one in which self-sacrifice is the rule of action and love of mankind the power.

Christmas, 1933, will soon be at hand. Joy shall prevail against sadness, the dark places in the world be made bright, the unhappy made happy. It can not be otherwise. As it was centuries ago, so it remains. More widely than any message on radio waves is Christmas broadcast from heart to heart among the people of half the Earth.

THE WASHINGTON PAYROLL

Whatever the NRA, AAA, RFC, CCC and other government-by-abbreviations functions accomplish in the way of improving employment conditions, they cannot be said to have fallen down as job makers.

These recovery or emergency agencies have created 16,666 jobs to date and will continue to augment the federal payrolls at a time when the nation needs nothing more than jobs and payrolls. Another 16,000 temporary jobs have been created in the cabinet departments, which are doing their part of the recovery work.

Not included in these figures are the CCC enrollments, superintendents, foremen, clerks and others, who come under the forestry departments of the several states although they owe their salaries to Uncle Sam. These jobs run up into the thousands.

The net increase of federal jobs is, to be sure, only 3,000, due to the "resignations" which usually follow a change of administrations at Washington, yet the turnover has been tremendous. Releases since March 4 have numbered 145,000; appointments 148,000. Although some of the 145,000 are included in the 148,000, by virtue of reappointment in other departments, scores of thousands are now getting manna where others were getting it eight months ago.

"Jim" Farley, dubbed Prince of Pap by his president, seems to be doing right well by the faithful, the protests of Democratic congressmen to the contrary notwithstanding.

Man wages a continual battle against insects and diseases which attack trees and plants. And sometimes it appears that with all the weapons of science at hand he wages a losing battle.

John Jacob Astor, III, at 21 is heir to the $10,000,000 Astor fortune. As pleasant a birthday gift as we are able to think, off hand.

The glowworm paralyzes its prey by stinging it. That won't do for humans. We've been stung often, but we still can't avoid being stung again.

A TYRANT AND A SAVIOR

"When Herod, the king, heard it, he was troubled. Gathering together all the chief priests and scribes of the people, he inquired of them where the Christ should be born."—Matthew 2:3-4.

We usually judge people by our own standard of actions; therefore it is not surprising to find that Herod was afraid of Jesus. "Tyrants have always been suspicious of saviors."

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

THE brewers have thought themselves up quite an idea.

Briefly, it is that now we have repeal—or rather as soon as Congress gets back—3.2 beer should be taxed at the rate of $3 a barrel while brew of stronger voltage would be levied against at $6.

Their argument is that 3.2 beer is non-intoxicating in fact. They contend brewers who furnish the public with such a soft drink should get a break over the brewmeisters who try to get us tipsy.

Support of the drys is being banked on heavily to get the proposition across.

• • •

Representatives of the beer barons (as they used to be called) are working on Treasury officials to get them to make such a recommendation to Congress.

In one way or another the matter is going to be put up to the House Ways and Means committee.

The brewers are mindful of the fact Chairman Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina is classed as a prohibitionist.

• • •

Officials of at least one other federal department to which the proposition has been broached are fearful the Treasury may fall in line.

If it does, Chairman Doughton is going to get a memorandum opposing any such tax differential.

The man who stands ready to write it says the way would be split wide open to additional profit on beer with the customer thinking he is getting something potent but actually being served 3.2.

This would be on draft of course.

BORAH: Senator Borah is all cranked up to leap into the fight over a code for the aluminum industry.

He is fearful his amendment to the NRA law prohibiting any code which creates a monopoly is at stake.

General Johnson has indicated he's going to be very careful as to what he gets into while regulating hours and wages in the aluminum industry. The independents say some unfair practices clauses must go in or the trust will reign supreme.

• • •

To substantiate their point the independents call attention to the forthcoming bids on 2,000,000 pounds of aluminum for the Navy. The little fellows had opening of these bids postponed until December 28 pending outcome of the code squabble.

If the trust is required not to quote special ingot prices to its own subsidiaries the independents can bid on the Navy order. If no such clause is included they won't be able to meet the competition.

They argue this proves perfectly Mr. Mellon's Aluminum company is a monopoly. Borah is inclined to agree. You'll quite likely hear from him.

• • •

NICKEL: The recent decision of Germany, France and other countries to follow Japan's example and increase their nickel coinage on the surface looks like just another monetary move.

Our State, War and Navy Departments see something more significant in this doubling and tripling of the world demand for nickel.

They look upon it as another indication of the war fever now stirring in so many places.

• • •

A large reserve of nickel is highly useful in time of war. Coins made of this metal can be easily recalled from circulation and melted down for armament use.

Germany, suspected of so much in the way of secret re-arming, gets a special break from the situation.

You can't accuse a country of getting ready for battle just because it puts out a flock of nickel coins.

NOTES: This scrap over what constitutes sound money has produced some queer combinations. . . . President Roosevelt, who nominated Al Smith for the Presidency in 1928, is being attacked by Al. . . . Smith gets a hand from Rep. Ham Fish, Republican, of New York. . . . Senator Borah, who usually is opposed to the administration, comes to the President's defense. . . . New political parties in the making? . . . Returners from Warm Springs with Mr. Roosevelt report the executive has discovered a method of disposing of those innumerable knicknacks and curiosities that continuously flood in on the White House. . . . NEW YORK
By James McMullin

MANY local bankers agree with Winthrop Aldrich's criticism of the Federal Reserve who don't agree with him about anything else. The Federal Reserve bank's easy money policy of 1928—adopted with the blessing of British authorities—was generally admitted to have contributed vitally to excessive zest for speculation.

Insiders blame it less on the system than on the lack of leadership at the time. Governor Benjamin Strong ruled the bank with an iron hand but he was laid up most of that year with the illness which preceded his death and bank policy tended to drift into the easiest channels.

New York suspects that Aldrich's remarks were meant to pave the way to revision of the Federal Reserve act. The changes would give the government much broader powers of intervention. That might be a practical compromise with the demand from radical Congressmen for abolition of the Federal Reserve.

• • •

ALDRICH: Suggestions for plugging the loopholes in the Banking Act of 1933 made by Mr. Aldrich fitted in beautifully with pre-arranged plans. Congress is expected to enact them early in the session with Presidential approval—and Aldrich will be the fair-haired boy. Local bankers do not quarrel particularly with his ideas but sort of wish they had thought of them first.

Mr. Aldrich's comments about investment bankers stirred mixed emotions among the tribe. They noted especially his comment that "investment banking should not be destroyed or superseded by a government agency" and wonder if they are supposed to be grateful for the crumb. They aren't.

• • •

REBUTTAL: Albert Wiggin still has a number of friends and defenders hereabouts. They are extremely bitter toward Mr. Aldrich and claim that he deliberately dumped everything on Wiggin's back in order to protect his own position. They insist that the case against Wiggin was made to appear much worse than it actually was and that he was given no opportunity to present a rebuttal.

They also inquire why no one asked any questions about the German loans which the Chase inherited from the Equitable.

It is true that Wiggin was a much larger stockholder in the Chase than is customary for bank officers and that he therefore had an important personal stake in the effect of his decisions. It is also true that he was bold enough to tide over hundreds of businesses by extending them credit in '29 and '30 when other banks were frantically calling in their loans.

EXPLANATION OF YESERDAY'S CAROON

A MAIL DELIVERY RECORD

David S. Wilder was appointed a mail carrier in May, 1890, 43 years ago. He was assigned to the Myers and Tate block, Toledo, Ohio, and has continued to deliver mail there ever since. The block is the only one left on his route of 43 years ago. Mr. Wilder now takes in the four sides of the original block and his unusual record is evidenced by two gold stripes on his sleeve, each stripe denoting 20 years of service.

ELECTED IN JAIL

After qualifying for the office of Constable in Ward 2 of Natchitoches Parish, La., Frank Brigman was arraigned in court charged with violation of the 18th Amendment on November 20, 1931. Upon his plea of guilty, he received a jail sentence and a fine. The election held January 19, 1932 found the successful candidate in jail.

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAVID BANNISTER, author, returns from Hollywood to his former home, Tremont, for a rest. He is trying to forget ADELE ALLEN, film actress, who jilted him.

Bannister dines with JIM PAXTON, an old friend now editor of the Tremont Post. They talk about the days when both were reporters. Bannister leaves Paxton and takes a cab. Passing the Shelby Arms apartment hotel, the cab is halted by a traffic light. A girl comes out of the hotel, sees the cab and rushes toward it. When she sees Bannister she is embarrassed. He offers her the cab and she agrees to ride with him to her destination. The girl drops her handbag and Bannister sees that it contains a revolver.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

In a moment more they had passed the street light. Bannister stared at the girl but in the darkness her features were only vaguely outlined. He said, "This is yours, isn't it" and held out the revolver.

Her "Thank you," was low-pitched but clear-voiced. She slipped the gun back into her handbag.

"If that thing happens to be loaded," Bannister said with some feeling, "I hope you'll be careful with it!"

"Oh, it's not loaded!"

But was it? She might have given the same answer even though the cylinder was filled with bullets. She might—and probably would—have said the same thing if she didn't want a complete stranger wondering why she was going about carrying a loaded revolver in her handbag.

Bannister looked at the girl again closely. Suddenly he wanted very much to know who she was. He wanted to know why she had come out alone on this stormy evening, why she was going to the Hotel Tremont. He felt almost as though he were being swept into an adventure.

But that was nonsense. "Her name's probably Hattie Smith," he told himself. "She's late for a date with her boy friend who's a collector for the gas company and she forgot her umbrella."

He didn't believe any of those things but he wanted to curb the suddenly rising exhilaration he felt. Exhilaration, alas, that was doomed to be short-lived, sure to be disappointed.

He turned again, this time catching the girl's quick, side-wise glance, and knew she had been watching him. Bannister said, with an attempt at casual pleasantry, "Well we might talk about the weather. I got quite a bit of it—the weather, I mean—down my neck, standing there in the street."

"I'm sorry," the girl told him. Her voice trembled. There was no doubt of it now. "I didn't know it was your cab. I didn't know there was anyone—"

"Of course you didn't," Bannister interrupted. "But there's certainly no reason why two people shouldn't ride in a cab made to hold five. As a matter of fact, I like company!"

That was a mistake; he could tell it instantly. The girl did not draw away. There was no increasing of the distance between them, but she seemed all at once to become remote. He noticed then that she was sitting rigidly, clutching the handbag with both hands.

Well, damn it, she didn't need to be afraid of him! If she didn't want to talk he certainly wasn't going to try to make her.

Unexplainably Bannister was annoyed. They rode in silence for several blocks after that. They had reached the business district and the streets had grown wider, brighter. Presently the cab rounded a corner and the marquee above the hotel entrance, lined by electric bulbs, came into view. A moment more and the cab had halted.

Bannister was on the sidewalk instantly. He put out a hand for the girl but she ignored it. In the strong glow of the electricity she stepped forward—a slender, green-clad figure. "Thank you," she said, turning to the man. "Thank you so much!"

Just for an instant his eyes met hers—gray eyes, wide-set, beneath dark lashes. But David Bannister noticed neither the color of those eyes or their shape. He knew as he looked into that face— so strangely white, so strangely tense —that he was looking into tragedy.

Then the girl in the green suit was gone.

• • •

There was the fragrance of freshly baked muffins and crisp, browned sausages over the breakfast table, to which was added one more pungent aroma as Kate Hewlitt poured coffee into cups of eggshell porcelain.

"I didn't hear you come in last night, David," she said primly.

"That's because I was here before you were."

"Oh?" His aunt's tone showed surprise. "Well, I guess it was late when I got here," she admitted. Aunt Kate looked the soul of placid domesticity. She was a small, rather stout woman with gray hair knotted high on her head, pink cheeks and blue eyes which, just then, bore a mild expression behind their gray shellrimmed spectacles. Her dress was a blue and white cotton—exactly the sort of dress David Bannister thought, that his aunt had worn for her morning housework all the years he had known her.

"How was the picture?" he asked.

"Well, I've seen better," Aunt Kate said critically. "The acting was all right but I didn't think so much of the plot. It was about a girl who fell in with a gang of crooks and then shot a man because she didn't know she loved him until afterward. Then she found it out and went to prison and reformed. Kind of silly I thought!"

Aunt Kate went on, naming the star of the picture. "She was awfully good in the sad parts," she said. "I didn't care much for the rest of it, though. The leading man was a new one I've never

High School Boy Answers Criticisms

Editor, The Avalanche: In reply to a statement that was published last Tuesday, December 5:

I do not agree with the young lady in regard to our officials being responsible for the cut in gym activities. I think they have done admirably well in running the school at all. They are very conservative, considering the present conditions.

We have a hard but good school, but all the better to make us good citizens. We cannot see where the old-fashioned part comes in. We have lost only three games in the complete season. But would we have won the rest if the girls had not kept the "home fires burning?"

The Pampa band was composed of over half girls but it was because the school could not find any bright boys.

If the citizens will inspect this matter with every consideration it can be easily seen why the school cannot afford gym activities.

I thank you.

A Boy of L. H. S.,
Durwood Taylor.

Oklahoma District Judge Is Fined $500 By Jury Verdict

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 7. (AP) — District Judge Mark L. Bozarth of Okmulgee was convicted of obtaining money under false pretenses and assessed a $500 fine by a jury here today. The fine was the only penalty carried by the verdict.

The specific charge was that Judge Bozarth collected double salary for November, 1931. The veteran jurist, a district judge for more than 20 years, contended a clerical error led to the filing of duplicate salary claims.

Golf was prohibited in Scotland in the fifteenth century.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN, No. 41

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

With a gasp of terror, Jane clasped the stricken infant closer, turned and fled up the trail. Far behind came the shouting of men and the sound of shots. She knew the Swede had met the Russian! There was no time to be lost! A half hour later she stumbled, exhausted, into a little thatched village. Quickly she was surrounded by a swarm of eager, curious, excited natives.

They asked a hundred questions, no one of which she could understand. Pointing tearfully at the piteously wailing baby, she repeated over and over. "Fever—fever." A young woman now seemed to sense her trouble and took her to a hut, where the witch doctor came. He boiled a zebra's tail, made weird passes, and mumbled strange incantations. The women sat about moaning and wailing.

It must have been nearly midnight when she became aware of a commotion in the village. Presently footsteps approached the hut in which she sat before a fire, with the baby that now lay very still in her lap. She looked at the little face, with fear-haunted eyes. The footsteps she had heard without the hut halted before the door and she was conscious of a strange familiar voice speaking without.

And now she was aware that someone had entered. One of the women threw a fagot upon the dying embers, which, with a sudden flare, lighted up the interior. The blaze disclosed to Jane's horrified gaze that the baby was lifeless! Over the silence broke the hideous wailing of the women. In her misery, Jane heard her name spoken. Startled, she raised her eyes—and beheld the evil visage of Nikolas Rokoff.

7—Business Opportunities (Gen.)

A Real Money Maker

One of the latest and most up-to-date sandwich shops in West Texas. Ideally located. Complete modern equipment, including good fountain, etc. This is a deal worth the consideration of a real "live" couple. Will trade for equity in home, small farm, or real automobile. This business is now making money, has cost money, so "chislers" need not waste their time and my own. If you are interested see—

SHERIFF'S SALE
The State of Texas; County of Lubbock.
Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the honorable 99th District Court of Lubbock County, on the 6th day of December, 1933, by the clerk of said Court for the sum of Nineteen Hundred Thirty-and 68-100 ($1930.68) Dollars and costs of suit, under a judgment rendered, in favor of Mrs. Ethel Scales Mauldin, Guardian of the estate of Mary Louise Scales Blocker and Ethel Jean Scales, joined pro forma by her husband W. A. Mauldin, in a certain cause in said Court, No. 5618 and styled Mrs. Ethel Scales Mauldin et al vs. E. J. Edwards, et al and, placed in my hands for service, I, Tom Abel as Sheriff of Lubbock County, Texas, did, on the 7th day of December, 1933, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Lubbock County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit: All that certain tract or parcel of land situated in the County of Lubbock in the State of Texas, better known as the North Sixty Three (63) feet of Lots one (1) and Two (2) and the North Sixty Three (63) feet of the East half of Lot Three (3) in Block One Hundred Three (103) of the Overton Addition to the City of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas and levied upon as the property of E. J. Edwards, et al and that on the first Tuesday in January, 1934, the same being the 2nd day of said month, at the Court House door of Lubbock County, in the City of Lubbock, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale, I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said E. J. Edwards, et al.
And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, newspaper published in Lubbock County.
Witness my hand, this 7th day of December, 1933.
TOM ABEL,
Sheriff Lubbock County, Texas.
By B. F. CARPENTER, Deputy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS.
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:
You are hereby commanded to summon W. C. Yell and Mrs. W. C. Yell by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, to appear at the next regular term of the 99th District Court of Lubbock County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the 2nd Monday in January, A. D., 1934, the same being the 8th day of January, A. D., 1934, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 24th day of August, A. D. 1933, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 5730, wherein The Peoples Building and Loan Association of El Paso, Texas, a corporation, is Plaintiff, and Joe W. Harris, Ruby Jarrell Harris and A. B. Bardwell and T. P. Hodges, are Defendants, and said petition alleging the note sued upon, executed by Joe W. Harris and wife, Ruby Jarrell Harris, gave a $2500.00 note, dated the 8th day of September, A. D., 1933 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 5733, wherein The Peoples Building and Loan Association of El Paso, Texas, a corporation, is Plaintiff, and W. C. Yell, Mrs. W. C. Yell, I. R. Street and wife, J. Verna Street, Don Bradley and Mrs Pauline Campbell, a widow, and W. F. Suddath are Defendants, and said petition alleging I. R. Street and wife, J. Verna Street gave a note for $1300.00, dated April 2, 1930, to plaintiff and secured it by a deed of trust filed on all the North One-half of Lots 1, 2, 3, and 8, Block 64, of the Original Town of O'Donnell, Lynn County, Texas. This property was conveyed by unrecorded deeds to W. C. Yell who now together with Mrs. W. C. Yell claim title to this property. That the other defendants are claiming various interest in said property which are second to liens of Plaintiff. Plaintiff also asks to recover $116.80 against Street and wife for taxes paid on this property by plaintiff, secured by a tax lien on this property.
Plaintiff asks for judgment for $1800.00 on note as principal interest and attorney's fee, and for $116.80 taxes paid, against I. R. Street and J. Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Favorable dividend news, the good reception given the government's December financing and an apparent willingness to anticipate business improvement made for quiet firmness in stocks today.
The average advance was fractional and volume, 1,593,137 shares, was only moderate but the market received persistent support and the absence of speculative pyrotechnics was not bemoaned in many quarters. Corporation bonds again rallied, though federal loans were depressed, presumably because of competition from the new issue. Wheat behaved rather indecisively, while corn strengthened and cotton took the sidelines.
Dollars moved narrowly on the foreign exchange market, with fluctuations favoring our currency. There was still no change in the treasury's $34.45 price, which has been at $34.01 an ounce since last Friday, and this absence of official pressure found our currency again manifesting its recent readiness to advance, as is normally the case at this season when Europe is paying for raw material purchases made here.
Stock dealings were selective, traders concentrating on such groups as rails, packing shares, textiles and the construction issues. Several preferred equities rallied well.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7. (AP) — With the government's final estimate of the crop due tomorrow, trading in cotton today was extremely dull and prices fluctuated narrowly. The close was steady at net advances for the day of 1 to 3 points.
The opening was steady with Liverpool a shade better than due starting at 68.11 and cold unchanged at 134.61. First trades here were 2 points up and the market held around the opening figures for some time but started to ease near the end of the first hour. Slightly easier sterling and lack of animation in stocks and grain were the factors behind the selling which carried March down to 10.03 and May to 10.17 or 4 points down from the highs at the opening and 2 points under the previous close.
In the afternoon the market was steadier in sympathy with some improvement in stocks, steadier sterling and some short covering. Prices made new highs in the late trading at 10.09 for March and 10.23 for May or 6 points up from the lows of the morning and 4 points above the previous close. Prices closed 1 point at the end and March closed at 10.08 and May at 10.22 or 2 points net higher for the day.
Port receipts 19,672, for week 195,694, for season 4,977,656, last season 6,141,839. Exports 58,174, for week 224,621, for season 3,550,945, last season 3,383,343. Port stock 4,097,368, last year 4,794,027. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans Galveston and Houston 134,723, last year 156,824. Spot sales at southern markets 18,134, last year 31,309.

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Dec. 7. (AP)—Cotton was quiet today and prices held in a fairly steady way within a range of 7 or 8 points. March contracts after selling off to 10.08 during the morning rallied to 10.12 in the later trading and closed at 10.10. The general market finished steady not unchanged to 3 points higher.
Traders found no particular inspiration in the early Liverpool cables and the opening was quiet with prices unchanged to 1 point higher.
There was enough buying to steady the market after early moderate losses and prices hardened later in the day on covering and local buying prompted by the firmer tone of the stock market.
December advanced to 9.86 and May to 10.16 making net gains of 3 or 4 points, but closing prices were 2 or 3 points off from the best on some positions.
Southern selling was light, and general business was restricted because of tomorrow's government report.
Private crop reports published during the past few days point on the average to a crop of about 13,982,000 bales of 500 pounds gross, while according to a recent canvass, New York cotton exchange members on the average are expecting a crop of about 13,178,000 bales. Exports today 61,176. Making 3,867,977 so far this season. Port receipts 27,343. U. S. port stock 4,060,754.

Child Dies

and I didn't know it still was on the place," the father said. "The boys got it by answering some advertisement."
There was to have been a happy Christmas at the Barber home this year. The father was too grief-stricken to tell about it last night.

Planning Pretty Big

Reade Wendell already had decided what he wanted Santa Claus to bring him. All the boys had "been planning pretty big," Mr. Barber said.
Owen C. Powell and R. H. Stevens, neighbors of the Barbers, were here with Mr. Barber last night.
Funeral arrangements had not been completed, but rites probably will be conducted this afternoon at Idalou. The child was survived by his parents, who formerly lived at Sylvester, Tex.; the brothers, Dale, 12; Lanier, 10; Vernon, 8, and Carol, 5; his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Barber of Spur, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Nannie Carothers of Sylvester. Sanders Funeral home will direct burial.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT
KANSAS CITY, Dec. 7. (AP)—Moderate activity developed on better grade light weight steers and yearlings with prices ranging unevenly strong to 25 higher. In most cases, the advance was limited to an increase of 10 to 15. Medium weight and heavy steers were considered mostly steady at the majority of markets, but at Chicago late trade found steers with weight selling at weak to 25 lower levels. That market reported selling prices on heaven scaling 1400 lb. and below about as low as any time this season. Sales of choice yearlings and light steers were quite numerous at $7.75@8.75, while the bulk of steers with weight made 7.75@8.25. Receipts for the week to date at ten markets numbered 182,000 against 139,856 last week and 147,089 a year ago.
Advances of 5 to 10 as compared with Wednesday's average business were prevalent in hog trade with Chicago securing a late top of 3.60.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT
FORT WORTH, Dec. 7. (AP)—Fair demand continued for the light offerings on the Fort Worth cash grain market.
Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to delivery point:
Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: wheat No. 1 hard 91 1-2@92 1-2. Barley No. 2 nominally 60@61; No. 3 nominally 59@60.
Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 1.01@1.03; No. 3 milo nominally 99@1.01; No. 2 kaffir nominally 83@86; No. 3 kaffir nominally 83@84.
Delivered Texas common points or group three: corn No. 2 mixed 44 1-2@46 1-2; No. 2 white 46@47; No. 3 yellow 45@46; oats No. 2 red 46 1-2@48 1-2; No. 3 red 44 1-2@46 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, Dec. 7. (AP)—Corn and oats led in speculative activity on the Chicago board of trade today, and both ended with substantial gains, whereas wheat action proved indecisive.
In the corn market larger feeding demand due to wintry temperature was simultaneous with increased effects of an unprecedented rural crop holding movement fostered by government loans. Oats displayed independent strength owing to trade reports pointing to likelihood of early absorption of the available commercial supply.
A firm close at virtually the day's top level was witnessed in corn and in oats as well, with each of the two grains 5-8 to 1 1-2 cents above yesterday's finish, wheat 1-2 cent off to 3-4 up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

shouldered administrator. He said he had not heard the "rumor" and indicated that even if a post in NRA were offered him, he would not take it.
"Do you intend to quit?" he was asked.
Peek studied the question thoughtfully before replying:
"I don't want to discuss that."
Peek was a luncheon guest at the White House and remained to talk over the situation. Tugwell participated in the conference with the president and left the White House with Peek.

Declines Comment

On his return to the farm administration, Peek went immediately to Wallace's office and talked to the secretary for almost an hour. Afterwards, he declined to discuss reports of his resignation.
An extensive check-up in personnel probably would follow Peek's departure.
Among persons mentioned by officials as likely to quit were: Dr. Clyde King, head of the milk section; Guy Shepard, chief of the corn and hog processing section; Wayne Taylor, administrative assistant to Peek; Frederick P. Lea, Peek's personal attorney who is not on the government payroll although he occupied an office at the farm administration; Major T. W. Dunning, assistant to W. I. Westervelt, chief of the marketing and processing division; Westervelt himself and James D. Dole, head of the food products section.

Agrees With Peek

Westervelt was loaned to the farm administration by Sears Roebuck and company and for some time has agreed with Peek on matters of policy.
Officials said today, that there was still a possibility that Secretary Wallace and the administrator might yet reach an "understanding" which would result in Peek's retention of his post. But they said also that this possibility seemed slight. Wallace returned to the White House late today for a further conference.
President Roosevelt has been seeking a compromise between Secretary Wallace and Peek.

Rift Is Growing

For months a rift between Wallace and the administrator, both coworkers in the farm cause for years, has been growing.
One reason, officials said today, was that Peek felt his authority as administrator should in a measure conform to the sway given Hugh S. Johnson over the national recovery administration.
Wallace felt that his should be the final word and since his views did not coincide with those of Peek on many important matters of policy, friction has steadily increased.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Fine Suits Are Wonderful Values At These Popular Prices

There is no need to question the "Value of the Dollar" or the "Kind of Dollar" we now have if you are speaking in terms of "Suit Dollars" for these values this season are the most outstanding we have ever known in any kind of Dollars.

Finest wool materials that in other season never would have appeared in even the moderately priced ranges are an outstanding feature that brings you color fastness, wonderful appearance and unusual service.

Tailoring now is so far superior to that of several seasons ago that it is entirely correct for us to claim for these suits most of the same tailoring features that appeared only in $75 suits of these seasons.

Ranges of patterns and models are decidedly more outstanding than those of that time for the art of weaving and dyeing has progressed tremendously during these depression years.

Yes truly these are wonderful values at real popular prices—suits that we would especially commend to you attention for we would be very happy indeed if we could believe that it wuld be possible for us to again offer you such values in future seasons at—

Senate Bank Probe Closed

Detroit Institutions Will Be Investigated By Committee As Inquiry Is Again Started On December 18

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The senate stock market committee completed its inquiry into the Chase National bank today and recessed until December 18 when it will investigate Detroit banks.

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Senate stock market investigators were told today that while Harvey Couch, a director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, owed money to the Chase National bank, the RFC made loans to railroads that resulted in payments of more than $10,000,000 to the bank.

Charles S. McCain, chairman of the bank board, an old friend of Couch's described to the banking committee half a dozen railroad loans by the RFC which he said permitted payment by the carriers of indebtedness to the bank.

Still Owes $153,000

He also disclosed that Couch still owes the bank $153,000 jointly with an associate in Arkansas.

Another loan, made individually to Couch, McCain said, was undercollateralized for six months in 1931, but has since been paid.

McCain said the Chase bank received the following payments from railroads as a result of RFC loans: Wabash, $1,500,000, August, 1932; Rock Island, $2,000,000, June, 1932; St. Louis and Southwestern, $4,500,000, April, 1932; Chicago and Northwestern, $1,000,000, September, 1932; Baltimore and Ohio, $1,250,000 (no date).

Loan Described

The loan still outstanding by Couch to the Chase bank, McCain testified, was originally a $625,000 advance to Couch and C. H. Moses, of Little Rock.

McCain, who said he and Couch were old friends, testified they jointly borrowed $625,000 from the Chemical National bank a few years ago but had repaid it.

He testified that he increased his own Chase loan in 1931 to permit Couch to retire some of his undercollateralized loan.

Chairman Fletcher placed in the record a letter from Couch denying any "irregularity" in his relations with the Chase bank.

Bids Asked On Highway Work

NRA Emergency Construction In Six More Counties Over State Planned; Estimated Cost Now $1,210,000

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—The highway commission today advertised for bids on NRA emergency construction in six more counties, the proposals to be opened December 18. The latest list brought the estimated cost of projects to be bid on that date to $1,210,000.

Jefferson county is on the list for three pieces of work. On highway three 13.5 miles of grading, from Amelia to a point two miles east of the Liberty county line and widening on pavement in Beaumont is proposed. The concrete pavement on highway eight in Beaumont also would be widened for a distance of 1.3 miles.

Other projects, by counties:

Cameron: 2.5 miles grading, drainage structures and concrete pavement, from highway four to Boca Chica road and thence to the international airport.

Fort Bend: Widening concrete pavement in Richmond, highway three.

Sabine: 3.2 miles grading and drainage structures, from Bronson, south, highway eight.

Hill: 11.1 miles grading and drainage structures, from 1 1-2 miles east of Branson into Hillsboro, highway 22.

TO LEAVE COACHING

Jim "Swede" Oberlander, former Dartmouth grid star and now coach at Middletown, Conn., will enter Lakeside Hospital at Cleveland next year as an interne, having been given a degree by the Yale Medical School.

"And I Adore Him," Declares Joan

"He's sweet and I adore him," said Joan Crawford when this picture was taken of her and Franchot Tone, also of the films, "but we are not engaged."

Lubbock Jurists To Attend Meet

Lubbock will be well-represented at a dinner-program of the seventh supreme judicial district at Hilton hotel at Plainview tonight.

District Judges Clark M. Mullican and Homer L. Pharr, District Attorney Daniel A. Blair, and County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson will be among the local officials who will attend.

Other attorneys, who were reported to be planning to go included: E. L. Klett, George R. Bean, Geo. W. Dupree, C. C. Crenshaw, W. H. Bledsoe, Durwood Bradley, J. E. Vickers, W. W. Campbell, Owen McWhorter, Jess Levens.

Attorneys from the 46 West Texas counties in the district are expected to attend. Chief Justice W. R. Hall and Associate Justices A. B. Martin and M. J. R. Jackson of the seventh district court of civil appeals at Amarillo have accepted invitations. Other prominent Texas jurists have been invited.

SQUASH BRANCHES OUT

LONDON (AP) — Increased interest being taken by spectators in squash rackets and the limited accommodation available around the courts—about 20 people—has led to plans being considered for the building of a proper match court with accommodation for several hundred spectators.

Suit For $25,000,000 Filed Against Yount-Lee Company

BEAUMONT, Dec. 7. (AP)—Suit for $25,000,000 was filed against the Yount-Lee Oil company of Beaumont in United States district court here today by Mrs. Jeanette Mann et vir of Los Angeles, Calif. The sum represents the estimated value of oil extracted by the defendant company from a tract of land of Spindletop field to which plaintiffs claim title, contending that they maintained possession of it for more than ten years prior to July 1, 1926, at which time they were allegedly ejected in an unlawful manner.

seen before. Had a kind of funny way he parted his hair. I don't think I like him much—"

She chattered on. David discovered that he was not listening and then presently heard her words again.

"The reason I didn't get home sooner," Aunt Kate was saying, "was because I stayed to see the vaudeville acts. I missed them the first time and I wanted to see Tracy King. He's the young fellow who leads the band, you know. Master of ceremonies, they call him. Well, sir—he didn't show up at all!"

"What was the matter?"

"I'm sure I don't know! Another young fellow came out on the stage and just said that Mr. King wouldn't be there. So they went ahead without him."

"Aunt Kate, are you trying to tell me that you've fallen for one of those sleek-haired masters of ceremony? At your age? I'm surprised at you!"

* * *

His aunt's gaze held sharp rebuke. "I haven't 'fallen for him', as you put it," she said, "but somebody else has. That's the reason I wanted to get a good look at him. You remember Denise Lang, don't you? She must have been in short dresses when you were here last. A little thing with light curly hair and blue eyes—"

"You mean the Lang that makes the hair tonic and patent medicine and had the big house out on Sheridan Road? Didn't know he had a daughter."

"Well, he has. She's grown into a beautiful young woman, too. Denise must be about 18—no, I guess she's 19. She's an only child. Her mother died when she was little tot. Well, last week her engagement was announced to this Tracy King!"

"The orchestra leader?" Bannister whistled softly. "Lang must be worth close to a million, isn't he?"

"More like two million, I guess," Kate Hewitt shrugged. "At least he used to be. Maybe he's lost some of it lately. I should think it would just about break the man's heart to have Denise marry anybody like that!"

"Oh, maybe he's not so bad!"

"And maybe he's not so good either. I'm not saying anything against anyone, but a young man like that is no match for Denise Lang, the richest and prettiest girl in Tremont! I guess there have been plenty of others crazy about this young fellow though. Lily Evans was talking about it the other day. They invited him to the parties out at the Country Club and all that. I've seen him once or twice but I never paid much attention to him. That's why I wanted to get a good look at him last night. It just makes me sorry for Arthur Lang! A girl like that, raised with every advantage! But I suppose she's used to having her own way—"

The sausages and muffins had been consumed. David, finishing his second cup of coffee, glanced about the room uncomfortably.

"Want the paper, don't you?" his aunt volunteered. "I forgot to bring it in. Go and get it, David."

He arose, disappeared into the hall and then was back with the folded newspaper under his arm. Still standing, he spread out the pages.

His aunt heard his short, sharp ejaculation and turned.

"What is it?" she demanded. "What's the matter?"

David Bannister thrust the newspaper before her. "Guess your orchestra leader was murdered last night," he told her. "Look at this!"

The glaring headlines read: "TRACY KING, BAND LEADER, SLAIN IN HOTEL." But it was not at that headline Bannister was staring. His eyes were fixed on two lines in smaller type below.
