Wreckage Of Car In Which Two Persons Died

This was what was left of a 1954 Ford Victoria Saturday after it crashed into a huge oil transport truck just north of Big Spring. Two young Latin-Americans, Julian Nunez and Louis Arispe, were instantly killed in the wreck. Three other persons were injured.

2 Killed, 3 Hurt In Auto-Truck Crash

Two young Latin American youths were killed instantly and three women injured seriously in a car-truck collision early Saturday two miles north of Big Spring on the Snyder highway.

The dead are:

Julian Lerma Nunez, 19, driver of the car.

Louis Arispe, 20.

In the Cowper Hospital suffering from lacerations, bruises and shock and reported to be in serious condition are:

Mrs. Sabina Valverde, 36, extensive head cuts, severe shock.

Miss Theodore Arispe, 18, bruises and cuts.

Miss Esperanza Chavarria, 17, bruises, cuts and lacerations.

Given first aid but not admitted to the hospital was Thomas K. Jackson, 1623 E. 3rd St., driver of the oil transport truck. He suffered a bruised left side.

Arispe and Nunez were eighth and ninth traffic victims for Big Spring and Howard County in 1958. Two of the tragedies have been inside the city limits. The patrol records will show the two deaths as Nos. 6 and 7 for the county proper.

Most recent traffic fatality was on July 6—in which Erlinda Ortega, 18, Big Spring, died.

Highway patrol officers indicated the fatal crash resulted from the blowout on a front tire of a 1954 Ford Victoria, driven by Nunez. The car was owned by Ernest Lemon, a friend of the dead youth. Lemon said he has loaned his car to Nunez to take it to a garage for a minor repair. He did not know that it was being driven on the Snyder highway, he said.

According to officers, Nunez and his friends were traveling westward toward Big Spring. The truck, owned by Eagle Transport, was going toward Snyder.

It was reported that another motorist who was following the Ford told of the blowout on a right front wheel.

Officers measured the track marks and said the car traveled 342 feet before it collided with the big truck. The accident ocurred on the curve near the Oil Transport Co. warehouse.

Officrs said that the Ford traveled 200 feet before it crossed the center stripe on the pavement. At this instant the truck apparently swerved to the south and the vehicles collided on the improved road shoulder.

The right front fender of the passenger car crashed into the left front of the truck. The impact caused the car to spin around and the back smashed into the left rear of the truck.

Both the front and rear of the car were equally crushed. The car engine was torn bodily from the wreckage and was thrown more than 20 feet from the point of the crash.

Nunez and Arispe were badly mangled and were killed instantly. Body of Nunez was removed to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. That of Arispe was taken to the River Funeral Home. Ambulances from both funeral homes were called to the scene.

Arispe's front leg was in a cast as result of an earlier accident, it was said.

It was the second tragedy involving violent death in the Arispe family in little more than a year. On June 6, 1957, a brother, Filemon Arispe, lost his life by drowning in a lake near Snyder.

Funeral services for Nunez are to be at 8 a.m. Monday in Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Father Adolph Metzger will officiate. Burial is to be in City Cemetery. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Nunez was born on Jan. 1, 1939, in Ruidosa, Texas. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Nunez, whose home is in the Elbow community. Nuñez was a laborer and was said to have been recently employed on the Capehart building project.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Belen Nunez of Big Spring, in addition to his parents.

Arrangements for Arispe were incomplete, River Funeral Home said late Saturday.

He was the son of Mrs. Delores Arispe of Big Spring.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by four brothers, Trina Arispe, Sebro Arispe, Julian Arispe, and Alonzo Arispe, all of Big Spring; five sisters, Mrs. Rosenda Gonzales, Mrs. Eunacio Rodriguez, Mrs. Sabina Valverde and Miss Theodora Arispe, all of Big Spring, and Mrs. Frances Cortez, Lamesa.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Rain brought mixed blessings to the area last week. Cotton was spotting to some degree, but the extent of damage will hinge on whether warm bright weather returns this week. Ranges were enchanced in most areas and along the north edge of Howard and the south part of Borden Countries, a young deluge fell Friday. Lake Thomas picked up a billion gallons of water.

* * *

There was speculation that the final figure on the county tax roll may be above $53,000,000. The board of equalization cleaned up its slate of work during the week, and engineers are running out tabulations. Oil values are up by more than a million, and other values will show a higher gain than that.

* * *

Nortex No. 1 Sterling, which almost straddles the Howard-Mtchell lne, looked good for a Wolfcamp strike last week on a drillstem test at 5,918-40. It recovered free oil, no water. In southeast Martin, Humble No. 1 McKaskle returned gas on a test in the Pennsylvanian.

Membership sales in the Big Spring Concert Association were off to a good start last week. Over in Snyder, where one of our programs, "Diary of Anne Frank," was booked on condition of enough sales, the house was over-sold quickly. Besides the play, the local association here has San Antonio Symphony, Chicago Civic Opera Ballet, and Dylan Todd.

Howard County Junior College will close out its registration Monday. With 641 signed so far, it looks like a 12 per cent increase in the head count. The semester hour load may be up by 15 per cent.

75 Attend TSTA Clinic

About 75 teachers and guests registered at the workshop for local unit leaders of the District 4 Texas State Teachers Assn., at Goliad Jr. High School Saturday.

I. T. Graves was presiding over the meeting which adjourned at 2 p.m. Graves, Floydada, is president of this district.

Keynote address was a report and recommendations of the Hale-Aikin committee, presented by V. W. Miller, of Pasadena, vice president of TSTA.

Shortly before noon several discussion group meetings were held, including local unit presidents section, program chairman, legislative chairmen, public relations chairmen, membership chairmen, and District 4 convention chairmen sections.

Luncheon was served to the group. Ham, hot rolls, green beans, peach pie, and potatoes were on the menu.

Floyd Parsons, superintendent of Big Spring schools, was one of the consultants.

May He Rest (Hic!) In Peace

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A widow walked into a "men only" drinking establishment in a Sydney suburb Friday night, went up to five of her husband's former drinking companions and emptied a box of ashes on the bar.

"You wanted him here all the time," she said. "Well, here he is."

They were the ashes of her husband, Harold William Norris, 47, who was found dying in a Sydney street Sept. 5.

Navy Concedes Vanguard Failure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy conceded Saturday that its Vanguard satellite never got up to the orbital path at which it was aimed Friday. Instead, it made one or perhaps more low altitude trips around the world and then burned up from atmospheric friction.

The failure again raised the question of whether the Navy would be authorized to go ahead with the rest of the Vanguard satellite program. There was no immediate answer.

Ike Names Successor To Adams

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Saturday picked Wilton B. (Jerry) Persons of the White House staff to succeed Sherman Adams as his chief assistant.

The selection of Persons, a longtime close associate and personal friend of Eisenhower, appeared certain to be popular with members of Congress, the source of much of the criticism of Adams.

Persons, lean, graying 62-year-old deputy assistant to the President, was chosen six days after Adams dramatically had announced his resignation in a nationwide telecast.

Persons starts familiarizing himself with his new job as assistant to the President immediately. It won't all be strange territory. He has been on the White House staff since Eisenhower moved in. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Adams will remain long enough to assist in an orderly transition.

Adams quit under a fire of Republican and Democratic criticism of his acceptance of costly favors from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Adams insisted he had done no wrong in making inquiries of regulatory agencies about pending Goldfine cases. But he said he believed it might hurt the election chances of Republican candidates this fall if he stayed on.

Eisenhower's choice of Persons was praised by Republican and Democratic leaders of Congress. A retired Army major general, Persons has been chief congressional liaison man for the administration since Sept. 5, 1953. Before that he had served as personal assistant to the President.

Hagerty announced also that Bryce N. Harlow, who has been special assistant to Persons, had been named a deputy assistant to the President for congressional affairs, a new title. In effect, this is Persons' old job.

Previously the White House had announced the selection of Robert Merriam, former assistant budget director, as deputy assistant to the President for interdepartmental affairs.

Hagerty said there will be no diffusion of Adams' heavy duties in the realignment. The press secretary said the staff will be increased by the later addition of a deputy to Persons.

Smart Shopper Sets Values Within $2.01 Of Sale Price

Mrs. H. F. Merrell Jr. of 1002 Sycamore Street can regard herself as a very thrifty shopper.

She was one of scores of persons who assessed prices of merchandise displayed in Big Spring stores in the "Smart Shopper" contest—and her total on the items was just $2.01 away from the actual prices posted Saturday after the close of the contest.

Merchants put a value on 17 different items of $1,193.74. Mrs. Merrell's judgment on the merchandise came to $1,195.75.

As a result, she receives a check for $150 as the "Smart Shopper" of the event. This has gone into the mail from The Herald, which cooperated with stores in the event which was an extra event for September's Better Buy Days.

There were many others who gave Mrs. Merrell a run for her money. Principally, they were Mrs. Betty Price, 1004 Sycamore, whose total was $2.15 away from the actual figure; and Karen McGibbon, 102 Cedar Road, who missed the actual value by only $2.59.

Items were displayed in show windows Thursday and Friday, and contestants had to appraise these and turn in a completed contest sheet. Shoppers were active during the two days visiting stores and checking on prices. There were 149 entries in the Smart Shopper event.

For the record, here are the established sale prices on the items shown in the Smart Shopper event:

Alexander's, ring, $450; Anthony's, luggage set, $22; Big Spring Hardware, power saw, $50; Collins Bros. Drug, electric fryer-cooker, $12.88; Elmo Wasson's Men's Store, suit, $69.50; Fisher's, tea cart, $42.50; Gibbs & Weeks Men's Store, coat, $16.95; Gilbert's Shoes, slippers, $12.95; Hemphill-Wells, man's suit, $135; Kid's Shop, sweater, $10.98; Lynn's, tea service, $39.50; Pelletier's, shoes, $10.90; Penney's, boots, $10; Prager's, coat, $21.75; Swartz's, coat, $49; Ward's, hi-fi, $199.88; Zale's radio, $39.95. Total $1,193.74.

Little Rock Votes For Segregation

Even Some Negro Boxes Pro-Faubus

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Segregationists registered a lop-sided victory Saturday night in the battle over admitting Negroes to Little Rock schools and Gov. Orval E. Faubus said he would move "with all dispatch" to put the schools on a private basis.

With all votes reported, the count stood:

Against—19,470.

For—7,565.

Faubus told the Arkansas Democrat by telephone from north Arkansas:

"We shall now move forward with all dispatch to open the closed schools as private educational institutions.

"It is expected that the schools will be opened shortly, possibly by Monday."

He said the issue—whether to admit Negroes to all-white schools—had been made clear to the voters. "They have made the decision," Faubus said.

"The vote is all the more significant," he said, "when it was cast in the face of closed schools that the people want to see opened. It was cast with the full knowledge that they face great difficulties. It was cast in the face of federal threats of further intervention, of NAACP threats of further litigation and attempts at further integration, and in the face of a tremendous propaganda campaign by the integrationists."

To put Faubus' private school plan in operation, the board must lease the schools to a private corporation, set up in Little Rock to operate them.

VOTE IN NEGRO AREAS

Those favoring integration carried only two of the five polling places even in predominantly Negro districts. The vote at Hall High School—thought to be a center of opposition to Faubus—went nearly two-to-one for the segregationists.

Faubus, in two 30-minute television speeches on consecutive weeks, strongly urged the people to vote against integration. He cited a report about conditions in the de - segregated schools of Washington, D.C., to persuade voters that desegregation in Little Rock would have dire consequences.

Apparently, he succeeded completely.

He assured them his plan to operate the schools on a private and segregated basis is wholly legal—that they do not have to comply with the U.S. Supreme Court ruling, ordering integration, in order to get the schools open again.

Here, too, Faubus evidently suceeded.

The election went off without trouble between Negroes and Whites. They stood in line together at some polling places, but police reported no incidents.

Formal Opinion Due In School Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court will meet at noon (EDT) on Monday to hand down its formal opinion in the case in which it denied Little Rock any further delay in integrating its schools. The formal written opinion was not given at the time of the ruling.

Knott Voters Reject Bonds

KNOTT (SC) — Voters of the Knott Independent School District Saturday rejected a proposal to issue $135,000 in school bonds and a companion proposition which would have authorized the district to separate operating and debt service tax levies.

Vote against adoption of Senate Bill 16, which would allow separate tax levies, was 58-38. Vote against actual issuance of the bonds was 53-36. Both issues required approval before the school district could float the bonds.

The bond issue was proposed to finance a home economics department, two new classrooms and a gymnasium.

Atom Weapons?

DALLAS (AP)—Air Force Secretary James Douglas said Saturday atomic weapons may be used against attacking Chinese Communists in the Formosa area if necessary.

NO LOSS OF LIFE YET

High Winds, Waves Pound North Carolina Coastline

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Houseripping winds of 135 miles an hour, 25-foot waves and torrential rains of Hurricane Helene broke across North Carolina's coast Saturday and wrought tremendous, widespread damage.

Never had winds so strong been recorded along this storm-blown coast.

Helene, feinting at South Carolina coastal cities, only to alter course, boiled northward along the Carolinas all day. She shattered shipping installations, gouged out beaches and shattered buildings and houses as she kept her eye, or storm center, always just off shore.

Highway patrol spokesmen said no loss of life had been reported. There were a few minor injuries.

Late Saturday afternoon and early evening Helene's destructive course lay northeastward, still paralleling the North Carolina coast as it, too, swings to northeastward to its eastern extremity —Cape Hatteras, "The Graveyard of the Atlantic."

The weather bureau's latest advisory located the hurricane center 75 miles southwest of Cape Hatteras. It then was moving toward the northeast at 17 miles an hour.

Hurricane warnings were up from Wilmington to Manteo, N. C., and all warnings came down south of Wilmington.

After setting the position and velocity of the storm, the weather bureau added: "This will bring full hurricane conditions over the Outer Banks—a thin barrier sand reef paralleling the upper North Carolina coast — and Pamlico Sound area from Morehead City and Cape Lookout northeastward to Manteo between now and midnight.

This course, the bureau added, will carry the center a short distance southeast of Cape Hatteras before midnight and well out into the Atlantic on Sunday.

This appeared to eliminate the possibility of the storm causing further damage along the Atlantic seaboard.

Town officials everywhere were quick to applaud the work of the hurricane warnings. These, they said, probably saved countless lives.

Exposed beach fronts, cities, towns and isolated dwellings had been fully prepared, either by evacuation or battering down.

Heavy Rains Swamp West Texas Areas

By The Associated Press

A new rise rolled down the Rio Grande Saturday and flooded Presidio, where the boundary stream had crested a day earlier at 18 feet and spread five miles wide over the Big Bend country.

The river was out of banks at Adobes, 19 miles northwest of Presidio from rains which fell two or three days earlier in the Sierra Blanca area.

At Presidio, the river had fallen about two feet from the 18-foot crest Friday at 6 p.m., but the new water arrived during the evening. The Rio Conchos, which joins the Rio Grande four miles upstream from Presidio, still was pouring its waters from floods in Northern Mexico. Heavy rain was reported along the Mexican river all Friday night.

The Rio Grande rose rapidly downstream and reached a stage of 16.5 feet at Langtry at 4 p.m. Saturday. The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted a further rise at Langtry and said the river would reach near flood stage of 15 feet at Del Rio Sunday morning. It said the sharp rise would reach Eagle Pass Sunday night or Monday morning.

Other brisk rains fell in far West Texas, products of two cool fronts that swept across Texas during the latter part of the week.

Ten miles south of Monahans, the James King Ranch had 5 inches of rain. An Alpine school bus loaded with children skidded off the highway 18 miles south of Monahans but there was no injury. Monahans had 2.50 inches of rain overnight.

About 200 Fort Stockton football fans were delayed several hours by water coursing over the highway at Girvin. The team which played at Big Lake was four hours late getting home. Rain at Fort Stockton measured .60 of an inch but was much heavier along the highway to McCamey.

In the Big Bend National Park, a primitive camp at the lower end of Santa Elena Canyon in the southwest corner of the park went under eight feet of water at about midnight Friday. The flood had receded by Saturday and the camp ground was cleared but Park Supt. George Miller expected a new rise.

Light to heavy showers fell in the Lower Rio Grande Valley Saturday. Brownsville reported 1.39 inches, Harlingen 1.15 and Alamo 1.10.

Other rainfall reports for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Saturday included El Paso 1.66, San Antonio 1.55, Lufkin .93, Lubbock .88, San Angelo .82, Midland .68, Wink .57, Kingsville .50, Corpus Christi .33, Beaumont .28, College Station .17.

277 Dead, 1,300 Missing In Typhoon

TOKYO (AP) — The death toll from Typhoon Ida mounted as disaster reports trickled in from vast flooded areas of central Japan. Police listed 277 fatalities and 1,300 persons missing.

Casualty figures undoubtedly will be higher, police said, when communications are restored with Isu Peninsula, 70 miles below Tokyo. There the roaring Kano River, swollen by 23 inches of rain, slashed at a dozen villages and washed two out to sea.

Unconfirmed Japanese press lists pushed the number of dead and missing to 2,000.

Fall Weather For Big Spring

Fall weather prevailed in true fashion Saturday in Big Spring and Saturday night was one of the coolest in many weeks. Humidity was high and the skies were overcast most of the day. Some parts of town had very light showers.

The temperature was 70 at 10 a.m. but a chilly breeze created the impression of being colder than the mercury showed. Low for Saturday night was 63 and 77 was high for the day. This compared with the 85 recorded on Friday.

U.S. Experiment Station reported .03 inch rain gauged early Saturday morning.

Forecast calls for continued cool weather but with generally fair skies today. Monday will be partly cloudy.

UNITED FUND AGENCY

Summer Program Cuts Delinquency

(This is the first of a series of interpretive articles on the 10 local youth, health and welfare agencies which receive their financial support through the Howard County United Fund. Functions of the various agencies and their impact on life of the area will be described.—Ed.)

United Fund gifts have a part in taking the city-wide summer recreation program to more than 1,800 youngsters.

The City of Big Spring, the Big Spring Independent School District, the YMCA and the United Fund all join hands to make this program possible.

Coordinating and directing the program the YMCA has arranged for swimming, fun clubs, and various activities which come at a time of the year when chidlren are out of school and have a lot of leisure time on their hands.

Total enrollment last summer was 1,862. Of this number, 589 were in beginner, intermediate and advanced swimming classes. Another 458 were in neighborhood Fun Clubs which engaged in all manner of recreation from crafts to swimming, to educational tours, etc. Then a combined total of 714 took part in such things as trampoline, folk dancing, fencing, tap dance, tumbling tennis, archery, golf, judo, model building, basketball, volleyball, figure fashioning, softball and tennis tournaments, and day camp.

Other special events liven or supplement these such as the Kate Morrison night playground which attracted 2,955 during the season, or the teen-age parties, Lakeview socials, water carnivals, parents' night, Olympic nights, etc.

That the program kept moving in an effort to reach every child who wanted to take part is evidenced by the 1,736 sessions necessary to put over the program. On a cumulative basis, this accounted for 16,887 in attendance, not to mention about 3,000 adults who come to watch.

Authorities have indicated that there is more than coincidence to the dip in the juvenile officer's business at a time you might think he would be busiest. One reason: children are occupied in the summer recreation program.

Hope Rises Above Fear In 'The Diary Of Anne Frank'

When the Nazi Gestapo finally broke in on the Amsterdam garret which had provided asylum to a handful of Jewish people, they unwittingly left a litter of papers which would perpetuate the spirit of a teen-age girl.

From these scraps of her "day ibook" came the material for "The Diary of Anne Frank." Overpowered by its message of hope rising above fear, Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett painstakingly fashioned a drama by that title.

Now, with Francis Lederer, famed Austrian actor playing the lead role of Mr. Frank, "The Diary of Anne Frank" is on the road with a booking on the Big Spring Concert series Dec. 3. Other stars include Lilia Skala, Gilbert Green, Nan McFarland, Otto Hulett, Loney Lewis, and Pauline Hahn.

While Goodrich and Hackett created the Pulitzer prize-winning drama, much of the tenderness and warmth came from Garson Kanin's direction. He caught Mr. Frank's urgent plea: "Please do not make it a sad play."

For 90 weeks the play ran on Broadway. It has been produced in virtually every civilized country on the globe, including 90 performances in Germany alone. There, one writer noted, the people crowded in stone silence as though doing national penance.

"The Diary of Anne Frank" relies for its claim to immortality in the profound impact it has made on the minds and consciences of people everywhere. In one sense it is a war play, yet there is never a Gestapo agent or Nazi soldier on stage. It is a hope-inspiring chronicle, sometimes even gay, of a small, courageous group, their constant fears and apprehensions, and through and above it all Anne's belief that "in spite of everything, people are really good at heart."

FRANCIS LEDERER

Producer of the play is Kermit Bloomgarden, whose "golden touch" has produced such successes as "Command Decision," "Death of a Salesman," "The Lark," "Most Happy Fella," "Look Homeward, Angel" and "The Music Man."

Lederer considers the role of Mr. Frank to be the finest offered him in his long and distinguished international career as an actor. A seasoned favorite in Europe, he might have made his initial hit on the American scene many years earlier except for the sudden advent of the talkies. He had been booked for a lead—but he couldn't speak English. When he came back in "Autumn Crocus" a few years ago, he had become a seasoned matinee idol in London. Since then he has appeared in numerous vehicles such as "Lisbon" with Ray Milland, Maureen O'Hara and Claude Rains, and the "Ambassador's Daughter." In the interest of part, he shaves his head every night to be an authentic Mr. Frank.

More authenticity is added in the choice of Lilia Skala as Mrs. Frank. A talented Viennese actress, she finally made her way to this country after the war. The language barrier blocked her, too, but not for long. She took a job as a waitress and set about learning English, shaded with a rich accent. All the others in the cast are veteran players, even to Pauline Hahn, the teen-ager chosen for "Anne." She's been in the theatre since she was two and a half years old and has been in such productions as "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "Bell, Book and Candle," "Sleeping City," "Theresa" and many others.

County Road Building Program Completed

The map shows the paved roads built since March, 1956, by the Howard County Road and Bridge Department. Walter Parks, county engineer, said that his crews have completed all projected road jobs set up and that he has asked the county commissioners to prepare a new list of roads to be built.

Three-Year County Road Project Nearly Complete

By SAM BLACKBURN

Howard County's road department has just about worked itself onto the threshold of a new program.

Walter Parks, county engineer, has told the commisioners court that nearly all the program docketed in 1956, when he became engineer, and booked in 1957 and this year is about complete.

Commissioners have indicated they would consider the scheduling of new county roads for construction at the Monday meeting. There is a possibility that Ed J. Carpenter, L. J. Davidson and Ralph White, prospective new members of the court, may be invited for the parley.

Parks pegged the county's system of paved laterals at 62.9 miles (including a four-mile project now under construction). Of this 37.7 miles has been built in the last three years.

(The county system is not to be confused with the rural roads under the state highway program. The 62.9 miles are roads built and maintained entirely by Howard County.)

Only job pending is the Allred road north of Knott, and Parks said paving on this may be completed before long. One small project, docketed a long time ago but never undertaken, is a mile of paving from the present terminus of Moss Creek Lake Road. Parks said he was suggesting that this be built at once because it is a relatively easy project.

One project in the blueprint stage is the proposed conversion of the old San Angelo highway from FM700 to the City Park entrance into a four-lane road.

Parks suggested roads projected for 1959 might bring mileage to about 19 in each of the county's four operational districts, which correspond to precinct areas.

His report shows there are 11.4 miles of old paving and 10.2 miles of new paving in northwest Howard County. He proposes that 7.5 miles be set up in this district to bring the total to 19 miles in 1959.

In the southwest district his report shows 2.5 miles of old paved road and 9 miles of new road. He recommends 7.5 miles additional county roads.

The northeast district of the county has 13 miles of new highway and 2.5 miles of old road. Three and one half miles of roads are suggested.

The southeastern section of the county has 8.5 miles of old paving and 9.5 miles of new road and one miles is pegged.

County roads built in 1956-1958 include:

1956—Fairview 2 miles; Vincent 2 miles, Coahoma 1 mile; Wasson road 5 miles, Moore road 5 miles. Total 15 miles.

1957—Forsan Road 3 miles; Gay Hill Road 2 miles; Colorado Road 5.5 miles. Total 11.5 miles.

1958—Stanolind Road 3.25 miles; Coahoma street .33 mile; Salem Road 3 miles; Birdwell Lane .5 mile; Jones road 1 mile; Lorilla & 2nd Street .2 mile, Oil Mill road 1 mile; Silver Heels road 1 mile; Wasson-Elbow road 2 miles. Total 12.2 miles; (To be completed Allred Road 4 miles.)

Prior to the launching of this campaign to extend the county built road system, old county paved roads included:

Northwest Howard County: Airport Avenue .5 mile; Old Highway 80 .5 mile; Willa street .2 mile. Total 1.2 miles.

Northeast Howard County: Old Gail Highway 2.5 miles;

Southwest Howard County: Park road 4 miles (1.5 miles of this road rated by Parks as bad.)

Southeast Howard County: Midway road 2.5 miles; Lake Road 4.5 miles; Forsan Road 1.5 miles; Old Bankhead highway 4.5 miles; Old Highway 80 east of Coahoma .5 miles, Total 13.5. The latter two roads are rated by Parks in his report as in bad condition. Total old paved road system 21.2 miles.

Rich Get Richer, Both Get Children

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The rich get richer and the poor get children, goes an old saying. But the new word at the University of Michigan is that this isn't quite true.

A research study here says both income groups are having about the same number of children.

Sun Is Up Exactly 12 Hours

You probably didn't notice it but Saturday had exactly the same number of sunlight hours that it had hours of darkness.

The sun set at 6:37 Saturday. It had made its appearance above the horizon at 6:37 a.m.—thus providing exactly 12 hours of daylight and leaving an equal number for the night.

Such a phenomenon occurs at the autumnal equinox—which this year was officially on Sept. 23. The date also marked the official debut of fall.

A similiar development occurs around March 21 when the vernal equinox arrives marking the advent of spring.

The word "equinox" means "equal night." The arrival of summer and of winter when no such phenomenon as equality of light and darkness prevail, is called "summer solstice" and "winter solstice."

93 File Initial Requests In Soil Reserve Program

Ninety-three producers have requested the Howard County ASC to establish payment rates for participation in the soil bank program.

Twenty-five of these applications have been handled by the committee and the remaining 68 will have rates established at a meeting of the committee on Monday.

Under the 1959 conservation reserve program, producers had until Sept. 26 to file a request for establishment of rates of payment. After this is done, the producer has the option of determining whether he wants to participate in the five-year soil bank program and if so, to what acreage extent.

Hence, until they exercise their options, there is no way of determining the amount of acreage involved, said Gabe Hammack, ACS administrator.

Pulling For Wool

Charlene Holt, right, known in New York as a Snyder, Texas, girl but apparently unknown in Snyder, is crowned "Miss Sweater Girl, 1958," by Diane Cummins, 4, of New York City, the "Miss Sweater of 1968." Snyder news sleuths said they could find no evidence that Miss Holt ever lived there, although the Wool Bureau listed that as her address after she won the wool sweater contest in New York this week.

Adenauer Begins 10th Year At Helm

By HERB ALTSCHULL

BONN, Germany (AP)—When Parliament opens its new session this week, Konrad Adenauer—the world's busiest octogenarian—will launch his 10th year at the helm of West Germany.

For a decade now Adenauer, who will be 83 in January, has been a seemingly ageless champion of unity and strength in Western Europe. His solemn stony face is familiar around the world and that stern visage has generated the widespread legend that he is a man stiff, deliberate, forbidding.

But the legend is all wrong; the exterior is a mask.

Konrad Adenauer has a wild passion for speed and a kittenish sense of humor, a man who likes nothing better than a good joke or a glass of good wine. And what's more, he is sometimes as impulsive as a schoolboy.

It is, no doubt, the look of the man that has caused the legend to arise. When in repose his face is about as expressive as a wrinkled cabbage.

His expression, however, by no means mirrors what is inside the man. In a literal sense it is a false front. Forty years ago Adenauer's passion for speed led to a serious automobile accident and the facial mask was carved by plastic surgery.

There are few persons inside this country who see Adenauer as an ordinary human being. His passionate supporters consider him a kind of saint. His equally passionate opponents belabor him as an arrogant—if benevolent—dictator.

He is neither saint nor dictator—but there is truth on both sides.

His devotion to Roman Catholic principles is absolute and his views are thoroughly colored by Catholic dogma. And he can be as supremely high-handed as a Caesar.

They call him "Der Alte"—or "The Old Man"—but that's just a name.

He is an astonishing human phenomenon whose physical stamina has been known to wear out men many years younger than himself.

Up every morning at the crack of dawn, he has his bedroom lights burning long after the residents of his sleepy village of Rhoendorf across the Rhine from Bonn have gone to sleep.

But it isn't often high-level politics that keeps the lamp glowing. More frequently it's a detective thriller in his lap.

Adenauer fancies himself an expert on all sorts of things, including such assorted items as 15th century painting, the intricacies of flower cultivation, mystery stories and the complexities of wine growing.

One of this country's most popular guessing games is what keeps Adenauer going at an age when most men would be content to languish in their armchair and quietly contemplate the lives behind them.

A Whole Lot Of Rattler

Dressed in a skirt that almost matches the snake's design, Mrs. T. J. Robinson gingerly examines the limp form of this six-foot rattler captured in a field just north of Big Spring by V. R. Tomlinson. The serpent was equipped with eight rattlers and stretched the tape to a circumference of eight inches. He was turned over to Goliad Junior High students Saturday for further examination in the school lab.

Third Army Corps Convoys Halt Overnight At WAFB

Some 700 soldiers and 300 vehicles of the Third U. S. Army Corps spent Friday and Saturday nights at Webb AFB as the organization moved in two convoys from Ft. Hood to the West Coast for the first Army-Navy test of the new "pentomic" organization of Army forces.

About half the group stayed here Friday night, the others Saturday. The pentomic organization is a unit of five combat groups instead of the old regimental division setup. The new system has been tried out previously by the Army, but the upcoming test will be the first involving both the Army and Navy.

The Third Corps will board ships at Puget Sound, Wash., sail down the West Coast and land in California under simulated combat conditions. The landing will take place in the vicinity of San Simeon, Calif.

The Third Corps is commanded by Maj. Gen. William S. Biddle. The group which stopped at Webb Friday night included the Headquarters Company, the 203rd Military Intelligence Detachment and one platoon of the 163rd Transportation Company. Saturday's convoy was made up Headquarters and Headquarters Battery. Thid Corps Artillery; Company B 73rd Ordnance Battalion of the Second Missile Command; and the 418th Medical Company.

Later stops will be at Ft. Bliss; Tucson, and Ariz.; San Bernardino, Fresno and Sacramento, Calif.; Yreka and Corvalis, Ore., and Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The maneuver, called "Rocky Shoals" will consume about two months. California phase of the operation will be held in the vicinity of Hunter-Ligett Military Reservation, Camp Roberts and the Hearst Ranch.

Adult Education Registration To Start Monday

Registration for the adult education courses, under supervision of Dr. Marvin Baker, will begin at Howard County Junior College tomorrow.

Seventeen different courses, for hobbies, vocations, and general education, have been made available this semester for duration of from four to 52 weeks.

All but three of the courses, driver education, great books series and vocational nursing, are one night per week meetings at the college. Those three are five-day-a-week courses. Oil painting is the only class of instruction in the afternoon, although driver education comes at 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Courses offered are remedial spelling, child development, modern gunsmithing, effect of radiation on human body, accelerated reading, interior decoration, modern science lectures, and speed writing and stenographic machines.

Also available are pattern drafting and design, cermics, oil and gas lease, oil painting, slide rule, photography, driver education, great books, and vocational nursing.

Students Facing Money Problems

By PAT ROGERS

This school year seems as if it will be a busy one. The big word and worry confronting all clubs and classes of BSHS is "money."

Judy Simpson, Sherry Lurting and Kay McGibbon, junior girls, are racking their brains to find ways of making money for the Junior-Senior Prom. The junior class has already sponsored a watermelon feast and victory dance as money raisers.

Bill French, Eddie Kinney, Bill Engle, Buddy Barnes, and James Stephens, student council members, have been receiving their share of gray hairs from worrying over homecoming, along with finances.

Darlene Williams, Sharon Creighton, Edith Freeman and Judi Shields, seniors, are worrying about where the senior class will get the money for its present to the school at the end of the year.

Peggy Isaacks, Sherry Coats, Mary Jane Trego, Koila Grant, Charlene Campbell, Camille Hefley, and Laverne Carter, senior Tri-Hi-Y girls, have put their shoulders to the grind stone in order to think of club goals and money-making ways. The senior Tri-Hi-Y girls are in charge of the concession stands at the junior high games.

Janet Carpenter, Fan Barber, June McElrath are already counting the days until the Thanksgiving holidays when their college beaus will be returning home. They only have 60 more days left.

Even though they're tired, the journalism students would go again and again. They arose early Saturday at 6 a.m. to go to Lubbock for Journalism Day. It was sponsored jointly by the Texas Tech Journalism Department and the West Texas High School Press Association.

After everyone had signed in, they attended the general assembly and keynote speech. Included in the day's activities were a guided tour of Lubbock newspapers and the radio-television stations, and that evening, a banquet and presentation of awards, and last of all the group traveled to Jones Stadium where they watched the Texas Tech and West Texas State football game.

Familiar faces from BSHS were seen cheering for Jo Ann Ebling as she was crowned Kids' Day queen and Benny McCrary as he was made Webb AFB Commander for one day. Many butterflies occupied the tummies of Jo Ann and Benny, along with the grade school princesses and escorts. Summing it all up, yesterday's Kids' Day was a thrilling day for everyone.

Finally after hours and day of working and worrying, the El Rodeo Staff completed the picture taking of the individual students for this year's annual. Everything will be wrapped up after a few retakes.

"Surprise!" was the word among the girls last Thursday. Gloria Coker, Lana Wren, Malinda Crocker, Betty Lou Jones, Iva Nell Cole, and Pat Johnson showered Robi Ann Robison with gifts to help her celebrate her 16th birthday in a surprising way.

Judy Reynolds was misty-eyed as Dolores Baird, Fan Barber, Mary Oliphant, Jane Cudd, Janace Kirby, Nora Horton, Rosemary Donica, Andre Sledge, and Kay Coleman sang "Happy Birthday." In Judy's 17 years, this was the first time she has ever had a birthday party. Kay, who was the hostess, rounded the girls up for the party.

Student Handbook Is Big Help To HCJC Freshmen

By BOBBY HORTON

The nominations session for posts on the student council and for freshman and sophomore class officers during activity period's assembly Friday, resulted in names of HCJC's student leaders who'll be voted on this week. The election will take place in the college auditorium on Wednesday or Thursday, said student council sponsor John Gentill, who teaches social sciences.

Nominees for the presidencies: Student council, Jessie McElreath (only nominee); freshman class, Tommy Buckner and Jimmy Evans; and sophomore class, Joe Hill and Don Anderson.

Besides the special honor that accompanies such a positioon, student council members will be taking a trip to Galveston in March for the state convention, Gentili said.

All collegians are urged to be on hand to cast a vote in this election.

* * *

Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president, emphasized in his opening assembly remarks Wednesday morning before the student body, that the country—and especially college Joes and co-eds—should steer clear of conformity in thought, "thinking in a groove" as he expressed it.

What HCJC instructors seek to do, he outlined, was not to bring students to thinking along certain lines, but to spark them to come forth with thoughts, ideas and opinions of their own.

* * *

Be he young or be he old, any person can follow up on his favorite hobby, vocation or general education by taking one or more of the adult education short courses being offered at HC. Registration for the courses, most of them one night per week "studies", will begin tomorrow.

Weak in spelling? Take the remedial spelling one night a week for six weeks.

For sportsmen there's a modern gunsmithing course. Interior decorating is available for the house-minded folks. And ceramics, oil painting, photography, great books, are courses for the hobby or culture bug. Further information is in today's Herald; for complete detailing contact Dr. Marvin Baker at the college.

* * *

A convenient aid for the incoming freshmen, and upperclassmen as well, is the HCJC handbook which has been revised and brought up to date by the Council of 1957. The handbook now in use was originated by the student council of 1954, and is given each year to students as an introduction to both the physical plant of the college and to college life.

This latest issue contains the amended Constitution for the student Association and is used as a ready reference for the council.

Students, if you haven't boned up on just what you're getting in that activity ticket, which cost $5 at registration time, listen in. In addition to regular activities, all four of the Big Spring Concert Association programs which will be presented in the Municipal Auditorium are included in your activity ticket privileges. And though you might not be hungry for culture—despite the fact it's one of the best personality - rounding elixirs—be aware of the bargain at your fingertips.

A regular season ticket from the association is $7.50, and the programs are valued at much more than this. An activity ticket, covering school socials, basketball games and tournaments, El Nido subscription, etc., will allow its owner past the box office with no additional cost. Be sure to see the San Antonio Symphony (Oct. 23), Diary of Anne Frank (Dec. 3), Chicago Opera Ballet (Jan. 22, '59), and Dylan Todd, ballad singer (Feb. 18, '59).

GOP's Senate Candidate Throws Out The Old Rules

By TIM PARKER

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) —Roy Whittenburg is throwing some of the old rules of politics out the window in his campaign for the U. S. Senate.

Few Texans have a better right to wear cowboy boots and western-cut suits, which the voters like. The 45 - year - old Amarillo rancher, oilman and publisher wears plain suits and shoes.

A catch-all platform with promises for different regions is supposed to be best. Whittenburg concentrates on the issue which prompted his first try at politics —his belief that states' rights and self-government are in danger.

The Republican candidate in Texas could be expected to hire a few professional speech writers, especially if he's new to politics. Whittenburg has enough money to corner the market but he's not buying any.

Whittenburg, who will be opposed Nov. 4 by Democratic incumbent Ralph Yarborough, is a member of one of West Texas' oldest and wealthiest cattle, ranching, oil and newspaper families.

In the Texas Panhandle, three generations of Whittenburgs have built a reputation for stability, business sense, energy—and absence of pretense. The Whittenburgs also are known as "good family men."

Whittenburg And Sons

FROM BIG FAMILY

Roy Whittenburg is one of 13 sons and daughters of George Allen Whittenburg. The latter, at the age of 21, joined his father, J. A. Whittenburg in homesteading eight sections of land on the Canadian River, naer Borger, at the turn of the century.

Except for the townsite of Plemons, that Hutchinson County land still is intact and in the family. Roy Whittenburg keeps a small home at Plemons where, as a boy, he learned about the cattle business.

The candidate's four sons and three daughters don't have to go far to learn about cattle and oil. Whittenburg's four-bedroom Amarillo home is across a blacktop road from stockyards owned and operated by the family. Next door in another direction is a refinery.

"We've got used to the refinery noise," says Whittenburg. "Those things run around the clock, you know. But we've never got entirely accustomed to the odor."

The stockyards is part of a 850-acre tract on which the three older Whittenburg boys—George, 14; Mack, 12 and Burk, 10—often take turns riding Scooter, a saddle horse. The worn saddle is a family treasure. Roy's father gave it to him in 1926.

BIG KITCHEN

Jewel Anne, 16, attends Amarillo High School. Mary Lois, 3, and Roy Jr., almost 5 months, spend most of their time in the big family kitchen. The eldest, Grace Evelyn, 19, who has picked up a few beauty prizes, is studying accounting and business administration at the University of Texas. She gets excellent grades and drives a 1953 Chevrolet.

A warm and congenial man, Whittenburg likes to stretch the time he can have with his children by driving them to school. If he doesn't do this he often leaves his five-year-old Oldsmobile at home and walks to his Amarillo office. The four - mile walks keep him in trim and give him a chance to think.

He says he decided to run for the Senate "when it became clear the U. S. Supreme Court was going to legislate and in effect amend the Constitution."

"I concluded there was no chance for states rights and self-government to endure unless something was done about the Supreme Court.

"This country was settled by people determined to govern themselves. Encroachment by the federal government began immediately after the Constitution was adopted. It came slowly for a a century. Now it is going at a fast pace.

PART OF STORY

"We're like the inexperienced heir to a fortune who does not realize the work, the heartaches and risk that built up the estate."

Work and risk, and some heartaches, are part of the Whittenburg story.

A law degree was Whittenburg's goal after his graduation from high school at Canyon, where he was president of the senior class, the honor society, and the student council. But he had been at the University of Texas only a short time when his mother died. He returned home to help with family affairs while his brothers and sisters went on to college.

Four years later he returned to the university. He was hardly settled in class when his father died of a heart attack. Family responsibilities brought him home to stay.

Now he's one of the regulars at the daily meetings attended by most of his surviving 12 brothers and sisters.

"We meet at 10 a.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and at 2 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays," he said. "We keep each other posted. Decisions are not by a majority vote; they're unanimous. We feel that if a thing is correct, it can be shown to be so. If there is opposition, we make modifications."

WIDE DECISIONS

At the meetings, decisions are made affecting Whittenburg cattle, ranch, oil, newspaper, radio and television properties.

S. B. Whittenburg, publisher of the Amarillo Globe-Times, usually takes the lead in newspaper discussions, although Roy, a publisher of the Borger News-Herald, has a hand. Roy is most active in cattle buying and selling. Joe Whittenburg is the acknowledged spokesman on ranch management.

There's ranch property in New Mexico, Colorado and Oklahoma as well as Texas. On much of this land there is oil and gas production. The family-owned corporations which hold title to these lands realize more revenue from oil than anything else.

A typical Roy Whittenburg week includes one day "in the field," Handling tasks ranging from helping workmen get more production from a stripper well to inspecting cattle to be purchased. Five days usually are spent in the office in Amarillo where he also handles civic chores such as community fund drives.

A QUIET MAN

On public occasions, Whittenburg is friendly but unobtrusive. He doesn't make an attention-getting entrance into a room and is more likely to enter unnoticed. He is more often listening than talking. Friends who share jokes and relax with him often don't notice that he doesn't smoke or drink.

Whittenburg believes integrationists as well as segregationists should be alarmed by what he sees as a steady erosion of state's rights and self-government.

"I think it was a mistake to send troops into Little Rock," he says. "I think integration should be handled strictly from the state level. I do not believe states's rights and self-government can survive if integration is forced from the federal level."

He backs President Eisenhower in calling Red China's hand on Quemoy. "If a bully is after you," Whittenburg believes, "you're less likely to have trouble if you call his bluff."

Whittenburg approves foreign aid when it is needed and used to build the defenses of an ally. But he doesn't believe you can buy friendship. And he doesn't believe in spending the taxpayers' money "without getting a good return on it."

Family recollection is that he's the third Whittenburg to seek public office. A sister ran for county clerk about 35 years ago but didn't win.

About 1900, his grandfather, J. A. Whittenburg ran for county commissioner and lost by one vote.

Whittenburg's other grandfather, John M. Archer, proudly announced that it was his vote that kept J. A. out of office.

At extreme left is Roy Black, one of the Kiwanis Club co-chairmen in charge of arrangements; Jack Alexander, Kiwanis president; and Capt. SAYS ABC SPEAKER

Koreans Morally, Physically Strong, Economically Poor

In a speaking engagement before members of the American Business Club at the Settles Hotel Friday, Lt. Col. Leonard Einstein of Webb AFB discussed "Korea, its people and its problems."

Einstein said South Korea is populated by a people who do not conceal their feelings easily and "who will tell you what they think of you."

For that reason, he added, "Pearl Harbor could not have happened" if Korea had been our enemy in 1941 rather than Japan.

Einstein said he believed too many Koreans were given college educations, clarifying that somewhat surprising statement by adding that there isn't enough opportunity in their own country for Koreans who have obtained college educations.

"For that reason," he stated, "there is much unhappiness among those who have been to school and many who have come to this country for their education want to stay."

He stated most Koreans are good athletes, are strong morally but poor economically. He added he did not think the United States could afford to stop sending South Korea aid and assistance.

Einstein also pointed out that there is great enmity between peoples of South and North Korea.

He said there have been some cases of South Koreans infiltrating into North Korea but few North Koreans seek to migrate to the south because of great danger to their lives. Those found out are invariably killed, he added.

Tom South, who heads the ABC committee that is trying to organize a fellow club in Synder, reported his group has met with favorable response on two trips there recently.

He said a local group would return to Snyder Monday night and discuss plans for organization of a Snyder chapter at a dinner.

Burglars Hit Four Places

Burglars got very little from four break-ins Friday night. Only a small amount of change was lost from one establishment.

Burglars broke into the John Davis Feed Store at 2nd and Benton and got into a soft drink machine. The machine yielded very little change, because it had been "robbed" by the management Friday, the police said. A door on the north was used to enter.

The Phillips Service station at 1300 E. 3rd was entered, but nothing was found missing. Police reported that the culprits entered through a back window and then left via the front door.

Nothing was found missing from the Kuykendall Chevron station, 1200 Lamesa. It had been closed about a week, but a preliminary check didn't reveal anything gone. Also entered was the Dunlap Cosden station at 3rd and Goliad. Entry was made through a window on the east side, but again nothing was taken.

Three Charged, Two Post Bonds

Johnny Corralez, 24, Big Spring, has been freed on $500 bond after arrested on charges of tampering with a motor vehicle.

Bennie Marr Ashley, 39, of Austin arrested by the highway patrol, was being held in the Howard County jail Saturday on charges of DWI.

Loydean Paul Hodds, 42, Lamesa, was released on $500 bond late Saturday afternoon after being arrested by the city on charges of DWI.

Rites Are Set For Mrs. Marshall, 83

COLORADO CITY—Mrs. James M. Marshall, 83, of Colorado City died in a Big Spring Hospital Friday morning after a three-month illnes.

Mrs. Marshall was born in Alabama, Aug. 21, 1875, and had lived in Mitchel County since 1904. The late Mr. Marshall was a farmer and he and Mrs. Marshall were married in Dallas in 1898.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. today in the Kiker and Son Chapel. The Rev. Clarence Collins, First Methodist minister, will officiate. Burial is to be in the Colorado City Cemetery.

She is survived by two sons, Dewey of Seagraves and J. B. of Colorado City; two daughters, Mrs. C. W. Iglehart and Mrs. Ross Seay, both of Colorado City, seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Gun Victim Improves

Mrs. James S. Owens, 1205 Mt. Vernon, returned Saturday from the bedside of her brother, Harold May, 18, who had been in critical condition after being struck in the back by a shotgun charge. At the end of the week the Sudan High School senior had taken a definite turn for the better, and barring complications he now is expected to recover. Harold was injured when a gun discharged accidentally while on a hunting trip.

Capehart Houses Moving Rapidly Toward Completion

Recent weeks have seen a marked step-up in progress on the Capehart housing development southwest of the city.

Williams & Dunlap, contractors, recieved $1 million as pro rata completion payment for the month of August. This is indicative that one sixth of the entire project's construction was cleared out in the single month's work.

Foundation slabs for 200 of the 258 sites have now been poured. This represents 350 of the 460 family units in the entire project.

Wall framing for three hundred of the 460 units is now in place and sheetrock walls and ceiling are installed in 50 living units. Additional units are being completed in this phase at the rate of six to eight per day.

Eighty of the buildings already have all brick work completed and four to five additional jobs of this character are being finished each day.

Streets are being put in shape. Final grade and the installation of curb and gutter is moving ahead. Base will be laid in the near future. Williams & Dunlap have three miles of streets to build under their contract. Their contract does not include the principal inlet-outlet artery which is under separate contract. Work on this is progressing.

Williams & Dunlap had approximately 650 workers on the job Friday. This number increases and decreases as activities shift on the site, it was explained.

Linda Kirby Named Queen For Kids Day

Linda Kirby, a delicious little mite in a gorgeous red formal evening gown, is Kids Day Queen for 1958.

She won the unanimous nod of the three judges from Webb Air Force over a field of lovely candidates from all of the city's elementary schools.

Her two duchesses are Elizabeth Hernandez, Bauer school, and Barbara Ann Frazier, Lakeview school.

The two entries from the junior high schools—Sharon Gary from Goliad and Jeanette Lott, Runnels—were also designated queens by the judges but were not in comptition with the candidates from the grade schools.

Jo Ann Ebling, honorary Staff WAF commander, and Benny McCrary, honorary Base Commander for Kids Days, were spectators at the selection and crowning of the queens.

The ceremonies were staged at the old football stadium and, despite a chilling breeze, were witnessed by several hundred spectators.

10TH CELEBRATION

The coronation marked the climax to the 10th Annual Kids Day Celebration, jointly sponsored by the Big Spring Kiwanis Club and the Webb Air Force Base.

Gifts were presented to all of the queen candidates from the several schools.

Special features of the evening included music by the Junior High Band, with Tommy Fry directing, and vocal selections by the Runnels Junior High Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Forrest Gambill.

Welcome from the Webb Air Force Base was given by Col. James A. Johnson, wing executive officer. Floyd Parsons, superintendent of the city schools, welcomed the throng on behalf of the schools.

Roy Black was master of ceremonies.

Judges were Liet. Bill Houseman, Sgt. Dewey Magee and Sgt. William Higginbotham.

A football game between the grade school elevens of Park Hill and Boydstun wound up the evening.

ACTIVE DAY

The ceremonies last night were preceded by an afternoon of activity at Webb Air Force Base.

Gray skies and a stiff breeze failed to dampen interest in the Kids Day activities at the base. Kiwanis and Air Force officials said that there were at least two times as many visitors on the base this year as last.

The threatening weather did curtail some of the special flying activities slated as features for the afternoon but other events on the program moved ahead as scheduled. Later in the day, there were flying demonstrations.

Four big buses, loaded to capacity, were called into play to pick up youngsters who gathered at Runnels Junior High at 12 o'clock. It was estimated these buses brought at least 200 to the base. Hundreds of private cars were on the base and these were loaded alike with children and their parents.

Hangar No. 25 on the apron had been transformed into a display center. Boys and girls saw many Air Force setups and also had opportunity for close inspection of planes on the strip.

Moving pictures were shown throughout the afternoon. One of the big helicopters was over the area most of the time the Webb portion of the program was under way.

The ejection seat demonstrations in which student officers participated drew much attention. A fire fighting demonstration in which an old wreck was saturated with fuel and set ablaze also held the interest of the crowd.

Buses left the base at 4 p.m. returning the boys and girls to the junior high school.

A highlight of the afternoon was the formal recognition of Benny McCrary, selected from the high school student body as honorary base commander, and Miss Jo Ann Ebling, chosen as honorary WAF commander. Col. Kyle Riddle, base commander, presented each of these young people with a certificate and congratulated them on the honor accorded them.

Air Force officials and Kiwanis Club leaders declared that the success of the Kids Day this year was most gratifying and calls for an expanded celebration for 1959.

Jack Alexander, president of the Kiwanis Club, expressed his appreciation to the officers of Webb Air Force Base for their generous assistance in making this annual event the success it was.

Perry (Roy Bean) Chandler Wins Shrine Ring Saturday

LAMESA (SC) — Perry Candler, a latter day Judge Roy Bean, captured the coveted ring in the Shrine fall ceremonial here Saturday.

More than 300 Shriners and their wives flocked here for the Suez Temple conclave and put on a colorful parade Saturday afternoon through the downtown area.

Chandler, of 302 Circle in Big Spring, represented the legendary "law west of the Pecos" and was featured on a float set up to resemble Roy Bean's saloon-court at Langtry. He was the first Big Spring man to capture the prized ring since Joe Williamson, now of Snyder, took it nearly a decade ago. The Shrine pin went to Tad Choate, Lamesa, who was costumed as a hill billy carrying a shoate.

The ceremonial followed the parade, and at 6 p.m. Shiners and their ladies were feted to a barbecue at the Lamesa City Park. At 9 p.m. the traditional ceremonial ball was held at the Lamesa Country Club.

Presiding over the festivities surrounding the induction of some 28 candidates was Virgil Musick, Abilene, potentate.

The Big Spring delegation, consisting of more than two dozen Shriners plus their wives, arrived as a caravan about 10 a.m. Saturday.

Farm Labor Problem Is Solved, Dry Weather, Sun Are Needed

An end to the current spell of damp weather and a return of bright sunshine is all that the cotton farmers of Howard County lack to insure them of cashing in on one of the best cotton crops in many years.

A supplemental allocation of 2,000 braceros to the original 5,800 assigned to the three counties was made last week—relieving a critical labor shortage which had developed in the two weeks the harvesting had been under way.

The rains, drizzles and excessively heavy dews, as well as the absence of a bright sun the past week have caused far more worry to the farmers than the matter of available pickers.

So far, cotton men do not believe that any great damage has been done to the staple. If the current gray weather can be terminated and the sun return, no loss, other than for the loss of time in picking, will develop. On the other hand, farmers say that if the dampness prevails much longer there is certain to be some spottiness develop. First bales harvested were hailed by graders as superior in all details. The sample was running 31-32 inch and the quality so high that prices were at the top of the scale. Spottiness, farmers said, will pull the grade down. This could mean a loss of from $15 to as much as $25 a bale.

The Texas Employment Commission said that ginning had slowed down last week and most gins operated only sporadically. Totals for September as compiled through Friday showed: Howard, 2,227 bales. Martin 4,514 bales and Glasscock 522 bales. This approximates 10 per cent of the estimated total crop for the three counties.

TEC also said that the 2,000 additional Mexican nationals assigned to the three counties was probably the answer to the problem of last week in the matter of adequate pickers. The increased quota was achieved by pressure through Austin and on to the State Department.

TEC had estimated that 5,800 braceros would be needed in this area. The total promised now is 7,800 which could be enough to meet the needs.

Yesterday was a dull day for everybody in Stanton except the merchants. Braceros by the hundred thronged the street and wandered in and out of stores. Some wore coats, some were in shirt sleeves, but most of them shivered in the damp coolness as they killed time waiting for the cotton fields to dry out.

"Sunday is the big day," said Morgan Hall, drugist. "The town is overflowing with workers on Sunday."

Hal said not many were spending any money, but were just looking. They don't have much to spend yet because very little work was done this last week, and many of them have just arrived.

* * *

Farmers are still contracting for a few workers, so they will be here when cotton-picking weather returns.

The cotton hasn't been damaged much yet, but everyone is expecting those tell-tale spots to show up with a few more days of wet weather. The first spotted cotton is expected from the dryland fields, because it is pulled instead of being picked.

* * *

Gin managers say the grades and staple have been exceptionally good this fall. The Farmers Gin & Cotton Co. of Stanton has ginned 1,120 bales thus far, and no spotted samples have been found. However, the samples are a week behind ginning, so there could have been some spotted cotton ginned since last Monday. All the cotton ginned has been the long staple variety.

* * *

Eugene Reynolds, manager of the Paymaster Gin a few miles west of Stanton, also says cotton is of good grade and staple. He said farmers in that area have the best cotton crop in the seven years he's been there, providing they can get it harvested. Most of the irrigated cotton will make a bale and a half per acre, while some will go over two bales.

Reynolds thinks most cotton will be harvested mechanically within the next few years. He has ginned eight bales of machine-picked cotton this year and the grades compared favorably with hand-picked cotton. These were not strippers, but mechnical pickers that get the cotton out without pulling off the burs.

Reynolds says the community needs at least 200 native workers, because some farmers don't have housing for Mexican Nationals.

"But it's a waste of time to look for them," he said. "Nobody in this country will pick cotton anymore."

In addition to the big caged flocks in this area, several farmers have a few hundred hens which they are now increasing. One such family is that of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Coker of Knott.

They have kept from 300 to 400 hens in cages, but now have 750 young chicks. When they reach laying size, they will be placed two to each cage. This doubling-up method is becoming popular with most owners.

Mrs. Coker says they have not made any big profit with hens, but it pays quite well for the amount of time spent.

Several Howard County Hereford breeders have made sales to Dantes Reilley, Sonora ranchman. Reilley bought a herd sire from C. A. Walker and also one from Leland Wallace. He got a cow and two heifer calves from Rexie Cauble and two heifers from Dr. G. T. Hall.

Reilly keeps a commercial herd but had been breeding to lighten the color of the animals. He is partial to palominos, having kept these light-colored horses on his ranch for half a century. He has almost duplicated this palomino color in the cattle, and even his goats have white heads and tails, but their bodies are a light yellow.

* * *

Rexie Cauble of the Elbow community didn't spend much to make one field of cotton. He planted it, knifed it once and used the sand fighters twice. And now it may make a half bale per acre on some parts of the field.

For awhile Cauble didn't think it would make anything. A hail knocked off the top of the stalks on June 20, but they put out sprouts from the ground and finally grew from knee to waist high. After knifing, he had to quit plowing, or the cultivator would have knocked off the low squares and bolls.

* * *

The only kind of cotton being sold now is the poor grades, says Ray Kelly, independent buyer at Stanton. There is no market for anything above the 28 to 32 or 33-cent bracket. One reason for this is the increasing production of cotton below the Rio Grande.

"The same cotton that goes into the loan here for about 35 cents can be bought in Mexico for 27 cents," Kelly said. "It can't be brought into this country for that, but the buyers take it at this price and ship it overseas."

Competition with synthetic fibers has hurt cotton prices, says Kelly. Also the low profit margin they get from the sale of garments has kept mill owners from bidding on the higher-priced cotton.

* * *

Defoliation of the tall cotton at Tarzan has been delayed because farmers wanted the late crop of bolls to mature. Some are starting to defoliate now, though, so the stalks will dry out.

In the tightland belt southwest of Tarzan, the cotton completely darkens the ground and requires 24 hours sunshine to dry out after a rain. Defoliation will let in sunlight and perhaps prevent the staple from deteriorating.

The Lubbock Experiment Station says too early defoliation is costly and recommends waiting until time for the first frost. However, this recommendation does not take into consideration the muddy fields found in this area.

MEMORIES OF THE WEEK —

Last Sunday I talked to a farmer friend named Tom Hunt up in Gaines County who was getting over 40 cents a pound for his cotton. He had planted Mesilla Valley, an Acala strain with extra long staple. He is pulling it, and says the yield is equal to Lankard and other varieties.

Wet weather lakes partially filled but haven't come up much lately. A few stragling ducks, but should be hundreds within the next month . . . Driving parallel to a freight train west of Big Spring, noticed two Negroes and a white man on top of a box car. No integration problem here.

Joe Stewart, grocer west of Stanton, says irrigated cotton in his area should make a bale and a half per acre . . . Two small business men asking where they could find a buyer. Neither one doing enough business to pay the rent.

Comment of a Snyder fan looking across at the sparsely filled Big Spring section: "What's wrong with these people? Don't they like football, anymore?" . . . Our small daughter is a bit disappointed with the first grade. It seems they don't have a pep squad.

High school boy wondering why his girl friend isn't as pretty as she was last year. "Getting older, I guess," he said. "Boy, when they pass 14, they begin to fade."

Waterworks School Is Held At Snyder

School On Saturday

Ceramics classes for children, held every Saturday afternoon at Webb's Service Club, are believed to be one of the few such courses offered throughout the United States. The classes were instituted by Mrs. Mildred Shev, club director, and are under the direction of Mrs. Foster L. Kemp, who helps children prepare greenware for bisque firing and then smooth off and paint the ceramics articles. Above, left to right, David Pittman, Jean Pierce, Linda Lahr, and Davilla Riddle put finishing touches on their figurines.

Knife, Fork Club Slates Season's First Program

Big Spring Knife and Fork Club initiates its 1958-59 season Wednesday night. Guest speaker for the occasion will be Richard Morenus, author - lecturer, whose "Crazy White Man," was a best seller.

Reservations for the dinner, which precedes the lecture, must be in the hands of Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, secretary, by noon on Tuesday. No reservations can be accepted later than that hour, it was warned.

The dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. in the Settles Hotel dining room — the traditional meeting place of the Knife and Fork Club since its inception.

Leaders anticipate that the initial speaker of this year's season will be one highly enjoyed by the membership Morenus has met with excellent reception over the entire nation in his long career as a lecturer.

A former advertising man and radio script writer, Morenus became tired of his hectic life and decided to "end it all" by the process of isolating himself as far from civilization as possibly could be achieved. He bought an island, sight unseen, and then found his new domain was in the desolate and icy northland where the temperature dropped at times to 67 degrees below zero. Illy equipped for such a life, Morenus decided to make a go of it regardless. He made friends with the nearby Ojibway Indians and it was these red men who tagged him with the name "Crazy White Man."

Morenus spent six years in his lonely retreat and his talk tells of his adventures, his misadventures and what he learned.

When he finally returned to warmer climes, he wrote his best-seller "Crazy White Man." This is the story of his life and experiences in those six lonely years.

He has written a number of books and is now preparing two others for publication soon.

Gra-Y Program Needs Leaders

The boys Gra-Y program has blosomed so rapidly that it has created an acute leadership problem, Everett Taylor, YMCA program director, said Saturday.

Total enrollment in the program for grade school lads is certain to exceed 500. YMCA officials said this was twice as many as was anticipated.

Actually, 488 have enrolled, but the Kate Morrison and the Bauer Schools will not have their first meetings until Monday.

Taylor appealed for adults to volunteer as sponsors at the various schools in order that there would be adequate leadership.

Schools, sponsors and enrollment thus far include:

Washington Place, E. L. Terry, 142; College Heights, Don Anderson, 80; Lakeview, Danny Ray Traylor, 31; Airport Clyde McMahon Jr., 50; Park Hill, Haley Haynes, 24; Cedar Crest, Pete Green and Terry Stanley, 69; Boydstun, Joe McWilliams, 92. Sponsor at Kate Morrison and Bauer will be Ramiro J. Jaime.

County Oil Values Reach $34.7 Million

Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax assessor has completed tabulation of the total valuation of oil, railroad, pipeline and utility holdings in Howard County had has found the total to be $34,722,250. This compares with $33,519,198 for 1957.

Net increase in the total valuation of such properties is thus $1,203,052.

The value of all properties will not be known unitl the real estate and personal property figures are compiled. It was estimated at the court house these would show a comparatively higher increase in relation to the oil totals.

The county budget this year is fixed on an estimated total valuation of all properties of $52,000,000. Most observers believe that this will be exceeded when the final tabulations are made.

The real estate values as established by a county-wide survey made by Pritchard & Abbott, tax engineers, have just been submitted to the tax office for the county. The values in their final form will vary slightly from the preliminary totals on real estate and personal property offered by the engineers a few weeks ago. The variation wil be the difference caused by adjustments made by equalization boards which have just recently ecompleted their work. It is not believed however, there will be any great difference in the final over the estimates made by the engineers ahead of the equalization sessions.

Oil increases resulted from development during the past year.

Southeast Borden Reef Explorer Due

Fletcher Oil & Gas Corp. has staked a 7,500-foot wildcat in the southeastern part of Borden County, and field sites were announced in the Lucy and Dunigan fields.

The new site is Fletcher No. 1 Arschleman about 20 miles southeast of Gail, 660 feet from south and 330 from east lines of the southwest quarter, 43-25, H&TC Survey.

It is less than a mile southeast of the prolific Reinecke field which produces from the Canyon Reef. This puts it four miles northwest of Vincent.

Pan American Oil staked the No. 1 Bertram Price in the Dunigan (Strawn and Ellenburger) field nine miles north of Gail as a 8,300-foot venture. Drillsite is 330 from north and 660 feet from east lines of the east half of the northwest quarter, 29-30-6n, T&P Survey.

Also reported this weekend was the Shell No. 1-A Williams in the Lucy pool. The location is 1,060 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines, 259-97, H&TC Survey, and about nine miles east of Gail.

Drilling depth is 8,630 feet to test the Pennsylvanian.

Half Billion In Lines Get Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission during the year ended June 30 authorized construction of more than $518,822,000 worth of natural gas pipelines and related projects.

Reporting this Saturday Chairman Jerome Kuykendall said the additions would increase by more than 2¼ billion cubic feet the daily delivery capacity of the nation's individual transmission systems.

The projects include nearly 4,400 miles of pipelines and about 424,000 horsepower in compressor units.

Kuykendall said the figures included only lines authorized for interstate natural gas pipeline companies.

A total of 132 cities of 50,000 population or more in 24 states, plus numerous smaller communities, are expected to benefit.

The largest single authorization went to El Paso Natural Gas Co., for a 105 million dollar project to meet requirements of existing customers in Arizona and California.

Kuykendall said that since the issuance of certificates began in 1942, the commission has authorized construction of about $6,449,000,000 worth of natural gas pipeline projects.

These included nearly 80,000 miles of line and more than 5,400,000 horsepower in compressor units. They were designed to add more than 30 billion cubic feet of daily delivery capacity.

The Guthrie No. 4 Schumacher was having casing troubles at the end of the week. This site is 1,671 feet from south and 2,291 from east lines, 15-29-1s, T&P Survey, and four miles south of Iatain. Both these projects are being handled by Turner Drilling Co.

Wildcats Scheduled In Three Counties

New wildcat sites have been staked in Coke, Gaines, and King counties.

The Coke County exploration is Humble Oil No. 4-B Harris Estate and is about 15 miles northwest of Robert Lee. The site is 215 feet from north and 660 from west lines, T. G. Goss Survey No. 1.

It will drill to 6,000 feet.

Felmont Oil staked the No. 1 Ruth Hudson about six miles southwest of Denver City as a 6,500-foot wildcat. The operator staked it 2,030 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines, 60-AX, PSL Survey.

In King County, Griggs Oil Corp. No. 2-B J. H. Parramore is located 12 miles south of Guthrie. It is a south offset to the No. 1 Parramore and is 1,263 feet from north and 2,378 feet from east lines, 94-F, H&TC Survey.

Drilling depth is 3,200 feet.

Congressional Study Of Oil Depletion Allowance Urged

HOUSTON (AP)—A long predicted thorough study of the oil industry's depletion tax allowance may develop in Congress next year.

A senator from a leading oil producing state has called for an early study and has asked the industry to give its support.

Those favoring a reduction in the current 27½ per cent depletion rate received encouragement by two Senate votes in August even though proposals for cuts were reduced.

Most backers of the current allowance have interpreted the votes as warnings of stiffer opposition ahead.

Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM) has indicated the best way to meet the opposition may be a full scale congressional study.

Anderson, who voted against both the cuts proposed Aug. 11, told an industry group in Albuquerque last week there is a "seeming trend" toward eventual reduction of the present rate.

"Congress should initiate and the industry should at an early opportunity support a thorough review of the depletion structure," he said. "In the past, an investigation by the Congress, in an atmosphere of calm, always has confirmed the need for depletion allowances."

The August votes were on amendments from the Senate floor and did not follow committee hearings. A proposal by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) for a graduated scale ranging from 15 to 27½ per cent was defeated, 58-31. A proposal by Sen. John Williams (R-Del) for a flat reduction to 15 per cent was defeated, 63-26.

Russell Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, has indicated agreement with Anderson that the industry's best defense may be through a congressional study.

Oil Industry Prepares For Big Centennial Observance

WASHINGTON (AP)— The oil industry has a big birthday coming up next year—its 100th.

It's planning big things, on a nationwide scale, to celebrate its century of growth—from one 20-barrel well near Titusville, Pa., into one of the giants of American business.

"Oil's first century: born in freedom, working for progress," will be the theme of the centennial observance.

The Titusville well was drilled by Col. Edwin Drake. He struck oil Aug. 27, 1859, and the American industry was born. (Actually the first recorded commercial production of oil was in Romania in 1857). The Titusville well, at its peak, produced about 20 barrels of crude oil a day.

Historical lore assembled by the American Petroleum Institute shows that Samuel Kier became the country's first oil refiner shortly after Drake made his famous strike. Kier made just one product—kerosene—from the oil from the Drake well. He did his refining by cooking the crude oil in a crude, five-barrel still.

From 1859 to 1865, the first oil was carried to primitive refineries by wagon or river barge but in October, 1865, six years after Drake's historic well came in, the first pipeline was put into operation in Pennsylvania.

From one state in 1859, production of oil or gas now has spread to 29 states.

Man Bores To New Depths In His Search For Petroleum

TULSA (AP)—While man probes the mysteries of outer space, equally significant advances are under way to explore the unknown below the surface of the earth.

For the first time in history, sand and rock formations were punctured this week to a depth of 25,000 feet in a search for possible deep oil or gas deposits in Texas.

The Oil and Gas Journal describes the drilling industry's milestone achieved by Phillips Petroleum Co. crews in its Sept. 29 issue. Outlining the significance of the 1-EE University in Pecos County, about 10 miles east of Fort Stockton, Tex., the Journal says:

"It is a tribute to the vision, daring and scientific curiosity of Phillips. . . It is a tribute to the progress of technology—the skill of the drillers; the planning of the engineers; the perfection of the materials, equipment and instruments needed to penetrate rock 25,000 feet below the derrick floor."

Drilling began nearly two years ago, Oct. 12, 1956. Phillips has made no estimate of the cost but experts figure the minimum for such a wildcat is 1½ million dollars. It could easily be 3 million. The new record was reached at 8 p.m. Sept. 23.

A top company official maintains "We are not seeking records. We have no desire to be in the limelight or be pioneers. We're only interested in finding oil or gas, and if a structure looks good enough, we will go after it."

Phillips' 1-EE University exceeds the previous depth record of 22,570 feet set in December, 1955, by Richardson & Bass' 1 LL&E Humble "L" at Plaquemines Parish, La. The 20,000-foot mark was penetrated only nine years ago, in June, 1949, by the Pacific Creek Unit 1, which went to 20,521 feet in Sublette County, Wyo. It was a Superior Oil Co. venture.

There is doubt that even if successful the Phillips test can produce enough oil or gas to repay the investment. But the venture still could benefit the industry with knowledge of the earth five miles down.

Phillips officials were more interested in hitting the Ellenburger formation, generally a good producing sand, at 24,974 than in the milestone achievement. They had planned to halt drilling temporarily if it had not been found.

The company acknowledges it has learned much about deep structure in Pecos County.

One geologist told the Journal the huge project is "one of those deep-basin structures on which much of the future of the industry will depend."

The 25,500-foot level should be reached in three or four weeks and extensive tests of the Ellenburger will be made, the Journal reported. So far, only gas has been found in the Permian sand at 8,549-8,647 feet.

On the basis of past performance, the Journal estimates, it will be 7 to 11 years before drilling ever reaches 30,000 feet.

State Completions Are Still Lagging

AUSTIN (AP)— The Railroad Commission reported today 213 oil and 42 gas wells were completed during the last seven days of drilling in Texas.

It upped the year totals to 9,272 oil and 1,666 gas wells, compared to 11,824 and 2,477 last year. There were 130 dry holes, upping the total to 4,657 compared to 5,688 for 1957.

In unproven territory, 6 oil and no gas wells were completed. Oil wildcats total 291 for the year and 51 gas wildcats have been recorded. Seventy eight attempts in unproven territory were dry holes. Five of the oil wildcats were in District 9 and the other in District 8.

The total average calendar day oil allowable was 3,220,476 barrels, up 9,379 barrels over last Saturday.

Duncan, Et Al Will Drill Pecos Test

Duncan Drilling Co. of Big Spring will join Hamm & O'Brien of Odessa in a 4,500-foot Delaware sand wildcat in Reeves County.

The new wildcat is Duncan, Hamm & O'Brien No. 2 Ward County Irrigation District No. 1. It is about nine miles north of Pecos and is one mile southeast of the same operators' No. 1 Ward County, abandoned earlier this year at a depth of 4,512 feet.

Drilling Remains Static In Basin

Rotary drilling in the Permian Basin was static last week; the same totals were reported last Friday as on Sept. 19.

Reed Roller Bit Co. counted 355 rotaries turning in the Basin on both Fridays after finding 357 on Sept. 12.

Lea County, N. M., continued as leader of individual areas with 37 rigs, the same as the previous week, and Andrews was second with 31. Others reporting 20 or more active rigs include Ector with 28 and Winkler with 29.

Howard's total was four, the same as the previous week.

AND THE RAINS CAME

For the second time, the entire farm of a young Hindu father was devastated. This time he lost his wife. How could he care for a sick infant daughter? Perhaps if he laid her by the roadside someone better able to care for her would find her. And someone did...a nurse from a relief organization operated by one of America's religious faiths. Slowly the little body became stronger. The young father was traced and helped to make a new start. Red Raiders Easily Spill West Texas State, 32-7

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) —Texas Tech absorbed a quick touchdown by West Texas Sate Saturday night, then roared behind a fleet of fast backs to win going away 32-7.

The Buffaloes struck the second time they got the ball for a 7-0 lead before 23,100 stunned fans, marching 93 yards.

Halfback Jim Haddaway got the score on a three - yard plunge and fullback Bob Ratliff kicked the extra point.

The Raiders got back in the game in the second quarter when end Gerald Seemann took a 3-yard pass from halfback Floyd Dellinger. Tech's attempted conversion pass failed.

A few moments later, with West Texas on its own 25, guard Gene Bentley hit quarterback Mack Kehoe, knocking him loose from the ball. End Jerry Selfridge grabbed the pigskin on the Buff's 16 and raced over. Dellinger's attempted run for the extra point was stopped behind the line.

Tech controlled the second half, putting the game on ice with a 72-yard march that took 10 plays. Halfback Ronnie Rice capped the drive with a two yard plunge to make it 18-7. Another run for the extra point failed.

The Raiders scored twice in the fourth quarter while bottling up West Texas so completely it never passed its own 40-yard line.

Tech scored its fourth touchdown to climax a 55-yard march when halfback John Roberts plunged one yard. Halfback Milton Vaughn kicked the extra point for a 25-7 lead.

Late in the fourth quarter guard Freddy Weaver recovered a fumble by quarterback Bobby Davis on the Buffalo 9. Seven plays later htird string quarterback Ken Talkington plunged a yard for the final touchdown. Talkington also kicked the extra point.

Tech held a wide edge in rushing with 234 yards to 155. West Texas gained 105 yards passing to Tech's 79. The Raiders also had an edge in the first downs, 19 to 16.

RICE POUNDS INDIANS, 30-7

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A rugged band of Rice Owls exploded for three second half touchdowns Saturday and ruined Stanford Coach Jack Curtice's home debut, 30-7.

The first half was as close as the halftime score, 9-7 for Rice, and Stanford even led 7-6 for a few moments. But the second part was all Atexan.

Jon Schnable, one of five quarterbacks used by Coach Jess Neely, set up a decisive touchdown with a 28-yard dash near the close of the third period. Gordon Speer made the touchdown on an 8-yard smash, completing a 69-yard drive in eight plays.

Opening the fourth quarter. Buddy Dial recovered a fumble by Stanford quarterback Dick Norman on the Indians 24. On the next play, Ray Chilton bolted 24 yards through the center for a touchdown.

Sophomore quarterback Al Hartman passed to Gene Jones for the final Owl score. The play went 68 yards, Jones outrunning the defense frmo midfield.

Bucek scored the first touchdown on a 6-yard run and kicked a field goal that goes on the books as 23 yards but carried 41. The 6 foot 1 halfback also made two conversions and saw one blocked.

Big Spring once led in its all-time series with Snyder, four games to one, but last year's Tiger win evened it at 4-4 . . . Big Spring's biggest margin of victory was 32-15, achieved in 1952 . . . Johnny Johnson of Big Spring and Pampa's Clifton McNeeley received prominent mention in the Albuquerque papers as prospects to fill the head basketball coaching job at the University of New Mexico last year . . . The player waiver price in big league baseball is $20,000, in pro football only $100 . . . Rick Terry, a letterman end at Big Spring High School two years ago, had a chance at a full athletic scholarship at John Tarleton College recently but turned it down to enroll at HCJC . . . Cannon is likely to guide the Tigers into the Sugar Bowl . . . Texas Tech's intersectional basketball game with Missouri the night of Dec. 20 will be on network television . . . You can see it on the Midland station . . . Bobbye Savage, the former Big Spring athlete who is now head football coach at East High School in Des Moines, Iowa, watched his club win a 26-0 start in their first start this year . . . Ronnie Knox, the controversial ex-UCLA quarterback, is playing ball in Canada this year with the full approval of George Halas, who owns his contract rights in the NFL . . . If Ronnie played in this country, he would have to surrender about one-third of his salary (said to be $1,000 a game) to his locquacious father-in-law, Harvey . . . Ronnie will be back with Halas' Chicago Bears in 1959, since Harvey's contract with Ronnie ends after this year . . . Big Springer Wylie Wise caught two passes in McMurry's 21-8 win over Howard Payne College last weekend . . . Curtis Kelley Back On Old Diet

Larry McNair, they say, is a fine football prospect at Snyder . . . He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wacil McNair, who used to live in Big Spring. . . . Young McNair plays center . . . The Big Spring-Ysleta game last week pulled in a crowd of 3,808, who paid $3,965.10, but Ysleta, working on a $1,000 guarantee plus a 50 per cent cut of the income, got the big share of the loot . . . We benefitted to the extent of $1,270. . . . Seven one-time Big Spring baseballers will be active in this year . . . They are Freddy Rodriquez, who will be with Almendares; Camillo Pascual, Ossie Alvarez and Raul Sanchez, all with Cienfueges; Vince Amor, Havana; and Mike Fornieles and Witty Quintana, both with Marianao . . . Edison Went Farther, Scores Less

Six of Big Spring's ten 1957 football foes made less yardage on the ground than did San Antonio Edison but the Bears are the only team the Steers have kept from scoring in two seasons now . . . Warren Spahn, the National League pitching great, was one of the World War II soldiers who scooted across that bridge at Remagen, Germany, seconds before it collapsed into the Rhine River. . . . Ohio State, Saturday foe of SMU, had only one holding penalty called in 7,000 blocks over a 10-game schedule last year and close observers say it is because Coach Woody Hayes hires one to two fully uniformed referees to work every full-scaled Buckeye scrimmage and call all penalties . . . Hayes strives to reduce human error to the minimum . . . In a book he recently published, boxing writer Lester Bromberg insists that Jack Dempsey didn't draw the color line and never refused to box Harry Wills . . . A midwestern promoter lined up a bout between the two, as a matter of fact, but promoter Tex Rickard of New York, with a Dempsey-Gene Tunney bout in mind, nixed the bout . . . Neither Wills nor his manager, Paddy Mullins, ever claimed that Dempsey refused to meet big Harry, according to Bromberg . . . Two of the boys out for freshman football at Texas Tech—Ken Milliken and Jim Perry—are District 2-AAAA products . . . Milliken was a San Angelo center, Perry an Abilene end. . . . Bill McCree, the local Boy Scout executive, played in the University of Kansas backfield at one time . . . Tommy McAdams, the Big Spring boy quarterbacking the McMurry College Indians, completed six of 10 passes for 119 yards in gain in the Tribe's first two games . . . Mr. and Mrs. Perry Johnson are planning to go to Denton next weekend to see their son, Charley, and New Mexico A&M perform against North Texas . . . Al Milch, the local coach, says the scrap for the 1-AAAA championship this season appears to be more wide open than at any time in history, which means that he reasons his team will be in it all the way.

Auburn Wallops Tennessee, 13-0

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Southpaw quarterback Lloyd Nix injected some second-half zing into a sluggish Auburn offense Saturday and the Tigers whipped Tennessee 13-0 in a nationally televised football game.

Boydstun Smears Park Hill, 16-0

Howard Bain scored both touchdowns and Lewis Moss and Kent Brown carried over conversions Saturday night as Boydstun defeated Park Hill, 16-0, in an elementary football game.

Bain scored on runs of 25 and 15 yards. The three scorers and quarterback Roy Billings were standouts for the victorious Boydstun squad. Randy French sparkled both offensively and defensively for the losers.

Hornets Remain In Elite Ranks

MERTZON (SC) — Mertzon remained undefeated Friday night in blistering the Comstock gridders, 64-28, in a six-man game.

Bill Sawyer was the dynamite cap, tallying 20 points. Joe Sellman, 18, Neal Tankersley, 13, and Bob Helmers, 12, also scored.

Williams, Runnels Each Hits Three

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ted Williams and Pete Runnels each lashed out three hits Saturday in their down-to-the wire battle for the American League batting championship. But Williams forged into a slim .3267 to .3244 lead as they led the Boston Red Sox to a 9-5 victory over Washington.

June Asbury With Catch

Local Fisherman Hauls In Record Trout In Colorado

Ben Asbury, local pharmacist, manhandled a strike on one of the largest brown trout ever seen in Colorado parts—or in the entire U. S., for that matter—on his and Mrs. Asbury's recent fishing trip to Creed.

Ben and June, 1605 Vine St., are avid fishermen and have been to the Creed fishing grounds several times, particularly on the Wright Ranch where on Sept. 18 he reeled in an 18-pound, 35-inch brown trout.

Asbury caught the fish about 20 miles upstream from Creed, a well-known fishing center. He reeled it in on a Shakespeare rod and reel with a six-pound leader and 10-pound test line. He baited the fish with a silver spoon.

Folks here said it was one of the biggest ever hauled in from Colorado waters, and some declared it was the biggest ever. They weren't exaggerating. In April's issue of Field and Stream, a list of the top fishermen's captives were given. The largest was an 18-pound, nine-ounce prize—little more than half a pound larger than Asbury's claim. Second biggest—over the nation, be reminded—weighed 13 pounds, one ounce.

The brown trout of Asbury, which measured 20 inches around the girth or belly, was left at a taxidermy shop in Monte Vista, Colo., for preservation work. The largest brought in there previously, it was said, was 16½ pounds.

Ben, as did everyone else, felt sure he had brought in an unusual catch. He fought it in for about 15 minutes.

"And let me tell you something," he said, "I didn't just jerk that fish right out of the water."

Which is understandable.

Houston Humbles Texas A&M, 39-7

HOUSTON (AP)—Claude Kings, former all-state Mississippi schoolboy star, led a flock of fine backs behind a hard charging line Saturday night as the University of Houston opened its football campaign by crushing Texas A&M, 39-7.

King thrilled a crowd of 65,000 by setting up a tie-breaking second period score with a 17-yard run to the one and then got a touchdown of his own on the second play of the final period with a 47-yard scramper.

The Aggies, playing their second game with their new single wing offense, struck first as fullback Gordon LeBoeuf rammed over from the two to end a 36-yard drive on the second play of the second quarter.

Houston struck back quickly by scoring twice within five minutes. Jim Kuehne, a sophomore fullback, carried over from the one to climax a 61-yard march, and Lonnie Holland, a junior quarterback transfer from Oklahoma University, scored on a keeper from the one after King's 17-yard run.

Halfback Don Brown got the third Houston touchdown by running over from the five on the first play after the Cougars had covered a fumble on the Agie nine early in the third period. The fumble came on the first play after A&M had halted a 54-yard Houston surge that had carried to the two.

In the closing minutes, Houston scored 10 points on a safety and a touchdown.

End Randall Dorsett tackled Charlie Milstead, the Agie quarterback, in the end zone for the safety. A pair of sophomores from Shreveport, La., then added the final eight points as quarterback Pat Studstill passed 26 yards to halfback Don Mullins for a touchdown and then hit Mullins again in the end zone for two more points.

Quarterback Don McDonald converted three times for Houston, while Brown passed to King for two points after King's long touchdown run. Milstead converted for the Aggies.

FIRST HALF SCORELESS

Iowans Trounce Frogs, 17 To 0

By L.E. SKELLEY

IOWA CITY, Iowa, (AP)—Iowa tossed a versatile offensive barrage, triggered by the razor-sharp passing of Randy Duncan, at Texas Christian University for a 17-0 victory in an intersectional football duel Saturday.

Iowa, unable to cash in on scoring opportunities in the first half, piled up all its points in the last two quarters against TCU, ranked sixth in the latest national Associated Press poll.

A record opening game crowd of 54,500 watched junior halfback Bob Jeter break the scoreless deadlock on Iowa's first scrimmage play in the second half.

Jeter, on a reverse, came to his right and broke down the sidelines for 61 yards. It was a spectacular performance. Jeter dropped the ball on the 12, grabbed it on the bounce, and seemed to fall almost all the rest of the way.

Iowa marched 72 yards later in the third period for its second touchdown, Duncan completing the deal with a six-yard toss to Don Norton in the end zone. John Nocera picked up two more points on the conversion with a plunge from the one after TCU was offside.

Duncan hit four of five passes for 46 yards during the drive. Defense back Larry Terrell of TCU neglected to intercept the one Duncan missed. Terrell batted the ball down and Iowa scored on the next play.

Bob Prescott finished the point-making with a field goal from the 21 with some six minutes left.

TCU, which piled up a 42-0 victory over Kansas last week, had few chances against Iowa. The Texans got to the Iowa one at the end of the first half but a 15-yard penalty for illegal shift put the Horned Frogs back to the 17 and Jack Spikes missed on a field goal.

Iowa, whose biggest pre-season worry concerned the defense, held Texas Christian to a net of 87 yards by rushing and 128 by passing, but Iowa's interior linemen had to go most of the way to get the job done.

Duncan, whose effective tosses kept the TCU defense guessing, completed 11 of 19 for 140 yards. Hunter Enis, the TCU passer, hit 9 of 115 for 128.

Loraine Upsets Roby 11, 14-6

LORAINE (SC)— Loraine upset one of the District 6-A favorites, Roby, 14-6, in a football game played here Friday night.

Robert Rankin and Robert Galvan scored Loraine's touchdowns while Billy Simmons counted for Roby in a 52-yard sprint.

Jackets Outlast Bronchos, 16-14

PORT ARTHUR (SC) — Odessa was beaten by the Port Arthur Yellow Jackets here Friday night. 16-14, in a non-conference football collision.

In the first quarter, Port Arthur back Pepper Smith dashed 47 yards to begin scoring. The Jackets moved 71 yards in three plays during that drive.

After the kickoff, Odessa maneuvered 69 yards to their first touchdown. Gary Crain tossed to Ronnie Goodwin to deadlock the contest at 8-8.

SWEETWATER (SC) — The Sweetwater reserves dashed the Big Spring B team 20-0 here Saturday night, scoring on a 50-yard run, a 15-yard pass and a 15-yard end play.

Sweetwater logged eight first downs to six for Big Spring, completed four of 12 passes for 130 yards while Big Spring was completing four of nine for 40 yards, and picked up 170 yards rushing to Big Spring's 120.

For Big Spring, J. B. Davis and Ronnie Clanton were defensive aces and R. L. Lasater turned in a laudable offensive performance.

Baylor Edges H-SU Cowboys By 14-7 Score

WACO (AP)—Billy Pavliska, the prancing Pole, swept 59 yards in a 60-yard touchdown drive and lanky wingman Roy Dowden intercepted two passes to set up another as Baylor beat stubborn Hardin-Simmons, 14-7, Saturday night.

Hardin-Simmons, using its slot back pro offense, threatened often on the runs of Pete Hart and Gene Ucellini and the passing of Har old Stephens and Jim Butler but it was with less than five minutes left that the Cowboys were able to score.

The touchdown came after Hardin-Simmons had virtually camped on the Baylor goal line for most of the last period.

And in the last 36 seconds Hardin--Simmons moved to the Baylor 25 only to have interference called.

Pavliska, the Baylor fullback who was fifth string as a sophomore and was ineligible last year, scored the first Baylor touchdown in the opening period with a 22-yard run behind terrific blocking.

Bowden intercepted his two passes in the third period. The second, which he caught when it was tipped by a Hardin-Simmons player, set the ball on the Hardin-Simmons. A personal foul against Hardin - Simmons—the second of the game, with Baylor getting the other—put the ball on the 22. Humphrey passed to Gerry Moore, who kicked both of the points after Baylor's touchdowns, for six; rammed for two and Gaylen Crain pushed to a first on the eight. Humphrey then passed over the goal line to send Sonny Davis for the touchdown.

Hardin-Simmons scored after twice getting to the Baylor four and once to the two. Butler engineered the payoff drive and made the score with a 1-yard blast at center. Dewey Bohling kicked the extra point.

Snyder's Tigers huffed and puffed to a 25-20 football victory over the Big Spring Steers here Friday night before 5,000 fans to remain in the undefeated and untied ranks.

The Longorns, who haven't beaten Snyder in four years now, made the Bengals work for the win. Had Benny McCrary and Buddy Barnes been able to go at full speed, it might have been a different story.

As it was, bulldozing Wayne Fields, Big Spring's all-state candidate, kept the Snyder line on needles and pins and probably put the Snyder coaching staff on a milk diet for a week.

Fields scored all of Big Spring's points. He blasted for one yard off right tackle 4:20 minutes deep in the second quarter to give the Steers a temporary 6-0 lead, gathered in a fourth quarter kickoff and blazed 81 yards up the east sideline for another TD and barrelled through from nine yards out with 1:17 to go in the game for a third.

In addition, he rammed through for two extra points after his third touchdown. All in all, he had quite a night.

Dick Hayes proved to be Snyder's top back of the night, having gained 150 of Snyder's 395 rushing yards with some nifty running. He also accounted for one of Snyder's four TD's.

Tommy Whatley, who played fine defensive ball for Big Spring, set Big Spring's first touchdown drive in motion when he recovered a Snyder fumble on the Tigers' 24. The Steers drove down to the one, from where Fields powered over. Freddie Brown tried an end run for the extra points but was hurled to earth before he could get to the line of scrimmage.

Snyder took the kickoff and charged to a score without a false move, maneuvering 57 yards across the double stripes. Jimmy Allen legged it the last nine yards for the score, going over with 5:55 showing on the clock. Allen then booted the point and Snyder went ahead to stay, 7-6.

Shortly before the half ran out, Allen dropped a pass in the clear down around Big Spring's five. He was off balance at the time, however.

The second half kickoff put Snyder in business again and the Tigers drove 64 yards without yielding possession. Paul Stanley boomed off right tackle for the last seven yards and Snyder led, 13-6. Allen tried to run for the extra points but was stopped.

Big Spring seemed on the verge of tying the score later in the round after Bud Bridges had intercepted Dick Mahan's pass and returned the ball two yards to Snyder's 15.

Fields was jarred loose from the ball on the one, however, and Snyder recovered.

The Tigers proceeded to drive 99 yards to pay dirt before the quarter was out after a 15-yard penalty stepped off against Big Spring had gotten them away from the shadow of their goal posts. Sophomore John Weaver scooted the last 29 yards around left end for the tally, putting Snyder ahead, 19-6, with 1:01 left to play in the period. Allen tried to kick the point and failed.

Backed smack up against it's own goal line in the waning seconds of the third period, Big Spring tried a quick kick, with disastrous results. The punt by Fields was blocked and recovered by Snyder's Ronnie Giles on the Steer four.

From that point, Hayes made it in one run on the first play in the fourth quarter. A try for the point on a pass fizzled and Snyder lead, 25-6.

Far from disheartened over the turn of events, the Steers came back to score twice before time ran out on them.

Fields gathered in the ensuing kickoff, benefited from some excellent blocking down the left side and roared 81 yards for his second tally. Only 15 seconds were gone on the fourth quarter clock.

A pass interference call down Snyder's nine set up Big Spring's tally after Robert Carr had pounced on a Tiger fumble out on Snyder's 23.

Fields split the line for the necessary nine yards, then added the extra point on a run.

Barnes re-injured his ankle early after gaining ten yards in four carries. McCrary, who wouldn't have played had there been anyone to spell him, ran on a flat wheel all night. He was in obvious pain.

The officials stepped off a record 279 yards in penalties against the two teams, 189 of that amount against the over-eager Snyder team.

Bobby McAdams, Bridges, Mackie Alexander, Chubby Moser and Gene Salazar were among the Big Spring boys who distinguished themselves in the trenches with their fine play.

Jerry Dunlap, a Steer sophomore, almost broke loose with one fine run, racing for 17 yards before he was stopped. Fields reeled off 129 yards in ground gains, besides his 81-yard kickoff return. Brown picked up 21 paces in five tries.

LAMESA—The ball-hawking of linebacker Eddie Peterson and the power-running of fullback Howard Westmoreland and Ronnie Reeves proved too much for the Kermit Yellowjackets here Friday night as the Golden Tornadoes took a 28-0 win from the 'Jackets. The Tornadoes scored in every quarter on the muddy field. Rain came down plentifully in the first three quarters.

Peterson set the first touchdown up when he recovered the slippery ball on the Kermit 23. Three plays later halfback Reeves burst through from the 20, rolled out to the right and went on to score. Westmoreland carried over for the conversion.

In the second quarter the 190 Westmoreland bulled nine yards, carrying two would-be tacklers with him for the second Tornado score. His conversion attempt was short.

The Jackets fumbled on the kickoff opening the second half and defensive end Lee Stafford pounced on it on the Kermit 32. Four plays later Westmoreland went 13 yards to score. Reeves passed to halfback Larry Marshall for two points.

Peterson made his second recovery of a Kermit miscue on the Lamesa 13 to thwart the first 'Jacket threat of the night late in the third quarter. The Tornadoes moved to the Kermit 30 and returned the favor with Kent Stevens, defensive halfback making the recovery. Three plays later Peterson again recovered a Kermit fumble—on the Kermit 38.

The Tornadoes lost the ball on downs on the Kermit 16 and the Jackets were forced to punt. Marshall took the punt on the Lamesa 40, cut to the left sidelines and went all the way. Peterson threw the key block in the 60-yard scoring jaunt, but his attempt at the extra two points was short.

With 55 seconds left in the game, end Doyle Norris cut off the final 'Jacket threat by recovering a fumble on the Tornado 12-yard line.

Outstanding blocking was the key to the Tornadoes power with ends Norris and Nat Self, tackles Bill McCulloch and guard Gary Everett doing yeoman service. Fine defensive play was turned in by McCulloch, Peterson, Norris, Reeves, Stafford, tackle Ross Woodson and linebacker Jimmy Lynch, for the Tornadoes; Billy Dean, Yellowjacket safetyman, who twice saved touchdowns being scored, Gary Gregg, Mike Quimby and Jose Dominguez, defensive lineman and backs Billy Westmoreland and Kent Stevens, Jackets.

COLORADO CITY — Monahans Loboes edged the Colorado City Wolves 2-0, in a driving rain at Colorado City Friday night.

The rain began to fall 15 minutes before the opening kickoff and fell steadily throughout play, contributing to the sputtering offense displayed by both teams. However, Monahans drove to the Wolf eleven-yard line in the first quarter and to the Wolf 12 in the fourth.

Colorado City was unable to cross the fifty-yard line until late in the fourth quarter, when the Wolves mounted a brief drive which died on the Lobo 34.

The safety came early in the first quarter as Dickie Richardson, Colorado City fullback dropped back to his goal line to kick. Richardson was forced to leap for a high passback and attempted to run with the ball as the left side of the Lobo line, led by Philip Pearce, defensive end, trapped him for the two pointer.

STANTON (SC)—A devasting ground attack led by a former guard was the weapon Ozona used in bombing the Stanton Buffaloes here Friday night, 31-6.

Although he scored only six of the Ozona points, fullback Billy Bob Holder was one of the principal reasons for the win. Holder accounted for 97 yards of the Lions' 323 total, and Bobby Sutton, a star for Ozona for the past two season, gained 88.

Holder was shifted to fullback this year from a guard slot but played the backfield position as a veteran.

Ozona scored after the opening kickoff without giving up the ball. The Lion drive began on their own 25, but it actually covered 100 yards since they drew 25 penalty yards on the first five plays.

The Lions plugged down the field in 14 plays, and quarterback David Sikes sneaked over from the one for the TD.

Early in the second period, Ozona took over on the Stanton 48 and moved to another touchdown in 10 plays. Holder went the last six yards over left guard, and Sikes added the extra point, kicking from the eight after a five-yard penalty.

Nine plays later—after the ball had changed hands twice—Sutton grabbed a Stanton pass and returned it from midfield to the 17. Only three plays were needed, with the last going for one yard and the tally. Sutton carrying, just before the end of the half.

Midway through the third quarter, Ozona gained possession of the ball on its own 15 and began a drive which netted another TD. The 85-yard march was accomplished in seven plays, with the final 47 yards coming on a keeper play by Sikes.

The Lion quarterback cut around his left end and outran the Stanton defenders to the goal. He was hit at the goal but bounded on into the end zone.

On the ensuing kickoff, Stanton back Buzzy Brewer picked up the ball on his own 10 and raced to the Lion 40 before being hauled in by Sutton, the last man to have a chance at him.

On the next down, however, a Stanton aerial was intercepted by end Jim Williams and returned to the Buff 30. The Lions then needed only four plays to score with Sutton going the last 14 steps through the center of the line.

Again Brewer almost got loose on the kickoff but was hauled in this time on the Lion 39 as the third period ended.

Buff quarterback Dwayne Thompson called a series of quarterback sneaks which moved the ball 20 yards in four plays. Brewer and Thompson alternated at carrying the ball to the four, and Thompson swept wide around his right end for the Buffs' lone tally.

The Lion's savage ground game penetrated the Buff line for 323 yards, but the visitors were unable to complete any passes. Stanton, meanwhile, could make only 141 yards on the ground and 16 in the air. Eighty-eight of Stanton's yards on the ground came in the final quarter, with Thompson accounting for .52 of those last-period yards.

Guard John Ory turned in a sparkling performance for the Buffs on defense, getting in on 20 tackles. Gilbert Casbeer, a tackle, found his way into 14 tackles, only one more than Darrell Hamby, a back subbing for the injured starter Porky Britton. Britton didn't suit up for the game, favoring an injured knee, but is expected to be back in the lineup by next week's engagement at O'Donnell.

Virgil Miller, a tackle, made 11 tackles, and Thompson 10.

KEDY-TV To Air Game At Buffalo

The New York Giants and Chicago Cardinals kick-off the 1958 professional football telecast Sunday over the Columbia Broadcasting System. Scene of the conflict will be Buffalo.

Both the Cardinal and Giant lineups this year include many Southwest conference rookies, including Heisman winner John Crow of Texas A&M, King Hill of Rice, Joe Clements of Texas University, and Bobby Conrad of Texas A&M. The game, co-sponsored by American Petrofina Company of Texas, can be seen in this area over Station KEDY-TV Big Spring.

Merkel Slams Coahoma, 42-0

MERKEL (SC)—Merkel kayoed the Coahoma Bulldogs, 42-0, in a practice football game played here Friday night.

The Badgers, who formerly were a member of Coahoma's conference, scored in the first few minutes of play when quarterback Manley Denton broke loose on a 62-yard run. The play came after Coahoma was forced to punt and Merkel had made one stab at the line.

Denton, a thorn in Coahoma's side all night, counted again in round one on a ten-yard play up the middle at the fag end of a 65-yard drive. The Merkel quarterback then passed to end Jerry McLeod for two points on the conversion try.

Joe Neill broke away for Merkel's third tally in the second quarter on a 19-yard sprint. That particular drive carried half the distance of the field.

Merkel drove 68 yards in eight plays for a touchdown after receiving the second half kickoff. Denton legged it into the end zones from five yards out. He then added the two points on a run.

A Coahoma bobble on the Merkel 38 set up Merkel's next TD. Ronnie Reeger sought out Pat Patterson that paid off for 27 yards and the score. Doug Toliver accept Reeger's pass for two more points.

The same combination clicked for Merkel's last touchdown on a ten-yard play late in the game.

Coahoma got inside Merkel's 20-yard line only once during the game.

Fumble Recoveries Help Panthers Tip Crusaders

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pitt quarterbacks Ivan Toncic and Ed Sharockman, a pair of winged-T magicians, reached deep into their bag of tricks Saturday—and with the help of two alert fumble recoveries—pulled out a 17-0 football victory over Holy Cross.

The combination of Toncic, guard John Guzik and end Art Gob clicked for Pitt's first touchdown in the opening quarter. Sharockman directed drives leading to a third-quarter field goal and a final-quarter touchdown.

The Panthers traveled 62 yards for the first TD after Guzik recovered a fumble by Holy Cross quarterback Tom Greene. Toncic hit Gob with a five-yard heave for the score on fourth down. Then Toncic kicked the conversion.

With Toncic injured and on the sidelines in the second half, Sharockman, a sophomore from St. Clair, Pa., and Peter Prince, a junior from Nashau, N.H. called signals.

Sharockman geared the Panthers on two penetrating drives, ending with a 17-yard field goal by Norton Seaman in the third quarter and a 20-yard touchdown run by Chuck Reinhold in the final period. Seaman kicked the conversion.

Notre Dame Finally Wears Down Inspired Hoosiers

By JERRY LISKA
AP Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's vaunted football machine collided with a granite underdog, Indiana's inspired Hoosiers, and needed to pull out all stops for an 18-0 season opening victory Saturday.

Although a substitute halfback, sophomore Bill Mack, scored for Notre Dame on an 11-yard run in the second quarter, the Irish appeared to have more than they could handle until they slugged across two more touchdowns in the final quarter.

Indiana, a 28-point underdog, forced Irish Coach Terry Brennan to experiment desperately with almost his entire bench to shake Notre Dame into action.

Quarterback Bob Williams finally got the Irish on the move midway in the fourth quarter and scampered 20 yards on a scoring run to cap a 71-yard drive.

The third Irish touchdown was a gift. Indiana's hard-working tailback Tom Kenrick fumbled and Notre Dame's Monty Stickles grabbed the ball on the Indiana 7. Two plays later, Williams shot a four-yard touchdown pass to Stickles.

the way, made its deepest penetration, to Notre Dame's 5, as the game ended with a flare of bad temper.

With time running out, there was some swinging as Notre Dame's Al Sabal tackled Indiana's Tom Campbell and then was piled into by Hoosier Bob Boak.

It was Indiana's first start under former Wyoming Coach Phil Dickens, who sat out last season for violation of the Big Ten recruiting code.

Bell Sees Better Pro Grid Season

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Commissioner Bert Bell, always an optimist, predicts bigger and better things this year for the National Football League which opens its 39th season Sunday.

The bigger things Bell expects are crowds at the 72 NFL games. The better things are the over-all quality of the teams and facilities.

Bearcats Win 42-0 Verdict

GARDEN CITY (SC) — Marlin Dodds' Garden City Bearcats defeated Knott in the rain and the mud here Friday night, 42-0.

It was their third eight-man success in four starts. They have lost only to Guthrie. The Cats visit Smyer for a practice tilt next Friday.

Don Plagens went 11 yards for one Garden City score. Mark Schafer got another on a three-yard sprint. Billy Fisher traveled 15 yards for another.

Frank Murphy took a 20-yard pass from Plagens for a Bearcat tally. Jimmy Childress was on the receiving end of a pass from Fisher for the other Cat score.

Schafer, Fisher and Childress accounted for Garden City's extra points.

Knott never got inside Garden City's 20-yard line during the game.

Garden City picked up 282 yards rushing to 123 for Knott and had 21 first downs to 12 for the losers.

On defense, Dennis Calverley, Dennis Schraeder and Schafer showed to advantage for the Bearcats.

Buckeyes Sneak Past Mustangs

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's top-ranked Buckeyes survived one of the greatest aerial barrages ever seen here to defeat Southern Methodist's Mustangs 23-20 in an intersectional football game Saturday.

Even in defeat, the star of the star-spangled show was Don Meredith, the Mustang quarterback who completed 19 of 28 passes for 213 yards and one touchdown. He also paced the Texas team on the ground with 25 yards in 10 tries. Meredith scored one six-pointer himself.

Conversions spelled the difference in the nip-and-tuck battle as the two titans traded touchdowns. The Bucks made good on all extra-points attempts, two of them the new-fangled two pointers while the Mustangs converted after only one of their three scores.

Too Many Hands

A pass falls away incomplete after being wrestled for by two Big Spring players (one of them all but hidden from the cameraman) and a Snyder boy in the above picture, taken during the Snyder-Steer game here Friday night. No. 83 is Bo Brown of Snyder, who vainly tried to spear the pighide. No. 15 is Bill French, Big Spring. Snyder won the game, 25-20.

A crowd of 83,113, largest ever to overflow the Buckeye horseshoe, gave Meredith, last year's collegiate champion passer, a huge ovation in the final quarter when he completed six in a row for 75 yards and the final SMU touchdown.

Don Clark, Ohio State's speedy senior halfback, scored OSU's first two touchdowns, one on a 22-yard run to climax a 41-yard six-play drive and the second on a two-yard plunge to finish a 15-play surge covering 80 yards. In between those scores, Billy Dunn, substitute S. M. U. quarterback, passed 20 yards to second-string end Henry Christopher for a touchdown. The Mustangs moved 73 yards in 11 plays for the score.

After Clark's second score, Meredith counted his touchdown on a two-yard run after faking a pass to get the Mustangs back into a 14-15 contention at the half.

Ohio contained the Mustang attack well when the Texans operated from a split-T, but the Buckeyes had no answer to an aerial assault from a spread formation.

Although each team had 18 first downs, SMU had an advantage of 362 to 287 in yardage gained.

Heights Wins Over Airport

College Heights rolled to its first victory in two Elementary School football league starts by belting Airport, 20-8, here Saturday morning.

Junior Daniels raced 60 yards for Heights' initial score in the opening period after intercepting a pass. Rickie Earle then added two points on a run.

In the second, Earle dashed 40 yards for College Heights' second TD while Greg Pate counted the third on a defensive maneuver in Round Three, grabbing a fumble in mid-air.

Airport scored in the fourth against the College Heights reserves.

Gus Hernandez scored the lone touchdown of the game in Bauer's 6-0 success at the expense of Washington Goliad. Goliad never got inside Bauer's 40.

Bauer had four touchdowns called back, two by Ray Navaretta and two by Tony Saracho.

Washington Place upended Cedar Crest, 22-6, with Johnny Hughes scoring two touchdowns and two extra point conversions for the winners.

Clifford Stewart scored the other six-pointer for the winners.

Washington ran across two TD's in the first half, and added one more in the final frame for the win.

Mike Steward was outstanding on defense.

All-Victorious 11's Diminish In Top Classes

By The Associated Press

Undefeated, untied teams have dwindled to a little more than 30 in the upper echelons of Texas schoolboy football as the field rounds out the first month of play.

None of the big favorites are in that class — Abilene, Wichita Falls and others given a high rating before the season started and which still retain their stature in the Class AAAA division.

Wichita Falls and Abilene both lost to Class AAA teams,

That Wichita Falls still must be considered about the best in AAAA was evidenced by the 54-0 wracking of Fort Worth Poly last week. Poly was undefeated and untied to that time.

The big game this week matches Abilene with mighty Breckenridge, the Class AAA leader and termed by many the best team in the state, all classes considered.

Another feature sends Arlington, unbeaten and untied, against Garland, which is undefeated but has been tied. Two teams with perfect records in Class AAA get together when Nacogdoches plays Beaumont French.

Breckenridge added to its stature last week by strapping Levelland 40-14 to tumble the latter from the unbeaten ranks. Sweetwater, the team that tumbled Abilene, was smashing Stamford, the high-rated outfit from Class AA, 32-0.

Dallas Highland Park, the defending Class AAAA state champion, showed it was moving back into the picture after an early season defeat as the Scots whammed Lufkin 47-6. Amarillo whipped San Angelo 12-7, Longview dashed Fort Worth Arlington 34-7 and Port Arthur edged Odessa 16-14 in other games of significance.

Michigan State Overruns California Bears, 32-12

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State combined crushing ground power and the liberal use of some sparkling sophomores to overrun California 32-12 in the 1958 Spartan football debut here Saturday.

It was the 11th Spartan victory over West Coast opponents in recent years. The last time a West Coast team beat MSU was when Oregon State pulled a 25-20 upset in 1949.

A crowd of 52,639 saw a convincing show of Michigan State's depth of material.

Duffy Daugherty used his first two elevens as a one-two punch and both figured in the scoring.

Michigan State, ranked third in the AP final football poll last year, stuck mostly to a methodical, grind-it-out ground attack. But Spartan passes were good for two touchdowns.

Michigan State gained 217 yards rushing in the first half alone to 42 yards for California in the half.

Michigan State scored in every period and had a 20-0 lead at the half. California's first touchdown came in the third quarter on a pass from quarterback Joe Kapp to Jack Hart. Its second was in the closing seconds of the game on a one-yard dive by Walt Arnold.

Water Valley Is Defeated, 21-6

TALPA (SC)—Water Valley fell to the Talpa Rams, 21-6, in a non-district football game played here Friday night.

Weldon Baker scored the only Water Valley touchdown, and the point conversion was no good.

Galena Edges 'Dogs, 12-6

MIDLAND (SC)—Playing in a light-falling rain, Galena Park from the Gulf Coast set down the Midland Bulldogs, 12-6, in a non-conference football game played here Friday night.

Galena Park scored in the first two minutes of action, sending John Brightwell into the end zone to snare quarterback Bob Goforth's pass. The play covered 83 yards.

In the second quarter, Goforth broke loose for a 19-yard scoring trip, but Galena Park missed the conversion. At halftime Midland trailed, 12-0.

The only offensive punch the Bulldogs could muster came to a climax in the final period when fullback Don Boyce scored from the three-yard line to make it 12-6.

Midland had 14 first downs, anl Galena Park had 12. The Bulldogs also came out with 151 yards rushing, to Park's 148. Midland completed 12 of 22 passes for 86 yards.

GAIL (SC)—The Gail Coyotes, unbeaten in 15 consecutive games and defending Reg. II (six-man) champions, lured the Forsan Buffs into their prairie haunt Friday night and made prey of the previously unlefeated Herd, 20-0, in an eight-man game.

Gail has won all four encounters this season, triumphed in 11 last year in going to the regional title, and appears merrily on its way to that crown this season. Forsan is recognized as one of the top ball clubs in the area, having previously shattered three challengers by decisive margins.

The Coyotes, however, came onfield with a fleet set of backs as good or better on defense as they were on offense, and held the commanding edge from the start. In all probability, Forsan profited from having entered the Borden school's arena, besides leaving with a good team performance.

On the first play of the second quarter, Gail took the Buffs by surprise with a touchown that was as well-executed as it was unexpected. Forsan, giving up its second holding of the ball, punted from the 39.

Gail's Raymond Walton, 160-pound junior back, stood and watched as the ball rolled and neared a stop on the Coyote 10-yard line. Surrounded by three Buffs who awaited the official's whistle, Walton charged the ball and broke out of the group, pigskin in hand, wide open on a 70-yard touchdown dash. Extra point try failed, 6-0.

Immediately after the kickoff, Forsan lost a fumble and Gail followed up on the opportunity. The Coyotes took over on Forsan's 18, but a holding penalty pushed them out to the 33. On third down, Wilson Walker bolted around end for 30 paces to the Forsan two. Tall Jerry Staggs, senior quarterback, bulled his way into the end zone there to give the Coyotes a 12-0 spread.

It appeared that the Buffs were little more than the silent third man during that first half. They ran only a dozen or so plays, having possession three times. Gail's ensemble had the hide six times, twice taking over on fumbles on a kickoff and punt. The officials marched off more yardage than anyone else, assessing Gail with 110 yards in penalties and Forsan with 25, in the first two quarters of play.

The Buffs returned in the third quarter with a completely converted club, especially on defense. Charles Skeen, Stanley Willis, and Ken Duffer ganged up to make regional titlists choke up on offense, at least before Gail punched Larry Doyle across for the final six points with less than four minutes remaining.

Doyle picked off quarterback Jerry Bardwell's aerial—Bardwell was stepped up from halfback to replace George White, out with a sprained ankle—and returned it to the Buff 14. Doyle scored a play later from the two, but a backfield in motion penalty nullified that touchdown. A play later he slid through for the TD, latched onto a pass for the extra points, and Gail was 20-0 better off.

Dewey Howard, Freddie Parks, Sammie Barnett and Bardwell played usual topnotch football, but the sticky field hampered their efforts almost as much as the swift Gail secondary defense.

Coach Eddie James spotted Doyle, Sonny Anderson, Billy Buchanan and Ramsey as his top gladiators for the night.

The Coyotes were last defeated by Loop, 20-12, in the final game of the year in 1956.

The gates open at 12 noon. Time trials begin 30 minutes later while the races themselves are scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded to winners in 26 classes, according to present plans.

Ford And Spahn Due To Open Big Series

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The 1958 World Series opens here Wednesday with the same cast of characters, the same playing sites, the same managers and most likely the same starting pitchers as last year. Even the 7 to 5 odds favoring the New York Yankees over the Milwaukee Braves are identical to those of October 1957. About the only change is the Braves' coaching staff.

Barring an 11th hour switch by Yankee manager Casey Stengel or Braves' pilot Fred Haney, the first game pitchers will be Whitey Ford and Warren Spahn. These southpaw aces opened the 1957 classic. The Yankees won the opener but the Braves captured the series, in seven games.

In many ways, this series shapes up as the most interesting in years, from the fans' standpoint, and the most perplexing to figure, from the experts' corner. Perhaps the biggest eyebrow-raiser is the tremendous faith of the odds-makers in the Yankees. After all, the American League champs are virtually the same team which lost three of the final four games to the Braves last October, two of them by shutouts... the same team that was beaten three straight times by Lew Burdette, who will attempt to stretch his streak of 24 consecutive World Series scoreless innings against the Yankees, probably in the second game.

Uppermost in everybody's mind, of course, will be the big question ... can Burdette do it again? Other questions that await answers are (1) have Ford and Don Larsen of 1956 perfect game fame fully recovered from their elbow ailments? (2) Will Wes Covington's damaged left knee hold up for the entire series? 3) Will a healthy Mickey Mantle and a strong Bill Skowron confirm the belief in some quarters that the principal reason the Braves won last year was because of the crippled condition of these sluggers?

There are other questions. Where will Yogi Berra play on the days when Elston Howard is behind the plate for the Yankees? Will Haney find a place in the Braves' lineup for slugger Joe Adcock, who has lost out to Frank Torre at first base? Will Stengel's radical idea to send an all-right-handed hitting lineup against Burdette put an end to the fidgety right-hander's mastery over the New Yorkers? Is Haney serious in his announced intentions of starting Ernie Johnson, who hasn't started a big league game in nearly four years, in the first game at Yankee Stadium, Saturday?

Yes, indeed, it should be quite an interesting World Series.

An appraisal of the comparative strengths of the teams fails to shed much light as to the final outcome. Milwaukee appears to have the better pitching but the Yankees have a slight edge in hitting, a wider edge in fielding, a still wider edge in overall speed and an appreciable advantage on the bench.

2ND LOSS IN ROW

Arkansas Shocked By Tulsa, 27-14

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Tulsa University's Golden Hurricane routed the University of Arkansas Razorbacks 27-14 Saturday before 19,000 fans.

The Porkers were stymided in their ground attack by a stalwart Tulsa line and managed to stay in the ball game only through the passing combination of quarterback Jim Monroe to end Charles Barnes.

The first quarter was scoreless. In the second period, an attempted Arkansas punt on its own 9-yard line was blocked by Tulsa right guard Odis Fuller. Right end Bob Kite grabbed the ball and carried it over for the first Hurricane score. Bob West kicked the point to make it 7-0.

Tulsa notched its second tally late in the first half when fullback Bob Brumble went over from the 3.

Arkansas got going on the first play from scrimmage in the second half with Monroe, standing near his own goal, flipping a 15-yard pass to end Richard Bell. Bell scampered 80 yards to score. The conversion failed.

Tulsa came back in the third to score again when quarterback Jerry Keeling passed 28 yards to left halfback Ronnie Morris, a former Arkansas student. Bob West converted to make it 21-6.

In the fourth quarter, Monroe hit Barnes with a 7-yard pass from the Tulsa 7-yard line for the second Porker score. This same pair teamed up for a successfull pass conversion good for two points, making the score 21-14.

With 3½ minutes left in the final quarter, Morris intercepted a Monroe pass on the Tulsa 44-yard line and scooted 56 yards down the right sideline to score.

Wolverines Skip Past Troy, 20-19

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—An underdog but gallant Southern California team battled Michigan to the wire Saturday before the Wolverines escaped with a 20-19 triumph in their 79th football opener, witnessed by 77,005 spectators.

Dogged by fumbles and penalties when they needed yardage most, the Trojans scored twice in the final period and would have upset their Big Ten opponents in this intersectional clash except for bad breaks.

Southern California suffered a final crushing blow after its last touchdown when it was penalized twice before it could try for the extra point. A pair of five-yard infractions set the Trojans back to the Michigan 13-yard line and they had to try a pass for the extra point.

Northwestern Tips Cougars, 29 To 28

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Northwestern, a Big Ten doormat which failed to win a game last year, opened its season Saturday with a 29-28 victory over Washington State, one of the leading contenders for the Pacific Coast Conference title.

A pair of quick touchdowns with only a one minute and 9 seconds left in the first half plus a 61-yard scoring dash by halfback Ron Burton helped the Wildcats overcome a 22-point final period rally by the Cougars.

The triumph was Northwestern's first over a PCC foe since its 20-14 Rose Bowl victory over California in 1949.

Sandies Defeat Bobcats, 12-7

AMARILLO (SC) — Amarillo turned the tables on surprised San Angelo, 12-7, in a 4-A football upset reeled off here Friday night.

It was the Bobcats' first loss and Amarillo's first triumph.

Amarillo scored first in the third quarter with Mal Whitsett doing the honors. Whitsett ran across the goal line from five yards out, and a pass conversion fell incomplete.

The Sandies hit the point column again in the final quarter when quarterback Barry Ward tossed a 12-yard pass to Tommy York. Again, the attempted pass conversion failed.

San Angelo's only six-pointer came late in the fourth by David Alexander, quarterback. He sneaked the final yard, and then booted the extra point.

Eagles Start A New Streak

ABILENE (SC) — Abilene's Eagles started a new win streak Friday night, dousing a threatening Lubbock Monterey crew, 34-0, with last half surges.

Abilene led at halftime 8-0. The second time they held the ball, Ronald Conklin drove to the end zone from seven yards away, then two paces off right tackle for the conversion and an 8-0 lead.

The next time they were able to score was in the fourth quarter. Conklin ran 23 yards to tally for a 14-0 lead. Freddie Martinez pitched out to Sarge Newman who went 19 yards for the next touchdown.

Andy Springer romped 76 yards down the sidelines to tally third in order with about six minutes remaining. T. A. Buchanan also added six points in the last minutes.

Abilene had 24 first downs, while Monterey garnered five. Only 72 yards were made rushing by Lubbock, but the Eagles rang up 357.

Clinical Course For Pastors Scheduled

A limited number of ministers in this area are going back to school to get a better grasp on how to help their flocks.

It's all a part of a community service made possible by the Big Spring State Hospital and encouraged by Dr. Preston Harrison superintendent. The Rev. Marvin Berkeland, hospital chaplain, has arranged the 12-session orientation course in clinical pastoral training.

The first session will be at his office at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, and thereafter the classes will meet from 9 a.m. until 12 noon on Mondays. Only 10 ministers can be accepted for one offering of the course. The Rev. Berkeland thinks perhaps others will follow.

All ministers of the area are invited to register, and enrollment is on a first-come basis. No academic credit is offered.

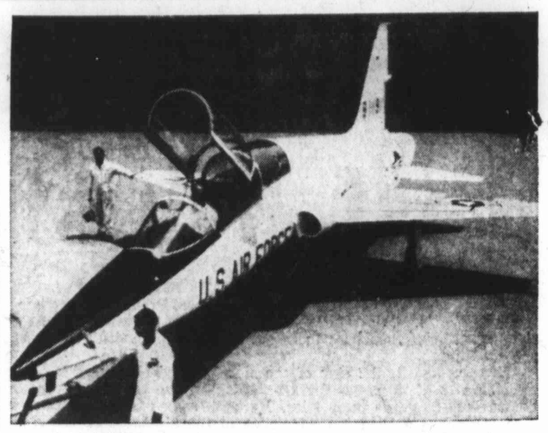

Primary purpose is to provide, through the resources of a mental hospital, a better understanding of emotional problems the pastor sees people facing in his parish. At the same time the course strives to make clear in understanding and practice the resources, methods and meanings of religion as these are expressed through pastoral care.

It is a study of how people are, how they got that way, and of what is available in psychiatry, psychology and religion to help them. By a better understanding of the problems, it is hoped ministers will be able to recognize possible solutions.

Leturing psychiatrist for the course will be Dr. Harrison, who incidentally, is certified by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology. There will be lectures also by Charles Rich and Jimmie G. Burton, psychologists; Dr. Robert P. Anderson, consulting psychologist; Dr. William V. Horbaly, hospital clinical director; Shelby Parnell, counsellor on alcoholics; and Chaplain Berkeland.

During the past summer the hospital has been conducting such an orientation for student pastors who are required by their schools to obtain clinical training before concluding work on their degrees.

One of them, Keith Wright, has remained on the hospital staff for an additional year's work.

NEW JET TRAINER NEEDS A NAME

Sleek T-38 scheduled to replace T-33

ATC Sets Contest To Find Name For New Jet Trainer

Air Training Command and Northrop Aircraft Inc. have opened a contest to members of the Training Command, both military and civilian employes, to select a name for Northrop's new T-38 jet trainer.

The sleek, new swept-wing bird will soon replace the T-33s at Webb AFB and other bases of this type. The contest, which will close Oct. 15, will offer to the first place winner an all-expense-paid vacation to Hawaii, Bermuda, or Cuba, or a $1,000 savings bond.

The only cost to the entrant is the price of a post card and any one may enter as many names as he chooses, each on a separate card.

Details for the contest and an entry blank can be found in the Springboard, Webb Air Force Base's official newspaper. The Springboard lists in a recent issue all of the names of aircraft already in use, plus a list of names that cannot be used for other reasons. Information about the contest can be had by calling Extension 317 or 319 at Webb.

What is the Northrop T-38? It is the nation's first trainer capable of delivering Century Series fighter performance, yet weighs only one-half to two-thirds as much as operational fighters. Its small size and simplicity shrink costs of production and operation.

Designed to train pilots for a new generation of space-age craft as well as conventional fighter and bomber missions, the T-38 is being produced in evaluation quantities at Hawthorne, Calif.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Finds Editorial Comment Not Exactly Consistent

To The Editor:

These articles (an editorial, "Apathy Greater than Decay" on Tuesday Sept. 23, and Cinema Comment head "Sexy French Star, etc." Sunday Sept 21) appear forked-tongued to me. Don't you believe in your own editorials or maybe you don't waste time reading this newspaper?

In regards to the statement in the Cinema Comment "if you can't stand a movie which oozes sex all over the wide screen . . ." since when does it take guts to look at a dirty picture?

Wonders Who 'Neighbor' Is

To The Editor:

This is in response to a letter which appeared in your good paper a few days ago.

Yes, I must say that I agree with the writer that the Bible does teach that we are all created equal. But nowhere in the Good Book do we find that it teaches race-mixing, for race-mixing we know would eventually mean mongrelization of the races.

This same writer goes on to quote the Bible as saying "love thy neighbor as thyself." I agree with him that this is very true But who, shall we say, constitute your neighbors.

He seems to think that just because a person is in the service of Uncle Sam that would give him a right to hob nob with any class or race of people. I am a World War veteran and do not feel like that just because I am would not entitle me to that kind of rights:

I thank you,

American GIs In Slave Labor Camps

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Imprisoned American GIs are working as slave laborers in Soviet coal mines, says a former prisoner.

John H. Noble of Bloomingdale, Ill., said some have been held as long as 14 years. They were former German prisoners taken by the Russians in the closing days of World War II, he told the National Exchange Clubs convention yesterday.

Noble said the U.S. government has been hampered in efforts to release the men because it is unable to prove through records that they are alive.

T&P To Offer Lower Cost Sleeping And Meal Plans

New low-cost attractions on sleeping accommodations and meals are to be offered by the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. beginning October 1.

The novel offers are called "Sleep 'n' Save" and "Tasti 'n' Thrifti" meals on diners.

In the new "Sleep 'n' Save" service, a T&P patron purchasing ticket ordinarily good only in coaches can occupy space in a conventional type Pullman car for all or the overnight portion of the trip by simply paying the regular Pullman fare. This plan will be available to passengers on the Louisiana Eagle (trains 21 and 22) between Fort Worth - Dallas and New Orleans, and on the T&P Westerner (trains 7 and 8) between Dallas-Fort Worth and El Paso, and intermediate points.

The new "Tasti 'n' Thrifti" meals will offer "dollar dinners" on the diners with 85 cent breakfasts and luncheons also at an even dollar. Outstanding entrees, with two vegetables, bread, drink and dessert, will be on the low-cost menus.

The new meal service will be available on all T&P trains handling dining cars except the Texas Eagles (trains 1 and 2) between Fort Worth and St. Louis, on which T&P features a special Travel Tray service.

DEAR ABBY

MAIL VS. MALE?

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with so many women nowadays? Don't they have any modesty or decency at all? My husband comes home from his mail route and tells me he wishes these women with their shorts and tight jeans would cover up. He says most women answer the door in their bath robes until noon! I was taught to dress up in the morning with shoes, stockings, undergarments and a dress. But then I wasn't interested in tempting strange men who came to my door. I hope some women will read this and take the hint! MAIL CARRIER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE, Don't worry, Lady, when a woman greets the mailman in the morning she is either too tired or too busy to attempt to carry the mail carrier away. She's interested in MAIL—not MALE!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I've a problem that is common but I don't know what to do about it. My girlfriend lives a few doors away and she came and told me that my 8-year-old boy has been finding out about the birds and bees with her 5-year-old daughter. Should the kids be punished or what?

TWO LOST MOTHERS

DEAR MOTHER : Punished for a curiosity that is as natural as breathing? Certainly not! Let the children know that you are willing to answer all their questions — and don't act embarrassed or they'll come to regard the subject of "sex" as something wrong and shameful.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I was Uncle Tony to 16 nieces and 24 nephews, but now I am a dirty dog. I have a little grocery store and always let my nieces and nephews have a stick of gum or a piece of licorice, but about a year ago they got to sticking their hands in the cash register and helping themselves to packaged cookies and potato chips and it started to get expensive. I warned them in a nice way but when cigarettes started to disappear I watched them all. January 1st, 1958, I sent them each an itemized statement. The total amounted to $101.20 but nobody paid. Instead they don't come near my store and even my sisters and brothers are mad at me. Did I do wrong?

DEAR UNCLE: If you warned them, and they paid no attention, you did right!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column caused me to write what I am about to say. I am 51 years old. I love housework and keep myself busy. I have three married children and they have children of their own. I used to drop everything and run to baby-sit for them. I didn't realize I was neglecting my husband. A few things happened around Christmas time that made me realize my children did not care as much for my happiness as I cared for theirs. I have made up my mind that I have ONE baby to tend, and that is my husband. After 33 years I just woke up. MAMMA

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This boy was supposed to be my boyfriend. He went to the hospital to have his appendix out. He also had his tonsils out. He told me he couldn't have any company, so I sent him a 25 cent get-well card. I just found out he had a bunch of kids come and visit him. Should I have it out with him? MAD

DEAR MAD: This boy has had enough "out" . . . Wait till he gets his strength back and then discuss i t with him. His visitors probably came on their own.

Boll Pulling Wages Vary

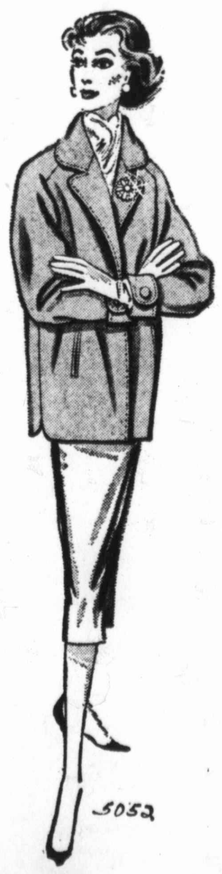

The recent farm labor wage survey conducted in Howard and Glasscock counties reveals a slight difference in boll pulling.

In Glasscock County farmers have been paying $1.50 per hundredweight for the first pulling on irrigated cotton. This rate also applied to Reagan County which joins Glasscock on the south. However a rate less than $1.55 per hundred is not applicable to Mexican contract workers.

The Howard County prevailing wage for boll pulling was found to be $1.55 per hundred. This means that farmers can safely pay $1.55 or more, but cannot pay less.

The information was received in the form of a telegram which Ed McDonald, regional director of the Bureau of Employment Security sent to Leon Kinney at the Texas Employment Commission in Big Spring.

Sexton Trial Set For Jan. 5

CLEBURNE (AP)—Judge John James Jr. said Saturday trial in the multimillion dollar will case of J. E. Sexton had been set for Jan. 5 in Cleburne.

Judge A. R. Stout of Waxahachie will preside. James disqualified himself because he once was attorney for attractive Mrs. Agnes Kirk, beneficiary of a will in which the eccentric East Texas oil man and rancher disposed of an estate valued at from 2 to 60 million dollars.

Sexton's relatives oppose the will. Sexton, a bachelor, died in a Jacksonville rest home earlier this year. He once was a resident of a rest home operated here by Mrs. Kirk.

At left, Rita Kaye Langley holds the model, while Jan Forrest and Martha Tidwell look it over. It is an authentic copy, even to the rocks placed on the roof for reinforcement. Plant Bulbs Now; Don't Envy Your Neighbor's Garden Next Spring

By ANNE LeFEVER

Next spring, when your neighbor's garden is a mass of lovely color, you'll be sorry if you don't plant some bulbs, or some iris rhizomes this fall.

Even if you're "not much of a gardener", bulb growing is for you. Planting is easy, and they require comparatively little care.

The soil should have good drainage in order that the bulbs may develop a strong root system. If the ground is inclined to be of the heavy clay type, add peat moss or sand to loosen it.

Remove topsoil to the depth required by the type bulb being planted. A good rule it to place the bulb at a depth measuring three times its diameter at the widest part.

According to such a measurement, tulips and daffodils would be planted about six inches deep; jonquils, about four inches, and hyacinths, about 4½ inches. Grape hyacinths and crocus, which are so effective in rock gardens, will take a three-inch planting.

Other bulbs, not quite so well-known, are freesia, snowdrop, snowflake, narcissus, Roman hyacinth, and scilla.

Dust Madonna lily bulbs with sulphur and plant them now — not deeper than two inches below the ground. It is also time to plant the Crinum lilies, which are so hardy and do not like to be moved for several years at a time.

Good for this section are the iris and the hemerocallis or day lily, since they withstand heat and drought. Plant both now or dig those already established and divide the clumps.

Iris should be planted just so that the crown of the rhizome is barely covered with soil. Deep planting will prevent their blooming.

In the space for planting bulbs, apply a small amount of bone meal for the fertilizer. Compost and leaf mold are the best foods for lilies, and a sprinkling of barnyard fertilizer will benefit them greatly.

To make the most of your gardening dollar, avoid the bargain offers of bulbs. They are usually very small and you can't expect large blossoms from small bulbs. Most spring-flowering bulbs are relatively inexpensive and the lovely blooms are well worth the extra pennies spent to obtain reliable bulbs.

MRS. JERRY BARRON

Carlene Coleman, Jerry Barron Pledge Their Wedding Vows

Kneeling on a prie dieu in the sanctuary of Wesley Methodist Church, Saturday evening, Carlene Coleman and Jerry Barron pledged their wedding vows.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Royce Womack, pastor, before an arch of candles. At the center of the setting stood a massive arrangement of white flowers mingled with fern.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Luther Coleman, 1111 Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Barron, 1605 State.

Nuptial selections by Janice Dixson, soloist, included You'll Never Walk Alone and The Lord's Prayer. Delores Howard, organist, played the traditional wedding marches.

WEDDING GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a model of white taffeta and Chantilly lace. The lace bodice, molded and cut with a rounded neckline, had long fitted sleeves which tapered to points over the hands. The full taffeta skirt, featuring a back panel of the lace under a taffeta bustle, billowed over hoops and extended into a chapel train. Medallions of the lace enhanced the skirt, while sequins were scattered at the neckline which ended in a deep V at back. Her veil cascaded to just above the waist from a pearl-studded coronet. On a white Bible she carried an orchid bedded in pearlized leaves and showered with pearl hearts.

Fulfilling bridal tradition, she wore a blue garter, the gift of Toni Barron, sister of the bridegroom. In her shoe was a sixpence from Mrs. Charles Lane Johnson of Las Cruces, N. M. The dress was the something new, and a pearl pendant was the old item. Her tiara answered as something borrowed.

Feminine attendants were dressed in identically styled street-length frocks of polished cotton and carried bouquets of purple asters. Mrs. Ed Harris, matron of honor, was in dark orchid. Miss Barron, bridesmaid, Jean Fuqua and Sammie McComb, who lighted the altar tapers, wore pale orchid. Flowers of the latter two were worn as headdresses.

Kirby Brown attended Barron as best man. Ushers were Richard Pachall and Ed Harris.

RECEPTION DECOR

Following the wedding service, guests were received in Fellowship Hall by the couple, their parents and the feminine honor attendants.

The latter two placed their bouquets at the center of the refreshment table, which was covered with white over orchid and encircled with tiny wedding bells. Orchid designs studded the three-tiered cake topped with bridal figurine.

Wanda Coleman, a cousin of the bride, was at the register. Neighbors of the Colemans assisted in the house party.

From out of town, guests included Mr. and Mrs. Skeet Norman, San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Witt, Rising Star; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hillmer and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schackel, Corpus Christi.

The couple will reside in Big Spring; they plan a deferred wedding trip to Red River, N. M.

A spring graduate of Big Spring High School, the bride was a member of the FHA Club, Tri-Hi-Y and the Order of Rainbow Girls. Barron, an alumnus of BSHS, attended HCJC, Schreiner Institute and Sul Ross College. He is employed by Duncan Drilling Company.

Mrs. Jarrett Hostess For City Club

Mrs. H. F. Jarrett was hostess for the City Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon, when members heard further plans for the tour of homes slated for Oct. 20.

The devotion was brought by Mrs. M. E. Anderson, and Mrs. Ross Callihan gave a discussion of social security, teliing how the system works.

Eighteen attended, including a new member, Mrs. Martelle Lewis. Mrs. Neil Norred, 1408 Sycamore, will entertain the club at the next meeting.

Teen Life Different In Ireland

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What is it like to be a teen-ager in Ireland?

"It's a lot different from America," says Peggy Foley, who left her home there recently to live with an uncle in Ansonia, Conn.

Peggy, whose six brothers, three sisters and parents live on a farm in Meens Kiskean, County Cork, Ireland, felt that opportunities there were limited so she came here to try her luck.

At 18, she wants to learn shorthand and typing, two subjects that are considered special courses in Ireland and taught only in convent schools.

In Ireland, says Peggy, "it is walk or ride a bike." She was overwhelmed to see teen-agers here with their own cars. She used to ride six miles on her bike to school.

"We would think nothing of cycling four or five miles to a dance at night," says Peggy.

She misses the dances. There were three or four a week, a major source of recreation. Fast stepping jigs and curry sets were the order of the day, no rock 'n' roll.

Young people in Ireland play records, but there is no Elvis Presley or Pat Boone. It's the songs the Irish love, rather than the singer, Peggy says.

Girls wear dresses or skirts and blouses for most occasions. Blue jeans and Bermuda shorts are out of order.

Once she decided to come to America, it took a lot of determination to board the plane.

"I was shaking and very scared," she says. "It's quite a jump from a bike to a plane, but after a while it didn't make too much difference."

Daughter Is Born

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Haase of Grand Prairie are parents of a daughter, Linda Jean, born Friday morning in Arlington. Mrs. Haase is the former Billie Jean King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. King, former Big Spring residents. The Kings are now living in Weatherford.

D&D Club Group Sets Trip To Convention

Mrs. A. G. Eitzen, president of the Desk and Derrick Club of Big Spring, will represent local oil women as delegate to the annual international convention of the Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America convening in Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 10 and 11. Mrs. Ed Black is alternate delegate.

Other Big Spring Desk and Derrick members, who will meet with more than 1,000 oil women expected to attend from United States and Canada include Mrs. Herbie Smith, Mrs. Daryle Hohertz, Mrs. Arch Ratliff, Mrs. Leslie E. Green and Mrs. W. H. Kay.

Climax of the two-day meet, according to Mrs. Eitzen, will be an address by A. C. Rubel, president of the Union Oil Company of California. Rubel joined his company in 1923 as an exploration geologist at the Dominquez Field in the Los Angeles Basin of California. With him, he brought a degree in mining engineering and metallurgy from the University of Arizona and approximately four years experience working for oil companies in Mexico and Central America. Six years later he became chief petroleum engineer with successive promotions until 1956, when he was elected president of his company.

Rubel holds the Distinguished Service Cross, awarded him while a member of the Corps of Engineers during World War I. He is vice chairman of the Military Petroleum Advisory Board; a director of Northrop Aircraft, Inc.; and a director of the American Petroleum Institute.

Other highlights of the meeting, Mrs. Eitzen said, will be the election of officers for the coming year, revision of association by-laws and the opportunity to meet women in the petroleum industry from all sections of the United States and Canada.

On the entertainment side there will be a fiesta in the Spanish-California tradition, a reception honoring candidates for office and a Hawaiian theme luncheon.

Big Springers Have Trip To California

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leonard and Mrs. Fred Stephens have returned from California, where they spent about two weeks. Mrs. Stephens was a guest of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hanson in Pomona.

The Leonards visited her sister, Mrs. Katie Morrow, in San Diego. Mrs. Morrow has been ill. Leonard reported that he talked with R. R. McEwen of La Jolla, a former resident of Big Spring.

Kate Morrison P-TA

Members of the Kate Morrison School P-TA met at the school Thursday to plan a fiesta for Oct. 21. Booths of various kinds will be open, and there will be food for sale. Included on the menu will be hot dogs, chili, ice cream and cake, coffee and chocolate.

Boots Will March In Best Fashion Circles This Year

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Boots will be seen in the best circles this fall, worn by fashionable women, not only at football games and for country hikes, but also in dressed-up versions for formal evenings.

The boot craze, which started on college campuses, has spread to the adult high-fashion world. Most sensational dress-up boot of the season is made of shocking pink suede, with a glittering rhinestone heel and comes well above the ankle.

Another city boot, designed for street wear, is made of a shadow-striped suede in tones of green, yellow and brown, with a curved Louis heel and a drawstring at the ankle.

Boots come in all colors of the rainbow this fall, with high heels and fancy trimmings. The college versions are just as varied in color, sometimes come clear to the knee, but have flat heels. Girls will be wearing them this winter with their beloved Bermuda shorts as well as skirts. And their mothers will be wearing high-style boots on shopping trips or to the theatre.

World's Hot Spots Are Topic For Forum Study

Hot spots of the world were discussed for members of the Modern Woman's Forum Friday afternoon when they met in the home of Mrs. T. G. Adams.

Featured in the program of international affairs, the explanation was given by Mrs. W. A. Laswell, who pointed out the various troubled locations on a map.

Included in the discussion were Quemoy, Formosa, Korea, Arabia, China, Indonesia, India and Pakistan. Mrs. Laswell stressed the importance of the Four-Point program, under which this country aids other nations to help themselves in raising their living standards.

Mrs. Laswell brought out the fact that most of the help, however, which has been given in Asia has been of a military nature. It is to our own best interests, she told the group, to help those people help themselves along technical and educational lines.

There followed a general discussion on the wisdom of admitting Red China to the United Nations.

Mrs. H[illegible]ood Keith was appointed to [illegible]nt the forum in the federati[illegible] city clubs.

The next meeting was announced for Oct. 10, at the home of Mrs. M. A. Wood, 1611 Main.

Prospective Missionary

Bible in hand, Ruth Spangenberg demonstrates the technique she will use in telling Bible stories to little children in Austria. Here for a year of training under the Child Evangelism Fellowship, the former FBI employe is preparing for the mission field with Austria as her destination.

Former FBI Employe Studies To Work With Austrian Children

By HELEN HURT

In the fearful, tormented years of World War II and after, stories about the tragic displaced persons poured across the ocean. There were pictures too; throngs of haunted faces to mirror horror, hunger and despair.

Unforgettable were the gaunt faces of children. They, most of all, appealed to compassionate hearts.

Thinking back, Ruth Spangenberg credits these nameless creatures of misfortune with her decision to help children. She is now in Big Spring in a period of training for missionary service, her ultimate destination being Austria.

The spark of zeal kindled over a period of years. Of German ancestry, she grew up in Mapletown, Pa., and was converted at 17 in a service in a Methodist church.

FBI EMPLOYE

One day in high school assembly, an agent from the Federal Bureau of Investigation was guest speaker. Ruth Spangenberg was fascinated by what she heard. By the time she had completed her senior year, her application for work in the FBI had been accepted and she was ready to report to the Washington, D. C. office. Of the seven divisions, she was assigned to records and spent eight years with the department.

Meanwhile she was a Sunday school teacher of juniors in a Southern Baptist church in the capital and took some courses at Washington Bible Institute. When she decided to devote her life to spiritual service, she enrolled at Columbia Bible College in Columbia, S. C., but continued to work for the FBI the three summers between terms.

Determined on ministry to children, she approached the Child Evangelism Fellowship, a non-denominational organization, and made arrangements to go to their headquarters at Pacific Palisades, Calif., for the required preliminary three months of specialized training. This she completed last spring, returning to work in the offices after a vacation at home.

Leona Hooper and Louise Paulger, state directors for CEF in West Texas, who have their base at 608 Runnels, met her and asked her to come here for a year of training in the work. Miss Spangenberg arrived Sept. 15 and has begun to learn the Fellowship's teaching techniques, which major in flannelboard illustrations of Bible stories and visualized songs.

VISUAL AIDS

Since CEF's primary aim is to teach the gospel to unreached boys and girls, visual aids are considered vital tools. They seek to enroll youngsters who are not in any church in Good News Clubs, neighborhood groups who meet once weekly after school to hear Bible stories.

When Miss Spangenberg completes her year here, during which she will continue the German lessons she began in California, she will then seek her deputation. Financial support necessary to send her to Germany for advanced language training must be found before she can take the final step. Already there are in excess of 100 missionaries sent by CEF to 60 countries, and one woman is now in the work in Austria.

That it is a long road to her goal does not discourage Miss Spangenberg. There are many facets of work, plus the German language, to master en route.

Dr. David Vigness Is Speaker For Hyperions

Gathered at Cosden County Club Friday for the annual Fall luncheon, members and guests of the Council of Hyperion Clubs heard Dr. David Vigness, associate professor of history at Texas Tech.

Dr. Vigness, introduced by Doug Orme, a member of the board of directors for Tech, lived in Chile for eight months under the Fulbright exchange of professors. He told his listeners that it is most important that we clear up the misconceptions which other countries have of the United States, and cited several examples.

Questions most often asked of him in Chile, Dr. Vigness said, pertained to "the juvenile delinquents taking over the country", and the status of women in this land. He had to explain, he remarked, that all North Americans were not cowboys.

The speaker cited the organizations known as the North American Culture Centers as promoting good personal relations between individuals of Chile and those of our country.

Individually, he said, the Chilenos like us and are very gracious; it is our attitude and our misunderstnding which they, as a nation, resent; and he recounted various mistaken ideas about the country and its peoples prevalent in the states.

The geography of Chile was described by Dr. Vigness, who spoke of the central valley as beautiful and a delightful place in which to live. More than a third of the country's inhabitants, he said, reside in Santiago. There is a distinctly European atmosphere in the land, with the Indian population possessing its own culture.

Shops are highly specialized, there being only two establishments to compare with our department stores, and, according to the speaker, they are not popular. Industries are being introduced into Chile, which is chiefly agricultural, but unable to grow enough products to feed the inhabitants. Minerals are their chief export, with copper a strong source of income before the fall in the price of that commodity.

With inflation widespread in the country, Dr. Vigness told his audience, the Communists have a chance to move in, and that is just what they are doing, especially among the youth.

During a question and answer period, the professor gave, as one of the ways of promoting friendships among foreign countries, the teaching of more languages in our schools. He also recommended more of the cultural exchanges for forming better relations.

In charge of arranging the program was Mrs. Jackson Freidlander, president of the 1953 Hyperion Club. Members of the 1930 Club had decorated the tables with runners of pyracantha and ivy, with the head table marked with an arrangement of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, president of the council, introduced guests and the presidents of the various units. A. nominating committee was appointed and will report at the spring meeting of the group.

Hogan Home Is Scene Of Coffee

At an informal coffee given Friday morning in the home of Mrs. J. E. Hogan, name tags formed the conversation pieces for the 20 guests attending.

Gathering together wives of civilian and military personnel for the get-acquainted affair, Mrs. Hogan included a few facts about each guest on her tag.

Two special guests were Mrs. Al Boughton, just recently from England, and Mrs. Jack Goode, formerly of England; she has lately received her United States citizenship papers.

The table, laid in aqua and using copper serving accessories, bore a streamer lettered, "Hi, Neighbor." A bird cage held an arrangement of garden flowers in harmonizing shades.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Coy Nalley and Mrs. Clyde Angel.

Hair Tip

To keep a little girl's barrette from slipping off her hair, glue a tiny bit of sponge rubber to the inside of her barrette. This will hold it in place, and you will be pleased with the neater appearance of her hair.

New Silhouettes Are Just Right For Young Things

Schoolgirls are today's best-dressed people.

Extreme new silhouettes which may cause pain to grown-ups look wonderful on the small fry. The embattled chemise, for instance, may make Mom look like a square-rigged ship, but on little daughter it's smart and charming.

The same goes for the trapeze silhouette, and other radically new fashions. All of them could be made to order for children's straight, slim little figures. So whatever the fate of the sack silhouette in the adult world, it's here to stay for quite a while among the pigtail set.

And don't think the youngsters don't take their fashion seriously. Today's bright second-grader can tell you exactly what kind of new dresses she wants for school, and will unerringly pick the latest lines.

Mothers get a break, too, because of the new fabrics and finishes which make school clothes shed color and freshness through many launderings, and need little or no ironing.

It's a great era for the young, who no longer have to worry about spilled milk or ink spots on that new school dress.

Sweet Peas Should Be Planted Now

If you would get the most from your sweet peas next spring, now is the time to plant them. Since they prefer cold weather to make their growth, fall planting gets the vines off to an early start for the coming season.

Two ways to be sure of good strong vines and lovely blooms include planting in the fall and making a very deep bed.

In the east, central and northern states, gardeners plant very late in the fall, just before the ground freezes over. The idea is not to have the seeds sprout in the fall, but to have them in the ground and ready to start in spring as soon as weather conditions are favorable.

In the southern and Pacific Coast states, fall-planted sweet peas make some growth during cool winter months, and then bloom from very early spring.

Deep digging is the surest way to get the finest sweet peas and keep them in bloom for the longest possible time, say horticulturists of a seed company which long has made a specialty of sweet peas.

Deep digging, say these experts, permits the vines to set deep, strong roots. This increases the growth of the plants, prolongs their life during hot weather, and results in the largest and finest flowers.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Although date of the Big Spring High School Homecoming is still a month away, it isn't too early for the local exes to let the out-of-town ones know about it. The high school students are started on their part of the affair, and to make it a really big success, everybody interested should get into the act. MRS. LLOYD ZACK GRAY was to have a meeting of interested exes to formulate plans for a general gathering. SQUEAKY THOMPSON has the big list and is working to get in touch with members of the various groups, who will in turn contact others. If you have the names and addresses of exes who live out of town, YOU write them and tell them about the homecoming that is set for Nov. 7, when Midland and Big Spring play. There will have to be plans made for a general gathering where everyone can join in the gab fest but it won't be fun without people who are exes. Let's have a big one this year.

Show Me The Picture

Like most parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grant are ready and willing to read stories to their youngsters. At this point, James Dale seems to be seeking a closer look at the picture while Diane is content merely to listen. The family moved here recently from Brady.

Big Spring Gets A Second Chance At The Bill Grants

In a way, moving to Big Spring over the Labor Day weekend was a kind of homecoming for Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grant, 1203 Pennsylvania. Four years ago, they had resided here briefly while he was training with Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

Next came Brady, whence they were transferred back here. As district engineer, Grant is away from home frequently, covering the territory that includes Ozona, Brady, Gorman and this point.

They are friendly people who adjust readily. This facility was perhaps encouraged in the first five years of their marriage, when they lived in five states. After completing his study at the University of Oklahoma he entered work which moved the couple from Oklahoma to Arizona, New Mexico, Louisiana and back to Texas.

Fort Worth is a favorite visiting spot because it is the home of their parents. Too, it is the city where Grant was reared and Mrs. Grant, who attended NTSC, moved there with her family from East Texas.

The newcomers' children are Diane, 7, a second grader at Park Hill, and James Dale, 3. Their motheer holds membership in the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority and has already been drafted locally into Brownie work. Grant has affiliated with the Lions Club. The pair are Baptists.

Interior decoration intrigues Mrs. Grant. She laughs about the many houses she has built or remodeled, strictly on paper. Handwork, particularly embroidery, is another interest and she makes most of Diane's clothes.

But there is one hobby which consumes a number of the couple's hours—refinishing furniture. They hope one day to add authentic antiques to their collection of "re-beautified" furniture.

A Bible Thought For Today

The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen. (2 Corinthians 13:14)

Continue With Wise Basis Of Choice

With the completion of a 4-mile stretch of road now under construction in northwestern Howard County, the county system of paved lateral roads will reach 62.9. This is in addition to the state highways and state maintained lateral roads. Thus the 62.9-mile record is something that Howard County has achieved wholly on its own.

This results largely from policies adopted a number of years ago. One of them was the adoption and later the affirmation of the unit system for the road program of the county; the other was the setting of a goal of permanent road construction each year.

As a result, the system thus created is valued by modern cost standards in excess of half a million dollars. Under the old policies and old plans, it is altogether possible that the investment in permanent roads would have gone largely into maintaining dirt roads. By unitizing and holding dirt road maintenance to basic requirements, the county has been able to give the taxpayers of Howard County something real and serviceable for their dollars.

While the goal of 20 miles per year has not been achieved, the 41 miles within the past 33 months is a record of no mean proportions. Members of the county commissioners court and the road department are to be solidly commended for steering to this course.

Monday the court again will begin consideration of a new program. Under a tentative proposal by the engineer each of the four operational districts—which correspond to precincts—would be brought to a parity by distribution of new mileage.

Now it may be that these proposed roads are exactly the most needed roads in the county, but if they are not, then they should not be approved just to even up district mileage.

Roads should be built to connect strategic points and to carry traffic; roads should be built to serve people.

This should be the test for making a choice on projects. This is one of the strengths of the unit system; to aim at a levelling process by districts is to close the eyes to the best means of developing our roads.

We have made great progress—progress that is the envy of our neighbors and of many counties all over the state. Let's not retreat into a policy of precinct provincialism.

That Uniform Policy Is Needed

City commissioners indicated the need last week for a uniform policy as regards developers and extensions into new areas.

This is an urgent need. We do not know what changes, if any, need to be made in the general policies, but certain things that the city will do and will not do should be spelled out in unmistakable terms.

Then these policies should apply uniformly. No developer is entitled to less; none should expect more.

The adoption of a policy is something which should not be entered into inadvisedly, for it is of great importance for years and years to come. Therefore, the evaluation of policies should take into careful consideration the city's position and that of what is fair to the developer.

While the city may not anticipate a margin of profit off of water and sewer service which include the cost of lines, it cannot afford to overlook the potential of tax revenue which will be created by that service. On the other hand, developers cannot (and we gather they do not) expect property which has been bearing a city tax load for a long time to subsidize entry of new property into the municipality.

We mention these to point out that settling on a policy which will protect the city and not discourage development is not altogether easy. But such a policy needs to be adopted and spelled out plainly for uniform application. It would tend to clarify the picture for builders and reduce friction and misunderstanding.

What About Minority Rights Of Whites?

WASHINGTON—Ten years ago—before the "integration" problem had become as acute as it is today—this correspondent had an interesting discussion about the question with the principal of a high school in a large city in the North.

"How is the mixing of races in the school working out?" I asked him.

"Fine," he replied.

"Do the colored girls dance with white boys in social functions after school?"

"No," he said, "they stay apart and for the most part keep to themselves in separate groups socially."

"Is there any friction in the classrooms?"

"No."

"Then you do not have any trouble?"

"Well, I wouldn't say that. If, for instance, we award a prize and there is any suspicion that we have discriminated against the colored pupil, we will hear from it."

"Then, on the whole, it is working out all right?"

"Yes, but you see we have only one-third colored to two-thirds white." He paused and then added:

"I'll tell you frankly I wouldn't want to be principal of this same high school if it were two-thirds colored and one-third white."

The principal didn't elaborate. This writer couldn't help thinking today of that conversation upon reading the results of a poll taken in the last few weeks in the North as well as in the South by Dr. George Gallup of the American Institute of Public Opinion. It showed differing answers dependent on the proportion of colored pupils to be enrolled in a public school. Thus, when the inquiry was whether the person interviewed would have any objection to sending his or her children to a public school where "a few of the children are colored," the answer in the North was that 86 per cent would not object. When the question asked of the same people was whether there would be objection if half the children were colored, the objecting figure rose to 39 per cent. When the third question was asked—whether there would be objection if more than half were colored—the objecting percentage in the North rose to 58 per cent, while 6 per cent expressed no opinion. This is a clear majority against such integration.

Naturally, in the South the percentages of objectors went from 72 to 81 to 84, respectively, in answering the same three questions. For in many parts of the South the colored children already outnumber the white by a considerable margin, and there seems no doubt that, if "integration" were strictly enforced, there would be many schools with a predominance of colored pupils.

It is significant that Gallup pollsters reported that "In explaining objections to integration, many persons added that it was not so much a racial matter but a fear the educational standard of their school would be lowered."

There is already evidence that, in some heavily integrated schools in the North, the educational standards have lagged. This is explained by some educators as due to the lack of educational background of the colored parents and their long residence in a low-income environment. There seems to be no evidence as yet as to how many years it will take to overcome this handicap.

It would not be surprising, therefore, to see a court case some day in which the words of the Supreme Court of the United States will be turned back on the justices who, in the 1954 decision, ruled that "segregation of children in the public schools solely on the basis of race, even though the physical facilities and other 'tangible' factors may be equal, deprive the children of the minority group of equal educational opportunities."

The argument may well be heard that the discrimination in a preponderantly Negro school is against the new minority—the white children—who are deprived of the high standards of education they once enjoyed.

The Court's decision approved a finding that segregation has a tendency "to retard the educational and mental development of Negro children." This plainly puts upon the federal courts the responsibility of being concerned someday about the retardation of the "educational and mental development" of white children, too. Long before there is a fifty-fifty "integration," the parents of white children will be demanding from the "supreme school board" in Washington "equal" benefits so that the white children may obtain as good an education as they were getting in the same schools before the 1954 decision was proclaimed as "the law of the land."

These issues may seem only academic to the wealthy parents who can afford to send their children to private schools or to public schools in neighborhoods where there is virtually no colored population. Will the Fourteenth Amendment someday, however, be construed to mean that wealth must be redistributed so that it will be "equal"? Does it create a "sense of inferiority" not to have as much money as someone else, especially where education for one's children is involved?

Plainly there are still some big gaps in the doctrine of "equal protection of the law"—if "intangible" factors are as important as they seem to be regarded by the Supreme Court.

Too Many Are Willing To Put Up With Inflation

CHICAGO—The most used word at the 84th annual convention of the American Bankers Association here at the Conrad Hilton was "inflation." You'd have a hard time to find a speech, or report, or serious discussion that didn't drag it in somewhere.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson pledged a "relentless fight" against it. Retiring ABA President Joseph C. Welman, president of the Bank of Kennett, Kennett, Mo., noted that everyone is against inflation, yet too many are willing to put up with it—in self-interest.

David C. Rockefeller, vice-chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York, declared that "basically business is good and now the problem we have got to watch out for is inflation." Incoming ABA President Lee P. Miller, president of the Citizens Fidelity Bank and Trust Co., Louisville, seconded the motion. He called inflation "America's No. 1 problem."

This unanimity is in decided contrast to the convention exactly a year ago in Atlantic City. Then, bankers were just beginning to prick their ears at the word "recession." Then, they debated whether industrial production might drop; whether the 1958 models of automobiles might sell; whether unemployment might become a problem. Now they know. The recession, so hesitantly mentioned, not only came but has "all but went."

No one seemed to have any doubt about business from here on out. Carl A. Bimson, president of the Valley National Bank, Phoenix, Ariz., is typical: "The outlook is very good. Never in history has this country had a recession or a depression during which consumer purchases and the capital outlays of business held at such high levels. I can see an upturn in plant modernization and plant dispersal. But our underlying problem is inflation.

"Banks are loaned up. Loans have dropped only slightly from the peak. And therefore I wonder: Are banks going to have available free funds to supply credit without having the Federal Reserve System create further inflation?"

A. W. Kincade, president and chairman of the Fourth National Bank of Wichita, Kansas, said: "We built a $5,000,000 bank addition a year ago and we have just assembled the largest tract of land under one ownership in downtown Wichita for a garage and shops. If we weren't optimistic about the long-term future of Wichita and the United States we would not have done this."

"I don't see anything that can stop the business improvement," said Girard L. Spencer, partner in the nationally known Wall Street securities firm of Salomon Bros. & Hutzler. "I don't believe even monetary policy can stop it, unless the policy is ridiculously restrictive, and I hardly think the Federal Reserve Board is going to be ridiculous."

Though the Reserve Board's policy may not be "ridiculously restrictive," it likely to be restrictive. That's indicated by the recent boost in margin requirements, by the increase in the rediscount rate, by the hands-off policy in the long-term government market, and, most particularly, by the extraordinary endorsement Secretary Anderson gave it in his formal address to the convention.

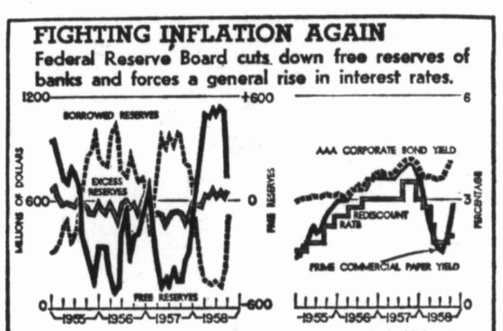

When government bonds broke badly in recent months, many professional Wall Streeters and bankers felt that the Reserve should support the market and establish interest rates favorable for financing the Treasury deficit. Anderson perished that thought, saying: "The Treasury should generally conduct its operations so as to interfere as little as possible with the freedom of action of the Federal Reserve in its monetary operations."

So, far from being disturbed by the increase in money rates and the Reserve Board's policy to restrict bank reserves (see chart), Anderson is in accord with it. Why? Because the government faces a prospective deficit of billions. If bank reserves were plentiful, banks would then buy government bonds. This would increase the money supply—pump up deposits—and thereby add to the stream of too many dollars chasing goods.

The alternative is to let money rates rise and so choke off some demand for credit — possibly in housing. Here is a problem within a problem. The United States still has unemployment; there still is slack in steel operations, in mining, and other industries generally. How can the Reserve Board restrict credit without impeding the recovery, without preventing full employment, without perhaps causing another recession?

Some bankers feel that the Reserve has resumed the battle against inflation too soon. They point out that the cost-of-living index recently dropped, albeit slightly; that competition for business is bound to keep prices down. "Capacity," said one banker who preferred not to be named, "is a ceiling against a continual rise in prices." He felt it disgraceful that the government bond market has been unstable. "It makes people nervous." But Anderson hopes that in time he can sell additional bonds, space out the debt and put it where it ought to be—in the safe deposit boxes of insurance companies, investment trusts, savings institutions, and some individuals.

Most bankers, especially the big-city bankers in the East, are willing to go along with him and the Fed. Bankers deal in dollars. Their capital is in dollars. They want to protect these dollars.

Bible Words for Today

Matt. 5:22 — "Every one who is angry with his brother shall be liable to judgment."

* * *

When a man loses his temper, he loses a lot more at one and the same time. He loses his balance, his poise, his sense of proportion, his mental equilibrium. He becomes hopelessly unfair in judgment, reckless in the use of words, incapable of dealing with the situation that aroused him. How can he be otherwise when he has lost his head? A mirror will reflect what he is at the moment he loses his temper. A Christian must learn to be in possession of himself at all times, not to give way to heady emotions that sweep through him until hot and wild words, later regretted, pour out in torrents. How disillusioning is such a display to those who look to him for Christian witness!

Watch those preliminary warning signals when temper is about to flare. Pause to look into the face of God and ask his aid to check the rising tide. Some urge us to stop and count ten. The Christian stops to pray.

Around The Rim

Defeats And Frustrations On Every Hand

There are days when you just can't make a dollar, and if the day ever comes when the same thing happens to everybody at the same time, just what kind of shape will we be in?

I have been thumbing through various pieces of intelligence that come across an editor's desk, and it looks as though the world is filled with frustrations.

For instance, one fellow is deploring the growing trend of alcoholism among business executives. These office big shots, he says, create a problem because they're so good at covering up. An out-and-out alcoholic who comes to work with the blind staggers is easy to spot, and out he goes. But the executive with the shakes—and I quote—is cute at cover-up. He'll get a rubber stamp made of his signature, so it doesn't look unsteady. He'll use breath purifiers and cheap perfumed hair oil to overpower the smell of liquor. More often, would be my guess, he just takes the afternoon off for an important business conference.

Well, if tycoons are on the downhill slide, consider the plight of the brace-makers in England. The economic observers over there are finding that Britishers are abandoning suspenders, and these have always been pretty standard items of apparel for the Islanders. The London Times deplores the trend, and is somewhat alarmed to find that the British gentlemen are not replacing their suspenders with belts. British never cared much for belts, whereas Americans regard them highly. But our English brethren are going for snug-fitting trousers that retailers say require no support at all. So you can see that the brace and belt boys are going the way of the hose supporter crowd. It is to be hoped that men don't lose something in this process.

* * *

Another complainant of the passing scene—and a romanticist, I take it—finds fault with the fast construction of all these freeways and toll roads, because they are eliminating the country lane that used to provide secluded nooks for courting. Gone, he says, are the three shadowed roads that once provided canopy for romantic dalliance. My own observation is that youth will find a way.

* * *

Much more to the point of pain for all of us are those unfathomable rulings on your tax exemptions, and if you ever run across a tax officer who sees these things in their proper light, write me a letter.

Here is the case of a fellow who had a fine horse, a wonderful saddle animal he used to entertain his riding customers. Hence cost of the horse was regarded as a business deductible item.

But, one day while the man was riding, his hat fell off, his horse grabbed the headpiece and ate most of it and subsequently died. A veterinarian said, however, that the flu, not the hat, killed the horse.

The businessman's $500 item was thrown out. All the same, the Internal Revenue people ruled that had eating the hat killed the horse while presumably it was being used to build customer goodwill, the owner might have had a chance to collect.

This is what you call, in tax deduction parlance, leading the horse to the trough, but not letting him have any water.

This tends to destroy morale, not to mention horses. As I say, all is frustration.

How To Control The Issues Of Life

I was recently invited to another city to make a speech at a banquet and was advised I would be met at my hotel by the head of this particular organization, who would drive me to the function.

He called me from downstairs at the exact moment I had been told he would call. I went down to meet him and found him most impressive. And I was even more impressed by the way he ran the meeting that evening.

As he drove me back to the hotel, I told him, "You had me come here to make an inspirational speech to your group, but, believe me, you're inspirational enough without importing anyone from outside."

"Well," he said, "if you think I'm inspirational, you should have known me five years ago! When I got out of college, I was going to make myself a million dollars right off and I went out to do it. I found out I couldn't. So I got disgusted. I thought that the only way to get ahead was to do what everybody else was doing."

So, under the mistaken impression that everyone who achieved success "lived it up," he started down a number of dead end roads—liquor, marital difficulties, all sorts of things. "Finally one night," he told me, "I wrapped my car around a telephone pole and was soon lying on my back in a hospital where I spent six weeks.

"When you haven't anything to do but to look up at the ceiling," he continued, "you start to think. And I thought to myself, I've certainly messed everything up. I started well enough. I got some good grades at school. I had brains and I had connections. I have a good mind and a good body. Yet, here I am—a failure."

When he was able to sit up, his mother came to see him one day and brought him a Bible to read. And he started to read it. Eventually he came to the fourth chapter of Proverbs, where it says in the twenty-third verse, "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life." And for some reason this gripped him. He could easily recognize that the issues in his life were in bad shape.

But, what did the Bible mean when it told you to keep your heart with all diligence? He sent for his pastor to find out. The pastor, obviously a wise minister, told him that what is meant by "your heart" is the deep subconscious, the innermost self out of which the personality develops. If you get inwardly organized around God, he said, keeping Him as the center and diligently holding to that, then the issues of life, instead of flowing away from you, will flow to you.

"So," my host continued, "I got organized." Then he used a glorious sentence. "God and I took authority over my life." And I knew what he meant as he said: "I began to stand up to things. I began to control things. Now I am having the time of my life."

His boast was not bravado. It was awareness of one's true nature, based upon humble faith. And, as I go from city to city and place to place, I find that there is nothing more thrilling than meeting and talking with people who have found this to be true. Such people, without doubt, are the most stimulating human beings you can possibly encounter.

Out of your heart, out of the depths of the best in you, you too can control the issues of life.

Opposition To Involvement Over Quemoy

WASHINGTON — Strong intimations have come from Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa that the morale of his forces will be undermined and his position made untenable if he is required to evacuate his troops from the offshore island. By some Western diplomates in Washington this is considered a piece of diplomatic blackmail. They go so far as to say that Chiang has, in effect, sent Washington the following ultimatum:

You can tell me to leave the offshore islands by agreeing in the Warsaw talks to their demilitarization. But you should have no illusions about what this will mean—it will mean that it will be impossible for me to maintain any position of strength on Formosa.

Within the State Department the warning sent by Chiang is confirmed. The new Nationalist Chinese Ambassador, George Yeh, Chiang's former Foreign Minister, is said to have brought word that morale on Formosa might not withstand another evacuation. At the end of 1954 and the beginning of '55 Chiang took his troops off the Tachen islands at the urging of Washington.

But Chiang has been told with considerable firmness that morale is his problem. The United States, according to word within the State Department, will not be held responsible for internal conditions on Formosa.

If it is not a form of ultimatum, as some diplomats insist, the warning is nevertheless taken with the utmost seriousness by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. This is one of the chief reasons he holds an increasingly grave view of the crisis over the offshore islands.

Dulles has said that the objective of the talks now going on in Warsaw between American Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red China's Ambassador Wang Pingnan is a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. But in return for agreeing to a cease-fire the very least the Red Chinese are likely to accept is the demilitarization of Quemoy and Matsu. But Chiang says that such an agreement would make his position almost impossible.

This seems to leave little room for bargaining at Warsaw. And the continuation of the Warsaw talks is apparently the only hope of averting something worse than the present standoff over Quemoy. Each time it is announced that the talks have been continued until a later date a collective sign of relief goes up from official and diplomatic Washington.

Some of America's Western allies are saying privately that the time has come to call Chiang's bluff. If it follows from the evacuation of Quemoy that Chiang is finished on Formosa, then let the island revert to the Formosans under the protection of the American 7th Fleet. Under such circumstances it could become a United Nations protectorate.

Reports have been circulating here for some time about the morale of Chiang's aging army which has been pieced out with Formosan recruits. The Formosans have little interest in what happens to Quemoy and none at all in Chiang's professed goal of returning to the Chinese mainland.

It has not been forgotten here that an anti-American riot on Formosa in May of 1957 destroyed Embassy property as angry mobs broke into confidential files and littered the streets with highly secret documents. Such demonstrations, which can be turned off and on at will, may again signal Chiang's displeasure with what he considers America's hesitant and uncertain policy.

One task presently occupying the State Department is to reply to the hundreds of letters coming to the White House and the department on the China crisis. The overwhelming majority of these letters is said to oppose any involvement by American forces over Quemoy. They express grave fears that the United States may be drawn into a hopeless war with mainland China. The department has prepared a question-and-answer sheet for the guidance of those answering the flood of mail.

The public reaction also added to the worries of Dulles, who hopes by his own speechmaking to bring opinion around to an understanding of current policy. But most Americans seem a long way from comprehending that the decision for war or peace has been all but taken out of American hands and that it is today in the power of one or the other of the two Chinas to involve America in a conflict that might become a worldwide nuclear war.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

THE DAY ON FIRE by James Ramsey Ullman. World Publishing Co. 704 pages. $5.95

The publishers of this unusual novel sent an advance copy to this department weeks and weeks ago but it was just placed on sale on last Monday.

I read it at the time I received my advance copy. When I had finished it, I was not at all certain that I liked it at all. In fact, I was rather inclined to believe I did not like it.

Now that time has elapsed and I have had opportunity to think about it more, I have completely changed my mind. I do like this book and I believe that it is entitled to the adjective "unusual".

Ullman has set out to write a novelized biography of the French poet Rimbaud—a strange literary comet who flashed across the literary skies toward the end of the last century. Odd to relate, this genius wrote his greatest poems when he was but 16 years old. Four years later, he was completely through writing—nothing else came from his pen. He became a wanderer over the face of the earth and in his checkered life engaged in every sort of vice and depravity. All in all, he must have been a very sordid and unpleasant individual.

Ullman's fictional Rimbaud is named Claude Morel but where fact ends and fancy begins even the author confesses he does not know. He paintakingly tracked the path of Rimbaud and followed the strange paths he walked. His Claude Morel travels all of these paths—those through the depths of filth and perversion and those of high adventure in black Africa in a day when white men knew little of that continent.

Ullman's theory of Rimbaul and his endless wanderings is that he was a lost individual actually seeking God but fighting within himself acceptance of this reality.

Perhaps Ullman is right.

Rimbaud's name meant nothing to me when I began the book and I still know nothing of his poetry and his genius—if genius he was. I did look up what I could find about him and I was interested to learn that Ullman's Claude Morel does seem to resemble the real person with amazing accuracy.

I am no prophet but from my observation of the taste that is in books these day it does not seem improbable to me that "The Day On Fire" will become a widely read novel. It certainly has everything that a novel reader might want—and something for the taste of novel readers of every category.

Ullman already has one best seller to his credit —"The White Tower." This first novel by this author was a sensation of 12 years ago. Other highly successful novels have followed and it does not seem that he has lost his touch in this rather shocking but strangely fascinating tale of a tormented genius.

The Hard Way

NEW YORK (AP)—The Sheridan Square Theater in historic Greenwich Village has the strangest stage exit in town.

Players in the current production of two Horton Foote dramas get back and forth to scenes via a cellar stairs outside the building. The reason is lack of backstage space. So that they won't always reappear from the same spot, exiting actors run down a flight of stairs, through the basement under the auditorium, back up through the sidewalk grating.

Then they walk back down the aisle for their next scene.

Ferrer Stars In Connubial Comedy

CAT ON A HOT TIN ROOF starring Paul Newman, Elizabeth Taylor, Burl Ives, Jack Carson, Judith Anderson and Madeleine Sherwood. Produced by Lawrence Weingarten. Directed by Richard Brooks. Screenplay by Richard Brooks and James Poe, from the Tennesee Williams play. Continuing through Tuesday at the Rtiz.

The highly dramatic acting and the very believable story of "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" are still available to those Big Springers who like a varied entertainment diet. If you miss this one, you'll very likely be missing one of the Academy Awards winners.

The Tennessee Williams play, in its original form, shocked even the jaded Broadway audiences, but the Hollywood screenwriters did an excellent transition. The dirty jokes and unnecessary language were expunged, and Paul Newman's characterization which formerly smacked of homosexuality was softened, so that the movie version actually came out less sensational and more honest.

The story is of a wealthy family, headed by Big Daddy (Burl Ives) who is dying of cancer, and torn apart by "mendacity," a word which means greed and is used several times throughout the picture. Madeleine Sherwood is Sister Woman, an acid and repulsive gossip-monger out to corner Big Daddy's fortune for herself, her bumbling but well-meaning husband (Jack Carson) and their brood of bratty, no-neck monsters.

Elizabeth Taylor is Maggie the Cat, who has lost the love of husband Paul Newman when, in an attempt to keep from losing him, she makes the error of associating with Newman's "best friend," who turns out to be no friend at all.

The performances are the highest possible calibre, and the characterizations are so real that they are at times laughable—reminding viewers of someone they know.

Big Daddy is a greedy man, but perfectly aware of the strained relations inside his family, and Burl Ives' portrayal is that of a lost and lonely old codger suddenly brought up face to face with reality. Judith Anderson is believable and sympathetic as the wife and mother who lost the love of her husband long before.

Cruel and unrelenting as the story is, it has a happy ending, with most of those involved learning bitter lessons and finding the love that had been lost to their family.

THE HIGH COST OF LOVING, starring Jose Ferrer and Gena Rowlands. Produced by Milo O. Frank Jr. Directed by Jose Ferrer. Written by Rip Van Ronkel and Milo O. Frank Jr. Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz.

The ad writer, for once, summed it up correctly. This film is "a candid connubial comedy."

The comedy is light, frothy and sometimes saucy. It concerns a happily wedded couple suddenly confronted by a threat to the husband's job and a long-overdue divist from the stork, all of which is too much for husband Jose Ferrer.

Ferrer goes off on several different tangents at once, while wife Gena Rowlands' announcement serves to add confusion, but — naturally—everything comes out alright in the end.

Joanne Gilbert and Jim Backus help with both plot and comedy.

This is no Academy Award winner, but it is light, amusing entertainment.

Other viewing:

"Thunder Road." Robert Mitchum in an exciting and unusual yarn that gives the moonshiner's side of the story.

"The Sheepman." Glenn Ford is a pithy cowboy, and Shirley MacLaine is a saucy rancher's daughter, in the most hilarious Western ever filmed.

"This Happy Feeling." A Debbie Reynolds romanticism which is mostly froth, and is decidedly entertaining.

"Love Slaves of the Amazon." No story, poor acting; just an excuse to show off some Hollywood lovelies in next-to-nothing Amazon costumes.

CRITIQUE
Of The Local Entertainment Scene

By BOB SMITH

Van Cliburn Is Popular Again

Van Cliburn, the Texas boy who made good in Moscow musical competition, is selling like hotcakes at local record shops . . . after his initial popularity following his victory in the annual worldwide competitions sponsored by the Soviet Union, Van Cliburn seemed to melt away into obscurity again—but now it seems the boy's talent is earning him a name in its own right . . .

Other good sellers among the classics include Tchaikovsky's Pathetique, Mercury's 1812 Overture (the one with the cannon and carillions), Grand Canyon Suite, Ravel's Bolero (what the trade calls a "standard push"), Mantovani's Greensleeves . . .

Swan Lake leads in ballet music . . . Albert Schweitzer (the renowned African missionary) is alone in his field as an interpreter of Bach organ music; his latest platters are a sellout . . .

Carousel moves back up among the musicals . . . demand for Glenn Miller (the original) is outstripping the supply . . .

Ray Coniff's Concert In Rhythm is selling good . . . as is Jack Fina's Concerto in Dreams, a very good interpretation . . .

Two high quality albums featuring Latin music: Percy Faith's Viva! The Music of Mexico, and The Troubadors in Spain . . . other Italian songs by Modugno are now available . . .

Macbeth, by the Old Vic, proves that music is not all that is excellent on records . . . Men in War, from the sound track of the motion picture, is an intelligent use of background music . . .

The Kingston Trio presents folks songs from many nations, in a new and interesting way . . . Pat Suzuki is still out of this world, and Der Bingo backs me up on this statement . . .

Eddie Fisher's platter sales are hurting (wonder why?) . . . Ernie Ford still is running away with most of the sales in the religious music field . . .

On stage with Robert Shaw is a good mixture of choral numbers . . . the Don Cossacks have a new album of Russian folk songs (no, they're not Reds; they fought against the Communists in the October Revolution, later escaped to America) . . .

The Guckenheimer Sour Kraut Band's latest atrocity is called Music for Non-Thinkers . . . on the cover, in the background, is a caricature of Rodin's The Thinker, and the earmuffs on the statue are not there for mere show, as a listen will prove . . .

Max Reiner Was Musical Pioneer

Typing up some odd notes found in the bottom drawer:

Marjorie Tallchief, the famed ballerina who will come here Jan. 22, is part Indian, as some of you may recall . . . what's in a name? . . .

The San Antonio Symphony is what is today largely through the work of the late Max Reiner . . . it was he who led the orchestra outside the environs of San Antone into the Texas wilderness, in the course of some great pioneering concert work . . .

His big frame and husky voice will be remembered by many a former listener, and many a former associate . . . Reiner could sit down with a young fellow whose musical knowledge was limited to Dorsey, Armstrong and Cavallaro, and make him understand the beauties of the classics . . .

In the battle of tape vs. platters, the disc makers are in the midst of a major offensive in production of large numbers of two-channel recordings . . . tape still has certain advantages, but most people seem to prefer the disc; so the battle, for the moment, seems to be going to the platter makers . . .

Elvis allows as how he's sunk if rock-n-roll dies out by the time he gets his discharge. But, if that is the case, says he, he'll go into serious acting . . . Elvis can take comfort from the example of Frank Sinatra, once also a vocal fad who became one of Hollywood's top dramatic stars . . .

Horror movies are the best method I know of to increase, rather than eliminate, the anti-intellectualism that has ever been rampant in this country . . . thus, the new TV show, "Brains and Brawn," should get some sort of award for proving to many a confused American that having brains is nothing to be ashamed of.

Busy Season For Off-B'way Shows

NEW YORK (AP) —Off-Broadway acting groups presented more productions during the 1957-'58 season than arrived on the Great White Way, but the mortality rate was also a lot higher.

Altogether there were 123 productions, 68 in the small experimental theaters, 54 on Broadway, and one which was tried in both sectors. Sixteen of the Broadway shows continued until the season's end, but only nine of the Off-Broadway exhibits continued into the summer.

Busy Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Director Elia Kazan has lined up a busy assignment schedule for next season on Broadway.

He has agreed to stage three dramatic entries. In chronological order they are "The Night Circus," by Michael V. Gazzo, "J. B.," by Archibald MacLeish, and "Sweet Bird of Youth," by Tennessee Williams.

Kazan this season was mentor of the smash hit "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs."

Stars In Rift

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Actress Melinda Markey, daughter of Joan Bennett and Gene Markey, is separated from her actor husband Don Hayden. Hayden's attorney disclosed the rift.

Amateur Source

NEW YORK (AP) — The booming off-Broadway theatrical scene is now becoming a source of material for amateur stage production.

Eight scripts have recently been taken over by Dramatists Play Service, the agency established by the Dramatist Guild to handle leasing of plays for non-professional groups.

The acquisitions include "Brothers Karamazov," "Everyman Today," "Mary Stuart," "Me, Candido," "Palm Tree in a Rose Garden," "Simply Heavenly," "I Knock at the Door," and "Tevya

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

UF Drive Mobilized

First Lt. Robert E. Brown uses a motor scooter to speed delivery of envelopes and information kits for Webb AFB's part in the Howard County United Fund campaign. M.Sgt. Paul W. Drake receives his campaign material as Lt. Brown whisks by on pre-campaign rounds.

United Fund Drive Begins This Week

The opening push for collections gets under way this week in one important segment of the United Fund Drive, while organizational work continues for other divisions which soon will be in active solicitation.

Webb Air Force Base begins Tuesday its general solicitation with a comprehensive organization established reaching down to every squadron. Leaders there are hopeful that Webb will be 100 per cent in United Fund response.

Briefing sessions—two of them—were held at Webb last week, and campaign materials were put into the hands of workers Friday afternoon.

The military group in Big Spring has been an important contributor to the UF every year. "This year," said Col. James A. Johnson, wing executive," we expect to do better than ever."

Meanwhile, the advance gifts division was making numerous contacts, and Division Chairman Doug Orme said he should have some encouraging reports soon.

On Tuesday, the special gifts division, with Horace Garrett as leader, will hold a meeting to complete team memberships. The employes' division, headed by Cliff Fisher, has an organizational meeting slated for Wednesday.

It's a full week of activity, as hundreds of volunteers are being lined up for the annual fund solicitation, biggest civic undertaking for the community each year.

The United Fund this year is seeking $89,900, the sum to be distributed among ten agencies.

IKE TALKS FOR UNITED FUND

President Eisenhower goes before the nation this evening with a brief address formally launching the united community campaigns over the nation.

His talk will be on both television and radio at 6:55 p.m., Big Spring time.

The President's message comes just as the local United Fund is gathering momentum for its all-out drive.

'Blind Corners' Get Attention In Lamesa

LAMESA — An effort to get property owners to trim shrubbery and trees to clear up "blind corners" in Lamesa will be undertaken by the Citizens Traffic Commission.

CTC representatives and Police Chief Morris Zimmerman are to visit owners of property with vegetation close to corners, asking that the plants be cut back.

Bob Millikan has been appointed chairman of the CTC advertising committee, Howard Garner, acting CTC chairman, said.

Lions Club Bulb Sales To Aid Blind

Members of the Downtown Lions Club will turn salesmen again Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings to help the blind.

They will be knocking on doors starting after 5 p.m. Monday to hawk some 1,500 sacks of light bulbs to raise funds for their welfare fund. A good part of this will go to the sight conservation and blind activities, and a substantial part to supporting the Lions League of Texas Crippled Children's Camp.

Louis Carothers is general chairman on this project, said B. M. Keese, president.

The Lions hope to dispose of the entire lot of bulbs (at $2 a sack) within the three-day period or sooner.

For several years the club has used this method to raise funds for part of their welfare work.

"Cheap glasses" are no bargain when your eyes pay the price in strain and discomfort. This is possible since important corrective elements can be left out of your lenses for the sake of "cutting costs".

To be sure of the clearest, most comfortable vision at reasonable cost, visit TSO. Experienced Doctors of Optometry scientifically examine your eyes to determine if glasses are needed. They also examine the interior of each eye for possible disease or defect.

Double Ring Service Unites Bobbie Stephens, Edwin Dickson

In a double ring ceremony read Saturday evening at the First Church of God, Edwin Earl Dickson of Coahoma took as his bride Bobbie Jean Stephens. The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of E. L. Stephens, 205 Creighton, and Mrs. Lewis Sutherland, Hermleigh. She attended Big Spring High School, where she was a member of the volleyball team.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Andrew Dickson of Coahoma are the parents of the bridegroom. A graduate of Coahoma High School, where he was on the football squad, he attended Abilene Christian College. He is now employed by Sinclair Oil Co.

Because and I Love You Truly were sung by Mrs. John Kolar. With the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. Richard Reagan, the bride entered on the arm of her father, and took her place before the altar, marked with an arch of tapers. White flowers and greenery completed the setting.

The bridal gown, worn over blue taffeta, was of an embroidered sheer fabric with over-all scallops of lace. The billowing skirt was caught to a fitted boidce with elbow-length sleeves. Lace scallops formed a sweetheart neckline which ended in a V at the back. Her veil descended to waist level, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations surrounded by tulle and greenery.

Charlsie Trantham, bridesmiad, wore an ankle-length dress in a mint green hue, and carried yelow carnations.

Robert Headly of San Antonio attended the groom as best man. Ushers were Jim Anthony, San Antonio, and Earl Pankey.

Following the nuptial service, the couple greeted friends and relatives in the recreation hall of the church.

MRS. EDWIN EARL DICKSON

At the center of the refreshment table, decorated in white, stood the three-tiered cake brushed with blue flowers. It was crowned with a tiny bridal couple standing under a heart-shaped arch.

Mrs. Howard Carter presided at the bride's book.

For the wedding trip to Denver, Colo., the new Mrs. Dickson was attired in a brown sheath with matching accessories. The pair will reside in Coahoma upon their return.

Pineapple Accents Grilled Ham Steaks

Don't be misled into believing that every good meat course requires long cooking. Ham steaks will prove it for you, and sliced pineapple will provide the flavorful touch.

Here's how:

GRILLED HAM WITH PINEAPPLE

Ingredients:

Steaks from fully-cooked boneless ham (about ½-inch thick and enough for 5 servings)
1 can (1 pound and 4 ounces) sliced pineapple
1 to 2 tbsps. butter
Parsley

Method:

Pour half of pineapple syrup over ham and allow to stand for at least 2 hours; turn a few times. Drain and grill over charcoal (outdoors) or in range broiler (indoors) until hot through and browned; brush often with remaining pineapple syrup during grilling.

Dry pineapple slices on paper toweling. Heat 1 tablespoon butter in a large skillet; add as many pineapple slices as will fit into skillet; brown on both sides. Brown remaining pineapple with additional butter, if needed, in the same way.

Arrange ham and pineapple slices on platter; garnish with parsley. Makes 5 servings—2 slices pineapple for each portion.

To Store Melons

For good housekeepers: always wrap melons tightly—in foil, waxed paper, plastic bags or plastic see-through wrapping — when you refrigerate them. This will prevent their aroma mingling with other foods.

Kitchen Thrift

When you are making a pudding, pie or cobbler with canned peaches you may wish to buy those labeled Grade C. Although these may be slightly irregular in size and shape, they'll have good flavor.
