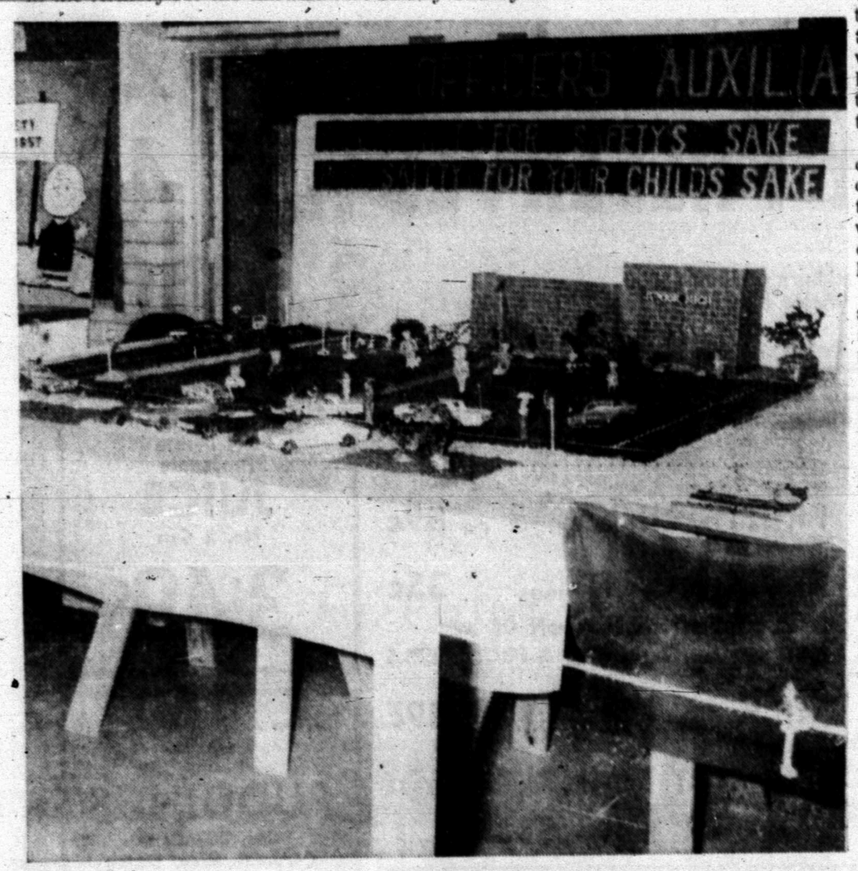
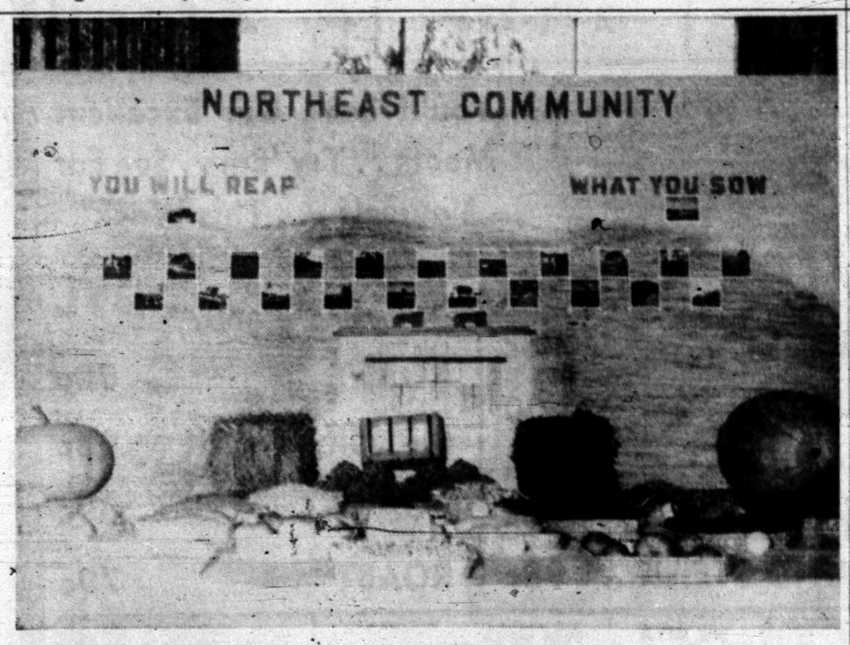
SPACE CAPSULE — This NASA mockup exhibit of a space capsule shows two astronauts ready to blast off into outer space. It is one of the educational exhibits in the Armory for the third annual Scurry County Fair.



EDUCATIONAL EXHIBIT — The Peace Officer's Auxiliary called attention of the public to traffic safety with this exhibit in the Armory. It will remain on exhibit through Saturday and can be seen by visitors to the Fair.



COMMUNITY EXHIBIT — The Northeast Community exhibit attracted a lot of attention as the annual Scurry County Fair got underway this morning. Judging was expected to be completed by noon.

TARGETS NEAR CHINA BORDER

US Intensifies Air War

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Command announced today that the number of American dead and wounded in the Vietnam war has passed 100,00.

The wwekly casulaty report came simultaneously with reports on one of the heavier days of air raids on North Vietnam with Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots hitting the port of Haiphong, two MIG airfields and two bridges near the Red Chinese frontier.

The U.S. Command disclosed the loss of three American planes over the North Tuesday and Wednesday, a period when the Hanoi government claimed 15 aircraft were downed.

Some sharp ground fighting was also reported, with 42 guerrillas killed in one series of skirmishes and air strikes.

The casualty report listed 130 Americans killed and 1,758 wounded last week and said 1,155 Communists were killed.

The latest total, reflecting the lethal artillery exchanges with Red gunners across the demilitarized zone, pushed American casualties in the war to 101,034 including 13,643 killed, 86,6 wounded and 756 missing, by unofficial count.

At the current casualty rate, the Vietnam war will surpass the Korean conflict in six months and become the fourth deadliest war in the nation's history.

The intensification of the war, despite the absence of many large-scale ground actions, was reflected in the headquarters report of 53 ground sweeps in progress and new targets hit for the first time in North Vietnam.

American pilots returning from Wednesday's strikes deep into North Vietnam's heartland reported meeting heavy antiaircraft fire, barrages of Soviet-built ground-to-air missiles and harassing flights of MIG jets. There was one brief dogfight in which no hits were scored. The MIGs nipped at the heels of American bombing formations and then sped to safety when a fight loomed.

In two days, North Vietnamese gunners on the ground shot down two Navy A4 Skyhawks, with one pilot rescued and the other missing, and one Air Force F105 Thunderchief, with the pilot missing, the U.S. Command said. It now has announced a total of 687 warplanes lost over the north.

Wednesday 118 air missions began with Marine raids in the early morning darkness against MIG airfields at Hoa Lac and Kien An within the Hanoi-Haiphong air defense network.

Air Force pilotss wept within 10 miles of Red China for the second straight day to blast the previously cut Lang Son bridge on the northeast supply route from the capital of Hanoi.

Navy pilots raked the previously hit Kien An highway bridge in Haiphong, only 1.7 miles from the city's center, and for the first time bombed the single-lane, Chien Chiang highway bridge 15 miles below the Red Chinese frontier.

The Chien Chiang bridge, previously on the Pentagon's list of restricted targets, is on a secondary east-west road northeast of Haiphong. Normally unimportant, it could serve as a bypass route if the supply traffic in Vietnam's northeast corner became tangled.

It appeared one goal of the air raids was to clutter North Vietnam's supply system and to do as much damage as possible before the monsoon winds shift this month. The winds will bring rains and heavy weather almost daily and preclude the day-by-day pounding of many targets.

American planes attacked bridges 10 to 15 miles from China, and a nearby railroad yard, Tuesday.

CROWDS VIEW COLORFUL EXHIBITS

Judging Underway At Fair

Clouds threatened, but the rain stayed away as the crowd began pouring into Towle Park this morning for the start of the third annual Scurry County Fair.

Billy Roach, county agent, said prospects were good for another successful show. There were about twice as many entries in the sheep division, although entries in the swine division were "down some" from last year, he said. Entries in the cattle divisions were about the same as in 1966.

Judging began in the dairy cattle division this morning as children turned their attention to the carnival while the adults watched the judging and looked over the exhibits in the County Barn and in the Armory.

Johnny Stansell, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stansell of Fluvanna, won the blue ribbon in the Holstein division of the dairy cattle show with a big, 22-month-old animal. First prize in the Jersey division went to Wayne Melton, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Melton of Hermleigh. His animal is 16 months of age.

Jim Laurie, vocational agriculture teacher at Roby, is judge for all of the livestock divisions with the exception of swine. These animals will be judged Friday morning beginning at 9 o'clock by Paul Gross, county agent from Big Spring.

Frank Davis, former vocational agriculture teacher at Sweetwater, began judging entries in the agriculture, horticulture and community booths division this morning.

Educational exhibits were to be judged by Mrs. Catherine Crawford, home demonstration agent from Big Spring; Miss Idalie Wood, home demonstration agent from Sweetwater; and, Mrs. Juanette Gentry, home demonstration agent from Post. In addition, Mrs. Crawford was to jjudge crafts, Mrs. Gentry was to judge clothing, and Miss Wood was to judge canned food. Entries in these categories were being looked over this morning.

Educational exhibits are located in the Armory. Also placed in the south wing there is a special exhibit of barbed wire.

Laurie, the judge from Roby, began looking over sheep entries this morning and was expected to finish by noon. Beef cattle were slated to go into the arena at 1:30 p.m. today.

Barring rain, this year's Fair could be one of the most attractive ever held here. Entries will remain on exhibit through Saturday so that visitors may see them.

Snyder Junior High School bands will be featured in informal concerts at the fair. The Lamar band will perform at the fair grounds at 7 o'clock this evening, while the Travis band will play for fair-goers at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Another Saturday feature will be a trade day event for barbed wire collectors. This event will be held at the pavilion in the park, and barbed wire collectors from a wide area are expected.

Storm's Damage Surprisingly Light

TAMPICO, Mexico (AP) — Rains tapered off sooner than expected and officials found surprisingly little damage today in the wake of Hurricane Fern.

There was no word of any deaths directly attributed to the storm.

Most of the 15,000 people evacuated from low areas along the flooding Panuco River in the Tampico vicinity were able to return soon after the small scale storm thrust inland and broke up Wednesday.

Trucks and mule trains loaded with food, medicine and other emergency supplies nevertheless were dispatched from Ciudad Victoria, the Tamaulipas state capital, to villages still isolated because of Hurricane Beulah two weeks earlier.

Authorities said it was feared conditions may have worsened in some localities because of Fern.

The Ministry of Hydraulic Resources reported Wednesday night that most of the flooding around Tampico occurred in the Colonia Morelos slum sectiion. About 2,000 residents of the Colonia Morelos and Congregacion Anahuac districts were still quartered in schools and other public buildings.

Emergency shelters also were still occupied by about 2,000 in Mante, a sugar center 75 miles northwest of Tampico. They were refugees from flood waters of the Guayalejos and Santa Clara Rivers.

Likewise unbale to return home yet were people from half a dozen small villages along the course of those two streams.

In Tampico, meanwhile, officials said the dangerous levels of the Panuco River were starting to drop as flood crests from Hurricane Beulah emptied into the Gulf of Mexico.

Shifting sands blocked the mouth of the Panuco briefly as Fern neared the coast Tuesday night, but high tide failed to develop as expected and the river soon was discharging into the Gulf again. The hurricane's center moved inland about 30 miles north of here.

Three Big Pep Rallies Are Slated

Three big pep rallies have been scheduled as a prelude to the Snyder-Lamesa football game which will open the District 3-3A season here Friday night.

First booster event is a city-wide rally which will be held tonight on the junior high football field immediately following the Travis 8th grade team's game with Sweetwater 8th. Kickoff for the junior high game will be at 6 p.m., which will put the time of the rally around 7:30 p.m. or shortly thereafter. Adult fans are especially urged to attend the rally tonight, which was scheduled at last Tuesday night's meeting of the Quarterback Club.

Regular pep rallies at Snyder High School will be held at 10:30 a.m. and at 3 p.m. Friday. Visitors also are invited to join students and teachers in the two rallies on the campus.

Ford Dealers Feel Bite

DETROIT (AP)—The nation's Ford dealers, feeling an increasing bite from a United Auto Workers strike against their supplier, are searching for ways to offset actual or expected losses.

In a spot check of dealers in half a dozen cities, major outlets appeared to be holding their own, but at least one, Queens Ford in New York, said "If things don't get better, I'll have to close by the end of the month."

At least four dealers said they were trying to beef up used car sales. Three others indicated they were driving harder bargains on each sale.

"We're getting down with maybe a 30 days supply in inventory. To protect ourselves we're holding up our prices on what we've got left," said a spokesman for Park Motor Sales Inc., in Detroit.

UF Drive In Slow Motion

The Scurry County United Fund campaign was nearing $10,000 and the 25 per cent mark this morning, as reports continued slowly but steadily at campaign headquarters.

The total "on the board" was $9,573.50 at 10 a.m. With exception of the public schools division, which has reported nearly all units complete, the various divisions are actually just getting started.

The over-all goal is $39,605 to support six participating agencies.

Board Approves CRMWD Budget

BIG SPRING — Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District this morning approved a $2,175,674 budget for the year 1968, reflecting only minor changes from the current year.

Anticipated revenues were pegged at $2,807,799, up nearly 3 per cent over the present budget. Operating costs were pegged at $907,300, up only 1.5 per cent from the current budget estimates. Debt service requirements for the new year will be $1,268,374, about $6,000 less than the present year.

O. H. Ivie, general manager, told the board that exclusive of power charges by reason of pumping more water than estimated, the district would under-run its budget about 2½ percent. Normally, when pumping charges increase, so does the revenue from the additional water pumped.

The district anticipated that cities will be using more water in 1968 than for this year, and the expected revenue here is put at $1,505,288 ($933,470 for Odessa, $446,050 for Big Spring $110,080 for Snyder and $15,688 for Stanton, the latter being a new customer next year). This is about $42,000 more revenue from this souce than is estimated for this year. The district figures that $1,215,887 will come from oil company water sales next year, up $53,000 over this year. Anticipated revenue from miscellaneous sources is unchanged at $47,024, while the district expects only $39,600 in revenues from district lake property, about $3,000 less than for this year.

By reason of delivering more water next year, the district's estimated power charge of $399,564 will be up by about $23,000 over current budget estimates. This is more than the total increase in operations and is offset in economies spread throughout the budget.

POLICEMEN ASSAULTED

Race Disturbance Erupts

NYACK, N.Y. AP)—The Nyack police chief was assaulted, a patrolman was pummeled, a police car was stoned and two fire bombs were hurled during disturbances by Negroes Wednesday night and early today, police said.

Six Negroes were arrested.

Three reporters were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. Police Chief Justin Kaney said the newsmen did not show press cards, refused to move on when nordered to and were attracting a crowd.

This suburb of New York City has had a number of small disturbances during the past month.

Kaney was treated for bruises and a head injury and discharged. The chief said he was assaulted by one of three Negroes whom he ordered to move on as he was patrolling the streets to help quell the late-night disturbance in the center of the village. The Negro was arrested.

Kaney said the trouble started when a police car was stoned by Negroes and its windshield was broken.

Patrolman Frank Rechtorvic, 30, who was alone, stepped from the car and was knocked to the ground by Negroes in a crowd of about 20. Kaney said the patrolman was pummeled and was bitten on a hand. He was treated at Nyack hospital and discharged.

The trouble then spread.

The police chief charged Kenneth Scott, a Negro, with assaulting him, and the chief said a Negro girl jumped into the fray and also hit him. Scott was charged with assault and was lodged in jail. The girl was charged with resisting arrest. Two others were held in jail and two were released. All were charged with disorderly conduct.

The three reporters were taken into police headquarters for a short time but were not put in a cell. They were given summonses to appear Wednesday night.

One of the three, Robert Rosch, 32, of Radio WRKL, said they had stood in the street interviewing William Scott, Negro chairman of the Rockland County Chapter of CORE, who Rosch said arrived downtown after the disturbances had ended.

Rosch said he and the other newsmen were talking with Scott as he sat in his parked car, the three stepped onto the sidewalk when ordered off the street, then were arrested.

The other newsmen are Steven Abel, 23, and Tomas Duggan, 21, both reporters for the Rockland Record.

Bandits Net Half-Million

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Five armed bandits raided the palatial seaside estate of Willis Harrington du Pont early today, bound the family and servants, and fled with $534,000 in loot after ransacking the mansion for two hours.

DuPont said the bandits took a $500,000 coin collection which told him they would hold for $200,000 ransom.

"The loss was roughly a half million dollars in negotiable cash. That's including the coin collection," du Pont said in an interview.

"They tied us up and threatened us as I guess all robbers do," he said. "But they didn't treat us roughly."

Du Pont, 31, said the robbers discovered his coin collection after they found 1,000 silver dollars in his safe, which he said he opened for them after being threatened.

Police said du Pont, his wife Miren, 29, and their 4-year-old son, Victor, were upstairs when the bandits entered the mansion, which has nine bedrooms and 19 baths. The robbers bound the family and brought in the butler, Hans Hein, 55, and his wife, Rosa, 50.

The bandits left a $10,000 bill on the floor of the bedroom.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I've been married 13 years and have three children. My husband has asked me for a divorce, and he has gone to room at his girl friend's house. He wants to take the children there for week-ends. Do you think I should let them go? He came to get them for the day and he had this girl in the car with him. What do you think of flaunting that girl in front of me and the children?

He has asked me for a "peaceful" divorce. He doesn't want me to mention her in the divorce and he's asked me to go easy on him when I ask for alimony and support money. He also expects me to help with the bills, but he still wants to claim the children as exemptions on his taxes. I've worked all the years we were married. He worked only off and on. He's unemployed right now. What advice can you give? Two heads are better than one.

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: Two heads ARE better than one, provided they aren't on the same person. Don't allow your children to week-end with their father and his girl firend. Tell the boob there ain't no Santa Claus, and let your lawyer work out the best financial arrangement possible.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion on mouth-to-mouth kissing. My husband and his mother kiss each other on the mouth and sometimes it is so mushy, you would think they were sweethearts, not mother and son. Not only that, but my husband kisses our children on the mouth — even our 14-year-old son!

I wouldn't think of kissing our children on the mouth, Abby. I kiss them on the cheek and teach them to return my kisses the same way. I think this communicates enough affection between parent and child. Who is right, my husband or me? we have had some hot arguments over this.

INQUIRING

DEAR INQUIRING: I vote for you. All mouth-mouth kissing is somewhat hazardous from a hygienic point of view. But a kiss between lovers somehow justifies that risk.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am desprate and actually sick from worrying about something you will probably think is a trivial matter.

My son will have his ninth birthday soon, and I have decided against giving him a birthday party this year for the simple reason that I do not know how to keep the mothers away.

Last year I had more uninvited guests at my son's birthday party than invited ones. This is what I mean.

A mother "brings" her child to the birthday party, and she also bring along one or two of her younger children saying she couldn't leave them home. Then she just stays. (Most of these children live within a mile of us.)

Abby, this means extra ice cream and cake, plus plates, cups and napkins, which I really wouldn't mind so much, but it's impossible to put on a birthday party for children and try to entertain adults at the same time. What can I do? If I say the party is for children only, some of the mothers might get mad and refuse to let their children come. If you, or other mothers have any ideas on how to work this out, I would be very grateful.

BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: If you have friends who drive, perhaps as a favor to you they would collect and deliver home those children whose mothers would pose a problem.

Electra Adds Aura Of Old Greece

ELECTRA, Tex. (AP) — With a name like Electra, some of the townfolks thought it would be proper to add the aura of ancient Greece to a downtown park.

So when four Doric column from an old church were taken down and donated to the city, they were reconstructed on an 18 by 18 foot concrete dias at Liberty Park.

In the center of the concrete platform, is a fountain basin seven feet in diameter. The Doric columns were fastened in a semicircle near the rear.

Texas Draft Call Up For November

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' draft quota for November is 1,159 men, an increase of 182 from this month, the state selective director announced today.

Col. Morris Schwartz said the November induction quota compares with 977 for October, 1,180 for September, 1,421 for August, 674 for July and 675 for June.

The national call for November is 22,000, all for the Army.

Schwartz said boards will forward 4,650 men in November for pre-induction examinations, compared to 4,000 scheduled for the examinations this month.

Homeowners Placated

DALLAS (AP) — Some Dallas homeowners seemingly would rather have their homes flooded than look at a blank concrete wall erected to contain the floods. The city placated the homeowners by promising to plant honeysuckle and ivy to cover the retaining wall.

Reporter Outflanked

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Denison Herald reporter-photographer John McCoy admits he was outflanked by a 6-year-old boy.

Sent to photograph a gas line leak that had been ignited, McCoy sought to enliven the shot by having neighborhood boys roasting wieners over the safely small flames.

One youngster without the necessary paraphernalia insisted in getting in the picture was told, "Not without a hot dog."

The lad disappeared briefly and returned, apparently properly equipped, and the picture taking proceeded. The finished print showed the other boys roasting wieners and the 6-year old innocently cooking a deceptive stick.

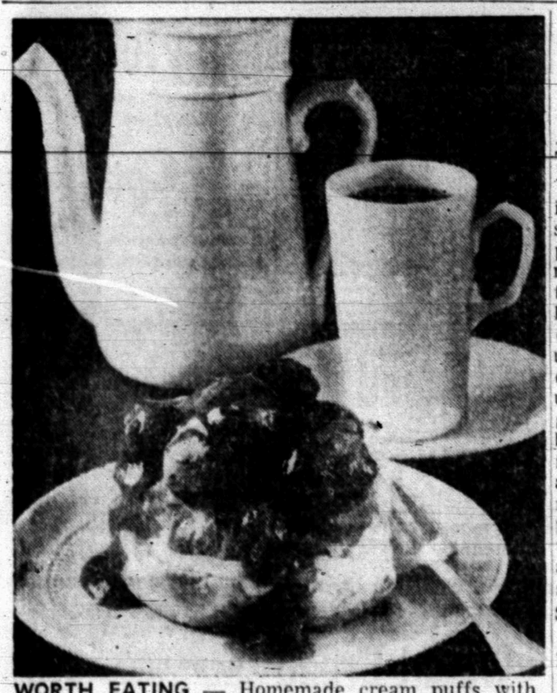
GLAMOUR as Paris spells it out for fall is the pale coat, pale all the way even unto the fur, following through with lovely lush pastel fabrics woven in Paris of precious mohair and finest wool for the purposely young shapes of fall and the flattering young applications of fur, in this case luxurious fox dyed to match the coat fabrics. Left, aqua three-tiered fox cape on an aqua coat . . . right, a marvelous square-edged collar of banana fox on a marvelous young banana coat.

WOMEN



WORTH EATING — Homemade cream puffs with whipped cream and luscious ripe red fresh strawberries.

Cream Puffs Are Perfect

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

START WITH the best butter and bubbling hot water. Add fine white flour and a careless pinch of salt. Beat in the freshest of eggs.

Drop the batter — glossy, velvet - smooth and buttercup-yellow — onto a cookie sheet. Bake in a hot oven until the puffs rise to glorious heights and shine like gold.

Fill the just-cool puffs with huge swirls of whipped cream and spoon over them the sweet goodness of fresh strawberries.

There, then, you have Strawberry Cream Puffs at their best. That's exactly how my sister Phyllis — the best cream-puff maker we know — concocts this delectable dessert, and here's her recipe.

BEST STRAWBERRY CREAM PUFFS

¼ cup (½ stick) butter
½ cup boiling water
½ cup sifted regular flour
Pinch of salt
2 large eggs
Strawberries and Cream (see recipe)

Butter a small cookie sheet (14 by 9 or 10 inches). Cut the butter into small pieces and turn into a 1 or 1½ quart saucepan. Add the boiling water; stir over moderate heat to melt butter and bring mixture to the boiling point — several large bubbles should break at the surface. Add the flour all at once and the salt; keep over low heat and with a wooden spoon beat vigorously until mixture is thick and smooth and comes away from the sides of the pan. Remove from heat. With the spoon, thoroughly beat in one egg, then the other; don't worry because mixture seems to separate; keep beating until it is homogenous, smooth and glossy and thick enough to be dropped. Drop the mixture in 6 mounds, spaced well apart, onto the prepared cookie sheet. Bake in a pre-heated very hot (450 degrees) oven for 10 minutes; reduce heat to hot (400 degrees) and continue baking until puffs are firm and shiny golden brown on top, and no beads of moisture show on surface — about 25 minutes. With a wide spatula, remove to wire rack to cool. Cut each cream puff in half, crosswise; fill and top as directed in Strawberries and Cream recipe. Makes 6 servings.

STRAWBERRIES AND CREAM (FOR CREAM PUFFS)

1 pint box strawberries
¼ cup superfine granulated sugar
½ pint heavy cream
1-3 cup confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

About an hour before serving the cream puffs, rinse strawberries with cold water; hull; halve. Gently mix with superfine sugar; let stand at room temperature. Just before serving cream puffs, whip cream gradually adding confectioners sugar and vanilla toward end of beating. With a perforated spoon lift out about half the strawberries and fold into the cream. Fill bottom half of cream puffs with mixture and replace tops; spoon remaining berries over top of puffs; serve at once.

Art Guild Study Club Hears Mr. P. Odom

Mr. Paschal Odom, administration assistant on the staff of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, spoke on "Water Conservation in West Texas" to the Art Guild Club, Tuesday evening at Martha Ann Woman's Club.

His talk dealt with the earliest beginnings of the organization and followed some of its projects up to the present time. He illustrated his talk with the use of maps of the areas involved. In conclusion he showed a film of work now being done on the dam near Robert Lee.

Woman Wants To Be Yeoman

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Women's work is never done—especially in their efforts to get jobs customarily held by men.

Pauline Dziob, a stewardess aboard the Moore-McCormack Lines passenger vessel Argentina, is fighting for the job of yeoman, which pays much better. The blonde Roselle, N.J., woman says a union official told her yeoman's work was men's work.

"They'll let us be waitresses, stewardesses and child attendants on passenger ships—and that's it," says Miss Dziob (pronounced Jobe). She is taking on the National Maritime Union and a steamship line in her battle to be certified a yeoman.

A stewardess and dues-paying union member for 19 years, Miss Dziob who is 40, says "Well, women on land do pretty well as clerk-typists, and that's what a yeoman is. I think any woman—or man, too—who is qualified should be able to take the position."

Her charges of discrimination filed against the union and Moore-McCormack Lines are now being heard by the New York State Commission for Human Rights. She has also filed charges with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

She says that last December, while serving as a stewardess on a cruise aboard Moore-McCormack's S.S. Argentina, she was promoted to yeoman to take care of a vacancy they had been unable to fill with a man.

But, she charges, although she is an experienced typist and her work was found satisfactory, she was kicked back to stewardess rating nine days later while still at sea. A stewardess' pay is $159 a month less than a yeoman's, she says.

"They replaced me with an 18-year-old boy without experience who quit two weeks later to go back to school."

Unable to get a yeoman's certificate of discharge at the cruise's end, the 5-foot-9 stewardess says she was told by a union official that "women cannot work as yeomen because it is a male position."

Jean Faust, national president of Organization for Women's New York area chapter, which is backing her, says: "Pauline Dziob may make history as the woman who proved finally that blatant discrimination based upon sex is as illegal and intolerable as discrimination based upon race or religion."

Sorority Hears Reports

Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a regular meeting Tuesday evening in the community room of Snyder Savings & Loan.

Sue Fikes of the local Beauty College presented a program on hair and wiglet styling. Carol Cornelius presented Mrs. Fikes with a gift.

President Pam Mengwasser opened the business meeting by leading in the opening ritual. Helen Gilbert, an inactive member of the chapter who has been living in Malta and is in Snyder for a vacation was welcomed.

Patsy Elliott read communications and minutes of the last meeting. A thank you note from Irene Brooks for a gift presented her was read. A report on the service project was given by Pat Pate. Marianne Seitz reported on the progress of the scrap book and asked that a thank you note be sent to Kelvin Heath for his aid. Rosie Underwood and Pat Pate gave a report on the booth for the fair and it was discussed by the chapter.

Billie McVey told of plans for the Preferential Tea to be held Sunday Oct. 8, and Carol Cornelius made the suggestion of a costume party Oct. 28. Marianne Seitz received the door prize.

FHA Meets, Makes Plans

The executive committee of the Snyder High School Future Homemakers of America Chapter met recently in the home of their sponsor, Miss Vera Periman, for a business meeting and Coke party.

Community projects were discussed and plans made to participate in some canned food to be sent to South Texas flood victims. Members of the chapter will adopt and visit shutins.

October 21 was selected for Hobo Day. Members will meet at the home of Anne Alexander and go out and work to make money for the chapter. In the evening members and guests will meet at Towle Park for a cookout and games.

Snyder Junior Music Club Holds Meeting

The Snyder Junior Music Club held its first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Helen Rodgers, sponsor, recently.

A short musical quiz game was held, after which plans were discussed for the year. The next meeting will be on Nov. 1.

Refreshments of Halloween candies, cookies and orange punch were served to Ruth Ann Fagin, Vicky Johnson, Randy Courtney, Ruby Ann Hirst and Cleta von Roeder. Sherry Williamson and Dennis Gary were unable to attend.

Apricot nectar and ginger ale make a good non-alcoholic party punch if you add lemon juice to perk up flavor. The punch may be tinted with a little red food coloring and be served over a ring of ice in an attractive large bowl. Use an ordinary ring mold to freeze water for the ice.

CLUB CHAMPION

Becky Knipe Wins Ladies Golf Crown

Becky Knipe is the Club champion. She carded a 188 to win the Ladies Golf Tournament title at the Snyder Country Club.

There were 18 holes of medal play each day Tuesday and Wednesday.

Runnerup honors in the championship flight went to Ethel Patterson, who was two strokes off the pace with a 190.

Ethel made a good comeback in the second round with a 43-47 ninety after carding a 48-52 one - hundred in the opening round.

Becky fashioned her 93 Wednesday with a 44-49 after taking the lead with a 47-48 ninety-five Tuesday.

Third place honors in the championship flight went to Finnie Seale, who also made a great comeback. Her 43-44 eighty - seven Wednesday was the low card of the tournament. However, she blew to 105 with a 53-52 on opening day.

Betty Patchell turned in a 101 Wednesday to grab first place in the first flight after carding a 115 Tuesday. Winner of the second fight was Fran Warren with a 222.

Runnersup in the first and second flights were Eloise Devers (219) and Norma Thompson (231) respectively. Third place honors in the first flight were won by Lynn Kirkvold (224), and third place honors in the second flight went to Dee Garner (235).

The tournament concluded Wednesday with a dinner at the Country Club.

YASTRZEMSKI HITLESS

Brock, Gibson Spark Cardinal Victory

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — While Lou Brock was concerned with shoulders and hips and feet, Carl Yastrzemski worried about hands.

The hands were beautiful on defense — as beautiful as they had been all year — but they didn't do anything for the Boston slugger when they held a bat, and that's what bothered him.

So, after Brock's record-tying four hits and two stolen bases plus Bob Gibson's six-hit pitching led St. Louis to a 2-1 victory over the Red Sox in the World Series opener Wednesday, Yastrzemski went back onto the field and took 20 minutes of batting practice.

He hoped the extra work would help for today's second game in which he would face Dick Hughes and the Cardinals would go against Jim Lonborg.

The American League's Triple Crown winner, who went hitless in four times at bat, spent a few minutes resting in the Boston clubhouse after the game, then changed uniforms and joined Ken Harrelson and Rico Petrocelli, who also had gone hitless, on the field.

"My hands were slow, real slow," Yastrzemski explained after emerging from the batting cage. "I wasn't using my hands enough, and I think I was dropping them a little too low."

While Yastrzemski stood in the cage swatting at pitches from third baseman Joe Foy, Brock stood on a chair in front of his locker in the Cardinal clubhouse, sipping a bottle of orange pop, wiping his sweat-soaked face with a towel and talking about pitchers' flaws — flaws that he spots in their shoulders, their hips and their feet.

Offensively, the opposing outfielders were a study in contrast.

Brock rapped four singles in his first four at-bats — he walked his last time up — stole second in the first and seventh innings and scored the Cardinals' runs, both times on grounders by Roger Maris.

That was enough to overcome a homer by pitcher Jose Santiago that tied the game in the third inning.

Yastrzemski, on the other hand, fouled out, grounded out and flied to Brock twice. Only in the field did he show the almost unbelievable skill that enables him to make the big plays and that sparked the Red Sox to their first pennant in 21 years. When Brock singled to left in the fourth with two out and Julian Javier on second base, he fired a perfect, no-bounce strike to Russ Gibson at the plate, and Javier was an easy out. When Curt Flood led off the next inning with a line drive that rose as it neared Yastrzemski, the left fielder raced over, leaped and snared the ball, averting a sure double or triple.

Those big plays, however, were not enough to overcome Yaz' lack of production at the plate. "If you're swinging the bat well and feel good like I did that last couple of weeks of the season, you'll hit anyone," he said. "But if you feel like I did today, my six-year-old son could get me out.

GOPs, Democrats Alike Are Split Over Viet War

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential campaign, reaching a climax exactly one year from now, will be a mess for both parties if nothing changes in the war in Vietnam or in the public attitude toward it at home.

President Johnson, with his Democrats split on the war and public support for it dwindling, may not only have a tough time getting reelected but even renominated.

Republicans are split on the same subject. Just this week Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican Senate leader who has steadfastly backed Johnson's Vietnam policy, rebuked Republicans he thought were too harsh on Johnson.

Those Republicans being mentioned as their party's likely presidential candidate are divided, too.

Last March, Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., widened their differences when the latter called for a bombing halt in Vietnam and Johnson said continuing the air strikes was imperative. Kennedy hasn't said much about it since.

While he denies presidential ambitions in 1968 and has publicly pledged support for Johnson, Kennedy has been gaining, and Johnson declining in public opinion polls on preference about the two men's candidacy.

This week the Gallup Poll showed 51 per cent of those quizzed favored Kennedy to 39 per cent for Johnson. Meanwhile, Johnson has been persistently belabored about the war by Democrats in Congress.

If there is no change in the war by October, 1968, Democrats will have a tormented time reconciling their differences. There will have to be some extraordinary flip-flops if the party hopes to look united.

But Republicans can read the polls. Some of them already have done some flip-flopping, an exercise which could be very convenient if public opinion on the war gets worse.

The No. 1 example is Michigan's Gov. George Romney who for most of 1965 solidly backed Johnson on the war after a trip to Vietnam earlier that year. He began to get more restrained and vague before the year's end.

Then he was on-again-off-again. Earlier this year he was saying the 1968 presidential candidate with the best chance for election will be the one who convinces voters he can achieve peace "at a reasonably early date."

But when he reached the point of saying he had been "brainwashed" by government officials on his trip to Vietnam his standing in the polls started down.

New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, denying any intention of being a candidate, had supported Romney but his ratings in the polls steadily went up and this week the Gallup Poll had a new finding.

This was it: of those questioned, 55 to 41 per cent favored a Republican ticket led by Rockefeller and California's Gov. Ronald Reagan to a Democratic ticket with Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Maybe it was only a coincidence, but almost at the very moment this poll was disclosed, Rockefeller, who had broadly supported Johnson's Vietnam policy, was reported saying privately he was shifting toward a more moderate position and was no longer wholeheartedly behind Johnson.

Asked about this later, he declined comment by saying he had said nothing about it and wouldn't.

Reagan, a tough-liner on Vietnam, may be becoming a little more restrained, judging from recent statements of his, but not much. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, whom the GOP's political pros like, has taken and stood by a hard line. In a recent interview he warned his fellow-contenders for the Republican nomination not to run on a platform of "peace at any price."

And this week, Dirksen, without naming names, cautioned some of his fellow Republican Senators who have been most caustic about Johnson not to demean him for it means demeaning the "prestige of the republic." Dirksen has been steadfast in support of Johnson on the war.

Junior Editors Quiz on JUMPING BEANS

QUESTION: Does a Mexican jumping bean really jump?

* * *

ANSWER: It seems impossible that any bean could jump, but Billy and Margie are watching some beans which every now and then roll over or actually do jump. They are beans of the spurge family of shrubs and are found in South and Central America. Mexicans call them leapers. In the U.S. they are usually called Mexican jumping beans; although in the Southwest they are known as bronco beans, because they seem to buck. Inside these beans is the larvae of one variety of gypsy moth whose Latin name is Carpocapsa Salitans. The caterpillars of this moth grow up inside the bean. When they are full grown they begin, as many caterpillars do, to spin a cocoon inside of which they can change to the moth stage. While spinning the cocoon, the larvae often grasp the inner walls of the beans with their legs. Then they snap their bodies — and it is this jerky movement which makes the beans buck or jump.

Boyle's List Of Unwon Daydreams

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK AP) — Goals are a necessary part of life.

If you have no goals, you rust to death.

If you have too few goals, or goals too easily gained, you wind up bored and cross.

Of course, it is also possible to have too many goals, so many that they leave you confused and frustrated, undicided which to pursue and which to abandon.

Therefore it's a good idea to have two kinds of goals: real goals and daydream goals.

Real goals are the ones you sweat to make true. Daydream goals are more fun. They are the fantasies that tease the mind, things you've never done and probably never will.

Looking over my own list of unwon daydreams goals, I find that I have yet to—

Hypnotize a charging rhinoceros with a single glance.

Eat a bird of paradise under glass.

Get the girl who brings coffee around our office to let me open a charge account.

Wallow in a European spa.

Beat my wife three times in a row at gin rummy.

Make a hole in one at golf.

Sip bean soup in the U.S. Senate's lunchroom, or champagne from the slipper of Julie Andrews.

Rent a real live gorilla as a subway bodyguard.

Track mud on a rainy day into the main drawing room of Buckingham Palace.

Finish a book written by Proust, Thomas Mann, James Joyce or Kathleen Windsor.

Build a more stately mansion for my soul, as the swift seasons roll.

Get anything back for a box top that was worth the quarter I also enclosed.

Receive a written apology from an Internal Revenue agent for the honest mistakes I made while following the advice of my barber on how to fill out my 1948 income tax.

Attend a testimonial dinner to a gall bladder surgeon given by his grateful patients.

Receive a standing, 10-minute ovation for any speech I've made to our local PTA.

Permanently fix any leaky faucet.

Lose an ounce while on a "quick, easy diet, guaranteed to melt pounds away as if by magic."

Go on a whale hunt and be the first to call, "Avast, mates, thar she blows."

Make a martini dry enough to satisfy all the hydrophobes who come to any cocktail party I throw.

Cook a wolf or pickle a herring.

Dissolve an expensive pearl in wine and offer it to a lovely lady with the remark, "Baby, when you go with me, you go first class."

Play a solo on the bongo drums at Carnegie Hall.

Land a job as a traveling salesman demonstrating skin decals at nudist conventions.

Save a millionaire from drowning and be asked to name my own reward.

Yep, there's no doubt about it—it's the daydream goals of life that make living really worthwhile.

Voters Asking Old-Fashioned Thrift

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The administration's tax incease proposal, which preseason reports indicated would display a hard-driving offense, apparently has run headlong into a line of stiffening taxpayer defense.

Mail to congressmen reportedly is running for holding down taxes, and so by a 20 - 5 vote, the House Ways and Means Committee has voted to lay aside the measure. Spending cuts come first, it said.

The offensive coach in the White House now may have to devise some new plays if the game is to be won. Early indications, however, are that none are forthcoming.

Speaking here this week, Charles Zwick, assistant director of the Budget Bureau, indicated the administration would resist cuts that threatened to undermine its domestic programs.

The results of this impasse, if it persists, could be very dangerous to the economy, for the signals of rapid expansion seem to be flashing from many directions.

There is no such thing as a stalemate in this game. Somehow, revenue must be raised or spending cut. A decision must be made or, it is generally agreed, inflation threatens.

Inflation for a short while can seem like a good thing. Most people might be taking home bigger pay checks and the disillusionment sets in only with the realization that prices are higher, too.

This stiffening taxpayer defense against spending is not an isolated reaction. In recent years municipal bond issues and school budgets have been turned down by voters.

Clearly, voters are concerned about what they feel is an absence of old-fashioned American thrift on every level of government from their own local affairs to Washington.

They have watched their Social Security taxes rise. They have watched their state legislatures this year add close to $2.5 billion in taxes, according to the Tax Foundation, a nonprofit research organization.

New sales taxes make every shopping trip a reminder that life is expensive. Nine states this year raised gasoline taxes, 10 states raised tobacco taxes, four raised alcohol taxes and seven states added realty transfer taxes.

Although one of the big offensive plays by tax advocates was that a 10 per cent surtax on incomes would merely bring taxes up to about where they were in 1964, the defense already has routed that strategy.

Pierre Rinfret, a private economist, commented recently that if we were paying taxes today at merely the 1962 rate, "our actual taxes paid would be approximately $10 billion less than they now are."

Several surveys have shown that during the past two years American consumers have become agitated about the state of the economy and have, perhaps defensively, cut their spending and added to savings.

On the Pacific Island of Okinawa, bull battles bull in a bullfight.

COMPUTER PAYS TOO MUCH

Check Buys Big Weekend

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Investigators say a suburban housewife took a $19,065 check issued in error by a county computer and promptly spent the money in one big wonderful weekend in Las Vegas.

Jaynee Shearer, 37, was jailed on a grand theft charge and released Wednesday night on $1,100 bail.

Since 1963 she has received $15 a week in child support from a former husband now living in Atlanta, Ga. The man sent the money to Los Angeles court trustees, and the county issued $15 warrants to Mrs. Shearer.

Here is how the affair was described by investigators:

The $19,065 was delivered to her home in suburban Montebello on Sept. 27, and investigators say Mrs. Shearer took it to her bank immediately.

There she cashed it, investigators said, drawing cashier's checks for $5,000 and $10,000 and putting the balance in her checking account.

That day, they said, Mrs. Shearer and her husband Albert, a used car salesman, went to an automobile agency in La Haxra and got a 1968 car for $3,700. The car was picked up the next day in return for a $5,000 cashier's check.

A day later, the Shearers returned to pick up a $1,300 check representing their change.

"The couple said they won the $5,000 at the races," a car salesman said.

Then Albert and Jaynee Shearer went to Las Vegas, Nev., for the weekend.

Only $5,000 or so of the $19,065 could be recovered, the district attorney's office said Wednesday.

The county auditor's office discovered the computer's error and issued a stop-payment order. The car was confiscated with only 28 miles on the speedometer.

Mrs. Shearer was quoted by investigators as saying she didn't know what the check was for and that, after she cashed it, she gave the balance of the money to her husband.

Shearer was quoted as saying only that he has none of the money now.

Lab Construction Bids To Be Opened

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration opens bids Nov. 28 for construction of two agriculture research laboratories at College Station, Tex., expected to cost $3.1 million.

The laboratories will be administered by the U.S. Agriculture Department and Texas A&M University.

One will be the Southwest Veterinary, Texicology and Livestock Insect Laboratory and the other a cotton disease laboratory.

Fort Worth Crash Kills Two Students

FORT WORTH (AP) — A sports car hurtled into a 30-foot deep ravine and burst into flames Wednesday night, killing two Arlington Heights High School students and critically injuring another.

Elizabeth Moncrief, 16, daughter of Fort Worth oilman R. B. Moncrief, and Michael W. Smith, 17, of Fort Worth died in the crash.

Mike Malone, 17, son of Dr. James Malone, a Fort Worth psychiatrist, was reported in grave condition early today at All Saints Hospital.

A witness said it appeared the car swerved after a possible blowout. The witness found Malone 20 feet away from the wreckage with his clothes afire and rolled him on the ground to put out the flames.

Co-op Delegates Gather

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Robert D. Patridge, acting general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association says REA co-ops could have a key role in reversing the mass migration from farms to cities.

Partridge is in Dallas for the NRECA's Region X meeting which runs through Friday. He and national Rural Electrification Administration officials set a news conference at 2 p.m. today in Dallas' Adolphus Hotel.

"About 500,000 people a year leave rural areas for metropolitan areas," he said in a Wednesday interview. These metropolitan areas already have problems exceeding their capabilities, he added, especially in transportation, housing, law enforcement, pollution and employment.

"Surveys indicate," he continued, "that about 40 million people living in cities would prefer to live in smalltown America if they could make a decent living there."

Electric power co-ops, he said, by supplying low-cost service can help attract new industry into smaller communities where they will find "a fresh reservoir of trainable labor."

In an era when electric power consumption doubles every seven years, there's no end in sight to the need for co-ops to supply energy in "thin" areas where other firms cannot profitably extend service, he said.

"Cooperatives provide an essential service not otherwise available," Patridge said. He added that increased income from swelling rural populations would enable the co-ops to speed repayment of loans from the REA.

Delegates from more than 100 rural electric systems in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona are attending the Dallas meeting.

Canada's Northwest Mounted Police staged a 1,000-mile march along the United States border in 1874 in a show of force against the outlaws of the American Wild West.

WE CAN TAKE ACTION

Sensible Leader

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Snyder Daily News is sponsoring a Dale Carnegie course as a means of training and developing community and area leaders. This article is one in a series written by Warren Quinlan, director of the Dale Carnegie Training Program in West Texas.)

By WARREN QUINLAN

Strong leaders in the community take the time and make the effort to apply proven principles of effective human relations.

An individual who has developed a group of followers, either socially or vocationally, reflects inner and external strength. One common denominator of a thought-leader is the fact he is not a kitten, but a potential tiger who knows how to get things done through persons.

Early last month, George, a responsible businessman, experienced an unfortunate chain reaction of trouble with his car. Each visit to the service department was punctuated with impatience and unkind remarks about the car's performance. Both the service manager and George became less tolerant, and an "Iron Curtain" of stubborness separated a practical solution to the problem.

"I don't care if the car is out of warranty," George yelled, "you people should stand behind your product." With this belligerent attitude the service manager reacted with equal antagonism.

When George discussed the difficulty with us, he openly criticized the entire organization from the manufacturer to the dealership. Finally, George accepted one fact. "It's not a question of who is right, but what is right." In any case of legitimate complaint we need to construct a basic point of agreement.

"George, when you approach that service manager again with fists doubled, you can be sure of one thing . . . he also will double his fists. You may win the battle, but you will lose the war."

The proper approach to any person's reason is through a spirit of mutual friendship. This will help win him to your way of thinking, through strength of character, instead of provoking anger and retaliation.

When George stopped REACTING by trying to get something he wasn't justified in receiving, he started to ACT in a way which got him in tune with the service manager's thinking. Like many of us, George preferred to receive before he gave. At this point, George looked beyond his problem. He started to concentrate on a sensible solution.

One morning, almost three weeks ago, George drove his car to the service car entrance in a different state of mind. Instead of frowning and fussing, he greeted the service manager in a pleasant manner.

"That knock came back yesterday afternoon," George grinned, "you've been real patient with me so far, would you check this for me?"

The serviceman was so surprised with George's behavior, he almost dropped his pencil.

"Why, we'll be glad to," he stammered.

"Thanks a lot, I'll check back with you in a few hours," George said. "I know you're busy, and I'd certainly appreciate your looking into it."

To George, the service manager no longer was a vendictive, do-nothing. And the manager sensed George's changed attitude. When George returned he wasn't surprised to find his car ready, and the manager taking pride in the fact that he checked a few other areas to be sure the job was handled thoroughly.

A leader needs to exercise self-control, before he can control others. By being in a friendly way, we set the dial on our thermostat of self-improvement by projecting a better image ourselves. We don't get a second chance to make a first impression.

EDA Offers Aid To Rural Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government - poverty program aims to create industrial employment near home for jobless slumdwellers. But meanwhile an existing agency is working to keep the rural jobless from migrating to slums in the first place.

It tries to guide them to areas where work is available and visualizes a national job placement service.

The Economic Development Administration set up two years ago as part of the Commerce Department, still isn't looking for overnight success.

Ross D. Davis, assistant secretary of commerce for economic development, said EDA programs are aimed at helping lagging areas reduce unemployment and increase incomes.

"The corollary must be that we will help stem and reverse the tide of migration that takes people to places where there are no jobs," he added.

EDA's Office of Policy Coordination said the flow of migrants from rural areas must be redirected to the medium and small-size cities where most new jobs are being created.

The plan involves job counseling, a comprehensive employment service and job retraining. Officials call the present federal-state employment service inadequate.

They want a network of employment services wher jobs can be pinpointed throughout the nation and persons trained and directed to them.

This, officials said, will require a basic restructuring of the present employment service to provide data on jobs available not just locally but in many areas in the country.

EDA officials described as startling the projections it made for the growth of jobs in metropolitan areas.

Very small and very large areas, they said, will produce comparatively few new jobs in the future. The major growth will come in counties with a population ranging from 50,000 to 500,000 persons.

But unemployed persons from rural areas tend to concentrate in the big cities, officials said, where they feel the number of job alternatives are larger.

Water Use Heavy In September

The Colorado River Municipal Water District had one of its better Septembers in water deliveries, pushing the district toward what appears to be a record year.

During the month, the district metered 930,617,078 gallons to its customers, a gain of 7.24 per cent over September a year ago. The total, however, was under the record of 1,011,923,000 gallons in September 1965 and the 932,259,000 in 1963.

The 930 million gallons for the month did push the total to 10,043,319,682 gallons for the first nine months of the year, which is almost a billion gallons more, or 9.34 per cent more, than for the same period last year. This means that the district will exceed the 11 billion mark for the year.

Member cities required 548,120,900 gallons during the month, up 10.77 per cent over September 1966. Odessa took 290,640,000 gallons, up 11.54 per cent; Big Spring 210,007,000, up 10.69 per cent; Snyder 47,473,900, up 6.7 per cent.

The oil companies received 382,498,178 gallons, up 2.55 per cent over September 1966. Part of the 10-million gallon increase was the 3,780,000 gallons delivered to Standard - Northeast IAB, a new repressuring unit in northern Coke County.

Before his arrival in Thailand, he was assigned to the 3415th Air Base Group at Lowry AFB, Colo.

The airman attended Snyder High School.

His wife, Diana, is the daughter of Patraica Schrameyer of 1129 Atwood St., Longmount, Colo.

Change Of Venue Hearing Slated

GAINESVILLE, Tex. AP) — A hearing on change of venue motion for Mrs. Margaret Medders, charged with writing a bad check, is now scheduled for Oct. 13.

Mrs. Medders was said to be under a doctor's treatment in Sherman. A pre-trial hearing was postponed Wednesday.

Mrs. Medders and her husband admitted to bankruptcy this spring. They had gained fame at the small, German-Catholic community of Muenster as being lavish entertainers. They were also known for their cattle and horse breeding.

Film Classic Still Stirs Atlantans

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — There were tears again on the faces of Atlantans, clad in black ties and fabulous gowns, Wednesday night as Sheman's troops laid siege to their town in the new premiere of "Gone With The Wind."

The applause, like the audience of 28 years ago, was spirited again when Scarlett O'Hara drew a revolver from the pocket of her skirt and shot the Yankee soldier who invaded her home, Tara.

The film classic of the South during Civil War days was a smashing success at its original premiere here in 1939 and it was a success again Wednesday. But there was a difference.

Olivia De Havilland, only surviving top star of the epic motion picture, and still strikingly beautiful, reigned as the undisputed queen of this premiere.

Other celebrities were Ann Rutherford, Evelyn Keyes and Victor Jory, all of whom starred in "GWTW".

There was a haunting nostalgia, however, for Clark Gable and Vivian Leigh, whose glittering presence at the original premiere caused the most excitement since Sherman marched through Georgia.

But Gable and Miss Leigh live on in the vital and indestructible roles they created in "GWTW" and are as real to Southerners as any historical figures.

Also missing was the author of the book, Margaret Mitchell, who was killed by a speeding taxi in 1949. But her brother, silver-haired Stephens Mitchell, was there.

"I only regret that Margaret isn't here to see how long her book has lasted," Mitchell said.

Wednesday marked the sixth release of the movie, bringing it to a new generation, and, for the first time, in a wide screen version.

But it is the same spellbinding three hours and 40 minutes of the cotton, slave and carpetbagger era that is gone forever.

At the original premier, 300,000 persons lined the streets and traffic was virtually at a standstill. The state declared a holiday.

The crowds were fewer Wednesday night. About 3,500 persons watched as celebrities entered the theater.

Conservation Plan Ok'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department approved Wednesday a $65 million conservation program for 11 Texas counties—called by Sen. Ralph Yarborough "one of the most important developments of the decade for Texas agriculture."

Yarborough, D-Tex., said "this investment in resource development will pay off in thousands of new jobs, a sustained increase in dollar income, and a brighter future for the area."

The program would cover 5.25 million acres, including 3.4 million acres of woodland, 598,000 acres now in crops, 511,000 acres in pasture and 304,000 acres in rangeland.

Counties involved are Polk, Orange, Jasper, Newton, Jefferson, Hardin, Tyler, Chambers, and parts of Liberty, San Jacinto and Galveston.

It has not been determined what the government share of the project will be, but a Yarborough aide said "obviously the larger part will be."

Yarborough said the project will assure full production and proper use of natural resources.

He said the woodland could be developed through improved marketing practices and expanded industrial development. watershed projects will reduce pollution.

Asks Planes Be Inspected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The crash of an Aero Commander at Dallas Sept. 27 has prompted the plane's manufacturer to urge owners of three of its models to check for wing cracks.

Aero Aircraft said Wednesday it was notified 320 owners of models 560E, 680 and 680E Aero Commanders that they should conduct dye penetrant inspections of the forward wing spar area.

The Commander that crashed near a Dallas school last month killed all seven men aboard. It was on a Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., shuttle run from Greenville to Dallas Love Field.

The National Transportation Safety Board, which is investigating the crash, advised the Federal Aviation Administration to consider an order for immediate inspection of Aero Commanders which have lengthy time in service.

SITE OF LINCOLN'S DEATH

Theater Opening Planned

By DEREK SCHOEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford's Theater, its stage empty since President Abraham Lincoln was fatally shot while watching a play there 102 years ago, soon will echo anew the sounds of live theater.

The Interior Department said Wednesday that 1860-era plays will be presented at Ford's beginning early next year. The Ford's Theater Society, a nonprofit group, hopes to have a repertory group presenting a nine-month season beginning next Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday.

Anouncement of the undertaking, helped along by a $250,000 grant from Lincoln National Life Insurance Co., came from Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall at a news conference in the partially refurbished theater six blocks from the White House.

Ford's has been closed to tourists since the Interior Department began in 1965 a $2.7 million restoration.

Backstage is still a tangle of scaffolding and wiring but the theater interior already exudes the aura of that day—April 14, 1865—when Lincoln was shot by actor John Wilkes Booth.

Separate cotton lace and damask curtains decorate the box where Lincoln and his wife sat watching a comedy, "Our American Cousin."

On the orchestra floor are replicas of the cane-bottomed chairs used at the time. Two curving balconies are partially equipped with the type of long benches on which patrons sat.

Ornate carvings on the balcony facades, winding slate-step staircases and wall and balcony candelabra—all reproduced from photos taken after the assassination—also are in place.

There also are some differences.

The theater will seat only 600 instead of the 1,700 it did in Lincoln's day. Udall explained the cutback involved stricter fire regulations and "the fact we found that people of this age require broader seats.

Also changed—and hopefully improved, said Udall—will be the theater's acoustics and backstage equipment.

Anti-Draft Centers To Be Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., plans to check out organizations in Dallas he said have been set up to advise young men on how to escape the draft.

Pool, a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, left for Dallas Wednesday. He urged the committee to investigate such centers.

He said one center in Dallas was set up across from the Texas State Fair, another in downtown Dallas and others on College campuses around the country.

The Dallas Draft Information Center opened an office last week across from the main gate of Fair Park in East Dallas.

Robert Foley, 24, who said he was director of the center, said "I would not advise anyone to do anything illegal. But I feel that many men need information about deferments and methods of filing papers with the draft offices."

Last Sept. 28 Pool told the House that draft evasion advice was coming from "left-wing, radical, anti-War" organizations.

Ricky Is Going Back On Relief

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Ricky Thorne, the boy nobody wants, went back on relief rolls this week because his parents want him least of all.

Ricky, now 16, faces a world that will not focus in his impaired mind. The simple friendliness he displayed when he was found abandoned at the Miami International Airport two years ago has turned to hostility.

Ricky, who had three pennies and a half-eaten sandwich in the pocket of clothes that had the labels snipped out, was the center of a week-long search for the red-haired woman who witnesses said accompanied the boy and then vanished.

She turned out to be his mother, Maynie Thorne, who said at the time she "would do it again."

This week she and her husband, Victor Thorne, did.

"They've dumped him again," said Juvenile Court Judge Sid Weaver.

The Thornes dumped Ricky by refusing to pay for his upkeep in Miami and moving from their suburban Detroit home to a remote section of Canada where they cannot be readily reached, the judge said.

Their new home is on an isolated island called Sans Suci, French for "without care."

When Mrs. Thorne and her husband, a well-to-do tool-and-die company executive, were located in 1965 Mrs. Thorne said she brought the boy to Miami and left him "because we love him" and because he had been a burden.

By court order, Ricky was put in a county home and finally taken into a school for the retarded. His parents were not charged with child neglect because Ricky's mother agreed to submit to psychiatric treatment in Detroit and because they agreed to pay for costs of treatment.

For a time Ricky did well at the school, learning to write his name and utter the sound of "S" on command.

Then he became hostile and began assaulting other children and attendants.

The Thornes were told their son would have to be returned to his family.

The Thornes replied, "We (Dade County) had a problem and that they were very sorry, but they would not take him back," Juvenile officer Barron Shields said.

Judge Weaver said Ricky was ordered confined to a county home temporarily. That, however, causes a legal problem because Ricky's parents never resided in Florida.

Similarly, the state of Michigan has declined to accept the boy because his parents have moved to Canada. Canadian authorities likewise decline.

Panel Considers Daniel's Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee today considers President Johnson's nomination of Price Daniel, former governor of Texas, as director of the Office of Emergency Planning.

Daniel would replace Farris Bryant, former governor of Florida, who resigned.

No opposition to the appointment was expected, aides to Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and John Tower, R-Tex., said.
