City, chamber support Houston...

Street opponents cite traffic hazards

By NOBLE B. YOUNG
SDN Staff Writer

Seven opponents of the proposed extension of Houston Ave. around the southwest side of Snyder were present Tuesday night to have their comments read into the record at the final public hearing scheduled for the project.

Approximately 40 individuals attended the meeting conducted by personnel with the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation. Most chose to watch and listen, however, as the seven spoke against the project while representatives of the city council and chamber of commerce offered support for the proposed construction.

W.R. Walker, the Abilene-based district adminstrative engineer for the highway department, presided at Tuesday's hearing. Members of his staff led off the 55-minute session with detailed explanations of the purposes and scope of the project.

As proposed, the intent of the project is to extend the existing Houston Ave. from 48th St. south and east to the Big Spring Highway. It would intersect the highway some 600 feet south of the existing College Ave. entrance to Towle Park.

The street would also be extended two blocks to the north from its existing dead end at 32nd St. to West 30th St. (Gary Brewer Road).

Snyder Mayor Rod Waller, speaking on behalf of the council, opened the comment portion of the hearing by outlining the council's reason's for requesting the street extension.

Waller cited an independent traffic and development study commissioned by the council in 1972 which showed a potential need for the street extension due to expected residential development of the southwest quadrant of the city.

He noted the continuing development of the new Wall addition — adjacent to the north end of Houston Ave. and directly west of the Junior High School — as one example of these growth projections "coming true."

Waller also noted that a new group had recently purchased land south of 37th St. along Midland Ave. for development and told the group the city had recently been approached to approve a plat for 14 new lots in the existing Bassridge Addition south of Towle Park.

While stating the council's

Postal rates going up

WASHINGTON (AP) — First class postage will rise to 22 cents effective Feb. 17, the Postal Service board of governors announced today.

The governors voted in closed session Tuesday to accept the recommendation of the independent Postal Rate Commission, postal service officials said. The decision was announced at today's open meeting.

Last year, the postal service recommended that postage rise to 23 cents in 1985, but the rate commission scaled that back. The commission lowered the planned increase because lower than expected inflation had dampened costs for the postal service.

Postage last increased in 1980. In that year the rate commission turned down a postal service proposal for 20-cent rates, but the postal governors overruled the commission and put that price into effect anyway.

This year the governors could have done the same and insisted on a 23-cent rate, but did not do so. That would have required a unanimous vote, however, and the vote breakdown on accepting the 22-cents postage charge was not known immediately.

In addition to 22-cents for first class letters, post cards will rise a penny to 14 cents each under the new charges.

Mailers of heavy items will get a break, however. The 20-cent rate now drops to 17 cents for each extra ounce of first class postage. That 17-cents charge will remain unchanged.

The governors also accepted other rate commission recommendations including:

—No change in the charge for priority mail.

—Increases ranging from 15 percent for second class regular items down to 8 percent for the fourth class book rate.

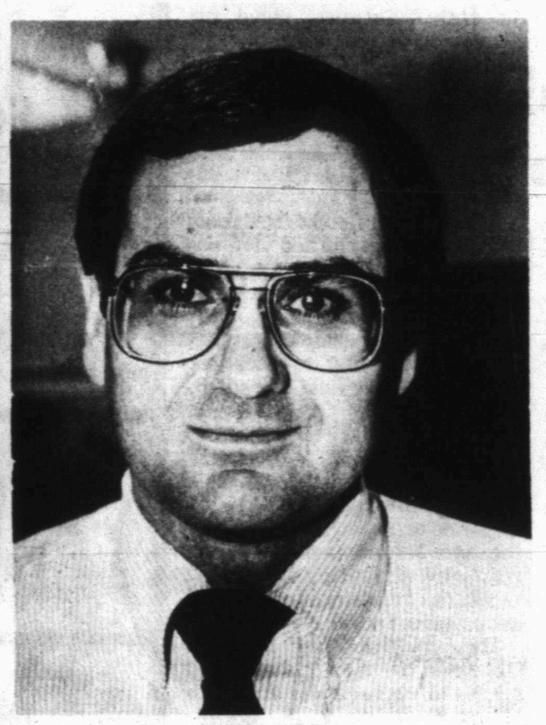

—A 13 percent hike for third class mail and 15 percent boost for express mail.

The rate commission's recom-

Chamber election date near

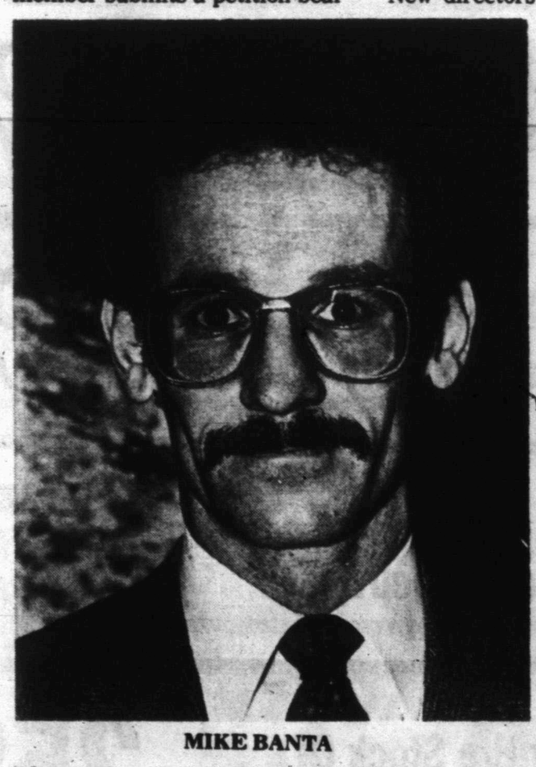

Snyder Chamber of Commerce members have now received notification of the four new chamber directors proposed for the chamber board.

These names were submitted by the chamber's nominating committee. Additional names may be nominated if a chamber member submits a petition bearing the signatures of at least 10 other qualified members. These should be filed with the chamber prior to next Monday.

Under the chamber charter, the board of directors will fill the four vacancies on the board at the regular December meeting slated for Tuesday.

New directors will then begin their terms on Jan. 1.

Those nominated by the chamber committee are Margaret Drum, owner of Margaret's; Tom Latos, manager of Kmart; Mike Banta, a vice president for American State Bank; and Gene Thomas, superintendent for Chevron USA's SACROC unit.

School will bid coverage

Snyder school officials will now solicit bids for the some $26 million in coverage required for the district's property insurance.

The action by the school board Tuesday came at the recommendation of both administrators and the district's current insurance representative, Clyde Hall.

Hall said he couldn't say with absolute certainty that the district would receive a lower premium rate through bids, but noted "I suspect it."

The current policy expires Feb. 10 and Artie Butler, assistant superintendent for finance, estimated from 30 to 45 days will be required to draw up specifications to submit to insurance bidders.

Regarding these specifications, Hall told the board he would assist in the process.

The board voted unanimously to authorize seeking the bids.

The action came during a fairly brief December meeting, which lasted some 40 minutes.

The board also approved an updated school policy for school attendance and accepted a mineral lease bid for district-owned property.

The policy update follows both a recommendation by the Texas Association of School Boards (TASB) and mandates handed down by the state under House Bill 72.

Superintendent Bob Hawes noted the revision contains no major changes to policy approved by the board earlier. It merely "fine tunes" wording to comply with the policy recently finalized

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The hardest part of buying on time is paying on time."

Tom Holcomb, minister of the East Side Church of Christ, passed along a story about a youngster who had the role of Joseph in the school Christmas program.

The boy and his dad were discussing what he should wear in the play. The father suggested sandals, but the youngster wanted to wear his cowboy boots.

The father, trying to be logical, said it was highly unlikely that Joseph wore cowboy boots.

"Yeah," said the boy, "but he didn't have braces on his teeth either."

The youngster wore the boots.

Don Newbury, WTC president, last week won award for his contribution to higher education. It's a good thing he doesn't teacher driver education.

Last week, the WTC Westerners played Howard College in Big Spring, and Newbury arranged for a bus to take some WTC students who would like to attend the game.

At the last moment, it was learned that the scheduled bus driver wouldn't be able to make the trip, so Newbury decided to drive it himself.

Word of his driving must have spread over the campus. Only one passenger showed up.

Last year, when the Longhorns defeated Texas A&M, Schiebel laid it on thick to family members who were Aggies. This year, however, the Aggies trounced the Longhorns and Schiebel decided it was time to burn the sweatshirt.

Quietly smiling through all of it was wife, Martha, who was proudly wearing her TCU Royal Purple.

Hwy. 180 road work to be bid

Bids are expected to be let this week in Austin to finance reconstruction of a stretch of U.S. Hwy. 180 (the Lamesa Hwy.) in Scurry County.

Some 7.7 miles of the road's surface is to be reconstructed. In addition, shoulders will be added.

The stretch of highway runs from the Borden County line east toward Snyder.

The road work is made possible in part through the increased state fuel tax and increased fees for vehicle registration. Both went into effect Sept. 1.

Approximately $112.9 million was generated through these two items during September and October of this year. This compares to some $62.4 million for the same two-month period last year.

Ask Us

Q. — What happened to the Cable Music Channel being broadcast over SCAT?

A. — The channel's owner, Turner Broadcasting of Atlanta, was legally challenged by its rival MTV, which shows a similar format of rock music videos. The end result was that CMC was absorbed into the MTV system and has now been dropped by Turner. SCAT officials note they have completed preliminary negotiations with MTV to add it to the local system. No final deal has been made, however.

Economist predicts 10,000 failing farms

AUSTIN (AP) — President Reagan's proposal to slash farm price subsidies over the next four years could cause 10,000 Texas farms to go out of business, a state economist says.

The Reagan administration has proposed halving subsidy payments to farmers, and that would result in "chaos in rural America," said Ronald Knutson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Knutson, who last week met with Reagan administration officials in Washington, said the president wants to move agriculture in a direction that would make it depend more on market factors and less on government help.

Owners of the 50,000 medium-sized farms in the state would suffer most under the proposal, Knutson said.

He said 5 percent to 10 percent of those farmers probably would be ruined financially if the Reagan plan is approved by Congress next year.

"A lot of farmers will be hurt in the process. The unfortunate part of this whole thing is it will end up hurting those farmers that the government program was designed to protect," he said.

Texas has an estimated 190,000 farms.

The farm subsidy program pays farmers the difference between the government target price for a crop and the market price for it. The program was created during the Depression.

Although subsidies ranged from $3 billion to $5 billion a year during the 1970s, Knutson said the federal government is spending about $10 billion annually on the program in the face of declining farm exports.

The Reagan proposals likely will surprise many Texas farmers, Knutson said, noting that 70 percent to 80 percent of the state's farmers voted for Reagan in this year's election.

Dr. Lamb

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Two ways to test blood sugar

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been a diabetic for 18 years and have had several different doctors. Whenever these doctors wanted to have a blood sugar test taken, they told me to eat my regular meal just two hours before they took my blood. For other kinds of blood work, I fasted before the test.

Last week, my friend and his family insisted that I should have the glucose test taken while fasting. My friend, who is also a diabetic, has a monthly blood sugar test taken at a clinic and he said he is supposed to fast.

My doctor said these patients are only fooling themselves, since their blood sugar will be lower than it usually is because of the fasting. Can you settle this disagreement?

DEAR READER — It is quite simple: Both answers are right. We use both the fasting glucose levels and the level measured two hours after eating a carbohydrate meal or drinking glucose water.

In the earlier stage of diabetes, the fasting glucose level is apt to be normal and the after-eating or after-glucose ingestion abnormal. That is why a test after eating or glucose is a better way to find out who may have diabetes. As the disease advances, the fasting glucose level will also become high.

Once a person has diabetes, it can then be regulated on the basis of either the fasting test, the after-eating test, or both. It depends entirely on how the doctor wants to manage the patient. The current thinking is swinging toward measuring your own blood glucose at home with a home kit. It can be used to determine your glucose level at different times of the day, and this technique is particularly useful in regulating the amount of insulin a patient may need in relation to what he eats. However, there is a normal range for both fasting and after-eating blood levels.

You'll understand your diabetes better after reading The Health Letter 18-10, Hyperglycemia: The Diabetic Problem, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551 Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 29 and have taken Inderal for heart palpitations and mild high blood pressure for two years. Are heart palpitations anything to be concerned about? I would like to know more about Inderal, which corrects the discomfort. Could it affect an unborn child? Isn't it better to cleanse the body before conception? If so, for how long? Do alcohol and coffee fit into the cleansing routine?

DEAR READER — It is usually recommended that patients not take any of the beta-blockers, such as Inderal, "unless the potential benefit justifies the potential risk to the fetus." This means that if you can get along without it, or if your problem can be managed with some other medication, that might be better. There is no positive proof that the beta-blockers will cause any problems with your pregnancy, because no long-term study of these drugs in pregnant women has ever been done. When given to animals in very large doses (10 times that which a patient might be using), it can affect the fetus.

I'd have to know a lot more about you to judge how important your blood pressure and palpitations are. However, I do think women who get pregnant would be wise to avoid alcohol entirely. Some say that pregnant women should limit themselves to fewer than two drinks a day, but others say that is harmful. You don't need coffee anyway, and it neutralizes the good effects of your Inderal, so you should stop it whether you are pregnant or not.

Ex-mayor slandered fired police officers

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Jim Snowden, ex-mayor of the Taylor County community of Tye, has been ordered to pay $48,538 in damages to two former police officers because of slanderous remarks he made about them after firing them.

A jury of four women and two men returned the verdict in Abilene federal court shortly before 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Snowden fired then-Police Chief Dan Parrack and his assistant, John Mauney, on Jan. 26, 1983.

Snowden testified he fired them because they permitted civilians to ride in city police cars, a violation of policy, but Parrack and Mauney contended it was because they permitted a City Council memeting to occur on Jan. 22, 1983, against Snowden's wishes.

The jury awarded $26,016 to Parrack and $22,522 to Mauney.

The majority of that was for a press conference held by Snowden on Feb. 7, 1983 in which the then-mayor announced he was investigating possible kickbacks, missing money and unauthorized purchases.

The jury found that Snowden slandered the men and awarded $17,804 to Parrack and $15,326 to Mauney.

No charges were ever filed in connection with Snowden's investigation.

Jurors also found that Snowden acted with malice toward both and awarded $1,500 to Parrack and $1,000 to Mauner.

Parrack also was awarded $3,000 for mental anquish, $1 for harm to his career in the past, $1 for harm to his career in the future, $3,709 for lost wages.

Chemicals reported in Texas

By The Associated Press

Trains carrying the chemical that killed more than 2,000 people in an industrial accident in India have passed through Texas this year but there will be no more shipments by rail of the chemical, a railroad spokesman said.

According to Jim Johnson of Kansas City, Mo., a spokesman for the Cotton Belt railroad, 51 carloads of methyl isocyanate, a chemical produced by Union Carbide for use in making pesticides, have come through Texas this year.

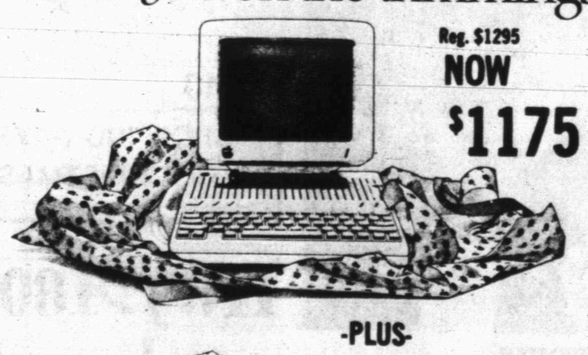

Union Carbide Corp., which made the chemical at its Institute, W. Va., plant, discontinued the manufacture of the product Dec. 4.

Peter Nagy of Canada brought in four hearts via an interesting play in the current deal. The double by North was a negative double, announcing four cards in the heart suit and enough high card strength to compete against the spade bidder. Peter bid only two hearts but was happy to carry on to four when North raised to three.

Declarer ruffed the opening spade lead and immediately played A-K of clubs. On the third club, when West followed, dummy's heart jack was played, holding the trick. The king of hearts brought the queen from West. Now the play got tricky. Declarer played a heart to the 10 and continued with a good club, discarding a diamond from dummy. East ruffed and played back a spade. Peter discarded a diamond from his hand and West won the queen of spades. West played the ace of spades, and once again declarer did not ruff, letting go another diamond. The defense was now helpless. If another spade was led, dummy's jack would be high, and East would not be able to gain by ruffing. If diamonds were played, the ace would win. South could then play the last trump from dummy to return to his hand, which would be high.

That's how you cope with a bad trump break. Set up your long suit, shorten the defender's long trump hand, and then preserve your own length by discarding sure losers.

Illness strikes children

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — About 55 students and teachers were in the cafeteria of Fort Concho Elementary School, rehearsing for a school Christmas program, and everyone seemed in good spirits, choir director Jim Wynne said, except that some students were complaining of being hot.

Then, Wynne said, a boy in the audience got pale and started reacting to something.

"Then I noticed that a girl seemed to have a sleepy look on her face. She seemed to be uptight. Other students in the audience and choir started reacting. They had glassy eyes and some were dragging their feet."

Within minutes, students were dropping all over the cafeteria, school officials said. Parents arriving at the school about 3 p.m. Tuesday were alarmed to see children being carried out on stretchers to waiting ambulances.

A doctor said it appeared one student had fainted, perhaps from heat exhaustion, and that sympathetic hysteria set in.

Twenty-three students, ranging in age from 9 to 11, were taken to a hospital emergency room, but doctors quickly assured relatives that the children were all right and would be able to leave shortly.

In the midst of the confusion at Shannon West Texas Hospital, Dr. Ron Thompson emerged to offer a preliminary report on medical tests that had been conducted on the children.

"We have not been able to identify the cause for the fainting and breathing problems," he said. "I'm sure everybody just got upset at seeing everybody else get sick."

Carbon monoxide is the most common cause for the fainting and vomiting that the students experienced. But levels of the gas were not evident in blood tests conducted in the emergency room, Thompson said.

Hospital administrator Bill Richards said, "Apparently what we're looking at is hyperventilation. When one went down, the others followed. When we got them in a controlled atmosphere and quieted down, it reverses the condition."

No adults were affect, Richards said.

Richards said several of the students had gone into convulsions but all had apparently recovered.

Controversy still surrounds some use of Nativity scenes

By The Associated Press

Statues depicting the birth of Jesus have been pulled out of storage to take their place in government-sponsored holiday displays across the country, including the nation's capital, during the first Christmas season since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled them constitutional.

While some communities have chosen to play it safe with such secular images as Santa Claus in his sleigh, arguments rage on over whether a Nativity scene unfairly presents a Christian image offensive to other faiths.

In Chicago, a manger scene in City Hall was taken down over the weekend, provoking cries that Mayor Harold Washington was the "No. 1 Scrooge." The administration gave in, and the creche was to be restored today. An accompanying sign will note that no public money was involved.

The dispute has gone beyond Nativity scenes.

In Providence, R.I., the mayor's holiday message, on a billboard outside City Hall, urged residents to "Keep Christ in Christmas." After complaints, it was replaced with a billboard offering "Season's Greetings" from Mayor Joseph Paolino.

While there is little argument over Christian scenes sponsored by religious or private groups, the wise men of the legal profession keep alive the question of whether The Three Wise Men may visit the Christ child on public property with public money.

A Nativity scene appeared in a Pawtucket, R.I., park this year, thanks to the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling in March that its city-sponsored display did not violate the constitutional separation of church and state.

Churches of Christ donate to fund for Ethiopians

Two Snyder Churches of Christ have joined their counterparts throughout the United States in donating funds to Ethiopia in Africa, where thousands face the slow death of starvation.

During a special contribution Sunday, members of the 37th Street Church of Christ collected over $6,000. Just before the Thanksgiving holiday, East Side Church of Christ contributed $500 to the special fund.

The Whites Ferry Road Church of Christ in West Monroe, La. is spearheading the drive. Taped messages explaining the situation in Ethiopia and asking for donations were mailed to some 12,000 Churches of Christ. More than $2 million have already been collected.

This is the third Whites Ferry campaign. Previous beneficiaries were Poland and Ghana, $2 million each.

Whites Ferry's congregation is small--some 750 members in all.

Indict man in son's death

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A grand jury heard the testimony of an Austin woman and a short time later indicted her husband on a murder charge in connection with the Nov. 21 death of their 14-month-old son.

The grand jury also recommended Tuesday that the bail for Mark Shalda be raised from $30,000 to $50,000. The 25-year-old Shalda was arrested Nov. 11 after his son was admitted to Brackenridge Hospital. Shalda has remained in county jail since his arrest.

Carnival worker convicted in sexual attack

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — A 29-year-old man has been convicted of the Sept. 12 sexual assault of a fellow carnival employee at knifepoint when the show was in town for the annual West Texas Fair.

The jury of eight women and four men deliberated 80 minutes Tuesday before returning the guilty verdict against Roy James Estep Jr. of Bell, Calif.

State District Judge Don Lane ordered the panel to return at 9 a.m. today to set the punishment for Estep. Punishment for aggravated sexual assault is 5 to 99 years or life in prison.

Estep's testimony Tuesday was in sharp contrast to that of his victim, who had tearfully told the jury of being smashed in the face, having her nose bloodied, then forced to have oral sex with Estep before he raped her in a ditch near Byess Air Force Base outside Abilene.

Estep frequently had jurors smirking and trying to stifle laughter as he colorfully described his version of the sexual encounter, in which he claimed she was a willing participant.

He said they had just finished having sex when the woman "jumped out of the car, screaming like a banshee and started running down the road" to a passing car.

"I don't know what tripped her trigger," he said.

"I guess if I hadn't been so drunk I'd have stayed around and seen what was going on, but I'd read all the cowboy books and they always took the girl's side, so I figured I'd get my tail be off."

He added, "I left out of there like a scared pup. They no way I'm gonna get in a fight with a bunch of rowdy Texans over a girl who was stoned on drugs and half-dressed."

Evidence showed that two women let the victim into their car and took her to police headquarters while police were involved in an eight-mile chase with Estep, driving the girl's car.

Estep said he saw five or six patrol cars during the chase and "I thought maybe they had a bank robbery or something."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last winter I wrote to my son and asked him if I could come to visit him for a few days before Christmas. He told me to come and reminded me that he had a bad back and couldn't give up his bed, so he hoped I wouldn't mind sleeping on the floor in the living room. I said I wouldn't mind. (He's 42 and divorced.)

He told me he had a girlfriend who sometimes "sleeps over," so I shouldn't be surprised if she was there. As it turned out, she was. They slept in the bedroom and I made a bed for myself on the living room floor. It was very hard, but the worst part was not having any shades on the windows.

I arrived on Friday and planned to leave on a 4 p.m. plane on Sunday, but my son and his girlfriend wanted to drive somewhere to see a football game, so they dropped me at the airport at 9 a.m. where I sat for seven hours until my plane left. Oh yes, my son gave me $2 for lunch.

Do I have a right to feel hurt? And do you think I should visit my son again? I am 69 and a widow.

MOM

DEAR MOM: You have a right to feel not only "hurt," but insulted and mistreated. And if you visit him again, Mom, you should have your head examined.

DEAR READERS: If you can use a few good laughs today, try these quotes:

"Eighty percent of married men cheat in America. The rest cheat in Europe." (Jackie Mason)

"Your manuscript is both good and original. But the part that is good is not original, and the part that is original is not good." (Samuel Johnson)

"A man is incomplete until he is married. After that, he is finished." (Zsa Zsa Gabor)

"A critic is a man who knows the way, but can't drive the car." (Kenneth Tynan)

"France is a country where the money falls apart but you can't tear the toilet paper." (Billy Wilder)

The above quotes are from the book "The Other 637 Best Things Anybody Ever Said" by Robert Byrne (published by Atheneum). It's $10.95, and worth every cent.

DEAR ABBY: Even though you stated that not one penny is charged to organ donors or their families, it happened to us four years ago. Our daughter was in an automobile accident. There was no hope for her survival and we were asked to donate her organs after her death. We agreed because we wanted to help others in need, knowing our daughter could not be saved.

We received an extremely large bill from the hospital for the surgery, operating room, etc. related to removing her organs for transplant purposes. We are not wealthy people, but we paid the bill.

We were later told that we should not have been billed and were advised to sue the hospital. We did not sue because we felt if they could live with their conscience, we could live without the money. We did what we thought was right, and that's all that matters.

ANOTHER EX-DONOR
IN WEST VIRGINIA

DEAR EX-DONOR: I submit that doing what you thought was "right" is not all that matters. When you allow dishonest deeds to go unpunished, you encourage cheats to continue cheating. Even though you can live without the money, why not demand its return—and give it to charity?

Christmas tree bulb shortage imperils holiday

NEW YORK (AP) — A sudden shortage of Christmas lights has left some Americans facing the dim prospect of mere partridges, turtle doves and tinsel on their trees, say Yuletide industry observers.

From F.W. Woolworth Co. to General Electric Co., from Bangor, Maine, to Buena Vista, Calif., American bulb salesmen and consumers have been searching high and low for the traditional screw-in bulbs strung on Christmas trees indoor and out for decades.

"Its been an absolute problem," said Frank Moss of Ace Hardware Corp. in Chicago, a supplier to the retail trade. He said deliveries that should have been made back in October are just hitting the holiday shelves now.

Newer mini-bulb strings also are in short supply, he said.

In a normal year, annual shipments rarely rise more than 5 percent over the previous year, said Bud Schaller, a spokesman for General Electric Co., based in Fairfield, Conn.

But sizzling demand that seemed to come out of nowhere simply out ran 11th-hour production efforts of overseas suppliers, he said. "Our people say shipments are up 10 percent to 18 percent from last year, but demand is up 20 percent to 30 percent," Schaller said.

One bulb buyer for Cleveland, Ohio-based George Worthington Co., also a wholesaler, said the late deliveries forced him to cancel one-third of his orders because the bulbs may not arrive until after Christmas.

"Later on I don't want them," the buyer said.

Rumors abound.

—One supplier hinted at ships lost in winter storms.

—A secretary at another company said "blame the Japanese."

—Others cited black market activity to fill the demand for lights.

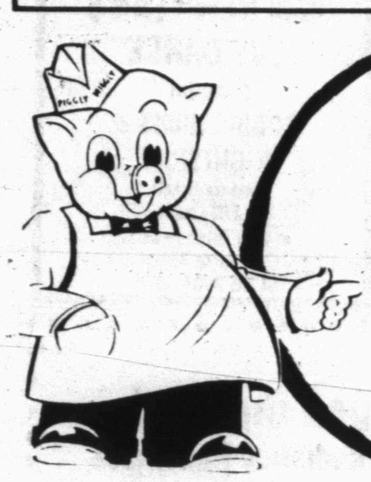

But George Levy, President of Beacon Electric Co. in Boston, said none of the above is true.

"There was no diabolical plot," said Levy, whose firm is the largest U.S. manufacturer and importer of Christmas lights. "It was a combination of circumstances."

Levy said the problem started last Christmas season as shoppers flush with cash from the economic recovery emptied stockrooms of Christmas tree bulbs.

And then came Christmas 1984.

"Demand this year was explosive" as consumer demand continued to mount and stores tried to restock their depleted supplies, said Levy.

Little things defeat Tigers in contest with Brownfield

BROWNWOOD – Any coach will tell you it's the little things in basketball that make the difference. Brownfield did them here Tuesday night. Snyder didn't. The result was a 47-43 come from behind victory for the Cubs, who handed the Tigers their eighth loss of the season.

"When you have an off shooting night like we did, the team that does the little things right is the one that's going to win," stated Snyder Coach Larry Scott, whose Tigers missed hitting the front end of four one-in-ones in the fourth quarter, among other things.

"We were only 7 of 17 from the freethrow line and from the field we were 18 of 55. We played good defense, we rebounded well, we just had an off night shooting. But we still had chances to win. We're just not doing the little things," said the coach.

For instance?

.."When we had the lead with about four or five minutes to go our offense came to a standstill nearly. Then towards the end where we had the lead and we had to hold it, we started forcing the ball," he said.

"They outhustled us on some jump balls. We'd tip it but they'd get it. Then, when we were trying to foul at the end of the game, we got two intentional (two-shot) fouls. We need to be going for the ball. They got four freethrows off of that. On one we had a freethrow violation."

Brownfield also shot 13 freethrows in the fourth quarter and hit nine of them. If all that weren't enough, Snyder started the game by being saddled with two techincals - for dunking the ball during warmups.

"These were the same problems we had in the Lubbock High and Estacado games," said Scott. "You're going to have off-nights but until you do the little things you can't expect to win. We played good enough defense and we took good shots but we've got to do the little things," he stressed again.

Snyder, now 2-8 on the season, hopes to work on those "little things" as it enters the Reese Air Force Base Tournament on Thursday. The Tigers are scheduled against Clovis, N.M. at 4 p.m.

Tuesday, Charles Bollinger scored 10 points for Snyder while Mike McWilliams hit for 9 and Trey Tippens added 8. Tippens also pulled down 8 rebounds.

James Swoops and Joe Ross both scored 16 for Brownfield.

Snyder junior varsity also lost, 73-41. Steve Parker led the Cats with 11 points.

Eagles apparently going to Phoenix

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The Philadelphia Eagles say no final decision has been made, but two Arizona officials and a U.S. senator say financially strapped Leonard Tose has agreed to move his National Football League team to Phoenix.

The move, according to the Philadelphia Inquirer and the Arizona Republic, would include Tose's sale of 25 percent of the team to Canadian businessman James Monaghan, who also has a residence in Phoenix.

"I understand Tose confirmed the deal," Eddie Lynch, chairman of the Phoneix Metropolitan Sports Foundation, said Tuesday. "My first reaction is empathy for the Philadelphia fans, and secondly, I'm elated about them coming to Phoenix."

The Inquirer quoted Michael Gallagher, chairman of the Mayor's Professional Sports Advisory Committee in Phoenix, as saying: "I'd say this move is done. I'm pleased we're going to have an NFL football team, but it's too bad that someone has to lose one for us to get one."

U.S. Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., said from his suburban Washington home Tuesday night that the move is virtually assured, adding that plans call for an announcement Monday - the day after the Eagles finish their season in Atlanta.

In response to numerous questions and several threats against Tose made by irate fans calling the Eagles' office, spokesman Ed Wisneski said: "Mr. Tose is considering a move to Phoenix, but nothing has been signed and no final decision has been made. There is nothing more I can tell you."

If the Eagles leave Philadelphia, which has hosted the NFL team for 51 years, the city would be left without a pro football team.

Ladies zip past Brownfield; open district action Friday

BROWNFIELD – Coach Ken Housden opens District 2-4A play Friday and he probably wouldn't mind if his Lady Tigers played just the way they did here Tuesday - at least for three quarters.

"We started out real slow but in the second quarter we came on and played good ball. We played pretty consistant for the next three quarters," said the coach, whose Tigers defeated Brownfield 67-47.

"I feel real well going into the game with Andrews. We've played good ball most of the time except for a few quarters. Andrews had a good ballteam and we'll need to have a good, consistant ballgame all the way through. It should be a good game," he said.

Snyder actually led the Cubs 12-10 after the first quarter here, but slapped up 21 second-period points to dominate 33-23 at halftime. A third period in which the Tigers outscored the hosts 18-5 put the game away.

Carie Housden led the Tigers in scoring and rebounding with respective figures of 19 and 10. Karlene Thompson had 13 points while Donna Anderson put up 11 points and yanked down 9 boards.

Stephanie McKnight contributed with 6 points and 10 assists. Wendy Lunsford and LeeAnn Pierce had 5 points apiece.

Snyder junior varsity also won, upping its record to 7-1 for the season. The Cats got 12 points from Deedra Tomlin in a 39-34 victory. Jill Roemisch had 11 points.

Friday's action begins at 6:30 with a junior varsity game. The varsity teams will follow. Both games will be held in the Snyder High School Gym.

Orioles pick up hitting strength

BALTIMORE (AP) - The Baltimore Orioles, continuing to break precedent following an off-season at the plate, have again opened their wallets to buy another free agent - nine-time All-Star Fred Lynn.

Lynn, to turn 33 on Feb. 3, signed a five-year contract Tuesday worth $6.8 million as Baltimore made another move trying to bolster its offense. Last week, the Orioles signed free-agent outfielder Lee Lacy to a four-year pact worth a reported $2 million.

Hank Peters, Baltimore's executive vice president, said Lynn probably would hit fifth in the lineup, but said the decision would be up to Manager Joe Altobelli.

Asked where he'd like to hit, Lynn said, "Anywhere next to (Cal) Ripken and (Eddie) Murray," the powerful 3-4 batters.

"It's obvious we're going to score some runs," said Lynn. "I would think it would be a tremendous burden on pitchers now because they can't pitch around Murray and Ripken like last year."

Lynn, an outfielder who has a career average of .295 for 10 seasons, hit .271 with 23 home runs in 1984 with the California Angels.

Peters said Lynn, a four-time Gold Glove winner, would probably play center field. The team earlier released veteran center fielder Al Bumbry, and was disappointed in the low production of his would-be successor, John Shelby.

Girardelli wins World Cup slalom

SESTRERE, Italy (AP) - Austrian-born Marc Girardelli, who competes for Luxembourg, won the men's World Cup giant slalom ski race.

Girardelli, 21, scored his second victory of the season and his eighth World Cup triumph, finishing ahead of West German Markus Wasmaier and Switzerland's Max Julen, the Olympic giant slalom champion.

Girardelli, who decided to ski for Luxembourg following disagreements with Austrian team officials, moved into second place in the overall World Cup standings, narrowing the gap from leader Pirmin Zurbriggen, who finished fifth, to only five points.

Fancy Crown is trotter of year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Fancy Crown, the fastest female trotter in history, was selected the 1984 Harness Horse of the Year by the U.S. Trotting Association.

The 3-year-old filly, who also won Trotter of the Year laurels, received 112 of 290 votes cast in the balloting by the U.S. Harness Writers' Association and the USTA. She was followed in the voting by two pacing colts, 3-year-old On The Road Again with 75 votes and 2-year-old Nihilator with 66.

On The Road Again, whose earnings of $1,751,695 established a single-season record for a harness horse in 1984, was selected Pacer of the Year.

Playoffs outlook uneasy for Giants

by The Associated Press

From all the 9,112,421 tiebreakers involved in determining which teams from the NFC East go to the playoffs, emerges a curious fact. It may not matter whether the New York Giants win or lose Saturday - their route to the playoff is the same either way.

Here's the situation.

If the Los Angeles Rams beat the San Francisco 49ers Friday night, the Giants will take the field against New Orleans Saturday knowing that all they need to do to join the Rams as an NFC wild-card team is to beat the Saints.

However.

If the Rams lose, it doesn't matter what the Giants do.

For if they beat the Saints, they still have to depend on Washington to beat St. Louis and Miami to beat Dallas to get a wild-card spot - that would make them 10-6 while Dallas and St. Louis would be 9-7.

If they lose to the Saints, they would make the playoffs if ... you guessed it, Washington beats St. Louis and Miami beats Dallas. That would make the Giants, Cards and Cowboys all 9-7, and the tiebreaker would be the results of the games against each other in which the Giants are 3-1, the Cards 2-2 and the Cowboys 1-3.

"I don't figure that stuff," says Coach Bill Parcells. "It's an exercise in futility."

Reserve linebacker Robbie Jones has a better idea.

"I have the solution," he says. "We join the AFC Central."

Players of week

NEW YORK (AP) - Wide receiver Henry Marshall of the Kansas City Chiefs and rookie defensive back Russell Carter of the New York Jets were named the American Football Conference's players of the week.

Slain Americans are flown home

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the bodies of two Americans slain during the hijacking of a Kuwaiti jetliner were returned to the United States today, Vice President George Bush called for "patient but certain justice" against the killers.

The bodies of Charles F. Hegna and William L. Stanford, both employees of the U.S. Agency for International Development, were flown to Andrews Air Force Base aboard a C-141 aircraft from Frankfurt, West Germany.

With family members of the two victims standing by, Bush said, "We shall know their murderers with the long memories of those who believe in patient but certain justice.

"Wanton murder of the innocent is terrorism that no amount of incantation can disguise."

The flag-draped caskets bearing the two bodies were carried from the aircraft by eight military pallbearers and placed in white hearses. Burial will be at Arlington National Cemetery.

Hegna and Stanford each were the fathers of four children. Many relatives of both victims were present for the ceremony at the base, including Hegna's widow, Edwina, who wept during the proceedings. An AID official said Stanford's widow was returning to the United States from Pakistan.

Hegna and Stanford were returning to their post in Karachi, after completing an audit in Yemen, when the four hijackers forced the Kuwaiti jet on which they were flying to land in Tehran.

Mongolia

One of the world's oldest countries, Mongolia reached the zenith of its power in the 13th century when Ghenghis Khan and his successors conquered all of China and extended their influence as far west as Hungary and Poland. In later years the empire dissolved and Mongolia came under the suzerainty of China.

Panicked people flee city

BHOPAL, India (AP) — Fearing a new leak of the poison gas that killed more than 2,000 people, residents lined up at bus and train stations and fled the city in record numbers today, despite broadcast assurances there was no danger, officials said.

Meanwhile at Hamidia, the city's main hospital, a spokesman said he had received a letter of regret from a city council member whose alleged assault on a senior doctor prompted almost 900 junior doctors and interns to walk out Tuesday.

"The striking doctors will be ordered to return immediately," said the spokesman. He said the hospital was treating all emergency patients.

The number of people leaving Bhopal increased to four times normal following reports that authorities planned to neutralize the methyl isocynate gas remaining in a Union Carbide pesticide plant and rumors that area near the plant would be evacuated, rail and bus officials said.

Many people panicked after nearly 200 government buses, rumored to be for an emergency evacuation, arrived in the central Indian city of 900,000 people. There was no explanation for the presence of the buses.

Long lines waited today at the railroad station and the main bus terminal. All buses and trains leaving the city carried record numbers of passengers, railway authorities said.

City officials announced that schools would be closed through Dec. 23. They gave no reason for the closure.

Police used loudspeakers to reassure residents of the worst-affected areas of the city. Arjun Singh, chief minister of Madhya Pradesh state, went on state television and radio Tuesday night in an effort to calm Bhopal residents.

"There is no cause for panic and I repeat there is no reason to evacuate the city," he said. He did not explain the buses.

Singh said residents will be given three days notice before scientists neutralize the remaining gas, and that he would stay at the U.S.-built plant during the disposal process.

Singh said that Indian scientists and a five-member Union Carbide technical team were studying "a zero-risk method of neutralizing the gas." The scientists reportedly decided to neutralize the gas with chemicals.

Union Carbide had suggested the gas be processed into pesticides, but the state government is opposed to the plant restarting production even temporarily.

Many citizens said the operation to render the remaining gas harmless carried the risk of another leak, and that state authorities were not taking the people into their confidence.

Sammie Robertson Jr. earns Doherty Award

COLLEGE STATION--Sammie Dayton Robertson, Jr., who served as commander of the Texas A&M University Aggie band in 1983-84, has been presented the prestigious Doherty Award by the Corps of Cadets.

Robertson, a native of Snyder, received a bachelor's degree in civil engineering during weekend commencement ceremonies and will report to the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers Training School at Fort Belvoir, Va. in January.

The Doherty Award is presented each semester to the top cadet receiving a military commission who is recognized by the university as a valued and outstanding student leader.

The award was established in 1971 in honor of the late W. T. Doherty of Houston.

In addition to his participation in the Aggie Band, Robertson is a member of the Ormond R. Simpson Honor Society and a past member of the Ross Volunteers, the ceremonial honor company of the Texas A&M Corps of Cadets.

Robertson's academic achievement have earned him membership to the Society of American Military Engineers and Tau Beta Pi, the National Engineering Honor Society. He was twice named to the Dean's List and was named Distinguished Student five semesters.

Last May, Robertson was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Robertson Sr. of Snyder.

Obituaries

Fred Lowery

JACKSONVILLE, Tex.--Services for Fred Lowery, 75, world-acclaimed as "king of the whistlers" for much of this century, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in Jacksonville. A surviving son, Fred. Jr., will deliver a eulogy and several of the hymns from Lowery's "Whistling in Heaven" album which will be played.

Lowery died in his sleep Tuesday night in his home.

Lowery, almost totally blind for some 70 years, made thousands of whistling tours throughout the United States and several other countries, and his performances numbered in the tens of thousands.

His last tour was in October, 1983 when the Diamond M Foundation sponsored him in some 15 concerts in Scurry County schools, churches, the Senior Center, Snyder Oaks Care Center, Western Texas College and for the White Buffalo Days "Whirlagig."

He got his start in the entertainment world on Dallas Radio Station WFAA's "Early Birds." He whistled for several world-famous bands during the "big band" era. Lowery also whistled in several movies, including the late John Wayne's "The High and the Mighty."

His book, "Whistling in the Dark," was highly acclaimed when it was published some two years ago.

During the last 25 years, his wife, Grace, has driven him to engagements throughout the nation in motor homes. They wore out six of the motor homes--each having been driven more than 300,000 miles.

"I don't know of any man who has provided more sincere, wholesome entertainment for so many people for so long a time," observed WTC President Dr. Don Newbury, a longtime friend of the Lowerys. "And when it is considered that they traveled throughout the world, including almost two million miles in a motor home without a single accident, one has to believe in guardian angels."

Hinshaw's wins Golden Circle recognition

Florists' Transworld Delivery, the world-wide association of florists, has announced that Hinshaw's Flowers has become an honored member of the FTD Golden Circle. The Golden Circle is a recognition program designed to honor and reward the efforts of both the top selling and fastest growing FTD Member florists.

Hinshaw's is among those singled out by FTD from over 21,000 member florists throughout the United States and Canada eligible to participate in the program. Membership means the local company is entitled to an array of Golden Circle awards, special educational programs and other incentive rewards.

In accepting the honor, Hershel Hinshaw, owner, said, "I'm proud of the award, and I want to thank my customers for thinking of us when it comes to sending flowers the FTD way. And thank my employees, too, for the care they take to make sure the order is right. That's what keeps the customers coming back and that's what has made our FTD business grow."

Founded in 1910, FTD is the world's oldest and largest professional inter-city, flowers-by-wire delivery organization.

Postal rates will increase mendations were based on having each category of mail pay its own way. Those recommendations have generated controversy between bulk mailing firms and newspaper publishers, with the publishers claiming they pay too much in relation to the advertising mail.

The postal service no longer receives subsidies from the federal government for its operations, although it does receive some money to compensate for special low rates offered to non-profit charities and some local newspapers. Those are considered subsidies for the papers and charities, however, not the postal service iself.

Tapes stolen from vehicle

Police are now investigating a theft of cassette tapes from a vehicle parked at a local restaurant Tuesday evening.

According to reports, the incident was reported by Ricky Grimes of Rt. 2, Snyder at 9:10 p.m.. He told investigators that someone had stolen tapes and a tape case valued at $145 from his van.

The theft is thought to have occurred while the Grimes vehicle was parked at the Pizza Hut in the 3900 Block of College Ave. prior to 9 p.m.

City police also arrested two juvenile males, one 14 and the other 13 years of age, on charges of fleeing to elude an officer shortly after 1:30 p.m.

Police began looking for the youth around noon Tuesday after junior high administrators had reported them as truants.

Both were turned over to county juvenile authorities and later released.

In other routine action, city police jailed three local men Tuesday night — one for DWI, one for driving with a suspended license and one for public intoxication.

School agenda brief Tuesday by the State Board of Education.

Students throughout Texas are now limited to 10 school-related absences during any semester, not to exceed 10 for the entire school year.

As for excused absences, a student is generally required to be in class a minimum of 20 days during the regular six-week reporting period, a guideline which may be waived by a campus principal.

Regarding the mineral lease, one bid was received, submitted by Newmont Oil Company. It will equal $500 per year.

Newmont initially contacted the district requesting the lease. To comply with the law, the district had to advertise for other bids, a process now completed.

The bid was for $50 per acre for a lease term of three years.

Tuesday, the board also formally approved the hiring of Sheila Land as the new secretary for the school's athletic director.

All board members were in attendance Tuesday to include J.D. Hinton, board president, and Trustees Mike Reed, J.M. (Mule) Kayser, G.A. Parks Jr., Allen Grimmett, Lillie Sullivan and Leslie Butler.

Out of state trucker hurt

A Louisiana truck driver reportedly sustained minor injuries in a two-vehicle traffic accident early Tuesday morning in the 2200 Block of 25th St.

According to reports, Danny Loftin of Choudant, La. sustained minor injuries when the 1978 White tractor-trailer rig he was driving was in collision with a 1967 Cadillac driven by Debbie Jean McQuerry of Rt. 2, Snyder. The mishap occurred around 7:33 a.m.

Loftin reportedly refused medical treatment for his injuries.

Does not expect big breakthrough

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz, who arrived in Brussels today to meet with NATO foreign ministers, said he does not expect "any big breakthrough" during meetings next month with Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister.

However, Shultz said, "These meetings are going forward and they represent opportunities for progress and we welcome that.

"We approach these without expecting any big breakthrough, but we certainly are going to approach them with a sense of optimism," he said. Shultz said earlier that the Jan. 7-8 arms control talks with Gromyko will be the dominant issue during the annual NATO meeting.

Houston hearing draws comments

primary purpose in asking for the street extension was to relieve traffic congestion on existing streets, he proposed that all of these developments will further increase traffic through Towle Park and along 37th, 32nd and 42nd Streets.

In opposition to the plan, Loraine Haines, who lives in the 4000 Block of Houston Ave., spoke first.

She told the group that "Houston Ave. is a race track right now," noting she could see no benefit from the project for those people living along the street.

She cited the potential for high speed traffic along the extended street and truck traffic through the area and the resulting hazard to children playing in the neighborhood.

Wayne Bethel — who resides in an area outside the city limits along the proposed route of the southern leg of the extension — asked highway department personnel for exact figures regarding how much traffic through the park would be relieved.

Ed Vernon, resident engineer for the local office, told Bethel that actual traffic counts for Towle Park Road had been made but the figures for those were not available Tuesday.

He did cite studies of College Ave. traffic patterns which show 7,000 vehicles per day now entering College Ave. between the Cogdell Boulevard intersection in far south Snyder and the intersection of College and 37th St. to the north.

Vernon cited a computer projection for potential Houston Parkway traffic which included data on actual Towle Park traffic.

That projection anticipates 2,500 vehicles per day could be expected on the new street when completed in 1987 with total Houston Parkway traffic rising to 4,500 vehicles per day within 10 years.

Others offering comments Tuesday in opposition to the project included Annette Blum Mulkey — who donated land for the street right-of-way just south of the city limits — along with Bill Gallaway, John Best, Sherry Kidd and A.E. Sturdivant.

All of those speaking in opposition — with the exception of Mulkey and Best — are residents of the immediate Houston Ave. area. They each cited fears of increased high speed traffic through the residential and school areas as a hazard to children.

Mulkey, a Snyder native who no longer resides here, told the group that she made a "foolish decision" in donating the right-of-way to the city and would withdraw the donation if it were legally possible.

Speaking in favor of the project were John Jarrell — representing the Chamber of Commerce — Howard Robinson and former City Councilman Don Gressett.

Robinson told the group that he favored the project for improved access to the area for emergency vehicles. Gressett expressed the opinion that the project would be of benefit to the entire city and noted that in his experience in city government, the interests of a small group in a small area often have to be sacrificed for the good of the community at large.

All of the comments at Tuesday's session were tape recorded by highway department personnel. Transcripts of the proceedings will be forwarded to Austin for consideration.

Written comments regarding the project are solicited also. Any of these received within the next 10 days will be forwarded to Austin.

If approval of the project is granted in Austin, the hearing transcripts and comments will then be sent to the Federal Department of Highways for consideration.

Those in attendance Tuesday were told it would likely be at least 60 days before the outcome of the hearing reviews is known.
