April 5 Busy Day For Aransas County Voters

By Pat Blair

Voters in Aransas County are in for a busy day on Saturday, April 5, with two city elections, a school board election and an election for two directors of the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District.

Absentee balloting for all these elections will end

Tuesday, April 1.

Voters in Rockport will go to the polls to elect a mayor and two aldermen. Incumbent Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. is running unopposed for re-election. All city voters cast ballots for the mayor's post.

In addition, voters in Ward 1 will vote on an alderman to the seat presently held by E.D. (Dan) Ward who is seeking re-election. He is opposed by Peter W. Lazidis.

Voters in Ward 2 also will vote on one alderman, with the choice between incumbent Jerry Martin Shaw, seeking re-election, and opponent Henry Bent.

Voters in Ward 1 -- south of Laurel Street -- will cast their ballots at Rockport's City Hall. Voters in Ward 2 -- north of Laurel -- vote at Rockport Elementary School.

Residents of Fulton will (See VOTERS, page 7)

Rev. Deane

New Pastor At Sacred Heart

Reverend Gregory Deane, who has been pastor of Immaculate Conception parish in Goliad, was recently appointed pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Rockport.

His first day at the church was Thursday, March 27.

Father Deane was born in 1929 in County Donegal, Ireland. He was educated at St. Peter's College in Wexford, where he was ordained in 1954.

He has served as assistant pastor of Sacred Heart in Mathis, chaplain of St. Joseph's Academy in Brownsville, assistant pastor of Christ the King in Corpus Christi and pastor of St. Therese in Woodboro.

Dedication Of John Wood Courthouse Next Week

The United States District Courthouse in San Antonio will be renamed Monday, April 7, in honor of John H. Wood Jr., Rockport native and U.S. district judge in San Antonio for eight years.

Aransas County residents are invited to the ceremonies set for 2 p.m. in the rotunda of the courthouse at 655 East Durango, San Antonio.

Chief Judge William S. Sessions of the Western District of Texas and U.S. District Judge Adrian A. Spears will preside over the ceremonies.

Also participating in the ceremony will be U.S. Senator John Tower and Congressman Tom Loeffler who introduced the legislation for renaming the building to the 96th U.S. Congress. Mrs. Wood, family members, U.S. District and Federal judges, state and city officials and Federal officials from Washington D.C. are expected to attend the ceremony.

Ann Doughty, Regional Administrator of the General Services

Administration, will unveil a special bronze plaque at the ceremony. The plaque will later be installed in the rotunda of the Courthouse.

Born in Rockport in 1916, Judge Wood practiced law in San Antonio for 30 years before being named by President Richard M. Nixon as a federal judge.

He was responsible for all or part of the criminal and civil dockets in the San Antonio, El Paso, Del Rio, Midland/Odessa and Pecos Divisions of the Western District of Texas.

Lyman-Roberts Proceeds With Plans For New Area Hospital

By Pat Blair

With or without support from the South Texas Health Systems Agency,

Lyman-Roberts Hospital will pursue plans for a larger facility — but the hospital will try to get Agency support, says Administrator Ben Pate. Pate is planning to be in Kingsville on April 19 when the STHSA meets to take final action on a proposed moratorium that would mean no new hospital beds in a four-county area — including Aransas, San Patricio and Nueces — for the next five years.

Pate was among a group of Aransas Pass and Rockport area residents who attended a hearing in Corpus Christi March 19 on the proposed moratorium.

On March 21, he mailed to the Health Systems Agency a packet of letters and petitions signed by more than 300 area residents. (See HOSPITAL, page 7)

County Foster Rates Increased

By Beverly Wilken

The Commissioners Court voted to increase the foster care rates for Aransas County in their regular meeting, Wednesday, March 26 at 9 a.m.

Ms. Dixie Camp, Supervisor of the Foster Care Program for Aransas And San Patricio Counties, requested the present rate of $4 per day, per child for all age groups, be increased to $6 per day for each child up to nine years of age, and $7 per day for each child 10 to 17 years of age.

Until January, Aransas County had one child placed in a foster home, but now the county has no children placed.

"We expect the number of children placed with foster parents to decrease," said Ms. Camp. "Our goal is to keep families together."

Ms. Camp said the rates presented to the Commissioners Court during the meeting were the same rates adopted by the State of Texas on January 1.

In further business, the court voted not to accept bids for the purchase of the two garages located behind the Family Planning Building at 317 North Church Street in Rockport. Judge John Wendell said a bid of $100 each had been made. The two (See COUNTY, page 7)

Notable Notes

Easter Sunrise Service

The Minister's Association will sponsor an Easter Sunrise Service on April 6. The public is invited to share in this experience at 6 a.m. at the Navigation District parking lot. Please bring your lawn chairs for seating and experience reminds us to wear a sweater or jacket for warmth.

Easter Cantata

The Chancel Choir of the First United Methodist Church will perform an Easter Cantata, "Behold Your King," by John Peterson this Sunday, March 30. Performances will be at the 9:30 service and at the 10:50 service.

Joint Communion

The congregations of the First United Methodist Church and the First Presbyterian Church will worship together on April 3 at 7:30 p.m. as they celebrate The Lord's Supper. The service will be at the First United Methodist Church. Pastors Boyd Harris and John Bradshaw will administer the sacraments. The chancel choir of First United Methodist Church will sing. All members of both congregations and friends are urged to attend.

Census Questionnaires To Arrive This Week

By Pat Blair

Aransas County residents should be receiving Census Questionnaires in the mail sometime within the next day or two.

Tuesday, April 1, is officially Census Day across the nation -- the 20th census in the nation's history since the biennial count began under President Thomas Jefferson in 1790.

Questionnaires -- mailed out Friday, March 28 -- will be delivered in large white envelopes with blue lettering, distinguished by the 1980 census symbol.

Each questionnaire will be accompanied by a yellow instruction guide to help fill out the form and a brown, prepaid and addressed envelope for returning the form.

Immediately below the address on each census form, there will be a telephone number to call if help or additional information is needed in filling out the questionnaire.

Shrimp Landings Down In Area For February

Shrimp landings in the Aransas Pass-Rockport-Fulton areas were in keeping with the rest of the state in February -- the lowest February landings on record for the Texas shrimp fishery.

Shrimpers in this area brought in 274,700 pounds during the month, a total of 765,800 pounds landed for the year to date.

This put the Aransas Pass-Rockport-Fulton area well ahead of other areas in the state for the total pounds landed so far -- but it was a significant decrease from the 993,900 pounds of shrimp landed in the area last year.

Total shrimp landings in Texas came to 757,400 pounds for February -- at a value of $3.1 million -- and 2.3 million pounds landed for the year to date. Total landings for January and February of 1979 amounted to some 2,737,200 pounds.

Shrimp landings in Texas for the first two months of 1980 were down only 16 per cent from the landings for

THIS WAS NO PLAYGROUND

David Patterson was driving his father, Archibald Patterson, to Corpus to visit David's mother in hospital. This was on Thursday morning, March 27. About a mile past Live Oak Elementary School, on FM 881, he passed a Parks and Wildlife Department truck and started to pass a trailer truck. The trailer, driven by Robert Hooks of Macon, Georgia, was loaded with playground equipment, which Robert sells. Apparently, David Patterson didn't notice that the trailer truck was slowing for a left turn and he hit it on the left rear bumper. The car was mashed up pretty badly and Archibald Patterson apparently suffered damage to his ribs. He was taken by paramedics to the same hospital where his wife is staying. Hopefully, he only needed a check-up. David Patterson received a citation from the DPS. [Pilot Photo by Eddie Bradley]

Speaking Out

Are you in favor of people losing their driving privileges if they are convicted of Driving While Intoxicated? Why?

Lyle Johnson, Copano Cove

No. That would be stupid. Everybody in the county would lose their driver's license and they'd have to get a horse. If they don't want anybody to drink, why don't they close the bars and liquor stores?

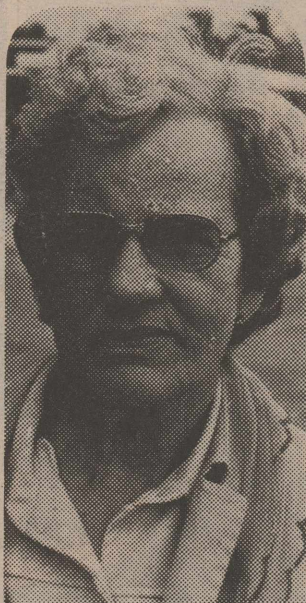

Pierce Cheek, Highway 35 N

Not on the first offense.

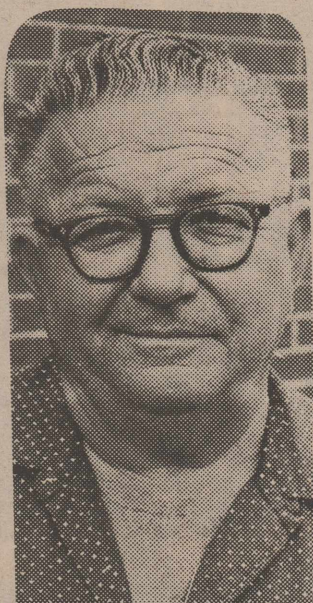

John Payne, Santa Barbara, California

Yes. What people want to do with their own bodies is their own business, but this is a habit that's killing other people.

Dorothy Leslie, Winding Way Lane

Yes. They are liable to do it again and kill somebody next time.

Carl Crickenberger, Copano Cove

Yes I am. The injury and fatality record of drunken drivers speaks for itself.

Marty Smallwood, Sweetbay Street

Yes. A lot of people have been hurt or killed due to someone driving while intoxicated.

Shirley Anders, Portia Lane

I don't know. Nobody should drive while they are intoxicated.

Hazel Parke, Lamar

Well, I think so, because they are a hazard to the general public. This should be for a specific period of time.

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Governments

When tax dollars can be saved painlessly, we should take advantage of the opportunity.

Such an opportunity is the Census. What a huge undertaking this is.

If enumerators have to be sent to a large number of homes, the cost is going to be great. If each of us fills out the questionnaire received and mails it back, there can be fewer enumerators hired for a shorter period of time, with the obvious savings.

District supervisors are expecting to have to keep hiring up to July. They think so many of the temporary employees will leave in the middle of the job that they will have to be replaced, and that it will take at least three months to catch up with those who neglect or deliberately fail to mail back questionnaires. Hopefully, their expectations will be proved inaccurate.

Everything is being done to make it easy for each individual to fill out the questionnaire. On the face of the questionnaire is a toll-free number. You can call this to ask questions about anything you do not understand.

There is also a notation on the face in Spanish, explaining that if you call the toll free number or mail the form back in with a specific box checked, a questionnaire will be mailed out in Spanish for those who can't speak English.

In the same envelope with the questionnaire are two things. One is a sample of a questionnaire which has been filled out, which shows how to do it. Another is an information sheet with details of what to do.

The community service specialist has met with numerous groups in each community, instructed them on the filling out of forms, and prepared them to help others. So you can go to a senior center in your community and find someone who can help you. You can go to a Community Action Agency neighborhood center. And there are others about which you can learn locally.

Supervisors are hoping that 90 percent of the questionnaires will be mailed back without the additional expense of searching for members of a family. Perhaps we can improve on that.

Take the responsibility on yourself to seek out a questionnaire if you are not at your permanent address.

Enumerators working in a "special places" program will go to motels, hospitals, labor camps, and other places where travelers and transients are staying.

They will leave questionnaires there so they will not be difficult for you to obtain. On the back of each is a square in which you write your permanent address if you are away from it. You have to fill this in if your community is to get to count you and receive the benefits that a full count means.

The census takers must use every means to count you. If you do not or will not respond, they will try time and again to reach you. If they cannot, as a last resort, they will go to your neighbors and get as much information as they can about the size of your family and the answers to other questions.

When the preliminary count is in, local governments will have the opportunity through the COG to check the figures and point out any inaccuracy they believe is to be found there.

This will be done while the district offices are still manned, so that if necessary, enumerators can return and double check.

All this costs tax money that can be saved if questionnaires are quickly returned and the count is as accurate as possible the first time around.

The Speaker Reports

By Bill Clayton

AUSTIN — Flooding is a massive problem which affects all Texans. Many Texans have been forced to rebuild their material assets time and time again because of flood devastation.

In this age of modern technology, all Texans should be able to live in any city, without fear of losing their homes and automobiles to flood waters. To help achieve this goal, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and I have appointed a Regional Citizens Task Force on Flooding which has already begun its work.

The committee, chaired by Senator Gene Jones and Rep. Bill Caraway of Houston, is composed of 31 elected officials, civic leaders, private citizens and drainage experts from Harris, Galveston, Brazoria, Fort Bend and Montgomery counties. Its purpose is to examine the flooding problems in Houston in hopes of finding solutions of benefit to the entire State of Texas.

The possibility of creating a single regional flood authority for these five counties has been widely discussed. If accepted by the committee and the 67th Texas Legislature, this authority would have the necessary jurisdiction to coordinate a flood abatement program in Houston.

Creating a regional flood authority may prove to be a viable solution to Houston's flooding problems. Many believe that it would solidify the numerous agencies which currently have various responsibilities in the area of flooding control.

However, flooding is a serious and complex problem which cannot be dealt with overnight. No simple solutions exist for Houston or Kerrville or any other town in Texas where flooding is a chronic problem.

Yet it is my sincere hope that all Texans will soon be freed from the worry of flooding and I feel confident that the progress being made by the Regional Citizens Task Force will shed some new light on this age-old problem.

Washington Report

By U.S. Representative
Joe Wyatt

The United States Army is still the most powerful in the world. Our weapons are the most advanced and our tactical skills are the best.

But no matter how much we spend, no matter how sophisticated we become, and no matter how good our military academies are, we still need basic manpower to have an effective armed force.

A very disturbing fact is that our armed forces are short of that basic need—manpower. The active Army alone is about 70,000 people short of what it needs as fully manned. In Army terms that's about four divisions worth of troops.

Based on this, and other facts, I believe we should increase our military preparedness by initiating a registration of young men eligible for the draft.

I don't believe we need to begin drafting at this time but our preparedness must be increased over its present state.

First, I would like to give you some idea of the specifics of our manpower shortages. Total active forces are about 80,000 people short of wartime needs—this does not necessarily mean that we should be on a wartime footing, but that if it became necessary, in an emergency, we would exhaust all our current potential and still be 80,000 short—reserves and national guard are 180,000 short and the individual ready reserve is critically short of skilled personnel, such as doctors and aviators.

For the first time since the all-volunteer force began, the Air Force did not meet its recruitment quotas in Fiscal year 1979, and all the services combined came up 23,000 short of their initial recruitment goals.

What I believe registration would do, first and foremost, would be to increase the preparedness of this nation's armed forces.

It is estimated right now that it takes seven months to identify, enlist and train troops for combat in times of emergency.

Getting the step of merely registering the names and addresses of eligible young men could reduce this time by two months.

Time, of course, is most important during a military emergency. Saving two months now could be a decisive factor in averting a full-scale war, or averting a disaster later.

Another benefit from again registering young men, I believe, will be to alert many who had not previously thought of the military as a career to that possibility.

The armed forces fell victim to a lot of bad perceptions with America's young people during the Vietnam war era, and because of this many people today do not think of the military as a worthwhile career.

Registration might do more to remind them that the military does offer good careers and good benefits to those who are interested.

This brings me to another point which I feel is very important. Legislative measures should be taken to increase the incentives for young people to want to join the military, and then stay once they get there.

Too often, people enlist, learn a skill, and then find out they can do better for themselves with that skill on the outside.

Like any company, the armed services should be able to offer incentives to keep from losing the best people.

I need to emphasize that I do not favor resumption of the draft now. I simply favor this country increasing its readiness.

A draft, in which people are brought into the Army for two years, trained and then let go, is probably not the best thing to do right now.

The Army has found that it is very inefficient to constantly train and retrain men who will only be lost after two years anyway.

Many military people say the thing they need to do is convince more people to make the commitment to join the reserves, where their lives won't be disrupted by military service, but their skills won't be lost to the military either.

Much has been made, lately, of the administration's plan to register women for the draft. I do not favor this plan.

As it stands right now, all the young men in the country are not needed by the military, women are volunteering in sufficient numbers to handle the duties they perform in the military and expanding the registration process the include women is thought by many in the military an unnecessary step.

It is estimated that the registration of women would cost an additional $8 million—for a step the Army doesn't deem necessary.

With tensions in the world rising so rapidly, this country cannot afford to doze off and let our armed forces slip.

Whether one plan or other is chosen to boost our manpower deficiencies is not as important as making sure those deficiencies are remedied.

Andra Street and John Street from San Antonio are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. B.F. Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Greiner from Blairsville, Iowa, are visiting our area and staying at the Holiday Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds from Selkirk, Ontario, Canada, have been vacationing here for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. David Robinson from Dallas picked our town to honeymoon in. David's parents have been "Winter Visitors" for several years in this local.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas from Grand Maitais, Minnesota, have made their annual trip, again, to Rockport.

Post 49 Scout Troop had a question-and-answer program on Law Enforcement. Jim Pridgen was the speaker to the 42 Post members and advisors. Pete Ramirez Jr. was the leader.

Post 49 also had a basketball tournament with the "courageous" Rockport-Fulton Volunteer Fire Department. The score was 47-44 in the Explorers' favor. The game was held in the Rockport High School Gym.

Lorena and Don Meyer from Wayland, Iowa, are in town for a month and staying at Taylor Oak Trailer Park.

Remodeling is taking place at Wagley Lumber Co. with 4,000 square feet for a display area. True-Value Hardware will soon move into that space to combine both operations into a complete home center for a "one-stop shopping convenience."

POPE DIES

Pope John Paul I died on Sept. 29, 1978, after a reign of only 34 days.

By Eddie Bradley

One of the most fascinating pieces of literature, and one that has remained very popular down through the years, is the catalog.

Folks down home used to wait with eager anticipation for their "Monkey Ward book" to get there.

Nowadays, we have more catalogs than you can shake a credit card at, and they just keep coming.

Some of the most interesting to me are those small ones from which you can order those exotic little items that can't be found anywhere else.

For instance, you can get a set of finger hooks, each one looks just like a beckoning index finger, to hang on your kitchen wall. Exactly what we'd all like to face early every morning, our coffee cups hanging from a group of disembodied fingers.

Another item that would be great around the house is a flyshooter, which you use to shoot...flies. It is a spring-loaded affair and hurls a missile at the insects to swat them in mid-flight. It even has an attached string so you can bring the weapon back without getting out of the hammock!

Then there is the electric clock that shifts ball bearings from the bottom of a transparent box to the top, to let you know what time it is. It's real neat. This little arm picks up one bearing a minute and lifts it to the correct spot to mark the time. I have some friends who own one and they say the only problem is that, at one in the morning, all the little steel balls fall to the bottom at one time.

Miniatures are really big right now - if you get my drift. You can get everything from the finest china to the kitchen sink in miniature form. One of my favorites is a gen-u-ine two-seater out-house! It is six inches high and has authentic half-moon

MIDDLETON ELECTED
On Oct. 2, 1774, Henry Middleton of South Carolina was elected president of the first Continental Congress.

That's Just What We Need.... What Is It?

cutouts. It doesn't say whether or not it comes equipped with a tiny little catalog.

For the diet conscious, there is a gadget that you can mount in the pantry or refrigerator. Basically, it is a little tape recorder which plays insulting messages to you about your weight every time you open the door. The only thing that strikes me as more revolting than that would be a rig that would let you send yourself an phone call!

Which brings us to a really practical device. It is a little hand-held sign that you carry in your car. The message of the sign can be changed with a flip of the thumb in order to get the appropriate idea you have in mind over to the other motorist. Of course if the other person has one too, and the verbal battle heats up, you could wear out a thumb, not to mention a fender, before it was over.

Speaking of reading, I will list this next item without any comment whatsoever, knowing that there is no way I could come out ahead. It is a book entitled, "Sex After Sixty," and comes in EXTRA LARGE PRINT.

Perhaps the one item which best typifies our society and is probably the greatest invention since the telephone, is the one that prevents you from hearing the telephone ring. That's right. You attach it to your phone and use the On-Off switch whenever you want to stop that ringing in your ears!

I wonder if that thing comes with just an Off switch.

Dr. Lutz is a specialist in small and exotic animal practice, with 25 years experience as a private practitioner. He is a former instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Texas A&M Veterinary School.

WHAT I HAVE ALWAYS WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT MY PET BUT WAS AFRAID TO ASK:
Dear Dr. Lutz:

For the past several weeks, my dog has been having an occasional running fit. What can I do about this?—Frank
Dear Frank:

Running fits in dogs are a symptom complex and not a specific disease. Many conditions can cause fits. A differential diagnosis is important. Your veterinarian needs to examine your dog immediately. He will obtain a detailed history from you; also he will run a microscopic examination of the bowel action to eliminate the possibility of a parasitic infestation.

If he finds the condition is nutritional in nature, he will correct it through proper changes in the diet.

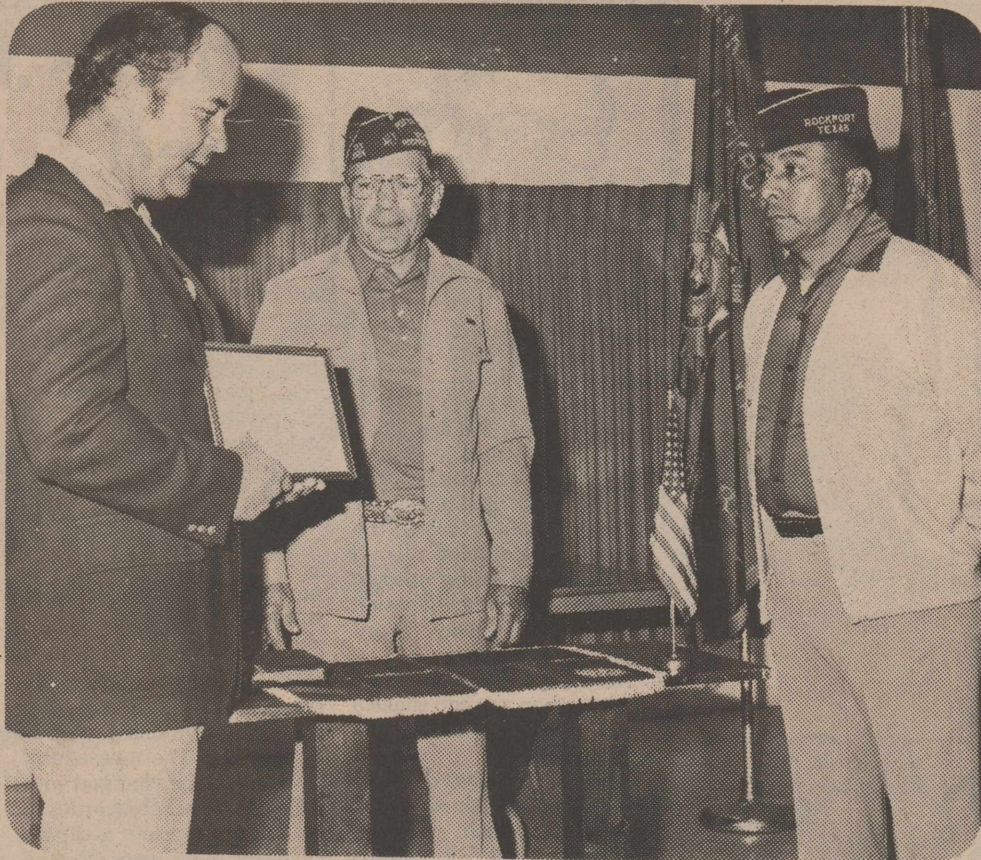

Dear Dr. Lutz:

I have finally gotten my puppy trained to use a newspaper in the house. Now I want to train him to use the yard. Do you have any suggestions?—Hilda
Dear Hilda:

Place the newspaper he last used as his bathroom in the part of the yard you want the dog to use.

Anchor the paper down with bricks or rocks. After feeding the dog, take him outside and set him down on the soiled newspaper. Repeat this time after time. Within a week, your dog will know this is his commode.

If you have a question about the care and/or feeding of your pet, write Dr. Lutz, "Pet Talks," in care of the Rockport Pilot, 1002 Wharf Street, Rockport, TX 78382. Dr. Lutz will answer your questions in the Pilot Weekender. And watch for Dr. Lutz's informative "Pet Talks" column in the Pilot midweek edition too!

Sheriff's Report

Wayne Morris of Peninsula Oaks reported theft of the pump from a septic tank, valued at $300, from his residence some time between 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. March 21.

Morris reported the theft Tuesday, March 25.

Frank Shumate reported theft of a pistol, a machine gun, a computer and a stereo system from his boat while it was docked in the Key Allegro Marina.

Theft occurred some time between Friday, March 21, and Monday, March 24, after someone broke into the front hatch of the boat.

No value of the missing items was given, but damage to the boat was estimated at about $1,000.

Debra Mae Krayecki, 15, was reported as a possible runaway by Aymond Daniel Krayecki of Wind Swept Oaks.

The report was made Monday, March 24.

Frank Hoalock of 24 Bimini, Key Allegro, reported damage to a door panel at his residence between 2 a.m. and 9 a.m. Sunday, March 23.

The glass of the door panel was reported shattered. Deputies theorized that they could have been shattered by a person or by natural causes resulting from the house settling and causing pressure on the door frame.

James Gillis of 816 Pine reported someone caused extensive damage to his yard sometime between 11:30 p.m. Saturday, March 22, and 7 a.m. Sunday, March 23.

Gillis reported many shrubs had been uprooted, tree limbs broken, firewood scattered over the yard and "some substance" smeared over both of his vehicles. Damage to trees and shrubs was estimated at about $300.

Cliff Antrim of Austin reported theft of his motorcycle from a private dock in Cove Harbor sometime between 2:30 p.m. and 4 a.m. Sunday, March 23.

Value of the motorcycle was estimated at $1,400.

Debbie Lynn White reported theft of her car on Highway 35 North by two men on Saturday, March 22.

Ms. White said she was driving toward Rockport and was in the area of Holiday Beach when her car began sparking.

She said two men drove up and offered to help. One of them got into her car and drove off.

The theft occurred about 7 p.m. Saturday, March 22.

Rockport Man Honored For Distinguished Service

Allen F. Rhodes of Rockport has received the American National Standards Institute Inc. Howard Coonley Medal for distinguished service to voluntary standardization.

Rhodes is executive vice president and chief operating officer of Goldrus Marine Drilling Company.

He was one of five men honored in an Awards Banquet held by the ANSI on March 18 at the International Inn, Washington D.C.

The Howard Coonley Medal was presented to Rhodes for his service to the national economy through voluntary standardization and his support to standardization as a management tool.

Rhodes was recognized for his high level of leadership and support to voluntary standards and engineering organizations.

He was also cited for his outstanding achievements in promoting government/private sector cooperation on standardization.

He has served as a vice-president of ANSI and president of The American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

As chairman of a Department of Transportation committee, he enlisted the cooperation of industry and government to meet critical standards needs for gas pipeline safety.

The American National Standards Institute is a private, nonprofit organization that coordinates the voluntary development of national standards in the United States.

Home Selling Tips Offered By Realtors

"Realtors are often asked if there is anything that the seller can do to help sell the house faster and at the best price," Louise Wilken, president of the Rockport Area Board of Realtors said here this week. "Our clients really can help."

Ms. Wilken listed these tips for owners who are about to put their homes on the market and must prepare for showing their home:

Since first impressions are lasting, a home needs to smile a welcome to the buyer. This means that the front door should be fresh, clean and scrubbed-looking. A lawn that is trimmed, edged and free of refuse helps make that first impression a good one.

A quicker sale at a higher price will result if the simple redecorating is done to increase appeal. Replacing worn woodwork, painting faded walls and investing in new kitchen wallpaper will show the prospects, rather than just telling them, how nice this residence is.

The sunshine helps add cheerfulness. Open curtains, blinds and draperies are appealing.

Faucets that drip cause discolored sinks which imply that there is a plumbing problem. These are easy to fix and are a help in making a good impression. Small repairs can make a big difference. Loose knobs, sticking doors and windows, warped cabinet drawers and other minor flaws detract from the home value. These are easy to have fixed.

The removal of all unnecessary articles from the storage spaces help display the full value of the attic, basement and other utility space. Brightening dark, dull basements by painting the walls also helps. Cluttered appearances on stairways are unsafe-looking. Keeping stairways clear help to avoid possible injuries. Closets will look bigger if they are neat, well-ordered and lit. The bathrooms will stand out if the caulking is repaired and if bathtubs and showers sparkle.

Bedrooms that are arranged neatly make a big difference. Excess furniture should be removed. Attractive bedspreads and clean curtains add to the bedroom's appeal.

Illumination at night is a welcome sign. The potential buyer will feel a glowing warmth when all the lights are on for an evening inspection.

"After the house has been made to look as appealing as possible, then comes the showing of the house," Ms. Wilken continued.

"Realtors make this easy on the owners, but there are a few tips that will help make this sale quicker and more profitable."

She listed these tips: The buyer does not want to feel like an intruder, so there should not be too many people present during the inspections.

Blaring radios or televisions should be turned off. This allows the salesman and buyer to talk, free of disturbances.

Pets are best put outside or where they will not be underfoot. The potential buyer needs to be treated courteously, but doesn't need to be forced into a conversation. The buyer wants to inspect the house, not pay a social call.

Any house has been lived in, so the appearance does not have to be apologized for. A Realtor will answer any objections, as he or she is trained to do.

A Realtor can better emphasize the home's features when the owner does not tag along during the inspection. Owners can be called if needed.

By Beverly Wilken

I always thought that when you met someone at the airport, you were SUPPOSED to bring banners and noise makers and a recording of the Eyes of Texas!

"Excuse me... uh, excuse me... excuse me... er... exc... sorry, oops, sorry, excuse... me... excuse..."

"Bev, put that stupid sign down!" ordered my husband, Jimmy.

"I'm not bothering anybody."

"You're bothering ME! People are staring," he insisted.

"Well, let 'em stare. I went to a lot of trouble to make this little banner for my brother and his family's homecoming..." I sniffed.

"Little? LITTLE?"

"Sssssshhh! Honey! You're creating a scene." I said, patting my husband's arm.

"ME? I'M creating a scene! Oh, and you dragging that 80 foot sign and noise makers and stereo system all through the airport terminal is normal, I suppose!" he shouted.

"Darling, please lower your voice. It's not my fault it wouldn't fit through that metal detector. What did they think? That I had a BOMB tucked away in my sign? Making me unroll it like that... Oh, good! There's mother and daddy! Hey! Over here!" I yelled, waving to my parents.

"Who in the world left all that trash in the middle of the terminal?" screamed my father as they approached us. "Paper all over the place! No respect for property these days! Just look at that!" He insisted, pointing to my sign.

"I told you!" whispered Jimmy smugly.

"Now, Daddy. That's just a little welcome home sign we made." I explained.

"Little? You call that..."

"HEY! Hey, you kids! Leave that sign alone! Look at those kids! Get away from there! If you touch that one more time it's going to blow up!" I screamed.

Suddenly out of nowhere, airport officials and security guards came running at us.

"It was a joke!" I insisted. "Honest, I just wanted those kids to leave my sign alone. It won't really blow up. I promise!"

"I'm sorry lady, but we'll have to confiscate that sign," said one John Wayne type official.

"Look, it's harmless. See?" I began waving the end of it, stomping on it, tearing at parts of it...

"Look, lady. We take bomb threats seriously. VERY seriously," said another over-acting official. "We'll have to take the sign. As evidence."

"We'll have to take those party hats and that tape recorder too," said another. "Oh, for crying out..." Everyone stared at me. The 14 lawmen wagged my beautiful sign carefully through the terminal, looking back every now and then to point an accusing finger at me.

"How in the world did you get that monstrosity in here, anyway?" asked my father, scratching his head.

"I just walked right in and started knocking people down, that's how she got it in here," said Jimmy.

"ONE little old lady... just one... and it was HER fault... the wind caught the sign and she happened to be standing at the wrong place at the wrong time." I defended.

"Look, dear," began my mother. "It's probably best it happened this way." "That's right," said Jimmy, nodding. "At least this way no one suffered. And if your brother had seen that overgrown billboard with his name on it, he would have been humiliated."

"I think so too," agreed my father. "I know I was." "You just don't understand. You just don't understand," I said sadly, shaking my head.

When my brother and his family got off the plane and began running to us laughing, waving, throwing kisses guilt stabbed at my heart. Maybe it WOULD have embarrassed them, I thought. Maybe everyone is right. It's for the best, I sighed. Suddenly my brother stopped waving. They quietly walked up to us and smiled weakly.

"What's wrong?" asked my mother.

"Oh... nothing." "Oh... nothing," sighed my brother. "It's just that..."

"It's just that what?" insisted my father.

"Well, it's just that... well. We just kind of thought that you'd give us a traditional homecoming," said my brother.

"What do you mean, dear?" asked my mother.

"You know. One with banners and noise makers and the Yellow Rose of Texas playing in the background," he said, looking down at his feet.

Everyone looked at me. I love it when I'm right.

Beeville Wins Toast Of Coast

The annual Toast of the Coast Golf Tournament was held at the Live Oak Country Club on Monday, March 24; Beeville came away with the team victory.

All the players shot 18 holes; each team entered five people and the worst score for each team was thrown out.

Team scores for four players went as follows: Beeville, 332; Gregory-Portland, 339; Flour Bluff, 354; Calallen, 356; Refugio, 357; Odom, 365; Bishop, 366; Rockport-Fulton, 385; Tuloso-Midway, 387; Aransas Pass, 410; and Taft, 419.

The top individual medalists and their 18-hole scores, were Doug Lee of Bishop, 75;

Tim Megason of Beeville, 77; Eric Grindere of Gregory-Portland, 79 (he placed third after winning a playoff over the next boy); Ronnie Jones of Calallen, 79; and Billy Walzel of Refugio, 82.

Three teams in addition to the Pirates entered girl players. These were Flour Bluff, Beeville and Aransas Pass.

Jean Flanagan and Christi Levison of Rockport-Fulton were low scorers, with 111 and 116 respectively. Kim Layton of Flour Bluff placed third with a 129.

The Pirates' next tournament will be on Tuesday, April 1, at the Corpus Christi Golf Center. Tee time will be about 8:30 a.m.

Tennis Team Takes Seconds At Bishop

The Pirate tennis team played in the Bishop Tournament last weekend and came away with second place in all four of the divisions: Senior Boys and Girls and Junior Boys and Girls.

Tony Aleman won the Senior Boys singles championship; Holly Garrison did the same in the Junior Girls division.

Shawn Bateman and Phillip Viccinelli captured the Junior Boys doubles crown. Meredith Montague and Lori Allen each reached the semifinals of Senior Girls singles.

This Friday and Saturday, March 28-29, the team will be competing in the Tuloso-Midway tournament against 12 other schools, including all those from our district.

The district tourney will also be in Tuloso-Midway, on April 9-10.

ROUNDING THE TURN

Clyde Barre is running hard as rounds a turn during the Beeville track meet last weekend. The Pirates finished fifth in the Field that included most of the area 4-A and 3-A schools.

Boating Safety Tips

By Nathaniel J. Davis, FSO/PR

Rockport, Texas 78382
Phone: 729-7109

Many of us at one time or another have had an anchor foul on a rocky or coral studded bottom. Often, the result will be a lost or broken anchor.

Considering present-day prices of $115 to $260 per copy, depending on size, replacement of an anchor can take a healthy chunk out of a unit's funds.

Years ago, when the kedge type anchor was widely used, one technique developed which prevented losing or breaking the anchor was to tie a tripline to the crown of the anchor at the shank. At the other end of the tripline a small anchor buoy was tied.

If the anchor became fouled when using this system, the tripline could be pulled thereby backing the anchor away from the obstruction.

The Danforth type anchor, which is the common type anchor found on Coast Guard boats and small cutters today, does not, by its design, permit the use of a tripline since there is no convenient place to tie the line.

One solution to this problem was recently provided in the form of a Beneficial Suggestion by BM2 Ronald Weidman who is stationed on the USCGC Cape Current in Port Everglades, Florida.

He recommended that a small padeye or ring be welded to the shank of the Danforth anchor between the two crowns. A tripline can then be secured to the padeye whenever the coxswain deems it necessary.

All units which operate their boats where anchoring may be a problem, should consider modifying their Danforth anchors as described.

Calallen Burns Pirates

By Bob Crawford

For a second game in a row, a superior pitching performance and big hitting by the opposition spelled doom for the Pirates as the Calallen Wildcats, unbeaten in district play, handed Rockport a 9-1 loss.

Calallen scored first in the second inning, taking a 3-0 lead after the Pirates had committed two errors to put two men on base and the Calallen catcher blasted a three-run homer over the centerfield wall.

Rockport got its only score in the third inning when Pee Wee Solis singled, and then moved up to second on a stolen base. Jim Eaton followed with a hit to score Solis.

Calallen picked up a single run in the fourth, and then put the game out of reach in the fifth with four additional runs, all coming as the result of home runs. They finished up their scoring in the sixth inning by picking up another single marker. The loss now drives the Pirates to 2-8 for the season, and 1-2 in district play.

The Pirate JV ran into some tough going in Calallen as well. Calallen's JV assaulted the Pirates, thanks to some fielding errors and some timely hitting. The Wildcats carved out enough runs to win the game by the 10-run rule, as only three Pirates reached base, and not one Pirate could get a base hit.

In action last week, the JV dropped a close game 6-5 to Gregory Portland. The Pirates scored five runs in the last two innings, but fell one short as the last out was made. Robert Flores and Aaron Commander both made their way on the base paths in the 6th and 7th and accounted for four of the five runs.

Tim Redden went the distance on the mound and pitched very well. Mac Schmidt was the only Pirate collecting at least two hits.

JV In Mustang Relays

By Edward Lane

The Pirate Junior Varsity and Freshman track teams combined members and took a larger team to Ingle-side to compete against 2-A and A varsity teams. A team of mostly freshmen and sophomores, the local boys did well against their older competitors.

The members spread out their events to allow more members to participate and hopefully bring in more points. Out of eight teams, the Pirates were seventh.

Coach Ron Richardson was pleased with the places and times as the JV members ran against older varsity teams.

Fourth place wins went to Tony Paul in the high jump and Joe Barrera in the discus.

Both relay teams finished fifth: the sprint relay team consisted of Gene McElveen, Lupe Contreras, Le-roy Cole and Aaron Chambers; the mile relay team was made up of freshmen Joe Lara, Richard Nava, Joe Cantu and sophomore Lupe Contreras.

Contreras also placed fifth in the 440-yard dash.

Whales' Future Improves

Since the summer of 1979, optimism for the future of whales has grown. The International Whaling Commission, with the United States in the forefront, took far-reaching steps that many interpret as the beginning of the end of commercial whaling.

The IWC, following a U.S. proposal for an indefinite moratorium on all commercial whaling, enacted a moratorium on factory ship whaling operations in all oceans for all species of whales except the minke whale, a small, unendangered species. This, according to U.S. Whaling Commissioner Richard A. Frank, will substantially cut back on commercial whaling.

Additionally, the IWC set aside the Indian Ocean as a whale sanctuary for a 10-year period, during which commercial whaling is prohibited.

Again under the urging of the United States and other nations, the IWC reduced the commercial catch of whales by about 25 percent and adopted steps to prevent whaling activities by countries not members of the international body.

Commissioner Frank, who also is Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), credited President Carter, Congressional support, and the efforts of the U.S. environmental community for the progress made at the IWC meeting in London.

Broad public concern in this country for whales of the world is a relatively recent phenomena. At one time, the U.S. was one of the biggest whaling nations, with its ships ranging the globe in search of the giant mammals. But with the discovery of oil, commercial use of whale products in the U.S. gradually declined.

Soccer League Plans Play In June

Tommie McManus of the Rockport-Fulton Soccer Association says that the group hopes to begin registering players soon and that they intend to be playing by June.

He expressed appreciation to the Parks Board and City Council for approving a request for soccer fields at Memorial Park.

McManus stressed that the league was being formed for the benefit of everyone and to help promote the game of soccer, the ideals of sportsmanship and physical fitness, and to provide recreation and supervised competition.

He said that they hope to be able to keep costs such as registration fees, uniforms and equipment to a minimum so that everyone who wants to play will be able to do so.

The association has requested community support and offered special thanks to the businesses that have been supportive already: Coastal Marine, Cove Harbor Hydraulic Hose and Supply Co., Dudley's Parts and Supply Co., Lighthouse Marine, Net Result, Pizza Hut and Rockport Parts Headquarters, as well as many individuals who have been a help.

McManus said that anyone interested in sponsoring, coaching or refereeing can call him at 729-5010 or call George Hernandez at 729-7190.

Bob Stroot is planning a coming journey aboard his junk, the "You Wong Too." It is tied up at the Rockport harbor and he is getting her in tip top shape for the voyage.

Stroot Plans Junk-et

By Eddie Bradley
Bob Stroot is busily preparing his Chinese junk, the "You Wong Too," for an upcoming cruise. You can probably see one or both of them at the Rockport harbor, where he keeps it docked.
Mr. Stroot has had the boat (which he named for those who said it wouldn't sail) for almost ten years.

It was originally ordered by a businessman in St. Louis, Missouri from a Hong Kong shipyard where it was built in 1968. The boat was shipped from Hong Kong to New Orleans and then carried by barge up the Mississippi River to St. Louis.

For whatever reason, the junk was never even "unpacked" and was put up for sale. Stroot had come to Rockport from St. Louis, and some friends there sent him a notification that the boat was available, since he "liked weird things like that."

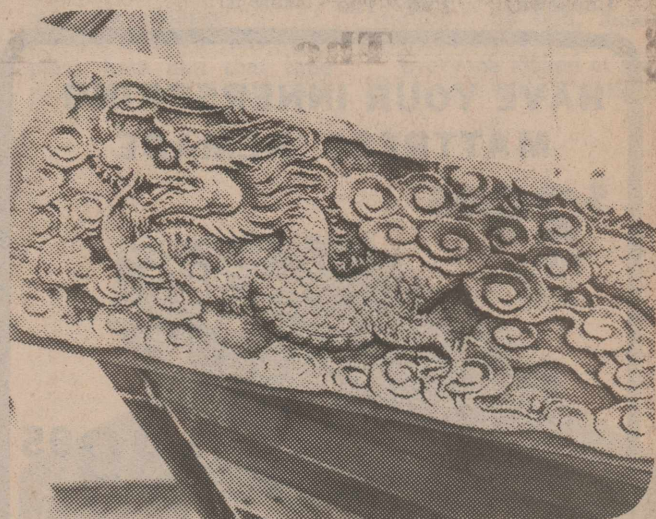

Mr. Stroot did a little investigating and found out that junks were very solid and seaworthy vessels; in fact, the same basic design has held up since around 400-500 B.C.

So it was that about 10 years ago, Stroot and some friends brought the boat down the Mississippi and sailed her to Rockport. It has remained here since then, except for one year when Mr. Stroot used it to cruise the Bahamas.

The "You Wong Too" is made completely of teak wood and has three dacron sails. A new set of sails has just recently arrived from Hong Kong.

At one point in his trip to the Bahamas, Mr. Stroot was forced to sail from Key West, Florida to Rockport alone. During one bit of bad weather, the boat flipped over on its side and the mast went into the water, but the vessel was up to it and righted herself almost immediately.

Mr. Stroot certainly seems justified in thinking his junk is a seaworthy vessel.

Fire Report

For week ending March 26, 1980

Rockport--On Thursday (20th) fire units were called to two brush fires—one near Peninsula Oaks and one on McLeister Lane—and a house fire on Riviera Drive. They answered a call to a fire on Austin Street on Friday (21st). Apparently a gas heater had malfunctioned.

Fulton--Had a call to a fire on the Spencer property near Copano Bay on Monday (24th). It was a brush fire caused when a small burn got out of hand.

They were also called out to Salt Lake Road on Wednesday (26th) when an old car caught on fire. It was being cut up with a cutting torch and the fire broke out.

Copano Cove--They were called to a brush fire on Perry Jones Lane last Thursday (20th).

Lamar--Had a small grass fire a week ago Tuesday. A man caught the lot next door on fire.

Holiday Beach--No runs this week. They have had only three all year; Chief Campbell says they have been very lucky so far.

HOSPITAL

dents, including a number from Aransas County, opposing the moratorium and supporting plans for a new 75-bed hospital to be located in Aransas Pass and serve the Aransas Pass-Rockport-Fulton-Ingleside area.

In proposing the five-year moratorium, the Health Systems Agency has indicated it would not give a favorable recommendation to any request for new hospital construction or expansion in this area through 1984.

However, the moratorium has not been adopted by the Agency and officials at Lyman-Roberts — like those of other hospitals in the four-county area — are hopeful that it will not be adopted.

If it is adopted, Pate has said, there is still an "out" for area hospitals: Agency officials have said if new data is presented that indicates the plan should be changed, it will be.

Even if the Agency should reject the hospital's proposed plans for expansion, Pate continued, "We'll go to Austin to the Texas Health Facilities Commission."

It is this commission which has the final say — through its power to license hospitals — on whether a hospital can expand its facilities.

Pate is confident Lyman-Roberts and Aransas hospitals can demonstrate their need for the proposed expansion of facilities.

Together, the two hospitals presently have a 37-room capacity, and are operating on a 100 per cent occupancy rate on an almost daily basis.

"This morning," Pate said during an interview in his office Wednesday, March 26, "we had one man in the hall and another in the doctors' lounge" because there were no beds available.

"My count last night (Tuesday) at midnight," he continued, "was 27 people in a 26-bed hospital."

Pate asked anyone who wants to attend the April 19 meeting of the Health Systems Agency and needs a ride to contact him.

CHECKING THE PLANS

Ben Pate, administrator of Lyman-Roberts Hospital, and Barbara Holmes of Rockport, nursing supervisor at the facility, look over plans for a new 75-bed hospital that will take the place of both Lyman-Roberts and Aransas hospitals. The new facility is expected to solve many problems in area health care, chief of which is an acute shortage of hospital beds in the Aransas Pass-Rockport-Fulton-Ingleside area.

SHRIMP

But, they add, the 1979 landings were 13 per cent below the shrimp brought in during the first two months of 1978.

At the close of February, Marine Fisheries people reported, about 65 per cent of the entire Texas shrimp fleet was tied in and expected to remain so indefinitely.

In the Brownsville-Port Isabel ports — which led in shrimp catches during this period last year — landings were running second to this area, with 254,000 pounds of shrimp landed in February for a total of 711,000 for the year to date. Last year, more than a million pounds of shrimp had been landed in that area during the first two months of 1979.

No shrimp have been landed this year in Port Mansfield, and the remaining Texas ports are running under 100,000 pounds for February landings.

The National Marine Fisheries is projecting a limited fishery by late May, resulting from cool dry weather in February that will aid in the recruitment of pink shrimp from the Coastal Bend southward.

By the close of February, mild drought conditions existed along the entire Texas coast and a severe drought along the Gulf Coast of Mexico.

Fuel supplies are reported plentiful at about 90 cents per gallon, and Marine Fisheries officials report the longline fishery got into full swing in February.

Initial cost of rigging a shrimp vessel for longline is reported to be about $25,000.

CENSUS

[Continued From Page 1] asked to call 1-800-292-7829 for telephone assistance or to request a Spanish language census form. This is a toll-free number.

Most residents will receive the short census form, which contains only about 20 questions. However, approximately 20 percent of the population — roughly one person in every six — will receive the long questionnaire with about 60 questions to answer.

Questions are answered by filling in circles on the questionnaire, and all answers are confidential, census officials say.

Only statistics compiled from answers on the census forms are released for use by the various federal, state and local governments and private firms that depend on census information.

As further assurance of confidentiality in the 1980 census, residents will not be contacted by enumerators unless they fail to return the census forms or unless they live in sparsely-populated areas.

There are a few counties in southwest Texas where the total population is "around 65 people," says Gene Flynn, assistant director of the Census Bureau office in Dallas, and these will be "hand-enumerated."

But in most Texas counties, including Aransas, the Census Bureau is depending on the mail.

After residents receive the census forms, they will have 10 days in which to fill out the questionnaires and return them in the prepaid envelope to the Census Bureau.

Other candidates for the council, in the order in which their names will appear on the ballot, are Dominga Benavidez, incumbent; Lucia Pat Loflin, incumbent; Ray H. Patterson, incumbent; James F. Metzger, incumbent; Antoinette J. Lamonte, challenger; and Katherine McLester, incumbent.

Voters will cast ballots for the mayor and five council members. The five people — exclusive of the mayor — who get the most votes will be Fulton's new city council.

Four candidates — including one write-in — are seeking two places on the board of directors of the

COUNTY

A question was raised by a Rockport attorney on the status of Liability Insurance on Deputy Trainees. Sheriff Bob Hewes said the county would not be liable for any injury to the trainee personally while on duty, but would be responsible for damage made by the trainee to someone or something other than the trainee while on duty.

Sheriff Hewes added, the only time these trainees even carry guns is when they are on official duty. And "they've been a big help and saved the county a lot of money."

The county now has five reserve deputies and three more in training school.

E.H. Leland and Tom Stoddard of Getty Oil Company spoke to the Commissioners Court on the two pipeline rights-of-way approved by the court in their last meeting. One right-of-way will be located on FM 3036, and the other on Airport Road. Two, four-inch pipelines with eight-inch casings will be used for the 60-foot rights-of-ways. The court granted Getty Oil a 20-year contract.

The new Board of Equalization was sworn in at the Wednesday morning meeting. The board consists of Erie Eller, Commissioner Precinct 1, Ray Longino, Commissioner Precinct 2, Raymond Owens, Commissioner Precinct 3 and Dr. J.M. Spriegel, Commissioner Precinct 4.

Rotary Forms Scholarship Committee

Rockport Rotary Club has announced plans to award a four-year college scholarship to a deserving 1980 Rockport-Fulton graduating senior.

Raulie Irwin Jr., club president, stated the Rotary club members have formed a scholarship committee to take applications for the scholarship. The club has allotted $500 per semester — the total amount awarded being $4,000 over a four-year period.

Seniors interested in applying for this scholarship should contact one of the following committee members: Dr. J.M. Shaw, Delmar Hiller, Ted Greenfield, Dutch Koppenhaver or Paul Pierson III.

Elect DEAN NEUGENT State Senator

A man who will listen!

After 20 years, don't you think it would be a welcome change to have a Senator who will listen to the problems of all of the people of the 17th District and not just to those of a few special interest groups?

Dean Neugent is a former district attorney and state representative with the skill needed to introduce, sponsor and enact into law the legislation this district needs.

But just as important, he is the type of person who will listen and respond to the needs and wishes of those he serves.

He feels the office of State Senator needs a statesman, not a politician. As your State Senator he will work just as hard for labor as for management, for minorities as well as for the majority, for those who have as well as those who have not.

The person who has held the office for 20 years is well-known for his vicious attacks on anyone who opposes him or disagrees with him. He has abused, threatened and sought vengeance against some of his constituents merely because they asked for help on a problem he happened not to care about.

Don't you agree that AFTER 20 YEARS IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE?

Vote in the Democratic Primary May 3rd.

MARKETING-RESEARCH ASSOCIATES

HERE IS HOW IT WORKS

BINGO CARDS

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS: Each week (adults only, please) pick up your FREE Bingo cards from any of the sponsoring merchants listed below. Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. However, you may make as many visits as you wish each day of the week. THE MORE CARDS YOU PLAY — THE BETTER ARE YOUR CHANCES OF WINNING.

IF YOU WIN

IF YOU ARE A WINNER: If you have a winning Bingo card, ON WHICH ALL 24 NUMBERS HAVE BEEN MATCHED WITH THE NUMBERS APPEARING IN THE WEEKENDER AND MIDWEEK EDITIONS OF THE PILOT, print your name, address, phone number, and the name of the store where you got your winning card, and mail to this paper at 1002 WHARF ST., ROCKPORT [the envelope containing your winning card must be received by Friday of each week]-or bring your winning card to the office of this newspaper at 1002 Wharf Street by Friday of each week.

HOW TO PLAY

HOW TO PLAY: Check the ads in each week's issue of Weekender and the Midweek edition of The Pilot. The ads of the merchants listed below will contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the "Bingo Bug" symbol [shown above]. Occasionally numbers, in the "Bingo Bugs" may be found elsewhere in the newspaper. Be sure to check the Classified Ad section for additional numbers. IF YOU CAN MATCH [JUST CIRCLE OR "X" THE MATCHING NUMBERS] ALL 24 NUMBERS ON ANY ONE OF YOUR BINGO CARDS WITH THE NUMBERS PUBLISHED IN THE WEEKLY ISSUE OF THE PILOT — YOU HAVE A "BINGO"! — AND YOU ARE A WINNER!!!

WIN $50⁰⁰ WEEKLY

AT LEAST $50 WEEKLY!!! Winners will share a weekly prize of $50.00 [in "Bingo Bucks" — they spend the same as cash with any of the sponsoring merchants listed below]. If there is only one winner, he wins all of the $50.00. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share the $50.00 in equal amounts. If there are no winners any week, the $50.00 weekly prize will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER: Each game is complete in each week's issue of The Rockport Pilot. A new set of Bingo numbers will be published each week in the sponsoring merchants' ads - and possibly elsewhere in the paper. A new color of Bingo cards for each week's game will be available at the sponsoring merchants' stores. To be eligible to win, you must play Bingo cards of the correct color for that week's game. The color of the cards for each week's game will be announced on this page.

Council Approves Pay To Grant Coordinator

Rockport city council members approved payment of $2,500 to Carl Hoit, public participation coordinator for the city's Step I sewer grant project, in six installments.

Method of payment was approved during last Monday's city council session, during which council members also discussed a proposed city dog pound.

Hoit was hired last summer to coordinate the public participation program under the city's Step I study to determine the need and feasibility of additional sanitary sewer collection and treatment facilities.

The council voted Monday to pay the $2,500 at the rate of $400 a month for five months, with the remaining $500 payable at the end of the public participation phase of the project.

The public participation program is required under terms of the grant program through which Rockport is obtaining funds for the sewer project.

Total cost of the Step 1 phase is some $55,000 of which the government, through the Environmental Protection Agency grant, will pay $42,000.

The city will pay the remaining $13,000.

Consideration of a city dog pound was placed on Monday's agenda after city officials learned Aransas County plans to construct a county dog pound without city participation.

This means, city officials said, that if the city of Rockport wants a dog pound, it will have to build its own.

The city has some proposed plans for such a facility, and an earlier-appointed "dog pound committee" consisting of Aldermen Dan Ward and Jerry Shaw is expected to take another look at the plans with an eye toward making some type of report at a later meeting of the council.

In other action Monday, the council approved a park board recommendation that two soccer fields be located in Rockport's Memorial Park, with the council to decide on where the fields are to be located.

Council members also appointed Mrs. O.H. Bruegeman and Katherine Winkelmann to fill two vacancies on the park board.

Council members voted to accept a letter of intent by Harbor Oaks Village Shopping Center to request annexation when the Center is completed.

An agreement was approved between the City of Rockport and the Aransas County Little League Association for the 1980 playing season.

Bids on sale of two used city vehicles were opened and awarded as follows: a 1970 half-ton pickup to Harry Ellis for a high bid of $200; and a 1972 two-ton garbage truck and Pakmor packer was sold to Willie Flores for a high bid of $900.

The council set April 14 as date for opening bids for hospitalization insurance coverage for city employees. The present insurance policy expires May 1, 1980.

In an emergency item not previously scheduled on the agenda, the council voted to grant a three-foot variance to allow the Texas Parks and Wildlife to construct a 700-square-foot warehouse at their Marine Laboratories building in the Turning Basin.

The city received a financial statement from City Secretary Herman Johnson who pointed out that Rockport is collecting 93 percent of its taxes.

By Pat Blair

A proposed city ordinance prohibiting loaded shotguns and rifles inside city limits will not disarm citizens and will not take toys away from children, city officials say.

What it will do is cover a gap in State laws that presently ban handguns in bars — but do not restrict shotguns and rifles.

Under State law, says Rockport's city attorney, C. Allen Lee, it is illegal to take a handgun, club or knife into a bar.

But, he said, the statute "does not include shotguns and rifles." This means it is not now illegal to carry these weapons into a bar — or onto the premises of a bar.

What the City of Rockport is looking at is an ordinance that would prohibit both.

The ordinance — which has been tabled twice in meetings of the city council — would prohibit carrying or discharging a loaded shotgun or rifle inside city limits.

It would not prohibit the carrying of unloaded weapons inside the city.

Nor, Lee said, would it ban children's toys as some people have accused.

The accusation is based on a section of the ordinance that refers to "water pistols" and "air rifles."

However, the ordinance itself defines these as weapons using fluid or compressed air or gas to discharge a pellet — emphasis on the word "pellet", Lee observed.

An ordinance of the type Rockport is considering is not new, both Craigmile and Lee say. Most of the larger cities have an ordinance of this type, Craigmile said, including San Antonio, Lockhard and Port Arthur.

And, Lee said, the ordinance that Rockport's city council has been considering is itself a compilation of ordinances from two cities.

"We don't want to take rifles and shotguns away from anyone," Craigmile said.

Coloring Contest

Three area youngsters will have a chance to win prizes in the Pilot's "Easter Coloring Contest."

Here's how it works:

In today's issue of the Pilot Weekender, the Pilot will have a special "Easter Coloring Contest" ad with a picture ready to color.

If you're between the ages of four and 10, just color the picture, cut it out and mail it to: "Easter Coloring Contest," Rockport Pilot, 1002 Wharf Street, Rockport, Texas 78382.

Winners will be chosen in three age categories: 4 and 5 years old; 6 and 7 years old; and 8, 9 and 10 years old. Winners in the 4-5 and 6-7 categories will receive Easter baskets. The winner of the 8-10 category will get a water color set.

Entries will be judged on neatness and use of color. To be eligible, they must be received in the Pilot office before noon Wednesday, April 2.

Fulton Appreciates Donations To City

The Town Council of Fulton is thankful for all the support they have been given in organizing their first Oysterfest, held March 28, 29 and 30.

Cynthia Tilden, Council Secretary and chief Shrimp Taco-maker for the Council's Shrimp Taco Booth, said the Council members are very grateful to the following people who donated ingredients and supplies for their booth: H.E.B. Food Stores who donated tortillos and lettuce; Jimmy Woods Produce for the onions, Casterline Fish Company for the shrimp, and Fulton citizens who manned the booth. Other ingredients and supplies were donated by the council members themselves.

The entire amount of the proceeds from the Shrimp Taco Booth will be used to pay for the new street signs in Fulton. Each taco will sell for $1.

The street signs will be put up as soon as the council can acquire the metal poles to put them on.

Ordinance Covers Gap

BURN BECOMES A BLAZE

The Fulton Fire Department was called out to fight a brush fire in the "front yard" of the Spencer home on FM 1781 last Monday, March 24. Dale Owens, Fulton Fire Marshal, reported that the maintenance man was burning some rubbish near the road when the high winds whipped it out of control. The fire path was headed right for the house before the firemen put it out. Owens said that they were "very fortunate" this time. It could have been much worse.

Seafair Taking Shape

Bob Bernardy, General Chairman for Sea Fair VI, led out in the first formal planning meeting for that event last week at the Key Allegro Community Building.

At the meeting, Bernardy officially took over the reins from last year's chairman, Ken Faulkner, who he said was "a first class administrator and a tough act to follow."

Most of the people in charge of the various Sea Fair VI functions were in attendance and they took part in the discussion and planning.

There will be at least 150 spaces as there were last year, but there was some consideration given to adding another tent, which would mean several more spaces.

The talk of additional tents and increased parking brought up the matter of moving the location in order to gain more space. This is being considered, but some warned that they didn't want the event to get bigger than they could reasonably handle.

The target date for having all the booths rented is being set for June 1.

In addition to Bernardy and Faulkner, those attending the meeting were Alex Knox, Assistant General Chairman; Millie Matthews, whose husband, Gene, is on Special Events; Peggy Bloch, Event Treasurer; Loyce Landrum, Secretary; Bert and Sue Warick, Display Booth Rentals; Larry Boone, Parade; Dennis Jenkins, Beer Sales and Dave Ogle, Soft Drink Sales.

Other event workers include Mick Ladner, Protocol; Elaine Faulkner, Historian; Joe and Pat Lister, Information Booth; Milt Sorem, Photography; and Loyce Ogle, also on Soft Drink Sales.

CROWN OF THORNS

Barbed wire on battlefield,
Civilization tangled in blood, suffering, death.
Christ sees it from Heaven
And remembers
The crown of thorns!
A Roman soldier's idea of a joke—
Jesus wore it dying for our sins, such as Barbed wire on battlefield.

Something to go to Church about:
It was God's Son they crowned with barbed wire.
Thorns, that is:
Crowned Him Prince of Peace—
Someone to pray to, believe in, live for
In a world eager for happiness and hope,
Famished for love and deploring at last His Crown of thorns on battlefield.

MSGR. PALMER AND WELL-WISHERS

Farewell Celebration Held For Rev. Palmer

Friends and members of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church gathered in the Parish Hall on Sunday afternoon, March 23, to pay their respects and bid farewell to Monsignor Harold Palmer.

Reverend Palmer has been appointed pastor of St. Frances of Rome parish in Agua Dulce. His last day as pastor of Sacred Heart was Wednesday, March 26.

Monsignor Palmer was born in Denison in 1908. He received his seminary training at St. John's in San Antonio, St. Meinrad's in Indiana and at the Catholic University of America. He was ordained in 1932 at St. Patrick's Cathedral in Corpus Christi.

Reverend Palmer served as Diocesan Director of the Apostleship of Prayer, Diocesan Superintendent of Schools, as Diocesan Consultant and as Dean of the Refugio Deanery.

He has been either assistant pastor or pastor of parishes in Corpus Christi, Goliad, Beeville and Rockport and was named a Domestic Prelate in 1953.

Many friends, associates, and parishioners turned out to say goodbye to Palmer at his going-away party.

Hosts and hostesses for the occasion included Ceylon Ammons, Eugene Axe, Joe Barrera, Joe Cantu, Rev. and Mrs. E.R. Cantwell Jr. Mrs. Connie Castillo and Miss Lydia Corpus.

Other hosts and hostesses included Mrs. Ruby Hart, Henry Hetherington, Jerre Ledbetter, Ciprian Martinez, Tony Mejorado, Eddie Pena, Rudy Pena, Charles Thornton and Dwight Walters.

Jean Waddell, Pete Owens Exchange Vows March 21

Jean Waddell of Sinton and M.E. "Pete" Owens of Rockport were united in marriage Friday, March 21, at 7 p.m. at the Joe Tumlinson home in Sinton.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Reverend John Fluth.

The bride chose a tiered floor-length gown of yellow chiffon over moon satin crepe with tapered, tiered bell sleeves, and carried a bouquet of yellow starburst poms and baby's breath centered with a yellow cymbidium orchid.

Jo Ann Tumlinson attended the bride as matron of honor, wearing a floor-length gown, yellow bodice with floral pleated chiffon skirt and a green cymbidium orchid corsage.

Joe Tumlinson attended the groom as best man.

The bride's table held a two-tier, oblong wedding cake. The white frosted confection was embossed with spring colors of yellow, apricot and blue flowers, while the top tier held the traditional bride and groom.

Attending the wedding were Gary, Cindee and Cody Waddell of Corpus Christi, Ronnie, Pam and Chris

Waddell of West Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. V.C. Harris of Yoakum, Mrs. Pearl Dyer of Sinton, Sharon, John, Jill, and Gregory Glancy of Dallas, Dana, Steve and Malana Allen of Port Aransas, Mrs. Florence Martin of Three Rivers, Sis, Ed and Gaye Harper of San Antonio and Mrs. Mary Alice and Bee Schuck of Taft.

After a short trip to Nuevo Laredo the couple will reside in Sinton.

Healthful Hints

Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition

By Jean Glowka

Q. I've been tired lately, and so I thought I'd take some B-complex tablets for a while. Boy, SOME of them are really expensive! But I found some super-good ones at this cute little discount place. They have some B-1, B-2, B-6, niacin and 500 MG. of LIVER! And they were cheap! Isn't that great?

A. Well, I guess it's great for SOMEbody, but not for you!

I don't know what the amounts were for the vitamins you mentioned, but, even assuming that they were adequate, there are several more B vitamins that should be included in a good B-complex formula.

Also -- and I hate to tell you this -- 500 milligrams may sound like a lot of liver, but it's not. One serving of liver, or less than 1/4 pound, is 100,000 milligrams. How much good do you suppose 500 milligrams could be?

Q. I heard that there are some vitamins that are good for hangovers. Can this be true?

A. Vitamin B-1 improves the digestion and assimilation of alcohol. Some people find, therefore, that taking B-complex with alcoholic beverages can prevent a hangover.

So, when and if you feel inclined to consume alcoholic beverages, keep your B-complex bottle handy and good luck!

EMS Report

Aransas County paramedics responded to 35 ambulance calls during the week that began March 17.

The number was 10 more than the 25 projected for the week.

Ambulances traveled 1,884 miles and average response time was three minutes, 59 seconds per call.

Bills may be paid at the Enterprise Medical Center in Rockport. Business office phone number is 729-3056.

The Shepherd's Staff

By Rev. Boyd Harris

"Blessed is the King who comes in the name of the Lord! Peace in heaven and glory in the highest!" (Luke 19:38) Doesn't sound much like a political campaign response, does it? Certainly not the way modern campaigns are carried on and the way people respond to them.

Yet, there were those in Jesus' day who hoped He would set up an earthly rule over the people. These people were disappointed because He rode into Jerusalem not as a warrior on a white horse, but as an humble servant riding on the back of a donkey. He came proclaiming the sovereignty of God and speaking about a heavenly kingdom that has no end.

We are reminded just how fickle masses of people can be when their wishes are not fulfilled. Yet, those with spiritual insight and the innocent children recognized Jesus as the Messiah, "The Anointed One," sent from God to save the people from their sins. Therefore, it isn't just a narrative of a long time ago, but an ever present reality that God's Son, Jesus, came and still comes to save His people from their sins! What wonderful "Good News" this is to the sinner's ears.

Will we be more interested in politics (as necessary as the process is) or in the Savior of the world during these days as we remember Jesus' ride into Jerusalem? May we examine our lives carefully and respond favorably to the shouts not of politicians but of those who recognized greatness in their midst: "Blessed is the King who comes in the name of the Lord!"

Card Party Results

Marjorie Rorabech, Ina Bennett and Gwynn Franke were winners in the weekly card party held Monday, March 24, by the Aransas County Woman's Club.

Lowest in bridge and canasta were Mary Huffman and Sue Stevens.

Mrs. Franke and Mrs. Stevens were in charge of tea and coffee service at the afternoon party at the Woman's Club Buiding.

Hostesses were Mary Harle, Ethel Sneed, Geneva Taylor and Mabel Swain, a Winter Texan from Dayton, Iowa.

The hostesses made the silk spring flower arrangement that formed the centerpiece. The ceramic container was handmade.

Lamar Women's Club Meets

The Lamar Women's Club held their monthly meeting on March 19 at the Sea Gun Sports Inn.

Luncheon hostesses were: Mrs. R.E. House, Mrs. Paul Jackson and Mrs. H.E. McDougall.

The members exchanged potted plants after the Mexican food luncheon.

The following members and guests were present: Mrs. W.E. Blackshare, Mrs. L.C. Conner, Mrs. C.G. Cook, Mrs. S.D. Deason, Mrs. George Driffel, Mrs. T.A. Garner, Mrs. Hector Guertin, Mrs. Al Hagy, Mrs. W.D. Heldenfels, Mrs. R.E. House, Mrs. Paul Jackson, Mrs. George James, Mrs. Bill McCloskey, Mrs. H.E. McDougall, Mrs. Graden McVay.

Also, Mrs. Wayne Nugent, Mrs. Harold Pugh, Mrs. D.L. Roberts, Mrs. Frank Ruttinger, Mrs. LeRoy Sloop, Mrs. Dale Wilkerson, Mrs. James Miller, Mrs. Milton Hanser, Mrs. Donald Gammon, Bobbie Jackson, Joan Andrews, Ellanna B. Cochran, Lois Bocquet and Florence Battle.

Rockport Realty ERA Designated Broker

Rockport Realty, as a result of meeting exacting ERA requirements has been designated as one of the first ERA Broker in the South Texas area to offer the ERA Sellers Security Plan.

This plan, which is unique, offers to the home seller the potential to avoid double home payments, a guaranteed date and amount their home will be sold for and an advance of equity money, interest free to a limit of $25,000, to purchase a replacement

Free Enterprise Important

What does the free enterprise system mean to you?

"Realtors have long been on the free enterprise bandwagon. We think the key phrases are 'private industry' and 'minimum control.' We think that this concept is in trouble in today's over-regulated world," said Louise Wilken, president of the Rockport Area Board of Realtors, in discussing the underlying focus of Private Property Week, April 13-19.

"Realtors feel, as do many other Americans, that the federal government has not held to the policy of minimum control of industry. In the twentieth century, government control of industry on a very extensive scale came from our involvement in the battles of World War I. What happened is that these activities by the federal government became precedent setting.

"From the New Deal under President Roosevelt and the years to follow more and more govern-mental controls were set. Federal fingers reached deep and wide. More and more, we think, the law of supply and demand has been effectively ignored. You see, in the free enter-prise system a product is worth what the consumer will pay for it.

"If the product is faulty or overpriced, it will not be bought. This is a simple and effective method to control our economy. Sometimes we have federal policies, for example, that set the prices so low that the product cannot be produced. How is the consumer protected by regula-tion of an industry that effectively puts that in-dustry out of business?"

In further explaining the Realtor's viewpoint on the economy and the free enter-prise system, Ms. Wilken said, "it is a fact that land is the supporting bed-rock of America's economic system in the most basic sense of the word. Events that take place in the real estate industry have an almost immediate effect on every other endeavor: agri-culture, mining, manufac-turing, transportation, the electric, gas and coal utili-ties. And then spinning off: there will be complemen-tary effects on wholesale and retail trade, finance and insurance investment, credit and construction. Realtors are often heard talking about the impor-tance of guarding the rights of the property owners."

"Our real estate is the common ground. . . the meeting place. . . for all who would honor the American way of life. We are con-vinced that we must work doubly hard to protect our rights against the steadily growing extent of the federal government controls," she added.

SALE APPROVED

On Sept. 28, 1978, the United States approved a $56.5 million sale of oil equipment to the Soviet Union.

CUB SCOUTS BOARD HELICOPTER Troop 340 'Gives A Hoot'

When you receive a "Grand Hoot" from a group of Cub Scouts, you know you are appreciated. And on March 24, Chris Young, company pilot of Petroleum Helicopters Inc. at Aransas County Airport, was honored with a thank you "hoot" from Cub Scout Troop 340 after taking them all on helicopter rides.

Pilot Young explained some helicopter mechanics to the troop before taking them up, saying that every two minutes that a helicopter is in the air, it burns one gallon of fuel. That's a lot of fuel when you make three trips with a load of scouts! P.H.I. took the scouts for a ride as a public service, but it could not really be said that the helicopter service was left without compensation... hoot, hoot, hoot...

Plans Underway For 1980 Cancer Crusade

W.C. Underwood, gen-eral Crusade chairman, has announced that the 1980 American Cancer Crusade will get underway in Aransas County on April 15.

The announcement came during a meeting of the Aransas County cancer unit Thursday, March 13, at Corky's Restaurant.

Underwood said he still needs volunteers to help make this year's crusade a success.

Money is needed to help fund cancer research.

The ACS is putting the largest sum ever concen-trated in one field of re-search into the study of Interferon, a substance showing great promise in the fight against cancer.

Anyone willing to serve as a Crusade volunteer or who is interested in the YAC group is asked to call Underwood at 729-6666 or Alice Moore at 729-5544.
