Natural Gas Two-Price System Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—Acting in a key natural gas case, the Power Commission adopted today a pricing system it expects to cut gas costs for consumers by millions of dollars and encourage location of new gas supplies.

The system sets a higher producer ceiling price for gas from newly developed gas wells than for gas incidental to oil production in the New Mexico-Texas area known as the Permian Basin.

A commission spokesman said it was estimated the decision would require refunds of something like $30 million to $35 million by producers in the Permian Basin area—three counties in New Mexico and 55 counties in Texas Railroad Commission districts Nos. 7C and 8.

The commission said virtually all Permian Basin interstate production goes to three pipeline purchasers, who would share the refunds.

These pipelines then would be required, under current commission procedures, to pass on the refunds to their customers. The pipelines, and the percentage of the insterstate Permian production they purchase, are El Paso Natural Gas Co., El Paso, Tex., 7.3 per cent; Northern Natural Gas Co., Omaha, Neb., 18 per cent; and Transwestern Pipeline Co., Houston, 9 per cent.

The commission said about 85 per cent of interstate sales of gas from the Permian Basin goes to California, and that there are sales also in these other states: Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

The decision requires reduction by Sept. 1 of any rates in excess of those stipulated and also imposes a moratorium until Jan. 1, 1968, on any price increases above the ceilings established.

Under the two-price system prescribed, the highest ceiling price for the area is 16.5 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas. The major producers involved had sought a one-price ceiling for all gas of about 20 cents.

The higher price is for new gas-well gas—"to encourage the search for new gas reserves at minimum over-all cost to consumers." The lower ceiling price is 14.5 cents, for all other gas, including residue and casinghead.

These ceilings include production taxes, which amount to about one cent for gas produced in Texas and less for that produced in New Mexico. The commission said this means the ceiling prices for gas produced in New Mexico will be lower than those for the Texas districts.

Gas-well gas, in the terms used by the commission and the industry, is gas found separately from oil. Oil-well gas, also called casing head gas, produced from oil wells. Residue gas is what remains after oil-well gas or gas-well gas has been processed to remove liquids.

In the Permian area, about 97 per cent of residue gas comes from oil-well gas, which accounts for about two-thirds of the production.

Wren Rites Set Friday

Funeral services for H. Lyman Wren, who died early Wednesday in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church.

Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, pastor of First Baptist Church, and the Rev. W. F. Ferguson, a former pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Pallbearers will be Dan Coomer, Ben Lenoir, Jack Inman, G. N. Cummings, R. C. Patton, Hollis Jones, Sam Cross and Charles Blakey.

Honorary pallbearers will be members of the First Baptist Board of Deacons and members of the Adult Men's Bible Class at First Baptist Church. Mr. Wren had been teacher of the adult men's class for a number of years.

Novas Asked To Remain At Post

By PHILIP ' OPOULOS

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Premier George Athanasiadis Novas resigned today after his defeat in a stormy parliamentary vote of confidence. In an unexpected move, King Constantine asked him to remain in office pending a solution of Greece's political crisis.

Most observers had thought the king would accept the resignation immediately and name a new premier. His request to Athanasiadis Novas to remain in office temporarily indicated the king was undecided on his next step.

Before his overthrow in Parliament early today, Athanasiaks Novas suggested that Constantine call the leaders of all political parties together to discuss the crisis.

The outgoing premier said today the king had decided not to call a council of the party le ders but to consult with them individually.

Stephanos Stephanopoulos, deputy premier under George Papandreou, 77, was considered a strong possibility to be asked to form a government. The king fired Papandreou three weeks ago in a dispute over who should control the armed forces.

Also talked about as possible nonpolitical choices were George Mavros, a member of Parliament from Papandreous center Union party and the head of the Bank of Greece, and Xenophontas Zolotas, deputy governor of the National Bank.

There were fears that if a lasting solution is not found, Greece would revert to the political instability of 1950-52. There were nine changes of government during the two years.

The Athanasiadis Novas government was voted down 167-131 in a stormy eight-hour session of Parliament that lasted long after midnight. Deputies traded punches, catcalls and threats and the proceedings were suspended briefly. Speaker Emmanuel Baklatzis banged his gavel, rang his bell and shouted himself hoarse until the brawl eased.

Outside the parliament building 1,000 Papandreou supporters chanted their hero's name and tried unsuccessfully to break through police lines when word of the voting outcome reached them.

Papandreou had vowed to bring down his successor and return to power. But this seemed unlikely unless a general election were called.

By tradition, the king now should call on Papandreou, as head of the largest party, to form a new government. But political observers saw little chance of a reconciliation between the two.

Taylor's Last Report Due

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Combining hope for the future with acknowledgement of "serious problems" in Viet Nam, Maxwell D. Taylor turns in his final ambassadorial accounting today to a top ranking panel at the White House.

On Capitol Hill the administration moved to the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee with its plea for $1.7 billion more plus a 340,000-man military manpower boost to gird for the Southeast Asian war.

President Johnson got a two-hour briefing from Taylor late Wednesday. Johnson said he was so impressed by the retiring ambassador's knowledge from his year in Saigon that he called a whole array of administration policymakers to today's 4:45 p.m. EST session.

The President also announced he has asked Taylor to be a senior adviser to the President on military and diplomatic matters and has named him to the intelligence board which supervises U.S. intelligence activities. Taylor, 63, onetime Army chief, was chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff when Johnson sent him to South Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg Henry Cabot Lodge, Taylor's successor in the Saigon post, and other senior diplomatic, military and intelligence officers were called in for Taylor's report.

"The future," Taylor told newsmen after seeing Johnson, "is certainly far more hopeful than it was a year ago."

He said he left South Viet Nam last week "feeling far from discouraged, although I recognize the serious problems we have — problems that are military, civilian and international in character."

"We are on the right track," he said. "It will take time. It will take determination."

Taylor declined to go into specifics on just how the war would be won or ended. He said the present 125,000-man goal for U.S. military strength in Viet Nam is a reasonable figure, but he does not know whether this will be enough in the future.

FBI Takes Wanted Man

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — FBI agents arrested Robert A. Woodford, 26, one of the agency's 10 most wanted criminals, early today in a downtown hotel room.

"He was armed with a 22 revolver but had no chance to use it," said J. E. Milnes, in charge of the FBI in Seattle.

Woodford had been sought since he was inadvertently released from custody in San Francisco on Dec. 14, 1964, after the withdrawal of a federal indictment for the $1,222 robbery of the main branch of the First National Bank of San Jose, California, Jan. 16, 1964.

No Serious Setbacks Seen In Loss Of Fuel

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Viet Cong attack on a big aviation fuel dump near the Da Nang Air Base will not seriously affect U.S. air strikes, an American military spokesman said today.

Military authorities said the hit-and-run guerrillas destroyed two of the nine storage tanks in the complex early today and heavily damaged two others with an estimated loss of one million gallons of fuel.

All fuel for jets and propeller-driven planes operating from the big Da Nang base comes in by ocean-going tanker and is transferred to the harbor-side storage complex operated by Esso Standard East. It is stored there until railroad cars transfer it to the base 10 miles to the southwest.

Large fuel dumps are located at the air base, however. The spokesman said it is believed they contain enough for immediate fuel needs.

An eyewitness said Viet Cong commandos opened their attack about 1 a.m., inflicting heavy casualties with mortar fire on a government outpost protecting the storage complex.

Overrunning the outpost, the guerrillas blasted through the main gates of the dump and set the tanks afire with plastic charges and phosphorous rocket shells.

There was no report of Viet Cong casualties.

The complex lies about two miles from positions held by several hundred U.S. Marines. The Leathernecks were not sent to aid the post, which lies outside their defense zone. But U.S. Marine artillery and gunfire from an American destroyer off Da Nang harbor were called on to shell suspected Viet Cong positions, military sources said.

An informant said fire from one destroyer tell short and hit a Vietnamese force sent to help the beleaguered post. Vietnamese causaulties from this were described as moderate.

It was the boldest attack in the Da Nang area since Communist squads hit the base itself a little more than a month ago and destroyed three planes.

U.S. warships shelled the hills surrounding the storage complex two nights ago after a report was received that the Viet Cong was readying an attack on the Easso facility.

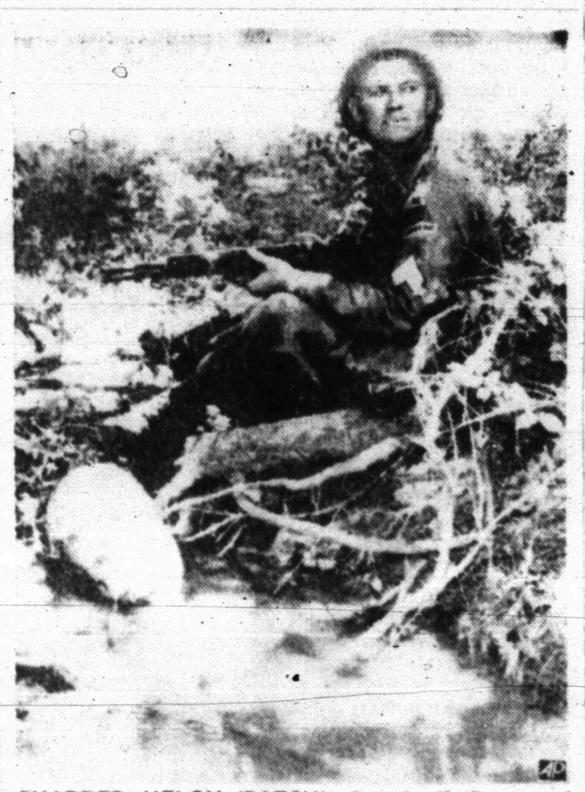

Just before noon today a Viet Cong mine derailed a railway engine a mile and a half from the oil storage tanks. The engine apparently was going to pull a line of tankcars from the storage dump. No injuries were reported.

Formation of a U.S. Army task force to control all American ground combat forces in the 2nd and 3rd Corps areas — the two central areas of the country—was announced today. Its purpose is to expedite and coordinate the role of U.S. troops in supporting the Vietnamese war effort.

Maj. Gen. Stanley L. Larsen, will head the command, to be known as Task Force Alpha. Its headquarters will be at Nha Trang, on the coast 200 miles northeast of Saigon, and its area includes the central highlands where strong Viet Cong forces along with units of the North Vietnamese army have been reported building up for months.

Scattered Viet Cong ground attacks were reported today. A U.S. spokesman listed these actions:

An estimated 50-150 Viet Cong attacked the Suoi Cao outpost 35 miles northwest of Saigon, inflicting "light" casualties on the defenders.

Trio Is Quizzed In Coed Case

AUSTIN (AP) — Detectives said three men arrested in Corpus Christi would be asked more questions today about the murders of two young women here last month.

Police arrested the men at a beach Wednesday in a pickup truck reported stolen here. Officers said there were two shotgun and a rifle in the vehicle.

The men, held without immediate charge, gave their ages as 19, 23 and 24. Maj. K. R. Herbert of the Austin police said two are former mental patients.

Herbert said the three were being questioned about the deaths of pretty Shirley Ann Stark and Susan Rigsby, both from Dallas, because no possibility could be overlooked. He stressed that he had no direct information to link them to the slayings.

Investigators hunted for missing garments, kitchen utensils and other articles that belonged to the young women.

Bodies of the girls were found in a field on the north edge of Austin last Friday.

Bill Slated For Inking Ceremony

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will go to the Capitol Friday to sign into law his Negro voting rights bill.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers announced today that Johnson will sign the bill at noon, with his Cabinet on hand.

The signing will come on the 104th anniversary of a ceremony in which President Abraham Lincoln signed at the Capitol a bill giving freedom to slaves employed by Confederates in carrying out the Civil War.

Moyers said Friday's ceremony will be open to live coverage by radio and television.

Johnson said the bill "brings within our immediate vision the day when every American can enter a polling booth without fear or hindrance."

The Senate, suddenly speeding up its procedures, gave the final congressional approval to the bill Wednesday night, 79 to 18, and the President went to the Capitol to extend congratulations in person.

Johnson, in a formal statement, thanked on behalf of the country the members of Congress of both parties who voted for the measure.

"Their action honors them as much as it perfects our country," he said, and later he added special commendations for the work on behalf of the measure by the two Senate leaders — Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Everett M. Dirksen. Johnson said "they will be long remembered for what they have done on this bill."

The bill will suspend the use of literacy tests, said to be used to discriminate against Negroes, in much of the South and permit the federal government under specified conditions to take over the registration of voters. It also calls for the attorney general to bring a court test on the constitutionality of poll taxes still used in state and local elections in Alabama, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

Two civil rights leaders expressed less than all-out approval of the measure.

But Dr. Martin Luther Knig Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, had called the bill "a good one because it goes a long way finally to redeem the pledge of the 15th Amendment by assuring the right to vote of all citizens regardless of race or color." He said, "I am confident that the poll tax provision of the bill — with vigorous action by the attorney general — will operate finally to bury this iniquitous device."

Registration Deadline At SHS Near

All Snyder High School students who have not pre-registered for the 1965-66 school year should register at the high school principal's office as soon as possible, Principal Ben Brock announced this week. Deadline for registration of new students will be Thursday, Aug. 12.

Any necessary change of schedules for high school students must be made by Friday, Aug. 13. After that date only changes necessitated by balancing teacher class loads will be made.

The first day of school for students will be Monday, Aug. 30, with new teacher orientation set for Tuesday, Aug. 24, and orientation of all teachers Aug. 25-27.

Texas Politicians Ponder Verbal Battle's Implications

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough's El Paso blast at Gov. John Connally, an old political foe, set observers here to wondering about the implications for future Texas political warfare.

Before a cheering crowd at the Texas AFL-CIO convention Tuesday, Yarborough said Connally deliberately stalled some anti-poverty projects in Texas.

The governor shot back that he had met fully his responsibilities under the Federal Economic Opportunity Act and said "politics—not poverty—is paramount in his (Yarborough's) mind."

Their verbal battle stirred talk that a truce between conservative and liberal factions of the state Democratic party had been broken.

Somewhere in the middle is President Johnson, a close personal friend of Connally. Johnson warmly and repeatedly endorsed last year's successful re-election bid by Yarborough, who has voted consistently for administration programs.

Johnson reportedly squelched attempts by conservative Democrats to run Joe Kilgore against Yarborough in the party primary. And after feuding with Yarborough over patronage while vice president, Johnson as President went out of his way to praise Yarborough.

One big question lies in a boomlet among some liberals for Yarborough to oppose Connally for re-election next year.

Yarborough has remained silent about a possible race for governor—he has five years left in his Senate term and has lost three gubernatorial contests against conservative Democrats. Texas law would allow him to run for governor without resigning from the Senate.

Connally has not announced his political plans. A source close to the governor said he is "really debating with himself, but the chances are he will run for another term."

Last year Yarborough's forces failed in an attempt to seize control of state Democratic convention in June from Connally. Connally made no known effort to help Yarborough in his difficult primary and general election campaigns.

Whatever truce there may have been was tenuous at best and centered primarily on Yarborough's re-election race, two conservative Democrats close to the governor said.

"President Johnson didn't want to have to take sides in 1964," one said. "That was the truce."

"Certainly there hasn't been any better feeling between the two groups (liberal and conservative) than there ever has been," said the other. "I don't think that Yarborough has been laboring under any argument that he lay off of Connally."

Laborites Boast Shining Record

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor government came to the end of its first session of Parliament today with a record of legislation astonishing to even its most zealous supporters.

With Prime Minister Harold Wilson's forces plagued by the smallest majority in this century, the House of Commons put through 65 separate measures before adjournments until Oct. 26. Some of the legislation represents minor social and economic revolutions in taxation, race relations, capital punishment and other fields.

For drama and accomplishment, the session probably will go down in the history books.

Fifty-two of the successful bills were introduced by the government as part of its program, the rest by individual MP's. The total of 65 is two more than the number of bills passed by the last Parliament, when the Conservatives had a majority of about 100 votes.

The opposition accused Wilson of overloading Parliament's antiquated procedures with a program better suited to a voting cushion 10 times the size of his actual nominal majority of only three votes.

Wilson, anxious to make a record in office, shouldered the complaints aside.

The government's most difficult achievement — and the most wearing on the House — was the finance bill. This package of tax reforms was debated for 211 hours on 23 days. Most of the sittings lasting until long after midnight.

The Laborites lost only three times. This forced Wilson to accept a Conservative measure lowering capital gains taxes on mutual funds. Ironically, this had been suggested earlier by Labor's own economic advisers.

Other major platform pledges enacted were a new rent law, a boost in old-age pensions and a national severance pay scheme.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am in my mid-forties, divorced, and have grown children. In the past year I have become very fond of a divorced lady. She's my age, extremely attractive and most desirable. I want to marry her, but this woman tells her mother everything, and is completely dependent on her for advice in all matters. Even in our romance, her mother is chief consultant, advisor and has the final word. She says she has to do what her mother tells her because her mother gives her money to live on. Now this girl is a college graduate, has taught school and worked in a law office. Friends tell me that her mother destroyed her first marriage, but not without the daughter's cooperation. She says that after we are married she will keep her mother out of her affairs. But is this possible since she makes her mother a partner in our present romance? What do you think?

UNCERTAIN

DEAR UNCERTAIN: A woman in her mid-forties who "tells her mother everything" and permits her to call the signals in her romances is just a little girl who has celebrated a lot of birthdays. Unless she first proves to you that she can keep her mother out of her affairs, and proceeds to do so, don't marry her.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I was married a short time ago and in keeping with tradition, I threw my bridal bouquet. One of my bridesmaids caught it, but she never gave it back. Immediately following the wedding celebration I left for my honeymoon. While I was away, my mother went to this bridesmaid and asked her for my bridal bouquet. She refused to give it back, saying that in throwing it, I GAVE it to her.

DEAR BAFFLED: Since the bridesmaid was asked for the return of the bridal bouquet, she should have returned it. But I don't know what either the "pitcher" or the "catcher" would want with a wilted bridal bouquet weeks after the wedding.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I travel 1200 miles every summer to visit our married son. We stay two weeks. They do not have a guest room, but their children have always "doubled up" and we had no idea that we were putting anyone out. We have just had a letter from our son telling us that they cannot accommodate "house guests" in their home any more. And if we plan to visit them again this year, they will gladly put us up in a nearby motel or hotel. Would you call your own mother and father "house guests"? Thank you.

WITHOUT A NAME

DEAR WITHOUT: I think your son and daughter-in-law have made a reasonable suggestion and one which you should consider. I see nothing unappreciative or malicous in their attitude.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Here's a word to the girl who fought with her fiance because he didn't want her to wear make-up. Before I married Ray he told me he didn't want me to wear make-up. I objected at first. Then Ray said that as long as I was attractive in HIS eyes, it shouldn't matter what anybody else thought. Now I just wash my face and I'm ready to go anywhere.

HAPPY AS A LARK

DEAR HAPPY: I'm glad you're happy. Some women look better than others without make-up and it's very important for a woman to look good in HER OWN eyes, too. A considerate man will not disregard all opinions except his own.

Ellis Rites Wednesday

Funeral services were held Wednesday at El Campo for Bobby Kenneth Ellis, 37, who died in a traffic mishap Monday afternoon.

Mr. Ellis, an oil field worker, was returning to Snyder after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Ellis in El Campo, when his car apparently went out of control near LaGrange.

Graveside services and burial were at Beaver Dam Cemetery at Gatewood.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Gladys Ellis of Snyder; a daughter, Bobby Jean Ellis of El Campo; a stepdaughter, Carol, of Snyder, and his parents.

A highway patrolman who investigated the accident said the car in which Mr. Ellis was riding alone, apparently veered off the right side of the pavement, swerved back on the highway and spun around before running off the end of a culvert and into a creek.

House Oks Funds For Texas Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and returned to the Senate Wednesday a military construction authorization bill that includes $54.7 million for Texas projects.

An appropriations measure would have to provide the money.

The $7 billion bill, worked out by a Senate-House conference committee, also would give Congress the power to prevent shutdowns of military installations.

Texas items in the bill include:

Army—Aeronautical Maintenance Center, $1.94 million; Brooke Army Medical Center, San Antonio, $8.3 million; Ft. Bliss, El Paso, $838,000; Ft. Hood, Killeen, $18 million; Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, $1.3 million; Red River Depot Texarkana, $557,000.

Air Force—Brooks AFB, San Antonio, $588,000; Carswell AFB, Fort Worth, $662,000; Kelly AFB, San Antonio, $5.76 million; Lackland AFB, San Antonio, $5.5 million; Laredo AFB, $1.85 million; Laughlin AFB, Del Rio, $866,000; Randolph AFB, San Antonio, $851,000; Reese AFB, Lubbock, $1.53 million; Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, $4.3 million; Webb AFB, Big Spring, $1.34 million.

Defense atomic support agency—Killeen Base, $45,000.

Navy—Auxiliary air station, Chase Field, $152,000; Air Station, Corpus Christi, $187,000; auxiliary air station, Kingsville, $557,000.

Family housing units approved include 330 for the naval air station at Corpus Christi.

Farm Bureau Chief Rips Funds Usage

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Charles Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation has attacked the expenditure of large sums of public money to induce farmers to increase their congressmen to every of the government check over" what he called the administration's "all-advised farm bill.

In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, Shuman said he was protesting "the wrongful use of government funds by the Department of Agriculture to propagandize the administration's farm bill now pending in Congress."

"Even if this were a bill of unquestioned merit and universal appeal—which it certainly is not," the letter said, "the expenditure of government funds to propagandize the citizens is an illegal, immoral and unethical use of public money and power."

The Farm Bureau opposes the legislation which would make increased use of payments to encourage farmers to comply with government crop adjustment programs.

Shuman said Horace Godfrey, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, had written field employes suggesting they make payments to farmers in person—rather than through the mails—and use the occasion "to make better understood what the payment is for, and how it serves the national interest."

Shuman said this showed that Godfrey was telling government employes to "to prostitute themselves by using the personal delivery of the government check as an excuse for trying to promote the administration's farm bill."

Godrey Cambridge's Latest Forum Is 'Forum'

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

BELAFONTE watch out. Actor - comedian Godfrey Cambridge is taking singing lessons.

Cambridge, whose comic monologues spotlight the foibes of today, including token integration, says that when he was trying to find an agent, he was always too late. "They'd get their one colored actor and that's it. They'd say, 'We got ours,' and slam the door.

"Finally the Agency for the Performing Arts, which has Belafonte, took me, too. They figured we weren't in competition."

Now, Cambridge says, he's taking singing lessons and losing weight and he has warned Harry that he's already ordered his V-neck shirts.

Cambridge is studying voice for summer stock appearances in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." He also wants to sing on a TV guest appearance next fall, but mostly he jokes about his singing:

"I would never sing rock 'n' roll; the English sound is more colored than I do."

"'Godfrey Cambridge Sings Leider'? I don't think that would really go."

Despite the fact that most people probably know him as a comedian, (LPs "Ready or Not Here's Godfrey Cambirdge" and "Them Cotton Pickin' Days Is Over" on Epic) he considers himself "an actor who does comedy."

Becoming an actor was a slow process, with many steps. For one thing, Cambridge, who was born in New York and reared in Nova Scotia, had a mother who "thought theater was akin to selling dope and white slavery."

In high school, introvert Cambridge had a gregarious friend who "got me on the color guard, holding the flag, and told me to look at the eagle so I didn't have to look at people." He timidly gave a few readings at assemblies; joined the dramatic society at Hofstra College, where he met professional actor Ian Keith, who encouraged him; and he became known as an off-stage cut-up.

After college, he worked nights as an electrician. "Then I'd go by my aunt's house. She was a night owl and various nieces and nephews would come by, and I'd get all my laughs at 3 and 4 in the morning."

He acted with an amateur group in Queens, then through Frank Wilson, the original Porgy, met people who encouraged him to act at the Harlem YMCA. "It was a terrible little theater; we had to take all our costumes home every night, but it gave us an audience, reviews and a place to perform. We had a sense of theater, and they put up with my nonsense."

Cambridge remembers doing his first "public" comedy monologue, at a party. "They asked if I would entertain and I made it up as I went along. My opening line was 'Some of my best friends are colored.'"

After that, with help from various persons, Cambridge landed a part in "Nature's Way" on Broadway, worked with Sonny Terry and Brownie McGee at the Village Vanguard in New York, and landed a part in "Take a Giant Step" off-Broadway. "They offered $10 a week and I insisted on $15 because I was an artist. On condition I help them move the piano, it was raised to $25."

He also played the Apollo Theater in Harlem. "They're the toughest audience in the world. If you're good, they're great, but don't get up there and feel these are poor colored folks who haven't seen anything and I'll just sneak past them, because they'll murder you. They had me so frightened I developed 102 degrees fever. And friends don't help. They say, 'YOU are going into the Apollo?' and laugh.

"After the Apollo, I did other Negro vaudeville houses — Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia, but Baltimore I never had the nerve to play."

He says, "I was influenced by Jack Benny, and by Dusty Frasher, Butter Beans and Susie, Cook and Brown — Negro comedians unknown in the white world."

Jack Parr saw Cambridge in "Purlie Victorious," and Epic Records executives saw him on the Parr show.

Now, one appearance has led to another until he's reached the point where he can consider setting up a yearly schedule of two months of college concerts, two or three top night clubs, occasional TV, movies and comedy records.

But though he has broken through, Cambridge still feels strongly that Negroes are discriminated against in show business.

He picketed "Subways Are For Sleeping" and "How To Succeed in Business" on Broadway because no Negroes were in the cast, and he used to be a TV network desk slammer. "Every network had a man in charge of keeping the colored folks quiet. He was a vice president, so you'd know you were up on that big level. He'd say, 'Things are getting better. My maid was just telling me her son is going to graduate from medical school.' And the script would come out all white.

"All I ask is a chance. I don't want to be treated special. Just treat me like I'm white and I'll be happy.

"A Negro can be emasculated every day in this country; people are going to pay you less than a white man. In order to be a Man you have to speak your mind and say what you feel. It is very difficult to be a Negro Man. I recognize this, but I'm going to be."

Paris Show Last On Official Program

PARIS (AP) — Captain Molyneux came out for crinolines in his new collection, shown today.

Hems have been up and down in the Paris openings, but this was the first time they were out — over stiff conical underskirts.

The Molyneux silhouette was narrow-tipped. It skimmed out over the waist to lie smooth on the gently bobbing cone underneath. Ladylike hems were about mid-knee.

Not everything was crinolined in the Molyneux collection, but the line was almost always wider at the base.

Coats were narrow-shouldered pyramids, rippling wide in smooth wools. Necklines were high and slender. Sleeves were long and narrow, and often cuffed. Hats were high, narrow jockey caps.

Patch pockets were part of the Molyneux look, often so big that they provided silhouette interest.

Crinolines notwithstanding, Molyneux has modernized considerably since his comeback last January. His look is elegant and soignee, just right for the women who do buy couture, give or take a few pockets, perhaps.

Molyneux was the last big name to show on the official Paris program.

Kitchen Planning Takes Care And Patience

Kitchen planning is the favorite daydream of the typical American homemaker. Even if she already has a modern custom-designed kitchen, the average housewife is constantly thinking of ways to change and improve the one place in her home where she spends most of her time.

Kitchen remodeling is not the kind of project that needs to be done all at once; it can be undertaken in installments both in terms of the physical work as well as financial payments. You can plan, buy and modernize for the needs of the moment and add later the equipment or improvement to supplement the first basic changes, advises a kitchen improvement expert, Karl Jensen.

"Improve your kitchen as you go along, planning what you want to install first and then working in new ideas as you think of them or as you can afford them," suggests Jensen.

"Get the whole family in on the project even though the word of the lady of the house should be considered first in planning since the kitchen is where she is truly queen. But the whole family, including the youngsters, should also be consulted since the kitchen is also a family room and probably the most frequent gathering place of all its members," adds Jensen.

Once plans are firmed up, consult a kitchen moderniazation specialist to check out mechanical details and see how your plans fit in with the physical requirements for remodeling. Remember in finalizing plans that the kitchen should be built around the primary food preparation and cleaning center, the sink and dishwasher. No matter whether your plans are for a U-type, L-type or corridor-type layout, the sink invariably is the focal point of kitchen activity and everything should revolve around this center. Fully 90 per cent of all food and equipment used in the kitchen eventually winds up moving around and through the sink, points out Jensen. His firm has surveyed typical homemaker movements in the kitchen and found that most of "the action" is centered around the sink.

Choice of the proper sink for efficiency as well as appearance is all-important in design of the kitchen center where all "the dirty work" is done. "Don't just leave it to the contractor, as so many homeowners do," says Jensen, who points out that there is a wide range of styles, sizes and finishes in kitchen sinks to choose from.

"Every kitchen has its own particular problems as well as advantages and sinks should be carefully selected to solve these special layout problems as well as take full advantage of design possibilities," Jensen urges.

Careful study should be given to sink selection and the layout around the sink since this area of the kitchen is most difficult and expensive to change later because of pipe and drain connections, as well as wiring, lighting and ventilation tied into counter space centered around the sink.

Once the cleaning center has been set, kitchen design can proceed to cabinetry and three important groupings - the cooking center, the refrigerator - freezer and if space permits, the laundry center. Here is where flexibility and imagination can create a dream kitchen which expresses the special ideas of the homemaker.

"Most women find that no matter how much storage space they plan in their cabinets, they never seem to have enough," Jensen notes. "Think big in planning cabinets to store all your cooking utensils, dishes, glassware and food. Most women dislike throwing out anything and often hoard things that might come in handy some time in the future. Surely there's nothing wrong with this as long as they have enough room to save all these things that have no immediate

In planning the cooking area, Jensen advises its location against [illegible] easy access for ventilation outlets from the hood and exhaust fan. In buying appliances think in long range terms and avoid "gimmicky" items that may be popular today but "passe" tomorrow. Refrigerators and freezers as manufactured today last many years and "it is a good idea to think of these appliances as basic kitchen items which will fit into any decor the homemaker may want to change to in later years," Jensen says.

"A kitchen is a combination of many diverse elements and their coordination in an overall design effect is desirable for the most attractive design appeal. Neutral colors have a virtue in supplementing the basic decorative and color motif of a kitchen and that is why stainless steel has gained such favor in recent years in kitchen equipment, especially sinks. It goes well with every type of wood finish in cabinetry and blends with gas or electric ranges," Jensen concludes.

Patience is a virtue in kitchen planning and it is better to modernize piecemeal than plunge into major spending without carefully considered planning. Mistakes can be costly to alter, Jensen observes, and a step-by-step plan for kitchen modernization not only is usually more suitable for the family budget but also results in a more practical as well as more beautiful final result.

Ennui At The Supermarket

At one supermarket in West Germany a housewife cannot squeeze the tomatoes, rummage through a pile of packaged sirloins, compare the weight of one carton of eggs with another, or haggle over the price of bacon. Is the manager lurking behind the cereal boxes?

No. The supermarket is fully automated and everything is displayed behind glass. International Management says the customer enters by pressing a button on a machine which releases a turnstile and presents her with a "shopping token." Inside, she wanders among machines displaying their wares, and if she wants to buy, she drops the token into a vending machine and presses a button. The machine delivers the goods and returns the token suitably marked. When the housewife leaves she drops the token into a payment slot and receives her bill. She puts the money into another machine which gives change.

Automated groceries sound terribly efficient. But... squeezing tomatoes is so much fun

Overtime Win!

South Slips Past Stubborn North

DALLAS (AP) — Rox Goodwine, San Marcos' athletic hero, got them into the game and Sonny Benefield of Sweeny proceeded to win it with eight points in an overtime as the South beat the North 87-81 Wednesday night in the all-star basketball game of the Texas Coaching School.

It still left the series overbalanced for the North, which now leads 12-9.

Goodwine, a football star who also plays basketball, flipped in 26 points to tie the record for an individual. He also set a record for free throws with 14 and wound up as outstanding player of the game with 14 votes.

Goodwine is going to Sam Houston State and will be missed by the Southwest Conference.

Benefield is headed for Texas A&M. He had 22 points and was second high scorer of the game.

The other star of the evening —clever Gary Sibley of Hurst Bell — scored 20 points and lacked only one vote of tying Goodwine for outstanding player. And he was on the losing team at that.

Sibley will play his college basketball at Southern Methodist.

The game drew 8,721 fans for a new coaching school record. It also produced five teams and our individual records and one item that was undoubtedly a record—71 fouls were called during the melee.

There are no official records to compare but no one could recall such a game in the 20 years it has been played.

Also there were 109 free throw attempts, 74 free throws made and nine players fouled out—five from the North and four from the South. Those seem to be records, too.

The game itself produced the all-time high for aggregate points—168. And the North's 87 points was a record.

Sibley was the most noticed individual. He dribbled the South daffy at times. With 2:11 left in the regular game, Sibley did most of the work in a stall that continued until only seconds were left on the clock. He tried for a field goal and missed, the score remained tied 75-75 and the game went into overtime.

Sibley pitched in a free throw to get the North ahead in the first seconds of the overtime. Then Benefield sank three field goals and two free throws and Jack Sweeny flipped in a field goal and two free throws to wind up the South scoring.

Nine times in the last quarter the score was tied.

Football School On Increase

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas coaching school comes to a close today with an enrollment of 4,400 expected to be reached.

There were 4,374 signed up when registration ended Wednesday afternoon and L. W. McConachie, executive vice-president of the Texas High School Coaches Association, said he thought the 36 needed would come in.

The school has set a record for the 11th straight year. The former record was 4,115, set at Fort Worth last year.

A luncheon at which five coaches will be inducted into the Hall of Honor is the final function of the school today. Tonight the all-star football game will be played in the Cotton Bowl as the climaxing feature.

The annual business meeting of the association also is scheduled today with prospects of a revolt against the leadership.

A move was reportedly on to deprive Allen Winters of Temple of the presidency because of some statements attributed to him in a newspaper column in which he was quoted as being opposed to spring training in football, junior high school football and the state playoffs.

Winters is the vice-president and under the association's order of succession is supposed to be elected president. But this can be prevented by nominations from the floor.

Cree Meadows Match Interrupted By Rain

RUIDOSO, N.M. (AP)— Rain interrupted match play in the Cree Meadows Invitation Golf Tournament Wednesday.

Four second round championship flight matches were rescheduled today, followed by the two final 18-hole rounds.

Paired in the second round were Bill Mullican of Alamogordo, N.M., vs. Leroy Gooch of Ruidoso; Jess Claiborne of Lamesa, Tex., vs. Charles Edwards of Lancaster, Tex.; Leon Anderson of Hobbs, N.M., vs. Graham Mackey of Midland, Tex., and Bill Overall of San Marcos, Tex., vs. Walter Howell of Clovis, N.M.

Notre Dame's basketball team will play 26 games next season.

Tickets Available For Snyder Games

Letters have gone out to 1964 season ticket holders for Snyder High School football games advising them that their same stadium accommodations may be renewed.

Deadline for season tickets to be renewed is Aug. 17. Tickets remaining after that date will be sold on a first come, first served basis beginning Sept. 30.

A season ticket costs $7.50 and assures the purchaser the same stadium seat for all five home football games of the Tigers.

Home games this year will match the Tigers with Big Spring and Kermit in non-conference games, and Lamesa, Brownfield and Lake View in District 3-AAA contests. Non - conference games will start at 8 p.m. and conference games at 7:30 p.m.

Tiger road games this year will be at Andrews, Stamford, Sweetwater, Levelland and Littlefield, the latter three being conference games.

College All-Stars Look As Impressive As Ever

CHICAGO (AP) — The weapons that brought Head Coach Otto Graham's All-Stars upset victories over National Football League champions in 1958 and 1963 again are ready in his arsenal for Friday night's clash with the Cleveland Browns.

They are:

1. A scrambling quarterback. Graham has named scurrying Roger Staubach, a Navy ensign and 1963 Heisman Trophy winner, as his starting quarterback.

2. A breakaway pass-catcher. That would be sprinter Bob Hayes, the world's fastest human, of Florida A&M.

3. A consistent placekicker, Yale's Chuck Mercein fits the bill. He set Ivy League records last year by booting 19 of 22 extra points and five of nine field goals — three in one game, including a pair from 48 to 46 yards.

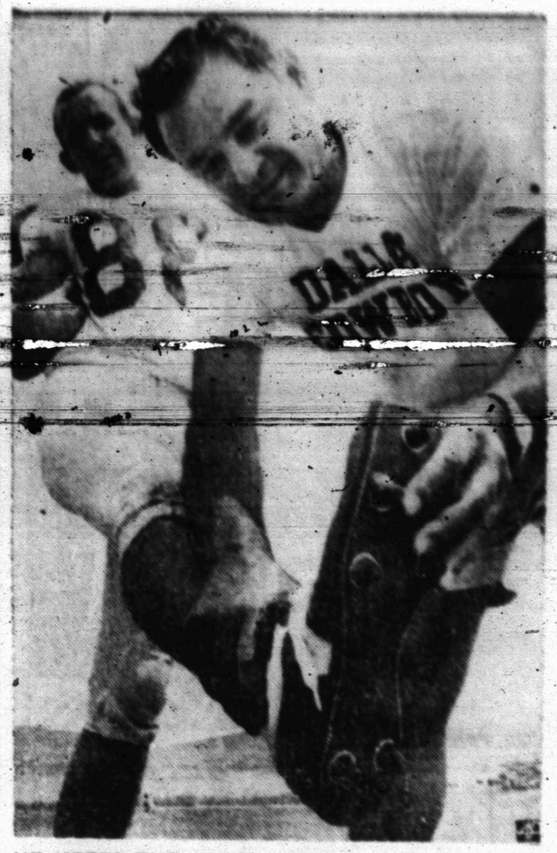

The collegians have won only three of the last 15 games with the NFL champions and trail in the over-all series sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities Inc., with nine victories to 20 for the pros. Two games were tied.

The Browns are a solid 14½ point favorite Friday night. The game, at Soldier Field, is expected to draw 70,000 and will be televised and broadcast by ABC starting at 9p.m., EST.

Along with Staubach in the starting backfield, Graham has named halfback Pat Donnelly of Navy, fullback Ken Willard of North Carolina and Hayes, who can run the 100 yards in 9.1.

The starting defensive horde averages near 250 pounds through the line. Included is All-America linebacker Dick Butkus of Illinois, co-captain of the squad with Staubach.

Other All-Star quarterbacks are Notre Dame's John Huarte, the 1964 Heisman Trophy winner, who again will have his Irish teammate, end Jack Snow, as a potential target, California's Craig Morton and Michigan's Bob Timberlake.

HE KEEPS THE KICKS COMING — Football's Ben Agajanian, right, itinerant kicking specialist of professional gridirons, instructs the Dallas Cowboys' Colin Ridgway during a coaching session conducted by Agajanian at the NFL team's training camp at Thousand Oaks, California. Madison Square Garden Is Site Of 25-Minute Riot

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Parts of Madison Square Garden looked like a disaster area early today following what old-timers called the worst riot in the 40-year history of the famed sports arena. Surprisingly, in view of the damage and heavy objects thrown only a few people were hurt in the 25-minute riot.

It all stemmed from a controversial split decision awarded to world junior lightweight champion Flash Elorde of the Philippines over 11-5 favored Frankie Narvaez, a Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, in a non-title 10-rounder Wednesday night.

Police said five persons, two policemen and a fireman, were taken to St. Clare's Hospital.

Five New Yorkers, including the alleged brick thrower, were arrested and booked on malicious mischief, a misdemeanor. One of the five — Jesus Valez, the alleged brick tosser — also were booked for felonious assault and another on a charge of endangering public health for alledgedly attempting to throw a fire extinguisher into the crowd.

Cries of "robbery" and "thieves" from irate Narvaez backers in the crowd of 6,918 rang out after it was announced two officials had voted for Elorde five rounds to four with one even, giving the Filipino underdog the decision. The other official voted for Narvaez, 7-2 with one even.

The Associated Press scorecard had it even, five rounds for each, after a lively, bloody fight in which no knockdowns were scored. A ringside poll showed a 13-9 edge for Narvaez with four writers calling it even.

The riot went off like a delayed bomb explosion. When the fighters left the ring for their dressing rooms, some of the fans started throwing paper cups, coins, cigar butts and other light objects.

Then the whisky bottles started flying and smashing and part of the crowd went berserk.

Five-chair sections were tossed like matchsticks from the mezzanine and side arenas onto the ring floor. Fire axes and fire extinguishers, light bulbs, sections of metal railings, wooden slats were heaved into the ringside sections.

Windows and telephone booths were smashed. The rioting spectators fought with the special police, then laughed, jeered and defied them from a distance. They picked up the organ in the side lodge and pitched it five feet to the floor below.

At this stage the special policemen - 60 of them and 20 more than normal according to a Garden spokesman — seemed helpless to quell the rioters.

The rioting went on for about 25 minutes inside the arena and then spread to the lobby, the streets, and the subway below. City police and firemen quelled the riot outside. Inside, the special police finally subdued the last holdouts with a firehose in a side arena corridor.

Asked for an estimate of the damage, John F. X. Condon, the Garden's boxing publicity director, said, "Offhand, it looks like more than $10,000."

Elorde, who had lost his only previous New York fight nine years ago, had been a 7-5 favorite up to the noon weigh-in. Although it took Narvaez three trips to the scale to make the agreed upon 136 pounds, the odds favoring him soared to 11-5 at fight-time. Elorde weighed 135.

The fighters were not aware of the rioting going on outside their dressing rooms until the worst was over.

It turned out they only fought a preliminary bout.

Draft Will Be Used With Legioners

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's new draft machinery will be used for the second time Tuesday, Aug. 24, when major league clubs select 1965 American Legion graduates.

The draft session, to be held in New York, is expected to be less busy than the high school and college free agent draft conducted June ido, when 862 players were picked by the 20 big league teams.

Commissioner Ford Frick said Wednesday only high school graduates who reached their 17th birthday before Jan. 1 and have completed their Legion activities will be eligible.

Jim Brown Says Retirement Due After Contract Ends

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Jim Brown, working on the second year of a three-year contract at $50,000 plus a year, still expects to call it a career after 1966.

"That will be 10 years, a nice length of time," said the fullback of the reigning National Football League champions, the Cleveland Browns.

"The older you get the importance of individual records diminishes," said Brown. "At the start you want to impress people. The important thing is to be a member of the team. No one man ever does the job all by himself.

"Winning the championship was the high spot of my career. We had a group of guys who won it the hard way by scrambling. My immediate objective is to try to help win it again."

Brown, recently found innocent in a messy court case involving a teen-age girl, said he had made up his mind not to become involved in football until his name had been cleared.

Because of the trial, Brown reported late at the Browns' camp on the campus of Hiram College. He went to work the first day and took part in a scrimmage on his second day. Those who watched Brown ramble with a screen pass from Frank Ryan in the second scrimmage session were convinced he will be ready when the bell rings.

"Jim seems to be coming along real well," said Coach Blanton Collier. "I think he is ready to play right now."

Brown came to camp light but quickly picked up poundage and now scales about 232, about six below his regular season weight. "I'm having no problems at all," said Brown. "My legs haven't tired and I never have any trouble with my weight."

The former Syracuse ace is only 29 and, despite his retirement talk, it is probable owner Art Modell will talk him into playing some more after the contract ends in 1966.

Twins Set One Run Pace!

Sonny Siebert Records 12th Victory As Cleveland Wins

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sonny Siebert has swept the [illegible] and now he's cleaning up in the American League.

The Cleveland ace recorded his 12th victory Wednesday night, pitching a four-hitter as the Indians defeated Detroit 4-1.

After Don Demeter homered in the fourth inning, Siebert allowed only one baserunner — Don Wert on a fifth-inning walk — and retired the final 14 batters he faced.

Thus, the Tigers didn't have a chance to raise the dust against Siebert, who had troubles with dust at the start of the season, only he didn't know that was the source of his trouble.

"For the first couple of months of the season," Siebert explained, "they treated me for colds, and nothing helped. But one day I was talking to a furniture dealer who noticed my trouble. He told me it sounded like the same dust allergy he had."

Siebert went to an allergist, who agreed with the furniture dealer's diagnosis and prescribed shots.

"I've been taking them since and it's helped a lot," the pitcher added.

The shots have helped Siebert compile a 12-6 record with a 2.21 earned run average. The victories are the most for the Indians and second most in the American League.

Elsewhere in the AL Wednesday night, Minnesota edged Washington 4-3 for its fifth one-run victory in six days. New York nipped Chicago 4-3 in 13 innings, Baltimore swept Los Angeles 6-5 and 1-0 and Boston defeated Kansas City 5-1.

In the National League, Los Angeles edged Milwaukee 3-2 after losing 4-3, San Francisco nipped Cincinnati 4-3 in 10, Philadelphia beat Chicago 7-2, Pittsburgh blanked New York 3-0 and St. Louis whipped Houston 9-4.

The Indians backed Siebert with three runs in the fourth inning. Max Alvis ignited the outburst with his 17th home run, and the other runs came across on an infield grounder. Gonzalez scored as Larry Brown grounded to second baseman Jerry Lumpe, and Duke Sims raced home as the Tigers tried in vain to nail Siebert in a rundown.

Jerry Kindall's leadoff pinch each capped two doubles, supplied Minnesota [illegible] hit homer off [illegible] Dave McNally's five-hitter in the Pelican Addition [illegible] Jimmie Hall singled in Zoilo Versalles with the winning run.

The Orioles' first run with [illegible] A bunt single by Paul Blair sent Boog Powell to second. Powell moved to third on Brooks Robinson's grounder to Versalles and scored on Frank Robinson's single.

Jerry Adair's run-scoring single climaxed a four-run, eighth-inning uprising that gave Baltimore the first-game victory. Brooks Robinson drove out starter Dean Chance with a two-run double in the inning.

Robinson and Dick Brown [illegible] Boston's Carl Yastrzemski homer against Eddie Fisher in the 13th. Tresh earlier singled in a run. The White Sox tied the game in the ninth on singles by Dave Nicholson, Smoky Burgess and Danny Cater. For Burgess, it was his 109th career pinch hit.

Moorehead brought in Jim Gosger with the run that put Boston ahead of Kansas City to stay. Moorehead, however, needed relief help from Dick Radatz. Bert Campaneris set an Athletics' club record by stealing his 38th base.

Chambers Is Picked For Title

DALLAS (AP)—East Chambers was picked Wednesday to win the state Class A schoolboy football championship, rounding out a list that would hand the four titles to South Texas teams.

Representative coaches, interviewed at the Texas Coaching School, have come up with Baytown for Class AAAA, Pharr-San Juan-Alamo for Class AAA, Palacios for Class AA and East Chambers for Class A.

It is believed this may be the first time one section was picked to win all the championships.

Palacios would be the only school to repeat with the title. Garland won Class AAAA, Palestine AAA, Palacios AA and Archer City A last year.

The Class coaches put the bee on East Chambers and Coahoma for the finals and figured East Chambers, with a dozen lettermen and 13 starters, six offensive and six defensive would emerge with the title.

Coahoma, with 17 lettermen and five regulars, was favored to reach the finals from the upper bracket.

These were selected for district championships:

1—Sunray, 2—White Deer, 3—Hale Center, 4—Crosbyton, 5—Plains, 6—Coahoma, 7—Fabens, 8—Big Lake, 9—Goldthwaite, 10—DeLeon, 11—Crowell, 12—Keller, 13—Clifton, 14—Forney, 15—Wylie, 16—Honey Grove, 17—Jefferson, 18—Quitman, 19—White Oak, 20—Shelbyville, 21—Elkhart, 22—Rosebud, 23—Waco Midway, 24—Lexington, 25—Bastrop, 26—East Chambers, 27—Barbers Hill, 28—East Bernard, 29—Three Rivers, 30—Bandera, 31—Woodsboro, 32—Rio Hondo.

Tulsa Wins Second Game From Spurrs

By The Associated Press

Tulsa narrowed Dallas-Fort Worth's Eastern Division Texas League lead to 2½ games Wednesday night by defeating the Spurs 9-6.

Albuquerque lost its second game in a row to Austin, 2-1, but maintained a comfortable 13-game lead in the Western Division.

El Paso defeated Amarillo 5-2 for Amarillo's 10th straight defeat.

The Tulsa Oilers struck for all their runs in the first four innings, sparked by Billy Wolff's three-run homer in the bottom of the first.

Herb Hippauf, winning his 12th game for Austin, yielded just one run, it unearned, to Amarillo.

Austin's two-run spree in the second was all the Braves scored but it was enough.

El Paso gained three runs on three homers—two by Jerry Thomas and one by Pete Gongola—to hand Amarillo its 10th straight defeat.

The Mets won a total of three games in Los Angeles, Milwaukee and Philadelphia out of 27 played in 1964.

Cowboys On Schedule In Practice Session

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys plan to continue twice-daily drills through Friday, with an intrasquad game Saturday.

"Over-all, the offense is shaping up rather well," coach Tom Landry said after Wednesday's practice sessions. "We have most of it in and the execution and timing are starting to improve."

The National Football League club meets the Los Angeles Rams in a pre-season game Aug. 14 in Los Angeles.

Civil Rights Act Climaxes Years Of Little Progress

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1965 Civil Rights Act, now approved by Congress, is the child of delay and obstruction, the fourth of its kind in eight years. But this one is stronger than the rest and should work better.

The three earlier acts, among other things, were aimed at protecting Negroes' rights by enabling them to vote, particularly in the South. The new measure deals only with voting rights. The delay in reaching the goal is typical of what happened to Negroes for more than half a century.

For decades after the Supreme Court in 1896 declared it constitutional to segregate the Negro, he remained the shoved-aside man in American life and continued that way pretty much until after World War II.

Until then any government action to treat him equally or protect his rights came almost entirely from the Supreme Court which bit by bit began to undo the 1896 segregation decision.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration recommended no civil rights legislation — and Congress enacted none — but in 1941 he did crack down a bit on discrimination by companies and unions doing government work.

The change began in 1946 when President Harry S. Truman created a committee on civil rights to see how protections for Negroes could be improved. In 1948 the committee proposed laws against discrimination in voting, among other things.

In the 1948 presidential campaign Truman promised civil rights legislation if he won. He did and tried to make good in 1949 but Southern senators filibustered his civil rights bill to death.

He also ordered equality of treatment in the armed forces. This took time. And it wasn't until 1962 that the Defense Department called for abolition of all-white and all-Negro units in the reserves.

The great watershed in civil rights came on May 17, 1954 when the Supreme Court, overturning the 1896 ruling, banned segregation in public schools and declared segregation unconstitutional.

The court has followed a straight line ever since in wiping out segregation.

But it wasn't until the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1957 that Congress passed a civil rights act, the first since 1875.

It was mild, with delay and frustration built into it. It created a Civil Rights Commission permanently and, among other things, sought to protect Negro voting rights.

Under a 19th century law a Negro who felt discriminated against because of his color when he tried to vote could appeal to a federal court. This was a slow process and something few Negroes could afford.

The 1957 act said the attorney general could help out by filing a suit for the government in such a case. It proved so slow that in 1959 the Civil Rights Commission wanted the law improved.

It suggested the federal government be allowed to appoint registrars to register Negroes when local registrars refused. This got sidetracked until now. The idea is built into the 1965 act.

So Congress passed another act in 1960. This one would let a federal court, after a suit, order a Negro registered if it found a pattern of discrimination. This was a long way around. Some suits took years.

In 1961 the Civil Rights Commission had another idea: Ban literacy tests used to prevent Negro voting. This was made part of the 1965 act, too.

Meanwhile, in 1964 Congress approved its third civil rights law. This tried to improve on the 1960 act by narrowing down the way in which Southern registrars could use literacy tests to prevent Negro voting. Still slow.

President Johnson asked Congress in person for still another and better civil rights act last March after the nation was shocked by the treatment given Negro demonstrators in Selma, Ala., by State Police and a local posse.

Soiled Pants A Problem In Russia

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MOSCOW (AP) — It takes an edict from the presidium to get a pair of pants cleaned and pressed in the Soviet Union.

Consider the trials of the American visitor who checked into one of the largest and most modern hotels only to find he had coffee and food stains on his trousers.

He did what come naturally. He picked up the phone and called, "Valet."

Valet?

The hotel desk was thrown into consternation. What is valet? An English interpreter couldn't help.

After a half hour of futile wrangling, the guest strode to the foyer and tried to explain in person.

"Clean and press," he said, pointing to his trousers.

After about two hours, during which the visitor was served with soap and towel and two interpreters from the Intourist Bureau, the message finally got across.

The pants were left at the service desk.

Three hours later, returning to his room, the American found the pants — untouched — on his table, wrapped in a three-day-old issue of the government paper Izvestia.

He got on the phone. More wrangling. "Take them to the second floor," he was told.

Finally, a girl took the pants, collected one ruble — $1.11 — and said the guest would have the garment back in three days.

"I must," the man said, "I am leaving for Warsaw Monday."

Saturday came. No pants. Sunday, still no pants. The girl who contracted to do the job was not at home. She may be sick, the hotel said, and may be not back for a week or so.

"But the pants?" the man asked. He got a shrug.

Another round of conferences ensued. The entire staff of the hotel, it seemed, was rushing around attempting to find the missing pants. Phones rang. People jabbered excitedly.

Intourist which handles travel, accommodations and other problems of visitors to the Iron Curtain countries, came to the rescue.

"When the pants are located," an employe said coldly "they will be sent to the U.S. ambassador in Warsaw."

The ambassador to Warsaw has been told to be on the lookout for a pair of gray slacks, freshly washed, ironed, starched —and unwearable.

Junior Editors Quiz on TALKING BIRDS

QUESTION: Why is it that parrots and parakeets can talk?

• • •

ANSWER: Dictionaries give several definitions of the verb 'talk'. One is to express ideas through speech. Our picture shows that a parrot does not express ideas — in other words, he doesn't know what he is talking about. But another dictionary definition of talk is to make sounds suggesting speech. Defined this way, the parrot in our picture is talking. He talks because he possesses the ability of imitating sounds he hears. Like many birds, a parrot is noisy, and seems to enjoy making many sounds. He has a differently shaped bill from those of other birds, and inside it, a differently shaped tongue, thick and fleshy. The large bill is used to crack nuts and the large tongue to manipulate cracked nuts inside the mouth. This means that the tongue has become very movable, so that a parrot can manipulate sounds as he makes them. He can create many varieties of sound in this way. To get parrots to talk well, it is necessary to train them. The trainer covers the cage and pronounces the words he wants the parrot to learn a number of times, pronouncing them in exactly the same way each time.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Copy the toy parrot in lower left on white paper, making it about five inches tall. Color according to picture. Cut out, tape weight to tail. Now Poll will sit on your finger, which fits in the opening. If you're a ventriloquist, Poll will talk. 8-5

Buildup Effects Nation's Economy

EDITOR'S NOTE — President Johnson's request to Congress for more money to pay for the war in Viet Nam focuses attention on the impact of the war on the American economy. This story, based on an Associated Press survey, details economic effects in many of the nation's industrial centers.

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's military buildup for the war in Viet Nam is already having some economic effect in increased production and pay rolls, an Associated Press survey of industrial areas and defense buying policies showed today.

A Hartford, Conn., firm plans to hire as many as 500 additional workers to handle helicopter contracts. Aerospace employment is up in the Los Angeles area. A Rochester, N.Y., firm reports sales to government and defense contractors "in strong vein." A Philadelphia firm reports, "We already are feeling this acceleration." These are a few of the effects reported.

But other areas report no step-up. The evidence still is too fragmentary to show what overall impact the war — already costing the United States $3 million to $4 million a day — will have on the American economy.

Certainly some of the production increase disclosed by checks around the country is the result of the U.S. effort in Viet Nam, as well as a general military buildup. And Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Wednesday the Pentagon is "preparing to gear up the production machine."

In Viet Nam, ammunition is being expended in increasing quantities. Aircraft, automotive equipment, communications sets, clothing and other items wear out from usage and must be replaced. But the Defense Department and many of the manufacturers are unable or unwilling to say what portion of the daily spending rate is attributable to production needs for Viet Nam.

One thing seemed certain: Procurement of military goods is going to increase.

McNamara, presenting the administration's request to Congress Wednesday for a $1.7-billion increase in the fiscal 1966 budget, gave that indication. He said his department hasn't had sufficient time to prepare detailed requirements and plans for the additional materiel and facilities needed for the support of the expanding operations in Southeast Asia."

A check shows the curious fact that while the war in Viet Nam grew more fierce in the first six months of this year, Pentagon expenditures for all types of procurement decreased from the same period a year ago. The January-June period this year saw expenditures totaling $5.6 billion, which compared with $7.9 billion for the like period last year.

When asked why, spokesmen suggested several factors influenced the trend, including the tapering off this year in procurement of Minuteman missiles as that program neared completion and a lower rate of spending for the Polaris missile fleet which also is beginning to approach completion.

Names Tax Panel

AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith appointed three senators Wednesday to the interim committee on state and local tax policy. They are Galloway Calhoun Jr. of Tyler, David Ratliff of Stamford and Jack Strong of Longview.

OFF TO YOUTH CONVENTION—This group, representing Christian Churches in Snyder and Colorado City, left Wednesday for Texas Christian University where they are among some 1,300 attending the 22nd annual Texas Youth Convention of Christian Churches. The event is sponsored by the Texas Association of Christian Churches, and this year's unified promotion theme, "From Intention to Achievement," highlights the convention. Sponsors of the youth group at First Christian Church in Snyder are Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bruce and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stone. First row, from left, are Roger Hartman, Cathy Hill, Marsha Ainsworth, Susan Clark, Cheril Stevenson and Diane Lehman; second row, Dale Bynum, Kent Noble, Tom Duke, Craig Bell, Keith Noble and Freddie Johnston. Also attending is Kris Stevenson, who left two days earlier to attend a two-day state officers meeting preceding the convention.

ON REAPPORTIONMENT

Dirksen Plans Another Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen says he will try again for Senate approval of his constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment, despite Wednesday's defeat.

The margin of defeat — seven votes short of the requisite two-thirds majority — was greater than had been expected. But when the Senate Republican leader was asked whether he was giving up, he replied, "A loud no."

He said his next attempt might be to substitute his amendment, which would override the Supreme Court's ruling that legislatures must be apportioned wholly by population, for the administration bill to repeal the union shop provision of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Dirksen's proposed amendment would permit apportionment of one house to take geography and political subdivisions as well as population into account if the people of a state approved in a referendum.

Sens. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., and William Proxmire, D-Wis., all leaders of the opposition — predicted any effort to revive it would be beaten even more decisively.

On the showdown vote, after three weeks of debate, the tally was 57 for Dirksen's proposal and 39 against. Constitutional amendments require a two-thirds majority.

Voting for the amendment were 29 Republicans and 28 Democrats. Voting against it were 36 Democrats and 3 Republicans.

Opponents were obviously jubilant at the outcome of a fight that broke out soon after the supreme court's split decision in June last year.

Dirksen had maneuvered his proposal before the Senate three weeks ago by offering it as a substitute for a resolution to designate Aug. 31-Sept. 6 as national American Leagion baseball week.

Dirksen resorted to this strategy after failing to win Senate Judiciary Committee approval of his amendment. The committee was deadlocked 8 to 8.

Douglas said legislatures now should proceed with reapportionment in accordance with the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote mandate.

Dirksen, in a final appeal to the Senate to vote for his amendment, said that all he was contending for was to "let the people decide" the controversy over legislative apportionment.

"One day Congress is going to have to act in this matter," he said, "if it is going to save the federal-state system."

Desalting Plants May Soon Serve Cities Around World

By RONALD THOMPSON

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP)—Research in converting ocean water into consumable liquid has reached a point that conversion plants soon will serve cities around the globe, a top government official says.

Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall told ambassadors from 30 foreign countries here Wednesday this nation is ready to give them any information available to assist in desalination planning.

Udall escorted the ambassadors through the Saline Water Conversion Demonstration Plant, built here by the Department of Interior in 1961.

The plant, which supplies 1.1 million gallons of water daily to the city of Freeport and Dow Chemical Co., takes water from the Gulf of Mexico, boils it and turns out water more pure than some public water supplies.

The cost is the drawback. Officials said it costs $1 to produce 1,000 gallons of converted water, about five times the normal cost of the precious liquid.

But they point out that the $1 per 1,000 probably can be trimmed in half if the plant is enlarged and its efforts focused primarily on production, rather than a dual mission of production and research.

The city of Freeport now pays 20 cents of the $1 cost per 1,000, Dow Chemical, 30 cents, and the government absorbs the 50-cent loss.

The $1.3 million Freeport plant was the first conversion facility in the government research project. Since its completion, other plants have been built on the East and West coasts and inland.

Udall pointed out that desalination does not include merely ocean water. There are many lakes of underground brackish water still untapped, he said.

"The program has reached the point in the basic research that we can now move into the new phase of building new plants," Udall said. "These plants can serve small communities and large industrial cities all over the world."

Udall spoke as the foreign dignitaries stood amid the complex of boilers that makes up the Freeport plant. They returned to Washington aboard a presidential jet following a four-hour stay in Texas.

The State Department arranged the tour after several ambassadors expressed an interest in the desalting research.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — Well, sure enough here came a whole flock of letters asking how retirement is going these days around Mexico. And most everybody wants to know where retirement colonies are located, what prices are involved and all sorts of details about the Cuernavaca colony.

Cuernavaca has been one of the select spots since the days of Maximilian due to its Spring climate. Never hot nor cold. However, there is a new colony getting under construction there. Or maybe I should say a colony. People in the past have just drifted in, picked up a house and settled down.

A group of private enterprise gentlemen has begun a real retirement colony however, situated on the hillsides overlooking the city. This is about the extent of my knowledge except that plans show shopping centers and all the fur-lined conveniences. The builders say buying prices and facilities will be modest because construction in Mexico is cheaper. If you want complete details on house-types, how much and other items, I'd suggest you write Manuel Lozano Gallo, Madero 47-6 piso, Mexico City.

Any restrictions on bringing jewelry, cameras to Mexico for visit?

None within the bounds of reason. You can bring your personal items with no problems. Naturally, if you try to come through customs with 30 pounds of sapphires and a dozen new cameras, they are apt to ask you a number of questions.

* * *

Regulations on bringing new clothing into Mexico?

You work it within the bounds of reason again. If the clothes are for your personal use, list them as personal effects on the customs declaration. You can bring a few things as gifts for relatives or friends. Restrictions in this field are generally limited to residents of Mexico.

* * *

Best to change U.S. money for Mexican currency at border or after you get inside Mexico?

I would suggest carrying travelers checks and changing what you need as you go along. Border rates give you less pesos for dollars although it doesn't amount to much unless you work in big figures. Hotels also give lower rates of exchange all over the country. Best to unload your travelers checks at banks.

* * *

Climate in Zihuatanejo?

Tropical the year around. Just bring your bathing suit plus whatever you need to arrive and leave in.

* * *

Have heard it is unsafe for foreigners to invest in Mexico. Any opinions on this?

You hear all sorts of things but few of the scare reports are worth paying attention to. The government here guarantees foreign investments with a big seal and colored ribbons and a great deal of outside money is coming into the country.

Pair Picked For Training

Two Snyder airmen have been selected for technical training at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, as USAF communications wiring specialists.

They are Gary E. Bergeron, son of the Mr. and Mrs. Elvis J. Bergeron, 2708 Forty-second Street, and Kenneth R. Dower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Dower, 3201 Fortieth Street.

Airman Third Class Bergeron and Airman Third Class Dower both completed basic military training recently at Lackland AFB. Their new school is part of the Air Training Command which conducts hundreds of specialized courses to provide technically - trained personnel for the nation's aerospace force. Both are 1965 graduates of Snyder High School.

Sgt. Bridwell Now At Base In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — S-Sgt. Arnold W. Bridwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon U. Bridwell, 602 Thirty - third Street, Snyder, has arrived for duty at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev., after a tour of service in England.

Sgt. Bridwell, an air police supervisor, has been assigned to the Tactical Air Command which provides combat reconnaissance, aerial firepower and assault airlift for U. S. Army forces.

Sinatra, Mia Farrow Stir Rumors

By JAMES CALOGERO

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Singer Frank Sinatra, 49, and TV actress Mia Farrow, 19, are vacationing aboard a luxurious, 168-foot yacht amid rumors that they are about to be married.

The couple dined Wednesday night at a restaurant on a moonlit harbor of Martha's Vineyard Island, and were joined by actresses Claudette Colbert, Merle Oberon, Rosalind Russell and their husbands.

When the party left the dinner table, Sinatra put his arm around the young actress who portrays Allison Mackenzie in the TV drama Peyton Place, and together they walked through a garden to a motor launch and were taken out to the sleek white yacht.

In answer to newsmen's questions, both Sinatra and Miss Farrow refused to say whether they are already or are about to be married, but rumors on the island persisted.

One was that the couple would be married today at the farm estate of actor James Cagney in Chilmark, one of the island's six towns.

Some insisted that "Sinatra and Farrow already were married." Others said they just "behaved as though they would be."

The couple and their party left the chartered yacht, "Southern Breeze," Wednesday for a shopping tour of the picturesque island. The Southern Breeze is owned by C. W. Edwards of Houston, Tex.

Later at dinner, both were dressed informally. Sinatra wore dark slacks, a light jacket and a turtle-neck shirt. Miss Farrow, a blue-eyed, freckled blonde, wore a beige dress and a darker beige double-knit jacket.

Sinatra has been married twice, the last time to actress Ava Gardner. If he and Miss Farrow are married soon it would be the second marriage involving film stars within a few weeks. Cary Grant, 61, recently married Dyan Cannon, 27.

Miss Farrow is the daughter of actress Maureen O'Sullivan and the late director John Farrow.

Dollar Price Of Gold Is Hiked

LONDON (AP) — The dollar price of gold jumped 1.875 cents an ounce on the bullion exchange today to $35.19125 — the highest since November 1961.

Dealers said there was a very good demand from speculators who appeared to be gambling once again that the pound sterling will be devaluated.

Much of the demand came from European financial centers.

The official price of gold is $35 an ounce.

The pound again came under pressure on the monetary exchange. At the opening the price for immediate delivery slumped one-eighth of a cent from Wednesday night's closing $2.79-32 to $2.79-1-32.

A few buying orders came in then and shortly before noon the price rose 1-32 of a cent.

Dealers said the forward market in pounds — pounds being bought for future delivery — was particularly depressed with an almost complete lack of buyers. Finally the Bank of England stepped in on the buying side and the forward market improved slightly.

Two Killed In Ft. Stockton Crash

FORT STOCKTON, Tex. (AP) —Two San Antonio residents were killed and three other persons suffered injuries in the collision of a station wagon and a car late Wednesday.

The headon crash 15 miles west of here killed Harold Eichhorn and Mrs. Julia Warnken. They were riding in a station wagon driven by her husband, Vernon Warnken.

Warnken was injured along with Mrs. Florine Eichhorn, wife of one of the victims, and Robert Whitaker of Fort Stockton, the other driver.
