It's true...you don't know what you've got til it's gone!

And boy, is my stuff gone! You see, my computer hard drive crashed. Those who work with computers know exactly what I'm saying and shudder in horror at the thought.

Those who don't are either saying "Who Cares?" or wondering what I mean.

What I mean is that without warning my computer's little brain ceased to function...lost it's mind...was brainwashed blank and clean!

To begin with, while my machine was at the repairman's I felt stripped of my ability to function. Working on someone else's machine just didn't satisfy my need for order...it was like drinking a soft drink when what you crave is iced tea!

After I had the computer fixed I realized that I was in a fix too!

My notes for my columns, my stationary, my ads, my files, my newsrack counts...everything I keep tucked away so conveniently in the memory of my computer was gone, gone gone.

I felt lonely and exposed. Things weren't right in my world...they still aren't.

Now, I'm supposed to always back up really important things to a diskette. I had put some things on there...but the things that change weekly I never gave a thought to.

So, here I am, trying to re-establish all my stuff. About the time I think I have laboriously managed to recreate a file, duplicate an ad or set up a new list of something or other I discover something else that has vanished into the black hole of computer hard drive crash!

So I keep working, feeling every time that surely I must have managed to get all things back to normal...and everytime finding out within another hour or so that there is yet another piece of valuable information no longer available at the tips of my fingers.

Which all brings to my mind just how terribly dependent upon these handy-dandy little machines we are!

If I'm this devoted to the things...how much more devoted must those who work for book-keeping services, credit card companies, utilities, indeed virtually every form of business today be?

Well, all I can say is...we better hope that some disaster doesn't wipe all the hard drives in the world clean at one time

Bogata Students Receive Reading Awards At PJC

Students of Bogata Elementary and Jr. High School who earned the A. M. Aikin, Jr. Reading Achievement Award for 1992-93 were treated to a trip to Paris Junior College on Monday, May 10. They enjoyed a tour of the Aikin Archives where they saw their names inscribed in a book listing the winners of the award from area schools. Senator Aikin's sister, Mrs. Esther Aikin Dickey, shared her remembrances of her brother's life with the students. She was introduced by Ms. Daisy Harville, Archivist. The students then browsed among the many awards, pictures and other memorabilia of Senator Aikin and viewed a replica of his Senate office.

Ms. Lulane Caraway, Director of Library Services, also gave the students a tour of the PJC Learning Center.

To earn this award, students had to read ten books of certain types and make written reports on them. Each year a student earns this award, he receives a certificate which is given out at the end of the year at the awards assembly.. This reading program is open to students in the fourth through eighth grades. Those students who earned this award for the first time this year are Jamie Daniels, Jennifer Hays, Daniel Lee, April Elrod, Tanya Harris, Chase Huddleston, Broderick Fulbright, Beth McCain, Bonnie Phillips, and Tabitha Jones.

Mrs. Pettit Donates Quilt

In response to the story in last week's paper about Mrs. Tuck and Linda Eilers selling quilt squares to raise money for Reverend E. R. Reynolds, who is in need of a kidney transplant, Mrs. Jimmie Pettit, of Bogata, donated a quilt made by her mother, Mrs. Hattie Butler. If you will remember, Mrs. Tuck's quilt was to be kept and given to a family, whose home had burned. Now that there are two quilts, those who bought squares on Mrs. Tuck's quilt will have their name put in a hat, and a drawing will be held for Mrs. Butler's quilt. This could possibly cause more people to buy squares. Please contact Linda Eilers to buy a square. There are some left.

Country Cooking

By Judy Screws

This week we went to Blossom to visit in the home of Sandy and Jerry Patterson. Sandy works at WalMart in Paris, in the Shoe department. Jerry works for P.J.'s Trailers. They have two sons. Leo 11, is in the 4th grade at Blossom, and nine year old Mark is in the third grade. Leo played basketball. Sandy said she enjoys going to ballgames.

As you can see, my information is sparse. I would ask Sandy a question and she would either answer with "Yes Ma'am", or she would answer with one word. I know now how Johnny Carson used to feel when he would ask a guest a question and instead of elaborating on the answer, they would answer with one syllable words. I saw all the beautiful plants sitting and hanging all over the place, so I said "Do you enjoy plants?" She nodded her head. I asked what her hobbies were. She told me that they were house plants, cooking and sewing. I asked what she liked to cook. She told me that she liked to cook easy things. I asked her what she liked to sew. She said that she hadn't learned much about sewing but she likes to make shorts and tops. I asked her if she was learning by just buying patterns and reading instructions. She said that she doesn't cut them out, she just calls her mama and tells her what she wants, and she cuts them out without a pattern. Then Sandy sews them up. Then I hit the jackpot. I asked her about her mother. That was all it took to get her to talking. Her mother's name is Dorothy Holland, and she lives in Ft. Smith, Arkansas. Jerry's mother is Stella Wooten, who lives in Powderly. Sandy does most of her cooking on week ends when Jerry is at home, and they enjoy Mexican Food and Home-made Pizza.

The Pattersons have a Schnauzer named Ashley. While we were talking, Leo brought in a baby bird who had fallen from the nest. Sandy took it and was rubbing its back and talking with it when we left.

Sandy is sharing her peanut brittle recipe, her hot cocoa mix, and her Ice Box Cookies recipes with us. She gets most of her recipes from her mother and Jerry's mother.

Maybe next time I'll ask my last question first. Or maybe I'll ask about Mamas first. I think we could have talked all night after I got to that very important subject.

Thanks for letting me visit, Sandy. I really enjoyed it.

Social Security Notes

By Ray Hudson
District Manager

May is Older American Month. This year, during May, Older Americans Month will once again salute the contributions of older persons and signal a commitment to renewed efforts to enhance the quality of life for the nation's senior citizens.

Today, the elderly account for an increasing percentage of the world's population. In the United States, the population aged 65 and older grew at a rate more than twice that of the population as a whole during the 1980's and the trend will accelerate as the Baby Boom generation begins to reach retirement age in the early part of the 21st century.

One of the most important links that older Americans have to their government is Social Security. In the Paris service area (including Lamar, Titus, Camp, Delta, Morris, Franklin and Red River Counties) senior citizens receive $8,763,000 each month in Social Security benefits. The other services that we provide to older Americans are important as well. For example, out two offices in Paris and Mr. Pleasant processes about 150 new retirement and survivors claims every month, and answers hundreds of questions about Social Security and many general questions about Medicare, help people sign-up for direct deposit, and keep our beneficiaries' records up-to-date by processing changes of address and other reports.

For information or assistance, visit or call your nearest Social Security office, or call the toll free number, 1-800-772-1213 business days between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.

FmHA Has Loan Funds Available For Some

The Farmers Home Administration has loan funds to help members of socially disadvantaged groups, including minorities, buy land for farming or operate farms in Lamar County, Joan M. Salisbury, said today.

Under this program enacted by congress, socially disadvantaged populations are Hispanics, Native Americans, African Americans, Asians and Pacific Islanders.

FmHA tries to find members of those groups who are interested in farming and can qualify for an FmHA farm ownership loan. The agency can sell or lease to those who are eligible a farm held in its inventory or make a loan for purchase of land on the open market, Salisbury said.

FmHA can also provide other loan assistance, including operating loans, and advice, if needed, to help the borrower get started.

Persons who think they may be eligible, whether they already are in farming or would like to become farmers, are urged to contact the Farmers Home Administration county office in their area.

Talking About

Teachers

A Brief Glimpse
At The Lives Of Those Who
Educate At Rivercrest

Mrs. Bobbie Williams

Rivercrest Teacher of the Week

Bobbie Williams, Resource English and Math teacher, has been teaching for eighteen and one half years. She has spent 14 of those years at Rivercrest.

When asked what she enjoys most about her job, Mrs. Williams said that it is using individualization and small group strategy to help each student, and assisting students toward career preparedness. As with any job, teaching has its not so fun side also. For Mrs. Williams this is the mounds of paperwork required.

Mrs. Williams and her husband, Eddie, have two children, Karen and Eddie Jr.

The teacher reads and listens to music for relaxation. Among her favorites are cheeseburgers, the color blue, and Bill Cosby.

Mrs. Williams commented that she enjoys seeing all students participate in extra curricular activities, and enjoys sharing their enthusiasm.

Congressman Jim Chapman Speaker For Field Day

A field day scheduled for Wednesday, June 2, 1993, at the East Texas Plant Materials Center near Nacogdoche, features guided tours of the Center. Continuous tours start at 9:00 a.m. and resume after lunch at 3:00 p.m. Congressman Jim Chapman, the featured speaker, will discuss current agricultural issues at the noon lunch break.

The Center serves almost 50 million acres of eastern Texas and Western Louisiana. Native and introduced plants are collected for testing. After selecting the best strains, cultural techniques are developed to provide and promote their use to address soil and water conservation problems. The tour will show several plant species under evaluation at the East Texas Plant Materials Center.

The USDA-Soil Conservation Service operates or assists with the operation of 26 Plant Materials Centers nationwide. About 300 plants have been released through centers since 1939 and about 200 are still commercially available today.

Livestock producers, timber managers, mining and utility company representatives, conservation district directors, seed dealers, seed/plant growers, extension agents, wildlife enthusiasts, and others interested in the search for and release of better plants for soil and water conservation needs are invited to attend.

Advance registration for tours and prepaid lunch should be made by May 25, 1993. Cost of the meal is $6.50, including tax. Contact Stephen F. Austin State University Agriculture Department, P.O. Box 13000, SFA Station, Nacogdoches, TX 75962, telephone 409-568-3705, regard for race, color, national origin, age, sex, marital status, or handicap.

Rebates Offered To Customers Who Buy Heat Pumps

Texas-New Mexico Power Company recently announced changes in the rebates it offers to customers who purchase high efficiency heat pumps for central heating and cooling.

Under the new rebate structure, heat pumps must have a minimum Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio (SEER) of 12.0 to qualify for a rebate. If the unit is equipped with a two-speed or variable speed compressor, the minimum SEER is 11.0.

The new rebates are $200 per qualifying heat pump. A company spokesperson said the changes were implemented to simplify the rebate program and to raise the standards above the federally mandated standards placed on heating and air conditioning manufacturers.

Rebates of $200 are also being offered for high efficiency central air conditioning systems. Central air conditioning systems also must have an SEER of at least 12.0. Customers can contact their nearest TNP office for more information about rebates for heat pumps or central air conditioning systems.

A heat pump supplies heating in the winter and air conditioning in the summer. The reason it is so energy-efficient for heating is that it uses electricity to transfer heat, not to create it.

In the summer, a heat pump absorbs heat from indoor air and "pumps" or transfers it outdoors. In the winter, the reverse happens. Heat is absorbed from the cold outdoor air and transferred indoors. This is possible because even at 0 °F, the outdoor air contains almost 80% of the heat it has at 100°F. When the outdoor temperature approaches freezing, some types of heat pumps rely on a supplemental back-up heating system to help keep a house warmer.

High efficiency heat pumps can offer significant savings to customers who are needing to replace older resistant heating systems or air conditioning equipment, according to research done by the Texas Energy Extension Agency. For instance, by using a high efficiency heat pump to replace an electric furnace and cooling system with an SEER of about 5, a customer can reduce the amount of energy it uses for heating and cooling by about half.

This makes a noticeable difference in overall energy use since heating and cooling are generally the single biggest energy users in a home. Recent advances in heat pump technology have also helped reduce the amount of energy needed for heating and cooling.

One of these advances is the variable speed compressor and fan. Heat pumps using variable speed compressors and indoor fans keep temperatures within 1 degree of the desired thermostat setting. They do so by cycling on and off at a rate and speed dictated by the temperature difference between the house and the thermostat. A regular compressor has to turn on and off at full speed to correct even a minor sway in the temperature settings.

FREE GAS AT THIS PUMP

Ever wonder where you're losing those extra miles per gallon your dealer promised you? The fact is, Americans lose over two million gallons of gas every day to low tire pressure. Have you checked yours lately? President Bush thanks you for helping.

Even outdoor play needs guidelines to keep your children safe — especially if power lines are nearby. A tree might be fun to climb, but it could also cause serious injury if the child or the tree limbs can come into contact with a power line.

For more information about power line safety, call or visit your local Texas-New Mexico Power Company office and ask for the free brochure, "Straight Talk about Electrical Safety."

Waterways Control Gullies

The 1985 and 1990 Farm Bill required landowners that farmed highly erodible land to make some changes in their operations. Many landowners were only required to change their cropping system, while others had to install structural practices. The aforementioned items were required to maintain government program eligibility.

Farmers in Red River County Soil and Water Conservation District are shaping waterways to use as terrace outlets, while others shape waterways to eliminate ugly gullies in the pastures and fields.

Gullies allow valuable land to be washed away every time it rains, and Red River County has exceeded its normal average rainfall the past several years. Good topsoil becomes silt, which can carry nutrients and chemicals into our lakes and streams. Gullies may be shaped to stop erosion and to allow farm equipment to pass over without any trouble.

Landowners should immediately sprig or seed the shaped area to grass to prevent further erosion. In pastures, grazing should be limited on the acres shaped until the grass is well set. Grass waterways should be established on cropland to carry off the terrace water at a safe speed. A good terrace system is practically worthless without a properly constructed and vegetated waterway.

Cost-sharing is available for waterway shaping through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service at a 50% rate.

The Soil Conservation Service will provide the design, layout and final checks to Agricultural Conservation Program participants and/or district co-operators as needed. Interested landowners may contact the Soil Conservation Service for more information on waterways at 1606 East Main Street, in Clarksville, or call 903-427-2975.

A Service of Transamerican Diagnostic Services
(Providing Mammography Services For Over 5 Years)

1-800-633-6452 FOR APPOINTMENT

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of nine women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Guidelines For Screening Mammography Established by the American Cancer Society.

- I. 35-40 years of age-One baseline mammogram.
- II. 40-50 years of age-A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor.
- III. 50 years of age and over-An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.
- IV. A symptomatic woman under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.

V. A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $60.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, Visa, Mastercard and American Express.

Texas-New Mexico Offers Bank Drafting To Customers

Texas-New Mexico Power Company is now offering an automated bank drafting service to qualifying customers who would like their checking accounts drafted each month for the amount of their electric bill.

To qualify for the service, customers need to have good credit, no more than one insufficient fund check during the past 12 months, and to use a financial institution within the continental United States that accepts the automated payment method.

Automated bank drafting can be used to pay electric bills for residential and commercial customers. Customers using the program will receive a statement each month showing the amount that will be withdrawn from their account.

"This program is being offered to make it easier for customers to pay their electric bills," said Petty, Manager of TNLP's Bogata district.

"There is no extra cost to the customer, and they won't have to worry about mailing the bill or making a special trip to pay the bill in person."

Customers must authorize TNP to start the drafts. Forms are available in TNP offices and will request information such as the customer's bank name, address and account number. Customers will also need to provide a voided check to verify bank information.

Once the application is complete, TNP will require at least 30 days to verify bank information. The customer will continue to receive a regular electric bill during this period and will need to pay the bill as usual. The customer will be notified when the drafting process is ready to begin.

More information about the program is available through TNP's local office.
