Editors Hear Dire Warning

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's editors were told today there is "cause for great concern" in the rising clamor in legal circles for tighter curbs on news reporting of the courts.

The Committee on Freedom of Information of the American Society of Newspaper Editors warned that the proposed restrictions, "although aimed primarily at television," could damage all news coverage.

The committee headed by Creed C. Black, executive editor of the Wilmington (Del.) Morning News and Evening Journal, prepared the report for today's opening session of ASNE's three-day annual convention.

The nearly 500 editors registered for the meeting were invited as guests at President Johnson's late afternoon news conference in the large State Department auditorium.

The day's convention schedule also included a luncheon address by Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg and an afternoon panel on civil rights, headed by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The freedom of information report attributed the restrictive proposals by legal groups partly to the "tragic and turbulent events at Dallas"—the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the televised murder of Lee Harvey Oswald and the hectic trial that convicted Jack Ruby as Oswald's murderer.

"Of more lasting concern to us is a broader—and relatively new—element in this perennial controversy which deserves no less attention from us than it is getting from the bench and bar," Creed's committee said.

"That is the extent to which television is complicating matters for all media."

The committee noted that the New York County Lawyers' Association has declared that the "special visual impact" of television makes new measures necessary to protect the right of accused persons to a fair trial. The lawyers said they were convinced that "any reliance on voluntary restraints by the television industry are largely doomed to failure."

The emphasis on television "is not to suggest that the newspapers of America are blameless," the editors' report went on.

It said:

"Indeed, the necessity to reexamine our own shortcomings and rid our own house of irresponsibility becomes all the more urgent if we are to head off measures which—although aimed primarily at television—could affect us all and invite greater abuses in the administration of justice than those they supposedly are designed to correct.

"If developing smaller television cameras is beyond our control, we can certainly try, by our own example, to teach the electronic newsmen larger manners and a deeper understanding of the basic truth that freedom of information is not an unlimited license to trample on individual rights."

Warm, Windy Order Of Day

Pesky southerly winds buffeted Wichita Falls on gusts up to 40 miles per hour Thursday; otherwise, it was a pleasantly warm spring day.

Forecasters at the U.S. Weather Bureau said the blustery winds probably will linger through Friday. Generally, they were being clocked on speeds of 20 to 30 m.p.h. but at times were lashing out with stronger gusts.

The winds may blow in some rain. There is the possibility of thundershowers late Friday.

Temperatures under clear to partly cloudy skies Thursday were expected to climb to around 10 degrees above normal in the afternoon. The high was anticipated to be about 88 following Wednesday's warm 86 degrees.

Early Thursday morning the minimum was a mild 55 and Friday should see an even warmer daybreak with the low due in the upper 60s.

Friday will have cloudier skies but temperatures will still climb to the upper 80s.

Normal temperatures for this part of April are a maximum of 77 and a minimum of 52 degrees.

Rail Strike

Day And Night Talks Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today that the tempo of bargaining in the railroad labor dispute "will be stepped up considerably" with day and night sessions from now on.

The statement from press secretary George Reedy followed word from President Johnson that he expects to know by next Monday whether the parties to the long work rules dispute will settle it for themselves.

Johnson's statement implied a shortened deadline for a voluntary agreement to head off a threatened nationwide strike.

Reedy said the day and night sessions will continue until federal mediators make the report Johnson requested.

Reedy said the stepped-up sessions were scheduled by the mediators, headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, who are working under the personal instructions of the President.

Reedy again declined to characterize the atmosphere and the prospects of the talks, which Johnson arranged last Friday to avert a strike. A 15-day postponement Johnson won expires at 12:01 a.m. April 25.

Reedy said the talks so far have pinned down just what the issues are and "the understanding is rather good" of their nature.

Second AT&T Common Stock Split Approved

NEW YORK (AP)—Next June 22 the 2.35 million shareholders of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. will get a second share of common stock for each one now owned.

The 2-for-1 stock split, second for AT&T and probably the richest in business history in gross values involved, was approved Wednesday at the company's 79th annual meeting. The vote for the split was overwhelming—about 99.4 per cent.

The action climaxed a five-hour session attended by 4,500 members of the nation's largest stockholder family in an armory in the Bronx.

Just before the meeting, directors declared the regular $1 quarterly dividend. It is payable July 1 to stockholders of record May 28, effective day of the impending split.

The payment will be made on the old shares, not split shares, and beginning in October dividends on the split shares will be made at a rate of 50 cents a share.

Stratton Faces Early Tax Trial

CHICAGO (AP)—Government prosecutors say they will press for an early trial of William G. Stratton, former Republican governor of Illinois, who was indicted Wednesday on charges of evading payment of $46,676 in income taxes.

Edward Hanrahan, U.S. district attorney, said no date has been set for the trial of Stratton, 50, who was defeated in 1960 for a third term as governor.

Republican spokesmen called the indictment a personal matter, with no relation to the Republican party.

A federal grand jury charged that Stratton evaded payment of $46,676 in taxes on $93,595 income amassed during 1957-1960, Stratton's second and last term in office.

Stratton, in a statement, denied any wrongdoing.

Government sources refused to say what the unreported sources of income were, but they said this might be revealed during the trial. His salary as governor was $25,000 a year.

Missiles, Bombers Would Be Curtailed

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today unveiled details of its proposal for a freeze on the major powers' stocks of nuclear missiles and bombers.

In an effort to counter Soviet charges of espionage, U.S. Disarmament Delegate Adrian S. Fisher said no inventory or control of the total number of weapons held by each side would be required.

But Fisher said a rigorous control and inspection system would be set up to prevent a further buildup or improvement of stockpiles.

Fisher told the 17-nation disarmament conference the freeze was the "most significant and potentially far-reaching" of five arms control measures suggested by President Johnson on Jan. 21.

The freeze would affect:

1. Ground-based, surface - to - surface missiles with a range of more than 1,000 kilometers (621 miles) together with their launching pads.

2. Strategic bombers weighing more than 25,000 kilograms (27.5 tons) together with their air-to-surface missiles with a range of more than 100 kilometers (62 miles).

3. Strategic antimissile systems together with their launching facilities.

Fisher said he was submitting details of the proposal on direct instructions from President Johnson.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin has repeatedly rejected the freeze proposal, claiming it would install a Western control system over Soviet armaments without producing any reduction of arms stockpiles.

Fisher said the freeze should be established under an American-Soviet treaty open for signature by other powers.

Production of new types of strategic planes or missiles would be banned. Planes or missiles could be replaced as they wore out on a one-for-one basis, ruling out any increase of stockpiles. Weapons replaced would be destroyed under international control.

Testing of strategic planes and missiles also would be rigorously controlled. An agreed annual number of test and training flights would be permitted under international supervision.

Rejecting the entire proposal immediately, Tsarapkin restated all previous Soviet objections.

"I listened very carefully to Mr. Fisher's statement to try to find something new or encouraging that might eliminate the unacceptable character of the proposal," Tsarapkin declared.

"I am forced to say that the statement did not introduce anything new and does not change in any way our conviction that the freeze as outlined—without some simultaneous measure of disarmament—would not lead to any reduction of the danger of war."

FROM THREE SCHOOLS

Wichitans Rank High In Math

By LAURA T. DOING

Combined scores of three Wichita Falls high schools in the 15th Annual High School Contest sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America and the Society of Actuaries were the highest for any city in Texas.

With 211 Texas high schools entered in the mathematics contest, and as many as seven and eight from such cities as Houston and Dallas, this high mathematical ranking for Wichita Falls secondary schools has been heralded by educators over the state.

In the same contest, Wichita Falls High School ranked second among the 211 high schools in its score and a Rider High School senior, Coy May, was awarded a bronze medal for his record as a two-time winner with a score of over 50 this year.

May was one of five Texas high school youths to receive the medal.

The youth, son of Mr. and Mrs.

COY MAY

Coy F. May, 4402 Phillips, also made the highest possible score of 800 in mathematics on two college entrance tests, the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board and the Achievement Test in Advanced Mathematics of the SAT test.

Wichita Falls High School's team which earned a score of 175.75 to run second only to Paschal High in Fort Worth included Mike Donegan, sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Donegan, 2109 Arthur; Mark Medford, senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Medford, 2114 Brown and Mike Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Ford, 2006 Santa Fe.

Sophomore Donegan was 11th highest individual scorer in the state and top scorer among the Wichita Falls youths.

Hirschi High's team scored the 14th highest score in the state. They were outranked only by Wichita Falls High, Alamo Heights and Thomas Jefferson in San Antonio, Odessa Permian, Fort Worth Paschal, Greenville High, and five Houston high schools, Bellaire, Westbury, Spring Branch, St. John's, Milby and Lamar.

On the Hirschi team were Jeff Seward, junior, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Seward, 209 Polaris; Bruce Coulombe, senior;

Rescuers Find Second Body

BURKE, Idaho (AP) — Rescue workers today found the body of a second miner crushed to death in a cave-in at the Star mine here.

A mine supervisor said the 20-man rescue team found the body of Barney McCoy, 47. However, the threat of more falling rocks and sliding earth, coupled with cramped working conditions at the 6,900-foot level of the big zinc mine made recovery doubtful for some time.

Late Wednesday night, a team recovered the body of Reed Peck, 41, who was working with McCoy. His body was recovered about five hours after the accident. He had been crushed to death by the debris from a "rockburst" which sent rocks and timbers into the shaft.

Plumbers Resent Combined Listing

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Plumbers are making a federal case out of the phone company's effort to list them with sewer and drain cleaning firms.

An injunction petition brought by seven Wichita plumbers against Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., has been transferred from a state court to U.S. District Court.

The suit seeks to prevent the company from listing sewer and drain cleaning firms under the heading of "plumbers" in a new telephone directory. They claim such a listing would mislead the public.

Lone Star Gas Mailing Refunds

DALLAS (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co. is mailing refund checks to Texas industrial gas customers following a state Supreme Court ruling that dedicated reserve gas tax is unconstitutional, a spokesman said today.

Lone Star has collected the tax for 2½ years. Refunds will total $320,000, President L. T. Potter said.

Young Brothers Found Strangled, Mother Charged

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Police filed murder charges against a mother today in the death of one of her two small sons, both found strangled in the bathroom of their home.

Charged was Mrs. Mary Lou Wheeler, 27, who is separated from her husband, Leonard Wheeler.

The boys, Steven Wheeler, 10, and Frank Wheeler, 8, were found late Wednesday with belts looped around their necks. They were on the bathroom floor, each fully clothed.

The mother said she left the house after telling the boys to take a bath. When she returned 20 minutes later, she said she found their bodies and removed the belts.

Patrolman James Willborn said the boys had bruises on their necks. He said the belts were in the tub when he arrived.

Altrusa Honors Nine Civic Workers

Nine Wichita County residents were recognized by the Altrusa Club of Wichita Falls Wednesday night for their contributions to the civic, cultural, social and human welfare of their city and nation.

More than 150 people gathered at the Woman's Forum clubhouse to join the women's service club in paying tribute to Sydney A. Gaines, B. Frank Hayes, Mrs. Reuben B. Knight, Mrs. Rex Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pitzer, Lt. Col. Raymond L. Seidel and Dr. O. W. Wilson.

For Freedom

Getting a special award was Mrs. James N. Foster in memory of her late son, Marine Lt. James R. Foster, who was killed in March, 1963, when he refused to bail out of his disabled jet fighter plane rather than risk its crashing into a residential area at Scotland Neck, N.C.

Another special tribute went to Joella Terrill Butler, second vice president of Altrusa International and a long time leader in the organization on a local, district and state level.

A gold brick for the Freedom Foundation in Valley Forge was presented Mrs. Butler from the Altrusans who will have her name engraved on a permanent scroll in the foundation.

Mrs. Mary Schneider, chairman of the public affairs committee, presented the recognition certificate to Gaines for his outstanding work with crippled children in Wichita Falls and Texas.

In presenting the award, Mrs. Schneider said "for more than 30 years he has been active in this program and many children are walking because of him."

Mrs. Sara J. Landry, chairman of the information committee, presented recognition certificates to Mrs. Knight and Dr. Wilson for their service to the community.

For Mental Health

Mrs. Knight was recognized for her efforts in establishing the North Texas Mental Health Center in Wichita Falls. She is married and has three children.

Through her efforts the clinic was first established in 1961 and she is a past president of the board of directors, serving the organization for two years.

Dr. Wilson, known as "Uncle Doctor" to hundreds of former Coyote football players, was recognized for his work with the team members since coming to Wichita Falls in 1919.

During his work with the team, Dr. Wilson has missed only two home games, one because of illness and the other because his plane was grounded in Oklahoma City. He also has an 80 per cent attendance record for out-of-town games.

Mrs. Nell Haws, chairman of the vocational services committee of the club, presented recognition certificates to B. Frank Hayes and Mrs. Rex. Lehman.

Hayes was honored for his years of service as Santa Claus and also for his work in helping the less fortunate in the city and area.

For 32 years he has played Santa Claus during Christmas for many children through service agencies, churches and other organizations.

Mrs. Lehman of Iowa Park was recognized for her work with 4-H Clubs both as a participant and as a leader. For more than two decades she has worked with 4-H Clubs and other youth organizations.

She was recognized Wednesday night "for influencing young people to make the most of each opportunity afforded them."

Less Fortunate

Mrs. Lehman was one of three Texans named to receive the 4-H Alumni Recognition Awards in 1963 at College Station.

Mrs. Ethel Frady, chairman of the international relations committee, presented recognition certificates to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pitzer for their volunteer assistance to foreign students at Sheppard Air Force Base.

The couple has a group of students in their home nearly every week to acquaint them with American living and also sponsor excursions.

As Volunteers

Special guests at the dinner were families of the honorees, service club leaders and United Fund agency leaders, Mayor and Mrs. Winston Wallander, Col. and Mrs. Dalene Bailey, Helen Hooker, Louise Brown, Mrs. Shem P. Cunningham and Mrs. S. M. Gose.

Mrs. Coralee Hester, president - elect, also was introduced. Mrs. Mattie Belle Newberry served as mistress of ceremonies.

Entertainment was provided by the Four Fish, a boys quartet from Wichita Falls High School.

American Casualties Climbing In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The mounting bloodshed of South Viet Nam's guerrilla war has raised the American battle casualty rate.

In the first 4½ months of 1964, 324 American servicemen have become battle casualties —32 killed, 292 wounded and two missing. The rate has risen steadily, but if it remained what it is now, the total for 1964 could be expected to reach nearly 900.

Last year, total U.S. casualties numbered 503. The total for 1962 was 101, and in 1961 there were fewer than 10.

Since 1961, 131 Americans have been killed in action.

The majority of the American casualties have been suffered in helicopters or aircraft, which are especially vulnerable to the Communists' growing arsenal of modern weapons. Most of the enemy's antiaircraft weapons are American made, and were captured in raids and ambushes on government troops units.

Communist Viet Cong training and marksmanship also have improved markedly.

Guerrillas have set up practice ranges using dummy helicopters moved by pulleys along cables strung between trees. This helps enemy gunners learn to judge airspeed and to "lead" their fire.

When helicopters first went into service here in early 1962, guerrilla units frequently fled in panic. Now they often stand and fight, holding their fire like professionals until the helicopters are within convenient range.

Hermann Lodge To Organize

Fritz Schilo, San Antonio, grand president of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas, will officiate at dedication services of the new Wichita Falls Hermann Sons Lodge No. 40 at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Villa Motel. A dinner will follow.

The Wichita Falls Lodge, which will be for both men and women members, brings to 165 the number of Hermann Sons lodges in the state. The initial lodge was formed in San Antonio almost 103 years ago and the order now is the largest fraternal benefit society in Texas with more than 58,000 members. Its home offices are in San Antonio.

Wichita Falls drew the number "40" because it was not in use at this time, Schilo said.

The Hermann Sons order operates its own home for its aged and a youth summer camp for its junior members, both at Comfort, in the Hill Country of Texas. In a number of communities it also provides free dancing classes for junior members.

Persons interested in the lodge may contact Wolfgang at the Imperial 400 motel.

FOR DEMOCRATIC WOMEN

Prosecutor's Wife To Speak April 23

By KATRICIA COCHRAN

Mrs. Barefoot Sanders, wife of the U.S. Attorney for the northern district of Texas, will be featured speaker at an April 23 luncheon of the Democratic Women's Organization of Wichita County at which new officers for the coming year will be elected.

The noon meeting, open to all Democrats — particularly women — in the county, will be held at the Woman's Forum.

Reservations for the affair must be in by noon Tuesday and may be made by contacting Mrs. Lynn Darden, 766-0916; Mrs. Harry Joiner, 322-9021, or Mrs. Ed Majewski, 692-4773.

At the annual meeting, Mrs. Sanders will discuss "Woman's Political Role in '64."

A graduate of the University of Texas, Mrs. Sanders has gained prominence as a speaker. In addition to running a home in Dallas for her husband and four children, she has had much political experience.

Wide Experience

Mrs. Sanders took an active role in assisting her husband when he was Dallas County campaign manager in 1960 for the Kennedy - Johnson ticket.

She has also aptly handled the role of a representative's wife. Prior to his appointment as U.S. Attorney, Sanders served three terms in the Texas Legislature, as representative of Dallas County.

The newly elected officers will also be installed at the luncheon. The meeting will herald the beginning of the fourth year of the Democratic group's existence. In its tenure it has gained considerable state - wide recognition as one of the most active Democratic women's organizations in Texas.

The luncheon will be a sort of homecoming for Mrs. Sanders who was instrumental in assisting with the formation of the organization.

Members of the nominating committee which will present a slate of proposed officers include Mrs. Darden, Mrs. Joiner, Mrs. Tom Crane, Mrs. R. C. Sims, Mrs. Charles Ward Jr., and Mrs. J. Pickens Coleman, who served as an advisor.

Program

In addition to the election of officers, the chairmen of the standing committees will be appointed and introduced at the luncheon.

At a Thursday morning board meeting, held in the home of Mrs. Peggy McCullough, 2301 Farington, it was announced that at the luncheon tables will be set up to handle the acceptance of membership dues. Mrs. W. B. Huckaby will operate the membership table.

Handling the tickets at the door will be Mrs. Darden and Mrs. John Stewart.

The invocation will be delivered by Mrs. Coleman, the committeewoman for the 23rd Senatorial District. Introduction of the speaker will be by Mrs. Lyle Cherry, program chairman. Presiding at the luncheon will be Mrs. McCullough.

A telephone committee has been established to contact all members and former members of the organization to remind them of the luncheon. Additionally, a newsletter has been mailed.

WFHS Seniors Hear Principal

By CYNTRA DODDS
Teen Times Staff

"Put on your college 'cap,'" advised O. T. Freeman, principal of Wichita Falls High School, as he spoke to the WHS Senior Class this week.

Freeman explained that each letter in "cap" holds special significance for the college-bound student.

"The 'C' stands for courage—courage to finish that hard, long assignment when tempted to take the easy road and have fun," he said.

Attitude is represented by the 'A,' every student should have an open mind for learning, he told the group.

"The 'P' represents positive thinking which always helps one to succeed," the principal added.

Freeman told the May graduating seniors that they would probably succeed in their college careers if they would only put on this "cap."

Freeman, who was introduced by the senior class president, Sam Bashara, as a "special guy . . . with a thankless job," also told the students that "all good things we enjoy in life come from dreams."

He added that the student's dream today is to go into life and be successful.

To illustrate the importance of education, Freeman quoted from famous men through the ages. Among these were Oliver Goldsmith who said, "Those who think must govern those who toil," and Edmond Burke who stated, "Education is the chief defense of nations."

As Freeman told the students, "It's too late to begin preparing for college, but it's not too late to have a definite goal."

The seniors, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Merle Anthony, Miss Henryretta Sands, Robert Glenn and J. C. Cabaniss, have begun making special plans for senior activities which will begin soon. These include the senior play, May 1; senior picnic, May 22; senior night and the last day of school, May 27, and the senior banquet, May 28.

Wichitans Will Be At YWCA Meeting

Mrs. Louise Brown, executive director of the Young Women's Christian Association, and Mrs. Aaron (Flo) Ratliff, representing the YW Wives, will attend as voting delegates the National Convention of the YWCA in Cleveland, Ohio, April 20-25.

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson is scheduled to address the opening session of the meeting at 2 p.m. April 20.

The two Wichitans will make the trip by automobile.

FOR STATE PUBLICATION

Wichitan Elected Nurses' Editor

Miss Jacquelyn Monson, freshman professional nursing student in the Wichita General Hospital School of Nursing, was elected editor of the "Commentator," the publication of the Texas Nursing Students Association.

The election was held at the annual convention of the group in Corpus Christi last week. Miss Monson was one of several students from the General who attended the state meeting. Mrs. Roberta Pastusek and Mrs. Sally White, registered nurses on the faculty of the General's school, sponsored the convention group.

As editor of the "Commentator," Miss Monson will be responsible for the general content of the student publication which includes pictures as well as articles on activities of professional nursing students throughout Texas.

Students at the Wichita General Hospital School of Nursing have their own student organization as do those in most schools in the state. These organizations are affiliated with regional groups which meet several times each year in addition to participating in the state convention that is held annually.

Wichita General students have been active in a wide range of regional and state activities having held various offices as well as numerous committee responsibilities. The honor received by Miss Monson will bring a new dimension to their participation in the Texas Nursing Students Association.

Miss Monson is from Devol, Okla., where she was salutatorian of her high school class. She served as eidtor of both the annual and the school paper in addition to winning honors in mathematics and typing. Last spring she received a scholarship from the Wichita County Tuberculosis Association when she was named Future Nurse of the Year in the contest sponsored by the Wichita General Hospital Auxiliary.

Swim Instructor Classes To Open

Classes leading to certification as American Red Cross water safety instructors and aides will begin next week.

A 15-hour course, first phase leading to water safety instructor, will be held at new pool of the Young Women's Christian Association from 7-10 p.m. Tuesday.

The class will meet on five consecutive Tuesdays at these hours for a total of 15 hours. A pool fee will be charged but the instruction is free.

In order to enroll students must be at least 18 years of age or expecting to graduate from high school in May, and hold a current Red Cross senior life saving certificate.

Instructor will be Mrs. Jerry (Jan) Neal. Time and place of the second phase of this course will be announced later.

Jose Molina Draws Record Audience

By PERICLES ALEXANDER
Times Amusements Editor

Jose Molina's Bailes Espanoles Wednesday night engaged the attentions of Civic Music's largest audience of the season at Memorial Auditorium, dazzling and thrilling upwards to 1,800 members and guests with a flamenco farrago.

The small and brilliantly agile troupe punctuated the ending of another North Texas Civic Music season with an exclamation point of dance excitements.

Molina, whose name the troupe bears, is a flamenco dancer of flamboyant elegance and style who has surrounded himself with performers of equal qualities and virtuoso abilities.

He performed often and excitingly in solo numbers and with the ensemble or with Mario Del Rocio, a Castilian beauty and ignited smoldering gypsy passions in their dance numbers.

Dance Variety

Punctuated by the staccato of castanets and the dancers' machine-gun-like heelwork, the company gave savory pepper-pot performances singularly and in ensemble. There was more than a suggestion of the French "Can-Can" in the swirling of brilliantly colored skirts and the humors displayed by Maria Del Rocio, Luisa Mora, and Rocio Gomez in "La Tarantule."

In the more elegant Spanish dances, Senorita Del Rocio's sculptured body, stately stance, and exciting natural beauty came into full play and favor with the audience.

The jota, "Viva Navarra," was a colorful dance highlight, but it was Molina's solo work in the "Bolero Clasico" which transmitted the news across the footlights that the nimble, lithe Molina is the greatest exponent of his art on the horizon since Jose Greco.

Closing the first half of the concert to Manuel de Falla's "Ritual Fire Dance" was "La Argentinita" Fantasia with, of course, its built-in musical climax for a vigorous flaemco troupe like Molina's.

Top Music

Superb "orchestral" support from the piano keyboard came from Silvio Masciarelli and the all-necessary flamenco guitarist Carlos Martinez. Each also was given their place as a performing soloist on the program and both warranted more solos.

Incidentally, showing the more-than-usual interest in Civic Music's dance event, Sheppard Air Force Base sent the largest contingent ever to a Civic Music concert—80 foreign students who had been alerted to the coming of the Molina troupe.

Matching the dancing fireworks was a many-splendored wardrobe for both male and female dancers. The male dancers look as though they had been melted down and poured into their form-fitting costumes called "traje corto."

One woman in the audience exclaimed about the strikingly handsome Molina: "He looks like a Barbee doll!"

Sketches On IRS Booklet Criticized

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—No one has ever been known to break out laughing while preparing his income tax, but the Internal Revenue Service likes to pretend things aren't all that dreary.

So this year, that handy but terribly dull pamphlet, "Your Federal Income Tax," was spruced up with sketches.

You could almost sense a note of accomplishment all the way up to Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin.

But an illustration accompanying an explanation of "oil, gas and mineral depletion," struck a sour note.

Depicted is a ranch-style house, oil derricks off in the distance, curved swimming pools and girls in bathing suits front and center.

Minor S. Jameson Jr., executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, wrote Caplin the implication is clear "that the affluent life with private swimming pools is made possible, apparently exclusively, by the depletion provisions in the tax laws."

"Propaganda," said Jameson. "We see no justification for you to relate swimming pools and bikinis to oil and gas wells."

Oil country newspapers joined the protest. So did Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

Caplin insisted he is innocent. The picture was intended only "to add interest and readability to the text," he wrote Jameson, not as "propaganda against the oil and gas depletion provisions."

But the nation's No. 1 tax collector isn't in the kind of job that collects friends. So Caplin also thought it best to advise Jameson that "the illustration which you find objectionable will not be used in the future."

Protestants Study Methodist Stand

By ROBERT A. DUBILL

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Protestant church leaders sifted through a strongly worded Methodist statement today for clues to the future of a movement to unite six major churches embracing 21 million members.

A Methodist commission attending the third annual Consultation on Christian Union issued a statement Wednesday saying there were many theological and social questions that would take a long time to resolve.

"Although one must never overlook the possibility of the intervention of the Holy Spirit to bring men to a common mind," the statement said, "it is difficult at this time to judge that a plan of union of the churches is feasible during the coming quadrennium (a four-year period)."

The statement emphasized, however, that this must not be construed as closing the door to ultimate unity. A spokesman said the statement was drafted some time ago, but essentially still holds.

Methodist Bishop Glenn Phillips of Denver, Colo., had said Tuesday that union of the six denominations may take as long as 20 or 30 years to be realized.

The Methodists and Episcopalians have been meeting intermitently for three years with delegates of the United Presbyterian Church, United Church of Christ and the Disciples of Christ and Evangelical United Brethren Churches.

Spokesmen for the other denominations did not comment immediately on the Methodist statement.

Oklahoma Gas Well Capped

CALUMET, Okla. (AP) — A wild natural gas well that spewed approximately four million cubic feet of gas in this central Oklahoma area for more than two days was capped Wednesday.

The well blew out Monday and experts estimated it was leaking at a rate of about two million cubic feet every 24 hours. Twenty-six persons living in the rural area were evacuated because of the danger of fire or explosion. They have returned to their homes.

J. H. Abernathy, president of the Big Chief Drilling Co., which drilled the well for Pan American Petroleum Corp., said the well was capped about 3:30 p.m.

A hole was drilled in the pipe below the surface and a mixture of drilling mud and fibrous material was forced into the opening to plug the valve that failed.

Justice Deplores U.S. 'Conformity'

NEW YORK (AP) — Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court says the United States "has gone further down the road to conformity than most of us imagine."

Speaking Wednesday at City College of New York in Manhattan, Douglas said advertising and science are the "mouthpieces" of conformity—"levelers" whose energies must be redirected or else "each valley will be paved and each mountain will have a chairlift."

The 63-year-old justice called for national emphasis on nature to restore diversity to society. Among other things, he suggested the use of zoologists and botanists in city planning to preserve outdoor values.

DON FLANAGAN

GOP Candidate Campaigns Here

Don Flanagan, Republican candidate for Railroad Commissioner of Texas, visited Wichita Falls Thursday to meet with friends in this area and organize his campaign here. 7

Flanagan attended public schools in Houston, then went on to Texas A&M where he earned a bachelor of science degree in petroleum engineering. He served as a midshipman on an oil tanker and as an enlisted man in the U.S. Army. During the Korean war he served as an Air Force pilot in Japan and Southeast Asia. He was given an honorable discharge with the rank of captain.

He later worked as a research associate for the Texas Petroleum Research Committee, a branch of the Railroad Commission, and was a member of the A&M petroleum engineering faculty.

He then joined Russell Engineering, a petroleum consulting firm in Abilene. There he worked in reservoir analysis, property appraisal, water flood studies and the core analysis laboratory. He later joined Oliver & West, Inc., a consulting firm in Dallas.

Flanagan has worked in all phases of the petroleum industry, including marketing, refining, transportation and production.

Non-Fattening Potato Wanted

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's daughter Mary appealed today to Britain's potato marketing board to produce a nonfattening spud.

"I'm a lifelong devotee of the potato," she said. "I eat them every day. I'm an absolute addict."

Mary is Mrs. Christopher Soames, wife of the minister of agriculture. She spoke at the opening of the board's $840,000 experiment station.

"I would like to think you might find time to discover a potato which does not put pounds on one," said Mrs. Soames. "If you did, we'd eat four times as many potatoes as we do now."

Mrs. Soames, 41 and the mother of five, is pretty and trim. But her 43-year-old husband is the heavyweight of Prime Minister Alec Douglas-Home's Cabinet. Newsmen asked her his weight.

"I really don't know," she replied. "It's almost a Cabinet secret."

Overly Helpful!

CALHOUN, Ga. (AP)— When the wife of Sheriff Hughdon Davis opened the jail's bullpen to admit a drunk Tuesday night, a prisoner ran out.

A second followed saying, "I'll get him for you." He didn't, but he caught up with him.

Both were captured in a field near here Wednesday.

American Renaissance

Use of ceramic tile was once confined pretty exclusively to bathrooms. Now tile's bright colors and variety can be found in practically every room of the modern home.

Behind this transformation lies the excitement of an American Renaissance for this ageless material. Many of America's greatest architects are finding ways to surpass even the grandeur of ancient Persian uses for ceramic tile, and tile industry research scientists have succeeded in a drive to bring costs within the budget range for every American.

By FRANK O. HALL
Times Oil Editor

Bridwell Oil Co. has plugged perforations opposite the Caddo zone in its No. 19 Bridwell River Ranch and recompleted the well in the Strawn sand in the Clay County Regular Field, 3½ miles west of Halsell.

Daily pumping potential from six perforations per foot opposite the Strawn at 4738-50 feet was 100.36 barrels of 40 gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 975-1.

The well was first completed last March in the Caddo at 5346-65 feet but that zone went to water.

Producer is in section 31, Word and Halsell subdivision.

W. C. Clifton, Dallas, reported a 24-hour pumping potential of 17 barrels of 40 gravity crude for No. 1 Mayo in the Clay County Regular Field, one mile south of Petrolia, block 25, Parker CSL survey.

Production is from 12 perforations at 716-722 feet. The 4½-inch production string was landed at 745 feet after hole was bottomed at 751.

In Wichita County

RS&S Oil Co. completed two wells in the Wichita County Regular Field, four miles north of Wichita Falls, Henry Hastie survey A-92.

No. 1 Johnson had a daily pumping potential of 20 barrels of 38 gravity oil from perforations at 1307-12 feet. Total depth was 1704 feet. Four-inch pipe was set at 1375 feet.

No. 2 Johnson pumped 20½ barrels crude per day from perforations at 1309-15 feet. Four-inch pipe was cemented at 1340 feet after hole was bottomed at 1372 feet.

Other completions in the same field include:

W. T. Waggoner Estate No. XXX-4 Waggoner, two miles south of Electra, section 148, block 14, H&TC survey, pumped 55.65 barrels of 37 gravity oil per day from 80 perforations at 1939-59 feet. The 4½-inch casing was cemented five feet above bottom at 2019 feet.

James W. Stwart, Iowa Park, No. 13 Kemp-Kempner, two miles east of Kamay, HT&B survey A-139, had a 24-hour pumping potential of 8 barrels of 40 gravity crude from open hole at 670-676 feet.

Discovery Finaled

Bill Lisle Drilling Co. Inc., Olney, has re-entered and reworked a previously abandoned Young County wildcat to complete it as a North Texas conglomerate oil discovery 10 miles east of Graham.

It is the No. 1 L. W. Fields which flowed 114.45 barrels of 36 gravity crude during 12-hour test from 39 perforations at 4276-82 feet.

Flow was through 16-64-inch choke with casing and tubing pressures of 480 pounds. Gas-oil ratio was 500-1. Pay was fractured.

The 2 7-8-inch production string was run to 4388 feet.

Suggested name for the new pay is Fields (4100 Conglomerate) Field.

Discovery is in B. Ford survey A-1679.

The venture was originally drilled by Rankin & Karper as the No. A-2 Field and plugged in May, 1955, at 4413 feet.

H. R. Britton, Fort Worth, staked No. 1 Annie Wright as a 4350-foot Young County wildcat seven miles southeast of Graham. Drillsite is 1000 feet from east and 1050 from south lines of R. Hotchkiss survey A-147.

ACCORDING TO BOYLE

Aging Is Not Altogether Physical

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — How young are you?

Thanks to wigs, anti-wrinkle creams, hormone pills and other devices, the inroads of time are so camouflaged that it is getting harder to tell anyone's real age.

It isn't altogether a matter of physical appearance either. The differing generations seem to have confused their normal aspirations and patterns of conduct.

Older people are trying to be young again, while lads just out of college are worrying about Social Security.

Here is a box score to test yourself. You're probably still on the sunny side of middle age if—

The mortgage on your home has 19½ years to run.

Nickname

You still call your wife by the pet nickname of your courtship days instead of aping the children by addressing her as "Mother."

Being broke all the time now doesn't bother you so much, because you feel supremely confident that in another five years at most you'll double or triple your income.

You like to open letters because you retain the hope that good news as well as bad news comes by mail.

It is more fun to play baseball at a picnic than to go golfing with your employer.

You can overhear a conversation between two teen-agers and understand at least half of what they are saying.

Confronted by a long flight of stairs, you automatically go up them two at a time and reach the top without feeling you need to lie down until you can breathe easier.

Jealous

When a stranger dances with your wife at a party, you feel jealous of him instead of grateful.

You don't remember how Shirley Temple looked as a curly haired little girl, or Bing Crosby singing as one of "The Rhythm Boys."

You still like to read swashbuckling historical novels running to 500 pages or more, and you can quote offhand some of the longer poems you memorized as a college sophomore.

If a shoelace breaks, you tie it instead of looking around for a fire hydrant to use as a support.

The only glasses you wear are sun glasses, and the fine print in the telephone directory is no problem.

You'd rather get out on the lawn and cut the grass yourself than sit on the front porch and tell your wife how to do it.

Aspirins

At the office your desk drawer contains a small box of aspirin tablets—but no pep pills or medicine for an acid stomach.

You'd rather go out and pay to see a good new movie than stay at home and watch a lousy old one on television.

You believe most of the woes of mankind can be solved in your own lifetime because, after all, they are merely the result of misunderstanding.

It is unclear in your mind whether Calvin Coolidge was a minor jazz band leader in the 1920s or subbed in the outfield for the New York Yankees when Babe Ruth was off his feed.

TIZZY

"It's a mix and match outfit. I can mix the skirt with Ginny's sweater and match the blouse with Trudy's slacks!"

'Charge Of Light Brigade' Bugle Still Has Good Sound

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Even with a hole in it, the bugle that sounded the Charge of the Light Brigade still sounds good.

I know. I tried it.

As an old bugler —Boy Scouts of America, Wolf Troop, Selma, Ala., circa 1920 —with an inferior embouchure, I was able to generate a blast that alarmed half a dozen workers at Sotheby's, the English auctioneers.

Embouchure is a fancy way of describing how a bugler form his lips to toot a bugle.

As that eminent bugler Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong once said "Without it you ain't going to wake nobody up."

Nearly 110 years after bugler Billy Brittain set off one of the most tragic charges in military history, the old brass bugle propertly tooted could rouse a regiment.

With documents proving its authenticity, the bugle will be auctioned Monday, April 20.

"There's considerable American interest in the bugle," said a Sotheby's spokesman.

"A group of retired British Generals and other officers are talking about raising a fund to see that the bugle stays here."

On the morning of Oct. 25, 1854, there were 607 men in the Light Brigade. One was the bugler, a 20-year-old Irishman. They were assembled in a valley of Balaclava in the Crimea.

At an officer's order, Brittain sounded the charge. With sabers drawn, the Light Brigade charged, smack into 30 Russian field guns.

The guns blazed and, before the day was over, death came to 409 men of the brigade in what has been described by some historians as the worst blunder in British military history.

The bugler fell, badly wounded.

When he was lifted from the battlefield he begged that his bugle be taken with him. He said the hole was caused by a Russian lancer.

The bugler was hurried to a field hospital where he was nursed by a British nurse, a Mrs. Farrell. A letter she wrote goes with the bugle. She said a sergeant of the 17th lancers "keeps telling him to pluck up and get out and blow another charge, but there never was any hope."

Brittain died of wounds.

The bugle was given to his family. The family sold it in 1901 to a Mr. Baker.

Sotheby's said the seller is now too elderly and ill to be interviewed.

To Boost Efforts

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Japanese Trade Organization Jetro is stepping up its efforts to boost commerce with Mexico and the rest of Latin America, Jetro general director Kimitaka Huratami said Tuesday. He said recent liberation of Japan's money exchange and importation systems made this an advantageous time for the move.

U.S. steel production for February, 1964, totaled 9,458,000 net tons of ingots and steel for castings.

Junior Editors Quiz on SHIPS

QUESTION: What are belaying pins used for—besides hitting mutinous sailors?

• • •

ANSWER: On the old fashioned sailing ships, ropes were called "lines." You didn't "tie" lines down; the sailors' word was "belay." There were many lines coming down from the yards and sails above and these were frequently in use, for hoisting up sails, lowering them or adjusting their position to the wind. Along the inner side of the ships "rail"—the part of the side above the deck—was a kind of shelf with a series of holes, and in each of these a heavy metal "belaying pin" rested. Our illustration shows how a line coming from aloft would be "belayed" or fastened around such a pin. It could be unfastened quickly and easily by taking the pin out of the hole.

Our illustration to the right shows what sometimes happened, when stubborn or mutinous sailors took it into their heads to disobey their officers. A burly mate might snatch out one of the heavy belaying pins and attack the offender.

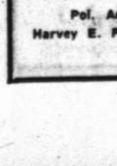

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Learn some nautical language so you can talk on even terms this summer with those who sail boats. An example: the front part of the boat is "fore", the back part, "aft." The right hand is "starboard", the left, "port."

Consumers Want Easy-Care Clothes

Consumers want spring clothes which may be worn, washed and worn again with little or no ironing, says Dr. Graham Hard, Extension clothing specialist at Texas A&M University.

After much research, the Good Housekeeping Textile Institute has come up with these guidelines for buying easy-care clothes:

1. Look for a label that lists the name of the manufacturer, the fiber content, laundering instructions, extent of ironing needed, colorfastness and assurance of shrinkage resistance.
2. If the label specifies synthetic or a blend, look for a high percentage (at least 50 per cent) of a wash-and-wear fiber.
3. If the fabric is cotton, look for one with a good, brand-name finish.
4. Look for a sturdy fabric.
5. Check to see how the seams are made, since a good wash-wear finished fabric must be sewn properly to be wrinkle-free after laundering.
6. Examine other construction points: buttonholes should be firmly stitched, lie flat, have no loose threads; shoulder pads, if any, should be of synthetic material that is washable and quick drying; zipper plackets should be smoothly stiched.
7. Garments with simple lines will look best after laundering; fussy frills and tucks make ironing a must.
8. Be prepared to pay a bit extra for quality.

Today's busy homemakers have little time for tedious ironing, innumerable pressing sessions and trips to the dry-cleaner, the specialist said.

Falconry Expert Lectures On Training Birds Of Prey

By ANNIE LEE WILLIAMS
Woman's Editor

A personable young man named Jim Fowler held an audience of several hundred men and women entranced Tuesday night as he demonstrated with live eagles the art of training birds of prey.

Speaking before the Criterion Club members and their guests Fowler kept a 20 pound Harpy Eagle—the largest in the world—and a 21 ounce falcon on the stage throughout his fascinating lecture.

He handled the birds of prey as if they were pet parakeets. He has the eagle and the falcon trained to respond to his commands by using a reward of beef strips. The falcon, a Lanner, flew out over the audience several times and back to his perch on the platform.

Fowler captured the Harpy eagle in British Guiana. It has a six and a half or seven foot wingspread, and the wings are rounded, sort of like a giant cup, to propel the eagle. The talon is the Harpy's weapon; it is long and powerful and can do as much damage to another animal as the teeth of a jaguar. The beak, feared by the uninformed, is his "knife and fork," Fowler said.

"She's talkative," Fowler said as the Harpy emitted sort of squeaking sounds throughout his talk. To the audience it seemed as if the eagle were, indeed, talking to him and listening to his remarks.

When holding the Harpy on his left arm Fowler wears an elbow length heavy glove for protection. He uses a smaller leather glove when holding the falcon. The gloves are also recognition symbols for the birds.

"Falconry has brought more knowledge about birds of prey than anything else," Fowler said. "It began in China 2000 years ago. Falcons were in nature to eliminate undesirable animals and they were actually worshipped in Egypt. The falcon is the fastest living animal; it can fly 100 miles per hour and power dive at 200 miles per hour."

Fowler caught his falcon near Cape Town, South Africa in 1957.

Birds and human beings have a great many similarities, Fowler said. In training the birds of prey this young explorer learned the distances involved in their "escape zones," and "attack zones."

"I trained my birds by lowering their escape zone and by giving them a reward. These birds do not respond to affection; only gregarious animals can be trained with affection.

"The escape zone is the distance at which the bird will escape as another animal or human being approaches. The falcon, for instance, had a 60 yard escape zone — when anything came as close as 60 yards he took off.

"The attack zones are different for wild animals," Fowler continued. "If you come within 20 yards of a lion he will run; if you come within 14 yards he will instinctively attack you. The eagle's attack zone is six feet. He will lie on his back and attack with his feet."

Fowler pointed out that black strips under eyes of the birds—and other animals—helps them absorb light better and see better at high speed. The crest on the eagle blows the way leaves do and she can sit by the hour to wait for prey, he said.

Fowler usually travels to his speaking engagements with his birds in a panel truck. When he must fly to his destination he carries them in special cages. He plans to release the Harpy in its home territory next year.

"By observing and understanding animals we can make life more interesting," he said. He proved this point Tuesday night.

Dear Abby

Now, Become A Man!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old boy who is about to be drafted. I am not a coward, but I would just rather not go for two reasons. One is that I am used to my privacy and don't like to have a lot of people around me. The other is I know that I won't be able to adjust to Army life. The only way out, as I see it, is to get married, but I can't seem to find a girl. Can you help me? — LOOKING

DEAR LOOKING: Look, buddy, if every American male ducked military service for the reasons you give, our country would be a sitting duck for its enemies. Your survival would be a bigger problem than your "privacy." And your "adjustment" would be to bondage rather than to a brief hitch for Uncle Sam. Sign up and grow up. It'll do you good!

DEAR ABBY: Would you please put a word in your column explaining to people that widowed and divorced women are still addressed as "Mrs."? So many of my Christmas cards were addressed "Miss," or worse yet, no title whatsoever. This makes a husbandless woman feel like "nothing." — "A MRS."

DEAR MRS.: I have written this many times in my column, and I will write it again. Once a woman has been married, unless she arranges to resume her maiden name she is never again a "Miss." P.S. Many women choose to omit either the Miss or Mrs. from THEIR correspondence — thus adding to the general confusion.

DEAR ABBY: How do you feel about a "Come and see us sometime type of invitation?

My husband seems to think it is perfectly all right. He is forever dragging me places where we are not expected just because the people have said, "Come and see us sometime." Nine out of ten times it is apparent we have inconvenienced them even though they act polite, and glad to see us. My husband thinks that everyone likes unexpected company because it wouldn't bother him one bit if folks dropped by our house when the place was a mess and I had nothing to serve. But it would bother me plenty. I can't drive this point home to him. Can you? — UNNERVED

DEAR UNNERVED: A "come and see us sometime" type of invitation should not be taken seriously. When folks really want your company, they call and invite you for a specific time.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ELINORE AT S.C.: I don't agree that "a little gossip is nothing." A hole is also "nothing" — but you can break your neck in it.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from HELOISE

Ornament Hair With One Clip

Dear Heloise: Have you wondered at times what to do with that "one earring" because the mate has been lost? I'm referring to the clip-on type.

Instead of throwing them away, I have found them useful—just that "needed touch" on a blouse, dress etc.

I also use them as hair ornaments. There are times when a stray hair just won't stay combed down, or one wants a touch of glamor, and a bobby pin would not look nice enough. That is when I survey my assortment of single clip earrings and choose just the right one to use for the moment.

The many compliments I get when putting that one earring to use seems to make this suggestion worthwhile passing on. —Aida V. Kaye

Aida: What a great idea!

Get out all those old earrings, now gals, and dress up your hair for that "special occasion." One can put any earring on the end of a bobby-pin and slip that bobby pin through the hair. It's darling.—Heloise

Dear Heloise: Clean your stove on washday the easy way!

I am from Germany and it hurts me to see all this hot soapy water being wasted.

I put all removable parts from my gas stove in a bucket and set it in my washtub (one washday, one burner etc.) All that soapy hot water removes anything burnt-on and I just rinse and dry.

Never remove the stove parts until all your wash is done. After a few loads of good hot soapy water have emptied over the parts, they look like new with no effort on your part.

I find this much easier than making "stove - cleaning - day" a project that gets put off for weeks and become a chore. Just try it, it's "wunderbar."—Auf Wiederehen, M.J.W.

Dear Heloise: This may not be a very original idea because it seems so simple; yet I never thought of it before.

In an emergency, I find it very simple to use my electric shaver to trim the neck area and side burns of my hair.

It keeps my hair looking very neat and the job is even simpler if you have a wife do it for you . . . Ted Hawranick

Dear Heloise: Here's another use to add to that never-ending list of uses for nylon net:

Sew an 18-inch-strip of nylon net to the bottom of short sheets and blankets. Gives you lots more tuck-in! It's 72 inches wide which keeps one from piecing material used for this purpose. —Faithful Reader

Dear Heloise: I scald my tomatoes as soon as I come home from the market and refrigerate them. They are always nice and cold and extremely easy to peel when needed because after a slight scalding the skin slips right off without wasting any of the tomatoes. Whether you skin the tomato immediately after scalding or refrigerate and then scald, it still works!—Louise Hocking

LETTER OF LOVE

Dear Heloise: Some time ago one of your readers suggested turning the ironing board around while doing their ironing. I don't remember just what she was ironing but I turn my ironing board around to iron my husband's shirts. They are 19-34, pretty big!

I cannot tell you how much time I save but it must be a lot. Seems like I can iron two shirts in the time I used to iron one, so, please tell your readers with king-sized husbands to try it.

My thanks to you and the lady who first suggested this.—Lucille Greene

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Double
3 ♠	3 NT	Pass	4 ◇
Pass	5 ◇	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠

The major disadvantage to learning percentages and the proper handling of card combinations from the books is that the subject cannot properly be separated from the conditions which confront the player in practice. South's experience in today's hand is an excellent case in point.

South decided not to stand for the three no trump contract. He reasoned that, since his values were primarily distributional and inasmuch as North was a passed hand, it was unlikely that the partnership possessed sufficient high card strength to land a no trump game. The final contract of five diamonds, in fact, was a distinct stretch.

West opened the king of spades and the ace was played from dummy as South dropped the jack. Trumps were drawn in two rounds winding up in the North hand and then a small heart was led. East followed with the five—he saw no reason to alert declarer to his holding in the suit by splitting his honors—and South played the nine. West was in with the ten of hearts and he promptly shifted to a club thru the dummy's king. After mopping up two tricks in that suit, East waited to score yet another heart trick putting the declarer down by two.

Altho South's play of the nine of hearts from his hand was technically correct — it wins whenever East has the king-ten or queen-ten and loses only when East has specifically the king-queen—he could not reasonably expect his strategy to be successful in the present instance. Even if the nine of hearts forced out a high honor from West, the latter was almost certain to make the club shift thru North's king that would net the defense two more tricks.

In other words, since East's opening bid marks him with the ace of clubs, South must exert every effort to keep his partner out of the lead to protect dummy's club holding from a fatal attack. The only hope for declarer, then, is to find East with both the king and queen of hearts, and the proper play by South is the jack.

Once the jack of hearts wins the trick, declarer continues with the ace and another heart clearing the suit. When he regains the lead, a club can be discarded from dummy on the 13th heart. One club is conceded to the opposition and South's remaining clubs are ruffed away.

Cypriot Fighting Termed Illogical

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche called it the incoherent war, and events on blood-stained Cyprus this week bear him out.

Chaotic and illogical are the words for the continuing warfare between this island's Greek and Turkish communities.

Nicosia, the capital, is a city of 95,000 people. Once they lived in peace under the old battlements dating to the Crusades. Now the rooftops are dotted with sandbagged gunposts.

On the streets, Greek and Turkish Cypriots confront each other from behind earthworks, while U.N. troops maintain dangerous patrols between the contending factions.

Once again Ledra street, Nicosia's main thoroughfare, becomes "murder mile," as it was known during the Greek Cypriot guerrilla war for independence from the British in 1955-59.

On opposite sides of a rocky ford dividing the city Greeks and Turks shout obscenities and occasionally squeeze the triggers of their rifles.

Once the firing begins, even the innocent become targets. A woman falls. More shots ring out.

A U.N. patrol rushes to the scene to restore the truce, but even the emblem of the world organization brings no quick halt to the firing. Only long pleading stills the guns.

The Greek Cypriot government blames the Turks. It says the Turkish Cypriots want to wreck the U.N. mediation effort and encourage an invasion by Turkey to obtain the partition of the island.

The Turks say they only fire to protect themselves from Greek Cypriot attacks, that the Greek Cypriot majority wants to wipe them out.

British officers, admittedly more friendly to the Turks because of their 1955-59 war with the Greek Cypriots, say the Turks have become more aggressive. There are reports that the Turks are better armed now.

BABY GOES TO COLLEGE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Mama has a little lamb who goes with her to school each day.

Mama has no choice.

"We couldn't find a baby sitter," explains Mrs. Donald J. Lewis Jr., 22, a senior at Lesley College. Her husband is a student at Boston University.

"I couldn't leave Sandra with just anyone. She's very special."

Sandra is the "lamb," all of 6 weeks old and the Lewis' first child.

Mrs. Lewis puts Sandra in a car bed and parks her in the cloak room during classes.

College authorities haven't exactly sanctioned this arrangement. On the other hand, they haven't raised a fuss about it either.

Neither has Sandra. She sleeps most of the time, and Mrs. Lewis insists that Sandra has yet to disturb a lecture.

"You know, I never thought to ask for permission," said Mrs. Lewis. "It just seemed natural to have Sandra with me."

There has been one problem. Mrs. Lewis' classmates at the women's college like to hold Sandra and play with her. Mrs. Lewis solved this by adopting one simple rule: "Hands off!"

Mrs. Lewis is to get her degree in education this June, but that's not going to end the baby-sitting problem. She already has a teaching job lined up in Sudbury, a suburb of Boston.

Can Mrs. Lewis find a sitter who's "not just anyone?" Or can Sandra, the student's lamb, become Sandra the teacher's pet?

"Do you suppose she'll get an education through osmosis?" asked Mrs. Lewis.

Presidents Do Have Privacy!

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidents often complain that they have no privacy. In fact, they have more than you might imagine.

Washington is a sophisticated, cosmopolitan capital where a presidential caravan can be spotted instantly as it rolls along the boulevards.

Still it's a fact that President Johnson, time after time, is driven around the city after dark without reporters, or the general public, being the wiser.

Johnson told newsmen last week he likes to visit friends in suburban Silver Spring, Md., and even as far away as Hyattsville, Md., 15 miles to the northeast. No such trips have been recorded.

A few months ago Johnson drove 12 miles into suburban Virginia to have dinner with Pierre Salinger, then his press secretary. The directions to Salinger's house were so circuitous that the Secret Service had to summon a White House driver who had been there many times to lead the small motorcade. This trip, too, went unrecorded.

Wednesday night, after attending a hotel reception given in his honor by King Hussein of Jordan, Johnson decided to take off on one of these jaunts.

This posed a problem because two reporters had hired a limousine and, with Secret Service knowledge, had joined the presidential motorcade to the hotel. The reporters planned to leave with Johnson and follow him, not so much because they wanted to know where he was going but to be on hand in case his car should have a flat tire, a wreck or other misfortune.

After all, should the President have an accident on the highway, a White House reporter might be hard pressed to explain why he wasn't on the scene.

Well, the Secret Service, acting on Johnson's instructions, solved the problem of the limousine from the Fourth Estate. They ordered two Washington policemen to park their motorcycles so close to the front bumper of the press car that it couldn't join the cavalcade.

Johnson took off for parts unknown, free of pursuit, with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clark, old friends from Austin, Tex. Clark is an attorney.

Facts about after-dark presidential trips frequently remain very secret—proof enough that the President of the United States can move about in complete secrecy, if that's his desire.

House Hunting?

If you're house hunting, here's a good indicator of whether a home is well designed. Are the bathrooms convenient to all areas of the home? Another point to check is whether surfacings used are durable as well as good to look at.

Ceramic tile in bathrooms and elsewhere indicates you're getting beauty and durability as well as good design. And tile's impermeability is particularly important for any heavy - moisture areas.

Evidence

It is not unusual for lawyers to enter a courtroom carrying with them such things as moving-picture apparatus, toy automobiles, dolls, chalk and black boards, and a miscellany of other assorted devices to be used in the course of a trial.

In recent years courts and attorneys have come to realize the great importance of the fact that a jury is apt to better understand what it sees rather than what it may hear. Exhibits often speak louder than words.

Of course, any exhibits introduced must be properly identified by testimony as to the time and place taken, and are admissible only if proved to be relevant to the issues involved.

Questionable Evidence

There are many varieties of visual evidence. Of common use and very important are the exhibits used in cases involving questionable documents such as wills, deeds and important papers that are claimed to be forged, or the authenticity of which is in issue.

Specimens of handwriting or of typewritten individual letter-characters are enlarged many times and shown on graphs and in picture form to prove characteristics, similarities, or differences. Many irregularities not visible to the eye are apparent when the word or particular letter is enlarged and shown graphically. Not many people know that typewritten letters and figures are just as individualistic as if written by hand, and may often be readily identified or distinguished by an expert.

Visual Evidence

Articles of clothing are frequently introduced in evidence, and, of course, injuries to the body are displayed to the jury to show the extent and nature of the damages sustained. Attorneys may also demonstrate actual facts and circumstances which might otherwise be difficult to understand.

The use of visual or demonstrative evidence is particularly important when combined with medical testimony. X-ray exhibits are a practical necessity in proof of certain types of injuries.

The basic premise of law is that if the exhibit will assist the jury in understanding the testimony of the witness and is not calculated to unfairly influence the jury, the court may permit the use of the exhibit.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

The Wife Must Decide Which Success She Wants

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"My husband doesn't seem to realize what a taxing job I have," writes a business wife with an important job. "I just can't become the worried little housewife after a day's work. I want to relax, too."

There's no question that Mary Jones is a successful woman. She has made a name for herself in her profession. She earns a good salary which, added to her husband's, has helped to give the family many luxuries and a certain amount of financial security. She's intelligent, interesting, and well satisfied with her lot in life. But what about her husband?

Well, Mary hasn't done many of the things she might have done to help him in his career, for she has been too busy concentrating on her own.

His home is run haphazardly, for as Mary explains quite frequently, "It's almost impossible to get a housekeeper who doesn't grow lazy on the job when there is no one around to check on her." If Jim Jones complains occasionally, his successful wife has a ready answer: "I can't see to everything."

Friends of the Jones' never get the idea that Jim's work is particularly important. Mary is so absorbed in her own career, she tends to talk about it instead of giving Jim a chance to shine.

Mary has little in common with the wives of Jim's friends and business associates. They are too domestic-minded to interest her. And that's another handicap to Jim.

Nor does Jim have the feeling that he is absolutely essential to his wife's happiness. After all, her big interest in life is her career. Well, Mary has made a success of her career, but it's easy to see that she has not done as well as a wife.

"ASTRO-GUIDE" By Ceean

For Friday, April 17

Present—For You and Yours... Keep on good terms with fellow employees even though you have to "bite your tongue" to avoid an argument. Stay on the straight and narrow path of fidelity, although temptation arises. Strengthen the bond of marriage and be honorable in courtship. Travel is under excellent transits.

Past... April 17th has been an important day in industry. On that date in 1903, Henry Ford wheeled his first car out of the workshop for a road test. On that date in 1943, 27 million essential workers were frozen at their jobs by the government.

Future... Microwave ovens may soon return. When first introduced about ten years ago, they were passed over because of their high cost, but a new, less-expensive version may be made.

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19) Although the outlook is somewhat improved, impractical ideas still abound.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't be swayed by sympathy—particularly in an important business decision.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't let sentiment interfere with business. Be practical about relatives.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) Don't create an emotional situation. Avoid arguments with young and old alike.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) This is not a good time to attract attention, as people may be unfriendly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Restrictive radiations hamper you somewhat, but don't ever give up hope.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Resist giving in to extravagant whims; conserve your assets as you'll need them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Concentrate on useful tasks rather than those that merely help pass the time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) People are not very receptive to friendly approaches, so don't ask favors.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Stick to routine, even though it may seem monotonous and never-ending.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Although you can't see immediate monetary gain, keep plugging for a while.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Keep cool in spite of a setback. Your intuition is trustworthy, so rely on it.

JIM LANGDON—A WINNER!

Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon is a 49-year-old native Texan with a winning record in public office. When John Connally appointed him to the Railroad Commission, the Governor said:

"I have for several weeks been attempting to find a man I consider to have outstanding ability, integrity and honor... I am happy we have found that man — Judge Jim C. Langdon."

Jim Langdon has fully lived up to Governor Connally's expectations. He has conducted his office in the spirit of Governor Jim Hogg, who had the Commission set up in 1891 to look after the public interest in railroad and freight rates. It now regulates also truck and bus rates and the production of oil and gas. Judge Langdon will continue to keep transportation rates in line and see to it that our oil reserves are protected against waste and greed. This will help keep down Texas gasoline prices, already among the lowest in the nation.

Jim Langdon was elected District Judge twice and re-elected Chief Justice of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals.

ON THE OTHER HAND—

Jim Langdon's Opponent Is a 10-Time Loser!

Jesse Owens, 69-year-old attorney, is still running for office after 38 years and TEN DEFEATS. He has lost the following races:

1926—Defeated for Sheriff of Foard County by L. D. Campbell.
1930—Defeated for District Attorney by John Meyers.
1932—Defeated for District Attorney by Ed Gossett.
1940—Defeated for District Attorney by T. Gene Rogers.
1946—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by Tom L. Beauchamp.
1952—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by K. K. Woodley.
1956—Defeated for Court of Criminal Appeals by W. A. Morrison.
1958—Defeated for District Judge by Tom Davis.
1960—Defeated for Court of Civil Appeals by James Denton.
1962—Defeated for Texas Supreme Court by Meade F. Griffin.

Unusual Arrangement To Be Seen At Show

A floral parabolic curve will be on display at the "Florarama" Saturday and Sunday at the Wichita Falls High School. Mrs. W. R. Lunsford has made this unusual arrangement. After the show it is to be hung in the Colony Club at Cape Kennedy.

Mrs. Lunsford gave a talk to the Fountain Park Garden Club Tuesday in a meeting held in the home of Mrs. George Cooper, 4106 Ruskin. She gave tips for preserving flowers.

Among the future events planned by the club were these: a coffee Saturday morning at the home of Mrs. Roger Stephens, 2319 Berrywood, honoring judges of Florarama; an installation luncheon May 11, and a pilgrimage to Mrs. T. M. Thaxton's iris garden in about two weeks.

A coffee plate was served to 14 members, including Mrs. Edward Clark, a new member.

BUS'ling Around
with OKLAHOMA TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

Here's a true story about something that happened in Texas which shows the matter-of-factness of the younger set, or maybe what the lack of a commercial in a movie will do.

A movie theater was showing a rerun of the old Bob Hope-Bing Crosby classic, "The Road to Utopia." The movie is a great one, containing the usual scene-stealing, clowning and lousing up of each other's scenes that characterized the Hope-Crosby series. But it must be all lost on the current generation. At one point in the film, Crosby is doing a romantic moonlight scene with Dorothy Lamour when Hope thrusts his head into view and hisses, "Now is the time to get your popcorn, kids."

The line was supposed to get a big laugh. Instead, 600 children got up and filed out into the lobby to the popcorn machine!

Have you got a package or a lot of packages that have to get some place on time—that is you have a strictly schedule to keep. Oklahoma Transportation Company package express is the best way to send.

Now's the time to sit down and figure out the answer to one of our little puzzles.

Here's the one for this month:

A contestant flushed with his success on a quiz show, said to another contestant: "I'll give you $64 for every question of yours I fail to answer if you will give me $48 for every question of mine that stumps you." These terms were agreed upon, and the first man asked his first question. Then, when each had asked three questions, they settled their score and found that they had both come out even. Can you tell how they managed this?

After you've figured out the answer send it to this paper. First one in wins $1 from OTC.

Have you made your plans with your favorite club, social group, or just a bunch of your special friends to go to the New York World's Fair yet? You better hurry. Oklahoma Transportation is planning tours to the Fair in June, July and August. What could be more fun than these trips of from 13 to 16 days in the most exciting city in the world — with the World's Fair thrown in as an all important extra? The tours will cost from $249 to $289 and up. This nominal ticket price includes transportation, sightseeing and lodging. It also includes an air-conditioned, comfortable OTC bus with your own private driver. And the price includes applicable taxes and baggage handling fees.

Where else could you get such a wonderful vacation trip for such an economical price? So why not call up the gang and then call your OTC agent and make arrangements for a tour you'll never forget.

A friend of ours, doing some fixing up around the house, explained to his small daughter that she might hear some four-letter words if he hammered his fingers.

"I know one of them," she said.

The father winced.

"Help," she said.

English, American Stock Prices React Differently

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A tax rise boosts prices on the London stock exchange. A tax cut is credited with helping American stock prices hit new highs.

In both cases stock traders are betting on how consumers will react.

The London theory is that Britons will go right on drinking and smoking just as much as before this week's announcement of a 10 per cent hike in taxes on beverages and tobacco. And earlier fears that other industry products would also be hit were allayed.

The American theory is that the federal income tax cut which began showing up last month in larger take-home pay will mean that U.S. consumers will spend lots more for goods and services and that businessmen will step up production and sales competition to get the extra dollars.

Different

But if the British tax increase and the American tax reduction had the same initial effect on stock prices, the motives of the two governments were quite different.

The London government is trying to put a brake on a booming economy that is edging toward inflation and increasing imports. Earlier it had raised interest rates with this same aim in mind.

The Washington government is trying to beef up an already prosperous economy. The hope is that it will expand enough to create jobs faster than the labor force is growing as teen-agers mature. The hope also is that in the process another round of inflation isn't set off with the effect of nullifying the gain in personal incomes.

Exports

Both governments would like to see their exports increase. Holding down prices and production costs is one way of helping producers sell their products abroad.

In the British case, the need to expand exports is acute because a prosperous home society has been importing more and the balance of trade now and then runs against Britain. This puts pressure on the pound sterling.

The United States for several years has had a favorable balance of trade—its exports have topped imports by a sizable amount. But it sends so many other dollars abroad—for loans, grants, investments, military expenditures — that the U.S. balance of payments has been running a deficit. And this doesn't help the dollar's standing and awhile back was causing a disturbing drain of U.S. gold reserves.

Washington

Washington is hoping that the tax cut will, among other things, increase business activity and raise profits enough so that American producers can offer more goods, and perhaps more attractively priced items, in the foreign market. The more the United States exports, the more dollars it gleans to offset those it spends abroad.

The British government is hoping with higher interest rates and higher taxes on some consumer items to dampen the British urge to import consumer goods and still keep its economy healthy enough to produce more and sell more in world markets.

How the British consumer reacts, how the American consumer reacts, will have a lot to do with the success of both experiments in taxation.

Cyclone Leaves No Sign Of Life

DACCA, Pakistan (AP) — A cyclone in the Jessore District of East Pakistan last weekend hit with such savage force that in some villages rescuers found no signs of life, "no bodies, no trees, no house," Gov. Nomen Khan said today.

Officially, 400 bodies have been counted and 7000 persons have been listed as injured with 1,000 others missing. But unofficial estimates put the death toll at 2,000.

Regularly since 1960, cyclones have struck this area causing thousands of deaths and massive property damage. The poor of the area live in mud huts.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

Too Many People Depend On Church

QUESTION: I am, or was, a Catholic. My husband is a Protestant. As a family we are nothing. Our children need religious training. Which way should we turn?—M.C.R.

ANSWER: I would say, first of all, that you both turn to God. Neither Protestantism or Catholicism can save you if you turn your back on the One who died for you. First, yield your lives to Him, and then pray about the matter of which church you should attend.

Too many people are depending on their church to take them to heaven. Christ said: "I am the way, the truth, and the life. No man cometh unto the Father, except by me." It is a personal relationship to Jesus Christ that counts, and though we should join every denomination there is, if our trust is not in Him, we are Christians in name only, and only imitations of the real thing.

Yes, your children need religious training. But they also need to see Christ in the lives of their parents. They need not only religious words, but Christian deeds. I would rather see Christianity in action than to just hear about it—and your children need the Christian example and influence you can give.

I learned more about the Christian faith from my mother than I ever did at church.

Lawtonian Gets New York Summons

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — William Nichols isn't especially miffed but he's more than a little curious about the workings of the New York City Criminal Court.

He received a warning to appear in Administrative Judge John Murtagh's court within 10 days or face revocation of his driver's license. He is charged with improper parking Jan. 3.

Nichols said Tuesday there's only one catch. He and his car were never in New York. It's his name on the summons, but the auto license number is not his.

Historic Texas League Opens 76th Year Friday

A Banner Year Forecast For Clubs & Fans

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Texas League, a part of professional baseball since 1888, opens its 76th season Friday with a new president, who pronounces the league "in good shape," and a new team.

League officials are optimistic about surpassing last year's season attendance of 589,952.

Jim Burris, 41, a stocky native of Indiana who replaced Dick Butler as president earlier this year, feels the league is well-balanced.

He pointed out that the main thing that interested him about the loop was that "all six clubs are national league affiliates."

"The National League is a well-balanced league, so there is no reason why the Texas League shouldn't be," he said. "It shows the majors have confidence in the League's stability."

Burris, who was president of the American Association when it folded in 1960, left a job in Denver, Colo., on the staff of baseball commissioner Ford Frick to take the Texas post.

Mercer-Hunt

Butler, Texas League president for nine years, took a position with Tommy Mercer of Fort Worth and Lamar Hunt of Dallas who have returned Fort Worth to the league after a five-year absence.

Opening night Friday finds Fort Worth at Tulsa, El Paso at Albuquerque and San Antonio at Austin.

The first homestand for San Antonio will be against Austin Saturday. El Paso plays Albuquerque Sunday for home fans while Fort Worth takes on Tulsa in Fort Worth.

Met Swim, er-Oops, Stadium Set For Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Although part of the outfield appears more suited for the Olympic swimming trials than for baseball, the $25 million plus Shea Stadium will be dedicated today.

And if the New York Mets, who will make their home in the beautiful, 55,300-seat structure, get a better break from the weather then they've received on the playing field so far, they will open their home season Friday against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

To fit the occasion, the poor ole Mets will commemorate the inaugural with a winless record —0-2.

After several days of rain, the field is soggy in most spots and wet enough in stretches big enough to hold the 100-meter freestyle.

The weatherman has predicted it will be sunny and mild for a couple of days so the pools may be drained out by game time Friday.

Newbold Morris, the Commissioner of Parks, will preside at the dedication ceremonies. Mayor Robert F. Wagner and William A. Shea, for whom the stadium is named, will head the list of speakers. It was Shea's long and vigorous efforts as chairman of the Mayor's Baseball Committee that helped bring back National League baseball to New York.

At nightfall Wednesday, workmen were busy sweeping water off the surface of the outfield with wire brooms. Visitors to the park sank to their shoetops in the spongy sod.

The infield, part of the outfield and foul territories up to the stands were covered by tarpaulins. But underneath the coverings was water.

"It's fine for swimming," commented a sweeper.

The park, whose official name is William A. Shea Municipal Stadium, originally was to have been completed by opening day, 1963. Bad weather, engineering difficulties and labor troubles caused the year's delay.

The dedication ceremonies were scheduled to start at 1 p.m., EST.

Holliday Sportsman Joins Water Safari

SAN MARCOS — Kenneth Gulley, sportsman from Holliday, will be among a group of hardy men who will begin a test on Sunday to see if Americans still have the pioneer spirit and fortitude of their ancestors.

Gulley will be entering the Texas Water Safari, called the world's toughest river race, that begins at the gin - clear waters of Aquarena in San Marcos, Texas, and ends 10 days later on the warm sand beaches of Corpus Christi.

The race course is beautiful, but treacherous. It winds down 425 miles of San Marcos and Guadalupe rivers and then crosses 75 miles of wind - swept bays before reaching the finish line.

Last year 58 teams started the gruelling journey, yet only two boats were able to finish. Gulley did not finish.

Making the contest even more difficult are the regulations forbidding teams to take on any food or other supplies enroute, unless it happens to be wild game or fish or wild fruit. Rarely does a team have the opportunity to hunt or fish while trying to keep up with the other boats, however. Boats must be either paddled, poled, rowed, sailed, dragged or carried.

There's plenty of incentive to win the race. Top finishers will receive such prizes as a $3,000 moose and bear trip by Nickles Floatplane Service, Alaska; round trip tickets on the new railroad that traverses 600 miles among beautiful mountains between Ojinaga on the Texas border to Los Mochis on the Gulf of Lower California; and $1,750 in cash prizes.

Even the last boat to reach Corpus will have a luxurious weekend at the hotel and tourist attractions of Aquarena and Wonder Cave back in San Marcos to look forward to. Also promising expense paid weekends for early finishers are North Shore Marina at Ingleside, Texas, and Riverside Lodges at Red River, New Mexico.

There will also be more and larger trophies. Argosy Magazine has promised an even larger award than last year's impressive Adventure Trophy, and Grumman Canoes will award three instead of the one Grumman Cup for the winning teams.

The race has blossomed from a strictly Texas affair to an all American event with entries ranging form Montana to Virginia. Among the recent entries have been Ed Adams and Leroy Widing of Holly, Michigan, champion racers of the Great Lakes region. Widing is president of the Michigan Canoe Racing Association.

The northerners will have their hands full with Texas veterans, however, including two Houston policemen, Lynn Maughner and Jimmy Jones, who won the Safari last year. Other proven tough competitors who will be back will be Fred Halamicek of Gonzales, who led during most of the river portion last year's race, and Mrs. Willye Waterman, a San Antonio social worker who was the only woman in the '63 Safari.

Hunch Pays Off . . . $63,721

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A 50-year-old Miami man invested $2 in a hunch bet on the twin double at Gulfstream Park and collected $63,721 Wednesday.

Vincent Palmisano, a former public relations man, took his winnings home in cash.

"With me opening a restaurant next week, this money sure came at an opportune time," he said.

He said he found the winning numbers on a piece of paper on the floor of the restaurant he plans to take over. He said he had no idea what the numbers—3, 7, 8, 1—represented but decided to get them.

The horses in Palmisano's selections were Swift Stream in the fifth race, $10.40; Brilliant Needle in the sixth, $5.80; Gallant Chief II in the eighth, $20.20, and Belfast in the ninth, $47.

Belfast figured in a $77,040 twin double on March 30. He won the ninth race on that date and paid $67.50.

The record twin double payoff is $84,114.20 here March 5. The $63,721 was fourth highest of the meeting.

Southpaw Shatters ABC Classic Record

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Fred Foremsky, a left-handed bowler did everything right in his first American Bowling Congress Tournament appearance as he averaged 228 pins per game over the 12-game classic route for an all time record.

The little El Paso, Texas, pro went into second place in the classic all events standings Wednesday afternoon when he finished his opening nine game with a 2,024 count. Bill Hardwick, the San Mateo, Calif., sensation is leading the classic all events with 2,088.

Then in his second team appearance Tuesday night Foremsky came in with a flashy 718 count for three games to up his 12-game total to 2,742. The record for 12 games in classic division play was 2,728 set by Jack Winters of Philadelphia in the 1962 ABC at Des Moines.

Foremsky, 27, a television repair shop manager as well as a pro bowler, had back-to-back series over 700 as he finished up with a 709 for fifth place in classic singles to close his afternoon performance.

He and his partner, Dave Moseley, a right-hander, had just taken the classic doubles lead with 1,321, when Foremsky continued his sensational scoring in singles play.

The classic all events champion is determined on the opening nine games of play so Foremsky's 12-game record will not bring him a title.

Here's how Foremsky piled up his 2,742. In his first team block he had 245-197-191. In doubles he followed with 235-203-244 for 682 and then rolled 225-226-258 in singles for 709. His second team appearance saw him pounding out 245-235-235 for 718.

Foremsky's performance was only part of a scoring splurge in the ABC on Wednesday.

Detail Tool of Detroit came charging down the stretch with a 1,110 finishing game and totaled 3,108 for second place in the regular division behind the leading 3,117 rolled by 300 Bowl of Pontiac, Mich.

Har-Mar Printing of Milwaukee took third in regular team on a 3,078.

William Smith, Casper, Wyo., also took second place in regular singles with 717 and Elmer Vandemheen and Dewey Yoho of Tucson, Ariz., cracked 1,287 for fifth in regular doubles.

Joey Giardello Rivero Battle Friday Night

CLEVELAND (AP) — Middleweight champion Joey Giardello, who meets Juan (Rocky) Rivero in a non-title 10-rounder here Friday night, likes to fight in Cleveland.

"I consider Cleveland my town," the 33-year-old Philadelphia scrapper said, "because I won five out of five here—all good wins. In 1959 I beat Dick Tiger here."

The bout, to be televised by ABC starting at 9 p.m., CST, will be Giardello's first since he won the crown by decision from Tiger in Atlantic City last Dec.7.

He said the four-month layoff "shouldn't be any problem — I had a five-month layoff before fighting Tiger for the title."

Rivero, Argentine middleweight champion, is known more as a puncher than a boxer. The 26-year-old South American has knocked out 36 opponents in compiling a record of 41 victories, 10 losses and one draw. He was stopped in the seventh round by Florentino Fernandez in New York last Dec. 13.

"Rocky will either knock out Giardello or give him a bad beating," said Sid Martin, Rivero's manager.

Giardello calls Rivero "a rough kid."

"He throws a lot of punches," the champion said, "and he's a little unorthodox. He leads with rights and throws overhand rights. I'll watch both hands. He's got a good left hook."

"If Rocky beats him," Martin said, "we'll holler for a championship match."

Giardello said he's supposed to defend his title in June.

"But I'm going to ask for a month or two delay," he added. "I want to get a couple of fights in. I haven't picked anybody yet for a championship fight, but I'm thinking about Rubin Carter, Tiger and Joey Archer."

In 123 fights, Giardello has lost 22. He last was knocked out in 1958 by Spider Webb. He has won five straight.

FORD MUSTANG

New OU Coach Debut Saturday At Alumni Game

NORMAN, Okla. (Special) — Larry Brown's switch to left halfback gives Coach Gomer Jones' first Oklahoma football team a three-man running threat in the Varsity-Alumni game here Saturday.

The quick-starting, 197-pound Jenks lad who averaged 5.1 net yards per carry as fullback Jim Grisham's substitute last year and ripped off 74 yards against Missouri has also shown the coaches that he can throw and receive adequately and block well from his new position of left halfback.

Brown will start there Saturday in a backfield that includes Grisham, Lance Rentzel and quarterback Norman Smith. Kickoff in this 16th annual spring game is 1:30 p.m. and another throng of 18,000 is indicated.

Jones, for 17 years Bud Wilkinson's line coach, will hurl two experienced sets of forwards against Coach Jim Weatherall's veteran grads. Five of his best linemen, LE Allen Bumgardner, LT Jerry Goldsby, C Carl McAdams, RT Butch Metcalf and RE Gordon Brown have hustled their way past senior standouts into starting positions.

Only three sophomores have cracked the first two elevens. All will play with the Alternates Saturday. They are LG Ronnie Shields of Wichita Falls, Tex., LH Stan Crowder of Enid and FB Jon Kennedy of Ponca City.

Despite its seniority, Jones' Varsity will ram against a rugged Alumni defense that includes linebackers Billy Pricer, Wayne Lee and Bob Harrison, cornerbacks Virgil Boll and Mel Sanderfeld and safeties Bobby Boyd and David Baker.

But rushing may not be the game's theme. Forward passing scored all three touchdowns in last year's 13-7 Alumni triumph. Jimmy Harris pitched to Clendon Thomas for both Alumni touchdowns. Rick McCurdy speared a halfback shot from Wes Skidgel for the lone Varsity score.

All four return for this year's game. Harris, skinny Abilene, Tex., geologist who started his Varsity quarterback career here a decade ago, needs only 16 yards in completions Saturday to raise his career total to 1,000 against the Varsity.

In seven previous Varsity-Alumni battles, Harris has completed 64 of 123 passes for 984 yards and 12 touchdowns. And Thomas, lanky Midwest City developer, has fielded 9 of those Alumni six-pointers.

The Varsity, winner of only 3 of 15 previous games, has battled toe to toe with the alumni the past two years, winning 47-24 two years ago, losing 13-7 last April.

This might be their last chance in years to win. Jones' 1964 Sooners retain 26 seniors. They'll all be eligible to join Weatherall's Alumni a year from now.

Wichita Speedway Races Are Friday

Wichita Speedway will hold regular racing Friday beginning at 8 p.m. at the speedway track located one-half mile south of the Archer City cutoff on the Jacksboro Highway.

A total of 26 cars were out last week to kick the season off. Some 14 cars were still being finished when the season started, but all are expected to be ready this week.

Racers will put their modified stocks through 117 laps of racing that will include two feature races. The B feature will be at 20 lap duel for cars in the lower point standings. The A feature is for the leading point cars and is a 25 lap, fast and furious race featuring the top drivers at the track.

Warmups begin at 7:30 p.m. with fast warmups coming from 7:45 to 7:50 p.m. Eight races highlight the night's program.

Atlanta Starts Work On Park

ATLANTA (AP) — Work has started on an $18 million stadium which is to be built in 12 months and occupied by a major league baseball team in 1965.

Local, state and federal officials broke ground for the 50,000-seat stadium Wednesday. The structure is being built on a barren urban renewal site south of the capitol.

The Atlanta-Fulton County Recreation Authority says a major league team has agreed to a long-term lease. To meet the team's request for a stadium by 1965, the authority approved a 12-months crash building program.

Arthur Montgomery, chairman of the authority, said a professional football team also expressed definite interest in coming to Atlanta but made no commitment.

New Mustang A Classic In Sports Cars

By BUDDY WORKS

It's not what you would call a 'do it yourself kit,' but it's about as close as a sports car lover will ever come.

It is the new Mustang by Ford, the most inexpensive sports luxury car on the market. Ford calls it the car designed to be designed by you.

A quick glance at the car reveals it's a sportsman's dream, low, streamlined and aching for the open road.

Mustang has the power combination for any driver. Four engines, three clutches, seven transmissions, four brake systems, three different wheel sizes, three different steering systems and three tailored suspension systems can be matched or mated to suit any owner.

The four passenger beauty can best be identified with the 1957 Thunderbird. The Mustang is only two tenths of an inch longer than the classic T-bird at 181.6 inches and stands 51.1 inches tall as compared with 51.6 for the Thunderbird.

The Mustang can be had with everything from a six cylinder 101 horsepower fuel saver to a big thundering V-8 high performance engine with three two barrel carburetors and four speed transmission.

The Mustang is made with the capability of holding its own in any kind of competition. That includes weight, cost and customer appeal.

The big 271-hp engine will give the driver 621 feet in 10 seconds from a standing stop. Gaswise it is rated at 16.2 mpg with the hi-performance engine and 19.8 mpg with the six cylinder.

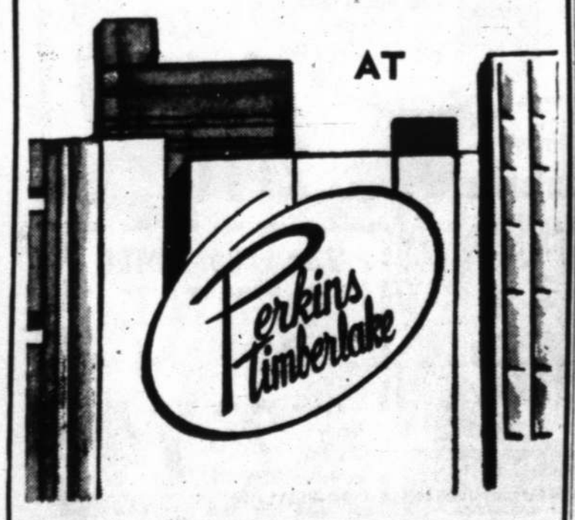

Backbone of the Mustang is its platform construction. Most European sports cars are of the platform construction instead of the conventional frame type. The body is welded on the platform to make it one integral unit. Mustang is the only American car with platform construction.

The car is new to the rally circuit and hasn't been proved in competition. But the same engine features of the Ford Cobra are combined in the Mustang. The Cobra has already proved itself on race tracks.

But unlike the standard sports cars, the Mustang blends European luxury style with American room. Wide opening doors and full - folding bucket seat - backs are typical American features.

The price is near half what a sports car owner usually pays.

Skowron Back Home Belting Homers In American Costume

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bill Skowron is home.

That sweet sight for Skowron is the American League, where he starred with the New York Yankees for nine years before being shipped to the National League.

The 33-year-old first baseman, now with Washington, officially marked his return Wednesday night with a home run that ignited a six-run outburst in the second inning, the Senators' biggest inning in two seasons.

Cellar Champs

The splurge carried the defending cellar champions to a 6-4 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels in the only American League game.

Skowron's home run, his first hit as a Senator, was his first in the league since Sept. 25, 1962. Two months after that homer, which incidentally was against the Senators, the Yankees sent him to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Skowron might not have felt like an alien in the National League, but his .203 average didn't exactly make him feel as if he belonged.

He wound up the regular season with a mere four home runs and 19 runs batted in before erupting in the World Series and helping the Dodgers to a four-game sweep of his former teammates.

Another two months had elapsed after the series when Los Angeles sold him to Washington. Plummeting from a world champion to a cellar dweller might have been a brutal descent, but Skowron at least is back where he believes he can hit.

Following the first baseman's big hit Wednesday night, starting pitcher Bennie Daniels singled in one run, Don Blasingame singled for two more and Chuck Hinton drove in the last pair with a triple.

Jim Fregosi had homered with Billy Moran aboard for a 2-0 Los Angeles lead in the first inning. The Angels made it close with two unearned runs in the sixth.

John Kennedy

John Kennedy was the fielding star for the Senators, making three outstanding plays at third base. His spectacular grab of Joe Adcock's smash in the seventh halted a threatened rally.

The Senators go after their second victory tonight, hosting Minnesota. The Yankees and Boston tried to get their season under way for the third time today at New York. Rain washed out their scheduled opener again Wednesday. Baltimore was at Chicago in the only other AL game.

Pancho Reports His Retirement From Net Over

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Professional tennis star Pancho Gonzales fashioned a bit of news on two fronts Thursday.

Big Pancho announced his retirement is over. He is returning to the tennis tours and tournaments after an absence of almost three years.

And Gonzales and former promoter Jack Kramer have buried the hatchet, this time not in each other, which sets a precedent.

Now 35, 181 pounds stripped and lean as a scrap of rawhide, Gonzales will re-engage his professional rivals in a spring and summer tour which starts May 19 at Washington, D. C.

Present plans as far as the United States swing is booked calls for the tour to end in Boston July 9-13.

Pancho over the hill?

"If I can grab a few guys right off the bat they'll realize I'm not over the hill," Gonzales declared, patting a stomach as flat as an ironing board.

Gonzales lone tournament during his semi-retirement was at Forest Hills, N. Y., when he lost to Alex Olmedo.

Once the most feared player in the world, Gonzales blamed his poor showing at Forest Hills to lack of competition leading up to the event and numerous outside distractions.

"I'm in good shape mentally and physically. I do have to regain the style I need—attack. I think I can do it."

Giants A-Mays Milwaukee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They're tearing down the Polo Grounds, and Willie Mays is ripping up Candlestick Park.

Mays, 3,000 miles and seven years removed from New York's Polo Grounds, hammered his third home run in two games Wednesday night, triggering a 10-run third inning uprising that carried the Giants to a 10-8 victory over Milwaukee.

Biggest Since '57

It was the biggest inning for the Giants since the team pulled out of New York and moved West after the 1957 season.

Mays, the only member of the Giants who played with the club while the Polo Grounds was called home, now does most of his hitting at Candlestick Park. In the first two games of the season he has collected three hits and three homers. He hit a pair against the Braves Tuesday, then followed with a three-run shot Wednesday.

The St. Louis Cardinals also came up with a big inning, rapping Don Drysdale for five runs in the eighth inning en route to a 6-2 victory over Los Angeles—their first triumph over the world champion Dodgers in their last five regular-season games.

Pirates Nip Cubs

In other action, Bill Virdon drew a bases-loaded walk in the 12th inning that forced in the winning run in Pittsburgh's 5-4 decision over the Chicago Cubs, and Jim Bunning won his first game as a National Leaguer by pitching Philadelphia to a 4-1 victory over the New York Mets. Houston and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Only one American League game was played, Washington whipping the Los Angeles Angels 6-4.

The Giants started rolling in the third inning after winning pitcher Jack Sanford drew a two-out walk off Bob Sadowski. Before it was over the Giants had lashed six hits — including the homer by Mays and a three-run double by Sanford his second time around.

Despite the cushion, Sanford needed relief help from Bob Shaw, a former Brave. Ed Bailey, acquired by Milwaukee in the trade for Shaw, hit a solo homer off Sanford and Eddie Mathews connected with a man aboard.

The Cardinals' winning rally also was started by the winning pitcher when Bob Gibson stroked a single. After Gibson moved over to second, Drysdale intentionally walked Bill White but got crossed up on his strategy by hitting Charley James with a pitch.

Ken Boyer then rapped a two-run single that broke a 1-1 tie and Johnny Lewis, Curt Flood and Tim McCarver followed with run-scoring singles. Frank Howard got a run back for the Dodgers in the ninth with his second homer in two days.

Cub rookie Fred Norman, supported by Ernie Banks' three-run homer, carried a 4-1 lead into the ninth before the Pirates struck. Smoky Burgess drove in two runs with a pinch-hit single before Virdon singled home the tying run.

In the 12th, Bob Bailey led off with a single against Don Elston and eventually reached third on a wild pitch. Elston then issued two intentional walks, loading the bases, before issuing the unintentional pass to Virdon.

Expert Says Howard May Hamper Bums

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An eminent baseball authority, whose name is charitably withheld, was asked the other day whether the Los Angeles Dodgers are in better or worse shape than they were a year ago.

"Worse," he said.

"How come?"

"Frank Howard."

"Howard?"

"Yeah. He's not ready. A little guy like Maury Wills could get ready in a couple of weeks. Not Howard."

After two games, one pauses to consider what Howard might have achieved had he not plunged into the season with such a pitiful lack of preparation.

In his first eight at-bats, the 6-foot-7 outfielder has struck a blow for unpreparedness by making four hits and driving in three runs. He has hit two home runs and missed a third by maybe an inch.

And Howard, who threatened this spring to quit baseball for personal reasons and joined the club only 2½ weeks ago, hasn't seen a left-handed pitcher yet.

Tuesday night he singled off Ernie Broglio and drove in two runs with a 425-foot homer off Ron Taylor as the Dodgers defeated St. Louis 4-0. Wednesday night, against Bob Gibson, he singled and hit a bases-empty homer as the Cardinals defeated the Dodgers for only the fourth time in their last 17 meetings, 6-2.

The Cardinals won Wednesday night by scoring five runs off Don Drysdale in the eighth inning. Ken Boyer's bases-loaded single, his third hit of the game, produced the first two runs of the inning and broke a 1-1 tie.

Howard led off the Dodger ninth with his home run, a 375-footer. In the second, he had hit one of history's hardest singles—a low line drive that struck the top of the left-field wall and bounced back 50 or 60 feet, landing in front of the left fielder. Frank was thrown out trying to stretch it into a double.

Dodger Coach Pete Reiser argued passionately that the ball had gone into the seats and bounced out. He was ejected from the game for his trouble.

800 Attend Game And Fish Dinner

By CARROL COPELIN

An estimated 800 persons stuffed themselves on a wide variety of game and fish here Wednesday night at the annual Northwest Texas Field & Stream Association's game banquet and then sat back and roared at the antics of Wes Harrison, the man with a thousand sounds.

Harrison, billed as "Mr. Sound Effects," lived up to his reviews as he reproduced—with only mouth and hand—the sound of just about everything from a four engine jet plane to a balky starter on a $60,000 car.

The disappointingly small audience loved every minute of it. Prior to Harrison's sparkling performance, those attending the field and stream group's dinner viewed a style show of sports fashions from Kirkland's and the antics of Maskat Temple's clowns.

John Barnard Jr., who was re-elected president for a second term, was presented with a plaque from the organization in appreciation for his work last year. Joe McDonald, a director and former president of the group, presented the plaque.

New officers of the organization, who officially assumed their duties Wednesday night, include Barnard; Joe Tom White and Charles Sloan Jr., vice presidents; James Dowell, executive secretary; Richard Adams, parliamentarian; Ed Luig, sergeant-at-arms; and Mrs. Venera Emery, office secretary-treasurer.

Retiring officers included R. W. (Bud) Seyler and Ed Oglesby, vice presidents, and Frank Edwards, sergeant - at-arms.

Retiring directors are Bill Hodges, Dale Jones, Kittrell Baylor, W. W. Walker Jr., J. L. Hair Jr., Julian McFall, Truman Rives and Truman Davis.

Directors for 1964 include Paul Alexander, Dr. Raymond Atkins, Dr. James Brosch, Ellis Bonham, Walter Coleman, Bert Clark, Dickie Dixon, Frank Edwards, Bill Forbes, Dr. Raymond Hander, Bill Hendrickson, Sam Hoch, Don Hornady, Don James, George Ray Keith, Charles King, James Lane, Jack Leggett, Fred Litteken and Joe McDonald.

Bill Naylor, Ed Oglesby, Tate Pittman, R. W. (Bud) Seyler, Dick Smith, Morris Stallcup, Elmer Townsend, Bill Wade and George Walker.

Membership dues in the sportsmen's group help support a sportsman - landowner cooperative program, a rifle and trap range, publication of a club paper, restocking of three kid fishing ponds, two fishing contests, a kid fishing rodeo, an annual shrimp feed, fishing trips for underprivileged children, rifle and trap shoots for Boy Scouts, an annual chili supper, a safety and sportsmanship program for area youth and representation concerning game and fish laws.

Hardwick Grabs Lead In Keg Meet

LODI, Calif. (AP) — Billy Hardwick of San Mateo, Calif., held a 21-pin lead over runner-up Wayne Zahn of Atlanta, Ga., at the halfway mark Wednesday of the 24-game qualifier in the Professional Bowlers Association $26,000 Lodi Open.

Hardwick rolled 2782 for his first 12 games. This included a 1,415 block in the afternoon and a 1,367 at night.

But Hardwick had to share the spotlight with three other pros in the 96 - man field. Bud Horn of Los Angeles and John Nickell of Dayton, Ohio, both shot perfect 300 games. Dick Weber of St. Louis had a 298.

St. Louis In Death Fight With Warriors Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gunning for the Western playoff championship of the National Basketball Association and the basket of cash going with it, the St. Louis Hawks battle the San Francisco Warriors tonight at the Cow Palace in the decider of their seven-game series.

Awaiting in the wings to see who'll break the 3-3 tie are the Boston Celtics, the defending NBA champs who won the Eastern playoffs from the Cincinnati Royals a week ago.

The Celtics reportedly are incensed over the long wait.

"Nonsense," says General Manager Bob Feerick of the Warriors. "The rest gives them the advantage over either of us who must play tonight and then be in Boston to open the finals on Saturday night. And the Celtics know it."

Originally the final Western game was scheduled Tuesday but the San Francisco Seals had the Cow Palace reserved that night for a Western Hockey Association playoff game against Los Angeles.

As the Hawks and Warriors go into their deciding game before an anticipated crowd of 10,000, Wilt Chamberlain must be the big man no matter how you look at his 7-foot 1-inch height.

For if the Hawks can check his shooting, they'll probably win since the other Warriors haven't been consistent with outside shooting. In setting defenses, the visitors will have two or even three harrassing Wilt.

At stake in the cash department tonight is a purse of $12,500 for the winning team against $10,000 for the loser. That difference isn't so great but the winner goes into the final playoff where the purses will be $25,000 and $17,000. The loser tonight goes home.

Through six playoff games, Chamberlain leads the scoring with 215 points and has grabbed 143 rebounds. Bob Pettit and Richie Guerin of the Hawks each have scored 126. Tom Meschery ranks as the No. 2 San Francisco shooter with 103 despite playing with a broken little finger on his right hand.

Red Wings Hope Ice At Home Will Help

DETROIT (AP)—If home ice makes the difference, the Detroit Red Wings might have an edge over the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in the third game of the all-even Stanley Cup National Hockey League finals.

The Leafs, who lost the series' second game on their rink at Toronto, scheduled a workout at Olympia Stadium eight hours before face-off time.

Coach Punch Imlach, plainly disappointed with his team's performance Tuesday night, is keeping the defending champions skating in practice between games of the best-of-seven playoffs.

The Leafs surged to a 3-3 tie with Detroit in the third period Tuesday night, only to suffer a 4-3 setback in overtime. Detroit's Larry Jeffrey flicked the winning goal past Johnny Bower in the sudden-death period.

The Red Wings, betting underdogs when the series started, are resting between games. Coach Sid Abel took his squad to a race track Monday to keep the players relaxed.

Detroit defensive star Bill Gadsby agrees with Abel's strategy.

"That Punch Imlach is nuts," Gadsby said.

He added that veteran Toronto players like George Armstrong, Red Kelly and Allan Stanley "can't take it—this business of working out every day. It's killing them."

The Leafs and Wings will play game No. 4 here Saturday, then return to Toronto for the fifth game of the playoffs.

Huskies Open Baseball Play With Victory

Hirschi's winning tradition carried over into baseball here Wednesday afternoon and the Huskies mauled class AAA Burkburnett, 8-5, in their season opener.

It was the first baseball game in history for the school, which won a football title in its first season of competition and shared a co - championship in basketball.

The Huskies rapped the Bulldogs and ace lefthander Johnny Koller in solid fashion, collecting 12 hits, an even half of them for extra bases. They tagged Koller early and late, scoring four runs in the first and four in the fifth and sixth stanzas to wrap it up. Burk never led.

Billy Tanner toiled on the mound for four innings before yielding a pair of runs in the fifth to break up a shutout. He was tagged for another in the sixth and had runners at second and third with only one out when relief hurler Kenny Reynolds got the call from the bullpen. He got the side out on an infield fly and a strikeout, was tagged for two runs in the seventh but still finished well ahead.

Raiders, Pack Slate Spring Training Dates

The Wichita Falls Coyotes and the S. H. Rider High School Raiders have slated dates for their spring football drills, coaches Hunter Kirkpatrick of Wichita Falls High School and Joe Bob Tyler of Rider announced.

Rider will open football drills Saturday on its practice field and the Coyotes will wait until Monday to begin work at Coyote Stadium and practice field.

The Coyotes had originally slated their spring training work to open Friday, but a rash of illness caused a rescheduling until Monday.

Both high schools are now members in District 4-AAAA. For Rider, it is the first spring drills. Classes B, A, AA, and AAA are not allowed spring work under University Interscholastic Rules.

Under the same rules both schools are allowed 21 calendar days of work and of those 21, coaches Kirkpatrick and Tyler will probably only be able to drill on about 17 or 18 days.

Kirkpatrick said he expected about 43 players to partcipiate in the drills and a like number is expected at Rider.

Both Wichita Falls High School and Rider High School will hold intra - squad games toward the end of spring training.

The official dates will be announced by coaches at a later date.

Admiral Fires Salvo At Academy's Sports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rockover says "overorganized varsity athletics" at the U. S. Naval Academy are a waste of time and energy "which should be devoted to the more important aspects of education."

"It is not an essential function of the Naval Academy to engage in large-scale competitive spectacles for the benefit of the general public,' Rickover told the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

Rickover, key man in the development of the nuclear navy and a frequent critic of American education, made the comments in testimony last March 6. It was released Thursday by the subcommittee.

He said this overemphasis on sports even extends to intramural sports because they count heavily in company competition.

"Often midshipmen with good initial academic potential graduate as mediocre students because of excessive participation in sports activities to the detriment of intellectual development," Rickover said.

"The belief that 'big league' athletics at the academy fosters good leadership development is a fallacy," he added. "Much of the organized athletic program has become an end in itself rather than a means to promote a sound body, sound mind, concept."

Rickover's new criticism—he has discussed the subject before—isn't expected to discourage Navy fans, riding high with five straight football victories over Army.

Rickover said he thought overemphasis on varsity sports was "due to nostalgia for the past—a past when life was uncomplicated and the Navy a place for a leisurely, gentlemanly, not too demanding intellectually."

Except for duty in the academy's athletic department, Rickover said, "very few officers are subsequently selected for important assignments in the Navy because of their athletic prowess in college."

Rickover said the intramural program should be "informally organized by the midshipmen themselves," rather than by commissioned officers, and not compulsory.

Rickover stressed that he did not mean to "put a stop to all varsity and intramural athletics."

Nicklaus Gets Nod At Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—Jack Nicklaus was the popular choice as the $50,000 Houston Golf Classic opened today but Phil Rodgers has looked sharp during practice rounds.

Rodgers, former University of Houston star fired a three-under-par 68 during final practice Wednesday over the 7,223-yard par 35-36—71 Sharpstown Country Club course, where the Classic is being held for the first time.

Nicklaus, who finished second in the Masters with Dave Marr last Sunday, drew 3-1 odds as the Classic favorite.

Six former champions are in the field, with odds ranging from 5-1 for defending champion Bob Charles to 15-1 for Mike Souchak and Marty Furgol.

Charles won last year with a Classic record 269 on the Memorial Municipal Park Course.

Charles, a New Zealand lefthander, picked up $10,000 first place money last year but the top money has been cut by the PGA to $7,500.

Nicklaus did not arrive in time to take any practice shots but most of the other top golfers participated in a pro-amateur Wednesday.

Nicklaus has played in the Classic twice before. He won $3,800 for a second place tie in 1962 and picked up $3,000 for fourth place last year.

Colonial Fine Old Tourney

This Monday I've been invited to the annual press golf tournament at Colonial Country Club and intend to motor to Fort Worth and check their course.

Of course, you know here's where they hold the Colonial National Invitation tournament each year.

Back in 1962, was my first time to play there and I had a smooth - running 84. Wade Flatt, who went with me and plans to go again, had a nice 83. We missed the tourney last year, but will make up for it this time.

When we played, the course was in fine condition. Although, it's noted for its length, the thing that tore me up was putting on the huge and rolling greens.

This year the regular tourney has been hiked in prize money to $75,000.

In case you're not familiar with much of Colonial's background let me fill you in.

In The Background

Julius Boros won the tourney last year and this marked the third time the winner has gone on to win the National Open in the same year. This was pulled off by Ben Hogan in 1953, Tommy Bolt in 1958 and Boros in '63.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff is the only golfer who has played in all previous Colonial tournaments, but Ben Hogan is the man who has won the most. Hogan won five times — 1946, 1947, 1952, 1953, and 1959.

Boros was the first winner since 1955 to break par for 72 holes with a one-under-par 279.

There has been only one hole-in-one scored. Kel Nagle aced the par three, 195-yard 13th in 1961.

The most clubs broken on one hole was set in 1962 by Charles Cl—oops.

In case you haven't been able to witness one of the Colonial tournaments why don't you try to make it this year. The dates are May 6-10, and believe me you get to watch the best.

Two more top amateurs have turned pro. Labron Harris Jr. of Stillwater, Okla., and Richard Sikes of Springdale, Ark.

Harris was the 1962 national amateur golf champion and former Oklahoma State University star. Sikes has won the national public links championship twice, is a former NCAA champion and was runner-up in the 1963 national amateur.

In case you missed the feature, Wichita Falls will also have two amateurs joining the tour. Rocky Thompson, native Wichitan, and Bill Garrett, golf coach and school teacher here, intend to join the pro ranks sometime this summer.

Texas Gulf Sulphur Leads Market Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Airlines and cigarette issues took losses in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point peppered the list of key stocks.

The outstanding feature was a 5-point spurt by Texas Gulf Sulphur which was bought very heavily on the company's announcement that it had made a major discovery of zinc, copper and silver in the Timmins, Ont., area.

Airlines were still soft. The cigarette stocks continued profit taking.

Small gains among selected oils, rails, building materials, utilities, motors and drugs tended to keep the list on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 305.5 with industrials up .7, rails up .1 and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .22 at 825.65.

The picture was spotty among other metal producers. Phelps Dodge fell more than a point. Anaconda and Kennecott lost fractions. American Smelting was up slightly.

Reynolds Tobacco, a big gainer in recent weeks, lost more than a point.

American Telephone was up a fraction.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Davis Tells Of Disaster Work

By CARROLL COPELIN
Times Staff Writer

LAWTON, Okla. — City Manager Jack Davis of Wichita Falls told members of a Lawton, Okla., civic club Thursday that one of the major problems arising from the city's fatal tornado was the question of "who was running the show."

Davis, speaking at a meeting of the Lawton Noon Optimist club, said "one of our local county authorities called out nearly everyone who had a phone." The Wichita Falls city manager explained city officials had never requested winch trucks from Lawton, Okla., and turned them back from the disaster area since the trucks were not needed.

Davis did not identify the "local county authority" and declined to name him after the luncheon meeting.

He told Lawton Optimists that since there was an initial problem with possible looting, city officials decided the only thing to do was to enforce a strict control of the disaster area and bar everyone from entering after sundown the day the tornado struck.

The city manager said this decision was perhaps the most important single step taken during the entire disaster operation.

Davis and several members of the administration staff were in Lawton Thursday at the invitation of Mayor Wayne Gilley to speak before a meeting of city officials, civil defense authorities and Ft. Sill representatives on the procedure followed by the city during and immediately following the disaster.

Sino-Soviet Break Said Drawing Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — The quarrel between Soviet and Chinese Communist leaders appears now to be moving rapidly toward a formal break which the Soviets apparently wish to avoid but the Chinese may be determined to force.

Opinion in official quarters here is divided and some authorities believe that both sides will yet try to avoid the final rupture.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev in a fresh attack Wednesday on the Chinese Reds told a Soviet-Polish friendship meet in the Kremlin that the Chinese have brought the world Communist movement to "the verge of a split."

In Western eyes, the Russians and Chinese have been competing for leadership for several years. This suggests that perhaps Khrushchev himself now seriously contemplates the possibility of a more formal break between the two Communist giants than any that has yet occurred.

If this does develop, U.S. experts are not sure what it will mean for the West in the cold war.

One possibility is that it would intensify the rivalry within Communist parties in many countries and tend to weaken their drives for power in non-Communist countries. Another might be to cause both the Soviet Union and Red China to turn more to Western countries because of strategic and economic considerations.

The Soviet Union is believed to have moderated its policies toward the United States some time ago not only because of the outcome of the Cuban missile crisis and the need for food arising from crop failures, but also because of growing Red Chinese hostility.

The Chinese Reds in the event of a complete break of all ties with the Soviet Union would undoubtedly need to obtain some commodities from non-Russian sources—notably petroleum products.

There could be Chinese withdrawal from various Communist-front organizations, or the Soviets might lead a movement to force them out if Khrushchev decided there was no longer any profit in trying to hold the world Communist movement in some semblance of unity.

In recent months, the organizations have been scenes of conflict between the Russians and Red Chinese.

Apart from the common membership in many Communist organizations, the Soviet Union and Red China have a treaty of alliance concluded in 1950. They have formal diplomatic relations between their two governments and they still have some trade with each other although it is far less than when the quarrel began to develop in 1958-59.

McLendon Pledges His 'Full Efforts'

By DOYLE HARDEN

Gordon McLendon, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate, addressed Rotarians during their luncheon meeting at First Methodist Church Thursday.

McLendon, who was in Wichita Falls for a one day visit with supporters told Rotary Club members and guests that he had only "... one thing to promise anyone — all of me. I will not make promises to small minority groups and leave the rest of the people out. I just promise myself and my full efforts to help Texas and Texans."

Mentioning the civil rights bill now pending, McLendon said the country does need some kind of civil rights legislation, but not in its present form.

"If you could swallow the present bill, it would just take about 40 per cent of your liberties away, but what about the future and the men in high office?" he said. "How will they interpret the law the way it now reads?"

Hitting at the current national budget, McLendon mentioned a recent law passed in Texas to prevent deficit spending. The candidate proposed a similar law for the nation to reduce spending by the government.

"It worked for Texas and it would work for the nation," McLendon said, "and the citizens of this country would have a lot more faith in their country under such a plan. Likewise, the foreign countries would have more faith in our nation if we cut down on so much wild spending."

Prior to the noon luncheon at the Rotary Club, McLendon met with friends and supporters at his headquarters in the Kemp Hotel. Another meeting at the Kemp was planned for Thursday afternoon.

Reuben Knight, Wichita County campaign chairman for McLendon, issued a statement during the morning meeting at the candidate's headquarters. He said, "It is paramount in a democracy for the majority to stand up and be counted; otherwise, there is minority rule. I ask all Democrats to vote in the May 2 primary."

McLendon, who served as a member of former Gov. Price Daniel's water development committee, has interests in a number of radio stations across the nation as well as in oil, real estate and motion picture theatres.

He is a sponsor of the Chinese Refugee Relief, a nationwide charitable project.

Early in his career, McLendon worked with Dizzy Dean as a baseball broadcaster.

WORLD NEWS

Syrian Uprising Smashed By Army

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Army troops have smashed the third antigovernment revolt since Syria's Baath Socialist regime came to power in a military coup 13 months ago.

A government spokesman said an uprising in Hamah, 130 miles north of Damascus, was put down Wednesday with two persons killed. The city of 100,000 was still under a 24-hour curfew today, but bakeries and groceries were ordered to reopen, and easing of the restriction was expected.

The revolt started as a student demonstration protesting the political arrest of a high school student. The government said a strike developed and was exploited by "reactionary and feudalist elements, who had been infuriated by the government's seizure of their extra land under the agrarian reform law."

More than 30 persons were reported under arrest, and the government set up a five-man military court to try them.

Congo Province Raided

BUKAVU, Kivu Province, the Congo (AP) — Five policemen were killed and a number of civilians injured Wednesday in a raid blamed on African gangs of rebel leader Pierre Mulele.

Rebels armed with lances also attacked the car of Provincial Gov. Pierre Malago when he drove from Bukavu to investigate the violence at the police station at nearby Bagira.

The governor escaped and, using a gun, also rescued his bodyguard, who had been wounded and kidnaped by the Mulele gang.

Asian-African Meeting

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Sixty-two nations will be invited to the second Asian-African summit conference, to be held in Africa next March.

But Malaysia will not be among them unless the dispute with Indonesia is settled. And a proposed invitation to the Soviet Union was left unsettled because of objections raised by Red China at a preliminary meeting which ended Wednesday.

Israel and white-ruled South Africa also were excluded, but both Viet Nams and both Koreas were invited.

The meeting will be held on the 10th anniversary of the first conference, in Bandung, West Java. The site in Africa for the 1965 meeting will be chosen later.

Indiana Governor Denounces Wallace

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The tempo and the temperature of the Indiana Democratic presidential primary rose sharply today after a one-day visit to Indianapolis by Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

Wallace drew a blistering denunciation from Gov. Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana, whom he will oppose in the May 5 primary.

The Alabama governor said he is not running as a segregationist. He described himself as a state and local rights candidate.

The Indiana election is the second of three scheduled by Wallace for active campaigning. Last week in Wisconsin he polled 260,000 votes, about 35 per cent of the total cast in the Democratic presidential primary. His third campaign will be in Maryland.

Came Wednesday

Wallace came to Indiana Wednesday, one day after having placed fourth among nine write-in candidates in Illinois. He polled more than 4,500 votes on both Democratic and Republican ballots there.

Welsh, who entered the presidential primary only to claim Hoosier delegates' votes for President Johnson, quickly said he was "not interested" in an invitation from Wallace to debate.

The usually mild-mannered Welsh said in a statement, "This is the man whose beliefs were responsible for the deaths of innocent children in the bombing of a Sunday School class."

Outside a chemistry lecture hall where Wallace answered Butler University students' questions, another group of students picketed with signs like "no racism in Indiana."

"I'm not a racist," Wallace told the applauding students inside. "A racist is one who hates another person in his heart because of his color. I would not be a segregationist president. I would be a state and local rights president."

Audience

The student audience, asked to choose between the policies of the governors in a mock primary, voted for Wallace over Welsh, 70-55.

Wallace flew back to Alabama Wednesday night after saying he'll consider it a victory "if I get any votes at all." He said he'll be back for more campaign appearances, but he set no dates.

Voters do not register by party in Indiana. But Welsh said if known Republicans vote a Democratic ballot, they can be required under state law to swear they will vote for a majority of Democratic nominees in November.

Indiana convention delegates are bound to cast their first-ballot vote for the presidential primary winner.

In the Republican primary, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona will make only one appearance next Monday, piped into a statewide television network out of Indianapolis. His only major opponent, Harold E. Stassen, will appear on the Butler campus Friday.

Write-in votes are not permitted in Indiana.

FALSE BOMB REPORT DISRUPTS MU CAMPUS

For the fifth time since last September, life was disrupted at Midwestern University Thursday morning by a false report that a bomb had been placed on the campus.

Faculty members and students were evacuated from buildings on the campus while the police carried out a fruitless search, and more than an hour of valuable time was lost.

The bomb scare started at 7:46 a.m. Tuesday when a telephone call was received at the City Police Department. The call was made by an unidentified male who announced that a bomb would go off at Midwestern University in one hour.

As a precaution, people were evacuated while police checked out the report.

An MU spokesman commented later: "We appreciate a joke as much as anyone, but this sort of thing has long since ceased to be funny. We have no idea who is responsible for these anonymous telephone calls, but whoever the person is they should realize by now that no one is laughing at them."

The spokesman added the bomb scares had been going on at Midwestern for some 10 years now. "It is absolutely ridiculous, and this sort of thing results in a shocking waste of time. Students at Midwestern have already lost a total of more than 15,000 hours since December."

A police spokesman announced that an intensive investigation was being carried out to find the person or persons responsible for the calls.

Nuclear Physicist Killed In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Police and a U.S. Army unit used mine detectors and magnetic tools today in Central Park seeking the gun used in the slaying of a brilliant Columbia University nuclear physicist.

The body of Charles Gallagher Jr., 31, was found in a clump of bushes in the park shortly after dawn Wednesday. He had been shot once, through the heart.

Wednesday night a three-man contingent of the Army's 66th Ordnance Detachment from Bellmore, N.Y., began covering the area of the slaying with mine detectors.

At the same time, police dragged the nearby 72nd Street Lake with magnetic tools in hopes of turning up the weapon.

There were no signs of a struggle at the spot where Gallagher's body was found, and no evidence of robbery. Gallagher had left his wallet at home, as he often did. He still wore his wrist watch, and in his trouser pockets were some small change and his car keys. The victim's car was found in a Central Park lot at 79th street near where he was shot. His body was found by a stroller.

Police—Inspector Thomas C. Renaghan said Gallagher returned three weeks ago from a lecture tour in the Soviet Union, and previously had given lectures in several other foreign countries.

Gallagher did research work at Brookhaven National Laboratory, an atomic energy center on Long Island. Officials there said his work was in an area in which this country exchanges information with Soviet Russia.

Hypnotist Seeks 'Noisy' Damages

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One thing a hypnotist needs, said Dr. William J. Bryan Jr., is a quiet office.

He filed suit in Superior Court Wednesday, asking $55,000 in damages from his landlord.

He said the owners of the building on Sunset Boulevard made noisy alterations after he moved in, then rented space next door to a music publisher. The result: Plunking pianos kept his patient awake.

Cancer Crusade Seeks Workers

Particularly are more volunteers needed for the Alamo, Carrigan and Austin School districts.

Those willing to serve are asked to telephone either of the co-chairmen, Mrs. Stuart Beck, 767-0265, or Mrs. Jack Jeffus, 767-3143. Drive chairman is Dr. J. B. Hathorn Jr.

Teen-age organizations are being used in the crusade and all persons authorized to accept donations will be furnished a badge, it was pointed out.

Cardinal Spellman Rejected By Navy

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, says he tried to join the Navy during World War I, but he didn't make the grade.

His problem was an interview with the Navy chief of chaplains. Cardinal Spellman told an audience Wednesday at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York.

He said he reported for the interview and found the officer reading a newspaper, his feet on the desk.

"After putting a few perfunctory questions to me, he said, 'If I give you an hour in that room out there could you come back and preach me a sermon?' I answered, "I could preach you a sermon right now—on arrogance."

Cardinal Spellman, then a parish priest in Roxbury, Mass., said he soon received a letter saying he was "temperamentally unsuited to be a chaplain."

Howle On Burns Institute Board

Eleven Texas Shriners, potentates of their Shrine Temples, have been appointed to the board of governors of the new Shriners Burns Institute of the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children, Galveston unit.

The list includes W. P. Howle, potentate of Maskat Temple.

Construction of the $2.5 million Burns Institute is scheduled to begin this spring, according to Harold C. Close, Imperial Potentate of the Shrine. A seven-bed interim unit already has opened in the University of Texas Hospital in Galveston.

Severely burned children under 15 years old are treated in the Shriners Burns Institutes, the only such hospitals in the world devoted exclusively to burns treatment, research and education. Two other interim Burns Institutes have opened in Cincinnati and Boston.

Not Who, But What

Nikita S. Khrushchev isn't dead. As a famous American once said, "The reports of my death are grossly exaggerated." Khrushchev hasn't commented for public consumption about the false report this week, distributed by a news agency of West Germany, and he probably wouldn't come up with any humorous quip on the subject should he comment at all.

Nevertheless the erroneous report does make timely the consideration of matters that will be materially influenced by Khrushchev's demise or his involuntary surrendering of the leadership of the Soviet Union. It is unlikely that Khrushchev, in the tradition of dictators, will ever voluntarily surrender his position of power.

At the moment, should Khrushchev die or be shoved aside, the speculation centers on two men who might succeed him. One is the ceremonial head of Soviet government, 57-year-old Leonid I. Brezhnev, the president, and the other is 60-year-old Nikolai V. Podgorny, an influential party figure.

Neither Brezhnev nor Podgorny, nor any other possible successor to Khrushchev in his most powerful Soviet office, first secretary of the Communist party, can be considered well known to Westerners.

If Khrushchev's succession after Stalin's death in 1953 has set any pattern, it is that the end of Khrushchev's tenure will bring to the forefront a personality whose rise in rank will be as unpredictable in the Soviet Union as it is outside the iron curtain.

Who Khrushchev's successor might be is a futile guessing game, and made all the more so because of the rapid changes that do take place in the hierarchy of power in the Kremlin. Today's likely choice could well be out of the running tomorrow.

What is more important in a change in the premiership of the Soviet Union is the effect the transfer of power will have on policies Khrushchev has enforeed, particularly in international relations and diplomacy.

Whether one agrees or disagrees with appraisals of Khrushchev that seek to tag him as a moderate in his dealings with Russians, Soviet satellites and the countries of the West; as having turned Russia away from Stalinism with all that name implies; or as irreconcilable to the Peking Communist government, everyone can see the dangers of depending upon the continuance of current Soviet policies. They are Khrushchev policies, and they can be as abruptly terminated as Khrushchev's life itself.

'I've Got A Secret!'

Gratifying Tribute

Authors of "Letters to the Editor" like the writer of today's example have been numerous on the kindred subject of the generous and extensive assistance of so many organizations and individuals to the tornado stricken people of Wichita Falls.

The disaster which occurred 13 days ago was a major emergency calling for extensive government and private assistance (and by "government" we do not mean to exclude any agency of government from the local level on up), and something like a score of government agencies and other types of organizations have been involved in the gigantic effort to overcome the effects of the tornado.

The Times welcomes and encourages letters on almost any subject, but especially do our readers find that those who have had something to say about the disaster operation make a genuine contribution to public understanding of the vast and complex task that arises when a big disaster occurs.

We hope that no agency, no organization, is overlooked in the appreciation expressed in these letters. When they come unsolicited from individuals and are the observations of private citizens moved to write the newspaper about what they have seen, the tribute contained in them is all the more gratifying to the group that is recognized.

Robbed Of Opportunity

The death of Rachel Carson, author of the controversial book "Silent Spring," is all the more regrettable because she will not be present to help settle the argument over poisons and pesticides.

Since Miss Carson, a biologist as well as an author, stirred up a debate that has gotten into Congress, it would have been fitting for her to have been present for the final conclusions which must be reached on the subject. Cancer robbed her of that opportunity.

Perhaps "Silent Spring" went too far in its attack upon the progress made in the chemical sciences in discovering death - dealing potions more terrifying than any witches' brew ever imagined. But she cannot have been all wrong. The death of huge quantities of fish in the lower reaches of the Mississippi River, charged to concentrations of poisons washed from agricultural operations, is a brand new reminder of the potential hazard as well as the potential good in sprays, dusts and other forms of chemicals developed for man's protection against insects.

Having raised a controversy and continued its intensity, Miss Carson would have wanted to be present for the outcome. Her death is a distinct loss for the side which looked to her as its major spokesman.

GOP Nominee Status Never So Confused

By CHARLES O. GRIDLEY
Times Washington Bureau

These are spring days when President Johnson can be pardoned a little inward political self satisfaction. Since he is not the gloating type, no demonstrations may be expected but his complete lack of concern about his presidential opposition is taken as a sign that he doesn't much care what the Republicans do about a candidate.

Ordinarily this could be a very dangerous attitude but it could almost be said the Republicans are asking for it. Since the death of President Kennedy, their bevy of candidates have been flying at so many levels that it's almost impossible for the voters to keep track, as many of them are remarking.

Seems Pointless

Whether they could have offered more effective opposition to the late President would now be idle speculation, but since Lyndon B. Johnson moved in as chief executive without a tremor and the country settled back with a sigh of relief, the whole Republican campaign, in the view of a great many political veterans, has seemed purposeless and pointless.

In this situation the poll takers have moved with firm purpose, and the net result has probably been to add to the confusion which has existed since the New Hampshire primary because of the strength shown by absentee Ambassador to South Viet Nam Henry Cabot Lodge and reluctant Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Now Lodge's possiblity as a nominee is being whipped up apparently out of reasonable proportion by his showing in polls in Oregon and elsewhere. Political observers there see him running ahead of both Sen. Goldwater and Gov. Rockefeller, but what significance that has is highly uncertain. Oregon has but 18 convention votes.

Only Hope

Despite primary expenditures estimated to be larger than those of the other candidates combined, Rockefeller's strength has apparently declined during the past month, and his only hope to make an impressive showing when the Republican convention opens in San Francisco July 13, party leaders think, is to win the California primary with its 86 convention votes June 2. But between now and then 12 states and the District of Columbia will hold preferential primaries to select a total of 439 convention votes; and 34 states and two territories will hold conventions, picking 767 convention delegates. Illinois, Wisconsin and New Hampshire have already chosen theirs.

Shadow Cast

That seems a long way to go, but no election year can be recalled in which as much confusion has prevailed in the Republican party over the probable nominee. The choice requires 655 delegates votes, and many delegates will not be firmly instructed.

Earlier this year, after his presidential announcement, Sen. Goldwater was estimated, to have a big lead, to be within striking distance of the nomination. The New Hampshire primary put a question mark beside that; what was not realized then was that it would cast a shadow over the whole campaign—the shadow of the man who wasn't — and isn't—there.

Analysts have compared the Lodge situation to that of Gen. Eisenhower and his late return from Europe in 1952, but the comparison doesn't quite fit. Opinion is divided here to whether Lodge will return at all before the San Francisco convention. Oddly enough, President Johnson may think he knows. Many believe that his complacence indicates he thinks that Lodge probably will not return unless he is the convention nominee. At this time such an outcome is deemed unlikely.

Plans Not Known

His brother, John Davis Lodge, former governor of Connecticut and former Ambassador to Spain, says he doesn't know his brother's plans. And it may just be that Henry Cabot Lodge has made no decision. At the moment, the situation in South Viet Nam is slightly on the upgrade for our side. If Lodge were to resign suddenly, the Communists would undoubtedly turn his departure into a propaganda advantage, perhaps of influential proportions.

Whatever he decides, he may have accomplished what some of his friends have believed all along to be at least one of his objectives. He is known to have no admiration for either Goldwater or Rockefeller as possible Republican nominees. For that reason, it has been stated on good authority, he stayed in the New Hampshire primary, in spite of Rockefeller's efforts to get him to declare himself out, and was agreeably surprised when he ran ahead.

Lead Means Nomination

Candidates who lead in the pre-convention polls (which are a comparatively recent institution) almost invariably are party nominees. More recent examples are Eisenhower, Stevenson, Nixon and Kennedy. And that is the reason the Lodge shadow persists. In addition to New Hampshire and Oregon, he has led recently in some national polls.

That has brought him under fire from Goldwater and Rockefeller in West Coast campaign speeches. The one possible nominee who probably knows what Lodge conditionally is likely to do is Richard M. Nixon, his 1960 running mate, who recently used a trip to Saigon, ostensibly for Pepsi-Cola, to visit the U.S. Ambassador.

But the Republican convention still threatens to become a grand uproar.

BOOKS OF THE TIMES

Leopold II A Royal Tycoon

THE KING INCORPORATED, by Neal Ascherson. Doubleday. $4.95.

By JOHN BARKHAM

Leopold II of Belgium (1835-1909) was the first, and probably the last, royal tycoon among the monarchs of modern times. Kings are not commonly noted for their business acumen; rarely indeed are they ever required to exhibit it. But Leopold was a rare exception. As a corporate executive, he could match deals with any of the American robber barons who were his contemporaries. Where they built oil, railroad and financial enterprises, he annexed a huge chunk of Central Africa, called it the Belgian Free State, and turned it into a personal empire. He financed it himself, ran it himself, and pocketed a fortune which made him the richest monarch in Europe.

Appearance Impressive

Leopold was as impressive in appearance as he was in performance. As Neal Ascherson pictures him in this book, Leopold was tall and commanding, with a fan-shaped beard of Biblical proportions which on wet days he stowed in a leather bag lest it become sodden and give him a cold. His little fingernails were grown as long as boars' tusks. In his seventies he was still able to beget illegitimate children, his mistress being a call-girl fifty years his junior whom he picked up in Paris. He later made her a baroness.

Fascinating though this royal debauchery might be, it is merely the trimming on the cake to Ascherson. What interests him is Leopold's financial dexterity in establishing the Congo as his private fief in defiance of his reluctant government. Leopold had delusions of grandeur, and since Africa was opening up as a hunting ground for colonies, he wanted to be in on the act. Because his government refused to take the initiative, he went ahead on his own.

Skill Displayed

The manner in which he did so is the subject of this book. Leopold's conduct as a freebooter in Africa was characterized by two distinct phases. First was the extraordinary corporate skill he displayed in juggling credits and setting policy. Second was the callousness with which he permitted his Congo agents to inflict inhuman punishment on Africans who failed to deliver their rubber quotas.

Regrettably the author fails to accord equal attention to both matters. It was Leopold's exploitation of the Africans which finally brought about his exposure, so that his Congo had to be ceded to the Belgian government. The British consul at Boma, Roger (later Sir Roger) Casement, submitted a sensational report on Belgian brutality. (Africans were flogged, and in some cases had their hands or feet cut off as punishment.) All this is treated in cursory fashion by Ascherson—a few photographs and brief textual references. It is true that this story has been told before, but it can bear telling again.

Predatory Look

What does absorb the author's energies are Leopold's financial manipulations. These wheelings and dealings are described in minute detail and take up most of the book, imparting a stodginess to the narrative which could have been avoided. The predatory personality of Leopold himself comes through only fleetingly.

You see him obliquely, as in his reaction to the celebrated double suicide at Mayerling. Leopold's daughter was married to the Austrian Archduke Rudolf, who committed suicide with his mistress in a hunting lodge. On receiving a message of sympathy from his Belgian ministers, Leopold replied by asking them "to place more shares on the market."

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Angry Carroll Hands Writer 'Just Dessert'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Carroll Baker's a gal who's not to be trusted—by reporters who write things she doesn't like. Now that she's back in Hollywood, after finishing

WILSON

"Mr. Moses" in Kenya and helping premiere "The Carpetbaggers" in Denver, Carroll confesses how she got even with a writer who, she felt, had done "a deliberate hatchet job" on herself, Robert Mitchum and the rest of the company in Africa.

"He came back on the set with the owner of the land where we were shooting," Carroll told me. "He had his nose high in the air. He arrived at lunch time. We didn't think he'd have the nerve to have lunch with us.

"We were just having dessert. I had a lovely plate of sloppy fruit salad in front of me. I added a lot of peaches and whipped cream, and some runny rice pudding. Then I walked over to him and dumped it all right into his face. I said, 'Oh, I'm sorry. I tripped.' He just sat there and let it all run down his face and nose. Then he said, 'Was that deliberate?' I said 'Yes.'" Carrol figures she might now be ahead of the reporter by a couple of peaches and a wet prune.

Tourist Attraction

Richard Burton's now a N.Y. tourist attraction. Hundreds line 46th St. each night to see him leave the Lunt-Fontanne Theatre by chauffeured limousine (and wait'll June when the college mobs hit town!)... The nudists have their own folk song, "My Doctor, the Sun" (Stanley Dombroff)... LBJ told the photographers: "I have one ambition. It's to meet the people. Painter Consoled

A painter who didn't sell one canvas at his exhibition consoled himself this way: "I am the possessor of the world's largest collection of my own paintings"... Praise For City Police

Editor The Times:

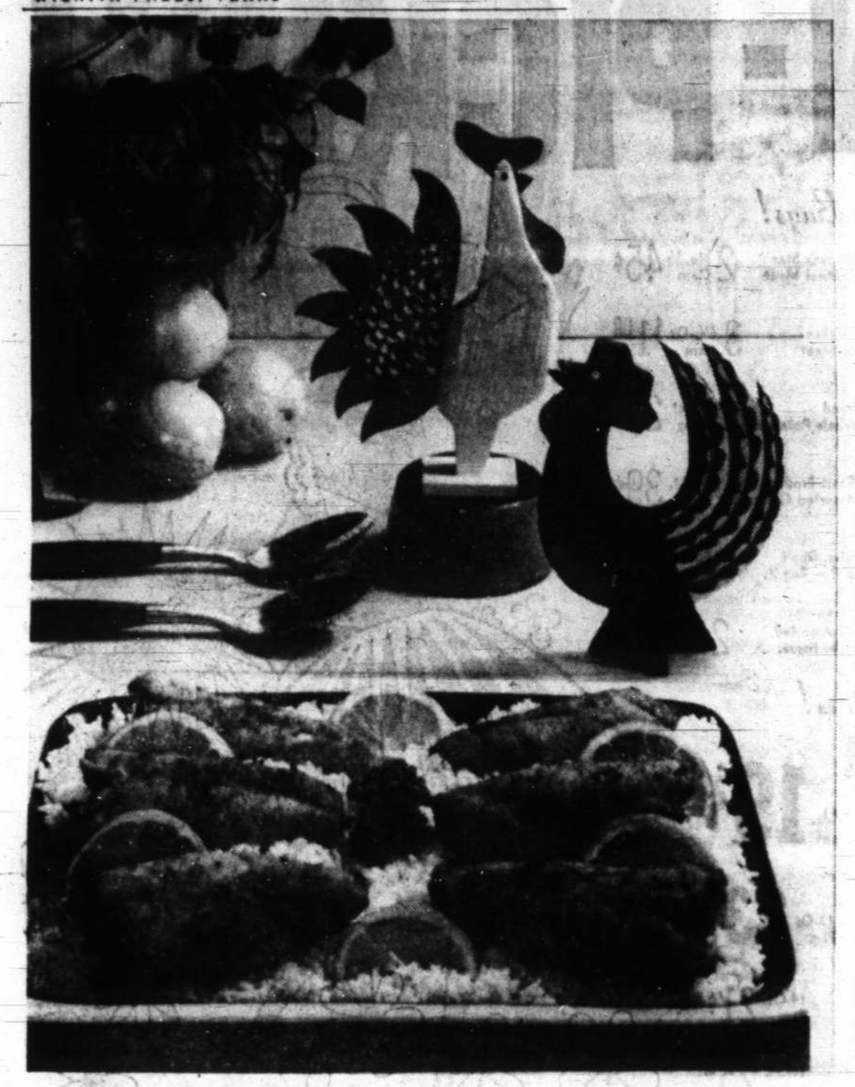

Your article in the Sunday Times concerning the performance of our police department immediately following the tornado was well deserved, and I hope every citizen of our city read it.

It seems to be the fashion these days to criticize the police, so these men who shoulder such tremendous responsibilities and risk their safety every day in order that the rest of us might be spared the job of going about armed to protect our families and property need to know that their efficiency and diligence do not go unnoticed.

Refreshing Boned Chicken Makes Splendid Entree

This recipe for Rolled Citrus Chicken is really something to crow about! Not only does it combine plump chicken breasts with ham slices in a tarragon-touched orange sauce, but it's so easy to make! Such a refreshing new dish for a spring dinner!

Rolled Citrus Chicken looks elegant, smells fragrant, and is superbly tender and moist, thanks to orange juice. Just the entree to serve gourmet guests who appreciate good and unusual food. The most elegant things are often the simplest, and this luscious dish belies its simplicity!

The slightly salty taste of ham blends deliciously with the tender delicacy of boned and skinned chicken breasts, and the fresh, natural orange flavor has an affinity for both meats. The chicken and ham are rolled, topped with bread crumbs, and baked with a tart-sweet sauce of orange juice, rind, butter and tarragon.

When you buy oranges, ask for the juicy Florida Valencia variety, in stores now through the spring months. Being practically seedless and heavy with rich juice, they're easy to squeeze and slice for use in cooking.

Rolled Citrus Chicken

6 whole chicken breasts, boned and skinned
6 slices cooked ham
2-3 cup fine bread crumbs
2 cups orange juice
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 tablespoon tarragon
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
½ teaspoon salt
Cooked rice

Place chicken breasts, skin side down on flat surface. Place one slice of ham on each breast; roll up and secure with food picks. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Arrange in shallow oven-proof dish and bake at 400 degrees F. (hot) oven for about 15 minutes, turning to heat all sides. Combine orange juice, butter, tarragon, rind and salt; pour over chicken. Lower heat to 350 degrees F. and continue to bake for about 30 minutes longer, turning occasionally. Serve with rice. YIELD: 6 servings.

Astronauts' Illness Not Space Related

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A space agency doctor says two cases of labyrinthitis contacted by two astronauts have no connection with each other or to outer space flights.

The illness, which settles in the inner ear and causes dizziness, varying loss of hearing and an upset equilibrium, canceled Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. from the political wars in Ohio and may affect the future of Lt. Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr., as an astronaut.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, Manned Spacecraft Center medical officer, said it would be many months before a final determination on Shepard's illness would be made.

The ailment first turned up in Shepard last June, although it was announced only Monday when the two Gemini space pilots were named.

Dr. Berry said it was believed Shepard was back to normal last October but the symptoms recurred about four weeks ago.

Dr. Berry said he didn't believe veterans of space flights were more susceptible to the ailment than anyone else.

"It is just unfortunate that Shepard had to get the same thing as Glenn," he said. "He could have gotten carbunckles or boils or something else as easy as getting labyrinthitis."

Dr. Berry said continuous medical examinations of the astronaut had not revealed any common ailments or defects attributed to space travel, whether by excessive acceleration, deceleration or by breathing pure oxygen.

Homemade Cake Mix Entrances Good Cooks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Conversation piece: cakes made from a homemade mix. When we served these desserts and friends asked about them, we said casually, "They were made from our own mix."

Well! The idea of concocting a cake mix at home entranced our tasters. They asked for the recipe and vowed to do likewise.

Actually there's nothing brand-new about homemade cake mix—the procedure has been around for some years. But this particular version and the ways of using the mix are new.

A pleasant note: cutting the shortening into the flour with a pastry blender, in making the mix, took us exactly three minutes.

Homemade Mix For Cake

8 cups (2 pounds) sifted enriched flour
2 cups canned white shortening
5 cups sugar
¼ cup double-acting baking powder
4 teaspoons salt

Into an extremely large bowl turn half of the flour. Add shortening, remaining flour, sugar baking powder and salt. With a pastry blender cut in shortening until it is in fine particles and mixture looks crumbly. Store in air-tight container in refrigerator up to 6 months. Makes about 15 cups (not packed down.)

Note: If self - rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Using The Homemade Mix For Layer Cake

4 cups Homemade Mix for Cake, spooned lightly into measure and leveled
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla

Into a large mixing bowl turn the cake mix. Add 2-3 cup of the milk and stir to blend. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixter (or 300 strokes by hand). Add remaining 1-3 cup milk, eggs, and vanilla; stir to blend. Beat 2 minutes at medium speed (or 300 strokes by hand). Turn into two 8-or 9-inch round greased wax-paper lined layer pans. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 25 to 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Place pans on wire racks to cool for 10 minutes; turn out on racks; turn right side up; cool completely before filling and frosting as desired. Chocolate Feather Cake: Turn cake batter into two 8-inch round greased wax-paper lined layer cake pans. Drizzle 2 tablespoons canned chocolate syrup over batter in each pan. Cut only through surface of batter with a metal spatula or silver knife to form a feathery pattern. Bake as directed above.

Up-Side-Down Cocktail Cake

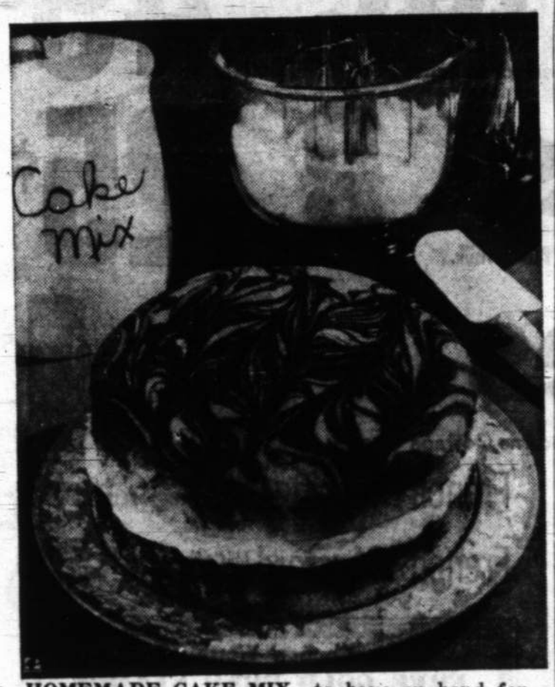

¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup light brown sugar
1 can (1 pound) fruit cocktail, well drained (1½ cups)
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
2½ cups Homemade Cake Mix
¾ cup milk
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla

Melt butter or margarine over low heat in 9-inch round pan; remove from heat. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Spoon fruit cocktail and nuts evenly over sugar; reserve. Turn cake mix into a small mixing bowl. Add ½ cup milk and stir to blend. Beat 2 minutes on medium speed of electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Add remaining ¼ cup milk, egg and vanilla and stir to blend. Beat 2 minutes or 300 strokes more. Turn batter into prepared pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 45 to 50 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 5 minutes before turning out of pan.

Raisin Spice Cake

3 cups Homemade Cake Mix
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
¾ cup milk
2 eggs
1 tablespoon light molasses
½ cup raisins

Stir cinnamon and cloves into cake mix. Add ½ cup milk; stir to blend. Beat 2 minutes on medium speed of electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Add remaining ¼ cup milk, eggs and molasses; stir to blend. Beat 2 minutes or 300 strokes more. Stir in raisins. Turn into greased 9-inch square pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) over 35 to 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out and cool.

BUTTERSCOTCH PUDDING is made from a mix but given a glamorous treatment.

Magic Touch Transforms Packaged Pudding Taste

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A knowing cook book author has a wonderful way of fancying up packaged butterscotch pudding and pie filling.

In one of the best of the paper back cook books, "Happy Endings — A Book of Desserts" by Edna McHugh (Collier Books) we came upon this great trick and have been using it ever since. All Mrs. McHugh's recipes show fine taste; not all are so quick to concoct as her pudding, but none is complicated.

Of her version of butterscotch pudding, Mrs. McHugh says, "Can you believe anything that simple can be that good? The cream makes the difference." And, we might add, the coffee.

Here are several ways we've used this rule at our house, and the recipe itself follows.

For Cake — Use the rich butterscotch pudding as the filling for two 9-inch white or yellow layers. Frost with whipped cream and sprinkle with slivered toasted almonds.

For Cream Puffs — Just before serving, fill cream puffs with the chilled rich butterscotch pudding.

EDNA McHUGH'S BUTTERCHOTCH PUDDING

1 package (4 ounces) butterscotch pudding and pie filling
1 tablespoon instant coffee
2¼ cups heavy cream

SPANISH DIP USES SHRIMP SOUP AS BASE

Are you looking for a new dip?

Spanish Dip

1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup, thawed
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon chopped stuffed olives
Dash hot sauce
Dash Worcestershire

With rotary beater or electric mixer, gradually blend soup into cream cheese. Beat just until smooth; overbeating will make dip runny. Blend in remaining ingredients. Chill. Makes about 2 cups. For extra tang, serve with corn chips.

Casserole For Children Features Good Flavors

Often you make a special effort to plan and serve the breadwinner's favorite meal, but sometimes it's a good idea to give special consideration to favorite foods of the small fry.

A home economist well versed in the art of meat cookery, comments that Sausage - Sweet Potato Casserole will certainly appeal to the taste whims and help meet the nutritional requirements of children.

Sausage patties, mashed sweet potatoes, orange juice and orange slices, brown sugar and miniature marshmallows are the ingredients which make up this casserole. It's a combination youngsters should enjoy.

The recipe features bulk pork sausage which is mildly spiced and pleasing to the tastes of children.

Sausage - Sweet Potato Bake

1 pound bulk pork sausage
1 can (1 pound 7 ounces) sweet potatoes, drained and mashed ¼ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 orange, peeled and cut into 8 slices
½ cup miniature marshmallows

Shape sausage into 8 patties. Brown lightly. Combine sweet potatoes, orange juice and sugar and spoon into a greased 1½-quart baking dish. Arrange sausage patties and orange slices alternately in a circle around edge of casserole. Sprinkle most of the marshmallows in the center and a few on the sausage and oranges. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes. 4 servings.

Five Quick Tips Aid Good Cooks

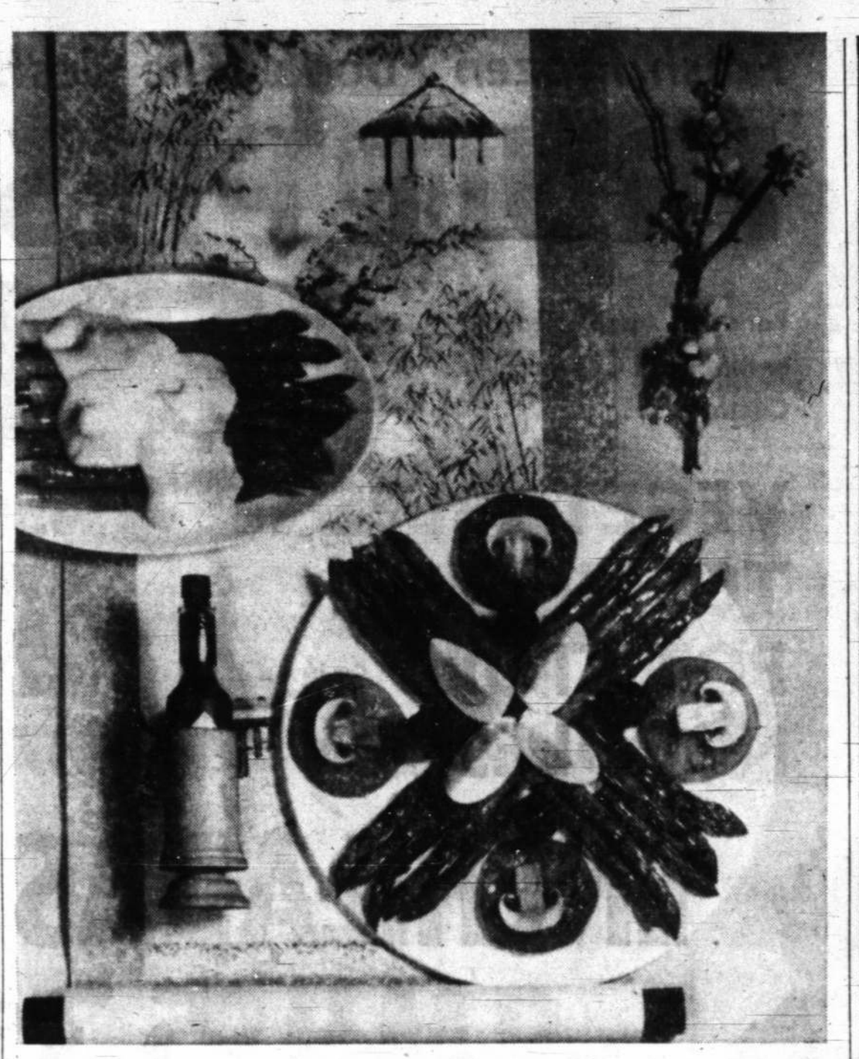

In a skillet, or shallow pan with cover, mix and heat ¼ cup low calorie French dressing, ¼ cup water. Add fish fillets, bring to a boil and cover. Simmer 3 minutes. Top fish with very thin alternating slices lemon and tomato, simmer two minutes, or until done.

Use drained cooked or canned carrot slices. Toss with chopped mint and a touch of basil; then quickly saute in a very hot pan in 1 tablespoon hot butter or margarine.

Make strawberry gelatin dessert according to directions; add ½ package frozen strawberries. When mixture has thickened, whip until light and fluffy. Chill.

Soak raw vegetable chunks or pieces in salted water; chill. Drain and serve sprinkled with seasoned salt.

Pour chilled citrus or pineapple juice into sherbet glass, add a heaping tablespoon sherbet and a sprig of mint if desired.

FRESH ASPARAGUS, photographed against a Japanese screen depicting spring, is the season's most delectable vegetable. Serve it marinated in a cool salad, or topped with a hot cheese sauce.

Fresh Asparagus Dishes Make Spring Menus Sing

Asparagus and spring are practically synonymous. Once the snow has disappeared, the ground thawed, and winter wraps generally put away in mothballs, the cheery bunches of fresh green asparagus beg to be bought.

The ancient Romans had a wise proverb: "as quickly as you can cook asparagus." Today's lovers of good food know, too, that it's easy to overcook this delicate vegetable; a crisp-tender texture is as important for good asparagus as its flavor.

Since asparagus is prized for its fine delicacy, care must be taken with the seasonings used to enhance its flavor. Liquid red pepper sauce adds piquancy to two appetizing recipes for asparagus.

A cool dish is Asparagus Vinaigrette, in which the cooked vegetable is marinated briefly in a pepper sauce seasoned oil mixture with tomato and mushroom slices, and ripe olives, then arranged artistically on a salad platter with quartered hard-cooked eggs.

If you prefer your asparagus served hot, it's delicious with a hot sauce - tanged cheese sauce. Asparagus Rabbit makes a fine luncheon dish if you arrange the cooked vegetable on toast and pour the hot cheese over.

When you buy asparagus, look for fresh, firm, bright green spears with tightly folded tips (when they start to open the asparagus is past its prime), and smooth, unwrinkled stalks. To prepare for cooking, brush any sand from the tops and scales. Peel off the skin with a potato peeler for extra tenderness and delicate flavor, and wash gently twice in tepid water.

Asparagus Rabbit

4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups milk
¼ teaspoon hot sauce
2 cups grated sharp process Cheddar cheese
1 bunch fresh asparagus, cooked

Melt butter; blend in flour, salt and dry mustard. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add hot sauce and cheese; stir until cheese is melted. Serve over cooked asparagus, on toast, if desired. YIELD: 4 to 6 servings.

To cook asparagus, snap off tough white end of asparagus stalks. Spread stalks in 2 layers in 9-or 10-inch skillet. Sprinkle with salt. Pour on 1 inch of boiling water. Boil, covered, 12 to 15 minutes only until tender-crisp. Lift out asparagus; drain.

Asparagus Vinaigrette

Marinade:
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
1-3 cup wine vinegar
¼ teaspoon hot sauce
2-3 cup salad oil
1 small garlic clove (optional)
1 bunch fresh asparagus, cooked
1 tomato, sliced
4 ripe olives

THE WORRY CLINIC

Arson Urge Explained

By GEORGE W. CRANE, M.D.

CASE S-440: Tommy Z., aged 10, has a common obsession.

"Dr. Crane," his mother began, "what can we do for Tommy?

"For he has a mania to get at matches and start fires. Last week when he was playing next door at the home of a little girl his own age, he started a fire that burned the floor out of the back porch.

"If the fire truck hadn't arrived so swiftly, the whole house might have burned down.

"His daddy has punished him several times for playing with matches, but Tommy just can't seem to leave them alone.

"He seems as fascinated by matches as the chronic alcoholic is attracted to liquor."

Firebug Psychology

There are two basic aspects to this mania for matches.

Upt to a certain degree, it is a natural form of childhood curiosity.

So try to let your youngesters indulge their yen to strike matches.

For example, deliberately schedule some picnics where you will have a bonfire.

But let your child actually scratch the match and light the fire.

Meanwhile, warn him to be careful lest he burn himself. And as soon as he is old enough, let him join the Cub Scouts and then the Boy Scouts.

For in those splendid organizations, he will be taught the wise use of matches.

But even when he is too young to be a Cub Scout, be sure you drill him on the dangers of fires, plus how to safeguard himself and the community by making sure campfires are all extinguished before the picnic party leaves the scene.

If you let a child start fires in the legitimate course of events, as at picnics or when you want a fire in your home fireplace, he will get this craving out of his system.

Many adults forget to let the child actually ignite the match, so the youngester often builds up an abnormal craving to strike matches.

It thus becomes a "status symbol" much like the similar craving to smoke cigarets, just be cause he thinks such an act will signify he is BIG or adultish.

Sexual Motive

But many firebugs or arsonists set fires for another reason. And that reason is rooted in sexual motives.

For sexual excitement is somewhat similar to the thrilling danger associated with raging fires.

Fire-setting thus is often an indirect outlet for repressed sexual urges.

And that was true of Tommy, for he had been sexually interested in this neighbor girl. She excited him.

In the resulting mood of exhilaration and tingling physical energy, he felt an overpowering urge to do something dangerous.

So he built a fire next to the porch, which soon ignited.

In our prudish past generations, we have refused to analyze these simple sexual reactions of children, feeling that they never have any sexual thoughts in their heads till the late teens.

But psychiatry knows better. And it was partly an indictment of the adult older generation when youngsters went wrong.

So send for my booklet "Sex Education from 2 to 20 Years," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Use it to safeguard your child from abnormal sexual outlets.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Who in the world would write a fan letter to a loaf of bread?

Frankly, we are amazed at all the wonderful letters we have received about our new Golden Circles Bread.

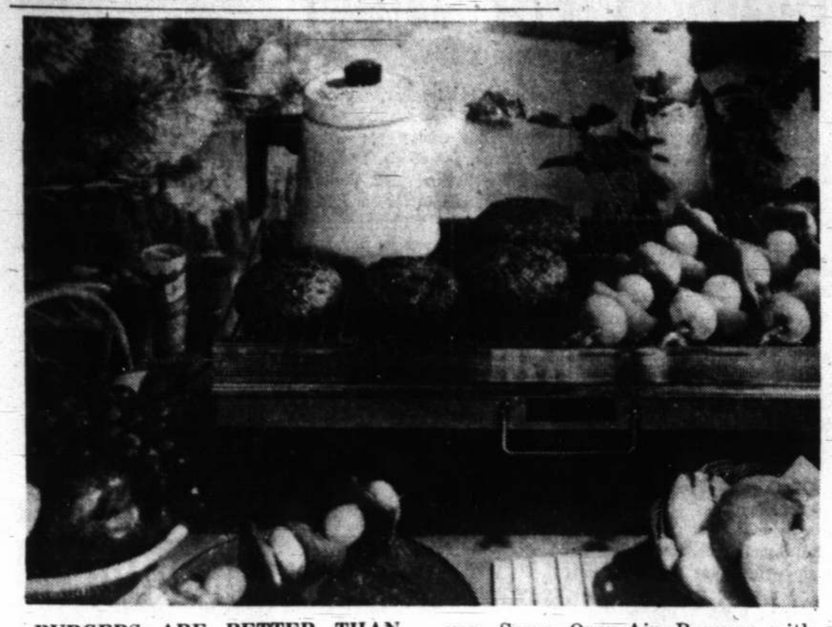

We knew Golden Circles was special. Actually, it is the richest white bread we have ever baked, but never in all our years of baking have we received so many warm and wonderful letters from women about a loaf of bread.

We knew when we made Golden Circles that it was not just another round bread—we planned it that way. We made it with more milk solids, more shortening, and more spring wheat flour. This gives it that honest-to-goodness flavor, the kind only rich ingredients can give, and the kind of texture that is tender but good.

We added pure cane sugar because this helps to make for tenderer crusts and better toast.

Next time you shop pick up a loaf of Golden Circles and see if you don't feel like writing us a letter about it.

Taystee Golden Circles ... the bread that's richer all the way around!

Open-Air Burgers, Kabobs Win Picnic Vote Easily

In this election year, Open-Air Burgers will win by a landslide. Juicy hamburgers, still sizzling from the charcoal grill, are always popular outdoor fare—and are better than ever accompanied by tasty Vegetable Kabobs.

What makes the burgers best of kind is their juiciness and flavor. To make the burgers more juicy, and succulent, add a little liquid to the ground beef mixture. Since the flavor of beef itself is so delicious, the simplest way with the burger is the best. Combine the ground beef only with salt, a dash of Worcestershire sauce and accent monosodium glutamate (MSG). The MSG adds no flavor of its own but brings out all the full, natural "beefy" flavor of the meat—and makes the burgers seem juicier.

Here are a few tips to keep in mind for making better burgers:

If possible, try to purchase freshly ground beef. If you do buy packaged hamburger, the beef should be bright red.

Handle with care. Too much grinding, kneading or mixing makes the burgers more compact and therefore less juicy. Break up the meat in a mixing bowl with a fork only enough to distribute evenly the liquid and seasoning.

If you are toting hamburgers to a camp site, you can make them up ahead of time. Add the seasoning to the meat, shape into patties and wrap them individually in aluminum foil. Store the burgers in the freezer and simply pack them still frozen into the picnic basket. They will keep cold and fresh until it is time to grill them.

The vivid kabobs are made with mushrooms, green peppers, small onions and tomato wedges, and are perfection with the burgers. After the kabobs are grilled, sprinkle on the Ac'cent—and see how it brings out all the fresh garden flavor of the individual vegetables.

All summer long, knowledgeable cooks will be rooting for the Better Burger Party. And Open-Air Burgers with Vegetable Kabobs are the favorite sons of the outdoor grill.

Old World Pot Roast Has Intriguing Flavor

Sometimes an inexpensive cut of beef can taste even better than the finest steak . . . and you don't have to be a highly skilled cook to work the necessary magic. All it takes are a few easily obtainable flavoring ingredients . . . and several hours of moist cooking for tenderness.

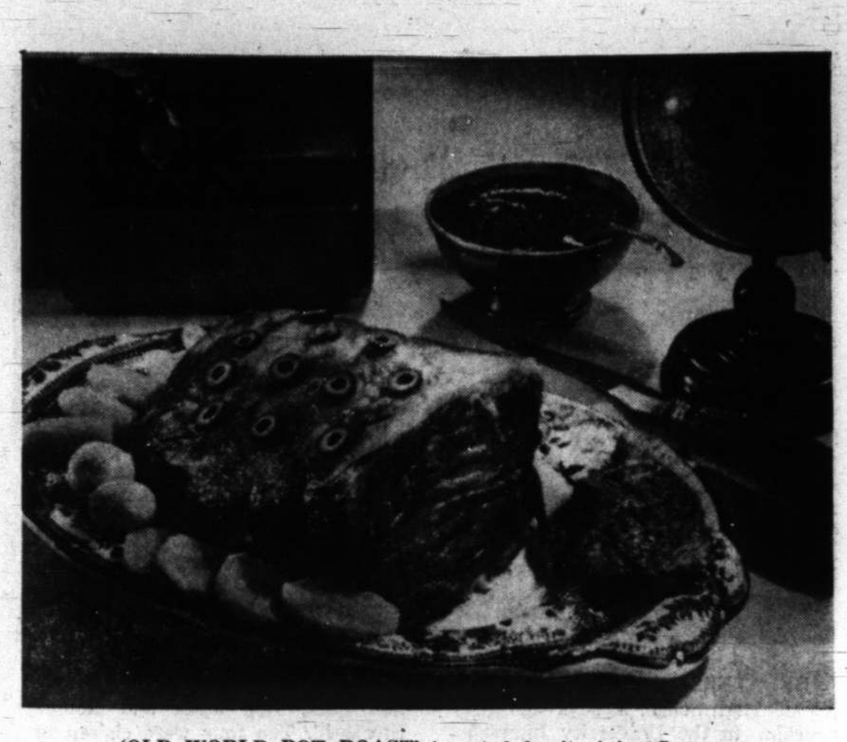

The extra hearty flavor of this "OLD WORLD POT ROAST" comes from everyday cupboard staples . . . Tomato sauce, rich ripe olives, a bit of lemon juice for tartness and cinnamon for spice intrigue.

Serve with carrots and potatoes, which you can cook in the same pot as the meat to absorb flavor. On the side, serve hot biscuits, chilled, cooked asparagus in vinegar . . . and one of the new flavors of gelatine dessert topped with whipped cream.

Old World Pot Roast
- 5 to 6 pounds beef roast (round, rump or boneless)
- 2 (8 oz.) cans tomato sauce
- 1 cup sliced pitted ripe olives
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons flour

Brown meat in its own fat in large Dutch oven. Mix remaining ingredients except flour and pour over meat. Cover and simmer 2-½ to 3 hours or until meat is very tender. Remove to heated platter while making gravy.

Pour liquid into a 4-cup measure; let stand until fat rises to top. Remove fat and return 3 tablespoons to Dutch oven. Blend in flour. Add enough water to liquid to make 3 cups. Stir into flour mixture. Cook, stirring constantly until gravy thickens. Serve over meat slices. Chill leftover meat and gravy; use later in Spicy Beef Stew. Makes 4 servings.

'OLD WORLD POT ROAST' is noted for its juicy flavor.

Olive Spaghetti Is Spicy Dish

Spaghetti perked up with tomatoes, cheese, bacon, onion, herbs and luscious ripe olives is baked in a casserole for delicious, meal-in-a-dish "Ivy's Olive Spaghetti."

Cut 1 cup ripe olives into large pieces. Cook 8 ounces spaghetti in boiling salted water to cover until tender, about 12 minutes.

Meanwhile, in a large skillet cook 6 or 8 slices bacon until crisp; drain on paper towels, then crumble. Pour off all but 2 or 3 tablespoons bacon drippings. Slice 1 medium-size onion; add to skillet and cook 2 minutes until tender. Stir in ½ teaspoon EACH salt, thyme, rosemary and marjoram, ⅛ teaspoon garlic powder, 2 cans (1 pound 12 ounces each) tomatoes, undrained, and olives. Heat to bubbling.

Drain spaghetti; turn into 2½-quart casserole. Add 1 cup grated Cheddar or American cheese, bacon and tomato mixture; mix lightly. Bake uncovered in 350-degree (moderate) oven about 45 minutes. This makes 6 to 8 servings.

PIONEER PATTIES YIELD SURPRISE AT JIFFY MEAL

Ground beef patties appear to have taken first place on the list of jiffy suppers, and rightfully so, as ground beef readily combines with a multitude of different foods.

However, smart cooks will keep an eye out for unusual and pleasing ways of preparing this meat dish for their families . . . recipes like this one for Pioneer Patties.

They gain their name from the cream - style corn, a favorite of the pioneers, which is mixed in with the beef. A little sour cream, onion and Worcestershire sauce also combine to yield a delectable surprise next time you schedule ground beef on your menu. Simply serve the patties plain without a bun.

Homemakers, rushed during meal preparation, may like mixing the Pioneer Patties ahead of time and refrigerating them. To keep the meal quick and easy, add a tossed green salad, ready-to-serve rolls, assorted fresh fruits and oatmeal cookies.

Pioneer Patties
- 1½ pounds ground beef
- ½ cup dry bread crumbs
- ¼ cup dairy sour cream
- 1 cup cream-style corn
- ¼ cup grated onion
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine bread crumbs, sour cream, corn, onion, salt, pepper, and Worcestershire sauce and add to meat. Mix thoroughly. Shape into 8 patties about 1 inch thick. Place patties on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so that top of patties is 2 to 3 inches from heat. Broil on one side until brown, about 10 to 12 minutes. Turn and broil second side until brown, about 6 to 8 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

Avocado And Orange Greenery
- 1 avocado
- 1 orange
- 1 quart shredded lettuce
- ¾ teaspoon celery seed
- 1-3 cup bottled coleslaw dressing

Cut avocado lengthwise into halves; remove seed and skin. Dice avocado. Pare, section and dice orange. In large bowl combine avocado, orange, lettuce and celery seed; toss lightly with dressing. Serve at once, or if you wish, chill 30 minutes to blend flavors.

Makes 6 servings.

CAN YOU NAME BEST BEEF CUTS FOR ROASTING?

Tender, juicy, mouth - watering roast beef, perhaps brought to the table artistically garnished with broiled mushrooms, spells eating at its finest whatever the occasion. But when it comes to selecting beef for roasting, are you really certain which cuts to choose?

Beef can be divided into two categories . . . tender and less - tender . . . and the cooking method follows accordingly. The less-tender cuts require moist heat braising in a covered utensil to be tender when served.

Roasting, that is cooking the meat uncovered in the oven, is recommended only for the tender beef roasts. And which are these?

Of course, you can name standing and rolled rib roasts, rib eye or Delmonico roasts and beef tenderloin. But some cuts from the round may also be roasted. If the meat is very high quality with ample marbling through the lean, the following cuts qualify: sirloin tip roast (sometimes called short sirloin, top sirloin or sirloin butt), standing rump and rolled rump.

Roasting Procedures

To cook beef cuts by roasting, place the meat fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert a meat thermometer so that the bulb rests in the center of the roast but not in fat or on bone.

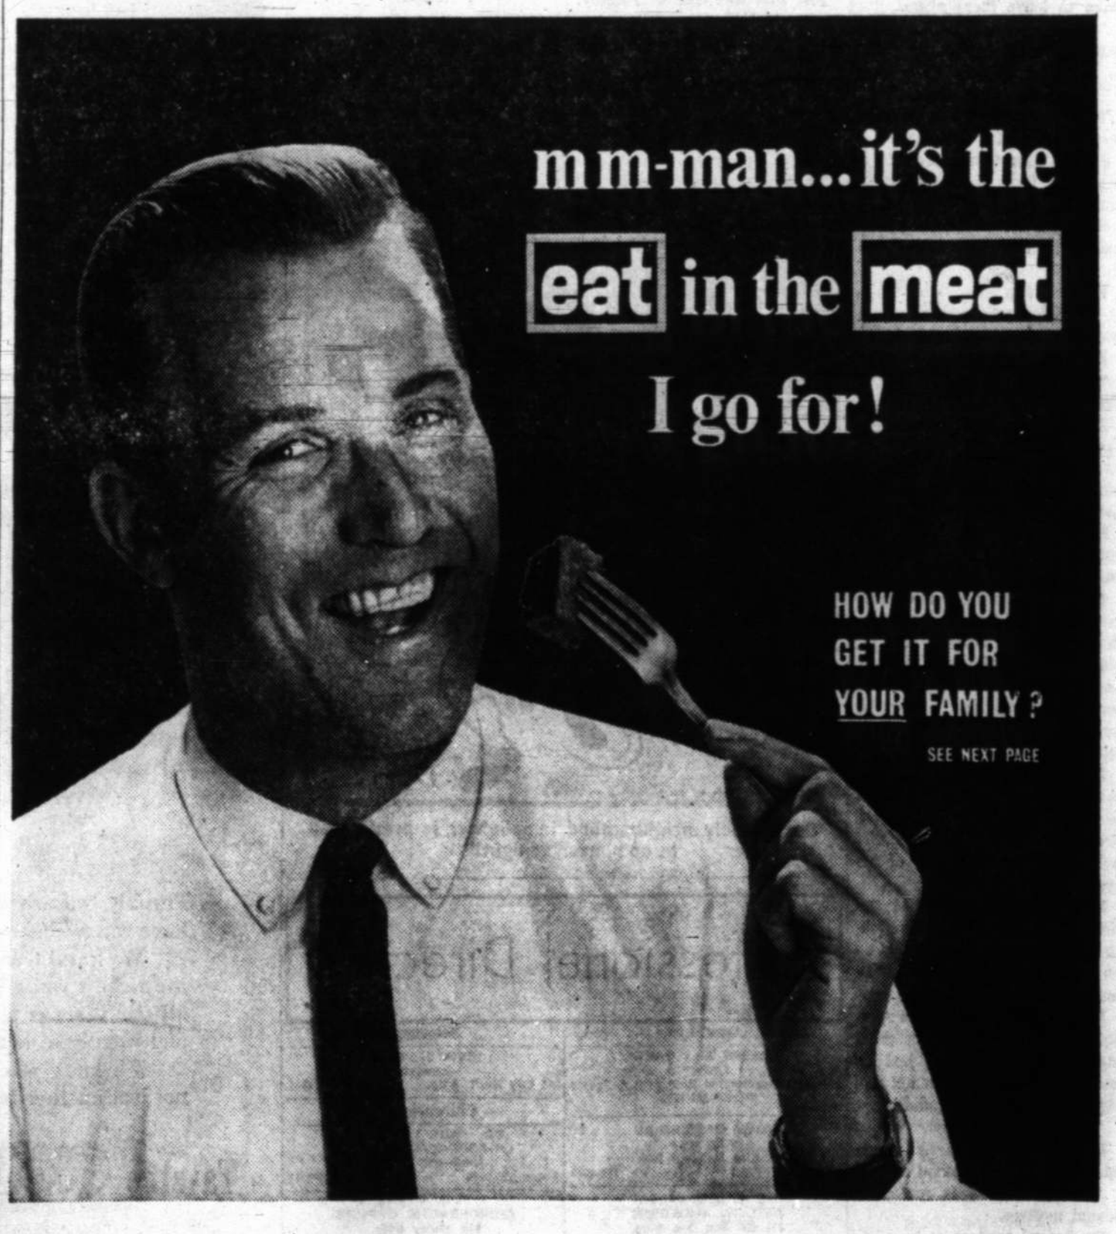

Roast in a slow oven (300 degrees to 325 degrees F.) until the meat thermometer registers 140 degrees F. for rare, 160 degrees F. for medium and 170 degrees F. for well-done.

You'll enjoy a delicious fresh mushroom garnish for the roast beef platter.

Try Deviled Mushrooms, prepared by stuffing the centers of 6 large mushrooms with a 2¼ ounce can of deviled ham. Broil 8 to 10 minutes, then sprinkle with chopped parsley.

HONOR PIONEER PILOT—Washington—Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, who qualified as an Army pilot in 1909, receives a special medal of recognition Wednesday from Cyrus Vance, Deputy Secretary of Defense, for his more than 50 years of dedication and service to the development of aviation. Foulois, who retired in 1935, commanded the First Aero Squadron during the expedition into Mexico in 1915 and 1916, and was chief of the Air Services of American Expeditionary Forces in France in World War I. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., an Air Force Reserve major general, watches the ceremony. (AP Wirephoto)

Connally appointed King as Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, and the oath of office was administered by Associate Justice Clyde Smith of the Texas Supreme Court in a ceremony in the House chamber at Austin Wednesday morning. THE DOCTOR SAYS

It Takes Will Power To Make Fat Vanish

By DR .W. G. BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There are several ways to lose weight. Exercise is one, but it has limitations. It takes a lot of exercise to lose a pound, and the exercise stimulates your appetite.

So, although I strongly advocate exercise for physical fitness, I cannot take it seriously as a means of reducing. This applies also to mechanical exercisers, massage and steam baths.

Many persons who are obese have taken up cigarette smoking. This merely replaces one health hazard with a worse one. For that reason I would urge even an overweight person to give up smoking.

Surgical removal of part of the stomach was tried for a while but it was found that the patient, although he was not able to eat as much at a time, ate oftener and got the same number of calories he was taking before the operation. Then plastic surgeons tried removing the layer of fat from the abdominal wall but the end results were poor.

There are many drugs which will cause a person to lose weight. The problem, however, is not how to lose weight but how to maintain the loss. This fact is never mentioned in the glowing ads. Follow-up studies show that the weight lost is almost always regained.

Furthermore, injudicious use of these drugs can be dangerous. Amphetamine and benzphetamine act by increasing the metabolism and also by suppressing the appetite. They tend to make you jittery. But the resourceful drug manufacturers have combined them with a tranquilizer in a capsule that provides continuous action for 12 hours.

These drugs are available only on a doctor's prescription and the wise physician will give them only as a temporary crutch to be coupled with a radical change in eating habits.

No matter how hard you try to avoid it, the question of diet must be faced. A person who wishes to reduce encounters serious obstacles. At every social gathering he is offered tempting tidbits.

The dieter who can hold out for longer than four weeks is rare. This is because his loss of weight is accomplished at the expense of his feeling of security.

Although some doctors recommend crash diets, I favor a gradual loss of one or two pounds a week, accomplished by eating a balanced diet and taking only half portions. If you can't lose weight on half portions, cut them in half again. A gradual loss will keep you feeling well, keep the flesh from suddenly going out of your face and allow you to lose 50 to 100 pounds in a year.

Because cause of overweight is often psychological, some dieters have organized groups that work along lines similar to those of Alcoholics Anonymous. These may give the dieter the emotional support he needs and succeed where other methods have failed.

After Long Vigil Bitsy Finds Home

CLEVELAND, Tenn. (AP — Bitsy wags her tail again.

The little dog, that began a vigil beside the junction of two highways last July for an owner who never appeared, has a home. But not before Bitsy bit the hand that fed her.

Bitsy, white with black spots, took up a stand near the junction of the U.S. 11 bypass and North Lee Highway and resisted all efforts of nearby residents to be friends.

"She never wagged her tail for anyone," said Dewey Carson, who lives nearby.

Instead, Bitsy watched in snow, sleet, rain and sunshine both highways — waiting for someone to return.

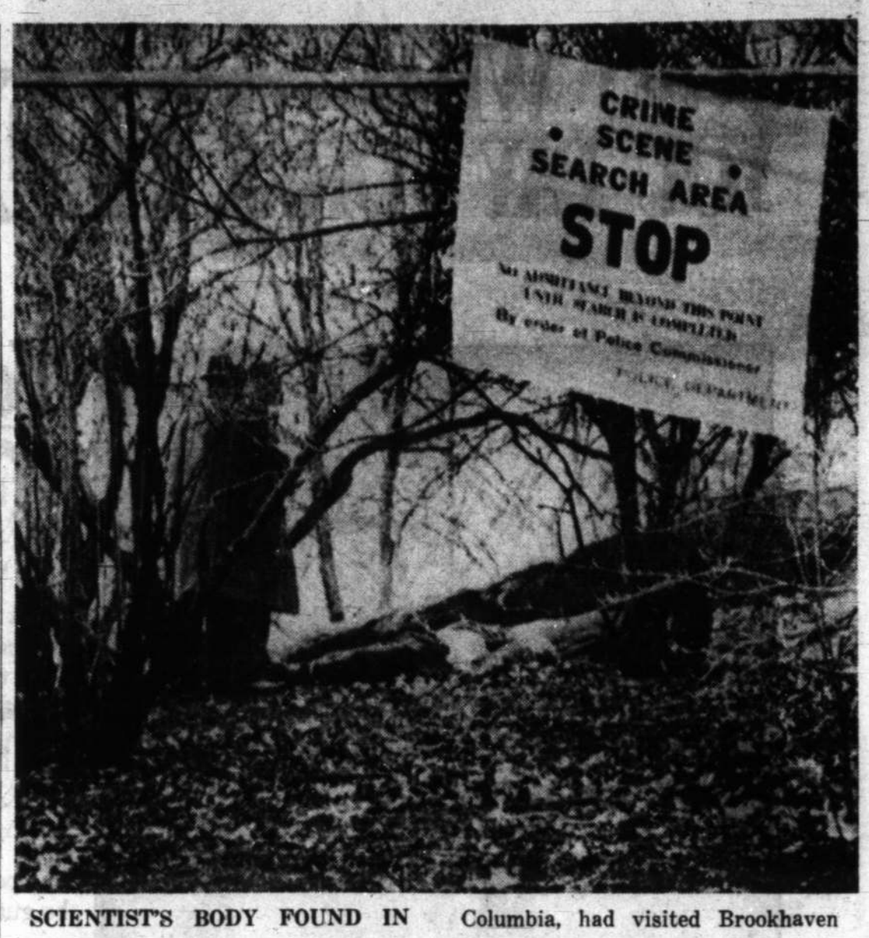

Cleveland residents fed Bitsy — but the dog refused to be friendly. Last Thursday, Mrs. Portland Fox grabbed the dog as she ate.

Bitsy dug her teeth in to Mrs. Fox's hand.

Mrs. Fox took Bitsy home — where she romps with Lady, another dog the Fox family found beside the roadside.

"We plan to keep her," said Mrs. Fox. "she spent a mighty long, hard winter over there on that hill. It's time she had a home again."

Bitsy's tail wagged.

SCIENTIST'S BODY FOUND IN PARK—New York — Detectives stand near body of Columbia University scientist Dr. Charles J. Gallagher Jr., 31, who was found shot to death Wednesday in New York's Central Park. Police disclosed that Gallagher, an assistant professor of physics at Columbia, had visited Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island Tuesday—only hours before the shooting. Police had no immediate clues as to whether there was any connection between Gallagher's background in nuclear physics and his death. (AP Wirephoto)

Army Gets Gift Of Indian Chief

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — The Kiowa Indians' gift to the U.S. Army is a chief named Watching-a-Star who carries on the tradition of his grandfather, an Indian scout.

Watching-a-Star won his sergeant's stripes at nearby Ft. Benning Tuesday. His grandfather, Chief I-See-O, held the permanent rank of sergeant and served for more than 40 years after joining the Army in 1874.

Watching-a-Star's past is spoken of in hushed tones at Ft. Benning. He was in the U.S. Navy for 10 years before he joined the Army nearly 2 years ago.

Academy Awards Event Is Unique

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Academy aftermath —

It's still quite a show. For all the knocking and the ribbing it gets, the annual Oscar event remains a unique exhibit of glamor and professionalism.

The proceedings are formalized to a fault, and everyone gets weary of the parade of recipients with their effusion of thanks to all hands. But what would we do in their shoes?

The point is that the Academy Awards are a contest, a highly sophisticated competition. And Americans dearly love a race. That's why most of us sit through the dreary speeches and the limitless commercials to find out who is going to win the big prizes at the end.

That doesn't mean that Oscar can't be improved. As Debbie Reynolds pointed out before the event, the lack of participation of Hollywood's top names is shocking.

'Twas not always so. Five or 10 years ago, the majority of Hollywood's big names put on their best furs and feathers to make the Oscar bash the ultimate in glamor. Now they appear only if dragooned into service on the program.

Getting the stars to turn out is Oscar's No. 1 problem. Other matters, including the balloting, appear to be okay.

This year's results evoked as much satisfaction as any since 1955, when "Marty" came through with its Cinderella win. The crowd was pulling for Sidney Poitier, who won for the 14-day "Lilies of the Field" over much more costly entries. The fact that he is a Negro was not overlooked by the voters, but that does not detract from his highly engaging performance.

Patricia Neal, whose "Hud" role was scarcely more than supporting, scored another popular victory. Again, sympathy was not overlooked, since she has been plagued with personal tragedy. But she is also a consummate performer, too long underrated.

Melvyn Douglas won over the highly touted John Huston and Hugh Griffith and the heavy campaigns of Nick Adams and Bobby Darin. Adams spent $8,500 in trade paper ads before his nomination, though he made no effort to sway voters afterward. Darin's studio bought many ads for him, although the singer made no outlay himself.

The British beachhead at Santa Monica didn't materialize, although the voters were happy to reward "Tom Jones," Margaret Rutherford and Tony Richardson. It was a well-balanced ballot, and everyone, including some of the losers, seemed pleased with the whole thing.

Cuba's Population Said Increasing

MIAMI, Ia. (AP) — Cuba's population was reported at a record high today despite a steady exodus of refugees.

The Cuban Economists Association in Exile said the birth rate has climbed so much that Cuba will have 7,700,000 inhabitants by late 1964.

Cuba's last census, in 1953, was 5,829,029. The figure was estimated at 7 million when Prime Minister Fidel Castro took over in 1959. More than 300,000 Cubans have gone into exile since then.

Dutch May Help Boost Sugar Industry

OAXACA, Mexico (AP) — Dutch interests may help expand Mexico's sugar industry in this tropical southeast zone with loans and equipment.

Agriculture Minister Julian Rodriguez Adame says Germany, France and Holland have offered credits to build new plants and to expand farming.

The statement was made during the visit of the Royal Dutch family to this capital. It was reported that the Dutch would likely help with two or three large mills with an investment of about $24 million.
