Air Transport Missing With Six Aboard

(By International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 22. — An Air Force C-54 with six men aboard disappeared in stormy weather today on a training flight from McChord Field, Tacoma, Washington, to Portland and back.

The Air Force said it had make a mistake in originally announcing the number aboard as seven.

The Air Force at Tacoma reported that the plane's gasoline supply has been exhausted and "it must be presumed to be down". The spokesman specified that "this does not mean it has crashed".

A ground party was sent to Kelso, Wash., to begin a search in the morning if clues are found then.

Residents Questioned

Washington state police began questioning people in the general area of Woodland, Wash., on whether they heard a plane about the time it last reported.

According to Portland Air base officials, the plane had more than five hours of gas in its tanks when it was cleared for a Portland landing while over Toledo, Wash., at 1:10 p.m. (CST), about 20 minutes out of Portland. Radio operators said there was a distinct "click" as radio contact ended abruptly.

Planes Open Hunt

Four planes from the Portland Air base went aloft to make a concentrated search for the C-54 between Woodland and Toledo an hour after the plane should have reached the air base.

All search planes were forced to return shortly after taking off due to bad flying conditions.

CAA officials said their radio operator talked with the C-54 10 minutes after it had signaled over Toledo.

On the basis of their radio contacts, CAA officials estimated the plane was north of the Woodland "marker" or eight miles northeast of the city of Woodland and 25 airmiles north of Portland when the "click" shut off communications.

Kelso state police said patrol cars had been sent into the Woodland area to launch a ground search for the plane in rugged wooded hills.

WTCC Head Denies Charge

(Special To The Avalanche)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 22 — John D. Mitchell of Odessa, president of the West Texas Chamber of commerce, today emphatically denied that his organization was attempting to hold back the proposed Canadian river dam project until the WTCC's own surface water plans could be formulated.

His remarks were to the Panhandle-South Plains group attending the 32nd annual director's meeting of the WTCC in Worth hotel—a meeting which saw the creation of a West Texas Domestic Water association to work toward a permanent solution of the region's water problem.

Lubbock Man Honored

Homer D. Grant of Lubbock was elected president of the new association formed to grapple with "perhaps the biggest problem ever faced by West Texas."

Another South Plains man, J. M. Willson, Floydada lumberman, was elected president of the WTCC to succeed Mitchell, an Odessa banker.

William E. Warne, assistant secretary of the interior, spoke at a night WTCC meeting held in Hotel Texas here, and pledged the cooperation of the Department of the Interior in the development of "multiple-purpose river basin developments."

Denial Is Made

Mitchell, in denying that the WTCC was tieing its surface water ambitions to the proposed Canadian river dam project, told its supporters:

"Not only are we not attempting to slow down your Canadian river dam legislation but we are adopting your plan and your formula as a model.

"In fact," he added, "we are at least two years behind you in our survey.

"We have simply requested that the Bureau of Reclamation make a survey of the West Texas area and provide us with information as to logical location of dams, and the cities that reservoirs could serve.

"When this is completed," Mitchell said, "the information will be made available to the West Texas towns. From then on, the initiative will be up to them."

Check Is Suggested

Mitchell suggested that this information be checked with a re-

U.S. Judge Sentences Bridge's Attorney To Jail For Contempt

By CONSTANCE HITCHCOCK
INS Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22 — Harry Bridges' fiery chief defense counsel Vincent Hallinan was sentenced to six months imprisonment today for criminal contempt of court, but Federal Judge George B. Harris stayed execution of the sentence until the longshore leader's perjury and conspiracy trial is ended.

In the stormiest session ever witnessed in San Francisco federal court, the trial judge excoriated the defense attorney and ordered him into immediate custody of U. S. marshals, who removed Hallinan from the courtroom.

Sentence Is Stayed

After a 15-minute recess, during which he retired to his chambers, Judge Harris returned to court and announced that he was staying execution of the sentence.

He also announced that he was restoring all of Hallinan's "rights in this court until the conclusion of this trial.

This decision by Judge Harris overruled an earlier ruling by the trial judge in which he barred Hallinan's name from the roll of attorneys practicing in federal court.

At the time he ordered Hallinan's immediate imprisonment and the striking of his name from the federal court rolls, Judge Harris continued the trial until Dec. 6 to give Bridges opportunity to obtain another attorney.

Bridges Protests

Bridges protested that Hallinan was the attorney of his choice but if the court insisted upon him obtaining another he would do the best he could. Bridges added:

"But I shall never think we had of this trial."

Judge Harris thereupon ordered the recess after which he directed that Hallinan be brought back into court. As Hallinan stood before him, the trial jurist said:

"Because Mr. Bridges has made a forthright request that you defend him and has stated that to seek other counsel in two weeks might interfere with the administration of justice this court will stay execution of sentence until you have completed the trial of this case."

To Insist On Obedience

Judge Harris sternly told Hallinan that he would insist upon obedience of the defense attorney to the court's rulings.

Hallinan replied:

"I'm grateful for the concession to my client. As I have said before I thought you would be fair in the trial of this case although in some of your decisions I thought you were adamant."

The judge then admonished both prosecution and defense attorneys to make no reference to the contempt action before the jury which was excluded from the courtroom during the day of legal fireworks.

The oldest court attaches could recall no federal court session when such angry charges and counter-charges were hurled in the usually cool and dignified surroundings of the federal bench.

During one phase of the supercharged atmosphere, chief government Prosecutor F. Joseph Donohue declared that Hallinan "has roamed this court like a mad dog" since the opening of the trial nine days ago.

William Paisley, chief of the Department of Justice's criminal division and a member of the prosecuting staff, when invited by the judge to express his views, said:

"I have never seen such a performance in my life. It is difficult to describe this man (Hallinan). He has desecrated this temple."

Thereupon, Hallinan accused the court of a "shabby trick" in consulting prosecution attorneys on

Federal Help Pledged Area

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 22 — Department of Interior officials and Texas' two United States Senators put themselves squarely behind West Texas here tonight in its fight for solution of its water shortage.

"We advocate strongly the making for Texas of integrated economic and engineering plans with river basins as the basic unit," William E. Warne, assistant secretary of the interior, told more than 800 West Texans from 80 towns assembled for the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce dinner at Hotel Texas.

Help Is Pledged

"As the branch of the federal government historically charged by the Congress with the responsibility for assisting in developing and utilizing western water resources, the Department of the Interior is prepared to assist you."

Senator Connally, veteran chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, assured the group that the Texas delegation would be able to get necessary legislation through Congress for the water projects.

"These water projects must be accomplished and we will stand behind your projects to bring them to fruition," he promised. "The Canadian river project may become a great pattern to demonstrate to all of West Texas how water can be harnessed and employed."

Johnson Urges Caution

His junior colleague, Senator Johnson, advised West Texans to "keep our feet on the ground in seeking the answer," and warned that "we must not be afraid of ourselves."

"You should not fear your federal government," he advised. "If you cannot trust your government to help you get the water to quench your thirst, how can you trust your government for any task assigned to it? You are the government—it is not some enemy power camped on the banks of the Potomac."

Warne emphasized that "the Bureau of Reclamation has not tried to deprive any of the people being helped through or affected by the reclamation program of any right, water or otherwise."

"I make this personal reference," he continued, "because a cult has grown up in the west,

American Arrested As Spy In Hungary

By ENGENE SZATMARY
INS Staff Correspondent

BUDAPEST, Nov. 22.—The Hungarian government disclosed tonight it has arrested Robert A. Vogeler, assistant vice-president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co., on espionage charges.

The American disappeared Friday while enroute from Budapest to Vienna. U.S. Minister Nathaniel P. Davis had been making inquiries without result until tonight's communique by the Communist regime.

The communique said Vogeler and others were arrested and that all confessed "to sabotage and spying activities against the Hungarian peoples' republic."

Vogeler was identified by the Hungarians as the American vice-president of the International Standard Electric company, an affiliate of the I.T.&T.

Two Others Nabbed

Also arrested were Edgar Sanders, local representative of the company, and Imre Geiger, general manager of the firm. The communique said the latter was caught trying to escape illegally from Hungary.

Sanders is a British citizen.

(Informed sources in Vienna said that the arrest of Vogeler was an attempt to discredit the I.T.&T., and gain full Hungarian control of the affiliate company.)

(In New York an I.T.&T. spokesman called the charges against the 38-year-old Vogeler "absolutely false." Vogeler was described as Central European representative of the firm, with headquarters in Vienna.

Wife Becomes Hysterical

(In Vienna the Belgian-born wife of Vogeler, who had been waiting for five days for the return of her husband, became hysterical when she heard of the arrest. She said once "I was so afraid he was dead."

(The U.S. Army established a 24-hour armed guard at Vogeler's apartment in the U.S. sector of Vienna. Mrs. Vogeler asked for the protection of herself and two children because of fear of Communist agents.

(The Vogelers formerly lived in the Jackson Heights section of New York and in La Grange, Ill.)

The Hungarian communique said that the purported confession of Geiger was the basis for the arrest of Vogeler and Sanders.

It was learned that Vogeler had arrived in Budapest to lead negotiations with Hungarian authorities concerning the fate of the Standard Electric company and the Hungarian telephone works, both which face nationalization

Hub City Kiwanis Club Is Presented Charter At Program

By CLIFF BLACKBURN
Avalanche Staff Writer

More than 200 members of the newly formed Hub City Kiwanis club, their wives, members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club and out-of-town guests attended a charter meeting banquet Tuesday night at Hotel Lubbock.

Jason O. Gordon, president of the recently formed club, received an official charter from F. L. McDonald, head of the journalism department at Texas State College for Women at Denton and governor of the Texas-Oklahoma district of Kiwanis International, as a climax to the program.

Other new club officers include Paul McLain, secretary; Jas. W. Spears, vice-president; and Dude Buster, treasurer.

McDonald Is Speaker

McDonald, as principal speaker, brought out the reasons to the group that "It Is Fun to Be a Kiwanian." Using personal experiences to illustrate his points, he told the group that the club builds up things to make a better community, makes better men of its members, affords a lot of amusement in its projects and is a basically simple organization.

The Hub City Kiwanis club is the tenth such organization chartered by McDonald in 1949.

A total of 53 charter members are on the roll of the new Kiwanis club, organized in the last two months.

A welcome was delivered by Gordon as the meeting opened and a response was returned by Fred Sparks, president of the Kiwanis Club of Lubbock. The guests were introduced by Roy Bass, chairman of the sponsoring committee. W. C. Williams, of Borger, lieutenant governor of division six, presented the gifts and introduced the district governor. The club's gifts were accepted by Paul McLain.

Kiwanis representatives from Borger, Pampa, Plainview, Snyder, Amarillo and Stinnett were present at the meeting.

Music during the dinner was

Taft Questions Pension Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today it would cost $12,000,000,000 a year to pay $100 a month pensions to all persons over 65 years.

He raised numerous critical questions about the $100-monthly pension agreements that settled the recent steel strike, as well as similar pensions which went to aged coal miners until the United Mine workers welfare fund suspended payments in September.

Pension Study Urged

Taft said the whole subject of pensions "is in such complete confusion today that it should receive the most careful study" by Congress.

He added that the Senate Finance committee, which handles social security and tax legislation, should tackle the overall pension problem in January.

Taft said the $100 a month pensions in the steel and coal industries indicate a trend toward a "flat sum for all, along the lines of the Townsend plan." He pointed out that this differs widely from the federal old age insurance plan. Under the social security system the size of pension payments is determined by wages received in working years.

Heavy Cost Foreseen

Estimating the cost at $12,000,000,000 a year for providing flat $100 monthly pensions to those over 65, Taft said:

"Of course, no such sum can be paid out of any pension fund accumulated on a sound actuarial basis. The reserve would be so huge that it would have to purchase most of the property in the country."

He said the only way pensions can be paid to millions who have retired and are not working is out of the current earnings of those who are working.

Taft said these earnings "must be reached through some form of taxation." He said this could be a tax on pay, on income, on sales;

New Atom Talks To Be Opened Monday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (AP)—Russia's progress in mastering the secrets of the atom bomb may have a decisive influence in shaping a new atomic energy partnership agreement among the United States, Britain and Canada.

Diplomatic authorities said today that the atomic explosion in Russia had made it more important than ever for the West to build up its atomic bomb stockpile as rapidly as possible.

This view evidently will be advanced by the United States in negotiations with Britain and Canada as an urgent argument for continuing to concentrate the production of atom explosives in this country without any cut in the supply of raw materials coming here.

The State department announced today that the second round of "exploratory atomic energy conversions" among representatives of the three countries will be opened next Monday. The first round was held in Washington in late September.

Federal Reserve Governor Sees New Inflation Signs

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—Marriner S. Eccles, a Federal Reserve board governor, declared today that "some inflation" is starting as a result of government, business and labor policies.

The former reserve board chairman told a congressional economic subcommittee that "statistics point to some inflationary developments." He added:

Credit Terms Eased

"Bank credit is beginning to expand a little. There is an excessively rapid growth of consumer credit on more and more favorable terms.

"There is a great growth of housing credit on very small down payments. There is a rapid growth of municipal spending. There is the federal deficit. There is the $2.8 billion to be distributed to veterans next year.

"There is the agricultural support policy of the government which tends to support farm prices at an inflationary level. There is the present labor wage policy, which indicates further increases in wages.

"There is the private industrial pension program, which I think is a mistake and which tends to hold up prices."

The Commerce department announced that the gross national product in the third quarter of 1949 ran at a yearly rate of $256 billion. This was a $3.5 billion drop below the second quarter and a $7 billion decline from the first quarter. The gross national product includes all goods produced and services rendered.

The department said that business in the third quarter was "essentially stable," that consumer

Citywide Service Of Thanksgiving Set At Church Tonight

A citywide Thanksgiving service will usher in Lubbock's participation in the traditional fall observance tonight at 7:30 at the First Methodist church.

The Rev. Abe Hester, pastor of the College Aveune Baptist church, will preach the sermon on "Thankfulness."

All residents of the city who wish are urged to attend the program, sponsored annually by the Lubbock Ministerial association.

Used For Expenses

The Thanksgiving offering received each year in the citywide service is used for salary and other expenses connected with teaching of Bible in Lubbock public schools, said Dr. Travis White, pastor of First Christian church and president of Lubbock Ministerial association.

The Senior High school chorus, directed by J. M. Penn, will sing "The Pilgrim's Chorus" (Wagner) and Kipling's "Recessional" (DeKoven), and will sing hymns with the congregation.

Program Is Given

The entire program follows: Opening hymn, choir and congregation; invocation, Rev. Claude E. Canterbury, rector of St. Paul's on the Plains Episcopal church; hymn, choir and congregation; scripture reading, Rev. David Zacharias, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church; special music by high school chorus; Thanksgiving prayer, Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor of Asbury Methodist church; offering; prayer, Rev. David Sieberg, pastor of Shepherd King American Lutheran church.

Members of the program committee are Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of First Baptist church; Rev. H. H. Bratcher, pastor of St. John's Methodist church, and Mrs. Sieberg, wife of the Shepherd King American Lutheran church pastor.

Liquor Robbery Charges Filed

Information supplied by two Lubbock youths jailed here on burglary charges filed in Big Big Spring resulted in the arrest Tuesday of a 25-year-old Lubbock man, Bernie L. Rhoderick, on an armed robbery charge.

The youths, Thomas Winfield Copeland, 19, of 2402 Wolfforth, and a 16-year-old Lubbock youth in a complaint filed before Justice of the Peace D. W. Robertson, alleged Rhoderick and an unidentified man hijacked a quantity of whisky from them in a field near the city Nov. 4.

Admits Part in Burglary

In an earlier statement to Assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr, the youth admitted his part in the burglary of a Big Spring liquor store early the morning of Nov. 4.

The youth and Copeland, in the complaint against Rhoderick, stated they attempted to sell 14 cases of whisky to Roderick and a companion, only to have the liquor taken from them at gunpoint when they met the two men at the point designated for the sale.

The youth said in his statement that the deal was made at Roderick's Ave. F place of business. The youths were instructed to follow a car occupied by Rhoderick and the other man to a point on South Ave. A near the traffic circle, it was alleged. There, he said, both cars were driven into a field

34 Killed, One Survives Crash

By EINAR WYLLER
INS Staff Correspondent

FILTVET, Norway, Nov. 22.—A weeping 11-year-old boy was the only survivor found today in a Dutch plane crash that killed 34 persons—including 27 children—Sunday night in southern Norway.

Pulled from the burned-out wreckage little Isaac Allal, who miraculously suffered only slight injuries, said: "I'm scared and hungry."

Isaac was found huddled amid the bodies of the other Jewish refugee children, including those of his sister, Rachel, and his brothers, Daniel and Chaim.

Norwegian rescuers said that the flames which had burned some of the passengers and converted the plane into an ashy skeleton were responsible for keeping Isaac alive through two bitterly cold nights.

The stricken DC-3 Dutch plane was chartered by Jewish relief agencies to fly the children from North African slums to a Norwegian rehabilitation camp pending their transfer to Israel.

Besides 28 children aboard there were four Dutch crewmen and three nurses, Annelise Schwarz Jensen, of Norway, Suzette Cohen Coutar of France, and a Swiss

Knox operated cafes here for many years after moving from Texas in 1902. He had been employed the past four years by the city.

Man Charged With Possession Of Marijuana After Raid Here

Abel Bustillos, 37, of 120 Ave. M, was charged with possession of marijuana in justice court here last night following a raid about 7:30 p.m. by sheriff's officers and city detectives.

The complaint was signed by Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson before Assistant District attorney A. W. Salyars. C. E. Lynn, justice of the peace set bond of $2,000.

Officers said 31 marijuana cigarets were found at the man's residence along with seven one-half pints and one four-fifths quart of whisky. Charges of liquor law violation will be filed against Bustillos today, Salyars said.

Family Of Four To Find Turkey Dinner Costs Less Than In '48

A LUBBOCK family of four this year can celebrate Thanksgiving with turkey and assorted trimmin's for an outlay of slightly over $6 for food.

Last Thanksgiving, cost of the same food probably would have been slightly more.

The menu upon which the comparisons were based was provided last year by a Texas Tech home economics class which had studied meal planning and table service. Ergo, since the menu is every bit as appealing to the appetite this year as it was last, and as practical, The Morning Avalanche decided to reprint it, and to compare cost of the various foods on it with last year's prices.

The suggested Thanksgiving spread calls for roast turkey, dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, avacado-grapefruit salad, broccoli with mock hollandaise sauce, sweet potato and apple casserole, rolls, pumpkin chiffon pie and coffee.

Cost of the ingredients for this year's dinner, as obtained during a "shopping tour" in one Lubbock store, was $6.25. At another, cost for the various food items totaled $6.53.

Last year, cost of the same food in the same quantities was $6.45 in

Two Held In Shooting On Lorenzo Farm

CROSBYTON, Nov. 22 (Special) —Officials here tonight were holding two Latin-American youths, ages 18 and 20, in connection with the shooting near Lorenzo about 8 p.m. of another Latin-American youth.

Victim of the shooting, Lewis Anaya, 17, meanwhile was reported in "fairly good condition" at a hospital here. Sheriff Foy Addison said the youth had been wounded in the left cheek with a bullet from a .22 caliber rifle.

Witnesses told officers the gunplay climaxed an argument between several cotton werkers on a farm 10 miles south of Lorenzo. The wounded youth is a permanent employe of the farm, the suspects held in the shooting seasonal workers.

GOP Solon Says Higher Prices Sought To Boost Brannan Plan

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—Sen. Ives (R-NY) charged today that the Truman administration wants food prices to rise so far that consumers will demand enactment of Agriculture Secretary Brannan's farm plan.

The New Yorker said he thought the farm price support bill passed just before Congress went home was "calculated to bring about a cry for the Brannan plan." He asserted in an interview:

"This law is going to shoot prices of food so high that consumers will demand some relief. They will want the subsidy promised in the Brannan plan.

"There is no possibility that food prices can level off this year because the period 1939 to 1949 can be used as a yardstick in supporting farm prices. These were the years of high war-time food prices."

Ives said he expected the Brannan plan to crop up as a "hot issue right in the middle" of next year's congressional campaign. The Brannan plan would permit food prices to return to natural levels with the government making up the difference in subsidies

One Dead, Nine Hurt In Panama Outbreak

PANAMA, Panama, Nov. 22. (AP) —Dr. Daniel Chanis, ousted president of Panama, led thousands of demonstrators tonight in a march on the residence of his successor. The national police broke up the near revolt with gunfire that killed a six-year-old boy and wounded nine others, including two members of parliament.

Chanis' dramatic and unlooked for appearance before the national assembly set off the demonstration. He tore up a letter of resignation he signed three days ago and announced:

"I withdraw my resignation."

Hundreds of persons in the galleries streamed out of the building into the streets crying "to presidencia!"

They were joined by others who marched toward the official residence of Roberto Chiari, the man who succeeded Chanis in a lightning coup Sunday.

Mounted and federal police charged down the thoroughfare in an attempt to break up any march on the presidential residence.

Machinegun and rifle fire crackled. Eyewitnesses said the fire was directed at the demonstrators.

Chanis was at the head of the procession as it marched, eyewitnesses said. There was no immediate word on what happened to him, but it was known he was in the crowd when the firing began.

Atomic Group Sends Report On Civilian Defense To Shivers

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.— The National Security Resources Board is sending the Atomic Energy Commission's study of the vulnerability of the city of Washington, D. C., to Governor Allan Shivers at Austin with a suggestion that it be used as a guide in making studies of civilian defense at the local level.

The NSRB has already been assured by Governor Shivers of his 100 percent co-operation following the board's request for advice on a state plan for civilian defense. NSRB officials said here that they were now awaiting further word regarding plans within the state.

Secrecy Imposed

NSRB is imposing strictest secrecy over its activities. It refuses to say where plans for civilian defense have been laid, outside Washington. They have a plan for "major industrial areas." Texas City has been given wide consideration in planning but details are top secret.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the only civilian defense study made was that of Washington, but that defense plans had been drawn up for its major atomic energy installations. The commission then declined to verify that these included the New Mexico facilities. However, as they are major installations, deductions are that they have been included.

Dr. John R. Steelman, acting head of NSRB, wrote Governor Shivers and governors of all other states on Oct. 5, asking what they are doing and planning for civilian defense in case of national emergency. NSRB admitted that since news of Russia's atomic explosion, civilian defense has been shifted towards the top of the priority list and some other matters have been demoted. Soon after, Governor Shivers replied pledging his cooperation. It is expected that following the Steelman letter and Shivers' reply that the state plan will be developing.

State Plans Asked

"We want to know what each state's specific problems are so that regional plans of defense can be drawn up," said an official in Steelman's office.

The Washington report that has gone out as a guide to Texas cities is labeled: "The City of Washington and an Atomic Bomb Attack."

It is a report by the AEC staff, division of biology and medicine, to the commission.

The report states: "The effects of the explosion of an atomic bomb in a metropolitan area and the problems in civil defense that ensue differ in both quality and quantity from those of high explosive bombing."

Examples studied are Hiroshima and Nagasaki and the fires started by bombs in England and Germany.

Dispersal Urged

The report advocates "long-range community planning to place projected hospital, fire stations and other essential emergency services in properly dispersed fashion" and says dispersal would discourage attack.

Shelters are all right provided there is adequate warning but persons emerging from shelters would not be able to go to work again in bombed buildings.

While an air burst might be considered as the more likely form for an enemy to fire his bomb, if he detonated the bomb in water adjacent to a city, on the surface of the ground or underground, each would bring its own unique problems, states the report.

An atomic bomb exploded quite close to the ground would cause a small area to receive residual radioactivity. But if a bomb is exploded in water such as at Bikini, there will be considerable amounts of residual radioactivity depending upon wind, currents, tides and size of the body of water. The blast and wind which may be considered together would crush or render unusable the ordinary load-bearing brick wall dwellings for a distance of 7,000 or 8,000 feet from ground zero, would severely damage steel mill-type buildings for a distance of 4,000 to 5,000 feet and would cause substantial structure damage in multi-story steel or reinforced concrete buildings up to distances of 2,500 feet.

Fire Causes $10,000 Loss To Cotton, Truck

Damage estimated at $10,000 was set on a fire which destroyed 64 bales of cotton and a trailer early Tuesday morning on the Tahoka highway.

The cotton was on a truck-trailer being hauled to the Farmers Co-operative compress on the Lubbock-Slaton highway from Lamesa. Firemen said the driver told them he first noticed the fire about four miles north of Tahoka.

The trailer collapsed after insufficient water kept firemen from putting the blaze under control. There was no immediate explanation for the cause of the fire. The estimate of damage was made by the driver of the truck, according to firemen.

A cabin at the North Canyon camp, 118 North Ave. H, was burned out completely about 11 a.m., Tuesday. Three children, who were in the cabin, reported the fire to Mrs. Alma Dennis, camp manager, who called the fire department.

The mother occupying the cabin and three other children were out in the cotton fields at the time. Mrs. Dennis said. She did not give an estimate of the damage, but said the cabin would have to be completely rebuilt.

Opening Of Espionage Trial Of Coplon, Russian Delayed

NEW YORK, Nov. 22. (INS)—The opening of the espionage conspiracy trial of Judith Coplon and Soviet UN engineer Valentine A. Gubitchev was postponed today until Dec. 27 by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

The delay was granted at the request of Abraham I. Pomerantz, newly-acquired attorney for the 33-year old Russian, who previously refused to take a court-appointed lawyer or employ one.

Pomerantz said he needed at least a month to familiarize himself with the 9,900 pages of testimony taken at the Washington trial of the ex-government girl.

At that trial, Miss Coplon, charged with stealing government papers for transmittal to a foreign power, was found guilty and sentenced to a 40 months to 10 year prison term.

Plan To Copyright Tech's Traditional 'Double T' Studied

The traditional "Double T" of Texas Technological college may soon be copyrighted.

That was the word given out Tuesday by college student and administrative officials after a meeting of a seven-man committee to study the advisability of such a plan.

A second meeting is planned by the group Monday after legal advisement is obtained as to whether a copyright of the emblem could be secured by the college. The committee is headed by Frank Junell, assistant to the president, and Curtis Sterling, president of the student council.

Controversy over the Double T rose recently when a group of students protested the use of the emblem on senior class rings. Many contended that since the familiar red letters are those awarded Tech athletes they should not be worn by anyone else.

The traditional emblem appears on many campus publications as well as unofficial "stickers" and is painted on the college gymnasium. If copyrighted a committee would be set up to determine who could make use of it and for what purposes, according to Sterling. Such a board would probably be chosen by the administration.

The Double T association, whose members include those lettering in one or more sports, at one time controlled the emblem, according to members of the investigating committee. The control was gradually released, however, and the signet can now be used by almost anyone wishing to employ it.

Members of the committee meeting with Junell and Sterling included D. M. McElroy, executive secretary for the Ex-Students' association; Doug McSwane, president of the Double T association, Marshell Gettys, vice president of the student council and Double T member; G. B. Morris, sponsor of the Double T group, and Lewis Jones, assistant to the dean of men.

Ghost Writing In Washington Slammed As 'Counterfeiting' By Supreme Court Judge

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. — Crrrrrrnch. Justice Jackson brings up the question of ghost-writers again.

Here was the Supreme court droning through a batch of dull Monday cases.

It reached one about a lawyer accused of having had a hand in writing a magazine piece which bore another man's name but was in support of the lawyer's client.

Suddenly Justice Jackson, who's been around a long time in Washington where you hear a lot about ghost writers, teed off:

"Ghost writing has debased the intellectual currency in circulation here (Washington) ...d is a type of counterfeiting which invites no defense."

No defense? Busy President Truman probably would be among the first to defend it. So would President Roosevelt, if he were alive.

It was just coincidence, but while Justice Jackson was delivering his opinion of ghost-writing, another Washington story was breaking:

Clark Clifford, one of Mr. Truman's most trusted White House aides, was leaving to go into private business to make more money.

Wrote For Truman

Clifford has been serving as Mr. Truman's legal counsel and also as a ghost writer. In fact, as ghost writer for Mr. Truman, Clifford had succeeded Judge Samuel Rosenman and some others who had done ghost writing for Mr. Roosevelt.

The story of presidential ghost writing under Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman goes like this:

When they had to make a speech — say on labor — the government agency most expert on the subject (in this case the Labor department) would dig up the necessary facts and background.

This would go into the ghost-writing mill at the White House where a number of aides would take a whack at putting the speech together.

When all the pieces were fitted togther — with maybe a last going over by Rosenman or Clifford — or maybe the whole job by them — the finished product went to the President.

Then — the President, whether Mr. Truman or Mr. Roosevelt, would go over what the ghosts had written, make what changes he thought necessary, put in some touches of his own, or maybe even re-write the whole thing.

But, anyway, the spadework on the speech was usually done by the ghosts whose names were never mentioned.

Come to think of it, it would seem odd if Mr. Truman got up to make a speech and, to avoid the "counterfeiting" label put on ghostly work by Justice Jackson, made his speech this way:

Credit Where Due

"My fellow Americans: the spech I'm about to deliver has been put together by Joe Jones, a file clerk in the Labor department, Charley Ross, my secretary, Charley Murphy, one of my aides, Clark Clifford, one of my aides, and Mrs. Truman, who suggested some changes when I read the speech to her last night.

"Paragraphs 2, 7, 10, 22, and 37 were put together entirely by Jones. Ross and Murphy are responsible for paragraphs 11 to 21, Clifford re-wrote Ross and Murphy in 14 other paragraphs, and I re-wrote Clifford in 20 others, 10 of which were at the suggestion of Mrs. Truman."

Other government officials have ghost, or at least ghostly help. So do many businessmen. If you asked them why they didn't do the whole job themselves, they'd probably say:

"I can't possibly make all the speeches I'm called upon to make and write them all myself and still get my other work done. So long as the speech represents what I think, it's honest to do it with the help of a ghost."

Of course, some times it might be the truth if the government official or the businessman said he can't write a speech to save his neck and needs the help of a ghost.

To the problem raised by Justice Jackson, when he says "ghost writing has debased the intellectual currency in circulation here," there's one solution:

Cut down the amount of intellectual currency in circulation by having fewer speeches. Then maybe the currency would be worth more.

A. N. Brooks Funeral Service To Be Held In Abernathy Today

ABERNATHY, Nov. 22. (Special)—Rites for A. N. Brooks, 62, who died Monday afternoon will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the First Baptist church here, with the pastor, the Rev. H. T. Pendley, officiating.

Brooks died of a heart attack suffered while shingling a roof on a farm near Hale Center. He was taken off the roof and to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Burial will be in the Abernathy cemetery under the direction of the Sanders Funeral home of Lubbock. The Rev. Herbert Brown, of Platt, N. M., will assist in the services.

FRUIT CAKE RECIPE

WE ARE thankful this day before Thanksgiving that our women readers are so generous when we ask for recipes. The call for bakeless cakes, which had appeared in this column in previous years, brought an overwhelming response and by mid-day we had 20 calls. Thanks from our heart.

Here are the recipes as requested by our other readers:

ONE METHOD: One pound graham crackers rolled, one pound seedless dates, one pound seedless raisins soaked in hot water, one pound marshmallows cut, one pound pecan meats chopped fine, one-half cup candied cherries diced, one-half cup candied pineapple diced, one teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon cloves, one pint whipping cream, unbeaten.

Cut the marshmallows and pour cream over, add cracker crumbs, soaked fruits and nuts. Mold in glass jar or place in tin cans which have been lined with waxed paper. Store in refrigerator and serve either plain or with your favorite sauce. (Thanks to Mrs. George M. Blackwell.)

ANOTHER METHOD: Three small cans evaporated milk, warm but not boiled. Melt into this one large package of marshmallows. Add two pounds graham crackers that have been crumbled, one pound dark raisins, one pound white raisins, two packages of dates, diced, one package each of citron, lemon peel, orange peel and candied pineapple, diced, two packages candied cherries, one one pound gum drops, sliced one pound shelled pecans, one pound walnuts.

When packed in loaf pans of glass containers, this cake will keep indefinitely in the refrigerator. (Thanks to Mrs. F. L. Boyd.)

THIRD METHOD: One package seeded dates, one pound seeded raisins, one small package currents, two cups shelled pecans, one small package gum drops, one cup bottled or candied cherries, one package marshmallows melted or one jar of marshmallow cream, one small package orange and lemon peel or one cup mixed fruits, one package figs, one medium or two small boxes graham crackers.

Mix nuts and fruits and pour cream over. Roll graham crackers into meal, add to mixture and stir until cake is stiff enough to roll. Place in box lined with waxed paper. (Thanks to Mrs. Raymond Mayse.)

TURKEY AND STUFFING . . . Care in cooking counts . .

Should The Turkey Be Stuffed?

Suggestions For Baking Thanksgiving Bird Given

To answer the homemaker's questions on baking the Thanksgiving bird here are some last minute suggestions from Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent.

Should the turkey be stuffed? It may or may not be stuffed as you choose. IIn either case rub the inside of the bird with salt. Two tablespoons of salt is not too much salt for a 12 to 15 pound turkey. Rub it over the outside too. Usually if the bird is stuffed that is not as much stuffing as is needed. Additional stuffing or dressing may be baked in a pan. Do not put it in the roasting pan around the turkey.

Is it necessary to steam the turkey first?

No. A young turkey will roast tender. If you are cooking a hen, unless you know she is a young hen, it may be better to steam it for a while since the moist heat is needed to cook tough meat tender.

Is a roasting pan necessary?

The so-called roaster is not a true roasting pan because the pan is too deep for equal circulation of heat and when the cover is on the steam is held in and so it means cooking with moist heat.

A shallow pan with a rack in it makes an ideal roasting pan.

The broiler pan may be used.

Roasting Timetable

How long must the turkey roast?

Here is a timetable for roasting young birds.

| Bird | Dressed Weight Pounds | Oven Temp. | Hours |
|---|---|---|---|
| Chicken | 4-5 | 350 degrees F | 1½-2 |
| Turkey | 10-13 | 325 degrees F | 2½-3 |
| | 14-17 | 275 degrees F | 5-6 |
| | 18-23 | 260 degrees F | 6½-7½ |
| | 24-30 | 250 degrees F | 8-9 |

For a half turkey, 7 to 9 pounds, takes 4 to 4½ hours at 300 degrees F.

How much stuffing for the bird?

For each pound of bird, count 1 cup of crumbs; then if the bird weighs 10 pounds or less, subtract 1 cup from the total, if the bird weighs more than 10 pounds, subtract 2 cups from the total. For example allow 4 cups of crumbs for a chicken that weighs 5 pounds dressed and 12 cups of crumbs for a turkey weighing 14 pounds dressed.

Cornbread I Stuffing

Here is a recipe for plain cornbread stuffing:

8 cups corn-bread crumbs.
4 cups biscuit or white bread crumbs.
2 t salt.
1 t pepper.
1 to 2 t sage.
½ to ¾ c butter or chicken fat.
2 hard cooked eggs chopped.
1 c onion chopped fine.
2 eggs beaten.

Cover feet, giblets and fat in water and cook. Pour this stock over day-old bread crumbs. Add other ingredients.

What about the gravy?

Use the fat and drippings from the pan under the turkey for gravy. Then add the chopped, cooked giblets and hard-cooked egg may be added.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gayle McLaughlin of Electra. Members attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Bill Bell, Walter Crowell, Larry Lott, Bob Womble, Jack Strong, Gravice Hill and Mrs. C. J. Wheat.

A Dutch girl in Amsterdam, aged 12, passed a 130-word-a-minute shorthand test.

Miss Rogers Marries At Church Here

Miss Velma Louise Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Rogers, 2613 Twenty-ninth, became the bride of Billy L. Sheats, son of Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Sheats of Pampa, in a double ring ceremony performed at the First Assembly of God church Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. The bridegroom's father, assisted by Rev. Mont M. Walker, read the ceremony before a candlelighted altar of fern and palms. Baskets of gold and bronze chrysanthemums completed the decorations.

Miss Hallie Wall, organist, played traditional wedding marches, and accompanied Miss Wanda Morris as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bridal party marched down an aisle decorated with white tapers, gold pompons and white satin ribbon.

Father Gives Bride

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory satin gown designed with a fitted bodice and a high neckline accented with tiny buttons extending from a small collar of Rose Point lace to the waistline. The sleeves ended in points at the hands and the full skirt swept into a long train. She wore an imported veil caught by orange blossoms and seed pearls and carried a bouquet of white roses centered with orchids. To carry out tradition, she wore, for something old, a ruby ring belonging to her mother; for something borrowed, a white linen handkerchief of the bridegroom's mother; and for good luck, a penny in her white satin shoe.

Mrs. Eula Moss of Bonham, cousin of the bride and matron of honor, wore a lime green taffeta dress fashioned after the bride's. She carried talisman roses. The flower girl, Donna Light, was dressed in lime green taffeta, also. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Attendants Wear Taffeta

Bridesmaids, Miss Doris Wygal of Ropesville and Miss Delores Sheats of Big Spring, cousins of the bridegroom, Miss Melba Haney of Dallas, cousin of the bride, and Miss Paula Stephens, wore dresses of bronze taffeta styled after Mrs. Moss', and carried yellow roses. The candlelighters, Miss Jonita Jenkins and Myrna Lawrence, wore gold taffeta dresses.

Ladon Sheats of Pampa served as his brother's best man and Donald Hudgeons, Cecil Holly, Donald Brand of Lubbock and R. F. McDonald of Pampa were ushers.

Relatives and close friends attended a reception in the Navajo room of Hilton hotel after the ceremony. Those assisting with hospitalities were parents of the bride and bridegroom, members of the wedding party and Mrs. J. S. Stevenson, cousin of the bride. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake and an arrangement of talisman roses and candelabra.

Out-of-town guests were from Bonham, Big Spring, Pampa, Lockney, Amarillo, Levelland, Dallas and Abilene.

Following a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will be at home at 1504 Twenty-first. For travel, the bride wore a steel blue suit with sun-copper accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheats are graduates of Lubbock High school and the bridegroom is a graduate of Texas Technological college.

Lubbock Branch ACE Discusses Needs Of Children In School

Needs which schools are trying to supply in the lives of children were outlined at a meeting of the Lubbock branch of the Association for Childhood Education International Monday night at the Lubbock Women's clubhouse, 2020 Broadway.

Mrs. Josephine Ballenger reported the state convention of the organization which she attended recently in San Antonio. Past presidents of the Lubbock branch, Mesdames Lloyd Neeley, E. L. McCrory and E. B. Speck presented a panel which emphasized the nine needs: Beauty, experiences, guidance, nurture, work, play, adventure, continuity and to identify.

Mrs. Frank C. Goodwin sang a number of spirituals, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John Oldham.

Post Men Are Hosts At Cine Club Supper

Town Talk

MESDAMES E. B. KELLY AND CECIL KELSEY entertained with a coffee Tuesday morning from 10 until 11:30 in the Kelly home, 1910 Thirty-first.

An autumn motif was used in decorations. The centerpiece was of orchid doty chrysanthemums arranged with lavender and pale pink carnations.

In the houseparty were Mesdames J. D. Leftwich, Wright Kerr, Lee C. O'Neil, Woodrow Rampy, Alfred Crosby, J. H. Cope, Sam Hildreth, Jess C. Levens and R. S. Prothro.

On the guest list were 250 persons.

Visiting in the H. J. McCabe home, 2705 Twenty-ninth, are Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Meyers of Onawa, Iowa. Mrs. Meyers and Mrs. McCabe are sisters. The Lubbock visitors will return to their home Sunday after a week's stay.

Alpha chapter of Kappa Kappa Iota had a Thanksgiving dinner preceding the regular meeting Monday night in the Navajo room of the Hilton hotel.

Table decorations were on a fall theme, with a golden cornucopia centering the table. Pouring forth from the horn were brightly colored fruits of the harvest season in various shades of green, purple, red and orange. Flanking the centerpiece were crystal candelabra with white candles.

Attending were 25 members.

A dinner party in the nature of an anniversary celebration was given by Dean and Mrs. W. L. Stangel of 2605 Twenty-second Tuesday night at the Lubbock Country club. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Condon of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dupree and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Simmons.

Mrs. Dupree, Mr. Condon and Mr. Stangel were graduated from North Side High school in Fort Worth in 1911. The two men and Mrs. Condon are flying to Fort Worth today in the Californian's plane to attend a reunion of the class.

Mr. and Mrs. Condon arrived in Lubbock late Tuesday afternoon and were the overnight guests of the Stangel's.

Misses Courtney Sigler and Patricia Lindsey, sophomore students attending Southern Methodist university in Dallas, will arrive in Lubbock tonight via air to spend Thanksgiving holidays with their parents.

Miss Sigler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sigler of 1717 Twenty-eighth, and Miss Lindsey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Lindsey of 3114 Twentieth. The two young women will return to Dallas Sunday.

Past Matrons Hear Report Of Meeting

Four members of the Hub Cine club who live in Post invited members to the home of Dr. B. E. Young Monday night for a waffle and sausage supper and picture show. Other hosts were John Lott, Alex Webb and Bernard Musso.

Films projected were of a canoe trip Mr. Lott, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McLarty, jr., and Jack Lott took last summer down the rapids of the Snake river and of the Post-Slaton football game. Lott took the first pictures and Musso the second and both were color films.

Attending were K. O. Peterson, Earl Hunt, McLarty, W. C. Boyd, E. C. Pool and Dr. W. A. Pettey.

Miss Joan Hale Bride Of Hugh P. Harbert

In St. Paul's Episcopal church Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, a marriage ceremony was read by Rev. Claude E. Canterbury, rector, for Miss Joan Strother Hale and Hugh Parker Harbert. The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Newton Hale of 2118 Seventeenth and the bridegroom is son of Mrs. D. K. Bondurant of Fort Worth and the late Hugh P .Harbert, sr.

The altar space was a mass of bronze chrysanthemums and greenery. Tapers burned at the altar and in the windows. A double ring ceremony was performed as Mrs. Elton Plowman, organist, played "Ave Maria." The organist also offered "Evening Star," and accompanied Mr. Plowman as he sang "Entreat Thee Not to Leave Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. Hale gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a two-piece dress of champagne faille, accented at the collar with bronze beads. There was matching bead trim on her calotte. The white Bible she carried was carried by her sister, Mrs. Charles B. Thompson at her wedding; it was topped with three brown orchids showered with brown taffeta ribbon and streamers. She carried a handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Allie Riddle, and wore a penny in her russet velvet shoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Thompson attended the couple. The matron of honor was dressed in a two-piece ensemble of russet velveteen jersey, with a matching hat and a yellow rosebud bouquet.

Ushers were Jeff Lewis and Luther Wilson of Roby. Acolytes were Bobby and Steven Rodgers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Rodgers, jr.

At the reception given in Hilton hotel Yaqui room following the ceremony, the bride's table was laid with a white Madeira cloth and centered with a double ring wedding cake decorated with confection mallow roses and lily of the valley, in yellow and white. Tiered silver candelabra, a bouquet of yellow and white carnations and the punch bowl completed the arrangement.

Parents of the bride and bridegroom and members of the wedding party assisted with hospitalities. Those in the houseparty were Mesdames W. L. Bradshaw, D. B. Hiatt, M. D. Temple, R. S. Rodgers, sr., R. S. Rodgers, jr., Marlin Smith, jr., J. P. Giles, Earl Moore, W. A. Sylvester, J. R. Bush, France Baker, H. D. Woods, sr. H. L. Allen, G. H. Nelson, Clifford Barr, Jeff Lewis, J. O. Garrett, Tommy Davis, Julian Fairly, A. R. Golding, jr., Elton Plowman, and Misses Jane Hiatt, Jean Newman, Mary Lu Jobson and Shirley Smith.

Out-of-town guests were from Blytheville, Ark., Abilene, Christoval, Fort Worth, Ovalo, Slaton and Roby.

For a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N. M., the bride wore a navy blue gabardine suit with navy shoes and bag and powder blue blouse, hat and gloves. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mrs. Harbert is a graduate of Lubbock High school and attended Texas Technological college where she was a member of Tan Souci social club. She is a granddaughter of a pioneer ranch family, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd T. Strother. Mr. Harbert is employed by the Fire Insurance division, Board of Commissioners, Austin. He is a graduate of Blytheville, Ark., High school and Capioh-Lincoln Junior college at Wesson, Miss., and attended Allen academy at Bryan, and Tech.

Birthday Observed At Club Luncheon

The birthday of Mrs. Jeff Graham was celebrated at a luncheon held by Colonial Needle club Tuesday at Mrs. Bryan Landers', 1304 Thirty-first.

Thirteen members and four guests, Mrs. Chester Harris, Mrs. Frank Culwell, Sandra Baker and Janet Puckett, attended.

On Dec. 6 at 2 p.m., the club will meet with Mrs. C. D. Puckett, 2721 Walnut.

Programs Are Held By Clubs

Afternoon program meetings were conducted by several women's organizations Tuesday.

Twentieth Century club had as guest speaker Tuesday afternoon Rev. Claude E. Canterbury, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The meeting was conducted in the East room of Lubbock Women's clubhouse, 2020 Broadway.

Rev. Canterbury's subject was "The American Home and Family Life." He expressed thankfulness for the American way of life and the American home. After his talk, different aspects of family life wede discussed by Mrs. Ivy Savage and Mrs. T. R. Prideaux. Mrs. Savage read several papers written by seventh grade pupils on "What I Like Best About Home Life." Mrs. Prideaux told of working with children in a small school.

Mrs. James H. Goodman introduced the speakers. Twenty persons attended the program and business meeting.

Government Discussed

The monthly meeting of Lubbock Junior Woman's club was held in the home of Mrs. Eldon Rawlings, 1409 Arnett, Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. D. B. Morrison as leader of a program on "Women and Government." Mrs. R. L. Redline presided for business.

Mrs. D. H. Bradford gave indifference as the paramount reason for the failure to vote, when she spoke on "We Women Throw Our Votes Away." She said, "Voting is not only a privilege but an obligation."

The Republican and Democratic parties were discussed by Mrs. Redline. She gave a historical account of the U. S. constitution and presented sketches of the lives of several American presidents. The differences in the two major political parties of this country were also discussed by the speaker.

The 20 persons attending answered roll call with the name of a federal government cabinet member.

Mrs. Morrison was named chairman of a special projects committee; she will be assisted by Mrs. Clifford Barr and Mrs. R. M. Williamson. Mrs. Fred Stone was appointed to serve on the membership committee.

"Art does not exist for art's sake, but for the benefit of all mankind," stated Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt who spoke on "What is Art and Who is the Artist" for Athenaeum club Tuesday at Mrs. R. A. Tynes', 2318 Twentieth. The speaker said, "If art does not enrich life it fails its purpose." She stated, also, that all are artists to some degree.

The program topic was "America's Culture Comes of Age." Mrs. Hubert Bratcher, another speaker, discussed "What Makes A Home Beautiful." She said, "the home is not a dwelling, but a living felowship and when people dwell togther with understanding and afection, they make their trip home a house of happiness."

A tea hour followed the program, and autumn decorations of leaves and candles were arranged on the refreshment table. Nineteen persons were present.

Flower arrangements for formal- and informal tables, for a breakfast and for a dinner were shown by Mrs. John Powers who was a guest of Clement Sorosis Study club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Belverd Needles, 1710 Thirtieth.

The guest told the history of flower arranging, and explained how it is interwoven with the history of music and other fine arts.

Mrs. Don King was leader of the program which was entitled "Art in Everyday Living." Mrs. J. D. Sanders gave a report of the state convention of Texas Federation of Women's clubs held in Austin last week. Mrs. George Berry, another guest, spoke about plans for Lubbock Women's clubhouse.

Nineteen members and guests attended.

Approximately fifty attended.

Mrs. Ing Soloist

Mrs. J. T. Baisden was program chairman. Mrs. D. E. Ing sang, "Prelude" and "Autumn" from Landon's Cycle of Life, with Mrs. Marlin R. Smith as accompanist.

Mrs. W. P. Jennings reviewed "Root Out Of Dry Ground" by Argye M. Briggs.

Mesdames Jimmie Yates, Helen Van, O. P. Hankins and G. E. Thompson were hostesses.

Mrs. Elois Elliott, chairman of the circle, presided at the lace-covered table which was arranged with a horn of plenty and Thanksgiving motif.

Swiss, American People Compared In Sorority Talk

For 50 members and guests of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Monday night at Lubbock Women's clubhouse, 2020 Broadway, Miss Margaret Turner, who visited Europe in the spring, spoke on the Swiss people. The Swiss are more like Americans than people in any other country visited, stated the speaker.

The Swiss appeared to lead a happy, free life corresponding to that which Americans enjoy.

They also lived in the midst of great beauty which impressed Miss Turner and Miss Ruth E. Ford of Lubbock and Mrs. John D. Lynch of Grosse Point, Mich., during their European visit.

Miss Ford Shows Films

Miss Ford projected mption pictures made in Europe, showing many of the points of beauty in various countries visited. One of the scenes showed oxen drawing a plow on an Italian farm. Another showed the bombed shells of buildings midst the grandeur of remaining historical sites in England. Others showed the Swiss Alps and cathedrals, statues, resorts and other scenes in Europe.

The trio visited France, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, England and Scotland and went through part of Germany.

Following the program, Mrs. J. Robert Duncan, Mrs. R. L. Edwards, Mrs. Weldon George and Mrs. Opal Dixon were hostesses for a social period.

Miss Mary Paul Long, president of the local chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, presided for a short business meeting, in which Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. James P. Williams reported on a Panhandle council meeting of Epsilon Sigma Alpha they attended Sunday in Plainview.

Miss Long was elected historian of the council at the Plainview meeting.

Seasonal Meal Held For Club, Families

COUNTY GROUPINGS GIVEN

Quarantine Rules On Cottonseed Movement Explained By Official

Attention to quarantine restrictions on transportation of cottonseed infected with pink bollworms was called Tuesday by L. F. Curl, who is in charge of pink bollworm control in the Lubbock area.

The statement came after Curl had received many questions about transporting cotton into neighboring counties for ginning, when gins in the producing county are overcrowded.

Any movement of seed cotton or parts of the cotton plant, except in counties of similar infestation or to designated gins in free areas, is to be made only under authorization of appropriate quarantine officials, he said.

Four States Checked

Inspection for the pink bollworm during the current crop has revealed the intensity of infestation in the four regulated states, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma.

Groupings according to the extent of infestation have been made by the Department of Agriculture Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

Most counties of the South Plains fall into the last three of seven classifications — the more heavily infested area.

Counties Are Grouped

Grouping of counties in the Northwest Texas, Eastern New Mexico and Southwestern Oklahoma areas by the bureau is as follows:

1. All counties in Oklahoma.

2. Gray, Wheeler, Donley, Collingsworth, Hall and Childress.

3. Hardeman, Wilbarger, Wichita, Motley, Cottle, Foard, King, Knox, Baylor, Stonewall, Haskell, Throckmorton, Shackleford and Callahan.

4. Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Nolan, Taylor, Brown, Coleman and San Saba.

5. Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent and Quay, Curry and Roosevelt, N. M.

6. Sterling, Coke, Runnels, Tom Green, Concho, Mason, Schleicher, Menard, McCulloch, Irion and Reagan.

7. Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Andrews, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Ector, Midland, Glasscock, and Lea, N. M.

Rule On Seed Cotton

Seed cotton may be transported to gins in any of the counties in the same group as the county in which the cotton is produced, or to counties of greater infestation.

Cotton grown in a county in group five, for example, may be ginned in a county in group six or seven but not in one in group three. Cotton produced in counties in group seven may be ginned only in counties of that group.

All ginners have been advised of the change, and dealer-carrier permits will be amended to authorize the acceptance of seed cotton in the prescribed manner.

Exceptions Made

"This modification of dealer-carrier permit issued ginners is not to be construed as prohibiting such ginners from accepting seed cotton produced within or contiguous to their ginning territory," Curl said. "In other words, there will be border-line cases where seed cotton has normally been moving across these group lines as now designated."

For example, it is not intended to prohibit a ginner located in Scurry county from receiving cotton from Borden county.

"Ginners will be held strictly accountable and will be expected to refuse to gin cotton produced a long distance from their gin," he added.

Twelve Men Rescued From Barges In Sea Off Japan

TOKYO, Nov. 22 (INS) — Twelve men were taken off two barges adrift in mountainous seas off southern Japan today in the path of the same typhoon which whipped Guam last week.

The men were rescued by the crew of the United States Line's freighter Pioneer Sea.

The two barges and a tugboat, the Argonaut, had been cut adrift by the Philippine tugboat Tiburon enroute to Yokohama because of heavy seas kicked up by the approach of the typhoon.

There was no indication how many men were aboard the helplessly drifting Argonaut. The Pioneer Sea radioed that the drifting tug and its two barges were now a "danger to navigation."

Brownfield Service Set This Afternoon

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 22. (Special) — Brownfield's annual Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Terry County Ministerial association, will be at 3 p.m. Wednesday, in the First Baptist church here.

The Rev. M. A. McDonald, pastor of the Assembly of God church, will deliver the sermon. The Rev. H. L. Thurston, pastor of the First Methodist church, will preside.

Others on the program are the Brownfield High school band, under the direction of Richard Young; a united choir with Gerald Nelson directing; William J. Spreen, minister of the First Christian church; the Rev. J. Preston Murphy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church; and the Rev. W. T. Sparkman, pastor of the West Side Baptist church.

School buses will not leave until 4 p.m. Wednesday, in order to give rural school children an opportunity to attend the services.

Tech Professor Will Attend Ice Cream Makers Convention

Dr. J. J. Willingham, acting head of the department of dairy manufactures at Texas Tech, will attend a meeting of the Southern association of Ice Cream manufacturers in Biloxi, Miss., Dec. 5.

The 35th annual convention of the association, which has members in all the southeastern and southwestern states, will be attended by leading authorities in ice cream manufacture in the United States.

Speakers will include A. J. Claxton of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Fielding Wright, governor of Mississippi.

Garner Celebrates His 81st Birthday By Shelling Pecans

UVALDE, Nov. 22. (AP)—John Nance Garner celebrated his 81st birthday today by shelling pecans and looking for ward to the 82nd anniversary.

To the photographer who came out with a "happy birthday" greeting, he smiled and said:

"Come around next year. Get a picture on my eighty-second birthday."

The former vice president hopes to live to be 93. That would let him spend more than half his life as a private citizen. He was in politics for 46 years.

He added a tie to his usual old khaki dress today and went out on the screened porch to start shelling pecans.

But those pecans that dot his 9-acre lawn—

"Worst pecan crop I've had in 35 years," he remarked.

"Worst pecans, too. Not worth a whoop in hell."

Tech Officials Will Attend Houston Meet

Three officials of Texas Technological college will meet with heads of other state-supported colleges and representatives of municipal junior colleges in Houston next Tuesday, Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president, announced Tuesday.

Purpose of the meeting will be to study a "long range program for the development of higher education in Texas" through co-operation between the two classes of schools, Dr. Wiggins said.

The conference will be held as a side-meeting since officials of all the colleges concerned will be attending the annual convention of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools there Monday through Thursday of next week.

First official discussions of a co-operative program between municipally-controlled junior colleges and state-supported senior institutions were made at a meeting of the Council of Presidents of State Supported Institutions of Higher Learning in Austin Nov. 2.

Extent and form of any plan which might be worked out by the group is not known. Tech officials who will accompany Dr. Wiggins are Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president, and Dr. R. C. Goodwin, dean of the graduate school.

"This courtesy is contagious!"

One of our party-line customers decided the other day that the others on his line deserved a round of applause, and he wrote us a letter about it. He said:

"I am writing this note to compliment my party-line associates for their thoughtfulness in sharing the line. They are what makes party-line telephone service extremely enjoyable and satisfactory.

"If they try the line while I'm using it they very gently lift the receiver; and when they hear a conversation going on, they—also very gently—replace the receiver.

"Also they limit the length of the conversations. I have yet to wait more than two minutes for them to release the line after I have tried it to make a call.

"This courtesy is contagious; they have me doing it."

Party-line service is the choice of about half our customers in normal times when anyone who wants it can have an individual line. But today a good many party-line customers are waiting for the individual lines they would have if equipment were plentiful.

We want to be able to give everyone the service he or she prefers. Where equipment in neighborhoods permits it, we are making some progress in that direction now, despite the continuing heavy demand for telephones from those still without any service.

What we are working to do is eventually to get everyone the type of service and as much service as he or she wants. We appreciate your understanding.

U. S. Plan To Balance Supply And Demand Hits Obstacles

By RADER WINGET
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 — Queer quirks of men and nature provide some strange barriers to global plans for changing international trade patterns.

Sometimes these schemes turn out all to the good; sometimes they don't.

Since the war the general idea has been to balance up world supply and world demand so that everybody has everything they want.

Roughly, this has been approached along two lines. First, take surplus food commodities from one area and send them where there is a scarcity. Second, create the ability to produce a commodity in an area where it is needed.

These plans actually aren't new. The ideas and even some of the objections to them have been met before.

The United States Army tried in 1857 to import and use a foreign commodity — camels. They wanted the camels to carry troops and supplies in arid areas of Southwestern United States. But it didn't work.

In one barter deal today, the United States is having difficulty matching a storage and surlus. The government has some $2,680,000,000 tied up in surplus farm products.

One phase of the plan to dispose of the surplus involves trading a part of it to foreign governments for materials we need here.

India needs grain and we need strategic war materials. The idea was to ship 37,500,000 bushels of wheat and other grain to India in exchange for manganese ore, mica or jute. But there are reports the Indians are reluctant to barter because they can sell their raw materials for dollars any time. With those dollars they can buy anything, even wheat, at an advantageous price.

In current talk of building up wheat production in backward areas, some Latin American countries are reported to be concerned over competition from such areas as Africa. They fear their own producers might be driven out of the world market.

The latest redistribution plan comes from the Food and Agriculture organization of the United Nations. It is proposed to set up a fund of $1,000,000,000, mostly U. S. dollars, for financing a food bank. The food bank would buy surplus commodities in one area and sell them to another area.

As originally envisaged by FAO experts, the plan called for a capital of $5,000,000,000. Now they have cut that back to just a billion dollars.

87-Year-Old Colonel Resents Any Hints That He's Slipping

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (U.P.)— Time was when the colonel would give an antelope a head start and beat it to the nearest waterhole.

Col. Warren Hardenbergh now is 87, rushing 88, but unless you want one square on the snout, don't try to tell him he's slipping.

To tell the truth, the colonel himself thought he had gone a rung down until the other day. It's a rather interesting story.

The old man, one of the few who served in three foreign armies and now draws a pension from the U. S. Navy, has been a hater of rats these many years.

Sparkin' Days Recalled

"It dates back to my sparkin' days," the colonel says, "when I was courting a fine young lady up in New England."

As the old soldier-sailor tells it, he was climbing the back steps of his lady love's house and was all set to doff his derby and rap on the door when a big rat stood on his hind legs and began to sass.

Hardenbergh, who didn't carry a cane in those days, looked around for a weapon. Finding none, he slipped off one of his button shoes and went at the rodent with all his strength, which in those days was considerable.

The colonel won, of course.

Not long ago the colonel, who lives in an apartment overlooking a busy Washington thoroughfare was sitting by the window with his pretty little wife, Frances. She spied a rat crossing the street. The colonel hauled out a high powered rifle, drew a bead, and squeezed the trigger.

Scared The Rat

"I scared the devil out of that rat," he told his friends over a coffee later in the morning "But I missed him."

It worried the old man, who once got three moose with a single bullet, according to witnesses.

A few days later, he appeared at his coffee club and tried to stuff his own echo with recollections of how he busted the back of a water moccasion last summer with his cane. Or how he licked a man one-third his age last New Year's Eve, and how he "cleaned the plow" of a fellow six months ago when the man took a swipe at his dog.

The colonel's ego was ripe when the phone rang. It was the janitor of the old man's building. He had seen a rat in the basement and would Hardenbergh come running.

Next morning he had something to talk about.

"Sat there in the basement most of the day with my rifle on my knee," the old guy said. "Late in the afternoon, he came out — that rat did. I could see him making for his hole, but I gave him an even break — to be sporting. Then I hauled off. Got him right between the eyes — and that's fact."

The colonel has been right perked up ever since.

Men Stay Home As Wives Stage Annual Frolic At Temple

TEMPLE, Nov. 22 (AP) — Husbands in Temple had to wash and dry the dinner dishes themselves tonight, put junior to bed and settle down with a good book — all by themselves.

Their wives had gone to a party — no men allowed.

It's Temple's 33rd annual Everywoman's party.

It's the wives answer to those stag parties men throw.

Back in 1916 a bunch of women led by Mrs. W. Goodrich Jones, now of Waco, were bemoaning their lonely fate while their husbands were gone to one of those for men only affairs.

But—being women, they declared they were gonna do something about it. And—being women, they did.

Women Invited

"Come to the party" invitations went to every woman in Temple and all the surrounding communities.

And they came. Let their hair down literally, had a wonderful time frolicking in stunts. Women whose singing voices had been heard only over the kitchen sink got up and warbled solos.

In 1947 they put on a hillbilly show that made the old barn dance look sissy. Last year they produced their own radio talent.

This year they're putting on their own version of one of the men's favorites—the minstrel show.

The parties used to be in the high school auditorium but so many women got to coming they're in the municipal auditorium now. They always precede the Thanksgiving holidays by a few days.

Last year more than 1,200 women came.

Man Convicted Of Bank Holdup

WACO, Nov. 22 (AP) — Ollie Otto Prince, Corsicana used car dealer, was convicted today of robbing the Malone State bank Oct. 5, 1948.

He was sentenced by Federal Judge Ben H. Rice to 35 years on two counts.

The 44-year-old business man was sentenced to 20 years on the first count, which charged him with taking $15,764 from Guy Mann, vice president of the bank.

Prince was sentenced to 15 years on the second count, charging he entered the bank with the intent to rob.

Guilt Is Denied

The heavy-set, florid car dealer, who has denied any guilt in the robbery, was asked by Judge Rice if he had anything to say before being sentenced.

"The only thing I can say," he told the court, "is that I am not guilty of robbing these banks and some day I hope we can prove that to the people."

The judge then pronounced sentence. He ordered that the sentence run consecutively—in other words, that each year be served.

Prince is expected to be tried here tomorrow on an indictment charging he robbed the First National bank of Mt. Calm on Nov. 22, 1946.

Under Previous Sentence

A federal jury in Dallas found Prince guilty of robbing the Rice, Tex., bank and sentenced him to serve 10 years in federal prison. This sentence must be served before Prince begins serving those pronounced today, court attaches said.

The Dallas sentence was appealed. Prince's attorney, Howard Dailey of Dallas, said after today's proceedings that he was not certain today's sentences will be appealed.

Prince did not appear greatly moved by his conviction or sentence.

The federal jury was out no more than 20 minutes. It returned its verdict about 1 p.m. and sentence was pronounced about 2 p.m.

Request Overruled

The defense asked for a continuance in the Mt. Calm trial, pleading absence of witnesses, but Judge Rice overruled the motion.

In his summation, U. S. Dist. Attorney W. H. Moursund laid emphasis on a no-funds check which he said Prince had given in payment of cattle. He said Prince robbed the banks in order to make the check good.

Elray Webb of Corsicana testified during the trial that Prince gave him a $4,286 check for cattle but that the check was returned with a notice of insufficient funds.

On Oct. 5, the day the Malone bank was robbed, Prince paid the check in cash and also deposited $1,699 in a Corsicana bank, the district attorney said.

Testimony Differs

There was differing testimony as to the whereabouts of Prince on the day of the robbery. This cropped up again today during closing arguments.

The prosecution recalled two defense witnesses today to question them about where Prince was on that date.

Rufe Hawthorne, negro tenant on Prince's farm near Corsicana, testified that he is uncertain if he saw Prince on the farm Oct. 5, 1948 He had testified yesterday that Prince came on the farm about 11 or 11:30 a.m. the day of the robbery.

A ticket showing purchase by Hawthorne of feed from a Corsicana store on that day was introduced today.

"If a feed ticket from the White Feed stores showed the date Oct. 5 and I signed it, I was in town that day," Hawthorne said.

The government also called Walter Tumlinson, 57, who was working at Prince's used car lot at the time of the robbery.

Eldon E. White, Corsicana auto supply store owner, testifying for the defense, said he saw Prince on the day of the robbery shortly after noon. He said Prince came by his store then.

Princess Elizabeth's Place In Throne Line Questioned

LONDON, Nov. 22 (AP) — Who says Princess Elizabeth is sole heir to the throne of England?

Not the law, the British Law Journal declared today.

It said Princess Margaret, Elizabeth's younger sister, might have just as good a claim in court.

The Journal suggested that they might even have to be enthroned as co-queens upon the death of their father, King George VI.

"It seems to be commonly considered that on the death of his majesty the king without male issue the crown would unquestionably descend to the Princess Elizabeth," said a provocative article in the journal.

"However, a survey of English constitutional history reveals that there is no precedent to cover such a situation, and that what comentary exists is of doubtful value."

Nonsense, a Buckingham palace spokesman told reporters.

The spokesman said the issue was settled in 1937, when Elizabeth was ten and Margaret seven. The law offices of the crown looked into the matter, he told newsmen, and gave a formal opinion that Elizabeth will have sole claim to be queen.

Tanganyika plans to develop its first postwar summertime restrictions on power use.

If You Are 85, 45 or 3, Hadacol Helps All Ages

HADACOL is good for all ages, bringing five of nature's B vitamins and important minerals to the young and old alike. Recently the HADACOL folks received the good news that among the countless thousands who had been benefited by HADACOL were a lady of 85, a man of 45 who felt like he was 18, and a beautiful little girl only three years old.

Mrs. Edmond Doucet, of Church Point, La., is 85 years old, having thousands of friends in the picturesque Evangeline section of Louisiana where she was born and has spent all of her life. These friends are happy to know that Mrs. Doucet feels better now than at any time in two years and gives the credit to HADACOL.

MRS. DOUCET

"I had been sick for almost two years and was suffering with gastric disturbances and bloating. I was run down, had lost weight and had to stay in bed most of the time. I lost courage and felt that there was no hope for me."

Mrs. Doucet had tried many preparations without apparent beneficial results when she heard the glorious news about HADACOL.

"After taking several bottles of HADACOL I felt like a new person," said Mrs. Doucet. "I eat anything I want without ill effects and sleep well. I feel much stronger."

Neville Dugas, of Route 1, Box 101 B, Carencro, La., a successful farmer who had worked early and late at all kinds of hard work and it wasn't so long ago that he wondered if he would ever be able to work that way again. He had tried many medicines, but felt no better.

MR. DUGAS

"I had all kinds of stomach disturbances," said Mr. Dugas. "My stomach was so bloated that it felt like it would swell up and burst. I suffered with gastric disturbances, heartburn and was run down and nervous. I had no appetite and suffered with headaches and I couldn't sleep at night. I was so drawn and pale that my friends had difficulty in recognizing me. After the third bottle of HADACOL I felt a real improvement and after the twelfth bottle of HADACOL I felt like I was 18 instead of 45. I am feeling perfectly well."

"My three year old daughter, Joan, had lost her appetite," said Mr. Dugas. "Her cheeks were pale and she cried often. I started giving Joan HADACOL and after three of the large economy size bottles she is now healthy, has an excellent appetite and her disposition is perfect."

JOAN

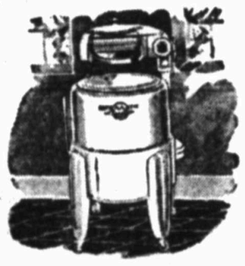

All three of these people were suffering from a lack of B vitamins and the minerals which HADACOL contains. HADACOL comes to you in liquid form, easily assimilated in the blood stream so that it can go to work right away. It is easy to understand, therefore, why countless thousands have been benefited by this amazing tonic, HADACOL.

A lack of only a small amount of B vitamins and certain minerals will cause digestive disturbances ... Your food will not agree with you. ... You will have an upset stomach. ... You will suffer from heartburn, gas pains and your food will sour on your stomach and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery afterwards. Many people also suffer from constipation. And while these symptoms may be the results of other causes, they are surely and certainly the symptoms and signs of lack of B vitamins and minerals which HADACOL contains. And if you suffer from such a deficiency disorder, there is no known cure except the administration of the vitamins and minerals which your system lacks.

It is easy to understand, therefore, why countless thousands have been benefited by this amazing tonic, HADACOL.

So it matters not how old you are or who you are ... it matters not where you live or if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, give this wonderful preparation, HADACOL, a trial. Don't go on suffering. Don't continue to lead a miserable life. Many persons who have suffered and waited for 10 to 20 years or even longer, are able now to live happy, comfortable lives because HADACOL supplied the vitamins and minerals which their systems needed. Be fair to yourself. Temporary relief is not enough for you. Give HADACOL a trial!—Adv.

Army, Baylor Picked To Win

Raiders Favored Over H-SU Squad

By GAYLE TALBOT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 — The noble, if not exact, science of picking college football winners was set back several semesters by this agent's well-meaning efforts last week. There have been threats that somebody will lose his credentials if it happens again. These final selections of the season, then, have been made under something of a strain:

Army vs. Navy—This, the 50th game between the service rivals, should be worthy in every respect. It figures to be very close, but the feeling here is that Army's Arnold Galiffa will shade Navy's Bob Zastrow in a pitching duel. Army.

Notre Dame vs. U.S.C. — They keep winning these moral victories over the Irish, but nobody seems to beat 'em. Maybe the solution will be to sign Leahy's team for a 30-minute contest. Notre Dame, naturally.

Baylor Favored

Baylor vs. Rice—This one is for the championship of the Southwest Conference, and if you don't know about the Southwest Conference there's no use explaining. We'll take a flyer on the team that out-passed S.M.U. last week. Baylor.

Cornell vs. Penn (Thursday)—The Quakers can clinch the Ivy league title either by beating or tying the Big Red. But their last game was a bruising affair against Army, and the guess here is that they will not contain Cornell's fine attack. Cornell.

Oklahoma vs. Oklahoma A. & M.—Having been badly scared by Santa Clara last week, the big Sooners probably will rack this one up in a hurry. Oklahoma.

Justice's Last Game

North Carolina vs. Virginia—This will be the great Charlie Justice's last game for the Tarheels and chances are we will leave his memory green. North Carolina.

SMU vs. TCU—If Doak Walker and his fellow Methodists can forget for a few minutes that they have a date with Notre Dame next week they should outscore the Frogs. But they had better not let their attention waver. S.M.U.

Tulane vs. Louisiana State—If the Green Wave can take this one it probably still can realize that Sugar Bowl dream. It should be a terror of a football game. Tulane, just barely.

Texas vs. Texas A.&M. (Thursday)—Having lost four big games by a grand total of 10 points, the Longhorns should be in a mean enough frame of mind to win this old Southwest classic, even if they are playing in the Aggies' park. Texas.

Tech Picked

Tennessee vs. Vanderbilt — A team which was good enough to throw Kentucky last week doesn't figure to be extended by the Commodores. Tennessee.

Georgia vs. Georgia Tech—Tech has the edge.

Some of these might win, too: Thursday — Brown over Colgate, College of Pacific over Calif. Poly, Missouri over Kansas State, V.M.I. over V.P.I., North Texas State over Nevada.

Friday night: Kentucky over Miami U. (Fla.).

Saturday: Alabama over Florida, Auburn over Clemson, Boston College over Holy Cross, Fordham over N. Y. U., Kansas over Arizona, Mississippi over Mississippi State, William & Mary over N. Carolina State, Tulsa over Arkansas, Wake Forest over South Carolina, Texas Tech over Hardin-Simmons, Texas Western over New Mexico A. & M.

TAAF Boxing Tickets Will Go On Sale In City Today

Tickets for the TAAF boxing tournament, to be held at Sled Allen's arena Dec. 8-9, will go on sale today at City Club Gym and Hub Clothiers, Ed Sides announced last night.

Approximately 30 boys are now signed up for the tourney, and more are urged to enter. Boxers may use the facilities at the gym, and division winners will be sent to Fort Worth for the state finals.

The TAAF will be the first step in training fighters for the Golden Gloves, to be held in late January and early February.

Price of tickets is $2 ringside, $1.80 reserved seat and $1.25 general admission.

SHOOTING BUT DIFFERENT

MIAMI, Fla. (U.P.)—There'll still be shooting at the site of a famous old Miami Beach gambling joint but of a different kind, Police Chief Albert W. Simpson hopes. He asked city officials to allow use of the premises for a police school, to include an indoor rifle range.

Cubs Here For Turkey Day Tilt

Westerners Occupied With Routine Drills

Preparations continued Tuesday at Chapman field for the Lubbock Westerners' Thursday afternoon tilt with the Brownfield Cubs to close out play in District 3-AA this season.

Game time for the Thanksgiving day tilt is 2:30 p. m. Tickets will be sold today at Lubbock High school, with reserved seats going for $1.50 each.

Aside from the regular practice, something extra was added to the session in the form of a race between the four starting backs, with Bobby Brown, Charlie Willians, Wayne Stroud and Malcolm Young finishing in that order over a distance of 100 yards.

The practice also marked the first time this year that the public was invited to a Westerner workout, and a substantial crowd of football fans showed up for the race and following drill.

One of the four remaining untied and undefeated teams in the state, the Westerners have been on top in their first nine starts this season and seem certain to add Brownfield to their list of victims.

Cubs In Fair Shape

Brownfield started out the season with a group of inexperienced boy and has never been able to find itself this year, losing nine straight games in practice and district games.

Coach Tracy Kellow said Tuesday night that his team was in fair shape, probably in as good condition physically as it has been all season. Last week several players were injured against Odessa, but all with the exception of Billy Noble will be ready for the Westerners. Noble suffered several broken ribs and a fractured shoulder blade.

Brownfield Lighter

The Cubs are a much lighter team than the Lubbock eleven and will be heavily outweighed. The starting Cub line will weigh approximately 153 pounds per man, and the backfield only 143. Lubbock starters average 188 and 158 respectively.

Tuesday's practice was routine for Lubbock's squad, starting with preliminary exercises, punting, place-kicking drills and dummy plays. Line Coach Bill Floyd, recently hospitalized with a serious throat infection, was back at practice for the second day and worked with the linemen in blocking drills before the full squad came together.

Offensive and defensive drills were run in later practice, with the Cowhands supplying both offensive and defensive patterns for the Westerners.

All Squads Busy

The younger players at times broke up several plays in the dummy scrimmage, being most effective on passing efforts. By using the Cowhands with his other three squads, Coach Pat Pattison was able to keep the three Westerner teams busy, either on offense or defense.

Injuries the past two weeks have weakened the squad considerably. Last week Douglas Ross switched from right to left tackle in place of Joe Brock, and Ross Craig subbed at left guard for Freddy Gray, Curtis Roberts filled in at right tackle. Running at right end in practice Tuesday in place of Billy Wright was Dean White, and the lanky junior was filling the position very adequately.

The four backfield starters will probably be ready to go, but if Young is still bothered with his ankle sprain Stroud may shift to fullback and Mack Taylor step in to left halfback.

Westerner Backfield Runs 100-Yards In Fast 11.1 Seconds

It appears that Lubbock High's backfield is even faster than it was reputed to be.

Long rated as one of the state's fleetest schoolboy quartets, the four starting Westerner backs yesterday amazed even their staunchest followers in a special four-man race at Chapman field.

With each wearing a full uniform, expect for helmet, and carrying a football, the four Lubbock gridders turned in an aggregate time of 44.4 seconds — for an average of 11.1 — over the 100-yard route.

Quarterback Bobby Brown won the event in the time of 10.8 seconds. Halfback Charley Williams was second at 10.9 seconds, and Halfback Wayne Stroud third at 11 seconds flat. Fulback Malcolm Young though slowed by an akle sprain, turned in a creditable 11.7 seconds.

The recognized world record for such a performance, as listed in Frank G. Menke's "New Encyclopedia of Sports," is 11.2 seconds, set in 1942 by William Steele.

In Tuesday's race, the Westerner backs were favored by a 15-mile-per-hour wind, which partially explains their record-shattering effort. Too, the fact that they ran without helmets may have affected their time slightly. On the other hand, all ran in high-quarter shoes, rather than the lighter low-quarter shoes they usually wear in game appearances.

Despite the "favoring" factors, spectators at the race agreed that it was truly a remarkable performance for high school youths, and expressed unanimous doubt that any other Texas backfield can equal the Westerners' aggregate time.

Hermleigh, Eden In Bi-District Playoff

SNYDER, Nov. 22. (Spl.).— The scrapping Hermleigh Cardinals, champions of District 8-B, will play the Eden Bulldogs for Bi-District honors Dec. 2 at Sweetwater Mustang bowl.

Hermleigh Coach J. N. Williams announced the game date and site today. He then went along with Coach Bill Ford of Eden in predicting that the game would be fast and clean-cut.

Williams reports that the Cardinals will be in fine physical condition for the Sweetwater game. They suffered no injuries in their 19-9 defeat of the Stanton Buffaloes Friday, a game that gave them the District 8-B title outright. A Card loss would have thrown the district into a three-way tie.

Eden this week is working hard to build a defense for the Cardinals, who have won eight consecutive games and have been scored on only four times.

Missouri Valley College Gets Invitation To Oleander Bowl

MARSHALL, Mo., Nov. 22 (AP)—The Missouri Valley college Vikings have received a "feeler" to play in the Oleander Football Bowl at Galveston, Tex., Jan. 3, Coach Volney Ashford said today.

Ashford said no decision has been made as to whether the Vikings will accept if the bid is officially made.

Class B District Champs Named

(By The Associated Press)

Thirty-four of forty-four district champions in Texas schoolboy Class B football have been determined and the others will be decided this week.

Next week the field will open play for regional titles of which there are 11. Class B football goes no further than regional championships.

Champions determined to date are:

Region 2—White Deer, District 1; Olton, District 3; Meadow, District 4.

Happy plays at Kress Thursday to determine the District 2 title. Kress can share the title with Turkey with a victory but a loss to Happy would give Turkey the championship.

In District 10, Moran and Wylie of Abilene clash Thursday for the title. In District 11 it's Rising Star vs. Early at Brownwood Thursday.

In District 12, Meridian and Valley Mills play at Meridian Thursday in the deciding game. Valley Mills can tie Cranfills Gap for the title with a win over Meridian, otherwise the title will go to Cranfills Gap. Valley Mills has defeated Cranfills Gap but lost a game to Iredell by forfeit because of an ineligible player.

In District 15 Van Alstyne and Whitewright play at Whitewright Thursday for the title. In District 17, Alvarado and Grandview clash at Alvarado Thursday for the championship.

In District 20 State Orphans home of Corsicana leads. It plays Blooming Grove and can sew up the District title with a victory. In District 28 Academy of Temple leads by a half-game.

In District 34 Schulenburg and Smithville clash Thursday for the championship. In District 37 San Felipe of Del Rio meets Somerset Thursday for the title.

Bi-District games already arranged are: Meadow at Olton, Thursday; Marfa at Iran next week; Hughes Spring vs. Brownsboro at Gilmer Dec. 1; Beckville vs. Elkhart at Carthage Dec. 2; Groveton vs. Anahuac at Cleveland Dec. 2; Benavides vs. Rio Hondo at Kingsville, Saturday, Hermleigh vs. Eden at Sweetwater Dec. 2.

Oklahoma Five Drops Wayland Team, 61-41

ADA, Okla., Nov. 22 (Special) —East Central State college's defending Oklahoma Conference basketball champions turned on the heat in the final 10 minutes of play to down Wayland college's Pioneers 61-41 here tonight.

It was the second straight victory for East Central, but the victors had a much tougher game on their hands tonight. The Pioneers forced the action all the way and were trailing only 26-22 at the half.

But loss of three players, two of them on personal fouls, hurt Coach Harley Redin's small squad. Forward Bill Knight went out at the half on fouls and Forward Ed Billings sprained an ankle soon after the second half opened. Then, with 10 minutes to go and the game still close, Don Dally fouled out.

Guard Billy McClellan paced the losers with 13 points, while Forward Claudell Overton had 22, the same number he pitched in Monday night for scoring honors.

The Pioneers will return home Wednesday. Their next game will be against McMurry in Plainview, Tex., Dec. 3.

Lubbock Five Wins Opener

ABERNATHY, Nov. 22 (Special)—Lubbock's Westerners opened their 1949 cage season here tonight, defeating Abernathy High school 46-30, despite displaying inaccurate shooting from the floor.

Top scorer of the night was the Antelope's big center, Blackmon, who poured 20 points through the hoops to pace his teammates. The tall point-maker hit nine field goals and plunked two free shots into the basket to account for his total.

Westerner scoring was led by Guard Carl Ince with 13 points, and Center Jim Wilson with 11. Ince was a standout ball-handler and dribbler for the Lubbock squad, threading his way through the Abernathy zone defense to score. Wilson's scoring came mostly on rebounds and tip-ins.

Next high for Lubbock was Guard Tom Cheatham with eight points, mostly on long shots. Forward Jimmy Sexton scored five points. Sexton was unable to get the range on the basket.

Abernathy started off like it intended to make a game of the conflict, holding the Lubbock quintet to a 5-5 quarter score. But at halftime the Westerners led, 16-9, and lengthened the margin the final two quarters.

Lubbock's coach, David Cook, was making his first coaching start for the Westerners.

The two teams meet again Friday night at Chapman field in Lubbock at 8 p.m. A B team game will be played at 7 o'clock.

Independents Down Barbers, 52 To 48

An overtime game highlighted the five basketball contests at Boys club Tuesday, with the Independents scoring their third straight triumph over Barber college, 52-48.

Jesse Fullerton paved the way for the Independents, scoring 14 points, and Winfred Medlock made 13 for the losers. At end of regulation time the teams were tied, 47-47.

The Seventh Street Thugs trimmed the Unconscious Five, 30-29, with Tommy Yelvington meshing the hoops for 14 points. Bobby Tollison tallied 11 counters for the losers in a Senior game.

Mikey Brady's 13 poinst were high as Fancy Five out-basketed the Basketeers, 32-23. Ray Clark scored 11 markers for the Basketeers in a Junior contest.

In the other Junior league contest the Eagles defeated the Alley Rat Five, 24-14, as Jerry Shipp accounted for 11 points. Wade Wolfe's eight led the losers.

The Buffaloes squeezed past the Roughies, 8-7, in a Midget game. Jack Richards scored half of the winner's total, making four and James Wiley tallied three for the losers.

Texas Aggies Go Through Final Drill In Preparation For Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 22. (AP).— The Texas Aggies went through their final hard workout of the season today. They spent nearly two hours polishing plays they plan to use Thursday against Texas.

The Aggies, in good physical condition, will wind up their practice with a short drill tomorrow. The Texas team will work out in Austin and will come to College Station by train Thursday morning.

A&M athletic officials again urged fans not to come to College Station Thursday unless they have tickets. The game is a sell-out.

Distinguished visitors who plan to see the Thanksgiving Day game include Senator and Mrs. Tom Connally, Governor Allan Shivers, and Dr. Karl Leib, NCAA president.

Border Loop Crown At Stake

Techsans Prep For Important H-SU Tilt

ABILENE, Nov. 22. (Spl.).—Hardin-Simmons' Cowboys, who will battle Texas Tech Saturday for the Border Conference championship, got down to serious preparation for the game Monday.

The Cowboys, upset three times this season, may do some upsetting of their own Saturday. They have won five and tied one, in addition to their losses.

School spirit on the Forty acres is reaching the highest point of the 1949 pigskin season. Tuesday night the Rangers, a pep organization, touched off a bonfire with a symbol of a Raider on top. A large number of students were kept busy collecting wood for the fire and Cowboy fans are in high hopes that the fire will bring out a ready-to-do Cowboy football team.

Crown On Line

Winner of the contest Saturday can play in the Sun Bowl and also can wear the Border loop crown for 1949. The Pokes are fully aware that they will need ample support from both air and ground weapons. They also know that they will be up against a team that has offensive power of its own.

The Cowboys have rolled up 239 points this year, while Tech has hit paydirt for only 151 points. On the other hand, the Raider defense has been a little more stern for the opposition.

Quarterback John Ford and End Bob McChesney, along with Halfback Dunnie Goode, are expected to furnish the air power for the Cowboys.

In nine games, McChesney has been on the receiving end of 37 passes for 652 yards and nine touchdowns. He has scored two other touchdowns, one on an 85-yard pass interception and run and another on a blocked punt in the end zone.

Hook Davis Slips

Goode has scored eight times for the Cowboys and has caught 19 passes for 347 yards.

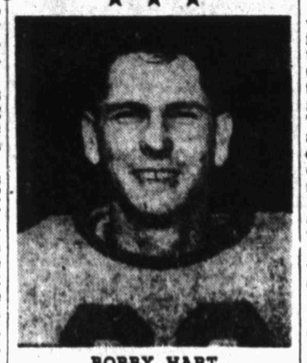

Ford has completed 73 passes out of 123 tries for a .593 average. His passes have been good for 1,181 yards and 19 touchdowns.

Wilton "Hook" Davis, former national leader in rushing, has not been up to his old form this year. He has lugged the leather for only 543 yards so far in 1949, but the Baptists still rely on him for their ground gaining to a large extent.

A South Plains gridder, Quarterback Bobby Hart of Levelland, might see a lot of action Saturday. Hart, who compiled one of the more outstanding records as a schoolboy gridder, is a sophomore this year and could cause Tech a lot of trouble.

LONG IN SERVICE

ADAMSVILLE, Ala. (U.P.) Dr. Robert S. Glasgow, honored by his townsfolk for 48 years of practicing medicine here, said he has delivered 3,700 babies, some covering three generations of the same families.

Intensive Work Marks Tech Drill

High spirit and intensive work marked Texas Tech's second day of practice in preparation for the crucial game with Hardin-Simmons Saturday in Jones Stadium.

It was a long session yesterday, although not a hard one, with players going through both offensive and defensive dummy scrimmage. Coach Dell Morgan finally turned the lights on when it became too dark to see and kept the squad out until the last minute.

Old plays that have proven effective were brushed off and worked on at length by the offensive units. Emphasis was on blocking by the line and correct timing by the backs so that they will hit holes on schedule.

Coach Morgan sent the defensive units against the freshmen who ran typical Hardin-Simmons plays. Red Raiders were breaking up a majority of the plays, but some worked. Particularly effective were a pair of quick-opening line plays and the short passes which will be thrown by Quarterback John Ford.

The Raiders squad is in pretty good shape physically, although two or three players still aren't able to go at full speed. Halfback Ike Stuver ran one play against New Mexico and injured his left ankle again. And Halfback Cal Steveson still is limping on a bruised knee. Quarterback Milton Rathbone threw his trick knee out of joint Saturday and probably will miss this week's game.

Henderson In Title Go Here

Lubbock will see a championship boxing match next month, when Bill Henderson, Levelland and Lubbock, meets Eddie Bertolino of Galveston for the lightweight crown of Texas Dec. 19 at Chapman fieldhouse.

At present there is no recognized lightweight champion, but Bertolino has been one of the top fighters in his class and was ranked number one in the state.

Henderson, who is fighting his way through college, has turned in an impressive string of victories since graduating from Golden Gloves competition, registering 29 victories in 31 professional fights. The young Texas Tech student has gained admirers all over the South Plains and in other parts of the state and is currently ranked third in the state.

Arrangements for the bout came after an exchange of telegrams, with final approval given by the state boxing commission. The contracts have been made and signed, and the fight is arranged.

Supporting the bout will be two six-round fights and a four-rounder. Heavyweight Gene James will appear in one of the six-rounders and Leonard Duncan in the other.

James has come through 14 professional fights without a loss and seems well on the way toward becoming one of the top heavies in this section of the country. Neither fighter for the four round battle has been picked, but indications are that the boys will be matched from down state, possibly Dallas.

Sponsoring the boxing card is the Lubbock High School Band, and some of the proceeds of the fight will go towards buying new

Santa Clara Gets Orange Bowl Nod

MIAMI, Nov. 22 (AP) — The University of Santa Clara football team, twice beaten and once tied, was named today to play in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2.

Santa Clara will be the first California team ever to play in the Orange Bowl and it will be the Coast eleven's third appearance in a major bowl. Santa Clara defeated Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans on Jan. 1, 1938 by a score of 6-0.

Santa Clara defeated Louisiana State, 21-14, in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans on Jan 1, 1937 and repeated the next year against the same team in the same bowl, 6-0.

Van C. Kussrow, chairman of the Orange Bowl schedule committee, said "It's definite. The president of the university, the Rev. William C. Gianera, and Coach Len Casanova, both agreed to come to Miami for our big game."

Choice of the Pacific Coast teams opponent hinged on the outcome of several games this weekend.

A possibility is a California vs. Florida affair.

Miami sports editors said that if the University of Miami beat strong Kentucky Friday night the Hurricanes might stand a chance of getting a bid.

Tulane was well liked generally, but it was thought to be a good Sugar Bowl prospect. Other teams mentioned were Kentucky—if they win Friday—Tennessee, and the loser of the Rice-Baylor game Saturday. The winner of that game goes to the Cotton Bowl.

Another consideration was money. Miami can offer only $75,000 to a bowl team while both the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans and the Cotton Bowl in Dallas offer $20,000 to $30,000 more.

Santa Clara was chosen quickly by the Orange Bowl committee after Kussrow reported on the Santa Clara-Oklahoma game which he scouted Saturday.

Undefeated Oklahoma won that one 28 to 21. Santa Clara's only other defeat was by California, the Pacific Coast champions, 21-7. The Broncos tied Stanford 7-7.

Southland Six-Man Gridders Turn Back Benjamin, 34 To 31

SOUTHLAND, Nov. 22 (Special)—Southland High school's six-man football team successfully turned back Benjamin here tonight 34-31 before a chilled crowd of 500 fans.

Southland's Eagles finished third in District 4-B play, while the losing Indians finished second in District 3-B. And for the first half, it looked as though the Indians would demonstrate why the teams finished as they did. Benjamin held a 25-20 lead.

But the Eagles roared back in the fourth quarter to score two touchdowns to Benjamin's one and walk off with the tilt.

Halfback Jackie Young scored 24 of Benjamin's points, with Fullback Bill Glenn getting the other seven. Fullback Gene Anderson rolled up 18 points for Southland, while Ends Horace Hitt and Burl Carey had six and two points respectively and Center Avery Moore scored eight.

SPUR STANDOUTS—These three all-district performers will lead Spur's Bulldogs against the Littlefield Wildcats at Littlefield Thursday afternoon when the two teams clash for the bi-district Class A grid championship. Left to right are Back Melvin Lindsey, 170; End Joe King, 165; and Back Clyde Blair, 140. Blair last week was chosen to the District 3-A all-star team for the second successive year. Lindsey was a second-team choice in 1948, and King received honorable mention. This season both joined Blair on the all-district eleven.

Kasaboski Meets Overhull Tonight

George Overhull, popular Amarillo wrestler, has finally advanced to the finals in Sled Allen's wrestling card, appearing tonight against Alex Kasaboski in the main go at the arena.

The match came out of last Wednesday's tag team match when Overhull and Kasaboski appeared on different teams. Some dispute arose between the two during that exhibition as to who was the better man, and this week some light may be cast on the matter since only the two wrestlers and not four will be in the ring at the same time.

The Russian will be out to teach the young upstart a thing or two about the wrestling game, and he is well versed in the art to be able to do just that. Overhull still resorts to tactics picked up in his football days and is an exponent of the flying tackle.

The semi-final event is two of three falls or a 45-minute limit betwen Andy Tremain and the Grey Mask, and this should develop into a rugged battle.

The Mask, an old timer, is tough and smart and in possession of all the off-color tricks of the trade. He will need to uncover a few more tricks against Tremain, who is in good physical condition and has the strength and stamina to put his best into a match. Last week Tremain used lots of speed and deception in giving the fans a good show.

In the first event, one fall or a 20-minute limit, are Salvador Flores and Herb Parks. Flores last week helped subdue the Mask and Kasaboski and is after a match with the Mask, but first he has to show Parks that he is ready for the man with the covered face. Parks was idle last week and will be trying to use Flores as a stepping-stone toward a final event.

Matches start at 8 p.m., and tickets may be bought today at the arena until 5 p.m. Tickets are also available at the gate. For reservations telephone 29221 or 28665.

The only thing sunny about the Sun Bowl this year is its name.

All bowl officials are having their troubles this season, what with the alarming scarcity of suitable teams, but it appears that the boys down El Paso way are even worse off than the others.

Consider, for example, the fate that befell their selection of a visiting team.

On Friday of last week, Georgetown university of Washington, D. C., accepted a bid to the Sun Bowl. At the time, the Hoyas had lost three games, but they were regarded as suitable timber because all these losses had been to top-notch teams—Maryland, Fordham and Villanova.

Georgetown, however, still had one game remaining on its regular slate. The opponent was lightly-regarded George Washington U., an inter-city rival with a record about as bright as a long-lost penny.

So what happened? You guessed it, pal—George Washington stomped the stuffing out of the Sun Bowl selection to win by 28-7 last Saturday.

This leaves the El Paso committee with a visiting team that has lost three of its last four starts by convincing margins.

The home front outlook isn't much better.

By custom, the Border conference champion is host team in the New Year's classic at El Paso.

Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons will scrap it out for top honors this week, and right now it's extremely doubtful that either would be interested in going to the Sun Bowl. In the first place, there isn't enough money at stake to make the bid attractive. Secondly, with oft-beaten Georgetown as an opponent, there certainly isn't much glory to be gained by either Tech or H-SU.

And if you dig much deeper than second place in the Border conference standings, you'll come up with a team that folks wouldn't walk across the street to see.

All of which brings us back to our starting point: The clouds are pretty heavy over the Sun Bowl.

W. L. Stangel, dean of Texas Tech's agriculture division tonight will be main speaker at a 40th anniversary reunion in Fort Worth of players who comprised North Side High school's first football squad in 1909. Stangel was both captain and coach of that first North Side crew which had only three or four substitutes and played without regular uniforms. Within five years, however, North Side captured its first state grid championship . . . Billy Sisson, the ex-Littlefield High guard, recovered three fumbles for McMurry's Indians against Southwestern last week as the two teams played to a 20-20 tie which gave McMurry its second straight Texas conference crown . . . Lubbock girls interested in playing independent basketball this winter will be assigned to teams in the newly-organized City's Women's league if they will call the City Recreation department, 9346 . . . Francis Saucier, catcher-outfielder for Wichita Falls in the Big State league, was baseball's top minor league batsmanin 1949. He clouted .446 in 96 games with the Spudders, and now will get a tryout with the St. Louis Browns next spring. Roberto Fernandez, of Abilene, was fifth among the nation's OB hitters with a .408 mark . . . Glenn McCarthy, the Houston oil millionaire, still seems determined to land a franchise in one of the pro grid circuits. In view of the fatness of McCarthy's wallet, the move probably isn't too far distant . . . A duplicate $100,000 contract for 1950 is awaiting Joe DiMaggio's signature, according to a Sporting News report.

Jay Haney Signs One-Year Contract To Pilot Lamesa

LAMESA, Nov. 22. (Special)—Jay Haney formally signed a one-year contract to manage the Lamesa Loboes for the second straight year at a meeting of club officials Monday night.

Dr. R. F. Nix, club director, said that Haney would receive "approximately the same salary" that he did last year when he piloted the Loboes into the playoffs in his managerial debut.

Arrangements were completed for Haney and Walter Buckel, former Lobo shortstop, to attend the annual winter meeting of the National Association, which will be held in Baltimore, Md., in December.

All-Southwest Eleven Named

BY CLAYT KAUFMAN
INS Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 22. — Baylor's Bears captured three of the 11 positions today in International News Service's All-Southwest Conference football team for 1949.

The remainder of the loop's members also placed players on the mythical eleven. Rice and Texas Christian had two men each and Southern Methodist, Texas, Arkansas and Texas A&M are represented by one selection each.

The mythical backfield has more than enough offensive and defensive talent to make any coach's heart flutter with happiness. Lining up in front of the dream quartet is a big, active line that averages more than 209 pounds a man from end-to-end.

Seniors took over eight of the eleven positions. Bobby Smith, Texas A&M back, is the lone sophomore while Tackle Harold Kilman of TCU and Guard Lewis (Bud) McFadin of Texas are juniors.

Four of the All-Conference players are repeaters from INS's 1948 team. They are backs Doak Walker of SMU and Lindy Berry of TCU, End Jimmy Williams of Rice and Guard Charlie Stone of Baylor.

Six of the seven Conference schools shared second-team laurels. Rice and SMU each have three placements; Texas, two; Baylor, TCU and Arkansas, one.

Here's how the International News Service All-Southwest Conference team for 1949 lines up:

FIRST TEAM

James Williams, Rice, end.
Harold Kilman, TCU, tackle.
Lewis McFadin, Texas, guard.
Joe Watson, Rice, center.
Charles Stone, Baylor, guard.
John Lunney, Arkansas, tackle.
J. D. Ison, Baylor, end.
Doak Walker, SMU, back.
Lindy Berry, TCU, back.
Adrian Burk, Baylor, back.
Robert Smith, Texas A and M, back.

SECOND TEAM

Robert Folsom, SMU, end.
Ralph Murphy, Rice, tackle.
Jack Halliday, SMU, guard.
Gerald Weatherly, Rice, center.
Theron Roberts, Arkansas, guard.
Rupert Wright, Baylor, tackle.
Morris Bailey, TCU, end.
Paul Campbell, Texas, back.
Kyle Rote, SMU, back.
Randall Clay, Texas, back.
Robert Lantrip, Rice, back.

Honorable Mention: Ends: Raleigh Blakely (SMU), Ben Procter (Texas); Robert Moorman (TCU); Tackles: Clarence Marable (TCU), Wesley Roberts (Baylor), William Wyman (Rice); Guards: Daniel Wolfe (Texas), Donald Mouser (Baylor), S. J. Roberts (Rice); Carl Molberg (Texas A&M); Centers: Richard Rowan Texas), Robert Griffin (Arkansas), Richard Hightower (SMU); Backs: Gordon Wyatt and Tobin Rote (Rice), Dick McKissack and I. D. Russell (SMU), Dudley Parker (Baylor, Robert Morton (TCU), Geno Mazzanti Arkansas).

Poll Appraisal Shows Notre Dame Champion Of Champions

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP) — Notre Dame is the "Champion of Champions" of modern day college football.

The Fighting Irish beat out Michigan for the No. 1 position in an appraisal today of all the Associated Press final polls since the feature was started in 1936.

The South Benders finished in the "first ten" in 11 of the 13 final standings and led three times to be recognized as the National Champion. Final poll of the 1949 season is scheduled next week.

They thus accumulated 67 points compared with 56 for the Wolverines who rated the top bracket nine times but on top only last year.

The same point system used in the weekly polls was employed to arrive at the all-time standings. Ten points were given for each first place, nine for second and so forth.

Minnesota, the scourge of the late '30s and early '40s, finished third. Army, which rode rampant during the war years was fourth.

Alabama and Tennessee, the one-time Bowl terrors, tied for fifth and sixth with 26 points, followed by Duke, Navy, Pittsburgh and Georgia in order.

The polls included those from 1936 through 1948 and did not take into consideration the present standings, which Notre Dame leads with a walloping vote.

Significantly, only three of the "All-timers" are holding their own nowadays. Army is second to Notre Dame in the latest weekly poll and Michigan holds down the fifth spot.

The Irish led the final poll in 1943, when Creighton Miller was the backfield spearhead, and in 1946-47, when rifle-armed Johnny Lujack was pulling the trigger.

Champions in other years were: 1937—Pittsburgh; 1938 — Texas Christian; 1939—Texas A. and M.; 1942—Ohio State., T.C.U. showed in only one of the 13 standings and that was its championship year.

The all-time poll standings figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first places in parentheses):

|---|---|
| 1—Notre Dame (3) | 67 |
| 2—Michigan (1) | 56 |
| 3—Minnesota (3) | 37 |
| 4—Army (2) | 34 |
| 5—6—Alabama & Tennessee | 26 |
| 7—Duke | 24 |
| 8—Navy | 23 |
| 9—Pittsburgh (1) | 21 |
| 10—Georgia | 20 |

The second ten — 11—12.Ohio State (1) and Southern California, each 19; 13. Texas A&M (1), 17; 14. California, 16; 15. Louisiana State, 15; 16—17. Iowa pre flight and Texas, each 14; 18-19-20. Fordham, West Virginia and Oklahoma, each 13.

RULES MEETING TO BE FEATURED

Record Enrollment Expected For Clarence Fox Basketball School

Registration in the Fourth Annual Clarence Fox Basketball school, scheduled for Sunday and Monday at Chapman Fieldhouse, has started and early returns indicate a record enrollment for area high school coaches and players.

Fox said yesterday that the first registrations returned showed 11 coaches, nine assistant coaches and 132 boys. They are from 11 South Plains cities and many more are expected to return their registrations in the next few days.

Rules Meet Set

Highlight of the school will be the official Border Conference rules meeting Sunday morning, coaching classes conducted Sunday and Monday by Coach Polk Robison of Texas Tech and Coach Gus Miller of West Texas State college, and an exhibition basketball game between the Red Raiders and Buffaloes Monday night.

Coaches interested in attending the free school, sponsored by the Sport Center of Lubbock, should return their registration immediately to Clarence Fox, care of the Sport Center, Lubbock. There is no limit to the number of coaches or players eligible to attend.

Coaches, Boys Sign Up

Signed up for the school so far are Faris Nowell of Brownfield, with two coaches and 25 boys; E. B. Braden of Lorenzo, with nine boys; C. W. Duke of Bula, with two coaches and 14 boys; L. S. Salser of Whiteface with one coach and 20 boys; Supt. Hickman, Smyer, with 12 boys; Jake Jacobs of Tahoka, with two coaches and 10 boys.

Also, Supt. Jackson and Coach Ausburn of Spade with 12 boys; Gano Tubbs of Levelland with two coaches and 15 boys; Coach Boatman of Ropesville, with 15 boys; and Royal Jones of Pecos.

TWINS SEEK FUNDS

SHERMAN, Nov. 22. (AP) — A community funds campaign for the Twins baseball team will begin at a breakfast meeting tomorrow. J. Tip Newell, Twins baseball club president, said more than $20,000 of the $50,000 needed for debt retirement and spring training already has been subscribed.

High Officials Pledge Backing For West Texas Water Projects

vociferous much beyond its size, which would have people believe that there was a mysterious threat in the reclamation law to the rights of the individual to use the project water. It seems particularly left-handed and disingenous to me that the people of the west should be asked to believe such rot.

"Propagandists apparently will distort anything to attempt to gain an end. Actually the reclamation law is the only federal water control amendment which directs that its program must be carried out under the state laws by which water rights are perfected.

Payments Are Explained

Answering a question by Amon Carter, toastmaster, Warne explain that the end of the repayment period for the project construction cost, beneficiaries of a project would pay only operating and maintenance costs and by act of Congress, title to the project could be vested by the federal government in the project users themselves.

Speaking specifically of the Canadian River project in the Panhandle-Plains area he said:

"Here is being developed a new type of project to meet a set of circumstances that is peculiar to the area. . . Acting on the request of the people of these 11 cities, we will if given Congressional authority, assume the responsibility of building this important project on a sound amortization plan which in the end will see the federal loan repaid by the municipalities as they use the impounded water."

Will Have Own Project

"The High Plains people will use federal funds for a few years, then they will have a wonderful, continuously useful project of their own," Warne said.

He pointed to the Canadian river project and repayment formula as a suggestion for other parts of West Texas.

Speaking of the federal government's benefits, rather the people of the nation as a whole. He pointed out that the Canadian River would not only be repaid but the guaranteed and increased prosperity of the Panhandle-South Plains cities would contribute to the national prosperity.

The question was raised at a press conference as to whether the construction of bureau projects would be postponed until WPA days or hard times return.

"That has not been the history of the bureau's work." he answered. "Dams and water projects have been built during all of the ups-and-downs of the country's economy."

Speaking of the non-high plains projects, he said each basin porject would be considered and acted upon on its own merit.

Cong. Mahon At Program

Congressmen Gene Worley and George Mahon sat at the speakers table.

Clarence Whiteside, Lubbock, chairman of the Canadian River Project organization, and Lawrence Hagy of Amarillo, chairman of the WTCC domestic water rights committee. Discussed the Canadian River dam project, tracing its development and emphasizing the need for early and co-operative action in getting a project of such magnitude started.

Whiteside and Hagy praised the effort of Texas members of Congress in obtaining passage of a bill in the House authorizing the $85 million Canadian river project, of which $27 million would be used for a dam and $58 million for conduits.

Accident Victim Is Identified At Lamesa

LAMESA, Nov. 22. (Special)—"Mr. X," the unknown man who died of a severe skull fracture shortly after 7 a.m. today in Lamesa General hospital here, where he had been a patient since early Saturday night, was identified tonight as Joe Gandy, 39-year-old cotton field worker of Dawson county.

Gandy, who had never regained consciousness since his arrival at the hospital, was identified by Maurice Lytle, area farmer, G. F. Shadluck, cotton picker on the Lytle farm; and J. O. Barfield, jr., local rancher.

Three Men Identity Body

The three came to the office of Dawson county Sheriff Roy King tonight to identify the mystery man and explain the cause of his death.

Lytle said that the man, who had been picking cotton at his farm about 20 miles southwest of Lamesa, had engaged in a fist-fight with another employe.

The men, after being separated by Barfield and Lytle, rode toward Lamesa in a pickup truck owned by Barfield. Gandy was seated in the bed of the truck, the men said, and about six miles from the farm fell out.

The men then stated they loaded Gandy into the cab of the truck and took him into Lamesa. Barfield said he stopped to report the accident to Fire Marshall Luther Standifer and then continued on to the hospital.

The men explained to King that they though the fire marshall would report the accident to the authorities. They said they know nothing of Gady's lack of identification or his condition until they read of his death in an afternoon newspaper today.

No Charges Filed

No charges have been filed against the men, King said, and they have been released. An inquest will be held Wednesday morning before Justice of the Peace D. M. Campbell.

Gandy is thought to have an ex-wife and daughter in Big Spring and a sister in Dallas. Efforts were being made late tonight to contact them. No one has claimed his body at the Higginbotham Funeral home here.

procedure.

Hallinan then moved for a mistrial and a stay of execution of the contempt sentence.

Hallinan said:

"I ask this stay of execution for the honor of the court."

Judge Harris replied:

"What I have done is for the honor of the court."

In support of his motion for a mistrial, which was denied, Hallinan attempted to file an affidavit with the court, elaborating previous charges that Judge Harris was motivated by "personal hatred and animus."

Prosecutor Donahue vigorously objected to filing of the affidavit as "scurrilous and scandalous."

Hallinan broke in upon Donohue's objection to insist upon filing the affidavit whereupon Judge Harris ruled:

"You will not file that affidavit in this court!"

Hallinan shouted: "Then I'll file it in the clerk's office."

The trial jurist at this juncture ordered:

"Mr. Hallinan you are remanded to custody."

Marshalls Seize Hallinan

Two U. S. marshals, acting as bailiffs, then seized Hallinan.

As the marshals were about to take Hallinan from the courtroom, Judge Harris halted them to permit the defense attorney to hear the plea of his client, Bridges, that Hallinan be permitted to continue as his attorney.

Throughout the morning session of the trial, with the jury excluded from the courtroom, Judge Harris exhaustively reviewed the transcript of the trial and cited numerous violations of his rulings by Hallinan.

Judge Harris, looking directly at the defense attorney, coldly declared:

"Mr. Hallinan was not bearing on contempt. He was contemptuous in every form and degree."

Bridges, the leader and storm center of the turbulent CIO Longshoremen and Warehousemen's union, is on trial for falsely stating under oath when he was naturalized in 1945 that he was not a member of the Communist party.

Two Aides On Trial

Two trusted aides who testified at the time to the same thing, Henry J. Schmidt and J. R. Robertson, are on trial with the 48-year old Australian-born labor leader.

The hectic morning session climaxed by Judge Harris' decision was followed by the appearance on the witness stand of John (Big John) Schomaker, former ILWU business agent and an admitted ex-Communist.

The government said Schomaker would testify he enrolled Bridges in the Communist party in 1933 or 1934.

The burly defense lawyer leaped to his feet at the conclusion of the jurist's statement and declared:

"I want to ask your honor to disqualify yourself You appeared as a witness against me in a case in California superior court in which I was sued for $10,000 and you have personal hatred and animus toward me."

Jurist Denies Charges

The jurist coldly denied the charge and all Hallinan's retaliatory motions.

Judge Harris denounced Hallinan for "inflammatory conduct in flaunting" his orders. Reading slowly through a statement he said he had "thought out carefully" last night, Judge Harris declared with solemn demeanor:

"There is an anomaly apparent throughout our country in that those who cry so earnestly for protection, seek to destroy judical process."

The jurist said it has become "apparent that unless prevented by judicial action," Hallinan would "run unbridled and roughshod over this trial."

Interruptions Cut Off

At one point, Hallinan attempted to make a motion but Judge Harris shot a fierce look at him and abruptly commanded the attorney:

"Will you stop interrupting me!"

The clash between attorney and judge began with Hallinan's opening statement in which he said the government's 125 witnesses were engaged in "a gigantic conspiracy" against Bridges.

The tension grew as Hallinan attempted to introduce portions of the record in the government's two previous attempts to prove Bridges a Communist into the present trial.

Hallinan insisted on taking this line of attack despite repeated warnings from the bench.

The government laid the foundation for its testimony from Schomaker, a husky six-foot-four ex-longshoreman, when he testified that he joined the Communist party in 1931.

Schomaker said he went to a school and then held various posts in the local chapter of the party.

P. G. Gregory, 65, Crosby Farmer, Claimed By Death

RALLS, Nov. 22 S(pecial) — P. G. Gregory, 65, a farmer in this vicinity for the past nine years, died at his home here about 11 a.m. today.

Time of the funeral services, which will be held in the Methodist church here, has not been set. Rev. W. R. Beaird, pastor of the church, will officiate.

presentative of the Bureau of Reclamation.

Harry Burleigh of Austin, state planning engineer for the Bureau of Reclamation, confirmed Mitchell's explanation. "However," he said, "we have barely started on our multiple city survey, and it will be 1952 before the data can be assembled in a presentable form."

He said the Canadian river project is several years ahead of the study that will affect Colorado City and other West Texas cities.

No Conflict Seen

"There is no possible conflict between the Canadian river dam on the High Plains and the West Texas program for reservoirs that will provide multiple city service," Burleigh said.

The purpose of the new water association, composed of the officers of the executive board of the WTCC, would be to provide a vehicular organization that would seek congressional recognition that providing adequate domestic and industrial water is a proper activity of the federal government—and that domestic (municipal) and industrial uses should have priority over irrigation, flood control, navagation and generation of electric power.

Opposition to the charter creating the association as an adjunct of the WTCC was voiced by J. B. Thomas of Fort Worth, president of Texas Electric and a director of the WTCC.

"It is not the function of the federal government to provide funds for such projects," Thomas said.

"I propose an amendment that permits the use of federal funds only if sound engineering reports develop that private capital can not finance such projects. It will not be long before municipalities will be asking for federal funds for sewage systems, city garbage collection and tax collection services."

A director pointed out that the Texas cities are asking for loans, not gifts or grants.

"I'm of the opinion," Thomas replied, "that loans are the function of private enterprise. Why should a city have a better right to borrow than its citizens, including barbers, beauty parlor operators and other small business people?"

Clarence Whiteside of Lubbock, chairman of the Canadian river water users group, said that there was no mention of the type of financing in the proposed charter—that he did not see any point of "prohibiting something that isn't there."

Frederick G. Harmon of Deleon cautioned that the group had as their guest assistant secretary of the interior.

"We are cast in the role of inviting these government officials dowkn here and then voting to refuse what they have to offer," the director from DeLeon said. He also added that Kaiser-Frazer, a private company, has already accepted and received $26 million loan from the RFC, a federal agency.

Another director said that most cities are too heavily bonded now to finance a water program by voting more bonds.

B. A. Bandeen took exception to the utility company executive's statement by citing the case of the Canadian river dam.

"It is not a money spending device," he declared. "Never has a formula been presented that a government could get more in return for its money than the Canadian river dam as it is presently conceived."

When the vote came on the creation of the West Texas water association, it carried without voiced opposition.

The WTCC program advocates the multi-city dam system in West Texas—the building of several large dams, each serving several cities.

WTCC officers elected in addition to Willson as president were B. P. Bludworth of Brownwood, Frank H. Kelley of Colorado City and Homer D. Grant of Lubbock, vice presidents; Ed S. Stewart of Abilene, treasurer; and D. A. Bandeen of Abilene, general manager.

The same men will head the WTDWA with Grant as president; Kelley, Bludworth and Willson as vice presidents; Stewart treasurer and Bandeen, general manager.

District directors elected were Roy B. Bourland, Pampa; Henry Teubol, Tulia; A. B. Taff, Childress; J. Holford Russell, Denton; Frank S. Roberts, Breckenridge; Charnell Jobe, Lamesa; J. L. Pinkerton, Monahans; R. M. Hawkins, Alpine; E. L. Buelow, San Angelo and John C. Grammer, Coleman.

J. A. Syfrett Will Observe His 100th Birthday Today

A 100th birthday celebration will be held for J. A. Syfrett of 308 Uvalde today at the home.

Two sons and three daughters are in Lubbock to spend his birthday with him.

An open house for friends of Mr. Syfrett will be held from 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon at the home. A birthday cake with 100 candles will be served.

Mr. Syfrett is the oldest member of Calvary Baptist church and was recognized in in the service at that church Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. C. J. McCarty, presented him with a gift on behalf of the church.

Sons and daughters present for the birthday celebration are Mrs. Robert Graham of Florence, Ariz., R. W. Syfrett of Bakersfield, Calif., Mrs. Julia Alexander of Turlock, Calif., Mrs. O. V. Mayben of Denver City, and A. L. Syfrett, with whom J. A. Syfrett lives.

Mr. Syfrett came to the Plains in 1895 and lived in Hale Center. He moved to Turlock, Calif., and lived there seven years, then moved to Lubbock about 25 years ago.

His wife died in 1921.

Death Victim Named As Roy L. Purdue

Death by suffocation and burning was the verdict handed down by Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn Tuesday in the Monday night death of Roy Loyd Purdue, of Lubbock.

Purdue's body was found by firemen who extinguished a blaze in a railroad culvert near Fifteenth and Ave A about 10 p. m. Monday.

Relatives said Tuesday the body had been shipped to Mineola, the man's former home, for burial.

OFFICIAL RECALLS EARLIER STANDARD OIL COMPANY

According to the Associated Press an assistant vice president of the company, Henry Scudder, said in Vienna the Vogeler case "follows the exact pattern of the Standard Oil company men last year." He implied the aim of the Communist government was to take over company properties.

Paul Ruedemann and George Bannantine, American representatives of Standard, were arrested by Hungarian secret police Sept. 18, 1948, and expelled a week later after signing statements saying they were guilty of sabotage in the Lespe oil fields. The two subsequently told reporters they signed the statements under pressure which included questioning for 24 hours at a stretch.

Lubbock Telephone Group To Set Up Own Organization

Traffic department employes of the local telephone company who are affiliated with Communication Workers Local No. 2,000 of Abilene, last night voted to form their own local with headquarters in Lubbock.

Approximately 51 persons were present for the balloting and to hear Mrs. Blanche McCallum, steward of the local group, review the highlights of a recent convention of Southwestern Bell Telephone representatives in San Antonio.

The plant and commercial departments of the company are expected to follow the traffic department in the new organization maneuver. The plant department will meet tonight to consider the proposal. The commercial department has not yet set a dste to meet.

Verdict Near In Ward Case

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The case of U. S. Consul General Angue Ward, jailed by the Chinese Communists, approached a climax today with disclosure that a Red court is about to pronounce judgment on him.

Across the U. S. rose angry demands for two-fisted American action to force the liberation of Ward, paced by American Legion insistence that the U. S. move immediately.

Ward has been imprisoned a month on charges of assaulting a Chinese worker. U. S. government demands for his release have been ignored.

An announcement that a verdict may be expected shortly was broadcast by the Mukden radio on the heels of efforts by Secretary of State Acheson to mobilize worldwide support for his efforts to secure Ward's liberation.

Turkey Dinner

one local grocery and $6.97 in another.

Neither of the above sets of figures includes coffee. Quite possibly if that item were added into the totals, this year's Thanksgiving dinner would be as expensive—or perhaps more so—than last year's.

Last Thanksgiving coffee was around 49 cents per pound; this year it's almost 30 cents higher in most stores.

Nor do the 1948 and 1949 totals include such items as flour, shortening, salt or spices, which most housewives likely already have on their kitchen shelves.

Understandably, the largest single cost for the meal will be the turkey. For this mythical family of four, faculty members of the foods and nutrition department at Texas Tech recommend that only half of a 10-pound gobbler be bought. At prevailing prices, a five-pounder will cost around $3.25, or slightly less than last year. The cost last year was around $ 3.35.

Other food items needed to complete the suggested menu are: One avacado, six eggs, one onion, one green pepper, one pound of cranberries, two grapefruit, one stalk of celery, a small bottle of French dressing, box of frozen broccoli, one quart of milk, two medium-sized sweet potatoes, one apple, one box of brown sugar, one lemon, one box of plain gelatin, one can of pumpkin, one pound of sugar, and a half-pint of whipping cream.

Now all you need is the cook . . .

GOP Solon's Blast

to farmers.

The Senator said that no one knows what the Brannan program would cost but added that a conservative estimate seems to be six or seven billion dollars annually. He declared that many Americans seem to forget that what the government would pay out in food subsidies would have to come out of taxpayers' pockets.

He charged that the Brannan plan would bring American agriculture completely under the "tent of federal regimentation." He supports the Aiken flexible farm price support program.

In discussing the GOP political outlook Ives took a jab at some in his own party. He said:

"We have a job on our hands to educate a great many Republicans to provide answers to problems that are confronting the country. We can't just say 'No, no, no, we are agin it' when there is a crying need for a solution to major problems."

Ives proposed that Congress at its next session slash federal spending by $5 billion. Even this large a cut, he said probably would not get the government entirely out of the red.

HST MAKES NEW PLEA FOR ECONOMIC PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (INS)—President Truman declared today that the world will take a "significant" stride toward lasting peace if the earth's hungry peoples get enough to eat.

The President told a conference of the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization that one of the world's most vital tasks is to boost its food supply.

He coupled his statement with an implied appeal for congressional approval of his "bold new plan" of lending American know-how and capital to aid in development of economically backward world areas.

The President said that the job of seeing that people everywhere are fed adequately "is central to the whole broad effort to raise living standards and achieve greater freedom for all mankind." He asserted:

"All the work of the United Nations and its many associated organizations is important in building a peaceful world, but none is of more significance than yours.

"If by working together in this organization, we can create an abundance of food for all countries, we shall bring better health, longer lives and greater happiness to mankind everywhere."

Dallas Man Injured When Motorcycle Collides With Truck

Billy McPherson,22, of Dallas was slightly hurt when his motorcycle was in collision with a wrecker truck driven by Paul Slayton,17, of 3211 Walnut, at the intersection of Nineteenth and Ave. P shortly before 3 p.m. Tuesday. The injured man was treated at the nearby Veterans Administration clinic for numerous contusions of the arms and legs. Police said the accident occurred as Slayton was attempting a north turn from Nineteenth onto Ave. P, the motorcycle colliding with the left front fender of the truck. Both vehicles were traveling east.

Only routine business is scheduled for the consideration of the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission in the city hall this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, City Manager Steve Matthews said Tuesday. The meeting will be held a day earlier than usual because of Thanksgiving.

Coleta's Ebony Rocket, a Cocker champion under American Kennel club championship rules, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Paschall of Lubbock, was judged best black Cocker in the all-breed dog show held in San Antonio Sunday under auspices of the San Antonio Kennel club. The dog also was judged second in the sporting group. A total of 395 dogs was entered. The show was held in the new Bexar county coliseum. It was the last point show to be held in Texas until next spring.

A car blaze in the 3300-block Ave. J at 2:35 p.m., Tuesday was extinguished by the city fire department. The fire was caused by a cigaret lighter dropped on the seat of the vehicle, firemen said.

A Texas Tech student, Eddie Humphreys, complained to police Tuesday that a black canvas bag containing clothing valued at $90 had been taken from the luggage rack of a car packed in the vicinity of Nineteenth and Ave. Q.

Choir School Ends With Presentation Of Public Program

The first Choir School to be held in Lubbock was successfully concluded last night with a public program held in First Christian church. The school has been sponsored by the American Guild of Organists and has been directed by Cecil Lapo, minister of music of First Methodist church in Wichita Falls.

Participating in last night's program were over 100 members of the combined choirs of Lubbock churches. They were directed in a number of anthems by Mr. Lapo. Accompanist for singing of the anthems was Mrs. Ernest E. Wilpitz, organist at First Christian church.

Robert Scoggin of Lubbock, a student at Hardin college in Wichita Falls, accompanied the congregation in hymn singing and played the organ offertory.

The organ prelude was played by Rev. Lowell Green, Lutheran minister at Posey.

Rev. Travis A. White, pastor of First Christian church, introduced Mr. Lapo, who spoke on "Music in the Church." He said that a choir, its director, and the organist can "make" or "break" a worship service for a minister. He declared that a voluntary choir should feel a responsibility to God and to the church service. On the other hand, he pointed out, the church congregation should take note and express appreciation for music in the worship service.

Mr. Lapo sang "Journey's End" (Foster) as a special number. He was accompanied by Mrs. Nita Aiken, organist in the Wichita Falls Methodist church for the past 31 years.

The invocation was asked by Rev. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of St. John's Methodist church. Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, gave the benediction.

Choir clinic periods were held Tuesday morning and afternoon in conjunction with the Choir school, at which choir members, director, and organists discussed the various phases and problems of their work. Mr. Lapo also spoke.

Boy Found Alive

woman.

The plane which disappeared Sunday night was found wrecked about 25 miles southwest of Oslo in the mountainous foothills.

By nightfall nearly all the bodies had been removed to a big barn at a nearby farm, and laid out in rows in a temporary morgue.

Physicians and rescue workers were amazed at the escape of Isaac, who even tried to dance a little jig and who threw his arms around one of his rescuers. The shivering boy, talking excitedly, was wrapped in a big coat and taken to Drammen hospital.

He told Gaby Banon, a guardian and interpreter, that "I felt a shock, a crash, and then found myself alone."

Banon said the boy was "very tired, but his health was good. He doesn't seem to be afraid now."

Doctors said Isaac apparently was not depressed or suffering from shock, and even asked, "when can I go to school?"

He will be kept in the hospital for several days until a complete examination is made, then sent to the Grefsrud children's colony at Holmestrand to join other Jewish refugee children.

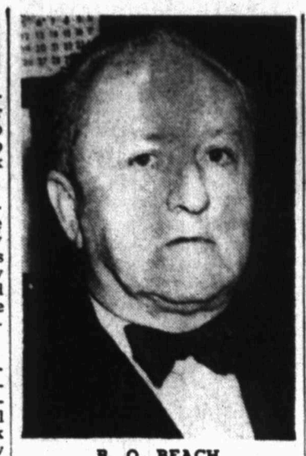

The plane's disappearance touched off a search by at least 11,500 persons on the ground and by airmen from Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland.

Rescuers following its course in a fog by the aid of scattered bits of wreckage came upon the partly-burned fuselage of the plane near the village of Filtvet. This is on the western side of the Oslo fjord, the bay leading to Oslo.

The first man on the scene Hildinj Martinsen, a factory worker in Filtvet, said at first there was only "dead silence and a scene of desolation in the deep forest—but a few moments later we heard a weeping child."

Martinsen and others then found little Isaac, wedged between two seats, and covered with mud and oil.

"I hope never to see such a sight again," said Martinsen, "all those bodies of the kids."

Official Of Cotton Firm Visitor Here

R. O. Beach, manager of the George H. McFadden and Bros. cotton firm of Houston, is in Lubbock today to obtain first hand information on this year's cotton production in the area.

Beach is a principal partner in the Houston firm, established in 1862, and which now is one of the largest cotton firms in the world. He arrived Tuesday and plans to return to Houston sometime today.

He was guest of honor at a small dinner at the Lubbock Country club Tuesday night. Hosts were George W. and J. R. Cochran, and Walter "Red" Vandiver, of Cochran Brothers of Lubbock; and Jere B. Booth, local agent for the McFadden firm.

Beach, who has been with the firm since 1908, said the increased volume of business coming from this area made necessary a special visit to Lubbock, and he decided to come up to acquaint himself more fully with the situation here.

"I am most impressed by the rapid and steady growth of Lubbock since my last visit here," he commented.

demand was firm and wages constant, and that declines evidenced earlier were reversed in August and September.

Personal income dropped from an annual rate of $212.5 billion in the second quarter to $210.5 billion in the third.

Eccles declared the Federal Reserve board is powerless to curb inflation because government bonds have to be purchased to support their price.

He said that if the reserve system must do this it should have power to impose reserve requirements on state banks that are not federal reserve members as an inflationary brake. Reserve requirements now are imposed only on federal reserve member banks.

or it might be paid from profits by employers or it could "be raised by a transaction tax as proposed in the Townsend plan."

No matter what method is used, Taft said that the costs "are usually passed on to the consumer in the price of the finished product."

"The question we are to face is whether our economy can afford that tremendous burden without deterring industry as well as the worker and reducing too much of the worker's standard of living," he said.

Took Keys From Car

Then, the youth said, the unidentified man pulled a gun and told the younger pair to "head back to town." After removing the keys from the boys' car,

The youth said the car keys were later recovered at the Ave. F store, and another agreement made whereby he and Copeland would share in the proceeds from the sale of the whisky if they would not mention the hijacking.

Big Spring Chief of Police Pete Green last night told Avalanche newsmen burglary charges filed against the pair there followed an investigation of the theft of 14 cases of whisky from a Big Spring liquor store early Nov. 4.

Checked Car Tracks

Green said Copeland and the youth had been questioned by police there after they were found loitering in the vicinity of the store. When the burglary came to light later in the day, tire tracks allegedly left by the car driven by the youths were compared with tracks found near a broken window at the rear of the store. The tracks checked, Green said, and warrants for the pair were issued.

Copeland was charged here only Monday with burglary of the Lone Star Ceramics house at 405 Ave. V.

A member of Moore's Bonded patrol, seeing a man inside the store Saturday night, kicked in a door of the building to arrest the intruder who, with a companion previously unnoticed by the patrolman, fled through a rear door.

A car traced to Copeland was found parked across the street from the store, and Copeland was arrested a short time later.

The charge against Rhoderick was signed by Deputy Sheriff Earl Horton before Pharr. Bond was set by Robertson at $3,000.

Germans Concerned With Basic Problems Of Life; Political Apathy Follows In Wake Of War Losses

By SEYMOUR BERKSON
General Manager INS

FRANKFURT—Four and a half years after Germany's defeat, life is still far from normal for the populace of this bomb-battered city and others like it in the new republic of Western Germany.

Food has become more plentiful than during the desperately lean times immediately following the German surrender.

Frankfurt's shop windows for the first time since the war are displaying appetizing foodstuffs and there is even a trickle of other commodities coming on to the market.

But this has been partially due to U. S. occupation forces and their families who buy what they wish in the German stores and exchange dollars for German currency for this purpose.

Prices Beyond Reach

Very few ordinary German families can afford the inflated prices; German black marketeers — the nation's current "nouveau riche" class—are the principal native customers for luxury items.

The disclocation of prices in relation to salaries and wages, coupled with critical scarcity of jobs, has created a postwar economic crisis of severe proportions in Western Germany today.

Amid the gaping skeletons of Frankfurt's many bombed buildings, mute reminders of the horrors of war, the people are still trying to pick up the threads of their existence and piece them together again.

It isn't easy and their faces show it.

Laughter Seldom Heard

There is little laughter or gaiety —and rarely a smile—among the Germans of Frankfurt today.

They go about their business (if they are lucky enough to have any) in sort of a depressed daze, the faces of most of them like expressionless grey masks with haunted eyes that never seem to focus directly on the things or people in front of them.

Over all, one senses the kind of cynical lethargy born of despair.

Even the establishment of the new republic in Western Germany, with the first German government since the end of the war, has failed to arouse much enthusiasm among the rank and file of the people.

We will wait and see, they seem to say, if any real good comes of this new government.

Future Seems Bleak

They seem to have little hope or confidence in the future: if it is true that they are in a transition period between Nazism and democracy, then it appears equally true that they are largely confused by the process.

I sensed this during the very first contacts I had with Germans in Frankfurt and Berlin; but it was the more forcefully evident when I actually visited and interviewed a typical German middle class family in their home at No. 20 Pflugstrasse, Ginnheim — a suburb of Frankfurt.

Rudolf Weber, the head of the family, is 58, a quiet, soft-spoken man with silver hair, whose lined face bespeaks years of worry and hardship.

Wife Has Ideas

Herr Weber's wife, Barbara, 56, is a typical German hausfrau except that she has a few solid political ideas of her own about what's wrong with Germany and the world.

They have one son, Paul, 21, who speaks English quite well and served as an interpreter and aide for the U. S. Army after it first entered Frankfurt. He is now studying business administration at Frankfurt's Goethe university.

Mrs. Weber was married before but her first husband was killed in World War I and her only son by that marriage was killed in the second world war.

The Webers live in a modest stucco house which they built with their life savings in 1937. It was the most fortunate investment they ever made for without it their condition in bomb-ravaged Frankfurt would be even more precarious.

House Partially Leased

As it is, they are allowed to occupy only 2½ rooms of the house. The rest is sub-let under a compulsory decree to ease the housing shortage.

The Weber's home is neatly but modestly furnished with old-fashioned furniture of the 1900 vintage. They have a small vegetable and fruit garden in back of the house and this is a great help in these difficult times.

Papa Weber is a commercial clerk for a German metal company. His salary amounts to 460 marks (about $110) per month. Ordinarily this would be enough in Germany to get along fairly comfortably on a normal middle class standard of living.

Taxes Deplete Wages

But out of Papa Weber's 460 marks a month, he must pay 80 for income tax and social security —and the rest will scarcely cover the barest necessities of life for the Weber family.

The Webers' son, Paul, contributes a few marks by part-time work and also earns his tuition at college by belonging to the Goethe university's "quick service," an organization which helps students in reduced circumstances to find odd jobs.

About the only thing I saw in the Weber home that might be considered a luxury was a radio. I learned, however, that it was 20 years old, and not in very good condition, but to get a new one would cost at least 200 marks and that would be one-half a month's salary for Papa Weber.

Two Bicycles Used

The Webers have no telephone and no automobile. Their only means of transportation to and from town are two bicycles which Papa Weber and his son use.

Frau Weber does her shopping in the neighborhood and rarely goes to downtown Frankfurt. She does her own housework. Her son helps with the washing (there is no washing machine). And Papa Weber takes care of the garden.

Food and clothing are major problems in the Weber household.

There is still strict rationing of meat, fat, sugar, bread and flour—but the real problem is that even the available foodstuffs on the market are frightfully high priced for the Weber pocketbook.

Meat Supply Is Scarce

Technically, they are allowed to have meat twice a week—if they can spare the money to buy it.

Here is a typical day's menu in the Weber home:

Breakfast—Bread, butter, marmalade, German ersatz coffee.

Lunch—Soup, potatoes, green vegetables. (On one weekday they usually have a few slices of roast meat.)

Dinner—Left - overs from the noon meal, or if none, sandwiches and tea.

Since the currency reform in Germany, prices have risen at least 30 per cent and in some cases much more. Papa Weber's salary, however, has remained stationary.

As a result, the Webers find that all their money goes for food, gas, and electricity.

Living Cost High

The cost of living is so high, it is almost impossible to buy clothing, shoes, household goods or other badly needed items.

This is a major problem as most of their clothing is old and worn out, there having been no replacements available during the war. A man's shirt, for example, that used to cost 10 marks ($2.50) now costs about 20 marks ($5.)

Also, their house needs some repairs due to damages suffered during the bombardments of Frankfurt—but these, too, have had to be postponed for "better times."

The only recreation the Webers have nowadays aside from listening to the radio and reading is a trip to the movies once a month, an occasional concert, which is about the least expensive form of entertainment in Frankfurt, and Papa Weber's chess game once a week with a small group of friends.

Frau Rules Roost

While Papa Weber produces the major income for the family, it is easy to see that Frau Weber rules the roost. During my visit, she acted as the principal spokesman for the family.

"Our life is hard and sometimes we wonder what will happen to us next, but we do the best we can on what we have and try not to complain," she told me during my visit with the Weber family.

"It is all a question of money and the cost of living. When one has enough money to buy the things one needs, there are no serious problems."

The Webers are keenly aware of the fact that in some ways their present depressed standard of living is even higher than that of a similar middle class family in England—a paradox since the present - day economic problems of Europe grow out of the war Germany lost and England won.

Marshall Aid Realized

They are also aware of the fact that they probably would not be able to buy bread today if it were not for the Marshall plan aid given to Germany in recent months. But the Webers feel that Germany cannot count on such aid for long.

"Somehow, we must find a way to get on our own feet," Mrs. Weber said. "We cannot expect others to take care of us."

Mrs. Weber and her husband both expressed the fear that the growing tension between Russia and America may bring another war and that they might lose their only son just as Mrs. Weber lost her eldest son in the last war.

The Webers are not the kind of Germans who formed the bulwark of Nazi militarism.

Nazi Party Denounced

They are devout Catholics, they were never adherents of the Nazi party, and they openly detest anything it stood for—most of all war.

Mrs. Weber remarked that she recently saw the Hollywood movie "The Five Sullivans" about the five American brothers who lost their lives in action with the U. S. armed forces in World War II.

"Having lost my own eldest son in action in the same war," she said, "I know how the mother of the five Sullivan heroes must have felt when she learned of their death. Mothers, no matter of what nationality, are always the ones who pay the dearest price in any war."

The Weber family is as confused as most other German families about the new republic and the democratic principles which have been introduced with its establishment.

Purpose In Doubt

They wonder whether it is merely a puppet of the occupation forces or whether it will really try to do something about the high cost of living.

Like most devout Catholics in Germany today, the Webers favor the Christian Democrat party—which is the majority party in power—but they are not very certain of their own role as citizens of the new democratic republic; they are still somewhat confused about the democratic processes of government.

Their son, Paul, a tall, fine looking young man with a quick intelligence, said he would like to go into politics but he does not see how he can do this and still help to support his family.

He pointed out that persons who hold government jobs in Germany are forbidden to engage in any political activity and thus the procedure usualy followed in America would not apply.

Political Activity Dangerous

As to participating in political party activities during the spare time while working for a commercial firm, Paul made this significant comment:

"This would be a dangerous thing to do in Germany if your politics happened not to correspond to the beliefs of your employer. You would probably be out of a job."

That remark and the fear it implies demonstrates how far the Germans still have to travel before Democratic processes as we know them will take a firm hold.

It also demonstrates the feeling of defeatism and depression that has gripped the younger as well as the older generation of Germans today.

Their main thoughts—and this was emphasized ever so clearly by the Webers—are not of politics or democracy for the moment but of the basic necessities of life: food, clothing, and security.

Hawkins May Go To Trial Soon For Oklahoma's Slaying

JERSEYVILLE, Ill., Nov. 22. (AP) —Leonard Hawkins may go to trial early in January for the slaying of Albert E. Clark of Boise City, Okla., on Oct. 5.

Clark's body was found in a country lane near here, and Hawkins was subject of an intensive hunt.

Opening Opera In Chicago

Conductor Prefers America To Life In Japan, Germany

BY JOE RAITI
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—A famed conductor who was driven from the concert halls by dictators on two continents is set today for his Chicago opera opening secure in the belief that "it can't happen here."

Joseph Rosenstock, now an American citizen, said he feels he has found a home after 12 years of living as a man without a country.

An Austrian Jew by birth, he is completing his second season with the New York City Opera company which opens its Chicago stand tomorrow night with a representation of "Der Rosenkavalker."

Rosenstock plans to remain in the U.S. to carry on his musical work. But his future was not always so secure as it now appears. His progress as a musical conductor came to an abrupt halt in 1936.

At that time he was living in Germany and was hounded out of the musical business by the secret police of Adolph Hitler, who issued orders that he must stop conducting and teaching.

The Austrian musician managed to continue his work, however, by accepting an offer to conduct in Japan, where he found a competent orchestra and a public eager for its musical programs.

When the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor in 1941, Rosenstock was confined to a hut in a small village a 100 miles from Tokyo.

He later discovered that actually he had been placed on the secret police list of persons to be liquidated, but apparently friends had interceded in his behalf. The discomforts of the war years, however, left much to be desired.

The New York Opera company director said his ration consisted of one small piece of bread daily. Rosenstock added:

"And of course there was no music. I spent my time growing vegetables and chopping down trees for firewood. Sometimes I was barely alive."

Rosenstock said the Japs' incredible sense of duty was responsible for their being so difficult to defeat and so tough on the field of combat during World War II. He said they "will undergo fantastic torture to do what they think they must do."

He added that he will never make anything but a guest appearance in Japan, but he reaffirmed his faith in the U.S. by stating:

"In two lands I have been imprisoned and driven out. I know that will never happen here."

Lubbock Girl Scout Troop Gathers, Mends Toys For Children; Program Is Conducted

Beginning early to think of Christmas, Girl Scouts in troop 16 have been collecting and mending discarded toys to give to needy children at Christmas and also have been selling Christmas cards.

Proceeds from sale of Christmas cards were used to finance the troop's eighth annual Thanksgiving dinner held Saturday night at Pioneer Memorial Methodist church at 2619 N. Fourth and also will be used to finance a Christmas party in December and to register members of the troop.

Girl Scout troop 16 is composed of girls in McWhorter school district. The girls planned the dinner held Saturday night, arranged decorations and prepared food served.

Guests Are Named

Barbara Morris had charge of the program. Co-hostesses were Nancy Cox and June Oden. Assistant hostesses were Melba Caldwell, Viva Wolf, La Jean Haddock, Mary Ray, Martha Merle Whittaker and Zoe Morris. Girls who served were Janice Ayers, Patsy Patterson, Nancy Doughit and Marilyn Morris.

Twenty-four girls and three leaders, Mesdames C. C. Heatley, Verne Morris and John Frentress, were present. Another leader, Mrs. Lee Heatley, was unable to attend. Troop committee members present were Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Minor, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Housouer and John Frentress. Guests included Rev. and Mrs. J. Alvis Cooley, Burritt S. Mills and Carl Bailey, principal of Carroll Thompson Junior High school who spoke to the group following dinner.

Program Outlined

Decorations included the American flag and a troop 16 flag and a centerpiece arranged for the troop by Mrs. John Powers. A trail-finding theme was used.

The program included: Invocation, Rev. Mr. Cooley; history of troop 16, Earlene Dixon; poem, Sherry Hendrix; "Al-ou-et-te," song by Nancy Cox, Barbara Morris, June Oden, Joan McCreary and Leona Burton; speech, Principal Bailey; group singing, led by Nancy Cox, June Oden, Leona Burton; presentation awards, Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Heatley, and benediction, Minor.

Twelve girls received their foot traveler badge and out-door cook badge. They were Zoe Morris, June Oden, Queenelle Harper, Martha Merle Whittaker, Barbara Morris, Leona Burton, Melba Caldwell, Nancy Cox, Mary Ray, Earlene Dixon, Ivan McCreary and Marilyn Morris.

Gift To Church

Receiving second class badges were Janice Ayers, Patsy Patterson, Sherry Hendrix and Dorothy Walters.

Mrs. Morris, Barbara Morris and Nancy Cox received five-year pins.

The troop presented a $10 gift to Rev. and Mr. Cooley for use in Pioneer Memorial Methodist church. The group meets weekly at the church.

East Texas State College Campus To Be Remodeled

DALLAS, Nov. 22. (AP) — The campus will be remodeled at East Texas State Teachers college at Commerce.

Plans for five new structures, a lake on the campus and a new entrance were discussed today in Dallas.

The college board of regents, Architect George Dahl, and George W. Kibler, faculty construction superintendent, met to plan the work.

The project includes a new library, an industrial education building, a fine arts building, a music building and an outdoor amphitheater.

Cyprus' big mutton industry is in the doldrums, owing to lack of British demand.

PLAN WOULD AID MILL OPERATORS

Certification Of Lint Quality Of Cotton May Be Recommended

A certification ofthe lint quality in bales of cotton may be recommended by the International Crop Improvement association at its 31st annual meeting in Kansas City Dec. 7-9, Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department at Texas Tech and state director of the association, said Tuesday.

Growing demands for such a grading and certification have been heard, Dr. Young said, indicating it is quite possible the convention might study recommendations along such a line. The ICIA is represented in over three-fourths of the United States and is headed by F. G. Parsons of California.

Would Aid Farmers

Dr. Young pointed out that certification of the lint quality in freshly ginned bales would materially aid those farmers turning out a finer lint grade of cotton in that mill operators have their machines gauged for specific coarseness and would naturally prefer cotton certified at that coarseness.

Current markings as to staple and grade are not enough to determine the actual spinning quality of cotton, the ICIA director stated, since two bales with the same staple and grade might vary greatly as to coarseness.

Dr. Young himself is chairman of the sorghums committee of the ICIA and also serves on three other important policy-making groups. Commodity committees within the organization are striving for "standardization of standards" for certified seeds and agricultural products in all states, he said.

Machinery Increase Seen

On the subject of cotton, the Tech plant industry head expressed belief that the mechanical cotton picker will soon almost entirely replace the conventional method.

"A farmer owning his own mechanical picker can harvest a crop nearly three-fourths as cheap as otherwise," he said. He declared that the college itself is paying only about one-third as much to hire a mechanical picker as it would have to pay laborers to gather its 55 acres.

Any farmer planting as little as 100 acres of cotton or less each year could probably profit by buying a mechanical picker, Dr. Young stated. He said this would be particularly true as soon as new devices making possible the separation of green and open boles were perfected. Machines even now are doing that, he said, piling the green boles for future opening and harvest.

Conditions Favored

Dr. Young also pointed out that the South Plains region is particularly adaptable to mechanical harvesting since the hazard of rain and wasted cotton is considerably lower here than in other regions. No storm-proof seeds have yet been perfected capable of stopping losses in such rainy areas as East Texas, he said.

The Tech professor will leave Dec. 3 for the Kansas City meeting, since he must be there for executive meetings on Dec. 5. Other Texans who are members of the association include C. B. Godbey, head of the department of genetics at Texas A. and M.; M. D. Lacy, chief inspector for the state department of agriculture; Dr. R. D. Lewis, director of the Texas agricultural experiment station; and R. V. Miller, chief of the division of field seed certification in Texas.

Dr. Young will speak to the assembly on Dec. 9, bringing forth any recommendations which may be decided by the sorghums committee.

Los Angeles Fights Postal Smear Attacks

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22. (AP).—This king-size community is battling today to defend its fair name of the City of the Angels.

The chamber of commerce and city council have daubed on their sun-tanned, smog-tinged warpaint and fired a salvo of statements. Their target is a postcard smear campaign which has been telling chambers of commerce throughout the nation that Los Angeles is crime-infested and a good place to stay away from.

Mailed from San Diego about Nov. 13, the printed, hand-addressed cards claim that "law and order no longer exist in . . . Los Angeles," that "innocent citizens and helpless tourists are held up, searched, robbed and thrown into filthy, overcrowded jails." The cards recommend that tourists keep away from Los Angeles.

The cards were mailed in the name of the "public relations committee of the Los Angeles Citizens Safety council in cooperation with the National Tourists and Travelers association."

Harold W. Wright, general manager of the Los Angeles chamber, labeled the cards "utter balderdash" and said neither organization is known as a bona fide one here.

The city council, in a resolution, blamed politics. That irate body said it is reasonable to assume that the same groups which failed to defeat Mayor Fletcher Bowron at the polls "are at work to destroy the present administration, regardless of the shame and economic loss they bring the citizens and taxpayers."

The resolution asked the Federal Bureau of Investigation and postal authorities to look into the matter.

Texas Tech Crop Judging Team Takes Second In Kansas City

The Texas Tech crop judging team placed second in the Intercollegiate Crop Judging contest held in Kansas City Tuesday, according to word received last night by Dr. A. W. Young, head of the department of plant industry in the Tech agriculture division.

First place winner in the contest was the Oklahoma A&M team. University of Nebraska placed third.

For the entire contest, the Tech team amassed a total of 5,053.6 points out of a possible 5,400 points. The contest was in three divisions —identification, judging and commercial grading.

First In One Division

In the identification phase of the contest, the Tech team placed first. Marion Baumgardner, one of the members of the team, made a perfect score in this division with 600 out of 600 points. Raymond Reeves, second high man in the contest and a member of the Tech team, made a score of 598.6 points.

In the judging phase of the contest, the local team took second place, and fourth place in commercial grading division.

Team members will leave today for Chicago, where on Saturday they are scheduled to attend the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy, Junior (student) section.

Accompanying the team to Kansas City and Chicago were Cecil Ayers, associate professor of agronomy, who is team coach; and Judd Morrow, also of the agronomy department, who is officiating in phases of the contests.

Other colleges and universities sending teams to the Kansas City contest were Texas A&M, which placed fourth; Kansas State, fifth; Penn State, sixth; Minnesota, seventh; South Dakota, eighth; and Montana, ninth.

Worker Arraigned In Death Of Child

FRESNO, Nov. 22. (AP)—Paul Gutierrez, 25-year-old migratory farm worker, was arraigned on a charge of murder today in the sex slaying of little Josephine Yanez.

Justice of the Peace Cecil E. Edgar set his preliminary hearing for Nov. 29.

Gutierrez appeared downcast as he heard the reading of the formal complaint accusing him of murdering the 17-months-old girl near Huron last Sunday.

He has not been questioned further since last night when, police said, he admitted he took the baby from her parents' car and spanked her. He contended everything after that was "blank," until he woke up at his cabin later in the day.

Thousands Are Busy In Area

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

More itinerant cotton pickers are on the South Plains now than at any previous time in history—and perhaps more than ever will be here again.

The Texas Employment commission Tuesday estimated the number at about 69,000, of whom about 6,000 are "braceros" from the interior of Mexico. Nearly all the others are Americans of Mexican descent.

Crisis Believed Over

While the number is far short of needs as estimated earlier in the season, observers generally were in agreement that the labor crisis of the harvest of the greatest crop ever produced on the South Plains —or any comparable area in the U. S.—is past.

Observers agreed that farmers would like to have and could put more harvest hands to good use. But, barring the ever-present weather hazard, there no longer is fear that any considerable portion of the crop will be lost in the fields for lack of men and machines to get it out.

Just how much cotton will be ginned on the South Plains this year still is a subject of widely variant speculation.

May Top Million

But the indications were that the total will pass the 1,000,000-bale mark during the first week of December for the first time in history unless weather should bring picking to a virtual standstill.

The largest previous production for this area was 959,000 in 1937, closely trailed by ginnings of 944,000 bales in 1947. Drouth cut the yield to about 614,000 bales last year.

Just how far beyond the 1,000,000-mark the ginnings will go this year still is anybody's guess. The consensus of prediction centers on the round figure of 1,500,000.

But there have been some indications that the total may go well beyond this figure. Dawson county supplies significant support of this possibility.

Forecast Is Boosted

On Sept. 1, K. N. Clapp, of Lubbock, area observer for Anderson, Clayton & Co., Houston firm, forecast 125,000 bales for Dawson. On Nov. 1, he jumped this to 135,000. Cotton men at Lamesa, Dawson county seat, then were predicting a crop of 150,000 bales there. This week they hiked their guess to 170,000 for Dawson.

If ginnings in most of the other 21 cotton-producing counties above the Caprock should be comparably higher than official and unofficial estimates on Nov. 1, the total crop will go well beyond 1,500,000 bales.

But, regardless of the final figure, it will be more cotton than ever has been produced on any comparable area in the history of

City Sets Tests Of Fly Killers

After spending the summer killing all the flies within attack range of Lubbock, the city health department is about to reverse the procedure and start raising them on a large scale.

Nobody's gone beserk, however —it's simply part of a program of research that promises to make insect control in Lubbock county even more effective than it has been in the past, said Gerald Jarvis, director of the city-county health department.

The health department will grow the pests in a city-owned shop building, then kill them with various insecticides to determine for sure what can be used most effectively and cheaply next summer.

City Fogged 23 Times

The extensive DDT-spraying program ended about the first of the month after having operated continuously since May 16. During that period the city was completely fogged 23 times, and most of the outlying suburbs were also fogged that much.

Other towns in the county were fogged as needs required.

The city footed a bill of $8,065.39 for materials and equipment used during the summer's spraying.

In return for that sum the residents of the city and county were afforded nearly 100 per cent freedom from flies, and probably as a direct result, freedom from any epidemics of contagious or communicable diseases during the summer.

Escapes Epidemic

Notably, the city escaped a polio epidemic such as San Angelo was forced to endure.

Of the total expenditures, $3,286.80 worth of DDT was used, 16,607 of fuel oil costing $1,749.19 was employed, and quantities of xylene, lethane and other chemicals made up the rest.

As Jarvis explained, unusual rain conditions and other factors nearly caused the flies to get out of hand on several occasions during the summer.

For better control next year, the research program on "hothouse" flies is being instituted. A total of $10,800 will be available next year for the program including an expected $2,000 contribution from the County of Lubbock, $5,950 from the city, plus $1,400 to

Several Wells Near Town Of Snyder Are Slated

Eight New Scurry Tests Planned

Applications for eight new explorations to test the Canyon lime reef in the Kelley field of Central Scurry county have been reported. All of the operations are to begin drilling in the near future.

Cities Service Oil company No. 2 Von Roeder is to be 467 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 16, block 1, J. P. Smith survey. It is contracted to 6,900 feet.

It is six miles northwest of Snyder.

Youngblood & Foree No. 4 Wilkirson will be 467 feet from north and west lines of section 40, lot 19, Kirkland & Field survey. Projected depth is 6,800 feet. It is four and one-hilf miles northwest of Snyder.

Hunt Oil company will drill four of the new Kelley operations, all of which are to go to 7,000 feet.

The company's No. 1 James A. Clark will be 660 feet from south and east lines of section 248, block 97, H&TC survey.

No. 2 James A. Clark will be 660 feet from north and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 248, block 97, H&TC survey.

Location for No. 3 Clark is 660 feet from north and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 248, block 97, H&TC survey.

Hunt's other development, No. 4 Clark, will be 660 feet from south and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 248, block 97, H&TC survey. All are about four and one-half miles west of Snyder.

Also in the Kelley field, Skelly Oil company has planned two 7,200 foot explorations.

Skelly No. 3 W. D. Harral is to be 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 250, block 97, H&TC survey.

Skelly No. 2 Harral will be 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 250, block 97, H&TC survey, and three and one-half miles northwest of Snyder.

D AND R COMPLETES SOUTHWEST SCURRY WELL

D&R Oil company has completed its No. 17 Burney on the northwest side of the shallow Sharon Ridge field of southwest Scurry county as a discovery from the Clear Fork.

The new pumper made a daily production of 60.72 barrels of 30-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 140-1. There was no formation water.

The project was originally drilled to a total depth of 8,238 feet by Cities Service Oil company and abandoned as a failure. It was carried as Cities Service No. 17 Burney. D&R has taken over the project and plugged it back to its present total depth of 3,250 feet.

Completion was from open hole between the top of the pay at 3,004 feet and the plugged back depth at 3,250 feet. The pay section was shot with 737 quarts of nitro glycerine.

Shallow production in the Sharon Ridge field is from the San Andres at around 1,700 feet.

The discovery is 681 feet from south and 2,130 feet from west lines of the north half of section 143, block 97, H&TC survey.

CANYON LIME SECTION TO BE TESTED IN SCURRY

Lion Oil company No. 2 Thurston is to be a 6,800-foot venture to test the Canyon lime reef in the Diamond-M field in southwest Scurry county, 11 miles southeast of Snyder.

The drillsite will be 2,001.67 feet from north and 1,984.30 feet from east lines of section 183,

INSURANCE OFFICIALS END VISIT

'Live At Home' Farm Program Stressed After Tour Of Area

A visit to the Texas Technological college agriculture division concluded a busy two-day inspection trip of top officials of Great National Life Insurance company in Lubbock and nearby counties Tuesday.

Headed by S. J. Hay, president, the group included Carl C. Weichsel and Robert F. Weichsel, vice presidents, Webster Atwell, general counsel for the company, Ray Coffman, manager of the mortgage loan department and executive board member W. W. Overton.

The men were greeted by Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel at the college, then visited experimental feeding pens and other livestock activities, including the artificial insemination program being conducted by the college, partly financed by a $4,500 grant made by the insurance company.

"We were pleased to find that the benefits of this program are going to many farmers who have only one to four head of cows as well as to dairy farmers," Hay said.

After a swing through several South Plains counties, Hay saw a danger signal in farmers who "don't live at home." He classified the tendency to live out of a can the most disturbing thing he saw during his farm inspection tour.

"Too big a percentage of farmers are not living at home," he commented. "We passed farm after farm and saw no sign of pigs or chickens, and no gardens. It's not economically sound and can cause trouble.

"When a farmer produces his own necessities his net income is increased tremendously. He can then invest his profits in such commodities as farm improvements, a new automobile or home, rather than in day-to-day living necessities."

Mr. Hay spent Tuesday morning inspecting residential and business property in Lubbock where the company has made large investments.

Hay and the other officials were favorably impressed with the area on their precedent-making tour despite the highly specialized farming they happened to observe.

"There is a very intelligent, alert and progressive type of farmer in this area," Hay summarized. "He has worked closely with his county agent and shown very much interest in improved farming methods.

"The typical farmer seems to be a younger man than you find in other sections. The very nature of the ter-

Workers' Center Aids Placements

One of the main springs in the complex operation of moving the thousands of cotton harvest workers across the South Plains this season is the Lubbock city-owned reception and placement center for the workers located at 1002 Edna street.

Between 150 and 200 Latin American field workers and their families pause there daily before being assigned to area work, according to Vernon O'Farrell, farm placement man for the Texas Employment commission.

One state employe is stationed at the center during the day to ease the way for the workers but no employes of the city have duties there, O'Farrell said. Mrs. Gregorio Salas lives there the year-round to help in the placement of the workers during the season and care for the place at other times.

The building, a huge, steel barn-like affair, has an office at one end and six stalls on each side. The Latin American families "bed" down there for the night if they haven't been placed during the day.

As the stalls are open to the elements at one end, the cold weather causes no little suffering for the occupants, O'Farrell stated. The floors are cement and many of the families find their bedding inadequate in combatting the chilly night air, he added.

Crews of from two to 50 workers, on reaching Lubbock, are sent out to the reception center for placement. While crews this harvest season have been considerably smaller, averaging 12 men to a crew, there have been twice as many workers on the South Plains as ever before known.

A typical crew is that of 17-year-old Joe Alfare and his father of Mission. The Alfaros drive the workers by truck to the fields and then haul the picked cotton to the gins, taking a percentage of workers' earnings. They and the crew of 26 workers and their families arrived in Lubbock Tuesday and will report for work at a farm nine miles out of town today.

Another worker, not with the Alfaro crew, is Pedro Penaro of Weslaco, who with his wife and six children, have remained at the center for two days. They leave tomorrow for work in the Mission area, Pedro said. "I will be glad to move on, he commented," as the children have caught bad colds sleeping on the cement floor here. The wind gets very cold at night."

All of those taken care of at the center are United States citizens as no Mexican nationals get assignments there.

As the cotton harvest climbs over the peak, machines will take care of most of the work called for

RETURN OF NAZISM FEARED

German Nationalism Again Rises As Threat To Peaceful Europe

BERLIN, Nov. 22. (AP)— Is the old spirit of German nationalism on the march again?

Western Allied officials in Berlin have been piling up a file of evidence that points that way.

"The bugaboo of Communism may soon have to take a back seat. There's competition around," an American political authority commented today.

All four occupation powers — Britain, France, Russia and the U. S. — appear to be sensitive to the rebirth of the old Bismarck creed of "Germany for the Germans."

Recent examples of this are:

In London, member of parliament Brigadier Frank Medlicott said "signs of the return of Nazism in Germany are increasing."

Germans Branded Dangerous

In Washington, chief war crimes counsel Telford Taylor asserted the Germans are trying to "soft pedal" the war crimes trials behind a rising nationalism.

In Paris, the French have consistently resisted proposals to halt dismantling of German industry which they call war potential.

In Ottawa, Canada, Field Marshal Lord Wavell forecast that Germany would eventually become a greater problem for the west that the Soviet Union. He called the Germans the "most dangerous people in Europe."

The Russians, flirting with ex-Nazis to win political strength, ran into old German stubbornness only this month. They gave civil rights back to former Nazis, then ordered the Communist puppet government they set up in the eastern zone to install Communist ideas. Immediately the former Nazis, banded together within the National Democratic party, lashed out against turning private enterprise into so-called peoples-owned industries.

Court Attitude Relaxed

On top of that, the Socialist Unity (Communist) party acknowledged the existence of the "nationalist" spirit within its own ranks and ordered a widespread purge. They called it "Titoism," but most observers calculated that the "ism" was around long before Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito broke with the Kremlin.

How much of the growing German spirit of independence is "nationalist" and how much is pure Nazi is a matter of debate. However, almost any major Nazi who has escaped trial for war crimes up to now can face most German courts without too much fear, unless he is personally linked with an individual war crime.

The relaxed attitude toward ex-Nazis is shown by the recent conviction of Gertrud Scholz Klink, head of Adolf Hitler's League for German women.

A French zone German court found her a "major Nazi" but said that the 18 months she had already spent in jail awaiting the trial was enough punishment.

U. S. Flag Torn Down

Her opposite number, Baldur Von Schirach, is serving 20 years in Spandau prison. The sentence was imposed by the International War Crimes court at Nuernberg in 1946 for his activities as head of the Hitler jugend (Hitler youth).

Last week two German men invaded a Jewish synagogue near Bayreuth and ripped the American flag off the wall.

Only last night a group calling itself "friends of Otto Strasser" tried to hold a political rally in Duesseldorf on the Rhine. The British occupation authorities forbade the meeting. Strasser was one of the seven men with Hitler who founded the Nazi party. He has been a refugee in Canada since he broke with Hitler but has tried repeatedly to return to Germany.

Strasser was quoted recently as saying the occupation powers are preventing his return "knowing full well that in a few years time we would be the strongest party in Germany."

Strasser and his brother, Gregor, who was liquidated by the SS, represented the extreme nationalist right wing in German political thinking.

Germanism Backed

Rightist parties have won the largest support in west Germany. The Bonn republic is dominated by Christian Democrats, but they need and get voting help from rightist Free Democrats and the nationalistic "German party" in order to outrank the Socialists.

The Bonn legislative halls have been ringing with more and more speeches on behalf of Germanism. One delegate proposed recently to restore the Hitler-engineered "anschluss" with Austria (Hitler's bloodless coup which brought Austria into the Nazi camp in 1938).

In Austria, too, a swing to Nazi rightist thinking was recorded in its national elections a month ago. The People's party retained dominance over the Socialists, but the Neo-Nazi League of independents appeared out of nowhere to gain a surprisingly strong third.

Agitation Grows

One of the most persistent agitations within Germany is carried on by the so-called "Nauheim circle," headed by Professor Ulrich Noack, which tries constantly to hold meetings of Germans from both the west and Soviet zones of occupation. The theme of the Noack followers is that everyone except Germans should get out of Germany and allow the country to become neutral ground in the east-west political dispute.

Noack's last attempted meeting over the past weekend was banned by German police as "subversive and threatening."

Political advisers to the occupation authorities point out here that the "German thinking" is being revealed more and more as their shops fill up and their pay envelopes grow into something like a peacetime normal living wage, after 10 years of war and despair.

West Germany leads all Europe recovery nations in increasing its industrial production and Austria is running second.

Obedience to the "conqueror" is no longer commanded by a snap of an occupation soldier's finger—as it was during the period immediately after the war—except in the Soviet zone where military rule is much more strict.

Two Texas Aggies Injured In Attempt To Burn Bonfire

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 22. (AP)—Two Texas A. & M. cadets were hospitalized today for treatment of second and third degree burns resulting from a weekend abortive attempt to burn a pep-rally woodpile at the University of Texas.

Last year an Aggieland cadet attempted to "bomb" the bonfire and ignited it from a low flying plane.

The most recent episode in the long-standing rivalry between the two schools took place late Sunday.

However, University of Texas officials said the first they knew of it was when the incident was reported to them by A. & M. officials.

W. L. Penberthy, dean of students at A. & M., declined to identify the cadets participating in the raid.

Two of the youths, he said, were hospitalized for treatment of burns on their hands and arms.

"They're doing all right," he said, "but we are keeping them in the hospital until they are fully recovered."

"We haven't pushed the investigation," he said. That would come, he explained, when the youths were dismissed from the hospital.

Reports at Austin indicated the youths were burned when they hurled a large can of gasoline from a station wagon onto a bonfire pile of wood, gathered in preparation for a pep rally preceding the Thanksgiving game with A. & M. The gasoline apparently sloshed into the rear of the station wagon and became ignited.

NEOHETRAMINE IS PRAISED

New Drug Routs Common Cold, Doctors Report After Testing

By ROBERT. N. SCHWARTZ
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Two doctors reported today that one of the new anti-histamine drugs was 100 percent effective in halting the common cold when taken within 48 hours after the first symptoms.

The report was made by Dr. Charles C. Sweet, medical director of Sing Sing prison, Ossining, N. Y., and Dr. Joseph J. Armino, consultant on allergies at both Sing Sing and Maryknoll Convent and Seminary, Ossining, N. Y. It was published in the December issue of the Journal of Industrial Medicine and Surgery.

The drug, known as neohetramine, has been used by the medical profession for almost three years and on Sept. 2, 1949, the Pure Food and Drug administration sanctioned its distribution to the general public without a prescription under the trade name Anahist.

Doctors Report

Drs. Sweet and Armino wrote:

"Of the subjects who began treatment with neohetramine during the first 48 hours after the onset of (cold) symptoms, 100 percent responded to therapy."

They added that in their experiments both at Maryknoll and at Sing Sing, they used control groups which took placebos — a dummy pill that looked like the drug — or the "usual" cold remedies. They noted:

"Administration of neohetramine during the first 24 hours relieved colds in one-fifth the time as compared with the placebo series; and if given during the second 24 hours, the time required for complete relief was cut by half."

Recovery Speeded

They said that while the colds of subjects taking the dummy pills or other medication lasted an average of four and a half to six days, those taking the anti-histamine drug within the first 24 hours shook off the symptoms of the cold within 1.2 days.

Those who delayed taking the drug until the second 24 hour period got rid of the cold on an average of 2.8 days.

All subjects, they said, took a 100 milligram dose of neohetramine per day.

Subjects who took the drug, Drs. Sweet and Armino found, "did not develop coughs, nasal obstruction and fever."

The Sing Sing treatments, from October, 1948, to April, 1949, were confined to prisoners who had symptoms of a cold; at Maryknoll a group of 300 volunteers was given drug daily whether they had colds or not and a group of the same size was given dummy pills.

Drug Prevents Colds

The doctors said that 81.3 in the latter group contracted one or more colds, with half of them developing bronchitis, pneumonia or other serious ailments. Of the group taking a 100 milligram dosage of neohetramine, only three developed colds during the six-month experiment.

Histamines are one of the mysterious chemicals which seem to play a very important role in the human body. The are found in all body tissue, where they are stored. They are released in allergic reactions and are the cause of allergies.

There had been speculation that histamine had some role when the common cold, but first definite scientific proof of the link came when Capt. J. M. Brewster at Great Lakes Naval station found that he could make cold symptoms disappear by giving patients a dose of anti-histamine drugs.

Houston Man Attacks Socialistic Trends In U. S. And Europe

Jack Porter of Houston, who made an unsuccessful bid for the United States Senate as a Republican candidate in 1948, Tuesday criticized our state and national governments and the socialistic regimes of Western Europe in a 30-minute speech before a joint luncheon meeting of the Lions and Optimist clubs in the Hilton hotel.

In opening his rapid-fire verbal attack, the Houston oil man assured his large audience he is not at present nor will be he in the future a candidate again for public office.

"But as one business man to another," he commenced, "I want to tell you our first line of defense is here in the United States.

Socialism Blamed

"As a visitor in Europe twice in the last 18 months, I found that Belgium is the most prosperous of all the Western European nations," he related, "and that its economic system is patterned after the free private enterprise of the United States."

"I'm convinced," he continued, "that the majority of the money we are sending to Europe is not for rehabilitation but for making up dollar trade deficits."

He then inferred that socialism was the cause of the deficits and quoted a Norwegian friend as saying "Norway is too poor to afford a socialistic government."

Porter then declared that our high budget is partially the fault of a poor foreign policy and he put the blame on the conference at Yalta.

He pointed out that the federal government is now spending six times what it was before the war and that the state budget has increased from $67 million a year in 1927 to $403 million in 1948.

"Texans are now carrying a $2 billion a year burden in local, state and federal taxes," Porter stipulated, "and we are facing further increases in taxes."

Pensioners Hit

In his speech, Porter even lashed out at old age pensioners, "I think they should receive aid if they are in need but just because a man reaches the age of 65 without sufficient financial support does not entitle him to a badge of honor," he said.

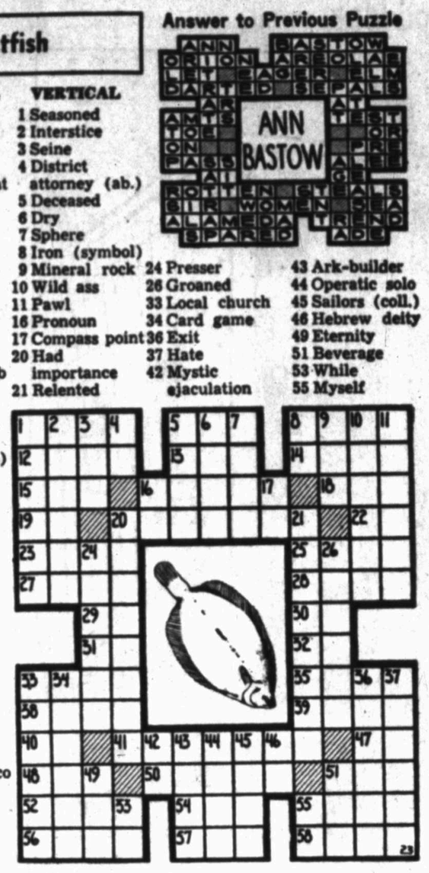

"There is no such thing as security," he charged, "and I seriously doubt if the money we are paying in for social security will be available when we need it."

Groves Denman, president of the Lions, introduced G. C. Stewart, Optimist president. Tom Gregory of the Salvation Army gave the invocation and M. D. Temple was program chairman and introduced the speaker.

Area VFW Meet Slated Saturday

At least 200 out-of-town veterans are expected to arrive in Lubbock Saturday for an annual district convention of district 7, Veterans of Foreign Wars, William Earl Creel, Lubbock post commander, said Tuesday afternoon.

Registration will begin at 10 a. m. Saturday and continue all day. Committee meetings will be held Saturday, followed by a dance at the VFW post home Saturday night. Ted Crager and his orchestra will play.

Special guests for the two-day convention will be Julian Dickenson, department commander from Houston, and J. M. (Slick) Rutherford, department senior vice commander from Odessa.

The Sunday program begins at 10 a. m. with Wm. F. Pennington conducting a memorial service. Department officers and officers of the ladies' auxiliary will speak.

County Judge Homer R. Winston of Brownfield will deliver the keynote address Sunday morning.

A business session will begin at 2 p. m. Sunday with H. B. Virgil Crawford of Brownfield, district commander, presiding.

TALLYHO

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (U.P.)—The days of "Tallyho!" still live around here. The annual dog mart show features a foxhorn blowing contest. This year, for the fourth straight time, Dave Jackson won the prize. His hot tooting turned 300 leashed dogs into howling, barking, straining bundles of energy.

Lebanon has no rationing of petroleum products, having ended kerosene restrictions.

Mystery Writer Craig Rice Ordered To Mental Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22. (INS)—Mystery story writer Craig Rice today was ordered committed to a mental institution following a hearing in pyschopathic court.

She said, however, she could cure herself of drinking "if left alone."

The order was made by Superior Judge William B. Neeley upon recommendation of Drs. Charles T. Batten and James E. McGinnis.

Miss Rice, 41, one of the nation's most prolific mystery writers, threatened to kill herself following a breakup of her marriage with radio writer Henry W. Demott, jr., 29.

Santa Monica police said that she took a near-overdose of sleeping pills last September. She was kept under observation in General hospital for two days upon order of the court.

Miss Rice's daughter, Mrs. Nancy Atwill, told authorities that her mother had been drinking to excess in her dependency over her marital troubles.

New Eisenhower Boom Gets Underway In Vermont Town

BURLINGTON, Vt., Nov. 22 (U.P.)—Another Eisenhower-for-president movement was underway today, started by supporters who promised not to give up until the former army chief of staff flatly states that he will not accept the Republican nomination.

A public meeting to boost Dwight D. Eisenhower, now Columbia university president, for the 1952 GOP nomination was held in the city hall auditorium last night—even though he has not answered a wire sent him on the subject a week ago.

The telegram asked the retired general's sanction for the Eisenhower-for-president club.

George Abbott, a real estate broker, said the club's slogan would describe Eisenhower as:

"First in war, first in peace and first in the heart of humanity."

IT'S HIS PLAN

Let Brannan Speak

SECRETARY of Agriculture Brannan has criticised on several occasions the estimates of costs as made by others of his farm support plan as proposed to and rejected by the last session of Congress. Most recently, he termed one $19,000,000,000 cost estimate "fantastic."

Possibly the figure is fantastic. But Mr. Brannan's criticisms of the estimates of others are, to say the least, in poor taste until he is willing to go on record with some figures of his own.

To this good day, Mr. Brannan has refused to be pinned down to any estimate, or even a guess, of the cost of the plan he advocates. What he actually desires, without pretense of denial, is a blank check which would enable him to put nearly every farmer on the federal payroll.

Here, in thumbnail, is the Blannan plan: The law of supply and demand would determine the price the farmer would get for his products from whomever buys them. But the government would guarantee minimum prices, as fixed by the Department of Agriculture, for everything the farmer produces. The government would pay the farmer the difference between the sale and the guaranteed price for each commodity.

The cost of such a program unquestionably would be enormous. Not even Mr. Brannan denies that. And the red tape and bookkeeping involved in its operation obviously are beyond comprehension. Much of the tax money supplied for operation of the plan never would reach the farmer. It would be required for a gigantic administrating agency.

The reasons for Mr. Brannan's reluctance to guess probable costs seem apparent. The smallest figure he would dare suggest would be so huge as to imperil further the acceptance of the plan.

Fortunately, prospects appear remote that any farm support plan will be approved in the form desired by the Secretary of Agriculture. It properly will not be entitled to consideration until Mr. Brannan is ready to answer the question of most interest to taxpayers. That question is: What would the plan cost?

Dangerous Parallel

THE recent abuses of official representatives of the American government by the Chinese Communists have been nothing more nor less than acts of hostility. Less aggravated offenses have started wars.

Fortunately, the United States isn't going to start a shooting war because of these indicents. Injuries to prestige and pride are preferable to the risk of touching off a world conflagration.

But, in the light of experiences of the past 10 or 12 years, such incidents are alarming. They are reminiscent of the conduct of the Japanese during the late 1930's.

During those years, the Japs committed repeated acts of war toward the United States. The sinking of the Panay in the Yangtze river by Jap planes was one of many fragrant and bloody crimes against this nation. Yet, each time, Uncle Sam swollowed his pride to keep the peace.

The course, beyond question, had the overwhelming endorsement of Americans. They didn't want war and were willing to make any reasonable sacrifice to avoid it.

The trouble was that the Japs interpreted our desire for peace as being a confession of fear and weakness. So, in the manner of any bully, each offense by the Japs was followed by something worse. Finally they overstepped themselves, to their sorrow.

The present experiences with the Chinese Reds are frightening in some of their parallels with our tense raletionships with Japan durihg tne later 1930's. There is the unmistakable danger—and we might as well face it—that the Chinese Communists will get the notion that we fear them and finally will be guilty of acts impossible to endure without retaliation.

Washington unquestionably is aware of the danger and, it can be safely assumed will deal with it in the manner that officials deem best. If that should involve a sudden "get tough" attitude toward the Chinese Reds, most Americans will and should approve [illegible] be an approval based on the supposition that, if we really had "gotten tough" with the Japs back in the 1930's, the Pearl Harbor massacre might never have occurred.

The Cameo

By VIRGINIA TEALE
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

(THE STORY: Hagar Blair and Andrey Yakov are both trying to buy a valuable cameo which both Nell O'Neill and Tom Falter claim to own. All are residents o Dolorosa, a western art colony. The cameo was last seen in the hands of Arnold Prieffer, who said Martin commissioned him to sell it. But Nell O'Neill, wife of wealthy Tom O'Neill, also claims to own it. Stephanie Smith, who works for Hagar, says the cameo means a great deal to her and Hagar, with kindness in her old heart, has promised to buy it. As she gets into her car to go see Martin Falter she discovers the cameo box in her machine. The box is open and empty.)

IX

THE old iron-studded door of Bob's Place was a familiar and welcome sight to the bibulous of Dolorosa. Bob claimed he had stolen it from a Spanish monastery in the Pyrenees during his voluntary military service in Spain's civil war. The story of how he got it out of the Pyrenees and into California was a tale which became more astounding and dramatic with each retelling. He had lost his left arm in that adventure.

Bob was a writer of pseudo-scientific fiction during his leisure hours and, though his volume of literary sales was small, his fantastic imagination was a source of amazement to friend and foe and editor.

Following Nell O'Neill's example, Audrey Yakov perched on a stool and leaned his elbows on a strip of illuminated plate glass. Tropical fish swam lazily underneath it among coral and aquatic plants.

The man who proved to be the fabulous Bob Knox bowed to Yakov and then turned his gold-glinted smile to Neill:

"You're just in time, lovely lady. I think Papa wants to go home." He gestured toward the farthest booth, "Behold the weary reveler!"

Nell and Yakov turned and looked. Tom's crisp white hair showed up clearly against the table top. One arm hung at his side and the other rested on the board.

"Kicked by a Moscow Mule," Bob observed cheerily. "That's what ginger beer and vodka will do."

Nell slid from her stool and walked over to the booth.

"Ginger beer and vodka?" asked Yakov. "At once? Together?"

He searched the amiable face in front of him. The man had sleepy-looking eyes of an indeterminate aquatic color, and there was a fan of creases, indicating either joviality or sun, raying from their corners. There was a round button of a nose, a surprisingly well-modeled mouth and a fleshy chin.

Bob was answering his question: "Sure. Put ginger beer and vodka in a chilled copper mug and you have a Moscow Mule. Try one?"

Yakov nodded. "It should be an experience."

Bob began his manipulations, "Coming right up."

WHILE he waited for his drink, Yakov watched Nell awaken Tom. The white thatch finally bobbled up and the pink face turned toward her:

"Well," Tom said. "Well, so it's you. Come running back to your poor old fool of a husband, huh? Old fool of a husband, that's what I am. That's what you think I am, isn't it?"

"Tom," Nell demanded, "where's Martin?"

"Where's Martin?" he mimicked. "How should I know where that blackguard is? Shall I tell you where he belongs?"

Andrey grinned at him and raised the cup Bob gave him in salute.

Tom slapped him on the back. "Good old Andreyvitch. Good old comradesky!"

Tom raised his newly filled cup for a toast. Yakov responded with "Long life!" and they both drank. Yakov placed an arm across Tom's shoulders and Tom grinned at him delightedly.

"Tom, my friend," Yakov said casually, "I am still most anxious to meet our fellow artist, Martin Falter."

O'Neill frowned. "He knows better than to stay in my company. And if he didn't know before, he knows now. I told him just what I thought of him. And I told him just what he could expect from Tom O'Neill unless he keeps out of my sight."

Tom waved a hand toward Bob who was leaning on his one good elbow not far away, openly listening to the conversation.

"Didn't I, Bob? You heard me tell him off, didn't I?"

Bob gravely bowed endorsement. "Unmistakably and irrevocably. With clarity and dispatch."

Nell stood up and touched Andrey's arm. He made a slight gesture toward her and continued to give Tom his attention.

"I would like to hear more about this, my friend, but there is a small errand I must attend. Would you be so kind as to remain here, you and Nellya, for a short time, and wait for me?"

AN hour later Nell still sat at the bar, but had moved down to the far end near the wall.

"Listen Bob, I'm going home. When Mr. Yakov comes back, ask him if he'll get Tom over to our place. You won't mind if I leave Tom here?"

Bob shook his head amiably. "Not at all, lovely lady. He's not doing any harm over there. But if your Russian friend doesn't come back pretty soon, I'll trundle Tom into my little back room and let him sleep it off in there." He leaned against the bar and gazed up admiringly at Nell. "You know, that's the nice thing about the old boy, he usually knows when he's had a drop too much and then he lets me suggest the back-room treatment. Most times, he just ambles in there on his own hook and takes a short nap. He did it once today."

Bob acknowledge her wave of farewell and watched her stride across the room and up the two steps to the old door. There was a brief surge of fresh, cold air as it opened and swung closed.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

AT a sales meeting which I attended not so long ago the speaker, himself an eminently successful sales manager, told his audience:

"If you want to be a successful salesman, your primary motive in life must be making money."

BRANDEIS

I thoroughly disagree with the speaker.

I can't imagine that to any successful person the making of money can be the primary motive in life.

But I wanted to make sure.

So I talked to several men who had outstanding records in selling.

I didn't mention what the speaker said at the meeting. I just asked them what there was about selling that had made them go into it in the first place; what kept them in it; and what had made them successful.

Not one mentioned money-making as his "motive" any more than people in any other profession or business or trade admit money-making as their incentive.

Certainly we all have to make a living.

But there is a heck of a difference between "money-making" and "making a living" as motives.

One of the salesmen to whom I talked went into selling because he was intrigued by the possibilities of travel and meeting people.

He thought it would be wonderful to ride the Pullmans, to stop in good hotels, to see the country, to play cards with different people every night.

Sure he knew there was good money in selling. But that isn't why he went into it or kept in it.

After more than twenty-five years as a salesman, this fellow still loves his "game."

The second salesman used to be a football player in college. He liked a scrap. He liked victory.

HST Looks For Votes

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON: The belief that President Truman will seek another term in 1952 has been strengthened by the recent reorganization of his cabinet that has provided him with the most politically minded and experienced official family in modern times.

With the exception of Secretary Acheson, Secretary Snyder and Postmaster General Donaldson, a career man, every member is a veteran of the ballot-box wars from away back. And even the lordly Mrs. Acheson and the shy Mr. Snyder can handle themselves capably in any public discussion of foreign and financial problems with the banking and industrial community.

TUCKER

As evidence of Mr. Truman's plan to concentrate on a few great industrial states, the farm areas of the Middle and North West and the Far West, there is not a Southerner in the Cabinet. And the only Atlantic Coast commonwealths represented are Massachusetts by Labor Secretary Maurice Tobin and Rhode Island by Attorney General Harold McGrath.

SAFE: The political "big three" of the reorganized group consist of new Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman of Colorado, Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannon of the same state and Secretary Tobin. Former National Chairman McGrath will also be a top adviser, but he will labor in the background because of his post as the nation's law officer.

Mr. Chapman actually received his promotion because of his valiant services in the last three campaigns, replacing the politically non-interested Julius Krug. In fact, the new Secretary of the Interior is credited with having transformed the mountain and coastal areas into fairly safe territory, whereas they were once Republican strongholds.

With cheap public power and a promise of more reclamation projects, it will now be his task to increase the Democratic Congressional delegation from that section. Despite their democratic record in presidential fights, these eleven states still have 25 Republican and only 22 Democratic House members.

PROGRAM: Shrewd and resourceful Secretary Brannan is counted on to duplicate his 1948 feat of carrying most of the farm states for Mr Truman when, as now expected he makes another try for the prize three years hence.

Mr. Brannan is now working on a modified farm program designed to satisfy more interest than his two-price system did during the recent session of Congress.

Secretary Tobin is the idol of organized labor, save for sulking John L. Lewis, and he is one of the most winning platform personalities at the Capital.

He made himself solid with the White House by helping to carry seemingly debatable Massachusetts in the 1948 campaign, and by his contribution to the defeat of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston early this month.

MODEST: Two other political heavyweights in their own way are Secretaries Sawyer and Johnson. They will make their appeal to the "respectables" of the electorate, as the politicians refer to business men, bankers, manufacturers etc.

It will be up to them to convince more conservative elements that, despite their fears of the so-called "welfare state," Mr. Truman is a firm believer in the system of individual enterprise based on more responsive and responsible body of managers and employers.

Interesting, too, is the fact that with the possible exception of the wealthy Messrs. Acheson, Sawyer and Johnson, these political collaborators are the same sort of modest, ordinary, easy-to-get-along with men that Mr. Truman is himself. They fit perfectly into his picture of an Administration that seeks only the betterment of the lot of "the little fellows."

CONCERN: A three - paragraph newspaper dispatch from Belgrade that was buried on the inside of most newspapers has given Anglo-American naval experts and strategists graver concern than any happening since the German dreadnought Bismarck escaped from a Norweigian fjord to the high seas during World War II.

It quoted trustworthy sources, chiefly escaped refugees and Russians from the Balkans, as confirming secret suspicions that Moscow was transforming the island of Sasseno, which lies where the Adriatic and Mediterranean areas meet off the boot of Italy, into a more powerful air-submarine base than Gibraltar.

Such a strategically situated bastion would isolate the Eastern Mediterranean, block passage through the Suez Canal, control the Balkans and neutralize a great part of the Italian Peninsula. It would more than compensate for Russia's loss of air and naval stations in the Adriatic as result of the break with Tito of Yugoslavia.

INSTALLATIONS: Saserno is a two-and-a-half square mile island of rocks and cliffs, lying just outside the land-locked harbor of Valona. On the mainland it is protected from attack by extensive marshes and mountains that provide watch-towers. Airfields have been constructed in this area.

It had belonged to Italy since 1920, but Albania quietly took it over after the Axis surrendered without a protest from anybody. As a Russian puppet, Albania turned it over to Moscow. Like Gibraltar, the island is studded with caves, galleries, underground installations, including sub pens and torpedo - launching stations. Russian and German engineers have been strengthening its natural fortifications ever since the break with Tito.

Down Memory Lane

(Taken from the files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche, Nov. 23, 1929.)

Henry Clark, educational director of the first Lubbock Community Chest. B. Sherrod and J. D. Hassell, jr., were the principal speakers at a membership meeting of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association here last night at Hotel Lubbock.

Clark spoke on charity donations. Hassell outlined plans of the association to seek the 1931 convention of the Retail Merchants Association of Texas, which would bring from 500 to 1,000 outstanding merchants, credit men, association secretaries, and other business leaders over Texas to this city. Sherrod outlined plans to build more and stronger friendships over the South Plains section by making regular friendship visits to neighboring towns and communities during the year and on cooperating in checking fake advertising and solicitation propositions.

Tom A. White, district manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and president of the retailers organization, was chairman of the meeting.

MAN HOLDS TO KEY TO FUTURE

Atom Bomb Report Depressing

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — You pick up the newspaper one day and read how the Atomic Energy commission suggests that key government buildings in Washington should be dispersed and scattered around our outlying sections at about two-mile intervals for adequate defense against the atom bomb.

When you live here, that brings Twentieth century civilization smack home to you.

The AEC says that dispersal of government buildings, which are rather close together now in a congested area, is better than underground shelters, though you'd have to have those, too. This is not only because dependence on holes in the ground would require warning, but, once the buildings are destroyed, which they surely would be, there would be no place for the government to carry on its work. In short, the paper shufflers wouldn't have any place to shuffle papers.

STOKES

Cave Man Recalled

When you think of this possible hectic scramble of thousands of government workers as well as top-circle dignified officials to underground shelters, it promptly brings to mind one of those pictures in your childhood geography. You know — the Neanderthal man, or some sort of primitive man, standing in front of his cave, with his club, and that blank, goofy look on his face, and that sloping skull like an ape.

The skull has filled out in the ages since, and supposedly bright thoughts move around in it. But because of one gadget our smart fellows have devised, all we can think of to do is to duck back into the cave again. From cave back to cave in 20,000 years, more or less. There's progress for you.

THEN, reading on down in your news story about the AEC report, wou find that, to hit the White house and other buildings in that area — which, incidentally, include the Carnegie Endownment for International Peace and the Red Cross — a bomb probably would be dropped at the corner of two specified streets. The explosion, the AEC report says in its coldly formal language, "would crush or render unusable the ordinary load-bearing brick wall dwellings for a distance of 7,000 or 8,000 feet from ground zero.' Then you remember that your little brick house for your small family is only a few blocks away much less than "7,000 or 8,000 feet from ground zero," and that would take care of that very neatly.

Or as we say — here today, gone tomorrow.

Yet somehow this all leaves you cold. At least it would happen quick. You don't plan to move or do anything else. Which, as far as you can learn, is about the way your neighbors feel, too. It wouldn't be necessary again to have that air-raid system we had in our little downtown neighborhood during the last war when the home guard in tin hats and wearing arm bands paraded up and down the dark streets in those frequent tests and shouted "lights out" with great authority and tried, in vain, one night, to do something about a drunk who paraded with equal authority and completely careless abandon down the adjoining main thoroughfare calling out loudly his derision of all our earnestness. All that would't do any good with the atom bomb.

May Be Fatalism

This dead-pan feeling you have about all these alarms about atom boms is probably a case for the psychologist. Maybe it's just human fatalism. Maybe we've had so much of fright stories that we are not sensitive any more. Maybe we just believe that modern man with his high brow is quite so dumb as he seems to be, and just wouldn't destroy himself in a series of quick flashes. And, maybe this attitude is all wrong and dangerous.

Strange, unconnected thoughts about somewhat extraneous matters come to you in contemplation of the AEC report. For instance, all the trouble you would have as a newspaperman to see a government official in a building way to hell-and-gone, several miles away, and if, as often happens, you got referred to an official in another building you would have to get on your bicycle or skates and skeeddaddle over there.

THEN, this business of building a lot of new government buildings. They cost a lot of money. And how, pray, could we ever balance the budget? Maybe the budget balancers could organize some sort of association, a cave man's protective association, and get busy and get peace in the world. Saving taxpayers' money is a good a reason as any, perhaps better.

It was all a lot simpler for the cave man with the sloping brow.

Chinese Reds Believed Ready To Put Climax On Ward Case

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Mukden broadcasts that the Chinese Communists are about to pass judgment on Angus Ward, American consul general, coming after the State department's appeal to world opinion in the case, suggest that the Peiping government is about ready to get out from under.

There is little previous experience by which likely Communist action can be judged. But such as there is suggests a final violent propaganda attack on Ward, followed by his release under orders to leave the country.

"Usual" Action Expected

This has been the usual action in the Communist sphere in the cases of nationals of western countries.

The Chinese Communists, who undoubtedly will have the advice of professional Russian or Moscow-trained theorists, may be moved to act quickly rather than await the mobilization of world diplomatic pressure which the United States has asked. An early end of the Ward case would relieve Russia and four of her satellites from having to stand up and be counted one way or another on the question of international treatment of government representatives.

One can only speculate whether there is any connection at all between Communist moves in the Ward case and Poland's announcement on Monday that she will support the Peiping regime's bid for a place in the United Nations. The same is true of Russia's attitude in the light of the Gubitchev case and the court charges against Amtorg officials in the U. S. for not registering as foreign agents.

The Chinese Communists, however, would seem to have a far greater interest in diplomatic recognition, which is being withheld at least until the Ward case is settled, than in a single facet of propaganda against the "foreign devils," however stronghly it presents the government as the protector of the little man.

Another factor which may have a bearing in the case is the extent to which the current wave of detention of British, French and American nationals may be part of new concerted action as against the normal harassment to which the Communist sphere always subjects them. The Russian agreement to look into the case of two Americans in Korea seems to lessen the importance of this angle.

What would happen if the Chinese Communists do not release Ward is a matter which Washington has not yet faced. As a matter of fact, the possible affect on Oriental minds of the appeal to 30 nations to help the great United States in the Ward case is not too happy to contemplate. The State department just wasn't able to find a better alternative. The idea of blockading an almost totally inland regime with warships was considered entirely futile.

If the Communists were by some quirk of stubbornness to decide to keep Ward in prison they would have American officials in a really tough spot.

U. S. Fifth On Soviet List, Hoffman Warns

CLAREMONT, Calif., Nov. 22. (INS)—Paul G. Hoffman, head of the Economic Cooperation administration, warned today that the United States is fifth on the timetable of Soviet Russia for world domination.

The foreign aid chieftain addressed the Pomona college student body and declared that success of the Marshall plan has halted Russia's attempt to communize the globe. He told his listeners:

"It may be difficult for you to wrap your minds around the fact that the politburo is planning to take over this country of ours in due course. But their purpose is nothing less than this."

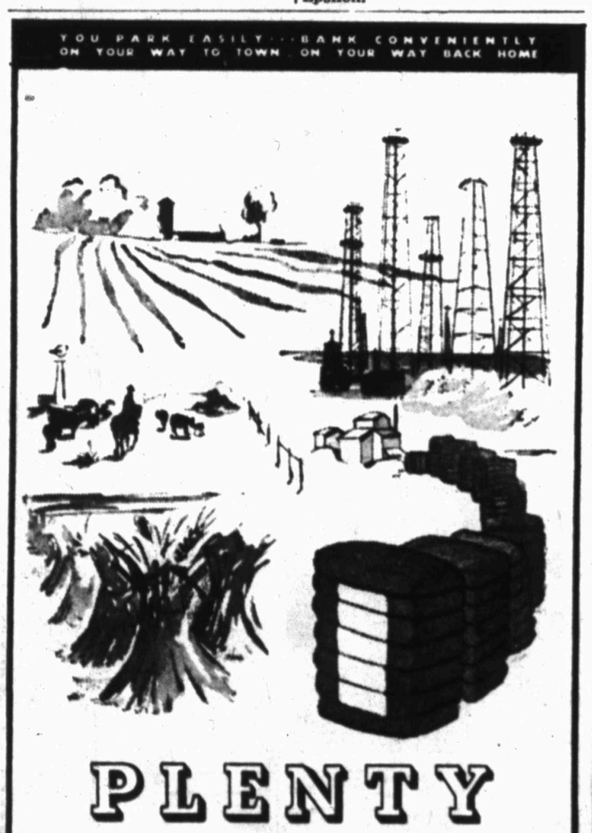

He said that Western Europe is the first goal of Russia, followed by Asia, Africa, South America, and, finally North America.

Hoffman declared that elimination of trade barriers in the Marshall plan countries was an economic necessity.

Tech Dean Of Women Returns From Tour Of Music Groups

Mrs. Margarette Wibble Walker, dean of women of Texas Tech, returned Tuesday from a two-week tour of five states as president of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music fraternity.

Visiting 14 chapters of the fraternity and nine college campuses, Mrs. Walker traveled through Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas. She visited deans of women and other college officials at each school besides inspecting local chapters of Mu Phi Epsilon.

Surprise Witness For Defense Testifies In Damages Action Here

A surprise witness for the defense testified Tuesday afternoon that she was present in a hospital room and heard her friend of several years, Miss Buna Lofland, tell Richard E. Jackson that Jackson was no more responsible than Miss Lofland for an accident in which Miss Lofland suffered severe injuries Nov. 24, 1948, when struck by Jackson's car on a downtown Lubbock street intersection.

She was Mrs. Earl G. Williams of 1207½ College Ave.

Miss Lofland is suing Jackson and his employer, The Avalanche-Journal Publishing company, in connection with the mishap, asking $36,000 actual and $2,500 special damages, alleging that Jackson was using his car at the time of the accident within scope of his employment. The defense theory, as evidenced by cross-examination, takes the dual position that the accident was unavoidable and that Miss Lofland was guilty of contributory negligence. Jackson, it seeks to convince the jury, was suddenly blinded by sunlight when making a turn, and had not reported for his day's work at the time.

Instructed Verdict Asked

Attorney C. C. Crenshaw of the firm of Crenshaw, Dupree and Milam, moved at conclusion of the plaintiff's evidence Tuesday afternoon that 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue give an instructed verdict to the publishing company. No such motion was made for Jackson, represented by the law firm of McWhorter, Howard and Cobb, inasmuch as there are fact issues relating to him that must be answered by the jury.

Attorney W. W. Campbell, of the firm of Campbell and Adams, furnished the court a list of legal authorities in support of his argument against the court instruction. He and J. E. Vickers of the firm of Vickers and Vickers represent Miss Lofland.

Judge Pardue will announce his ruling this morning. He ordered the jury to report back at 9 o'clock.

At the afternoon session, the plaintiff presented as witnesses M. I. Hall, publisher of The Mail Box and The Mercantile News, and twice called Mrs. Lavenia Lowe, city secretary, in efforts to prove up a city ordinance relating to right-of-way at intersections not controlled by traffic lights. Hall was asked about the newspaper's policy in regard to use of their private automobiles by advertising solicitors when in scope of employment. Other former employes of the publication, A. B. Slagle and Edward Welsh, were asked similar questions earlier in the day.

The case may not go to the jury, selected about noon Monday, until Friday, some members of counsel said they believed.

ANOTHER one went into selling because he thought it was easier to get a job as a salesman than in any other kind of work. His incentive was security and enough to keep his wife and rear his children the way they should be kept and reared.

That isn't "money-making" as an incentive.

That is just the ordinary, legitimate desire of every decent man.

I pity the person whose incentive in life is "money-making".

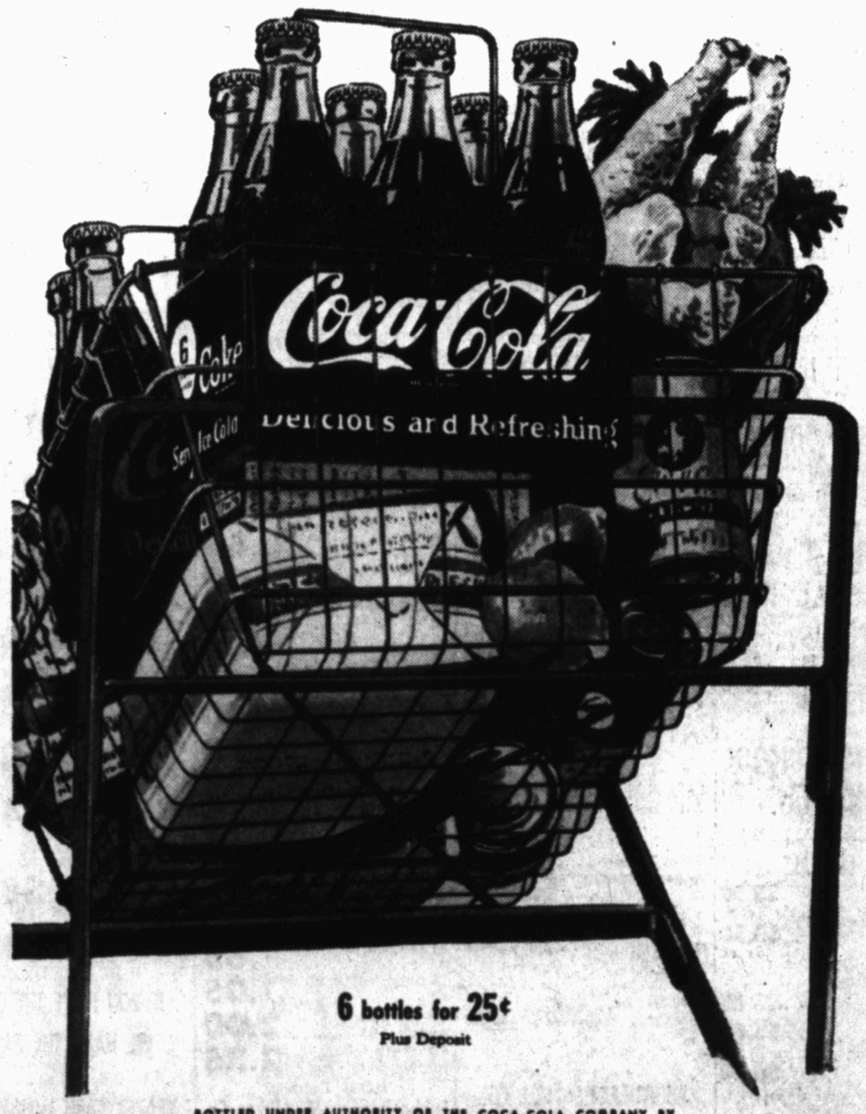

Money is a medium of exchange. To exchange the money you make for happiness, security, peace of mind and a nice way of living—that is legitimate.

To make money your ultimate goal and purpose does not make you successful.

It only makes you a money-bag instead of a human being.

Efforts To Head Off Rail Strike Continue

DALLAS, Nov. 22. (AP)— Talks before a federal mediator continued today in Dallas in an effort to head off a possible strike of the Texas & Pacific railway.

Officers of four railroad unions, T & P officials and mediator Robert F. Cole were meeting in the T&P building to try to keep what a union newspaper calls "a power keg situation" from blowing up.

C. H. Smith, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said "we believe some progress has been made and we still hope to work out a mutually satisfactory solution to all the problems in dispute."

The unions involved are the Brotherhoods of Engineers, Firemen and Enginemen, Conductors, and Trainmen. The Conductors and Trainmen have taken strike votes but have delayed canvass of the votes because the national mediation board has entered the dispute.

Union spokesmen say the arguments closely parallel those which recently caused a 43-day strike of the Missouri-Pacific. The dispute does not involve wage increases, pension benefits or the other usual causes of labor-management trouble.

STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF LUBBOCK
CITY OF LUBBOCK

NOTICE OF BOND ELECTION

TO THE RESIDENT QUALIFIED VOTERS OF THE CITY OF LUBBOCK WHO OWN TAXABLE PROPERTY WITHIN SAID CITY, AND WHO HAVE DULY RENDERED THE SAME FOR TAXATION:

TAKE NOTICE that an election will be held in the City of Lubbock, Texas, on the 13th day of December, 1949, on the various propositions and at the place more particularly set forth in the Election Ordinance adopted by the City Commission on the 14th day of November, 1949, which Election Ordinance is substantially as follows:

STATE OF TEXAS
CITY OF LUBBOCK

BE IT REMEMBERED that on this the 14th day of November, A. D. 1949 the City Commission of the City of Lubbock, Texas convened in Called Session, pursuant to notice of meeting issued by the Mayor, at the Regular Meeting Place thereof in the City Hall building in the City of Lubbock, Texas with the following members present, vis:

Honorable W. H. Rodgers, Mayor and Presiding Officer.
W. B. Price, Commissioner,
E. K. Hufstedler, Commissioner,
Clarence Whiteside, Commissioner,
Lavenia Lowe, City Secretary.

Commissioner John Spikes absent because of illness, constituting a quorum under Section 15, Article 9, Chapter I of the Charter of the City of Lubbock whereupon the following among other business was transacted:

Commissioner Hufstedler presented for the consideration of the Commission an Ordinance which was read in full by the Secretary.

Commissioner Hufstedler made a motion that the rule requiring Ordinances to be read at more than one meeting of the City Commission be suspended for the reason stated in the emergency clause. The motion was seconded by Commissioner Price and prevailed by the following vote:

AYES: Commissioners Price, Hufstedler, and Whiteside, Mayor W. H. Rodgers.
NOES: None.

Commissioner Price moved that the Ordinance be finally passed and such motion was seconded by Commissioner Whiteside, and prevailed by the following vote:

AYES: Commissioners Price, Hufstedler, and Whiteside
Mayor W. H. Rodgers.
NOES: None.

Such Ordinance is as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 956

AN ORDINANCE BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF LUBBOCK, TEXAS DETERMINING THE NECESSITY FOR THE EXTENSION, ENLARGEMENT AND IMPROVEMENT OF THE SEWER SYSTEM OF THE CITY OF LUBBOCK INCLUDING THE DISPOSAL PLANT, AND FOR WIDENING, IMPROVEMENT AND EXTENSION OF THE STREETS AND HIGHWAYS OF SAID CITY INCLUDING THE PURCHASING OF NECESSARY RIGHTS-OF-WAY THEREFOR; DETERMINING THE AVISABILTY OF SUBMITTING TO THE PROPERTY TAX PAYING VOTERS OF SAID CITY, WHO OWN TAXABLE PROPERTY WITHIN SAID CITY AND WHO HAVE DULY RENDERED THE SAME FOR TAXATION, PROPOSITIONS RELATING TO THE ISSUANCE OF THE NEGOTIABLE INTEREST BEARING COUPON BONDS OF SAID CITY TO FINANCE SUCH IMPROVEMENTS, EXTENSIONS AND CONSTRUCTIONS; PROVIDING FOR AN ELECTION UPON THE QUESTION OF AUTHORIZING AN AGGREGATE AMOUNT OF $1,075,000.00 OF THE BONDS OF SAID CITY FOR SUCH PURPOSES; PRESCRIBING THE PLACE AND TIME OF HOLDING SAID ELECTION, THE QUALIFICATION OF VOTERS, THE PURPOSES OF THE VARIOUS BONDS, THE AMOUNTS THEREOF, THE INTEREST RATE THEREOF AND SUBMITTING THE PROPOSITION OF THE LEVY, ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTION OF AD VALOREM TAXES ANNUALLY WHILE SAID BONDS OR ANY OF THEM ARE OUTSTANDING, TO PAY THE INTEREST ON AND PROVIDE A SINKING FUND FOR THE REDEMPTION OF SAID BONDS AS THE SAME MATURE AND ACCRUE; PRESCRIBING THE MATURITY OF SAID BONDS, THE MANNER OF HOLDING SUCH ELECTION AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

WHEREAS, the City Commission of the City of Lubbock affirmatively finds that it is advisable and to the best interest of said City that certain improvements, additions, extensions and enlargements be made to the public streets and highways within said City and to the sanitary sewer system including the disposal plant of the City, all in accordance with the recommendations, plans and estimates which have heretofore been presented to, considered by, and found, by this Commission, to be needed in the immediate future; and,

WHEREAS, it is deemed advisable and necessary that the negotiable interest bearing coupon bonds of said City should be issued for the purpose of financing the cost of such improvements, additions, enlargements and extensions and that it is necessary and expedient that an election be held within and for said City of Lubbock for the purpose of submitting to the legally qualified resident property tax-paying voters of said City, who own property subject to taxation therein and who have duly rendered the same for taxation, the various propositions to determine whether or not such bonds shall be authorized for said propositions and whether or not ad valorem taxes shall be annually levied, assessed and collected against all property within the City of Lubbock for the redemption of said bonds at maturity and for paying the interest thereon as it accrued:

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF LUBBOCK:

I.

That an election be held within and throughout the boundaries of the City of Lubbock, Texas on the Second Tuesday in December, the same being the 13th day of December, 1949, such date being not less than fifteen (15) days nor more than thirty (30) days from the date of this Ordinance, at which time it shall be submitted to the resident qualified property tax-paying voters of Lubbock, Texas, who own property subject to taxation within said City and who have duly rendered the same for taxation, the following specific propositions:

PROPOSITION NUMBER ONE

Shall the City Commission of the City of Lubbock be authorized to issue the negotiable interest bearing coupon bonds of the City of Lubbock in the amount of $525,000.00, bearing interest at a rate of not exceeding three and one-half (3½%) per centum per annum from date and maturing at such time or times as may be deemed most expedient by the City Commission, serially not later than twenty-five (25) years from their date, for the purpose of improving, extending and altering public streets, avenues, alleys, highways and boulevards by paving, widening, raising, grading, filling, re-paving or re-surfacing the same or otherwise improving such streets and highways, and for the purpose of acquiring the necessary rights-of-way incidental thereto; and shall there be annually assessed, levied and collected upon all taxable property within the City of Lubbock, while said bonds or any of them are outstanding, a tax sufficient in amount to pay the annual interest on such bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption thereof at maturity.

PROPOSITION NUMBER TWO

Shall the City Commission of the City of Lubbock be authorized to issue the negotiable interest bearing coupon bonds of the City of Lubbock in an amount of $550,000.00, bearing interest at a rate of not exceeding three and one-half (3½%) per centum per annum from date and maturing at such time or times as may be deemed most expedient by the City Commission, serially not later than Twenty-five (25) years from their date, for the purpose of constructing, extending, enlarging, improving and adding to the sewage disposal plant, filtering beds and emptying grounds for the sewage system, and acquiring lands and rights-of-way within and without the limits of the City of Lubbock for such sewage disposal purposes, and extending and installing additional sanitary sewer lines, and shall there be annually assessed, levied and collected upon all taxable property within the City of Lubbock, while said bonds or any of them are outstanding, a tax sufficient in amount to pay the annual interest on such bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption thereof at maturity.

II

Said election shall be held under the provisions of and in strict comformity with the Constitution and Laws of the State of Texas, including Chapter I, Title 22, Revised Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, and, the provisions of the Charter of the City of Lubbock, and all acts amendatory, complementary and supplemental thereto.

All persons who are legally qualified resident property tax-paying voters of the City of Lubbock, Texas, who own property in said City subject to taxation and who have duly rendered the same for taxation, shall be entitled to vote at said election.

III

The ballots for said election shall have written or printed thereupon the following, to-wit:

PROPOSITION NUMBER ONE

FOR THE ISSUANCE OF THE STREET AND HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT BONDS AND THE LEVYING OF TAXES IN PAYMENT THEREOF.

AGAINST THE ISSUANCE OF STREET AND HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT BONDS AND THE LEVYING OF TAXES IN PAYMENT THEREOF.

FOR THE ISSUANCE OF THE SEWER EXTENSION BONDS AND THE LEVYING OF TAXES IN PAYMENT THEREOF.

AGAINST THE ISSUANCE OF THE SEWER EXTENSION BONDS AND THE LEVYING OF TAXES IN PAYMENT THEREOF.

As to each of the foregoing propositions each voter shall mark out with black ink or pencil one of the expressions, thus leaving the other as indicating his vote on the propositions.

IV

That said election shall be held in the Central Fire Station building at the corner of 10th Street and Avenue J in the City of Lubbock, Texas and the presiding Judge and Clerks of said election shall be as follows, viz:

R. Bush Smith, Presiding Judge
Glen Hess, Clerk
Mrs. Maddox, Clerk
Geo. Spinning, Clerk
Louis Murfee, jr., Clerk.

That notice of said election shall be given by posting a substantial copy of this Ordinance at the City Hall Building and at two other public places in the City of Lubbock and such notice shall also be published on the same day in each of two successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published within the City of Lubbock, the date of the first publication to be not less than fourteen (14) days prior to the date set for said election.

The Mayor and City Secretary shall cause such notices to be prepared and posted and published and shall make due returns thereof to this City Commission.

VI

Immediately after said election has been held, the officers holding the same shall make returns of the result thereof to the City Secretary of the City of Lubbock, for canvassing by the City Commission and shall return the ballot boxes to the City Secretary for safekeeping.

The manner of holding such election and canvassing and making returns thereof shall be governed by the general election laws of the State of Texas, when not in conflict with the provisions of the hereinabove mentioned statutes, and the City Commission will furnish the necessary ballots and other election supplies requisite for said election.

VII

The fact that it is affirmatively found by the City Commission of the City of Lubbock, Texas that there is urgent need to proceed with the matters of construction, improvement, enlargement and extension of the sewer system of the City of Lubbock and public streets and highway improvements of said City in order to make the same more convenient for the public at large and to preserve and protect the health and welfare of the citizens of Lubbock, creates an emergency and public necessity demanding that the rule requiring the reading of this Ordinance on more than one day before final passage be suspended, and such rule is hereby suspended, and it is ordained that this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force immediately upon its passage and adoption.

PASSED, APPROVED AND ADOPTED this the 14th day of November, 1949.

W. H. RODGERS,
Mayor, City of Lubbock, Texas

ATTEST:
Lavenia Lowe
City Secretary, City of Lubbock, Texas.

OFFICIAL TO REORGANIZE DEFENSES

Plan To Make Poland Bastion Of Eastern Russia Indicated

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 — Sideglances:

Poles in this country who know the score of what is happening back home, behind the curtain that descended on their land, insist that Russian Marshal Rokossovsky's arrival in Warsaw has nothing to do with the announced reasons.

They say he is there to reorganize the defenses of one of the world's most strategic areas, the approaches to the richest portions of the Soviet.

Coincidentally, the Communist Polish government cancelled two contracts with Sweden which, had they been permitted to go forward, would have enabled Swedish engineers and other professional and amateur observers, to enter Poland at this time.

To Weed Out Officials

The second reason for the Marshal's arrival in Poland is political, Polish sources say. He will attend to the final weeding out of "deviationists," such as former Polish Commy big-wig Wladyslaw Gomulka, and become the instrument by which Poland formally becomes a state within the U.S.R.R.

One Polish official who is sweating it out these days is Jakob Berman, a top figure in Poland's politburo and other secret echelons since the present government there was forced on the people in 1945.

Stanislay Mikolajcyk, last Democratic premier of Poland, recently returned from Western Germany, told me yesterday:

"Berman had a relative in prison in Russia for some time, but finally managed to have him paroled and shipped into Poland.

Wrote Books On Prisons

"But then he secured a passport for the man—whose name is Eiger—and a visa that enabled him to escape the country and enter Sweden. All of which was well and good, but freedom went to Eiger's head. He wrote a book on his experiences in Russian prisons, and the Russian system in general.

"Berman has been asked to explain. It is not easy to do such things under Communism."

Thousands Are

the United States—possibly the world. The total area of the 21 counties approximates 20,000 square miles. The cotton acreage approximately 2,700,000—slightly less than one-fifth of the total area.

Estimates On Ginnings

The latest estimates indicate that close to 800,000 bales have been ginned. More than 600,000 have been classed in the U. S. classing office here, which is running about 50,000 bales behind, according to reports today.

By far the greater part of the harvesting thus for has been done by field labor, but mechanical pickers are being used increasingly as the stalks have dried and the leaves have dropped off.

The original estimates of picker needs in this area was 100,000—as compared with an average of 40,000 to 50,000 in past year. The total number of itinerants helping with the harvest, in any previous year probably never has exceeded 55,000.

There was some question when farmers over most of the area cutting harvest labor prices whether many of the itinerants would leave for other sections of the country. Officials now say the departures have been few. Prevailing prices now are $1.50 and $1.75 per 100 pounds in the field. Two weeks ago they were $2 and $2.25 with rumors that demands would be made for a raise to $2.50.

That was when the farmers balked, began calling mass meetings and agreed to establish and stick to the prices now being paid.

That, in itself, was a reflection of confidence that the farmers could get their cotton out of the field, regardless of the effects of the wage reduction upon labor.

The confidence, apparently was based largely upon the presence in the South Plains of approximately 5,000 mechanical pickers—more such pieces of equipment than in any cotton producing area upon earth.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS GAINS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—The stock market swerved back on a rising course today after getting side-tracked Monday.

Final prices were tops for the day in most cases. Turnover expanded to 1,400,000 shares from 1,180,000 yesterday.

Profit taking was very much in evidence again today but was handily absorbed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks edged up .2 of one point to 68.6. This compared with the 1949 high of 68.7 first touched this year on Nov. 2 and matched on Saturday.

The railroad group made the best showing for a change. Industrials took second place while utilities were unchanged on average.

Announcement by Studebaker of a $1.25 yearend dividend came after the close of the market. The stock has been favored recently, largely in anticipation of a generous disbursement. Final price was up ¼ at 26⅞, just under the year's peak.

Chrysler, also actively traded, moved up a point to 60½.

Republic Steel closed 1⅜ higher at 23⅝ following news that directors had approved a special dividend of $1.25.

Cudahy Packing rated high on the active list, mainly because of a single transfer of 29,800 shares at 8, up ⅛. Final price was 8¼.

International Hydro-Electric, also active, stood out with a rise of a full point to 8½.

American Power and Light common and preferreds, steadily boosted last week, continued to rise. The common finished ⅜ up at 14, the $6 preferred 2⅝ up at 120, and the $5 preferred up 2⅜ at 101.

Others higher included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Woolworth, Radio Corp., Reynolds Metals, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Homestake Mining, Du Pont, General Electric, American Woolen, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and U. S. Gypsum.

Newport News Shipbuilding lost ¼ at 29½ despite a special yearend dividend of $2 same as paid a year ago.

Also down were Northern States Power, Packard, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Kennecott Copper, American Airlines, and Warner Bros.

Higher in the curb were Raytheon Mfg., Tung-Sol Lamp, United Light, N. J. Zinc, International Hydro-Electric preferred, Creole Petroleum, Cities Service and Babcock and Wilcox. Humble Oil and Electric Bond and Share slipped. Saels of 320,000 shares compared with 330,000 Monday.

Railway obligations were under mild pressure in the bond market. Long-term U. S. governments were trimmed 1/32 or 2/32 of a point in over-the-counter dealings.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP) — Cotton futures were firm today on aggressive mill buying. The advance was aided by covering coming through traders who had looked for more of a reaction in the market under pressure of December liquidation and hedging. Switching from nearby December to later months are extensive, anticipating first notice day on Friday. The market was helped by reports of "a continued good demand for cotton goods, with buyers taking additional quantities of textiles for delivery in the second quarter of 1950.

Futures closed 50 cents to $1.05 a bale higher than the previous close.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP) — Persistent demand and continued light offerings from the country boosted corn futures into new high ground again today.

December corn hit a new high since February, and other corn delivieries reached new seasonal peaks.

Wheat started higher on buying stimulated partly by another boost in the wheat export subsidy rate yesterday. The market then moved backward on profit-taking, and then moved forward again.

Wheat closed ½ to 1¼ cent higher than the previous finish, December $2.15-2.14⅞ corn was up ⅜ to 2¼, December $1.28-$1.28¼, oats were unchanged to ⅜ lower, December 74⅞-75, rye was down 1 to 1½, December $1.32, soybeans were ¼ to 1¼ higher, December $2.26-2.25¾, and lard was 5 cents a hundred pounds lower to 2 cents higher, December $10.30.

block 97, H&TC survey.

It is to begin drilling immediately.

CENTRAL GAINES COUNTY WELL MAKES SHOWING

Samodan Oil corporation and Anderson-Brothers No. 1-E-A Andrews, prospective Ellenburger discovery in central-south Gaines county, on the northwest side of the Robertson field, had swabbed an average of 6.6 barrels of clean oil per hour from perforated section in the top of the Ellenburger at 11,900-960 feet, after that interval had been washed with 500 gallons of acid.

That was at the rate of 158.4 barrels of oil per day. No formation water had been developed. Operators were preparing to treat the perforated zone with 1,500 gallons of regular acid, and then test further.

This exploration is 660 feet from west quarter of section 19, block north and west lines of the north-A-24, psl survey.

DEEP WELL PLANNED IN MOTLEY COUNTY

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1-H Matador Land & Cattle company is to be a 9,000-foot wildcat to find and test the Ellenburger in central-east Motley county in the northeast part of the Permian basin.

No. 1-H Matador Land & Cattle company will be 558 feet from south and 830 feet from east lines of section 131, block M, Matador Land & Cattle company survey. That makes it 16 miles east of Matador.

Drilling is to begin in the near future.

Officials End Tour

rain makes a man think in bigger terms.

"This progressiveness is evident in the modern homes and improvements, the REA development, the plumbing and refrigeration that is in an advanced stage on the South Plains."

As for Lubbock, Mr. Hay showed no alarm whatsoever although his company's "percentage" of loans in the city is fairly heavy.

"I am particularly impressed by your zoning ordinance. Zoning such as you have and which is rigidly enforced makes a cleaner, more attractive town and makes it easier to finance construction. I think the people of Lubbock are very wise not only to have the ordinance but to enforce it rigidly."

On Monday's tour the officials were accompanied by their farm loan representative for this area, W. R. (Bill) Tillson. Tuesday they were accompanied by Kenneth D. (Dinty) Moore, agency manager, and J. H. Brock, city mortgage loan manager.

A return visit to this area had special memories for Hay, who back in 1916 spent several months working on the old Long-S ranch owned by the late Col. Slaughter. He recalls that he made $1 a day and board, helping work the 18,000 head of cattle then on the ranch between Big Spring and Lamesa.

His distinguished record is preceded by an equally impressive record of his father. His father was mayor of Dallas in 1907-11, being the first mayor under commission form of government there, and was president of the Dallas Trust and Savings bank, now the Dallas National bank, at the time of his death in 1916.

His mother was the first successful life insurance woman sales person in Dallas, and later was dean of women at Southern Methodist university for 11 years.

Mr. Hay was educated at Southern Methodist university and has spent his entire business career in the life insurance business. He is a director in numerous business enterprises and associations.

He failed to confirm that the unusual tour of the executive board might result in a further increase in the company's investments in the area, such as a loan on an office building or hotel, but denied that the company is "pulling in its horns" on loans in the area.

"Our company has always been conservative, and in the future as in the past, the extent of mortgage loans must necessarily depend on the borrower's ability to pay it back."

The new 200-gallon sprayer will be purchased early next spring. With two nozzles that will deliver a fine mist, it will be used to spray all garbage cans in the city and the walls of buildings in the downtown area alleys.

Meanwhile, the winter's research program is expected to show whether DDT or other chemicals can be used at the greatest efficiency and savings.

'Most Fractured Freshman' Recovering From Concussion

DALLAS, Nov. 22 (AP) — Don Martin, 14, may be the year's most fractured freshman.

The Eastland High school freshman is recovering from a brain concussion received last week when he fell out of a jeep on the way to a Scout meeting.

Earlier he broke his leg while swimming.

When he recovered he dived from a swimming pool high board. Both arms were broken.

Former Federal Reserve System Official Hits Banking Program

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 — Marriner S. Eccles charged today that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. "has been used to discourage membership in the Federal Reserve system and to weaken effective monetary policy."

Eccles is a member and former chairman of the federal reserve system's board of governors.

He told a joint congressional economic subcommittee that "the continued existence of three federal agencies performing similar or allied functions in the field of bank supervision" is not justifiable.

Duplication Is Charged

Beside the FDIC and federal reserve, he presumably referred to the Comptroller of the Currency.

"There is unnecessary duplication and triplication of offices, personnel, effort, time and expense," Eccles told the Senate-House subcommittee studying monetary, credit and fiscal policies.

Eccles, long a storm center in government fiscal circles, said he supports the principal of Federal Insurance of bank deposits. But, he said, "there is no logic whatever in the present provisions of the law which says in effect to a bank, 'you can't join the federal reserve system unless you also join the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., but you can join the (FDIC) without joining the Federal Reserve System.'"

He said "the law compels a national bank to join both but a state bank has the option of joining one or the other, or neither."

Eccles also called for abolition of the present system of reserve requirements, which set up different standards for banks in central federal reserve cities and regular reserve cities, and for so-called "country banks."

The former federal reserve chairman, reduced to mere member status by President Truman last year, also took a poke at the Reconstruction Finance corporation's peacetime lending activities but admitted its usefulness in wartime.

He said federal reserve should take over RFC's functions in guaranteeing in part loans made by private banks.

Commission System Of Professional Men To Face Court Test

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (AP)— Professional men may have to revise their business practices if the Supreme court upholds government anti-trust charges against a group of Washington realtors.

Stock brokers, architects, engineers and other business men who work on a commission basis are interested in the case.

The court agreed to review the charges during a brief session yesterday. It disposed of a handful of routine opinions and then adjourned until Dec. 5.

Suit Filed In 1947

The real estate suit was filed in 1947 when the government was concentrating on alleged anti-trust violations affecting housing. Defendants are the National Association of Real Estate boards, Chicago; the Washington board and its members; and national executive vice president Herbert U. Nelson.

They were accused of fixing commission rates that brokers may charge for selling real estate. The government said this commission-fixing is illegal, regardless of how low the rates may be.

Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff ruled that this interpretation of the anti-trust laws does not apply to personal services—only to commodity price fixing. He likened the brokers and their commissions to members of a labor union and their wages.

Action Held Legal

"For men to combine to regulate the compensation to be charged by them for their own services is entirely legal," he said.

The government appealed his ruling.

Since real estate brokers do not generally cross state lines, there is some question whether a decision against the Washington group would affect associations in other cities.

The case, a civil suit, asks the courts to forbid the brokers to continue doing business at fixed commissions.

Rev. Guy W. Small To Take Up New Duties At Longview

Rev. Guy W. Small, who has been manager of Shaw's Jewelry Co. in Lubbock the last three years, is to report to Longview Thursday as pastor of Spring Hill Baptist church.

During the three years here and in Dallas prior to that, the ordained minister has fulfilled various engagements as a minister while actively engaged in business.

He attended Texas Military college and then received ministerial training at Louisiana college at Pineville, La., where he was graduated. He was ordained for the ministry in 1937 at Palestine.

While operating a business at Palestine, he was pastor of Brushy Creek Baptist church. In Dallas, he was pastor of Cedar Valley Baptist church. In Lubbock, he has preached at various times at Calvary Baptist church, Trinity Baptist church and at Woodrow Baptist church but has not held a pastorate.

He said he had decided to devote all his time to the ministry.

He and his wife and their six-year-old son, John, will leave Lubbock Thursday morning.

'HOT, DRY RUN' FOR JET 'SCRAM SEAT'—Zoom! To the top of a 105-foot tower in two seconds shoots Marine Sgt. Thomas W. Watson of Farmville, Va. At the Philadelphia Naval Base, Watson was testing a skyrocket device which duplicates the "ride" of a jet pilot when he uses an automatic ejection seat to free himself from a crippled plane. The high speed of the seat started it smoking at 40 feet, right, but the sergeant was unhurt. The skyrocket trainer will be used to teach pilots what to expect when they spring out of a crippled jet to begin the parachute drop to earth.

Illegal Shipments To Red Nations Blocked

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (INS) — Commerce Secretary Sawyer reported today that the U.S. stopped illegal shipment of nearly $5 million worth of strategic materials to "iron curtain" nations within three months.

Sawyer, in his third quarterly report on export controls, told President Truman and Congress that during July, August and September 1,890 possible export control violations were detected by the department's staff.

The goods marked for export but retained in the U. S. by the department's investigators included steel, high-test gasoline, heavy-duty rubber and chemicals used to make explosives.

A spokesman explained that shipments were held up when evidence indicated that materials marked for shipment to friendly nations actually were destined to fall into the hands of Russia and her satellites.

FALSE TEETH
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped of wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). WONDERFUL NYLON

Wonder Fashion Of 1949...all nylon dress brought to you at a special low price!

This is the dress you've dreamed about! We think Donovan of Dallas has created the wonder fashion of 1949! This Prima Donna dress is fashioned of INDESTRUCTIBLE BUTTERFLY NYLON by National Mallinson. It is sheer and airy, with air spaces (that allow it to "breathe") in its different, wonderful weave. It launders so easily—dries back into its pristine crinkly look without any ironing. A boon to travelers and girls with a job . . . prized for its simple good lines, its timely fashion, its eternal freshness. Black, brown, navy. Sizes 10 to 20.
