Seventy Die As French Race Car Smashes Throng

LE MANS, France (AP)—At least 70 persons died and another 75 were seriously injured from the crash of a flaming sports car in front of the grandstand in Le Mans' 24-hour auto race.

A speeding Mercedes crashed into another roaring car then catapulted in flames over a dirt retaining wall into the crowd Saturday, and early today the death toll was still rising.

Among the dead was the driver of the silver-coated Mercedes, Pierre Levegh of France.

Flames and flying debris took a heavy toll among the spectators. Pieces of hot metal cut bodies apart.

M. Huet, chief police inspector who directed the removal of dead and dying, said he knew of two children who were decapitated. The dazed parents took the bodies away without informing police.

Huet said 65 persons died in hospitals or were dead on arrival "and I know of five others at least who are dead."

The number of dead was rising "as various injuries turn out to be fatal," he added.

The accident was one of the worst in the history of racing—possibly the most catastrophic.

A high-ranking police officer, his arms bloody to the elbow, said an hour after the crash while bodies were still being dragged from the crowd:

Institute Hits Back At Unrest Report

New Mexico Military Institute's board Saturday struck back at reports the school is torn by unrest.

In a statement signed by board of regents Pres. Clarence Hinkle, the NMMI board said 13 of 100 faculty members have been resigned or were not given new contracts.

The statement sought to counter reports large numbers of faculty members have resigned due to reported unrest and that nothing is being done about it.

Hinkle also states the board of regents has several applications for the post of superintendent and it is hoped an outstanding man can be secured soon.

This is the first official comment covering the situation at NMMI which has been made available by the board.

The text of the statement, in part, follows:

There has been considerable publicity concerning New Mexico Military Institute during the past week. Several newspaper articles have appeared which would lead one to believe that conditions at the institute are in a state of unrest. Statements have been made to the effect that a large number of the faculty members have resigned due to this condition and that nothing is being done to correct the situation.

The board of regents of the institute determined last March to go back to the traditional role of the institute as a college, due to a nationwide ROTC regulations.

This change has necessitated a revision of the institute curriculum and to some extent, its faculty members.

Out of the entire staff and faculty membership of approximately 100, seven instructors in the college department will not return next year. Two of these are not returning due to the fact that they desire to teach in a graduate school. Three are going into business or industry and are leaving the teaching profession.

Two were not offered contracts by the superintendent for one reason or other. There are four instructors in the high school department who are not returning and one of these filled a temporary position and is going into public relations work. One has gone into business and two others have accepted positions in other schools.

Due to the change to a junior college, it is only necessary to replace five of the above mentioned college faculty members, which is less than the normal turnover.

In addition the librarian is not returning at his own request so that he may accept a position in his home town, and one of the coaches, who was not on the teaching staff, has indicated his desire to accept a position elsewhere.

The commandant was advised by the board of regents that they would prefer that the commandant for the ensuing year be selected by the incoming superintendent.

The contract of one other member of the commandant's staff was not renewed.

Colonel Ward will remain as superintendent until a new superintendent can be selected. He is now in the process of filling the teaching staff positions and has a number of applications for the same.

Grocery Prices Rising as New Bill Takes Hold

HOBBS (AP)—With the new state law prohibiting limiting sales of "loss leader" items in effect today, prices of some grocery items shot skyward in Hobbs.

Sugar that was selling for 59 cents for 10 pounds jumped to 97 cents to $1.05; shortening skyrocketed from 69 cents to 93; coffee went from 88 cents to 94, oleomargarine from a dime to 20 cents a pound, and Tide detergent from 55 cents to 74.

Midnight Set As Deadline On Agreement

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. tonight was reported to have offered the CIO United Auto Workers Union contract terms similar to the recent Ford settlement, including a modified guaranteed wage.

Union sources in reporting the offer said it was expected to form a basis for the same kind of three-year agreement negotiated with Ford and stave off a threatened strike at midnight tonight.

Acceptance would provide three years of continued labor peace in the thriving auto industry.

The UAW, however, was seeking to better at GM the terms it won last Monday from Ford.

International To Build New Office Structure

Work will start immediately on a quarter-million dollar office building for International Minerals & Chemical Corp., it has been announced by Carl A. Arend, Jr., manager of the corporation's Carlsbad operations.

Designed along contemporary architectural lines, the new building will be located at the company's plant and minesite, 20 miles east of Carlsbad.

General contract for the construction has been awarded to Lemcke, Clough & King, of Albuquerque. Plumbing, heating and air conditioning will be done by Brown & Olds, of El Paso, and Carlsbad Electric Company, of Carlsbad, will do the electrical work.

Estimated to cost in excess of $250,000, the new structure will contain over 12,000 square feet of office space. It will be completely air conditioned and incorporate latest features in lighting and arrangement of office spaces. For the first time, the new building will make it possible for the firm to house offices of all staff officers in one building with resultant efficiencies made possible by this consolidation.

Manager Arend estimated that the new building would be ready for occupancy about March 1956.

DETROIT (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers said today General Motors Corp. contract talk "have reached a critical stage" with less than 36 hours remaining before a Sunday midnight strike deadline for GM's 350,000 workers.

The union invited GM President Harlow Curtice to enter the talks personally, but Curtice promptly turned down the bid.

The union statement was the first public word that the negotiations were not running smoothly.

The UAW has set Sunday midnight as a final deadline, after granting a contract extension earlier in the week, for either a settlement or a walkout of GM workers in 119 plants from coast to coast.

The invitation to Curtice to take part in the bargaining was contained in a letter from UAW President Walter Reuther and the union's vice president, John W. Livingston.

They said that with less than 36 hours before the deadline, the negotiations "have reached a critical stage with time running out."

Unresolved issues, the union said, include economic matters, working conditions and local plant problems. The letter did not mention the guaranteed wage demand specifically.

Reuther and Livingston told Curtice that "both of your two immediate predecessors, Mr. William S. Knudsen and Mr. C. E. Wilson, Continued on Page Four

Regional Education Meeting Follows Local Programs

Results of the regional conference on education at Hermosa elementary school Friday followed the pattern set by the local study council during the past weeks of preparation in the program outlined by the White House.

A full written report will be submitted for study at the state meeting, which will be held in Santa Fe in July.

Six groups reported, and briefly outlined the desires of the group for improving the educational program in the area and the state.

The first group report indicated that members of the committee thought the responsibility of education should be shared by school, home, church, community, and business.

The second committee said a reorganization of the school program in the community, the county, and the state is needed to insure efficiency and economy. It recommended an informative program on reorganization so that the general public could know and see the need.

Group three, studying building needs said 75 per cent of the area was represented at the meeting, and that in this area the need for more finances is great, and will be much greater within the next six years. The committee, however, said the need is more immediate in some other areas.

On teachers, the fourth committee urged teachers be hired who have scholarship, religious principle, civic-mindedness, cultural background, good mental and physical health, be familiar with the community, regard for teaching as a following and a love for children.

The committee said 150,000 new teachers will be needed in the near future if the shortage is to be kept.

Given as causes were competition of industry, community attitudes, better salaries in other professions, and guidance while students.

On finances, committee number five said there should be more responsibility on the local level, but that some system should be devised so that the federal government could be taxed for lands that lie within school districts. The committee also urged a more efficient method of collecting state income and sales taxes. No federal control is wanted, the committee said.

On a constructive attitude in this state, the committee studying that problem group six, said there is a good attitude. It said bond issues pass and that New Mexico ranks high in teachers salaries. It said newspapers and radio help create good attitudes. The committee said a job well done is the best publicity for education.

Explosion Hurts Veeck Painfully

SILVER CITY (AP)—Former major league baseball team owner Bill Veeck was injured painfully but apparently not seriously Saturday when a paint-gun jar exploded.

He was rushed the 90 miles from his recently purchased ranch to Watts Clinic here.

Physicians said he suffered severe laceration on the shoulders, chest, arms and face. He was expected to remain in the hospital several days.

He said the glass jar that he used with his paint spraying outfit exploded while he was painting some buildings on his ranch.

The explosion showered him with glass.

His ranch, purchased last February, is north of Glenwood. He formerly was an owner of the Cleveland Indians and before that the St. Louis Browns.

Hope Fiesta Seen By Over 1,000

The annual Hope Fiesta got underway Saturday afternoon with a whoop and a holler and rip-roaring parade. Almost 1,000 spectators turned out to watch the parade march down Hope's main street.

Prizes were given to the three best floats. The "Goodbye Party Line" float topped first place honors. In second place was the "Petticoats" sixth annual float. Third place went to the Carlsbad Cub Scouts, Pack 87.

Judges were Paul Scott, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, and Dave Muhlstein, radio announcer for KS-VP.

"We're havin' a real good shindig this time," one Hope citizen told the Advocate reporter. "We're having more fun than we did last year."

After the parade, the crowd gathered under trees, along Hope's sidewalks, and in the general store. Camera enthusiasts were having a field day, snapping away at any and every object of attraction.

After about 30 minutes of this, the crowd began to move toward the rodeo grounds where the highlight of the affair was held, beginning at 3 o'clock.

Last night, the crowd gathered in the gymnasium for the big dance, following a free barbecue at the rodeo grounds. The only money people had to spend was 50 cents admission to the rodeo. This helps pay expenses for the affair. Of course, concession stands did a lot of business.

The event was first held in 1950 and 1,000 persons attended that year. Life Magazine did an article on the fiesta, bringing wide-spread fame to the little community of about 300 persons. The fiesta was given first after all the public offices in Hope were filled with women. The reason given for women taking over the jobs was that "the men were tired."

The mayor of Hope is Mrs. Ethel Altman.

Steelworkers Ask Sizeable Boost In Pay Talks

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The "Big Six" of the basic steel industry know today what the CIO United Steelworkers want as a "sizeable" pay hike for 600,000 workers.

And David J. McDonald, union president, was quoted as saying it isn't "nickels and dimes."

McDonald concluded a round of separate talks with the six firms yesterday, and the discussions were recessed indefinitely.

McDonald took personal charge of the union's arguments for a big pay raise. He opened the talks Tuesday with U. S. Steel Corp., the top producer, and met in succeeding sessions with representatives of Bethlehem Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., and Inland Steel Corp.

The firms employ 400,000 of the 600,000 members in the basic steel industry.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette quoted McDonald as saying he expected the companies to resume bargaining "probably June 20" with an offer of about 7 1/2 cents an hour.

U.S. Public Health Board Blamed for Salk Shot Mixup

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The public health service was under fire from two quarters today as Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele declared "We can go forward," now that the safety of anti-polio vaccine production has been assured by stiffer standards.

Scheele's confident statement came at a news conference yesterday after publication of a lengthy "white paper"—a detailed review by the health service of the brief but troubled history of the Salk vaccine program.

The surgeon general conceded the program "might have come close to the line of safety" in the past. But he said he had no doubts about safety now.

In New York, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, criticized the document, saying it "obviously gives only the public health service version of the vaccine situation to date."

In Philadelphia, H. W. Blades, executive vice president of Wyeth Inc., took strong exception to a statement by Dr. James A. Shannon, an associate director of the health service's National Institutes of Health.

Shannon said yesterday one batch of vaccine made by Wyeth is being subjected to searching laboratory analysis, although he said there was not enough evidence to label that lot suspect. In its white paper, the Health Service said the circumstances of three polio cases had raised some question about the vaccine used.

Blades termed it "most unfortunate, misleading and not in the public interest" that "suspicion should be cast on Wyeth vaccine and its routine retesting program and inference be given that Wyeth vaccine is suspect."

The drug company official said it had been nearly two months since injections with Wyeth vaccine began. "Information available to date does not warrant the implication contained in the state-ment attributed to Dr. Shannon," Blades said.

While Scheele reiterated his confidence in the Salk vaccine and voiced optimism, he did not say when he expected the mass immunization of school children to get back into full forward motion.

Meanwhile the summer's peak polio season drew closer with many localities still awaiting fresh supplies of vaccine with which to inject first and second graders.

Scheele told newsmen a decision to press on with the school vaccination program—after its suspension for weeks for special safety checks—was grounded on a "preponderance" of scientific opinion that the vaccine can be made without danger, under tighter requirements recently adopted.

Shannon said a special scientific committee on vaccine clearance which met Wednesday was unable to act because it found there were no batches awaiting clearance on which full data were available.

In speaking of the one Wyeth vaccine lot under close study, Shannon said Wyeth has withdrawn unused portions, but that roughly 10,000 shots from that batch had been used in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio.

On April 26, all vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif., was withdrawn from use after some inoculated children came down with polio. Ever since, health service specialists have been studying reports on an inspection of Cutter's plants and testing Cutter vaccine. The health service's "white paper" said yesterday the Cutter studies have not yet been finished. It promised a "detailed report" when they are.

In all there have been 146 confirmed post-inoculation polio cases among children vaccinated with the products of five licensed manufacturers, according to health service records up to yesterday.

In addition, there have been 103 confirmed polio cases among family and other contacts of children given Salk vaccine. About six million youngsters have been vaccinated.

Young King Josiah

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—II Chronicles 34; Nahum.

Josiah was eight years old when he began to reign. While he was still young he turned to God. Under his direction the altars of Baalim and the other heathen images were broken down and utterly destroyed.

Next Josiah ordered the temple restored. He sent three men to the high priest Hilkiah with money to get workmen and building materials. The carpenters and builders took the money, bought materials and did the work faithfully.

While the temple was being restored, a priest—probably Hilkiah—found an old book of the Law. Hilkiah gave it to Shaphan who had brought the money for the work, and he took it to the king, and read it to him.

When Josiah heard the book read, he rent his clothes. He then called his people together, read the book to them, and commanded them to keep God's statutes with all their hearts.

MEMORY VERSE—Isaiah 1:16, 17.

Young King Josiah

HE TURNED HIS PEOPLE BACK TO GOD

Scripture—II Chronicles 34; Nahum.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

AFTER MANASSEH, who reigned in Judah for 55 years, Amon reigned for only a little over a year, when he was killed by his own servants. This was one of the longest periods of spiritual and moral disintegration that Judah had ever known.

Amon's son, Josiah, a boy of eight, succeeded him, and, strange to relate, his thoughts turned to God while he was still a child. Whether he had a good God-fearing mother who had brought him up to revere Jehovah we do not know. Certain it is that he "walked in the way of the Lord," as had his ancestor, David.

The first thing he did was to have all the heathen idols and their high places torn down and utterly destroyed. He even burned the bones of the heathen priests upon their altars, thus "cleansing Judah and Jerusalem." He then did the same in the cities of Ephraim, Manasseh and Simeon, even unto Naphtali.

"And when he had broken down the altars and the groves, and had beaten the graven images into powder, and cut down all the idols throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem."

MEMORY VERSE

"Cease to do evil; learn to do well; seek judgment."—Isaiah 1:16, 17.

We can imagine that many of the younger Sunday school pupils and also older ones, would have been happy to help King Josiah in this work if they had lived in those old days, and been inspired by his righteous indignation.

In the 18th year of his reign, Josiah had purged the land and the house, so he sent for Shaphan Maaseiah, the governor of the city; and Joah, the son of Joahaz the recorder, to repair the house of the Lord.

The three went to Hilkiah, the high priest, and gave him the money "that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites that kept the doors had gathered of the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim, and all the remnant of Israel, and of all Judah and Benjamin."

They put the money into the hands of the workmen that had oversight of the repairs, the overseers or superintendents, we may suppose, to buy the necessary materials.

"And the men did work faithfully," we are told. Today when we find some of the work done by modern workers is not done as "faithfully" as one could wish, it is good to know how loyal and

But Mrs. St. John Park says the most exasperating job is matching up socks.

The rest of it, she and her hus-

The little Parks, six boys and four girls, range in age from 2 to 15. Seven of them are in school and that's one place where system takes over.

Sending seven youngsters off to schools requires a bunch of lunches. So the parents take one large loaf of sandwich bread and line the slices up piece by piece. Mrs. Park spreads the dressing and Mrs. Park follows right behind adding the filler. Then they work from each end to top and wrap the sandwiches.

So far, Park says, medical and

Minoso Claims Can Balls to Bother

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnie Minoso had a hit since he was the first to hit a home run in the Chicago White Sox's victory over the Detroit Tigers last night.

Just two percentage points separate them with Burns on top with an even 400. Jordan is hitting .300 and Osorio .308.

Jordan has the most hits with 73. Osorio has 72 and Burns 66.

Osorio has scored the most runs, at 57. He also has the most total bases with 132.

Joe Bauman of Roswell and Jim Zapp of Big Spring are tied in home runs with 17 apiece.

The pitching leader is Dean Franks of Roswell, who has notched 12 triumphs, while Art Diescare of Big Spring leads in strikeouts with 78.

Bob Swanson of Midland has the best pitching average with eight victories against no defeats.

Osorio leads in club fielding with .958.

FRIDAY NIGHT—
Double Win
Puts Artesia
In Top Spot

By winning both ends of a doubleheader Friday night Artesia's NuMexers moved a half-game ahead of San Angelo to take the Longhorn league's first place—at least temporarily.

The NuMexers downed Odessa 6-5 in the 10-inning first game, then took the nightcap 4-1.

San Angelo stayed as close as it could, whipping Roswell 3-2 to fall just a half game off the pace.

Midland, in third place, stood off Big Spring 4-3 and is one game back. In the other game, Carlsbad blasted Hobbs 11-5.

It was Tom Jordan's 10th inning homer with one out and none on that won the first game for Artesia. The blow was Jordan's second of that game. Altogether, he hit three.

Odessa led in the first game 5-3 at the end of four innings, but the NuMexers tied it up in the sixth. It was stalemated then until the Artesia manager's circuit blow in the 10th.

In the second game an Odessa rally in the seventh came too late to overcome the NuMexer advantage. Artesia had scored four runs in the fourth on Jordan's lead-off homer, singles by Paul Dobkowski and Dan Howard. Joe Coscia's double, and Jim Bawcon's triple.

Odessa broke winner Tom Buford's chance for a shutout in the seventh with successive singles by Fred Harist, Jerry Quanne, and pinchhitter Al Smith, who drove in Harist.

After Smith was put out at second, a fielder's choice and a walk loaded the sacks to plunge Buford into trouble.

Lefty Jim Kenaga was sent in to face left-hander Scales, but the strategy was upset slightly when Odessa substituted righthander Ed Peacock. Kenaga, nevertheless, struck him out to settle the uprising.

Artesia's biggest inning, the fourth, the NuMexers collected four hits and scored three runs. Coscia hammered a single and Young got on base on an error.

Boyd, Tom Jordan, and Dan Howard hit singles, and Gallardo got on base by an error. Coscia, Boyd, and Frank Gallardo scored the runs.

The NuMexers and Potashers meet again at the local park tonight. Game time is 7:30.

Teams Return To NuMexer Park Tonight

The Artesia NuMexers stayed in first place in the Longhorn league last night with a resounding 9-1 victory over the Carlsbad Potashers.

The NuMexers hold a slim one-half game lead over San Angelo.

Artesia Pitcher Harry Young struck out 12 Carlsbad batters, allowing seven hits. He went the distance. Olivia was credited with the loss—Artesia hitters got to him for 15 hits in eight innings.

Carlsbad scored its lone run in the top of the second inning when Nunez, who singled, came in on a one-base hit by Hardy.

Carlsbad's 1-0 lead was short-lived. In the bottom half of the second inning, Paul Dobkowski got on base on an error by Potashers second baseman Hardy, and made it to second on a single by Bob Herron.

Still another single; this one hit by Joe Coscia, scored Dobkowski. Herron came home on a hit by Young. That put the NuMexers in the lead, 2-1.

From that point on, it was Artesia's ball game in every department. The NuMexers scored once in the third, three times in the fourth, and one time in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings. Howard hit his 15th home run of the season in the sixth inning with no one on.

In the batting department, Bob Boyd hit two for three, Gallardo got three for five, and Howard hit three for five for Artesia. Hardy got two for four for the Potashers.

In Artesia's biggest inning, the fourth, the NuMexers collected four hits and scored three runs. Coscia hammered a single and Young got on base on an error.

Boyd, Tom Jordan, and Dan Howard hit singles, and Gallardo got on base by an error. Coscia, Boyd, and Frank Gallardo scored the runs.

The NuMexers and Potashers meet again at the local park tonight. Game time is 7:30.

SPORTS ROUNDUP— Newcombe Too Modest On Claims for 'Little Better'

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Probably the straightest talk we heard all spring in Florida was the simple statement by Don Newcombe, who pitches for Brooklyn. He said he figured on doing somewhat better this season than last, when he was enveloped in a nightmare of monumental proportions.

The big Negro righthander said that he just felt it. He said that last year, after having spent the previous two years pitching nothing more serious than Army ball, he couldn't seem to get himself untracked. Pitching against the average service club, Newk said was a whole lot different from trying to get big leaguers out.

"I think maybe it takes a pitcher longer to get back in form after a hitch in the Army than it takes a good batter," he said, citing the fact that Willie Mays had come back better than ever after his term in uniform.

Newk's record at the moment, with better than two-thirds of the campaign yet to go, stands at 10-0, and he could be the first pitcher since Dizzy Dean to win 30. He won only nine all last season while losing eight.

Newcombe's most recent victory, a four-hit job on the Cincinnati Reds, saw him issue not a single walk or throw as many as three balls to any batter. In all, he delivered only 91 pitches, which borders on the fantastic nowadays. In the 81 innings he has hurled thus far he has yielded a grand total of nine walks, or an average of one per nine-inning game.

Last year, while he was going the distance only six times in 23 tries, Newk kept himself in a steady state by giving up 49 passes in 144 innings. Where he struck out only 82 in all his first post-war season, he already has notched 57 to date. Where his earned-run average soared to 4.56 last year, it stands today at 2.44. An icing on his comeback cake, the largest Dodger is swatting the ball at a .400 clip.

University of Florida baseball coach Dave Fuller was a three-sport star at Wake Forest. He played baseball, basketball and football.

Basilio earned approximately $30,000 as well as the title. DeMarco, who held the diadem only 70 days in becoming the 11th modern welterweight ruler to lose his crown in the first defense, collected a hefty $60,000.

Although Basilio said he was willing to defend his crown against anyone I'm called on to meet," his manager had other plans for the immediate future.

"We'd like one or two nontitle fights for Carmen to bring in some cash," said Johnny De John. "I think we might take on Art Aragon of Los Angeles in an over-weight fight on the coast in a couple of months that should do plenty there. Then one more and we'll be ready for anyone, Jim Norris (President of the International Boxing Club) says. We're not committed to fight anyone for the title, no matter what you hear."

It has been reported that the winner of the Friday fracas would take on ex-champion Johnny Saxton, who lost his title to DeMarco via 14th round technical knockout April 1.

We'll Make Announcements

THERE has been more rumors and gossips broadcast concerning the Artesia Advocate and what we are going to do in the past few weeks than anyone could keep track of.

We have heard about anything and everything if we would just listen long enough.

To us it is all very interesting in view of the fact that The Artesia Advocate has been your hometown paper for the past 36 years and in so far as we know will continue to be your hometown paper for the next 36 years.

We have been operating here a long time. We have seen days and times when things weren't so good. We have seen days when the sale of advertising was slow. The Advocate has seen the time when job printing and office was good and when the competition was not as great and when things went along in a fine way.

But then there have been days and times when business supply business also was not the best.

But during these periods, the good and the bad, employees have been paid; the bills have been met; the job has been done; the Advocate has been published and distributed.

There is no reason to think that this will not continue to be the case. Those so busy scattering rumors and gossip about our business aren't very busy or they wouldn't have time to circulate the rumors.

Then, too, we believe that Artesia has been hearing these rumors for so long and so often now they are like the people who heard the boy crying "wolf, wolf". We don't believe anyone pays any attention to them.

We can assure you, however, that if there are any announcements to be made regarding The Advocate, its present or its future, we will make those announcements cause we are the only ones who can speak with authority.

We believe we are capable of doing that as well as capable of making our own decisions as to what should be said when there is anything to say.

Until the time you can look back at the rumors you have heard; you can discount them and brand them for what they were; and you can be assured that The Advocate will continue to be published just as it has been for the more than 36 years since it was established.

THESE plant workers—left to right, Geraldine Hinkle, Charles Hogsett, and Juan Lopez—prepare meat for storage in the rented lockers or for sale over the counter at the plant.

THIS meat has just been placed in the storage room. Later, it will be butchered and sold, or placed in lockers for customers who use the rented space at the Locker.

The Industries of Artesia...

Hogsetts Build Locker Plant Into Important Small Industry

Artesia locker plant, 302 S. Thirteenth, has been a thriving business in this city for more than 11 years. The owner, Sy Hogsett a butcher for more than 40 years, built the plant 11 years ago last March.

Hogsett buys all his meats from the big packing houses. He slaughters the animals and cleans and processes the meats for customers in this area. He says many of his customers purchase meats in large quantities and store the food in home freezers. He said many others, however, take advantage of the locker rental service in use at the plant.

Under normal circumstances, Hogsett employs 10 persons, and his payroll runs $15,000 per year. In 1954, Hogsett said, he grossed $50,000. His utility bills in '54 ran about $17,000.

Animals are slaughtered in a building just back of the locker plant itself. They are cleaned in the same building, and then brought into the plant for butchering. After the meat is prepared for sale, it is stored in the cooling room.

When a customer buys meat and wishes to store it at the plant, it is taken into the locker room and put in the space purchased by the customer.

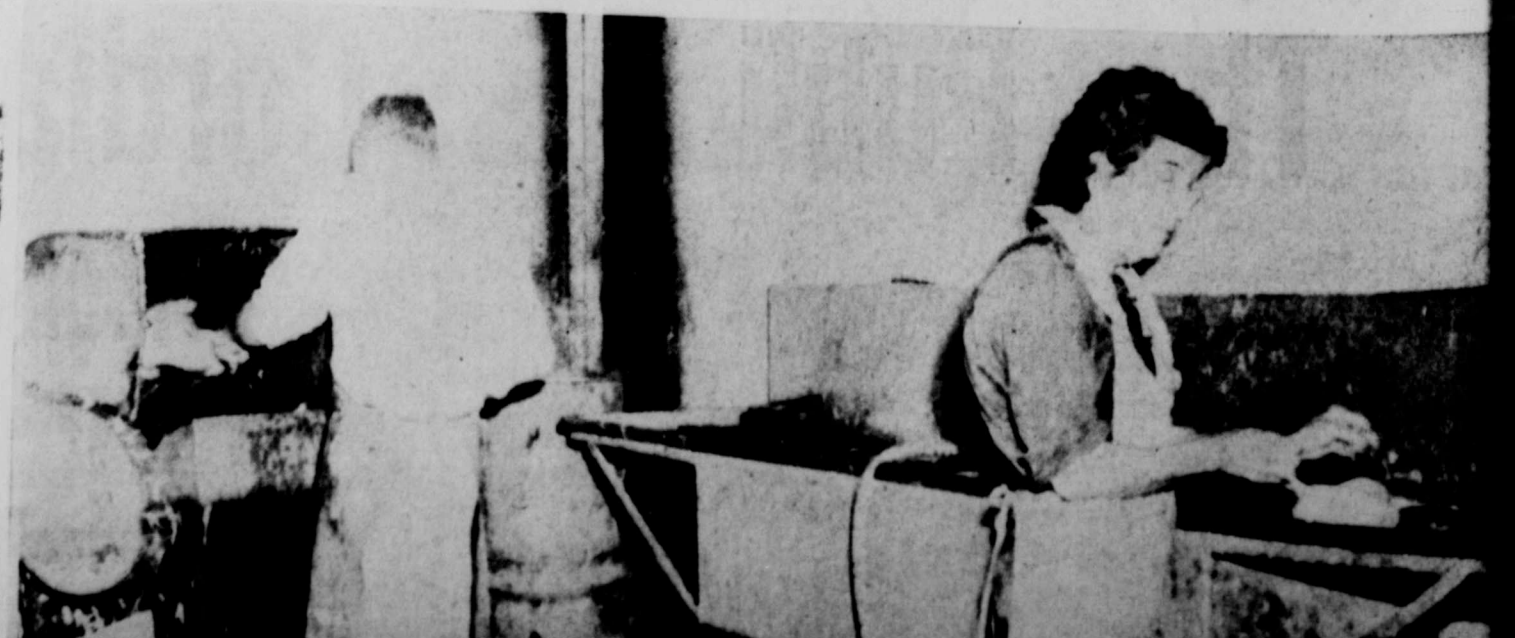

Hogsett has been a resident of Artesia for 23 years.

THIS is the exterior of the Artesia Locker Plant, 302 South 13th.

THIS is last stop for his beef. At the end of the door which apparently holds little interest for the animal, death awaits. This is the slaughter pens.

Mrs. and MRS. H. G. Buchanan prepare chickens for the locker. The birds are picked and cleaned in this room.

Miss Maxwell Bride Of Kenneth Meador

First Presbyterian church Saturday evening, June 4, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Helen Jeanne Maxwell and Kenneth Lee Roy Meador, of Fort Bliss, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Maxwell, 1309 Yucca. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Meador, Grinnell, Iowa.

Two baskets of white gladioli, stock and majestic daisies accented with pink tulle flanked by seven-branched candelabras, and a white satin pillow on the kneeling bench featured the church decorations.

Rev. Ralph L. O'Dell of Brownfield, Texas, former pastor of First Presbyterian church, Artesia, performed the double-ring ceremony.

A program of traditional nuptial organ music was presented by Charles Cox, organist, and Robert Durham, soloist, sang "Always" and "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a ballerina length dress of white chantilly lace over white taffeta and net, with a fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline. Small white velvet bows were tied at the front of the bodice.

The bride's short veil of imported illusion was attached to a plateau of pleated tulle and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pale roses cymbidium orchids accented with braided rose ribbon in modern cascade arrangement.

For the tradition, as something old she wore a necklace belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. P. C. Campbell, something new, her dress; something borrowed, a veil belonging to Mrs. Evan Mahaney; something blue, garters; and for good luck, a coin in her shoe.

Miss Charlotte Champion was maid-of-honor. She wore a pink voile waltz length dress made in princess style with a matching bolero jacket. She carried a nosegay of modern line cascade in french ed carnations of pale blue.

Sally Campbell, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a blue organza princess style dress of ballerina length with a matching bolero jacket. She carried a nosegay of modern line cascade in french ed carnations of pale blue.

Harold Bickel, Miles City, Mont., was best man, and Eddie Meador, brother of the bridegroom, was junior groomsmen. Jay Mitchell and Donald Kiddy were ushers. Joe Smith of Carlsbad was candlelighter.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a pink linen dress with white accessories. Her corsage was white asters surrounded by pink french ed carnations.

Mrs. Meador, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue print shantung dress with white accessories. She wore a corsage of white asters surrounded by pink french ed carnations.

A reception was held in the parish hall. The bride's table was covered with a white cutwork cloth with silver and crystal appointments. A bouquet of rose pink asters flanked by white tapers in crystal holders centered the table. The cake knife was tied with white satin ribbon with a pink aster.

The three-tiered wedding cake was iced with tiny white wedding bells and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Cake, nuts, mints, and punch were served.

Presiding at the punch and cake service were Mrs. Perry Campbell and Mrs. Tim Maxwell, aunts of the bride. They were assisted by Mrs. Owen Hensley, Mrs. E. G. Hubbard, Miss Mary Lou Maxwell and Mrs. M. L. Smith.

Miss Yvonne Dew was in charge of the guest book. Bill Cox played soft music during the reception.

The couple left on a short honeymoon trip. For traveling she chose a navy blue shantung suit with white accessories, and wore the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The Meadors are now making their home in El Paso.

Mrs. Meador was a member of Artesia high school graduating class of 1955. She was a member of the high school band, Serenaders, Future Teachers of America, and Order of Rainbow for Girls.

Mr. Meador graduated from Grinnell, Iowa high school, attended University of Colorado and Iowa. He is in the guided missile school at Fort Bliss.

Prints 'Solid' For Summer

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

It's a fashion-wisewoman who steps out in print this summer.

Even the most fanatic fans of plain fabrics and solid colors are rediscovering the charms of prints this season. But these are prints with a difference—sophisticated, small-patterned prints which take their cue from modern art.

Some of the newest printed fabrics have Cubist motifs, random dots or swirling penlines. Some look like streaks of lightning. They're abstract in form but definite in effect.

Color plays a big part in the popularity of the new viscose rayon prints, which encompass the full palette of color, highlighting such tones as cyclamen pink, hyacinth blue, rose-red and desert orange.

The new prints are available in both crepes and in georgettes, the latter a brand new addition to the season's fashion favorites. Both drape gracefully, are inexpensive and will add a fresh feminine touch to the summer wardrobe.

Pop Can Look 'Sensational' In New Garb

AP Newsfeatures

If you are invited over to the Joneses for dinner some evening this summer, don't be surprised if you host greets you wearing a yellow dinner jacket and green striped trousers. This is the new "at home" fashion for men, enabling Pop to look just as sensational as Mom, in her Tahitian print hostess gown.

Time was when the man of the family merely changed into an old sports shirt when he came home from a hard day at the office. But all this has changed.

A New York men's shop introduced the new "host" outfits last winter, showing dinner jackets of red, green, yellow or black, and contrasting trousers in stripes or solid colors, sometimes with stripes down the sides of Tartan plaids.

The idea caught on, and now the summer versions are out, in lightweight lanella flannel, in pastel tones, with striped or solid color trousers.

The new outfits are worn with a regular soft shirt, black knit four-in-hand tie and ordinary black shoes. No cummerbund or vest is required.

Backstage in New Mexico—

Answer to Goldenrod Death in Cattle Seen

By The New Mexico Staff Of The Associated Press

So you're having trouble keeping the lawn free of dandelions. Move over and listen to some folks who have really serious trouble with such plants.

Annually a rooted pest called the rayless goldenrod kills off hundreds of cattle on New Mexico ranches. It is highly poisonous. The loss of even one cow or calf is a severe pocketbook blow to any rancher, already beset by an unstable market and a too-long drought. It isn't just a matter of keeping the front lawn looking presentable for the neighbors.

Yet a chemical mixture popular for keeping the front lawn free of dandelions apparently is the answer to the rancher's prayers concerning the killer rayless goldenrod.

From New Mexico A&M College comes word that the cattle-killing menace can be easily and effectively controlled by a chemical weed killer known as 2-4-D, the same mixture sold to rid lawns of dandelions.

Discovery of the solution to the goldenrod came at the result of demonstrations recently completed at the Circle Bar Ranch at Bueros in Harding County. Its effectiveness was announced by A&M Extension Service officials.

Last summer, Norman Libby, owner of the ranch, set up 13 one-acre test plots on range land badly infested with rayless goldenrod. Then, with the help of Harding County Agent Roy Fleming and the Department of Agricultural Service at A&M, Libby applied three different chemicals at different times.

The weed killers ranged in price from $4 to $13 a gallon, but 2-4-D, the most effective, was also the cheapest—only $2 and a half. The other chemicals were MCP and 2,4,5-T. When 2-4-D was applied in the summer, a 98 per cent kill was reported by early fall. The same kill was found in the spring after 2-4-D had been applied in the preceding fall.

Both the amine and the low volatile ester forms of 2-4-D were applied at the rate of two pounds or two quarts of active material dissolved in enough water to spray an acre. A pint of kerosene was also added to each ten gallons of water to act as a spreader.

"Spraying in the summer is most effective in controlling rayless goldenrod," says Fleming, "because the plants are killed before their seed is spread."

For complete eradication of the poisonous plant, the Circle Bar ranch will spray the lots again this summer to kill young goldenrod plants which have developed from seed during the spring.

It's the sort of thing many would like to do but don't dare—and that's why the guy something of a hero.

At the snack bar building of an Albuquerque drive-in theatre, a door kept swinging open. When it did, a big naked light bulb sent a beam smack into the eyes of the movie-goers.

Sometimes someone would close the door, but as sure as shootin' someone else would open it again.

Then a big fellow strode from

And the general said to the col onel, but please, sir...

Sen. Dennis Chavez is chairman of the money-handling appropriations subcommittee for the armed forces in the Senate. He also is a colonel on the staff of Gov. John Simms, having been so commissioned recently by Secretary of State Natalie Smith Buck when she was acting governor.

So now, undoubtedly, the general and admirals who want to be on the good side of the guy who holds the pursestrings probably show more deference to Col. Chavez than ever before in history the deference to a junior officer.

THE feeling in Farmington is that things are about to start happening.

For one of the fastest growing communities in the state, it's already happened. But even with the growth of the past few years, there's a current of optimism that this is only the beginning, brother.

On almost every hand the discussion is of the Navajo Dam, now before congress. Businessmen, whose volume has doubled or tripled or more so recently, are talking about what they're going to do "when the dam goes through." Most establishments have plans for expansion of staffs, construction of new business, and the like.

Generally there is optimism. There's not much talk about "if" the dam goes through. Mostly it's "when" the dam goes through.

And when or if it does, look out for the lid. It's going to blow sure enough.

Profs Hunt Clue On Why Hens Turn to Roosters

AP Newsfeatures

"The Long Gray Line," he worked out some theories on the subject.

"If a woman suddenly starts feeling old, she unconsciously assumes the mannerisms of age—the slump, the slowdown, the weary expression.

"I honestly believe that if women would keep their attitude youthful, it would do more good for their looks than all the beauty shops.

"Youth is looking ahead, and age is looking back. I think one of the best ways to stay young is always to have something to aspire to. Never stop and be satisfied. When you aren't looking ahead, then you have to start looking back, and that's the beginning of old age.

Right now Ty is looking forward to a summer vacation in Greece with his two little girls, if possible, and then another Broadway play next fall. He also expects to do another movie in the meantime.

And here's a tip for Tyrone Power fans: The star prefers girls with short hair, puts good companionship ahead of beauty, and says if she's interesting he doesn't care whether a girl is Chinese or Irish.

Profs Hunt Clue On Why Hens Turn to Roosters

She says it is caused by an unusual gland disease "which accentuates the male traits and actually turns the chicken, physically and mentally, into a rooster."

But the change caused considerable excitement on the Fulton farm. Two years ago the Fultons got 50 mail order chicks and, after culling, had 23 hens and one rooster.

Fulton says: "The hens laid well and the flock was fat and contented. Then I sensed something was wrong. One of the hens turned trouble maker and the rest of the hens would gather in one corner and stare at her. Then I saw that she was growing a large comb, and spurs started to grow on her legs. She would fly at the rooster and fight it."

One morning the hen-rooster crowded 12 times and several times it escaped and visited other flocks. Fulton got in touch with the University of Ohio experts and turned the chicken over to them.

He says that the hen laid at least 100 eggs before the changes started.

MOST POWERFUL STRAIGHT LINE ATOM SMASHER

NEW MEXICANS IN WASHINGTON—Largest U.S. Uranium Ore Deposit Found in State

By MORRIS CLEAVINGER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The largest deposit of uranium ore so far found in the United States is in New Mexico, K. E. Fields, general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission, told the house appropriations committee.

Fields did not elaborate. He did not say where the deposit is, although he indicated it is on the Navajo Indian Reservation. Neither did he give any indication as to its extent or value.

His brief report on New Mexico uranium came as he was being questioned by committee members concerning uranium prospecting on and near the Colorado Plateau, which includes parts of New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Utah.

In answer to one question, Fields said:

"The first discovery in New Mexico, where we now have the largest deposit in the United States was made by a Navajo Indian who was attracted by the yellow color of a rock and heard about uranium and took it into a local merchant. That led to the development of the first operation in New Mexico."

Information on uranium ore deposits generally is highly restricted by the atomic energy commission.

A hint of the size of the New Mexico discovery is contained, however, in the ASC's semi-annual report issued in January which stated that because of increased production it was found necessary to increase the capacity of the Shiprock, N. M., uranium ore processing plant even while it was being constructed. The report said the bulk of the ore going to the Shiprock plant was expected from the Lukachukai and Carizzo mountains.

Fields had some good words for the hundreds of persons who are prospecting the western mountain country in search of uranium. Even though many of them are inexperienced, their activity has "paid off," he said, adding:

"The public interest in uranium prospecting has greatly increased, and, in part, the increase in available ore had been due to some few very rich strikes by people with very little previous experience certainly in uranium prospecting, and, in one case, with no experience in prospecting of any kind."

"Among all the prospectors in the uranium business today, I presume it might be said that, if not amateurs (their experience has been very recent, and yet they have been responsible, to a very large extent, for the extension of our uranium operation far beyond the original Colorado Plateau area which was the only producer of native uranium ores in the past."

In its report to the House Appropriations Committee, the AEC said it expects the population of Los Alamos, which was about 12,700 in 1954, to increase to around 13,000 in the next fiscal year, beginning July 1.

The AEC said the anticipated increase would be "paralleling an expected increase in Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory employment over the same period."

The AEC report disclosed that revenues in Los Alamos from municipal utilities, real estate and hospital operations now exceed costs to the government, and that the margin of net profit is expected to increase.

"Major cost increases are budgeted for the schools due to a general teacher salary raise and a rising student enrollment and for utilities," the report said.

"Major revenues increases are expected from utilities supplemented by smaller increases from miscellaneous real estate activities and the hospital."

"The hospital subsidy is expected to be reduced by $45,000 from the fiscal year 1954 level. An all increase in net revenue exceeding cost, from $226,412 in fiscal year 1954 to $286,662 in fiscal year 1956, coming fiscal year is budgeted.

The AEC also said that operating revenues at its Sandia laboratory, operated and maintained by the Sandia Laboratory, also have exceeded cost since fiscal year of 1948 and "are expected to continue to do so in fiscal years 1955 and 1956."

REMOVE PIN

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Surg. Friday removed an open pin from the throat of a month-old Navajo Indian, Jimmy George, about eight after he had swallowed the object. A hospital spokesman said baby was out of danger and damage was caused.
