PASTOR SAYS MAYOR LED MOB

Elders of Church Are Rallying Behind Lawton Preacher

SCORE ACTION OF PRESBYTERY ORDERING TRIAL

Preacher Married Pair in Bathing Suits

By Associated Press.

LAWTON, Okla., May 1.—A court of inquiry was convened here tonight by County Attorney Fletcher Riley in an effort to learn the identity of three men, whom the Reverend Thomas J. Irwin, pastor of the First presbyterian church here, declares slugged him last Saturday night and carried him 12 miles from town where they threw him in a roadside ditch, bound and gagged in a semi-conscious condition.

A number of persons were brought in by Sheriff George Frampton and subjected to questioning by the court attorney. The inquiry was secret.

It was understood that Sheriff Frampton was furnished with a list of about 30 individuals, who have been suspended from the church with the sanction of the pastor. It was intimated the suspended members would be asked by the county attorney to account for their whereabouts last Saturday night when Mr. Irwin was abducted.

The pastor and the six members of the church session, who resigned and withdrew their families from the church today in support of Mr. Irwin were among the first to enter the county attorney's office. In resigning the executive board of the church adopted a resolution condemning the El Reno Presbytery, which has ordered the pastor tried by a church commission, on May 9 on charges of "conduct unbecoming a minister."

The resolution declared the Presbytery in its proceedings against the pastor and the session of the church had been irregular" and "unfair, un-Christian and un-Presbyterian."

A bathing pool wedding at which the minister officiated, church movies, the funeral sermon preached over the late Jake L. Hamon of Ardmore by the pastor, and alleged irregular suspension of members opposing Mr. Irwin are among the issues which started the church row. One faction demands the pastor's removal and on the other hand he numbers strong supporters.

ANTI-ALIEN LAW IS KNOCKED OUT

Jap Guardianship Of Minors Is Now Legal

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—A decision declaring unconstitutional that portion of the California alien land law forbidding aliens ineligible to citizenship to act as guardians of the agricultural lands of their American born children was handed down by the state supreme court today.

The decision was in the case of Hayao Yano, a Sutter county Japanese, who sought such guardianship over the person and estate of his infant daughter.

The decision reversed a decision of the Sutter county supreme court, which denied Yano's application for such guardianship.

Asks S. C. V. to Dissolve Klan

DALLAS, May 1.—An appeal to the Sons of Confederate Veterans to compel the dissolution of the Ku Klux Klan "because it is a caricature of that to which their fathers belonged, and the object and purpose of its organizers are so different from those that formed the old klan that the two ought to be mentioned in the same breath," was made today by Chairman Crane of the Dallas county citizens league in a statement condemning the Ku Klux Klan.

Thyroid Tablets Cure Baldness

LONDON, May 1 — Luxuriant tresses for the bald-headed men and the women with thinning hair—all by merely taking a few extra-strong thyroid tablets persistently!

That is the promise held out by the doctors of the famous Guy's Hospital, London.

It is claimed that one case of absolute baldness has been already cured by this treatment. The patient was a young Dutch woman who, although only twenty-three, was as bald as a man of eighty. She was ordered to take ten grains of thyroid daily.

Immediately her health improved, and her hair at once began to grow on the top of her head, doctors say.

MAINLY ABOUT People

Bullington—
Tariff Protection—
And Politics—

By H. N. F.

HON. ORVILLE BULLINGTON has announced that he will demand tariff protection for farm and ranch and mineral products. There is already a high tariff on wheat, a high tariff on oats, a high tariff on corn, a high tariff on frozen meats and a high tariff on mutton. There is a high tariff on wool and on mohair. There is a high tariff on Egyptian cotton. Oil importations are on the free list. Hides were on the free list.

THERE IS A REPUBLICAN administration. This administration retained petroleum importations on the free list. Republican leaders, including Harding and Mellon, said that as all the people used petroleum products it would be wise to keep oil importations on the free list. All the people wear shoes; only a few of the people produce hides.

THEN WHY SHOULD HIDES be placed on the protected list? This congressional district produces petroleum, wheat, oats, corn, cattle, sheep and cotton. This district contains a number of the heavy oil producing counties. Democrats placed petroleum importations on the free list. Republicans retained oil importations on the free list. All the big leaders of the Republican party are for free Mexican crude. This for the edification of Mr. Bullington and the protective tariff voters of the Thirteenth Congressional District.

THIS MUST BE A FOREIGN market for surplus American wheat and corn. There must be a foreign market for surplus American cotton. There is a foreign market and a constantly growing demand for American petroleum products. If protection is a good thing why free crude from Mexico and other foreign countries? If protection is a good thing why did President Harding and Secretary Mellon and the Republican congressional leaders keep oil importations on the free list and thus walk in the footsteps of the Wilson Democrats? There is a lot of bunk handed out to the voters at every election in this land of the free. Why not give them the cold facts?

JUDGE JOHN C. KAY IS A LAWyer. He teaches a Bible class of men every Sunday morning. His lectures are worth while. He does not throw chunks of misinformation at the heads of his class. This is an excerpt from a recent address: "Now then I have come in sight of the thing that I want to say to you. It is not the governors and the judges that we need improvements on. It is not politics that we need to improve. It is not law that we need to improve. But we have to raise up a more intelligent, a more competent, a more patriotic set of voters. Why doesn't somebody raise his hand on that? Because whatever your voter is, your judge and your governor and your sheriff is going to be and if you have an ignorant or unpatriotic voter he is going to elect his candidate on some little issue that the lightning bugs would not light a lamp over because an incompetent voter does not know an issue when he finds one and he is more apt to get stirred up over a little issue than he is over a big one. You ought to be able, gentlemen, to know the voice and the cry of the demagogue when he goes among you shouting for office." Every man and woman voter should take this home. Every American who loves his country should take it home. Why should a glib tongued and shallow-soul demagogue with a thin mind, who is all things to all men, receive the votes of intelligent Texans? Why should incompetent seek-

50,000 PEOPLE HEAR NEFF TELL STATE AFFAIRS

Cost of Government Related on Trip In Panhandle

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, Texas, May 1.—Governor Neff has enjoyed life since he left Austin and he will not get back to the state capital before Friday or Saturday of this week. He has traveled a thousand miles by motor or train, he has placed before at least 50,000 people a lot of valuable information concerning state affairs and the cost of government.

He has talked peace and good will everywhere and the development of the resources of the state. His has been a mission of peace and progress, the handmaids of prosperity, and not of criticism or condemnation which are the archangels of stagnation and distrust.

He delivered his sermon on Service from the pulpit of the Presbyterian church Sunday and Saturday night he spoke on law and law enforcement at a banquet given by the Potter county bar association.

Raps Lawlessness.

He dealt some backhanded blows to organized lawlessness and commercialized vice and rapped the sentimentalists who would make the penitentiaries of the state hot house conservatories for the young criminals of the commonwealth.

Governor Neff believes that the wrongdoer should pay the price and his contention is that the boys of Texas should be taught that a penitentiary is a hell on earth with this inscription over its portals, "He who enters here, leaves hope behind."

After a busy day spent at Canyon where the governor made a speech on educational matters and where he inspected the West Texas State Normal he returned to this city and boarded the night train east for Denton, where he will inspect the Denton State Normal Monday and later in the day deliver an address before the 1400 girls who comprise the student body of the College of Industrial Arts.

At Austin Friday.

On Wednesday May 3 he will pay a visit to the State Normal at Commerce and on Thursday will make an inspection visit to the North Texas Asylum for the Insane at Terrel, Kaufman county.

He plans to be on the job in his office at Austin no later than Friday where many interesting letters are said to await him, notably one written by General M. M. Crane of Dallas, who has been informed that certain state rangers as well as officers of the National Guard are members of the Ku Klux Klan.

The Potter county grand jury is grinding and before this tribunal the chief executive was summoned to appear as a witness. That is a deputy sheriff left the summons at his hotel, the governor having departed for Canyon.

This is his first vacation since he was inaugurated and he plans to cover the west and the Panhandle and the plains when he goes before the people this summer as a candidate for re-election.

DAM AT AUSTIN MAY GO, REPORT

Colorado River Is At New Level

AUSTIN, Texas, May 1.—The Colorado river was still rising at a late hour tonight and is expected to continue throughout the night. The water was 69 1-2 feet deep at the Lake Austin dam and the approach to the boat house was washed away. Below the dam the water was 22.4 feet above normal.

The water is pouring over the dam with terrific force and doubt is expressed that the dam will be able to withstand a much higher rise. The highest previous mark was 60 feet. The Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad bridge at Circleville near Taylor washed out today.

By Associated Press.

SOUTHAMPTON, May 1. — The Cunard Mauretania from New York April 25, steamed at the rate of 27½ knots per hour during a part of the voyage, which ended here today. This, it was stated, established a new record. The Mauretania on her trial trip in 1907 averaged 27.36 knots. On some of her pre-war voyages she averaged more than 26 knots for the voyage. Last year she was converted from a coal to an oil burner.

STARS OF RODEO GATHER FOR BIG GO WEDNESDAY

Pouring in Hourly by Motor, Train and Horseback

Rodeo folk are pouring into Wichita Falls each hour in preparation for the opening of the big Wichita Falls Round-up on Wednesday—an event which is one of the biggest in their yearly trek about the country.

Yesterday there were trick riders, bulldoggers, rope artists, broncbusters, and the what not of the arena. Jim Massey arrived overland from Fort Worth with a car load of performers, and added to that crowd described by "Red" Sublett. Toto of the Rodeo, as "Forty gallon hats on half-pint heads."

Nor were the boys alone the new arrivals, for the girls came in, too. Florence Hughes decended upon the peace and quiet of the assembly, announcing her intention of establishing still further claims on the ladies' championship in various events. Florence brought a string of four mounts along, most coveted of which is Teddy, the trick horse, with which she has gained her reputation and honors in the arena. Nor is Teddy the only prized possession to be exhibited, for Florence is exhibiting a pair of boots, a present from C. H. Hyre, Oleather, Kansas, whose work-

Soviet Must Set House in Order Declares Hughes

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The American government stands unshaken in its determination that Russia must put her own house in order before she can expect political recognition by the United tSates.

Making his first statement of policy regarding Russian affairs since the subject came to the fore at Genoa, Secretary Hughes today told a delegation of women at the state department that before any outside power could resume full relations with Russia, she must herself adopt a policy of sound international reconstruction. He added that the American people were anxious to do all they could, but would not attempt to extend credit where there was no sound basis for credit.

No particular form of government was cited as desirable or undesirable by the secretary, nor did he mention any developments which have influenced to fortunes of the soviet since the Genoa conference began.

GOVERNOR WILL ANSWER ACTION BY STENO TODAY

First Legal Brush Is Expected in Jackson

By Associated Press.

JACKSON, Miss., May 1.—Preliminary legal skirmishing in the $100,000 damage suit filed against Governor Lee M. Russell by Miss Frances Birkhead, his former stenographer, alleging seduction and breach of promise, will take place before Federal Judge Holmes tomorrow.

The first maneuvers of attorneys for Governor Russell was to file a motion to dismiss the case because of lack of jurisdiction, it being alleged that Governor Russell is a resident of Oxford and can be sued only at the place of his legal domicile.

"If they insist on fighting that point, I may confess lack of jurisdiction and allow the case to go to Oxford for trial," said T. R. Foster of Vicksburg, chief counsel for Miss Birkhead.

POPE'S LETTER PLEASES GENOA

Impresses Delegates To Conference

By Associated Press.

GENOA, May 1. — Hope for the successful outcome of the Genoa conference as a notable aid in achieving the establishment of peace on a secure basis was expressed by Pope Pius in his notable letter to Cardinal Gasparri, which has created such deep interest in conference circles here.

The text of the letter reads:

"The keen desire by which we are animated to see established in the world a new peace which does not merely consist in a cessation of hostilities, but principally in spiritual reconciliation, causes us to follow with solicitious attention, in fact with anxious trepidation, the work of the Genoa conference.

"We have already invited our faithful people to invoke with fervent prayer the benedictions of God on this conference. We cannot hide the intense satisfaction we feel at seeing removed, thanks to the good will of all, the serious obstacles which from the very beginning seemed to make the possibility of agreement remote.

"Nobody in fact can doubt that the happy issue of such a great assemblage which includes representatives of all the civilized nations, will mark a historical date for Christian civilization, especially in Europe, the peoples of which have suffered so much in past conflicts and through its recent and most deplorable consequences, and rightly desire that through the agency of the conference the danger of new conflagrations shall be removed, as far as possible."

BOOM JAM IN ELECTRA TOWN

Mud Roads Heavy Handicap

Special to the Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, May 1.—The Texas Company's No. 215 Waggoner which came in Saturday night good for 1600 barrels from the 1900 foot sand held up its production through Sunday and Monday and early estimates were found to be conservative on the well's productiveness.

The streets were swarming with people yesterday morning and teams were busy hauling out materials for the various tests that are under way. Rig builders are all at work constructing new derricks in all sections of the field.

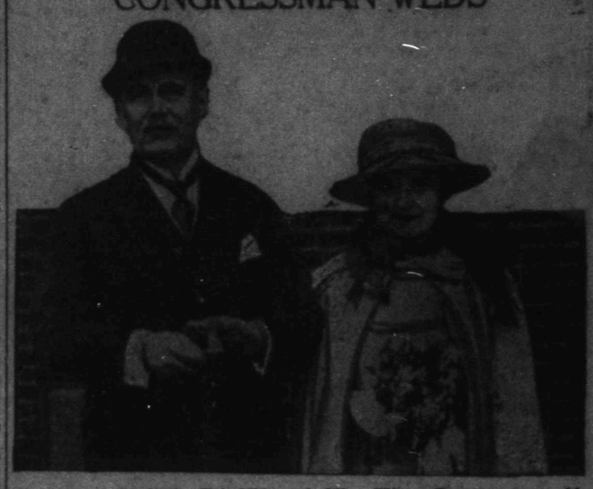

The muddy roads are proving a handicap as it is almost impossible to get heavy loads out to the field, but the operators are abandoning the trucks and getting the loads moved out with teams.

Adding to Pump Station

The Texas Pipe Line company has started overhauling their main line pump station and have the foundation already laid. Work was started last week which will include the installation of new machinery throughout which will serve to double the pumping power of the plant. The improvements will cost the company in the neighborhood of $75,000.

It is now estimated that the company is running in the neighborhood of 12,000 barrels daily, 2,500 barrels of which comes from the Kemp-Munger-Allen pool. The facilities of the company will permit the handling of 14,000 barrels daily with the present outlay of equipment.

CONGRESSMAN WEDS

Congressman Benjamin Fairchild and Miss Elinor Parsons, now his bride.

A real romance of Washington official life led to a wedding at the capital on Friday when Miss Elinor Parsons of Yonkers, twenty-six, secretary to Benjamin Fairchild, New York congressman, became his bride. The wedding was the culmination of a wartime romance when Miss Parsons came to the capital as an employe in the ordinance department, later becoming secretary to Fairchild when he entered congress in 1919. Fairchild was a widower and lost his only child, a son, in the aviation service during the war.

IMMIGRATION LAW TO BE EXTENDED TWO YEARS, AGREED

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Agreement for extension of three percent immigration restriction law for two years from July 1, 1922 was reached today by senate and house conferees. The house managers also accepted senate amendments to penalize steamship companies bringing in immigrants in excess of their national quota, and requiring immigrants from Canada or Mexico to have established a residence there of five years instead of one year. The latter was designed to prevent alleged colonization of immigrants for evasion of the three percent quota limitation.

NEFF TALKS TO GRAND JURORS

Comes From Meeting With Smile

AMARILLO, Texas, May 1.—Reports sent out in day dispatches that Governor Neff failed to answer to a subpoena to appear before the Potter county grand jury were erroneous. The governor went on his trip to Canyon, as planned, but returned here in the afternoon and appeared before the grand jury. What he was asked is not known, of course, but he came out smiling and the jurors appeared to be satisfied.

Policemen Charged With Murder Still Holding Positions

EAST S. LOUIS, Ill., May 1.—In defiance of the order of the board of police and fire commissioners which today reduced Chief of Police W. J. Mulconnery, Chief of Detectives Jas. Nevill, six other officers and one sergeant to patrolmen, suspended them for thirty days and asked for their resignations, the nine policemen tonight were still on duty in their old ranks.

Fred LeBoy, commissioner of public health and safety tonight announced the board had exceeded its authority and asserted that he alone had power to remove the policemen. It was upon his advice that the policemen refused to vacate their offices.

The order of the board was the result of a three weeks investigation into the death of John Campanella, who was alleged to have been beaten while he was held a prisoner on a charge of murder. Campanella was found dead in his cell March 25 and at that time the police announced he had hanged himself.

COURT UPHOLDS BLOC MEASURE

Sustains Legality of Packer Bill

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The packer and stockyard regulation act of 1921, which was put through congress largely through the efforts of the agricultural bloc was held constitutional today by the supreme court.

Declaring the stockyards "are not a place of rest, or final destination, * * * but a throat through which the current flows and the transactions which occur there are only incidental to this current from the west to the east, and from one state to another," the court described the livestock business conducted in the yards as interstate in character.

The law was challenged by certain commission merchants and dealers in the Chicago stockyards, who brought separate suits in an effort to restrain the secretary of agriculture from enforcing the law. The issue raised, aside from the constitutional question, was whether the business done in the stock yards between the receipt of the livestock and its shipment is a part of interstate commerce.

Chief Justice Taft said it was manifest that congress framed the packers and stockyard act in keeping with the Swift decision and that "what congress had in mind primarily was to prevent such conspiracies by supervision of the agencies which would be likely to be employed in it." There is no question now of the authority of congress to punish conspiracies or restraint of trade in the stockyards under the Sherman anti-trust law, he continued, and "certainly it may provide regulations to prevent their formation."

GENERAL RAINS MEAN MILLIONS

West Texas Prospects Are Brightened

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, May 1.—Rain general over West Texas extending to north central Texas and south of here in certain sections in lesser proportion today brought more fortune than misfortune, reports indicated. The effects of the severe drouth have been overcome and all of West Texas seemed to be entering on an era of unprecedented prosperity, it was reported.

Stock men in that region have turned their cattle on the range, after having to feed them for several months and thousands of acres of feed crops are growing and in many fields cotton is up to a good stand, it was stated.

The rains of the last week are worth a great deal financially indeed, millions of dollars, a report from Ballinger, taking in the west Texas situation, stated. The call to the farm will solve the unemployment problem, it was said.

He stated that he still resides in Evanston and that the mob spirit has subsided.

Mr. Richmond claims that due to his sermons against law breaking, gambling has diminished; open bars are no more; that the moral tone of the town is greatly improved.

Mr. Richmond claims that he has the hearty support of the best element of Evanston in his endeavors to improve conditions in that city.

Annie Webb Blanton Speaks at Electra

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, May 1.—Miss Annie Webb Blanton, candidate for the short term of congress, spoke to a capacity crowd here at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Strand theatre, in the interest of her candidacy.

Just previous to coming to Electra she spoke at the Harrold school house, where another large crowd heard her.

She spoke somewhat at length on her record in the office of state superintendent of public instruction, telling of graft she had uncovered, where the scholastic census had been padded to obtain a larger state allowance.

Answering some of the criticisms she said had been made against her she said that if she was elected she would run the affairs of the 13th district of congress and would let her brother, Tom Blanton of Abilene, run his own district.

"Those who know me," she said, "know that I would never be putty in anyone's hands."

By Associated Press.

The other members of the commission will represent all the bond holders and the Russian government respectively.

The commission will have power to remit interest and decide all questions affecting foreign bondholders and Russia's ability to meet her obligations; a time limit will be fixed in which bondholders may make their own arrangements with the Russian government if they desire.

About Milking a Cow

You wouldn't select a nice cool spot in the meadow and expect the cow to come to you to be milked, would you?

Nor should you sit idly by and "wait" for business to come to you. It just doesn't do that in these days, we have to go after it—and frequently the business we get through the greatest effort is much more worth while.

"The more you tell it the quicker you sell it" is a safe slogan for 1922.

COURT RULING PROMISING FOR TEXAS OWNERS

May Mean Return Of Land Held By Receiver

By B. N. TIMMONS
Record News Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The United States owns the entire bed of Red river. Texas has no propietary interest in the bed of the river or in the proceeds of oil and gas taken therefrom.

For purposes of civil and criminal jurisdiction the entire river bed lies in Oklahoma.

Pacer mining claimants have no claim whatever, and their cases are therefore thrown out of court.

The river in the disputed territory is not navigable. Riparian owners on the north bank are given the land to the middle of the stream, the state of Oklahoma is allowed to share in the middle of the stream riparian rights, where it owns school lands abutting disputed territory.

These six questions were settled today in a decision by the supreme court, read by Justice Van Devanter.

It was the second important decision in the famous case. The court having previously decided that the south bank was the boundary under the treaty between the United States and Spain in 1819.

The third and last opinion of the court will be to determine just where the south bank is. It is regarded as probable that the court will decide the third phase before it adjourns in June.

The court's decision today covered 20 pages and cleared matters up to where many observers of the case regard it as certain that the court has gone into all questions and can quickly render the third decision. The court explained in its decision today that at the beginning of the case Oklahoma claimed the entire river bed, Texas claimed half of it, and then the United States entered the case, claiming the entire river bed.

Various other claims conflicted with one another, making the case one of the most complicated that has ever been docketed with the court.

The court also set out that although Texas has no proprietary interest in the river bed and the claimants of river bed property under Texas patents have no title, it is possible that when the exact location of the boundary along the south bank is determined it may develop that the receiver is holding some land on the south side of that boundary line.

Dealing with its decision that the state of Oklahoma has no title to any part of the river bed, except where it owns lands and therefore shares in riparian rights, the court pointed out that Oklahoma based its claim on the fact that the Red river was a navigable stream.

"The constitutional rule of equity is that a state owns the land under navigable river," Justice Van Devanter said.

"Navigability in fact is a test of navigability in law. The statements that it was navigable for its entire length originated at a time when there was no reliable data for proof."

Justice Van Devanter then reviewed the efforts of the government to make the river navigable.

"We conclude that no part of the river in Oklahoma is navigable, and, therefore, that the title did not pass to Oklahoma on its admission into the Union.

"If the state has a lawful claim to any part of the bed, it is only such as may be incidental to its ownership of riparian lands on the northerly bank.

"And so of the grantees and lessees of the state."

The court then set out that all the riparian claims pressed to its attention relate to the bed of the river between the 98th degree of west longitude and the mouth of the north fork, and said that the matter must be considered in the light of matters which we proceed to state.

The court said that in making allotments to Kiowas, Comanches and Apaches four sections of 640 acres each in each township was set aside for school purposes for the future state of Oklahoma.

On these school sections and on them alone Oklahoma was given riparian rights to the middle of the stream.

What some persons in reading the decision thought might be a clue to the future decision of the court on the exact location of the south bank was contained in the section of today's decision as to riparian ownership.

"One of the questions involved in the riparian claims relates to what was intended by the terms 'middle of the channel' and 'mid channel,'" the court said.

"We think it was the channel extending from one cut bank to another which carries the water in time of substantial flow. That was the only real channel and therefore the main channel."

Other questions common to all riparian claims are whether the disposal of the lands on the northerly banks carried with it any right to the river bed in front of them, and, if so, whether this right extends to the medial line of the stream or to the Texas boundary along the opposite bank.

On these questions the parties are far apart. The state of Oklahoma and the placer miners insist that no right to the river bed passed with the upland; the United States that such a right did pass, but extends only to the medial line, and the several riparian claimants that the right passed and extends to the Texas boundary along the opposite bank.

"Where the United States owns the bed of a navigable stream and the upland on one or both sides, it, of course, is free when disposing of the upland to retain all or any part of the river bed and whether in any particular case it has done, so is essentially a question of what is intended.

"The evidence shows that the United States intended to retain that part of the bed," the court held, "that tested by the common law these conveyances of riparian tracts conferred a title extending not merely to the water line, but to the middle of the stream."

In throwing out the placer miner claimants, the court said that these men claimed the land under the right to explore public land, and then Justice Van Devanter explained that the land was originally in Indian territory to which the land laws on which the placer miners based their claim never extended.

"This section of the river bed land never was subject to location or acquisition under the mining laws nor, indeed, any laws, and therefore the locations are of no effect," Justice Van Devanter held.

The parties at interest were given 20 days in which to submit proper forms for disposition of the disputed river bed lands under today's ruling.

Why should specious political charlatans who will pledge or promise anything with hope of winning votes, be given the votes of intelligent Texans? First he must be true to his oath of office, true to the constitution and the law, true to the interests of all the people and not a few of the people and lastly his brain and his conscience must be his guide when he faces an important measure or a crisis in the history of his country. The flowers this morning go to Judge John C. Kay, a native of the Palmetto state and an adopted son of Texas.

SAMUEL GOMPERS OF THE American Federation of Labor rushed into print with a statement that recognition by the United States of Soviet Russia would be a "needless and base betrayal of civilization." There are times when Mr. Gompers is as ferocious as a mad badger. There are 170,000,000 Slavs Aren't they entitled to their own form of government, to a form of government of their own liking? Germany and Russia made a pact. If the pact stands and the other nations of the earth continue to placard Germany and Russia as outlaw nations some day a Teuton-Cossack civilization will rule Europe. Why shouldn't Mexico be recognized? Five great American concerns and an English and a Dutch concern are making their millions in Mexico every year. They control the oil fields of Mexico. They would draft a constitution for Mexico and make the laws for Mexico and yet they are all aliens under the Mexican flag. There are three or four hundred thousand Mexicans in Texas. If they demanded the right to write a constitution for Texas and make the laws for Texans there would follow a slaughter of Mexicans that would shock and stagger humanity. Woodrow Wilson gave to the world the gospel of universal justice and the selfish and the shallow crucified Wilson but they did not crucify his gospel. It is impossible to murder the gospel of righteousness or slay a humane idea or ideal. Just now Lloyd George has a program that if carried into effect would make it possible that Russia could be developed along natural lines which would mean not only the prosperity of Russia but of all Europe. Of course the selfish and the shallow and the sinister forces of European civilization may crucify Lloyd George but his gospel will not perish. Universal justice, and co-operation must come or the world will go back to its ancient moorings of hate, lust, murder and spoliation.

LIBRARY LEAGUE MEETS IN DETROIT

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 1.—Efforts are being made to interest members of library commissions throughout the country in the work of the League of Library Comissions which will meet in Detroit, June 22, according to Miss Fannie C. Fawson of this city, chairman of a committee appointed for the purpose.

A letter has been sent to members of every commission in the country asking them to attend the meeting. "In states where the best work is being done in library extension," she said, "credit must be given to the intelligent and enthusiastic support of the members of the governing boards."

The committee is composed of Miss Rawson, W. J. Hamilton, Indianapolis, Ind.; E. Louise Jones, Boston; Willis H. Kerr, Emporia, Kansas and Charlotte Templeton, Atlanta.

SUIT CONTINUED; DIVORCE GRANTED

Tom Burnett was granted a divorce from Lucille Burnett by the court, and it was announced that a settlement of property had been made between the parties.

FLYERS STICK FOR NEW MEET

All Here Saturday; Laird Helps

The old "buddy" feeling of the American legion is a wonderful thing. Following the postponement of the final day's program of the aviation meet here Sunday due to the rain, S. M. Laird, manufacturer of aircraft was so enthusiastic over the program that he not only promised to return from Wichita, Kan., to assist and participate in the program next Saturday and Sunday, but he left two of his new ships here at the disposal of the promoters of the circus.

Not only are they here for that purpose, but they are at the disposal of the business men of Wichita Falls, that they may more fully realize the importance of commercial aerial transportation. E. B. Lopp, sales manager is in charge of the ships, with Mr. Beech, winner of one of the races last Saturday. Both are among the oldest commercial fliers in the country, and are more than willing to demonstrate their ships to those who might be interested in the coming mode of travel.

Mr. Lopp stated last night that the Laird Swallows, the name applied to the new craft, are not built for exhibition purposes, but constructed with a commercial use as the intent of the purchasers. Some of the leading acrobatic fliers use the Laird ships for their exhibitions, and the two planes brought here by Cyle Horsham are products of the Laird factory. The ship used in the upside down flying Saturday was a Laird, and although that is not recommended by the builders, the ships will stand up to rough treatment.

Mr. Laird brought three of his planes down from Wichita last Friday to contest in the meet here, and after the final day's program was rained out, he returned to the factory in one of the ships. The trip down here was made in three hours, 15 minutes Friday, and when Mr. Laird comes back he is going to attempt still better time than that.

Not only are the small ships being produced in the new factory but they are now constructing two six-passenger ships for a bus line between Wichita, Kan., and Kansas City. They plan to offer this transportation at a figure barely 10 per cent above the train fare between the two points. When announcement was made that the big meet was to be held here, one of the big ships was rushed to completion, but on account of the uncertainty of the ground due to the large rains over the country, it was decided to leave the aerial palace car behind. With the anticipated success of the passenger line, the Laird company plans to extend the service to Dallas, via Oklahoma City.

Yesterday afternoon a demonstration that was a revelation to aviators was put over at Call Field, when Mr. Beech loaded four passengers into one of the small ships, took off on the muddy field and circled the town, shutting off his motor while directly over the city and gliding to the landing field, showing the perfection of the new craft.

The ships left here were to help establish the feasibility of commercial flying, to sell the public on the idea and convert them to the possibilities of overhead transportation.

Mr. Lopp is making his headquarters at the Legion hall. Mr. Beech will be in charge of the ships at the field.

In addition to assistance in arranging the meet, Mr. Lopp also served as a judge in the Saturday's program, and is helping to complete arrangements for the coming two day meet.

The Post field officers were so enthusiastic over the Saturday's go that Lt. Brookley agreed to return any time this week to do what he might in completing the details, and gladly offered his services to the legion. The army planes will all be back for the meet, as well as the commercial flyers competing for prizes.

"TOTEM POLE" STORY TO BE PHOTOGRAPHED

CHICAGO, May 1.—What the totem pole means in Indian history and legend will be made clearer to the school children of the country when films soon to be made by the Society of Visual Education are thrown on the screen.

Early this summer on those far off islands lying along the upper coast of British Columbia, hundreds of Indians will take part in the unfolding of the legend surrounding the totem poles which travellers see in the Alaskan villages. This work will be under the direction of Prof. F. E. Frobese, who for forty years has made his home among the Indians on Queen Charlotte and Prince of manship is considered by the profession as the highest quality. Miss Hughes came here directly from her home at Moran, Texas, where she has spent the winter on her ranch.

"Tad" Barnes dropped in from El Paso to show that a girl can really ride the most pestiferous steers. Living her life in the open and on the range "Tad" could not resist the call of the arena and two years ago entered the profession. During that time she has established her claims for recognition as a rider and has avowed no other purpose here, than to wrest from some of the title holders, their coveted honors. And the seriousness of her eye during such declaration leads one to believe that she will in all probability do just that thing.

Mary Sublett comes in for her round of attraction as well as all the rest despite the fact that she is a newcomer in the circles. When asked where he found such a fascinating little girl, "Red" replied that he caught her in a trap while collecting musk-rat pelts last winter. The new life is wonderful she thinks and immediately after the big event here, Mary will go into training to compete with the present champions.

Ed McCarty, owner of the famous string of outlaw horses entered for the big show here brought his wife and two wee blonde McCartys for the frolic. The youngsters know no strangers and have become as popular around Rodeo headquarters as the proverbial ossels.

Mabel Strickland, wife of the famous Hugh Strickland, knows them all alike and greets the newcomers with the eagerness of past acquaintance and that same "glad to see you" smile. She will also enter the ladies events.

Some time this morning Nan Aspinwall will arrive in town having ridden the leather from Laredo in 14 days.

Nan is bringing her "Police Gazette" belt which she received for the trip across the continent in 1911. A total of 181 days were required for the trip, but she delivered a message from Mayor McCarty of San Francisco to Mayor Gaynor of New York city, having ridden the same horse the entire distance, at a daily average of 25 miles. She has averaged slightly above 40 miles per day on her trip from the border, but announced in a telegram yesterday afternoon, that everything was lovely and that she would spend the night in Henrietta. Clancy expects the rider to get into town before noon.

One of the judges, Verne Elliott and wife, arrived from Johnstown, Colo., yesterday afternoon. Mr. Elliott is one of the most popular judges of the game, according to Clancy. He was raised in a saddle and has participated in many arenas.

A couple of Bills arrived also yesterday, Baker and Williams. Both are bulldoggers and bareback riders. Baker comes from Wassenburg, Colo., while Williams hails from McLain, Texas. John Hartwig of Miles City, Mont., another bareback and steer rider is here and will take a fling at the famous Bovolupus steer, for which there is a special purse offered. This is the steer that has wounded several men at Fort Worth, and was brought here that exponents of the game might have the best there was to offer.

Buck Stewart and Jack Brown, a couple more old rodeo men, blew in during the afternoon, addition to the already overflowing rodeo office. Both are riders, and Stewart is looked upon as one of the most likely contenders in a couple of events.

Red Sublett has a whole bag full of new tricks, both he and Mickey, the mule. Mickey is a native of the 101 ranch and has had three years of fun and frolic with his own clown owner. The pig which has afforded so much merriment in past days, has long since been shipped to Armours at Fort Worth, says Red, because he got too big to handle. Sublett can hardly wait for the opening round and even yesterday was up and doing around the Ohio street office, as well as affording entertainment for the guests at the Hearn hotel.

The opening day is going to be a big opportunity for Wichitans to enjoy the big event. The roads are going to be more or less impassable for a couple of days, and the out of town crowd will wait until the second and third afternoons to come in, and when they do, there is going to be an overflow crowd in the park.

DANCE FOR RIDERS

Round-Up folk are to be the guests at a dance at the Kemp hotel tomorrow night. Miss Ruth Roach will lead the grand march and the other cowboys and cow girls will be in attendance. An exhibition of fancy rope dancing will also be on the program. A special program is being arranged for the occasion and Wichita hospitality will be extended the visitors.

'Twould Be Real Joke Indeed Should Republicans Put One Over on Demos Of This District on May Thirteenth

By H. N. F.

Politics is a funny game. It was said of the late William J. Stone of Missouri that he was the gumshoe politician of the age in which he lived. He was so subtle that he would hide the shells after he had sucked the eggs. Stone won all offices worth while and died a United States senator.

There is a congressman to be elected in this district Saturday, May 13. There are four democrats in the race. It is said that there is an independent in the race. The four democratic contenders are out on the hustings making speeches and telling the voters just what they will do if elected.

Are the republicans gumshoeing?

This is a stalwart democratic district or stronghold. The late Lucian W. Parrish voted for the Esch-Cummins transportation act, not because he approved the act, but he wished to get the railways as far as possible from governmental ownership. He voted for the Fordney emergency tariff act as the best he could get notwithstanding the republicans placed oil importations on the free list and refused protection to the independent oil operators in Texas and other states.

Kleinman Home.

Charleston A. Kleinman is home again from Fort Worth where he attended a session of the Southern Tariff congress. He invited the Southern Tariff congress to come to Wichita Falls by rail and it's coming Friday, May 5. J. A. Arnold, manager of the congress, accepted the invitation.

Mr. Arnold is at the Kemp hotel.

In the good old days he was secretary of the Texas Commercial Secretaries' association and incidentally helped to put over Colquitt and Ferguson. He became a republican in 1920 and has been manager of the congress since it was organized by Colonel John Henry Kirby.

Forgets Brass Band.

He is a political mole. He shuns publicity. He is as wise as a fox and as non-communicative as an owl. He furnished the brains and the literature for many organizations in days gone by but he was a hermit when it came to the center of the stage. He always avoided it. Vance Muse is here. He became a convert to republicanism in 1920. He is one of the organizers and workers for the congress. Mr. Arnold and Mr. Muse maintain headquarters for the congress in the city of Washington.

Are they gumshoeing?

Colonel W. E. Talbot of Dallas is the official manager of the Republican party in Texas. He is another wise politician. He made a very creditable record as a soldier over sea. A year ago he ran for the office of mayor in the city of Dallas and was defeated by Sawnie Aldredge another soldier.

Messrs. Creager, Scobey, McGregor and other leading Republicans decided that what was needed in Texas was a manager to create a Republican organization in each of the 250 counties and Colonel Talbot got the job. He has been very busy ever since and it is said he has built a real organization.

Rumor hath it that Colonel Talbot, traveling incog, visited Wichita Falls Sunday for a conference and that he held a conference. Is Colonel Talbot gum shoeing?

Meanwhile, having accepted the invitation of C. A. Klienman to come to Wichita Falls the Southern Tariff Congress will assemble in this city Friday, May 5 and Manager J. A. Arnold and others are the mappers of the program for the event.

But back to gum shoeing. Wouldn't it be a joke on the Democrats of the Thirteenth District if the Republicans put one over on Saturday, May 13? According to the almanac in elections of other years there are about ten Democrats to a Republican in the district but a special election is not a regular election and a very light vote filleth the heart of the professional gum shoer with fiendish glee. But are there any gum shoers away down here in Texas like the late Hon. "Bill" Stone who was so clever that when he sucked the eggs he always hid the shells so that he left no track or trace of his work behind him?

European Granary Faces Starvation

ODESSA, May 1.—Fear of starvation in the Ukraine, once regarded as the richest farming country in the world, has become so acute that thousands of peasants are abandoning everything they possess and flocking to the cities, where they hope to eke out an existence until all danger of crop requisition by the soviets has passed.

Hope for better crops this summer seems to have been lost. Merchants here who formerly sold agricultural machinery in the Ukraine are making no efforts to dispose of their stock. "There will be no crops to speak of this year, and next season it will be worse," they say.

The Ukraine, commonly called the "granary of Europe" produced nearly 20,000,000 tons of wheat and cereals in pre-war years. Its annual yield of potatoes averaged 6,000,000 tons. In 1914, it marketed 27,000,000 head of horned cattle, 8,100,000 horses and 6,300,000 pigs. It also exported coal, iron and manganese, dairy products and blooded horses.

The Ukraine, twice as large as the British Isles and with a pre-war population of 40,000,000, is fast becoming a desolate waste, according to the refugees. The only reason it has held together until now, they say, is because of rich stores of rain accumulated in the days of prosperity, which were shielded from the soviet commissars on the plea that they must be used for seed. Now that these are exhausted, the rich, black earth of the Ukraine must lie idle and worthless.

E. MAYFIELD TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Arrival Delayed by Austin Flood

Earle B. Mayfield, member of the Texas railroad commission, candidate for the United States senate, will speak tonight at the courthouse, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Mayfield was expected to speak at the University club luncheon today, but owning to the floods around Austin, will be unable to arrive in time for this engagement.

FAIR WORKERS TO ORGANIZE IN NEXT FEW DAYS

Weeks Plans Start Toward Big Event

Organization of the Texas-Oklahoma fair association, and the solicitation for the capital stock of the same will be started in the near future, weather permitting, according to a statement from W. F. Weeks, chairmen of the chamber of commerce fair committee, Monday afternoon. Prior to that time thorough organization of the workers will be effected, and Wichita Falls and the entire territory which will be interested in the formation of such a fair will be covered by the workers.

This campaign will take up where the work was left off last spring when heavy snow storms interfered with plans for the organization work, and the committee decided that the time remaining in which a spring fair could be held would not enable the staging of an affair which would do justice to the city.

At that time it was decided that the fair would be held in the fall, immediately preceding the Dallas fair. Although there remains plenty of time, Mr. Weeks and the other members of his committee are anxious that the "wheels" be started without any unnecessary loss of time, and that sufficient time be given for the work on the fair that the first exhibition will be on the scale that is desired for the future.

Call Field, pronounced by experts earlier in the year as an ideal situation, will be the fair ground, in accordance with the plans made with J. A. Kemp and Frank Kell and other owners of the ground, who made a liberal proposition to the new fair association. Mr. Weeks and others believe that the value of the property, offered on the price and terms by the owners, will itself assure the financial success of the fair association.

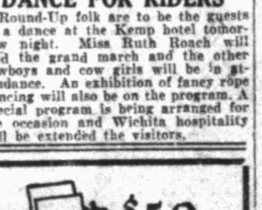

Juicy Fruit, Peppermint and Spearmint are certainly three delightful flavors to choose from.

And WRIGLEY'S P-K—the new sugar-coated peppermint gum, is also a great treat for your sweet tooth.

COLLEGE HEADS TO FIGHT PROFESSIONALS

Drastic measures have been adopted by the Association of Ohio College Presidents and Deans to curb professionalism among the athletes under their jurisdiction. They rule that no football team shall play more than one game a week, and oppose trips taking teams more than 200 miles away from home. In basketball they limit post-season games to a maximum of three and want no contact with foes outside the college pale. The court schedules are to be limited to sixteen contests. In baseball pre-season trips are barred and all away from home tours limited to two games.

TOM MAXTED GRAVEYARD PUG

Sailor Tom Maxted, the Newark heavyweight, believes in the power of suggestion. Tom has a graveyard tattooed on his broad back. From shoulders to hips he is covered with rows of crosses. Just before the gong rings for action Maxted is careful to turn his back toward his opponent, offering a good view of the graveyard scenery. He says it never fails to create an impression. While his opponent's nerves are still on edge Maxted clouts him on the chin and the victory is won.

DEMPSEY RICH FOR DAY IN BERLIN

He Intends to Slack Up on Dieting For While

BERLIN, May 1.—"I'm a millionaire in Germany," chuckled Jack Dempsey, world's champion pugilist, today as the paying teller of the Deutsche bank gave him a bale of marks in exchange for an American dollar.

The champion was up early and started out on a shopping expedition which wound up with the purchase of a police dog, jewelry, opera glasses and an assortment of other souvenirs.

Dempsey is filling only social engagements during his stay in Germany and said today that he purposed stopping his dieting regulations.

SHINNERS HAS BIG JOB BEFORE HIM

"Here's hoping Ralph Shinners can hold down that center field job," is John McGraw's silent prayer every time he lifts a glass of water to his lips at the table.

For Jawn has had to fuss more with that middle field berth in the past three seasons than he has had to with any other problem.

Benny Kauff filled the bill acceptably in 1919 and started the next campaign there. Then came his falling out with the powers that be in baseball, and McGraw let him go to Toronto.

For the rest of the year, McGraw used Vernon Spencer and Lee King, two rookies, in the middle season, but neither of them rang the bell in the snappy fashion McGraw desired. The next spring Benny Kauff came back, only to be let out again.

McGraw then tried Ed Brown, another rookie. Brown was weak on returning drives to the infield and Curtis Walker drew the assignment next. Then King and Walker were let out and Casey Stengel, obtained from the Phillies, was booked to give the job a whirl. Next Bill Cunningham was purchased from Seattle and looked so good the first time in the field that he was left for a time.

The Giant leader felt he needed more strength in his outfield, however, and finally bought Irish Meusel from the Phils—for the center field job, fans supposed. But Jawn fooled 'em by moving George Burns to center and playing Irish in left.

Then McGraw decided he wanted Heinie Groh and got him—in exchange for Burns.

When the Giants reported this spring McGraw had available for center field duty Stengel, Shinners—purchased from Indianapolis—Cunningham and Ike Boone.

And from this list McGraw has pinned his faith on Shinners. If Bill delivers McGraw will breathe easy once more.

NEBRASKA CITY FAVORS SEMI-PRO TILT

There is a certain section of the west where pro baseball has few admirers. Nebraska City, which refused to enter in several professional leagues scattered about its neighborhood, recently has organized an amateur league of twilight teams. In offering a pennant for competition among the sundown nines the boosters of the organization state their belief that amateur baseball is the salvation of the nation, as it is "free from commercialism, petty grafting and tinhorn gambling that has ruined so many professional and semi-pro bodies."

ELECTRA BOYS ENTER BIG MEET

Thomas Expected to Make Showing At Austin

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, May 1.—Six of the high school athletes will leave Wednesday night for Austin to represent this school in the state track meet which will be held Friday and Saturday. It is predicted by school officials that the local boys have a good chance to place in the state meet and there is a likelihood that the locals may be able to nose out with the leadership.

Lawton Thomas, the fleet footed runner from County Line is expected to win first place in the 100 yard dash, having made the distance in 10 flat in the district meet held at Iowa Park. In addition to the 100 dash, Thomas will enter 220 and 440 dashes. Harvey Stanford will compete in the discus and high hurdles, Pouse will enter the low hurdles and Gossage will represent the local school in the mile and half mile races. E. Stearns and A. Stearns will go to enter the hurdles and held compose the relay teams.

The local school took everything in athletics in the county and district meets and in 1919 won the state championship.

Local Hi Going Big After Rest

By "HANK" HAYES.

Now that the Pluvius Water corporation has began to let up on Mother Earth for a while, the high school balltossers are ready to hit the ball for the home stretch and perchance the state title. All the candidates are in the very best of condition after the forced rest, and there are no more other affairs to interfere with the youths, according to Coach Henderson.

The bosses of the high school nines of Wichita Falls and Amarillo are opening negotiations for a series which they would like to get played off this week, as both of the institutions have a substantial claim to this district honors, and until this issue is finally decided by some engagements on the diamond neither can go on and get official recognition in the Interscholastic league.

The Red and Black wrecking crew have wrecked Burkburnett, Graham and Vernon's hopes for state honors thus far and have bowed their heads in defeat to none. The Panhandlers have a good record an have cleaned up everything in their parts, including Northside of Fort Worth. When these teams clash, one of the season's hottest engagements will result and the high scorer will have a big chance for the coveted title.

The lads are rapping the pill at a rapid stride thus far this season including all the games played with other teams, exclusive of high schools. Four regulars are pasting the pill at the rate of .300 or better and two reserves are likewise hitting safely in their few trips to the plate. Those hitting .300 or higher are: Brashear, p 1.000; Quilliam, c .400; Clark, rf .368; Baldwin, lf .333; Ross, c .316; Haney, cf .304.

FATHER AND SON.

"THERE were giants in those days." David B. Culberson, a son of Alabama, came to Texas before he was thirty. He was one of the men who ousted Edmund J. Davis and seated Richard Coke in the office of governor in 1872, thus paving the way for a white man's government in the Lone Star state which has been in the saddle ever since. David Culberson served twenty years in the lower house of congress and became known as one of the great constitutional lawyers of America. He retired to private life and his son Charles A. Culberson became an United States senator. It is a remarkable record in the annals of congress, this record of father and son. Charles A. Culberson is serving his fourth term in the senate. When he completes it the father and son will have represented Texas forty-four years in the congress of the United States. An outstanding independent newspaper is the Washington Star and this editorial from the Star may interest Texans: "Mr. Culberson is rounding out twenty-four years in the senate and desires re-election. His health is not robust. It was not robust six years ago when he offered for the fourth term; but with great pluck he entered the canvass and to the extent of his physical ability has been diligent since in his office. This man has had extraordinary success in Texas politics. He was serving as an attorney general of the state at thirty-five and as governor before attaining his fortieth year. When reaching the senate he made an excellent impression and some fifteen years ago received much complimentary mention when, before Mr. Bryan showed his wonderful come-backativeness, the Democratic party was under canvass for a presidential candidate. Mr. Culberson inherits his father's ability and in some measure his unusual personal popularity. His father served for over twenty years in the house and was much admired there and at home for his legal learning and his strong character. The son has advanced the family in the national scale. When in full physical kelter he was an upstanding figure of note and power among the Southern men in national life and even in impaired health he retains his place in that company. This race will be more warmly contested than that of six years ago. Then Mr. Culberson had an easy triumph. Now he faces a larger field and some of the entrants are politicians of considerable experience and no inconsiderable success. In the senate Texas has been well to the front for many years. Reagan in his day, Mills in his, Bailey in his and more recently Culberson may be mentioned among the Southern men who since the civil war have made reputations in that body and served their section and the country with an ability and broad-mindedness worthy of the admiration they generally excited." It must be true that men were men in those days as well as the saying that "there were giants in those days."

AUTO PARTIES.

ACCORDING to the late grand jury automobile parties are responsible in a great measure for immorality among the young people. And has it come to pass that there is no safety in numbers. Aren't the young people of today just the same as the young people were when grandfather was a jazzer and grandmother a jazzabell? Has human nature ever changed? Didn't they have the hug-me-tight buggy when father was a boy and mother a girl? There is a lot of bunk going the rounds of the press, the rounds of some of the pulpits, the rounds of some of the lecture platforms and the rounds of some of the grand jury rooms.

Oscar Calloway has announced as candidate for congress against Thomas Lynn Blanton in the Seventeenth District. With Judge J. W. Cunningham in the race, this makes it a three cornered affair and insures the re-nomination of Blanton. As the negro preacher said: "Fudder speech has I none."

Japan is a heathen nation. At least that is what we Christians say. Japan sent representatives to the Genoa conference and these representatives, speaking for their country, pledged the financial aid of Japan for the economic restoration of Russia. When is a heathen a heathen?

LIGHTNING CHANGE ARTIST.

IT MUST be true that politics makes strange bed-fellows. There is an organization in Texas known as the State Farm Labor Union of America. W. W. Fitzwater of Bonham, its national president, says the organization has a membership of 400,000. Major Fred S. Rogers of Bonham has been named as the candidate of the organization for governor of Texas, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July. It is asserted that Major Rogers in 1920 made many speeches for the Hon. Joseph Weldon Bailey, flayed organized labor into shreds and championed the open shop movement. Now he is the organized farmer and organized labor candidate for governor of Texas. Like Saul of Tarsus, coming down the road, the Major must have glimpsed a great light or else he has experienced a change of heart and mind since 1920. Now just why should politicians or seekers for office run with the hares and sleep with the hounds? And why should they be janus-faced? Of course consistency is a fool's virtue but who cares to be branded a fool? Of course Lloyd George says that a man changes his coat when it is threadbear and has a right to change his convictions when they are threadbear. Is it possible for a man to wear his convictions threadbear in the brief period of two years? This is a reflection and not a criticism. Texas is a free commonwealth. A man has a right to be a political fish this year and a political goat in 1923.

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi in a recent speech flayed the pending tariff bill. Senator Pat always flays any measure branded Republican just as Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts flays any and all measures of Democratic origin. There is no middle ground for the gentleman from Mississippi to occupy and as for the gentleman from Massachusetts he assassinated the Wilson world pact of nations because Woodrow Wilson was its author and then created and ratified a four power pact of nations because President Harding desired it. One of the senators is a fiery hotspur, and the other a frigid Pharisee who was born in New England and who sincerely believes that Mammon came before man and that the few should rule the many. Of course they are both patriots. They admit it and the world accepts it.

CAPITAL AND CONFIDENCE.

COMMENDATORE Giannini, a prominent member of the Italian delegation at the Genoa Conference, diagnosed the world's sickness shrewdly the other day.

The trouble, he said, "has in its depths a grave origin—lack of confidence.

"What does this lack of trust mean? There is available capital in the great financial markets of New York and London, but it does not reach those markets where capital is necessary for the resumption of production.

"There is a political risk in lending to certain European countries, and this political risk is one of the most important elements when a loan is granted. The search for the means to re-establish confidence constitutes the first part of any programme for the reconstruction of Europe, and unfortunately that question is mainly political."

This strikes the nail on the head. It calls attention to a truth which in the minds of many people is obscured. That truth is that the basis of business prosperity is confidence.

Faith is not something to be used only by church congregations on Sunday. It is not something to be wrapped up in cotton and kept under the altar. It is not merely an attitude of mind to be directed toward certain ancient formulas or certain incomprehensible mysteries.

Faith is an absolutely essential and practical thing. The bigger your business the more you need it.

Faith has been defined as "the evidence of things not seen." That means that in order to have faith one must have vision.

A most important officer in every big business concern is the credit man. He is nothing more or less than a faith expert. He is paid a big salary because of his ability to tell his house whom to trust.

The curse of the world at present and the distinct cause of its disorder is the slump in faith. Nations suspect each other. Every country persists in trusting to the old fallacy of force.

"He that believeth not shall be damned." That is not merely a theological proposition. It is quite as much a commercial and political one; for the merchant and the statesman who has not vision and judgment enough to know whom to trust and to know when to trust is smitten with weakness and with pettiness.

You may be able to sell peanuts on the corner or peddle shoe laces from a push-cart and trust nobody. But the man who builds up a big business has to be a man of mighty faith.

And in the government of nations faith is even more necessary. The trouble is that it takes vision, and vision is scarce. And "where there is no vision the people perish."

DOWN AMONG THE PEOPLE

Mrs. Beggs turned incredulous eyes on her lawyer. "You must have made a mistake. Her voice became icy. "Surely I have paid you enough to have you take some interest in my affairs. If my dear husband were here——"

Mr. Merrill looked slightly impatient. Mrs. Begg's dear husband had made life so easy for the exacting old person as to destroy values. Viewed through Mrs. Begg's eyes the world revolved solely for her benefit, and she had become a gloomy autocrat during her years of haughty seclusion in her handsome residence. When Mr. Beggs had given up his office downtown through increasingly bad health, he had devoted his life to his wife. He had done the marketing, managed the one servant and wash-woman and man-of-all-work who came in by the hour, leaving the old lady nothing to do except plan handsome gowns she seldom wore after they had been made by the dressmaker who came and remained weeks at a time. Once or twice a month, Mrs. Beggs would dress up in some wonderful costume of brocades and plumes in shades of purple that would emphasize her snowy hair and drive out in state to call upon old and very wealthy friends. The common, everyday happenings of life had become faint and distasteful memories to her benumbed brain.

"I told Horace," the lawyer almost snapped, for he had liked and respected the old man who had existed for this petulant person, "that he was acting unwisley in concealing from you the vanishing values of your securities. Only last month we had to sacrifice a piece of property to pay taxes on——"

"Horace was always so anxious to spend money. I told him that bills could go. It is only the bourgeois who are so anxious to keep everything paid up. We are good for——"

"Bills have to be met some time," interrupted the lawyer grimly. "Horace firmly believed that he would go first and, for that reason, tried to satisfy your longings for luxury. The point is this: You have only a very modest sum of money left."

"Perhaps," said Mrs. Beggs haughtily, "I can manage with Sarah alone. The laundress can be discontinued and the furnace——"

"The house was sold last year. Horace has been paying an absurdly high rent so that you could continue here. As for keeping servants, that is out of the question. I have managed to get together enough to yield you a small monthly sum. You could spend it all for the entrance fee in a home——" the fury on the old face startled him, but he went on evenly —"but I have arranged something that will, I fancy, be more congenial. Miss Hetty Brown has just lost her roommate through marriage, and she is willing to let you share her fold-up flat of two rooms. It is near the lake, and very nice. By pooling your money you will both be enabled to live comfortably and keep out of debt. You can run over and see her tonight when she gets home from work."

The old lady stared at him speechlessly. The very shadows in the dim room, filled with a lifetime of memories, seemed to shriek out in protest. "I?" the words came bitterly. "I run over to see some working person?"

"That's what you'll have to do," returned the lawyer with a trace of uneasiness in his manner. He had worked hard to salvage security for her and had anticipated gratitude. "Miss Brown has all her housework to do after she returns from work, and she has long hours."

The following few days were filled with a series of shocks that rudely awakened the reveries of the old aristocratic recluse. Mrs. Beggs had made an elaborate toilette before calling on Miss Brown. She had found her prospective hostess to be a plain, business-like woman in her early sixties, with a fund of commonsense, humor and no frills.

"Yes," she said in reply to Mrs. Begg's question, "we can try the co-operative plan, and if at the end of the first month either of us is dissatisfied, we can terminate the arrangement."

Mrs. Beggs sat silent. Her mind had been entirely occupied with her view of the situation, and it had not occurred to her that Miss Brown might have any feelings. "I have always been accustomed to the best," Mrs. Beggs remarked. "Are you very careful about the marketing? You always select everything personally? I never permitted any telephoned orders——"

Hetty Brown's breezy laugh rang out. "There'll be no trouble on that score," she replied. "That is one reason I share my flat. You see, my hours of work are so long that I cannot get to the stores. They haven't the fruits and vegetables in when I go to work, and they are closed when I return, so that my partner must always do all of that. The rest of the work we divide fairly, and I do all the Sunday work in return for the marketing that I cannot attend."

"Oh—the tone was faint with amazement—"you expect me to do menial work? And to run out and fetch loaves of bread, and——"

"Well, I'm not taking boarders," Hetty looked commiseratingly at the wrinkled face under the snowy hair. "We share everything. We pay the rent jointly and then keep track of the money spent for groceries, light, ice and food. I have my woman in one day a week to do the washing and heavy cleaning, and her wages come out of our expense account."

A heated rejoinder arose to the widow's lips, then the thought of the world—that unknown place beyond the walls of her home deterred her. She must leave the old home and she had no other shelter. The kind eyes watching her infused courage, and when Mrs. Beggs spoke it was to accept the arrangement.

When the next month was nearly ended Hetty Brown looked across the beautifully-set dinner table. The recluse seemed a different person. The daily contact with the people on the busy street, the shopping for fresh fruits and tender meats instead of being the bugbear she had expected, had done her a world of good. Already she had made friends over at the beach, where she would frequently take her book to escape the heat of the flat and she worked cheerfully during the comparative coolness of the morning, looking forward to the chats with the new acquaintances. The first Sunday morning she had, as a matter of course, picked up the paper when the flat had been set in the exquisite order that both women desired and Hetty Brown turned amazed eyes upon her. "I"—there had been a faint emphasis upon the pronoun—"always go to church. I find"—she turned her eyes away from the face opposite—"that it heartens me up for the whole week. Do you care to go with me and meet my friends?" she had added pleasantly. And the widow had accompanied her.

"The month is nearly ended, Mrs. Beggs," began Hetty serenely.

"Haven't I done my share?" demanded Mrs. Beggs anxiously. "I love it here. Surely you won't want me to go. I'd rather do all the dishes." She despised doing the pans. Hetty smiled. "If you are satisfied I am," she returned cordially. "We have many things in common, and I look forward to getting home nights. You," she added with unmistakable sincereness, "have made the flat over into a real home."

FACES

The face you wear was Nature's gift; and it may be, perhaps, that people who before you drift may have more handsome maps. But let this not disturb your rest, don't dope your face with drugs; for Nature knows just what is best when she distributes mugs. My frontispiece I thought too fierce; inspired by foolish hope, I sent away and got a tierce of Johnston's Beauty Dope. I spread the mixture on my brow, and on my cheeks and chin; "I will be fairly dazzling now," I said, and rubbed it in. I spread the ointment on my ears, and put some on my nose, and dreamed of going down the years as lovely as a rose. But all my dreams were doomed to smash, they diedd upon a day; the Beautty Dope brought out a rash that will not go away. And old friends view my face with grief; their gibes I've long endured; "You're looking like a side of beef that wasn't rightly cured." My skin has an unwholesome shine, and scaly is my crown; my nose is slightly out of line, my mouth is upside down. Could I but have the useful face I had on that bright day, before I vainly tried to chase its blemishes away! I would not touch it up with grease, or paint it pink or white, but let it be, and live in peace, and have sweep dreams at night.

THE ONCE OVER

Nine thousand porters are to be trained in singing and assigned to quartets for duty in Pullman cars, it is announced by the Pullman company. The idea is to break the monotony of the longer trips. Entertainment, it is figured, will please travelers at all times, and be especially beneficial during delays, accidents and wrecks.

The later the train, the more singing. If the quartets "do their stuff" according to anticipations, it is expected many patrons will insist that the engineer get the train three hours behind schedule instead of two.

Pullman music lovers even may become so captivated by an Al Jolson number they will request the train crew to back the train up and begin the trip all over again. You never can tell.

Conductor, as train pulls into Chicago: "Shee-car-go! Shee-car-go! (Observing that Pullman passenger whose ticket called for trip from New York to Chicago is not getting off). Didn't you want to get off at Shee-car-go, sir?"

Passenger: "Yes, sir."

Conductor: "This is Shee-car-go, sir."

Passenger: "Well, I like the singing so well I'm going to stay on and ride through to San Francisco."

* * *

The country is so jazz crazy the introduction of music on railroads may make it actually difficult to get young people to leave the trains. Railroads may have to put dance floors in all cars.

People soon may be riding to the Pacific coast not so much for their health as for the music and new dance steps.

The railroad that has the best entertainment will get the business, regardless of scenic advantages or smoothness of roadbed.

Suggestion for railroad advertising jingle:

Here's Phoebe Snow about to go
Upon a trip to Buffalo:
For such a trip as this she longs
Because it is the Road of Songs.

The great danger is that the Pullman people will serve their songs in as small portions as they serve their food. If they do nobody will get enough music to do them any good.

On the other hand it may be the plan to make the singing so bad the customers will have to go the dining cars to get away from it. Business is business.

There must be a catch in it somewhere. But the possibilities for development are extensive. A good colored comedian may have a brighter future with the Pullman company than with the Shuberts.

The introduction of South Sea Island and Hawaiian dancers in smoking cars is under consideration, it is understood. The main objection arises through a fear the men passengers will want to rent seats by the month.

* * *

Nothing has been done about entertaining the steerage classes in the day coaches, despite the fact they need it most.

An excuse will be given for renaming the Pullman coaches, anyway.

DOGHILL PARAGRAFS

By GEORGE BINGHAM

The public road between here and Rye Straw is so crooked the Mail Carrier says he cannot peer ten feet into the future.

The store in the Calf Ribs neighborhood was broken into Wednesday night. To prevent their being discovered while at work the robbers shoved the store back off the road before robbing it.

Dock Hocks says he must be getting old, as while drying his face today he observed wrinkles in the towel.

Look for "Mammy," "Kentucky Blues," "Love's Sweet Kiss," "She's My Doll Baby" and other titles on the sides of the cars. Either the Pullman company will have to find names to fit the music or the song-writers will have to write songs to fit the Pullman cars.

Ultimately, even the train callers may say it with music. "Tr-a-ain Numbah 17....Harmony Four Express....for Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago and way-y-y stations....leaves on Irving Berlin track at ten minutes after you hear the 'Dawgone Dixie Blues!' All-l-l abo-o-a-r-d!"

Of course the whole thing will lead to more trouble among the railroad workers. They'll want entertainment too. Trained seals in the engine cab and calboose have been proposed, but the railroad workers are not allowed to throw fish to them under section 867 of the union rules as amended during the third before the last strike threat.

Little Stories for Bedtime

THE HOUSE THAT DANNY AND NANNY BUILT

This is the house that Danny built and Nanny built together;
This is the house of happiness no matter what the weather.

Perhaps you wouldn't have called it a house at all. I suspect that you would have called it a nest if you had happened to find it. But it was a house and a very fine one in the eyes of a Meadow Mouse. All nests are really houses, you know, just as are the holes that are dug by Digger the Badger and Johnny Chuck and Striped Chipmunk, and just as are hollow trees in which live Uncle Billy Possum and Bobby Coon. It was the new home of Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse and they had no end of fun in building it.

Of course Danny, being very much in love, allowed Nanny to have her way in everything. It was she who decided just exactly where the new house should be. It took her some time because she changed her mind so often. She would decide upon a place and Danny would at once start work, and then she would find a place that she liked better. If Danny got a wee bit impatient he didn't show it. You see, he wanted Nanny to be wholly satisfied. At last she picked out a place right in the very middle of the pile of old corn stalks close to the edge of Farmer Brown's corn field and this time she didn't change her mind. Instead she at once took charge of the work of building the new house.

First a place had to be made for it and Nanny was very particular that this should be just right. It meant a lot of hard work because there were two or three tough old cornstalks that had to be cut and pulled out of the way. But at last this was finished and they were ready to build the house. There was plenty of splendid material right at hand. Perhaps this is one thing which had led thrifty Nanny to decide on this particular place. You see there were dried corn husks all about, and there is nothing nicer for a Meadow Mouse house.

So Danny set to work stripping off and bringing corn husks, and these Nanny made into a beautiful little, round house in such a way that when it rained the water would run off and not inside. When she had finished the outside to suit her, and Danny had admired it and called it the finest house that ever was, as of course he was bound to do she went to work on the inside. Now if Nanny was very particular about the outside she was positively fussy about the inside. She sent Danny to find the softest dried grass, and when it wasn't soft enough to suit her she sent him for more. With this she lined the whole inside and wouldn't let Danny even peep inside until she had fixed it to suit her. She made a little round doorway just big enough to slip in and out of easily, and when she was all done she invited Danny to come in.

"It's the most wonderful house I ever have seen," declared Danny as he curled himself up on a soft bed of grass to rest.

"Of course it is because it is our house—yours and mine—and we are the happiest people in all the Great World," replied Nanny, cuddling down beside him.

"No one will ever think to look for us here," said Danny. "I'm going to make a lot of little paths under the old pile, and if any one should happen to find us here, all we will have to do will be to play dodge along those little paths. Listen! I hear footsteps outside this very minute!"

They lay perfectly still. Sure enough there were footsteps outside, great heavy footsteps. Danny crept out of the house and down under the corn stalks where he could peep out.

"It's Farmer Brown's boy, and he's gone right past without once suspecting that any one is living here," he chuckled. "I hope he will come often, because if he is around here much Reddy and Granny Fox will keep away. They might smell us but Farmer Brown's boy can't smell, and he'll never think of looking inside this old pile of corn stalks. I never was so happy in all my life! Were you?"

And Nanny admitted that she never was.

This Taffeta Frock Might Serve as a Bridesmaid's Costume

Very dainty and smart, and really an excellent suggestion for a bridesmaid's frock, is the little model shown in the sketch. It was developed in changeable pastel colored taffeta, and trimmed simply with inset bands of net striped with very narrow metal braid. The effect was distinctly charming and unusual, although, of course, lace insertion might be used if preferred. The slightly draped bodice reaches just about to the normal waist line, and is invisibly fastened in the back. The taffeta lends itself well to the clever little overskirt and crisp, flaring bow at one side.

The same fabric and trimming used in the frock are also employed for the hat, an over-lay of the net covering the top of the brim. The gold braid finished net hands appear on the crown, and the rosettes that surround the crown are of taffeta centered with mere touches of the gold braid.

If something more practical is desired, of course, the frock might be developed in navy or other dark colored taffeta and serve very acceptably for afternoon wear.

Another smart and youthful taffeta frock recently seen featured a rather narrow straight skirt, finished at the bottom with five ruffles each about four inches wide. The draped bodice, reaching to the hip line, was finished at the neck with four or five of these ruffles, forming a sort of mid-Victorian bertha. The dress, designed for a girl of slender lines, was decidedly smart and out of the ordinary. The ruffles were picot edged in metal thread, the model shown being in a soft dull brown.

Organdy is having its usual big vogue this season, and self fabric trimmings are in high favor, these consisting of tucks, ruffles, edgings and insertions of organdy lattice work, and little corsages of organdy flowers.

Mrs. Baker calls it "a wonderful medicine." If you are suffering from troubles women often have, or feel all run down, without any ambition or energy for your regular work, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a natural restorative and should help you.

A Wife or a Profession?

BY CAROLYN BEECHER

(Copyright, 1922, by Carolyn Beecher)

CHAPTER LXV

Annette brightened visibly after Claire came. If she grew any stronger it was so slowly that they could scarcely detect any difference. Claire watched Howard and wondered. She had talked with Dr. Campbell one night when he, yielding to the urgent request of Blake, had once more visited Annette. Claire and the famous surgeon found themselves alone and Claire, with her usual frankness, asked some very pointed questions regarding Howard.

"You are a great friend of them both, I take it," Campbell said.

"Indeed I am! I would do almost anything for them."

"Then send him back to his profession. Make that poor little woman see that she has no right to deprive the world of his services. Make her understand he will love her more than ever if she—of her own free will—gives him back his self-respect. I have heard some of her arguments, and for the first time I have a glimmering of what Blake must have gone through, and why it sapped his manhood. She has the money, too."

"Yes, Annette is very wealthy, and she has no relatives. She has only Howard."

"So she told me. But that is no excuse for taking a genius like Blake and draining him of all that made him worth anything. God! It almost takes away my compassion for that poor broken child up there when I thing of it!"

Howard came in just then, so no more was said. But Dr. Campbell little realized the impression his words had made.

"Send him back to his profession? Make that poor little woman see she has no right to deprive the world of his services!"

Could she do it? The impossible! Claire knew, as we all do, that the greater the height from which a man falls, the harder it is to rise again.

"I can try!" She set her mobile lips in a straight line and went about making her plans. "If I do that I haven't lived in vain," she soliloquized.

Annette herself showed her the way to make an attempt.

"Have Howard ask Hayden Drew down for the week-end, Claire," she said. "It is lonely for you here."

"It isn't one bit lonely! I am in love with the whole place. You are very fortunate, Annette, to have this view, this lovely room. And such devotion as Howard gives you."

"Of course. But he was always devoted, you know—except for a little while when he had to work hard for a living. Why don't you marry Hayden, Claire? Every one knows he is in love with you."

"Do they? Well, Annette, it takes a good deal of thought to convince me that it is my duty to marry." Then an idea came and she went on very seriously: "You see, Annette, Hayden Drew is a very clever man. A woman has no right to marry a clever man and then hold him back, destroy him. There would come a time when he would almost hate a woman who had ruined his career. He might not for years, not while she was young and lovely, but later his thoughts would be sure to turn to the full life he might have had, the good he might have done. A woman who marries a man like Hayden Drew must first make up her mind to be willing to be, perhaps not second to it, but willing to share him with his profession."

Annette made no reply. Claire changed the subject, and for some days neither of them mentioned it again. Then one day Annette said:

"Do you believe what you said the other day, Claire?"

"I say so much. What particular remark have you in mind?"

"You said that if a woman married a clever man and held him back, interfered with his profession, there would come a time when he might hate the woman who had interfered with his career. Do you really believe that is so?"

"I surely do, Annette. It might not happen in years, but in the end it is inevitable. Just a woman, just her love, never fully satisfies a man. He wants that, but he also wants other things, his business, his profession, the thought that he is of use in the world of busy men."

Annette again made no reply.

"It would be a marvel!" Claire said to herself later, when she recalled the conversation. "Anyway, I have made her think."

Claire Gordon had noticed how Howard's interest in his medical journals had awakened. She laid it primarily to Annette's injury, her operation—when she should be strong enough to endure it. But in a way it encouraged her, although she said nothing of it to him. In fact, Claire saw practically nothing of him except when both were with Annette. They made it a point never to leave her alone with servants or nurses.

"We never can repay you for coming, can we, Annette?" Howard said one day.

"Oh, yes, you can" Claire broke in, not waiting for Annette to answer. "And some day I shall expect payment—my pound of flesh."

"Don't! I haven't any to spare," Annette said jokingly.

"I have. Take two pounds," Howard told her.

Officers Return Negro From Bowie

Following the looting of a house at 806 Austin, late Sunday night, a negro was arrested at Bowie early Monday morning, and was returned to Wichita Falls yesterday afternoon in the custody of Jack Miller, of the police department. The negro is charged with burglary.

A suit of clothes valued at between $35 and $50 and $15 in money was taken from the house, according to the police.

When arrested, the negro, whose name has not been made public, was en route to Fort Worth on a Denver passenger train. Officers here received the report shortly after the robbery, and, working on a straight tip, traced the negro toward Fort Worth. He was intercepted at Bowie.

The negro's arrest is the first since a series of hold robberies broke out in Wichita Falls.

Science Robs Calomel of Nausea And Danger

Sickening and Dangerous Qualities Removed—Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Calotabs the New Name.

What will human ingenuity do next? Smokeless powder, wireless, less iodine, tasteless quinine,—now comes nauseless calomel. The new telegraphy, horseless carriages, color-improvement called "Calotabs" is on sale at local drug stores and is the sensation of the drug trade.

For biliousness, constipation and indigestion Calotabs is a practically perfect remedy. One tablet at bedtime, with a swallow of water,—that's all. No taste, no nausea, no griping. By morning your liver is thoroughly cleansed and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite. Eat what you please,—no danger—go about your business.

Beware of imitations! Genuine Calotabs are sold only in "checkerboard" (black and white) packages bearing the copyrighted trade-mark "Calotabs." The large, family size sells for thirty-five cents; vest-pocket size, ten cents. All dealers are authorized to refund the price if you are not delighted with Calotabs.—adv.

Morgan Extends Challenge to Williams

I hereby challenge Hon. Guinn Williams, candidate for Congress from the 13th Congressional District, to meet me in joint discussion on the issues involved in this campaign at any time and at any place to be agreed upon and so indicated by him; I also extend this challenge to any of his friends and supporters who would like to have joint discussions in behalf of his candidacy, to meet my friends at any time and place they may desire.

The issues in this campaign should be put squarely before the people and demagoguery and pussy-footing should not be resorted to by paid hirelings on either side. I believe that through fair and open discussion the voter can make up his mind and understand the issues involved and better decide between the respective merits of the two men.

Early in the month of April Mr. Williams agreed to meet me in joint discussion over the district; the itinerary was made for the first two weeks in the west end of the district and in my home county; a part of these engagements were cancelled by mutual consent on account of the weather.

I have divided time with Mr. Williams in the west end of the district and I insist that he meet me in the east end of the district. Should any of his friends desire to meet any of my friends in joint discussion they will kindly communicate with Luther Hoffman, chairman of my campaign committee at Wichita Falls, and engagements will be arranged for every county and town in the district.

This is a direct challenge to Mr. Williams and any of his friends and is demanded in fairness to all the voters of the district.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) S. A. L. MORGAN.

BULLS AGAIN IN SADDLE MONDAY

Further Advance in Stock Market

NEW YORK, May 1.—Industrial and commercial advices published over the week end recess, combined with the bullish "literature" issued by a majority of the commission houses, gave impetus to the further advance of the stock market prices today.

Specific instances of unusual activity and strength included Associated and Pacific oils, Standard oil of New Jersey, Studebaker which threw off the disappointment shown at the failure of the directors to declare an extra dividend, Baldwin locomotive, International preferred and Lackawanna, Gulf States and Republic steels.

There were numerous additional gains of 1 to 2 points among specialties, shippings, chemicals and utilities, the latter embracing Montana power, but rails, apart from the junior issues, were at all times backward. Sales amounted to 1,135,000 shares, making the twenty-second consecutive full session in which transactions ran into seven figures.

Railroad tonnage for the preceding week showed a moderate decrease in the Middlewest but this was balanced by general business gains in that section, as well as at more remote points, notably Southwestern territory.

Money rates continued to reflect heavy shifting of funds in connection with May payments. Call loans opened at 4 percent but advanced to 4 1-2 percent at midday. Renewals of short time loans were effected at recent quotations, but the longer maturities were in little demand.

At 4.42 3-4 demand sterling was at its highest quotation for over a week. French, Italian and Belgian bills rose 3 to 6 points, but Scandinavian rates again reacted. Far eastern bills were strong, the Shanghai rate rising in the face of the more serious military disturbances in China.

Ben Neal, president of the Kiwanis club, and Julian Bobo, district trustee, were elected Monday at the regular weekly meeting as delegates from the Wichita Falls Kiwanis club to the Kiwanis international convention which will be held in Toronto, Canada, June 22, 23 and 24.

Walter Curlee and Rev. F. T. Dotson were unanimously chosen as alternates for the international meeting.

Bond Transactions Lose Volume But Make Price Gain

NEW YORK, May 1.—The striking feature of today's bond market was the decided diminution in the volume of operations, although transactions, mostly at higher levels, comprised many separate issues.

Constructive features included several of the local tractions, especially Interborough Rapid Transit 5's and 4 1-2's and Third Avenue adjustments.

Chinese railway 5's developed weakness, presumably in connection with the war in that country. Liberty issues lacked a definite trend but hardened later, gains exceeding losses in that group. Sales, par value, aggregated $17,472,000.

WHEAT FIRM ON MAY DELIVERY

Spectacular Plays Not Evident

CHICAGO, May 1.—Settlement of May contracts for the delivery of wheat here began today without any of the spectacular accompaniments whih had been talked about of late as likely to be seen. Deliveries were on a liberal scale, totalling 1,250,000 bushels very near the amount which had been generally expected, and were readily taken by strong interests. Big export sales helped to lift values. The market closed unsettled, 1 -4 to 2 1-8c net higher, with May 1.41 1-2 and July 1.28 1-8 to 1.28 1-4. Corn finished 7-8c to 1c higher. Oats unchanged to 3-8c up, and provisions varying from unchanged figures to a rise of 20 cents.

The rank and file of traders turned attention to July and September business and to factors other than the immediate supply of wheat in Chicago.

The abandoned acreage of winter wheat was 11.6 per cent, and the probable yield perhaps 20,000,000 bushels less than was harvested last year. Export sales today were figured at upward of 1,500,000 bushels. On the other hand the U. S. visible supply showed only a small decrease, 212,000 bushels.

Corn and oats were firmer in sympathy with wheat. Talk of heavy use of corn for feeding on farms attracted some notice. Furthermore there was a decided falling off in the visible supply both of corn and oats. Scattered buying of ribs rallied the provision market from a decline due to lower quotations on hogs.

RAINS START COTTON BUYING

Market Closes With 30 Point Gain

NEW YORK, May 1.—Unexpected reports of further rains in the southwest started a buying movement in the cotton market today which seemed to broaden as prices worked higher, with western and Wall street interests good buyers toward the close. December contracts sold up to 18.35 or fully half a cent above last week's closing quotation, and closed at 18.32, with the general market closing firm at a net advance of 30 to 48 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 9 points on old crop months which were influenced by firmer cables to a decline of four points on the new crop.

Private reports of rain in Texas began to reach the trade right after the call, however, and were followed by an official forecast for unsettled conditions in the west with more rain in Texas.

Early sellers turned to cover short contracts in consequence and the market became active and firm later in the day. May sold up to 18.70; July to 18.10 and October to 18.30, with the general list showing net advances of 38 to 49 points in the late trading. The close was within a point or two of the best.

Bullish sentiment was probably encouraged by the survey of the department of commerce published before the opening, indicating that world's consumption for this season would amount to 21,000,000 bales or six million bales in excess of production and that the carryover by August first would be reduced to 7,912,000 bales of all kinds including only 4,291,000 bales of American. Exports today were 10,766, making 4,743,938, so far this season. Net receipts 13,048. U. S. port stocks 940,510.

LIVERPOOL SPOTS

LIVERPOOL, May 1.—Cotton, spot, in fair demand; prices firm; good middling 10.63; fully middling 10.33; middling 10.18; low middling 9.73; good ordinary 8.88; ordinary 8.38; sales 6,000 bales including 5,500 American.

Two Special Judges Are Named Monday

Orus O. Ross was elected special judge of the 89th district court in the absence of Judge P. A. Martin and R. E. Hardwick was chosen special judge in the 78th district court in the absence of Judge E. W. Napier, when the two district courts were convened Monday.

Judge Martin has gone to Hot Springs, Ark., to attend a Methodist church convention, while Judge Napier, who has recently announced as a candidate for governor of Texas, is busying himself this week in preparing his platform for publication.

It is thought that Judge Napier will be absent from his official duties the greater portion of the present week, while Judge Martin will be in Hot Springs the greater part of ten days.

Judge Napier, in the absence of Judge Martin, empaneled the interchangeable jury for the week, Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

FELT SO TIRED ALL THE TIME

Indiana Lady Says She Was Rundown, Suffered With Her Back, Took Cardui, and Got Well.

Richmond, Ind.—"I thought I would write a line or so, to say that I owe my good health and strength to Cardui," says a letter from Mrs. Cora Courtney, of 705 North Seventeenth street, this city.

"I was all run-down until my family thought they would lose me," writes Mrs. Courtney. "My husband coaxed me to take Cardui, so to please him, I did, and I will say I do not regret it, for I am able to do all my work and do my shopping.

"I have five children, four in school, my husband and a boarder to do for, and I do all my own work for all of us, and I find time to play. We all praise Cardui. Every sick and run-down woman should take this wonderful medicine.

"I suffered with my back; a very weak feeling in my limbs.

"I felt hardly able to drag; just tired—so tired all the time.

"It was an effort for me to do anything, but Cardui helped me so I felt like a different woman."

If you are in a run-down physical condition, suffering as this Indiana lady says she did, give Cardui a fair trial. It should help you.

Cardui is a purely vegetable tonic medicine for women's ailments, found valuable in thousands of such cases as described above.

Take Cardui. Your druggist sells it.—adv.

BULLINGTON TO SPEAK BEFORE VARSITY CLUB

New Candidate to Make First Talk At Open House

Orville Bullington, latest entrant into the congressional race for this district, will make his first public appearance since his entry at the University club luncheon at the Kemp at noon today. While he will make a political speech, this appearance is not his campaign opening, which will be held elsewhere, he announced.

Entry of the Wichita Falls attorney continues to be the chief feature of interest in the congressional situation, and opponents and their supporters still continue to shout "Republican," in his direction. The new entrant continues to answer with the charges that his opponents have abandoned democracy for a leaning to ward socialism.

The new candidate admits that he had a hand in the writing of the republican state platform two years ago and asserts that he is proud of it as a document expressing genuine democratic sentiments. He is not a Republican, he says, but an independent, declaring that he never acknowledged even to republicans that he was one of the party.

"I voted for both Republican and Democratic nominees two years ago," he said. "If that doesn't entitle a man to be an independent, I don't know what it takes."

His platform, which will probably be given in his opening speech, will contain a plank favoring the tariff as the principal issue—tariff protection for farm, ranch and mineral products in the same measure as is accorded the products of manufacturers, he indicated Monday, confirming predictions made by friends as to his attitude.

"This is just a question of American living standards, as contrasted with the standards of the rest of the world," he said. "If Americans wish to live as the people of the countries that they would be brought into competition with, without the tariff—ask some of the overseas soldiers about that—let them abolish the tariff. The greater part of the country has gone for a tariff, the workers in the east. It is now up to the farmers and livestock men to say if they want the same protection as the manufacturer, or if they think that they would prefer to compete directly with the raw products produced by peasants of Europe."

He is not in favor of a cash bonus—does not believe that the treasury can find the money to pay it now—but is in favor of relief for the soldiers—particularly in favor of great irrigation projects to be built by the government, and aid which would establish former service men on these projects. He is in favor of the fullest care for all former service men injured during the war.

In the conduct of the government, his platform will call for the most rigid economy, as well as for simplification and reduction of taxes. In this connection he will demand that the army of civilian clerks in Washington, who now go to work at 9 and quit at 3, he says, work as those doing the same have to work for private employers—which would enable the dispensing of half of them, he believes. Furthermore, he says, he is against pensions for civil employes. They ought to save money like those in private life, he says. If there are any pensions to go out, he is in favor of giving them to the men who defended the government in war, and not to those who live off it in peace.

For the army and navy, he is in favor of the utmost reductions consistent with national safety—he regards the expense of these services as simply national insurance. He favors drastic reductions as foreign nations may be induced to make similiar reductions, but does not believe that the cry for reduction below a point of national safety, although a fine plank for a politician, recommends a man for a very high order of patriotism.

NEVADA HEARS RADIO TALK FROM HAWAII

(By International News Service)

FALLON, Nev., May 1.—"Come over to Hawaii and I'll give you a bottle of beer."

This conversation between a Hawaiian and a Californian came over the wireless of Dale Likes, 15-year-old Fallon radio enthusiast, in loud, clear tones.

Dale bought his instrument and made everything else himself. He is a regularly licensed radio man of the United States government, and his station is officially known as Radio 6ATM.

A hotel man at Catalina giving a produce order to a dealer in San Diego, orchestra music from San Francisco, San Bernardino and Spokane and a sermon from the Trinity church in Denver, are some of the interesting things that Dale Likes hears in Fallon.

LOUIS, Mo., May 1.—Conducting his campaign entirely by correspondence, Roger Bailey, a student at Washington university and a member of the football team, was elected city attorney of Sikeston, Mo., in a recent non-partisan election. Mr. Bailey, who is only 22 years old, is a republican. He gained popularity while playing football for the Sikeston high school. He entered Washington university in 1918, and will be graduated from the law school in June. He already has been admitted to the bar in Missouri.

OFFICERS FIND JUICE BOTH INSIDE AND OUT

(By International News Service)

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., May 1.—An electrically charged lock on a huge tool box failed to keep prohibition officers from getting a quantity of moonshine whiskey hidden inside, even if it did have an awful "kick"—almost as powerful in fact as the moonshine.

The officers found the tool box in a garage here. After getting a jolt when they tried to open the lock they cut the wires and forced open the cover.

"A regular box of TNT inside and out," one of the officers remarked as they carried away the illicit liquor.

CITY MAY TAX VENDORS LIENS

Recommended Way Out of Red

Vendors' lien notes held by Wichitans may be taxed to raise city revenues if suggestions brought before the city council, sitting in regular session Monday night, is carried into action.

Members of the equalization board who were present intimated that the city's indebtedness could be easily liquidated with a tax on such notes, but that unless vendors' lien notes are taxed when the equalization board meets, city revenues derived from various methods of taxation will be insufficient to meet the current obligations.

No action was taken by the council on the appointment of a city prosecutor and city judge. The matter is being deferred due to the absence from Wichita Falls of the two men slated for the places.

During the business session, Mayor Frank Collier was authorized to attend the municipalities' convention which will be held at Waxhahchie, May 17.

The ordinance regulating weights and measures and applying specifically to meters was passed to second reading.

Supervision of the sewer department was turned over to George Dobson, street superintendent.

The councilmen agreed to permit a merchant to erect a store in the 1900 block of Fillmore street.

After some discussion concerning the proper methods of collecting sewage rentals, the council agreed to permit the city tax assessor to make the best transaction possible with persons needed to collect the rent.

Commissioner J. H. Reed was authorized to work out some agreement with the park superintendent, J. E. Dobson, as to the hours which he shall devote to the parks. Commissioner Reed suggested that the city furnish the superintendent an automobile, and grant him four hours each week in which to work for the city schools.

FRENCH HONOR YANK

LEESBURG, Va., May 1.—The French government has conferred upon an American, E. B. White of Leesburg, the order of Officer due Merite Agricole, a decoration in recognition of signal service to agriculture, but in this instance awarded for "service rendered in the improvement of horses."

Mr. White began to breed horses 20 years ago, after returning on the advice of physicians to his native home in Virginia from St. Louis, where he had been active on the grain exchange. The physicians had given up hope for his recovery, but the outdoor work incident to his interest in horse-breeding aided in his recovery.

LONDON, May 1.—The reputation of being the world's champion eater was enjoyed by a lawyer named Bela Vessenyi, who has died at Koschemes, a small town east of Budapest.

His early breakfast usually consisted of forty sausages and seven pounds of Hungarian stew. At 10 o'clock he would devour five pounds of bacon and three loaves of bread. He weighed 454 pounds.

A COMPLETE NEWSPAPER

BOOZE BUYERS FLAYED BY JACK

Federal Court Is Opened Monday

"There could be no bootlegging if the bootleggers had no customers; the man who sells illegal whiskey is actuated by mercenary reasons, and many persons wink at the laws of these United States—that is the reason for lawlessness."

With these remarks, Special Judge George W. Jacks of Shreveport, La., empaneled the federal grand jury of the northern district of Texas, Wichita Falls division, assembled in the 89th district court room Monday morning, for the ensuing week of labor which is before the body of 23 men.

Judge Jacks informed the jurymen that they had not been selected at random; that they composed an integral part of the court, and that there would be a number of cases brought before them which would involve federal laws and that it would take due consideration of wise men to bring results.

"Cases of murder, theft, larceny and burglary have nothing to do with the federal courts," Judge Jack reminded the jury in his short charge, "but you will have jurisdiction when cases of theft of government property, and the transportation of goods stolen during interstate traffic are brought before you for your investigation."

Charging them to take caution in the cases of white slavery which would probably be brought before them as grand jurymen, Judge Jacks also reminded the body that cases involving the sale and possession of narcotic drugs would also occupy their attention.

He deplored the condition of drug adicts, and drawing to a close of his remarks, he said, regarding the liquor traffic so prevalent:

"This government is not ordinarily concerned with a man's morals; law-abiding citizens should see that the prohibition laws are enforced.

"The prohibition law, I think, is being well enforced over the United States, although there are a great many reports of lax enforcements. But on the whole, the authors of the law should be well satisfied.

"I believe that when the old drinkers who have been accustomed to having their cellars filled with intoxicating liquors for ages past have gone on, and when the new generation of thinking and acting men have come into being the prohibition law enforced, and lax enforcement brings all kinds of lawlessness."

The special federal judge pointed out the customary fact that sixteen of the grand jury's number must be present at all sessions and that 12 must be voting in the affirmative before they could pass an indictment.

The grand jury list as chosen, follows:

J. A. Wise, of Electra, foreman; Glenn McDavid of Electra; Lee Bryan of Charlie; J. H. Payne of Knox City; W. T. Ross of Margaret; J. E. Hampton of Round Timber; J. H. Rayborn of Mankins; W. A. Pope of Henrietta; E. L. Thompson of Foard City; A. O. Taylor of Bellevue; J. A. Napier of Vernon; E. R. Brown of Electra; W. T. Dyer of Sunset; H. E. Wilson of Vernon; W. C. McCombs of Graham; A. R. Conner of Archer City; E. B. Gillis of Harrold; H. L. Beck of Vera; F. P. Avis of Wichita Falls; W. B. Wheeler of Crowell; M. R. Blake of Paducah; G. B. Johnson of Graham; C. D. Colwell of Seymour; G. C. Davis of St. Jo.

When federal court of the northern district of Texas, Wichita Falls division, had begun its regular session Monday morning, local attorneys introduced to the bar B. R. Wood, Elmer Graham, Ben Tipton and C. W. Kersey, attorneys at law, all of whom appear in several cases which will be arraigned before Judge George W. Jacks during the term of court.

Waragainst youths who are continuously violating the public laws was declared by R. L. Yates, juvenile officer, Monday.

"We are going to send more of them to Gatesville; we are going to prosecute more than we have in the past; I'm tired of giving them a chance and then having them brought before me again," declared Mr. Yates Monday afternoon, as he sat in his office shortly after he had discharged four children, all below the 10 year age limit.

Nine youthful characters had been arraigned before him yesterday, four of the youths having been charged with petty thefts, while five of them were charged with vagrancy.

DICKEY SPEAKS FOR KIWANIANS

Henrietta Attorney Monday Visitor

"When merchants and laymen come to use the golden rule in Texas, when we recognize that every man is our brother and that we are our brother's keeper, the solution of the greatest of problems—the cause of social strife, unrest and discord in life—will come to pass."

Thus Judge J. S. Dickey of Henrietta closed remarks before the Kiwanians, at their luncheon at the Kemp hotel Monday noon.

Opening his fifteen-minute address with a number of jokes and conundrums that brought laughter and loud applause from the club members, Judge Dickey concluded with his remarks on the theme "Am I My Brothers' Keeper?"

"I wonder what it is that causes the strife and unrest, the discord and turmoil, and even wars—I wonder what it is that causes men to be dissatisfied? I'm no prophet, nor the son of a prophet, but every man realizes that he's an integral part of business, and I wonder what it is that holds men aloof from business?

"I recently read an editorial in an American magazine," the judge said, reading the article, which, he said, pointed out 'the answer to the great problem in life—the satisfaction that men should find, he said, was to be found in the keeping of the golden rule.

"The obligation is upon us that those who we come in contact with leave us satisfied," he said, and "if we apply the golden rule to our daily lives, the great problem of life would be settled."

Rains Completely Tie Up Road Work

Recent rains have brought the longest cessation in Wichita county road work that has been recorded, according to statements made Monday by county officials.

With the rain which began falling Saturday, two weeks ago, construction work on the several projects now under way in Wichita county was stopped; not a wheel has been turned since that time, and from the appearances of the weather late last night, several days yet will pass before any further work is done.

Five miles on the road east of Burkburnett and five miles of the road west of Burkburnett remain to be completed, it was said, none of this strip having been concreted.

Morgan Will Win Votes After Debate Between He and Williams, Declares Campaign Headquarters Statement

Coincident with general publication of a challenge to continue the joint debates started last week between the two candidates, S. A. L. Morgan yesterday "camped on the trail" of Guinn Williams in the race for congressional honors in the thirteenth district. When Williams announced he would speak in Denton on Monday, Morgan and a number of his supporters promptly headed for that city—with the result that without any further mutual understanding between the two candidates, the speech-making at Denton yesterday automatically became a joint debate.

The announcement was made at Morgan's campaign headquarters here yesterday that the Wichita Falls' candidate for congress will speak in practically every town in the eastern end of the district where Williams has a speaking engagement. Morgan and his campaign managers, they say, made an agreement early in April with Williams that the two candidates should meet in joint discussion over the district. An itinerary was made out for the first two weeks in the west end of the district, in Morgan's home country. Owing to bad weather, a number of these speaking engagements were cancelled. Williams, it is charged by Morgan's supporters, then declined to make out a new itinerary of joint debates in the eastern end of the district.

A challenge to Williams to continue these joint debates is being published in every newspaper throughout the district. With the campaign nearing a close, Morgan's campaign managers declare that the only way left now to give the voters of the district a chance to compare the respective merits of the two candidates is for Morgan to "camp on the trail" of his opponent with the thought uppermost that "this is a political battle, not a tea-fight."

"If the voters in each town throughout the district hear Williams and Morgan speak at the same time in discussion of the political differences that separate their campaigns, and then they decide Williams is the better man for congress, well and good," a member of Morgan's campaign committee declared last night. "But we are insisting, under the circumstances of an understood agreement for joint debates, that the public is entitled to hear Williams and Morgan discuss the many campaign issues together. The earlier agreement was published broadcast throughout the district, and if it is possible to do so, we intend to keep faith with the public regarding it."

LAUNCH MOVE FOR 'Y' HERE

Organizers Named Monday Night

With a permanent committee on organization and details appointed to act as soon as possible, a decided forward step towards a Young Men's Christian association for Wichita Falls was taken at a dinner Monday night at the Wichita Club, when representative business and professional men of the city, met a party of Y. M. C. A. officials and workers, both state and national.

Charles R. Towson, secretary of the industrial department of the international committee, Y. M. C. A. from New York was the principal speaker. L. A. Coulter, of Dallas, the state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., also spoke. Others in the party were: A. B. Minear of Denver, secretary of the Industrial department of the western region; H. P. Demand of Denver, secretary of the boys work international committee; Herbert L. Crate, now at Kerrville, former secretary of boys work at Houson; M. E. Brown, of Houston, secretary of the state committee, and J. E. Lewis, of Dallas, secretary of boys work.

W. D. Cline presided at the dinner Monday night. The permanent committee appointed consists of: Frank Kell, W. B. Hamilton, W. M. Priddy, Lee Clark, R. E. Shepherd, J. W. Culbertson and W. D. Cline.

Belief that the time will be favorable for an organiatiozn of a Wichita Falls Young Men's Christian Association within a short time, was expressed by speakers among the local men. This committee was appointed to keep in touch with the local situntion, and is pledged to expedite organization as soon as conditions will permit. A decided interest in the movement which was already familiar to all present, was manifested.

In his decidedly inspirational, as well as highly practical address, on the co-relation of the Young Men's Christian Association and business, Mr. Towson gave fraternity as the solution of the problems of the age.

20 STUDENTS GO TO AUSTIN MEET

District Winners to Leave Wednesday

After winning high honors at the district meet at Iowa Park on April 15 and 16, the representatives of the Wichita Falls schools will embark for the state capitol in search of further glory for their Alma Mater.

Some twenty students, accompanied by Misses Kinsey and Goff, are due to leave Wednesday afternoon and return Sunday. Miss Goff is in charge of the orchestra which is planning to treat the capitalities with some of their wares. This orchestra has been declared by several authorities as the best or as good as anything in the high school line in the state. It consists of about fifteen pieces.

Miss Kinsey will have in her charge Fred Couper, junior boy declaimer; Louise Scott, senior girl declaimer; Ray Bland, senior boy declaimer; Francis Jones and Stella Winters, girl debaters.

The Red and Black will send in the athletic branch Leo Baldwin for high jump and pole vault, and from ability displayed to date, he should win either a cup or ribbon this session; Paul Hines as the boys' singles racqueteer; and Clifton Haynes and William Powers, constituting the double team for Wichita Falls Hi and the 13th district.

In tennis these entrants will make a good account of themselves, especially in the doubles, as these two youths made the trip last year and gave Oak Cliff of Dallas a run for their money, and they are in much better form and have played together more this year.

LEGION CIRCUS SET THIS WEEK

Austin School Club Cancels Conflict

Because the Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion will hold its postponed aviation meet at Call Field grounds Saturday and Sunday of this week, and because the legion has already suffered a loss of approximately $1,000 on the proposed meet, the Austin School Mothers' club will not carry out its plans to have an all-day celebration at the field Saturday.

That announcement was made late Monday afternoon by Mrs. H. F. Weldon, president of the mothers' club.

The club had planned a program which incorporated an all-day picnic, concluding with a dance at Call Field Saturday evening, the announcement of the entertainment having been made at a recent meeting of the Kiwanis club, at which the mothers were present.

The club planned to raise funds to aid Austin school children and the school itself, candies, lunches and other things which were to be sold on the grounds during the picnic, and the dance at night being the means of raising money.

The legion, which had previously planned to hold its flying circus the past Saturday and Sunday, announced late Sunday night that because they had been rained out on the Sabbath day, the meet would be held at the end of the present week.

Why Be "Skinny"

When It's So EASY to Increase Your Weight This New Way

New Scientific Process Embodied in IRONIZED YEAST Enables Many Thin, Nervous, Run-down Folks to Gain 5 to 9 Pounds on First Package

NO matter how thin you may be—no matter how long you have been trying to put on weight—no matter how many different preparations you may have tried without results—you owe it to yourself to learn of the real benefits that IRONIZED YEAST holds for you. For thin folks to gain five to nine pounds on the very first package is not at all unusual. Pimples and other humiliating skin eruptions usually completely disappear within 14 days. And as for creating new energy, seeming miracles are reported by people who were once nervous, weak and rundown. And all because IRONIZED YEAST embodies an amazing process—a process which enables yeast to bring its wonderful results often in just half the usual time!

What Is The Secret?

While science admits that yeast alone is good, experiments prove that it is not enough, in itself, to bring 100% results. For although yeast contains certain mysterious elements which have a wonderful effect on our health, it needs some other agent in order to quickly convert these vital elements into rosy cheeks, firm flesh and rugged strength.

Iron, Science tells us, is of high value in changing the food we eat into living cells and tissue. So working on this problem, our chemists finally discovered the amazing process of ironization. It is this process which enables you to derive from yeast ALL of the splendid benefits it holds for you.

Superior — Therefore Imitated

You are cautioned against accepting cheap inferior imitations of IRONIZED YEAST, which in most cases are merely mixtures of ordinary yeast and iron. The remarkable process of ironization is embodied only in IRONIZED YEAST, the one scientifically correct yeast treatment. Always insist upon the genuine IRONIZED YEAST. It is the only way you can be sure of getting the best.
