Hard Blow Is Dealt Rabaul

Airmen Slash Area, Leave Many Fires In Night Foray

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Tuesday, Feb. 2.—General Douglas MacArthur's airmen carried the fight to the vital Japanese air base on Rabaul island in a slashing attack yesterday that left more than 22 fires blazing, while intensive Allied patrol activity in the jungles around Mubo-Wau kept the enemy worried.

Fying Fortresses hit hard at Rabaul's airdromes of Lakunai and Rapopo in a night attack, and the noon communique said they caused "heavy destruction of fuel dumps and grounded aircraft."

More than 20 fires were started at the Lakunai airdrome, on the east side of the harbor, as the big bombers found their target well-lighted by flares from planes which preceded the main striking force.

Pilots who hit Rapopo airdrome on the north end of the peninsula watched flames from two fires from 25 miles away.

Patrols which moved out into the jungle between the Allied base at Wau and Mubo maintained contact with a Jap force estimated at a battalion, or 900 men. MacArthur's spokesman said fighting was only in the patrol stage there and didn't approach the sharp engagement last Friday and Saturday when the enemy drove through in one sector only to be hurled back with a loss of more than 300 dead.

The communique mentioned for the first time that the Allies in that area had artillery support, used presumably to help smash back the first big Jap attack. There have been no reports that the Japs had artillery.

JAP BASES IN SOLOMONS ARE CONTINUALLY POUNDED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP) — Continued aerial pounding of Japanese bases in the Solomon islands was reported today by the Navy in a communique which also stated that sixty-two enemy troops had been killed on Guadalcanal and 22 had been captured.

Communique number 267 said:

"South Pacific: (All dates are east longitude)

"1. On January 28, U. S. troops on Guadalcanal island killed 62 Japanese and took 22 prisoners.

"2. On January 29th:

"(A) During the early afternoon, a force of Marauder medium bombers (Martin B-26) attacked enemy positions on Kolombangara island.

"(B) During the evening, Marauders bombed the enemy held area at Munde on New Georgia island.

"(C) Japanese planes bombed U. S. positions on Guadalcanal island. One enemy plane was shot down.

"3. On January 30, during the morning, a force of Marauder medium bombers with Airacobra escort (Bell P-39), bombed enemy positions at Munda on New Georgia island."

Japs Claim Five U. S. Ships Sunk

Two Others Are Claimed Damaged

(By The Associated Press)

Japanese imperial headquarters asserted yesterday—without confirmation from any non-Japanese quarter—that its planes had sunk two American battleships and three cruisers last Friday and Saturday off Rennell island, southernmost of the Solomons about 100 miles south of Guadalcanal.

This wholly unsupported claim was made in a communique read in both house of the Japanese Diet by Navy Minister Admiral Shigetaro Shimada and was broadcast by the Tokyo radio and recorded in New York by the Associated Press.

Others Said Damaged

Another battleship and cruiser were reported damaged and three Grumman Wildcat fighters were shot down at the cost of only ten Japanese planes, the communique said. The account was ignored in Washington and London and recalled other fantastic claims of Japanese naval success.

Tokyo propaganda broadcasts termed the "attack" an answer to the Roosevelt-Churchill "unconditional surrender" conference at Casablanca. Their tone thus suggested that the Japanese might be circulating the report to counteract effects of the Allied strategy meeting. Another purpose, possibly, was to fish for information about Allied naval dispositions in the southwest Pacific, where the Japanese are under increasing pressure on Guadalcanal and New Guinea.

Third Ration Book Is Being Prepared

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (U.P.) —A third ration book is being prepared by the Office of Price administration for possible rationing of additional foodstuffs known to be scarce.

OPA officials said the book would be called "War Ration Book No. 3" and would supplement No. 2 which will be distributed sometime this month for the rationing of canned goods and meat.

It has not been decided what commodities will be rationed with the new book, but officials said they wanted to be ready for immediate expansion of the ration program when it becomes necessary, butter, cheese and canned milk may be rationed soon and there are indications that liquor may be rationed by mid-summer.

President Roosevelt "A Good Air Sailor"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (U.P.) — President Roosevelt, the first president of the United States to fly while holding that office, is "a good air sailor."

So said White House Secretary Stephen T. Early today in discussing the president's three-week trip to Africa and South America. The chief executive, Early said, "didn't get sick once" during the entire flight.

Mr. Roosevelt "looked fine" when he returned to the White House last night, Early added, and showed no particular signs of fatigue.

High Court Dismisses Birth Control Law

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (U.P.) — The Supreme court decided today that it had no jurisdiction to pass on the validity of Connecticut's anti-birth control device law, which provides jail sentences for doctors giving birth control advice.

The case was dismissed without the court going into the merits of the law.

Seven Are Dead In Texas Fires

(By The Associated Press)

Fires took the lives of seven Texans Sunday and Monday.

In Dallas Emmett Donald Crawford, 23, and Dr. Willard Park, 70-year-old woman physician, were injured fatally Monday in a conflagration which swept a two-story rooming house. Crawford in leaping from a second-story window severed an artery in his arm and bled to death.

Dr. Park, resident of Jacksonville, died of burns.

Mrs. Elton Rahn, 20, and her two children—Georgianna, 3, and Earl Lewis, lost their lives Sunday in McKinney when a wood stove exploded in their home. The children, asleep at the time of the explosion, were burned to death.

A verdict of accidental death by suffocation was returned by Justice Tom Maes Sunday in Houston in connection with the death of Horace N. Bell, 43. Justice Maes said that Bell apparently had been smoking in bed when his mattress caught fire and caused him to suffocate.

Mrs. J. E. Wilson, 70, was burned to death at her Bangs, Tex., home Sunday when her clothing caught fire from trash burning in the yard.

Gasoline Truck Burns, Two Hurt

Four Hale Center Houses Threatened

(Special To The Avalanche)

HALE CENTER, Feb. 1.—Two men were burned as 4,000 gallons of gasoline blazed for two hours in the heart of Hale Center's business district today, destroying an automobile and a truck. Recurrent explosions and burning gasoline along two streets threatened four business buildings nearby, and one was damaged.

The fire broke out after the truck, carrying 4,000 gallons of gasoline, turned over after averting a collision with an automobile. W. C. Simpson, Lubbock, and Thomas Melton Webb, Plainview, occupants of the truck, were injured, the latter seriously. Extra clothing worn by Webb provided some protection. Most of an extra suit of coveralls he wore was burned off him.

Telephone Cables Melted

Telephone communications were cut almost instantly, as the blaze, leaping 100 feet into the air, melted the cables. One store was damaged, and dozens of plate glass windows around the town were broken by the intense heat.

Plainview dispatched part of its fire equipment here to assist local firemen in bringing the blaze under control.

Webb, whose condition tonight was reported critical, and Simpson, who was burned and cut slightly, were pinned beneath the truck when it overturned, but crawled to safety through the flames and a narrow opening. They were taken to a Plainview hospital.

The truck, hauling gasoline for Phillips Petroleum company, was owned by Homer Johnson of Levelland.

Americans Attack In Three Tough Sectors

LONDON, Feb. 1 (AP) — American troops have attacked German positions in the tactically important mountainous area of central Tunisia in three limited but bitterly contested sectors and air action has risen in violence over nearly the whole of the North African theater to signalize the approach of the major action that will usher in the showdown.

U. S. infantry, supported by artillery and tanks, made heavy assaults in an effort to recapture Faid Pass, about 60 miles west of the important Axis coastal position of Sfax, and two other American columns beat against the railroad town of Maknassy, 33 miles inland from the Gulf of Gabes, while the Allied air arm struck hard and effectively overhead.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Newton of Tahoka on birth of a daughter weighing 8 pounds 13 3-4 ounces at 2:43 o'clock Monday afternoon in Lubbock General hospital. Newton is a barber.

Kosse Only Small Place, But Packs Mighty Wallop In War

(By The Associated Press)

KOOSE, Tex., Feb. 1—This is just a tiny burg—pop. 805 by the last census—but it packs a mighty war wallop. It has 234 citiens in armed service.

The census taker would have an easier time now. About two out of every seven persons previously counted are now in the service of this nation's armed forces. Half a dozen more are going in a day or so.

Mrs. Ira Mitchell has five boys in the service, another may leave soon, and one is reported missing in action. Mrs. Leela Griffin has contributed three second lieutenants.

These fighters are scattered all over the world. There are six corporals, two first class privates, nine sergeants, four staff sergeants, one top sergeant, ten second lieutenants, five first lieutenants, two nurses, two WAAC'c.

But this contribution in manpower is not enough for Koose. The homefolks continue to buy war bonds and stamps, and make preparations for producing food for the fighting men.

Even A General Bows To Hen's Patriotism

(By The Associated Press)

WITH AMERICAN FORCES AT OUSSELTIA, Tunisia, Jan. 27—(Delayed)—A little black hen outranks the commanding general in an army cook shack near here.

The general was sipping a cup of coffee when Private George Neiberger, 37, of Clearlake Highlands, Calif., said: "General, do you mind finishing your coffee outside? Annette wants to come in."

"Who is Annette?" asked the surprised officer.

"She's my little black hen," Neiberger explained soberly. "Every morning she comes in here and lays me an egg. She usually gets here at 9:30 on the dot each morning and finished up by 10. But she's bashful and won't operate if anyone stays in the cook shack with her."

So the general and the private shivered together in the cold wind while Annette did her bit for the American Army.

FDR Withdraws Flynn's Name

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—President Roosevelt withdrew Edward J. Flynn's nomination as minister to Australia today amid overwhelming indications that the Senate would not confirm it, and the bitter three-week controversy subsided.

It was the administration's first outright rebuff from the new Congress and the first time Mr. Roosevelt has had to backtrack on a diplomatic nomination.

Acts Reductantly

Following Flynn's statement that he was asking that his name be withdrawn because he was "unwilling to permit my candidacy to be made the excuse for a partisan political debate," Mr. Roosevelt wrote the former Democratic national chairman today:

"Dear Ed:

"Reluctantly, I am complying with your request and have withdrawn your nomination from the Senate.

"I wish you would come to see me today or tomorrow.

"As ever yours,

"Franklin D. Roosevelt."

To the Senate, the President sent merely a long list of other nominations with the notation at the bottom:

"Withdrawal: Edward J. Flynn, New York, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States of America

Defense Rests In Flynn Rape Case

LAS ANGELES, Feb. 1 (AP) — After producing testimony that the filings on the much-discussed blue bedroom door could have been done two or more years ago the defense in film star Errol Flynn's trail on statutory rape crages rested today.

The trial adjourned until tomorrow morning when Deputy District Attorney Thomas W. Cochrane will begin final arguments to the superior court jury of nine women and three men. Both prosecution and defense predicted the case would be submitted to the jury Thursday night or Friday morning.

Body Of Soldier Found In Thicket

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 1. (U.P.) — The body of a soldier found in a mesquite thicket near Martinez, Tex., was identified by the FBI today as that of Clarence M. Ostern, 35, Spring Grove, Minn.

A man's belt, attached to the limb of a tree, was broken. The other end was around the neck of the body. Police said the body was discovered by two boys while hunting Sunday after having probably been in the thicket seven weeks.

Early Approval In House Seen

Poage Says Farm Situation Serious

By L. T. EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—Computation of farm labor costs in the fixing of parity is, in the opinion of Representative W. R. Poage of Waco, imperative if agriculture is to produce enough crops this year to meet war demands.

The House likely will take up a pending bill (HR 1408) in the next week to 10 days, said Poage, and should promptly pass it. Similar legislation was passed last session, over the President's objection, but died in the Senate.

Parity Is Defined

(Parity is a device or means designed to give the farmer's dollar now the equivalent purchasing power of his dollar during a base period usually from 1909 to 1914. To support its aim that farmers receive parity income on their crops, the government in some instances issues loans on various products, in some instances makes large scale purchases, in either case forcing upward the market levels.)

Administration opposition to the revised parity scale was based previously on the grounds that it would precipitate an increase in living costs. Some opponents said it would hike average food costs as much as 12 per cent. While the measure was pending late last year in the Senate, word was circulated that even should the Congress finally send the bill on to the White House the President would veto it.

Farm Situation Serious

"I don't believe the President would veto it now," commented Poage. "The situation as to farm production has become so serious, with food shortages threatening, that such legislation is absolutely essential. It is necessary if we are to get the production we need."

As to the possible higher living costs that might be precipitated by passage of the bill, Poage does not agree.

Working with Representative Pace (D-Ga), author of the bill, he obtained from the agriculture

Knapp Death Case Up To President,

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (AP) — An Army court martial death sentence against Pvt. George S. Knapp, St. Paul, Minn., draftee, for the murder of an 8-year-old school girl at Bastrop, Texas, last October, must receive confirmation of the President before the execution can take place.

The case eventually will be passed on to the President for confirmation of the sentence, a spokesman for the judge advocate general's office in the War department said today. Knapp is held at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

Churchill And Turks Work Out Agreement

Three Results Are Discussed

No Details Given After Conference

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Tuesday, Feb. 2.—Directly from the historic war strategy conference at Casablanca, Prime Minister Churchill has gone to Turkey and reached an important agreement with that nation bordering the Axis-occupied Balkins, an official announcement said early today.

His move centered attention on the region which he himself has called the "soft underbelly of the Axis," indicating it was part of the grand strategy charted at Casablanca with President Roosevelt.

Reached Agreement

Turkish and British war leaders "examined the present situation in Europe, and particularly in those regions wherein Turkey is directly interested" and reached agreement "on all principal points," the announcement said.

Turkish policy has long been one of the pivots of all Balkan events, and diplomatic circles therefore take it for granted that the phrase "those regions wherein Turkey didrectly interested," applies specifically to the Balkan states.

Informed quarters here are discussing three major possibilities from the Odana meeting:

1—Turkish entry into the war.

Use Of Turkish Territory

2—Anglo-Turkish agreement embracing the use of Turkish territory as a springboard for a second front in the Balkans.

3—Turkish permission for the United Nations to pass a supply line to the Soviets through the Dardanelles.

Churchill himself, in obvious good humor, at an interview last night in Cairo said he hoped more would not be read into the accord than was sketched in the official announcement, adding he always avoided prophesying "because it is better to prophesy after the event has taken place."

Although the official announcement said agreement had been reached on "all principal points," only one was named—the manner whereby Britain and the United States would be "able to help Turkey materially to consolidate her own general security."

Post-War Problems

It added that "consideration also was given to post-war problems on which agreement was again reached."

An authoritative source said both Roosevelt and Premier Stalin previously had been appraised of the meeting, and the decisions

Roosevelt Tells Of Recent Trip

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—President Roosevelt was reported tonight to have given a conference of legislators at the White House a rough estimate of 7,500,000 men as the maximum-sized Army needed to carry the war to a successful conclusion.

The President's mention of this figure was said to have been in response to questions of legislators, to whom he had outlined the results of his recent conference in Casablanca with Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain.

Goal Now In Sight

Mr. Roosevelt thus was represented as siding with those in Congress who have contended that the over-all manpower needs of the country were such that the Army ought not to grow beyond the 7,500,000 goal which military leaders have said they expected to reach by the end of this year.

With the 2,200,000 man total

Texan Who Lived Under 4 Governments Dies At Age 101

COLUMBUS, Tex., Feb. 1 — Mrs. Malzena Ann Zumwalt, who lived in Texas under four governments, died today at the age of 101.

Mrs. Zumwalt was prominent in the Texas division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, having served two terms as vice president and later being named honorary president.

Texas was a republic when she came here at the age of four from her birthplace of Gregory's Landing on the Mississippi in Missouri. She was one of 21 children of Umberton Gregory, who acquired a large tract of land in Fayette county and built a pioneer home where many of Texas' great were entertained, including Sam Houston, Gen. John Baylor, Albert Sidney Johnson and Gail Borden.

She became one of the first women of Texas to hold office when she was appointed postmistress of Petersburg, Lavaca county, to succeed her husband, Andrew Cochran Zumwalt, who was commissioned by the Confederacy to raise Company 1 of the Second Texas infantry.

She was one of the few remaining real daughters of 1812 and a member of the James Asbury Tait chapter, Daughters of 1812, of Houston.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the First Methodist church.

She is survived by two children, O. A. Zumwalt, former mayor of Columbus, and Mrs. Erna West; five grandchildren and two great great grandchildren.

Soviets Now Just 45 Miles From Rostov

Other Columns Only 65 Miles From Kursk, One Of Main Nazi Bastions In The South

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Tuesday, Feb. 2.—The Soviet Army is less than 45 miles from the Caucasian gateway city of Rostov, and only 65 miles east of Kursk, one of the main German bastions in southern Russia, Moscow announced early today in a communique recorded by the Soviet monitor here.

Half Way From Salsk

The Russians announced they captured Mechetinskaya, thus developing their nearest threat to Rostov. The town is about mid-way between Salsk and Rostov on a railway up which the Red Army is driving.

On the Voronezh the town of Kshen fell to the advancing Red Army, the communique said. This town is mid-way between Voronezhnezh and Kursk, and only 65 miles from the latter on the main railway leading to the Kursky-Kharkov line that is the spinal column of Nazi communications in southern Russia.

A short special bulletin last night already had announced the fall of Svatovo, 34 miles southeast of Kupyansk in the Ukraine, and 95 miles from Kharkov. The Russians thus had cut another important German railway, the Kupyansk-Voroshilovgrad line, in their westward sweep which has carried them 90 miles into the Ukraine.

Donets Town Menaced

Voroshilovgrad, Donets [illegible] industrial city 75 miles south of captured Svatovo, already endangered by Soviet units coming within 10 miles of the [illegible].

The Caucasian developments, however, were of the most immediate promise for the Russians, taking the railway town 45 miles below Rostov the Red Army was steadily narrowing the escape corridor left to the Germans pinched between the Russian-held railway lines below Rostov and the Azov Sea and Sea of Azov to the west. The Nazis are estimated to have 200,000 troops in the Krasnodar-Novorossisk areas which are endangered by a Red Army that already trapped 330,000 of their comrades at Stalingrad.

Many Nazis Surrender

The midnight communique meanwhile reported that more than 1,500 of the Nazis trapped at Stalingrad were killed yesterday and that many times that number had surrendered. That left less than 42,000 Germans out of the original 330,000 to be disposed of by the Red Army.

In the other large death pocket fashioned by the Russians, that on the Voronezh front, the com-

Senate Approves Hospital Plans

Use For Veterans' Home Is Widened

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 1 — The Texas House and Senate delved into a variety of activity today as the 48th legislature began the fourth week of its general session.

Final approval in the Senate sent the House a bill permitting use of the Confederate veterans' home in Austin as a hospital for senile patients in state eleemosynary institutions. An appropriation of $147,145 was authorized.

To Relieve Jails

The renovation program—which will not bar eligible Confederate veterans from the home—is intended to relieve pressure on state hospitals and thus clear the way for admittance of insane persons temporarily lodged in jails.

The House sent to committee for study two resolutions authorizing an investigation of the Guadalupe-Blanco and Lower Colorado river authorities in connection with their acquisition of a steam power plant at New Braunfels. The plant was part of the properties of San Antonio Public Service company purchased last year by the city of San Antonio.

A mild debate greeted a successful House proposal to print in the Journal a report of a special committee named two years ago to investigate conditions in state eleemosynary institutions.

Many Changes Effected

Many administrative and other changes have been effected in these institutions in the past two years. Disagreement arose over whether the report represented the views of all committeemen. Rep. James Stanford of Austin, a member, said he did not see the report before a mimeographed copy was laid on his desk.

Rep. W. R. Chambers of May was successful in getting the report printed in the Journal. He argued that the information belonged to all the people of the state.

The report was critical of operating methods once used in state institutions but did not name names.

Other legislative developments:

Joint Session

House and Senate met in joint sessions twice to hear addresses by state OPA Director Mark McGee of Fort Worth and Lieut. Col. David Hill of Victoria, ace Army Air force pilot and once a member of the American Volunteer Group in Burma.

The Senate approved finally a House concurrent resolution petitioning federal officials for an increase in the price of crude oil.

Senate approval sent to the House a bill authorizing the public safety department to license as drivers of common carriers and school buses persons 17 years of age or older. The present minimum is 21 years. (A resolution with the same intent apparently had bogged down in the legislative process.)

The Senate blocked immediate consideration of a bill by Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe regulating the manufacture and sale of insecticides.

Japs In U. S. Army Praised By Officer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP) — There's a whole battalion of Japanese soldiers in the United States Army and "I've never had more wholehearted, serious-minded cooperation from any troops," their commanding officer, Lt.-Col. Farrant L. Turner said today.

The outfit is the 100th infantry battalion made up entirely of men of Japanese ancestry who are United States citizens and were born in the Hawaiian islands. Many of their officers also are of Japanese ancestry.

Eisenhower Seen As Allied Chief

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 1. — With the British Eighth Army already in Tunisia and on the verge of joining Allied forces driving against the Germans from the west, the time appeared near today when the Mediterranean must be merged into one vast Allied war theater under a single command and U. S. Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower seems likely to head the show.

For all practical purposes, the Middle East and North Africa campaigns now are one battle needing a single head to direct it.

Alexander To Be Aide

The recent war conference at this headquarters attended by Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, British commander in the Middle East, was taken as an indication in most quarters that General Eisenhower is slated to be commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean with Alexander in command of all land forces.

Eisenhower is the only man the Allies have who has had experience in directing mixed commands on a large scale, and it was understood that both President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill are satisfied with his work.

The formation of one Mediterranean war theater would call for setting up parallel commands for

Tragedy For Nazis Is Unprecedented

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press Staff Writer

The German disaster at Stalingrad is even greater than had been supposed. Berlin's accounts as well as Moscow's emphasize that the end is at hand for the "Army of the Dead," which, it is now disclosed, numbered 330,000 men instead of the earlier Russian estimate of 2220,000. A third of a million men have been sacrificed, largely to Adolf Hitler's pride.

The German high command shows little desire to gloss over the tragedy. In fact it appears that Berlin is using the macabre tale for its own purposes, using it to drive home the propaganda of gloom with which it is trying to convince the German people that they must fight now for survival. That last minute promotion of General Paulus, the Sixth army's commander, to the rank of field marshal, seems to have been calculated to emphasize the extent of the catastrophe.

Without Precedent

The loss of a field marshal as a prisoner of war is without precedent in the military history of the modern German reich. So is the loss of an entire army. The German debacle of 1918 produced nothing similar.

It remains to be seen whether the Sixth army's suicide stand will produce the strategical results the Germans are claiming for it. Obviously in its later states it sought to prevent the Red army from putting its full power into the drive for Rostov and thereby give time for the withdrawal of the Axis armies in the Caucasus. That withdrawal has not been completed, but it does appear that the way has been held open for the bulk of those armies. Perhaps a quarter million men remain in the Krasnodar area and they may not be able to escape by way of Rostov, especially now that Tikhoretsk has fallen.

Stalingrad and the Caucasus may not be the full tale of disaster for the German army. The Russians have achieved another huge encirclement west of Voronezh which bids fair to add another 100,000 troops to the grim total of Hitler's losses. That total for the last few months is rapidly approaching the million mark and while the Russian army suffered on a like scale in the summers of 1941 and 1942 it is doubtful whether Hitler can muster the tremendous reserves of power which the Red army was able to summon when the hour came for its counterstroke.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Another SPAFS Class To Finish Thursday

The largest class to be graduated from South Plains Army Flying school, where gliding pilots are incubated, will be commissioned second lieutenants or appointed flight officers Thursday morning in the post theater—only a few days after the next largest class was finished.

It is clamed that more glider pilots are turned out at SPAFS than at any other such school in the nation.

Five times in the last three weeks the day and night schedule of flying at SPAFS has topped previous hours flying time for a 24-hour period. Twice within the past week the "Winged Commandos," Troop Carrier Command and all others concerned have gone "all out" night and day in hanging up new marks. The number of landings at the big field have been doubled in the past month.

Lieut. Col. Edwin S. Chickering, director of training, has announced that "the speed of the glider program and the results being obtained far surpasses our most optimistic hopes." He emphasized that every man on the field was contributing toward the teamwork that made this possible.

Slaton Man At LAFS Is Heavy Bond Buyer

Because he knows of "no better or safer investment," Pvt. Carl E. Self of Slaton, who is stationed at the Lubbock Army Flying school, has just purchased four one-thousand-dollar war bonds, according to Col. Thomas L. Gilbert, commanding officer.

Pvt. Self, who formerly operated a furniture business in Slaton, enlisted in the Air Forces last October during the special recruiting drive held in this area. He still retains his business interests in Slaton. At LAFS, he is a clerk in the supply room of the 501st two-engine flying training squadron.

Annual Meet Of PCA Held Here

Stockholders in the Lubbock Production Credit association, one of four government lending agencies operating in Lubbock, met in annual session here Monday at the call of their president, E. R. Davis. The meeting was the ninth to be held since 1935. There were 212 present, 92 of the number being women. Of the 802 stockholders in the nine counties represented by the local association, 98 of those attending yesterday are members of the local group. Every county sent representatives.

The business session began at 10 a. m. and continued until 3:30 p. m. A luncheon at the noon hour highlighted the mid-day recess. The meeting was held in the east ballroom of Lubbock hotel.

Net Profit Lower

A report of the organization's secretary-treasurer, Lee York, showed that in spite of greater loans, both in number and amounts, and a net increase for year of 106 new members, the association failed to show net profits equal to those in the past. This was due to the war and the overall increase in operating costs and the unparallelled rate of repayments on old loans York said.

The association members, 15 of whom are new, and yesterday attended their first annual meeting, reelected both Roy Fitzgerald of Plains, and G. C. Keith of Whiteface as 3-year-term directors.

Virgil P. Lee of Houston, president of the Production Credit corporation, was the principal speaker. He advised farm borrowers to keep their feet on the ground and not become excited about turning altogether to hogs, or cotton, or any one farm effort, but to base their production efforts on common-sense rules for West Texas.

Out-Of-Town Visitors

Out-of-town visitors at the meeting included Ira Myers, assistant manager of the Amarillo PCA, and Mrs. Myers; Glenn Burnett, field representative, and Miss Marjorie Murray of the office force, both of Amarillo; Ralph Howe, manager of the PCA at Memphis, former county agent of Crosby county; and A. E. Durmont of Paducah, field representative of the Memphis PCA.

Representatives of the AAA, Soil Conservation service, home demonstration and farm extension agent, Emergency Crop and Field Loan Office, and the PCA's own field representatives in the nine nearby counties were invited guests and attended the meeting and luncheon.

Special band music was provided during the luncheon.

Personnel At LAFS Being Thinned Out

The Lubbock Army Flying school will lose a portion of its enlisted personnel within the next week or two. The field has carried more than its normal strength since the successful recruiting campaign of last fall and the personnel is being reduced to normal by sending men to other flying schools or technical schools.

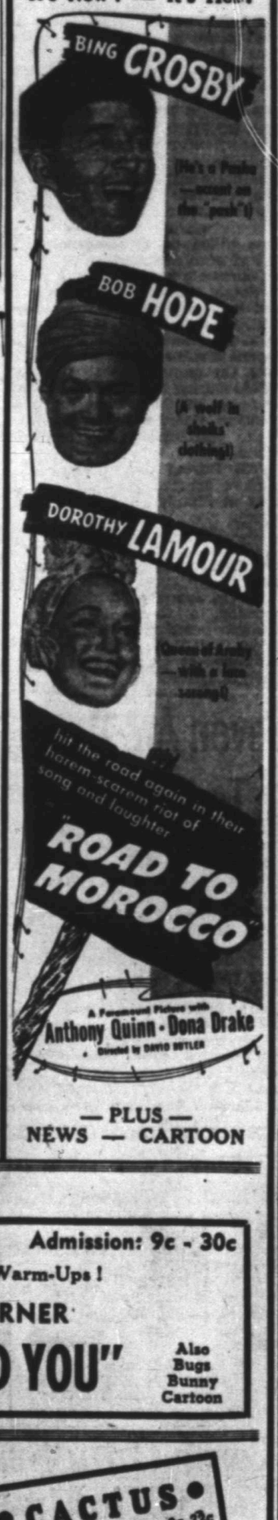

Several organizations will move as units, complete with all of the necessary tools and equipment so as to begin operations as soon as they reach their destination, for the most part to new fields within the state. Moving as a fully equipped unit enables the men, who have been trained at LAFS, to begin work in the flying training program immediately upon arrival at the new post. The efficiency of such a move in carrying out the tremendous task of training thousands of the world's best pilots each year is indicative of the thoughtful planning behind the building of the world's greatest Air Force, said Col. Thomas L. Gilbert, commanding officer.

Many of the men being transferred have been stationed here for the past year, or are men from the South Plains and West Texas area. These men would like to express their appreciation to their friends in this area for the many courtesies shown them while they have been at Lubbock Army Flying school, Col. Gilbert said.

ANNIVERSARY MARKED

ORANGE, Feb. 1. (LIP)—The Weaver shipyards marked the first anniversary of its launching of minesweepers for the U. S. Navy Sunday by sending the YMS-254 sliding from its cradle. The vessel was sponsored by Mrs. A. R. Rodriguez, wife of a naval architect who is assistant to the general manager of the yards.

Pull the Trigger on Constipation, with Ease for Stomach, too

When constipation brings on discomfort after meals, stomach upset, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative-Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with Syrup Pepsin for perfect ease to your stomach in taking. For years, many Doctors have given pepsin preparations in their prescriptions to make medicine more agreeable, to a touchy stomach. So be sure your laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully the Laxative Senna wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your intestines to bring welcome relief from constipation. And the good old Syrup Pepsin makes this laxative so comfortable and easy on your stomach. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family laxative. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin, as directed on label or as your doctor advises, and feel world's better. Get genuine Dr. Caldwell's.

Induction Boards Are Joined Here

Local personnel of the Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard combined headquarters Monday at the Lubbock induction and recruiting center, as the War Manpower commission's order for handling the nation's manpower solely through selective service became effective.

The net result in West Texas is a bigger and heavier manner induction center for Lubbock, which office has been placed on a parity with Dallas, Houston, and San Antonio. Personnel for the four armed branches of the servcie is materially increased here — at the expense of sub-stations in Amarillo and other places that automatically were closed to recruiting. El Paso is the only substation left open in the West Texas district to feed the Lubbock main office.

Durrette Still In Charge

Lt. Col. Marvin B. Durrette continues in charge as commanding officer here. With the addition of Navy, Marine, and Coast Guard personnel, there is formed the Armed Forces Recruiting and Induction Center. Henceforth men who express a preference for any one of the four armed forces must make known their desires and proceed through their local selective service boards. At the station here there will be a merger of examining personnel and equipment, with officers from each branch of the service participating, and the selected manpower distributed between the four armed branches according to quotas and results of the physical and mental standards of each.

Approximately 100 men and women a day have been pouring through the Lubbock office. This ration will remain, officers now believe, with the added number of Navy, Marine, and Coast Guard personnel added, but with the influence of deferred status of essential farm and war industry workers to be taken into consideration as a growing war-time movement that will cut into numbers to be sent to camps for training.

Navy Personnel Here

Navy personnel assignments to the Lubbock center include Lt. Ben T. Blackwell, MC; N. B. Johnson, PhM2c; A. S. Wescott, PhM2c; A. B. Williamson, PhM2c; V. Webb, CQM; W. G. Hart, Y2c; J. T. Hassel, jr., Sea-1c; and W. N. Walker, Y2c. A line officer and one other man already assigned to Lubbock had not arrived today.

On duty at the Lubbock semimain office for the Navy will be B. M. Bowden and J. W. Johnson, yeomen; C. M. Reid, Sea-1c; and one other man who had not arrived today. H. W. Harris, CSp (R) USNR, will remain on duty at the Lubbock Navy recruiting office, with expectation of another man being added to assist him here.

Personnel of the Navy group here also includes the Coast Guard. The three sergeants placed here by the Marine corps are Robert D. Good, Lubbock; Vernon Larsen of San Angelo, and Wyatt D. Thompson of the Amarillo station.

Col. Durrette did not announce any additional changes in office personnel, but said emphasis is being placed now on recruiting of women for the WAAC.

Nomination Of Lee Confirmed By Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP) — The Senate confired today President Roosevelt's nomination of Josh Lee, former Democratic senator from Oklahoma, as a member of the Civil Aeronautics board.

The appointment was approved 46 to 31 after two "freshmen" Republicans — Senators Moore of Oklahoma and Robertson of Wyoming—had led a brief, unsuccessful fight to defeat the nomination.

Democrats made no reply to the attacks of Moore and Robinson, making their first formal speeches in the Senate.

Moore, victor over Lee at the November election, said "Senator Lee's appointment is made for his services as a messenger boy for the executive department."

Poor Legislator, He Faces Tough Slate

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 1 (AP)—Do you wonder why legislators sometimes seem confused?

A bill passed by the Senate today and sent to the House bore this title on the daily calendar:

"Wages, deductions from, employes must furnish itemized statement of with each pay."

South Plains Notes

FLU PREVALENT

LORENZO — Joe Smith has closed the doors of his grocery. Influenza is on the increase. Mrs. R. L. Bowman and Mrs. Paul Davidson are pushing a bond rally. Dead weeds present a fire hazard here.

SHORTAGE FELT

RALLS — The rubber situation is becoming distressing. Meetings are scheduled to be held with local merchants and OPA officials to explain food rationing. An active chamber of commerce is considered Ralls' greatest asset. The local P-TA will meet Feb. 4.

FINANCES IMPROVE

SNYDER — Martin school doubled its goal for infantile paralysis funds. Bryan Taylor has assumed management of the Marshall Furniture Co. store. A turn-away crowd attended the President's birthday ball here. E. L. McCrory has been sent here as Santa Fe ticket agent. Tabernacle Baptist church was host Sunday to the North Colorado Baptist association. Improved balances are reflected in county financial reports for Scurry. Branches of public welfare are being discontinued in Scurry county. Snyder officers are continuing the drive against stray dogs.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME

MORTON—Operating hours of all gasoline filling stations have been curtailed. Fire has destroyed the home of Mrs. E. E. White.

PRAIRIE FIRE

CROSBYTON — A big prairie fire has been raging in the Kalgary community, reminder of earlier days. H. H. Perser has sold his 480-acre farm to R. C. Ellison. The farm machinery repair course here now has 24 men enrolled. Crosby county ginning up to Jan. 27 totaled 11,910 bales, as compared with 15,686 bales to the same date in 1942. Ginners say there are an estimated 1,000 or more bales yet to come in from the fields.

WASTE FAT SHIPPED

COLORADO CITY — Ration banking became effective here Jan. 28. Poultry growers met last Thursday. Waste fat shipped from Mitchell county totaled 1,245 pounds. Merchants are asked to meet OPA officials in Midland Feb. 4.—Helpy-selfy lundry service is being closed down here.

STAPLETON RESIGNS

FLOYDADA—A farm machinery repair shop is planned here. Kenneth Jeffers has bought a drug store at Matador. OPA has set filling station hours here. The selective service board is examining married men without children. John Stapleton, in service for eight months, has resigned his office of county attorney. Last year was a banner year in Floyd county for farmers to pay their farm debts.

FIRE DESTROYS ELEVATOR

LOCKNEY—Floyd county is far below its quota of WAAC's. The Denver Alfalfa Milling and Produce Co. has authorized Frank Perkins to proceed with the purchase of a site for its new mill here. Local real estate is changing hands. The Patterson grain elevator here was destroyed by fire last Saturday, with an estimated loss on the building of $30,000.

MANY AUCTIONS SET

HALE CENTER — W. W. Kurfees has been re-elected president of the Consumers' Fuel association. Many farm auction sales are announced. Future Farmers are making a campaign for funds with which to stage their annual Father-Son banquet. Beef training courses are about to start throughout Hale county. The Cotton Center Co-op gin suffered a $4,000 fire loss.

PARDUE TO SPEAK

SLATON—The fire department is being kept busy. The C. of C. banquet was described as a pronounced success. The USO unit here has been inspected officially and pronounced okay. County Judge G. V. Pardue will speak here Feb. 2 before the Parent-Teacher group.

Joseph Smith, founder of Mormanism, was born at Sharon, Vt., in 1805.

Fire Kills Mother And Two Children

McKINNEY, Feb. 1 (AP)—A 20-year-old mother and her two small children were burned fatally Sunday night when a wood stove exploded.

The mother was Mrs. Theda Leona Rahn, wife of Elton Rahn, the children, Earl Lewis, one-year-old, and Georgianna, three years.

Mrs. Rahn was blown from the room by the explosion, which occurred as she attempted to light a fire to prepare her husband's dinner. He was at work at the time.

The woman died in a local hospital several hours after the blast. Bodies of the children, asleep at the time of the explosion, were burned beyond recognition.

The family came to McKinney last September from Vinita, Okla. Funeral services will be held in Vinita Tuesday.

Negroes Are Busy On Wartime Home Front

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 1 (AP)—Texas negro farm families are doing their part on the wartime home front.

Dr. E. B. Evans of Prairie View State college, state leader of extension work with Texas negroes, who so reports, said today their chief contribution has been increased production of food and fiber.

In 1942, 3,420 negro farmers in 45 counties sold 16,000 hogs and 14,500 farmers in 48 counties cured one and one-half million pounds of meat for home use. Furthermore, 25,000 farm families in 52 counties grew bigger home gardens, and 19,000 farmers in 50 counties added 317,000 birds to their poultry flocks, and stepped up egg production by 163,000 dozen.

Comparable to the growing scrap piles in Texas cities, towns and villages, negro families in rural communities of about 50 counties collected 480 tons of tin cans; 2,135 tons of scrap metal; 168 tons of bones; 282 tons of rags; 610 tons of scrap rubber, and 178 tons of waste paper.

Among these rural families, Dr. Evans explains, $139,000 worth of war bonds and stamps were bought by club members or in drives sponsored by negro county extension agents.

SERVICE RESTORED

HENDERSON, Tex., Feb. 1 (AP)—Henderson resumed contact with its neighbors Saturday with the restoration to service of communicaiton lines knocked out by severe cold weather Tuesday. About 400 telephones are still out.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

ONE OF THE biggest increases in shoe fashions last year was the shoe with lowered heels. Women eagerly put their two feet down on the ground and went to work, using their feet to take them places instead of their tires.

Lubbock women, along with their sisters in other cities over the nation, learned you can lock the garage and walk, if you substitute a walking shoe with a midway or low heel, for gasoline.

Women have had the experience of standing for hours on a job, of walking instead of riding, of standing on crowded buses and in lines at the grocery store, the post-office, the bank and what have you and all these things have taught them they must have two feet firmly planted on the ground if they are going to walk and live in comfort and do all the things that life today demands of them.

NEED WORKERS

FOLDING of surgical dressings at the Red Cross rooms, Sixteenth street and Avenue J, is not going as fast as anticipated, Mrs. I. C. Enochs and Mrs. Richard L. Douglas co-chairmen of the project, said Monday afternoon. Lubbock county chapter's quota for the month is 60,000 dressings and a checkup of last week's production revealed only 2,100 dressings had been made.

"We have table space for 60 workers at a time," said Mrs. Enochs. "And they can work morning, noon and afternoon Monday through Saturday and three evenings a week," Mrs. Douglas added. The surgical dressing rooms are off of the alley on Avenue J and beginning this morning a Red Cross flag will wave over the entrance. The rooms are open from 9:30 until 4:30 Monday through Friday and Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights from 7 until 10 o'clock.

The 8 by 10 inch cotton filled pad is not difficult to make, the chairmen explained. They expressed the wish that women who come and learn the process and spend a half day at the rooms would return as soon as possible because folding the dressings is easy once it is learned. They also appreciate the work done by clubs.

"We are grateful for the faithful volunteers who come day after day," Mrs. Enochs said. "But right now we are embarrassed because we have had a letter from the administrator of volunteer special services in the Midwestern area asking us to complete our quota on time. We cannot do this unless we have additional workers.

"When we fail to meet our quota we are failing to meet the Army's needs. These dressings are needed primarily for the hospitals overseas and they are needed at the earliest possible moment. Nothing would make us happier than to have so many volunteers show up that we could hardly find places to put them.

"Won't you say something to impress the Angle readers with the importance that these surgical dressings be made and shipped to medical depots as fast as possible?"

The Woman's Angle decided to let the appeal come from Mrs. Enochs. We can think of nothing to add to what she has said.

The war department's schedule calling for a tremendous number of dressings for February will not be met unless shipments are materially increased. The shipments cannot be increased if the surgical dressings are not made. The dressings cannot be made unless there are volunteers to do the job. And there is where you come or they hope you come in. Catch?

SPRING STYLES

THERE will be new fashions for spring, although the L 85 silhouette will be observed; the changes being the normal development of last season's fashions. It's the smart thing now, by the way, to have the things you NEED, rather than just those that satisfy your wants or desires. Spring coats and dresses will have more fitted lines plus soft folds and gathers that give the appearance of fullness.

The Easter parade promises to be a colorful one. Dresses made of plaid fabrics, also vivid reds, bright greens, soft blue and pastel rose will be popular, as well as coats of natural beige.

There will be no color combinations in shoes and no shoes with contrasting stitching, but there will be plenty of color to make attractive shoes, even if many shoes are made with fibre and other composition soles in order to save sole leather.

EDGLE JONES

"TO BE what we are, and to become what we are capable of becoming is the only end of life," wrote Robert Louis Stevenson. When we heard of the passing of Miss Edgle Jones we thought of those words because her life was an exemplification of that statement.

When it was learned that Miss Jones had died many people who knew her expressed their regret in almost the same words as "I've never known a more cheerful person"; "she will be missed as much as anyone in the First Methodist congregation," and "Miss Jones was never happier than when she was helping to lift a load of sorrow or disappointment."

Although she could not know what it was to walk and run, Miss Jones accepted the responsibility of caring for brothers and sisters after her mother's death and her life was a constant inspiration to them. Her youthful appearing face was unlined, and her bright brown eyes glowed when she talked with friends or when she sat in her customary place in the third row of the church and listened attentively to the service.

Miss Jones delighted in saying something to bring happiness to all she met and it was said Monday that no one has ever heard her complain.

Her life blessed many.

Democracy Is Said Facing New Threat

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Rep. Hatton W. Sumners of Texas declared today in an interview in the New York Sun that "when you begin thinking it becomes so clear we have been traveling away from representative democracy toward centralized bureaucracy."

The Democratic chairman of the House judiciary committee asserted that while Americans were fighting abroad for democracy's principles there were unmistakable signs that Americans back home were reawakening to peril to democratic government right in the United States.

"You can't see your sons and brothers go out to risk their lives for a set of principles," Sumners said, without some impetus to think about where we ourselves are headed in relation to those principles.

Going Toward Bureaucracy

"And when you begin thinking it becomes so clear that we have been traveling away from representative democracy toward centralized bureaucracy. We have been tapping the sources of state revenue and sending the revenue to Washington. Then Washington has been sending it back to the states—loaded down with federal power.

"That's the trick by which we are destroying our democracy. Thank God the people are beginning again to look at the labels on the handouts.

"Do I think there is real danger that our democracy may be destroyed by our own acts? I don't think it. I know it. It is axiomatic that whoever controls the purse-strings controls the government."

Administration Critic

Sumners has been a frequent critic of the administration and was among the Southern democrats who led the opposition to appointment of Rep. Marcantonio, the sole American-Labor member, to the judiciary committee he heads. The Texan also opposed President Roosevelt's 1937 recommendation that new members be added to the Supreme court if justices over 70 failed to retire.

Sumners continued:

"You can see this axiom working through all the period of democratic progress. Beginning in the 13th centry, when the king and lords of England needed money they asked that the people send some representatives who could talk it over and kick in.

Increased Power

"But through a long period of time these outsiders kept increasing their power. How? By increasing the amount of money they contributed—and controlled.

"Finally, the former outsiders became the government. The House of Commons took all the power away from the king, and the House of Lords continued to exist only by a sort of sufferance.

"We are reversing that process exactly, by giving centralized bureaucracy control of the purse-strings."

Appointees Total 2,500,000

Mentioning that about 2,500,000 appointees drawing salaries totaling around $5,000,000,000 annually were connected with the U. S. government, he declared:

"Many appointees have the power to make rules that have the force of law. They have the power to construe the rules, and to enforce them. Those are all the powers any king ever did have.

"The problem is so fundamental and so simple it is remarkable to me every one can't see it. We can't go in two opposite directions at the same time.

"Either we decentralized government or we have to make up our minds to be governed by the kind of government we are supposed to be opposed to."

Axis Will Not Quit, Mussolini Declares

ROME, Feb. 1 (Italian Broadcast recorded by U.P. in New York)—Benito Mussolini told the Fascist militia today that the Axis never will surrender and that the Italian defeat in the battle of Libya would be avenged.

Mussolini spoke briefly at militia headquarters on the occasion of the 20th anniversary of its founding.

"Shall Never Surrender"

"Legionnaires," he said, "as an answer to the mad, criminal publicity dilemma of Casablanca, we and our comrades of the Axis and of the tripartite pact answer: we shall never surrender; we shall hold until we will be able to take up an army to fight."

He said that Italy's "enemy number one," (meaning Great Britain) won a victory only after 32 months of fighting.

"The Italian people receives with virile and Roman calm the news of the enemy occupation of Libya," he said, "because a firm conviction rests in the people's heart: where our dead await us, where we have left powerful and indestructible signs of our civilization, there we shall return."

Detailed Story Of Slaying Told

(By The United Press)

ALBANY, Ore. Feb. 1—Robert E. Lee Folkes, a 20-year-old zoot-suited negro second cook on a Southern Pacific passenger train, today made a detailed confession to the slaying Jan. 23 of Mrs. Martha Virginia James in lower berth 13 of a Pullman sleeping car.

District Atty. Harlow Weinrick said Folkes' statement reiterated and expanded his Los Angeles confession, which was unsigned, and was made in the presence of four witnesses. Weinrick declined to reveal details until the case comes up in court.

Weinrick said Folkes was not asked to sign the confession, because of a technicality in Oregon law.

Guard Against Uprising

Folkes, his big-brimmed hat battered and his high-waisted trousers creaseless and baggy, was taken into the Linn county jail yesterday as military policemen, armed with sub-machine guns, patrolled the Albany depot.

Officers removed Folkes from a northbound train at Springfield, Ore., 48 miles south of here, and completed the trip by automobile to avoid the possibility of a demonstration.

Deputy Sheriff Clay Kirk said the precautions were taken because the presence of many southern soldiers at nearby Camp Adair. Mrs. James, bride of a Navy ensign, was from Virginia.

PRICE CEILINGS DELAYED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP)—Price ceilings scheduled to go into effect today on rubber baby pants and similar rubber drug sundries were postponed until March 1. Manufacturers have asked OPA to reconsider some of the proposed maximum prices.

SIX ARE DECORATED

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Feb. 1 (U.P.)—Six American flying officers were awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross today by Lieut.-Gen. George C. Kenney, chief of Allied air forces in the southwest Pacific, because they have participated in more than 50 operational flights between July and October. The officers include William R. Ross of Franklin, Texas.

NEWSBOY KILLED

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 1 (U.P.)—Francis Jolly, 14-year-old newsboy, was killed yesterday while riding his bicycle on the sidewalk when an automobile hurtled the curb, turned over and pinned him beneath it. The driver of the automobile, identified by police as Leslie Rogers, suffered a broken ankle.

I found the way to Amazing NEW Pep...Vitality... better LOOKS!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Frequently the stomach becomes sluggish in pouring out its digestive juices to make use of the food eaten . . . likewise, wear and strain of worry, overwork, colds, or other illness often reduces one's blood strength.

At such times Nature needs extra help to restore its proper functions and balance. Undigested food places a tax on the system...insufficient blood strength is a detriment to good health.

Now you may overcome the discomforts or embarrassment of digestive complaints, sour stomach, bloating, underweight, loss of appetite, poor complexion, jerky nerves, weakness!

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need as it is especially designed to promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach and to build-up blood strength when deficient.

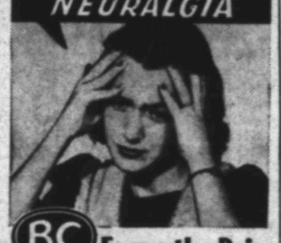

These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat . . . to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality . . . pep . . . become animated . . . more attractive!

Build Sturdy Health so that the Doctors may better serve our Fighting Forces

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes. © S.S.S. Co.

'Expediters' Hit Again By Jeffers

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Rubber Director William M. Jeffers charged anew today that the Army and Navy were interfering with the synthetic rubber program and had attempted "to impede and eclipse the duties of the rubber director."

Testifying before a joint committee of the House naval and military affairs committee, the blunt railroad executive said that army and navy attempts to "operate the domestic economy" would result in its collapse.

Their Job Said Fighting

He charged that so-called "expediters" of the armed forces "are telling the manufacturers how to do their job," thus delaying production. Asserting there are ample resources for all government programs if intelligently utilized, he added:

"It seems to me it is the Army and Navy job to fight and not run business or operate the domestic economy."

The joint subcommittee, headed by Rep. R. Ewing Thomason, D., Tex., was appointed to investigate charges Jeffers made last week in Baltimore that Army and Navy expediters "and loafers" were impeding the rubber program.

He repeated the charge in substance and in detail. But he refused to make specific accusations against specific persons, even in an executive hearing, explaining that his charges were based on "common knowledge."

Cites Interference

Jeffers cited as military interference in the domestic economy, however, letters to him from Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Undersecretary of Navy James V. Forrestal, both of whom are scheduled to testify before the committee.

Patterson, he said, recommended among other things that the fifth, or spare, tire on civilian automobiles be "requisitioned or purchased." Forrestal, Jeffers said, proposed that all allotments of crude rubber be stopped for other than military purposes.

Jeffers said he understood Army and Navy needs but that "regardless of these needs we cannot overlook the domestic economy of the country." He admitted the armed forces must have high octane gasoline, which is competing for materials with the rubber program, but that "the country can't be taken off rubber and still avoid a domestic collapse."

Doesn't Blame Nelson

Criticizing frequent changes in War Production board priorities rulings, Jeffers asserted:

"You can't take this country off rubber. You can't curtail the use of trucks—and I mean farm trucks—beyond a point of maintaining domestic economy."

Jeffers said he had not quarreled with WPB Chairman Donald Nelson.

"He has done the best he could as he saw the picture," Jeffers said.

Pressed for names of individuals and locations of plants where expediters were interfering with production, he said:

"It can be very easily demonstrated. It's a matter of common knowledge. But I am not going to investigate any plants."

Farm Labor Costs

department a series of prices on all important crops. Only in the case of cotton and wheat would the parity mean any increase at all in present market levels, he said, hiking the figure on 15-16ths grade cotton from 19.22 cents per pound to 22.10 cents per pound; increasing the level on wheat from an average of about $1.20 per bushel to $1.57.

"The merits of the proposed legislation," he explained, "lay in the assurance given the farmer that he will be protected against possible future increases in labor costs.

Hesitates To Borrow

"A farmer now hesitates to borrow a lot of money and invest in a crop with the risk that before he gets a return his labor costs have soared. He might find himself suffering a heavy financial loss."

Pointing out that in many parts of Texas planting is getting underway, Poage added:

"We've already let some of the horses out of the barn, so to speak, but it's still time to save some. In other words, in the extreme south planting already is getting underway and without the assurance provided in this bill many farmers have hesitated to risk loss by heavy investments in seed, equipment and labor. But there's still time to help the situation farther north where planting is later in the season."

the land, sea and air.

Most prominently mentioned for the air post is Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, commander of the RAF in the Middle East. His cooperation with the British Eighth Army and aggressive tactics led to the breaking of the German air power on a battlefield for the first time in this war.

Naval Warfare

To all practical purposes, British Admiral of the Fleet Sir Andrew Cunningham already is running most of the naval warfare.

Such a command set up as envisaged by military experts would have an American on top with three British officers as his chief aides.

This unity of command would be carried down the line right on through with the Middle East and North Africa theaters retaining their identities but under a single command.

Tech Registrations Total 1,895 Monday

W. P. Clement, registrar at Texas Technological college, reported Monday night that 1,895 students had paid fees for registration for the spring semester at the close of the first official registration day.

Students have been paying fees since last Thursday, and Clement expressed the opinion that from 200 to 300 students would pay fees today.

Clement said he was highly satisfied with the number that had registered Monday, saying that the drop was not nearly as severe as he had anticipated.

There will be no registration Wednesday, Clement said, and late registration will begin Thursday. A late registration fee of $2 goes into effect Friday.

Clement urged new students who have not yet paid fees to come to the registrar's office first, where they will be told what procedure to follow.

Classes begin Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock.

Services Set For Smothering Victim

Funeral services will be read today in Dallas for the 3-months-old son of Lt. and Mrs. John G. Davis of 2208 Twenty-seventh street.

The infant, Peter Franklin Davis, smothered Sunday morning when sleeping. It was born in California.

It had been dead approximately three hours when the parents discovered its plight and made an emergency call to a physician. It had been sleeping next to a wall and had managed to turn its face to the wall where there was a depression of the mattress—and its breath was cut off, the physician and parents were able to determine.

The father, it was reported, is stationed at one of the Army flying schools here.

Further Restrictions Placed On Fuel Oil

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP) — Fuel oil consumers in six northeastern states, which have had some of the nation's most severe weather of the winter, were on further restricted rations today due to an acute supply shortage.

The cut, effective last Saturday midnight, was announced by the Office of Price administration and applies to Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York except for the Adirondack area.

The No. 4 fuel oil ration coupons in those states now are worth eight gallons each to householders and 80 gallons to commercial consumers. A few weeks ago the ration for the six states was reduced from 10 and 100 gallons to nine and 90 gallons, respectively.

Plane Crashes Into Mess Hall, Two Die

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 1. (AP)—A PB1 Navy patrol bomber crashed head-on into the enlistted men's consolidated mess hall at Davis-Mountain air base and exploded today killing the pilot and a radio man, said by the public relations office to be the only personnel aboard.

The crash occurred at 2:08 p.m. as the plane was attempting to land.

About three-fourths of the mess hall was destroyed by flames, but no one in the building was injured.

Fire fighting equipment was sent from the city to bring the fire under control.

State Senators Laud James E. Ferguson

AUSTIN, Feb. 1 (AP) — Former Gov. James E. Ferguson, now ill at his home here, was lauded in resolutions to which the names of all senators were added in the Texas senate today.

The resolution expressed sympathy for him in his illness and referred to his valuable services to the state.

The resolution was adopted without opposition in the same room where Ferguson was ousted from the governorship by Senate vote on impeachment resolutions in 1917.

BETTER HAVE THAT CARD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP) — Carrying of classification as well as registration cards became mandatory today for all draft registrants who were less than 45 years old when they registered.

to Australia, at the request of Mr. Flynn."

Personal Representative

Nothing was said about the President's simultaneous appointment of Flynn as his personal representative in the southwest Pacific with the title, but not the salary, of Ambassador, which required no Senate confirmation, but apparently this too was off.

Informed legislators, who cannot be quoted by name, said administration polls of the Senate had indicated that Flynn's nomination to the ministerial post, paying $10,000 a year, would have been rejected by at least 10 votes.

Administration leaders received the withdrawal with obvious, although unspoken, relief, feeling that an acrimonious debate which threatened to deal largely in personalities had been avoided.

Woman Badly Beaten, One Ear Bitten Off

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1. (AP)—Mrs. Faye Brousseau, 29, wife of a member of the cast in the Army's famous show "This Is the Army," was found in her hotel room here today barely conscious after having undergone a terrific beating. One of her ears was bitten off.

She said she was attacked by a man wearing a Marine corps uniform.

Ten Named Here In Liquor Cases

Twenty-three charges of liquor law violation were filed against 10 persons in county court Monday. Eight of the 10 were in county jail Monday night.

Judgments had been rendered in cases of three. H. J. Letterman, 52-year-old negro, pleaded guilty to three cases and was fined $1,000 and court costs in each of them and was assessed a jail sentence of one year in the third.

Guy Jones, on plea of guilty, was fined $25 and court costs. Jack Frost, 27, was assessed a fine of $100 and court costs.

Charges were filed against Melton Adams, 21 Mrs. A. L. Hoffman, Leroy Fortson, 22, Firman Pier[illegible], 32, Carl Wynne and James A. Robertson, 66, each of whom were accused of two violations, and Buster Willis and Charlie Teague, accused of one violation each.

In the justice court of Walter Davies charges were filed against Major White for theft of three chickens from Pedro Salazar. The complaint was sworn by Deputy Sheriff Grady Harrist before Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney.

Ruby Hart of 2020 Sixteenth street reported to police theft of clothing, valued at $27.95 from her car parked in 2400 block Tenth street. Ruth Luce, 2419 Twenty-seventh street, reported loss of a purse containing $27, in a downtown department store.

Turkish Agreement

reached there had been placed before them.

The fact that Churchill was accompanied by six highly placed British officers, all commanders of forces operating in the Middle and Near East and Mediterranean, was taken as evidence that the conversations with the Turkish delegation were not confined to political questions.

The conference was held at Adana near the Syrian border last Saturday and Sunday, and was called at Churchill's request, the foreign office reported.

Churchill later returned to Cairo.

Speculation Is Rife

Speculation among competent observers went far beyond the announcement of "agreement" being reached.

What occupied observers especially was the question whether the conference with Turkish President Ismet Inonu and his high officers presaged Turkey's emergence into a new role.

Premier Sukru Saracoglu also attended the conference.

Turkey is a non-belligerent ally of Britain. The alliance formerly included France, and one clause stipulated that the Turks should receive material assistance in strengthening their armed forces.

Turkey's position as to Britain has been generally considered as one of "benevolent neutrality."

Close Bonds With Russia

Turkey also has close bonds of friendship with Russia.

Turkey in recent months has kept her army mobilized to the full, and Turkish sources have expressed fear that Hitler might invade the republic to strike at Russia through the southern flank in an effort to win the rich Soviet oil resources.

The European frontier of Turkey touches Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, occupied by the Axis.

With American aid added to British assistance, military observers expressed belief that the Turkish armed forces could develop to a point where the country would be able fully to withstand any German assault.

The United Nations gradually are tightening a steel ring around Nazi-held Europe, and it has long been considered possible that Hitler might make a desperate effort to break out by attempting a drive from the Balkans through Turkey toward the Allied rear in the Middle East.

There is increasing evidence that Turkey and Russia are approaching settlement of minor differences they have had and there is increasing belief in informed quarters that Ankara may soon be the scene of dramatic developments.

Last Nov. 12 Russia and Turkey exchanged congratulatory messages on the 19th anniversary of the creation of the Turkish republic, representing marked improvement in Soviet-Turkish relations following difficulties over the Ankara trial of two Russians in connection with a plot to bomb the German ambassador to Turkey, Franz von Papen.

Bennie McWilliams Sent To Louisiana

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 1. (AP)—Six naval reserve officers attached to the U. S. Navy pre-flight school here, including Ensign Robert Suffridge, former Tennessee all-America football player, have been transferred to other posts in the south, the Navy announced today.

The transfers included:

Lieut. (jg) Bennie C. McWilliams, USNR, former Texas Tech athlete and recent coach at Lubbock, Tex., High school, to the preparatory school at Nachitoches, La.

South Plains Notes

CHILDREN ESCAPE FIRE

SEMINOLE—Three small children, alone at the time, fled their home at Birdwell camp when the building caught fire. The parents worked at a local cafe and the blaze cost them everything they had. The children were not injured. The Max Gray dairy here is closed down. The grand jury has warned against minors loitering in pool halls. A farm machinery repair course will be taught at the local school. Farmers have been advised that price ceilings on corn will not affect sales made by farmers direct from their farms as individuals, but will affect sales made by cooperatives. Salesmen here have been notified by the OPA they will not be allowed supplementary gasoline.

NEW POSITION

SEAGRAVES—Rev. B. Owen Oslin of Tulsa is the new pastor here for the Assembly of God church. Officials have given notice of a city-wide clean-up.

BRUCE VISITS HOME

MULESHOE—James Bruce, once reported missing in action, has returned to Muleshie to visit relatives after serving in the South Pacific. The public welfare office here has closed because the number of needy has declined. E. R. Hart heads the victory fund committee.

DIMMITT SCOUTS WIN

DIMMITT—The Castro county war price and rationing board has announced the office will remain closed all day Feb. 11 while the board and office personnel attends an OPA "school of instruction" in Plainview. For the second successive year the Dimmitt Boy Scout troop has won the plaque award given by the South Plains area council for qualifying as a standard troop.

EIGHT GRADUATE

OLTON—Service stations are operating on a cash basis. Eight students finished Olton high school at the mid-term graduation.

EGG THIEF CAUGHT

LEVELLAND — Thirty-two inductees left last week for Fort Sill. Ray W. Willoughby was elected to the board of directors of the Orient line of the Panhandle Santa Fe railroad. Hockley county farmers are signing up to help win the war. War rationing of food will be explained to everybody by the OPA in plenty of time, according to announcement from Lubbock. A negro ex-convict has been arrested and jailed for stealing 100 dozen eggs and taking them to Lubbock and selling them to a food store. Most of the money was recovered for the owner of the eggs.

BAPTISTS DEBT FREE

TAHOKA — Lynn county gins have turned out 92,645 bales of 1942 cotton. Officers continue to make war on local bootleggers. Lt. Wm. Corbin Douthitt is in North Africa. Baptists here have burned bonds and freed their building of debt.

WAR ON RATS

O'DONNELL — The rat killing campaign here, started by the Rotary club, has become a general, co-operative effort. Shorty Wright has closed his cafe for the duration. J. R. Miller has sold his variety store here to J. S. Boydstun of Sanger. The J. B. Moore farm home was destroyed by fire. Luke Hardy, gin hand, lost two fingers in an accident last week. Six Lynn county men have gone, five to the Army and one to the Navy, in the last few days. Many fruit and pecan trees are being planted in Lynn county.

RELIEF SUM COLLECTED

POST—War crop goals have been set up for Garza county farms. The Garza theater reported $140.66 collected in the United Nations war relief campaign. February's tire quota for Garza county is slightly higher. Mrs. Hayes Holman has been appointed publicity director for the Garza rationing board. Eighty-four Garza county farm producers have just received checks totaling $12,573.82, representing conservation payments on 60 farms, bringing the amount so far for 1942 to $35,962.32.

HOGS SHIPPED

PETERSBURG—The Heard and Clubb Grain Co. shipped 11 cars of hogs in January. Two home nursing classes are planned for Petersburg.

HATCHERY SEASON OPENS

PLAINVIEW — The chicken hatchery season has opened in full blast. John Logsdon has bought the E. H. Perry insurance business.

BOND QUOTA EXCEEDED

LAMESA—J. R. Weaver, farmer, has offered free fuel wood to anyone who will go to his farm and haul it. War production goals have been set for the county. A suplementary school census is being taken. The first policy for 1943 cotton insurance has been sold to J. R. Brown. Postoffice receipts for 1942 exceeded 1941 by $7,624. Lamesa's water meters damaged by the recent cold. Ninety-eight high school students were on the honor roll for January. The farm machinery rationing panel approved 65 applications in January. Filling stations are open here but 12 hours a day. War bond sales for 1942 in Dawson county exceeded the quota. J. M. Harrington will head the Red Cross drive.

OPA OFFICIAL TO SPEAK

BROWNFIELD—J. Doyle Settle of the Lubbock district OPA office, is to speak here Feb. 9. Retail milk prices here have been set at 13 cents a quart. Everett W. Wilgus, formerly with the No. 2 Mark Halsey store in Lubbock, has bought the Corner Drug store here from James Graves. Terry county's January war bond quota was $29,100. Farm machinery quotas for Terry farms have been increased slightly.

"Buy A WAR Bond TODAY"

Stanolind Buys Delta Holdings

The Stanolind Oil and Gas company reportedly has purchased the Slaughter field oil-producing properties of the Delta Drilling company of Tyler. The deal, effective Monday, entails 17 wells on six leases. All the properties are on the Hockley side of the field, and have a total daily potential of 11,029 barrels, and a total daily allowable of 324. They include three wells on the R. L. Slaughter "A" lease, two wells on the Slaughter "B" lease, five wells on the Slaughter "C" lease, and three wells on the G. T. Veal lease. It was estimated that the wells brought between $800,000 and $1,000,000.

DeKalb Stakes Location

The DeKalb Agricultural Association, Lubbock, has staked a location for a ½-mile north outpost to the Means field at its No. 1 C. A. Shultz, 555 feet from the south and west lines of the northwest quarter of Section 5, Block C-45, public school land. The scheduled 5,000-foot rotary job will start operations Wednesday. It is 2,500 feet northwest of the Humble Oil and Refining company's No. 1 Shultz extension producer.

In the first five hours of pumping, the Shell Oil company's No. 1 D. N. Leaverton in northwestern Gaines county recovered 55 barrels of oil cut .8 per cent by acid water and .2 per cent by sediment.

Three new producers were reported Monday for Slaughter, two in Cochran county and one in Hockley. The Devonian Oil company completed both of the former. Its No. 19-B-20 Slaughter flowed 959 barrels daily after acidizing with 12,000 gallons in pay lime from 5,028 to 5,074 feet, total depth. Its No. 2-A-9 Duggan also was acidized with 12,000 gallons and flowed 1,473.84 barrels daily. In Hockley, Tevis F. Morrow, Dallas, completed No. 13 Mallet Land and Cattle company for a daily potential flow of 688.08 barrels. The well topped pay at 4,907 feet, drilled to 4,954 feet, and was acidized with 12,000 gallons.

The DeKalb association's No. 1 A. C. Means, prospective pool opener in north central Andrews county, 3½ miles south by southwest of the Means field, is moving in a cable-tool unit preparatory to drilling a plug from 5½-1-inch casing cemented at 4,838 feet. The total depth is 4,885 feet in sandy lime. The well cored saturated oil sand from 4,860 to 4,878 feet.

Clipper Home From Conference Journey

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. (AP)—Weather-stained, the huge Clipper plane which carried President Roosevelt safely to and from the unconditional surrender conference at Casablanca returned today to its home base.

Capt. Howard M. Cone, jr., of Douglaston, N. Y., who was in charge of the giant flying boat, and his crew of 10 Pan American Airways flying men, were aboard.

Neither Captain Cone nor Capt. Richard W. Vinal, of Great Neck, N. Y., in command of the escort ship, would discuss the flights.

The Clipper had undergone a three-day overhaul prior to the departure for North Africa, but the only concession made for its distinguished passenger was the installation of a bed-sized mattress in a berth.

Veterinarian Held In Fatal Shooting

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 1 (AP)—Dr. Arthur E. Wharton, veterinarian with the city health department, was charged with murder in Justice of the Peace Bat Corrigan's court here today following the fatal shooting of Alfred Kreusel, 39, a special officer, yesterday.

Charles Barrerra, city detective, who filed the charge, stated Kreusel, a former husband of Mrs. Wharton, was shot through the right side of the nose and that the bullet came out at the base of the skull.

Many Japs Slain On Burma-China Border

CHUNGKING, Feb. 1. (AP) — More than 1,000 enemy troops have been killed or wounded in heavy fighting still in progress along the Burma-Yunnan border, the Chinese high command asserted tonight.

The battle began Thursday, the high command's communique said, when the Japanese launched a strong attack with fresh forces in an attempt to relieve a Japanese unit encircled by the Chinese.

He'll Take Chance Next On Hijacking

DALLAS, Feb. 1 (U.P.) — J. N. Long, cattle buyer, believes that next time he'll take a chance on being hijacked.

He stuffed a billfold containing $1,220 in the sleeve of his overcoat just in case anyone attempted to rob him.

When he reached home the billfold was gone, apparently dropped somewhere along his route.

Russian Advances

munique said an entire Nazi regiment had been virtually annihilated. These Axis troops presumably were part of the 25,000 surgounded between Voronezh and Kastornoye.

The capture of Kshen indicates that the Russians are leaving some units to destroy the surrounded Germans while others are pushing on toward Kursk over ground where Soviet troops retreated last summer.

Name Of Home Town Brings Him Trouble

Dave Coulter, 44-year-old Texas buster, in one of Uncle Sam's training center's near Monroe, N. C., is having trouble with the name of his home town—Muleshoe.

Newspapers and his buddies in camp continue to poke fun at him. They even have gone so far, Coulter complains, of dropping three letters out of his own name and calling him "Colt."

But, like a buddie in camp at Tampa, Florida, he has more trouble making anyone believe there is such a town as Muleshoe. It's a peculiar name, you know.

The Tampa soldier wrote home a short time ago he lost his best girl friend for no other reason than she insisted he was lying when he told her his honest-to-goodness home address was Muleshoe, Texas, and she wouldn't listen to his reasoning about the many funny names of towns in that state, he said.

Coulter writes home that he's getting out of the Army (on account of his being over 38) that he's coming back to Muleshoe, start all over on his Bailey county farm by buying two mules, naming one Sergeant and the other Corporal—"and I'm going to beat hell outa both of 'em," he postscripts.

Incidently, Muleshoe is being advertised from the Arctic Circle to the Belgian Congo. It seems that Muleshoe boys are everywhere, and nowhere will the other boys in camp or the native populations take the town seriously.

Roosevelt Trip

sought by the Navy, this would boost the nation's armed forces well beyond 10,000,000 persons when auxiliary branches are counted.

Some of the legislators who attended the conference but who can not be quoted by name said that the discussion of the size of the Army was more or less incidental to a lengthy resume by President Roosevelt of conditions on all of the fighting fronts.

Estimate On Troops

Mr. Roosevelt was said to have given the legislators an estimate of the number of American troops now in Africa and the number expected to be there by spring—figures which they declined to reveal as military secrets.

Conferees said they understood there was no decision on the question of an over-all Allied command at the Casablanca conference, the President pointing out that none could have been made because of the fact that Josef Stalin of Russia and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of China was unable to attend.

Conditions In Africa

The president was said to have talked at length about conditions he found when he inspected American troops in the North African war zone, with reference especially to the thick mud which delayed offensive moves there.

Shifting to a discussion of the transportation problems of supplying American troops and those of our Allies overseas, Mr. Roosevelt was said to have described the Axis submarine warfare as a serious problem. The improvement in detection devices was mentioned and it was reported that the United States and Great Britain are building more ships than are being sunk.

In this discussion of the Pacific war zone, the President was reported to have said that the war of attrition was having a telling, though slow, effect on Japan.

Replacement Battle

Bombings of Tokyo were spectacular, he was reported to have said, but the thing was to blast the enemy's ships and down his planes. There have been estimates that Japan started the war with 6,000,000 tons of shipping and 6,000 planes, but has been losing the battle to replace those which have been lost thus far.

There was no promise of any quick conclusion for the war, legislators said, but rather a warning that the fighting may go on for a long time and that lives are going to have to be sacrificed to bring about victory.

Called to the White House from capitol hill were Vice President Wallace; Senate majority leader Barkley and minority leader McNary; Speaker Rayburn; House majority leader McCormack and minority leader Martin; Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee; Chairman Bloom (D-NY), and Representative Eaton (R-NJ), ranking minority member, of the House Foreign Affairs committee Senator Hill (Ala), Senate Democratic whip and Senator Austin (Vt) assistant Republican leader in the Senate.

Assault Is Laid To Hospital Attendant

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 1. (AP) — An investigation was ordered by Weaver Baker, chairman of the state board of control, after a warrant charging assault to murder was sworn out yesterday for the arrest of an attendant at the San Antonio state hospital.

The warrant alleged that Otto B. Spear, attendant, kicked a patient so hard that eight of the victim's ribs were broken. It was issued in the court of Bat Corrigan, justice of the peace.

Sea Rescue Made Of 118 Americans

LISBON, Feb. 1. (AP)—The Portuguese destroyer Lima has rescued 118 Americans whose ship was reported sunk off the Azores Jan. 2, it was announced today.

The Lima, stationed at Horta, the Azores, left immediately after receiving an S.O.S. and located several lifeboats with the 118 men despite a terrific storm.

The Lima landed the Americans at the Azores port of Punta Delgada.

Register Was Wrong; Bartender Is Suing

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 1. (AP) —Bert Richardson, a bartender, claims a cash register damaged his reputation and this, he explained in a suit filed today, is how:

Every night at checkup time his register was short. His boss called in a representative of the register's manufacturer.

"There's nothing wrong with the machine," the representative said.

Richardson persisted that there was. A defect finally was found—every time the bartender rang up "no sale" the cash register recorded a dime.

He's suing the manufacturer and its agent for $15,000 damage.

Well Completions In Texas Climb To 151

AUSTIN, Feb. 1 (AP)—Oil well completions in Texas for the week ended Jan. 30 numbered 37, increasing the total for the year to 151, the railroad commission announced.

Forty-six wells were plugged during the week, including 32 dry wells and 14 oil wells, bringing the figure for 1943 to 212(AP)

Other totals of the weekly drilling report: regular drilling applications, 78; rule 37 applacations filed, eight; granted, 12; denied, none; gas well completions two, dry holes 33, oil wildcats drilled one, gas wildcats drilled, none; dry wild-cats drilled, 22.

U. S. Plane Losses Far Below Enemy's

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 1 (AP) — The American Air force in North Africa announced today that 36 enemy planes were destroyed and 33 more damaged during the week ending Jan. 29, compared with the loss of 14 American planes.

This brought the totals for the North African campaign to 258 planes destroyed by the American Air force and 192 damaged, as against the loss of 124 American planes.

New Chaplain Holds First LAFS Service

Capt. Aubrey C. Halsell, newly-arrived Protestant chaplain at the Lubbock Army Flying school, conducted his first services in the chapel at the post Sunday morning. Formerly stationed at Brooks Field, he succeeds Major James E. McDaniel, who was transferred to Altus, Okla.

A former enlisted man, Capt. Halsell was a private at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., in 1928, a sergeant at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., in 1929, and first sergeant at Fort Snelling, Minn., in 1930. He was commissioned at Fort Leavenworth on July 21, 1934, and subsequently was stationed at Camp Robinson, Ark., Camp Forrest, Tenn., and Brooks Field.

Capt. Halsell attended Ouachita college at Arkadelphia, Ark., the Southern Baptist Seminary at Louisville, Ky., and Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, receiving his B.A. degree in 1934, bachelor of theology in 1936, and master's degree in theology in 1937.

Keenly interested in athletics, the new chaplain won awards in football, basketball, track and baseball during his collegiate career, in addition to being president of the freshman class, captain of the track team, a member of the debating team, and editor and business manager of the college yearbook.

Capt. Halsell is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Halsell of Little Rock, Ark. He and Mrs. Halsell, the former Willine Hinsley of Hot Springs, Ark., have a five-year-old son, Aubrey, jr. The family is residing at 2321 Twenty-seventh street in Lubbock.

WPB Sets Up System Of Regional Offices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (U.P.) — The War Production board today announced the establishment of 12 regional and 131 district offices, empowered to take individual action, under the new decentralization plan of the smaller war plants division.

Effective immediately, the plan will enable WPB representatives to work directly with distressed plants and district procurement officers of the Army and Navy, officials said.

Lou E. Holland, deputy chairman of the smaller war plants division, called for operators of troubled plants to furnish immediately information regarding their organizations.

The regional offices are located at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Cleveland, Chicago, Kansas City, Dallas, Denver, San Francisco, Detroit and Minneapolis.

OPA Rules Against Hike In Oil Prices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. (U.P.) — The Office of Price administration today ruled against any general increase in crude oil prices because it would "add heavily" to the cost of living and "dangerously" threaten price control.

To grant an overall increase of one per cent per barrel at this time would mean adding $14,000,000 annually to the nation's fuel bill, OPA estimated.

OPA added that its action did not "close the door" to consideration of local price problems and emphasized that it would maintain "a sympathetic and open door policy" to all petitions for regional price adjustments.

Butler Rites Slated Here This Afternoon

Last rites will be read this afternoon in Rix chapel for W. H. Butler, 22, who died Saturday in Abilene. The service will be read by Rev. Jeff Welch, pastor of Central Baptist church.

He is survived by his grandmother, Mrs. T. T. Butler, and Mrs. Durwood Stephenson, a sister, both of Lubbock; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Butler, Clovis, N. M.; two brothers, Clarence L. Butler, in the armed services at Baltimore, Md., and Leonard H. Butler, Los Angeles.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Five Fliers Die In Crash Near Midland

MIDLAND, Feb. 1 (AP)— Five Army fliers were killed in the crash of a navigation training plane 18 miles east of Midland last night.

The plane, whose station was Mather Field, Calif., was en route from Williams Field, Ariz., to Midland on a training mission. Cause of the crash had not been determined. The bodies were brought here.

Showdown Looms On Wage Section

By HERRELL HILLMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. — Expected demands by 450,000 bituminous coal miners for a $1-a-day wage increase without regard for the War Labor board's "Little Steel" wage formula may touch off a showdown controversy this this week on the wage section of the administration's anti-inflation program.

President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, who attacked the WLB's wage formula last week along with other labor leaders, meets the UMW's policy committee tomorrow to draft demands for a new contract with soft coal operators. The bituminous coal miners' contract expires March 31. Anthracite contracts expire a month later.

Ready For Test

In addition to the fight over wages, there are increasing signs that the bloc in Congress which seeks to enact restrictive labor legislation is ready for a preliminary test of sentiment of the new Congress. The first labor bill receiving commiitee approval was the Hobbs to bring labor unions within the scope of the anti-racketeering law.

President Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial organizations last night denounced the judiciary committee for approving the Hobbs bill with "unseemly haste." He charged that the committee was dominated by groups which for years "have attempted to foist this kind of legislation on the public." The bill would amend the 1934 anti-racketeering act to subject labor unions to its penalties by broadening definitions of the terms "robbery" and "extortion."

More Representation Promised

Other weekend labor developments included an appeal by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor to keep America's work week at 48 hours and a promise by War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson to give labor more representation on the WPB.

Green approved increasing the work week from 40 to 48 hours, provided overtime is paid for all hours over 40. But he doesn't want the work week extended beyond 48 because "unduly long hours are invariably followed by an increased absenteeism due to fatigue and illness."

But the test of the WLB's wage policy will be the major problem of labor officials until a decision is reached. Even the board members are divided on it.

Labor Leaders Divided

The basic issue is whether the "Little Steel" formula has become obsolete as a result of the sharp increase in living costs since the United States entered the war. The formula provided for a 15 per cent increase in wages to meet increased living costs between Jan. 1, 1941, and May 1, 1942. Labor department statistics show that living costs during the year after Pearl Harbor increased 19 per cent.

Even labor leaders are divided. Green, for example, fears that relaxation of the wage ceiling will lead to runaway inflation. Lewis and others contend that the working man is entitled to an increase at least comparable to the increase in living costs.

Lewis is expected to demand a $1-a-day increase for his bituminous miners and a $2-a-day increase for hard coal miners. The bituminous men have received one raise under the board's formula.

Knox Sees More Raids On Tokyo

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 1 — Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox has returned from an inspection of far-flung Pacific outposts with the predictions that "there are darn good prospects of an air attack on Tokyo" and that "within the next 30 days all organized resistance on Guadalcanal will disappear."

The secretary, who stopped here briefly yesterday en route back to Washington on his 20,000-mile inspection trip, twice within the past two weeks was under Japanese air attack. The first attack was a short one at Espiritu Santo in the New Hebrides and the second, a much heavier one of seven hour duration, was on Guadalcanal. No casualties were reported in either attack.

With Nimitz, Halsey

With Secretary Knox during the attacks were Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, and Admiral William F. Halsey, commander of the south Pacific forces.

"I think there are darn good prospects of an air attack on Tokyo," the secretary said at Pearl Harbor just before flying here. "But when or how it will hit I will not say, but they better get ready."

"Our submarines are doing a magnificient job and operations against the Japanese lines of communications are going at a good rate."

Eight District GG Winners Crowned

Champs Include Two Soldiers

Nine-Fight Program Has Six Knockouts

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche Sports Writer

Lubbock's 1943 district Golden Gloves champions — eight brand spanking new ones — were crowned before a capacity crowd at Texas Tech gymnasium last night in a furious nine-bout card featured by six knockouts.

From the first fight on the program, when Billy Buck, Morton light heavyweight, pancaked Joe Music of Lubbock in a semi-final scrap, until the final encounter, when J. D. Kirkpatrick hammered out a one-sided decision over this same Billy Buck, the spectators witnessed one of the most exciting Gloves nights ever staged in this area.

When the firing was over, Lubbock had a set of district champions, who will go on to Fort Worth to compete in the state tournament Feb. 10-15, which included a pair of brothers, two SPAFS soldiers, two Lubbockites, and two hard-hitting boys from neighboring towns — Slaton and Littlefield.

McLaurin Upset

One upset, if such a thing is possible in a field about which fans know so little, saw Jay Thompson, adept SPAFS middleweight, flatten Junior McLaurin, O'Donnel veteran and one of the leading amateur fighters of this area.

In another of the night's top bouts, Elwood Wright, Lubbock veteran who reached the finals last year as a heavyweight, went a step farther last night by decisioning Clayton McKay, 240-pound SPAFS entrant, for the title.

Other finals bouts saw Billy Brackeen, a game youngster from Slaton, give Carlos Rios of Mexico City and Texas Tech an unexpected pounding for the flyweight championship; Wiley McCarty of Littlefield takes the bantamweight championship; Howard Kirkpatrick, Petersburg, take top featherweight honors; George Nutter of SPAFS walk off with the lightweight title; Earl Pollard take the welter bauble, and J. D. Kirkpatrick, older brother of Howard, win in the light heavyweight division.

Brackeen Scores TKO

The Brackeen-Rios brawl was perhaps the biggest crowd pleaser of the night. Rios had chalked up a 23-second knockout in his first round bout and entered the ring a staunch favorite over the Slaton youth. Brackeen weathered a furious attack in the first few seconds of the opening round, however, then opened up his own guns and took command from there, finally scoring a technical knockout over the game but tired Mexican in one minute, 47 seconds of the second stanza.

Neither McCarty nor Lee Hughes, Brownfield, had had to fight to reach the finals in the bantamweight class, so fans did not know what to expect in this match. McCarty, maneuvering Hughes into corners on numerous occasions, quickly got out in front on points and finally won by a TKO in a minute and 43 seconds of the third round.

Pollard Easy Winner

In the all-Army featherweight final, George Nutter of SPAFS—originally of Great Falls, Mont.—wasted little time in putting away Leroy Warren of Seminole, and more recently, LAFS. The 29-year-old Nutter, after taking several sharp left stabs on the chin, rallied to knock out Warren in a minute and 42 seconds of the first round.

Howard Kirkpatrick, of Petersburg, gave Ollin Freer, LAFS and Lamesa, a terrific pounding before winning on a technical knockout in 1:29 of the third heat. Both fighters did some free swinging in the early stages of the fight, but Kirkpatrick outlasted the soldier and was still going strong when referee O. J. (Bo) Sexton stepped in to halt the bout.

Earl Pollard, the shifty Lubbock welterweight, easily won the 147-pound crown with a unanimous decision over rugged Jimmy Pharr, another local entrant. Pollard — tabbed by many as the "class" of the tourney—was always in command of this bout, although Pharr did land several stinging rights.

Thompson Wins

In the middleweight surprise package, Thompson, the SPAFS who who employes a shuffling "Joe Louis" style, made quick work of McLaurin. After almost 90 seconds on even terms, Thompson caught the former state TAAF litghweight titleholder on the ropes with a flurry of short blows and McLaurin went down. He wasn't out, but appeared firmly convinced that Thompson had things "under control," and he stayed on his hands and knees for the count. The time of the knockout was one minute, 59 seconds.

J. D. Kirkpatrick, last year's district Gloves middleweight ruler, pounded out a unanimous verdict over Billy Buck for the 175-pound title in a fight which saw both fighters tire badly in the late stages. Buck had entered the finals earlier in the night by knocking out Joe Music of Lubbock.

Prizes Awarded

Wright gained his heavyweight championship only after a tough battle with McKay, the big soldier from Kenmore, N. Y. Wright's long-range left played an important part in gaining the decision, but the New Yorker, 50 pounds heavier than Wright, did some good in-fighting.

All district champions were awarded boxing trunks and robes and will receive all-expense-paid trips to the state tournament at Fort Worth. Runners-up in last night's competition were given Golden Gloves watch chain charms and $7.50 in defense stamps.

The program closed the three-night Gloves competition, which was marked by large crowds, free swinging and numerous knockouts and technical kayos.

All profits from the tournament are to go to the Matador club, Texas Tech athletic association.

Judges in last night's bouts were Bert Kahn, R. B. McAlister and K. N. Clapp.

Lubbock's 1943 district Golden Gloves champions:

Flyweight—Billy Brackeen, Slaton.

Bantamweight—Wiley McCarty, Littlefield.

Featherweight — George Nutter, South Plains Army Flying school and Great Falls, Montana.

Lightweight — Howard Kirkpatrick, Petersburg.

Welterweight—Earl Pollard, Lubbock.

Middleweight—Jay Thompson, SPAFS and Superior, Wisconsin.

Light heavyweight — J. D. Kirkpatrick, Petersburg.

Heavyweight — Elwood Wright, Lubbock.

All SWC Cage Quints In Action This Week

(By The Associated Press)

All Southwest conference basketball teams returned to the wars this week after taking time out for mid-term examinations, but only four of them will figure in games counting in the standing.

Baylor lost to Texas A. and M. at College Station last night. The Bears trek to Fayetteville to clash with second-place Arkansas in a two-game series starting Friday night.

Texas Christian, tied with Rice for third place in the standing, gets back into the grind, meeting the Aggies at Fort Worth Saturday night.

Unbeaten Texas and Rice and Southern Methodist play service teams.

The Longhorns clash with Corpus Christi Naval air station at Austin Wednesday night.

Rice meets the Corpus Christi Fliers in a two-game series at Corpus Christi opening Friday night while Southern Methodist tackles Grand Prairie Naval air station at Dallas Saturday night.

Texas Christian plays Grand Prairie at Fort Worth Tuesday night in a benefit game, proceeds to go to the infantile paralysis fund.

Heavy Big League Trading Baffles Baseball Experts

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—The bountiful crop of baseball deals this winter is beginning to baffle the experts as well as the fans.

This was to be the winter when every club would hold on to every available player. The magnates said they wouldn't consider selling a player who had two arms, two legs and a wife and children.

Yet the turnover has been terrific. The reasons for some of the swaps have been about as lucid as lead.

The Cincinnati Reds, who need lots of things worse than they need money, let Paul Derringer go to the Chicago Cubs for an estimated $15,000. The Brooklyn Dodgers, who don't know whether they're going to have an infield or not, sold Babe Dahlgren to a minor league club, Indianapolis, for cash. The New York Yankees sold Lefty Gomez to the Boston Braves for waiver money. The Braves previously had given outright releases to Paul Waner and Johnny Cooney, a pair of crafty outfielders.

Could Go Further

This list could be carried a great deal further, but a sample shows that the club owners had their tongues in their cheeks at the December meetings when they said everyone would hold on to everything.

Within 48 hours after the Braves turned Waner and Cooney loose, they were signed by the Dodgers. This was a smart move by Branch Rickey because he first waived on the players and then obtained them without expending anything but telephone money.

The reason for some of the transactions, probably, is to get out from under heavy salary commitments. Gomez and Derringer, for instance, are not likely to expect as much money in their new locations as they would have if they had stayed where they made their reputations.

Other factors not immediately discernible on the surface have figured in their winter trading.

Rosar "Disciplined"

The Yankees, although desperately weak in the infield, let Gerry Priddy go to the Washington Senators because he has no children and may be called for military service before the season is out.

The Phils made a couple of deals because they needed cash and in one of them the Yanks took a first baseman, Nick Etten, whom they never would have considered except for the war emergency.

One of the earlier deals, in which the Yanks sent away two good players for two doubtful ones from Cleveland, was consummated as an act of discipline for catcher Buddy Rosar, who jumped the club last July to take a police examination—which he flunked.

It all seems to prove that there is a reason for every trade, even if it doesn't show in the box score.

SPAFS Courtmen Play Host To San Angelo Flying Field Quint

South Plains Army Flying school's basketball team will play its third game of the season against Goodfellow field of San Angelo at 8 o'clock Friday night at the SPAFS post recreation hall.

SPAFS personnel may bring civilian guests.

In addition, the SPAFS basketball program for this week includes the finals of the inter-squadron cage tournament between the 15th Troop Carrier squadron team and the 370th Base Headquarters and Air Base squadron team, the game to be played in the recreation hall Wednesday night.

This game will be preceded by a game between the Officers team and the 850th TEFT squadron team.

The South Plains cagers in their game with Goodfellow Field will be seeking to pad out the win side of their ledger. They lost their game to Texas Tech, but defeated Lubbock Army Flying school in a furious overtime game in their second encounter.

The Commando basketballers will fly to Albuquerque for games with Kirtland Field Feb. 9 and 10. They will also go to Fort Worth Feb. 18 to play Tarrant Field.

Johnston Calls Willie Pep Best Since Attell

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. (AP)—Last Friday night, James Joy Johnston didn't show up in Madison Square Garden, and since Mr. Triple-J had been around for days shilling for wee Willie Pep over Allie Stolz, the boys thought he stayed away in fear of what was going to happen to Willie that night.

It turned out, however that Pep punched the ears off Allie, and today, James Joy phoned to say he was absent because a cold prevented him from talking.

Now that he can whisper loud enough to rattle the windows again, the "Derby Hat" wants it strictly understood he not only thinks wee Willie is good — but that he's just about as great a featherweight as has come down the pike since able Abe Attell ambled out of California. That would put Pep above fellows like Tony Canzoneri, Henry Armstrong and Kid Chocolate, who were all pretty fair country clouters.

More than a handful of the old timers tell you that during Abe's 15-year run from 1900 to 1915, he was the greatest fighter, pound for pound, who ever lived.

"But I really mean it about this 20-year-old Connecticut kid," insisted Johnston. "After all, he's won 59 straight fights, and no one else ever did that. What's more he can do just about everything the best of 'em could."

Browns Got Paul Dean In Straight Cash Deal

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 1 (AP) — Paul Dean, younger member of the famous brother pitching duo of "Me and Paul," was bought by the Browns of Washington in a staight cash deal, Bill DeWitt, vice-president of the St. Louis club, announced tonight.

Paul Dean, whose shining career with the St. Louis Cardinals was terminated as the result of a lame arm, came back in the Texas league last season, winning 19 games and losing only eight with Houston.

SALARIES HIKED

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 1 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' brother battery, Mort and Walker Cooper, today were given increases in salary when they signed their 1943 contracts.

The brothers dropped in at the Card office to pick up "a dozen balls and start working out," but stayed to agree to terms.

Sectional Cage Races Close

Texas Still Leads In SWC Standing

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. — Making a quick trip around the basketball hoop:

BIG TEN

Indiana and Illinois, both unbeaten in the league and tied for the top, return to action this week. The Illini, after a two-week scholastic siesta, tackle Northern and Ohio State. Michigan is Indiana's guest Saturday. Northwestern, winner of only one Big Ten game, ranks with Illinois, however, as the only teams to have beaten Great Lakes.

SOUTHEASTERN

Louisiana State was idle all last week but bounded into first place in the won-lost column when Alabama surprised previously unbeaten Kentucky Saturday, 41 to 32.

Kentucky, however, isn't idle and could move back into a tie for first by winning from Vanderbilt

PACIFIC COAST

Southern California, called the best team in the school's history, already has clinched the coast conference's southern half crown while Washington is out in front in the northern race.

The Trojans won from University of California at Los Angeles Friday for the 42nd consecutive time, 51 to 39, to take over the divisional throne occupied last year by Stanford.

EASTERN

Basketball resumes its high powered action, with 18 college games and 17 service camp tussles occuping New York City gymnasiums in the next six days.

Dartmouth, toppled by Princeton Saturday, 44 to 39, begins its drive to regain the Eastern intercollegiate league lead tonight at Columbia. Penn now is on top and visits Cornell Saturday.

MIDWEST

Big Six became strictly Kansas-Oklahoma affair as Sooners defeated Nebraska, 56 to 32, Saturday night. The Oklahomans, now tied for second behind Kansas, are at Iowa State tonight and may find the going difficult. The Cyclones also play Kansas, going to Lawrence Saturday.

Creighton has its biggest Missouri Valley conference test Friday when it invades Oklahoma A & M.

SOUTHERN

Duke climbed into second place behind George Washington with victories over North Carolina State and Wake Forest last week while the Colonials were idle. The leaders are inactive again all this week.

SOUTHWEST

Loop makes timid approach to resumption of play with four league games on the docket, two of which bring last place Baylor to Arkansas for a weekend doubleheader.

Texas, surprise leader, collides with Corpus Christi Fliers, unbeaten in four tussles with conference teams, in charity game Wednesday night.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN

Wyoming and Brigham Young top eastern and western halves of Rocky Mountain conference.

FORMS GOING OUT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (AP) — Postal carriers will distribute the War Manpower commission's forms for voluntary registration of women over 18 for war work, the post office department reported today.

TAX IS REPEALED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 1 (AP) —The Senate by a vote of 28 to 9 passed today the House bill repealing the Oklahoma tax on oleomargarine. The tax was 10 cents per pound.

Camp Wilson, Once Told He'd Be A Cripple For Life, Now Ready For Japs Or Nazis

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, Feb. 1.—Camp Wilson, Atlas-like Hardin-Simmons athlete, was told two years ago he'd never walk again.

Now he's not only back on his feet, but—

(1) He expects to enter the Army when Uncle Sam calls the college reserves;

(2) Is entered in the district Golden Gloves tournament where he won his first bout with a knockout in 1 minute, 18 seconds;

(3) Was third among the nation's rushing backs last football season with 991 yards.

The 197-pound freshman starred on the gridiron with the Border conference champion Cowboys, though little Rudy (Doc) Mobley took most of the headlines by surpassing the ground gaining record held by Byron (Whizzer) White.

Story Has Changed

It was a different story two years ago. Camp was told he'd be a cripple for life, would never walk again and doctors even considered amputation.

His woes began when he and a football teammate were mowing the field at John Tarleton junior college in 1940, working in their bare feet. The friend accidentally mowed into Wilson's left heel, cutting it to the bone.

It required more than four hours for physicians to pull the leader into place with 28 stitches.

More than a year later he started putting weight on the foot. Soon he was hobbling in house shoes.

Last year he again participated in athletics. Now he's ready to take on the Japs or Nazis.

CAMP WILSON
... didn't give up.

Approval Sought For U. S.-China Treaty

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (U.P.) — President Roosevelt sent to the Senate today for ratification the new treaty between the United States and China providing for the relinquishment of American extra-territorial rights in China.

Approving the treaty and a supplemental exchange of notes which he sent to the Senate, the president said the action was "in line with the expressed desires of the government and the people of th United States."

Requesting ratification of the treaty, Mr. Roosevelt said he was sure its spirit would "be gratifying to the governments and the peoples of all the United Nations."

Directors Of State Hospitals Shuffled

AUSTIN, Feb. 1 (U.P.)—The state board of control today announced three changes in the superintendents of state hospitals.

Board Chairman Weaver Baker said the changes had no connection with a recent report to state legislators criticising many of the state institutions. That report, Baker said, dealt with a period before the superintendents affected by today's order were in charge.

These changes are: resignation of Dr. C. H. Standifer as superintendent of Austin State hospital. Transfer of Dr. A. T. Hanretta, present superintendent of Rusk State hospital, to succeed Dr. Standifer. Promotion of Dr. Lawrence Smith from assistant superintendent to superintendent of Rusk State hospital.

The changes will take place Feb. 15-16.

Huffman Paces Ags In Win Over Bears

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 1 (AP) —Guard Lee Huffman threw 'em in from all angles tonight to lead the Texas Aggies to a 59-45 win over Baylor's Bears in a Southwest conference basketball game.

The victory avenged an earlier defeat in the season by Baylor.

The Cadets went ahead in the first fifteen seconds on Huffman's field goal, but Bill Hailey tied it up shortly after. Goals by Les Peden and Dawson gave the Aggies a 6-4 lead after five minutes and they were never headed.

The score at the half was 25-15.

PROS TO MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 1 (AP) — Three leading United States professional golfers will play exhibition matches here February 6 and 7, the Mexico City Country club announced last night.

The three, Byron Nelson, Jimmy Demaret, and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, will play against leading Mexico City golfers including Al Espinosa, professional at the host country club.

Tamulis Favors Cards' Chances

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 31. (AP) — Vito Tamulis, former major league hurler who traded his baseball uniform for the Army khaki some time ago, doesn't think the war will prevent the major leagues from finishing their schedule this year, and more than that, he likes the chances of the St. Louis Cardinals repeating.

"Sure they'll play baseball this year," said Vito in between the potatoes he was peeling while on KP duty at Drew field.

"It should be an interesting race."

"If the Cardinals haven't been too hard hit by loss to the services," said Tamulis, "they'll win again."

Was With Yanks

Tamulis hurled for the New York Yankees in 1934 and 1935, and after a couple of seasons with Newark in the International league he went back to the majors with the St. Louis Browns. He joined Brooklyn in 1938 where he stayed until 1941 when he joined the Philadelphia Phils. He played with Nashville of the Southern association before going into the Army.

Tamulis doesn't like spring training in the north and says the players can't get into proper shape in cold weather.

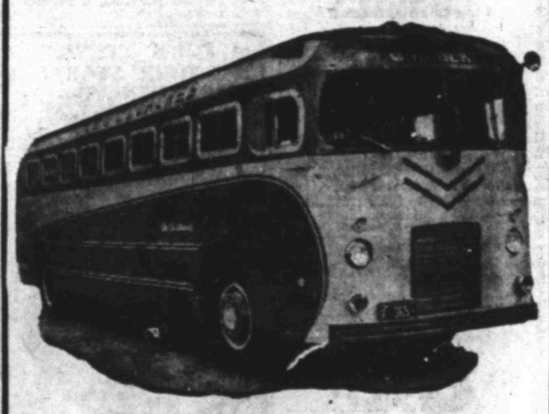

The veteran hurler hopes to resume his pitching career after the war, but with a minor league team.

He'll play while in the Army with the Drew field team.

The CHIROPRACTOR-and You

No. 3 of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC? The Chiropractor teaches that the brain and nervous system are the root of health. From the brain, nerve energy is distributed through the nervous system to control all parts of the body. When this nerve energy is shut off even slightly between brain and body (by bone displacement in the spine), one or more body functions are interfered with and ill health results. By x-ray, analysis and spinal dajustment the Chiropractor is able to relieve nerve interference and restore normalcy to the affected part. No drugs. No surgery. Nature is the healer.

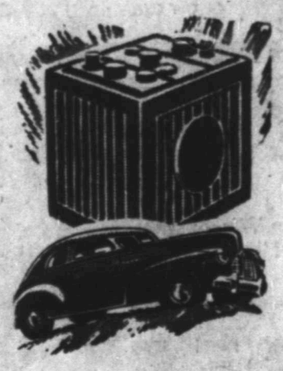

CASE HISTORY No. 821. A middle-aged woman in a state of serious nervous exhaustion. Suffered severe headaches and, in her own words, "wanted to be in a dark room and left alone." A variety of treatments had failed to help her. Finally, she turned to Chiropractic. The spinal displacement which was the cause of her trouble was located immediately, and a series of adjustments led to this woman's complete recovery.

CASE HISTORY No. 92. A victim of sinus headaches for several years. Suddenly stricken with pain one morning, he called upon a Chiropractor whose office he was passing at the time. A spinal adjustment brought relief from the pain in less than three minutes. Within half an hour the pain had gone entirely, and there has been no recurrence of the sinus condition since.

CASE HISTORY No. 356. A young woman who for seventeen years had been having as many as ten to fifteen convulsions daily. Treated for epilepsy without avail. Under special treatment for seven years without benefit. All hope for recovery had gone, when a friend advised Chiropractic. A spinal x-ray revealed a marked disarrangement of the neck, the result of a fall suffered when a child. Adjustments were commenced and after only four months she was 95 per cent better.

Happy Ending To Flynn Case

MORE mis-statements seldom have been crowded into fewer words than in the request Monday by Edward J. Flynn, New York political boss, that the President withdraw his nomination from Senate consideration as U. S. Minister to Australia and the President's ambasador to the Southwest Pacific.

Flynn's stated reason for the request was that "partisan debate" in the Senate "would imply unfortunate disunity x x x in time of war."

Could debate be considered "partisan" on such a matter when the outspoken Senate opposition includes Democrats as well as Republicans, administration stalwarts as well as those of anti-New Deal persuasion?

Has there been anything "implied" in the "disunity" that flared the instant the President's plans for Flynn were disclosed? Certainly there has been nothing implied in the blunt charges by many senators that they regard Flynn as an unfit person for the responsibilities proposed for him.

His professed desire to preserve "unity" is the worse mis-statement of all. If he had any real desire to prevent expressions indicative of disunity, why did he wait until the last moment to announce he would ask the withdrawal of his name? So long as there seemed a possibility that the nomination might be approved despite opposition, he persisted in seeking the job. He bowed to the inevitable only when he saw that defeat was certain.

As for his reference to "unfortunate" disunity: Is it unfortunate for the nation that the Senate made clear that it had no intention of entrusting to a man of his record and background the job proposed by the White House? Isn't it fortunate for the public welfare to be protected in such matters?

The public welfare also has been served by this proof given by the Senate that the day of push-button domination by the White House has passed. The House of Representatives made a similar declaration of independence a few days ago when it refused, flatly, to place the Radical Rep. Marcantonio of New York on its Judiciary committee. The Senate now has served notice that it refuses to jump merely because the administration hollers "hop."

Thus, the public welfare has been excellently served in this whole matter. Flynn's name is withdrawn. He is out so far as responsibilities like those suggested for him are concerned. And Congress has given proof of further progres toward return of the government into the hands of the elected representatives of the people in this democracy.

It's Out In The Open Now

OPPOSITION by the Lawyer's guild and the American Civil Liberties union has removed any doubt which might have lingered as to the identity of those who fight the continuation of the Dies House committee to Investigate Un-American Activities.

The opposition comes from radical left-wing elements of which the guild and the union are typical examples. Furthermore, it is a most vigorous opposition which seeks to bring personal pressure in many ways upon every member of the House and Senate via letters, lobbyists and representation before the House committee considering the appropriation which will be necessary if the Dies group continues its work.

However, opposition from these and kindred groups is not surprising. They and their leaders are typical of those who have cause to dislike inquiries by the Dies committee. They are groups which might not appear to good advantage after investigations into un-American activities. It is a threat of embarrassment to them which will be removed if the Dies committee should be abolished. They will be apt to be embarrassed so long as the Dies group continues to function.

Fortunately, the prospect seems to be that the wishes and opinions of old-time loyal Americans will prevail in this matter. Theirs is the opinion and the wish that an agency must exist which will have the duty of seeking and disclosing un-American activities where-ever they may be found—including such places as the Lawyer's guild and the Civil Liberties union.

An athletic girl tells us she has to be careful not to overexert herself when she puts up phoney resistance against a kiss.

THE STORY: Sverre Hammer tells the dramatic story of revolt in Stoksund to a trusted group of Trollness patriots. Pastor Aalsen urges the men to live peacefully despite the oppression of their conquerors, but the men will not listen. Solveig, wife and mother, declares the village must face even the bombing of innocent women and children.

TAKE THE INITIATIVE
CHAPTER IX

"Pastor!" It was the farmer, Knut Osterholm. He limped forward and raised his hands over his head to be heard. "Pastor, we will give you the right to your opinion."

"We will give you your own mind in the matter. But you must give us ours."

"What do you mean?" said Aalesen. His thin, boyish face was working with emotion.

"I mean that if we let you go your way, you must let us go ours. You will not be held responsible. But you must give us your holy word that if you are asked questions you will not betray us."

Breathless, they looked up at him. There were tears in his eyes. He gazed down at their hard, dark faces, and bowed his head. For a moment they all waited. Then, "Yes," he said at last, "I give you my word."

Hammer sat down, the white bundles of his hands before his face. The doctor cleared his throat. "I think we are all agreed," he said. Whispers of conversation sprang up. Each man looked awkwardly at his neighbor to see what he thought.

Gunnar stood up. "It has not started yet," he said, slowly. "But all of us know we must be ready. If we get the guns Hammer has talked about we must have a way thought out to use them."

"On the other hand," said farmer Kjerlof, who was a shy little man about 50, "perhaps if we let well enough alone we won't have to fight. The Germans aren't looking for trouble, you understand, and surely, in such a great war . . the sacrifice of our poor village . . . well, what will it accomplish?" He stopped in confusion, pulling at his little white beard and coughing all the time to conceal his nervousness.

Slowly Hammer turned toward him. "How is it the Germans come to search our houses at night?" he asked. "Who is it who has ordered all the sweaters and blankets in Norway confiscated so we can freeze to death this winter? Who teaches our children in school the most hideous untruths? Who has stolen our food, our factories, our money, even our skis for their army? Do they ask your permission? No, they hem you in on every side, so that not a minute of the day or night is your own. What were you born for? Are you a human being, or a cat, to be dragged in or out every hour whenever your master pleases? Why do we have blacking in the windows and a guard at the door?" he asked. "Have you always had to do that when you wanted to speak your mind?"

"To be a free man," said Gerd Bjarnesen harshly, "is a right that nobody ever gives you. You've got to work for it yourself."

"I know," said Kierlof, "but it's a great sacrifice. And how can we be sure, even if we make it?"

"We can't," Hammer snapped. "And anyway, what sacrifice is it? What are you giving up? Your life? Maybe they'll take that from you whether you fight or not. Your farm? It's not yours anyway until you fight for it. Your peace? What peace do you have when a body of troops can come in the middle of the night and arrest you as a hostage, to be shot for something you never did and never even heard about? Think of that. Asleep in your bed at 2 in the morning, and they come and tell you, 'We know you didn't shoot the captain, but somebody did, and so we're going to shoot you.' You call that peace? You call fighting that a sacrifice?"

"It's time we talked business," said the doctor.

'Dr. Stensgard is right," said Gunnar. He saw Solveig nod to him, and plunged on. "Ever since he told me this morning what happened, I've been thinking it over. I think I have a plan whereby we here in Trollness can hold our own when the trouble comes."

"Ja," said Kjerlof. "But what for? Understand, I'm only asking."

Hammer had heard dozens of such conversations. He thought, "So it comes now. That is the man they wait for. There is always one." He sat down. The fishermen drew closer Gunnar had gone over to the table.

"Let's get to the point," said one of the fishermen.

"Well," said Gunnar, "look here." He pointed down at the table. "Here, this line is the coast." He traced it with his finger. "Here is the place where the fjord cuts inland. Here is the town, and here, at the end, is the bridge going south."

Lars Malken came forward and stood at Gunnar's shoulder, looking down at the pointed finger.

"Here is Dr. Stensgard's little summer house, and the two rowboats he keeps moored at a piling. "The Germans will never bother about them."

"Ja," said the doctor, nodding gravely, "that is right."

"Lars, do you remember that this morning I asked you to hide three outboard motors?"

"Motors?" said the old man. "Yes, you did. Of course I remember."

"Where are they?"

"In the cellar of my shop."

"Good. Those three motors must be moved out to the summer house and buried in wooden boxes, or hidden so we can get them in a hurry when we need them."

"Ha!" cried Malken. "I misjudged you, Gunnar. Good. Good."

"Every one of us must give as much gasoline as he can spare. That, too, must be hidden in drums down at the summer house. It can be moved there at night."

"We must delegate men to do that," said Stensgard.

"You see," Gunnar went on, 'one thing that wins battles is being able to move with more freedom than the enemy. So I first want to make sure we are not trapped the way they were in Stoksund. That we do now. And second, I want to make sure the enemy cannot move. If we can do both these things, we have won on the first stroke."

"So far you are better off than we were," said Hammer. "We were caught unawares."

"Wait," Gunnar interrupted. "If it comes to a fight, and we are well armed and ready, what is the first thing the captain would do?"

"Send for reinforcements, or get planes the way they did down the coast."

"He would telephone to Stoksund. Right? Or even down to Namsos. At any rate, to the nearest strong post of command."

"So."

"Here is where the wires cross over the bridge." He marked the place with his finger again. "Two men must be chosen to cut those wires before the action ever begins."

"And what will you do," Lars Malken cried excitedly, "about the wireless?"

Gunnar stopped to look up. "We come to that in a minute. There are only three ways for them to get a message out," the fisherman went on. "By telephone, by wireless, as Lars Malken has suggested, and by courier."

The room was deadly silent. "I've tried to think it all out very carefully. We can stop a telephone. We smash the dynamo that furnishes current for the wireless. A courier can take only one of a very few routes out of town. We must post a dozen or so men up on the road that runs behind the hotel. Their task will be to stop any move in that direction. If the enemy moves out in force, we attack those that are left in town. If only a few try to get through, our men, put in the right places, can stop them. The second path out for them is over the bridge where the wires are. We have to destroy that bridge before the action starts. The road norh can easily be commanded from the battery on the point. Half a dozen men there can overwhelm the guard and take over. So that part of it is taken care of."

The doctor slapped his hands together enthusiastically. "Gunnar, you are positively a tactician. Beautifully done. Beautifully."

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A DESIRE by our diplomats to promote military and civilian resentment against Hitler, leading finally to revolt, is one of the major factors governing Anglo-American tenderness toward pro-Vichyites in North Africa. State departmenters cannot advance this explanation publicly, but President Roosevelt's Casablanca assurance that the Allies do not seek the destruction of enemy populaces confirms it.

In reaction to recent battlefield reverses, Nazi propagandists are trying to bolster home morale by depicting catastrophic calamities in case of ultimate defeat. They aim to personalize the cruelties and despair which would ensue. Der Fuehrer is using this psychological technique on his generals to an even greater degree, recalling threats that the "war criminals" will be treated unmercifully. It is understood that some of his Wehrmacht chieftains would be glad to quit if guaranteed the status usually accorded the vanquished.

The first United Nations statesman to detect this strategy and move to counteract it was Stalin. In several speeches he has emphasized that he has no quarrel with the Herrenvolk or even with the Berlin general staff—only with National Socialist party members who brutalized the Reich and brought on the conflict.

Thus, in playing along with the Darlans, Nogueses and Peyroutons, Washington and London seek to convince the Axis counterparts of these men that they have nothing to fear from a grand Allied triumph, and that the sovereignty of their nations will be respected.

DANGER: A concerted movement to break Washington bureaucracy's strangle hold on the nation is the most spectacular and significent factor in present day American public affairs. Although the subject has so many scattered spearheads that the uninitiated find difficulty in detecting its appearance, politicos regard it as the coming issue for future campagns.

In trying to solve the manpower problem, organized labor and management have formed an alliance. They demand that hiring be placed in the hands of their private agencies rather than in the United States Employment service. Both groups fear the control which the federal setup would possess if a man's chance for a job depended on a distant commissar. Retailers and wholesalers are clamoring for decentralization of the Office of Price Administration. No official at the capital, they maintain, can comprehend the variety and complexity of the debatable points which beset them. Claude R. Wickard has been beseiged by protest from farm bureaus. They insist that the food question can be answered more easily by appeals for patriotic cooperation than by arbitrary orders issued by the AAA.

The Office of Defense Transportation and the Government Printing Office recognize the danger in this rising resentment against Poohbahism and have acted to offset it. Joseph B. Eastman has discontinued his Detroit headquarters and set up regional centers for handling agriculturists' and truckers' applications for gasoline. Typesetters are subletting work to community plants instead of publishing pamphlets here.

REVEALING: A study of the biographies submitted by the subjects themselves for the new Congressional Directory furnishes a clew to cabinet members' characters from President Roosevelt down to the last in precedence—Frances Perkins.

FDR tells his life story in 20 lines, the number required by Messrs Morgenthau and Stimson. Largely because he listed the international conferences he has attended. Cordell Hull needs 25. Frank Knox is content with 21; Attorney Biddle with 23. Farmer Wickard comes next with 31, and Banker Jones with 35.

Perhaps the most revealing sketches are those of Postmaster General Frank Walker and Harold L. Ickes. Modest Frank uses only eight lines. Although the Secretary of the Interior has had a shorter and less distinguished public career than most of his colleagues, he spreads himself over 44.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE McNutt-Wickard joint announcement that Uncle Sam will recruit 3,500,000 volunteers from stores and other urban vocations to plant and gather crops has aroused dismay among some of America's outstanding authorities on dirt farming. They consider the proposal either the evidence of an abysmal lack of understanding of the agrarian problem or a red herring for diverting national attention from an approaching crisis. This is the situation as they see it:

The man with a hoe recoils from the thought of having dumped upon him green hands whose ignorance might ruin his corn and wreck his machinery. No rhyme or reason—other than ballyhoo—exists for mobilizing amateurs when trained personnel can be readily located. It is possible to shake former tillers from certain industries which stil hoard workers. Three hundred thousand Mexicans could be imported and housed in special camps.

We tried this experiment last year with unpleasant results, caused solely by inept management. Instead of combing country districts for peons who could distinguish a beet from a burdock, we arranged with Mexico City labor unions to round up several thousand townfolks. On the first pay night the kit and caboodle flocked into saloons and for days the fields were deserted. Next time we shall select genuine farmers from below the Rio Grande and send them home in the fall.

Soldiers with practical knowledge of agriculture can be given furlough from the U. S. Army. We are short of equipment and ships for more than a million and a half overseas fighters. Yet this year we plan to put eight million two hundred thousand men in khaki.

REAPING: Temporary duty out of ranks is not unusual in military circles. We detach men for special assignments and technical instruction that are no more important than maintaining the nation's food supply. The Germans in off-seasons released their uniformed veterans to barnyards and factories and re-enrolled them to overrun Norway, Holland, Belgium, France and the Balkans. Even George Washington permitted members of his militia to bring in the sheaves. They returned to the front in time to win the Revolutionary war.

Women can be taught to take over tasks in dairies and other spheres within their physical capacities.

Cool-headed husbandry authorities regret that administration lieutenants allowed matters to drift until an impasse developed. The War department has gone on public record against transferring troops to the silo belt. The staff thinks it cannot back down now without openly admitting it set its earlier manpower sights too high. The people, of course, want to grant every proper request of the armed forces and hence—right or wrong—are inclined to bow to the generals.

Yet famous American leaders, who truly know all the facts, believe the Army's refusal to loan farm boys for emergency sowing and reaping may delay—rather than hasten—the hour of unconditional surrender by the Axis.

STRAIN: A helpful feature of the North African campaign is that it has placed a much greater additional strain on the Nazi railroad system than most observers realize. This is the reason: Formerly the bulk of traffic was east-west to support the Russian front. Now the flow must also extend north-south to supply material and soldiers to meet our challenge. This new emergency comes when the networks already are jammed with coal cargoes for Italy and Mediterranean France.

Here And There In Texas

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH the present personnel of the state Supreme court consistently whittling its docket down to such shape that litigants may have reasonable expectation of relatively fast action on their cases, a movement has been started in the 48th legislature to make the court a nine-justice body.

Actually, the state's highest court in civil matters is already that.

There are the three justices provided for under the constitution and the six judges of the commission of appeals. As it now exists, this commission was authorized by the 35th legislature in 1918, when it became increasingly obvious that a three-man court could not dispose of its work.

Court More Efficient

In cases of unusual importance, arguments now are heard by the three justices and the six judges of the commission. All other cases are referred to one of the commission's two sections for submission and argument, but no opinion is rendered by the court until it has been considered by each judge and discussed by the three justices and six judges in consultation.

Almost any lawyer who practices regularly before the court will tell you that the fact it is now entering a term faced with the smallest docket in nearly a decade is a tribute to the dispatch with which the court has operated in recent years. It is not because there is any less litigation. When the new term started Jan. 1, there were 84 causes pending; on Jan. 1, 1935, there were 440 and five years ago there were 257.

THE FIRST opinion written by the Supreme court in the days of the Republic of Texas was by Judge William J. Jones in 1840. The case involved recovery of the value of a horse retained by the defendant innkeepers in dispute with a customer over charges. The owner of the nag claimed its value was $350.

It is a long jump from that to 1943. Today cases involving mere hundreds of thousands of dollars are routine. Million dollar decisions are not rare, and cause little stir—except for the litigants directly concerned—unless they involve validity of laws or some other principle of statewide application.

In the meantime, the court has been the subject of much legislation and consitutional kicking around. In fact, the court did not even have a place to call its own until it moved into the present quarters on the third floor of the capitol. Prior to 1892 it was an itinerant court, meeting at Austin, Washington-on-the-Brazos and once at Nacogdoches during the Republic. For a time after 1946 the court met at Austin; then at Austin, Tyler and Galveston.

Resolution Offered

A joint resolution by Reps. Gene McNamara and Eugene McGlasson of Waco and Rep. Houston McMurry of Henrietta in the 48th legislature proposes a constitutional amendment to create a nine-member Supreme court. This would change sections 2 and 3 of article five of the constitution to provide:

A Supreme court consisting of a chief justice and eight associate justices, any five of whom shall constitute a quorum.

Concurrence of five justices to decide a cause and "in other matters, until otherwise provided by law, the jurisdiction of the court shall be exercised under such regulations and orders as the court by a majority vote may prescribe."

JUSTICES, to be eligible, must be citizens of the state and nation, be at least 30 years of age and have been practicing attorneys or judges of courts of record for at least seven years. They would be elected at the general election for six-year terms. Justices on the bench when and if the amendment became effective would continue until their terms expired, and meanwhile, the resolution adds:

"When the amendment takes effect, the governor shall appoint six additional justices for terms so that the terms of two shall expire with the term of office of each of the present members of the court, and, upon qualification of such new justices, the commission of appeals shall terminate."

Invites Predessors

Just before his inauguration Governor Coke R. Stevenson did something former Governors Pat M. Neff and James V. Allred agreed they wished they had done.

Stevenson sent them personal invitations to attend the ceremony.

"It was very thoughtful of the governor," said Allred, adding:

"At his last inauguration he called me at 7 o'clock in the morning. I would have hitchhiked to get there on time."

* * *

BEING governor has not changed Stevenson's preference for plain food and the new edict preventing sale of sliced bread will not work a hardship at the governor's mansion.

New Mexico Welfare Unit To Be Probed

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 1. (UP)—A legislative investigation of the state public welfare department had the go-ahead signal today after Mrs. Jennie Kirby, a department director, had threatened for awhile to handcuff it.

Mrs. Kirby had denied the probers access to records of "unclients," receiving pensions and and other aid, saying they were confidential.

State's Attorney General E. P. Chase, however, removed that block by ruling the records were open to the investigators.

Gov. J. J. Dempsey also received word from Dr. Arthur Altmeyer, social security director in Washington, that he (Altmeyer) would interpose no objections.

Sen. James Morrow, chairman of the probing committee, said that with these assurances his group would push the investigation.

KIDNAPED, LEFT BOUND

GRAND SALINE, Feb. 1 (AP) — Luther Burke was kidnaped and later dumped from a car on the Dallas highway yesterday after he had passed a grocery store which had just been broken into by five youthful burglars. The men bound Burke before throwing him from their car, Sheriff Russel Galloway said. No money was taken from the grocery establishment.

NEWS HELPS PRICES

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (AP)—Further cheering Russian war news helped put props under the stock market today after early profit taking on the lengthy rise had given the list a generally lower slant.

A revival of rails and motors, along with scattered blue chips, brought a last-hour shift in many leaders and, while losers were plentiful at the close, gains gunning to a point or so were widely distributed and there was an assortment of new highs for more than a year in evidence.

Aside from the brightening military picture, inflationary psychology and investment demand persisted as buying incentives. Accounts were lightened in numerous instances, however, on the thought that a technical correction of the strong recovery from the bottoms of last April was overdue.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .2 a point at 44.3, a peak since July 28, 1941. Transfers, despite frequent slow-downs, amounted to 1,086,780 shares against 1,235,520 in th eprevious full session. It was another of the broadest markets in months, 865 individual issues being traded. Of these 395 were up and 470 down or unchanged.

Carriers took heart when Southern Pacific's preliminary 1942 statement disclosed net of $22.64 a common share compared with $9.15 in 1941. S. P. finished at 17¼, or well under annual earnings. It was recalled that not many years ago some economists figured sound stocks should sell at from 20 to 30 times yearly net. Motors were aided by prospects of big peace-time business. Oils were handicapped by the OPA turn-down of a proposed hoist in crude prices.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 (AP)—Routine buying and price-fixing outweighed liquidation and hedge-selling in today's cotton futures trading and prices closed 20 to 45 cents a bale higher.

Dealings were at a slow pace and values fluctuated narrowly. Traders generally awaited new incentives before making commitments.

Tending to cause caution were textile industry reports that the extent of lend-lease inquiry for cotton goods for export had been exaggerated. This partly was dispelled by trade reminders that the Army would seek about 18,000,000 units of underwear later this month.

The farm parity formula situation still loomed large in the minds of most traders and Washington developments were awaited. The range of futures follows:

	Open	High	Low	Last
March	19.67	19.76	19.66	19.75
May	19.49	19.55	19.44	19.54-55

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 1 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16-inch cotton today at ten designated Southern spot markets was 25 cents a bale higher at 20.58 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 20.38; middling ⅞-inch average 19.67.

MAN ELECTROCUTED

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 1 (UP) — Camp Stanley authorities revealed today that Klare C. Moyer, chief electrician, was electrocuted Saturday when he fell against a live wire. Moyer formerly was a San Antonio night club operator.

Submarine Is Last Hope For Germany

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

Adolf Hitler has fallen back on the only weapon which gives him any hope at all of avoiding total defeat—the submarine.

Hitler's armies are crumbling fast in Russia, and while they are prepared to put up a powerful fight in north Africa, it probably can amount to no more than a delaying action.

The Luftwaffe has proved unequal to the demands put upon it by the eastern, western Europe and African fronts. It is deteriorating steadily, while the combined American, British and Russian air forces are as steadily growing stronger. Allied planes have attained superiority on all three fronts.

To Concentrate On Shipping

In desperation, Hitler intends to concentrate on smashing Allied shipping and supply lines, remembering that in 1917 the submarine blockade almost starved England out.

The submarine is a powerful defensive as well as offensive weapon for Hitler's purposes. Allied supply lines are many and long. They extend across the Atlantic to the British isles, through the Arctic to Russia, into the Mediterranean for the African campaign, and around the Cape of Good Hope to the Middle East, Russia, India and China.

The Allied expeditionary forces must be kept supplied or they will be unable to function. When the time comes for a mass invasion of Europe, the Allied supply problem will be terrific and Hitler may be able to make the invasion extremely hazardous unless the U-boat menace is overcome.

Warning Is Given

Authoritative British sources warn against extremes of optimism or depression over mounting merchant shipping losses, but it is admitted both in London and Washington that the situation gives cause for concern.

It is estimated in London that Hitler will have as many as 700 submarines by spring. He is building them much faster than the Allies can sink them, at the rate of 20 to 30 a month.

To offset this somewhat, Allied ship building is keeping ahead of losses. However, losses increased in January over December and the campaign is expected to reach its peak by spring, so that Hitler may be able to overcome the Allied margin.

Could Keep 250 At Sea

With 700 submarines, Hitler could keep perhaps as many as 250 at sea at one time. The remainder would be in port as reserves or for overhauling. That means as many as 100 submarines could be lurking along the Mediterranean-south Atlantic route, and perhaps another 100 on the north Atlantic, with some left over for the Russian Arctic route.

In appointing Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz to be commander of the German navy, Hitler has indicated the importance he attaches to the submarine campaign and the ruthlessness with which he intends to wage it. Doenitz, a submarine expert, replaces Admiral Erich Raeder, who long has been close to Hitler.

Is Merciless Killer

Doenitz is known as a merciless killer. He declared he would put the entire German navy into the underseas campaign, presumably including personnel.

Of the proposals advanced for meeting the U-boat menace, the one most frequently heard is a sharp increase in escort vessels. That presents its problems because of the far-flung nature of Allied operations. It may be that the British government committee on submarine warfare will uncover something new to supplement the convoy system, which has not changed in essence since the last war.

White Book On Nazism Issued

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 — The State department has issued a white book on the basic principles and aims of national Socialism with emphasis on the Nazi dogma that any person of German descent, regardless of his citizenship, owes allegiance to the fuehrer.

The 510-page treatise, released on the tenth anniversary of Adolf Hitler's rise to power, includes numerous documents ranging from a German newspaper's disparaging account of Marlene Dietrich's American naturalization to official Nazi writings and instructions.

Germans In U. S. Cited

The book contains numerous references to Nazi efforts to reclaim for the German cause an estimated 12,000,000 racial Germans "drowned in the melting-pot of the United States," but does not deal specifically with the fiasco of the German-American bund in which all these efforts culminated.

The appendix includes an "information sheet of the comradeship U.S.S." issued from Stuttgart in January, 1941, complaining that the German-American bund, "although it operates on a fully legal basis," is "given exceptional legal treatment," with its leaders kept under surveillance and "constantly called before the congressional committee for the investigation of 'un-American activities'."

Complains of Attacks

The information sheet also complained that the official German diplomatic representatives were subjected to "hostile attacks" and were depicted as Nazi propagandists by the House investigating committee headed by Rep. Dies (D-Tex).

The reference to Marlene Dietrich was published in Der Strumer, newspaper of Julius Strecher, at Nuremberg, October, 1937. The actress is depicted leaning on the desk of a shirt-sleeved, bespectacled official whose arm is raised aloft as he administers the oath of American citizenship. The caption reads:

"The film actress Marlene Dietrich, who hails from Germany, has spent so many years with the movie-Jews of Hollywood that she has now become an American citizen. Much association with Jews has made her entire nature un-German. In the picture we see her in an oath-scene in Los Angeles. What the Jewish 'judge' thinks of the legally prescribed oath may be seen from his attitude: in shirt-sleeves (-) he administers to Marlene Dietrict the oath that she betray her fatherland!"

REAL OPTIMIST

KEARNEY, N. J., Feb. 1 (U.P.)—Walter Frehch, 24, was held today on a charge of trying to steal an automobile. The intended victim was County Patrolman Frank Orifice, who parked his automobile and walked across the sidewalk into a restaurant. The automobile in question was brilliant red with "Hudson County Police" painted on it in big gold letters.

Bodies Found In Wrecked Plane

(By The United Press)

UKIAH, Calif., Feb. 1.—The bodies of 19 persons, including Rear Adm. Robert H. English, commander of the Pacific fleet submarine force, were recovered today from the charred and twisted wreckage of a huge Navy seaplane which crashed 11 days ago in a rocky canyon 20 miles southwest of here.

The plane, on a flight from Honolulu to San Francisco, had been missing since Jan. 21, when it circled over San Francisco bay unable to land because of a wind lashed rainstorm. The wreckage was sighted late Saturday by a naval observation plane, and ground parties reached the scene last night.

All Occupants Killed

All of the big transport's occupants, including nine high ranking naval officers beside English, were killed. English, 55 years old, was a veteran submarine officer, and won the Navy Cross as commander of an undersea craft in World war I. He was placed in command of submarine froces in the south Pacific last year.

Wreckage of the plane, burned and splintered almost beyond recognition and scattered over a wide area, bore mute testimony of a crash of terrific impact. The Navy said it struck a 2,000 foot ridge about 150 feet from the summit.

Trying To Find Lake

The crash occurred 140 miles north of San Francisco, and naval authorities believed the pilot was trying to find Clear lake, 45 miles away, to make an emergency landing.

The crash was the worst air disaster in the West since Movie Actress Carole Lombard and 15 Army officers and men died in the wreckage of a commercial airliner in southern Nevada about a year ago.

The plane had been caught in one of the severest wind and rain storms to strike California in several years.

Wreck Is Blamed On Forgotten Schedule

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 (U.P.)—The Interstate Commerce commission reported today that a collision between Fort Wort & Denver City railway passenger and freight trains at Carey, Tex., Nov. 28, 1942, resulted because the freight train crew "forgot" the schedule of the passenger train.

Three persons were killed and 63 injured in the crash. The motor car and lone coach of the passenger train were destroyed by fire.
