City Hosts Teen-Age District II

Colorado City will host the District II Texas Teen-Age Junior League baseball tournament here July 29 through August 2, according to announcement from C. W. Smith, president of the Colorado City League.

Season champion teams from Snyder, Sweetwater, Haskell, Anson, and Colorado City will compete for the District II championship at Wolf Field.

Games will be played in the battle of the champs Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings, July 29 and 31, and August 1 and 2, Smith said.

While Colorado City's four Teen-Age Junior League teams have their final games to play here tonight, the White Sox have already clinched the local title with 13 wins to their credit and one game lost.

Coaching the team are E. D. Bisnette with Joe Boyd as assistant.

Tonight at 6:30, White Sox play the luckless Braves who rate last for the season. Braves roster has been afflicted with absences throughout the vacation season. They are coached by Jay Guelker and Carl Bell.

At 8:30 p.m., second place Lions, with a 10-4 record will play the Colts; in third spot with 4-10, team coaches are Henry Hoyle and Paul Wright for the Lions, Lawrence Hodge and L. J. Lynch for the Colts.

Between games Smith, League president, will present the surprise annual award to the outstanding sportsman.

For the district tournament C-City White Sox will be permitted, under league rules, to pick three players from the other teams to add to their championship-try chances.

Texas State Teen-age Junior baseball championship will be decided in Conroe, August 4 through August 9.

Group Wants Out Seeks Disannexation

Colorado City Council named a committee Monday night to study a request from a group of land owners seeking disannexation.

With their attorney Wayne Basden of Big Spring the group from the northern edge of Colorado City's city limits appeared before the council in a body.

Spokesman for the disannexation group was the attorney Basden who said that the land had been annexed by the city several years ago but had failed to receive any benefits from that annexation.

Jim Jeffrey, city attorney, J. A. Sadler, Jr., city manager, and Mike Burt, councilman, were named by Mayor John Chinn to study the request and to meet with the group and their attorney for further discussions.

Also appearing at City Council was Dr. Bill Bradford, general chairman of the city's current Operation Pride cleanup campaign. He requested that the city employee professional help in planning for improvements in the downtown area, to survey building codes, garbage and littering ordinances, review and collect delinquent taxes.

Council members suggested that work be progressing already in the areas, that ordinances were available to

Old School Is Site Of New Activities

Major repairs for the old Wallace school building, abandoned a number of years ago when a new school was built, are well underway, according to the Community Action Program office here.

Project began July 2 with Mrs. Hetty Wallace Branch and members of the Wallace family financing all the work under guidance of CAP directors, coordinator Mrs. Robert Shamburger, and Mrs. Earnest Biggers, CAP aide.

Expected to be completed "Sometime in August," the building will be used as a recreational center for people of the neighborhood on and surrounding Wallace St., under sponsorship of Community Action Program leaders.

First on the program was a clean up both inside and outside the old building.

Teen-Age Club members, now 53 members strong, served as volunteer workers in the clean up labor which preceded the actual repairs.

According to Mrs. Biggers, the new roof for the building, originally named for the late D. W. ("80") John Wallace well known cattleman, is almost finished. The property and grounds are now owned by Mrs. Branch, daughter of D. W. Wallace.

Work on replacing windows is in progress. Floors are still in fairly good condition, Mrs. Biggers said.

New cabinets are being added, ceiling is being repaired, interior and exterior walls mended. Then, both outside and inside the building will be re-painted.

Teen-Age Club members have offered to help with the interior painting job. Their adult leaders, under CAP, are Mrs. Clarence Taylor, Mrs. Ola Mae Johnson, Mrs. Thelma Lee, and Mrs. Biggers.

Catholic Youth Fellowship recently joined the Teen-Age Club sponsored by CAP to meet twice each month.

Two electric ranges have been donated for the Wallace recreational center. One was the gift of Texas Electric Service Co., the other was gift from Mrs. Nathan Rogers.

Gift of a piano from any family or organization is another "hoped-for" addition to facilities.

One of the most important additions in progress is the addition of two rest rooms, a sink for the kitchen, and a hot water heater.

By September, said Mrs. Shamburger, CAP coordinator, a variety of programs are planned for the renovated and remodeled building.

Playground equipment is to be repaired and re-painted to give smaller children in the old Wallace School neighborhood a safe place to play.

Priority is being given to a future child care center for young children of working mothers, said Mrs. Biggers.

Elect Seven Teachers Math Post Still Open

Seven new teachers were elected by Colorado Independent School Board here in their regular July meeting, Monday night.

Election of the seven teachers leaves only one vacancy on the teaching staffs, said Lloyd McKee, assistant superintendent, Tuesday. Still needed is a seventh grade math teacher, McKee said.

New teachers for the 1969-70 term, named Monday night include Don Schollenbarger, West Texas State University graduate, who will teach business administration classes at Colorado High School.

Mrs. Glenn Roenfeldt was elected to teach music at Primary School. She is a music graduate of West Baptist College in Plainview.

Mrs. Charles Holman, recent graduate of Angelo State College, and Mrs. Jane Horton who has been teaching at North Elementary School in Lamesa, were elected as elementary teachers.

Miss Judy McDaniels, Hardin-Simmons University graduate currently working toward her master's degree, will teach high school English classes.

Mrs. Ben Sparks, educated at North Texas University, will teach classes for trainable mentally retarded children. Those classes will be on a half-day schedule.

New teacher of high school are classes will be Mrs. Sharon Hanson, wife of a pilot instructor at Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring. She holds her degree from San Jose State College in California.

Resignations accepted by the board at their Monday session were those of Mrs. David Bridgford, business administration and computer program teacher; Mrs. Cullen Davis; and Mrs. Herman Parson.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons are moving to Snyder where both have accepted positions in the Snyder Public School systems. Mr. Parsons has recently resigned as superintendent of Westbrook Rural High School.

His father, employed by Col-Tex Refinery and Cosden for 24 years, moved his family to Big Spring in 1963. Lt. Taylor was born in Colorado City and attended school here through the tenth grade.

Col. C. B. Ester, base commander at Webb Air Force Base, presented the medals which included the Distinguished Flying Cross with Oak Leaf Cluster, Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Air Medal, Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Vietnamese Service Medal and Service Ribbon.

CONVERSATION CORNER

IT HAS been said—and often—that what people talk about is an indication of intelligence or lack of same.

Don't know just how the best quotation on this subject goes. But what it amounts to is this—lowbrows talk about other people, middlebrows talk events, and highbrows talk ideas or ideals.

Have a feeling that the vast majority of us are a mixture of all three categories.

You can't talk about events, for instance, without talking about people. How could you discuss Apollo and the moon landing without discussing the three astronauts and their families?

And all ideas and ideals are products of heritage from any number of people, their being, their thinking, their writings.

IDEAS and ideals a part of you are usually echoes. They echo writers of the Old Testament, perhaps, the Psalmist David.

Christian ideals echo the teachings of Jesus as written by Matthew, Mark, Luke, and the beloved apostle John, the letters from Paul.

After those, come the bits of philosophy, wit and theories, beliefs and non-beliefs from all the thinkers and philosophers you ever read or studied or heard about.

Original you may be. Free from influences of your learning you are not.

NOT ONLY your talk but your thinking is an indication of your level of intelligence, plus those influences.

What do you like to think about most often? Yourself? Other people and their behavior or misbehavior? What's happening in local, state, national and world affairs?

Or do you take time out, sometime, to think about ideas and ideals, beliefs which are a part of you?

Since the age of six, when the unassailable fact of physical death first struck me—through death of my Sunday School teacher's little boy—my own most favorite belief has been the reality of Heaven.

HEAVEN IS. It does not matter where it is. It is where God is.

This space age has served to strengthen that belief. Couldn't explain why to anybody but it happens, in this case, to be true.

Heaven gradually becomes a dearer place as time goes on.

Heaven is a dearer place now because Mary Biggerstaff Lee, wife of Ralph and mother of Iva Helen and Rodney, is there.

Mary was a beautiful person. She was a people-lover. And when I think of Mary I think first how Heaven is a dearer place—because Mary is there.

Bobby Lemons, county agent, was an office drop-in. So were Don Benson, George Womack, and Emmabeth (Mrs. Charlie) Thompson. . . and Dick Thomas, son of Glenn and Lillian of East 9th St.

The family planned to visit Six Flags and a number of other spots before joining in an Assembly for their church in Kansas City, Mo.

DID YOU KNOW that the Willie Landaus, who spent the weekend in Dallas, plan a vacation trip to the State of Colorado next week?

That Lora Lady, daughter Anita, Mrs. George Gray and daughters, are visiting in Houston? Lora and Anita are visiting daughter Josephine and her family. The Grays are guests of daughter Lynn and her husband.

MAIL CALL brought a note from Baby Dale Shropshire, wife of Willis, of McAllen.

Baby Dale was saying how much she and her mother Mrs. Dale Warren enjoy the days their Colorado City Record gets to McAllen.

Very pleasant letter from Gladys Shumate, employee in Root Memorial Hospital diet kitchen, got misplaced. Just found it again!

Her letter is full of happy memories of the good old days, subject of a recent column.

"It was all as good as we remember it," she writes. "Am saying with love that I don't agree on all progress. . . If there's any scripture in the Bible that says that we are to tamper with the moon—in any way, I haven't found it. If anyone does find it, please write to our paper and I'll read it, too, and get off my soap box."

Gladys ends her note with "I like your Corner. Hope you keep putting lots in it. Lots of people read it."

The Corner thanks the writer with all her heart.

Old Receipt Shows Up Early Paper

Back in 1897, June 3, a Mr. John Lewis paid for a subscription to the "Colorado Spokesman."

At the time he received a receipt signed by C. W. Simpson whose name appears at the top of receipt as "Ed. & Prop" of "Colorado Spokesman."

Also at the top of the receipt in bold type is "Fine Printing a Specialty." In smaller red type at each side are lines saying "Large and well equipped newspaper and job office," and "New type, new faces, good presses, best of work assured."

A few days ago and 72 years later, Bob Ratliff, Colorado City insurance man, came across the old receipt in some old files of his attorney father, the late Harry Ratliff.

In fading ink the formal receipt reads "This certifies that John Lewis has paid $5.00 on subscription which is full amount for all time to date."

Raking In The Bargains With Value. . .

Sure, rake in all the savings you can get. Read the advertisements and make your dollars last longer, buy more.

This is the day of free coupons, saving stamps, extra bargains and discount prices.

These are all important, at least, in relationship to your job or home or family. Even to your future.

There is more, though. Something that is lasting . . . that keeps on going even when coupons and price tags become yellowed and out of date.

This is the thing called religion -- that one special relationship a person has just himself with God.

It outlasts everything, through good times and bad, through happy times and sad. It is that lasting ingredient for true strength and peace.

See if you can't latch on to it for the sake of your and your family. You can find it in church, if you seek.

Virginia Shropshire Marries Terry W. Wilkins in McAllen

A wedding of interest to many Colorado City residents is that of Miss Virginia Dale Shropshire of McAllen and Terry Wayne Wilkins of Houston.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Terrell Shropshire of McAllen. She is a granddaughter of Mrs. Dale Warren of McAllen, a former resident here, and the late Mr. Warren. Her paternal grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Shropshire of Colorado City.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Wilkins of Houston.

Rev. Grady L. Peters and Rev. Charles L. Giesler read wedding vows June 27 in McAllen's First United Methodist Church.

Don Wilkins and Miss Ruth Wilkins, the bridegroom's brother and sister, were vocalists. Phelan Dorn was organist.

The bride wore a formal gown of pale candelight peau de soie and French lace beaded with pearls and crystal beads. Lace appliques highlighted the A-line formal-length skirt. Her detachable train was enhanced by elaborate lace applique over cutout designs and flared at the hemline.

A wide border of Chantilly lace appliques trimmed her veil of illusion which extended into a chapel-length train.

She carried a traditional cascade fashioned of white butterfly roses and miniature English ivy with a white Bible.

She wore a gold bracelet which was worn by her maternal grandmother, her mother and her sister in their weddings and an heirloom locket that was a wedding gift from an ancestor of the bridegroom's given to his bride. The locket was made from gold the ancestor had mined during the Gold Rush in 1849 and had been worn by brides in the family since that time.

Mrs. Calvin Glover, the bride's sister was matron of honor.

Bridemaids were Miss Paula Churchwell, Miss Carol Young, Miss Lynn Etta Gilmore and Mrs. Marvin Smith.

The bride's niece, Miss Jennifer Shropshire, was flower girl.

Don Wilkins of Buess served as his brother's best man. Paul Drommond, Tom Donaldson of Garland, Bruce Wilkins of Houston and Warren T. Shropshire were groomsmen.

Calvin Glover of Portland and Warren Shropshire ushered guests.

Thursday Duplicate
