WIN NORWOOD TOURNAMENT

Inch Rain Soaks County With Little Crop Damage

Slow, drizzling rain that fell intermittently from Wednesday morning until Saturday evening, soaked Collingsworth County farm and ranch land more thoroughly than at any time in several months giving a total of one inch of rain during the period.

While all cotton and feed harvesting was halted, and it is conceded by most that at least some damage was done, several local ginners as well as farmers have expressed the belief that this was small.

While wheat and pasture lands were not suffering, this moisture will be of great benefit, owners declare. A number of stockowners commented on how happy they were that the moisture did not turn to snow and sleet and that there was no severe cold spell at this time. Conditions so far this winter have been favorable for stock raisers.

There remains a considerable amount of cotton in the fields at present. A few bales reached Wellington Tuesday, but none was ginned, and local gins will not resume operation until the latter part of the week.

The rain was general throughout this section of the Panhandle and conditions over the entire area are similar to those here.

Rockets Win Norwood Tourney

Upsetting some of the strongest teams in the eastern Panhandle, the Wellington Skyrocket basketeers won the Samnorwood invitation tournament held Friday and Saturday, January 19 and 20. They took this championship, however, only after they had defeated the Samnorwood Eagles 30 to 26, playing an overtime period to decide the outcome.

The Quail Bobwhites won the girls division, after defeating the Wellington girls by 12 points late in the final game.

Shamrock won third place in both boys and girls divisions.

Boys named on the all-tournament team included Russell and Burns of Wellington, Massey and Daffron of Samnorwood and Stone of Hedley. The girls all-tournament team included Talbot of Wellington, Coffee, Blevins and Merley of Quail, Jolley and Crossland of Samnorwood. Team winners were given trophies and members of the all-tournament teams received individual awards.

The winning Rockets upset the Samnorwood B team, then the Hedley boys 29 to 10 to go into the finals. The Eagles won the right to play in the finals by outscrapping Alanreed and later the Memphis Cyclone to win over the Memphis Cyclone by one point.

In the finals, the Rockets had trouble corraling Norwood's Massey, who has been hitting the net for that team four years and is one of the best ever put out by the Norwood school. Using an unorthodox overhead one-hand shot, he was uncanny at hitting the basket.

The job of stopping him fell to I. D. Russell, outstanding floor worker for the Rockets, and the best defensive man on the team. In a game in which the lead changed hands a dozen times and was tied at the end of the final period, the Rockets eventually overcame the powerful Norwood boys 30 to 26 in the overtime period.

The Quail and Wellington girls met in the finals in that division, after Wellington defeated Shamrock, a team that has beaten them three times this year, by the margin of one point.

Wellington led for the first three quarters, only to be outmatched 12 points late in the game.

Approximately a dozen of the outstanding teams of the eastern Panhandle were entered in the tournament, and the ball playing was regarded as unusually good. Bad weather, however, cut attendance to only a fraction of what it otherwise would have been.

R. L. Porter Has Citation

A citation from Lieut. General George S. Patton, Jr., was given recently to the unit in which S-Sgt. R. L. Porter of Wellington is serving in France. Addressed to Brig. Gen. Otto P. Weyland, it read:

"The superior efficiency and cooperation afforded to this army by the forces under your command is the best example of the combined use of air and ground troops I have ever witnessed."

As this citation was passed on to the various groups, additional commendations were added by Lieut. General O. N. Bradley, Major General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Brig. Gen. Weyland, Col. Jonas B. Tipton, Major Robert J. Bell and Capt. Gordon L. Taylor.

"Although the duties performed by you during the last four months may not have been the most spectacular, none have been more basic and fundamental to the recent successes attained by our armed forces.

"In the war of mobility, every advance has called for increased effort on the part of every man in

Wellington Rotary Club Gives Program At Mangum Tuesday

The Wellington Rotary Club sponsored a program at Mangum club Tuesday, January 16.

Of purely entertainment nature, the program included a magic act by S. R. Pinkston and a vocal solo, "Don't Fence Me In," by Mrs. Irma Garner. Mrs. John Harper was accompanist. Enis Schaded introduced the guest artists.

This followed the visit of several Mangum Rotarians to the Wellington club the preceding week.

Former Teacher Dies In Action

Pfc. Elver Brown, a former principal of the Quail school, was reported killed in action in Belgium on December 27. The message from the war department was received by Mrs. Brown, who now lives in Hereford, on January 14.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brown taught in the Quail school about three years ago, before he entered the service. She has been making her home at Hereford since he went overseas last fall.

A daughter, Bessie Jo, was born to Mrs. Brown six weeks ago.

Pfc. Brown grew up at Follett, attending school there and then graduating from West Texas State College, Canyon.

In addition to his wife and daughter, Pfc. Brown is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Brown of Follett; three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Elby Crites of Higgins, Mrs. Wilma Nosler of Wichita, Kans., Mrs. Maybelle Nosler of Laverne, Okla., Orville Brown of Woodward, Okla., and Noble Brown of Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Fire Damages Phillips Office

Fire which started from an oil stove ruined furniture and damaged the interior of the office of the Phillips Petroleum Co. in Wellington Tuesday morning, January 23.

Dick Rapp is the local consignee.

Mrs. Joe Claunch, an employee, was alone when the fire started and called workers at the Wellington Ice Company to help put out the blaze. The local fire department confined the fire to the office, which is located in one corner of the Phillips warehouse, and no damage was done to oils or other products in that part of the building.

Records kept in the company safe and in the file were not burned.

For the present, the Phillips office has been moved to the front of the building occupied by the Culp Plumbing shop, next door to Western Union. It will be open for the usual hours, Mr. Rapp said.

17 Grandsons Dodson Woman In Armed Forces

Seventeen grandsons and grandsons-in-law of Mrs. M. A. Branum of Dodson are now serving in the various branches of the armed forces, a record of which she and her family are proud.

Eleven of these young men are grandsons. Six are the husbands of her granddaughters.

A pioneer of this county, she has lived in this section for approximately 50 years. And most of her grandsons who are now in service were born and reared in this county.

February 1 Is Tax Deadline

Property owners of the county were reminded this week that property taxes must be paid before February 1 in order to avoid penalty and interest.

This includes city, county and state taxes.

J. W. Holder, county tax assessor and collector, also pointed out that poll taxes must be paid before that date in order to give the holder voting privileges, but whether or not they are paid before February 1, they will have to be paid in order for the property tax to be paid.

Persons 60 years old or older will not need an exemption certificate, but voters who have moved into the county since January 1 will need one. Those persons who become 21 years after January 1 are required to have an exemption certificate before they can vote in any election in 1945.

Car license tags will not go on sale until February and they must be bought before April 1.

City taxes are to be paid at the City Hall, to Mrs. Jennie Holcomb, city secretary.

Lindsey Wins In Bantam Show

Nine of ten chickens entered by V. H. Lindsey in the Fort Worth All-Bantam Show won ribbons in the show, he was notified early this week. In addition, three of the chickens were rated as the best in their classes.

In the White Cornish class he placed first and second on hens, with the first place winner classed as the best White Cornish in the show.

Winners in the White Crested Black Polish class included: hens, first, second and third, with the first place hen rated as best in the class; cockerel, first, and also rated as best among the cockerels and cocks; pullets, first, second and third.

Red Cross Kit Bag Material Due Here Still Delayed

Material for the Red Cross kit bags, due here several weeks ago, has not yet arrived, Mrs. Chester Fires, chairman, said Wednesday morning.

Many county women have offered to help make these in recent days, and as soon as the material arrives, an announcement will be made, she stated.

Red Cross War Fund Quota Is Raised $800

Collingsworth County's quota for the Red Cross War Fund drive in March has been raised from $5,400 to $6,200, R. D. Wiley, chairman of the county chapter was notified late last week.

This revision was necessary because of the rapid military expansion in the Pacific Theatre of Operations, as well as unanticipated demands on the European fronts, Mr. Wiley was told by H. F. Keisker, manager of the midwestern area office of the American Red Cross.

"This is an increase of $800 that we will be called on to raise in March," Dewey Ellis, war fund chairman, expained. "The $6,200 quota is the largest we have been called on to raise, but the Red Cross is doing its part and we can and will do ours."

The original quota was sent out December 29. The revised quota was announced January 17, after the Red Cross had found it necessary to increase by $20,000,000 the amount needed to carry on its work.

Couch, Kromer To REA Meet

Orval Couch, superintendent, and J. F. Kromer, director, represented the Greenbelt Rural Electric Cooperative at the annual National Rural Electric Cooperative meeting in San Antonio Tuesday and Wednesday, January 16 and 17.

Representatives of the REA units were told of the post-war plans for area coverage, as proposed in the Lucas bill, due to come up before the national congress this session.

"The passage of this bill means that every farm in this county and in the adjoining counties could have electricity if they want it, no matter how far they are from the present existing lines," Mr. Couch explained.

This was the last REA convention to be held until the war ends, Mr. Couch said.

Mrs. Couch and Mrs. Kromer accompanied their husbands to San Antonio.

Joe Herring Is Wounded

Pfc. Joe Herring, serving with the Army in Germany, was wounded December 23, he told his wife in a letter she received recently. He wrote that he was wounded in the left arm and side.

Mrs. Herring, who was formerly Miss Thellie Lee Sweat, and their two children returned to Wellington to make their home for the duration.

Pfc. Herring has been in the Army about a year and overseas since August 19. Before entering service, he and his family made their home in Wichita Falls.

Sgt. Leroy Oswalt, 23, who is serving with the Air Force in Italy, recently was authorized to wear the Distinguished Unit Badge. A sheet metal worker, he is shown here repairing a damaged heavy bomber. His wife, the former Loudene Ward, and their small son, Larry, are living here while he is overseas.

Lieut. Winter Safe, Family Is Notified

Lieut. (jg) Marion Ernest Winter, reported last week as missing in action in the Philippine area, has been reported as safe, the War Department informed his wife, who is living in Childress.

The telegram arrived Thursday morning, January 18. It said merely that he "had survived," and added that a message would follow about his health and welfare.

Lieut. Winter was serving as pilot of a Hellcat Navy plane.

No date was given in the telegram received by his wife a week previously as to when he was first reported missing, although she has received letters from him dated this month.

Lieut. Winter made Wellington his home before entering service. He is a nephew of Mrs. Darrel Nored, Mrs. J. I. Thomas and Mrs. Bob Bowen.

Ordination Service Scheduled For City Baptist Church Sun.

Ordination services for Rev. Tommy Austin are scheduled at the First Baptist Church in Wellington Sunday afternoon, January 28, at 3:00 p. m.

Rev. H. H. Kinkeade, pastor, will officiate at the service.

Visiting pastors will include Rev. Clifton Tennison of Shamrock, Rev. Nipp of Fresno and Rev. Guy Killian of Quail.

Rev. Austin recently was called as pastor of the South Baptist Church at Dodson and the Midway Baptist Church.

Teachers Hear Proposed Law

Four county school administrators heard detailed discussion of the Emergency Rural Aid Bill designed to increase the money available for school operation Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 11, 12 and 13, at the annual mid-winter conference of Texas school executives and teacher trainers in Austin.

While the theme of the program dealt with health, safety and conservation of natural resources, teachers of the state were keenly interested in that portion devoted to the proposed legislation.

B. W. Beaird, county superintendent, outlined the major phases of the bill as follows: It proposed to increase the salaries $75 per teacher for the last four months of the present school year.

The transportation allotment would be increased $1.00 per pupil per month.

An increase of $60 per teacher to be used by the school for incidental expenses.

Word Comes Of Capt. Coleman

Mrs. John Coleman of Wellington received two cards late last week from her husband, Capt. John Coleman, who is a prisoner of war in Japan. One of the cards was written in August 1944 and the other in September 1944.

Captain Coleman said that his health was good and that in June 1944 he received a Red Cross package mailed to him in September 1943.

A letter Mrs. Coleman received last summer told her that her husband was wounded twice on the day his unit surrendered, above the ankle and in one index finger, but he added that he would not be left crippled.

Both cards received last week were typewritten and were sent from Zentsuzi Prison in Japan.

Jim Hodge Home Burns Jan. 16

The house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hodge and children on the R. E. Farmer place at Quail was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning, January 16, when an oil stove in the house exploded.

Only one child was in the house when the explosion occurred, although Mrs. Hodge was a short distance away. Mr. Hodge and their other child were working in a nearby field.

None of the contents of the house were saved, and between $35 and $40 in cash was also lost, neighbors reported. No insurance was carried on either the house or the furnishings.

The Hodge family, which has lived at Quail since 1919, has moved to a house on the Ed Cherry farm.

Veteran Of 26 Months Pacific Fighting Home

A veteran of 26 months overseas and some of the fiercest fighting in the Southwest Pacific, Pfc. Garland Johnson of the Marine Corps has been returned to the United States and is at present on leave visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Johnson.

Johnson first went into combat at Tarawa on November 20, 1943, hitting the island with the second wave of Marines to go ashore. It was for action here that his division received the Presidential citation.

"Saipan and Tinian were different wars from Tarawa," he recalled, for he took part in the invasion of those islands, too. "In Tarawa it was man to man fighting. At Saipan there was more machinery and more ammunition. You just can't compare the two battles," he commented.

Until he reached Saipan, Pfc. Johnson had fought alongside his brother, Cpl. Kennie Johnson, but on that island the two separated. Kennie went to Guam, Garland to Tinian. There were other Wellington boys to see during those months overseas—1st Sgt. Johnnie Brown and S-Sgt. Moony Stall. Stall reached the states several months ago, but Johnson last saw Brown about December 1.

"He was doing o. k. then," Johnson said.

On the way home, the young Marine spent Christmas at Pearl Harbor.

"It was the best Christmas I've had in quite a while, but it was awfully crowded, too much to be at all like home," he explained.

Pfc. Johnson grew up in Wellington and entered service from here. Since then, his parents have moved to Shamrock, where he is now visiting them. When his leave ends February 14, he will report to Bremerton, Wash., for further assignment.

Renew Drive To Raise Quota For War Chest

A drive to raise the $675 that this county lacked in raising its $4,500 United War Chest quota will begin Thursday, January 25, under the direction of Cameron Beam and B. W. Beaird.

In order that Texas counties may be 100 per cent in meeting their quota, soldiers of Camp Hood, who far exceeded their own quota, have offered to match any county 50-50 the money credited to any county that will go ahead and try to raise its quota.

"We are one of six counties in the entire state of Texas, and the only one in West Texas, that has failed to raise its quota for the United War Chest Fund. We do not want to be in that group," the two chairmen said.

"We know that the war situation is serious. We know that our young men will spend many months in service yet, and it is up to us to provide what pleasures and conveniences they may have during their stay in the armed forces.

"The boys at Camp Hood are willing to make up what we lack. This is a challenge to us to do our part. Those boys are most generous, but since the amount we lack is only $677, why not raise the entire amount ourselves?"

Chairmen and workers were urged to go to work and contact all those who offered to give an additional sum if it were needed, those who asked workers to call again, and those who for some reason were not seen.

All those who are not contacted within the first few days of the drive are urged to look up their community chairman or worker or bring their donation to Mr. Beam or Mr. Beaird.

"Let's don't let the boys in service say to us when they come home that we were one of the six counties in Texas that did not raise their quota for the United War Fund!" the two men in charge said.

MEMBER TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Editorial

Recently the National Geographic Magazine sent to Texas its assistant editor, Frederick Simpich, to look around and see what he could find worth writing about. The result is found in the current (February) issue of the National Geographic which carries an article of 8,000 words, plus a variety of pictures, giving the world some idea of the diversity and productivity, as well as the bigness, of the Lone Star State.

But an interesting and significant thing about Mr. Simpich's article is the title thereof, The Yield of Texas. There are not many parts of the six continents or of the seven seas that the veteran National Geographic writer has not visited and appraised in his time. He has learned to put his finger upon the really outstanding thing about a region. So it is interesting and significant that, after he looked at Texas during his recent visit, Mr. Simpich picked the word, "yield," for the important role in the headline of his article.

We Texans are conscious of this great yield of our state but possibly we are not as integratedly conscious nor as definitely understanding of its implications for our future. Sometimes the outsider gets the better perspective in such matters. We have a great way of rolling Texas' "firsts" across our tongues. Texas is first in oil, first in natural gas, first in sulphur, first in cotton, first in wool, first in mohair, first in heli um and on and on. It makes an imposing list. But too few of us Texans have added up our firsts to get the estimate that must have impressed Mr. Simpich when he picked The Yield of Texas as the title of his article.

If you really wish to get an idea of the yield of Texas, take a map of the world and then clip out a piece of paper the size and shape of Texas. Your game is to superimpose that piece of paper upon any part of the world that produces as great a volume of as diversified and as vitally important raw materials as does Texas—oil, gas, cotton, wheat, sulphur, timber products, wool, mohair and on through the list of something like 150 plant, animal and mineral products. You will not find such a region anywhere from Timbuktu all the way around the globe in any direction to Timbuktu again. To suddenly cut off the "yield of Texas" from the modern world in wartime or in peacetime would rock the world economy upon its foundation.

The tip that we should take from Mr. Simpich's article is the responsibility to ourselves and to others for this great heritage of wealth. It has become an increasing responsibility as one resource after another has been discovered in what some pioneer scientists thought to be a pleasant land adapted only to the pastoral pursuits. We have a special responsibility to the world during the strain of wartime. It will be more to ourselves and to our posterity when the war ends and we are faced with the problem of shaping our now-transitory Texas to the future. As we count our firsts, let us keep the implications in mind—The Yield of Texas—a meaningful title, Mr. Simpich.—The Dallas Morning News.

• Two out of Three

Texas has lost one of its great heroes of this war. Maj. Thomas B. McGuire, 24-year-old leading Southwest Pacific ace, went down in combat, just as he had sent at least 38 enemy pilots down during his spectacular flying career.

His name is written large in the glorious record of America's defense, and his memory will be bright, so long as valor is honored by a grateful state and nation.

In bitter contrast with the achievement of this 24-year-old major in his 23 months of combat was the record unfolded at Austin this week by Gen. J. Watt Page, Selective Service director for Texas, that out of every three Texans called up for military service, two are rejected at the induction center as not meeting minimum requirements of the armed services.

In the great record of the few is written the unpleasant corrollary that Texas and the nation are not taking adequate steps for the physical and mental equipment of most of its men to make them effective in its defense.—The Wichita Falls Record News.

• Post War Aiming

A suggestion to Chambers of Commerce is not to have their sights set too high when it comes to the matter of other industries locating in the community after the war. Our guess is that the industry situation is going to continue in the post war world just about the same as it has been in the past. The towns that appear to offer advantages to certain types of industry will get them and the towns that offer no advantages will be passed up by industries seeking a new location. The first and best thing a community can do in the matter of industry is to go all out for the industries that it already has. Treat them so well that others seeing their treatment will want to come and share it. Show by example and good treatment that the town is a good place for an industry to locate.—T. B. One of the most interesting lawsuits in the history of Eastland County wasn't tried in the courthouse at Eastland but in justice court in Cisco back in the '20's. A one-eyed mule and a 1912 model Brush automobile collided on the main street. (Can you remember the Brush? It had a door at the back and it cranked on the side, like a phonograph, and you steered it with a stick instead of a wheel).

The case drew such a big crowd that the 'squire moved from his little courtroom over to the city hall auditorium. The trial took all day and then everybody went home for supper and came back that night for the argument.

W. J. Barnes (now a prominent Houston attorney) represented the defendent and he brought out that the value of the mule was only $50, yet the owner was claiming $150 damages to the animal! In fact, Barnes made such a convincing speech that the jury decided that the auto didn't hit the mule at all but that the mule jumped in front of the auto—and so the owner of the Brush was awarded damages!

Their recruit training consists of instruction in seamanship, military drill and general Naval procedure. During this period a series of aptitude tests will be taken by the recruits to determine whether they will be assigned to a Naval Service School, to a shore station or to immediate duty at sea.

When their recruit training is completed, these men will receive a period of leave. They are:

Billy M. Sims, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sims, Route 5.

John T. Winters, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Winters, Route 6.

Teddy W. Brock, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Brock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Poteet were very happy last week when they received a cable from their son, T-5 Kenyard C. Poteet, who is serving with the Army in Belgium. In the cable he simply told them that he was safe. In a letter written on the 14th of December, he told them of a hair-raising experience. Poteet, who drives an ammunition truck, told of having to get out of one sector in a hurry with some loose ammunition in the back of the truck; and how relieved he was when the explosives didn't "go off" with the jolting they received from fast driving over rugged roads.

Another message from the First Army in Belgium came from Cpl. Cecil Wayne Cummings. In a letter written on the 29th of December he told of the wonderful pleasure he and some of his buddies had gotten from being able to sleep inside, dry and warm, for the first time in quite a while.

There was quite a reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Taylor of Quail earlier this month. Both of their sons in the service were able to come home at the same time. Pfc. Buel Taylor came from Camp Gordon Johnson in Florida where he is with a Harbor Craft unit engaged in loading and unloading ships. He also visited with his wife and baby. The other son, T-Sgt. C. C. Taylor, Jr., returned to his station with the Air Corps at Greensboro, N. C., after spending four days with his parents. This was the first time in four years that the brothers had seen each other.

Pvt. Thomas James Blackshear was here last week visiting his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John McGill. He has been in the Ashburn General Hospital at McKinney for the past two months but has now been reassigned to active duty at Sheppard Field. Blackshear has been in service for seven months.

Pvt. Keith Smith, who entered the Army in California recently, has been sent to Fort Sill, Okla., for 17 weeks high altitude artillery training. His wife, the former Miss Clara Frances Dunson, and their two small children, are making their home here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Dunson.

Estes Jones, registrar for the Army's 6th General Hospital stationed near Rome, was recently promoted from first lieutenant to captain.

Capt. Jones, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Jones of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, formerly of Wellington, lived here a number of years and graduated from high school here.

Fred Bourland, SK 1-c, who has been stationed for some time at the Naval training center at San Diego, has just recently been transferred to San Francisco for assignment to the Pacific fleet.

Cpl. Orville Allen of Dodson is home on furlough after being overseas 21 months. He is recovering from a shoulder wound received in France. When his leave expires he will report to Brooke General Hospital at Fort Sam Houston.

T-5 Tol Kilgore, son of one of Wellington's best known colored families, returned Monday to his station after spending a two weeks leave here with his parents. Kilgore is stationed at Ft. Hauchuea, Arizona.

A forsythia in bloom in a sunny spot. . . Gene Lewis seemed to be in several places at once this week. The true explanation being that his twin brother Ralph is in town. So you weren't seeing double after all. . . Mrs. N. E. Masten is being very cheerful about her injured wrist which she has been carrying in a sling the last two weeks. However, she does say that milking with one hand, and a left one at that, is quite a feat.

Anita Savage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Savage, is one of our most ardent Western movie fans. She was overheard recently at the Saturday show explaining that she has an uncle who is a real cowboy. "And they call him Buck Creek Slim," she added. . . Pretty Johnnie Neely wore her sweetest smile recently as she proudly displayed a gold and mother of pearl Navy Sweetheart pin sent her from San Diego. . . Mrs. Shep Crouch knows one shouldn't cry over spilt milk but she couldn't help wailing when she dropped a dozen eggs on the sidewalk in front of her home.

By far the most popular pastime at the Youth Center is ping-pong. Everyone seems to want to play from the youngsters to the "mama and papa hosts." Walter Johnson played himself into a lather Saturday night, stopping only long enough to fortify himself for another game. Daddy Frank had a mighty wishful look in his eye, not for the food but for a chance to play. Incidentally, if you have any ping-pong balls the Youth Center needs them. . . Wave Lt. Mabel Jones was in town with her family Monday commissioned to do the grocery buying. She insists she had a terrible time because she is used to buying in case lots for the Navy.

Mrs. J. T. Baldwin is very busy these days getting all settled in her new home in town. Monday she was carrying a bundle of sandpaper since she is doing some painting. The Baldwins didn't leave all their country joys behind since the cows and chickens moved to town, too. . . Mrs. Joe Baumgardner was proudly introducing her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Haynes Baumgardner to friends in Wellington this week . . . Another mother who was wearing her heart in her eyes was Mrs. W. L. Elmore Dodson is the envy of many ladies about town. They'd like a silk scarf just like the one he wears so jauntily. . . Mrs. Harley Kern hardly looks mature enough to be the mother of four as she hops nimbly out of her car in her trim slacks. . . Madeline Eikenberg likes to emulate everything that brother John does so, on their recent trip to Dallas, she and John made a trip to the barber shop. John asked for a GI haircut and when it came sister's turn she informed the barber she wanted a boy bob. Mrs. Eikenberg wasn't so proud of the effect but it just suits Madeline. She should have been born twenty years ago when boyish bobs were quite the thing.

Capt. Faris Hess is serving on the western European front with the 7th Army, his father, Jake Hess, said while in Wellington Tuesday afternoon. No word has come through of the young officer since the German break-through just before Christmas.

Capt. Hess graduated from Texas A&M College two years ago and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army. He served at Fort Riley, Kansas, Fort Bliss, and on maneuvers in Louisiana for two summers before going overseas. He first served with Patton's 3rd Army, but about three months ago he was shifted to the 7th Army.

Capt. Hess grew up on the Sitter's Ranch in the northwest part of the county, living there until he entered A&M.

His parents now live in McLean.

Entrance into the army didn't change Pvt. Virril Robertson's occupation at all, only his location. Pvt. Robertson, home on furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Robertson, is stationed with the Quartermaster Corps in Alaska and works in the tailor shop there.

Pvt. Leonard Tennison, who is serving with the Army in Italy, is in a hospital there suffering with fever and pneumonia. Tennison, who is an infantryman, has been overseas 26 months. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Tennison.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Beck of Wellington received word recently that their son, Cpl. R. D. Beck, was to be returned to a hospital somewhere in the Southwest Pacific. He was wounded in August, and has been in and out of hospitals several times since. At the time he last wrote, January 4, he was in New Guinea. He has been overseas 14 months, and wrote his parents that he had set his score at 15 Japs. Recently he commented that he lacked three of reaching his goal. He is with a tank destroyer unit.

Sgt. Robert L. Watson, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Beck, is also in the Southwest Pacific, serving as a hospital technician on Saipan. He has been overseas 15 months. His wife is making her home here for the duration. Before he went into service, Sgt. and Mrs. Watson lived in San Antonio.

Curtis Cement, Sp A 1-c of San Diego, was here last week end visiting with his father, Guy Clement and other relatives and friends. Clement, who has been in service over a year, is a physical instructor in the Navy.

IT'S NO CIRCUS!

They may look like two daring young men on the flying trapeze. But they're really electric linemen, working fifty feet in the air, with no net underneath.

It's tough enough up there on a sunny summer day. It's much worse on a wet black night—or when everything's slippery with sleet. But the job must be done. It's part of giving you good electric service.

Fortunately, there are men who have the courage and skill to do it. Just as there are other men who control complicated switch-boards in lightning storms, or keep a careful watch on giant turbines, or crawl in hot boilers to make repairs.

These folks know what to do because they've been doing it a long time. Men and women grow up in the electric light and power business. It takes years to become a power-plant engineer. Lineman—load dispatcher—service man—almost every job is specialized and technical.

The value of this experience—and of sound business management—has been dramatically proved by war. In spite of shortages of many essentials, there is no shortage of electricity—and it is still sold at pre-war prices!

Center Popular With Teen-Age Group As Entertainment Gets Underway Over Week-End

Friday and Saturday nights were eventful for the youth of the county as the Collingsworth Youth Center opened each evening for four hours of supervised recreation. The entire club room, busy with activity, proved its usefulness on this initial week end.

On Friday around 100 boys and girls attended while more than 50 were present on Saturday evening. Hostesses were reluctant to say whether the ping-pong tables or the snack-bar attracted the most attention from the youthful guests. Sandwiches, candies and bottled drinks were served at the snack-bar and in the dining room.

A special treat on Saturday evening was the courtesy appearance of the McMurry College Chanters who earlier in the evening gave a concert at the Methodist Church. The chanters sang The Blue Danube and The Rosary and two special numbers were sung by a quartet from the group.

Golden Wedding Observed Sunday By Mr. And Mrs. J. A. Leach At Open House

With 44 of their 50 married years spent in Collingsworth County, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Leach celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary at their home in Wellington Sunday afternoon, January 21. More than 200 friends called between the hours of 2 and 7 o'clock p. m.

Miss Inez Leach met the guests and presented them to the receiving line formed by Mr. and Mrs. Leach, Mrs. D. M. Stalnaker of Lubbock, twin sister of Mrs. Leach, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gibbs of Irving, their daughter and son-in-law.

The guests were then registered by Misses Evelyn Ball, Velva Oliver of Amarillo; and Elizabeth Bradley of Fort Worth, each taking their turn during the afternoon.

Others in the houseparty were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Knowles of Irving, Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, Miss Mary Louise Stovall of Irving, Mrs. Sue Leach Pollins of Fort Worth, Mrs. Ralph Ball and Miss Virginia Robey.

The dining table covered with a madeira cloth was centered with a large wedding ring cake decorated in gold roses. Fern and acacia with tiny golden wedding bells formed an arch for the miniature bridal figures dressed in bridal fashions of the nineties. At the base of the arch were the gold figures 1895 and 1945. White tapers in silver holders flanked the arch. Presiding at the silver tea services during the afternoon were Mrs. Hubert Leach of Fort Worth and Miss Katherine Boverie; and Mrs. T. J. Way and Mrs. Frank Johnson; Mrs. Pink Sullivan and Mrs. Walter Campbell.

Carnations and snapdragons were used in decorating the entertaining rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach were married on January 20, 1895 at the home of her parents, near Chico in Wise County. Two years later they moved to Scurry County and 44 years ago they came to Collingsworth County where Mr. Leach has been a stock farmer. They have made their home in Wellington at their present address, 801 El Paso, for the past 35 years.

Mr. Leach was born near Trenton, Tennessee and moved to Texas when he was six years old. He grew up in Wise County where Mrs. Leach was born and reared.

Mr. Leach was a member of the first city council and helped to organize the City State Bank. He was instrumental in organizing schools and churches in Wellington and also served as a trustee for the county schools for several years. Mrs. Leach has been active in church work and an outstanding member of the Women's Missionary Society.

Preceding the open house, dinner was served in the dining room of the Methodist Church to out-of-town guests and relatives. The long tables were decorated in gold and white.

A program included a wedding ceremony; group song, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." Mrs. R. H. Ball, a niece, gave a tribute to the couple. Hostesses at the dinner were Mrs. Ball, Mrs. W. E. Leach, Mrs. A. B. Clark and Mrs. C. F. Gregory of Wichita Falls.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

Sitka, Alaska
24 December, 1944

Dear Syble,

I was very glad to receive your letter yesterday. Mail has been pretty slow coming in here due to the Christmas rush, I suppose. This is my day to have the Sunday watch so I've just written Audrey, now you and will try to get one off home before the day is over. It is raining and is cloudy as is typical of Alaska. However, this is the first rain that we have had for several days. If it is pretty cold we don't get the water but when it warms up down she comes. I hope you and Oleta are having a very nice Christmas. I suppose you are home today and for the remainder of the week. I will be looking forward to the cake.

There are three enlisted men in the office here, so we have Sunday duty every third week, however we have Saturday off when such circumstances arise and that alleviates the situation somewhat. The fellows working here with me are very nice. One reminds me of Adrian Reneau. I am the only storekeeper here and act as a sort of jack of all trades, but I like here much better than Ketchikan. We have very nice lockers, barracks, an excellent gym and the town is nice but rather small. There is a very nice USO that was supposed to have gone to the Philippines had they not been captured so quickly in the early part of the war. Last night I went up town, stood around a little while and spent the remainder of the evening at the USO. There are so few service men here for such a nice building that the supervisor allows civilians to come the same as service men. We set up some chairs last night for a Christmas program they are having tonight.

Last Sunday another fellow and I climbed a mountain which is about two miles from here. It took us a little over two hours to climb from the base to the tip. We could see for miles and Sitka lay far below. The top was covered with snow and we saw deer and other animal tracks recently made. Also found a log cabin about two-thirds of the way up. I asked a lady last night how high the mountain was and she said she thought around 5000 feet. It is covered with very large evergreen trees almost to the very top. We took some pictures and I am sending them to Audrey so you all might take a look. Will also send you some pictures of Sitka before long. It is kindly lonesome here but a pretty good deal after all. I hope Sam is still making it OK. I am going to write him very soon. Tell Skeet, thanks for the nice Xmas card. I didn't send out many this time as everything was kindly upset with moving around so much.

The population here is about 2000, 1200 white and rest Indians, so they say. It is very quiet here all the time. The air is usually very still and you can hear sounds for quite some distance. It is beautiful at times. We are surrounded by mountains. It gets light about 9 and dark again about 4:30 to 5 p. m. When we quit work it is dark and the snow topped mountains show up very plainly unless there is a fog. Audrey sent me the pictures we took while I was home. They are pretty good mostly. I don't suppose you got to see them. There are several civil service workers here in the building. They have a kitchen in the rear. Yesterday we had a tree for the people working nearby and they served ice cream and cookies to everyone present. Tonight another fellow and I are invited out to dinner by a young couple who were recently married. I bought a box of candy to take along so we'll celebrate with sweets. Things are pretty high here but I understand that wages are also. During the summer months you can get work at night with the fishermen. I expect to make some extra money then, and also to get another rate as soon as I get a little better established here.

Well, it's chow time and I'm out of paper so will sign off. Hope this makes sense as I've written it in quite a hurry. Let me hear from you and tell Skeet to write.

Merry Xmas, Walter.

WE ARE DOING OUR BEST!

We are doing the best we can to take care of as many people as possible under the circumstances. Especially are we doing our best to take care of our old customers—those who have been with us through the years.

We also appreciate the business of our new customers and certainly want to take care of as many of you as is humanly possible. We have seen the time in years past when we did not have three customers a day and we can conceive of the time when these conditions could return again. For this reason we are anxious to serve you in a satisfactory manner.

We would like to be able to take care of ALL the repair business for trucks, tractors and cars in this trade territory. But with our limited amount of space and the drastic drain on manpower, there is a limit to the services we can render both in providing you with new machinery and in repairing your old machinery.

But we do want you to know that your business is appreciated as will be your patience and understanding. There will be times when we will be behind more than we care to be; but please do not stop coming to see us. We will get to you as soon as we can and serve you as well as we know how.

Veteran Farm Purchase Plan Is Outlined

Machinery for translating the agricultural phases of the GI Bill of Rights from promises into actual operation will be set up in Collingsworth County and throughout Texas within the next few weeks, according to Truman J. Jones, Farm Security Administration supervisor.

Oris R. Bruner, district supervisor at Perryton, has called a meeting of supervisors at Wheeler, for January 25, where he will outline how the government farm loan guaranty will work.

The law provides that the government through the Veterans Administration will guarantee a maximum of $2000, but in no case more than 50 per cent, of any loan made to a Veteran by a private or other lending source. The Veterans Administration will guarantee the loan upon recommendation of the certifying committee in the respective county that (1) the proceeds of such loan will be used in payment for real or personal property purchased or to be purchased by the veteran, or for repairing, altering, or improving any buildings or equipment, to be used in bona fide farming operations conducted by him; (2) that such property will be useful in and reasonably necessary to such operations; (3) that the ability and experience of the veteran and nature of operation contemplated are such that there is reasonable likelihood of success; and (4) that the purchase price asked for the property does not exceed the reasonable normal value as determined by proper appraisal.

In applying for a loan to buy a farm, the veteran should obtain a Veteran's Administration form No. 1800 which is to be signed by the Veteran and the lender and forwarded to the Veteran's Administration. Veterans wishing to receive a loan for the purchase of a farm under the GI Bill may contact the advisory committee at the county agent's office for advice concerning agricultural information in the area in which he wishes to locate. The certifying committee furnishes facts and recommendations to the Veteran's Administration who approves or rejects the veteran's agricultural loan. The certifying committee is presently composed of three men in each county who also serve as the FSA County Loan Committee. The certifying committee may be contacted in each county at the local office of the Farm Security Administration.

Federal Land Bank appraisers will appraise all farms purchased by veterans under the GI guaranty.

There's War Power In That
BARN of Yours . . .

Keep It Producing MORE Food For Freedom

There's power, death and destruction in a French 75 on the battle front. There is Victory in every Hand Grenade thrown by one of our men . . . But, did you ever consider the war power in every foot of space in your barn? War power is right . . . feed, implements, livestock, poultry, grain . . just think what all this means. Everything you house in your barn is helping to produce more and more food for freedom. The Food for Freedom is THE WAR POWER ON YOUR FARM.

The point we want to put across is this. Keep this barn of yours in good condition. New Roof, New Paint are important. Loose boards should be fastened down at once. If new lumber is needed, consider it a good investment. It will make you money in the long run. YOU NEVER SEE AN AIRPLANE HANGAR RUN DOWN. The government sees to it that all repairs are made. They house the planes that are America. Just like the hangar, your barn houses that which is America. Take care of it.

You can do your part too, by increasing your farm facilities. Repair or build poultry houses and brooder houses. Cow sheds are considered important. Don't overlook anything that might increase food production. Let us help you with these building problems.

LETTERS From The PEOPLE

January 13, 1945
2010 Wichita St.
Austin, Texas

Dear Deck:

I am enclosing $1.00 as my contribution to the Youth Center for Wellington. Gosh knows I need this dollar awfully bad, but I know Wellington needs a youth center so much worse.

It seems like, from reading The Leader, Wellington is beginning to wake up and start doing many of the things it should have done long ago. We have to admit it is a little late to start doing things for our young people — it is late in the sense that we neglected to provide a swimming pool and decent recreation for those boys across the Atlantic and Pacific—the fact that we are now thinking about doing things for the young people is an admission that we didn't give the boys over there the things they richly deserved when they were growing up and developing into the young men we are calling on to fight our battles today.

It makes me hot under the collar to remember how I longed and wished for a swimming pool when I was a kid growing up in Wellington. Pat and I used to walk eight and ten miles out in the country almost every day during the summer—walk eight out and eight back—just to splash around in Salt Fork and get sunburned.

This dollar is all I can afford just now but I want it to go into the pot with all the rest. I know someday my boy will need a youth center and I want to have done what little I could to help give him the advantages that will come with a youth center. Maybe I can do better when you start out to build a swimming pool.

I don't know who all is behind the youth center drive—I only noticed Harley Kern being mentioned—but who ever they are I am proud we have such people in Wellington. They've got the right idea.

Yours sincerely,
R. L. Templeton.

Star Route

January 16, 1945

Dear Sirs:

We are sending a check for the renewal of our Leader. We look forward to its coming each week. Many of our friends have moved but it still seems like home town news.

As you know we have moved again, so our paper will be sent to Star Route, Hereford, Texas.

Yours truly,
E. B. Berryman and family.

Hooks, Texas
January 20, 1945

Mr. Deskins Wells
Wellington, Texas.

Dear Deck:

You can please renew our subscription for the paper. We had really planned on spending this year with the good people of Collingsworth again and we had hoped "from now on," but since our war setback, my company doesn't want to release me, and anyway no housing facilities are to be had there from the information I get so—it's stay here awhile yet.

We have been here with the shell loading plant. I am employed as a welder foreman for 32 months now; our job is purely maintenance of production machinery; construction of new working parts and new machines and since the shop is a well equipped one, the work is interesting to me, but I would like to get back into "harness" again and apply some of my new knowledge to farm use. Lots of the latest things are very practical and conservative, but just guess they can wait.

Sincerely,
Emil B. Kersten.

Farwell, Texas

Dear Friend:

I received your card showing that the Wellington Leader had expired. I appreciate getting it, it is so much company to me. When I read it it's just like being home with the folks.

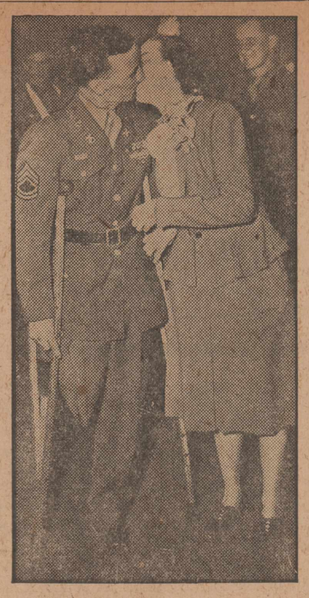

I am sincerely a friend,
Mrs. Phehia Bowen.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the kind people of Collingsworth County for the help you have given us in the time of need, after our house was destroyed by fire.

May God bless each and every one of you.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hodge and family.

EXAMPLE IS SET

T-Sgt. John C. Glass of Lynchburg, Va., claims a kiss from his bride, the former Mary Ann Gotschall of Vincennes, Ind., after their wedding at Lawson General Hospital, Atlanta, Ga. As for his having to wear a "store" limb later on, why that's all right with Mary Ann—her own left leg is false. Glass lost his at St. Lo, France, and she lost hers through a bone disease a year or so ago. They met while she was instructing amputation patients.

Texas Cotton Acreage For 1945 Cut 2 Per Cent

Texas' 1945 cotton acreage goal will be two per cent less than last year, and for wheat one per cent lower than in 1945.

The goals for all of the states' agricultural production next year, with two exceptions, were accepted tentatively as suggested by a group from the War Food administration, Washington, at a joint meeting of farmers and representatives of divisions of Texas A. and M. college and agencies working with agriculture on the college campus, Nov. 27 and 28.

Soybeans for beans was reduced 20,000 acres to 5,000; and flaxseed was increased from the proposed 36,000 acres to 41,000.

Among major products, cotton was set at 7,200,000 acres or two per cent under 1944; wheat 4,600,000 (present acreage planted), one per cent down; milk was set at 4,484,000,000 pounds, two per cent above this year; milk cows, 1,470,000, one per cent up; milk per cow, 3,050 pounds, one per cent up; hens, 28,112,000 on January 1, and 23,702,000 on March 1, 19 per cent down; chickens raised, 40,469,000, three per cent down; sows to farrow next spring, 240,000, unchanged; cattle and calves at year end, 7,410.000, three per cent down; sheep and lambs at year end, 9,630,000, seven per cent down; corn, 5,457,000, unchanged; barley, 351,000, unchanged; all sorghums (feed), 8,000,000, four per cent down; rice, 365,000, seven per cent down; peanuts for nuts, 755,000, two per cent down; peanuts all purposes, 820,000, three per cent down, and sweet potatoes, 65,000, unchanged.

There was some sentiment that the reduction in cotton acreage from the 1944 goal was not justified. But C. D. Walker who headed the WFA group explained that excess planting would cause no difficulty or penalty because acreage control did not apply this year. Walker said also that in 1945 farmers can continue to produce without fear of sudden collapse in prices of their products. Congress had backed up farmers efforts by voting to support farm prices for two years after the war ends, he said.

CARD OF THANKS

We cannot expreess in words our appreciation for the many kind and thoughtful deeds that were done for us during the illness and death of our husband and father, E. N. Burkhalter. Your sympathy makes our burden easier to bear.

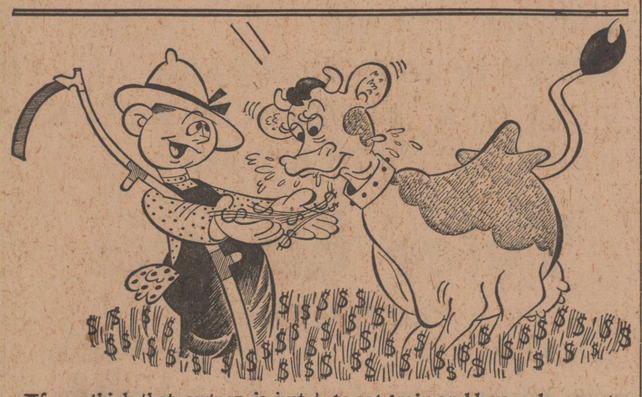

May God bless each of you.

Mrs. E. N. Burkhalter and family.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB

of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

If you think that cartoon is just another funny picture, draw up an easy chair alongside of me and I'll prove that it makes sense. A well planned pasture system really puts dollars in the dairyman's pockets.

To prove how true that is, an extension bulletin I read recently reports a survey made in seven dairy areas. This survey showed that one-third of the cows' actual food came from pastures, but that this third cost only one-seventh of the total feed bill.

In addition to your permanent pasture, you need temporary pastures to provide forage from the earliest possible date in spring to the latest date in the fall.

Emergency pastures take up the slack in mid-summer when permanent pasture burns. They also give you grazing in the fall which will postpone barn feeding.

I have just received a new pasture handbook from the Extension Service at the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill. It is Bulletin 505 which covers rotation pastures in detail.*

One of the many interesting things it contains is a table showing the total number of days of pasturing from various pasture crops. It will help you plan the best pasture system for your herd.

Your county agent also can assist you greatly since he knows what crops will do best in your own county. In addition here are some other booklets to get: Extension Circular 193, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., and Extension Bulletin B-69, Texas A&M College, College Station, Texas.*

I'm strong for the younger generation and I'm quite sure that if the younger generation is strong, the future will be brighter. Certainly the future of dairying hinges on raising strong, healthy calves.

The proper feeding and management of calves is a most important job. Give them a good start in life and you've taken a big step in improving your dairy herd.

A rule of thumb says to feed calves a pound of milk per day for each ten pounds of body weight. However, if your milk is high in butterfat, feed slightly less than that amount. If using a commercial calf starter, follow the manufacturer's directions. Calves, the same as small children, can get tummy aches if they get too much or the wrong kind of food.

Calves should be encouraged to eat grain and hay early, say at ten days to two weeks. Coarsely ground oats and corn mixed with about 20% wheat bran is a good starting grain ration.

At two weeks, give the calf handful of choice, green leafy hay. At eight weeks, the calf should be off milk and needs up to 4 lbs. of grain concentrate, plus all the good hay it will eat. Put the calf on a regular heifer ration at 16 weeks.

For further details on calf feeding, I suggest you get Bulletin 377 from the Extension Service, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., and Circular 308, Extension Service, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisc.

Here it is near the end of January and I haven't mentioned cooling milk yet—one of my favorite subjects of conversation. If the temperature is sliding way down there as you read this, it may sound funny to talk about cooling milk, but it should be done after every milking.

Bacteria don't seem to pay much attention to what the thermometer reads outside the milkhouse. As long as the milk temperature holds from 60 to 80, bacteria multiply rapidly.

The only way to protect your milk is to get its temperature down near 50 as fast as possible. The USDA figures millions of pounds of milk are spoiled every year because of lack of proper cooling.

That's bad any year, but it's worse this year. You know we are asked to produce 120 billions of pounds of milk in 1945. We'll have to do everything we can to meet that goal.

And by the way—you'll see some fine articles on pastures in the January-February issue of the Kraftsman, now being distributed. It devotes a lot of space to a pasture-hay program for 1945. Drop me a card at 600 Peshtigo Court, Chicago 90, Ill., and I'll mail you a copy.
