The SDN Column

The approach of Halloween brings memories to many of us of the old-time school carnival, and the custom still prevails in the rural schools of the area. In fact, we received yesterday notices that the Ira and Fluvanna schools will have their annual carnivals this week, and they are on different nights. Ira will have its carnival Thursday night while the Fluvanna carnival is set for Friday night.

These events used to be among the high points of the school term in most communities, especially among the grade school pupils.

But Halloween has changed considerably, or at least the methods of observing it have. There were times when a certain amount of "devilment" was expected, and of course there were times when such activities got out of hand. It appears to have "tamed down" in recent years, and hopefully the trend will continue.

Back when some of us were youngsters there was no such thing as "trick-or-treat," this type of activity having made its appearance following World War II. Now, there is a move on to substitute "meet and treat" events for the trick-or-treat, with hopes that it will cut down on accidents, save fuel and reduce the wear and tear on nerves of parents.

Gleaned from the mail:

No less than 2,174 Texans had patents granted for their inventions in 1973. That is one patent for every 5,149 residents of the state, and those who invented something and got patents joined a list of famous persons. Such people as Abraham Lincoln, Mark Twain, Lillian Russell, Harry Houdini and Hedy Lamarr all got patents on inventions.

All told, over 3.8 million patents have been issued since the U. S. patent system went into operation 184 years ago.

But patent rights have been losing their value in recent years, according to T. L. Bowes, executive director of Intellectual Property Owners, Inc., a non-profit organization of patent owners who seek to create a public awareness of the importance of a reliable patent system. If the trend continues, some fear it will threaten the nation's technological superiority by taking the incentive out of innovation.

Bowes blames what he terms the federal government's "anti-inventor policy" and adverse court decisions for the growing loss of standing of the patent system.

"The attitude seems to be that patents are monopolies, and hence fair game for antitrust attacks," says Bowes.

The federal government seems to have a penchant for cooling lots of incentives recently.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 29, the 302nd day of 1974. There are 63 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1929, the New York stock market collapsed, setting off the worst financial catastrophe in U.S. history.

On this date -

In 1618, Sir Walter Raleigh was executed in London, charged with treason against England's King James I.

In 1682, William Penn landed at Chester, Pennsylvania.

In 1918, German sailors mutinied at the Kiel naval base, demanding prompt peace negotiations with the Allies.

In 1923, the Republic of Turkey was proclaimed.

In 1940, numbers were drawn in the first peacetime military draft in the history of the United States.

In 1956, Israel launched an attack against Egypt's Sinai Peninusla.

Ten years ago: Bolivia broke diplomatic ties with Czechoslovakia and accused the Czech embassy in La Paz of inciting anti-government riots.

Five years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court ruled unanimously that school districts must end racial segregation "at once."

One year ago: United Nations troops delivered emergency food, water and medicine to Egyptian soldiers surrounded by Israeli forces on the east bank of the Suez Canal.

SAWHILL REPLACED

Ford Shakes Up Energy Team

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford announced today a major shake-up in the federal energy hierachy, removing John Sawhill as administrator and replacing him with former Asst. Commerce Secretary Ahdrew E. Gibson.

Ford made the disclosure during an impromptu White House press conference. He also announced that former Air Force secretary and NASA official Robert Seamans would become head of the new Energy Research and Development Agency, and that former astronaut Bill Anders would head the new Nuclear Regulatory Agency.

Dixy Lee Ray, now head of the Atomic Energy Commission will become assistant secretary of State for international environmental and scientific matters, Ford said as the new appointees flanked him at the podium.

The President made clear that Sawhill's resignation was desired by Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, whom he named three weeks ago to coordinate the federal government's energy policies.

The President said there were "no major policy differences" with Sawhill, although there were perhaps "differences in approach and technique."

He said he decided that Morton "ought to have a right with my approval" to make changes in the ranks of federal energy officials, and that Sawhill "will be offered a first-class assignment" elsewhere in his administration.

After making the announcements at the beginning of the news conference, Ford said the shake-up places "a new team in charge of the energy program which we will see moving ahead under Rogers Morton's stewardship ..."

Referring to the appointees surrounding him at the podium, Ford called them "new faces ... a good group" and told newsmen: "They'll do a first-class job."

As the news conference ended, the White House released an exchange of letters between Sawhill and Ford.

Sawhill's letter, dated Oct. 25, said the goals he had set for himself and the Federal Energy Administration when he took the post several months ago "are complete, and I feel that the time has come for me to move on to new responsibilities."

He said it was time for a new phase in the government's effort to bring "this nation's energy budget into better balance" and stressed the importance of energy conservation "because of the time delays involved in expending energy supplies."

Ford, in response, expressed "my deep personal thanks for your dedicated and capable service" and added: "I have admired your candor and directness in addressing the difficult choices which face the nation as we confront the energy problem."

Ford's letter said Sawhill had agreed to stay at the FEA until the first of the year, when he will be succeeded by Gibson, until last year an assistant secretary of Commerce and head of the Maritime Administration.

Gibson, a resident of Philadelphia, has been president of Interstate Oil Transport Co. since leaving government. The 52-year-old Gibson, before coming to Washington in 1969, was president of John Diebold, Inc. and previously had been an official of Grace Lines Inc.

Anders, 41, is Ford's first nominee to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission created by legislation Ford signed Oct. 11. In designating him as commission chairman, Ford said he would ask him to recommend nominees for the four other seats.

An FEA official said Sawhill met Friday with Ford. Sawhill said Monday that he had no "serious discussions" about resigning and no intention to resign.

Nixon 'Stable' After Surgery

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon's surgeon said today that "Mr. Nixon is doing well" following an operation to stop a blood clot in his left leg from traveling any further toward his heart or lungs.

Dr. Eldon Hickman, who performed the hour-long operation, said Nixon's condition was "stable." He said Nixon returned to his room on the top of Memorial Hospital Medical Center of Long Beach for recovery.

Nixon's personal physician had said the operation was required because the clots in Nixon's leg posed a threat to his life.

"With the threat the clot could become a pulmonary embolus, we placed a mild clip ... partially occluding but not completely occluding the vein," Hickman said. He said the clip was permanent.

He said the operation was uneventful and that the former president was "recovering in the normal manner."

The doctor said he had the usual postoperative effects of being sleepy and was confined to bed.

The operation began at 5:30 a.m. PST. None of Nixon's family was present at the hospital, but officials said his wife, Pat, was expected at the hospital later in the day.

Hickman said Nixon will probably be hospitalized for "another week," then the recovery would take four to six weeks at home.

He said he did not anticipate any further surgery.

Index Drop Steepest In 23 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's index of future trends in the economy plunged last month at the steepest rate in 23 years, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said its index of leading indicators dropped 2.5 per cent in September. It was the second sizeable monthly drop in a row, making the two-month fall 4.1 per cent.

Since inflation tends to make the index appear overly optimistic, the indication apparently is for a serious deterioration in the economy in the months ahead.

Such a deterioration would be in line with the recent projection of a sharp but short recession by economist Paul McCracken. Administration officials have also said they expect little evidence of a recovery until next spring.

The latest projection from the index of leading indicators, which is composed of a dozen separate economic fluctuations, was for sharply higher unemployment, decreased spending on durable goods, lower returns for raw material producers and an even-slower activity in the already-depressed construction industry.

Initial claims for unemployment insurance jumped by nine per cent in September to a total of 346,000.

New orders for durable goods dropped by 6.4 per cent to $46.3 billion.

Industrial materials prices shrank by 4.2 per cent, and new building permits issued dropped by 8.4 per cent.

Commerce said the strongest factor pushing down the index of leading indicators, however, was stock prices. They fell for the fourth month in a row, dropping 10.4 per cent in the latest month.

The other components of the index either edged upward slightly, were unchanged, or were not available immediately.

Over-all, the drop in the index was the sharpest since it fell 2.9 per cent in June of 1951.

Progress Made In Coal Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coal industry negotiators report major progress in contract talks with the United Mine Workers and say a tentative settlement is possible by the end of the week.

"We're hoping to make an agreement this week," said Guy Farmer, general counsel for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association. "It's moving and I think we've got a shot at it."

Farmer joined UMW President Arnold Miller in saying that a tentative agreement could be wrapped up quickly.

However, Miller said last week that a contract would have to be agreed on by Nov. 4 to avoid a strike.

The UMW's contract with the soft-coal industry expires Nov. 12, and union officials say ratification will take about 10 days.

Even if the negotiators reach a tentative agreement, the question remains whether the union's 120,000 members will approve the first package submitted for ratification.

Tornadoes Hit Southeast Texas

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes too numerous for accurate count killed one person, injured half a dozen others and inflicted extensive damage late Monday near the southeast corner of Texas.

The rash of twisters hit hardest from the Houston area into the heavily industrialized "Golden Triangle" embracing Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange, snaking down from black thunderstorms which threatened that section far into the night.

One tornado struck at the south end of the Baytown Tunnel between Baytown and La Porte, route of the only major thoroughfare from that vicinity into Houston, just to the west. This was the one which killed Theo Hines, 60, of Houston and left six injured, some seriously.

At least five homes in Baytown suffered damage, state police reported and the writhing winds wrecked guard shacks at opposite ends of the tunnel. A tank truck owned by the Texas Highway Department was rolled over 400 yards south of the tunnel.

Still other funnel clouds slashed into two neighborhoods on the north side of Beaumont and one of the twisters slashed into Lumberton, a bit farther north, to wreck three mobile homes. Debris from one such home was whirled five miles across the countryside.

Ronnie Benoit saw the black storm whirling across Galveston Bay toward his house in Baytown. He said, "It's a sight you won't forget. I was about to eat supper. We just picked up and went to a bathroom."

With his wife and two small sons, Benoit huddled in a bath tub for "some 20 seconds" while the tornado ripped away their roof.

Although authorities often tell people in the path of a tornado a bathroom is one of the safer rooms in a threatened house, Benoit said that "I really don't know why" he herded his family there. "It was just the first thing I thought of," he said.

Although that twister dealt similar blows to other houses close by, only one person in the Benoits' neighborhood received a minor injury.

State police and Harris County (Houston) sheriff's officers listed those injured at the Baytown Tunnel as Robert R. Thompson, 45, of San Jacinto; Russell D. Carter, 54, of Pasadena; Debra Allen, 23, of Baytown; Gary Bogle, 23, of Baytown; Claude Greenwood, 49, of Pasadena, and Jack Hamilton, 30, of Houston.

Officers said 12 cars were hurled against one another and against a wall at the entrance to the tunnel, which was blocked for more than 2½ hours. The tornado struck there at 4:40 p.m. amid the rush hour for homeward bound motorists.

The automobile in front of a truck driven by Ernie Wehba, 32, of Pasadena was thrown toward one side.

"Then my truck hit the side of the tunnel, turned over on its roof and wound up on the left side," Wehba related. "All I could see was everything turning and spinning."

Absentee Voting Is Light Here

Only 42 persons had cast absentee ballots here this morning for the general election set for Tuesday, Nov. 5, Beverly Ainsworth, county clerk, reported.

Absentee voting will continue until 5 p.m. Friday at the county clerk's office on the third floor of the courthouse.

Summary Of Top Court Actions Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a summary of today's major Supreme Court actions:

Death Penalty

Agreed to review the appeal of a North Carolina man condemned to die for murder. It will be the first death penalty sentence case heard by the court since it ruled in 1972 that capital punishment as then carried out was unconstitutional. The latest appeal, to be heard later this term, could result in a ruling on the validity of capital punishment.

Black Lung

Upheld federal black lung regulations which coal mine operators challenged on grounds they would cost billions of dollars and "invite unlimited subterfuges." The mine operators objected, among other things, to a clause making the benefits available to men who retired before legislation extending the benefits was enacted.

James Earl Ray

Upheld James Earl Ray's effort to obtain evidence about the circumstances of his plea of guilty to the murder of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. The court let stand a U.S. district court order requiring Ray's former attorney, Percy Foreman of Houston, and others to produce correspondence and other records. Ray contends that Foreman persuaded him to plead guilty to killing King to enhance the sale of books about the slaying.

School Prayer

Let stand a Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision that an invocation and benediction at a public high school commencement program did not violate the ban against prayers in public schools. The Pennsylvania court said the commencement exercise was a "ceremonious event" and did not fall under the ban against prayer in the classroom.

Housing

Declined to review the question of whether tenants in subsidized housing projects have a right to be heard before their rents are raised.

Affirmed without explanation a lower-court decision upholding a 1965 New York law denying landlords the right to collect rent if he allows life-threatening conditions to persist for six months after being notified of them. However the law also requires tenants to deposit the amount of the challenged rent with a court clerk. A group of low-income New York apartment dwellers had contended that this provision put them at a disadvantage in eviction proceedings.

Today's Market, '29 Crash Different

By LEE MITGANG
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street today marks its gloomiest anniversary, 45 years after the stock market began its dizziest fall in history on Oct. 28-29, 1929.

But even with numerous current troubles, including inflation, tight money and a slumping economy, traders can take heart that the bear market of 1974 and the great crash of 1929 are as different as night and day, many analysts agree.

For one thing, speculators in the '20s had free rein, untouched by any sort of governmental regulation. Since 1933, the Federal Reserve and the Securities and Exchange Commission have acted to keep the speculator in bounds, and usually have protected traders from outright market fraud.

The market also enjoys a degree of stability now compared with 1929 just from sheer size. There were about 1.5 million people in the market in 1929. Now there are about 30 million. If nothing else, panic would have further to spread in 1974.

Another difference, though less comforting, is how fast and far stocks fell in 1929 as against 1973-74. The crash of '29 was sudden, almost totally unexpected and horribly severe. In only two weeks, from Oct. 28 to Nov. 13, the Dow Jones industrial average shrank by 50.6 per cent, to 198.69.

On Oct. 28, 1929, traders watched the unautomated ticker struggle to keep up with a 12 million share turnover, then unheard of. The Dow fell a still unsurpassed 38.33 points.

The next day, even worse in terms of the spreading panic and the volume figure — a staggering 16 million — the Dow slid another 30.57.

"The market crashed at a time when almost everyone was bullish. It just came out of the blue," recalls analyst Lucien Hooper, then of the firm of Frazier Jelke & Co. and now of Thomson & McKinnon Auchincloss.

"An awful lot of people were in the market on very thin margin — maybe only 10 or 20 per cent. When the market started drifting down around Labor Day, it set off an avalanche of margin calls," Eldon Grimm of Birr, Wilson & Co. says.

The bear market of 1973-74 also has fallen about 50 per cent. The Dow, from a high of 1,051 on Jan. 11, 1973, has been as low as 584, on Oct. 4, 1974. The paper value of listed NYSE issues has gone in that period from $871.54 billion to about $450 billion now.

The 50 per cent drop the market has suffered since 1973 has taken almost two years. The Great Crash did the same thing in two weeks.

And the autumn crash in 1929 was only the beginning. By July 8, 1932, the value of Big Board stocks had gone from a high of $87 billion set Sept. 3, 1929, to a depth of $15.6 billion. And the Dow, which stood at 381.17 before the great crash, sank to 41.22 in 1932.

That meant that in 1929, unlike now, drops of 50 to 60 points in an individual stock were common. Issues worth hundreds of dollars in the 1920's bull market were worth pennies in 1932.

Food Stockpile Being Urged

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

The federal government could help insure relatively stable food prices for American consumers by directing that food be stockpiled, the Committee for Economic Development says.

"Such a policy is urgently needed to enable the nation to cope effectively with the short-term consequences of poor harvests here or abroad," the private, non-profit research group said Monday.

The reserves of key commodities also would serve as a buffer against world hunger and depressed prices for U.S. farmers, the committee said.

U.S. grain reserves are at their lowest levels in 26 years, mainly because of huge export sales the past two years. No formal U.S. food reserve policy exists now, although some members of Congress and others have urged that stockpiles be accumulated for use in times of scarcity.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has said U.S. food reserves should be left in the hands of farmers and the private trade.

The committee said this could be done, but such reserve needs to be initiated and maintained through federal policy direction.

"The trade cannot justifiably carry large enough reserves of wheat, corn, soybeans or milk products to offset unforeseen shortages and stabilized prices.

"Therefore, the government must do so, either directly or through programs that enable farmers and trade to carry larger stocks than would otherwise be possible," said the report prepared by a subcommittee headed by John H. Daniels, chairman of Independent Bancorporation of Minneapolis.

The report came as Butz prepared for a United Nations world food conference, which begins in Rome next week. Butz said Monday he would stress the Ford administration's commitment to increased food production at the conference.

Butz said he hoped the conference would result in guidelines for increasing production, managing reserves and providing more equitable distribution of world food relief. America has been shouldering a disproportionate share of the food distribution burden, he said.

But he could give no encouragement to the consumer about prices, suggesting that as long as there was rising inflation, food prices would continue to increase.

TSTA To Ask Pay Increase

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The legislative committee of the Texas State Teachers Association said today it plans to ask the 1975 Legislature to increase the Texas teacher's average annual salary by almost $3,300.

The decision was made by the committee after hearing Sunday from a number of teachers throughout the state who stressed the need for a teachers' pay raise. Several asked that the current starting pay of $6,600 be raised to a basic salary of $12,000 annually.

The legislative committee recommendation calls for an increase in teacher salaries to at least $500 more than the U.S. average, beginning with the 1975-76 school year.

TSTA officials said the 1973-74 U.S. average salary was $10,673, but they expect it to rise to $11,761 for the 1975-76 school year.

Average teacher pay in Texas for 1973-74 was $8,967. The TSTA said this put Texas in 37th place among the 50 states in average teachers pay, or $1,706 below the national average.

Mrs. Carolyn Harrell, Gonzales, chairman of the legislative committee, said the decision to seek a higher than national average pay raise followed a directive from the TSTA house of delegates last March.

She said the entire TSTA legislative program is still in tentative form, including its recommendations for revision of public school financing, and "will receive many changes before it is presented to the legislature in January."

She said the TSTA wanted to see the school financing programs of Gov. Dolph Briscoe and of the State Board of Education before it makes a decision.

ABE Classes Show Gains

Enrollment in Adult Basic Education classes is up to 51, Robert C. Adams, director of the Snyder ABE program has reported.

However, Adams said, "The classroom still is not as crowded as we would like for it to be. Our doors are still open to any interested adults."

ABE classes meet on Tuesday and Thursday nights in the Learning Resource Center at Western Texas College.

Since this Thursday is Halloween, classes will not meet that evening.

Further information concerning the ABE program may be obtained by calling Jerry Baird at 573-8511.

Pleas Heard In County Court

Two guilty pleas were entered in county court yesterday.

Vicky Lynn Mills pleaded guilty to illegal possession of marijuana. She received a 180 day jail term, probated for one year. She was arrested Oct. 24 by City Police.

Leandro Solis pleaded guilty to unlawfully carrying a weapon. He received a $100 fine plus court costs. He was arrested Oct. 27 by City Police.

AT ARAB SUMMIT

PLO Recognized

By ELIAS ANTAR
Associated Press Writer

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — The Arab summit conference has recognized Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization as the leadership of a future independent Palestinian state to be established after the West Bank of the Jordan River is liberated from Israel.

But the Arab leaders are leaving Egypt, Syria and Jordan a free hand in peace negotiations with Israel.

The endorsement of the Palestine guerrilla movement appeared to doom resumption of the Geneva Middle East peace conference soon since Israel refuses to deal with the PLO. Thus, the way appeared open for the individual, bilateral negotiations advocated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt.

After three days of intensive discussions, the kings and presidents of the Arab nations agreed on a formula Monday that papered over the rival claims of the PLO and Jordan to control of the West Bank territory, which Jordan captured in the 1948 Palestine War and Israel took in the 1967 war.

A spokesman said the leaders unanimously approved a resolution "reaffirming the rights of the Palestinian people to set up an independent national authority, under the leadership of the PLO as the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people on any Palestinian land that is liberated.

"Arab countries must support this authority when it is established in all fields and at all levels," the resolution added.

King Hussein of Jordan and Arafat exchanged expressions of mutual support, the spokesman added. However, conference sources said the king expressed explicit "reservations" to the resolution. They explained that this would allow him to negotiate with Israel without being identified with the PLO.

The spokesman said the summit called on Egypt, Syria, Jordan and the PLO to organize relations among themselves so they can implement the summit decision. The other sources said this might produce agreement between the PLO and Jordan for Jordan to represent the Palestinians in negotiations with Israel.

The sources also reported that Sadat made clear he intends to pursue further peace efforts in the interests of Egypt. He thus refused to be boxed in by any complications that might result from the endorsement of the PLO.

WTC Drama Students Go To Conference

Six drama students from Western Texas College will attend the Southwest Theatre Conference in Albuquerque, N.M., Oct. 31-Nov. 2.

Students making the trip will be Doug Harmon of Andrews, Cindy Hanson of Fort Worth, Julie Jones of Abilene, and Paula Baldwin, Emmalie Sleeper and Donna Mraz, all of Snyder. They will be accompanied by Charles Holland, WTC drama director.

During the Conference, the students will have the opportunity to work with such people as John Housman, Peter Sargent and other producers, directors and actors. They will also see eight major productions.

It was at the Southwest Threatre Conference last year that a WTC student, Clayton Black of Abilene, was elected to represent two-year college students at this year's conference. Holland was elected to represent the faculties of two-year colleges in Texas. Black is now a student at Southwestern University in Georgetown, a junior student and a part-time faculty member as designer-technical director at the University threatre.

"I feel that the benefits to the students will be tremendous," Holland said. "They will meet and participate in workshops with people involved in college drama and television and motion picture work."

The group will leave Snyder Wednesday and return Sunday.

IPAA Prepared To Bargain

DALLAS, Tex. AP—Independent oil operators are prepared to do some bargaining of their own with Congress if major oil companies fail to support their fight to retain oil's domestic depletion allowance.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America was expected to give final approval today to a resolution blaming the majors for causing a split within the industry on the subject but expressing hope the international oil companies will join the fight.

The executive committee of the 4,000-member trade group gave unanimous approval to the resolution Monday.

"If the international companies are for depletion, we'll now see some evidence," said John Miller, association president from Allegan, Mich. "The majors can't remain invisible."

Miller had charged that major companies have remained silent in recent months while independents have battled vigorously to prevent Congress from phasing out domestic depletion.

He said the international companies have indicated they were willing to make a "sacrifical lamb" out of the 22 per cent depletion allowance in order to escape from other punitive tax measures before Congress.

Miller said silence on the part of the majors continued until last week when he confronted a group of major company executives in Washington.

He said it was not until after the Washington meeting that the American Petroleum Institute, oil's largest trade group, reaffirmed its support of domestic depletion through a news release.

Hunt Admits Lying To Juries

WASHINGTON (AP) — E. Howard Hunt Jr. says a "rude awakening" brought on by release of the White House tapes persuaded him to stop lying about Watergate.

Hunt testified Monday at the Watergate cover-up trial that he lied more than a dozen times before grand juries in the spring of 1973, even though he could no longer have been prosecuted for his part in the Watergate break-in or subsequent attempts to cover it up.

Hunt, free on appeal from his guilty plea for the burglary, was to return to the witness stand today for the first cross-examination by defense lawyers who represent the five defendants — H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell, Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson.

As the sixth week of the trial opened Monday, the 56-year-old retired CIA agent said he read published transcripts of the presidential tapes last spring shortly after he was released from prison.

The tapes disclosed increasing discussions among former President Richard M. Nixon and aides about Hunt's continuing demands for money. Former White House counsel John W. Dean III told Nixon it was blackmail.

"I felt a sense of rude awakening and I realized that these men were not worthy of my continued or future loyalty," Hunt testified near the end of his first day on the stand.

By March 16, 1973, Hunt by his own testimony had received at least $165,000 for lawyers' fees and other expenses. However, by last spring the money had long since stopped.

Hunt cited another reason for telling the truth about Watergate. He said his four children "were not fully persuaded that the testimony I had given in prior public forums was in all respects factual and candid."

Hunt, a CIA agent for 21 years who now lives in Miami, was a major witness at the Senate Watergate hearings in the spring and summer of 1973.

He is testifying at the trial as a court witness, which allows Watergate prosecutors to ask questions that suggest the answers. Under that arrangement, agreed to by U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, neither the prosecution or the defense vouches for Hunt's credibility.

Sirica on Monday suggested that when and if defense lawyers get Nixon on the stand, they might want him called as a court witness.

Nonetheless, most of the defense lawyers complained repeatedly about the prosecution's unwillingness to stand behind Hunt's testimony.

Hunt was faced Monday by assistant special prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste, an aggressive, rapid-fire questioner, to whom Hunt lied during three separate grand jury appearances in 1973.

In a staccatto series that built to an emotional pitch, Ben-Veniste established a pattern of lying, drawn from the grim-faced Hunt, whose voice trembled slightly.

SCD Group In Session At San Antonio

Directors of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District are in San Antonio this week, participating in the 34th Annual Statewide meeting of Soil and Water Conservation District Directors.

This year's meeting is being held at the Hilton Palacio del Rio Hotel and the Convention Center, San Antonio, Texas October 29-31, 1974.

The theme of the meeting is "Land Use Regulations". Pressure for land use legislation is increasing daily — both at the Federal and State level. Speakers with varying views on land use regulation will appear on the program on this subject.

Other subjects of major concern to soil and water conservation district directors will also be discussed throughout the meeting.

All indications are that the attendance will exceed 700. Anyone interested in soil and water conservation and improving the environment is invited to attend, said Executive Director Harvey Davis of the State Soil and Water Conservation Baord, headquartered in Temple.

Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District directors attending are Chairman, W. L. Wilson, Jr. and Walter Stirl. Also in attendance is Soil Conservation Service District Conservationist Erwin A. Pavlik of the Snyder Field Office.

Entertainer Can't Be Eva Knievel

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — An entertainer who uses a motorcycle in her dance act can't call herself Eva Knievel, a judge says.

Circuit Judge Sam Goodfriend on Monday denied Cynthia Anne Morgan's petition to change her name to resemble that of motorcycle daredevil Evel Knievel.

The woman didn't prove the change "would not in any way invade the good will of others," the judge ruled.

New Member Is Inducted To ABWA

The Scurry Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Assoc. held its regular monthly meeting last Thursday night at 7 p.m. at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mavis Brumbelow, president, opened the meeting. With the aid of Irene Brooks, vice-president, she then inducted new member, Ms. Cathy Williams, of the Travel Lodge Motel on the East Highway in Snyder. Ms. Williams was sponsored by Mrs. Helen Fiensod of the Purple Sage Motel.

Following the induction, Mary Ellen Meador, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Jane Womack, individual voice instructor at WTC. She and four students presented a "Tour Of Broadway" featuring soloists Donna Gray, Pam Smith, Julia Griffin and Jan Bellamy.

A general business meeting followed the program. Mrs. Brumbelow announced the honors conferred on several members by National Headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. Verna Foree has received the Hand of Friendship Guard for the sponsorship of two members to ABWA. Mary Ellen Meador achieved the next step, a pearl guard for having brought five members into the organization. Mary Starnes achieved a great honor for herself, and the Scurry Charter Chapter, by receiving the ruby guard as a reward for her efforts in bringing a total of eight new members into the organization in Snyder.

Wilma Huffman reported the minutes of the last meeting in September. They were approved as read. Mary Faver presented the treasurer's report. To top a successful evening, house ways and means chairman, Alice Lane, reported the cookbooks offered for sale by the club moving so quickly as to make a re-order imminent. The members voted to re-order. On invitation from the board of directors of the Woman's Club, Irene Brooks accepted the position as representative of ABWA on the board. The members also appointed three members to serve on the nominating committee for next year's officers. They are Ileta Hall, Clara Mae Noah and Inez Taft. Mavis Brumbelow adjourned the meeting.

Dear Abby

Newly-rich, he wants armor against gold-diggers

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: I have had lots of problems but I never had one like this, so here goes my first Dear Abby letter.

I am a 57-year-old working man. I lived with my folks most of my life, but they are both dead now, so I'm living alone.

When I was younger I would ask girls for dates, but I got turned down, mostly because I wasn't very good-looking and didn't have much money. Being alone so much caused me to be kind of shy. I never enjoyed being alone, I just got used to it.

Well, I took a chance on the state lottery, and won $100,000. I had never won anything in my life. I still can't believe it, but it is true. Now I've got so many friends (mostly women), I almost have to hide.

I would like some female companionship, but don't want to end up married to some gold-digger. I don't have any experience at all when it comes to judging women, Abby, so how can I protect myself? E.B. IN ATTLEBORO, MASS

DEAR E.B.: Don't go in for anything as permanent as marriage until you know the woman well enough to trust her completely. Then see a lawyer about a pre-nuptial agreement. (He'll explain it to you.) You took a chance on a lottery and won, and marriage is a bit of a gamble, too, but the better you know the candidate, the smaller the risk.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter and her husband (married only a few months) both go to college and live with me. He is a fine young man and I like him, but he has one serious fault. He will not get up in the morning for his classes.

It breaks my heart to see my daughter calling him, going back to their bedroom, shaking him, pleading with him, and wearing herself out trying to get him up in the morning.

He was dropped from his 8 o'clock class because he missed so many classes. Naturally, he lost that credit. Now he is sleeping through his nine o'clock classes!

I have wanted to tell her to simply pour ice water on him, but I've used remarkable restraint staying out of this daily hassle. Any suggestions? MOM

DEAR MOM: He's your daughter's problem, not yours. If she were wise, she'd wake him once only, set the alarm to give him a five-minute grace period, then go about her business. If he knows he has to get up—he will. And if he doesn't, let him suffer the consequences.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder how many people realize the difference between the way HER mother is treated and the way HIS mother is treated?

So many young husbands are so busy with earning a living that they leave such matters entirely to their wives, and consequently on Mother's Day, HER mother will be honored, and when (and if) it's convenient, HIS mother will be honored.

Another thing. Let's have a Grandma's Day for HIS mother. With so many broken marriages these days, the paternal grandmother loses all contact with her grandchildren. It's always HER mother who gets to see the grandchildren, and do for them. HIS mother looses out and is soon forgotten.

My son is married and divorced. His wife has the children, and now it's almost as though I have no grandchildren. Maybe if you print this, it will be seen by mothers who don't realize the hurt some grannies suffer from divorce. Thank you.

MISSING MY GRANDCHILDREN

DEAR MISSING: When marriages break up, there is usually bitterness on the part of the wife. And just or not, she usually get the kids. There are exceptions, but the ex-wife doesn't usually feel to kindly toward her ex-in-laws, and part of the punishment she feels "his family" has coming is depriving them of their grandchildren.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

'Why' Questions Should Be Asked

By C.G. McDANIEL
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The "Why, Daddy?" and "Why, Mommy?" questions that often stump parents should be encouraged, says a University of Chicago psychiatrist.

Such questions, asked seemingly endlessly by some children, reflect the kind of inquiring mind essential for a creative person, says Dr. Lawrence Z. Freedman. He has been studying the creative process for nearly 30 years.

Too often, parents and teachers do everything they can to rob children of their uniqueness, that which makes them different, which is a key element of creativity, Freedman said.

Adults praise children for the things they do which are recognizable and conventional and for winning contests in acceptable areas of achievement, he said in a recent interview.

Encouraging children to be different is a hard task for parents, who feel that they must prepare them to earn a living, to compete for goods and recognition in life, the psychiatrist said.

Freedman said creativity is an individual, subjective trait, and therefore outside the mainstream of accepted ways of doing things.

Persons with unusually high IQs are not necessarily the most creative, he said he and other researchers have found. Many of these are limited to conventional thought processes, he said.

Extremely high IQs are related more to technical ability than to creativity, Freedman said.

Those with slightly lower — but still above-average — IQs may rely more on intuition, the hunch, and hit upon different answers, new approaches.

Emphasis on careers and professionalism may stymie creative potential because they force the individual to follow a logical path with no deviation, Freedman said.

NEW NEST—for creamed foods is crispy Idaho French fries served with well seasoned creamed salmon, and fresh tomatoes vinaigrette. To serve, heap French fries on each plate, top with creamed salmon, and enjoy.

Frozen French Fries Usher In New Treats

It's the kind of idea that makes you say: why didn't I ever think of that! And the idea is serving ameds foods in a crispy nest of hot French fries. For example, a creamy salmon mixture eaten with the crisp, sturdy-textured French fries is a delicious experience. It's simple enough to please the family right down to the small chhldren, yet it's definetely something new for dinner.

Be sure to choose the best kind of French fries to make this specialty...those bearing the Idaho label on the package. Among people who process potatoes, it's no secret that Idaho potatoes turn out the vest French fries in the world. Growing conditions in the state produce high-solids, mealy potatoes that make the finest quality French fries. The potatoes are big enough to afford a long cut that yeilds a crisp, golden surface with dry, mealy, fluffy texture inside.

Now meet the Fiery French Fry, all ready for party duty, or snack service. Crispy French fries are served piping hot with a barbecue dip that is spicy hot. Here's a really thrifty idea for entertaining that spans all the age groups. Just try this new finger food, and it will become a permanent plank in your party plans.

On the milder side but just as delicious is an olive dip for French freis made with good things like cottage cheese and sour cream liberally laced with pitted green olives. Dip and delight. It's fun food that pleases everyone.

Here are new ways to celebrate that handy, convenient American favorite, frozen French fries, the people's choice.

CREAMED SALMON WITH FRENCH FRIED POTATOES
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon dried dill weed
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon flour
1¼ cups milk
1 can (1 pound) salmon
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¾ cup salad oil
2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen Idaho French fried potatoes

In a medium saucepan melt butter. Add onion and celery and cook over medium heat until tender. Add dry mustard, dill weed, salt, pepper and flour; blend well. Stir in milk and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add salmon, parsley and lemon juice. Cook over low heat 5 to 10 minutes, until thoroughly heated. Meanwhile, heat oil in large skillet to 350 degrees. Add frozen potatoes and cook 5 minutes, until golden brown. Drain well and serve with creamed salmon.

YIELD: 4 servings.

IDAHO FRENCH FRIES WITH BARBECUE DIP
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
¾ cup salad oil
2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen Idaho French fried potatoes

In a small saucepan combine tomato sauce, sugar, onion and Worcestershire sauce. Simmer over low heat 10 minutes. While barbecue dip is cooking, heat oil in a large skillet to 350 degrees. Add frozen potatoes and cook 5 minutes, until golden brown. Drain well. Serve potatoes hot with barbecue dip.

YIELD: 1-onethird cups barbecue dip; 12 snack servings.

IDAHO FRENCH FRIES WITH OLIVE DIP
1 cup (8 ounces) creamed cottage cheese
¼ cup sour cream
¼ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
½ cup pitted green olives
¾ cup salad oil
2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen Idaho French fried potatoes

Place cottage cheese, sour cream, Cheddar cheese and olives in the container of an electric blender. Cover and process until smooth. Or beat cottage cheese with an electric mix or until smooth. Chop olives finely and add to cottage cheese with sour cream and Cheddar cheese; mix well and chill.

Heat oil in a large skillet to 350 degrees. Add frozen potatoes and cook 5 minutes, until golden brown. Drain well. Serve hot with olive dip.

YIELD: 2 cups dip; 12 snack servings.

Ella Sings At Center Dedication

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP) — Ella Fitzgerald didn't let a formal dedication ceremony stop her from doing what she does best: sing.

The jazz singer was here Sunday for the dedication of the $1.6 million Ella Fitzgerald Center for the Performing Arts, a 1,200 seat theater at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore.

After a jazz performance by the Earl Brown Quartet and comments by Gov. Marvin Mandel, the guest of honor broke into an improvised rendition of "Sunshine of My Life" and the audience of 900 joined in, clapping in time to the music.

If you want a really festive dessert, try this on your guests. Coffee ice cream in the botton of the dish, then a spoonful of creme de cocoa, a dollop of whipped cream and the final crowning glory of ¼ cup of drained fruit cocktail.

COUNTING ON THEM FOR HIS INTERFERENCE!

Funds Are Maintaining Some Assets In Cash

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Although some stocks are selling at their lowest prices in a decade, some mutual funds have chosen to maintain 20 per cent or more of their assets in cash or its equivalent.

In doing so, these funds are saying conclusively that they do not view the low level of the market as a buying opportunity.

Ironically, their bearishness undoubtedly is contributing to the low level of corporate share prices, thus reinforcing a situation that drove them from the market in the first place.

A study by Wiesenberger Services, which conducts a continuing survey of fund activities, shows the highest percentage of assets in cash or short-term notes on Sept. 30 was turned in by growth-oriented funds.

Close to 24 per cent of the assets of such funds, whose stated objective is maximum capital gains, remained uncommitted to the market on that date, a jump of 6 per cent since the end of March.

Theoretically, the low prices of blue chip companies, scores of which are selling below book value, represent an opportunity for portfolio managers whose primary goal is to buy low and sell high.

In remaining on the sidelines, as many of the funds obviously are, they demonstrate an uneasiness over immediate and long-range market prospects.

Funds with various other goals also increased their cash position since the end of March. On Sept. 30, for example, long-term growth funds reported nearly 20 per cent of their assets in cash, compared with 14 per cent six months earlier.

Even those funds committed to "growth and current income" had 17 per cent of their assets in cash, despite some unusually large dividends being paid by capital-hungry corporations.

In general, the purpose of all mutual funds is to return to the investor a larger sum of money, either in the form of capital gains or income. Money remaining in cash cannot contribute to those ends.

In fact, because of continued inflation of the dollar, the money that funds retain in cash actually diminishes instead of growing. Nevertheless, many portfolio managers obviously think that is a lesser evil than losing money in a declining market.

A sharp decline in the percentage of assets kept in cash would be interpreted by many analysts as a signal of greater confidence on the part of funds. So far, however, that signal hasn't been flashed.

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE JONQUIL

QUESTION: What is a jonquil?

* * *

ANSWER: The jonquil is a species of narcissus that came from southern Europe and northern Africa. It is distinguished by rush-like foliage and small golden-yellow, medium to short, cupped flowers, borne more than one on a stem. It has a more marked fragrance than other types of narcissus. The name jonquil is derived from the Latin juncus, meaning rush.

Jonquils are hardy, spring flowering, bulbous plants. They are usually naturalized, that is, planted in groups to produce naturalized effects. The bulbs are planted in the fall, about 4 inches deep in well-drained soil. They are among the earliest spring blooming flowers in temperate regions. They will thrive further south than any other hardy narcissi.

Mills Is Sheepish On Incident

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — His trembling hands grip the lectern, his face reddens and perspiration glistens in the blaze of news camera lights, but Wilbur D. Mills still can smile.

The 18-term congressman has been intently observed, but only superficially questioned. It appears that he has laughed, joked and apologized his way through whatever political danger may have been posed by the Tidal Basin incident involving a former exotic dancer once billed as "the Argentine Firecracker."

Mills' manner seems akin to that of a youngster caught dipping into the cookie jar, not conceding any crime of consequence, but sheepish about it, nonetheless.

High school students at Conway grilled him about the incident and hooted at some of his answers, until Mills said he wasn't going to talk about it any more.

Most others—generally older, civic-club members—have listened politely to economic talks, then applauded Mills, who has been campaigning here for the past two weeks.

"I have been embarrassed beyond words," Mills said at his first post-incident gathering in Arkansas. He appeared before the Little Rock Jaycees, who wisecracked among themselves about the Tidal Basin incident until Mills arrived. Then they applauded and laughed with the congressman.

Mills jokingly spoke of the perils of taking out foreign women who like champagne. He said his marriage was untroubled. He apologized. He said he had quaffed bubbly, but done nothing more serious.

While the Tidal Basin incident has provided a lot of gossip in Mills' district, most political analysts believe he was hurt more by reports of illegal contributions to his 1972 re-election campaign.

As chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, the 65-year-old Democrat also could be hurt by inflation and the tax bite.

Still, he is expected to defeat his Republican opponent, Judy Petty 30. But his victory margin in Little Rock's 2nd District could be narrower than in the past. Mills has represented the district since 1938.

The Tidal Basin incident involved shapely, 38-year-old Annabel Battistella, a former stripper from Argentina. She left Mills' car and jumped into the Tidal Basin near Washington's Jefferson Memorial after park police stopped the congressman's car at 2 a.m. Oct. 7.

Mrs. Battistella was a resident of the apartment building where Mills lives. Her husband lives in Argentina.

Mills, Mrs. Battistella and two other women were in the congressman's car, driven by Albert Capaldi, when the police stopped it for operating without lights and for speeding.

Police said Mills smelled of alcohol and bled from face cuts. Mills later said he was cut when Mrs. Battistella's elbow hit his glasses as he tried to stop her from leaping from the car.

Trial Set In Brenham

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Lower Colorado River Authority's $11 million suit against Coastal States Gas Co. has been set for trial Dec. 2 in Brenham.

Retired civil appeals judge Robert Hughes, at a pretrial hearing Monday, brushed aside pleas by Coastal States lawyers to delay the trial until next year.

LCRA alleges Coastal States failed to live up to its contract to supply gas for generation of electricity for LCRA's customers, some 30 towns in Central Texas. The utility has had to buy more expensive fuel to generate the power it said.

The trial was moved to Brenham because of extensive news coverage in Austin.

Blazers To Put Up Or Get Out

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Blazers of the World Football League have 10 days to seal a contract with the team's intended buyers or face a temporary order not to sell the franchise.

In what he called a "put up or get out" decision Monday, Orange County Circuit Judge Claude Edwards also ordered an investor in the team to increase bond he posted with the court to $500,000 by noon today.

David Williams Jr., a limited partner in the Blazers, had put up $5,000 bond after winning a temporary restraining order last Wednesday.

The temporary restraining order halted sale of the team to undisclosed buyers, including some from the Titusville area, for a reported $1.5 million.

Edwards said his order would be automatically lifted and the team could be sold at any time if Williams does not post the bond to insure payment of players' salaries and other debts. The posting of bond is common in injunction suits as a means of protecting the parties being restrained.

If both the Blazers and Williams meet the courts' provisions, Edwards said he will hold further hearings to review the contract and William's reasons for trying to stop the sale.

Williams and Blazer managing partner Rommie Loudd have sued each other and the WFL. Williams and Loudd each claim the other conspired with the league to drive the team into financial difficulty to force its sale.

Williams, who says he has a million dollars invested in the Blazers, claims the league will make $300,000 from a sale.

Buckeyes Are Rated 1st, Texas Aggies Are No. 8

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A winning attitude has helped the Temple Owls topple its first six foes this year.

In recent years "we found more ways to lose football games than win them," Temple Coach Wayne Hardin said. "But we have now learned how to win and have a winning attitude."

Following last Saturday's 21-17 victory over small-college power Delaware, Temple moved into 19th place in The Associated Press' major college football poll.

Hardin cited the Delaware game as the difference between this season's Owls and the past. Delaware took a 17-14 lead in the third quarter only to see the Owls win 21-17 on a 33-yard scoring pass from senior quarterback Steve Joachim to Jeff Stempel.

"A few years ago we might have folded when Delaware went ahead on us," Hardin said. "But the kids hung tough and made the big plays when they had to."

The nation's Top Ten teams maintained their positions in the AP poll, with runner-up Oklahoma chipping away slightly at the No. 1-ranked Ohio State's comfortable lead.

Ohio State routed Northwestern 55-7 Saturday and received 45 first-place votes and 1,222 of a possible 1,260 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma crushed Kansas State 63-0 and earned 14 first-place votes and 1,123 points.

Third-ranked Michigan, a 49-0 victor over Minnesota, received two No. 1 votes, followed by fourth-place Alabama and fifth-ranked Auburn with one apiece.

Southern Cal, Notre Dame, Texas A&M, Nebraska and Penn State round out The AP's Top Ten.

Interviewed by telephone, Hardin said "I really haven't had time to think about being ranked. I'm worried about next week's game with Cincinnati."

Hardin says he looks forward to playing ranked teams in the future. The Owls have a 1975 date with Penn State. And Hardin knows that it's still early in the season. No Temple team has ever been ranked in a season's final poll.

Pittsburgh Steelers Sock Falcons, 24-17

By GARY MIHOCES
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Terry Bradshaw predicted it. He's back, so is Franco Harris and so is the Pittsburgh Steelers' running game.

"And it feels good, real good," Bradshaw said after he made his first quarterback start this year and Harris rushed for a career high of 141 yards in a 24-17 victory over the Atlanta Falcons in Monday night's nationally televised National Football League game.

On opening day, Bradshaw was on the bench behind Joe Gilliam, who led the NFL preseason passers by throwing almost twice as often as Bradshaw had in Pittsburgh's two previous playoff seasons.

"Joe's had the hot hand," Bradshaw said in September, "but the time will come when we have to establish a running threat. My style is ball control and I'll wait until this thing runs its course."

After Gilliam's 5-for-18 passing day in a narrow win last week over Cleveland, Coach Chuck Noll opted for Bradshaw, even though the Steelers were atop the AFC Central Division.

"It was pretty much a return to the bread and butter," Noll said after the Pittsburgh climbed to 5-1-1 and Atlanta fell to 2-5 under beleaguered Coach Norm Van Brocklin.

"We battled them. We fought as hard as we could," said Van Brocklin, target of a "Dump the Dutchman" campaign in Atlanta.

The Steelers pounded out a season high of 235 yards rushing against the Falcons, and stumpy Rocky Bleier added 78 yards to Harris' career high total.

"I get a kick out of making the running game go," said Bradshaw, who completed nine of 20 passes for 130 yards with two interceptions.

It was the first 100-yard game of the season for Harris, who had a career high of 28 carries, and he gained all but 29 of his ground yards in the second half. He also ran 29 yards with a swing pass from Bradshaw to set up the winning touchdown.

Harris, who had rushed for 206 yards previously this season, powered seven yards for what proved to be the winning touchdown in the final quarter.

Pittsburgh jumped to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter. Bleier plunged one yard for the first touchdown, set up by Lynn Swann's 52-yard punt return, and Bradshaw dove in from the one for the second score to cap a 57-yard march.

Atlanta quarterback Bob Lee, sacked seven times by the hard-charging Steeler front, fired a pair of touchdown passes in the second quarter to knot the score at 14-14 by halftime.

With Harris leading the way in the third quarter, Pittsburgh marched to the Atlanta 16-yard line before Roy Gerela booted a tie-breaking 33-yard field goal.

Harris' seven-yard touchdown in the opening minute of the final quarter capped a 55-yard drive.

FIRE FACES EXTINCTION

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An emergency meeting of World Football League owners today in Chicago may decide the fate of the Chicago Fire — the latest WFL team to face possible extinction, says league executive committee chairman John Bassett.

Bassett, chairman of the committee which screens new franchise holders, said in Toronto Monday night the 1 p.m. EST, meeting had been called to discuss the possible immediate withdrawal of the Chicago franchise. He termed the Fire management "completely irresponsible" for dropping out at this stage of the season.

There has been speculation that the Fire would pull out of the league with just three games remaining because its home schedule has been completed and there would be no possible source of new income.

Don Andersen, WFL vice president in charge of public relations, confirmed from his Newport Beach, Calif., home Monday night that the meeting was to be held — with the Fire situation to be discussed. But he added, "there has been nothing positive to this point as to the status or future of the Chicago club."

Andersen denied the report that the Fire had informed league headquarters it was halting operations.

Fire owner Tom Origer and Coach Jim Spavital were unavailable for comment Monday night, and Chicago publicist Jim Walker, reached at the team's office, said, "There has been no word from Mr. Origer to the ballclub. Everybody has been waiting for the outcome of the meeting. I guess we'll find out then."

Virgil Carter, the club's injured quarterback and player representative, said his contract had not been cancelled nor has he been paid for the remainder of the season.

"There have been rumors all year that the Fire was going to fold," he said.

Those rumors surfaced again Monday when Bassett, owner of the World Hockey Association Toronto Toros, said at the Toros game the Fire had notified the league it would not play its last three games. Chicago is scheduled to play in Philadelphia against the Bell Wednesday night.

If the Fire is finished, it would become the third WFL franchise to go under before the 20-game regular season is completed. The Detroit Wheels and Jacksonville Sharks already have suspended operations and removed their games from the 1974 schedule. The league started its inaugural season with 12 franchises and presently stands at 10.

The Florida Blazers, also suffering severe financial troubles, are the subject of a court battle in their Orlando home, and a number of other teams have battled economic conditions.

Ali, Foreman Ready For World Title Bout

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — Muhammad Ali continued his taunting tirades and George Foreman remained somber as a monk as the two whiled away the hours leading to their predawn battle Wednesday for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

It was a scene that staggered the imagination.

Bongo drums beat an unnerving tattoo on the sensitive inner ear. Strident African music — with its heavy jumpy and jivy beat — poured out from the buses and shops. Native dancers, part of a carnival, sashayed with their bumps and grinds from the back end of trucks parading the boulevards.

Tension began building to an electric pitch in this humid, sultry capital where two black Americans have come to pay homage to their ancestors and battle 15 rounds or less for the ring's richest prize.

Both Foreman, the titleholder, and Ali, a former champion who had the crown taken from him outside the ring because of his failure to enter the military, have made much of their odyssey to the land of their forefathers but don't shrug off other motivations.

Each is guaranteed a $5 million purse — richest of all time. It is money in the bank. And neither has to be overly concerned whether the strange conglomeration of producers and backers reaches the aim of $20 million to $30 million gross.

The fighters themselves have been overshadowed somewhat by the fanfare and wild trappings surrounding the event but as time for the opening bell approached — 4 a.m. local time, 10 p.m., EST, Tuesday — Foreman held firm as the favorite despite escalating Ali sentiment.

The latest odds quoted from Las Vegas are 14-5. More conservative London bookies give the champion the edge 11-5. The international press corps, which has had the two boxers under close scrutiny for a week, has swung to Ali by a small majority. Ali has been very impressive in workouts — physically, mentally and vocally. Veteran Ali watchers contend that they have never seen him fitter or sharper. At 216½ pounds, he looks every inch the skilled meticulous assasin who twice stopped the awesome Sonny Liston in 1964 and 1965.

Foreman's advantage appears to lie in his age — 25, seven years younger than Ali — and his brute strength. He has demolished every opponent he has faced in the past two years, none going more than two rounds, and his victims have included such fighters as Joe Frazier and Ken Norton, who scored victories over Ali.

"Foreman didn't knock them out, he pushed them out," argues Ali. "He is a pusher. He is big and strong. But he is slow-footed, awkward, dumb. He has never met anybody like me.

"I am a dancing master. I am the best in the world. I am preparing to score the biggest upset in ring history."

There have been unusual heavyweight title bouts before.

But the sport never has seen a spectacle to match this one. At midnight tonight, when even all respectable leopards and zebras are asleep, tens of thousands of Zairians will be winding slowly toward the Stadium of the 20th of May to witness the first heavyweight fight ever staged in this part of the world.

They are expected to fill most, if not all, of the 62,889 seats in the massive soccer stadium, paying between $250 for the choice ringside chairs to $10 in the upper reaches.

Since President Mobutu Sese Seko and his government have paid $1.4 million as a guarantee of the live gate, the portals may be thrown open if all tickets are unsold.

The weird hour was picked to conform with prime time in the United States where the bout will be viewed coast-to-coast on theater television screens at a cost of $20 to $30 a seat.

This is the main source of revenue.

The 19-foot ring, with its red, white and blue ropes, is set up under a sprawling roof so that the fighters and the press rows will be protected in case of rain. Rain is possible. This is Zaire's monsoon season.

Units of Mobutu's army will be out in large numbers to control the highly demonstrative crowd, which already has shown a strong favoritism for Ali.

The crowd's favorite chant is:

"Ali, boma-ye Ali, boma ye."

"Kill him, kill him."

The controversial Ali has fed their emotions by terming Foreman an American Uncle Tom and even calling him a Belgian, an ugly word here where the Belgians held the old Congolese under their thumbs for decades.

Foreman, a one-time juvenile delinquent in the ghettos of Houston who joined the U.S. Job Corps and became very religious, shrugs off Ali's tantrums.

"Ali is a pitch man; talking is his game," Foreman says. "His fists are not as dangerous as his tongue."

Foeman is a hulking athlete — 6-feet-3 with the shoulders of a bull elephant and and hands as big as ham hocks. Although just as tall and only 3½ pounds lighter, Ali looks much leaner.

Ali is the master craftsman — a mover, a sticker. He is like a man with a rapier in the ring — cutting, chopping, hurting, rarely knocking anybody out.

Foreman is just the opposite — powerful, a plodder with primitive skills which wreak devastating results.

"I hope to knock him out," Foreman said. "Nobody gets hurt as much that way."

Blazers, Southmen Can Clinch Ties

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The Florida Blazers and Memphis Southmen are within one victory of clinching ties for World Football League divisional titles — but a couple of other teams will have plenty to say Wednesday night whether that big step is taken.

With three games remaining, the Blazers, 12-5, are two games ahead of the Charlotte Hornets in the East and the Southmen, 14-3, hold a two-game Central Division margin over the Birmingham Americans.

And it's the Americans who'll be trying to stay in the Central race by knocking off Florida. Memphis will have its hands full with the revived Hawaiians, 7-10 and still scratching to stay in second place in the West.

In Wednesday night's other games, Western champion Southern California, 12-5, is at Charlotte, 10-7, and Chicago, 7-10, visits Philadelphia, 7-10. On Thursday night, Shreveport hosts Portland in a battle of Western teams tied at 6-10-1.

Birmingham's got plenty of firepower in George Mira's passing to Dennis Homan and Alfred Jenkins — but the Americans, who won their first 10 games but have dropped five of their last seven, are running up against the WFL's top defense. The Blazers have allowed an average of less than two touchdowns per game.

Florida, which has won five of its last six games, knows how to score, too, behind Tommy Reamon, the league's leading rusher with 1,298 yards.

Memphis ran off 11 straight victories before losing to Portland last Thursday night. Now they face the Hawaiians, who equalled the WFL scoring record with their 60-17 swamping of Chicago a week ago.

The power of the Southmen is on the ground, with J.J. Jennings, John Harvey and Willie Spencer all among the top 10 rushers. The Hawaiians will counter with an aerial attack headed by quarterback Randy Johnson passing to WFL receiving leader Tim Deaney.

Charlotte can keep its slim hopes of an Eastern title alive with a victory over the Sun — but the Hornets will have to do it without quarterback Tom Sherman, out the rest of the season with a dislocated elbow.

Brian Dowling, who has thrown only 20 passes all year, will call the signals. Opposite him, Southern California has the league's leading passer in rookie Tony Adams. He'll be throwing to the WFL's No. 2 receiver, James McAlister.

Chicago has lost eight in a row but the Fire, doused by injuries, is counting on quarterback Bubba Wyche, acquired from the defunct Detroit Wheels, to help turn things around. The Bell, coming off a stunning 45-7 rout of the Sun, has both land and air power — land with John Land, a 1,000-yard gainer, and air with Jim Corcoran, the No. 2 passer.

Sawhill Is Backing Energy Conservation

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Energy Administrator John C. Sawhill is backing energy conservation in a policy struggle to decide whether the nation should burn less fuel or mine and drill for more.

Sawhill said in an interview Monday that he believes energy conservation is the nation's only short-range answer and is better than damaging the environment by all-out fuel production, which might require massive strip-mining in the West and drilling off the untouched Atlantic and Alaskan coasts.

Sawhill said this was the key energy decision facing President Ford.

He said he thinks the public favors energy conservation and he will seek public hearings before the Cabinet-level Energy Resources Council advises the President on what his decision should be.

The council is chaired by Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton, whose department leases federal coal and oil areas for development.

Sawhill said that "others in the administration," whom he did not identify, probably would argue for increasing energy production, but he indicated he would rather quit than back off his support for energy conservation.

Sawhill's FEA is soon to give the President a "Project Independence" report, whose first draft makes no specific recommendations but presents a strong case for energy conservation. Sawhill said no major changes are expected in the final version.

Here are Sawhill's answers to key energy policy questions:

Q. Is it possible to have continuing growth in the economy while reducing the growth of energy consumption?

A. We did not explicitly study that question, but I do feel there is a great deal we can do to reduce energy demand without having a significant impact on economic growth ... I don't think any other steps that we proposed in our demand-reduction strategy would have serious impacts on GNP (gross national product).

Q. Is there any general agreement on the energy situation and goals, in terms of conservation and supply increases, or is it still wide open?

A. I think it's still pretty wide open.

I think it's clear that FEA has a bias towards conservation, and that we feel strongly — I do, personally — that in the short range this is the only answer, and in the longer range it's preferable to taking some of the environmental risks associated with massive efforts to increase supplies.

On the other hand, there are others in the administration that, I'm sure, will argue for moving more rapidly to expand energy supplies.

Q. So that's the major trade-off: whether to cut your energy growth in half or to double your production rate?

A. Yes, it's that kind of trade-off ...

Do you interfere with the market mechanism in order to reduce demand and, in a sense, take away some of the people's freedoms — for example, their freedom to buy a very large automobile.

Or do you take measures to accelerate supply and thereby run greater environmental risks?

Jim Granberry Is Optimistic

By The Associated Press

Republican Jim Granberry admits he is the underdog in the governor's race but thinks he still has a chance to win in next Tuesday's general election.

"If my grass roots support continues to grow the way it has in the last few weeks, I believe we will win," Granberry told a capitol news conference, Monday.

His main opponent, Gov. Dolph Briscoe, remained in Uvalde to be with his critically ill mother. He has cancelled his campaign appearance for this week.

The American Party candidate for governor, Sam McDonnell, visited the Vought Systems division plants of LTV Aerospace in Dallas and in Grand Prairie Monday.

Granberry was to speak at those plants today.

Rep. Lindon Williams, D-Houston, pinch hit for Briscoe before a group of Texas war veterans in Houston. Williams told the crowd Briscoe had endorsed and will actively support legislation moving Veteran's Day up to its original date of Nov. 11.

The Democratic candidate for state comptroller, Bob Bullock, told Texas Municipal League delegates in Fort Worth "it's stupidity to charge school buses a state gasoline tax on one hand and worry about better school financing on the other."

"I've heard of robbing Peter to pay Paul but it's ridiculous to put a state gas tax on a county maintainer going out to work a county road," he said in prepared remarks.

Bullock said there is ample precedent for exempting city, school and county-owned vehicles from the state gasoline tax and pointed to the lower motor fuels taxes authorized for private transit systems operating under city franchises.

The Republican candidate for comptroller, Nick Rowe, said in Waco that the state could cut costs and improve efficiency if the comptrollers' office would provide fiscal guidance to other state agencies.

Rowe outlined an eight-point program that included creation of a non-partisan committee of leading business experts to study state operations and spending.

"The day of the low profile in the state comptroller's office must come to an end," he said.

"The comptroller must be ready and available to work closely with the legislature, the governor's office and all state department officials."

Bob Holt, Republican candidate for treasurer, said in a statement that his endorsement by the Dallas Times Herald and the San Antonio Express-News was "encouraging evidence of growing sentiment for change in that office."

Carless Day Is Proposed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Employers throughout the city start asking San Francisco's 500,000 commuters today to give up their cars one day each week.

The object: Save fuel by breaking the car-commuting habit.

Thirteen major corporations already have agreed to urge all their employes — from top executives down to clerks — to use public transit instead of private autos once a week.

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, who announced the carless-day plan Monday, urged employers to ask their workers to go along with the program he said could cut fuel usage 20 per cent and reduce the dependence on Arab oil.

"The only realistic way to beat the sheiks is to get out of our automobiles," Alioto said.

San Francisco's streets are fed by only three commute arteries — the Golden Gate Bridge, San Francisco Bay Bridge and highway links to the San Francisco Peninsula on the south. Available mass transit includes the Bay Area Rapid Transit System, buses and trains.

SURVEY PUT TO USE—Soil Conservation Service district conservationist Erwin A. Pavlik, of the Snyder Field Office, presents copies of the Scurry County Soil Survey to Mrs. Darrell Sims. Mrs. Sims used these Soil Surveys of Scurry County as the basis for the study of soils while doing substitute teaching in the Fluvanna Vocational Agriculture Department. The Soil Survey should be the basis for all land use planning.

Soil Survey Is Valuable Tool

How soil surveys can help you is the subject of a new set of color brochures available from the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

The leaflets are designed to describe uses which can be made of soil surveys by nine different groups including homebuyers, builders, developers, land use planners, land appraisers, farmers, ranchers, construction engineers, and others.

District Conservationist Erwin A. Pavlik of the Snyder Field Office said single copies of the leaflets are available free from his office.

Soil surveys have been made on about 120 million acres of land in Texas as part of the National Cooperative Soil Survey. Additional land is being mapped as the rate of about 5 million acres per year.

The surveys are made by SCS soil scientists who examine the soil acre-by-acre. They record depth, percent sand or clay in each layer, acidity or alkalinity, wetness, flood hazard, and other features by soil name symbols on aerial photographs. After a county survey is completed, the survey is published for public use.

Pavik said the survey for Scurry County is published and copies are available. The survey for Borden County has been completed but has not been published. Until the report is published, soil survey information for all land mapped in Borden County is available at the Snyder SCS office.

Soil surveys can be interpreted to determine suitability of soil for home sites, building foundations, septic tank filter fields, gardens, cropland, trees, parks, fill material, and other uses.

They can also be used to predict depth to bedrock; location of sand, gravel, or caliche deposits; corrosivity to metal pipelines; shrink-swell hazards; and dozen other features.

Pavlik urged anyone interested in soil surveys to contact his office for a free leaflet explaining how surveys can be used. If making your request by mail, specify your business or special interest so you will receive the leaflet designed for you.

The Snyder SCS office is located at 3423 Avenue T. The mailing address is P.O. Box 486, telephone number 573-3842.

Man Charged In Slayings

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas man remained in custody in Dallas County jail under $50,000 bond in the deaths of a former congressman's ex-wife and another man.

Lee Patton, 65, was formally charged Monday before Justice of the Peace Tom Naylor and bond set at $25,000 on each count in the Sunday slayings of Lucille Lynn Alger, 52, and Kenneth Ray Steele.

Mrs. Alger, who was divorced from former Dallas Congressman Bruce Alger in 1961, was shot three times in the face and neck with a .25 caliber automatic pistol and Steele was hit in the shoulder and forehead.

Police said Glenn Miller, a resident in the Steele home, Steele's daughter Theresa, 19, Mrs. Alger and Steele were watching television when Patton, described as a friend of Mrs. Alger, and W. W. Bobo were admitted early Sunday.

Witnesses said an argument developed and when Miss Steele went to a neighbor's home to call police, Steele and Mrs. Alger were killed.

Bobo said he disarmed Patton, but Patton left the house and later surrendered to police.

Alger who was for many years Texas' only Republican congressman, was elected to the House in 1954 and served until defeated for re-election in 1964 by former Dallas Mayor Earle Cabell, a Democrat.

Mrs. Alger said at the time of her divorce in 1961 that she was a political widow.

Jordan Rules Out Surtax

HOUSTON (AP) — A five per cent surcharge proposed by President Ford on individual incomes about $7,500 will not be approved by Congress, U.S. Rep. Barbara Jordan, D—Tex., predicts.

"We don't consider an individual income of $7,500 or a family income of $15,000 as middle or upper income," she told a meeting of the Houston Chapter of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants Monday night.

"I'm not saying there won't be any move to alter the tax structure to help the problem (of inflation)," she said.

She said some members of Congress are considering a 10 per cent surcharge beginning at levels of $20,000 to $25,000 per family.

Betty Attends Horse Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford has made her first major public appearance since undergoing surgery for breast cancer as honorary head of the Washington International Horse Show.

The Fords — President Ford was there, too — arrived in time Monday night to watch an exhibition of foxhounds and a competition open to riders who are diplomatic officers or their spouses.

The Fords were in evening attire — the President in tuxedo, Mrs. Ford wearing a navy wool gabardine evening dress with a navy fox collar.

The President and his wife sat in a ringside box in the National Guard Armory with a party that included newly named U.S. Ambassador to East Germany John Sherman Cooper and his wife and former U.S. Rep. Clark MacGregor.

Suicide Ruled In Death

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Ruling of suicide has been returned by the Dallas County Medical Examiner in the death Oct. 17 of Southwestern Bell executive T.O. Gravitt.

Dr. Vincent DiMaio, the assistant medical examiner, ruled Monday Gravitt died of "carbon monoxide intoxication." Gravitt, the chief executive of Southwestern Bell's Texas operations, was found in the garage of his home.

He held the title of vice-president in charge of operations.

Dr. DiMaio had held up his findings in Gravitt's death pending the outcome of an internal investigation currently underway into Southwestern Bell's Texas operations. Auditors are currently checking financial records in San Antonio amid reports of suspected kickbacks in regard to Southwestern Bell purchases of right-of-way and equipment.

Gravitt's body was found in the closed garage of his home and a car was running.

A spokesman for Southwestern Bell said Saturday the company would make a full public disclosure concerning the probe when it is completed.

ON FEEDER STEERS Producer Losing Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cattle feeder who bought 600-pound steers and all his feed last month would have to get nearly $44 per hundredweight for the finished animals next March to break even, according to Agriculture Department experts.

Prices of choice steers at Omaha lately have been running about $39 per 100 pounds. Economists say those could rise to a range of $43 to $45 on the average during the first quarter of 1975.

Meanwhile, livestock analysts in the department's Economic Research Service have computed costs for producing a choice 1,050-pound steer in the Corn Belt, based on what expenses would have been in September.

A 600-pound feeder steer would have cost $182.94 last month, on the average. About 45 bushels of corn for feed rations was put at $148.05 to carry the animal through next March to reach its market weight.

Other expenses, including silage, protein supplement, hay, labor, veterinary services and transportation to market, would have added to the bill. The total expense: $458.66 per steer.

Thus, according to the figures, a producer would have had to get $38.18 per hundredweight for the finished steer just to cover the original cost of the feeder animal and its rations.

When all other expenses are included, the producer would have to get $43.69 per hundredweight next March to break even.

The price of feeder cattle has tumbled the past year, currently ranging close to $30 per hundredweight in some areas. A year ago they were bringing $65 per 100 pounds or more.

The analysis was included in a livestock and meat situation report for October. It showed feedlot cattle, if carried to full term on grain, have been losing between $6 and nearly $10 per hundredweight all year, roughly $60 to $100 per head.

But the report also noted the shift in cattle feeding practices and predicted that some feeding operations can make a little money, given the right breaks.

Cattle feeders who have been buying older, heavier cattle this summer and feeding them for 80 to 90 days have realized a more favorable return than those on longer feeding programs, the report said.

But the report also noted the sharp decline in feedlot cattle numbs, and the trend probably will continue "well into 1975" because of high feed costs in relation to market prices.

Interlock Bill Inked By Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has signed a bill eliminating the federal requirement for a mandatory seat belt interlock system in cars, but says he still wants motorists to buckle up.

The unpopular interlock system had required motorists to buckle their seat belts before starting their cars. Although he signed the bill repealing the requirement, he said, "I give my strongest recommendation that all Americans follow the sound advice which tells us to buckle up for safety."

He also urged motorists Monday to observe the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit.

The repeal provision was part of a bill requiring establishment of minimum school bus safety standards within 15 months. The act also sets procedures for the remedy and recall of certain defective motor vehicles without any charge to the owner.

The bill was one of 23 that the White House announced Ford had signed.

Among them was a bill repealing laws permitting police to make raids without knocking under some circumstances.

Texas is full of surprises. Like coal.

In certain areas of Texas there are sizeable deposits of a soft coal called lignite.

Several years ago Texas Electric, along with two other companies, began acquiring rights to some of this lignite because we saw that new supplies of natural gas and oil, our basic fuels, could become increasingly expensive and difficult to obtain.

Today, Texas Electric is using this lignite to generate electricity in our Big Brown plant near Fairfield. Two more lignite plants are under construction.

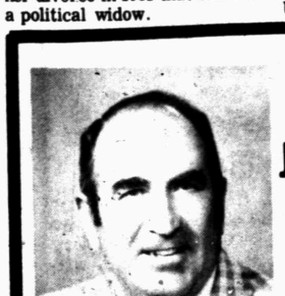

Using this lignite will help reduce our dependence on natural gas and oil. And one other advantage of using lignite for the generation of electricity is that it isn't being used extensively any other way.

But plants that use lignite cost a lot more than gas/oil plants.

While this means electricity will have to cost more in the future, the cost won't be as much with lignite as it would be with natural gas and oil, even if we could get adequate new supplies.

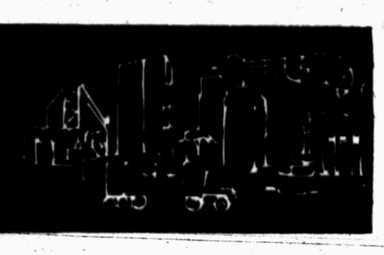

At Texas Electric, we're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

McBeth Eggs Offer Means For Fighting Inflated Food Bills

Leslie E. McBeth, owner of McBeth Egg Farm located west of town, was asked if the egg men are planning an animal slaughter similar to ranchers in protest of egg prices.

Here is his answer:

"It's true the commercial egg producer has been having a terrible time just as the cattleman, but he knows that the government will do nothing for him. Also, he knows that anything like the cattlemen have been planning is not in the picture. But there has been such a loss since last spring that a lot of hens have gone to the soup factory.

"The drought and early freeze have caused feed prices to rise so fast that eggs are selling below cost of production. Eventually this will bring on a shortage and eggs will have to rise in price.

"The consumer knows that eggs are high in protein, low in calories, highly nutritious and can be used for any meal, snack or sack lunch.

"But not many of them stop to think of what a good inflation fighter eggs are. The reason they are, is the fact that hens in cages produce good protein cheaper than other animals can.

"The housewife spends two to three times more for milk and meat than the producer gets for it. These products are passed through so many hands and the middleman gets a big cut.

"With eggs, the middleman has been run out; and, eggs are produced, processed, and delivered to the merchant by the same firm. Thus the grocer handles them on the smallest margin possible; so, the consumer is getting the most for his dollar. When his refrigerator has plenty of eggs, he can serve a good meal at little cost.

"Large eggs weighing more than 1½ pounds can be bought for less than 90 cents now. That is less than 60 cents per pound. Or two eggs for 15 cents contains many needed vitamins and more than 12 grams of protein.

"The other day, I was putting eggs in a local store. A lady picked up a dozen eggs marked 83 cents and remarked that they had gone up, too. She went down the aisle and picked up an eight pack of a soft drink and a package of potato chips that were $1.75 per pound.

"Some school kid will probably come in and fill up on starch and sugar. A boiled egg and fruit juice would give him the food he needed at one-fourth the cost.

"No, I am not saying one should eat nothing but eggs. But if they do go to $1.20 per dozen, that is only 80 cents per pound. Compared to other foods, it is like getting food stamps."

RADIATOR SHOP—Joe Rhhodes an employe Phillips Quick Service, 1701 College Avenue, has over 25 years experience working on radiators. At Phillips' radiator shop, he can pressure-check for leaks in the radiator, hoses, water-pump and seals, cylinder heads and engine block. Phillips Quick Service also has plenty of anti-freeze available.

Phillips Quick Service Has A Fully Stocked Radiator Dept.

Phillips Quick Service, 1701 College Avenue, has a completely stocked radiator department, and a trained craftsman is in charge of it.

I. E. Martin, owner of Phillips Quick Service, said Joe Rhodes, an employe with over 25 years experience, is in charge of the radiator shop. At one time, Rhodes operated the only radiator shop in town.

A quick check with Rhodes can save you time and trouble later on. For winter prepared ness, stop in at Phillips Quick Service and let Rhodes check your radiator with his modern testing equipment for quickly and accurately testing all component parts of the pressurized cooling system.

The usual radiator troubles can be handled easily at Phillips Quick Service. One of those, which comes about at this time of year, is seepage of the radiator. When anti-freeze is applied, it dissolves the scale which has formed in the radiator, and leaks in the radiator show up. On extremely cold days, the scale which has broken loose often causes stopups.

So, before putting expensive anti-freeze in your radiator, have it pressure-checked for leaks in the radiator, hoses, water--pumps and seals, cylinder heads and engine block.

Phillips Quick Service has new radiators for virtually all makes and models of passenger cars, trucks and tractors. In addition, Rhodes can provide you with radiators for commerical and industrial use as well as radiator caps. The firm has all sizes of heater cores.

"We've got several new replacement cores," said Martin, "And we'll be glad to put anti-freeze in your car if it needs it."
