RUSSIAN PILOTS REPORTEDLY FLYING COMBAT PLANES IN EGYPT

Nixon Orders Review Of Middle East Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered a full scale review of the Middle East situation in the wake of a State Department report that Russian pilots are flying combat planes in Egypt.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday, "The President has ordered an immediate and full evaluation of intelligence reports and the implication of them on the strategic balance in the Middle East."

"We regard this as a serious development and potentially dangerous," State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey added.

In addition, a spokesman said, the United States plans to ask the Soviet Union what its intentions are in permitting such actions.

The Russian-piloted aircraft reportedly have not ventured into Israeli airspace, sources said, but stayed within Egyptian boundaries.

Soviet Crews also are reportedly manning Moscow-built surface-to-air missile sites.

Nixon pledged to keep a close watch on the Middle East balance of power in making his recent decision not to grant additional airplanes to Israel.

The administration reportedly will take a hard look at Israel's standing request for more warplanes. Israel currently has fewer planes than the Arab nations, but have achieved what was described as a "qualitative" balance of power through better trained pilots.

The Russian pilots are highly trained and considered better than their Arab counterparts. This sophistication by Soviets at the controls of MIG21s, it was reported, threatens the balance of power.

Speaking in New York, Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson warned Russia against a new escalation in the Arab-Israeli conflict, saying it could increase "the danger of stirring up a wider conflict."

Informants said Israel sent word to Washington about a week ago that Russian pilots were flying MIG21 warplanes in Egypt's airspace.

United States intelligence forces also learned of the Russian actions, presumably by monitoring radio exchanges between the aircraft and the ground, sources said.

High-ranking officials said they still believe Moscow does not want a head-on confrontation with the United States. Nor do they believe Russia wants another outbreak in the Arab-Israeli war.

In New York, the Egyptian mission to the United Nations refused to confirm or deny reports that Soviets were flying combat planes in Egypt.

"Egypt's right to defend its air space cannot be subjected to discussion," the mission said in a statement. "The whole story is intended to pressure the United States into supplying more Phantoms and Skyhawks to Israel."

President To Explain His Surprise Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today called deepening American involvement in Cambodia "a grave development" and said it raises "important questions concerning United States policy in the widening war in Indochina."

The committee unanimously approved a statement expressing its concern as President Nixon prepared to address the nation tonight on U.S. support for the South Vietnamese operation into Cambodia.

ONE-SHOT DEAL?

Nixon invited members of the Cabinet and "a good cross-section" of the Republican and Democratic leadership of Congress to meet with him an hour before his television-radio appearance, to brief them on his remarks.

Asked how the President was responding to frequently adverse congressional reaction, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler declined comment.

He said Nixon authorized support for the move under his constitutional powers to conduct foreign affairs and as commander in chief of the armed forces.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said the Senate committee was especially interested in finding cut whether the South Vietnamese assault had the approval of the Cambodian government and whether this was planned as a one-shot operation or part of a general offensive.

CAN'T SEE IT

But the Arkansas Democrat conceded "I don't think there is any actual, practical way we can in the near future deny the President the power to order American troops into Cambodia."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., the ranking GOP member of the committee, said "I hope that the President will modify the announcement of Wednesday to such an extent that it will agree wholly with the position of the committee. But I don't expect him to."

He added: "It may be this is a one-shot operation. But I don't see it that way."

Nixon set his nationally televised address for 8 p.m. (Big Spring Time). Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the speech will relate to Cambodia and U.S. forces in Vietnam. Ziegler said a Cambodian request for direct U.S. arms aid remains under consideration.

Members of both parties joined in protest Wednesday after the decision was announced first in Saigon, then in Washington by the Pentagon, to provide advisers, air support and other aid for the South Vietnamese action.

'EXTREMELY BAD'

Top Senate Democrats, including Sens. Mike Mansfield, Edward M. Kennedy, J. W. Fulbright, Edmund S. Muskie, and George S. McGovern, denounced it as a move to widen the Vietnam war.

Senior Republican members of the Foreign Relations Committee joined in. Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, a veteran GOP leader, cautioned the action might have an "extremely bad" effect on GOP political prospects in the November elections.

The chairmen of House and Senate armed services committee, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., and Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., backed the move. But Stennis added he opposes massive military aid to Cambodia.

Announcement of the new U.S. move came during the Senate recess and two days after a near-unanimous Senate Foreign Relations Committee strongly opposed both American aid to the new Cambodian government or help for South Vietnamese action against Communist forces in Cambodia.

Ivey Can't Accept Post

Tom Ivey announced last night that it will be impossible for him to accept the post of county chairman of the Republican party.

His name is already printed on the ballot, and he was unopposed.

Ivey advised Republican leaders that the press of personal business prevented his taking on the chairmanship responsibilities.

Party leaders in a session Wednesday night made two nominations as their recommendations for write-ins on the ballot. These are Dr. Akin Simpson, who is serving his second term as chairman; and W. J. (Bill) Sheppard, who previously has been county chairman.

Military Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to suspend part of the U.S. MIRV nuclear warhead buildup — which opponents said could wreck the U.S. — Soviet disarmament talks — has been defeated by the House.

An amendment to cut all $471.7 million for MIRV — tipped Minuteman III missiles from the $20.24 billion military weapons authorization was rejected Wednesday 85 to 39.

Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, D-Calif., the amendment's sponsor, called the buildup incomprehensible in the face of U.S. efforts to negotiate disarmament with the Soviets.

He said the Soviet response could be to mount a capability to launch a first-strike nuclear attack against the United States.

NOMINEES' GIFTS HERE

Special gifts for those high school seniors and juniors who were nominated in the Zale-Herald Youth Award program this year have now arrived, and may be picked up at Zale's Jewelers.

The 87 young people in Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands High Schools may obtain the gifts at their convenience.

Traditionally, a gift has gone to each of the award nominees, but the shipment this year did not arrive in time for the awards banquet on April 23.

Welfare Reform Slapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee called back Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch today after his initial testimony produced sharp disagreement on the cost of President Nixon's plan to reform the welfare system.

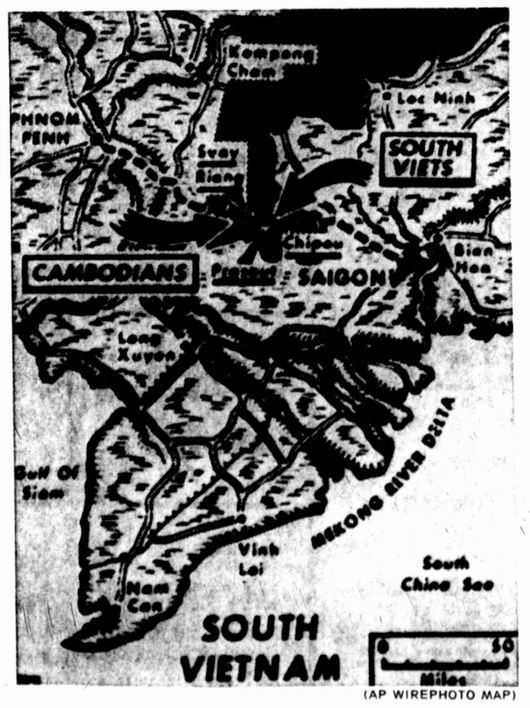

The secretary, opening the administration's case for the bill Wednesday, acknowledged it may cost $400 million more than the original $4.4 billion estimate.

But Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., the committee's senior Republican, insisted the proposal is more likely to cost $1.25 billion over the first projection.

While several GOP members drew a bead on the program's cost and how it could be met, Democrats said the proposal raised hopes that clearly could not be fulfilled.

Finch agreed the plan cannot answer all the needs of the poor but added it is not intended as a cure-all for unemployment problems.

The secretary said the plan would reduce the nation's poverty gap by about 60 per cent, set up national standards to make the welfare system more equitable, and provide real incentives to welfare recipients to get jobs.

ACCIDENT ACCOUNT CHALLENGED — Sen. Edward H. Kennedy, D-Mass., leaves a Senate hearing in Washington yesterday shortly before the text of the testimony at the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne was released. The judge at the inquest, James A. Boyle, challenged his account of the accident last summer. (See Story Page 2-A)

Five 'Boiler Room' Girls Recall Affair

BOSTON (AP) — The five other girls who attended the Chappaquiddick cookout that preceded Mary Jo Kopechne's death last summer recall it as a carefree affair given mostly to reminiscences of campaigns past.

"We told campaign stories," says Esther Newburgh in the transcript of the inquest into Miss Kopechne's death, released Wednesday. "We talked about a variety of different things."

NO DRUNKS

There was moderate drinking, the five girls testified, but no one drank excessively.

There was some dancing too, and singing. Steaks were cooked outside.

See Related Story Page 2-A

It wasn't until the morning after that the girls were told of the accident which claimed Miss Kopechne's life, they said.

Miss Kopechne died the night of the cookout when a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy plunged off a bridge about 1½ miles from the cookout site, a rented cottage, and landed bottom up in murky Poucha Pond.

The other young women at the party were Miss Newburgh, Maryellen Lyons, her sister, Ann, Rosemary Keough and Susan Tannenbaum.

All had worked for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy during his 1968 presidential campaign. They were part of a so called "boiler room" team that handled confidential phone calls.

Kennedy and Miss Kopechne left the party together between 11 and 11:30 p.m., the girls said.

'WE DIDN'T ASK'

"I didn't know where they were going," said Miss Newburgh, one of Miss Kopechne's closest friends and her roommate at the Katama Shores motel on Martha's Vineyard.

She said Miss Kopechne's pocketbook was left beneath a table in the living room.

"We wondered where everyone was," Miss Newburg said. Joseph F. Gargan, one of the men at the party, indicated around 2:30 a.m. that Kennedy had swum Chappaquiddick back to Martha's Vineyard.

"We asked where Mary Jo was." Miss Newburg said. But she added: "We didn't ask any of the men. We asked each other. We determined in our own minds that she must be back in the motel and she was lucky, she was asleep.

"We had no reason to be unduly alarmed," Miss Newburgh said at another point. "We were friends. We knew that if we had to stay that night at the island nothing was going to happen . . ."

SLEEPY TIME

Miss Lyons testified "Somebody. . . . said that Miss Kopechne was back at Katama Shores and that the senator was back in Edgartown. I believe it was Mr. Gargan."

Gargan and Paul Markham, another of the men at the party, had been summoned outside sometime after Kennedy and Miss Kopechne left, the girls said.

The girls said they talked afterward about how they were to get to the Vineyard since both the cars which earlier had been parked outside now were gone. Finally, they said, they decided to go to sleep at the cottage.

A few minutes later, however, Markham and Gargan returned.

"Mr. Gargan walked to the couch with Mr. Markham," Miss Newburgh said. Miss Newberg and another of the girls, Miss Tannenbaum, were trying to sleep on it.

'PLEASE GET UP'

"He said to me, 'Please get up,'" Miss Newburgh continued. "And he said something to the effect, 'I am exhausted; if you knew what I had been through you would let me lie there. Please let me lie there. Please let me lie there.'"

Cable Car Sex Vibes Net $50,000 Damages

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 29-year-old former Sunday school teacher who claimed a cable car accident left her with insatiable sexual desires has won $50,000 damages.

An eight-woman, four-man jury returned the award verdict Wednesday in favor of Gloria Sykes, who maintained that psychological injury from the accident six years ago led her to have sexual intercourse with 100 men in the past year.

Miss Sykes had sought $500,000 damages from the city-owned Municipal Railway.

During the trial Miss Sykes, wearing a miniskirt and with her long blonde hair in a pony tail, testified that she was a virgin until she was a 22-year-old coed at the University of Michigan, but subsequently had two affairs there.

She came to San Francisco two weeks before the accident on Sept. 29, 1964. A Hyde Street cable car on which she was riding slipped its cable, plunged down a hill and slammed into a power pole.

Her visible injuries consisted of bruises on her thigh, calf and forehead and two black eyes.

A parade of former lovers and psychiatrists tesitifed during the month-long trial.

Miss Sykes told the jury she received no pleasure from the numerous sexual encounters and once underwent an abortion.

Tornadoes Rake Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A series of tornadoes struck this city of 350,000 and adjoining communities early today, smashing homes and ripping roofs from apartment buildings.

Spokesmen for five of the largest area hospitals said 28 persons had been treated for injuries four hours after the storm. Three persons remained in hospitals and the others were released. None was in serious condition.

Several areas were hard hit. The Red Cross said it had sent a disaster relief squad to one area, in the northwest section of Oklahoma City, and that other units were standing by, waiting for reports from survey crews.

City Hall at the nearby community of Mustang and a shopping center in the town were heavily damaged. Yukon, located just west of Oklahoma City, escaped the brunt of the storm but a police spokesman said more than 20 power poles were leveled and one highway area was blocked.

Loss estimates were not immediately available but the Emergency Operating Center here said damage was widespread.

The tornadoes touched down just west of this sprawling community and skipped a crooked path across the northwest part of the city.

The tornados were accompanied and followed by high winds and torrential rains which flooded many city streets.

There was no immediate word on how many tornadoes hit the area. Observers reported seeing at least three at different locations. The Weather Bureau said there "may well have been two paths" and added that more could have been possible.

KENNEDY REJECTS CONCLUSIONS AS UNJUSTIFIED

Judge Disputes Testimony

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's claim that a wrong turn led to his plunge from a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island has been disputed by an inquest judge who said the senator was negligent in the accident that killed Mary Jo Kopechne.

Kennedy said he rejected as unjustified the inference and the finding of Judge James A. Boyle, whose inquest report raised new questions about the accident that altered American politics.

UP TO PUBLIC

And with his statement, the last of the Kennedy brothers said Wednesday he would speak no more of the fateful night on Chappaquiddick.

"The facts of this incident are now fully public," he said, "and eventual judgment and understanding rests where it belongs."

On Nov. 3, the 38-year-old assistant majority leader seeks re-election to the U.S. Senate. He said he did not know whether the inquest papers made public Wednesday would be used against him in the campaign.

Kennedy's inquest testimony gave no clear account of his reasons for failing to report the accident to police until more than 10 hours after it happened. He denied any personal involvement with Miss Kopechne and said that at no time the night of the accident was he under the influence of alcohol.

In his tardy police report on the July 18 accident, and in his testimony to the secret inquest last Jan. 5, Kennedy said he turned by mistake onto the dirt road that led him to Dike Bridge and the accident. He said he and Miss Kopechne were headed for the ferry from Chappaquiddick back to Edgartown, on Martha's Vineyard.

BIG SURPRISE

In the major surprise of the inquest papers, Boyle said he didn't believe it. The judge, who retires from the bench at midnight tonight, recited the inquest evidence, then declared:

"I infer a reasonable and probable explanation of the totality of the above facts is that Kennedy and Kopechne did not intend to return to Edgartown at this time; that Kennedy did not intend to drive to the ferry slip and his turn onto Dike Road was intentional."

That road leads away from the ferry crossing, across the bridge to a lonely, undeveloped beach on the easterly shore of Chappaquiddick.

Boyle's report described the bridge this way:

"Dike Bridge is a wooden structure 10 feet, six inches wide, has timber curbs on each side four inches high by 10 inches wide, no other guardrails, and runs at an angle of 27 degrees to the left of the road. There are no signs of artificial lights on the bridge or its approach."

WHY NO CHARGE?

"A speed of even 20 miles per hour, as Kennedy testified to, operating a car as large as this Oldsmobile," the judge declared, "would at least be negligent and, possibly, reckless. If Kennedy knew of this hazard, his operation of the vehicle constituted criminal conduct."

The judge said Kennedy had been driven over the bridge twice on the day of the accident.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

NO IMMEDIATE COMMENT ON INQUEST SAY KOPECHNES — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kopechne, are shown Wednesday at the door of their home in Berkeley Heights, N.J. Mrs. Kopechne said she would have no immediate comment on the release of the report of an inquest into the death of her daughter, Mary Jo Kopechne.

"I believe it probable that Kennedy knew of the hazard that lay ahead of him on Dike Road but that, for some reason not apparent from the testimony, he failed to exercise due care as he approached the bridge," the judge said.

Boyle's report, dated Feb. 18, did not explain why no additional charge was filed against Kennedy, who pleaded guilty on July 25 to leaving the scene of the accident. Boyle sentenced him to two months in jail, suspended, and a year's probation.

The possibility of new charges remained among the unanswered questions. By state Supreme Court order, the inquest papers were released only after Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis pronounced the case closed and certified that he planned no further prosecution.

Until that time, the inquest transcript and the Boyle report were locked in a courthouse safe.

A new Dukes County grand jury goes into session next month, and a top Massachusetts legal official says there is nothing to prevent it from reopening the case.

Boyle could not be reached for comment.

In Kennedy's two hour appearance at the inquest in Edgartown District Court, he testified that his destination when he and Miss Kopechne left a Chappaquiddick party was the Katama Shore Motor Inn in Edgartown, where she was staying, and then the Shiretown Inn, where he had a room.

In his report, Boyle noted that Kennedy normally did not drive, and that John B. Crimmins, his chauffeur, was among the guests at the Chappaquiddick party. Six men were there, as were six young women who had worked in the presidential campaign of the late Robert F. Kennedy.

Among the other points Boyle cited:

"Kennedy told only Crimmins that he was leaving for Shiretown, and requested the car key . . .

"Kopechne roomed with Esther Newburgh, the latter having in her possession the key to their room.

"Kopechne told no one, other than Kennedy, that she was leaving for Katama Shores and did not ask Newburgh for the room key.

"Kopechne left her pocketbook at the cottage when she drove off with Kennedy.

"It was known that the ferry ceased operation about midnight and special arrangements must be made for a later trip. No such arrangements were made."

Kennedy testified that after the plunge he recalled Miss Kopechne struggling, kicking "and I, at this time, opened my eyes and realized I was upside down, that water was crashing in on me, that it was pitch black . . .

"I realized that Mary Jo and I had to get out of the car."

He said he remembered pushing at the door, groping for the window.

"And I remember the last sensation of being completely out of air and inhaling what must have been a half a lung full of water and assuming . . . that I wasn't going to get out of that car alive and then somehow I can remember coming up to the last energy of just pushing, pressing and coming up to the surface."

Kennedy said the tide swept him 30 to 40 feet from the car. He said he waded back against the current, began diving to the automobile in an effort to rescue Miss Kopechne.

He said he dove seven or eight times, until he was exhausted, then crawled and staggered to the bank of the pond. After 15 or 20 minutes, Kennedy said, he started down the road, "walking, trotting, jogging, stumbling as fast as I possibly could."

Back at the cottage, Kennedy found Raymond S. La Rosa outside and asked for his cousin, Joseph F. Gargan, and Paul F. Markham, a friend and former U.S. attorney, who were in the cottage.

He, Gargan and Markham drove back to the bridge, Gargan and Markham stripped and began diving to the submerged car. Kennedy said they tried for 45 minutes to find Miss Kopechne. They failed, took Kennedy to the ferry crossing, urging him to report the accident to police, then returned to the cottage.

Kennedy faced extensive inquest questioning about the delay in the accident report.

Dinis: Was there any particular reason why you did not call either the police or the fire department?

Kennedy: Well, I intended to report it to the police. . . .

Dinis: I see, and did something happen to prevent this?

Kennedy: Yes.

Dinis: What was that?

Kennedy: . . . Mr. Markham and Mr. Gargan (said to me) at different times as we drove down the road towards the ferry, that it was necessary to report this accident.

"A lot of different thoughts came into my mind at that time. . . .

"I just wondered how all of this could possibly have happened. I also had sort of a thought and the wish and desire and the hope that suddenly this whole accident would disappear, and they reiterated that this has to be reported, and I understood at the time that I left that ferry boat, left the slip where the ferry boat was, that it had to be reported and I had full intention of reporting it, and I mentioned to Gargan and Markham something like 'you take care of the girls, I will take care of the accident'—that is what I said and I dove into the water . . .

Liberal Bloc Might Gain Majority In Texas Senate

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

The Texas Senate's delicate balance between liberals and conservatives could be tipped by Saturday's Democratic primary.

Conservatives now have a tiny margin—enough, for instance, to pass a sales tax on food that later died in last year's first special session.

But business lobbyists do not hide their fear that the growing liberal block might gain a majority in the 1971 Senate.

'DO THEM IN'

"Labor - endorsed candidates all stand an excellent chance," said one labor leader, who acknowledged that each liberal candidate has a fight on his hands. "There has really been a concerted effort to do them in."

State Senate races are getting almost as much interest in some cities as Ralph Yarborough's campaign to stay in the U. S. Senate.

There are primary contests for only nine of the 16 Senate seats to be filled this year and for 57 of the 150 House places. Sixty incumbent House members and six senators have no opponents at all, either in the primary or the general election. Republicans seek five Senate seats and are running in 57 House races.

Fifteen senators are not up for re-election this year.

Only one House race has received much statewide attention. Federal grand juries in Lubbock and San Antonio investigated the contest between Rep. W. S. Heatly of Paducah, chairman of the House appropriations Committee, and Leon Williams, former Quanah Chamber of Commerce manager. No indictments were returned. Williams and Zack Fisher of Memphis, the GOP candidate for Heatly's job, claimed economic pressures were applied to them after they filed against Heatly.

REAL THREATS

Based on AFL-CIO voting record analyses, there was a 16-15 conservative majority in the Senate last year, although the lines weren't drawn clearly on numerous issues, and some senators rightly should be called "moderates."

James E. Taylor, a lobbyist for truckers, said in an analysis prepared for businessmen, that there would be a 16-15 liberal majority if all liberal incumbents win re-election and if liberals capture two of four seats vacated by death or retirement.

Republicans could change the picture in November, but are considered real threats in only one or two races.

Four of the five liberal senators running for re-election have well-known, politically experienced opponents who are running vigorous races.

TAX BATTLES

"Liberal" and "conservative" will probably have more meaning in next year's legislative session than in some past ones. There probably will be another big tax fight, with lines drawn on whether there should be more consumer taxes or business taxes. Legislative and congressional districts likely will be rearranged, with plenty of opportunity to build liberal or conservative strength by the way lines are drawn. Pollution control will be an issue, with corporations wanting as much freedom as possible from regulation.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, already the leader of Senate liberals after only one term, is locked in a fierce contest with Rep. John Wright of Grand Prairie.

Mauzy claims Wright supported a sales tax on food last summer, voted against a strong anti-air pollution bill and had a poor attendance record. Wright says Mauzy supported a state income tax, voted against a campus anti-riot bill and supported the Vietnam moratorium demonstrations.

Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth is fighting for his political life in a three-way race with Reps. Doyle Willis and Joe Shannon Jr., also of Fort Worth.

Shannon, the chief threat to the veteran liberal, is hitting Kennard for opposing creation of a University of Texas Branch at Dallas, absenteeism and his liberal voting record.

Some believe Shannon was hurt when it was revealed that he and his first wife used false names when they filed for divorce in 1967. The petition was amended with their correct names the same day the divorce was granted. Shannon said they "did not want the divorce bandied about in a political campaign."

Walter E. Steimel, a Fort Worth lawyer with AFL-CIO backing, is opposing Sen. Tom Creighton, Mineral Wells, a conservative leader in the Senate.

CONNALLY'S KIN

The San Antonio area also has two Senate races involving incumbents. Rep. David Evans of San Antonio, a liberal, is opposing Sen. Joe Bernal, also a liberal. Erasmo Andrade of San Antonio, a leader of Mexican-American political activities, is opposing Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville, conservative brother of former Gov. John Connally.

Evans once said he was running against Bernal not on ideological grounds but "because I think I can do a better job." He recently asserted Bernal was publisher of a newspaper "designed to appeal to hippies and militants." Bernal said the newspaper, "The Eagle Bone Whistler," was established to disseminate information about ecology and the peace movement. He asserted he would cut his ties with it if it deviated from these areas.

In other races, without incumbents, former Congressman Lindley Beckworth of Longview, is unopposed in the Democratic primary but has a Republican opponent, John F. Raza Unida Party May Nominate AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said Wednesday that the Raza Unida Party may nominate candidates for county and precinct offices even though it has no state organizations and plans to nominate candidates only for Hidalgo County.

Martin's opinion was requested by Dist. Atty. Oscar Mclnnis, who said the new political party has filed an application in Hidalgo County to get on the general election ballot in November.

Signatures of at least 3 per cent of the entire vote in the last general election are on the application, he said.

Martin said the application may be filed with the county judge even before the party holds its county convention. Those who signed the application may participate in the Democratic or Republican primaries, he said.

Country Cooking Pains Ex-Yankee

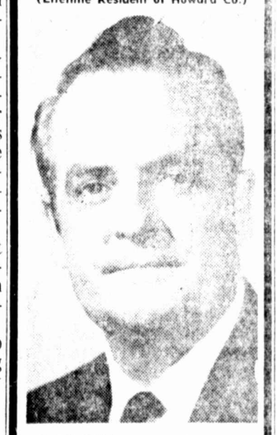

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Mickey Mantle's, a restaurant chain which bears the name of the former New York Yankee baseball star, lost $1,279,777 in 1969.

Reporting this Wednesday, Roy J. True, president of the Dallas-based firm, attributed the bulk of the loss to the process of changing the original country cooking concept to one of wider appeal.

True said this would involve the disposal of a number of the chain's existing restaurants.

'Horse' Ring Dealt Blow

DALLAS (AP) — Federal agents and local officers teamed to arrest four men Wednesday night at suburban Carrollton in what was described as a blow at major wholesaleing of heroin in Houston and San Antonio.

That appraisal of the raids came from Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who told about the operation in Washington.

Government officers said they seized about 70 ounces of Mexican-made heroin with a wholesale value of $36,000.

They said charges of illegal possession and sale of narcotics were lodged against Jose Hernandez, 47; his sons Baldamar, 22, and Fernando, 24, and Pedro Ramirez, 27. All are Carrollton residents.

John E. Ingersoll, director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, said the arrests followed a three-month investigation in which undercover agents made heroin purchases.

Illegally Possessing Gold Bullion Charged

EL PASO (AP)—Paul Sloane, 36, and his wife, Ercell, 37, were bound over to the Federal court in El Paso Wednesday on federal charges of illegally possessing gold bullion.

The probable cause in the case was found Wednesday in a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Fred Morton.

The two were arrested April 20 with Augustine Ley, 47, operator of a jewelry manufacturing firm in El Paso. Ley, held in jail in lieu of $2,000 bond, was not arraigned with the Sloanes.

Police said they found three small bars of gold bullion in Mrs. Sloane's possession. The bars assayed 65 per cent and weighed a total of 40 ounces, officers said.

Sixteen similar bars were found at Ley's firm plus numerous scraps of gold.

Sloane and his wife posted $2,000 bond.

Parole Hearing For Sex Figure

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Bernard Finch, convicted of murdering his wife in 1959 in a sensational case replete with sex and money, is scheduled for a parole hearing next Monday or Tuesday.

Can You Help A Young Person?

Adults are prone to boast that "when I was your age, I had a job and had to earn part or all my expenses." Well, now, there's nothing wrong with that and a whole lot right with it.

But do you know that young people still want and need to do this sort of thing. Contrary to a notion in some quarters, most of them don't want to lie around and do nothing — they want to work and earn money needed for expenses or for going to school and college.

The big hitch is in finding something to do. The discouragement the average young person goes through in trying to find a job is enough to break his heart if not his spirit.

Work-A-Rama has been developed by the Kiwanis Club and its youth-sponsored group, the Key Club, as a means of locating jobs for boys and girls from 15 to 21. The Texas Employment Commission is giving this effort every possible support, so if you have any sort of job you can offer, please call TES and ask for Work-A-Rama. This can be a one-time chore, a part-time job or a full time situation for the summer — just whatever you can do to help. These young people aren't proud about what they will do — only proud in that they want to earn their way. Can you encourage them?

Deserves Promotion

Among the judicial races to be decided in the Democratic primary Saturday is the important one for a place on the Supreme Court of Texas.

The Herald previously has announced its support of Judge James G. Denton, and again calls attention of the voters to his qualifications.

Judge Denton presently is chief justice of the Seventh Court of Appeals in Amarillo, has served there with honor and distinction since 1959.

His experience, his integrity and his knowledge of the law are unquestioned. He has been judge of a county court at law in Lubbock; he has been a district judge.

He is a graduate of Texas Tech and the University of Texas law school; he saw naval service in World War II. He has been active in many civic affairs in his home communities.

Attorneys and laymen alike have given Judge Denton their endorsement, and everything in his record seems to justify a promotion to the state's highest court.

The West Texan, incidentally, seeks the place being vacated by the retirement of Justice Robert W. (Bob) Hamilton, who is well known in this area. We think he is deserving of becoming Bob Hamilton's successor.

ISN'T THAT ON HIS BEAT?

Get The Troops Out Of Europe

WASHINGTON — While the cost of American living continues to soar, President Nixon's ambivalence toward the $14 billion-a-year tab for keeping 310,000 U.S. troops in an ingrate Europe lends him the air of a man carrying a board.

That is to say, Nixon looks a touch lugubrious. He should not be permitted to get away with his repeated assurance to European confidence men that he has no plans to withdraw any troops even after the expiration of our commitment to maintain the current level through June 30, 1971. Put bluntly and impolitely, such assurances sound both silly and two-faced from a President pledged to end galloping inflation.

FOURTEEN BILLION dollars is a lot of mazuma. So far, the administration is committed to spending only $10 billion — in the next five years — to clean up our environment. But aside from the filth with which we are surrounded, we need to stop spending that much dough in Europe because it is a big hunk of the Federal budget, and the main reason we are possessed by inflation is that Uncle Sam spends such vast sums on obsolete projects.

THANK HEAVEN Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield is telling the President to stop horsing around and announce a cutback or the Senate will take the matter out of his hands.

From Mansfield, it is a threat when he warns Nixon that "the longer a substantial reduction is delayed by the Executive Branch, the more likely a precipitate and, perhaps, complete withdrawal of U.S. forces from Europe." Mansfield has the votes to back up this threat. More than half the Senate now supports his resolution which demands a "substantial" reduction of our European garrison.

MOST OF Europe's political cutpurses want us to keep those 310,000 men on their soil, of course, but the main villain is West Germany, whose people are prosperous beyond their wildest dreams of avarice. Chancellor Willy Brandt goes about opposing a cutback not only on "psychological" grounds, but because he claims there's a chance of sweet talking the Russians into a mutual troop reduction.

This is hogwash, as Mansfield notes in gentler language. "The fact is," Mansfield points out, "there has been no indication whatsoever that the Soviet Union has been interested in a mutual reduction."

STILL THE White House drags its feet. It does much more. The latest communique from Press Secretary Ron Ziegler on the subject told tax-poor Main Street that President Nixon is not even thinking about altering the status quo.

Clearly Nixon caught something from Brandt during the latter's recent Washington stay. That something was Brandt's infectious statement that a strong American presence in Europe is useful "for the purposes of West Germany's Central European policies." Nuts to that.

What Others Say

Because of its long history and the aura of authority and permanence it conveyed, the revolution within the Roman Catholic Church has taken many observers by surprise. Perhaps it was because the Church of Rome was more visible, but it is only part of the revolution under way throughout the Christian world today.

In the Catholic Church the revolution began with Pope John, who recognized what he called "the signs of the times" and set about trying to update dogma as well as ritual. The Latin language is no longer used universally in the liturgy. In recent years the argument over more fundamental tenents has been rigorous. Laymen and priests have disagreed over such issues as prisetly celibacy and birth control. Priests and bishops have pleaded for more democratic procedures and for free speech. The traditionalists and the reformers are in almost perpetual disputation.

At the same time, Catholics and Protestants have drawn closer through the ecumenical movement.

At the heart of the crisis within the Christian churches today is a dilemma as old as man, posed in the question: God, or Man? As man penetrates more deeply into the mysteries of the universe on one hand, and into the origin of matter on the other, the credibility of religion itself becomes an issue.

What will come out of all this ferment no one can say with any degree of certainity. It is possible that a spiritual renaissance will occur. At the very least the quality of religious life of the faithful will be better, their faith buttressed and restored.

There is hope in this Christian revolution, though. Through the stresses and strains of modern life the churches have demonstrated their ability to change. The change is not in basic belief, but in making religious belief meaningful and consonant with the times.

Billy Graham

Can you tell me why older people have contempt for teenagers? They make me feel like a criminal. R.C.

One reason is that people are inclined to judge an entire group by the actions of a few of its representatives. Many grownups carry a lot of hostility against youth because they forget that the "go-go set" isn't typical of the average teenager. The facts are: most teenagers are doing their best to be decent, and personally, I think they are doing a pretty good job in a world that sometimes makes it easier to be indecent.

Children, when growing up, often become disillusioned. The boy who once stood in awe of his father's strength now sees his father as a moral weakling. The girl who once worshipped her mother, when she sees her in comparison to her teachers, or her friends' mothers, sees her in a different light. When a child feels the first flush of independence he often rebels toward the old guidelines and authority. When this occurs the old generation views the teenager as an unwieldy upstart who seeks to unseat his authority, and destroy his cherished traditions. The whole thing becomes a sort of undeclared war between two generations. Psychology calls it the "generation gap". But the truth is: the youth needs the old folks, and the old folks need the young people. We are all in this world together, and we must live together.

Tells Why Actors Are So Self-Centered

NEW YORK (AP) — Take the high pressure out of a television star's life, and what do you have? Well, in the case of Garry Moore, you have a relaxed philosopher and a happy man.

"It would scare the hell out of me if I were suddenly faced with doing a big hit show regularly again," he said. "I couldn't stand the anxiety."

Garry, one of the best-liked men in show business, remembers with pleasure—but with no desire to repeat them—the crowded years when he was the star of two of the nation's 15 top-rated network shows. In entertainment circles it was reported he was earning an awesome $30,000 a week.

"When you're real hot," said Garry, "you're working almost every moment you're awake. Somebody has you by the ear all the time, even when you're riding in a cab.

"This is why actors are so self-centered. They are constantly turned back in on themselves by other people as well as by their own inclinations."

Today Garry restricts his activities largely to a weekly broadcast for the "Voice of America" and a five-times-a-week chore as emcee of a new edition of "To Tell The Truth," the longtime television game favorite.

Since he probably has enough in the bank to keep steak on his table for several generations, why does he continue working at all?

"Well, I didn't do anything except occasional spot appearances for 2½ years," he said. "You get so you want to have a place to go when you wake up in the morning. Also it serves as a platform for other things you want to do.

"If you don't keep your name alive, you can't service the other things."

The "other things," which Moore didn't specify, are charities in which he is active.

"It may sound terrible to say so, but I have no big remaining goals in show business," he remarked. "My goals are to sail my boat"—he has a 40-foot ketch—"keep my friends, and enjoy life.

"One of the things I like most about being on 'To Tell The Truth' is that I'm just a hired hand.

"When I had two shows of my own running, I didn't know it was particularly difficult until I stopped. Now I could no more do that again than I could go to the moon.

"One of the big problems of having your own show is that you are responsible for the welfare of so many people. Too much hinges on you.

"You have to be aware even of the second trombone player's troubles with his wife—and do something about them."

John Cunniff

'The Public Is Wary'

NEW YORK (AP) — Ask almost any stock market analyst the reason for the recent stock market slide and he'll blame it on the public.

"The public is wary," he'll say, or "the public expects greater values when the market goes lower," or "the public is worried over the Southeast Asia situation, high interest rates and the persistence of inflation."

The public? Who is this public so often referred to? It is a cross-section of American investors of all sizes, shapes and geographical distribution? You might believe so. It isn't.

The fact of the matter is that each year more of "the public" is made up of multimillion—and sometimes multibillion-dollar corporations, based on the nation's largest cities. Numerically speaking, the public is a relative few.

Today there are 26 million shareholders, or more than four times the number of 20 years ago. Does this mean they have that many times the power to influence prices? Not at all. They have much less power.

The explanation is that the institutions—mutual and pension funds, trusts, insurance companies and banks—have grown incredibly powerful in recent years and on some days do most of the trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

That 26 million figure is somewhat of an illusion as well, because it includes as shareowners those people who invest in mutual funds, rather than directly in stocks. And no small investor tells a fund what to do.

Documentation for the trend is contained in a study of trading on the Big Board during the first six months of 1969.

It states:

"In terms of total NYSE share volume, institutions and intermediaries accounted for a record 41 per cent in the first half of 1969—up sharply from their porportion in 1966 and 1960..."

On the other hand, "individuals contributed only about 35 per cent to the total volume during the first half of 1969, compared with significantly higher figures in prior studies."

And who accounted for the other 24 or 25 per cent? Members of the exchange who traded for their own accounts. In 10 years, however, their percentage of trading has changed little. The big change is the increase in institutional power and the reduction in power of the individual investor.

The dominance of institutions is even more pronounced when the dollar figures are reviewed. In the first six months of last year they accounted for 46 per cent of the dollar volume, compared with just 29 per cent in 1960.

'Calcium Deposit In The Back'

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Just what is a "calcium deposit?" After reading about football players and their torn ligaments, I was surprised to read of a baseball player being treated for a calcium deposit in his back.

Mine is on the upper back. All I was told was that to get relief I could get a "shot." Of what? Cortisone? Is that the only treatment? What causes them, and are there any do's or don'ts in regard to food, weight or exercise? — Mrs. E.S.

Neither baseball players nor football players nor housewives have any monopoly on calcium deposits. In fact, probably just about everybody has some, but they don't always do any mischief.

What are they? Well, if you broke a leg, the fracture would "knit" and that would mean that your system laid down new bone and calcium to seal the fracture. These healed fractures show up clearly in X-rays.

Calcium is vital to the healing processes.

These knitted fractures, or healed wounds, do not necessarily cause any trouble afterward, in spite of the fact that you have a "calcium deposit" at the site.

But when, as sometimes happens, the calcium is located at some strategic spot, you may have some pain. A "heel spur" is an example; it's a lumpy bit of calcium which has gathered in the heel tendon and it can (sometimes) hurt to step on it.

A fracture or an open wound need not be involved. When you mention a calcium deposit in the back, it could be the result of an injury but not a fracture. It could also be an area in which scar tissue has formed as a consequence of an infection.

As I say, probably just about everybody beyond infancy has healed places of one sort or another, but it doesn't matter, unless the accumulation of calcium is sufficient to cause pressure — in the heel or in the back or wherever.

Diet has no effect. Weight might, depending on where the deposit is. Exercise won't remove a calcium deposit, and in general will have no effect, except for one thing: if a deposit is causing lameness in a joint, enough movement to prevent the joint from stiffening is in order.

The "shot" mentioned to you? Probably cortisone or some derivative. I'll let you in on an open secret. After all these years, we still don't understand very thoroughly just what cortisone does, but as a practical matter, it very often gives relief in cases like this.

In some instances calcium deposits can be removed by surgery, but that depends on the location, and on whether the deposit is annoying enough to warrant such measures.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is anything medically wrong when a person craves salt, not only on food. I have awakened at night craving salt.—B.A.

It can indicate something wrong — an adrenal gland condition is one possibility. This craving should be reported to your doctor so he can start tests.

Around The Rim

Gift For Dismantling

The littlest one at our house has learned much too quickly how to manipulate a screwdriver, wrench, hammer, and pliers.

I LEARNED this the hardest way while I was putting the license tags on the cars last month. He snapped up a screwdriver, and while I was otherwise groaning with a rusty bolt, he began taking the door from the car. His chore was not an easy one, and I have failed in a similar effort. How a three-year-old managed to get those tough screws loose, I still don't understand.

SINCE THAT bit of excitement, he has been putting this new-found talent to work whenever possible, mostly on his toys. One relatively expensive game of Christmas last turned up in small pieces — nothing broken, just taken apart down to the last small part. Somehow or other, he has not been able to put it back together, near as I can tell, he has not even tried.

THOSE AIRPLANES and trucks with batteries last only a few hours. He quickly finds out how to snap open the cover, then removes and promptly loses the batteries. I, of course, am supposed to figure out how to operate the vehicle without a battery pack. Most of them I can't get to work with all the batteries in place.

We managed the other day to get one of those little cars to run, but it always goes backwards. All manner of switching batteries and bending contacts have done no good. It runs beautifully, but never forwards.

A ROBOT, almost his size, has managed to withstand the ravages of the few months since Santa Claus delivered him. But this is due largely to the fact that his mother keeps the robot high on a shelf most of the time.

ODDLY ENOUGH, his favorite of this fantastic toyland is a bunch of little cars, all solid metal and with wheels that mostly are bent. He hauls these about in a special satchel, and occasionally runs them across a yardstick-bridge. Not a day goes by that he doesn't devote some time to them. There is undoubtedly some kind of moral to this preference for the simple toys. For one thing, it shows that kids know more about what they like than their parents.

Time For United Nations To Act

WASHINGTON — The United States is again appealing to world opinion and, of course, to the United Nations to protect small countries against deliberate violation of their neutrality, as in the case of Cambodia.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers minced no words as he put the blame on North Vietnam for an "explicit and unprovoked violation of the fundamental provisions of the charter of the United Nations." He specifically charged that "more than 40,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops have invaded and now occupy Cambodia."

THE GOVERNMENT of North Vietnam is a signatory to the Geneva accords of 1954 and 1962 which now are being violated. The Soviet Union has been negative toward calling a conference of the Geneva signatories, according to Secretary Rogers, and the United Nations has not taken any initiative. Meanwhile, Cambodia has been asking for military help from the United States, particularly supplies and advisers.

The President and Secretary of State have not given any inkling as to what aid the United States may provide. It is evident that an effort will be made first to set up some kind of peace conference. Secretary Rogers says:

"IS IT NOT time for nations which are signatories to international agreements actively to support them? Should not the international community itself more actively look for ways to shoulder its responsibilities?"

Now Red China, which has been aiding the Communists in North Vietnam, has launched a satellite and attracted worldwide attention as a factor of more importance in the nuclear defense problem. The Soviet Union can hardly be comfortable about such developments.

..ASIA, THEREFORE, becomes more and more a dangerous area. If, as American troops are withdrawn from South Vietnam, small countries like Cambodia and Laos are taken over by the Communists, the whole objective of the American effort in Southeast Asia will have been defeated. The Communists, by the process of subversion, will begin to undermine other governments, too, and endeavor to control them. Will the United States stand by and do nothing about it?

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE have for the last six years been helping South Vietnam with a steady flow of troops and supplies. The war is not popular and, unfortunately, just at the time when the climax is approaching, the demand is for a faster pullout of troops. From a military standpoint, what is happening in Cambodia and Laos could be squelched in a few weeks by a ground and air operation of American forces into the area. But public opinion in this country is presumably not behind such a policy.

The debate inside the United States demanding not only withdrawal of troops but detachment from further involvement in Southeast Asia affairs is leading already to bold efforts on the part of the enemy to take advantage of the American government's apparent reluctance to act alone and of the probable indifference of the United Nations to the whole situation.

MEANWHILE, President Nixon is pondering a crucial decision. If he moves into Cambodia with sufficient military help to save that country, this would tend to strengthen the morale of the South Vietnamese. Fortunately, Mr. Nixon didn't set a timetable for the withdrawal of more American troops from Vietnam. He said, in effect, any time in the next 12 months. This gives him a chance to order military protection of both Cambodia and Laos by American forces if the Communists persist in their apparent plot to grab those two small countries.

Roman Circus

WASHINGTON — "Good afternoon, everybody. This is Chris Schenkel speaking to you from Yale University on this beautiful June day. As you recall, after the tragic events of May when the students struck the university in sympathy with the Black Panthers, the authorities agreed to dispense with normal judicial procedures and hold the trial of the Panthers in the Yale Bowl with the students deciding thde guilt or innocence of the Panthers by popular acclaim.

"THE IDEA for the compromise was suggested by a professor of Roman history, who felt that this would satisfy both the legal requirements of the state as well as the complaints by the student body and faculty that the Panthers could not get a fair trial.

"If you'll forgive me for saying so, there is a Roman circus atmosphere here today as well as a sense of excitement. The crowd knows that they are making history, and all I can tell you is that after this day American jurisprudence will never be the same. To keep the crowd amused, a few minor trials have been held already.

"A PROFESSOR who decided to hold classes during the student strike was found guilty of racism and was thrown to a group of hungry lions which are now tethered at the 40-yard line.

"A judge of the state supreme court who issued an injunction against holding the trial in the Yale Bowl was also thrown to the lions.

"Well, we're just about ready for the big trial. The cheering section across from me is now doing card tricks. There they go with "Free Huey Newton." Now they're spelling out . . . well, let's skip that one . . . And here is the final card stunt . . . all I can make out from here is the word 'mother.'

"WAIT A MINUTE! Wait a minute! That roar you just heard from the crowd means . . . Yes, there they are, coming in at the far corner of the stadium . . . the Black Panther defendants . . . The crowd is on its feet waving their BP banners. It is an unbelievable sight.

"Now theyre starting to boo . . . Oh, I see, the government witnesses are coming out of the other end of the stadium. The crowd is starting to throw bottles and cushions at the government witnesses . . .

"NOW THERE goes Bobby Seale. He's giving the black power salute . . . That did it . . . The crowd is pointing their thumbs up. It's a not guilty verdict . . . Now the crowd is chanting 'Free them, free them' . . . The Black Panthers have been found innocent!

"This is a great day for New Haven, a great day for the United States and a great day for Yale. What a magnificent sight . . . Now the students are pointing their thumbs down . . . I'm not sure what this means . . . Wait a minute . . They're finding the government witnesses guilty . . . They want the witnesses thrown to the lions . . Yes, there they go . . . The crowd is on its feet. The witnesses are being thrown to the lions, and there goes the prosecutor and the judge . . .

"That about winds up the legal arguments here at Yale University for this week."

Reds Blast Intervention In Cambodia

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnamese Communists today denounced U.S. intervention in Cambodia as "open aggression." They said it was a "grave new step in escalation" and vowed that the forces of "all the peoples of Indochina" would unite against the Americans.

Nguyen Minh Vy of North Vietnam told newsmen at the 65th session of the Vietnam peace talks that the peoples of Laos and Vietnam will "resolutely support the Cambodian people in their struggle against the American aggressors and the clique of putschists led by Lon Nol."

Vy said the basis for common action was laid last weekend at the "summit of Indochinese peoples" at which Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk met Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam. Prince Souphanouvong of the Pathet Lao and President Nguyen Huu Tho of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Vy's attack was echoed by Dinh Ba Thi, deputy chief of the Viet Cong delegation. Thi said American intervention in Cambodia was "a maneuver by the Nixon administration to commit open aggression to give military aid to the mercenary group of Lon Nol," the Cambodian premier who deposed Sihanouk on March 18.

South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam countered with the charge that "the evolution of the situation ... has clearly shown that the aggression unleashed against South Vietnam is only part of a vast Communist scheme aimed at placing the entire (Indochinese) peninsula under Hanoi's authority."

He said this "scheme ... is clearly illustrated by the recent attempt on the part of North Vietnam to form a "united front of Indochinese peoples" under its auspices."

U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Habib said he would let President Nixon speak for the United States in a nationwide radio-television address scheduled for tonight.

DEAR ABBY: Is there no way a mother can tell a lovely married daughter that she is the world's worst housekeeper?

She is a perfectly wonderful young woman, but her house and children look like the wrath of God!

She came from a clean home and was taught how to do things, but for some reason she never quite "gets around" to doing them.

The iron and the needle and thread are complete strangers to her. She does her laundry only when she runs out of clean clothes.

Fortunately, her husband is a very patient man, but I'm afraid one of these days he will become disgusted and refuse to come home to such a disorganized mess.

Perhaps she will read this.

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: And what if she 'DOESN'T read this? Don't wait for her husband to lose patience and "refuse to come home." It may be too late then. Don't rule out the possibility that your daughter may have a physical problem. A thorough check-up may be in order. Have a mother-daughter talk and tell her what you've told me. It would be a kindness.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: That letter in your column signed "ODDBALL' could have been written by me, only he was a man, and I'm a woman. ODDBALL wrote that both his parents were dead and he hadn't been to the cemetery to visit their graves because it "tore him apart" to go out there. He further said he'd been a good son to them — so it wasn't a guilty conscience. He also said his brothers and sisters went to the cemetery regularly and said it made them feel "good" —but he just couldn't do it.

His question: "Should I go so my family won't think I'm disrespectful to the memory of my parents?"

Your answer: "No. The time to visit parents is when they're living. Stay away and don't feel guilty."

Abby, that's what I've wanted to hear for 20 years. God bless you. May you live to 100. Sign this. ANOTHER ODDBALL

DEAR ODDBALL: Thanks. I'll settle for a lot less.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Isn't it impolite to come right out and ask a 40-year-old man why he isn't married? ROLAND

DEAR ROLAND: Yes. Especially if you think you know.

YOU'RE NOT WELCOME!!

AMARILLO (AP) — William Steger, Texas state Republican chairman, said today American Party members would not be welcomed in the GOP's primary election Saturday.

"We never have wanted people labeled as interlopers to try to come into a primary without fully subscribing to the views of our party," Steger said in response to a question.

Earlier, Bard Logan, former chairman of the American Party, said members of the American Party should vote in the Democratic Primary for Lloyd Bentsen. The present American Party state chairman, Col. H. W. Mathews of Conroe, has endorsed Dr. Robert Morris in the GOP primary.

Steger also called for all Republicans to vote in their own primary election Saturday.

Mortgage Firms Inquiry Sought

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Joe Salem of Corpus Christi called today for an investigation of mortgage companies that fail to notify home owners when their insurance policies expire.

Salem said some mortgage companies automatically renew the policy without notice. This prevented the home owner from transferring his insurance to another company without paying a substitution fee required by law.

Salem said he had notified the companies involved, the State Board of Insurance and the Texas Mortgage Bankers Association that "a full investigation will be conducted."

County Judge Won't Resign

HEREFORD, Tex. (AP) — County Judge H. C. Williams, who has been asked to resign his post by the Deaf Smith County grand jury, said Wednesday he plans to remain on the job.

County Sheriff Ed Roberson resigned last week, saying he couldn't work with Williams.

The grand jury recently concluded an investigation into organized crime and drug traffic and useage in Deaf Smith County.

Williams said he is not guilty of any malfeasance or misconduct in office and sees no reason why he should resign.

County commissioners will meet Friday to consider the applications for the sheriff's job.

16 Job Center Pupils Expelled

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Sixteen students at the Gary Job Corps Center have been expelled after an episode Sunday night when roving bands of vandals smashed windows and raided snack bars, the center said Wednesday.

The job center is a federal agency.

Wallace Dockall, director, told the Austin American that investigators are still checking and perhaps others would be expelled.

Dockall told the American that 40 to 50 corpsmen smashed windows in two snack bars, the student store and one dormitory area. Cigarettes, candy and other items were taken.

Dockall estimated the damage and loss at $1,200.

A center spokesman said officials found no evidence that racial disagreements caused the disturbance.

Four Dallas Cops Face $170,000 Damage Suit

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A Dallas couple filed a $170,000 damage suit Wednesday, charging four Dallas police officers with illegally breaking into their apartment and shooting the woman in the head.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Vaden charged in the federal court suit that the plainclothes policemen apparently were acting on a search warrant which referred to another apartment when they broke down their door last Nov. 7 and drew their guns.

The suit said Mrs. Vaden was attempting to hand Vaden a .22 caliber pistol when the officers for the first time identified themselves as police. The suit said Mrs. Vaden then dropped the pistol and a moment later was struck in the head by a police bullet.

Named as defendants were Billy S. Ball, C. E. Maberry, Rudy Diaz and John Landers.

The suit also alleged that the officers, after realizing they were in the wrong apartment and without Vaden's consent, searched the back bedroom of the apartment and took pictures of the living room.

Three Men Socked By Slingshot Raps

EUFAULA, Okla. (AP) —Three Oklahoma men were charged Tuesday under a dusty 60-year-old state law for possession of a slingshot in connection with the shooting of two freight trucks with missiles south of Checotah.

Charged with use of a "slingshot" were Otto C. Detherage Jr. and Oren Marland Glover, both of Oklahoma City, and William E. Sanders of Del City.

The trio pleaded innocent before Associate Dist. Judge Marilyn Mathews and were held under $12,000 bond each. Preliminary hearing was set for May 27.

All three men were former employes of the truck lines, said Asst. Dist. Atty. John Boydston.

Engineer Boss At Denison Dam

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — An Arkansas man will become resident engineer for Army Engineers at Denison Reservoir May 4, Col. Vernon W. Pinkey, district engineer, announced.

Otis K. Higginbotham, of Ashdown, Ark., has been resident engineer of the Millwood Dam and Reservoir project in Southwest Arkansas since 1965. He will succeed Allie J. Major, who recently was transferred to Fort Worth, Tex.

Phone Service Info Unfurled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Statistics gathered by the Federal Communications Commission indicate the nation's phone service has deteriorated over the past two years with New Yorkers—as many of them suspect—getting the worse service of all.

Los Angeles seems to be getting some of the best service.

The FCC, in a study initiated last fall, has collected figures from the Bell Telephone System on the quality of phone service in 20 major population areas, and is awaiting statistics from seven independent telephone companies.

While a final analysis is still in the works the commission's Common Carrier Bureau is willing to reveal the raw statistics, but not interpret them.

But some of the figures speak for themselves.

They show, for example, it takes longer to get a phone installed in New York City than anywhere else. And once you get it, you'll have a harder time getting a dial tone or an operator on it. If you ask the operator to help put your call through, she'll have a harder time doing it from New York than anywhere else.

New Yorkers also find themselves seeking phone repairs more often than anybody except the folks in Southern Florida, and, like the Floridians, they have to call back more than most people to get it.

Los Angeles shows the best service record in only one of the nine major tests—Angelenos don't have to call back so often after they order repairs.

But their service can be rated best in general because performance in each category usually is above average.

The FCC has drawn no conclusions yet from its statistics, but by adding each area's rank in all nine categories a kind of score can be reached to serve as a rough rule of thumb—a tally of who seems to be having the most or least problems.

On that basis—entirely unofficial—the areas studied by the FCC as of January, 1970, stacked up this way, from those with the fewest problems to those with the most:

Los Angeles; Nebraska and Arizona about even; Washington, D.C.; Dallas; Georgia and Metropolitan Detroit; Western Pennsylvania, St. Louis, and Washington State;

Maryland; Northern Ohio; Colorado; San Francisco Bay area; Chicago; Tennessee; Philadelphia; Massachusetts; Southern Florida; and New York City.

Lions Plan Bulb Sale

Hold off just a few more days for those light bulbs, and the Lions will be around with their handy packs.

Jimmy Parks has set a meeting with his division commanders, Paul Petterson and Tom Henry, and with their team captains to prepare for the annual light bulb sale May 7-8-9.

Downtown Lions will be armed with 100 cases of the bulbs to raise funds for their welfare and sight conservation projects. Purchase of eye glasses for children and adults who cannot afford them, together with other programs such as youth work, the crippled children's camp, and community activities are made possible by this fund.

Petterson's captains are Jerry Phillips, Aubrey Bryans, Don Shoemake, John F. Smith, Bob West. Those under Tom Henry are Ernie Boyd, Marshall Box, Dan Conley, Ted Hicks and Jim Holmes.

Lloyd Bentsen Stops At Terminal

Lloyd Bentsen, who is challenging Ralph W. Yarborough in Saturday's primary for the Democratic nomination as United States senator from Texas, was to be at Midland-Odessa air terminal today to meet with supporters and members of the press.

Bentsen is on an air tour of Texas in a last push for the senate seat. He was to arrive at the airport at 12:10 p.m. from Abilene and leave at 2:10 p.m. for San Angelo. He was to be in San Antonio tonight.

Young People Seeking Jobs

Have you anything you need done that a boy or girl between the ages of 15 and 21 years of age can do?

Robin Hoover and Terry Butler of of the Key Club and Ben Bancroft of the sponsoring Kiwanis Club carried this appeal to the Downtown Lions Wednesday and asked members to aid in finding jobs this summer for young people.

Youth wants to work, to be doing something constructive, and in many cases young people have to earn money in order to go to school or college, they told the Lions.

Anyone who can furnish summer of part-time jobs for such things as clerical, typist, stenographic, car hop, sales clerk, hand bill distributors, soda fountain work, grocery sacker, ticket taker, package deliverers, service station attendant, child care, painting, child care work and a host of other jobs is asked to call 267-5291 and ask for Workarama.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Although you don't care for those chores at home, it is important you do them so there is more time for other things later. Have more harmony there, too. Get ideas from kin how to improve your economic position.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be willing to discuss mutual interest with co-workers so that you make greater headway with them. Keep important appointments. Do necessary shopping, too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Do whatever will give you an added income instead of trying to invest unwisely, or take chances with property you hold. Listen to what a clever business person has to say. Be happy with mate tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) A good day to contact fascinating personal friends and to have fun. Make sure that you dress nicely. Be your own vital, dynamic self.

Port Profit

BEAUMONT (AP) — The Port of Beaumont showed a profit of $1,037,313 during fiscal 1969 despite a longshoreman's strike which idled port activities for nearly four months, port authorities said today.

Total operating costs of the port totaled $471,504.

THE SURVEY IS OVER — About 50 Texas Highway Department employes completed a two-day "origin and destination" survey along the city's major access routes Wednesday. As part of TOPICS (Traffic Operations Program to Improve Safety and Capacity), the survey will be analyzed to determine better traffic control methods in all sections of the city. Highway Department Engineer Joe Smoot said today that the men involved were all impressed "by the courtesy shown by the people of Big Spring" during the survey.

Blackmun Vote Is Put Off Until Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee put off its vote today on the Supreme Court nomination of Judge A. Blackmun until next Tuesday.

Sen Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said that although he is not opposed to the Rochester, Minn., judge, he requested the delay so that committee members would have a chance to study the hearing record.

Sen Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who had indicated prior to the closed meeting that he might force a delay, told newsmen he had been prepared to vote today but with the understanding that he would have a week to prepare separate views of the nomination.

Bayh, a leader in the fight against the two Southern judges whose nominations to the Supreme Court were rejected by the Senate, also said he wanted an opportunity to review Blackmun's tax returns prior to Senate action.

However, Bayh said that as of now he knows of no one on the 17-member committee who plans to vote against recommending Senate confirmation of Blackmun, now a judge of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., called today's meeting in hopes of taking a vote but noted any member had the right to invoke a rule delaying action for a week.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said prior to the meeting he was inclined "to go a little more slowly" but hadn't decided whether to force a postponement.

At Wednesday's hearing, Bayh told Blackmun "the fact that a man of your caliber and excellence is before us now provides some salve for past wounds and confrontations."

"Perhaps these old battles have been worthwhile," said Bayh, a leader in Senate rejection of President Nixon's earlier nominations of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth of Greenville, S.C., and Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

T&P Depot, Long-Standing Landmark, Is Going Down

It takes 60 years to make a landmark and 45 days to tear it down.

Jerry Stephens and other local men have contracted to demolish the old Texas & Pacific Railway Passenger Depot built around 1910.

When passenger service to Big Spring was discontinued in 1967, the old depot was of little use to the railroad and, by the spring of the following year, all offices had been moved to another building to the west.

The old building stood locked and empty for the next two years as several groups sought to convert the building into an industrial plant or museum.

The Big Spring Historical Society attempted to turn the depot into a depository of local artifacts, but ran into money problems.

One novelty company wanted to use the building as a plant site, but it's design proved too much for the plant designers.

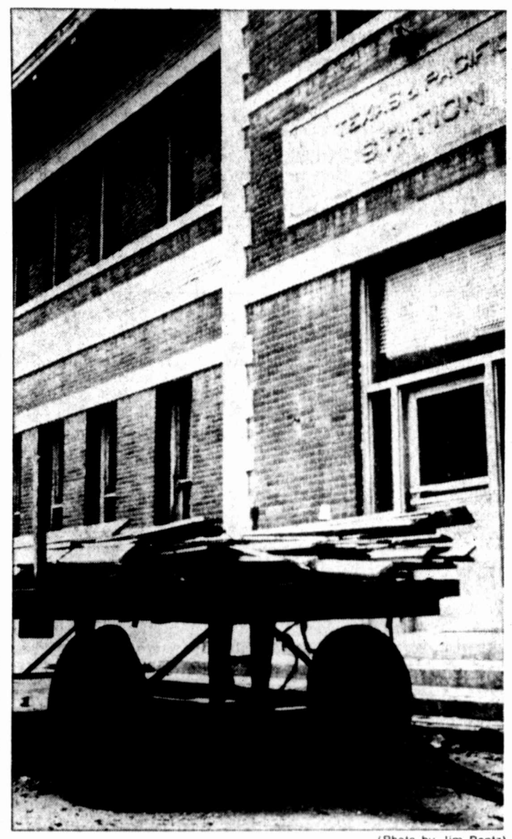

Railway officials say several other "feelers" were made concerning the depot, but for some reason none of them worked out.

So a month and a half from now, the old building that one woman T&P employe said "we're all crying over" will be reduced to a pile of brick.

Stephens said much of the building's brick and facilities will be preserved and sold. One of the men involved in the demolition may use the old outsized brick (8½ by 4½ inches) to build a new house, Stephens said.

Old gas radiators, doors and glass will also be put on sale, Stephens said. Many of the old fixtures cannot be bought anymore, he said.

Railroad officials are uncertain what use will be made of the site once the demolition is completed, but one said the railroad is always looking for industry to locate along the line and that possibly something new may come from the old.

DEMOLITION of the Texas and Pacific Railway Depot began this week as workmen began carting out lumber from the interior. The 60-year-old building will be down in about 45 days, the contract said.

Viet Task Force Plunges 24 Miles Into Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese armored task force pushed 24 miles into Cambodia today, occupied one town from which the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese drove the Cambodian army earlier this month, and at dusk was rolling into another.

The large Vietnamese task force did not fire a shot in taking Chipou and entering Prasaut, on Highway 1. But another task force thrusting in from another direction encountered heavy enemy resistance early this afternoon.

With U.S. advisers accompanying them and American planes and artillery supporting them, more than 15,000 South Vietnamese troops were pushing across a section of eastern Cambodia in a pincer operation to smash North Vietnamese base camps.

South Vietnamese spokesmen reported 435 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed, many of them by American planes.

Two American advisers were wounded, the U.S. Command said. They were the first U.S. ground casualties reported in an offensive operation on Cambodian soil, although other Americans have been wounded in planes that strayed across the border.

Field reports said South Vietnamese casualties so far were 32 killed and 168 wounded, including 55 wounded, their commander said, when U.S. helicopter gunships fired by mistake on a battalion of government troops.

Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported from Chipou that the task force moving into Prasaut expected to link up Friday morning with Cambodian troops operating out of Svay Rieng, the provincial capital. But a Cambodian government spokesman in Phnom Penh said the Americans and the South Vietnamese had not informed his government of the invasion, and Cambodian forces were taking no part in the operation.

He told a questioner that since Cambodia is a neutral country," the Phnom Penh government "does not approve this type of intervention by foreign forces."

The decision to move so deep into Cambodia was not made until 10:30 this morning, the operation commander, Lt. Gen. Do Cao Tri, said. The original targets of the invasion force were Viet Cong and North Vietnamese bases just a few miles inside the border, but Tri said he decided to make a major thrust along Route 1 "so that we could finish the job, neat and tidy."

About 40 of his M48 tanks and armored personnel carriers, loaded with a battalion of Cambodian-born mercenaries led by U.S. Special Forces officers, and other battalions of Vietnamese infantry, moved off down the blacktopped highway at noon.

They had rolled through Chipou by 2:30 p.m. Late in the afternoon the task force commander reported forward elements had entered Prasaut, 24 miles from the border, and encountered no resistance.

The Saigon government said earlier its forces had been ordered to return to Vietnam "after the termination of the operation." Tri told newsmen his forces would remain "for many days—we need much time to search the whole area."

He also claimed he had a team in Svay Rieng for liaison with the Cambodian army.

As the United States for the first time extended its war to Cambodia, the North Vietnamese scored a new success in Laos and attacked allied forces in the northern provinces of South Vietnam.

North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops seized the southernmost Laotian provincial capital of Attopeu, about 25 miles north of the Cambodia border. The move appeared to have more political than military implications since Communist forces had surrounded the town for years.

North Vietnamese troops made three attacks on allied forces in northern South Vietnam and shot down two more American helicopters. Five Americans and 15 North Vietnamese were reported killed and 29 Americans wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were reported light.

At least 25 American advisers accompanied the four South Vietnamese task forces which pushed into Cambodia west of Saigon Wednesday. Gen. Tri said two Americans were accompanying each of his infantry battalions. He said some of the advisers were there for liaison between the ground forces and the U.S. helicopter gunships supporting the operation.

Arnett reported from Tri's command post a few miles from the border that the United States, in addition to providing artillery and air support for the South Vietnamese, was evacuating their wounded by helicopter.

"The operation is going well," Tri said.

The Viet Cong radio denounced the offensive, saying in a broadcast: "The U.S. aggressors and the Thieu-Ky clique flatly launched a major operation into Cambodian territory to kill Khmer people and massacre Vietnamese nationals."

First reports said the invaders had captured more than 150 weapons and 50 tons of rice and destroyed a vast complex of base camps that included 160 storage huts and 350 bunkers.

The offensive is in flat, densely populated rice country extending from the Plain of Reeds in South Vietnam about 30 miles westward to Svay Rieng, a provincial capital to which Cambodian forces in the area retreated several weeks ago under Viet Cong attack.

Economic Signs Continue Mixed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economic signs remain mixed—some up, some down—but the Nixon administration is mounting a strong campaign to convince the nation it can "pull off the hat trick of economic history," restore stability without a recession.

A strong stock market rally and the first drop in the Wholesale Price Index in 18 months gave economic planners some grounds for joy Wednesday. The Dow Jones industrial average gained 13.06 points in recovering from its lowest point in six years.

But on the other side, New York economist Pierre Rinfret, a former Nixon campaign adviser, said an escalation of the war in Southeast Asia would mean worsened inflation and "the end of the American economy as we have known it."

And two little-noticed indicators gave a further clue to the nation's troubled business conditions—a rise in factory layoffs and a drop in help-wanted newspaper ads.

Rinfret's view was challenged by Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker, who asserted at a seminar both attended:

"I believe this administration is about to pull off the hat trick of economic history—restoring price stability after four years of inflation, without an old-fashioned recession or an unacceptable level of unemployment."

Another Treasury official gave the sensitive financial markets no cause for cheer, however. Paul A. Volcker, the undersecretary for monetary affairs, said corporate tax collections are $1 billion to $5 billion behind the amount predicted in January.

As a result, he said, the current federal budget is only "in the neighborhood of balance." President Nixon forecast a $1.3 billion surplus 2½ months ago.

The stock market's recovery from its earlier slump was nearly torpedoed by the Pentagon's announcement that U.S. advisers will go into Cambodia with South Vietnamese troops.

The average was up 7 points when the announcement came, but inside an hour had dropped 11. But it recovered for the largest gain in a month.

Wholesale prices—which may give some indication of coming trends in consumer prices—dropped because of sharp decreases in farm products, processed foods and feeds, which are subject to fluctuations caused by weather and market factors.

Prices continued to rise for industrial raw materials.

On the minus side of the ledger, two other indicators showed the business downturn caused by the government's anti-inflation program. The administration contends the downturn will end soon, probably beginning during the summer.

The Labor Department said factory layoffs during March rose to a seasonally adjusted rate of 18 per 1,000 employes—the highest in six years.

Help Sought For Permit

City officials will travel to Austin Friday to discuss problems concerning city sewage effluent with representatives of the State Water Quality Control Board.

Acting Public Works Director Bo Anderson said this morning, he, City Manager Larry Crow, and Sewer Plant Supervisor Bill Brown will meet with state officials to discuss "which route is best for us" concerning the solution to the effluent problem.

The Water Quality Board raised state standards on effluent last year, leaving Big Spring and other cities with systems that do not meet those standards.

A request for an amended permit to treat sewage has been submitted, Anderson said, and the meeting with state officials hopefully will answer questions that have arisen regarding the city's status with state authorities.

Last week, city commissioners were advised of these problems by Bob Nichols, of Freese, Nichols, and Endress, consulting engineers. He urged that the city send the delegation to Austin for the meeting with the state officials.

Phone Strike If Necessary

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — More than 200 telephone company employes authorized their union Wednesday night to call a strike if necessary over the dismissal of an 18-year-old woman employe.

A third grievance session was scheduled today between officials of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and representatives of the Communications Workers of America.

Union spokesman Albert Bowles said that if no agrement is reached, a strike could come in a few days. National leaders of the union must authorize any strike, he said.

He said more than 200 of the 297 members of the accounting and commercial local authorized the strike by a margin of 7 to 1. The exact count was not given.

About 150 employes, most of them women, walked off the job last Friday when Cindy Longoria was dismissed from her job as a service order clerk. They returned to work Monday.

Egyptian Forces Cross Suez Canal

TEL AVIV (AP) — Egyptian forces crossed the Suez Canal before dawn today in a raid Cairo said was its "largest and deepest since the June, 1967, war." The Israelis said they repelled the raiders with troops, guns and warplanes and sank four of their boats.

Egypt said an infantry battalion "in full force and weaponry" crossed the canal south of Ismailia and inflicted "heavy damages and casualties." Israel said the Egyptians suffered losses but didn't say how many and made no mention of Israeli casualties.

Israeli spokesmen said the attackers crossed the canal in eight-man boats and tried to storm an Israeli emplacement. The Israelis said they drove off the raiders and then continued to bombard Egyptian positions across the canal for three hours until dawn.

Egypt said its artillery supported the raiding force with heavy fire throughout the mission, foiling Israel's attempts to counterattack.

A communique issued in Cairo said the Egyptian force returned at dawn "after successfully accomplishing its mission." The communique made no mention of Egyptian casualties, but said the attackers "invaded the enemy perimeters and destroyed his fortifications and equipment, causing heavy casualties among his troops."

Tel Aviv reported that Israeli planes pounded Egyptian positions along the entire length of the canal for more than two hours Wednesday. Israel said all the jets returned safely, but Egypt claimed its troops and supporting artillery "shot down one plane and damaged another, in addition to destroying a number of tanks and armored vehicles."

Tornado Sightings Keep Folks Uneasy

By The Associated Press

Damaging thunderstorms raged from West into North Central Texas during the night and into this morning, and there were just enough tornado sightings here and there to keep a broad area of the state uneasy.

Hail up to the size of baseballs battered the Haskell area, and the Abilene airport clocked winds as high as 63 miles per hour. Similar reports came from throughout the storm belt.

There were sightings or radar detection of tornadoes or funnel clouds aloft near Midland, 20 miles west of Childress, between Denton and Fort Worth, and 10 miles southwest of Paducah — but none apparently touched down in an inhabited area.

Police at Haskell reported windows were shattered in the courthouse, fire station, a school and some homes but no major damage occurred. Word from other points likewise minimized the losses.

Golf ball hail twice pounded Memphis as separate lines of storms swept through that vicinity, and hailstones about the same size pelted Spur while the bits of ice ranged down to marble size at Abilene.

The turbulence kept Weather Bureau experts busy posting one tornado or severe thunderstorm alert after another.

A twister watch remained in force until 7 a.m. for most of the 41 Texas counties in a 140-mile wide belt centering on a line from 50 miles northwest of San Angelo to Oklahoma City.

Although there were reports of rain falling up to the rate of three inches per hour, most of the storms apparently moved along too quickly for more than sudden soakers in most places.

The violent weather was associated with a cool front which stretched near dawn along a line from near Vernon to just west of Abilene, on to San Angelo and into the Big Bend country of far West Texas.

Skies were overcast ahead of the front and nearly clear toward the west.

Still more thunderstorms were predicted across the northern half of the state into tonight and possibly Friday, while widely scattered showers were expected in the south.

Temperatures remained on the warm side over most of Texas, and Cotulla chalked up the nation's high of 97 degrees Wednesday.

Silver Recovery Unit Pays Off Tech Students

LUBBOCK (AP) — Two Texas Tech University engineering students expanded a spare time job into a corporation which now produces a silver recovery unit to reclaim silver used in photography and X-ray solutions.

Jerry Pinkston of Dallas and Michael Pearson of Lubbock formed the corporation known as Metallic Research Systems which has issued 100,000 shares of stock selling at $7 per share.

The corporation's product, Silvestor Silver Systems, is a unit which employes metallic exchange reaction processes to reclaim up to 98 per cent of the silver used in photography and X-ray solutions.

Pinkston, a senior industrial engineering major at Tech, started working on the unit three years ago.

Pearson, a senior mechanical engineering major, began work on the unit last year.

Pinkston is president and Pearson is financial vice president of their corporation.

"Silver recovery units are not a new thing," said Pearson. "They have been in existance since 1944."

The other type reclaimers, called electrolytic reclaimers, recover about 80 per cent of the silver in the solution, he said.

Silverstor was completed in June of 1969 and placed on the market in September.

The two young men now are investigating franchise possibilities and are working toward acquiring a patent.

Metallic Research Systems has offices in Dallas and Lubbock.

The students plan to have 200 Silverstor units working in the two cities soon. And the corporation is expected to branch out into other cities in the near future.

Pearson said they should be in strong state competition with other silver reclaimers and in national competition within one year. If all goes well, they hope to be on the open stock market within two years.

Silvestor is installed in clinics, hospitals, photography studios and X-ray laboratories free of charge, giving a percentage of the recovered silver profits to the laboratory involved.

Metallic Research Systems estimates that a lab using only 10 gallons of solution per month will make a recovery of about $6.50, while a lab using 150 gallons will make $260 per month.

Opening lead: Three of ♡

The loser on loser play is most frequently employed by the declarer as a means of disrupting the opponents' line of communications. It may also be used in the development of a side suit when declarer runs the risk of a possible overruff by a defender. Today's five club contract played by South provides a good case in point.

West opened the three of hearts and the ace was played from dummy. The closed hand was entered by leading a small club to the queen and South played a diamond. West followed with the deuce, the jack was played from dummy which lost to East's queen.

East cashed the king of hearts and exited with the seven of clubs South covering with the nine and West discarded a heart. The ace and king of spades were cashed and a third round was ruffed with dummy's jack of clubs. When the spades did not divide evenly, South drew the remaining trumps, conceded the setting trick to West's queen of spades and then claimed the rest with a good trump and the established ten of spades.

Declarer had overlooked a fairly simple play that would have improved his chances immeasurably. Inasmuch as the odds do not favor an even division in spades, it is suggested that South arrange to transfer one of his ruffs to the heart suit by means of a loser on loser play.

After the ace of hearts and queen of clubs win the first two tricks, declarer should defer any further trump leads until he has developed the spade suit. The ace and king of spades are cashed next and, when East's jack of spades appears, South should proceed with care.

When the third round of spades is led, instead of ruffing in dummy, it is suggested that declarer discard dummy's seven of hearts. This permits South to ruff the next spade with the jack of clubs thereby assuring establishment of the spade suit without risking an overruff by East, South has to ruff out a heart before he draws trump however this is much safer than trying to ruff two spades.

BEANBALL STEW — Boston Red Sox and Oakland Athletics players storm the pitcher's mound at Fenway Park in brawl that resulted from a pair of beanball incidents in the fifth and sixth innings of their game Wednesday night. Oakland's Chuck Dobson hit Red Sox pitcher Sonny Siebert and Siebert responded by hitting Oakland's Reggie Jackson. Both were ejected from the game.

Bean Ball Barrage Brings On Battle

By The Associated Press

It was just about a tossup where the most hitting was taking place—in Chicago where Baltimore was using bats or in Boston where the Red Sox and Oakland A's were using balls.

The Orioles contented themselves with legitimate hitting, using five home runs—three by Paul Blair — to bury Chicago 18-2.

The Red Sox and A's aimed at each other instead of the ball with Boston pitcher Sonny Siebert and Oakland slugger Reggie Jackson the main participants in an old fashioned beanball war. When they got back to baseball, the Sox beat the A's 5-3.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Detroit trimmed Kansas City 8-2, Minnesota blanked Cleveland 1-0, Washington shut out Milwaukee 4-0 and California topped New York 3-2.

GET 20 HITS

Blair, Ellie Hendricks and Boog Powell all walloped three-run homers for the Orioles, who sprayed 20 hits around Comiskey Park.

Blair's first homer with two on came in the third inning and an inning later, he connected with one on. He capped his big night with a solo shot in the ninth inning.

The White Sox were never in the game with Baltimore building a 16-0 lead in the first five innings. The heavy hitting made it easy for Jim Palmer, who notched his third victory and contributed to the offense with two singles. Bill Melton homered for the White Sox.

Siebert struck out nine batters in the first five innings but got himself thrown out of the Boston-Oakland game in the beanball melee.

It all started when Oakland's Chuck Dobson hit Siebert with a pitch in the Red Sox's fifth. When Siebert headed menacingly towards the mound, both benches emptied out, but the umpires kept the peace. They couldn't quite do that an inning later when Siebert's first pitch plunked Jackson.

Jackson was restrained by Umpire Bill Haller but the Oakland bench charged the mound and decked Siebert. Players poured on the field from both dugouts and bullpens and just when order seemed restored, Jackson charged through a crowd of players at Siebert and both went down in another brawl.

Siebert, Jackson, Oakland pitcher John Odom and Boston Coach George Thomas all were thrown out of the game. The umpires didn't have to bother ejecting Dobson. The Red Sox took care of that with two doubles and a single by Luis Alvarado keying Boston's attack.

Veteran Willie Horton and rookie Elliott Maddox ripped home runs easing Detroit past Kansas City as the Royals suffered their seventh consecutive loss.

LONG BALL HITTER

Horton connected in the fourth inning and then tripled another Detroit run home in the sixth before scoring on Bill Freehan's single. Maddox, a late-game replacement for Al Kaline, cracked his first major league homer in the ninth.

Mike Kilkenny, who had worked only 1 2-3 innings all season before Wednesday, got credit for the victory with ninth inning help from Fred Lasher.

Stan Williams bailed Jim Kaat out of a ninth inning jam and Minnesota shaded Cleveland on an unearned run.

Williams came on with runners on first and second and two out in the ninth and picked Tony Horton off second base to end the game.

The Twins got the only run they needed in the third inning when Tony Oliva scored from second as Cleveland third baseman Graig Nettles let Rich Reese's two-out bouncer get through for an error.

One publication in a big league baseball city polled the players in both the National and American leagues to draw a portrait of the status of the fans' sportsmanship.

The supporters in Houston rated with the best in the National League, along with those in Los Angeles, New York and Montreal.

The worse buffs, the players agreed, could be found in Philadelphia, Chicago and Pittsburgh.

The poll revealed Los Angeles people showed far and away the finest sportsmanship in the league. The fans there appreciate good baseball and invariably show their appreciation for a good play, no matter who makes it.

The Houston rooters were described as being very kind to visiting teams, probably because a lot of tourists flock in there. Most of the people, lamentably, go to see the wonders of the Astrodome more than to watch the Astros play. (A championship would change all that, quite probably).

When it comes to sportsmanship, Philadelphia is like no other community. So insist the players. It's a league within itself. The granddaddies of all baseball wolves live there. They call the players every name in the book. They throw garbage on the field. And they're so close to the action, they can reach out and chew on the ears of the athletes.

The poor sportsmanship exhibited in the City of Brotherly Love is the despair of many people living there. They would like for the city to project a more lively image for other reasons, too.

Of Philadelphia, a prominent resident, John B. Kelley, once remarked: "Too many people already think of our city as a cemetery with lights."

* * * *

The best fans in the American League are supposed to live in Minnesota, Anaheim, New York and Chicago. The worst are supposed to root in Boston, Detroit and Cleveland.

The players said the fans in Baltimore don't seem to care, that they keep waiting for the football Colts to show up.

Cooper Slams Steers, 10-4 In Abilene

ABILENE — The Big Spring Steers dropped a 10-4 3-AAAA East Zone decision to Abilene Cooper here Wednesday and plopped into the cellar with a 2-7 record.

The contest was first called off by Abilene authorities due to wet grounds, then rescheduled when the sun dried out the field.

The aroused Cougars banked all their runs in the first three innings and Gary Littlefield contained the Big Spring power until the fourth, when the Steers broke through for two runs.

Big Spring bobbles didn't help, either. The Steers were guilty of four errors plus some mental lapses.

Leroy Polnick paced Cooper's 13-hit offensive with three blows, including a double. Scotter Finley had a triple and a single for the Cougars.

Dave Duncan started on the mound for Big Spring but failed to last beyond the first inning. James Newman, John Sevey, Moses Flores and David Englert followed him to the hill.

Andy Gamboa followed up his hot game against San Angelo by collecting two of Big Spring's nine safeties. All of Big Spring's hits were singles.

The Steers return to play Saturday, venturing back to Abilene for a joust with Abilene High. Englert likely will pitch for the Longhorns.

The Steers play their final home game next Tuesday against Cooper.

Rockets Trip Talons, 8-4

Mike Valenzuela, Bob Johnson and Joe Baranik teamed up to pitch the Rockets to an 8-4 International Little League victory over the Talons here Wednesday, despite the fact that erratic play let in all of the losers' runs. Valenzuela was credited with the win.

The three Rocket pitchers yielded hits in only one of the six innings.

The Rockets broke their shackles with a three-run fourth, highlighted by Jerry Gaston's two-run single. Jay Madison and Johnson each had two hits for the winners.

The defeat was the second without a win for the Talons.

Trials Highlight Sunland Program

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — The trials for the $50,000 estimated Riley Allison Thoroughbred Futurity will headline Friday's Sunland Park card with 54 juveniles set to take part. Six trial divisions have been carded, each over 4½ furlongs, going as the second through seventh races on the 10-race agenda.

The winners of each trial division, plus four of the second place finishers, will make up the field for the rich finals, scheduled for closing day, May 10. The remainder of second place finishers, all six third place horses and two of the fourth place finishers will compose the $5,000 consolation. Both the finals and consolation will be contested over five furlongs.

Remains A Threat

ODESSA — Odessa Permian remained in the running for a first place finish in District 3-AAAA West Zone standings by defeating the Midland Bulldogs, 3-1, behind the four-hit pitching of Tony Boxell here Tuesday. The win was the seventh in nine league starts for the Panthers.

Woman Jockey Likely In Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Diane Crump stood on the threshold today of becoming the first girl to ride in the Kentucky Derby, America's most glamorous horse race.

Standing between her and racing history were possible injury to her mount, another change of mind by the colt's interests and mud—the latter the most likely.

Early today trainer Don Divine told The Associated Press by telephone from his Louisville motel room that W. L. Lyons' Brown's Fathom would run in Saturday's derby and Miss Crump would ride him.

Earlier, Divine had said that Fathom, who had finished seventh of 10 3-year-olds in Tuesday's Derby Trial, would not start in the 1¼ mile $125,000-added Derby. He said Brown had left the decision on whether to start the colt in the Derby to him.

'HE PAYS BILLS'

But of the change in plans, Divine said "the owner wants to run and he pays the bills, so okay we'll run."

Asked his opinion of Fathom going in the Derby, Divine answered "if it comes up really muddy, I believe he'll let me take him out."

The Trial was run on an off-track and the weather forecast for Saturday said there was a 40 per cent chance of showers.

Should Fathom run in the Derby he is expeced to join at least 16 other 3-year-olds.

The field was to be officially set today with entries being made from 7-9:30 a.m. EDT. The draw for post positions was to be held at 10 a.m.

Listed as the top probables for the 96th running of the Derby are Raymond Curtis' My Dad George, Samuel Agnew's Terlago, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Personality, Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gary's Corn Off The Cob.

LOOM AS STARTERS

Other probables included E. V. Benjamin III's and J. M. Jones Jr.'s Action Getter, Lin-Drake Farm's Dr. Berhman, Robert Lehmann's Dust Commander, Alan Magerman's George Lewis, Mrs. Jacob's High Echelon, Mrs. J.S. Dean's Holy Land, Her-Jac Stable's Naskra, Charles Engelhard's Protanto, W. C. Robinson's Admiral's Shield, Dr. Richard Kuhn's and Walter Hickey's Robin's Bug and Steve Carson's and Irving Apple's Rancho Lejos.

Knicks Nudge Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York's Knickerbockers proved once and for all they can't be shocked out of the National Basketball Association championship.

Jerry West put them to the test Wednesday night. The Los Angeles Laker ace lofted a desperation shot with less than two seconds remaining. It dropped through the hoop 55 feet away at the buzzer.

The score then stood 102-102 going into overtime in the third game of this best- of-seven championship playoff. If New York was to falter, the Laker ace had provided them the cause.

Yet Dick Barnett, the guard the Lakers traded away five years ago, and Willis Reed reacted to the challenge to bring the Knicks a 111-108 victory.

Reed's free throw, his last of 38 points, and a windup field goal by Barnett finished the scoring to give the Knickerbockers a 2-1 series edge.

Barnett tallied 11 in the final quarter when the Knicks scored 34 to 29 for Los Angeles.

West scored 34 for the losers and Wilt Chamberlain added 21 plus 26 rebounds, although once again Reed, Most Valuable Player in the NBA, outplayed the veteran ace of the Westerners.

In addition to his 38 points, Reed hauled down 17 rebounds, ably assisted by Dave DeBusschere with 15. The latter also contributed 21 points, including key baskets from outside in the final regulation period.

New York remains in Los Angeles to meet the Lakers Friday night, again at the Forum, where a sellout crowd of 17,000 watched the third game.

The Lakers, who won the second outing at Madison Square Garden 105-103 after losing the opener 124-112, jumped into a quick lead and held a 56-42 halftime advantage.

West accummulated 16 points by the intermission but New York limited him to a single free throw in the third period.

Morrison Hurls Perfect Game For Morton Nine

Morton's Foods swept two games from the Odessa Merchants in softball exhibitions here Wednesday evening, 2-0 and 11-1.

The opener saw Dick Morrison hurl a perfect game for Morton's. He did not yield a hit or a base on balls and faced only 21 batters in the seven inning contest. He fanned 16. Morrison allowed only one ball out of the infield until two were out in the final inning, when Odessa's Day hit a fly ball to right field.

The Big Spring team crashed out eight hits, including two each by Roy New and Billy Roger. Al Oldfather banged a triple while Billy Roger had two doubles for the Morton team.

Cotton Mize was up to the challenge in the second game, setting Odessa down with two hits. He lost his shutout in the first when Kuntz crossed the plate after attaining first on a bobble.

Oldfather had a triple and two singles for Morton's while Jimmy Roger smashed a fifth inning single and a sixth inning home run. Gerold Cox wound up with two of Big Spring's hits, both singles.

Stars Register 2nd Win In Row

The Stars won their second straight American Little League decision here Wednesday night, turning back the Cabots, 7-2.

N. Hull, the winning pitcher, was tagged for five hits and spaced them well.

The game was deadlocked until the fifth, when the Stars exploded for two runs. Hull also scored two runs for his team.

Pupils in each grade will compete against each other in the traditional events such as relays, sprints, short runs, jumps, pole vault, etc. Competition will be for grades one through four.

Carty Zeroes In On Card Mound Staff

By The Associated Press

Rico Carty claims he is not a streak hitter but National League pitchers haven't stopped the Dominican Dandy in three weeks with the St. Louis Cardinals moundsmen his latest victim.

Carty, whose ninth inning double got Atlanta a tie before the Braves exploded four more times in a 10-6 victory over the Cards Wednesday night, also extended his hitting streak to 19 games.

"I'm not a streak hitter," the 29-year old Braves' left fielder said. "I don't know what kind of hitter I am."

Cards reliever Chuck Taylor found out in the ninth when Carty drilled a double to right, tying the game at 6-6 before Richie Allen's error of Felix Millan's bouncer sent across the lead run.

Before the inning was over, Nelson Briles had wild pitched another run across and winning reliever Bob Priddy drove in the last pair with a single.

HOUSTON LOSES

In other National League contests, Chicago belted Pittsburgh 10-5, Cincinnati downed Houston 5-3, Los Angeles stopped Philadelphia 6-1, Montreal routed San Diego 10-0 and San Francisco edged New York 8-6.

Carty, 29, who went hitless opening day April 7, hasn't been without a hit in a game since.

Carty, a .311 lifetime hitter in his six years in the majors says "I'm a lucky hitter. Sometimes it's better to be lucky than good."

But teammate Clete Boyer disagrees with the Dominican Republic slugger, who was sidelined in 1968 with a bout of tuberculosis. "This guy can hit anybody alive," he said.

Billy Williams, playing in his 999th consecutive game, slammed a homer and single for three RBI as the Cubs battered the Pirates, who had stopped their 11-game winning string Tuesday. Willie Smith added a homer for the Cubs, his first. Williams' blast was his seventh of the season.

Jim Merritt became the major's first five-game winner but needed relief help in the Reds' triumph, which maintained their West Division lead to 5½ games over San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Moody Happy With His Lot

DALLAS (AP) — Orville Moody, the old sarge who bolted out of obscurity with his 1969 triumph in the U.S. Open, hasn't won since that upset at Houston but takes a philosophic view of it all.

"I can't complain," the 36-year-old part-Cherokee Indian said. "I've made about $24,000 this year (actually, it's $26,000) and that's more than I was expecting when I joined the tour."

He joined the tour late in 1967, forsaking the security of 14 years service in the U.S. Army to gamble against the best on the tough pro circuit.

Moody, a stocky, phlegmatic guy with a moon face, gave himself two years to make it. And if he didn't, he planned to return to the Army. He almost quit several times in 1968, then hit it big last year with his first victory, the most important title of them all, in the National Open.

Mexican-American Woes Scrutinized

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Mexican - Americans are due still more study from the U. S. Civil Rights Commission, which reports finding evidence of widespread police discrimination against the Spanish-surnamed.

Now the commission is studying educational problems facing Mexican-Americans, staff director Howard Glickstein told a news conference Wednesday.

In a 135-page report on Mexican-Americans and the administration of justice released earlier this week, the agency said it found evidence of "widespread patterns of police misconduct" against the Spanish-surnamed in the southwest.

The commission also found inadequate local remedies for police malpractice: incomplete investigations of civil rights complaints; and serious and widespread under-representation of Mexican - Americans on grand and petit state juries.

The report, based on a two-year study, was presented to President Nixon and Congress. It included 18 recommendations to protect the estimated four million Mexican - Americans in the Southwest from alleged inequities in the legal system.

For the past year, Glickstein said, the commission has been gathering data on such topics as Mexican-American school dropout rates, available educational facilities and teachers, Mexican-American achievement levels, and distribution of funds within school systems.

A study of American Indians is in its first stages, he said.

One of the biggest problems facing Mexican - Americans, he said, appears to be the language difficulty. He said there are few bilingual education programs in the nation.

Preliminary results of the study should be ready by late summer or early fall, he said.

Glickstein declined to speculate on the impact of the commission's report on the legal system but indicated he was optimistic.

Since the agency was established in 1957, he said, about 75 per cent of its recommendations to the federal government have been adopted.

The commission was harshly criticized in 1960 for its recommendations to improve voting opportunities for Negroes in the South, he said — but those recommendations became the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Glickstein said one of the major recommendations in the commission's Mexican - American report involved service on grand and petit state juries.

Congress was urged to pass laws guaranteeing equal jury representation by requiring random selection of jurors. Federal juries already are governed by such a law, he said.

Dr. Hector Garcia of Corpus Christi, former Civil Rights Commission member who appeared with Glickstein at Wednesday's news conference, issued a bitter attack against legal systems and education in the Southwest.

"The jury system was never meant to work for the Mexican-American" Garcia charged. He is founder of the American GI Forum, a national Mexican-American organization.

The educational systems of the Southwest, Garcia said, "were meant to keep the Mexican-American as a cotton picker, as a ditch digger."

In Texas and the Southwest, he said, "we are never peers, we are never equals, we are never neighbors."

He asserted that Col. Morris Schwartz, state Selective Service director since 1953, should resign, "because he is not giving us equal representation on the Selective Service boards."

Less than eight per cent of Texas draft board members are Mexican-American, although this ethnic group makes up about 15 per cent of the state's population, Garcia said.

Dr. K-W Sued For Divorce

AUSTIN (AP) — A divorce petition has been filed by the wife of Dr. John Kinross-Wright, who resigned under pressure April 16 as state mental health commissioner.

Joy Lane Kinross-Wright said in her petition that the marriage has become "insupportable because of discord that destroys the legitimate ends of the marriage relationship and prevents any reasonable expectation of reconciliation."

She asked for custody of their two children, John 8, and Jade, 9, for division of the estate and "reasonable temporary alimony."

Kinross-Wright quit his $36,500-a-year job, effective May 31, after six of the nine members of the State Mental Health Board asked him to.

Four Share In Awards Program

Four area men have shared in top awards given to Hardin-Simmons University Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets at the annual awards day program.

Included are Wayland Kidd, junior Spanish major from Lamesa, one of four superior cadet decorations; Danie D. Aycock, junior business major of Colorado City, the American Legion gold scholastic excellence award; Meliton C. Arriola Jr., freshman business major from Big Spring, Air Reserve cadet award; Robert F. Polk, sophomore chemistry major from Big Spring, the Zerk O. Robertson award.

Igor Stravinsky Still 'Very Weak'

NEW YOR K(AP) — Composer Igor Stravinsky has left a hospital where he spent more than three weeks with lung and kidney infections.

The 87-year-old musician returned to his apartment Wednesday. A spokesman said Stravinsky was still "very weak" but would work on catching up with his correspondence while convalescing.

State Hospital Gets Fund Hike

A $71,000 increase in Big Spring State Hospital's current budget has reportedly been approved by the Texas Board on Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

The increase, plus a $29,000 funds transfer from another hospital tentatively approved several months ago, was allocated to cover the rising cost of patient care in BSSH and to finance "Outreach Centers" in West Texas which have been established under the hospital's jurisdiction.

The $100,000 total budget increased was approved after MH-MR personnel found that the anticipated over-all patient load had increased from a daily average of 900 to about 960.

BSSH will also receive an emergency fund transfer in the amount of $15,000 to replace a water softener and water heater at the plant.

Hospital officials said this morning they had no official notice of the budget increase, but some word was expected early next week.

"Outreach Centers" have been initiated in several area cities by the hospital to serve as clinics both for outpatients and new patients alike where no other facilities are available.

Camp Discussed At 4-H Meeting

WESTBROOK (SC) — Members of the Westbrook and Lone Wolf 4-H Clubs met in the Westbrook school cafetorium Tuesday night. County Agent Bobby Lemons discussed plans for the annual county-wide summer camp to be held at Sweetwater.

A senior method demonstration was presented by Bruce Hill and Bill Dockrey and a senior public speaking demonstration by Leslie Anderson. Randy Anderson and Ray Ritchey gave a junior demonstration of safety.

Rex McKenney, Westbrook, and Mrs. Warren Anderson, Colorado City, were elected as alternate adult leaders to attend the adult leader association meeting in Lubbock.

David Stubblefield gave a report on 4-H Club work being organized in Peru and said all 4-H Clubs in Texas are being asked to donate $1 to help the clubs get started.

Awards Presented As PTA Conference Ends

Winding up this year's spring conference of the 16th District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, was the presentation of unit and individual awards. The event was held here Tuesday at Big Spring Country Club with local PTA membership being host to the 27 units in the district.

A special guest speaker was Mrs. W. F. Abney of Woodsboro, state vice president, who addressed the group Tuesday morning. Afternoon speakers who formed a panel to discuss drugs, smoking and pornography were Mrs. Abney, Mrs. Helen Hill, State Department of Public Health, Austin; Richard C. Milstead, local attorney; and Sgt. Peter Stone, Big Spring Police Department.

The presentation of Life Members was by Mrs. Roy Watkins. The recipients were Jim Holmes of the PTA City Council and 10 persons from various units. They were Mrs. David Hodnett, Mrs. John Cline, Jim Beam, Mrs. John Nobles, Mrs. Lee Justice, Mrs. Jack Brown, Mrs. Daryl Highly, Don Womack and Mrs. Faye Baird, all of Big Spring, and Mrs. A. N. Gault of Miles.

The publications award went to Airport PTA, and historian awards (with the rating of excellent) went to Gay Hill PTA, Kentwood PTA, Marcy PTA and the Big Spring City Council. Parent and Family Life Education (PAFLE) awards were received by Gay Hill PTA, Marcy PTA and Airport PTA. In the judging of yearbooks, awards were won by Miles High School PTA, Big Spring City Council, Gay Hill PTA, College Heights PTA, Kentwood PTA, Boydstun PTA and Marcy PTA.

Announced as membership award winners were Moss PTA, Kentwood PTA, Airport PTA, Park Hill PTA and Marcy PTA, all of Big Spring; Hutchinson-Wallace PTA of Colorado City, Rogers PTA of Lamesa and Westbrook PTA, the latter two being new units.

A spokesman for Elbow PTA announced a PTA instruction class will be held at the school at 7:30 p.m., Monday. Anyone interested is invited to attend. Westbrook PTA invited the district to hold its fall workshop there in October.

Art and crafts exhibits, along with posters pertaining to various subjects were displayed in the club foyer. In the dining room, decorations for the luncheon included paper flower mobiles suspended from the ceiling. Cloths were green with runners of English ivy, and the tables were accented with black candleholders. The head table featured an arrangement of spring flowers. Don Turner, a band director at Big Spring High School, entertained during the luncheon by playing the guitar and singing folk songs.

Spoudazio Fora Group Plans Installation Dinner

Final plans for the installation of 1970-71 officers were made by Spoudazio Fora Study Club at a meeting Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Oliver Cofer, 1707 Settles. Mrs. Gerre Reaves, president, announced the installation dinner will be held May 12 at the KC Steak House. Mrs. Charles Neefe, Mrs. Bill Coleman and Mrs. Hulan Harris of the hospitality committee will be in charge of the program and gift exchange.

Mrs. James C. Jones and Mrs. Bob Clark, members of the project committee, told of the recent purchase of clothing for the club's 'adopted' patient at Big Spring State Hospital. An additional contribution of money was made by the members to be used for the patient.

In a program on religious action, Mrs. Reaves presented excerpts from two modern books on religion, "God is For Real, Man" and "Treat Me Cool, Lord." She discussed how different social and ethnic groups "verbalize" and how they personally translate Bible passages into their own, or familiar, language.

Mrs. Reaves told how different people view words, often giving them different meanings. As an example, she used such words as "future", noting that to some it means a rosy horizon, while to others it signifies nothing, so they live "one day at a time."

Refreshments were served from a polished table accented with a floral arrangement.

Speaker Probes Alaska's Future

"The Alaskan Native — Forward in Hope" was the subject of study for the Lalla Baird Circle, Wesley United Methodist Church, Tuesday. Mrs. Ray Anderson, Old San Angelo Highway, was hostess.

The study was given by Mrs. Drucie Cawthron.

"The Alaskan native has great hope for the early and equitable settlement of his property right claims now pending in Congress," she said. "The new unit experienced by the natives is the biggest single force, both in their approaches to Congress and in the political arena in Alaska."

Miss Helen Ewing presided at the meeting and gave the devotion. Mrs. Anderson led prayer. The next Women's Society of Christian Service meeting will be May 5 in the church parlor.

WSCS Speaker Talks On Theme

"Choose Life" was the topic discussed by Mrs. W. B. Morris at a Tuesday meeting of the Martha Foster Circle, Wesley United Methodist Church. The speaker explained that her topic is the theme for the WSCS National Assembly slated May 7-10 in Houston. Prayers were led by Mrs. S. L. Thurman and Mrs. Barry McLean.

Mrs. W. A. Hunt Describes Hawaii

Mrs. W. A. Hunt described a recent trip to Hawaii when she gave a program Tuesday afternoon for the Faculty Ma'ams at the home of Mrs. J. T. Clements.

The speaker presented a brief history of the islands and discussed the native dress, customs, entertainment and industry of the island peoples.

Mrs. Larry Reese, president, was cohostess. She announced the club will not meet again until Aug. 10, when the hostess will be Mrs. Dan Shockey, 2600 Rebecca.

Gardeners Preparing For May Flower Show

How to plant, feed and exhibit roses in a flower show was explained to members of Rosebud Garden Club Tuesday by Mrs. Clyde Thomas and Mrs. Odell Womack. Mrs. G. P. Morrison, 2712 Ann, was hostess.

Mrs. Thomas advised members not to water leaves of roses, because it will cause black spots. An excellent, inexpensive mulch available locally is cedar chips, she said. Roses should be watered to a depth of six inches once a week. Wilted blooms should be cut off, for if wilted ones are left on the bush, fewer new ones will be produced, she explained.

Each member brought roses and was instructed by Mrs. Womack on rose grooming and exhibiting.

Plans were discussed for the flower show May 5 at the YMCA sponsored by the Rosebud Club and Oasis Garden Club. The show will be open to the public from 3 to 7 p.m.

Talks Describe 'Inner Beauty'

STANTON (SC) — "How To Be Attractive at Any Age" was the program given at the Koffee Kup Home Demonstration Club meeting in the home of Mrs. Fred Bowlin. Mrs. Roger Fleckenstein and Mrs. Tom Johnson presented the program.

The women described "inner beauty" as consisting of the art of interesting conversation, willingness to help others and sereneness. They also gave tips on colors and styles of clothing.

Mrs. Homer Swinson, president, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Harold Henley, Texas HD Association delegate, reported on the council meeting. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. John Webb.

Rainbow Girls Are Installed

Initiation was held for five new members of the Order of Rainbow for Girls Tuesday night in the Masonic Temple. Initiated were Leslie Murphy, Shirley Thomas, Pat Biby, Susan Weaver and Iroma Ross.

Mrs. O. L. Nabors, grand visitor of the Grand Assembly, made her official visit. Other guests were Micki Williams, grand treasurer, Seminole; and Ayn McGlothlin, grand hope.

Refreshments were served to 90 guests including many from the Seminole Assembly. Mrs. Louise Hamilton was in charge of refreshments.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jones, 604 W. 18th, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Donna Lou, to Allen Carlile, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Carlile, 1204 Lloyd. The couple will marry June 6 at the Hillcrest Baptist Church with the Rev. Clyde Campbell officiating.

Coahoma OES Has Officer Election

New officers were elected by Coahoma Chapter 499, Order of Eastern Star, Tuesday in the Masonic Temple. Mrs. A. K. Turner, worthy matron, presided.

Elected were Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Tanner, worthy patron and matron; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Culpepper, associate worthy patron and matron; Mrs. O. A. Madison, secretary, Mrs. D. S. Phillips, treasurer; Mrs. J. R. Swann, conductress; and Mrs. J. D. Talmadge, associate conductress.

Installation will be June 5. The next meeting will be May 12.

Westbrook PTA To Meet Friday

WESTBROOK (SC) — The Westbrook Parent-Teacher Association will meet Friday for election of officers. A program by the elementary grades will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in the cafetorium.

Beauceants Give Fabric To Hospital

Members of the Social Order of Beauceant brought fabrics for Big Spring State Hospital to their meeting Monday in Masonic Temple. Mrs. Wright Vickers, president, presided. A letter of appreciation was read from Midland Assembly 143 for the assistance given by local members at an installation ceremony. Mrs. W. C. Fryar, chaplain, and Mrs. R. L. Lee, color bearer, participated in the Midland event.

Stockholm Couple Are Guests Here

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Juhlin of Stockholm, Sweden, have been guests of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Aagesen, 2809 Navajo Drive, during part of their 30-day tour of the United States. The women are cousins, and this was their first meeting in 35 years. While here, the Juhlins were accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Aagesen on trips to El Paso, Juarez, Mexico and Carlsbad Caverns.

MEN ARE REHEARSING

Floor Show Highlights Pink Elephant Ball

Rehearsals are progressing as scheduled for the floor show of the Pink Elephant Ball, according to the Directors, Mrs. Charles Tuttle and Mrs. W. P. Edwards. There is also the prospect of a mystery guest who will perform, they said.

The ball, with Paul Meek as honorary chairman, is scheduled for Friday night, May 8, at the Cosden Country Club at 8 o'clock. It is being sponsored by the West Texas Republican Women's Club. Preceding the ball will be a champagne reception for patrons at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Picquets, 1600 Kiowa, at 7:30 p.m. Patron reservations are $25, and dance reservations are $10.

Charles Rainwater will be the pianist for the floor show. Performers include Don Newsom, John Taylor, Ralph McLaughlin, Rich Anderson, Delnor Poss, Akin Simpson, Mrs. Monroe Gafford, Mrs. Tuttle, and Mrs. Edwards.

Those planning to attend the function are urged to mail their checks to Mrs. Dan Wilkins, 3225 Duke; Big Spring, Texas, as soon as possible, Mrs. Akin Simpson, co-chairman of arrangements, said Wednesday.

Slender Benders Start New Contest

Fifteen members reported a total weight loss of over 16 pounds when the TOPS Slender Benders met Tuesday at Midway School. Mrs. Pat Caldwell was presented a badge for a 20-pound weight loss, and the bowl of fruit went to Mrs. Tony Dahmer. A new contest was begun for May. The next meeting will be Tuesday at the school for a Mother's Day program.

Rose Show Set In Midland Sunday

The Midland Rose Society will have a rose show Sunday in the Midland National Bank. Cultivares will be received from 7:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. on that day. The show will be open to the public from 2 to 5:30 p.m.

Bristow, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Wood. Mrs. Helen Dawson, president, announced that a member, Mrs. Elmer Long, had been elected president of the BSP City Council.

WMS Furthers 'Dynamic Spirit'

Mrs. E. O. Sanderson led the study, "The Dynamic Church Spirit for the '70's," Tuesday for the Women's Missionary Society, Westside Baptist Church. She discussed the church's aims for the decade, "to provide new training for churches and bring hope, love and life."

"Families need to know how to live and grow together," she said. "Personal attention should be given to each age group in the home."

Mrs. B. N. Boroughs and Mrs. J. C. Unger gave prayers and scripture.

500 Uvalde Pupils Stay Out Of School

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — A Mexican-American school boycott involving more than 500 pupils entered its 17th day today.

No settlement appeared in sight, although a group of parents with children involved was reported organizing in an attempt to meet with the school board.

Oscar Castro, 18, said he and at least five other seniors will stay on strike as long as necessary, even to the point of resuming the boycott next September.

Castro said he felt most or all of the estimated 30 boycotting seniors would follow suit.

Hundreds of parents voiced support of the strike in a meeting earlier this week, Castro said. He said it was the parents' "final decision."

A parents committee has been set up and will attempt to discuss the dispute with school board members, he said.

The striking seniors talked of trying to enroll at nearby Crystal City so they could be graduated on time.

"But we'll stick it out with the rest of them—we figure it would be only fair to the others," Castro said, referring to underclassmen involved in the strike.

He said arrangements had been made for them to enroll at Crystal City.

School board president C. A. Dishman said, however, their chances were remote at best because parents or guardians would have to move to Crystal City to meet the residence requirements. It is too late, he said, for normal transfers.

The school board says it is willing to discuss a list of demands for such items as bilingual education only after the strikers return to school. Officials said the teachers would help them make up missed school work.

Dishman said he felt some of the demands probably are "worthy of discussion—but some of them are absolutely ridiculous."

The strike began over the all-Anglo school board's refusal to renew a Mexican-American teacher's contract.

Dishman said 826 pupils were absent Wednesday. He said this is 545 above the district's average daily absentee rate of 281. There are 3,561 enrolled. A little more than half are Mexican-American.

Dishman said he felt the strike was losing steam and that the pupils will begin returning to classes in increasing numbers.

Harris County Bank Robbed

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The search continued today for two bandits who robbed the Highlands State Bank in east Harris County of $18,000.

The bandits, wearing ski masks and coveralls, ordered two customers and 10 employes to keep their heads down while they cleaned out several cash drawers in the Wednesday robbery.

One bandit held a pistol on a teller, Mrs. James Reeves and the other held a sawed-off shotgun on bank Vice President Kenneth Oldham.

'Gov. Smith Lauds 'Seeds For Needy'

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A Bexar County Commissioners Court resolution urging low-income citizens to plant "minigardens" has prompted congratulations from Gov. Preston Smith.

The resolution, called "seeds for the needy," asked organizations and individuals to donate property so low-income families could help meet their needs with small gardens.

Smith wrote the commissioners his congratulations and noted that the gardens can be quite a help in supplying fresh vegetables. He also mentioned the therapeutic effects of gardening.

Grants To Help Needy Students

The $8,100 Educational Opportunity grants announced Wednesday by Rep. Omar Burleson for Howard County Junior College will be to help students in dire circumstances.

The funds are for a maximum of 15 students who can qualify under strict guidelines. It is not to be confused with the work-study program or the student loan fund because these are grants. The period covered is the 1970-71 academic year.

Lions Given Impressions Of Chicago Seven Trial

Two years ago Roger Brown reported to the Downtown Lions Club his impressions on the disturbances in Chicago where the Democratic national convention was meeting.

Wednesday he was back to make observations on the recent trial of the "Chicago seven," accused of conspiring to incite riots during the convention.

"The antics of these defendants and their lawyer," he said, "were such as to make the real issue not a guilt or innocence matter of the charges, but whether a trial could be held.

"The court had to gag a defendant to avoid unbearable disruptions, and had to levy stiff contempt penalties upon counsel for the defense. You can see how far we have deteriorated in two years, which will continue unless there is a renewed respect for the framework of law."

The preservation of basic rights enumerated under the constitution and bill of rights is dependent ultimately upon individual respect for law. If the degree by which law is flaunted becomes the measure of whether to enforce a law, the nation is in deep trouble. Brown addressed the club on the occasion of Law Day.

Next week the club will select a delegate to the Lions International convention from a list including Dan Conley, John Dibrell, Harlan Huibregtse, L. T. King, Jim Lemons, Joe Pond and Willard Sullivan.

Ream Joins Angelo Bank

R. J. "Dick" Ream, associated with the First National Bank here since 1961, has assumed duties as cashier of the First National Bank of San Angelo.

Ream was previously vice president and cashier of the Big Spring bank. The announcement was made by Michel T. Halbouty, chairman of the board of San Angelo First National.

He previously served as vice president and cashier of the First State Bank in Andrews and as cashier of the First State Bank of Monahans.

Ream worked actively for Chamber of Commerce projects here and in scouting programs. He is a Master Mason and a member of Suez Temple of the Shrine in San Angelo.

He is a graduate of Mississippi Southern College with a BA degree in finance and of the Southwestern Graduate School of Banking at Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Singing Meet Planned Sunday

The Big Spring Singers will hold their quarterly meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Apostolic Faith Church at 14th and Goliad, said W. E. Spears, president.

There will be quartets and other special groups from neighboring towns, including the Slaton quartet. The public is invited to take part in the singing convention.

Pros Take Part In Roping Contest

There will be a number of old pros around Sunday afternoon when Ronnye Sewalt and Barry Burk square off in Rodeo Bowl in a 10 calf matched roping contest at 2 p.m.

And none will be more an old pro than Toots Mansfield, seven times champion calf roper of the world. Toots, a Big Spring rancher, will be the flag man who signals to the ropers when the calf has crossed the line and is fair game for roping. Another area rancher will be on the program too. Rich Anderson, who operates the Mule-shoe ranch south of Gail, will be the announcer for the colorful show, which also will include jackpot roping and a girls barrel racing.

In addition to the two top ropers who will be tying 10 calves to see who has the lowest elapsed times, there will be a jackpot roping of 35 specialists. Among them are Warren W. Cutler, Banner, Wyo.; Bowie Wesley, Wildorado, Tex.; R. E. Mosey; Bobby Hungate, Waco, intercollegiate champ turned pro; Wade Lewis, Hereford; Ernie Taylor, Hugo, Okla., and Buttons Howard. The latter two are among the top seven ropers in the nation and Lewis ranked 15th last year.

Visits School

HCJC's Human Growth and Development class and the instructor, John Bayne, visited the Jack and Jill Kindergarten Wednesday morning. The students observed the pre-school youngster in learning and play activity.

American Party Chief Here Today

Col. H. W. Matthews, new state chairman of the American Party, will be in Big Spring this evening for a political rally at the Cosden Club, which starts at 7:30 p.m.

E. O. McNeese, local chairman, said candidates in the May 2 primaries have been invited to speak on the issues of the campaigns, and all interested residents are invited to attend and hear them.

Convocation Day Is Friday At HCJC

Many activities are scheduled at Howard County Junior College in the last days of school.

Friday, May 1, the annual Honors Day Convocation will be held at 9:30 a.m. in the college auditorium. Special awards, outstanding students and the dean's list will be presented.

Friday evening, "Our Town," a dramatic presentation of the life as it was in the 1900's, will be acted by the Hawk Players at 8 p.m. in the College Auditorium. Also scheduled is the Spring Formal dance sponsored by the Freshman Class to be held in the SUB from 8-12 p.m.

Monday, May 4 there will be a book review in the auditorium at 9:45 a.m. Dennis Latimer, sophomore sociology major, will give the review on Claude Brown's book, "Man Child in the Promised Land", the story of a man rising above the conditions of the Harlem ghetto. The public is invited.

Final classes of the spring semester will be Tuesday, May 12, with graduation commencement set at 10 a.m. Thursday, May 14 in the auditorium.

Friday, May 8 at 7:30 p.m., will be the Licensed Vocational Nurses graduation program in the auditorium.

Spring semester formally ends May 15, with registration for the first six-weeks term of summer school being held June 1, with first day of classes scheduled for June 2.

Hero Accused Of Disrespect For U.S. Flag

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Thomas Wood Lee, 25, a Vietnam veteran who earned the Purple Heart for wounds in action, spent 10 hours behind bars Wednesday, accused of showing disrespect for the American flag.

He was released with no charges filed.

Patrolman Richard Stengel said he arrested Lee for displaying a decal on his van truck which combined a peace symbol with parts of the flag.

Stengel said he first warned Lee that he must remove the symbol or go to jail.

Lee is working his way through San Antonio Junior College as an independent contractor distributing newspapers.

He was folding newspapers for delivery at the time, Lee said, and decided to remove the decal "because I still had papers to deliver."

Lee said he later put the decal back on the van.

Stengel reported that he spotted the decal and arrested Lee on grounds of violating Title 18 of the U.S. Code, "showing disrespect for the flag by displaying a defaced replica of the American flag."

Lee's auto was impounded. Stengel said he removed the decal and placed it in the police property room.

One lawyer and then a second worked to get Lee out of jail.

Finally Police Chief George Bichsel was contacted. He called U.S. Atty. Seagal Wheatley and said he was told "it was not the intent of the law to prohibit display of the decal."

Bichsel quickly ordered Lee released.

Lee's father, the late Bill Lee, was real estate editor of the San Antonio Express-News.

Young Lee served in the Army four years, logged more than 100 combat hours as a helicopter gunner in Vietnam, and received the Purple Heart for wounds suffered in Vietnam.

Earthquake In Mexico

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A large earthquake—the third in two days—was recorded early today in southern Mexico, the University of California reported.

The 4:32 a.m. tremor registered a magnitude of 6.4 on the Richter scale. By comparison, the 1964 Alaska earthquake registered 8.4 and the 1906 San Francisco quake was 8.25.

Two earthquakes, with magnitudes of 5.8 and 6.75, were recorded in southern Mexico Wednesday morning. Those tremors were felt in Mexico City, but there were no reports of casualties or damage.

All the quakes were centered 450 to 500 miles southeast of the capital.

GARDENING, outdoor sports and camping are some of Mrs. Richard Cassell's interests. She loves to putter with flowers and enjoys arranging them. In the summer she takes to the outdoors, patio living and barbecuing nearly every night.

Air Force Life Finds Her Constantly Busy

By MARILYN NEVELS

When it comes to staying in the house, cooking, cleaning or sewing, Mrs. Richard Cassell, a home economics major in college, would rather be out among people. She prefers "puttering with flowers" in her neat flower beds to doing what is expected of a home economics major.

Nevertheless, a prettier, more neatly kept home could hardly be found. Home economics takes in a larger area than learning to crack eggs properly or stitching aprons. Her training at Ohio Wesleyan University, where she and her husband met, landed her a job with DuPont Textiles in the fabric department.

"I set up and conducted wear tests, testing their fibers with those of other companies," she said. "It was almost a research and development job. Then, I had to write up reports on the results."

She does enjoy cooking, but favors baking.

"We're very fond of desserts, and I bake quite a bit," she continued. "We both like pies, cakes and tortes. They're fun to make and I love to try new recipes."

The Cassells have been married for four years and have no children as yet, only a big, affectionate Australian sheep dog.

"Dick is very athletic and often has intramurals and team sports in the evening, so our meals are simple and casual," she noted. "He would rather have a steak thrown on the grill than anything else, so we barbecue four or five nights a week in the summer. Neither of us likes potatoes, and we try to avoid carbohydrates. We're fond of salads and vegetables. A variety of salads and fruit are refreshing on hot days.

"Dick is not a casserole lover, which I am. I think a pot roast is the greatest. His favorite recipes are his grandmother's homemade noodles and chicken, chicken pot pie and his mother's strawberry-orange gelatine mold."

Mrs. Cassell, who is a native of Wilmington, Del., said "I learned to cook in Girl Scouts and from my mother. I was an only child, and my mother had time to devote to being patient with me in the kitchen baking cookies."

Until Mrs. Cassell has a family and needs to spend most of her time at home, she enjoys base activities that keep her involved with people. As the wife of a training officer and as president of the Officers Wives Club she is kept quite busy. Capt. Cassell is the T-37 training officer for Class 71-03 and will have Class 71-07 next week.

With the coming of every new class, Mrs. Cassell has informal gatherings for the wives and for the entire class. She is class wives' advisor, attending all their meetings and social functions as well as supporting their athletic events. She assists with the Hi-Bye Coffees given by her group, and she and her husband attend each orientation for their new classes.

"We do a great deal of entertaining," she continued. "Our parties are usually very informal. We like fondue, shish-kabob and ice cream parties. We have the old-fashioned crank-type ice cream machine. It's more fun when everyone gets together making ice cream or cooking fondue."

This year has been her busiest with the Red Stocking Revue in which she and her husband participated, and the unusual number of OWC activities, luncheons, coffees, teas, welcomes and farewells as the Lobdells and Esteses left and the Atkinsons and Grows became the first families on base.

Mrs. Cassell, concluding her term as OWC president, hopes to find time for her summer hobbies of swimming, golf, gardening and camping.

In June, she will become coordinator of Family Services. This job includes providing articles and information for incoming and outgoing personnel and overseeing the four committees of Family Services.

"The functions of the committees are to lend household supplies, share folders on bases here and overseas, maintain babysitting files, provide emergency assistance, welcome newcomers to the base and handle publicity," she explained.

Capt. and Mrs. Cassell usually plan four or five camping trips each summer, and soon, they plan to camp at Lake Texoma with three other couples.

Mrs. Cassell's recipes include camping or barbecuing dishes, Western Beans and Bar-B-Qued Spiced Bananas.

Corn Pudding To Accompany Ham

A custard-type corn pudding to accompany ham.

CUSTARD CORN PUDDING

2 cups milk
1 tbsp. margarine
4 eggs, slightly beaten
1½ tsps. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. sugar
1 can (1 lb.) whole kernel corn, drained

Scald milk; stir in margarine. Blend eggs with salt, pepper and sugar. Gradually stir in milk mixture; add corn. Pour into nine 5-ounce ungreased custard cups. Set cups in shallow pan.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

By Mrs. R. Cassell

SAVORY STEAK SLICES

1 lb. flank steak
⅓ cup soy sauce
⅓ cup dry white wine
2 tbsps. salad oil
Watercress sprigs
¼ cup sliced radishes
2 cloves garlic
Pinch of ginger

If steak is wide (five inches or more), halve lengthwise. Trim excess fat.

Combine all other ingredients in large shallow dish. Place steak in mixture and marinate. Refrigerate, covered, 24 hours, stirring occasionally.

Brush steak lightly on both sides with oil. Place in broiler pan without rack. Broil (six inches from heat) for one minute on each side, then turn, and broil five minutes more on each side or until medium rare.

Let cool. Brush steak with pan juices, and refrigerate until serving, or, try it hot sometime. Cut in thin, diagonal slices.

WESTERN BEANS

1 can (16 oz.) lima beans, drained
1 can (15 oz.) kidney beans, drained
1 can (16 oz.) white navy beans, drained
3 onions, chopped fine
1 clove garlic
3 tbsps. bacon fat
½ cup ketchup
1 tbsp. brown sugar
3 tbsps. vinegar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. dry mustard
¼ tsp. black pepper

Place all beans and other ingredients into skillet or casserole. Mix well. Cover and place on bar-b-que grill or in a 350 degree F. oven for approximately one hour. Remove cover and cook another 15 minutes.

BAR-B-QUED SPICED BANANAS

Peel a banana or two for each person. Cut pieces of aluminum foil large enough to wrap bananas in and lay bananas on them. Brush with lemon juice and sprinkle with brown sugar. Dot with butter. Add a dash of cinnamon or nutmeg. Wrap each banana in foil separately and lay in coals for five minutes.

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

⅓ cup sugar
1 tsp. flour
1 egg yolk
2 tbsp. canned lemon juice
½ cup canned pineapple juice
1 tsp. celery seed
1 cup whipping cream

Mix sugar, flour and egg yolk together in sauce pan. Add fruit juices, and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add celery seed. Cool. Stir in whipped cream just before serving. Makes two cups of dressing.

HOMEMADE ICE CREAM

6 eggs
2 cans (13 oz.) evaporated milk
4½ cups sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
¼ tsp. lemon extract
1 gal. homogenized milk

Beat eggs on high speed. Add sugar, canned milk, vanilla, lemon extract, and blend thoroughly. Add three cups milk and stir. Pour into ice cream container and add remaining milk until freezer is full (two inches from brim). Stir and freeze.

STRAWBERRY-ORANGE GELATINE MOLD

2 pkgs. (3 oz.) orange gelatine
1 lg. pkg. frozen strawberries
1 8½ oz. can Mandarin oranges
1 cup sour cream
1 cup boiling water
¾ cup orange juice
¼ cup Mandarin juice

Mix gelatine and boiling water together until gelatine has dissolved. Add other ingredients, except sour cream. Pour one-half of mixture into a 1½ quart mold and chill until set. Spread the set half with sour cream and add the rest of the gelatine. Chill.

STRAWBERRY COCONUT NESTS

2 4-oz. pkgs. whipped cream cheese
½ cup sugar
2 tsps. milk
1 tsp. vanilla
2 pkgs. shortcake dessert cups (8 cups)
13½ oz. can flaked coconut
1 qt. fresh strawberries, sweetened

Combine cream cheese, sugar, milk, and vanilla; beat until smooth. With fork, remove small amount of center from each dessert cup. Frost cups with cream cheese mixture; sprinkle with coconut. At serving time, spoon strawberries into centers. Remember these little nests for fresh fruit all summer long. Makes eight servings, or six large servings.

DATE BALLS

1 cup butter or margarine
1½ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. milk
2 cups chopped dates
2 tsps. vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts
3 cups Rice Crispies
Flake coconut

Combine butter, sugar, salt, milk and dates in saucepan. Boil two minutes, stirring occasionally, and set aside to cool. After cooling, stir and add nuts, vanilla and Rice Crispies. Butter your hands and form into balls. Roll in coconut. (You can make one-half recipe — and it freezes well.)

CHOCOLATE NUT CREAM FILLING

1 sq. unsweetened chocolate
¾ cup milk
6 tbsps. sugar
2 tbsps. cake flour
Dash of salt
1 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. vanilla
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup chopped nuts

Combine chocolate and milk, and heat in double boiler. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Combine sugar, cake flour and salt and add gradually to the chocolate mixture, stirring constantly until thickened. Continue cooking five minutes, stirring occasionally. Add butter and vanilla and chill thoroughly. Fold in whipped cream and chopped nuts. (We like almonds). Makes two cups. Top slices of angel food cake or use as a filling for angel food cake.

RUM PUMPKIN CREAM PIE

1½ cups canned pumpkin
¾ cup sugar
½ tsp. salt
1½ tsp. ground ginger
½ tsp. ground nutmeg
3 eggs
1 cup milk
¼ cup dark rum
¼ cup chopped pecans
Pastry shell for 9" pie

Preheat oven to 425 degrees F. Combine pumpkin, sugar, salt, ginger and nutmeg. Mix eggs, milk, rum and cream. Stir into pumpkin mixture. Add pecans. Pour mixture into pastry shell, and bake 15 minutes at 425 degrees F. Reduce heat to 350 degrees F.; bake 30-40 minutes or until set. Serve with sweetened whipped cream flavored with rum and ground ginger.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

When you are grinding or chopping baked ham to use in a mousse do not do the chopping or grinding until shortly before you plan to assemble the dish.

* * *

Baking custard? Freshly grate a little nutmeg over the top of the custard mixture before it goes into the oven. Modern nutmeg graters are available if Grandma's isn't in the kitchen!

* * *

Baking corn bread to use in turkey stuffing? If you want to follow a traditional Southern method, omit sugar in the corn bread.

* * *

When you are ready to slice a many-layered cake-type torte, do it this way: With a thin sharp knife blade, cut a circle about three inches in diameter in the center of the torte and then slice the outside ring.

* * *

If you want that chocolate confectioners sugar frosting extra rich, beat in an egg yolk or two. Be sure to refrigerate the cake on which this frosting is used.

* * *

Chocolate souffle benefits when it is served with both chocolate sauce and whipped cream.

* * *

Leftover chocolate sauce may be stored in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator. Before using, allow the sauce (in the jar) to stand at room temperature until it loses its chill, then reheat the sauce (in the jar) in hot water.

* * *

If you want a delightful raisin sauce to serve with ham, one that is different, add strips of candied or syrup-preserved ginger to the sauce.

Elegant Potatoes

YARBOROUGH: MOVE INTO CAMBODIA UNWISE

Candidates Air Fresh Charges

By The Associated Press

Fresh charges were aired and old ones were repeated Wednesday as the Texas campaigns for nomination of a U.S. senator boiled toward a finish.

There was no letup in a bitter war of words between Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Lloyd Bentsen, whose struggle in the Democratic primary has claimed the center of the political stage.

Rivals for other offices in Saturday's elections stayed nearly as busy getting in last-minute appeals to voters.

Yarborough, in support of his bid for renomination, deplored this country's role in the Cambodian fighting, accused Bentsen of trying to bring religious prejudice to bear in their race and levelled a conflict of interest allegation at his opponent.

ANNUAL INCOME

Bentsen styled himself capable of achieving effective but not rubber-stamp unity as a senator, again recommended that Texas retire Yarborough and repeated his stand against busing to achieve racial balance in schools.

In the Republican contest for the senatorial nomination, Rep. George Bush voiced approval of President Nixon's decision to furnish Cambodia advisers, air support and arms while his opponent, Robert Morris, accused Bush of a turnabout in his stand on a guaranteed annual income.

Yarborough, stumping from Wichita Falls to Abilene, said the U. S. move to help Cambodia fend off Communist attacks was "exactly the way we got involved in Vietnam," where he already opposed this country's role.

Referring to Cambodia, the senator told newsmen, "I don't think it is governmentally, politically or morally wise or the thing to do . . . I don't think the United States should go one foot into Cambodia."

CHURCH AND STATE

Yarborough said he has complained to the Fair Campaign Practices Committee that Bentsen brought religion into the campaign by criticizing the senator for voting against a school prayer amendment in 1966. In this connection, Bentsen said Sunday at Houston that "I don't think he (Yarborough) represented the people of Texas . . . and I don't think he represented the spiritual interests of the entire nation" in casting such a vote."

The senator said the Southern and American Baptist denominations and other Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish organizations agreed with his stand against a constitutional amendment to override the Supreme Court's school prayer decisions.

"My vote on that amendment was in agreement with my belief in the separation of church and state," Yarborough said.

POLITICAL UNITY

Again accusing his opponent of a conflict of interest, Yarborough said Bentsen borrowed $120,000 in 1967 from the Brazosport Savings & Loan Association, in which Bentsen was an officer, to buy 216 acres of unimproved Brazoria County land. Yarborough said real estate loans to an officer of a savings and loan association without unanimous approval of its directors and "this was not done."

Bentsen brought up his unity candidate theme as he campaigned during the day at Texarkana, Tyler, Paris, Greenville, Sherman and Denton, and again during an evening telecast carried by Dallas, Houston and San Antonio stations.

"When I'm in the Senate I will work for unity, but I don't mean conformity," Bentsen said. "I mean the type of political unity that gets things done, that minimizes the name calling and petty jealousies, and encourages people to sit down and talk out their differences."

FREEDOM

Declaring he would not "duck out on the vote like Sen. Yarborough did when the Senate had a chance to stop compulsory busing," Bentsen also said:

"Forced busing is a threat to education. At the same time, freedom of choice must not be used as an excuse to deprive any child of equal opportunity for the best possible education . . .

"I predict this issue will continue to plague us for years to come. The people of Texas should have a senator who represents their views and is willing to fight for freedom of choice and neighborhood schools."

During a Denton airport stop, Bentsen again scored what he described as "the ultra liberalism" of Yarborough, said that his opponent voted for a Senate pension plan and promised, "We're going to let him qualify for it next Saturday."

Rep. Bush endorsed this country's move in Cambodia while campaigning at Wichita Falls.

Morris recalled in Houston that he spoke of what he described as an ultra liberal stance by Bush on such questions as welfare, open housing and changing the seniority system of Congress.

SHARP TURN

"This morning I learned that Bush said he was against the guaranteed annual income yesterday," Morris went on. "Last week he voted for it. This week he is against it. That's a 180-degree turn."

Paul Eggers, the former Treasury Department counsel running for the Republican nomination for governor, was able to leave a Wichita Falls hospital where he has been under treatment for laryngitis since April 18.

Eggers' opponent in the GOP primary is Roger Martin of Gainesville. Gov. Preston Smith is unopposed for renomination by the Democrats.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler's chief clerk, Jack Gilberson, told Austin newsmen that a state Senate committee report was made public Monday "at an opportune time to hit the commissioner politically." The report stated Sadler has been ineffective in controlling oil pipeline pollution.

SCHOOL FUNDS

Giberson added that the report erred in stating Sadler had no complete maps showing all pipeline locations in the Texas tidelands, and he exhibited maps he described as comprehensive. He noted that Sadler's opponent had the committee report the same day it was issued.

Armstrong, campaigning at Abilene, said he proposes a complete inventory of state lands and their use in event he is elected.

"It is quite possible," Armstrong said, "that some lands now being used for grazing could become parks, and navigation districts might become fish nurseries or wildlife refuges or beach parks. And it is entirely possible that such land use changes would provide more money for the school fund."

DEMONSTRATORS ON THE RUN — Some of the nearly 200 anti-ROTC demonstrators flee from deputies of the Santa Clara County Sheriff's Department during a rock throwing melee at Stanford University late Wednesday night. Patrol car and campus building windows were smashed after police broke up a sit-in at the Old Student Union building, scene of similar disturbances in past weeks.

Two Are Sent To State Prison

Two men were released this morning from Howard County jail to custody of the Texas Department of Correction. The men are en route to the state prison in Huntsville.

They are George Henry Davenport, 36, 1106 Justin, Bryan, and Robert R. Villareal, 23, 108 NW 8th. Villareal is being returntd to the prison for violation of parole. Davenport pleaded guilty last week in 118th District Court to felony theft and was sentenced to six years in prison by Judge R. W. Caton.

Studies Movement Of Water On Area Soils

LUBBOCK — What actually happens to water from irrigation or rainfall when it comes in contact with both wet and dry soil? Does the water stay in the upper levels of the soil, or does it move through the soil and into areas where it is not available for plant use?

Mohammed Idris, a graduate student from East Pakistan, set out to conduct such a study at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock as research for a Ph.D. degree in soil physics from Texas A&M. When he returns to East Pakistan, Idris will be the only soil physicist with a doctorate degree in the entire country.

In one of the plots with dry soil, Idris applied three inches of water. By the time measurements could be made following irrigation, all but 1.72 inches of the water had moved through two and one-half feet of soil into a caliche layer. The plot was then covered to prevent evaporation, and after three weeks, only 0.75 inches of the three inches originally applied remained in the soil above the caliche. Only this amount is considered available for plant growth. In another dry plot, a similar test was conducted with the same general results.

Idris tried the same test on wet soil, applying 1.2 inches of water and then covering the plot to prevent evaporation. Only 0.53 inches of the water applied remained in the soil above the caliche immediately following irrigation. After 21 days the soil was back to its original moisture level preceding the irrigation.

"When preplant irrigation water is applied to mixed soils that are already wet from fall rains, much of the irrigation water will be lost into the caliche," Idris explains. "Also, if irrigation water is applied a month or more before planting, most of the surface moisture will be lost to evaporation.

Some farmers may feel that irrigating is ncessary to settle the land or to wet listed beds. Under these conditions, irrigating every other row may be adequate. Furthermore, the odds are high for adequate rainfall by planting time, adds the soil physicist.

"All this points to," says Dr. Charles Wendt, soil scientist who supervised the study, "is that it would be wise for farmers to check their soil to see if irrigating is really necessary. Every effort should be made to save our water, especially since the underground water supply is diminishing at an alarming rate."

Looking at the future, when water will become even more scarce, Wendt believes that other types of irrigation systems must be considered. These included sprinkler and sub-irrigation systems that apply small amounts of water frequently. Also, the installation of impermeable plastic mulches in the soil profile offers a possibility for retaining moisture in the root zones of plants.

Re-Elect

BILL TUNE

County Commissioner

PRECINCT 4

BILL TUNE is the only EXPERIENCED candidate in the Precinct 4 Race.

BILL TUNE is the only INCUMBENT seeking re-election on the commissioners' court.

BILL TUNE has worked three years, four months actually handling the business of Howard County on a day-to-day basis.

BILL TUNE is self-financed; no person, group or agency is financing his re-election campaign.

BILL TUNE is a businessman, experienced in management.

THE RECORD IS CLEAR

Bill Tune has worked for these goals:

Better Fire Protection — "I feel we have adequate fire protection in rural areas, however further consideration should be given to working out an agreement with the City. I have worked and will continue to work for the best protection possible at the lowest cost. Anyone having recommendations in this matter is urged to bring the matter to the attention of the commissioners' court."

Tax Office Consolidation — "I was instrumental in getting the talks started for the consolidation of tax collecting offices. I favored this because it offers a chance for economy in our various governmental offices. I will continue to work on this proposal and any others that will help save the taxpayer money."

County Engineer — "In the past three years, four months, we have interviewed several engineers, but have not found one we felt was qualified to serve in this position. I will continue to work toward filling this important position."

Road And Bridge Department — "I feel our tax dollars are being spent wisely and efficiently for the betterment of Howard County and the community. For instance, on a budget of $400,000 in 1969, we have provided 52 miles of seal-coating, 6 miles of new paving, paved parking ramp at Howard County Airport, new equipment purchases, operation and maintenance of equipment, 525 miles of road maintenance, and 40 employes."

System Urged On Expenditures

During Tuesday evening's city commission meeting, Jack Watkins chairman of the citizen's government and tax study committee, asked the commission to establish a "system" for purchases and expenditures.

He was critical of some "loans" or advances made to the NYC program, which he said should have had approval of the elected officials. He also questioned why these were not reported in the annual audits of the city accounts.

Watkins said that until some changes are made to establish a system, many transactions involving city funds can be made that do not follow established processes. He urged that the commission study the problem and set up a system.

Larry Crow, city manager, invited Watkins to inspect the records of "loans or advances" at any time.

TROOPS CALLED TO RESTORE ORDER

7 Shot During OSU Riot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An acrid residue of tear gas hung over the Ohio State University campus today as students went to class in the aftermath of the worst disturbance in the school's history.

National Guardsmen had moved onto the campus at midnight to restore order after 12 hours of sporadic clashes between police and students.

More than 50 persons were injured, including 28 policemen. Seven students suffered minor gunshot wounds.

Gov. James A. Rhodes called 1,200 National Guardsmen to deal with the trouble, but only 200 actually went to the campus. They were on patrol duty on the campus perimeter. Police and highway patrolmen patrolled the campus. Other guardsmen were quartered at the Ohio Fairgrounds a few blocks away.

All classes were open today and the campus quiet was in contrast to the unruly crowds late Wednesday.

Pledging to keep the school open, University President Novice Fawcett declared: "I will have no hesistancy in summoning and retaining sufficient security forces to preserve order."

Spokesmen at University and Grant hospitals said three of those shot were hospitalized. Five of those wounded by gunfire were students.

Most of the other injured suffered cuts and bruises, and some were treated for the effects of tear gas.

By dawn, police said, 236 persons had been arrested including one young man accused of sniping.

Police charged Ignacio Cruse Obregon, 23, who lived in the university area, with assault with a deadly weapon. They alleged he shot at a highway patrol helicopter and a policeman with a 7mm rifle.

The violence apparently was triggered by the arrest of a student leader after a group of youths set up a barricade at a campus entrance.

The students reportedly were part of a group which had been picketing eight university buildings and boycotting classes in an effort to get administration officials to negotiate student demands for equal rights for black students and more student representation in university affairs. Ohio State has an enrollment of more than 40,000.

The city imposed a 9 p.m. curfew on a two-square-mile area surrounding the campus and police sealed off six blocks of High Street.

Officers then began making mass arrests, carting youths off to jail in busloads. The police department said charges ranged from disorderly conduct and resisting arrest to curfew violation

Korean Named Patient Of Year

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Darcy Jo Smith, 11, who lost her left arm and left leg in an explosion in Korea, has been named Patient of the Year for the nation's 22 Shrine hospitals for crippled children.

Darcy is one of three 11-year-old Korean children adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Dewaine Smith of Suburban West Linn.

HELP! — An unidentified man, taking part in a demonstration at Ohio State University Wednesday, screams for help as security officers clamp handcuffs on him in Columbus. A mass student demonstration was calling for a student strike to get school officials to act on their demands. Scuffling and arrests occurred after a street through the campus was closed by the youths.

Great Scott, What A Finish

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania is nursing a wrenched knee, the result of a tumble from a speakers' platform.

Scott, 69, finished an address to the Pennsylvania Association of Letter Carriers Wednesday, stepped backwards and dropped three feet.

Purest Form Of Jazz Offered Here Tonight

Jazz, in its purest form, is an art of improvisation, born of feeling and sheer joy of playing.

And that's the sort of thing that members of the Big Spring Concert Association will hear at 8:30 p.m. today when Kid Thomas and his Preservation Hall band from New Orleans play the final program of the current season.

Preservation Hall, a historic residence turned museum and finally a jazz center, has been the mecca for those who love the American musical innovation of jazz.

This is not a ragtime or Dixieland band, although Kid Thomas and his cohorts make the welkin ring at times. But they improvise upon marches blues, ragtime, quadrilles.

The result is much like the spontaneous music which issued Streets in New Orleans where "jazz" was born.
minuets and other musical forms.

Welfare What, How

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are pertinent facts about the welfare reform bill now before the Senate Finance Committee.

Provisions—It establishes a federally assured income, $1,600 for a family of four, and provides for the first time supplements to the income of the working poor whose earnings leave them in poverty. The effect is to expand welfare eligible rolls by 13 million. Requires recipients to register for training and work. Provides a floor of $110 a month income for the blind, disabled and aged. Federal government takes on more of the cost and administration from the states.

Cost—Officially estimated at $4.4 billion a year. Critics say several times that much.

Support—President Nixon and many leaders of both parties. Opposition also cuts across party lines and the conservative-liberal line.

Prospects: Strong efforts in the Senate to increase the support levels in the measure passed by the House and otherwise liberalize it. Some amendments considered certain to be adopted, so that the final version will be written in a Senate-House conference.
