OGALLALA FORMATION Pollution Board Rules Out Pits

AUSTIN (AP) — Oil operators in eight West Texas counties must discontinue by Sept. 1, using unlined pits to dispose of salt water, the State Water Pollution Control Board ordered Thursday.

The counties overlie the Ogallala Formation, a dwindling water supply for the High Plains area which farmers and conservation groups assert is being polluted by seepage from the brine pools.

The counties are Dawson, Terry, Hale, Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Lynn and Swisher.

At a hearing Wednesday, oil industry spokesmen denied the pollution allegations and said salt water pits are being replaced by injection systems which will return underground all but 1 per cent of the brine brought to the surface with oil.

Board Chairman Joe Carter indicated at the board's January meeting that an order was under consideration to ban brine pits in all 48 counties overlying the Ogallala Formation, but eight counties were selected for study.

Lazy Cold Front Drifts Into Texas

By The Associated Press

A lazy cold front drifted into Northwest Texas today, putting a slight dent in the springlike weather of the past few days.

The Weather Bureau said the cooler air should spread southward into south central and southeast Texas by late Saturday.

A light snow was forecast for the Panhandle area late today and tonight. About the same time showers were to fall over scattered portions of east and Central Texas.

The week's second snowstorm overspread Rockies and Plains areas today, and river ice jams and floods caused trouble in the Northeast.

The new snow ranged from Montana and Colorado through the Dakotas and northern Nebraska, pressing eastward into the northern Mississippi Valley. Depths ranged from four to six inches.

Violent wind and tornadoes caused at least 12 deaths Wednesday night in the mid-South, and the storm unloaded heavy snowdrifts and rains in the Midwest and Ohio Valley.

The new snow prompted hazardous driving warnings by the Weather Bureau in the northern Plains.

Sharp cold which reached 12 degrees below zero early today in Pellston, Mich., contrasted with a snow-melting warm wave in the East. Albany posted 71 degrees Thursday.

The thaw brought breaks of ice jams and flood damage in Pennsylvania and Vermont.

Rises in the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, converging on Pittsburgh, caused light flooding.

A bridge over the White River in Vermont, just north of White River junction, collapsed under ice jam pressure severing principal telephone cables connecting northern Vermont with southern New England.

A bridge toppled into the LaMoille River at Hardwick. An ice jam in the Winooski River caused flooding in Montpelier.

New King Of Greece

King Paul Dies, Leaving Greek Throne To Prince

ATHENS (AP)—King Paul of Greece died today, six days after he was stricken by complications from a stomach operation.

A terse announcement by the Information Ministry dashed glimmering hopes of the Greek nation that a brief morning rally meant the 62-year-old monarch might survive.

Crown Prince Constantine, 23, who was at his father's bedside, succeeds his father. Paul has handed over his royal powers to his son by making him regent Feb. 20. That was the day before he underwent an emergency four-hour operation for a stomach ulcer.

SINCE 1947

Paul ascended the throne in the spring of 1947 at the death of his brother, George II.

A team of five physicians had called the operation successful and for many days the king was reported making a steady recovery.

But on March 1 he came down with a blood clot in his right leg and the next day developed another blood clot in his left lung.

Earlier today, the sixth of the monarch's ordeal, a medical bulletin said he "showed a slight improvement."

A palace source said the king had opened his eyes this morning, saw his wife Queen Frederika and his son and murmured: "I feel a little better."

Paul received Holy Communion Thursday. Hours later the doctors said his condition was "becoming worse and worse."

Death came at 4:12 p.m., 14 days after his stomach operation. King Paul, a robust man who stood 6 feet 4, had for days and possibly even weeks before his stomach operation suffered a period of pain hidden from the Greek public. It had been feared that announcement of his condition would cause too much anxiety just prior to the national election of Feb. 16.

One of King Paul's last acts before undergoing surgery at Tatoi Palace 26 miles outside Athens was to swear in Prime Minister George Papandreu on Feb. 18. Papandreu won a landslide victory in the vote for a new parliament.

With the king's death, Queen Frederika, 46, becomes Queen mother.

She will be succeeded by a teen-age queen. Constantine is engaged to marry Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark, now 17, a very distant cousin. They are scheduled to marry next January.

Besides Constantine and Frederika, the king is survived by daughters Princess Irene, 21, and Princess Sophie, 25.

Employment Takes A Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's total employment figure took an unexpected jump of 800,000 last month, the Labor Department reported today.

But the civilian labor force swelled by almost the same number and there was virtually no change in the persistent number of jobless persons.

TURKS MOVE

The Turks moved on the village from the strongpoint to relieve the neighboring Turkish Cypriot village of Temblos, a mile farther down the mountain. Turkish Cypriots also opened fire from the minaret of a mosque at Kazaphani, six miles east of Karmi.

In Nicosia, a bomb wrecked the first floor of the Turkish Cypriot legislative chamber. Five Turks at a nearby coffee shop were cut by flying glass. Each side accused the other of

Ship Explodes, Swiftly Sinks

ANACORTES, Wash. (AP)—An empty tanker exploded and sank only 15 miles from its destination early today off Whidbey Island in Puget Sound.

Coast Guard rescue craft picked up 26 survivors, leaving 18 of the 44-man crew from the tanker Bunker Hill unaccounted for. The survivors, badly burned and cut, were taken to hospitals at Whidbey Island Naval Air Station.

Cause of the disaster is not known. The 504-foot tanker was bound for the Shell refinery at Anacortes from Tacoma, Wash., when it was racked by a series of explosions shortly after 4 a.m. The vessel sank quickly about 15 miles from Anacortes and 80 miles north of Seattle.

Phillips said he was washing tanks when the blast occurred. John Caughlan, a Seattle radio newsmen, flying over the scene, in Rosario Strait, reported that debris was scattered over a wide area "and the explosion must have been terrific."

The Bunker Hill went down about two hours before dawn. Survival time in Puget Sound's frigid waters in the winter is estimated at little more than an hour.

The tanker was owned by the Keystone Tankship Corp., Wilmington, Del., and carried petroleum products for the Shell Oil Co.

MacArthur Doing Well After Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army surgeons removed Gen. Douglas MacArthur's gall bladder today and said they found no evidence of any cancer.

The post-operative condition of the 84-year-old warrior and hero of two world wars was described as "satisfactory."

The surgeons reported after a lengthy operation beginning at 8:00 a.m. EST that they also had removed gall stones from the common bile duct, a key passageway in the abdomen.

Reporters were given the first details by Brig. Gen. Henry S. Murphy, commanding officer of the Walter Reed General Hospital. He said the operation lasted three hours.

Murphy said the details had been furnished to him by Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the Army surgeon general who performed the surgery, and it was Heaton's statement that Murphy read.

Heaton told The Associated Press Thursday there is a possibility that MacArthur's "obstructive jaundice of unknown origin"—which has caused the yellowing of the general's skin—is due only to lodging of a gallstone in the so-called common bile duct.

Dallasite Can Laugh, Now

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A Dallas insurance man could laugh today about his grilling by the FBI and state police Thursday in Newark, N.J., after he was seen carrying a rifle at the same airport from which President Johnson was departing.

"But I sure wasn't laughing then," said John Russell, 41.

Johnson was returning to Washington after attending the New York funeral of Mrs. Robert F. Wagner. His flight, like Russell's, was diverted to Newark because of fog conditions in New York.

Russell was released after police checked out his story that the rifle had been given him by a Philadelphia friend.

As Russell unloaded his suitcase and the guncase, a police guard approached and asked if he had a gun. The next question was if Russell knew the President was at the airport.

"I knew then I was in for it," Russell said. He handed over the gun and was surrounded by Secret Service men, FBI agents and New York and New Jersey police.

When Russell said he was from Dallas, where President John F. Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, a guard said, "You haven't got a chance now," but he was released.

Nixon Will Accept Veep Post Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today he is ready to accept the Republican nomination for the same post again.

He stressed that he is not a candidate for either the presidential or vice presidential nomination but that he would do what his party asked.

Nixon, appearing on the NBC-TV "Today" program, was asked by interviewer Hugh Downs whether he would accept second spot on the ticket.

"I know you are going to expect me to say 'no' because I have been vice president for eight years and have run for president," Nixon replied.

"But I don't go along with the current talk among the present candidates for downgrading the vice presidency. I think it is time to upgrade it. And as far as I'm concerned, I'm making it clear that I'm not a candidate for president and not a candidate for vice president but I will do whatever my party asks me to do and I feel everybody else should, too.

"The vice presidency, as Lyndon Johnson's present position proves today, is as important as the presidency."

Nixon said that the big surprise in the New Hampshire primary next Tuesday may be on the Democratic rather than the Republican side.

He said there were so many contenders in the Republican presidential primary that no body could win a decisive victory.

Nixon forecast a large write-in vote for Atty. Robert F. Kennedy for the Democratic vice presidential nomination — one that might start a groundswell that would propel him into second spot on the ticket.

Ruby, Jury Watch Film Of Shooting

DALLAS (AP)—A Dallas policeman testified today that Jack Ruby told him he thought of killing Lee Harvey Oswald on Friday night, Nov. 22, the day President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas.

Sgt. P. T. Dean quoted Ruby as saying that Friday night was "the first time he thought of killing him and he wanted the world to know that Jews have guts."

Dean further quoted Ruby as saying:

"He said when he saw that sarcastic smile on Oswald's face, that was one of the first times he thought of killing him and he wanted to show the world that Jews do have guts."

KEEP OUT

The defense tried hard to keep this testimony out of the record. Chief defense lawyer Melvin Belli called several times for a mistrial.

Dean said the conversation with Ruby took place after Ruby was arrested and when he was in jail. He quoted Ruby as saying:

"He said he believed in due process of law but he was so torn up about his (Oswald) killing the President and officer (J. D.) Tippit, he knew the outcome would be the death penalty. But he knew no reason why Mrs. Kennedy should be brought back to Dallas for the trial."

Dean further quoted Ruby as saying:

"He said when he saw that sarcastic smile on Oswald's face, that was one of the first times he thought of killing him and he wanted to show the world that Jews do have guts."

Court then recessed.

Dean's testimony was the first on Ruby's possible motive for killing Oswald.

Ruby's defense is based on temporary insanity. His lawyers contend he was in an emotional "blackout" and did not even know he had killed Oswald.

When testimony was resumed, Capt. Glen King of the Dallas police testified Ruby said, moments after he shot Oswald and was arrested:

"You didn't think I was going to let him get by with it, did you?"

Defense lawyer Joe Tonnahill asked King if he knew of phone calls to the Police Department on the Saturday night before Oswald was killed, saying, "Oswald will never live to reach the county jail."

The captain said he did not know this of his own knowledge. Tonnahill then asked if he knew of "death threats against Oswald by members of the public and police officers themselves."

King replied he had no firsthand knowledge of these, either. This was the first known time that a jury watched films of the actual slaying on which it must pass judgment.

The light from the reflected film flickered eerily on Ruby's face as he sat through two showings. It was the first time he had seen the pictures.

Ruby watched unwaveringly while the films were shown when the jury was out of the courtroom. At the re-run for the jury's benefit, Ruby closed his eyes at times.

The defendant leaned forward, often cupping his chin in his hands. Toward the end of the first showing, his chin sagged to within inches of the table.

His figure was barely recognizable in the picture—a man in a black suit who suddenly moved toward Oswald, the accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Rusk Implies Criticism Of French Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that talk of neutralization in Southeast Asia, which implies withdrawal of U.S. support, tends to undermine the morale of the Vietnamese people.

French President Charles de Gaulle has been advocating neutralization as a solution for the U.S.-Communist confrontation in Southeast Asia. Rusk did not specifically say that the French policy was undermining the U.S.-supported war effort of South Viet Nam, but his remarks implied that criticism.

SIMPLE

In response to questioning at his news conference, Rusk said that talk of neutralization has injected confusion into a point that should be very simple.

If the Communist countries to the north—Red China and North Viet Nam—would leave Laos and South Viet Nam alone, he said, Laos and South Viet Nam would have peace, and the U.S. efforts in the area would be satisfied.

Rusk said "we're not going to withdraw" support from the Vietnamese struggling for independence against Communist guerrillas.

As to Laos, he said the United States hopes the Communists will live up to their "solemn commitments" of 1954 and 1962 to respect the independence and neutrality of Laos. If they do not do so, he said, "we will have some very serious questions to face."

OTHER QUESTIONS

On other questions, Rusk said:

It is hopeful the United States and Panama can reach an agreement to restore relations and get their differences over the Panama Canal to the conference table "without undue delay."

The United States believes it is important for the Cuban people to discover that a "policy of hostility" toward other countries in the Western Hemisphere "holds no future," either for the Cuban people or for Cuba's Castro government.

Bobby Puts On Brakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is suddenly trying to put the brakes on a fast-moving drive to press him forward as President Johnson's running mate in November.

Described as genuinely surprised at the campaign's momentum, Kennedy issued a statement through a spokesman Thursday saying he wishes "to discourage any efforts on his behalf in New Hampshire or elsewhere."

The vice presidential choice, he said, should be left to Johnson and the Democratic convention. He did not say whether he would accept second place on the ticket if it were offered.

Lottery Vote Debate Rages This Week

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — A political-moral debate rages in New Hampshire this week. It concerns the New Hampshire Sweepstakes, the nation's only state sanctioned, state-promoted lottery.

Many observers believe more people are steamed up about the sweepstakes than about candidates in the first-in-the-nation presidential preference primary. When the voters enter polling places Tuesday, they'll be given a ballot with a local option question on whether they want sweepstakes tickets sold in their towns.

Even opponents of the sweeps concede it will probably be passed by a wide margin. Gov. John W. King has urged a strong vote in favor of the venture.

The $3 tickets may be sold only at the state's three race tracks and in state liquor stores in communities that approve the referendum. Although the vote will be state-wide, the results will be applicable only in the 42 communities that have liquor stores or race tracks.

Mack Rodgers Cohu Secretary

A. Mack Rodgers, former county attorney for Howard County, has been elected secretary of Cohu Electronics, Inc., by the board of directors.

Rodgers also is corporate legal counsel and contract administrator of Cohu's Kin Tel Division in San Diego, Calif. He was manager of Marine Development, Inc., a contract administrator for General Dynamics - Convair in California, and attorney for Ryan Aeronautical Company before joining Cohu Electronics in 1960. An LLB graduate of Southern Methodist University, Rodgers also practiced private law in Big Spring before moving to California in 1955. He practiced privately and for a time was in partnership with the late W. E. Greenless. He and Mrs. Rodgers were active in Baptist affairs and in civic work in Big Spring.

BRITISHERS ON BUS TOUR
Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gifford of Harrow, England

English Couple Breaks Trip Here

By SAM BLACKBURN
They worry about whether their boys and girls are being properly educated in England just as much as we do in this country. And most of the older citizens are thoroughly convinced the modern educational system being employed in the British schools is not doing the job it should.

At least that is the opinion of Mrs. E. H. Gifford, of South Harrow, Middlesex, England. A retired school teacher, Mrs. Gifford feels qualified to speak. Mr. Gifford, who is a retired motorcycle dealer, observes that the younger people who came to him looking for work "didn't seem to have much background in math, grammar or penmanship."

KEEP MOVING
The Giffords, who were at the Settles Hotel Wednesday night, are on a three months' tour of the United States and Mexico. Their 90-day tour permits them within that time to travel anywhere the company's lines go. Naturally, the more they ride, the more mileage they pile up and the more they see. So they keep moving most of the time.

"We are enjoying it," said Mrs. Gifford. "We have visited in New York, Washington, Roanoke, Va., New Orleans, La., Dallas and other cities. We spent all day in Dallas — we think it is one of the most interesting cities we have seen." Mrs. Gifford doesn't like West Texas. "So barren and so flat, you know," she pointed out. "There are so few trees. It's almost a desert, isn't it?"

Stepup In Scouting Is Proposed On Two Fronts

A step-up in quantity and quality in Scouting is the immediate goal of the Lone Star District, R. L. Tollett, chairman, told the district committee monthly meeting last evening.

The district is showing a slight gain in the number of boys being served, but Joe Jackson, organization and extension chairman, said that at the recent Together banquet, 12 institutions indicated an interest in sponsoring new units. Currently there are 1,335 boys registered in this district, a gain of 31 over the same time a year ago.

A qualitative report from Jack Gulley, commissioner, reflected a need for better programs in many units. Although there are several excellent packs, a number of packs are dead or in serious trouble, he reported. The Scouting program, by comparison, is in substantially better shape, and the Explorer section is still better.

Erven Fisher, advancement chairman, said that master lists of merit badge counselors are now available. A buddy plan among troops, with joint courts of honor, has been considered to stimulate advancement. Troops No. 39 and 216 set a pattern for this with the result both accelerated advancement.

Starting this evening there will be a Scout leader training parley at the HCJC old sub building, and it will continue each Friday through March. Similarly, a Cubbers training session will start Monday at the HCJC Music Building and continue through March, said Harry Blomshield. He also said a Cub Pow Wow is coming up.

The recent first aid meet, headed by Paul Soldan, health and safety chairman, was described by Gulley and W. T. McRee, Scout executive, as the "smoothest and best organized Scouting event ever staged here." Soldan said 150 boys participated in 30 teams.

Numerous camping activities are slated, said Frosty Robinson, chairman. A district camporee is set for April 11 at Webb AFB with helicopter demonstrations, parachute drops and other activities on tap. Nine troops have booked places at Davis Mountain Scout Ranch. A planning session for the Explorer

Jury Pegs $46,000 Award In Moss Tract Litigation

A county court jury, composed of three men and three women, awarded the H. S. Moss Foundation a total of $46,000 for 3,256 acres of land taken by the state in September 1962 for highway purposes.

The jury said the tract of land was worth $33,500 in 1962 at the time it was taken by the state. It also awarded the Moss Foundation $12,500 damages.

The original value set on the land in September 1962 by a special commission, composed of George Elliott, W. J. Shepard, and George Elliott, was $28,000.

New Hampshire Primary Is First Of 12 Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Next Tuesday's New Hampshire primary is the first in a series of similar elections over the next 12 weeks which could produce the 1964 Republican presidential nominee — or could kill off most of the field.

After all the hard campaigning, victory won't necessarily insure the nomination. The late Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee found that out in 1952 when he won everything in sight — except the Democratic nomination.

But the game must be played.

Chief To Get Private Line

FOSTER, R.I. (AP) — The town council has decided to seek funds at this month's town meeting to get Police Chief Edmund F. Maher Jr. off a seven-party telephone line and onto a private line.

The chief often has confidential complaints — but how confidential can you get on a seven-party line?

Supplement For Relief Checks

READING, Pa. (AP) — An 82-year-old woman was fined $100 Thursday and placed on probation until her 100th birthday for unlawfully selling liquor and beer.

Mrs. Laura Bayard of Reading said she sold the liquor to supplement her relief checks.

Democrats Urge Strong Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders are urging the Senate to roll up a strong vote of approval today for the administration's election year farm bill.

"I think a strong vote on passage will help bring prompt action in the House," assistant leader Hubert Humphrey said as the Senate began its sixth day of debate on the cotton-wheat legislation.

A time limit on remaining amendments and earlier votes indicated final passage later today or tonight.

Once the hard-fought farm bill is completed, Democrats' leader Mike Mansfield has promised to call up the House-passed civil rights bill.

Managers of the cotton-wheat package won their biggest test Thursday 46 to 44.

The cliff hanger roll call beat down an attempt by senators from cattle-producing states to attach an amendment limiting imports of beef and meat products.

Plagued by more than a year of declining market prices for beef cattle, a bipartisan group of Westerners and a few Southerners urged a cutback on foreign meat shipments through a quota system.

On the showdown 24 Republicans and 20 Democrats lost to 42 Democrats and four Republicans.

With more than one-third of the 100 senators up for election this fall, echoes of this vote are certain to resound in campaigns in many livestock areas.

"This was the key test and it clears the way for passage," Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., floor manager of the wheat section of the bill, said afterward.

He had warned that inclusion of the meat import rider could bring a veto by President Johnson and undercut efforts of U.S. negotiators for tariff reductions to expand trade with European markets.

Complicated Ballots Set

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — When New Hampshire voters enter polling places Tuesday, they'll be presented with the most bewildering bundle of ballots in the history of the state's presidential primary.

In addition to marking their choices in the Republican or Democratic presidential races, citizens will be expected to:

1. Vote yes or no in a local option sweepstakes referendum.
2. Choose delegates to a state constitutional convention.
3. Elect selectmen and other local officers.

The task of voting will be particularly complicated for Republicans. Their primary ballot — longest in the history of the state — will contain the names of five presidential candidates, one vice presidential candidate, and 101 delegate candidates and alternates for the party's national convention at San Francisco in July.

Blunt Talker In Courtroom

By MIKE COCHRAN

DALLAS (AP) — Poker-faced and blunt in the courtroom, William F. Alexander has proven himself a stubborn tactician in the Jack Ruby murder trial. He is a man of conflicting appearances who methodically sets about his task of trying to convict Ruby and send him to the electric chair.

He is pleasant and quiet outside the courtroom. Inside, he can burst into a shouting match with defense attorneys at the drop of a phrase.

FIERY TEMPER

His fiery temper erupted several years ago when he slapped a defense lawyer in a burglary trial. An Associated Press reporter witnessed the act.

What prompted the incident? "He was ugly," the tall, slender prosecutor says matter-of-factly.

"Actually," he added with a grin, "the trial was over."

Alexander, rarely present during the two weeks of jury selection, stepped back into the thick of the trial when testimony began Wednesday.

He led the questioning as the state presented its case against Ruby for murdering accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

The 44-year-old assistant district attorney speaks in a monotone—except when aroused.

LOUDER

During questioning, his voice grows louder as he strives to bring out an important point. He tends to get still louder as he bears in, and often his voice hovers just short of shouting.

He seldom faltered during the change of venue hearing in the often sizzling exchanges with suave defense chief Melvin Belli or Belli's top assistant, burly Joe Tonahill.

Associates consider Alexander one of Texas' best lawyers on cross-examination.

"His affinity for bluntness often keeps him on the borderline of being in trouble with the trial judge," one observer noted.

His pointed remarks kept the defense aroused through much of the four-day venue hearing. He is all charm when quizzing witnesses favorable to the prosecution but frequently becomes gruff and sarcastic with persons hostile to the state case.

Alexander is a native of Wichita Falls, Tex. He served a 32-month hitch in the Army, reaching the rank of captain.

DEGREES

He obtained a bachelor degree from the University of Arkansas and a law degree from Southern Methodist University in Dallas. He is a Methodist.

He settled into the D.A.'s office in the early 1950s, and in 1957 headed the state team which presented evidence before the grand jury investigating portions of the stock and bond scandals which swept Texas.

Criminal charges set off by the probe led to the fraud conviction of Dallas insurance impresario Ben Jack Cagle. Cagle skipped to Brazil to avoid a prison term.

Alexander is popular with newsmen, largely for his straightforwardness.

"Is that the gun Ruby used to kill Oswald?" a reporter asked at the close of one session.

"That's right," he replied, waving the pistol before the television cameras.

"What will become of the gun after the trial?"

"I don't know—it still belongs to Jack Ruby."

He then added: "Ruby's heirs may want to do something with it."

Federal Pay Raise Wanted Kept Quiet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of both parties are doing their best to ease a $10,000 pay raise for members of Congress through the House with a minimum of fuss.

The big raise, part of a $454-million pay boost package for 1.7 million federal workers, already has cleared the Rules Committee and is scheduled for floor action Wednesday.

Its way was smoothed further Thursday when the Republican Policy Committee, which normally stakes out the GOP position on major legislation, decided to remain silent on it.

The big hope of most members who support the bill is that on final passage Wednesday they can also remain officially unrecorded by avoiding a roll call and sending it to the Senate by voice vote.

It's not that they don't feel they are worth the $32,500 a year the bill would give them. But voting for it, on the record, might prove embarrassing in an election year.

Midland Bank Bid Approved

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Banking Board granted charters Thursday for banks in Midland and Quinlan and rejected charter applications made by Midland, Austin and Fort Worth groups.

Charters were granted for the proposed First Bank in Midland, by a 2-1 vote; and the Quinlan State Bank in Hunt County.

Charters were denied for the proposed First Bank and Trust, Austin; and the Granbury State Bank, requested by a group of businessmen from Granbury, Fort Worth and Cresson.

The application for the proposed Guaranty Bank in Lubbock, scheduled for hearing Thursday, was withdrawn.

Applications for the First State Bank in Midland and the Texas Bank and Trust of Midland were made several days apart in October. They were heard Dec. 6, and efforts to unite the two wealthy groups were unsuccessful.

The attorney for the five proposed directors of Texas Bank and Trust told the board at the December hearing the five have an average net worth exceeding $2 million.

It's Been A Bad Year

FLORENCE, Ala. (AP)—This has definitely been a bad year for the Walter M. Harrison family.

Mrs. Harrison fell and broke a leg on New Year's eve. Son John broke an arm a few weeks later.

Tuesday, Harrison was making a business call in nearby Perry, Tenn., when his car stalled while crossing a stream.

Heavy rains sent waters surging down the creek, and Harrison had to swim for his life while his car floated downstream.

The proverbial straw came when he reached home. While he was mayor a few years ago Harrison put through an ordinance requiring swimming pools to be fenced. High winds had blown down the fence around his own pool, placing him in violation of his own pet law.

County Officials Fuming Over Free Surplus Food

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — A federal program of free surplus food for the needy has Democratic officials of this Eastern Shore community fuming at Gov. Millard Tawes and U.S. Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, both Democrats.

More than 120 persons, certified by the welfare department of Dorchester County, of which Cambridge is the seat, lined up for the food Thursday. At least as many more will receive it today. Most of them are Negroes.

Winter closure of food canning plants and a cut-back in farm labor have swelled relief rolls here.

County officials are angry because Tawes and Sen. Brewster requested the food from the U.S. Department of Agriculture after county commissioners had decided the food wasn't needed.

"It seems the only person who wants it is Gloria Richardson," said Richard M. Matthews, a member of the county's all-Democratic delegation to the Maryland House of Delegates. He referred to Gloria Richardson, Negro chairman of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee, which staged a demonstration here last week that resulted in the arrest of 18 persons.

National Guard troops still patrol Cambridge, which was rocked by racial violence last summer, and demonstrations are banned. Last week's picketing had been to protest the county commissioner's decision not to request surplus food.

M. Baker Robbins, president of the all-Democratic county commissioners, commented: "I don't think they had any right to bring this food in here without consulting county officials, and I'm going to do everything in my power to get it taken out."

Opening lead: Deuce of ♣
The declarer in today's hand was the victim of a myopic affliction. Had he been able to project himself mentally across the table as he mapped his campaign, a sizable loss might well have been avoided.

The bidding was sound. Observe that South's free rebid of three hearts is a strength showing call, inasmuch as it forces partner into the four level in order to give a mere preference for diamonds—the first bid suit. South's decision to carry on to game was reasonable.

West opened the deuce of diamonds against the final contract which proved to be a most effective choice. Declarer won the trick with the seven in his hand as East discarded a heart. A club was led toward the dummy and, when West played low, North's queen was put up to hold the trick.

The queen of hearts was cashed, followed by a heart to the ace. Declarer now played the king of hearts with the intention of discarding a club from dummy so that he might eventually obtain a club ruff. West foiled his efforts by ruffing the third heart, obliging the dummy to overruff. There was no way for South to avoid the loss of two club tricks which together with a spade loser spelled a one-trick set.

Declarer had his eye on the wrong hand. Had the dummy been made the master holding—defeat could have been turned into victory. When South learns of the bad trump break at trick one, he should endeavor to increase his winners by ruffing out North's spades.

A spade is led at once. Suppose that West puts up the queen in order to lead another trump. The nine of diamonds holds the trick and a spade is ruffed with a high diamond. A club may now be led toward dummy's queen and West is obliged to duck to avoid setting up two tricks in the suit. Another spade is ruffed high and the ten of diamonds is led to the jack so that North can complete the drawing of trumps.

On the fourth diamond, South discards a club. He now has seven tricks in one club, two spade ruffs, and four diamonds. By cashing the four high hearts he may routinely increase the total to 11. A simple case of dummy reversal.

Misunderstanding Christ on the Lord's Supper

The Lord's Supper is at the very heart of Christian worship. It was instituted by Jesus Christ himself the night before his death (Matthew 26:26-28).

In New Testament times, the central purpose of the Lord's Day assembly was to observe the Lord's Supper. It was never thought of as a "church tradition" or ritual, but as an act of faith of tremendous spiritual significance. It was observed steadfastly on each first day of the week (Acts 2:42; 20:7).

Yet today many look at the Lord's Supper principally as a church custom. They see only a tray of bread and small glasses of grape juice. They do not comprehend its importance to their own lives.

Such a view reflects a lack of teaching and discernment on the subject. Just as many miss the inner meaning of Jesus' teachings on baptism and church membership, others have never come to a full knowledge of the truth on Jesus' teaching on the Lord's Supper. Such misunderstandings constitute "crushing pearls" — a description given by Christ to those incapable of discerning certain spiritual truths.

The Lord's Supper is a memorial feast that is designed to bring the Christian worshipper closer to the Lord, not only on the day it is observed, but throughout the week.

There are three spiritual dimensions to this act of Christian worship — all of which must be understood and discerned if the act is to be engaged in meaningfully, scripturally, and acceptably.

The Christian looks backward to the cross. We must be mindful that remission of our sins was made possible through the death and shed blood of Jesus on the cross. Looking backward to the cross and its significance to our salvation is essential. It was Jesus who said that the act was to be done "in remembrance" of him.

The Christian should look inward to his own spiritual needs. To the Christians at Corinth, Paul wrote: "But let a man prove himself, and so let him eat of the bread, and drink of the cup. For he that eateth and drinketh, eateth and drinketh judgment (damnation) unto himself, if he discern not the body" (1 Corinthians 11:28). Observance of the Lord's Supper brings to our mind our own sinfulness and need for the perpetual cleansing made possible by the blood of Christ (1 John 1:7).

The Christian looks forward to the Lord's return. The Lord's Supper preaches Christ's death. It preaches the New Covenant (Hebrews 9:15-22), and it also preaches his second coming: "For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink the cup, ye proclaim the Lord's death till he come" (1 Corinthians 11:26). Each time the Christian observes the Lord's Supper he is reminded that Christ will return someday to earth and call his disciples to a better world. This act of faith, reminding the Christian of Christ's return, is intended to inspire him to a more sober, more prayerful, more godly, more watchful life from day to day.

Yes, the Lord's Supper is a tremendously vital act of faith to the Christian worshipper. The scriptural observance of this act of worship can have a dynamic effect on our fidelity and devotion to Christ, in whose honor it is observed.

A Devotional For The Day

I have suffered the loss of all things . . . that I may win Christ, and be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith. (Philippians 3:8-9.)

PRAYER: Dear Father in heaven, we thank Thee for the assurance that our salvation is not based on our works but on Christ's sacrifice. May others have the assurance of Thy love and power because of our living testimony, our witness. We ask in Jesus' name. Amen.

Statistical Ingenuity

Whenever there appears to be a limit to the ingenuity of those who labor in the bureaucratic vineyard, fresh springs of ingenuity seem to break forth. An intriguing example of this power of rejuvenation at work came recently from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

There are some men who claim to understand the workings of the Department of Agriculture, certain congressmen among them. There are even those who are able to explain the concept of "parity" as it applies to support for certain crop prices and, what is more, justify the use of 1909-14 as the basis for figuring parity.

Suffice it for this discussion to limit it to the observable fact—at least observable to agricultural statisticians—that the average farm income now stands at about 78 per cent of parity, the lowest point in approximately 20 years. The fact that housewives have been unable to detect any drop in food prices in response to a drop in parity is, of course, immaterial and irrelevant.

For reasons best known to farm planners the amounts received by farmers from cash crop sales are the sole basis for parity formulations. Ignored in the past has been the amount received by farmers from the federal government.

Some expert figured out that if farm payments are added to farm marketing income, the actual level of parity would not be 78, but would jump to 81. Henceforth the Department of Agriculture will include subsidy payments as a factor in determining parity.

Now this is likely to impress some citizens as an exercise in lifting one's self by one's boot straps. Others may dismiss it as a simple book-keeping gimmick indulged in by friends. But there will be a few who will take occasion to marvel again at the wonderful diversity and ingenuity of the human mind.

De Gaulle Stepping Faster

WASHINGTON (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle's step-by-step rebuffs to the United States and Britain are not new. The only difference between De Gaulle now and a few years ago is that he is stepping faster.

HIS BASIC POLICY—his assertion of French independence from American leadership—was already French policy before he was called back to office as premier in June 1958. But he has truly broadened it.

The Associated Press reported from London Thursday night that diplomatic sources said his envoys in various capitals are openly suggesting Western European nations disassociate themselves from the United States in every way possible.

A month after he took office six years ago he announced France would not accept a nuclear test-ban treaty unless it was linked with a disarmament inspection system. This, of course, was a dream of the future.

HE SAID FRANCE would make itself a nuclear power. But a year before he became premier French Defense Minister Chaban-Delmas, a Gaullist, said France would never accept a ban imposed by its allies against French manufacture of nuclear weapons.

He said "we have need of America but America also has need of us." So De Gaulle was only repeating what was already policy and last year, when he refused to join the American-Soviet-British limited nuclear test-ban treaty, he was only restating an old position.

But De Gaulle for a good while after taking office—he became president for a seven-term in 1959—didn't badger the United States as much as he did later for one obvious, and one possible, reason.

THE OBVIOUS REASON was that he had his hands full trying to bring to peaceful conclusion the Algerian rebellion which had France split in half. He didn't succeed in that until 1962.

It is possible De Gaulle was reluctant to have been as defiant or unpleasant with President Eisenhower, from 1958 to 1961, as he was from 1961 until now with President Kennedy and Johnson.

Eisenhower was an international hero and De Gaulle might have injured himself in an entanglement with the man who led the liberation of Europe. Kennedy and Johnson were unknowns when De Gaulle went to work on them.

Nevertheless, he did badger Eisenhower, too. In 1959 he suggested that France, by destroying the nuclear monopoly of the United States and the Soviet Union, would create a third force in the world and provide "equilibrium."

ALSO IN 1959 he made it clear France wanted no part of having its armies integrated with its neighbors in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He said France would command its own armies. In 1960 France tested its first atomic bomb in the Sahara.

It seemed to come as a surprise to some this year that De Gaulle was stretching across the Atlantic to open up new ties with Latin America, even arranging to visit some of the countries there.

But he had suggested to 20 ambassadors from Latin American nations in 1961 that France and their countries establish a "united and renovated Latin world." So what he is saying now is repetition.

HE INCREASED the pace of his independence last year in a triple stroke: by refusing to join the nuclear test-ban treaty, banning Britain from the European Common Market, and proposing the neutralization of Viet Nam.

He offered French help to the very country which France had held as a colony since the 19th century and from which it was driven out in 1954 because it lacked the military strength to hold it.

Johnson was hardly in office before De Gaulle hit him by recognizing Red China. He said this was just being realistic. And he said there could be no peace in Southeast Asia unless China was a party agreeing to it.

Around The Rim

A Lot To Remember, Too

An interesting bit of conversation met our ears this week when two gentlemen, around the 30- to 35-year age bracket, considered themselves old men. In fact they felt they had reached the prime of life, and had only a few years left to make it pay off. It might be just a bit more interesting, 30 years hence, to hear them discuss the number of years remaining to make life pay off.

HAVING PASSED through the same stage a few years ago, we have encountered some revelations since. One was to find out that there is just about as much mileage, with many interesting views, left after 50 as we once thought remained after 20. And there is a lot more to remember.

How can a person profit by the mistakes made while younger, or by those he has seen others make, if he isn't old enough to have some memories?

BUT, ON THE other hand, there are some today a lot younger than the two we mentioned, who know all the answers—at least according to them they do. Some youngsters, all down through the ages, have felt that they had all the answers—until the time came to prove them. Most of them have to spend several more years trying to figure out why the wonderful answers didn't come out right. They still are filled with the overpowering belief that the "old codgers" of 35 to 40 years are uneducated.

THE WORLDLY-WISE youngster perhaps, should take over the country and solve all its problems while those over 35 go to school and get educated. Reminds us of the superintendent of schools back in our hometown who also taught physics and chemistry. Some of the boys found out that "Sup" liked to talk about the "Free State of Van Zandt" and Black Minorca chickens. When they came up without knowing their lessons they often tried to get him started on his favorite subjects. He was not so dumb however and, after a few minutes on the subject, he would come out with: "Now, for the next 20 minutes we'll have a little test over today's lesson."

THEN THERE was the young fellow who came along and posed as a math teacher. He actually had a degree before he started teaching. He didn't know too much geometry and trigonometry, but was gifted in the art of tergiversation. His father was also a politician.

Along about that time the only prerequisite for teacher retirement was ossification. You could always tell the best teacher because his most efficient job was done between the years of maturity and ossification.

YES, MEMORIES are wonderful things as long as you don't have to live on them. Some of you "old codgers" of 35 or 40 years are going to let those memories work out some pretty knotty problems as you get still older. And don't be surprised if some of those problems are not put before you by younger men or women who are not old enough to have memories, but who are just old enough to know all the answers.—M. A. Dangerous Gap In Authority

WASHINGTON — The incurable optimism of the American temperament has helped to move mountains and make the desert bloom. But also at times it results in a form of willful blindness so that dangers and defects are conveniently out of sight.

With no Vice President the question of Presidential succession and what happens on the disability of a President is of paramount importance. Yet from all indications the public attitude is one of yawning apathy or indifference although the Senate Judiciary Committee is holding extensive hearings and at least 200 succession bills have been advanced.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON is telling visitors that nothing can be done until after the first of the year when a President and Vice President will be inaugurated. You wouldn't get 40 votes in the House to change the present law which makes Speaker John McCormack the No. 1 successor. At 72 with little or no experience in the executive branch of government, McCormack is said to take any suggestion of the need to change the law as a personal affront.

What is more, his powers as Speaker are such that even if a real desire existed among a majority in the House to alter the succession law it would probably be frustrated.

BUT BETWEEN now and the date of the next inauguration in January a cloud of uncertainty casts doubt on the stability and the continuity of executive authority. And this is at a moment when fantastic power has been invested in the President and the President alone. That is the power to respond to a nuclear attack on the United States by pressing the annihilation button.

The proposal put forward by Sen. Mike Monroney (D., Okla.) deserves more consideration than it has received. He recommended a bill to create a Commission on Presidential Election and Succession to be made up of 12 eminent citizens, six from public life and six from private life. This would dramatize and underscore for the country the urgent need to act lest another calamity present the nation with an insoluble riddle of authority hopelessly tangled.

MONRONEY AND others believe one solution for the dangerous months ahead is to adopt on a temporary basis the proposal of the American Bar Association. This would permit the President to submit to Congress for confirmation by Senate and House a proposed Vice President, who if confirmed, would serve in that office until the January inauguration. Then with a duly elected President and Vice President in office the commission would put forward a long-range solution requiring an amendment to the Constitution to be thoroughly debated in Congress.

MANY LEGISLATORS are leaning, for the long pull, to the two-Vice Presidents solution. Surely the continuity of the government of the United States is as important as that of a big bank or industrial corporation, so the argument goes, and they wouldn't have less than 15 or 20 vice presidents. A second Vice President would serve as the eyes and ears of the President and the first Vice President would be available to go on the kind of missions that took Richard Nixon and Lyndon Johnson around the world.

THE OBSCURITY darkening whole areas of the succession, particularly without a back stopping Vice President, is appalling. If a Presidential candidate were to die or be incapacitated, say a week or 10 days before the election, no formal machinery exists to choose a substitute. Even more disturbing is the fact that if a President-elect were to die between election day and inauguration the electoral college is not bound to elect the Vice President who was chosen with him by the voters. Presumably that ancient contraption made up of nonentities would do that. But they would not be bound to and the pulling and hauling surrounding their choice would keep the country in unhappy suspense.

FOR THAT MATTER, only an informal agreement between President Johnson and Speaker McCormack covers the gray area of Presidential disability. It's time, in the campaign cliché, for a change.

President Johnson And The South

WASHINGTON — What goes on above the surface in national politics is not always a reflection of what is going on underneath. Thus, it would appear from public-opinion polls that President Johnson will be re-elected and is going to carry the South. But this is very directly related to a word-of-mouth discussion among Democrats in several of the Southern states to the effect that Lyndon Johnson after election that he finds it necessary to be today.

THUS, FOR EXAMPLE, Mr. Johnson is represented as being required now to do everything that he can to retain the Kennedy supporters inside the Democratic party throughout the country. It is recognized that the pro-Kennedy vote is substantial and that the Democratic national convention could produce a contest if Mr. Johnson didn't continue embracing Kennedy policies and affiliations in organized politics. It has even been suggested that Mr. Johnson should favor the selection of Attorney General Robert Kennedy as the vice presidential nominee.

TO COUNTER this and avoid too much involvement with issues that might alienate the Southern voters, some of the political advisers in the Johnson entourage have been quietly advancing the fortunes of Peace Corps Director Robert Sargent Shriver Jr. Because the latter also happens to be a Roman Catholic, this is supposed to be one way of avoiding any criticism that the reason the attorney general was not being favored had something to do with the religious issue.

BUT WHAT are some of the Southern Democratic leaders counting on? They are assuming that, once Mr. Johnson has been elected, he will make policies in his own way and without obligation to any factor in the party. This can be of considerable importance to Southern voters because, once the "civil rights" law is passed, the whole controversy will shift to the Department of Justice where, it is pointed out, Robert Kennedy will no longer be the attorney general. The department will have sweeping powers and discretionary authority to enforce the law strictly or to move cautiously in attempting to achieve the objectives of "civil rights."

The whole picture being painted of a Johnson administration elected in its own right is one of conciliation and slow motion. This, of course, will placate some of the Southerners, especially those Democratic politicians who have to run for office this year and who are dependent upon the administration's help in getting through Congress measures important to their areas.

BEFORE the death of President Kennedy, there was a belief in the South that, by threatening to bolt the Democratic party, many electoral votes could be put in the doubtful column. But now the word seems to have been passed around that President Johnson, after election, will not be as hard on "civil rights" as his predecessor and that hence the South can afford to "go along."

Look For Comsymps Anywhere

WASHINGTON — Look, chaps, I can't give my name, and you needn't try to trace this call because I'm talking through an old Borsalino, but I'm a 100 per cent American and I think I've uncovered something big.

I think you people in the internal security game would learn something that would shock you if you ran a check on Daddy Warbucks. Yeah, that's right, you heard me correctly, Daddy Warbucks, Orphan Annie's adoptive father.

LOOK, I KNOW it sounds nutty, but I've been saving string on this guy for a long time, and the least you can do is listen to what I've got to say. I'm a taxpayer, a member of the Keep Our Schoolbooks Out of the Red Committee, and only a bad overbite kept me from being a patriotic veteran. When I say Daddy Warbucks has begun acting like a Comsymp I know what I'm talking about.

HELLO, HELLO? You guys still there? O.K., now take this down. You been following Orphan Annie carefully, right? Now remember she just recovered from amnesia? Didn't remember Daddy Warbucks or Sandy or anything? And how she was cured by a mysterious Oriental phenologist named Uncle How Kum? O.K., good to know you chaps are on your toes, and don't for a minute think I'm blaming you for missing this diabolical scheme hatched up by the Comies. What scheme? I'm telling you what scheme. You got a yesterday's paper there, so turn to Orphan Annie.

Y' SEE, ANNIE and Daddy Warbucks are aboard a sleek black schooner as it "sails lazily on an apparently aimless Southern course . . ." and Annie, her round, empty eyes dancing with excitement, says: "Wow! Look at all those ships!" And Daddy, the epitome of taciturn unconcern, replies: "Yeah! Russian fishing fleet!"

Well, Annie is no fool and she makes the point that the Ruskys' fishing boats "look big as freighters."

But here is Daddy Warbucks, of all people, apparently not giving a continental hoot, and that isn't all. The last panel is the crusher. In it Annie asks, "But they're a long way from Russia! What right have they got over here?"

DOES DADDY react like the specimen free enterpriser he's been these last 40 years? Not on your life. He says, "It's a free ocean, Annie. The fish don't care who catches them!"

I don't wonder you guys whistle. I couldn't believe it myself. But there is more even yet. These guys are smart, but they always trip themselves up in some minor detail. Daddy is smoking what is obviously an expensive Havana cigar. You know where you got to go to get real Havana cigars now? Right again. But I still couldn't believe it until I took a real close look at Daddy. Look at his shirt front and what do you see?

OF COURSE, Nothing. Where's the diamond stickpin that's been his trade mark since he made his first fortune? See the picture now? He isn't really Daddy Warbucks at all. He's a Scum-munist impersonator, naturally. Betrayed himself, same as they always do. It's obvious they're kidnaping Annie. Probably en route to Havana. Annie's been hypnotized so she can't tell the difference. Sandy's loaded with tranquilizers. Find out where that guy How Kum really came from and you'll have the whole story.

Hello, Hello . . . They must have been following me — somebody's cut the wires.

Billy Graham

Do you, Dr. Billy Graham, have any personal problems, and if so, how do you cope with them? How do you suggest such problems be solved by ordinary people?

O. M. No one escapes personal problems. Life is a composite of light and shadow, good and evil, peace and perplexity. Perhaps, by virtue of my responsibility, I have more problems than the average. I will be happy to tell you how I cope with them.

First, I expect problems. So, I am not surprised when they come up. As the saying goes, to be forewarned is to be forearmed. It is folly to believe that Christians have fewer problems than anyone else. Due to the fact that we are "citizens of heaven," we may even have more.

Second, I take these problems to the Lord in prayer. He has promised to share our burdens, and He never fails His children. I claim such promises as: "Call unto Me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things." Prayer conditions you for action.

Third, after praying, I listen for God's direction. Prayer is a two-way conversation—the oldest "walkie-talkie" known to man. Don't do all the talking—listen for God's answer to the problem.

Fourth, I saturate my mind with the Scriptures. God speaks the clearest through His Word. If you do these things methodically, you will find that most of your problems will be resolved. "Ask and ye shall receive; seek and ye shall find."

Filial Admiration

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Todd Jr., has set out to fill the shoes of the man he admires most—his father.

The late Mike Todd, one of America's most colorful showmen, won his first big success with a production at the 1939 New York World's Fair of "The Hot Mikado," a jazz version of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta.

His son is hoping to add to the family name in the same place. He is producing a modernized minstrel show at this year's New York World's Fair. "We're breaking new ground by going back 100 years. The minstrel show is an original American art form. If it hadn't bogged down by being derogatory to Negroes, it would still be popular," Todd said.

"The cast is integrated. There'll be no burnt cork. Everybody comes with his own face. The humor will be up-to-date."

His words had the flavor of his famous father's bombastic personality, but Michael makes no attempt to imitate his father's pitchman eloquence.

Mike smoked 20 cigars a day and during high school organized a college of bricklaying. He was a verbal fountain all his life, a flamboyant mixture of carnival and culture.

Michael smokes two to three cigars a day, speaks softly, likes to read philosophy. At 29 he holds a degree from Amherst, is married and has five children.

Michael doesn't have to start from empty pockets. He and his stepmother, Elizabeth Taylor, share the rights to "Around the World in 80 Days," a Todd-produced film which is one of the all-time money makers.

A note of filial admiration creeps into Michael's voice whenever he mentions his father.

"To my Dad, money was only something to make and spend, not to save," he said.

"He is the only man I know who lost a racetrack while betting on the horses. He bought a track in California and lost it the same year gambling on horses at another track."

"He was a perfect father, an absolute rock. He recognized that I was an individual, just as he knew he was an individual, and he never tried to force me into any pattern."

"He firm-ed up for me a set of values I hope will keep me happy the rest of my life, and I don't know what more a father can do for a son."

To Your Good Health

Let Physician Guide You On Allergy Shots

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been treated for allergy over two years by the injection method. It seems that the "one-shot" type is preferable due to saving of money and time.

Should a person switch? Can the "one-shot" type accomplish what a series might not accomplish?—E. L. F.

Either method—the series or the "one-shot"—is aimed at the same goal: To expose you, little by little, to some substance to which you are hypersensitive, and gradually let you develop a tolerance to it.

In a series of shots, a very small amount is given each time. With the "one-shot," a larger amount is given, but it is contained in an oily, waxy material so that it is released very slowly over a long period. Thus the difference.

The one-shot type evidently has worked well in some cases, and is undoubtedly an advance.

The fact that other allergists prefer the series method suggests to me that (1) there has not yet been enough experience with the one-shot type; and (2) some patients may do better with a certain method, but deciding which isn't necessarily easy.

With the series method, the amount of material can be varied from time to time, as the patient's progress dictates.

It is possible to switch methods, but if I were the patient, and making progress, I would stick with my type.

In any event, let your doctor guide you. He knows your case. I don't.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it a good idea to sleep in a room where there are a lot of flowering plants? The room is small and I do not have the window open as the wind blows on my head. I have always thought that plants give off carbon dioxide at night.—C. K.

You are right. Green plants absorb carbon dioxide in the light and give off oxygen. In the dark they reverse the process. But the amount involved, either way, is so small that you needn't worry.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Washer Detergent Is Casserole Cleaner

Dear Folks: It seems the modern custom is to use casserole dishes, bake everything you can in the oven and save cleaning up the stove. Right?

For years people have told us to grease the casserole dish first (it helps), line the casserole dish with foil (it helps, too), grease it with mayonnaise (this helps in lots of cases) and after these casserole dishes have been eaten then it is our problem to get them clean.

The woman who wrote and told us to pour some ammonia in the dish, fill it up with water, put the lid on it and leave it overnight was a gem.

Here's another way: Whether you have a dishwasher or not, go buy some dishwasher detergent. If you have a glass (or one of those new type direct-from-freezer-to-oven) baking dish, put dishwasher detergent in it, fill it up with hot water and just let it set an hour or so.

Presto. I have never seen anything like it. It's clean as a whistle with practically no scouring. I tested six casserole dishes. We baked rice souffle in two, scalloped potatoes in two, macaroni cheese in two. After eating half of each, we left part of the gooey in the casserole and put it in our icebox for four days.

Then we scraped as much as possible with a spoon into the garbage. We filled one of each type casserole with a couple of tablespoons of dishwashing detergent, filled it with hot water and let it set in the sink for two hours. We used three other methods for the other three bowls.

The one with the dishwashing compound took only a vegetable brush to get out all of the residue. The others took soap-filled pads, scrubbing and part of our fingernails.

You might try this in your glass-type casseroles. We love the method... Heloise

Program Based On Theory Of Dreams

The functions and theories of dreams were explored Wednesday afternoon at the 1963 Hyperion meeting in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. Hostesses were Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin and Mrs. Charles Buckner.

"The Relationship Between Mind and Body," was the program which was presented in keeping with the year's study course concerning medicine. The introduction by Mrs. R. H. Weaver explained theories expressed by Freud and Steiner. Mrs. Jim Bill Little told of the physical, mental and organic stimuli and sources of dreams. Mrs. John M. Hogg told of the difficulties that are encountered in recalling dreams with exactness. She noted some of the tests that are being made now concerning recall and dream deprivation.

Mrs. Harroll gave examples of the work being done by psychoanalysts with dream interpretation. She pointed out that the same dream symbols may mean different things to people.

The medical aspects in the field dream research were given by Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. Robert McDonald and Mrs. Daryl Hohertz.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. Jerry Spence, members agreed to send cash gifts to Mrs. Jo Storie, retiring president of the Western District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Howard County Rehabilitation Center.

Also, the club purchased a Friend of Youth membership at the YMCA.

The next meeting will be April 1 in the Community Room with Mrs. Harry Middleton and Mrs. W. L. Wilson Jr. as hostesses.

Announce Club Game To Change

Individual play has been temporarily discontinued at the Wednesday afternoon Variety Club duplicate games. Instead, team play will be held the second Wednesday of each month according to Mrs. Elmo Wasson.

The six tables in play Wednesday included visitors from Snyder. Winning teams were Mrs. Roy Worley, Mrs. Elvis McCrory, Mrs. Fred Lurting and Mrs. Hayes Stripling, first; Mrs. K. E. Oden, Mrs. Bill Ellis, Mrs. Robert D. White Jr. and Mrs. Ray Keenan, all of Snyder, second; Mrs. Malcolm Patterson, Mrs. Jack Irons, Mrs. Hudson Landers and Mrs. Morris Patterson, third.

Placing fourth were Mrs. E. L. Powell, Mrs. A. Swartz, Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr., and Mrs. Truman Jones.

The next team games will be April 8.

Monday Luncheon Is Honor For Miss Thorburn

Miss Janet Thorburn, bride-elect of Lt. R. T. Dixon of Miami, Okla., was honored with a luncheon Monday at the ranch home of Mrs. Lowell Hankins in Rocksprings. Mrs. Hankins and Mrs. C. V. Whitworth were hostesses.

Miss Thorburn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thorburn, 700 Marcy Drive and a recent graduate of Texas University. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. R. R. Corder, Rocksprings.

Luncheon tables were decorated with arrangements of daffodils, spring blossoms and bridal figurines. Each arrangement was flanked by white tapers in crystal holders. The honoree was presented with gifts for her kitchen.

LVN's Hear Thompson

Jim Thompson spoke on the Howard County Rehabilitation Center to members of the Licensed Vocational Nurses Association Tuesday evening. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Andy Jones, 1502 Sycamore.

Thompson specified that all facilities at the center were available to private or charity cases, and both children and adults are entitled to the services. Speech therapy as well as physical treatment is offered. The program was concluded with the showing of the Eastern Seal Society film, "Reaching For Tomorrow."

Mrs. W. E. Miller, president, announced plans for the LVN state convention to be held in Abilene in the fall. The group discussed the proposed new health and rehabilitation center. Mrs. Jack Cox worded the prayer. Miss Bo Bowen was a guest.

Job Took Years

LITHGOW, Australia (AP)—In 1953 Mrs. G. Clark took an umbrella to a local store to be recovered and later the store said it has lost it.

In March 1963, Mrs. Clark had a bill for 25 shillings ($2.80) from the store, went along, and there was her umbrella recovered.

Hair Fashions Shown For OWC Luncheon

"Spring Hair Fashions" was the theme of a luncheon given at the Officers Club at Webb Air Force Base Thursday with the wives of the 3560th Student Squadron as hostesses. Mrs. L. L. Patton, president of the Officers Wives Club, presided.

Mrs. H. S. Bowden provided the commentary as spring hair fashions created by the staff of the College Park Beauty Salon were modeled.

An arch of greenery, interspersed with yellow and lavender flowers, centered the stage from which a runway extended into the center of the dining room. The stage was bordered by multi-colored tulips and the ramp edged with fluted pink crepe paper. Columns were decorated with large sprigs of spring flowers. The centerpiece for the main table was of purple and red tulips, blue iris and bells of Ireland. Bird cage baskets held flowers in pastel shades and foliage.

Models were Mrs. R. F. Stauffer, Mrs. P. L. Murphy, Mrs.

J. A. Myers Dies Thursday

James Alton Myers, 70, resident of Big Spring since 1921 died in a local hospital at 7 p.m. Thursday. He was employed for many years by A. G. Hall's Boot and Saddle Shop. Mr. Myers bought the shop when Mr. Hall died, and has operated it since that time as Myers Shoe Shop. More recently, the shop was located in the 200 block on West Third.

Mr. Myers underwent surgery in December and never fully recovered. He was one of the best known leather workers in this area.

He was born in Palestine Jan. 4, 1894 and lived there until he came to Big Spring 27 years later. He was a member of Staked Plains Masonic Lodge No. 598 AF & AM.

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickel Funeral Home.

Survivors include two sons, J. A. (Jimmy) Myers Jr., Beaumont, and Joe R. Myers, Palm Springs, Calif.; a brother, Philip O. Myers, Houston, and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Sawtelle Leaves Hospital

Mrs. Moree T. Sawtelle, who has been in an El Paso hospital for several months, will leave the hospital some time today and go to the home of her son in El Paso.

"I talked to Mrs. Sawtelle," Mrs. Valerie Parker of the Red Cross office, said this morning. "She was a 'little crippled' but was feeling wonderful. She did not say how long she would remain in El Paso, but I have an idea she will be back in Big Spring as quickly as possible."

Mrs. Parker has been substituting as executive secretary of the local Red Cross office since Mrs. Sawtelle entered the hospital several months ago.

Youth Recovering From Shot Wound

COLORADO CITY — Glen Standefer, 15-year-old Colorado City student, was in considerable pain, but apparently progressing satisfactorily, and expected to recover from a gunshot wound, according to a spokesman at the Root Memorial Hospital, Thursday afternoon.

Standefer, son of Mrs. Virginia Standefer, Colorado City, was visiting a friend, Jo Ann Wallace and was in the yard at the Rip Wallace home Wednesday afternoon, when a .22 caliber rifle in his possession discharged. The bullet struck him in the abdomen.

nedy, and shot him at close range.

The jury didn't see the first showing of the picture. The eight men and four women on the panel were to be brought in later.

OBJECTED

Chief defense lawyer Melvin Belli objected to the latter portion of the film. It shows the wounded Oswald, on a stretcher, being taken to the ambulance. Belli called this "highly prejudicial." He said Ruby was not in this portion of the picture and that the scene showing the dying man would tend to damage Ruby's case before the jury.

Judge Joe Brown told Belli he considered the objection valid. But he said, "I don't see how we can cut it out."

Asst. Dist. Atty. William Alexander said the state has two films of the shooting and would run each at slow motion, after which they would be run through, frame by frame.

TOGETHER

As the lights went down, Dist. Atty. Henry Wade and Belli sat together, looking in the empty jury box.

Ruby has been in jail since the Nov. 24 shooting and has not been allowed to see television reruns of the action.

Wade says he will demand death in the electric chair for Ruby. The defense says Ruby was temporarily insane when he shot Oswald, the accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Testimony Thursday centered largely on what policemen saw and heard as the shooting took place and thereafter.

Police Lt. Jack Revilla, a ruler in his right hand, identified the various principals who appeared on the screen.

FIDGETED

Ruby fidgeted almost constantly throughout the film. He nibbled at his fingernails, moved a finger across his chin nervously, blinked his eyes, sometimes bowed his head.

At the climax of the film depiction of the shooting, Ruby hunched low in his chair and leaned across the defense table, eyes riveted to the screen until his chin was only scant inches from the table top.

At one point in the showing, Belli called out from the jury box, "Where's Ruby?"

"In this scene?" Revilla asked. "He can't be seen here sir."

The lawyers occasionally asked for identification of figures visible on the screen. The darkened room was silent except for these questions and Revilla's running description.

LAUGHTER

One remark from him brought a storm of laughter. Pointing with the ruler to a figure plainly visible as a woman's head, he said:

"This appears to be a female. I don't know who she is."

Lawyers asked numerous questions when Ruby's pistol, wrested from him by detective L. C. Graves, appeared in the confused pictures.

The running time for the two pictures was 46 minutes.

When the lights went up in the courtroom, Belli was asked what he thought of the pictures. "They're okay," he said. "I have no objection to the jury seeing them a second time."

This was a reference to the fact that most jurors testified, when they were being examined for jury duty, that they had seen the pictures.

HOLD FRAME

Belli once approached the bench and had a whispered talk with the judge. He then said he had been given permission to hold one frame of the picture and ask a question about it.

When the picture was again on the screen, Belli asked Revilla, "Whose hand is the gun in there?"

"Lt. Graves", in my opinion," Revilla replied.

He said a wrist band visible in the picture indicated Graves was holding the gun.

Students Learn-On Job-How Local Governments Operate

County and city officials, elective and appointive, took time off from normal duties to be hosts to their counterparts from Big Spring High School.

It was Student Government Day, and the young people were those elected by fellow students to serve in public offices here for a day.

Officials and their student understudies met first at a breakfast at the Settles Hotel. From there, the pairs went directly to their posts.

At the city hall, city commissioners and the mayor were joined by students and spent the morning discussing their responsibilities and duties. Robert Goodlett, selected by the school as the student mayor, was not able to attend, and Merry Lee Dibrell, a commissioner, served as mayor pro tem.

The same program was followed by all officers at the county court house.

The county commissioners met in special session with their young friends and discussed the routines and problems of their jobs.

Upstairs, Judge Ralph Caton and his student magistrate—Albert Fierro—toured all of the offices connected with the county government. All other county officials were following the same plan.

The boys and girls studied indictments and court petitions in district court and in county court.

LDS Conference Set For Sunday

A branch conference, at which members will have an opportunity to express views to leadership, will be held at the Church of Jesus Christ, Latter Day Saints, on Sunday.

Big Spring, Snyder and Colorado City congregations will be involved in the services from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. The district presidency, composed of Melvin O. Dearden, Midland, as president, Stanley Hunter, Odessa, first counselor, Wayne Elledge, Odessa, second counselor, will preside.

Members will have an opportunity to offer a sustaining vote for area leadership. In charge of arrangements is the branch presidency comprised of Oscar D. Graham, president, Elton Wallace, first counselor, and David R. Shaw, second counselor. Anyone interested in seeing a branch conference conducted is invited, said Wallace.

The Ford firm offered $750 trade-in on the 1963 Dodge, $426 for the 1962 Dodge and $1,050 for the 1963 Ford. The Jones firm offered respective trade-ins of $750, $350 and $900. Gillman's trade-in offer was $1,050 for the 1963 Dodge and the 1963

Holeman, his hosts for the day were deputies of Sheriff Miller Harris. Harris had left early Friday for California.

General Practice Seminar Slated

An intensive one-day seminar on recent advances in diagnosis and treatment of malignancies will be held on Sunday at the Town House Motor Hotel, San Angelo, for physicians in the area. The course is offered by the Texas Academy of General Practice with the co-operation of the Education and Research Institute of General Medicine.

The guest speakers, from M. D. Anderson Hospital, Houston, are Richard G. Martin, M.D., and Robert S. Nelson, M.D.

Dr. Lloyd H. Sherill, Odessa, is presiding officer and Dr. Cecil M. French, San Angelo, will moderate the panel discussion to follow the lectures. Dr. French is a graduate of Big Spring High School.

City Opens Bids On Several Items

The door was open today for the City of Big Spring to spend more than $11,000 as apparent low bids in three categories were opened Thursday at City Hall.

Bids were received for three police patrol cars, a sewer rodder and eight mobile radios with a 100-watt base radio station. The city commission will consider the bids at its next meeting.

The three vehicles to be traded are a 1963 model Ford and Dodge and a 1962 model Dodge. The specifications also provided that the new cars would be 4-door sedans with heavy duty transmission, brakes, shock absorbers and springs, V-8 engines, 220 horsepower, 45 ampere alternators and wheelbases of 118 inches.

Bids for new cars were received as follows: Shasta Ford Co., $2,187.73; Jones Motor Co., $2,356.73; and Gillman Motor Co., $2,241.45.

The Ford firm offered $750 trade-in on the 1963 Dodge, $426 for the 1962 Dodge and $1,050 for the 1963 Ford. The Jones firm offered respective trade-ins of $750, $350 and $900. Gillman's trade-in offer was $1,050 for the 1963 Dodge and the 1963

Ford and $500 for the 1962 Dodge.

Respective offers for air conditioning and tinted glass, were: Shasta Ford, $163.60 and $28.40; Jones Motor, $262 and $32; and Gillman, $266 and $28.40.

Apparent low bidder on the net sale price with total trade-in was Gillman Motor Company with a bid of $3,624.35. The apparent low bid on the net sale price with all the "extras" after total trade-in was Shasta Ford Company with a bid of $4,913.19.

General Electric apparently submitted the low bid on the electrical equipment with an offer of $4,766.20 for the eight radios and base station. The only other bid was $5,356.08, and it was submitted by Motorola.

The Flex Rod Pipe Tool Co. of Dallas submitted the only bid received on the sewer rodder. The firm offered to provide a Model SCPS-1 rodder with a two wheel trailer and adjustable third wheel, 9HP engine, combination starter generator and battery for $2,975.

In addition, the Dallas firm submitted a bid of $1,012.45 for an assortment of rods, tools and accessories for maintaining and operating the machine.

Expanding War May Be Discussed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is on his way to Saigon for a fresh look at the war in Viet Nam, hoping to determine what can be done to reverse the tide of Communist successes.

Accompanied by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, McNamara left Washington by jet early today on his fourth fact-finding mission to Viet Nam. He was to stop en route in Hawaii. One of the topics McNamara may raise in talks with Premier Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh is whether to carry the war to North Viet Nam soil. The proposal has advocates in Saigon and Washington.

McNamara declined to discuss such a tactic, except to refer to statements by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk discounting the possibility of an assault on the north.

Khanh said Thursday in a statement "the best defense is offense" but added: "The escalation of the war to include North Viet Nam is a matter of the greatest importance, and therefore not one to which I can give a 'yes' or 'no' answer at this time."

Khanh said he has evidence Red Chinese advisers are serving with the guerrillas but did not elaborate.

In a Pentagon statement, McNamara called his trip "a further affirmation of the U.S. commitment to furnish whatever economic aid and military training and logistical support is needed by the South Vietnamese to suppress this insurgency, and to continue to do so for whatever period is required."

Pharmacist Found Dead

Justice of the Peace Walter Grice is withholding ruling in the death of Jack B. Denton, 57, Apartment 22, Ponderosa Apartments, 1429 E. 6th, pending notification of next of kin.

Denton's body was found at 7:25 a.m. this morning in a washroom at the apartments by Hart Phillips, the manager. Police said Mr. Denton apparently sat on the floor, then slumped over dead.

The deceased had been employed as a pharmacist at the Park Drug, now inactive.

Grice said Denton apparently died of a coronary occlusion. He set the time of death at between 1 a.m. and 2 a.m. this morning. The deceased was last seen alive between 9 p.m. and 10 p.m. last night by two young men, who were his roommates, Grice said. An autopsy may be ordered.

Mr. Denton was born in Springfield, Mo. May 25, 1906. He was a member of the South Street Christian Church in Springfield.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Denton, Springfield, Mo.; a son, Jack Denton Jr., San Angelo; two brothers, Charles E. Denton, St. Louis, Mo., Harry D. Denton, Tucson, Ariz.; two sisters, Mrs. Annie Criswell and Mrs. Patsy Corbett, Springfield, Mo.

Student Held In Shooting

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — John Sanford Edwards, 33, of Big Spring, Tex., was held without bond today, charged with first degree murder.

Edwards is a former assistant instructor in Spanish at Kansas University.

He is accused of shooting to death Pedro Escobar, 36, another instructor, Feb. 22.

Escobar, a Mexican citizen who had been an amateur bull-fighter and played a guitar, was attending a party that night in an apartment adjoining Edwards'.

Edwards told police he had complained of noises coming from the apartment. He also told them he then knocked on the door of the apartment and that the gun went off as Escobar opened the door.

Edwards is held in jail. He was bound over at the windup of his preliminary hearing Thursday by County Judge Charles Rankin.

Edwards, the son of Mrs. Dorothy Edwards, was born in Big Spring and lived here until 1939. He attended the University of Texas for two years and was active in the ROTC before going into active service.

After separation from service, he entered the University of Tulsa where he achieved a brilliant record, graduating with straight A's and being named (the first time it was done) instructor of second year Spanish. On the strength of this he was awarded the teaching fellowship in Spanish at the University of Kansas while he worked toward his graduate degree.

Chinn Candidate For Council Post

COLORADO CITY — Dr. John Chinn, Colorado City physician, became the second candidate in the Colorado City Council race. Dr. Chinn is running for reelection, having served two terms on the council.

Henry Lewis, tax consultant and manager of the Baker Hotel, and a former winner of the Jaycee DSA award was the first to file for a seat on the council.

There are three vacancies to be filled in the April 4 election.

To Get Suspect

Miller Harris, sheriff, is en route to Bakersfield, Calif., to bring back Lester McDonald, wanted here to answer felony charges of worthless check writing. McDonald was arrested in Bakersfield on request of the local officers.

Complaints Accent Youth

Police were busy Thursday and Friday investigating a variety of complaints, most of them involving youths.

Air Police at Webb AFB impounded a pickup Thursday night which City Police said had been parked in front of a local tavern for the past two nights. The vehicle had Air Force markings including a sticker on the windshield with the words, "Central Mobile Deceit Activity," according to police.

Later, Air Force officials said the vehicle was released to two civilian employees, who are on temporary duty at Webb AFB. They moved here from Kelley AFB, San Antonio.

Two teenagers were arrested shortly after midnight at Fourth and Circle Drive for possession of alcoholic beverages.

Another youth was turned over to Juvenile Officer Bob Darland after he was apprehended at Toby's Grocery Store, Eighth and Gregg, about noon yesterday. Merchandise had been missed.

Three men, in their late 20's and early 30's, were arrested early this morning in connection with the theft of $2 in pennies from the cash register of Jeannie's Tavern, 300 N. Benton. Police said they also recovered two boxes of beer apparently taken from the firm.

There were several complaints about boys. W. O. McMeans reported youngsters in danger playing near a ditch digging machine in the Ellis Homes vicinity. Al Milch told police six boys ran when surprised at a house under construction. Mrs. L. A. Rush, 1015 Ridgeway, said boys took a bicycle from that address.

Completes Course

David K. Workman, Stanton, general manager of the Western Production Credit Association, has completed a manpower conference and school, in Austin. It was sponsored by the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, discount and supervisory agency for all 36 PCA groups in Texas. Western Association loans about $21,000 annually to area farmers and ranchers.

Uncle Dies

Mrs. A. L. Spies, 500 Benton, Big Spring, has received word that her uncle, Will Worley, Bowie, died at his home Thursday afternoon. He was a native of Bowie. Services will be held at 3:30 p.m. there Saturday and burial will be in the Bowie Cemetery.

DEAR ABBY

Be Blunt,
Mother!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an engagement where the couple has to sneak around like thieves to meet secretly because the boy's parents are opposed to the marriage, and he is afraid to face them with the facts? He swears he loves the girl, yet he has never taken her to a public place, and they have been going together for over a year. She has studied and gone to classes for months to take his religion, but, on Sundays when she sees him in church with his parents, he doesn't dare even to look in her direction. This girl could have her pick of many other boys, but she just sits home and waits for him to sneak away and see her. She is so in love with him it pains me to see her hurt like this. How can I help her?

THE GIRL'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You do not mention their ages. Or his educational or financial status. This is of utmost importance. If he is still dependent on his parents, announcing his engagement to a girl of whom they disapprove would end all help from them. If he loved the girl enough, and were a man, he'd do just that, and find a way to make it on his own. He is obviously unwilling, unable—or no man. Do your daughter a favor and tell her she is cheapening herself.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has started to talk so loud she is driving me crazy. When I remind her to tone down she starts to speak in almost a whisper, but before long she is yelling again. What should I do? We've been married almost 30 years. GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: Take your wife to a doctor who specializes in disorders of the ear. She could be suffering from a hearing loss and not know it.

DEAR ABBY: What would you have done in a case like this? My daughter-in-law had a birthday coming up, so I asked her in my most pleasant tone, "What would you like for your birthday, dear?" She looked me right in the eye and replied, "Give me the money instead, Mother. Your taste is atrocious!"

DEAR STRUCK: I'd have given her a "taste" of an ignored birthday.

CONFIDENTIAL TO EDNA: Yes, I write all my own answers. A ghost writer hasn't a ghost of a chance with me.

LETTER

'Everything's

All Right'

To the Editor:

From all indications through this column, my very good friend, D. A. Brazel, and his also confused adversaries are having a running controversy of which the context is vague—reminding me of the Shakespearean play "Much Ado About Nothing." To my friend Brazel and those good people, I would like to offer the sage quote originating in 1962 in Big Spring: "Don't worry, everything's gonna be all right."

No replies anticipated.

Accused Of Making Deal

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Freshman Congressman George (Duke) Senner was accused Thursday of making a deal to accept money for a favorable State Corporation Commission ruling in 1958 when he was a commissioner.

Joseph Adams, 54, of Mesa, Ariz., made the charge against Senner and E. T. (Eddie) Williams, who is still a commissioner.

Appearing before an Arizona House Committee investigating the commissioner, Adams said the deal was made when he was trying to sell his Apache Junction water company for $500,000. Commission approval is needed for such transactions.

Adams said he agreed to pay Senner and Williams $10,000 after Williams indicated the sale would not be approved. The witness said he delivered $5,000 to a commission employee who was not identified and several days later the commission gave the favorable action.

Senner, a Democrat from Arizona's 3rd District, denied the charge Thursday night. Speaking from his Washington, D.C., home, Senner declared,

"It's the damndest lie I ever heard in my life. He (Adams) has never given me a nickel and I've never asked him for a nickel."

Declaring that he is willing to return to Phoenix to testify, Senner said, "We had nothing but problems and complaints with Joe Adams when I came on the commission. Why did he wait such a long time to come forward?"

Williams, also a Democrat, would not comment.

Long Experience
As Cop Entertainer

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Regis Toomey is celebrating this month his 35th anniversary as a cop.

Over those years he has served as patrolman, detective, uniformed man, plainclothesman, captain and commissioner. He often has taken leave of the force to be a private eye, a chief investigator, an insurance investigator and a newspaper reporter.

After all this experience, Toomey today is a mere detective sergeant, running errands for that rich, glamorous, girl-chasing, intrepid captain of homicide, Amos Burke, who weekly solves a case on ABC's "Burke's Law."

Toomey, an open-faced man with white hair and twinkling blue eyes is a performer who never has objected seriously to Hollywood's type-casting. It has worked out fine for him. When Hollywood producers need a cop, they automatically ask for Regis Toomey.

"I've worked almost steadily since 1929," the actor said. "Once in awhile I've been cast as a villain, but mostly I've been a policeman, although sometimes a bad one."

He played his first policeman in "Alibi," with Chester Morris in 1929, the first all-talking gangster movie. Since then he has done 225 movies.

"Burke's Law" is his fifth television series, and he's been an officer in them all. He has also done guest shots in more than 135 shows.

"It's been a good, busy life," he said complacently. "But once in a while it would have been nice if I could have gotten the girl at the end."

"Burke's Law" has proved one of the season's more popular series this season and will return for another year of happy homicide.

Sargent Shriver will not be able to keep his "Meet the Press" date on NBC Sunday. Ed Sullivan has Steve Lawrence, a smash in Broadway's new musical "What Makes Sammy Run?" doing some songs on Sunday's show. Comedian Jerry Van Dyke, who disappeared quietly from "The Judy Garland Show" will play a dramatic role—his first—on The March 26 "Perry Mason."

Ed McMahon has NBC's permission to continue as host on "Missing Links" when it moves to ABC. But ABC is considering Dick Clark for the sub. The latter has a contract and must be paid even after his short-lived game show, "The Object Is," disappears.

Recommended weekend viewing: Tonight—"Route 66," CBS 8:30-9:30 p.m. (EST)—First of a two-part episode which will wind up the long-playing adventure series.

Saturday—"The Defenders," CBS, 8:30-9:30 p.m.—"Judgment Eve," written by Reginald Rose, about jurors in a murder trial.

Sunday—"20th Century," CBS 6:30 p.m.—takes up traffic problems in major cities of the world; "The Hell Walkers," NBC, 10-11—John Mills and Curt Jurgens in a suspense drama set in post-Nazi Germany.

Chamber Workshop Sessions Slated

The Community Services Department, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, has scheduled the fifth annual area leaders' workshop for March 19 in Odessa.

The workshop will deal with everyday problems and plans to strengthen local chambers, John L. Taylor, president of the Big Spring chamber said.

Bob Schaff, assistant manager of the chamber, said several officers, directors, and committee members have expressed a desire to attend the meeting, but that so far none had definitely signed up, Taylor reported.

Spelling Champs Selected By Fourteen Area Schools

Spelling champions in 14 Big Spring schools were selected Friday in the finals conducted in the schools. These champions will participate March 21 in the Second Annual Howard County (Daily Herald) Spelling Bee at the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

Alternates were chosen in most of the schools. The alternates will participate in the County Bee only if the champion cannot take part.

Forsan Junior High School (Elbow) will select its spelling champion next Thursday. Elbow is the only out of town school participating in this year's County Bee. Coahoma did not enter.

Immaculate Heart of Mary parochial school plans to determine its champion sometime today or Monday.

Winner at the Howard County Spelling Bee will receive a plaque and a free trip to Lubbock to compete in the Regional Spelling Bee on April 11. The winner of this regional event gets a free trip to Washington in June to try for the National Championship against boys and girls from all over the nation.

The school champions and alternates here:

Runnels Junior High — Don

DON HICKSON

Bauer—Marie Pedillo, champion, 6th grade; Isidro Galon, alternate, 6th grade.

Boydston—David Scott, champion, 5th grade; Stanley Thorn, alternate, 6th grade.

These champions and alternates are the survivors of more than 500 spellers who began the competition in classrooms. Classrooms held their own eliminations and when the classroom champions had been selected, the school champions and alternates were named.

HEAVY CASE LOAD

Rehabilitation Center Aids Patients Of All Age Levels

Howard County Rehabilitation Center, although usually referred to as a "crippled children's center" is not restricted in its services to boys and girls.

Jim Thompson, therapist with the center, speaking at the Kiwanis Club Thursday, pointed out that the case load of the center has many adults and that the services the Center offers are open to persons of all ages.

He told of the Center's general purpose: of the therapy it offers; of the method used to provide these services. He also said that the Center not only works with charity patients but has many who pay for the treatments. Basic rate for treatment, he said, is $6 an hour.

Patients who can afford to do so pay the full fee; those who cannot afford to pay the full fee are asked to pay what they feel they can afford. Charity patients are also treated. No patients are admitted to the Center for therapy except on referral by a physician.

Cuban Refugees Are Relocated

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Cuban refugee center reported today that 75,000 exiles have been relocated from Miami to other American cities.

Honored jointly as 75,000th on the resettlement list were these families: Radames Hernandez, en route by automobile to Burbank, Calif.; Felipe Planes, leaving March 15 for High Point, N.C.; and Rodolfo Diaz, who flew to Freeport, Ill., Thursday.

About 100,000 refugees still live in the Miami area.

Kentwood Methodist Revival Opens Sunday

A couple dedicated to an evangelistic ministry in music and one of the leading ministers of the Northwest Methodist Conference will lead a revival meeting at Kentwood Methodist Church this week. The meeting continues through March 15.

The speaker will be the Rev. O. A. McBrayer, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Church in Midland, and the singers will be Mr. and Mrs. Gene Moore, conference evangelists. The Rev. Henry Salley, Kentwood Methodist Church, announced that services would be held daily at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. McBrayer had been a pastor in the conference for 19 years, is a graduate of McMurry College and the Perkins School of Theology at SMU. He also has done graduate study at Garrett Biblical Institute in Evanston, Ill.

He is on numerous committees and commissions of the conference, including membership in the administrative council, chairman of the Local Preachers committee of the board of ministerial training. He has had several articles published, and he has been active in radio and TV work as well as in the field of youth ministry.

This is the second year for the Moores to serve as conference evangelists. They have held meetings in eight states and have provided music for such things as the E. Stanley Jones Spiritual Retreat, the national meeting for evangelism at Purdue University. They have had their own radio and television programs.

Catholic Women Meet Wednesday

The open meeting of the Big Spring Diocese Council of Catholic Women will be held Wednesday at the Phillips 66 building across from the St. Elizabeth's Church in Snyder. Hermleigh is host for the meeting.

Mrs. Alvin Kuss, registrant, urged that delegates pre-register by writing her at Route 1, Hermleigh. The fee is $3 and includes all affairs for the day, including a workshop and luncheon.

Cochairman of the panel workshop will be Mrs. Truett Newell and Miss Tina Molina. Other workshop members from Big Spring will include Mrs. George Foster, Mrs. Leland Pierce, Mrs. Harvey Hurt, Mrs. Leo Gonzalez and Miss Agustina Molina.

The workshop will be developed around the theme of the meeting which is "Challenge to the Christian Woman in an Age of Church Renewal." The workshop aims to deepen knowledge and love of the liturgical life of the church by preparing for the part of lay women in the ecumenical renewal.

The Rev. James O'Donoghue,

Miles, is moderator and will give the welcoming address. Featured speaker will be the Rev. Bernard Gully, who is the liturgical priest for the San Angelo Diocese.

Serving on the Deanery board will be Mrs. Leo Gomez and Miss Agustina Molina. Official delegates from Big Spring will include Mrs. Leo Gonzalez, Mrs. Frank Fierro, Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, Mrs. Paul Aleman, Miss Lupe Correa, Mrs. E. L. Anderson, Mrs. Richard Zenner and Mrs. Alec Torres.

All Catholic women are urged to attend. Deanery officers will be elected and new officers will be installed during the luncheon.

The Most Rev. Thomas J. Drury, D.D., Bishop of San Angelo, will attend the meeting and his speech will be a summary at the closing of the meeting at 3:00 p.m.

Church-State Separation Topic Of Baptist Panel

FORT WORTH — A small group of key Texas Baptist leaders will meet here Monday and Tuesday for a two-day study on "Christianity and Religious Liberty" and the principle of separation of church and state.

About 300 Baptists from throughout the state are expected to attend the eighth annual Christian Life Workshop sponsored by the Christian Life Commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The Baptists will delve into the problems which result when Church - owned institutions accept money from the public treasury, religion in public schools, modern-day threats to religious liberty, and the Baptist viewpoint in keeping church and state separate.

Principal opening - session speaker will be Dr. Glen Archer of Washington, D. C., executive director of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

Other major speakers for the meeting include Leo Pfeffer, general counsel for the American Jewish Congress, New York City; Dr. E. S. James of Dallas, outspoken editor of the Baptist Standard; and Dr. C. Emanuel Carlson, executive director of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, Washington, D. C.

Dr. Abner McCall, president of Baylor University and president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will speak Tuesday during a discussion group on "The Price Paid for Tax Support."

The annual workshop will take no action on the issues to come before it, but rather is designed as a time when Baptist leaders can come to grips with vital issues facing the nation and the denomination, said Dr. Jimmy R. Allen of Dallas, secretary of the Christian Life Commission which is sponsoring the meeting.

Special offerings will be made in Protestant churches observing "One Great Hour of Sharing" throughout the United States tomorrow (Sunday, March 8) in support of the churches' ministry to homeless, hungry and destitute people in 44 countries overseas.

Protestant denominations are asking a total of $17,988,351 for overseas relief work in 1964, a large portion of which will be contributed through tomorrow's "One Great Hour of Sharing" services.

In the 1964 "One Great Hour of Sharing," Protestant denominations are working together for the fourteenth consecutive year in their appeals for support of their world - wide programs of assistance to the needy.

FAR WORSE BLINDNESS

Spiritual blindness is far worse than physical blindness is pointed out in the International Sunday School lesson for Sunday. The Bible reading comes from John 9:1, 20:24-29, and I John 1:1-10.

The miracle of Jesus restoring sight to a blind man is told in such a manner to indicate that He is the light of the world. He shows He came to use his great powers for God's children.

Yet another facet of the story pictures Jesus as the "great physician." The scriptures paint a vivid picture of his ability and willingness to heal, becoming the "source of our strength and the strength of our lives."

"Is he to study mythology and Shakespeare, and not the Bible?" Is it important for him to learn what it means when a man is called an Adonis or a Romeo, yet unimportant for him to be able to tell a Jonah from a Judas?

Warshaw first convinced his pupils of their need for a study of the Bible.

He assigned the reading of a few short stories which made no sense to them because they couldn't understand the Biblical allusions.

He showed them some political cartoons with Biblical references which left them in the dark.

The clincher was the quiz on which they fared so poorly.

Starts Study Of Bible

Thayer S. Warshaw discusses passage in Bible with Donna Crew in the junior English class at Newton, Mass. High School. Warshaw decided to start his classes studying the Bible as a source book for the humanities after a test revealed college - bound students woefully short on their knowledge of even familiar quotations from Biblical passages. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Enterprising Teacher Tries To Reduce Biblical Paucity

By G. K. HODENFIELD

WASHINGTON (AP) — A test on the Bible was sprung on five classes of college-bound 11th and 12th graders in a public school.

Some thought Sodom and Gomorrah were lovers; that the Gospels were written by Matthew, Mark, Luther and John; that Eve was created from an apple; and that the stories by which Jesus taught were called parodies.

Eighty to 90 per cent of the students could not complete such familiar quotations as: "Many are called, but few are (chosen)"; "A soft answer turneth away (wrath)"; "They shall beat their swords into (plowshares)"; "Pride goeth before a (fall)"; and "The love of money is the root of all (evil)."

All this happened in Newton, Mass., and English teacher Thayer S. Warshaw decided to do something about it. He arranged for two of his classes to study the Bible—not as a religious book, or even as literature, but as a source book for the humanities.

Teaching about the Bible in public school can be a tricky business, particularly since the Supreme Court decision on school prayer.

But Warshaw, reporting his experience in the February issue of "The English Journal," believes it is essential.

"The Bible is indeed a religious book, but it is also a part of our secular cultural heritage. To keep it out of the public schools because it is controversial and because the public can not trust the

THE POWER TO STAY

An anchor seems like dead weight, doesn't it?

But what mariner would sail without it? For an anchor is not dead weight. It commands the tremendous force of gravity in a wild, raging sea. It can grip solid land to fight driving wind or swirling current!

A few men have thought they could go farther faster without religious faith . . . until the squalls found them drifting helplessly on bitter shoals!

God gave us forces of motion and progress. We see . . . aspire . . . achieve.

But the power to go is treacherous without the power to stay.

So God gave us the Truth our churches offer every human heart.

That Truth is man's spiritual grip on the enduring . . . the eternal.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are:

(1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Go-Karts Set For Weekend

The first annual Big Spring Enduro, slated for Saturday and Sunday, will have entries from as far away as Missouri and California.

The races, co-sponsored by the Big Spring Go-Kart Association and the Chamber of Commerce, will be run on some active runways and taxiways at Webb AFB with the course measuring 3.2 miles a lap. The track is between 75-150 feet in width.

All spectators, who are admitted free, will be able to see racing from 1:30-2:45 p.m. Saturday and 11:30-1:30 and 2-4 p.m. Sunday.

Trophies will go to 1st, 2nd, and 3rd in each of the 10 classes, with a special cup going to the contestant traveling the longest distance. An overall trophy will be given for each event.

This is the first of 12 nationally approved races under the direction of the International Karting Federation, the association that controls the sport. Over 300 entries are expected. Additional information can be had by talking to Albert Thompson at Webb AFB.

Dons Reliving Days Of Glory

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Virtually unnoticed nationally the San Francisco Dons have won 16 straight games and a berth in the NCAA tournament that determines the national collegiate basketball champion.

What's so special about that? Well, it was just 10 years ago that the Dons got started on their record 60-game winning streak that led to two straight national championships. Maybe history will repeat.

Big Bill Russell, now the mainstay of the champion professional Boston Celtics, was the star for the Dons in those days. Currently it's Ollie Johnson, a 6-foot-8 junior from Washington D.C., who delights Coach Pete Peletta.

The Dons go for their 17th in a row against Pepperdine tonight in one of the top games on an attractive Friday night program.

Unbeaten UCLA, top-ranked in The Associated Press poll, shoots for its 26th straight against San Francisco. The fourth-ranked Bruins battles North Carolina in the semifinals of the ACC championship tourney and fifth-ranked Wichita meets Drake in a playoff to decide the Missouri Valley Conference representative in the NCAA.

Bowling Green's 89-80 upset of eighth-ranked DePaul and Duke's 75-44 trouncing of North Carolina State in the first round of the ACC tourney highlighted Thursday night's action.

Howard (Butch) Komives, the nation's leading scorer, threw in 47 points against DePaul including 17 of 17 from the foul line that upped his consecutive free throw streak to 42. The Blue Demons, NIT-bound, at one time in the second half trailed by 17 points.

Jay Buckley with 21 points led the Duke romp. In the first round ACC games Wake Forest drubbed Virginia 79-60, North Carolina defeated South Carolina 80-63 and Clemson mauled Maryland 81-67.

Champion Texas A&M closed its SWC campaign with a 13-1 mark by nipping Texas 65-63 after Jim Bob Smith of the Longhorns had missed four straight free throws in the last 10 seconds.

AMARILLO—Howard County Junior College moved into the semifinals of the Region V Basketball tournament by defeating South Plains of Levelland, 70-55, here Thursday afternoon.

A victory over New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell in a 7 o'clock game tonight would send the Jayhawks into the Saturday night finals.

In the other semifinal game tonight, down for 9 o'clock, the favored San Angelo Rams go against host Amarillo.

San Angelo won about as expected over Ranger College, 76-64. Amarillo felled Cisco, 76-63, in the other action Thursday.

Winner of the tournament goes to the National Juco tournament in Hutchinson, Kan., which takes place March 17-21. Amarillo is the defending champion in regional play.

Terry Williams led the HCJC surge with 23 points, 11 of which he hit from the free throw line. HCJC built up a 35-18 advantage at half time and managed to keep 10 to 11 points ahead most of the second half.

Five players hit in double figures for the Jayhawks, who are now 21-9 for the season. Jim Oldham had 12 points, Tom Carter and Charles Cumber 11 each and Keith Bond 10 for the Big Spring club.

Charles Turnbough tossed in 26 for South Plains, which has now dropped three games to HCJC this year.

HCJC ran a delayed game against South Plains and jumped off to a 10-point lead. The Texans never did recover. The Levelland team, trying to get the ball, took 16 fouling late in the contest and lost three players on infractions.

Although HCJC had beaten the Texans twice previously, one observer said South Plains might have been a little over-confident when it took the floor.

NMMI kept its poise all the way in upsetting Decatur. Its zone defense looked to advantage against the Indians. NMMI led at half time, 38-31. John Gonzales scored 24 points for NMMI while James Wade followed with 19. Finley tossed in 21 and Reedy 20 for Decatur.

San Angelo trailed much of the way in its game with Ranger but went ahead to stay with 12 minutes left in the contest.

Alex Decuir counted 20 points for the Rams, who are now 24-3 for the year and have yet to lose a Texas-based junior college team.

At half time, the Rams were behind, 29-22. Charles Guess had 17 points for the winners.

Dale Abels tossed in 22 for Ranger while Richard Hooper followed with 12.

NMMI led all the way in surprising Decatur Baptist, who was ranked second in the nation.

Ranger finished its season with an 18-16 record.

HCJC (70)—Oldham 5-9-12; Carter 3-5-11; Williams 6-11-25; Cumber 5-1-11; Flowers 1-1-3; Bond 3-4-10. Totals 75-55. SOUTH PLAINS (55)—Turnbough 4-8-20; Crippen 1-1-3; Sorcher 1-0-2; Patton 2-4-8; Milstead 1-0-2; Anderson 0-1-1; Turnbough 10-6-26; Pope 1-0-2; Patterson 1-0-2; Hall 0-1-1. Totals 76-64. Half time score — HCJC 35 South Plains 18.

Top Area Crew

Fems' Region VI-B Tournament Begins

The Region VI girls' basketball tournament opens action tonight at 7:30 in the Howard County Junior College gym with the Forsan Buffalo Queens and Dell City Cougars on tap for local fans.

Five teams are in the two-day tourney with the winner getting a trip to the state tournament in Austin the following weekend.

Trent and Sands, both receiving byes in the first round, meet at 11:15 a.m. Saturday while the winner of the Forsan-Dell City tilt goes against Talpa-Centennial in an earlier contest at 9:45 a.m.

The finals are set for 8:30 p.m. Saturday with the third place trophy being decided at 7 p.m.

Officials for the tournament will come mainly from Lubbock — Edsel Buchanan, Bill Waddle, and L. L. Laws — although Big Spring's own Boyce Hale will also be on the boards. Eddi Aciri will be in charge of the clock while D. A. Miller will be the scorer.

Tonight's game will feature one of the top girls' quintets in West Texas, the Forsan Buffalo Queens. The Bisons, ably coached by James Blake (who also has the boys' job on his hands), will come into the game showing a 29-2 mark. One of the losses was the Sands Mustangs, another crew in the tourney, while the other loss was inflicted by the Garden City Bearkittens, a quintet in the same District 83-B as the Buffaloes. Forsan avenged both defeats.

The Queens made a wreck of the district race, except for Garden City, whom they defeated, 55-48, in a special playoff contest to decide which crew went into bi-district action against Wall. In the Wall game the Bisons were in peak form as they raced past the Hawks easily in a 72-51 rout.

Starters for the Queens will be: forwards, Sandra Rister, Jody Dodd and Bettye Conger; guards, Susan Elrod, Patsy Gooch and Judy Hughes.

The Cougars, out in the far-reaches of West Texas, took the title of 90-B.

Talpa-Centennial, winner over Rochelle in bi-district play earlier this week, must be rated one of the real toughies. Coached by Barney Popnoe, the Ramettes have won 24 of 27 starts.

Probably the top-rated contingent in the tournament is Trent, which smashed Ira earlier this week, 75-55, in bi-district competition. Trent is now 32-5 for the year and has beaten top-rated Baird, among other sextets, this season.

Diane Lewis, Delores Barnes and Barbara McAninch are the scoring threats for Trent.

Tors Take Three Wins

The Runnels girls' volleyball team met Lamesa Thursday in the Yearlings' gym with the visiting Tornados coming out on top in all three matches.

In the seventh grade game, Lamesa took a win but only a struggle. The Tors came out on top 14-16, 15-13, and 15-9. Mary Fierro and Katie Gomez had 12 and 10 points respectively for the locals.

Karen Miller topped the Yearlings with three points in the eighth grade contest as Lamesa won easily, 15-6 and 15-0.

In the ninth grade match, Lamesa won by margins of 11-15, 15-4, and 15-5. Joyce Cross led Runnels with seven points.

The eighth grade team journeys to Kermit tomorrow for an annual tournament. All three teams see action again Tuesday in Ackerly at 5 p.m. against the Sands Mustangs.

Steers Give A&M Fits But Lose

By BOB HORTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Champion Texas A&M, no doubt looking ahead to bigger things in NCAA playoffs, has survived a harrowing week which closed out this season's Southwest Conference basketball campaign.

First it was a feeble 70-66 double overtime victory over lowly Texas Christian, winless in league competition, at Fort Worth Tuesday.

Then Thursday night the kingpin Aggies, possessing their first outright title in 41 years, almost lost their scalp on their home court yet—before nipping 1963 titlist Texas, 65-63.

Twice in the last 10 seconds, with A&M leading only 64-63, Texas' Jim Bob Smith missed on one-and-one free throw situations which could have brought an upset.

The lead changed hands 16 times.

In other games, second-place Texas Tech defeated Baylor at Waco, 96-82; Rice got into a three-way tie for third with Texas and Southern Methodist by beating SMU at Houston, 97-90; and TCU lost its final bid for a league victory, swamped by Arkansas 108-77 at Fayetteville.

A&M thus emerged with a 13-1 league record, the sole loss to Texas Tech at Lubbock. Tech finished 11-3, with SMU, Rice and Texas bunched at 8-6.

At the bottom of the SWC heap were Arkansas, 6-8; Baylor, 2-12; and the Horned Frogs, 0-14.

A&M, with an over-all record of 15 victories and six defeats, meets Texas Western at Dallas Monday night in the playoffs to name the NCAA representative to the Midwest Regional. Creighton and Oklahoma City University also are paired in the Dallas playoff.

Rice's Kendall Rhine wound up top man among the scoring leaders, getting 53 points in his last two games for a season total of 584. In conference scoring Rhine led with 316 points.

Two Southwest Conference records fell in the SMU-Rice battle. The Mustangs Gene Elmore grabbed 17 rebounds to set a season mark of 206, breaking the standard of 197 posted by Rhine.

But Rhine retaliated by dunking in 13 field goals for a season total of 243 which erased the record 233 established by an SMU star, Jim Krebs. Rhine wound up with 32 points.

Many Records Due To Fall In Olympics At Laredo

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—An assault that is expected to pay off with a score of records started today in the massive, four-division Border Olympics.

Texas A&M, Baylor and Texas were poised for a crack at Abilene Christian College's championship in the university division. Texas Southern was favored to win the college division for the fifth straight time.

But the collegians won't see action until Saturday. Meanwhile, 54 high schools and 11 junior colleges went through day-long preliminaries with a dozen records within reach.

Most of the athletes—675 of them—were in the high school division.

The university and college divisions hold preliminaries Saturday morning while the high schools and junior colleges run off their finals Saturday afternoon.

University and college finals are Saturday night when Randy Matson, the Texas A&M freshman, appears in a shot put exhibition. He has done 62 feet 5 inches.

While Matson will probably be the star, he won't be after a record, since he isn't eligible for it. That will leave his varsity pal at Texas A&M, Danny Roberts, to put some new marks in the books. Roberts appears likely to break both the shot put record of 57-5½ and the discus record of 164-7½.

There are two of a probably half-dozen overall records due to be set as an army of 1,018 athletes from 81 universities, colleges, junior colleges and high schools compete over a two-day and one night period.

Paces Team

Steve Langham (above), star quartermiler from Dallas Thomas Jefferson, leads the HCJC track and field team which will be seeking its sixth straight Border Olympics divisional crown in Laredo this weekend.

Steers To Host Mustangs Twice

The Big Spring Steers, who open their 1964 baseball season in a double header at Andrews today, come home Saturday to clash with the same team in a twin bill.

The action both days gets underway at 1 p.m. Andrews was originally to have played host to the Steers last Tuesday but the engagement was called off due to the weather.

Freddy Mearns, who has been favoring an injury, will probably pitch one of the games for Big Spring Saturday. He must come through in a big way if the Steers are to prosper in the diamond wars this spring.

Catcher Charley West and shortstop Baxter Moore are the only regulars returning from last season. Coach Roy Baird is counting heavily upon his sophomores.

Top-Flight Rams

Talpa-Centennial, an entry in the girls' Region VI Tournament, will come into action with one of the top records in West Texas. The Rams show a 24-3 mark. Members of the team are: left to right, front row, Bethany

Class AAAA Is Set To Decide Finalists

AUSTIN (AP)—With finalists already decided in three divisions, Classes B and AAAA were ready today for games which would determine their representatives in title games of the State Schoolboy Basketball Tournament.

Opening the second day of the big tournament in a Class B semi-final game were Frankston, a champion in 1961, and McAdoo, the pride of the high plains who won the championship last year and carries an impressive 33-2 record in this year's semi-final clash. Frankston beat Celeste 71-52 in a quarter-final game.

The other Class B semi-final game matched Hutto, who stormed past Wall 88-61 to break a single game division scoring record that was set in 1954, and Hawley, who, like McAdoo, drew a first round bye and automatically moved into semi-final play.

Third-place games also were scheduled in Classes B, A, AA, and AAA.

The big boys in Class AAAA were set for semi-final action this afternoon. Dallas Adamson, 25-4, and San Antonio Lee, 27-4, were opponents in the first AAAA game, with Fort Worth Halton, 25-4, and Stephen F. Austin of Houston, 35-1, matched in the second game.

Finals in all classes are set for Saturday.

Clear Creek, AAA champions in 1963, showed it may be capable of defending its title this year by defeating a speedy Kilgore team from East Texas, 69-60. Jimmy Lenox, also a star on last year's championship squad, pumped in 30 points for the Wildcats from Southeast Texas, making their eighth tournament appearance in the last nine years. Larry Gilbert, one of two senior starters on the Kilgore team, was his team's high scorer with 17 points.

The Bulldogs worked their fast-break offense to perfection in the first half, but slowed down considerably in the second half, especially after losing Joe O'Hagen on fouls late in the third quarter. Kilgore, also, at the tournament in 1955 and 1959, has never reached the finals.

Graham claimed the other final spot opposite Clear Creek by shaking off a shooting slump and beating South San Antonio, 47-42. The Steers' victory, their 15th in a row, was paced by foot 8 all-state center, Mike Lochner, who threw in 26 points and grabbed 11 rebounds. South San, trying for its second state title in four years, hardly got a good shot at the basket although Phillip Dugger shook loose for 26 points. Larry Black, a first-team all-state player for South San, got only six points.

HAND WOVEN INDIA MADRAS

India Madras is an unusual 100% cotton fabric, handwoven in pit looms of native dyed and spun yarns in the small villages of rural India. The results are extremely individualistic patterns and colors and no two lengths of cloth are exactly alike. These native dyes are used in excess so that with each washing the dyes run somewhat into the water, leaving the cloth softer in color and touch, and more beautiful each time.

It is this "bleeding" that gives your garment its distinctively muted and subdued colorings characteristic of authentic India Madras.

Mets Set On Winning Mexican Campaign

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Casey Stengel and his adventurous New York Mets are in Mexico in what may be the wildest invasion there since Gen. John Pershing went looking for Pancho Villa 48 years ago.

Stengel, though, hopes his forces come out of it a little better than Pershing's. Several of the general's 12,000 troops were killed, and they never did capture Villa.

The Mets certainly are in a bad enough way that they can't afford to lose any of the 24 players and officials who arrived in Mexico City Thursday night. They also are looking forward to conquering the Mexico City teams they play in a series of three exhibition games starting tonight.

New York, of course, has a secret weapon going for it — Casey's mouth — if you can call that secret.

Still, the Mets face numerous hazards, more, it seems, than Pershing's expeditionary forces did.

According to mimeographed plans, the Mets were warned to "drink nothing but bottled water. Whenever you have a mixed drink, soft or otherwise, make sure that the ice cubes are made of bottled water."

Pershing undoubtedly didn't have the luxury of bottled water, but he also certainly wasn't faced with some of the other dangers confronting New York "Mexican fans are ardent baseball souvenir hunters," the Mets were advised. "Hold on to your hats and everything else you may have, particularly when leaving the ball park."

"The team will dress at the Hotel Alameda, where it will be staying, and go to the ball park in uniform. All equipment will be brought back to the hotel after each game and will be placed under lock and key."

No sooner had the Mets arrived in Mexico City than Stengel experienced what he was in for.

THE STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF HOWARD
NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE
OF REAL PROPERTY
By virtue of Order of Sale issued out of the 133rd Judicial District Court of Harris County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in said Court on the 5th day of March, 1964, in favor of H. G. COUNTS & CO. and against J. M. CALVIN, in Cause No. 584,972, styled H. G. COUNTS & CO. vs. J. M. CALVIN, said Court, I did on the 4th day of February, 1964, at 8 o'clock a.m., levy upon the following described lot, tract or parcel of land situated in the City of Big Spring, Howard County, Texas, to-wit:
All of the South Forty (40) feet of Lot One (1), and South Forty (40) feet of the West Thirty-seven and five tenths (37.5) feet of Lot Two (2), Block Thirteen (13), of the Amended Cole and Shryhorn Addition to the City of Big Spring, Howard County, Texas.
And on the 7th day of April, 1964, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of ten o'clock a.m. and four o'clock p.m., on said day of the Court House door of said County, I will offer for sale by virtue of said levy made under said execution and Order of Sale and will sell to the highest bidder for cash all of the right, title and interest of the said J. M. CALVIN in and to said property.

The Roundtable

If the local go-karting association succeeds in bringing the 1964 Nationals to Big Spring, it would mean that approximately 15,000 people would converge on West Texas. Members claim that contestants could easily find motel space in Midland and Odessa and then commute to Big Spring for the races in the daytime. Standing in the way right now of this dream, the Nationals is a track. Local members say that if they can get one built on the San Angelo highway they will have a good chance of getting the races. They would be in August.

MIKEY MANTLE

The second annual Cowtown Invitational Open softball tournament will be held in Fort Worth May 22-24. Top nine from Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas will be on hand vying for the winner and runner-up trophies plus a special sportsmanship cup. An all-tournament team will be chosen. There will be an entry fee of $25 per team with entry deadline set for 5 p.m., May 11. Each team will furnish its own balls and may carry a roster of up to 16 men.

Anyone seeking further information can write: HUGH INMAN, Fort Worth Park & Recreation Department, 215 W. Vickery Blvd., Fort Worth 4, Texas.

A partnership tournament will be held at the country club March 15 with merchandise awards going to the winners. It will be $2.50 a player. The women's club championship will be decided in the summer, with play slated on five days—June 29-30, July 1-3-5.

BILLY CONN, former heavyweight boxer, talking about CASSIUS CLAY:

"He's a freak. An amateur. I'm turning over in my sleep thinking of the money he's getting. The first time I fought Joe Louis I got $100,000 for it and that was a real fight. The second time, the bad time, I got $340,000. Now this guy figures to pick up $600,000 for a couple minutes work. Don't tell me about inflation. That's a gang of money any time. It's killing me."

Over 800 women poured into Midland for the first week of the Texas Women's Bowling Association annual tournament.

The Coahoma Bulldogs should be one of the toughest cage crews around Big Spring next fall, at least according to head coach JIMMY SPANN. Even though he has three top lads leaving, one an all-district choice and the other two on the honorable mention crew, he still figures on having a better team than this year's squad which rolled to a 17-3 mark and a second place finish in District 6-A.

52-Year-Old Leads Florida Tourney

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—The regulars on the PGA golf tour here, and Doug Sanders, the 1962 titlist, Mike Soukaskas, George Bayer, Johnny Ott, Jay Hebert, and Miller Barber also posted 60s.

The "old man" is 52-year-old John Barnum, who plays infrequently on the circuit but twice in the recent past stole the play from the younger stars of professional golf—when he won the 1962 Cajun Classic and when he led after 18 holes in the PGA Championship that year. Barnum, pro at Blythefield Country Club, Grand Rapids, Mich., jumped off in front again Thursday with a five-under-par 34-33-67.

But the deep-voiced, 6-foot-3 shotmaker, who finished second to Sam Snead in the PGA Seniors two weeks ago, has practically all of the top stars in the tournament shooting at him from close range. Fifty-one golfers shot par or better in the first round on the 6,380-yard Pensacola, Country Club course.

Just a stroke behind with 68s were Gardner Dickinson, Fred Hawkins, Bill Collins and Jimmy Clark, all tournament winners in the past, and Downing Gray, a member of the 1963 Walker Cup team and runner-up in the 1962 National Amateur. Gray, a Pensacola businessman, is a member of the host club.

Seven players were bunched at 69, including the last two Pensacola winners, defending champion Arnold Palmer, who is going after his third title here, and Doug Sanders, the 1962 titlist. Mike Soukaskas, George Bayer, Johnny Ott, Jay Hebert, and Miller Barber also posted 60s.

Tournament Is Slated

The Big Spring Invitational Bowling tournament begins Saturday and Sunday and will run for two successive weekends at the Bowl-A-Rama lanes east of town. Tournament play will run from 1-7 p.m. each day.

When the final entries are in, a field of 40 teams, 96 doubles, and 142 in the all-events is expected. The tourney is open only to American Bowling Congress members.

Anyone seeking further information should call Keith Henderson at the Bowl-A-Rama lanes, AM 4-7484.

Liz Gets Divorce, No Cash Talked

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP)—An uncontested Mexican divorce appeared today to have cleared the way for Elizabeth Taylor to marry Richard Burton.

Judge Arcadio Estrada granted the brunette film actress her freedom from singer Eddie Fisher Thursday because Fisher had not contested the divorce suit she filed in Puerto Vallarta Jan. 14.

MAY REMARRY
The judge said his decree permitted both Miss Taylor and Fisher to remarry.

Miss Taylor was in Toronto with the Welsh actor, who is appearing there in "Hamlet." He and Miss Taylor eluded newsmen after the divorce was announced.

There was no comment from Fisher, last reported in Puerto Rico. Presumably he and Miss Taylor have not reached a settlement of his claims on her earnings from "Cleopatra," which are expected to be at least $2 million.

In granting Miss Taylor's divorce, the judge said he could not make a financial ruling because no community property existed in Mexico.

BURTON DIVORCE
Burton's wife, Sybil, got a divorce in Puerto Vallarta in December.

Miss Taylor won her freedom under a Mexican law permitting divorce on the basis of a separation of a year or more.

She charged Fisher abandoned her in Rome in March 1962, after her affair with Burton had become generally known. Their separation was announced April 2, 1962.

Judge Estrada said Fisher's failure to contest the suit meant he "presumably confessed" to the abandonment charge. He had been served with notice of the suit in Las Vegas, Nev., and given 21 days to reply.

TIME EXPIRED
The time limit expired several weeks ago, but the judge took no action until an attorney for Miss Taylor, Antonio Valenzuela of Mexico City, petitioned for the ruling Thursday.

The judge awarded Miss Taylor custody of Lisa Todd, her daughter by Mike Todd, whom Fisher had adopted. No mention was made in her suit or in the decree of her two sons by actor Michael Wilding, whom Fisher did not adopt, or of the 3-year-old German girl she and Fisher adopted in Rome two years ago.

The financial dispute between Miss Taylor and Fisher stems from MCL Films, a Swiss company they formed to handle her earnings from "Cleopatra."

Fisher was Miss Taylor's fourth husband. Previously she was married to hotelman Conrad Hilton's son Nicky, Wilding and producer Mike Todd, who was killed in a plane crash. Her first two marriages also ended in divorce.

Robin Enjoys Suburban Fare

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—"Charlie," the first spring robin in suburban Colonie, likes television, roast beef and the indoor life.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Oliveri found the baby bird last August and have raised it in their seven-room home. So far, he is perfectly content to remain inside.

Less Than Half Of Cars Have Safety Check

Of the 22,100 motor vehicles in Howard County, more than 13,000 have not as yet been checked for 1964 inspection stickers.

Total stickers reported as of Feb. 29 stood at 8,989. This is 40.7 per cent of the total vehicles in the county which should have stickers. If it is any consolation, the county is well ahead of its neighbors. Scurry County with 34 per cent is second in this immediate area, according to John Marion, patrolman in charge of vehicle inspection.

He warned that deadline for attaching inspection stickers expires April 15 and that cars without the sticker can be picked up and the driver fined on April 16.

The cost of a sticker is $1. There are scores of licensed inspection stations in the district. A check of the counties in this area showed:

Cars Inspected	Pct
Howard	22,100 8,989 40.7
Scurry	12,800 4,365 34
Martin	5,902 1,676 28
Mitchell	6,847 1,910 27

Glasscock County has 891 registered vehicles and Borden County 826 but in neither county are there any inspection stations. Motorists in these counties must go to another county to obtain their inspections and their stickers.

Oswald's Grave Still Has Guard

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The gravesite of Lee Harvey Oswald, President Kennedy's accused assassin, is still under 24-hour guard.

Police Chief Cato Hightower said the guard will be maintained until after the Warren commission completes its investigation of Kennedy's death.

City Manager Jerry Brownlee admitted the city had considered dropping the guard, which costs $100 a day, but agreed to continue it after urging from the Warren commission.

Refugee Flees The Reds Again

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A refugee who arrived from Cuba said it was the second time he had fled communism.

"I left China when I was 17, after communism killed my parents," said Amado Pon Yulin, 29, one of 24 fugitives reaching Miami by small boats from Cuba. "Now I have left communism again."

Yulin owned an ice cream parlor in Camaguey and had become a Cuban citizen.

No Change In Beliefs Since Assassination

CHICAGO (AP)—The assassination of President John F. Kennedy—although a profound emotional shock to the American people—has not materially changed the basic attitudes and beliefs of Americans, a public opinion survey says.

The survey by the University of Chicago's National Opinion Research Center was made of 1,384 persons a week after the President was fatally shot in Dallas Nov. 22. In its report, the research center said the 1,384 persons were selected to represent a national sampling. Among the preliminary findings:

SPREAD FAST

1. The news of the President's death spread with unprecedented rapidity. Two-thirds of all adult Americans had heard of the shooting within a half hour after it occurred. Ninety-two per cent knew within two hours and 99.8 per cent within six hours.

"Probably never before were the sentiments of the American public engaged so quickly and deeply by a political happening," the report said.

2. Before the identity of Lee Harvey Oswald as the alleged slayer and his background became known, about half the population's immediate reaction was that a crazed person had done the shooting. About 25 per cent thought it the work of a Communist and about half that number the work of a right-wing fanatic.

3. The overwhelming immediate response when they heard the news was one of personal grief and sorrow. Nine out of 10 persons said their first thought was of Mrs. Kennedy and "he Kennedy children."

PLOT

4. Despite indications many Americans first believed a right-or-left-wing plot was involved there was little ideological reaction.

5. Fewer than one person in five expressed satisfaction at the death of Oswald, Kennedy's accused killer. Regarding Oswald's slayer, Jack Ruby, 53

Rummage Sale Set Saturday

A rummage sale, featuring such items as vases, ashtrays, lamp shades, jewelry, steam irons, electric razors, and clothing, will be held in the old First National Bank building Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. It will be sponsored by the Big Spring Choir Boosters, and funds will be used to help pay the high school choir's trip to California in April, and to purchase needed equipment and facilities for the junior high choir.

Students from both junior high schools and the senior high are asked to bring whatever items they may have, or may be able to locate, to the building between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. today.

Smoking Scare Lowers Tax Take

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—State Treasurer Jesse James blames the cigarette smoking scare for a $1.2 million drop in revenue from the state cigarette tax during February.

"Looks to me like a lot of cigarette smokers are cutting down or quitting," James said. "I don't know how else to explain it."

February cigarette tax stamp sales were $5,651,381, compared to $6,864,599 in February, 1963, James said. Sales this January were $7,301,882.

heard the news (of Kennedy's death.)

"The majority of all respondents could not recall any other time in their lives when they had the same sort of feelings as when they heard of President Kennedy's assassination," the survey said.

The survey added, however, that "the assassination of the President and the subsequent shooting down of his (alleged) assassin in a televised police station had practically no effect at all, even in the short run, on certain basic beliefs and values of the American people, which one might have thought to be profoundly upset by such startling and bizarre events."

There was virtually no change in the intensity of religious beliefs, thoughts or attitudes about death, attitudes toward segregation and civil rights or the trustworthiness of people, the survey said.
