Allied Leaders Consider Parley For Disarmament

U-2 Pilot In Seclusion At Top Secret Hideaway

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Francis Gary Powers was secluded today with members of his family at a hideaway as top-secret as the U2 spy flights he once made over the Soviet Union.

Powers, 32, freed by the Russians Saturday in exchange for master Soviet spy Rudolph Abel, was flown back to the United States first for a reunion with his wife and parents, and then for intensive government questioning.

His movements were cloaked with secrecy equal to wartime restrictions. The only official word was a White House announcement that he had returned Sunday morning, was meeting with his family and appeared to be in good physical condition.

It was learned, however, that Powers had landed at the Dover, Del., Air Force Base, and it was believed that his meeting with his wife took place at a hideaway within 150 miles of Washington.

After the family reunion, Powers faces intensive questioning by government officials — and possibly Congress—on how he was captured while making a high altitude photographic mission over Russia.

One big question is whether the Russians actually shot down his plane at 68,000 feet with a rocket or whether he was forced down by engine trouble.

Three members of the Senate Armed Services Committee said they believed their group should question Powers after security agents had completed interrogating him.

Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said he would like to ask Powers about the indoctrination he received on how to act if captured. Cannon said he was "disappointed in Powers' conduct" after the U2 was downed May 1, 1960.

Sens. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., and Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., also said they thought the committee should question Powers. Byrd said he did not think Powers "gave the Russians any information he wasn't supposed to," but he wanted to know how the plane was downed.

Two photographs of Powers released by the White House bore out the description of his physical well-being. He was smiling, and looked well-fed and healthy after two years in a Soviet prison.

The movements of Powers' parents were just as mysterious as those of his wife. They left Norton, Va., by car Saturday evening with a government agent and vanished under the secrecy veil.

But since the White House announcement referred to "members of his family," Powers presumably was meeting with them as well as with his wife, who flew to Washington from Atlanta Saturday.

Soviet Proposal For Meet Is Seen Linked To Red Power Strife

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy today ordered consultations with other Western governments before drafting a reply to Nikita S. Khrushchev's proposal for an 18-nation summit meeting on disarmament.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has written President Kennedy proposing an 18-nation summit conference on disarmament.

The move, disclosed Sunday night, raised major questions on the future of Soviet policy.

If the United States and its allies follow their well-known past policies they are expected to reject such a meeting on the date Khrushchev proposed — March 14, in Geneva.

But there was speculation that Kennedy, and perhaps other Allied leaders, might leave the door open for a disarmament summit before June, provided foreign ministers of the nations involved had made progress by then and tensions were eased in East-West crisis spots.

Diplomats here saw Khrushchev's move as highly significant, coming at a time when all signs indicate the Communist world's great internal struggle over the future of its policies appears to be reaching a climax.

They speculated that even if Khrushchev does not see a concrete disarmament pact in the cards he may be maneuvering for an easing of the over-all East-West struggle.

On Feb. 7 Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan wrote Khrushchev proposing that the 18-nation disarmament conference, long scheduled for March 14, be raised to the foreign ministers' level.

They urged that a "supreme effort" be made at Geneva to restart the 3-year-old nuclear test ban talks which broke down Jan. 29. In their letter Kennedy and Macmillan added somewhat cryptically that the heads of government of the United States, Britain and Russia "should assume a direct and personal interest in these negotiations."

Khrushchev's reply was delivered to the State Department by the Soviet Embassy Sunday. Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in embassy officials of Britain, France, Italy and Canada to pass on the word.

The Soviet leader indicated he also was writing directly to each of the other governments. In addition to the United States and the four allies with whom Rusk conferred, these include five Communist countries — Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Romania; and eight unaligned nations—Brazil, Burma, Ethiopia, India, Mexico, Nigeria, Sweden and the United Arab Republic.

Blast, Fire Destroy Local Gasoline Plant

A series of explosions and fire destroyed the Dorchester Corporation's Cargray gasoline plant near Skellytown shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Flames and black smoke still were billowing from the blast scene at the plant at 3 p.m. It was unofficially reported that all employes in the plant but one had reached saftey.

The Pampa fire department and two Duenkel-Carmichael ambulances were rushed to the scene from Pampa but had difficulty because of heavy traffic on the Borger highway.

The plant is south of the highway about ten miles west of Pampa.

A Pampa News reporter near the scene said firemen and others at 2:45 p.m. had been unable to get near enough to the fire to fight it. At that hour, it was stated, it appeared that it would be a matter of letting the blaze burn out.

New bursts of flame and smoke arose intermittently at the plant indicating that another gasoline tank had blown up.

Mrs. Dorothy McGuire, Skellytown city secretary, said there were fires all around the plant and that it was not possible to get within 200 yards of the burning plant.

Law enforcement officers issued an appeal to the public asking sightseers to stay away from the scene in an effort to relieve traffic congestion and to eliminate further danger.

There was no estimate of damage late this afternoon and cause of the explosion still was undetermined.

Ernest Foosc, loading rack foreman ,of Skellytown, was the only reported injury. He was cut on the forehead by a flying piece of metal from the pentane tank blast.

Dorchester Corp. officials from Amarillo, headquarters of the company arrived at the scene shortly before 3:30 p.m.

B. O. Bentley, plant superintendent, said the first blast came when a pentane tank blew up.

Hostile Patrols Clash In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Government and pro-Communist rebel troops clashed repeatedly in small-scale infantry actions around the northwestern provincial capital of Nam Tha in the last 24 hours, it was reported, today.

In the bitterest clash along the Nam Tha perimeter northeast of the town, more than a dozen royal army soldiers were killed and wounded.

Cease-Fire May Be Near In Algeria

PARIS (UPI) — France and Algerian rebel leaders have resumed secret talks and may be near agreement on a cease-fire in the seven-year-old Algerian war, French government sources said today.

The sources declined to say where the talks are taking place or who is meeting with the Algerians, but Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe is believed to be in on the conference now.

The negotiations were reported taking place either in Switzerland or at some point on the French-Swiss border.

The government rushed police reinforcements into Paris today to cope with leftist demonstrations called to protest the deaths of eight persons in a clash with police Thursday.

Nearly 5,000 additional riot police and mobile gendarmes were brought into the Paris area to bring police strength to 30,000.

Early today police searched 20 private homes in pre-dawn raids and seized documents relating to the Secret Army Organization in France, and 15 persons were reported held for questioning.

The Socialist Labor Union, Force Ouvriere, defied a government ban and called its members to assembly in the Place de la Republique in Paris and at war memorials elsewhere in France.

The Communist party announced its support of the pro-

Five Jailed In $1,750,000 Theft

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) —The FBI said today it has recovered $1,750,000 worth of jewels stolen from a Pompano Beach ship and arrested three men and two women charged with the theft.

Miami FBI agent in charge Wesley G. Grapp said the recovery of the loot was one of the largest jewelry theft recoveries in history. Value of the stolen jewels previously had been reported at $500,000.

Pampa Guardsmen Briefed For Upcoming State Alert

Pampa National Guardsmen were briefed Sunday on their role in the state-wide alert coming up later this month.

Lt. Leon Howell, commander, said that all preparations are complete for the surprise assembly to be held sometime between Feb. 17 and Feb. 25.

"We don't know the exact time we'll get the word," he said today, "but we are ready."

The practice alert will involve all units of the 9,000 man 36th (Texas) Infantry division. Other National Guard elements will not be affected. Pampa's Guardsmen form Company B, 1st Battle Group, 142D Infantry of the 36th.

The exercise has been held the past three years to test unit alert plans and give the individual Gurdsman practical training in prompt assembly in case of emergency.

"Last year we had 90 per cent of men here in two hours," said Lt. Howell, "We hope to do even better this year."

When the time comes, Pampa National guardsmen will get the word.

"Alert!"

Instantly the 133 Pampa Guardsmen and 9,000 other members of the 36th Infantry Division will spring into action.

The exercise is called "Opera-

February Heat Wave Continues

The Weather Bureau called for the record - breaking February heat wave to continue over Texas today with no letup in sight.

A bright summer sun and clear skies drove the temperature up to 92 degrees Sunday at Childress and 91 at Presidio, tops for the nation. It reached 84 in Pampa.

Temperatures stayed above freezing throughout the state for the second straight night.

The Weather Bureau said it was to be even warmer over most of the state today and for the rest of the week with temperatures averaging as much as 15 degrees above normal.

More records may tumble.

The mercury soared to 85 Sunday at Amarillo, eclipsing the previous February high of 82 set in 1951.

A low pressure trough over West Texas and the Panhandle is responsible for the warmth. It may linger for days.

If it comes from a harware store we have it. Lewis Hdwe. (Adv).

Weather Remains Question Mark On Wednesday Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. and his 93-foot space machine were all set today for his scheduled orbital flight around the world Wednesday but weathermen were worried about rough seas in the Atlantic recovery areas.

As the countdown for America's first attempt to put a man in orbit reached minus 48 hours, forecasters at Miami reported "a couple of areas" in the Atlantic "that are very questionable."

The weather prospect for the cape "looks pretty good," the Weather Bureau said. But however good the weather might be at the launch site, Glenn could be kept grounded if seas were too rough for safe landing in the Atlantic recovery areas.

"The cape looks pretty good right now, but the Mid-Atlantic is the problem," the Miami bureau said. "There are a couple of areas that are very questionable. Sunday it was very rough but has subsided some.

"But even in the east Atlantic where there are no storms there are some rough seas. A high pressure area north of the Azores is causing rough seas to the south."

If the seas subside and the weather is good, and Glenn and his spacecraft and rocket remain in top shape, the astronaut will be put into orbit some time between 7:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Big Question:

How Was The Plane Downed By Soviets?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The big question the United States wants answered in its interrogation of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers is how his photo reconnaissance plane was downed.

Another issue — at least one raised in several quarters at the time of Powers' capture—is this: Did he help Russia embarrass the United States through information he provided?

U.S. security agents will hold Powers incognito for a week to 10 days while they seek answers to these questions. Then presumably he will be allowed to tell his story to the public.

Further official questioning of Powers already is in the wind. Three members of the Senate Armed Services Committee said today they believed the committee would like to talk to Powers.

Sen. Howard W. Cannon D-Nev. said he woud like to ask Powers what type of indoctrination he received to prepare for the possibility that he would be captured. Cannon said he was "disappointed in Powers' conduct" after the U2 was downed May 1, 1960.

Powers' testimony at his espionage trial in Moscow in August, 1960, did not throw much light on

'Bonus' Prisoner Existed In Fear

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Frederic L. Pryor, who spent 5½ months in a Soviet jail in East Germany, settled down today to what he hoped would be the resumption of "a normal life."

Pryor was the United States "bonus" in the exchange of Francis Gary Powers for Rudolf I. Abel with the Soviet Union Saturday.

Pryor, 28, said his time in the East Germany prison was marked without knowing from second to second what was going to happen to him next. He said he was gnawed by uncertainty.

He arrived at Detroit's Willow Run Airport Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Pryor Sr., of Ann Arbor, who had accompanied him from West Berlin.

Pryor said he was unaware that he was to be part of the exchange until he arrived in West Berlin Saturday. He first learned that his freedom was imminent Friday when he talked to his lawyer, he said.

He refused to discuss the political aspects of his Red captivity, although he talked freely about prison life behind the Iron Curtain.

He said the prison followed a "strict routine" which began with washup at 5 a.m. Breakfast was then served and at 9 a.m. he was hustled off to an interrogation room where he underwent steady questioning by the Soviet agents.

American Tourist 'Spy' Expected To Be Set Free

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American lawyer who negotiated the Powers-for-Abel swap says he expects the Soviets to free another American held on spy charges.

James B. Donovan of New York said at a news conference Sunday night that he had negotiated with the Russians over Marvin W. Makinen, an American student who was arrested last July during a tour of the Soviet Union. Makinen, whose home is in Massachusetts, is serving an eight-year sentence in the Ukraine.

Donovan, 45, just back from the successful trade of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers for Soviet spy Rudolf I. Abel, was Abel's court-appointed attorney in the Russian's 1957 espionage trial. He reached his home here late Sunday after crossing the Atlantic on the same plane that brought Powers back to this country.

Donovan disclosed for the first time that his negotiations with the Russians in East Berlin also included the 23-year-old Makinen, a Fulbright scholar who had attended the Free University in West Berlin prior to his ill-fated auto tour of the Soviet Union last summer.

"I believe I have assurance from the Soviet government that in the event of better relations and as a result of what has transpired (in the Powers case) we can expect them to release Makinen in the near future," Donovan said.

Donovan added that he believed "I have a commitment" for Makinen's release.

Makinen was arrested by the Soviets and accused of taking photographs of a military objective. The Russians claimed that Makinen, of Ashburnham, Mass., had confessed to being recruited by two U.S. agents in Berlin to photograph military objectives during the tour.

Pampa School Board To Settle Two Tax Suits

This morning's meeting of the Board of the Pampa Independent School District agreed to proceed in the settlement of two tax suits, filed by the school district in 1953, against Beacon Supply Co. and Western Supply Co.

Appearing before the board on behalf of Beacon Supply Co. was the organization's president, E. C. Sidwell.

Sidwell, in reviewing the history of his case, said that a representative of his firm had met with the School Board of Equalization and agreed upon a tax figure of $454.13 but when the tax statement arrived, it was in the amount of $520.25. Sidwell said that his firm asked permission of the Equalization Board to meet with them again to discuss the higher figure but the board refused to grant a hearing. Feeling that the raise was unjust and arbitrary, Sidwell stated that he offered a cashier's check for payment of the $454.13 agreed upon with the Equalization Board and it was refused. It was after this that the school district filed suit against his firm.

Sidwell stated at this morning's meeting that he felt that the suit was a "smear campaign, by some individuals on the School Board and Board of Equalization." He further said that the situation certainly wasn't a reflection on the present School Board or Board of Equalization and that he wanted to get the whole thing settled, as did Luther Gise, representing Western Supply Co. Sidwell said that in presenting his own case, he was also speaking for Western Supply whose situation was almost parallel to that of Beacon. In the Western Supply suit, the difference between the amount of tax and the amount upon which the firm would settle was $75.63.

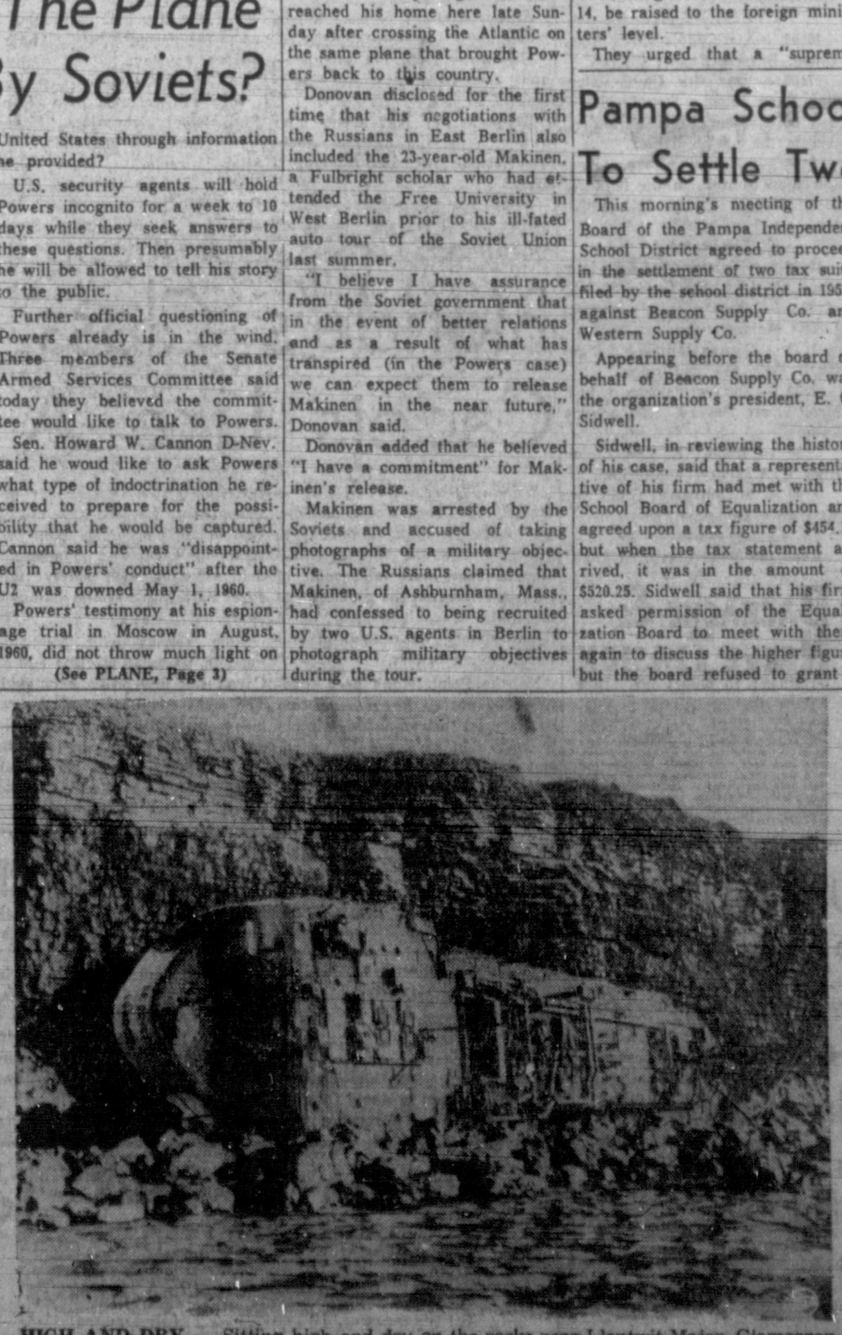

School Board President Warren Fatheree stated that he knew of one member of the Equalization Board, serving at the time of the dispute, who resigned because of the way these cases were handled.

Homer Craig, School Board Secretary, stated that these were the only two instances that he knew of where taxes were levied at an amount higher than those agreed upon by a Board of Equalization.

School tax attorney Don Lane suggested that all penalties and interest be waived and that a final settlement be made on the amount of tax actually levied, for there was some question as to whether or not the School Board could legally reduce this amount.

The board voted that the original checks submitted by the two firms be accepted with final disposition postponed until Lane looked into the possibility of the board

Delicious Valentine For Mom By Teenage Cook

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here's a suggestion for the teenage cook who wants to surprise her mother with an edible Valentine.

It is a handsome mold. First make a pineapple gelatin heart, combining pineapple gelatin and canned crushed pineapple with maraschino cherries. Ring the heart in tiny rosebuds. Add a forth of whipped cream and additional maraschino cherries cut in half and snipped to resemble hearts.

MOLDED VALENTINE DESSERT HEART
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

1 3-ounce package pineapple flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
1 cup crushed pineapple
10 maraschino cherries

Empty pineapple gelatin into a bowl. Add boiling water and stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Stir in cold water. Chill the gelatin until it is thick as unbeaten egg white. Stir crushed pineapple and maraschino cherries into the thickened gelatin. Ladle into a 1-quart heart - shaped mold or into indvidual heart - shaped molds. Chill until firm. If desired, top with whipped cream and heart-shaped maraschino cherry halves.

Of course, young cooks should learn to use foods abundant in the market, and therefore likely to be more economical. Here's the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture's list of foods to be abundant during February.

FEATURES: Potatoes and Carrots, Apples, Grapefruit, Cabbage, Pecans, Honey, Turkeys, Eggs, Frozen & Canned Red Cherries.

Don't turn down page corners to mark your place in a book—a borrowed one, especially.

MOTHER'S helper is really that as she makes Valentine's dessert hearts—in one big mold, also several smaller ones.

Is It Worth Effort To Appear Younger?

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A woman has to do more than cover up the gray in her hair to convince others she is younger than she is. She also has to.

Avoid sitting down at a cocktail party — even if her feet are killing her.

Forego the pleasure of recalling anything that would give her age away. Things like: "That song was popular, when I was a freshman in college."

Avoid such remarks as "such and such just doesn't seem worth the trouble any more."

Strive for animation even when it's an effort.

Always manage to have a current enthusiasm to talk about.

Stay away from the sidelines—and keep herself in the spotlight.

Be vague, not only about her own age, but the ages of those who obviously are her contemporaries.

Avoid, like the plague, such remarks as "at my age" or "when I was younger."

Never mention that a style is too young for her or would look silly "at my age."

Keep her slang up to date — or not use any slang.

Never admit preferring quiet evenings at home to going out every night.

Never say "at our age" to any woman who is younger than she is.

Be enthusiastic about anything new.

Never, never talk about "the good old days."

In fact, there is so much that a woman who wants to seem younger than she is has to keep in mind all the time that it hardly seems worth the trouble — especially when the pretense rarely fools anyone, anyway.

Blonde's Class Draws Cadets Like A Magnet

WEST POINT, N.Y. (NEA) — Steadily, 30 West Point cadets, all volunteers, make their way to Thayer Hall at the Military Academy. A short time later some of them are lying on the ground, legs in splints, heads bandaged. Above them stands an official in uniform, giving orders.

No, the Point hadn't been captured by enemy forces. The cadets are just attending their weekly course in advanced first aid, and they apparently love every minute of it. The course, you see, is given by Mrs. Laurence Covell, a petite blonde with a bouffant hair style. She's the only female instructor at the academy.

Mrs. Covell, a ski enthusiast who is chairman of first aid for the Brooklyn, N.Y., Red Cross, holds the classes for cadets desiring to become ski patrolmen. The course is extracurricular but she can always count on a full house.

Mrs. Covell isn't new to the Army game. She has been teaching first aid to would - be ski patrolmen at West Point for the last four years. Despite her doll-like appearance, she has little trouble applying a leg splint to a strapping cadet and is adept at demonstrating such safety measures as the five - man hammock carry.

While skiing with her husband in Vermont in 1954 Mrs. Covell fell and broke her ankle. The swift competenc of the rescue team made a deep impression on her. The patrolmen put her leg in a splint and got her off the slope in no time at all.

The accident had a happy outcome for first aid and ski patroling for it impelled the Covells to take Red Cross courses in basic and advanced first aid. Her husband is ski patrol leader at the Silvermine Ski Center on Bear Mountain, N.Y.

Her first aid duties are varied and range from instructing factory workers on the prevention of industrial accidents to lecturing expectant mothers on infant safety in Red Cross mother - and-baby-care courses.

What does she think of cadets?

"The cadets are a joy to teach," she says. "They are quick to learn, responsive and really dedicated to the idea of performing a service for fellow skiers."

Only once, she confesses, has she given in to a feminine impulse while teaching the future officers. One day a class was a little slow in thawing out after a week of disciplined military activity. While demonstrating a cravat bandage — a type used on a broken jaw — on a particularly ramrod - like cadet she completed the operation by tying a bow to the head of the unsuspecting youth. The resulting hilarity broke the tension and provided just the kind of relaxed atmosphere Mrs. Covell likes to maintain in her classroom.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER
Senior Citizens Center

Thursday was another beautiful day in spite of the ground - hog seeing his shadow on Feb. 2.

Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority was hostess at the Center on Thursday. They served such lovely refreshments and in such quantities. Red and white heart sandwiches. . .cookies galore. . .candies and coffee. I had to leave early but they were still passing the sandwiches and cookies! Seventy - nine Seniors were present. The centerpiece was lovely and in keeping with the Valentine motif.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. Ollie Daniels and W. E. Towe. . . they were Valentine boxes of candy!

Mrs. Mollie Hetchock had a nice surprise last week, when her cousin, Mrs. Minnie Nitza of St. Louis, Mo. came for a short visit.

Mrs. Libba Trimble had a visit from her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gordon of Leedy, Okla. this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Evans went to Sentinel, Okla. last Sunday to spend the day with Mr. Evans' brother, Otis Evans and family.

Horace Anthony, Ennis Jones and Mrs. Edith Roberts were reported ill in Highland Hospital. We hope they have a speedy recovery. Mrs. Bessie Sowell is expecting to be released from the hospital soon we understand.

W. E. Towe was wearing one of the longest faces, when we talked to him early in the afternoon. When asked "why?" he said he and his partner had not won a game, yet. But he was all smiles later when he won one of the door prizes. Makes a feller feel better when he can win once in a while, eh?, Mr. Towe.

N. A. Cobb, one of the former members of the Center, is in a rest home in Amarillo. He will be 90 years old today! Think it would be nice if his friends would send some birthday cards, even though they might be a little late. He is in Hilhaven Rest Home, 2324 Line Ave., Amarillo.

Mrs. Bessie Nicholson was with us on Thursday as usual, after her lovely party on Feb. 4, honoring her on her 92nd birthday, which falls on Ground Hog Day. About 70 guests, old and new friends, called during the Open House given by her granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hickman, 2225 Duncan. Mrs. Hickman was assisted by Mrs. R. D. Brummett and Mrs. Troy Hester in hostess duties. Cake decorated with "Happy 92nd Birthday," mints and coffee were served.

This was Mrs. Nicholson's first birthday party. She is such a happy person and was enjoying it immensely. We all wish for you many more Happy Birthdays, Bessie.

Dear Abby....

Warts Can Cause Lots Of Worry

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Tell the girl who got rid of her wart by what some people would call hocus-pocus that I believe her. I had a flower bed of warts on my hand and a girl friend told me to cut a potato in as many slices as I had warts, feed the slices to a pig, and the warts would disappear. Well, I did it and in two weeks the warts disappeared. And they never came back.

WARTESS

DEAR ABBY: If I told you all the degrees I had you would think I was bragging, but I only mention this so you won't think I'm a nut. I have had experience with curing warts with a potato and it does work. Only I cut the potato in half and rubbed my wart with it, and buried the potato, cut side up. Within three weeks, my wart disappeared. Everyone I told this to got the same results.

A BELIEVER

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I'm crazy but I got rid of a wart when someone asked if they could "buy" it from me for a nickel. We just shook hands, I took the nickel and, sure enough, the wart went away.

Sincerely yours,
MINNIE

DEAR ABBY: The resident power within every human being to exercise his subconscious mind for relief of bodily ills has been recognized by medical science for several generations. It is called "autosuggestion" —which is why the wart disappeared. It is neither voodoo nor new-do.

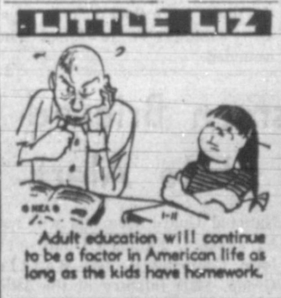

M.D.

DEAR ABBY: Why didn't you tell that stupid reader that the STRING she tied around her wart cut off the blood supply and killed it, and the potato she buried had nothing to do with it? How can anyone with any sense believe that potato hooey?

NOT STUPID

DEAR ABBY: Don't laugh. When I was a child I had a wart on my little finger. I was told by an old lady to steal a dish rag from a friend, rub it over the wart and then bury the dish rag after dark. I followed the instructions and the wart disappeared like magic.

Weekend Violent Death Toll Set At 15 In Texas

By United Press International

Violent death in a variety of forms claimed the lives of at least 15 persons over the week end in Texas, seven of them in traffic accidents.

Safety officials said that almost perfect weather, however, helped keep the traffic death toll somewhat lower than what it might have been.

Donald G. Graham, 28, was shot to death Sunday night in Houston in a fight with Victor Dawdson, 26, over another woman identified as Mary Ruth McLemore, 23.

Talmage Happle Campbell, 62, was killed Sunday when the car he was riding in collided with a train. The driver of the automobile, Jimmy White, 30, was in fair condition at a Cleburne hospital.

Two cars collided in San Antonio Sunday, killing Joe Riedel, 27, of San Antonio and Mrs. Mary Delia Escamilla, 21, of Boerne, Tex. Kathy Faye Smith, 7, of Big Spring, was struck and killed by a car Sunday about five miles northeast of Big Spring.

Walter D. Smith, a Perrin Air Force Base airman, was killed Sunday in a one-car accident near Sherman. Ted James Garrett, 23, of Lubbock was killed Saturday when his soft drink truck plunged off U. S. 64 near Floydada.

Curtis Carrington, 10, of Dallas, was struck and killed by an automobile Saturday night.

L. T. Williams, a Dallas fire chief, died Sunday after he was overcome by smoke at an apartment house fire.

Preston Daniels, 35, of Houston was killed Saturday in the crash of his light plane north of Houston.

James Earl Adams, 29, of Wichita Falls, was shot to death Friday night. His body was found dumped in a ditch 10 miles from town.

Clarence Ballard, 54, Dallas oil executive, shot himself to death Saturday after critically wounding his wife.

John C. Jones Sr., 68, a retired LaFeria, banker, was found shot to death at his home Saturday. A verdict was withheld pending further investigation.

Jerry Lee French, 8, son of Perrin Air Force Base Master Sgt. and Mrs. Thaniel French, died Sunday in Carswell Air Force Base hospital of injuries suffered in an accident at his Sherman home Saturday.

The boy was injured when a neighbor youngster threw an automobile radio aerial. It entered Jerry's eye and pierced his brain.

Mrs. Dorothy Acker, 41, a Dallas nurse, was shot to death Sunday night in her Oak Lawn apartment. Mrs. Olive Frances Phillips admitted the shooting to police. She said she caught her husband, Howard L. and Mrs. Acker together in the bedroom of the apartment. Phillips was wounded in the leg and hip.

tion Muster Day," the third annual alert in as many years.

Purpose of the exercise is threefold, according to General Simpson. First, to test the Guard's alert capability; second, to offer training in realistic circumstances for pre-planned security exercises, and third to show the people of Texas the readiness status of today's 36th Division.

It's all for practice, but the exercise will have all the appearance of the real thing.

At a given signal, the Pampa unit will place its alert plan into effect, notifying their members to report to their local armory immediately.

As each unit reaches 90 per cent attendance, the fact will be radioed to division headquarters in Austin.

In addition to the assembly, many units throughout the state will launch practice security exercises.

Leftist Protest Strikes Hit Paris

PARIS (UPI) —A series of leftist-led token strikes called to protest the deaths of eight persons in riotous clashes with police last week were only partially successful in Paris today.

With more than 30,000 armed troops and riot police concentrated in the capital, there was no trouble. Security forces set up roadblocks on highways into Paris and searched cars for arms.

LONDON (UPI) — Industrialist John Boyden suggested Sunday that British women go on a "love strike" to force their husbands to join a ban-the-bomb movement.

Two Flee After Battle In Hills

ONEIDA, Tenn. (UPI)—Heavily armed lawmen trooped over rugged East Tennessee hill country today in search of a farmer and his son who held officers at bay for hours in a gun battle which killed two deputies.

Trouble started late Sunday night when officers attempted to serve child desertion papers on Arthur Dingus, son of farmer Bill Dingus.

Deputies Alvin Jeffers and Levi Harness were fatally wounded by shotgun blasts. Deputy Esau Massengill was treated for wounds at Scott County Hospital.

Dingus and his son fled into the mountains following the battle. State troopers and officers from several surrounding counties had surrounded the house in the Winfield community and were preparing to use tear gas to smoke them out.

A relative was sent into the house, occupied by the elder Dingus' wife and several children, but the two men had fled.

test, leading Interior Minister Roger Frey to warn that Red "shock troops" would use them to foment trouble for the government.

Frey said police would "oppose" the demonstration — an action that led to hundreds injured besides the eight killed in last Thursday's wild riot.

Algeria suffered one of its bloodiest weekends since the new year with 28 killed and 111 injured in attacks by rival Algerian and European extremists. Extra police were mobilized in Algiers today in anticipation of violence at a funeral of an OAS "officer," killed when he tried to run a police roadblock.

Although the Communists publicly have campaigned for independence for Algeria, they have taken advantage of the violence by the right-wing OAS to stir up resentment against the government.

In a report published Sunday, the Communist party claimed it had 15,000 new members, and had formed 650 new cells — up from 600,000 members and 10,000 cells claimed previously.

how his U2 crashed. Powers testified that "I was struck down by something" while flying at 68,000 feet. He said he did not see what it was—only that he felt a "hollow-sounding explosion" and he could see an "orange-colored light" behind him.

But Powers was definite that he was at 68,000 feet when the explosion occurred. This differs sharply with reconstruction by U.S. officials of what happened. They maintained at the time that Russia had no anti-aircraft weapon which could have reached the U2 at that height. They said the U2 probably had engine trouble, which caused it to descend to within range of Soviet guns.

Powers' role in developments which led to the collapse of the Paris summit conference in 1960 also has come under criticism. It has been charged that he provided information which allowed Premier Nikita Khrushchev to lead the United States into one trap after another until he was able to scuttle the conference.

Senator Calls For Plugging Tax Loopholes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said today that Congress should plug tax loopholes on U. S. business investments abroad before enacting President Kennedy's foreign trade program.

Gore quoted a "very high official in the Kennedy administration" as warning that powerful special interests were trying to protect tax loopholes with "blackmail" aimed at the President's trade proposals. He did not elaborate.

Gore made the statements in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate. He said it was the first of three or four speeches he planned on the subject.

He said he believed "the Senate should be aware of this pressure campaign against correcting an evil favoritism in our tax laws." He specified five aspects of the tax laws which he said made investments abroad—and especially in Western Europe—a "magnet" for U. S. capital.

"We need to stop this hole in the bottom of our economic bucket through which our economic potential is pouring to other countries," Gore said.

Gore said sales by American-controlled foreign factories were about $24 billion in 1960, up 29 per cent from 1957. Spending for American-controlled foreign operations is estimated at $4.5 billion this year, he said.

"How many new jobs would such expenditures, added to our normal expenditures for domestic plant and equipment, create here at home?" he asked. Gore declared that many thousands of jobs are being "shipped overseas."

The board approved the Gi Society distributing, in the tem's fifth grades, New Testaments to be taken by the children on strictly a voluntary basis. Dr. Ray Hampton was the only dissenting vote, saying that he thought this could be a violation of the principle of separation of church and state.

School plant development was discussed with the refurbishing of the Pampa Junior High School gymnasium the center of discussion. The board concurred that some improvements were badly needed and instructed Superintendent of Schools Jack Edmondson to obtain a cost estimate. The cafeteria problem at Woodrow Wilson and Horace Mann elementary schools was also delt with.

The board discussed the renting or leasing on a limited-term basis, several acres owned by the district on Kentuck Street. It is presently being used by a paving contractor for materials storage at no charge and Craig was instructed to investigate the going price for such ground uses so that a charge might be arrived at.

Buckeyes, Wildcats In Drive For NCAA Berths

United Press International -

Ohio State, Kentucky and Bradley are approaching the homestretch in their bids for NCAA basketball tournament berths but one misstep Monday night could endanger their roles as conference pacesetters.

The top-rated Buckeyes of Ohio State hope to reach a Big Ten Conference milestone in a game against Michigan. A victory will give the Ohioans a new conference record of 24 straight wins. A loss, however, will leave Coach Fred Taylor's crew with only a game lead over second-place Wisconsin.

Third-ranked Kentucky, striving for its finest season since the mid-1950's, puts an 8-0 Southeastern Conference record on the line against runner-up Mississippi State (7-1). Ole Miss is ranked 11th nationally and would like nothing better than to clip Kentucky and move up in the ratings.

In the Missouri Valley Conference, eighth-ranked Bradley faces Drake. A loss will drop the Braves into a first place tie with Cincinnati in the league standings. Second-ranked Cincinnati is anxious to gain the Valley title and go on to defend its NCAA championship.

Other conference leads hang in the balance this week with fourth-ranked Kansas State ready to grab first place from Colorado in the Big Eight, and Utah and Utah State seeking to oust Colorado State University from the Skyline lead.

Arizona State University became the first team to clinch an NCAA tournament bid when it won the Border Conference championship Saturday by beating West Texas State, 107-103.

Ohio State won its 18th in a row and tied a 49-year-old Big 10 record set by Wisconsin back in 1913 when it defeated Minnesota, 91-66. Jerry Lucas set a conference record for field goal accuracy by sinking 14 of 15 attempts. straight with an 83-60 decision over Mississippi that featured a 23-point spree by Larry Pursiful.

Cincinnati routed Tulsa, 70-52, on Ron Bonham's 17-point effort, while Kansas State whizzed past Missouri, 65-59.

All-America Chet Walker converted a rebound with two seconds remaining for Bradley's 80-79 victory over Louisville. Chet the Jet accounted for 40 Brave points.

Fifth-ranked Duke received 25 points from Art Heyman in crushing Virginia, 101-75; seventh-ranked Southern California topped Washington, 75-68; ninth-ranked Oregon State overcame Portland, 75-64, and 10th ranked Bowling Green edged Marshall, 73-70.

Bill (The Hill) McGill, the nation's leading scorer, set a Skyline Conference record of 53 points as Utah mauled Montana, 97-61.

Warriors In Hot Pursuit Of Celtics

By United Press International

They said nobody would ever catch the Boston Celtics, but the Philadelphia Warriors are sure giving it a try.

Winners of 14 of their last 16 games, the Warriors stretched their latest winning string to four games by knocking over the New York Knickerbockers, 121-111, Sunday night.

The Warriors, who have sliced the distance between them and the pace-setting Celtics to 5½ games in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association, won their game with the Knicks by ripping off nine straight points near the end of the third quarter.

As usual, Wilt Chamberlain was the individual high scorer with 42 points, while Willie Naulls led the Knicks with 31.

Boston snapped its three-game losing streak with a 148-115 victory over the Chicago Packers. Six Celtic players hit double figures with Tom Heinsohn setting the pace with 42. Rookie Walt Bellamy was the Packers' high scorer with 28.

Cliff Hagan poured in 55 points to help the St. Louis Hawks end a six-game losing streak with a 129-109 win over the Cincinnati Royals. Hagan's performance tied the single game scoring record for Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis. Chamberlain set the record earlier this season. Oscar Robertson paced the Royals with 33 points.

The Syracuse Nationals took the lead at the start and never relinquished it in downing the Detroit Pistons, 132-116. Hal Greer led the Nats with 23 points while Don Ohl paced the Pistons with 24.

SWC Cage Schedule Favors Texas A&M

United Press International

Texas Tech still owns a one-game lead after a hectic Southwest Conference week and gets both of this week's battles at home, but actually the remaining schedule seems to favor challenging Texas A&M.

Coach Gene Gibson's defending champs host red-hot Southern Methodist at Lubbock Tuesday night and Arkansas there Saturday night, but Tech must play three of its remaining four games on the road.

Coach Bobby Rogers' Aggies also get both this week's contests in the friendly arena at College Station against Texas, Tuesday, and Texas Christian Saturday. They also get an even break in their four remaining games, two at home and two away.

SMU, which beat both Texas and A&M in becoming the only team able to win two games last week, has a 50-50 home and away schedule the rest of the way. After the Tech road trip Tuesday, the Mustangs catch Rice in Dallas Saturday.

Texas, nursing a 4-3 league record compared with 6-2 for Tech and 5-3 for A&M and SMU, has a makeup game with TCU to play and must play four of its last seven games on the road, including both of this week's tilts—at A&M and Saturday at Baylor.

Tech, shocked on its own floor by a final second 65-63 TCU victory last week, does get a break in that its games against both SMU and A&M will be played at Lubbock. A&M visits Tech Feb. 27. But, the Raiders must play TCU, Texas and Rice on the road.

A&M has only two road games left—the Tech game and a Feb. 20 date with Rice at Houston. After Texas and TCU visit Aggieland this week, Arkansas and Baylor also face that treacherous assignment.

SMU, after this week, must face Texas at Austin and Baylor at Waco while TCU and Arkansas must visit Dallas.

There are two other games on this week's schedule, but they do not appear now to have much bearing on the title outcome. Rice and Arkansas, tied for fifth with 4-4 records, meet at Houston Tuesday at the same time TCU and Baylor renew their cellar struggle at Fort Worth.

SMU whipped Texas 84-82 in a hot overtime struggle Tuesday night, then knocked A&M out of its short-lived share of the lead on Saturday night 59-54.

Texas, after that heart-breaking loss to SMU, was involved in another final seconds affair against Rice, winning 83-82 in a game that wound up in a near free-for-all.

Tech bounced back from its loss to TCU to trim Baylor 81-62 on the road; A&M whipped Rice 88-73 at College Station; Baylor upset Arkansas 76-60 at Waco, and Arkansas trimmed TCU 90-80 at Fayetteville.

The Porkers' Tommy Boyer had a "bad" night against TCU, missing three free throw tries to mar his national leadership standing, but still sank 13 of 16 and wound up with 33 points to boost his conference game total to 169. TCU's Phil Reynolds, however, owned the best average, 21.6 to Boyer's 21.1.

Loudermilk, missing nearly 20 minutes playing time against Texas, still got 24 points and added 22 more against A&M to keep his full season lead with 336 points and an 18.7-point average.

Pampa Seventh In Overtime Victory

Pampa Junior High 7th wrecked up their fourth loop win of the year Friday night with a 25-22 overtime win over Sam Houston of Borger.

The score at the end of regulation play was 21-21 and the halftime score stood 11-10, Pampa.

Pampa, which was down six points with three minutes remaining, put on the steam to tie it up and send the game into overtime.

L. D. Rowden provided the winning margin with a field goal and a pair of charity tosses in the extra session. Rowden and Don Been each garnered six points to share scoring laurels for the winners.

The win gives Pampa a 4-3 record in district with one remaining game to play, with Robert E. Lee 7th.

It was the third state basketball championship for Jesuit. The Rangers retired the Bishop Lucey Trophy with the victory.

Ostdick led Jesuit with 17 points. Dscav Hihojosa led Cathedral with 13.

Mariann Jahn Wins Giant Ski Slalom

CHAMONIX (UPI)— America's girl skiers failed to win any gold medals although they won praise from all sides today for their surprisingly strong showing in the ladies giant slalom of the 1962 world ski games.

Mariann Jahn, Austria's so-called "wonder girl," won the event Sunday more or less as expected.

But her time of 1:41.53 was only seven hundredths of a second faster than compatriot Erika Netzer's and only 19-100ths of a second better than the 1:41.72 clocking of Joan Hannah of Franconia, N.H., who finished third.

Three American girls wound up in the first six to the delight of coach Fred Neuberger of Middlebury, Vt. Barbara Ferries of Houghton, Mich., was fifth in 1:42.10 over the 2,100-meter course with its 370 meter drop and 50 gates while Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., finished sixth in 1:42.20.

Ferree Cards Victory In Panama Open Tournament

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UPI) —Jim Ferree's next stop is Maracaibo in his campaign to become golfing's "king of the Caribbean."

Picking up where he left off a year ago with a victory in the Jamaica Open, the 30-year-old Crystal River, Fla., pro launched the current Caribbean tour with a spectacular first-place finish in the Panama Open Sunday.

The bespectacled, 5-foot-9 Ferree will be favored in the Maracaibo Open which gets underway Thursday and the chief reason is his putter, which helped him fashion an 11-under par 277 here.

Ferree, who began the final round two strokes behind Billy Maxwell of Dallas, holed a 40-footer on the eighth to draw even and then sank a tricky 15-footer on the 18th for a 67 that earned him $1,500.

Maxwell finished with a 70 that netted him a 278 total and $1,200 runnerup. Don Whitt of Borrego Springs, Calif., earned $1,000 for finishing third with 280 while Doug Sanders, Ojai, Calif.; Al Geiberger, Red Bluff, Calif., and Jacky Cupit, Longview, Tex., were deadlocked for fourth place with 283's that netted them $666 apiece.

Palmer Snares Phoenix Open Title With 269

United Press International

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer left the golden golf tour today for a well-earned rest—with the other follow - the - sun pros claiming they wouldn't miss him if he stayed away for a whole year.

Palmer won his second straight tournament Sunday when he captured the $35,000 Phoenix Open and successfully defended the title he won here last year.

"I must admit that I kinda like this city," said Palmer after the smashing victory in which he vanquished the foes by a record-shattering 12 stroke margin. "I broke in on the tour here nine years ago and it has been a wonderful nine years."

He plans to rest in Florida until March 1, when he must go to Baton Rouge, La., to defend another one of his numerous crowns.

The 12 strokes by which he smothered the great field of pros, was the largest margin of victory since Gene Littler walloped the Tournament of Champions group by 13 shots in 1955.

The victory was worth $5,300 to him and brought his money earnings for 1962 to $12,425. Only Littler tops him with $14,188.68 to his credit.

Palmer credited his trusty driver for piling up the big advantage over the other pros. He changed the brand of ball he was using and claimed that he got an extra 20 yards off the tee. However, the other pros believe it is all in the mind,—although a half dozen followed him in the switch.

"I would say that the difference in my score and that of the other pros was off the tee," said Palmer. "I drove beautifully. But I must admit that I got just as much satisfaction with some of my one-iron shots."

Palmer led this tournament from start to finish. He went into the final round with a five-stroke advantage—and beat every one of the challenging pros by at least seven shots.

He fired a fine five-under-par 66 on the final round, with the last nine holes being played in a driving rain. For the tournament he had rounds of 64-68-71-66—269. He had six birdies and a single bogey Sunday.

There was a four-way tie for second place, each with 281 totals, featuring Bob McCallister, Claremont, Calif.; Jack Nickaus, the national amateur champion, Tucson, Ariz.; Bill Casper, Apple Valley, Calif.; and Don Fairfield, Champaign, Ill. Each man collected $2,300 for this effort. For Nicklaus, it was his biggest prize money since turning pro and joining the tour the first of the year.

Another four men deadlocked at 282, tying for fifth: Bill Collins, Miami, Fla.; Dave Marr, Sun City Ariz.; Dave Hill, Denver, Colo., and Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex. Each collected $1,356.

Leading money-winner Littler, the pre-tournament co-favorite with Palmer, slipped far back, finishing in a tie for 35th place and earning only $136.67.

McKinley Wins National Indoor Net Championship

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chuck McKinley used the national indoor tennis championships to gain revenge on two of the world's outstanding amateur players.

The chunky, 22-year-old netman from St. Ann, Mo., followed up his upset victory over Australia's Rod Laver in the semifinals by outlasting Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 4-6, 6-3, 4-6, 9-7, 10-8, in Sunday's final.

Laver defeated McKinley in the Wimbledon final last year and Reed whipped Chuck in the third round of the 1961 National Lawn Tennis Tournament at Forest Hills.

Sunday's victory was the most important of McKinley's career and established the young collegian from Trinity (Tex.) University as the leading candidate for this year's U.S. Davis Cup team.

McKinley also teamed with Laver to defeat Reed and Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, N.Y., 6-1, 6-2, in the doubles final.

Violating Rights

We are continuing our discussion of human rights. It is our contention that human rights, while admittedly an abstract conception, arise from the nature of things as they are.

Further, in yesterday's essays we endeavored to show that rights always exist within the boundaries of a given species. This is to say that within the nature of things as they are, there is such a thing as a proper relationship between all members of a given species.

A man has a right to be what he is. A lion has a right to be what he is. Men have no right to impose their wills upon other men. Lions have no right to impose their wills upon other lions.

Now, between species, a state of war may be said to exist as a constant. Man makes war against lions. Lions make war against men. Indeed, each of these living creatures makes war on all other living things it wishes to war upon. This is a matter of right.

It is entirely proper for men to war against lions, insects, the jungle, disease germs, or any other kind of non-living or living energy. This is man's right.

If he wages his wars in these areas successfully, he conquers and dominates his foe. If he fails, then he is conquered by one or another of his foes. But all of this may occur within a moral framework of reference, a framework of rights.

It is certainly not improper for a lion to act in harmony with the nature of lions, even tho this action may be inimical to man. And it is certainly proper for man to act in harmony with his own nature by warring against lions.

The problem which actually gives rise to the abstraction we know as "rights" comes about because man is a rational creature and is able to discern a cause and effect relationship. Thus man is able to predict within certain limits. He can foresee that his conduct along certain lines will result in certain conclusions. Other types of conduct will result in other types of conclusions.

By long employment of rational processes, man has come to dominate his instincts by use of reason. So far as is known, this is not true of other living things except, perhaps, in very narrow areas. Most living creatures are unable to predict or even to discern much in the way of a cause and effect relationship. They are motivated to do what they do by instinct.

Man, alone, has improved his reasoning facilities so that he may actually act in contravention of what his instincts might command.

It is undoubtedly thru the development of reason that man has been inspired to organize enormous social agencies, such as a government. Man's instinct might have prevented him from such organizing efforts. But, because man no longer relies extensively on his instincts, he is more reliant upon his brain. However, his brain is still in the evolving stages. It is far from perfect and many times gives him only partial or incomplete information.

Man may not realize how imperfect the information is that he has, and will act anyway as tho he had full information at his disposal. This, we believe, is the reason for such large reliance upon government. By means of government by adopting a device which will apparently provide some advantages immediately. These advantages are provided thru a process of injury inflicted upon some men by other men.

But such a process contravenes the rights of the men so injured. No human being has a right to interfere in the rights of any other man. To suppose that such is the case is to violate the concept of rights to begin with. Every man has the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. And this can only mean that no man has the right to the life, the liberty or the pursuit of happiness by another.

Yet, by means of politics and government, men have practiced the concept of privilege rather than the concept of rights. And this is something that few other living things ever attempt to do.

We understand that there are a few species of fish and also rats which sometimes take actions which violate the rights of other fish or of rats. These are renegade creatures, despised by one and all.

Only man, thanks to his enormous reliance upon collective action and organized greed in governments, acts as a renegade among his own kind, and then glories in the deed. Only men violating the rights of other members of their own species, and then justify this action both as necessity and as tangible good.

Philosophy Of Rights

The human race is desperately in need of a philosophy which will see it thru these trying times. Yet there is almost universal agreement on two major premises which militate against the acceptance of a usable philosophy.

One of these premises relates to the size, the sheer magnitude of the problem. There is almost universal agreement that the problem we face is staggering.

The second premise, equally frustrating, is the nearly universally accepted idea that no solution, no workable philosophy can be found.

Our own view, which we like to summon to our aid at this juncture, is:

1) That the problem we face, while admittedly large, is essentially the same problem the human race has faced for nigh onto 1,000 years or more. The only reason the problem seems larger now is because we know more about it than we did. It isn't the problem that has enlarged.

It is that our comprehension has enlarged and with that enlargement, the feeling grows that we are about to be overwhelmed.

2) That the solution to the problem lies within the problem itself and not only can be found, but has probably been known for centuries. All that it takes is for enough people to open their minds to concepts which have been rather well explored before and which have never been disproved.

We are now back with our subject of human rights.

The philosophy of human rights is essentially the philosophy enunciated by the Declaration of Independence, the Decalogue and the Golden Rule. This philosophy proclaims that individual man has a right to be a man. It proclaims equally, that for him to be what he is, he must NEVER prevent another member of his own species from fulfilling his own destiny. It is a live and let live philosophy.

This philosophy has never been proved to be in error. Indeed, to the degree that men have succeeded, it can usually be shown that success was geared to the ability of men to understand and to live this philosophy. Let us briefly run thru what this means.

1. Each man has a right to life. This means that all members of the species homo sapiens have the right to their own lives. They have a right to be what they are. They are natural creatures and their rights spring from the nature of things as they are.

2. Each man has a right to sustain his own life. This is clearly individualistic thinking. No man has the right to sustain his own life by taking or impairing the life of another.

3. Each man, in order to sustain his own life, has a right to the product of his labor. Man is a creature wholly dependent upon property for his survival. He must have food, clothing, shelter, transportation, a thousand things. He has a right to all that he can earn. This means that no one else has any right to what he earns. Property rights are 100 per cent for all. They are not 90 per cent for some and 110 per cent for others.

4. This must mean that each man has a right to OWN that which he produces. And, if ownership is granted as a right, it follows that each man has the right to KEEP what he owns, to CONSUME what he owns, to GIVE AWAY what he owns, or even to DESTROY what he owns.

Ownership is a right man has, since, in harmony with man's nature, man must own in order to be a man.

5. It follows, that if men may own what they themselves produce, a man who receives something from another voluntarily, is within his rights to take it; but that if he takes something from another involuntarily, he is acting in contravention of the rights of the other.

Thus, we should be able to see that man, by his nature, is a man only when he lives, when he has liberty and when he may own property which he acquires honestly and thru voluntary actions on his part and the part of others.

This is the philosophy which has been knocking at the human door for centuries. It has come to us in many guises but it has been available for general adoption for a very long time.

Were this philosophy to be generally believed and adopted, men would now turn aside from their reliance upon governments and other agencies which act in a manner contrary to man's nature, and the full flowering of manhood would become possible.

The Doctor Says:

CHILD'S SORE THROAT IS NOT AILMENT TO TREAT LIGHTLY

By DR. HAROLD T. HYMAN

Let's consider the child who has "sore throat."

A throat soreness may be due to many causes. And, while there are many characteristics that suggest the identity of the "criminal," only a bacteriological culture establishes "guilt."

With virtual elimination of the feared diphtheria bacillus as a suspect (through immunizations that are compulsory in most enlightened communities) the finger of suspicion points to streptococci. It points, in particular, to one group of streptococci, known as the beta-hemoloytic variety because they manufacture a poison that destroys red blood cells.

But it is not so much the effect of this strepococcal poison on red blood cells that concerns parents and physicians. It's the fact that this bacterial subgroup is responsible for the later development of rheumatic fever. And rheumatic heart disease.

Here's what usually happens in these instances:

A child complains of a sore throat. The throat may not be particularly sore. The fever may not be particularly high. The mother wonders whether the illness is of sufficient importance to send for the doctor.

If she merely tries to make the child comfortable with a throat rub, a few doses of aspirin and a gargle; or if the doctor dismisses the illness as one of too little importance to justify use of an anti-infective (such as penicillin) there is the possibility that attention may be drawn to the oversight by the appearance, a few weeks later, of the familiar red and swollen joint. And with this, of a heart murmur that was not previously heard. Thus from what seemed to be a minor complaint has come a major threat to health.

The degree of protection afforded by penicillin in instances such as these has again been emphasized by Dr. Charles Rammelkamp Jr., of Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio.

In Rammelkamp's carefully controlled studies, the degree of protection afforded by effective doses of penicillin, given at the beginning of an infection, approximated 98 per cent. But, after a lapse of only a month, the figure fell to but 8 per cent.

What is of equal significance is the degree of protection that penicillin gives to other children in the family or household who are exposed to the infection. They are, for reasons we do not understand, as susceptible to the development of rheumatic fever as the brother or sister with proven illness.

Here are the lessons that deserve restating before every spring, when rheumatic fever is most often seen:

1. Don't underestimate the importance of even the mildest sore throat in one of your youngsters;

2. Let your doctor decide whether or not to give penicillin or some equally effective product;

3. Don't think he's making a "mountain out of a molehill" if he insists on treating well children in the family or household.

Between your alertness and his skill you may have spared a child's heart from ugly scaring.

Allen - Scott Report

Feared Early Resumption of Atmospheric Nuclear Tests Urged by Joint Committee; 'Mousetrap' Seen

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The powerful 18-man Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy is throwing its weight behind the resumption of nuclear tests in the atmosphere this spring.

Representative Chet Holifield, D, Calif., chairman, is notifying President Kennedy that the committee's 10 Democrats and 8 Republicans favor ending the 3½-year ban on these atomic tests.

This bipartisan group favors resuming tests as soon as preparations are completed in April by Joint Task Force Eight. Under the direction of Major General Alfred D. Starbird, this atomic task force is now gathering ships, planes, atomic experts and bombs for the new series of air and water tests in the Pacific.

The unanimous committee support is being made known to the President in the form of a letter that may already be on his desk. If not, it will be delivered within a few days.

Committee sources report that its members are interjecting their powerful voice into the sharp policy dispute over testing now raging inside the Kennedy administration, in an effort to tip the scales in favor of a resumption of tests.

Joint committee members are concerned that if no test announcement is made before March 14, when the 10-nation disarmament conference opens in Geneva, the Russians will mousetrap the U.S. into another disastrous delay.

This opinion also is shared by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Central Intelligence Director John McCone. They are arguing that the U.S. should resume atmospheric nuclear tests as soon as humanly possible. This must be done to keep the U.S. from falling behind the Soviet Union in the life - and - death atomic weapons race.

Russia's recent series of 55 nuclear tests has left the U.S. with only a razor-thin superiority edge in overall atomic weapons, according to these atomic experts. In the field of anti-missile missile warheads, the Soviet tests may have put the Russians ahead.

THE OTHER SIDE — The supporters of testing are being vigorously opposed by a group of anti-testing officials led by Dr. Jerome Wiesner, the President's scientific adviser and the No. 1 opponent to placing the Army's Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile into production.

Included in the Wiesner group are Adlai Stevenson, U.S. representative at the United Nations; Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and McGeorge Bundy, the President's chief foreign policy adviser in the White House.

These opponents of above - the-ground testing are urging the President to make no final decision until after Soviet Premier Khrushchev shows his hand at the Geneva conference.

Their plea is that Khrushchev may be ready to agree to a new series of atomic test ban talks once the March 5 meeting of the Communist Party's Central Committee in Moscow is under his belt.

This "soft" position has so enraged some members of the Joint Committee, who also sit on the House Armed Services Committee, that they are seriously considering calling Dr. Wiesner and Ambassador Stevenson before one of the committees.

The legislators want to know why these two officials continue to urge a testing delay in the light of past Soviet refusals to agree to an acceptable test - ban treaty with air - tight inspection guarantees.

A move is also underway within the House Armed Services Committee to have its members send a letter similar to the Joint Atomic Committee's to the President urging immediate resumption of tests.

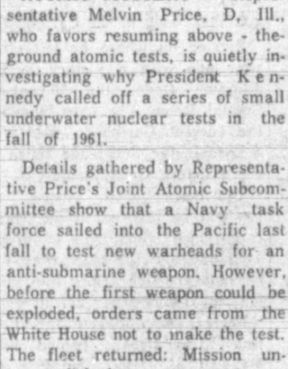

ATOMIC MYSTERY — Representative Melvin Price, D, Ill., who favors resuming above - the-ground atomic tests, is quietly investigating why President Kennedy called off a series of small underwater nuclear tests in the fall of 1961.

Details gathered by Representative Price's Joint Atomic Subcommittee show that a Navy task force sailed into the Pacific last fall to test new warheads for an anti-submarine weapon. However, before the first weapon could be exploded, orders came from the White House not to make the test. The fleet returned: Mission unaccomplished.

Representative Price wants to know what role, if any, Dr. Wiesner played in calling off these experiments. He already has established that Wiesner influenced the President to "ax" the atomic-powered airplane project.

ATOMIC FALLOUT — The Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission have set aside $100 million for the new series of tests. Once the green light is flashed, the tests will be conducted at Johnson, Christmas and Kwajalein Islands in the Central Pacific. . .The testing of an atomic warhead for the Army's Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile will be one of the first tests. . .The Navy has five different types of anti-submarine warfare weapons that her experts want tested.

matter of Fact

A two-inch-long "stop and go light" is the luminiscent railroad worm of South America. He got his name for obvious reasons. At his head a red light glows; greenish-yellow lights adorn each side. Sometimes this glowworm's lights are turned off. But blow on him and his red signal flashes. His green lights will shine anytime you give him a little shake. You just have to know the combination.

Hankerings

By HENRY McLEMORE

About this time every year I start having spells of nervous depression. I can't eat anything but food, drink anything but liquids, and enjoy anything but fun.

These "spells" used to worry me until I sat down and figured out what was at the bottom of them. They are caused by the approach of Valentine's Day and my fear that I won't get as many valentines as the other boys.

This fear goes back to the days when I wore knickerbockers and black-ribbed stockings and was in the third grade. I don't know how it was in your part of the country, but where I was brought up Valentine's Day at grammar school was mighty, mighty important. There was a box on the teacher's desk and for a couple of days before the big day the children dropped in their valentines.

On Valentine's Day they were distributed, and the distribution was the acid test of popularity. It seems ridiculous now, but, oh, how we suffered if we didn't get as many as anyone else. And oh, the torment that went on in our spindly little chests if our rival for the hand and pigtails of some little girl got a gushy, lacy valentine from her and we didn't. Recess was spoiled, and so was big recess, which is what we called the lunch hour. The peanut butter sandwiches turned to ashes in our mouths, and we had no heart for prisoner's base or one-eye-cat.

As bad as the handing out of the valentines was on the boys, it was worse on the girls. Usually the prettiest girls got the most, but every once in a while a homely little lass would come up with the most valentines and, with the understanding of children, half of the class would chant, "Sent 'em to yourself, sent 'em to yourself."

It didn't matter what kind of valentines you got. It was quantity, not quality, that counted. Most of mine were of the highly insulting type, with pictures of near-idiots on them — idiots with oversized heads, snaggle teeth, clothes that didn't fit, and green, purple and blue hair. And the paper they were printed on was of the very lowest grade. It was extremely coarse and had fibers of some sort running through it. These valentines cost about a penny apiece and were the work of an unknown group of mad artists.

The most fun about Valentine's Day, however, came in the shopping for a valentine for the teacher. To have sent your teacher a nice valentine — no matter how young or nice or pretty she was —would have branded a fellow as a sissy of the highest order. For days before Valentine's Day we haunted the little store which dealt in school supplies searching for a valentine which was calculated to let Miss Wheeler or Miss Storm or Miss Crouch know that we considered her a demon on earth. If the message (usually in the form of a poem) on the valentine was not mean enough, we scrawled in one of our own.

In this day and age valentines run as high as $3 and $4 apiece and have more lace on them than a pair of fancy drawers.

But what would be the sense in sending one of those out when, for the same money, you can get 300 mean ones?

Oh, I do hope that on Valentine's Day I'll get more than the boy next door.

Russian Convicted On Spy Charges

KARLSRUHE, Germany (UPI) —West Germany Saturday convicted a Soviet citizen of spying and sentenced him to four years in prison. The Soviet news agency Tass denouced the trial as "scandalous" and said guilt was never proved.

The Russian, Valentin A. Pripolzev, 43, an empoye of a Soviet trade mission in Cologne, was found guilty of "treasonable activities and attempts to spy on state secrets." He was the first Soviet citizen to be sentenced by West Germany on spy charges.

There was immediate speculation the West German government may try to exchange Pripolzev for at least some of the four west Germans held by Russia.

WARM IN TOKYO

TOKYO (UPI) — It was very warm for February in Tokyo Sunday—78 degrees.

Tokyo citizens enjoyed the summer-like weather. The normal mid-February temperature is 17, and the warm day set an 80-year record.

WANTED—Furry fugitive above is being sought by foresters for stealing trees. Known as the mountain beaver, alias Aplodontia rufa, he is not a beaver but is more closely related to the squirrel. Common in the damp coastal forests of the Pacific Northwest, the burrowing rodent likes to cut down small trees and nibble on them. Lumbermen are seeking ways, not to eradicate, but to control excess populations of the rodent.
