Yanks Within 32 Miles Of City; All France Split

Canadians Lash Out In Drive Threatening New Trap On Nazi Seventh Army; Paris At Mercy Of Yanks; Patton Leads Dash

LONDON, Aug. 17. (AP) — The German broadcast tonight said fighting had reached St. Arnoult, 23 miles from the Paris city limits.

(By The United Press)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 17.—Powerful American tank armies closed to within less than 32 miles west of Paris and cut all France in two with the capture of the vital railway hub of Orleans today as Canadian troops in the north lashed out suddenly toward the Seine in a companion drive that threatened to force a great new trap around the fleeing German 7th army.

The German battle screen guarding the western approaches to Paris buckled and broke under the power of the American thrust and front dispatches said the doughboys were plunging on through relatively weak opposition toward the outskirts of the old French capital.

German reports said the thunder of the American guns could be heard clearly in the streets of Paris and it was indicated that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's tanks, outrunning the official Allied communiques, might already be within sight of the city.

As the Americans struck, the Canadian 1st army hurled a mighty new offensive eastward and southeastward from the Caen-Falaise sector, advancing more than four miles and capturing St. Pierre-Sub-Dives, Mezidon and Courcy.

Fighting Flares In South

Heavy fighting also flared farther south around Barou and Damblainville as the Canadians pushed eastward from captured Falaise.

The new thrust apparently was aimed at forcing the Germans back to the Seine, more than 60 miles to the east and pinning them against the river with the Canadians on their northern flank and Patton's Americans on the south.

Units of the battered German Seventh army still were fleeing eastward from the Normandy pocket and it was believed that the bulk of that force had escaped from one trap into a new and greater net.

Patton's rampaging tanks at Dreux were barely 20 miles from the bend of the Seine above Paris and could easily shift northward in that direction to complete the loop of destruction around the battered enemy.

There was no immediate word as to whether the Americans would attempt to break directly into Paris or bypass the city to the north, but official sources believed the capital was at the Americans' mercy.

In 32 Miles Of Capital

The American stormed and captured Dreux and Chartres, 39 miles west and 46 miles southwest of Paris, early today and raced on to plant their battle flags on the east banks of the Eure and Aunay rivers — the latter 32 airline miles southwest of the capital.

Simultaneously, another powerful doughboy column swept down to the Loire river, seized Chateaudun and St. Calais and drove on to take the railway hub of Orleans, 70 miles southsouthwest of Paris.

The fall of Orleans put the Americans astride the main trunk railway lines from Tours, Bordeaux and the Spanish border and at a single blow cut off the German armies of the north from all direct communication with their supply and reserve bases in southwestern France.

Nazis Blowing Up Roads

United Press War Correspondents Henry T. Gorrell and Robert C. Miller, riding eastward with the American tank spearheads, reported that the retreating Germans were blowing up roads and bridges as they fell back, leaving small suicide squads in their wake in a futile attempt

French Capital Now "Front Line" City

Battle Roar Hits Paris

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 17 — Paris is now a "front line city" and the thunder of approaching American guns can be heard in the city, the German radio said at 4 p. m. today.

The German report pictured the French capital as a city of chaos without food, transportation or police. The gendarmes were said to be striking.

"The churches are overcrowded and special prayers are being said at Notre Dame," said a Transocean (propaganda) agency broadcast from Berlin.

Nazis Appeal For Calm

"For the first time, the intermittent thunder of guns was heard in Paris this afternoon. The whole aspect of the French capital is assuming that of a front line city.

"For the first time the German command has appealed to the population to remain calm."

The food shortage was declared acute. The whole city was reported dependent on community kitchens for meager meals.

The striking policemen were said to have ignored appeals to return to duty, after walking out in protest over appointment of a new high police official.

The capital was said to be without gas or coal and with electric current available only from 10:30 p. m. until midnight.

Paris was spared the ravages of war in the fall of France in 1940, although some German bombs dropped in the outskirts. Le Burget airfield, where Lindbergh landed, Parisian factories on islands in the Seine, and numerous factories and railways around the city have been frequent targets of American and British bombs.

The plane was destroyed by fire after it crashed near Camp Wallace.

President Says Japan, Reich To Be Occupied

Surrender Before Invasion Not To Alter Allied Plans

BY MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — President Roosevelt, determined that Germany and Japan must be completely occupied by conquering Allied forces, returned to the White House today and immediately began conferences with top military and home front advisers.

The President told correspondents who accompanied him on his 15,000 mile trip into the Pacific that he won't let the Germans quit as they did when the Allies reached their boundaries in the last war. This means that even though the enemy agrees to unconditional surrender before his homeland is invaded, conquering Allied forces nevertheless will mrach in and occupy the country.

If we fail to drive right on until we have completely captured the whole of Germany, he said at a news conference shortly before his special train reached Washington, the next German generation would be told that their nation actually won the war. The same, he said, goes for Japan.

Talks With Hull, Marshall

Within a few hours after his return, Mr. Roosevelt spent a half hour talking with Secretary of State Cordell Hull. Then he met with Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff. He was believed to have discussed with Hull plans for the international security conferences which open here next week.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early said the President had arranged to confer with congressional leaders and with his fourth term mate, Sen. Harry S. Truman of Missouri, tomorrow. Early said the President "asked about Vice President Henry A. Wallace" but found the latter had just left town for a week's trip through the South.

Mr. Roosevelt looked tanned and healthy after his five week inspection tour which took him through 21 states and as far into the Pacific as Hawaii and Alaska. He seemed well rested, to correspondents who talked with him during the aboard-train news conference.

Enemy Pays Dear Price For Wedge In Two-Day Attack; Reds May Bypass City

BY DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 17. — The Russians smashed back today with hundreds of field guns at the narrow wedge driven by Nazi tanks and infantry into Ossow, seven miles northeast of Warsaw, in the first Soviet setback offensive.

The army newspaper Red Star said the Nazis were under severe pressure after losing 68 tanks and suffering several thousand casualties in a two-day counterattack from the Praga district, just opposite Warsaw on the Vistula's east bank.

At least one SS (elite guard division was reported put out of action.

This and other Red army successes elsewhere on the long eastern front balanced the withdrawal from Ossow.

Reds Expand Bridgehead

Soviet forces west of the Vistula south of Warsaw smashed into the city of Sandominerz in the battle to expand a bridgehead that threatens to outflank the Polish capital and imperil the Nazi defenders of German Silesia.

This development was viewed in some Moscow quarters as more significant news than the giving of ground northeast of Warsaw.

Some Moscow commentators saw the withdrawal from Ossow as a prelude to the opening of a Red army drive to crush the Nazis in the center. Indications were that the Russians have the situation in hand on the entire front, and that the grand strategy and offensive lies with them.

Seventy Places Captured

Russian troops in Estonia captured 70 additional places in the drive beyond Lake Pskov toward the Baltic sea.

Hurling in large groups of infantry and tanks north and northwest of Siauliai in Lithuania, the Germans also mounted a large counterblow there. A Russian war bulletin, however, announced the Nazis were repelled in that sector and military men apparently were not concerned over the situation there.

The Soviet bulletin stressed losses suffered by the Nazis northeast of Warsaw. It declared 30 enemy tanks, seven self-propelled guns, 11 armored troop carriers and four armored cars were left wrecked on a battlefield strewn with hundreds of Nazi dead.

RUSSIANS WITHIN 3 MILES OF EAST PRUSSIA

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Russian troops are within three miles of East Prussian frontier, attacking on both sides of the Lithuanian town of Virbales with strong tank and plane support, the German communique made known today.

"Fierce fighting continues," the German communique said.

Virbales lies 40 miles east of the East Prussian rail center of Insterburg, where iron foundry and machine tool products are hauled away by five rail lines. It is 92 miles from Konigsberg, the East Prussian capital.

Battle Rages Two Weeks

Troops of Gen. Ivan Cherniakovsky have been engaged in a violent battle with the Germans within seven to ten miles of the East Prussian frontier for more than two weeks, and the German communique announcement was the first intimation they had started moving forward after reducing German reserves.

Other Russians imperil the wild, Masurain lake country of East Prussia on the south, and last were reported knifing through a 15-mile fortified belt within 27 miles of the communications hub of Lyck.

Front Is 50 Miles Broad, 30 Miles Deep

Invasion Forces Within 10 Miles Of Toulon And Cannes

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Aug. 17—Allied troops have punched out a solid front 50 miles broad and about 30 miles deep along the coast of southern France, Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh army headquarters announced today.

On the west the invasion forces drove within 10 miles of the historic old fortified naval base of Toulon. On the east they were within 10 miles of the picturesque resort of Cannes. The invaders, spearheaded by three veteran American divisions and supported by heavily armored French forces, had seized an area of approximately 500 square miles.

Allies Reported In Cannes

(The German communique said the Allies already had penetrated Cannes. German broadcasts reported air-borne troops had landed northwest of Cannes and entered the town after bloody fighting. Although the Germans declared they were shelling the town from nearby heights, broadcasts indicated they had little hope of holding the town where Napoleon landed in 1815 to begin his famous 100-day campaign.)

The Allied announcement listed nine other towns in Allied hands —the coastal towns of St. Tropez, Ste. Maxime, St. Raphel, Frejus and Le Lavandou, and the inland communities of Le Muy, Le Luc, Lorgues and Collobrieres.

Reach Inland Arteries

The junction of assault infantry which landed from the sea and the huge air-borne force indicated that the Allies had reached inland communication arteries which the parachute troops had been assigned to block, and that these henceforth would be available for the swift funneling of men and supplies into the rugged Alps of Provence in the drive northward.

It thus was evident that the Allies within 48 hours after their landing had achieved an astonishing success in seizing the primary requisites for a large scale operation.

With tanks and mighty M-10 tank destroyers ashore it was also evident that Patch was in a position to weather the greatest danger ahead—the period in the first 72 hours when the enemy

Ploesti, Stettin, Kiel Blasted

Eighth Air Force Marks Anniversary

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 17—American heavy bombers from Italy attacked the great Romanian oil center of Ploesti today after nearly 1,200 RAF heavies from England had plunged 5,600 tons of explosives before dawn into the German Baltic ports of Stettin and Kiel.

Weather limited air support on the west French front although bridge-busting American Marauders and Havocs bombed ten more crossings in front of the retreating Germans, and fighter bombers ranged over Germany, France and Belgium deep behind the lines, attacking communications.

Berlin was pounded with two-ton blockbusters during the night by British Mosquitos.

Nis Also Pounded

The Italian-based heavies also attacked the Yugoslav rail center of Nis, 120 miles south of Belgrade.

The wrecked bridges were across the Risle river, west of the Seine. The Allied air forces were intent upon helping the charging ground troops to bottle up remnants of the mauled German Seventh army against those sections in northern France. Yesterday they bombed six bridges across the Risle.

Eighth Has Great Record

Two years ago today, the first Fortresses and Liberators of the U. S. Eighth Air force ventured across the channel and dropped 18 tons of bombs on French rail Rouen. Since then, the Eighth alone has flown 301,000 sorties. In two years, the Eighth had unloaded nearly 300,000 tons of high explosives and incendiaries on the Germans throughout Europe. Since Jan. 1 of this year, the Eighth has averaged dropping 1,600 pounds of bombs a minute, night and day, upon the foe.

Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle's command has destroyed more than 9,650 German planes in their two years of operations, 8,500 in combat and 1,150 aground. About 31,000 Americans have been killed or are missing in action from the

U.S. Casualties Are Mounting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (U.P.)—American Army casualties during the first two months of action in western France totaled 112,673 persons, including 16,434 killed, 76,535 wounded and 19,704 missing, Acting Secretary of War John J. McCloy announced today.

McCloy also told a news conference that even though the Normandy pocket is not completely closed, the Germans in northern France have suffered a defeat and they "may be moving into further difficulties ahead."

The invasion of southern France, he said, already is "one day ahead" of schedule. But contrary to earlier reports, he said, all opposition in South France was not slight and in some cases it was serious.

Invasion Not Walkover

He said Allied casualties in the new invasion were moderatee, but it was not a walkover.

Discussing the sack-like trap which the Allies have forged around the German 7th army in northern France, he said that en-

Heavy Damage Is Caused By Robots

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Rescue squads removed dead from the debris of houses and shops, from wrecked buses and street pavements today after one of the heaviest night barrages of flying bombs in two weeks.

The attacks were resumed at dawn as the rescue work continued.

For several hours last night the Nazis sent waves of robots across the channel at frequent intervals. RAF fighters stopped some of the missiles.

At some places on the southeast coast, bathers and picnickers seeking respite from the heat carried on while anti-aircraft shells sprayed the sea for a mile or so offshore.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE DAMAGED BY ROBOTS

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Flying bombs have blown out windows in Buckingham palace and have damaged two other landmarks —Dr. Samuel Johnson's house and Butchers' hall, it was disclosed today.

The king and the remainder of the royal family were absent when a bomb fell less than a half mile from the palace early in the morning.

It was the second time robot bombs hit near the palace. Previously a bomb landed in a road outside the Buckingham grounds but caused no damage.

SPECIAL ELECTION SET

AUSTIN, Aug. 17 (U.P.) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson said today that he will call a special election coincident with the general election on Nov. 7 to name a successor to the late Sen. Clay Cotten of Palestine, who died yesterday. Cotten's funeral was scheduled today in Palestine.

Clouds Break Long Heat Wave In City

Farmers Welcome Cooler Weather

A cloud mask that gave vague promise of "occasional thundershowers" and a 72-degree temperature—a drop of 29 degrees from Wednesday's high of 101—today brought definite relief to a South Plains that more than two weeks had suffered from a shimmering heat wave.

To the farmer and ranchman, general need for rainfall did not overshadow the importance of cooler wather, crop authorities said.

Lower temperatures would conserve the decreasing supply of underground moisture at a moment deemed critical by cotton and grain sorghum growers, said Jason O. Gordon, county agricultural agent.

Under assault of a recent 100-or-more-degree temperature and of hot winds, cotton and sorghums had begun to show certain signs of deterioration. Cotton had begun "throwing off"—since it was loaded too heavy for the disproportionate amount of moisture in the soil. Gain sorghums, in the "light dough" stage, emerging from the "boot" and attempting to form grain, were wilting and showing clear indication of a need for moisture or, at best, a change to cool weather.

Few Showers Reported

There were few reports of showers. The dispatcher of the Santa Fe railway, at Slaton, said there were one-eighth inch showers at Seagraves and Canyon Wednesday night, and travelers said Amarillo Wednesday "still had water standing in the streets from rainfall of the night before." Showers from Amarillo to Tulia were reported Wednesday afternoon. Scattered drops fell in Lubbock Wednesday night and at midmorning.

French Revolts Are Increasing

LONDON, Aug. 17. (AP) — Supplied with guns and ammunition dropped by Allied planes, Frenchmen have risen in armed revolt against the Nazis throughout Haute Savoie province in Southeast France, reports from the French frontier at Geneva said today.

Street fighting also has broken out in the important German bastion of Toulouse, where French partisans have demanded surrender of the Nazis there, according to dispatches from Irun, Spain.

The Irun dispatches gave this picture of the growing revolt against the harassed Nazi overladls:

The partisans have occupied the Pyrenees railway towns of Cloron and Mauleon. Heavy fighting in in progress between German occupation troops and Maquis around Pau and Tarbes, between Oloron and Toulouse.

Partisans To Join Allies

Nearly 10,000 partisans from the Mediterranean foothills are moving eastward toward the Riviera battleground to join Allied forces.

From the French frontier at Geneva came this description of the revolt in Haute Savoie:

Early today fires could be seen on Mount Saleve just outside Geneva. Just before midnight Allied planes dropped new supplies to feed the battle. A series of supply gliders was said to have landed in the French Jura mountains just after dusk yesterday.

Village after village was liberated during the afternoon. Fighting developed between German soldiers and SS units, adding to the chaos in the Nazi garrisons.

New Blows Hit Jap Islands

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Aug. 17. (AP)—Allied bombers from three theaters of combat joined in new blows, reported today, at enemy-held islands ringing the Philippines and at the Philippines themselves.

Bombers from the Australia-New Guinea theater struck at Halmahera, 300 miles south of Mindanao, Tuesday, and at Mindanao's principal port, Davao, two nights earlier.

Planes from Central Pacific bases pounded Truk atoll in the Carolines with 57 tons of bombs Sunday, and also hit Ponape in the Carolines, Wotje, Maloelap and Mili in the Marshalls, and Nauru island, Sunday and Monday.

Pescadores Bombed

China-based planes bombed the Pescadores islands, between Formosa and the China coast, for the first time Wednesday. They struck at night at the Mako naval base, 400 miles north of the Philippines. They also hit Takao harbor, southwestern Formosa, for the second day in a row.

Davao's wharves were the target of the Sunday night attack by a patrol plane. It was the eighth in the current series of raids upon the Philippines area which had not previously been attacked since April, 1942.

In the Halmahera raid, 11 grounded enemy planes were destroyed or seriously damaged, and a small freighter and several coastal vessels were sunk. Two bomb hits were scored on a 3,000-ton

One Killed In Mid-Air Collision At Abilene

ABILENE, Aug. 17 (U.P.)—A pilot trainee was killed and another parachuted to safety yesterday when their P-47 Thunderbolt fighter planes collided in mid-air and crashed 35 miles south of Abilene Army Air base.

Second Lt. Russell R. Bedwell, jr., 22, Pontiac, Mich., was killed. Second. Lt. Ralph N. Castilow, 21, West Union, W. Va., escaped in his parachute.

Park To Be Renamed For 36th Division

AUSTIN, Aug. 17. (U.P.)—Lake Brownwood State park will be renamed "36th division state park at Lake Brownwood," in honor of the division largely trained at Brownwood, the state parks board announced here today.

Ceremonies rechristening the park will be held shortly, Board Secretary Frank Quinn said. More elaborate ceremonies will be held after the war when division personnel can attend.

Funds for a suitable marker have been pledged by the Brownwood posts of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Ice Plant Owner To Face Heavy Penalty

LAKE CHARLES, La., Aug. 17 (U.P.)—A criminal court jury today found Samuel R. Morgan, operator of several Texas and Louisiana ice plants, guilty on 52 county of alleged price control regulations, a verdict which could bring maximum penalties of 52 years in prison and $250,000 in fines.

Morgan recently closed down several of his ice houses in Beaumont after the Office of Price administration accused him of the violations.

Elite Gestapo Formed To Check On Officials

AT THE GERMAN FRONTIER, Aug. 17. —Nazi Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler has established a new secret service to make daily reports on all important German civil officials, it was reported today through trustworthy channels.

The elite gestapo was formed after the abortive attempt to assassinate Hitler and in Berlin alone embraces 2,000 operatives, these advices said.

Santa Claus Is Plenty Sore At Hitler Over Toy Problem

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Santa Claus, who is universally known as a jolly old fellow, is furious at A. Hitler and his gang.

And if Hitler doesn't crack soon, Santa may suffer a nervous breakdown because his frustrations are increasing as his Christmas toy production deadline nears.

Since Pearl Harbor Santa has operated to the satisfaction of the country's kiddies, overcoming war-induced handicaps in the output of toys, but now he is faced with a new problem.

Too many of his agents—the nation's toy sellers—are banking on prospects of Hitler's early collapse. Such a happy event, they believe, will signal the immediate release of critical materials in time to make orthodox Christmas goods.

WPB Doesn't Concur

But the War Production board doesn't share this attitude and Santa is left holding the bag—which he will have to fill to almost overflowing with toys this year to meet an expected demand which in volume may run an estimated quarter billion dollars. This would be 20 millions more

Roosevelt-Truman Club Formed Here As Part Of State Move

Organization of a local Roosevelt-Truman club, part of a statewide movement among Democrats to pledge Texas' Democratic electors to support the nominees of the party was perfected at a meeting of approximately 75 party leaders from over the county Wednesday night in the courthouse.

W. W. Campbell, Lubbock attorney, was elected chairman of the club and J. H. Brewer of Slaton was elected secretary. Geo. Berry, local attorney, was elected recording secretary. J. O. Jones, pioneer rancher-banker, was named chairman of the executive committee.

Similar organizations are being perfected in practically every county in the state, L. C. Ellis, Lubbock county Democratic chairman, said.

County-Wide Rally Planned

The club plans to stage a county-wide rally of Democrats who are in favor of the party's electors voting for nominees of the party. The rally will probably be held sometime next week, it was said in last night's meeting.

Nazi Riviera Defenses Weak

BY REYNOLDS PACKARD
United Press War Correspondent
(Representing The Combined Allied Press)

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS On The French Riviera, Aug. 16 (Delayed)—During the past 24 hours I have inspected German defenses along the French Riviera and found them very much weaker than Allied officers had expected.

Several Frenchmen told me that the Germans had bluffed about the strength of these defense positions and had even published lengthy accounts in the Nazi-controlled French press of how they had made this coast impregnable.

Main Defenses Inadequate

Except for a few concrete and steel pillboxes at distant intervals, the main defenses consisted of barbed wire entanglements, beach mines and underwater obstacles, including mines atop pilings.

Some sectors were "defended" by old war zig-zag trenches with barbed wire.

There were a number of fixed coastal guns but these had not been sufficiently protected and some of them were knocked out by air bombardment before D-day.

The Germans also stuck poles and sawed off tree trunks in fields —poles to impale parachutists and trunks to crack up gliders. (Other dispatches indicated that despite these measures the parachute and glider forces suffered very light casualties.)

Nature Aided Allies

Nature herself teamed up with the Allies to destroy many of the mine fields. During the Allied aerial, naval and rocket bombardment, a number of pine trees were set afire, thus firing the grass in the fields. As it burned, the minefields were set off.

Underwater mines and obstacles generally were destroyed by the bombardment just preceding H-hour.

What is still more important, American troops pushing inland —10 miles in some sectors — haven't found any substantial fixed defenses other than dug-in strong points at road junctures.

Funeral Is Set For Littlefield Marine

LITTLEFIELD, Aug. 17. (Special)—Funeral services are to be conducted in First Baptist church here Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Cpl. Robert W. (Babe) Hammons, 19, a Marine radio gunner aboard a B-25, who was killed in a plane crash near Cherry Hill, N. C., last Sunday.

No details of the tragedy have been received by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pryor C. Hammons, sr., residents of Littlefield since 1925, except that the crash cost the lives of six men, including two officers.

The body is due to arrive here Sunday. Services are to be conducted by Rev. Lee Hemphill pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Roy Sheehan, former pastor now residing in Snyder.

The only immediate survivor, additional to the parents is a brother, Pryor Hammons, jr., who received a medical discharge from the Marine Corps recently after 11 months of service in the Southwest Pacific as a paratrooper.

Cpl. Hammons was born in Post Jan. 25, 1925. The family moved to Littlefield when he was six months old. He graduated from Littlefield High school, enlisted in the Marine Corps reserve in September, 1942, and asked for and was called into active service Feb. 13, 1943, after completing one semester in Texas Technological college. He received his boot training at San Diego, his training as radio gunner at Jacksonville, Fla., and then was assigned to the Marine base at Cherry Point.

He was to have started a furlough Wednesday, Aug. 16, and had planned to be married to Miss Bettye Walters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Walters, before his return to active duty. Miss Walters is a Texas Tech student.

Retailers Wanting Gift Boxes Advised

Retailers planning to order standardized overseas gift boxes should make priority applications immediately, John L. Hallett, district manager of the War Production board, El Paso, has announced.

Priorities assistance is available to each retailer wanting a limited number of the boxes designed for mailing holiday packages between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15. Dealers should obtain WPB form-2408 to apply for assistance in getting the boxes.

Three OPA Cases To Be Reviewed Friday

Hearings to review three cases referred to the enforcement division of the Office of Price administration will be held in district court room of Lubbock county courthouse Friday morning at 10 o'clock, the enforcement division has announced.

Harry Hall, chief hearing commissioner for OPA, will conduct the hearings and will listen to testimony and examine documentary evidence in support of charges against three who are charged with having violated rationing regulations dealing with gasoline or tires.

Cases to be reviewed are those against Arlie J. White, Littlefield; R. W. Flanagan, Flanagan Oil and Tire company, Lubbock; and Henry De Lenon, Camp Dixie service station, Lubbock.

The commissioner has no power to impose jail sentences, fines or injunctions, but will simply determine whether or not the ration orders have been violated. If evidence establishes a violation, he may suspend the person charged from dealing in rationed commodities for a period of time up to the duration of the war. The person charged may be represented by an attorney, but it is not necessary to go to that expense, for he may call his own witnesses and their testimony will be received, officials said.

Terror Reign Hits Florence

ROME, Aug. 16. (U.P.)—German tank units returned to the northern section of Florence yesterday, killing civilians and carabinieri, and launching a reign of terror which still was in progress today with the food and water situation growing more critical by the hour.

Less than a week ago the Germans withdrew their main forces northward to new positions just north of the Mugnone canal in the outskirts of Florence, but since then they have made a no-man's land of the suburbs with machine-gun and tank fire.

Forage For Food

Many thousands of civilians who remained in that area foraged desperately for food in the nearby countryside, although Allied military government officials still were trying to bring food to them across the Arno river from the Allied-held southern section of the city.

British Eighth army troops continued efforts to clear the city of enemy snipers, and an order was broadcast prohibiting the carrying of arms by any persons in Florence except the carabinieri.

On either side of Florence, from Empoli on the west to Pontassieve on the east, there was little change south of the Arno, with the British troops held up by extensive mine fields, blown up bridges and other demolitions.

The remainder of the line extending across the peninsula was quiet, except for patrol and artillery exchanges, particularly in the western sector held by the American Fifth army.

Total economic costs of occupational accidents in this country were approximately $2,300,000,000 in 1942.

Barcel Your Figure; Restore Youthful Curves

If you are overweight, perhaps due to over-indulgence in food and not due to any glandular disturbance, why not try this inexpensive home recipe to help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness.

Here is a recipe that can be used inexpensively at home. Just get from your druggist 4 ozs. of liquid BARCEL CONCENTRATE. Add enough grapefruit juice to make a pint. Then just take 2 tablespoonsful twice a day. Wonderful results may be obtained quickly.

Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without back breaking exercise or starvation diet. It's easy to make and easy to take, and pleasant. Contains nothing harmful. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky weight and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle and get your money back.

Back To Land Movement Seen In Sale Of Surplus Property

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—A nation-wide "back to the land" movement rivalling that of the depression era was envisioned today by members of Congress in the postwar sale of several million acres of farm land acquired by the government for wartime military uses.

In both House and Senate, legislators have shown themselves to be in almost complete agreement that surplus lands should be parcelled into family-size farms and resold by the government either to their former owners or to returning veterans, whether possible.

That policy is written into virtually all the surplus property disposal bills now before Congress and it seems certain to be retained in whatever law is enacted as part of the national demobilization program.

Not All To Be Resold

Estimates of the government-acquired acreage have run as high as 15,000,000 acres, but not all of this would be resold as surplus.

Senator Chandler (D-Ky) maintained that "the salvation of the country lies in a restoration of the family farm." He proposed that the government grant price concessions to service men if necessary to encourage them to return to farming in peace time. In addition, he said, owners dispossessed of their land by the government should be assured of the first opportunity to buy it back.

Russell Smith, legislative secretary of the National Farmers union, told the Senate military affairs committee at a hearing yesterday:

Promote Family Type Farm

"Possession by the government of several million acres of good farm lands affords an opportunity that may not occur again for many years — perhaps generations — to give so easily such a great impetus to the promotion of the family type farm."

The bill of Rep. Colmer (D-Miss), now under House debate, would give former owners of land taken by the government a "reasonable time" in which to buy it back at a price not to exceed that paid by the government. If they did not elect to buy, the land would be sold when practicable in small parcels "insofar as possible to persons who expect to live upon and cultivate such land."

The Murray-Taft-Stewart bill before the Senate military committee provides that original owners be given a 90-day option to buy them back their land at private sale.

Normandy Veteran, 15, Being Sent Home

LONDON, Aug. 17. (AP) — The Chicago Kid was sent back to the United States today.

The Kid metaphorically stubbed his toe some 40 days after D-day during which period he made 13 landings on the Normandy invasion coast as a crew member of a Coast Guard manned landing craft for tanks. When he reported "too tired to get up," an investigation revealed he was only 15 years old.

He is Gerald W. Haddon of Chicago, Ill.

Ginners Urge Uniform Prices

Efforts to obtain uniform ginning prices were described by John C. Thompson of Dallas, secretary of Texas Cotton Ginners association, to 300 members and guests of Plains Ginners association at their one-day meeting in Lubbock Hotel here Wednesday. W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe is president of the Plains association.

Thompson said that efforts were made last year to obtain a uniform price and the Office of Price administration did set a ceiling price for this area of 35½ cents per hundred pounds, affecting those who had previously been getting less than that price. They were allowed to increase their ginning price to that amount, but those who were charging more than that were not required to reduce their price.

"It is my hope that you ginners will get together and work to get a uniform price set by OPA that will be fair and equitable," he added.

Thompson also pointed out that the support price on soy beans and peanuts was raised 13 per cent while cotton seed remained the same. Members of the board of directors of the National Cotton council, of which he is a member, went to Washington in an effort to get an increase in the support price on cotton seed, but without results. The cotton seed support price remains the same as last year, $55 per ton.

A resolution, favoring a penalty of 50 cents per bale for all bales which were over weight, was adopted at the close of the afternoon session.

American cotton will be caught in a "gigantic squeeze" after the war, members of the association were told by Ed Lipscomb of Memphis, Tenn., who pictured synthetics pressing cotton from above, paper and jute from below, and low cost of foreign growths of cotton from all sides.

Pointing to the steady increase in production of rayon, Lipscomb told the ginners that the price of this product had declined from 60 to 23 cents per pound in the past 14 years, and that a price of 15 cents per pound is anticipated following the war. The 1936-40 average price for wood pulp, he said, was four cents per pound, for jute five cents, and for burlap 7.8 cents. As for competition from foreign growths, Lipscomb cited the present price of 15 cents per pound for Brazilian cotton as copared to 22 cents for American, and added that whereas 25 years ago this nation produced 67 per cent of the world's supply of cotton, today it produces only 41 per cent.

Postwar Programs

"In anticipation of this many-cided attack on American cotton, the National Cotton council has prepared, and in some instances already has inaugurated, far-reaching postwar programs," Lipscomb said.

"Cotton consumption is near its peak today," he declared, "but 70 per cent of this volume is going into priority goods for war purposes. Cotton prices are high today, but the same emergency condition responsible for today's high consumption are responsible for today' high price. After the war, a tremendous effort will be needed to assure cotton consumption at even the pre-war level, and to maintain cotton prices that will cover costs of production, processing and handling. The support of ginners, as well as every other branch of the American cotton industry, is indispensible to this effort."

Preceding his talk, members of the association saw the War department's new film, "Cotton at War," which told a graphic story of the importance of cotton production in the war effort.

Directors Elected

The following were announced as directors for the coming year after ballots had been turned in to the president: W. O. Fortenberry, Monroe; R. D. McDonald, Levelland; B. B. Baron, who is secretary of the association, R. D. Holmes and Douglas Witt, all of Lubbock.

At a meeting of directors, Fortenberry was re-elected president of the association, and Baron renamed secretary. Named by the group as associate directors were Cliff L. Dean and J. H. Plemmons, both of Lubbock.

Other speakers on the afternoon program were H. G. Johnson of College Station, who spoke on "Insect Control"; Harold G. Connally, Lubbock, "Cotton Classing and its Problems"; and R. T. Doughtie, jr., of Memphis, Tenn., "Cotton Seed Grading".

Only Small Arms Fire Met By One Group Of U. S. Invaders

WITH AMERICAN FORCES On The Southern France Beachhead, Aug. 15 (Delayed)—Behind one of the mightiest concussions ever exploded by man, American doughboys ripped into southern France today and within four hours some elements had penetrated more than three miles inland with little opposition.

On this right flank portion of the beachhead where this is being written—in a sector only about eight miles from the rich Riviera resort of Cannes—the doughboys came ashore without getting their feet wet and with little resistance.

Expected All Kinds Of Hell

Hitting on a pair of small narrow beaches covering a sector about three miles wide in this area, they had expected to tangle with all kinds of hell.

Instead the troops under Lt. Reuben D. Parker of Murray, Ky.; Capt. Ralph Nattans of Columbus, Ga.; Capt. Roy Sentilles, Donaldsonville, La.; Lt. Lyle Crock, Mason City, Iowa; Capt. James McNeil, Austin, Tex.; and Lt. Martin Tully, Chicago, encountered only scattered small arms fire.

I counted only four wounded men across the entire beach, &which is virtually the same spot as that on which Nopoleon landed on his return from his exile in Elba.

Resistance Overcome Quickly

The minor resistance was overcome in a hurry and within an hour the American troops had overrun the tiny seaside town of Drammont. On the way to the village, elements of the command of Lt. Col. James Critchfield of Pine Valley, Calif., among them those led by Nattans and Parker, cleaned out the supposedly heavily defended left peninsula, surrounding Dagay cove.

They found only one pillbox, housing a coastal defense gun, which was easily overcome.

In Drammont, which was a Nazi billet, and in the neighborhood around it, these soldiers rounded up 82 prisoners by 11 a. m.

Most prisoners were wide-eyed with shock and fear from the earth shaking concussion turned loose on the invasion area.

Flamethrowers were used to clean out 12-foot thick casements guarding one end of the beach. This and the fact that amphibious tanks landed at almost the same instant as the assault infantry made it easy to herd in these scared Jerries.

BEER HEIR DRAFTED

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (U.P.)—Gert Hans von Gontard, an heir to the Anheuser Busch brewery fortune, acquitted in June of a charge of conspiracy to evade military service, will be inducted into the armed forces Friday, six days before he reaches the automatically deferred age of 38, selective service headquarters revealed today.

Emily Louise Porter Is Wed To F-O Allen A. McArthur

The marriage of Miss Emily Louise Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Porter of 2220 Eighth street, and F/O Allen A. McArthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McArthur of 2310 Twenty-sixth street, took place Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the First Baptist church with Dr. C. E. Hereford reading a double ring ceremony.

Miss Imogene Webster, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and was accompanist for Miss Betty Floyd, vocalist.

White gladioli, ferns and palms were decorations at the candlelighted altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace wedding gown over satin, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, and long sleeves ending in points at the wrists. Her veil was caught with stephanotis and she carried white gardenias showered with stephanotis.

Miss Sue Porter, the bride's sister, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Leveret Guess, Miss Eleanor Porter, sister of the bride, and Miss Frances McArthur, the bridegroom's sister.

The maid of honor wore pink net over taffeta and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink gladioli.

Mrs. Guess chose blue net over taffeta and carried pink gladioli and Misses Eleanor Porter and McArthur wore peach net over taffeta and carried Colonial bouquet of peach gladioli.

F/O C. D. McCarra of Hot Springs, Ark., was best man and ushers were Flight Officers J. A. Layman, Philadelphia; C. J. McCulloch, New York City and R. W. Layton, Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Porter wore a blue sheer dress and Mrs. McArthur chose black sheer. They wore corsages of gardenias.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parnts. The newlyweds were assistd in receiving by their parents.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of asters, white gladioli and baby breath and bore a three-tiered all-white wedding cake.

The couple has gone to Jacksonville, Fla., for a wedding trip and after Sept. 1 will be at home in Maxton, N. C. The bride is traveling in an aqua suit with brown accessories. She is a graduate of Lubbock High school and has been employed at the Southwestern Bell Telephone company. F/O McArthur attended Texas Technological college for three and one-half years. He was graduated from South Plains Army Air field Tuesday morning.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McArthur and J. A. McArthur of Lorenzo, Mrs. C. E. Sullivan of Farmington, N. M., Mrs. Gay Morgan of Corpus Christi, Mrs. Carl C. Cox and daughter, Ara Broocks of Amarillo, Mrs. R. B. Moore of Bell, Calif., and Mrs. F. P. Cox of Winfield, the bride's maternal grandmother.

Bluebonnet Club Picnic Is Scheduled Tonight

Bluebonnet Home Demonstration club is to give a family picnic at Mackenzie State park tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The date originally had been set for Aug. 28. Plans were made at a Monday meeting of the organization in the home of Mrs. J. W. Haralson.

Mrs. Ida M. Farris talked on the recent meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration association in Austin.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. L. L. Hobbs of Waco and Miss Jean Louise Baker, guests, and to seven members.

Mrs. Lucian Moore will be hostess to the club Sept. 11.

According to Indian legend, the Finger Lakes in New York are the imprint left by the hand of the Great Spirit.

Luncheons, Parties Included In Gatherings For Women

Women's clubs met Wednesday afternoon for luncheons, parties and business hours.

Plans for an informal public dance to be held at Hotel Lubbock Aug. 26 at 9:30 p. m. and to be sponsored by Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club were announced at a regular luncheon of the club at Hilton hotel. Mrs. Vera Chapman, president, was in charge.

On program was Miss Ella May Butler who gave a report of the national business and professional women's convention which she attended in New York City July 13-17. She said that at the convention it was announced that members of the club in the United States have bought $7,000,000,000 in war bonds and at the convention $17,000 was contributed to the Children of China and $500 to the China Relief fund. Miss Margaret E. Hickey of St. Louis, Mo., was elected national president. Dr. Minnie L. Moffett of Dallas is the retiring president.

Guests at the meeting were Miss Jennie Sandy of Phillips, Miss Mary Dunn, and Mesdames Elith Mann Nontandon and Vera Gilreath, who recently transferred her membership from Pampa to the local club.

Instead of having dinner meeting next Wednesday, members will have a melon feast at 7 p. m. at Mackenzie State park. Mrs. Joe Manicapelli, instructor in the women's physical education department at Texas Technological college, will direct activities. Miss Lena Marie Skeen, health chairman, will be in charge.

At a luncheon given by LAAF Junior Matrons league at the USO welcomed wives of cadets in Class 44-1. Each guest introduced herself and Mrs. Thomas M. Potter, sponsor, was introduced.

Mesdames Jonell Downs, Ianthan McKennie, Evelyn Swaney, Retha Mae MacKellar and Maxine Jackson served the luncheon. Mrs. Jo Graham, president, was in charge.

During a business meeting, it was announced that the Red Cross production rooms at 1605 Avenue J are open from 8:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. Monday through Friday. All members were urged to go to the rooms to work. The activity chairman announced that there is horseback riding for members Monday morning at 10 o'clock, bowling Wednesday afternoon after the weekly luncheon at the USO and swimming and golfing Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The following committee was appointed to make suggestions for a new name for the Charm school which is held at intervals by the USO and Tech council of Women Graduates: Mesdames Dorothy Knutsch, Bonnie Bahr, Marjorie Gillingham and Graham. Suggestions submitted will be voted on.

Pla-Mor Forty-Two club met in the home of Mrs. B. E. Needles, 1811 Eighth street, and made plans for the Sept. 6 meeting to be held with Mrs. J. A. Hodges in her home at 1320 Fourteenth street, at 3 p. m. Twelve members and one visitor attended.

A round table discussion on house planning was conducted by members of Lubbock Army Wives society at the USO. Mrs. Ann Roen was hostess.

The club will meet at the USO next Wednesday at 1 p. m. and then go to a movie. Someone at the USO will care for children of members. Plans for a picnic to be given Aug. 30 were discussed.

Mrs. Warren Henry was hostess to S. O. W. club at a breakfast at her home on the Acuff highway. Her sister and niece, Mrs. C. O. Phillips and Doris Jean Phillis, of Odessa were guests.

Members present were Mesdames Curtis Boyd, E. M. Copp, Joe Walden, Elmer East and E. C. Pool.

The club will have a bowling party Aug. 30 at 2 p. m. Those attending will meet at the home of Mrs. Lewis Hobbs, 2409 Twenty-second street.

Virginia Bess Tubbs Is To Visit Her Parents

Lumber Bans Emphasized

J. A. Raley, jr., director of the Lubbock office of the Federal Housing administration, announced today that during the present emergency in the lumber industry, his office, at the direction of the War Production board, would give preference ratings to home owners needing lumber for repair work only in extreme cases. The FHA office acts as agent of WPB in processing preference ratings for critical building materials.

The announcement was made because of the thousands of home owners who are flooding the field offices of WPB and FHA throughout the country with applications for preference ratings to get lumber for emergency home repairs, while only a comparative few can hope to get the lumber they want, Raley said.

Catastrophes Justify Ratings

In general, emergency ratings for lumber are justified when a house is rendered unfit for continued occupancy through damage caused by fire, flood, tornado, earthquake, storm or similar catastrophe. Examples of such damage are: leaks in roofs, weakening of framework, separation of lateral supports from the main supports of the structure, broken joists or risers.

Deterioration of lumber because of wear and tear will not be considered an emergency need for lumber if the parts to be replaced will function without repair for at least another three months, he said.

Must Show Cause

Applications for emergency ratings to obtain lumber for extreme emergency repairs should be made to the FHA office on Form WPB-2896 which can be obtained at that office. They must show that the extent of damage is such that the dwelling is unfit for use unless repaired.

Raley urges home owners to refrain from attempting to get ratings for any but the most essential emergency lumber needs. Direct and indirect military requirements for lumber are so high, and total essential lumber demand so far in excess of supply, that all unnecessary use of lumber must be curtailed, he added.

Police Momentarily Baffled By New Grave

BROWNWOOD, Aug. 17. (AP)—Police found a new grave beside the railroad tracks here with two bouquets and a board headpiece pencilled "Little Mary Johnson."

A small wooden casket was exhumed by the expectant officers.

Inside were the remains of a small dog.

AUNT SASSIE and the FOLKS

Mame Cummingh called up: near distracted. Company comin' unexpected an' not a thing in the house but the leavin's of yesterday's ham! "Fix that ham up with a nice cream gravy," I says, "an' make a big stack of pipin'-hot griddle cakes to go with it. Make 'em with that grand new Royal S.A.S. Phosphate Bakin' Powder an' they'll be so fluffy an' tender an' temptin', folks will call you the best cook in the county!"... Have you tried new Royal yet, folks? Get it today. It's wonderful!

Aunt Sassie's OLD-TIME GRIDDLE CAKES

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons Royal S.A.S. Phosphate Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; add beaten eggs and milk; mix well. Add melted shortening; stir until well blended. Drop by spoonfuls on slightly greased hot griddle. When bubbles appear, turn cakes and brown other side; do not turn a second time. Serve hot with honey or maple syrup. Makes 15-18...and watch them disappear! Griddle cakes, waffles, hot breads of all kinds, are so light, tender and delicious made with new Royal!

New! ROYAL S.A.S. Phosphate Baking Powder

HOW TO RUIN DRESSES AND LOSE FRIENDS

IT'S tragic how some girls lose their friends and ruin their dresses because of perspiration odor and stains. And there's no excuse for it. It's easy to save dresses, it's easy to save friends.

Use Arrid, the new cream deodorant that helps keep your armpits dry and removes the odor from perspiration. Arrid is safe and dependable for these five reasons:

1. Arrid does not irritate skin. Does not rot dresses or men's shirts.
2. Prevents under-arm odor. Helps stop perspiration safely.
3. A pure, white, antiseptic, stainless vanishing cream.
4. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.
5. Awarded Approval Seal of American Institute of Laundering — harmless to fabric. Use Arrid regularly.

Arrid is the largest selling deodorant. Sold at all stores selling toilet goods — 39c and 59c a jar. (Plus Tax)

Catherine Royalty Is Named Honoree At Wednesday Tea

As a courtesy to her daughter, Catherine Royalty, WAVE, special (m) 3/c, Mrs. Lyda Royalty entertained with a tea Wednesday afternoon between 5:30 and 7:30 o'clock at the F. R. Friend home, 2005 Broadway. Sixty guests called, including relatives, former teacher associates, neighbors and girls from the Junior High school room which the honoree taught last year and their mothers.

Mrs. Jack Hanna of Glenrose, the former Miss Lois Morrison, presided at the guest book.

The tea table was laid with a green cover and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white flowers. Miss Genelle Wilhite and Mrs. W. D. Downing of Brownfield, aunt of the honoree, poured tea. They were assisted in serving by Mrs. Bill Gritzuk and Misses Norma Grace Reid and Marjorie Ann Sims. Mrs. Gritzuk and Miss Royalty are sisters.

Assistant hostesses were Mesdames J. Neuel Bryan and Gladys Sims.

Out-of-town guests, all relatives with the exception of Mrs. Hanna were Misses Ida Mae and Jo Pete May, Mrs. Downing of Brownfield and Mrs. J. B. Cardwell and daughter, Miss Bettye Jo Cardwell of Plainview.

Miss Royalty is leaving today for a brief visit in Dallas. She is to report to her post of duty with the Fleet postoffice in San Francisco Tuesday.

YOUR ELECTRICAL SERVANT

Factories, homes, farms, stores—all depend on me for a convenient, continuous, ample supply of electric power. And think what I mean to them! Without me most of the factories doing essential war work in this region would have to stop operating. As for your home as well as countless others—can you imagine them without electric lights and appliances? Farms have been depending on me more and more since so many of the boys went into service. On many farms I'm just about the only "hired hand" left! Very few stores could get along without me.

Even though I'm helping you win the war in the factories, I have always been right on hand when you wanted me anywhere else. Electric power in our territory has never been rationed, has never been too little or too late.

U. S. Spending Is Making 1929 Boom Year Look Like Peanuts

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. — American shoppers are breaking their 1943 spending record, which made the 1929 boom year look like peanuts.

They're spending on the kind of things they always bought — food, clothing, repairs for their homes, jewelry — although they can't buy all the things they used to buy.

Figures on retail sales for the first six months of 1944, just completed by the Commerce department, go much beyond the first six months of 1943.

They indicate what is likely to happen in the last six months of this year.

Deals With Retail Sales

This story deals only with retail sales to the buying public. That is, sales by food stores, restaurants, department stores, clothing shops, drug stores, places like that.

It doesn't include sales by manufacturers or wholesale business firms to the government.

In the first six months of 1943, retail sales were $29,774,000,000. In the first six months of 1944 they were $32,113,000,000, an eight per cent increase. If that rate of increase is maintained the rest of this year, and it probably will be, retail sales for all of 1944 will be somewhere between 66 and 68 billion dollars, a new record.

In 1943, for the year, retail sales totaled $63,818,000,000. In 1929 they were only $48,459,000,000.

The big increase has been in non-durable goods: Food, meals in restaurants, clothing, gasoline, drugs, liquor, fuel, ice, cigars, flowers, or you name it.

On non-durable goods, Americans, between January 1 and June 30 of 1944, spent $27,367,000,000. In the same period last year they spent $25,359,000,000.

On durable goods — jewelry, furniture, building materials, automobiles, and auto parts — they spent in the first six months of this year $4,646,000,000. In the first six months of 1943 they spent $4,415,000,000.

Furniture Shows Decrease

Furniture was the only line of goods listed by the Commerce department which showed a decrease this year.

Here are notes on some of the items which showed increased spending.

Food — Undoubtedly there were more sales of finished foods, which would boost the cost. At the same time there probably was wide chiseling on things like meat through upgrading. This means you often pay for better cuts than you receive, all of which would raise the total of money spent.

Clothing in apparel stores — Many lines of cheap clothing had disappeared, so shoppers had to pay more.

Automotive — Used car prices soared. More auto parts were placed on the market.

Jewelry — Spending spurted in March, to beat the tax which went into effect April 1, then it slowed, and once more picked up and kept on going.

Building material — A major factor in this increase was money spent on home repairs.

Filling stations, dealing mostly in gasoline and oil — even these sales were greater in dollar volume than last year.

Ninety thousand military vehicles, including trucks, jeeps and tank destroyers, as well as 3000 tanks, were shipped from the U. S. to Allied forces during the first three months of 1944.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Degrees Conferred On 73 Tech Grads

More opportunities lie ahead for young men and women of today than ever before in history, 73 summer graduates of Texas Technological college were told by Charles C. Thompson of Colorado City, chairman of the board of directors of Tech, at commencement exercises on the administration building lawn Wednesday night.

Degrees were delivered to the graduates by Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president.

To Retire As President

Dr. Jones will soon retire as president of the college to become Tech's first president emeritus. He will be succeeded in September by Dr. William M. Whyburn, formerly of the University of California.

Approximately 150 people were present at the exercises, which marked the 6,314th degree conferred at Tch. Thy were held on the green south of the Administration building.

"Half of the battle of peace will be won if we don't deceive ourselves that opportunity is gone," Thompson said. He told that the future of this country is rooted in leadership, and "we shall depend on citizens like members of this class for guidance."

Task Just Starting

"When the last battle has been fought and peace comes to the world, our great task will have just begun, and it will be the task of statesmen to contribute their part," the speaker said. "We won't allow freedom to perish when it has cost so much."

The graduates walked to their places on the dias to the accompaniment of the ringing of the college bells. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, said the invocation. The audience sang "Holy, Holy, Holy." While degrees were being conferred songs were sung softly by the united church choirs of Lubbock, directed by Dr. Julien Paul Blitz, head of the college department of music. Mrs. Blitz was accompanist.

After Dr. Jones conferred the degrees the audience sang the college hymn, "O College Mother, Beautiful." Dr. C. E. Hreford, pastor of the First Baptist church, pronounced the benediction.

Bachelor of science degrees were awarded three persons from the division of agriculture. They were William Turett Babb (in absentia), Wilbur Kenneth Roberts, and Fobert Haskell Stone.

Those who received degrees from the engineering division were Doyle B. Knowles, Kenneth Paul Dowell (in absentia), Elmo L. Walling, and Ruby Edna Stewart.

Home Ec Division

Home economics division graduates were Myrna Vae Barkley Baumgardner, Ida Christine Botkin, Maxine Lindley Cardwell (in absentia), Geraldine Rebie Cunningham (in absentia), Wanda Welch Dunlap, Joyce Maurine Floyd, Lettie Yvonne Hartzell, Betty Jo Morgan Hubka, Winifred Lee Hurst, Mary Lu Jobson, Lorene Little, Hazel Christine Moore, Geraldine Blundell Palmer (with honors), Mary Frances Peak, Zenoba Catherine Reed, Billie Christine Russell, and Marguerite Brannen Snyder.

BA degrees from the division of arts and sciences were received by William Barnett, Billie Louise Berry, Lois Dorothy Chambliss, Maisie Irvin Coon, Vera Culwell, Mary Emily Darwin, Nell Marie Eckert (in absentia), Jane Gilmore (with high honors), Dorothy Pollard Johnson, Margaret Long, Una Christene Maxwell, Mary Lynn Morris, Darleen Newton, Mary Marguerite Nobles, Jeanne Whitney Roco, Barry Newal Squyres, and Amita Faye Stone (in absentia), Richard Wilfred Johnston received a BS degree.

Arts and Sciences

From the arts and sciences division those who received BS degrees in education were Christine Billings, Bonnie Mae Campbell, Bettye Jo Cardwell, Clifton W. Clark, Emily Jane Cowan, Marjorie Jean Holloman, Sarah Chauncey McIntrff, Edith Pearl Newman, Geneva Sides Nowlin, Ernest Edwin Pierce, Thelma Ruth Strain, Wardell Sweatt, Irene Palmer Vanlandingham, Frank Eugene Wentz, and Oletta Zeh (in absentia).

BBA degrees from the division of commerce were received by Virgie Louise Austin, James P. Bowlin, Imogene January (in absentia), Mary Lou Metcalf, Betty M. McCoy, Evelyn Simpson, Gwendolyn Simpson, and Kathleen Virginia Walthall.

Master's Degrees

Nine persons received Master's degrees. Averlyne M. Hatcher of Lubbock, 1943 Tech graduate received her MA in history. Master of education degrees were awarded to Peyton Alvis Ammons of Quitaque, BA in education, Tech, 1938; Reuby Spurlock Rhodes of Lubbock, BS in education, Tech, 1940; Aileen E. Turley of Lubbock, BA in education, Howard Payne college, 1937; William Homer Vanlandingham of Seminole, BS in history, Tech, 1942; and Lucille Wimberley Weddington of Amarillo, BS in education, North Texas State Teacher's college, 1936.

Master of science degrees were awarded to Cecil Irvy Ayers of Lubbock, BS from Tech, 1936, MS in agronomy; Reuby Tom Rhodes, BS from Tech, 1943, MS in nutrition; Helen Margaret Wiseman of Littlefield, BS from Tech, 1943, MS in nutrition.

Steps Taken To Aid Eleemosynary Units

AUSTIN, Aug. 17 (AP) — Texas took a forward step in the operation of eleemosynary institutions at a two-day state-wide conference concluded Wednesday at Lake Buchanan.

It was the first such meeting in the 24-year history of the state board of control which administesr eleemosynary institutions.

Cooperation of the University of Texas was offered by Dr. Robert L. Sutherland, director of the Hogg foundation and vice-president of the Texas society for mental hygiene.

The board took under advisement Dr. Sutherland's suggestions that they (1) provide him with a specific list of eleemosynary needs which he will bring to the attention of over five thousand Texans through the Hogg foundation; (2) allow the university graduates to take internee practice in the institutions; (3) permit the university to carry on research work; (4) hold quarterly meetings with an equal number of universtiy and eleemosynary personnel.

That the leavening of humanity and scientific care is at work to improve the lot of the state's unfortunates, was apparent from the request by superintendents for improved recreational and vocational facilities, libraries, musical instruments, and psychiatric attention to bring about rehabilitation of patients instead of the old fashioned corporal punishment and harsh treatment.

First Saipan Casualty Arrives At McCloskey

TEMPLE, Aug. 17 (AP)—A medical soldier shot by a Jap sniper as he was giving aid to a wounded infantryman was the first Siapan casualty to reach McCloskey general hospital here, arriving by plane from the West coast Wednesday.

Cpl. Robert J. Brandl of East Bernard went into Siapan two days after the initial landing, and was wounded on July 7.

"I was giving first aid to a boy who was already shot. When I raised up I was shot from the right," he said. He was hit in the right shoulder and collarbone.

"Close shaves on Saipan were an everyday occurrence," he said.

"A great many of our boys were wounded in the legs. The Japs would mine anything, including our dead as well as their own. When I left, Jap organized resistance on Saipan had ended, but there were snipers about."

Soldiers Irritated By Treatment Of Italians

SEATTLE, Aug. 17 (AP) — The raid of rock-wielding negro troops on sleeping members of an Italian service unit at Fort Lawton Monday midnight was the climax of American soldiers' dissatisfaction over the life led by the erstwhile prisoners of war, the Post-Intelligencer said tonight.

The newspaper said it learned from unofficial but authoritative sources that white soldiers, too, had forcibly expressed their irritation at the Italians, who are engaged in work for the Army.

One Italian was found hanged in a nearby tree shortly after the raid in which 24 Italians were injured, but military authorities have refrained from placing responsibility for his death.

Cathedrals And Medieval Art Dot Towns On Invasion Path

BY RICHARD TOMPKINS
Associated Press Features Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—The advance of the Allied armies in northwestern France, whatever direction it may take, will encounter many historic towns and cities which have borne the brunt of invasion for centuries.

Brief descriptions of these old cathedral and castle towns, rich in French culture and tradition, and now important highway and railroad junctions to the invasion armies, follow:

ROUEN—Ancient capital of Normandy and seaport of Paris 60 miles from mouth of Seine . . . rail, textile, ship building and chemical center . . . population about 125,000 . . . Joan of Arc put to death here more than five centuries ago . . . William the Conqueror died here in 1087.

The city has been sacked half a dozen times since the Viking invasion. Insurgents fought the English, Huguenots and Catholics massacred each other, French revolutionists were massacred here and Germans first occupied it in 1871. Its centuries-old gabled houses have hishops and beasts carved on weather-beaten timber.

CHARTRES—Capital of the Department of Eure-et-Loir . . . about 21,440 inhabitants . . . 55 miles southwest of Paris on the plain of Beauce, the "granary of France" . . . heavy industrial center.

Its cathedral of Notre Dame was founded in the 11th century, the abbey church of St. Pierre in the 13th and the St. Martin-au-Val in the 12th century. Chartres was burned by the Normans in 858, fell into English hands from 1417-32, was attacked by the Protestants in 1568, taken in 1591 by Henry IV, first seized by the Germans in 1870.

ARGENTAN — Northwestern French town on the right bank of the Orne . . . a viscounty from the 11th century . . . often taken and pillaged . . . population about 7,000.

The town has a chateau dating from the 15th century and the churches of St. Martin and St. Germain of the same period. The town has leather works and manufactures stained glass.

ALENCON — Northwestern French town . . . capital of the Department of Orne . . . 36 miles north of Le Mans . . . population about 14,000 . . industries: weaving, printing, shoes, bricks . . lies in a plain at the confluence of the Sarthe and Briante.

Its ancient castle taken by William of Normandy in 1048 is in ruins except for one 14th and two 15th century towers. Notre Dame, its chief church, is a 15th century structure.

LISIEUX—Picturesque typical Norman town of 15,000 in the green valley of La Touques . . . industries: leather, wool, cider . . houses of medieval and Renaissance architecture . . some streets three centuries old.

Lisieux is the site of pilgrimages to the tomb of St. Theresa, canonized in 1925.

EVREUX—In the Iton river valley . . . between Caen and Paris . . . grain center . . . population about 19,000.

Its Notre Dame cathedral is a mixture of many styles of architecture, its windows tracing better than any book the whole history of painting on glass from the 13th to the 17th century.

Dallas Beer Dealers Facing OPA Charges

DALLAS, Aug. 17. (AP) — The Office of Price administration, in suits against two wholesalers and four retailers of beer here, alleged that a carload of beer, with a ceiling of $3,500, was sold at $10,000.

Other allegations: That 21,000 cases of beer were sold at $2.62 a case for which the ceiling price in most instances was $1.78; that some 12,000 cases were sold to retailer at $4.80 per case plus $1 deposit on case and bottles; that 13-cent bottles of beer sold for 25 cents, and that one retailer charged 10 cents for use of a glass out of which to drink beer.

The government asked for federal court injunctions and for treble damages.

Fortune Poll Shows Roosevelt In Lead

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. (AP) — Americans favor re-election of President Roosevelt over Republican Nominee Thomas E. Dewey by 52.5 to 43.9 per cent, according to Fortune magazine's latest public opinion survey announced today.

The survey showed that Roosevelt's lead, now 8.6 per cent, had risen from 6.5 per cent when the last survey was announced July 8.

Washington imported paving stones for Mount Vernon's piazza from England.

Soldier-Citizens Seen As Stability Factor

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17. (AP) — Millions of well-trained and disciplined soldier-citizens in the post-war period will be America's greatest assurance of statility in the opinion of Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation.

Hoffman said "these veterans constitute one of the most rigidly disciplined armies of all time. They are killing because it is necessary, not because they find the dirty business to their liking."

He cited kindnesses on the Italian and Normandy fronts by American soldiers as proof that they are "essentially unchanged and will present no problem in discipline.

FDR's Statement Relieves Anxiety

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

President Roosevelt's declaration that Germany and Japan will be occupied by Allied military, even though they surrender unconditionally before their borders are crossed by victorious armies, will ease a lot of anxious minds which have feared that the gangsters might by some skullduggery squirm out of their just and necessary deserts.

Military occupation of enemy countries isn't a matter of revenge. It's vital to ensure peace. There's no doubt that Allied failure to occupy Germany in the last war was partly responsible for the present outburst of aggression, and Japan also probably was encouraged by the "softness" of the Allies. Both these arch brigands got further encouragement by the failure of the exponents of peace to halt such depredations as the rapes of Manchuria, Ethiopia and Austria. The Axis powers logged the Allies as sissies.

New Nazi Propaganda

It's interesting that the President's announcement should come just as the German foreign office has set off a new blast of propaganda for a peace based on a "genuine compromise of interests" among victors and vanquished. The Nazis assert this is essential to prevent a third world war.

In short, the Boche are threatening us with another conflict if we don't make a compromise peace. That provides further ground, it strikes me, for a thorough house-cleaning by the Allies. Appeasement has been tried on both Germany and Japan and the only result has been to increase their arrogant aggression. The consensus of the Allied peoples seems to be that the time has arrived when suspended sentences must give way to stern discipline.

There's this to be said about the situation: There's no physical reason why the Allies should stop going before they reach Berlin and Tokyo. Both Germany and Japan are beaten already. We don't need to compromise.

Occupation of the criminal countries is calculated to serve several essential aims. First, it will enable the Allies to enforce total disarmament, and destruction of the means of creating further weapons of war.

It will serve to maintain order during a very critical period. There's no telling what revolutionary disorder, for instance, might develop in the Reich. And none can say what revenge might be exacted on the Germans by the millions of foreign slaves now within the country if Allied troops weren't on hand to preserve peace. We might easily have the Germans howling on th Allied doorstep for military occupation if we made a compromise peace.

Colonel Urges Lasting Peace

FORT WORTH, Aug. 17. (AP)—A peace that lasts in a world that's free as a commemoration of those who have lost their lives in this war was proposed by Lt. Col. H. Miller Ainsworth of Luling, 36th division veteran of both world wars, Wednesday night in Fort Worth.

Col. Ainsworth, who went in with the first wave at Salerno and is now stationed at Fort Sam Houston, was the principal speaker at the joint memorial services sponsored by the Forty and Eight which constituted the night program for that organization, the American Legion, the auxiliary and the Eight and Forty at the state war conference which will end Thursday.

"The real heroes of war are not those who come back but the ones who do not come back," Col. Ainsworth said in giving a vivid description of "Texas' own division," the 36th, in the landing at Salerno.

Challenges Home Front

He challenged those on the home front to make a war contribution worthy of a man's life and declared that "this time we must win both battles and the soldiers of World war I and World war II, shoulder to shoulder, must be victorious in peace as they were in war."

Stating that "Texas' 36th division made history in this war when it cracked the citadel of Europe on the beach at Salerno," Col. Ainsworth pointed out they were the first troops to touch the soil of that continent as an invading army in this war and remain to establish a beachhead.

"Our boys paid very dearly, it is true, but they established a record which the enemy had said many times could not be done," he said.

Church Services On Guam Continue In Spite Of Gunfire

AGANA, Guam, Aug. 6 (Delayed) (AP)—Strange things may be seen in Agana, ruined capital of Guam.

In a tent next to a ruined church services were held today with a score of men attending and a portable organ playing.

A squad of men, looking for a Japanese who had entered the town during the night, worked to within 50 yards of the church. There, in the midst of the hymn singing, they found the lone enemy. Shots drowned out the organ for 20 seconds and the Japanese lay still.

The organist never missed a note, none of the singers even turned around.

Perennial Wheat Is Successful In Russia

MOSCOW, Aug. 17. (AP)—A perennial wheat, the dream of Russian agriculture for a generation, has been successful in practical field tests this year on collective farms ranging from Siberia to the Kuban, the Moscow press asserts.

In experimental plots at his institute near Moscow, Prof. N. V. Tsitsin already has developed several varieties of wheat which persist as long as five years after a sowing, it is announced. The kernels have a gluten content as high as 60 per cent—on a par with American wheat—and are well-flavored for bread.

Grand Jury Finds 2 Murder Indictments

A 72nd district grand jury Wednesday afternoon reported two bills of indictment to Judge Dan Blair. Both charged murder. Charles R. Bacon of Lubbock was foreman.

J. B. Carpenter, 43, Lubbock county farmer, was accused of murder with malice in the Aug. 3 shooting of Hubert Green, 42, of Portales, N. M., at 1510 Avenue B.

Vernon Patrick, 36, a negro, was charged with murder with malice in connection with the July 16 death of Dan Neal, another black, who was cut with a knife.

Date for trial of the indictments had not been announced by District Attorney Burton S. Burks, who worked with the grand jury.

Actor Is Defendant In Paternity Suit

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17. (AP)—Rod Cameron, identified in the action as a film actor earning $50,000 yearly, was named defendant in a paternity suit today by Toni St. John.

Miss St. John alleged she and Cameron went through a matriage ceremony in Tijuana, Mex., last May to legitimatize the expected baby and that, for unspecified reasons, she subsequently sued for annulment. She asked that Cameron be declared father of the baby, which she said she expected in four months, and that he pay $2,500 for medical care and $600 a month for her support.

Six Former Texans Face Federal Charge

DALLAS, Aug. 17. (AP)—D. R. Morley, agent in charge of the Dallas office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said that a federal grand jury at Paris, Texas, would receive complaints charging six former residents of Texas with conspiracy to violate the national selective service act.

The complaints, which Morley said were filed at Sherman by Special Agent Ralph T. Hood, named as defendants Paul Hart, about 45; Roy Howland, 45; Ernest Howland, 42; George Young, 35; Robert Clifton Tucker, 28, and Lonnie Tucker, 26.

Morley said Hart and Roy Howland were Holiness preachers. Young was Hart's son-in-law. The Howlands were brothers, as were the Tuckers.

All formerly resided at Clarksville, Tex. The arrests, made over a period of several weeks, were made at Soper, Okla. The Howlands and Hart, jailed at Muskogee, are to be returned to Paris, Morley said, where the other three men already were held.

Sharp Hike In Texas Child Labor Shown

AUSTIN, Aug. 17 (AP)—Young Texans are pitching into the war effort.

Federal certificates of age, needed by children in certain industries, were issued for more than 21,000 of them in the fiscal year ended last June. This was an increase of 85 per cent over the previous year, reported Miss Mildred Dougherty, associate child labor consultant of the children's bureau, U. S. Department of Labor.

Certificates are issued to employers who manufacture or process goods which are shipped in interstate commerce.

Most certificates issued last fiscal year were for 16-and 17-year old workers but nearly 600 were for 15-year olds. Employment of the younger group is restricted under federal law to certain occupations and hours.

HORSE MEAT POPULAR

A's May Have Say In Pennant Race

Mackmen Put 4-2 Crimp In Browns

(By The Associated Press)

Mr. Baseball from Philadelphia may have the last say in the American league pennant race, although Connie Mack's Athletics today were buried in the bottom half of the standings.

The old gent with the scorecard, who recently celebrated his 50th anniversary as a manager, watched the A's put a 4-2 crimp in the Browns last night in the opener of a 4-game series.

St. Louis boasted only a 9-7 season edge in games with Philadelphia with 6 to go. The Mackmen have held Boston even in 14 starts with 8 to be played and lead Detroit 10 to 9 with 3 to go. Among the contenders, only the New York Yankees had a decided bulge on the A's with 11 out of 17.

Christopher Stops Brownies

Russ Christopher stopped the Brownies last night for the second time in a row and his fifth straight victory at Jack Kramer's expense. The Brownies' 6½ game lead was not affected but the loss served to flash a yellow warning signal of trouble ahead.

Detroit and New York closed in on second place Boston. The Tigers took the Red Sox into camp, 4-2, on Rudy York's 12th homer with two on in the seventh.

New York moved to within a game of second and 7½ games of St. Louis on a dramatic ninth-inning homer by Bud Metheny with two on that doomed Cleveland, 11-8.

Chicago Downs Washington

Ed Lopat hurled Chicago to a 7-2 victory over Washington although Johnny Niggeling fanned 11 in 8 innings for the losers.

In the National, St. Louis set a modern record for reaching win No. 80 on the earliest date by shutting out New York, 5-0, behind Fred Schmidt.

Pittsburgh took sole possession of second place when rain washed out its game after two innings and Cincinnati fell before Brooklyn's Curt Davis, 3-1, snapping the Dodgers' 5-game losing streak.

Bill Nicholson became the first National leaguer and third big leaguer to hit two grand slam homers this season when he walloped No. 27 with the sacks loaded as Chicago thumped Boston, 11-3.

India has the largest irrigation system in the world.

Pretty Wife Takes Over Jim Hatcher's Training For Bout

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. (AP)—If you think women are poison in the boxing ring, Toby Hatcher may change your mind.

Pretty, blonde Toby is the wife of Jimmy Hatcher of Lake City, S.C., who is getting the "big chance" of his lightweight career when he meets Dynamite Ike Williams in Washington on Aug. 28. Since Hatcher's manager, Al Weill, signed for the bout, Toby has taken over completely the training of her hubby.

"This is the chance we've been waiting for five years," she explained. "And I'm taking no chances that Jimmy won't be in condition. If the District of Columbia Athletic commission grants me a second's license I will be in the ring with him at the fight. If my application is turned down I'll be right in the front row giving Jimmy the high sign what to do."

She Isn't Kidding

"She isn't kidding, either," chimed in husband Jimmy, recently honorably discharged from the Coast Guard because of sinus trouble.

"She was in my corner for the second fight of my career, against Gordon Munroe at Sarasota, Fla., on Jan. 9, 1940. It's in her blood, I guess. Why, we were married four hours before I fought Joe Lanahan at Sarasota on Feb. 19 of that year. Since then she has supervised my training. Sometimes we even spar and do road work together."

Optimists' Win Streak Snapped By Rotary

An eight-game winning streak built up through the second half in the American league junior baseball race by the Optimist club was snapped Wednesday afternoon at Tech field as Walter Higginbotham pitched the Rotary club to a 4 to 3 victory.

Higginbotham's five-hitter bested Denny Davidson in a pitching duel and left the Rotary nine a game and a half behind the Optimists with five wins and one loss to eight wins and one loss for the Optimists.

Davidson hurled a fine game, sriking out eight while walking three and limited the winners to six hits. Davidson had one bad inning, the first, when the Rotary nine shoved over three runs.

The Optimists came from behind to tie the game with a run an inning for the first three rounds. The Rotary then pushed over the winning run in the top half of the fourth, then the two youngsters finished the game without any farther scoring.

The American Business Club and the first half winners, the Kiwanis club, tangle this afternoon at Tech field, then the two leaders play again Friday. The Optimists drawn the ABC club Friday at Chapman field while the Lions are entertaining the Rotary at Tech field.

Bible Expects Good Year For Football; Wide Open Race In Southwest Conference Seen

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUSTIN, Aug. 17.—Back from a visit with the home folks in East Tennessee where he admitted "I kept my feet under the dining room table a lot," D. X. Bible, headman of football at the University of Texas, said he felt fine about everything except his backfield prospects.

But the coach of the Southwest conference champions of 1942 and 1943 thinks the game will show an increase in interest and attendance especially in this section where he figures the race will be close.

"Free-For-All" Seen

"I think everyone feels we will have a 'free-for-all'," he said as he waded through correspondence stacked high on his desk. "It seems to me the teams that were a little weak last year have been strengthened and that we won't be as strong; so it looks as though every team has a chance."

Coach Bible added "we certainly have been getting some fine reports about Rice, Arkansas and Oklahoma."

Rice and Arkansas are conference rivals and Texas plays Oklahoma in its top intersectional game of the year.

Texas' Line Fair

Bible said Texas would have a "pretty fair line, but our problem will be finding boys who can carry the ball. As you know, if they don't have some speed, they can't carry it very far."

Texas has a flock of lettermen in the line, including a couple of stars of the 1942 team who were at Southwestern last year in the Marine training program. They are Jack Sachse, center, and Harold Fischer, guard. Fischer, however, is due to be shifted to blocking back this season.

A couple of months ago backfield prospects were bright indeed and Bible had planned for Fischer at blocking back, Meredith Roberts at wingback, all-conference Ralph Ellsworth at tailback and Bobby Layne, the schoolboy star from Dallas, at fullback. But Ellsworth accepted an appointment to Annapolis Naval Academy and Roberts was transferred by the Navy.

Hemphill-Wells Wins Slugfest Over Sears

The Hemphill-Wells Cats staged a big fourth inning uprising Wednesday afternoon at Chapman field and romped over Sears-Roebuck in a five inning battle to the tune of 16 to 6 for their second win in as many days.

The Cats "reversed" their winning battery of Tuesday afternoon and Blackmon took over as pitcher and Bob Galey did the catching. Blackmon was relieved by Skipper Bill Cope, who finished the game. Cornell went the route for the losers.

The game started off as a seesaw battle for the first three innings, but the Cats chased over eight runs in the fourth inning to salt away the ball game.

All-Stars Drill For Bears; McKay Scores

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 17. (AP)—A blue-clad team of college all-stars, preparing for their Aug. 30 football battle with the Chicago Bears professional team here, defeated their Green-shirted mates 6 to 0 yesterday in the opening intra-squad contest of the campaign.

Roy McKay, hard-driving fullback from the University of Texas, had the honor of scoring the first touchdown as his three-yard plunge climaxed a 45-yard drive in the first period.

Tech Faculty Forfeits To SPAAF Varieties

South Plains Army Air field's Varieties moved forward in the city softball tournament "without firing a shot" Wednesday afternoon as the softball league winners were awarded a 9-0 victory over the Tech Faculty ten by forfeit.

The SPAAF Medics and LAAF Civilians will tangle this afternoon in a quarter-final game at the softball diamond at Chapman field.

Causing Ring Death May Jar Heavyweight Larry Lane Into Taking Boxing Seriously

BY JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 17—Boxing promoters of the nation are deluging the Trenton doorstep of Larry Lane with offers for bouts, but the brown-skinned heavyweight who caused a recent ring death "wishes to Gawd that fist fightin' never was invented."

Lane, religious and superstitious—with the drums of old Africa still pulsing in his blood—is forced at last to take seriously the sport with which he toyed for eight long years. The death of Lem Franklin brought this about.

Lem Franklin, the Chicago negro heavyweight who once was considered a potential challenger for Joe Louis, died after being knocked out by Lane in Newark's Meadow Brook bowl, July 24. Until that night no one heard much about Larry Lane—a run-of-the-mine heavyweight who was as good as he wanted to be.

Laziness Is Trouble

But the trouble with Lane was that his laziness prevented him from wanting to be anything. Gifted with every asset that the Lord ever bestowed upon any leather tosser, Lane puttered along in mediocrity. He had the body—191 pounds of dynamite on a five foot 11 inch chassis. He had the sloping shoulders of the deadly hitter. His alert mind and agile body enabled him to become a "cutie" in ringcraft but too often, when he didn't knock out an opponent in three or four rounds, he ran out of gas and lost the decision. He was being beaten by Franklin when he suddenly landed that fatal right in the ninth round and became the first negro heavyweight ever to cause a prominent ring death.

James Larue Lane, as he was born at Dillon, S. C., 26 years ago, came from Trenton to Newark last night to discuss with Manager Willie Gilzenberk the possibilities of his retiring from the ring. Lane—of the small mustachio, panama hat and brown slacks—has lived in Trenton since the age of three. He is married and has a seven year old daughter. He is in 4-F because of a punctured ear drum, and is employed as a defense worker in a Trenton rubber plant. But he can't sleep.

He can't sleep, because he keeps "takin' Lem Franklin out with one punch." Slumber—the supposed balm of woe—finds him fighting Franklin in ghoul-haunted settings that only the mind of an uneducated negro could conjecture—backdrops that the fantastics would have enjoyed—Edgar Allen Poe, Ambrose Bierce, Geroud de Nerval and Oscar Wilde.

Manager Gilzenberg says "If Larry can't sleep, it's the first time in his life. He used to sleep on his feet. Maybe this unfortunate accident has woke him up. I hope so, because his wife and kid, and his father need money. If he has woke up, he'll become heavyweight champion—like Jess Willard and Maxie Baer, who also caused deaths from knockouts. Because he's got everything, except the urge. He fought like a new man at Chicago on Aug. 7, when he knocked out Georgie Parks in the second round—two weeks after the Franklin kayo. He's fighting Irish Johnny Flynn on Aug. 31, at the opening of the new arena athletic club in Baltimore. And Jack Kearns has practically completed a match for Joe Baksi for Chicago in October. I'll bet $10,000 he can lick Baksi—or any other civilian heavyweight in the world today."

Veterans Ignore Heat In Tennis Tourney

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 17 (AP)—Shaded thermometers hereabouts have zoomed almost to the breaking point but they have been completely ignored by the two score veteran male tennisers who have settled down to their annual national championship play at Longwood.

During yesterday's terrific heat, those 45-year-oldsters and upwards got off to a flying start by completing almost two rounds of singles matches. Although many of them were outstanding performers in major tournaments during the 20s, their consensus is that J. Gil Hall of New York, is the most threatening rival William Nassua of Paoli, Pa., will encounter as he defends his singles title.

An added attraction is the Longwood women's invitation competition that drew a star-studded field that included nine of the nation's first 10 players.

Among those who have survived the first two rounds were Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, the national titlist, Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., her runner-up, and such other first 10-ers as Margaret Osborne of San Francisco, and Mary Arnold of Los Angeles.

It's East Vs. West In PGA

Championship Play In Second Round

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 17 (AP)—Championship play in the Professional Golfers association national tournament furnished an East vs West picture today as sixteen survivors teed off in 36-hole second round matches at the Manito course.

Six of the eight links battles pitted an entry from the eastern half of the country against a rival from the West.

Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, one of the big favorites, paired off with Mark Fry, Oakland, in the starting match.

Nelson chalked up a 5 and 4 win over Mike De Massey, San Jose, Calif., and Fry won from Neil Christian, Spokane, 2 and 1, in the opening 36-hole round.

Wood, Bell Matched

What shaped up as one of the tough competitors of the day brought together duration U. S. Open Champion Craig Wood, Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Art Bell, San Francisco. The former eliminated Jimmy Dangelo, Muskogee, Okla., 5 and 4 yesterday while Bell took a marathon match from Joe Zarhardin Norristown, Pa., winning of the 37th hole.

High money winner of the year, Harold McSpaden, Philadelphia, squared off with an eastern opponent, Fred Annon, Mamaroneck, N. Y.

In winning from Bruce Coltart, Absecon, N. J., 7 and 5 yesterday, McSpaden posted a 5 under par 67 in the morning round and whizzed through the third nine in 33. Par for the course is 36-36—72.

During 1943 motor vehicle registrations in the U. S. dropped to 30,499,608, a decline of 6.4 per cent from the 1942 figures.

Van Mungo No. 1 Man In Semi-Pro Tourney

WICHITA, Kans., Aug. 17. (AP)—Van Mungo, one-time pride of the Brooglyn Dodger pitching department, is the No. 1 man so far in the national semipro baseball tournament.

Van Mungo, pitching in a game that started last night and wound up this morning, struck out 17 men and allowed only two hits as the 106th infantry division of Camp Atterbury, Ind., shut out the Welin-Davit boat corp., Perth Amboy, N. J., 5-0. This topped mark by three.

WHEN in Detroit 10 days or so ago, The Plainsman was invited over to Windsor, Ontario, for lunch with our Canadian cousins. We'd been to Windsor and other points in Canada before, but decided to duck under the Detroit river by tunnel and have a look at the town in wartime.

First thing we discovered was that it's a harder proposition to cross from the U. S. into Canada than it is from the U. S. into Mexico. Canadian border patrolmen, every one a trained psyenter into conversation with each border-crosser, the idea being to see if the visitor has a foreign accent of any kind. They also ask each visitor's nationality and the place of his birth.

They search the cars fairly thoroughly, too. We were with a Detroit newspaperman who carried a two-gallon closed can of gasoline in the rear compartment of his car to guard against "running out of gas," since his home is 12 miles from his office and he drives at least 24 miles per day.

The border patrolman made him empty the can into the car's gas tank, due, he said, to the tightly capped can of gasoline being a "fire hazard."

Windsor is an old town and while it has around 110,000 population, it looks more like a city of 60,000 to 70,000. In some respects, it is slightly reminded of Waco.

Although it is only a mile or so across the river (and south, by golly, even though we think of all of Canada as being north of the U. S.) from roaring Detroit, it might well be 500 miles. The atmosphere is entirely different from that of cities in this country. There is a calmness and a serenity, which doubtless stems from British dignity that our cities do not have.

TWO things about Windsor especially attracted our attention. One was the number of Australian and New Zealand troops on the street. The other was the fact that immediately across the street from the vast, multi-structured Hiram Walker & Sons whiskey distilleries is a dairy bar, featuring only milk drinks.

The two largest industries in Windsor are the Walker distilleries and the Ford Plant of Canada. Both are engaged in war industries, the former turning out industrial alcohol, the latter fighting materials.

As is generally known, many U. S. hotels and theaters this summer are without air-conditioning, due to a war-time shortage of the gas used to cool things off.

Purchasing airconditioning plants, too, is next to impossible, because of war priorities.

Yet one of the first things we saw in Canada was a big billboard, announcing to the world:

"AIR CONDITIONING EQUIPMENT AVAILABLE!"

Consistency in Lend-Lease, thou wouldst be a jewel, if any!

WE WENT to lunch in the dining-room of the Prince Edward hotel, Windsor's best hostelry although not nearly as large as either our Lubbock or Hilton hotels.

It was the most satisfactory meal we had while in Chicago and Detroit, largely because the dining-room was more like those of Texas hotels than at the other places we ate.

In the first place, there wasn't any orchestral din, and nobody was howling over a microphone about seeing somebody else in old, familiar places. And in the second place, the crisply attired waitresses—capable and blonde—looked more like Texas girls than their counterparts in Detroit and Chicago restaurants.

The food was good, too, and the customers looked a lot like lunching Southwesterners. They didn't have the tired, nervous and jaded appearances that so many harried, big city people have.

Bill Hooten, editor of the El Paso Times, was with us in Windsor and was very much impressed over the fact that the U. S.-Canadian border is so much "tighter" than the U. S.-Mexican border at El Paso and Juarez.

Mr. Hooten, an El Paso newspaperman for more than a score of years, has crossed between his city and Juarez at least 1,000 times, saw numerous evidences of a closer watch at Windsor and Detroit than he has seen at the Rio Grande, even in times of Mexican revolutions.

THERE used to be a good gasoline racket worked by Detroiters in Windsor shortly after rationing of automobile fuel set in.

A deal was set up whereby an American who ran out of gas in Canada could get 14 gallons of the fuel to see him home.

However, there was an epidemic of Americans running out of gasoline and the setup was revamped, according to information given us by Gerald Dailey, telegraph editor of the Detroit News, who was our host in Canada. Those who turn up with a dry tank across the border now have to go through a lot of red tape and get barely enough fuel to make it to a U. S. filling station.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT
(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

ON HIS eighty-first birthday Henry Ford said: "Maybe the women should be running the world; I believe they could do a better job."

MILLETT

When Henry Ford brought within reach into the homes of middle-class American families — it looked as though men would always be behind the steering wheel. Women, it seemed then, would never be anything more than back seat drivers.

Yet look at women today. From taking over the chauffering for their families they have taken over the steering wheels of trucks, tractors, and even sometimes of generals' jeeps.

Well, it may be the same in government. Though there are a considerable number of women active politically, and though women are now members of the Army, Navy and Marines — the great majority of women are still politically nothing more than back seat drivers.

They get together in their clubs, to study and discuss politics and decide on issues. And as club women they can do some back seat driving the politicians have to listen to—for when they are at all united their voice is strong and loud.

IN DRIVER'S SEAT

BUT EVEN so about all they do politically is criticize the driver and offer him suggestions. But that is probably just the stage women are in—and another 25 or 50 years may find them more and more eager to get into the driver's seat to see what they can do themselves.

You know how it was with the first family car. Mama watched papa drive for a long time. First she marvelled at his skill; then she began to be critical. Then she thought one day that she believed she could make a better driver herself. And so she took over the wheel. And there's no reason to think she won't eventually do the same thing in politics—even though she is a little slow about deciding that she could do a better job of running the world from the driver's seat than men seem able to do.

AREN'T THERE ANY GOOD GERMANS?

By Emil Ludwig

IT'S quite true that in the past the Germans produced not only great characters but great geniuses. Today, the air is filled with radio waves carrying German music all over the world. Wounds and injured limbs of Allied soldiers are X-rayed by rays discovered by the German Roentgen.

Millions of Germans, I am sure, blush to think of the atrocities committed by their brutal countrymen against defenseless civilians. There are clericals and laymen among Germans who feel ashamed of the cruelties that will be forever connected in people's minds with German rule.

Ludwig

Yes, there are "good Germans" but all these good Germans, all the German geniuses today and in the past, have never had the slightest influence on the German government. For 500 years the power to govern has remained in the hands of one class, a class that had no culture. Culture rested in the hands that had no power. Hence the Germans are the only people of modern history that have never made a genuine and successful revolution.

In 1932 they voluntarily voted in the Nazis as the strongest party. Because they did not protest, the many "good Germans" who may be among the regimented masses that compose Germany today are also responsible as a group. We cannot entrust them with self-government.

Today's Journal Editorial

MR. WINTERS "GOES TO TOWN"

From the moment he reluctantly assumed the duties of head of the state Old Age pension bureau more than a year ago, John Winters has given the impression of being an able, conscientious official.

A turbulent condition existed at the time he accepted the position. The bureau had been under fire for months. Mr. Winters restored harmony almost immediately. He likewise caused a re-examination of pension rolls which resulted in thousands of names being removed to the end of making more adequate provision from really deserving cases. This looked at the time like tampering with dynamite, yet the repercussions to the sharp paring of the rolls were mild. Apparently the various actions taken were well justified by circumstances in the great majority of cases.

Further strengthening the favorable impression of Mr. Winters was his declaration the other day in favor of the creation of an appeals board entirely outside his department which would have the power to over-ride or alter his decisions. This proposed board is one which could compel his department to pay a pension Mr. Winters has refused—and yet Mr. Winters is in favor of it. Officials of that kind, who frankly admit that they might make mistakes, are entirely too few.

Yet there is a lot of common sense in the attitude that Mr. Winters takes. Not only does he propose an added protection to insure justice for the pension applicant, but an appeals board would be a safeguard for his department. If a board entirely outside the department should refuse a pension, no one could criticise either Mr. Winters or the bureau.

In some respects, the creation of such a board might have the appearance of establishing an agency to which the old age pension officials could "pass the buck." But this sort of "buck passing," which would increase protection for those individuals seeking pensions, is likely to meet with the approval of all fair-minded people.

U. S. Planes, Chinese Troops, Block Japs

Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 — Now that President Roosevelt has stepped up the pace of the drives against Japan, more attention is being given to the part which Chinese troops can play in the war. In this connection, one of the most important unwritten chapters of the war now can be revealed — the part which Chinese troops and the U. S. Air Transport command played in blocking the invasion of India.

At the time the Japs were driving into northern India last spring several thousand Chinese troops were flown into India and succeeded in stopping the onrushing Japs.

Day after day the British army had been pushed back, until the Japs menaced the Imphal rail line and seemed on the verge of spreading out into northern India. British-Indian troops had been powerless to stop the Jap advance. One year before, at Quebec, the advance through Burma had been announced and Lord Louis Mountbatten had been placed in charge. Instead of an advance through Burma, however, the Japs reversed the process.

PEARSON

In this emergency, the U. S. Air Transport command loaded several thousand Chinese soldiers into transport planes, flew them over "The Hump" (The Himalayas, highest mountain range in the world), and dumped them down in northern India.

PACKING 'EM IN

THE Chinese were packed into the planes in such numbers that they practically lay on top of each other. They were literally like sardines. Flying over 20,000 feet over the Himalayas they were without oxygen tanks, and numbers of them passed out. Unloaded in India, many were dragged from the plane unconscious, laid out on the ground and had to be revived.

However, given food and a week's rest, they bucked up and made admirable soldiers. They proved tough jungle fighters, which the British and Indian troops are not. Thus the Japs were stopped and the Assam valley was saved.

Two facts stand out as a result of this hitherto untold chapter in the war. One was the amazing performance of the Air Transport command, which flew in all kinds of weather over the most difficult terrain in the world. They took General Chennault's gasoline and flew it in reverse, not to aid China, but to aid India.

The other was the example of what the Chinese troops could do in a pinch and what they might be able to do against Japan in North China if properly equipped and led.

Early in the war, before the Japs took Burma and Singapore, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek formally offered Chinese troops to Prime Minister Churchill to fight in India or any other place in the Orient. The offer was refused. The Chinese believed at the time that Churchill did not want Chinese troops in Burma, a country once part of China, which the Chinese sometimes talk about getting back.

ON THE JOB

SINCE then the Chinese have done a great job in building the airports from which U. S. B-29's take off for the bombing of Japan. And with proper leadership and equipment many believe they could do an A-1 job in taking other objectives.

The final decision probably depends (1) on political factors; (2) on transportation. Regarding the latter, the Air Transport Command continues to perform miracles in carrying every drop of gasoline, all airplane parts, personnel, food, and every conceivable type of equipment to U. S. air bases in China.

As the enemy now full well knows — though the U. S. public may not — these transport planes now fly during the monsoon season, which the British previously said was impossible.

Forthright Congressman Usher Burdick of North Dakota intends to pay tribute shortly to the great job done by the Chinese and by the Air Transport command in this war theater.

HOOVER'S CHILDREN

BACHELOR J. Edgar Hoover, who has jailed more desperate criminals than any man in history, has a secret weakness which not many people know about. He likes children. On many an afternoon you will find a group of boys going through FBI headquarters, getting points on crime detection. If he is not too busy, Hoover himself will take time to say hello.

Hoover has spent much time studying children, feels that a healthy younger generation is the best insurance against crime, once even wrote a magazine article, "If I had a Son."

Here is some of the advice he gave: "If I had a son, I'd probably be frightened. I've never feared criminals, but if I were a husband and father I might be afraid. So much would depend on me.

"If I had a son, I'd do one thing. I'd tell him the truth. I'd never let him catch me in a lie. And in return I'd insist that he tell the truth . . . When children go astray it isn't the fault of the children but of their parents . . . A spoiled boy grows into a spoiled man . . . I'd try to be a pal to my boy . . . I'd encourage him to join the Boy Scouts and boys' clubs, but before he joined I'd make a point of getting acquainted with the leader of the troop . . . I'd have my son go to church. What's more, I'd go with him . . . But above everything else, I'd try to understand my son. For if I didn't I'd be a failure as a dad."

CORDIALITY

THOSE who have watched the diplomatic wheels go round from the close-up inside, report that Stalin and Churchill are now getting along famously.

This is important because it was not the case at Teheran, where Roosevelt and Stalin did the getting along and Churchill didn't. That was when the present Second Front in France was the topic of considerable argument and when Churchill, bidding farewell to Stalin, said:

"Well, good-bye, marshal. I'll see you in Berlin."

"Yes," replied Stalin; "I in a tank and you in a Pullman car."

Churchill's friends point out that at Teheran he was in the early stages of a very severe illness and definitely not himself.

Since then, Churchill seems to have got over any complexes regarding Stalin, and Stalin takes a like position toward Churchill. There has been complete teamwork between the two for some time.

Both British and American diplomats also pay tribute to the cooperation of the Russians in recent months on most subjects, even including Poland. The general view in diplomatic circles is that Stalin has been reasonable regarding Poland, and that Polish problems will work out satisfactorily in the end, despite occasional fireworks from the exiled Polish press.

THE only items of settlement so far reached between Ida Lupino and Capt. Louis Hayward give him the house in Hollywood and her the house in Santa Monica. . . . Claudette Colbert fears she may have to have an operation for her sinus trouble. . . . The Dean Goodmans (she's Marlene Dietrich's daughter) will experiment with a reconciliation after months of separation. . . . Kay Evans, of the Latin Quarter chorus, doubles daytimes as secretary to a commander in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. . . . Dorothy Lamour and her husband Capt. William Ross Howard, are seeking a baby to adopt. . . . Babe Ruth is about to close a contract for the film story of his life, in which he will appear as soon as he is well enough.

When Ernest Hemingway got to London, he was ordered to shave off his page 1 beard, before he was allowed into Normandy; it would make him too conspicuous for snipers. . . . Winthrop Rockefeller frantically cabling a gorgeous Wac to choke off marriage rumors which she hasn't taken trouble to deny. . . . Joe Smith, a ranking dance band leader to the pre-jive age, is selling paint in Macy's basement. . . . Italian prisoners on their way to Fort Hamilton are being transported via subway. Yes, a nickel goes in the turnstile for each one. . . . Peggy Fears turned down a fat offer for the film rights to the story of her life—because the studio would not let her play the name part.

WHEN it seemed doubtful that Senator Wagner's health would permit him to run for re-election, Mayor LaGuardia (supposedly a Republican) high-pressured President Roosevelt to throw him the Democratic nomination. . . . Col. Bill O'Dwyer, Brooklyn district attorney on leave, now in Italy, can be elected again without opposition, or can have the Democratic nod for mayor. But he will decline both and quit public service when he leaves the Army. As a cop, magistrate and prosecutor, he has piled up enough years to give him a handsome pension. He will practice law—and not criminal law.

Barbara Hutton Grant has quietly taken over another trust fund, which can't be written in less than seven figures — and that's a lot of nickels and dimes. . . . Dan Parker has been commissioned by Colliers to write a biography of Morton Downey, all in brogue. . . . Lee Tracy, with a medical discharge, will soon stare a camera in the lens again for the first time in years. . . . Lewis Titterton, whose first wife was the tragic figure of the notorious bathtub strangling, is a father for the second time with his second wife. . . . Prince Mikhail Goundoroff has forsaken the salons of New York to hoe potatoes on a farm outside Albany.

REPORTS that the photoplay to be called "Stork Club" has been chilled because of LaGuardia's sniping are the salami. Paramount long-distanced Sherman Billingsley to tell him that he will get the $100,000 hand-out and that preliminary work has started. . . . Eleanor Roosevelt's presence on the special train from which FDR broadcast his acceptance speech was strictly deleted in news reports and news photographs. But she was along, all right. And in Los Angeles, one of her guests was Mayris Chaney, the dancer whose government "morale" job died of publicity poison.

A Hollywood studio story-head received the following letter: "Would you consider scenario of small-town boy and girl who fall in love in primary school, in due time get married, and she is so proud of him she thinks he should be President of the United States? He doesn't make it, but the details of their wonderful life together and his adventures aiming for the top would make an extraordinary picture. . . . Mrs. Ruth Owens." . . . She got back a rather flat and bored rejection. . . . Mrs. Ruth Owen is out former ambassador to Denmark, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, whose story she was testing out as above. She is not discouraged and is now writing a lengthy synopsis.

BETTE DAVIS will not sell her New Hampshire honeymoon estate, "Sugar Hill," despite its memories of her happiness and sorrow, since the death of her husband. . . . Mrs. Huntz Hall and Mrs. Leo Gorcey, both divorced from Dead End Kids, are sharing an apartment. . . . Millie Burke, widow of Flo Ziegfeld, who has been drawing royalties on all the films and revues bearing his name, is now cleaning up a fortune as her take on the new "Ziegfeld Girl" purse accessories. . . . David Burton, directing "Lower North" for a Belasco opening, August 30, was negotiating with Frances Farmer to play the lead when she broke down again. . . . Claudia Morgan, who broadcasts on "The Thin Man" program, was fired from the Broadway hit, "Ten Little Indians," because, to make her air show, she had to report 4 minutes late. The management refused to delay the first curtain 4 minutes, though variations of many times that period are commonplace.

"Sad Sack Superman" Glad To Get Help From Americans

Pyle Follows Army Doctor Into Front Lines

By ERNIE PYLE
Special Correspondent

ON THE WESTERN FRONT (By Wireless) — One afternoon I went with our battalion medics to pick up wounded men who had been carried back to some shattered houses just behind our lines, and to gather some others right off the battlefield.

ERNIE PYLE

The battalion surgeon was Capt. Lucien Strawn, from Morgantown, W. Va. He drives his jeep himself and goes right into the lines with his aidmen.

We drove forward about a mile in our two jeeps, so loaded with litter bearers they were even riding on the hood. Finally we had to stop and wait until a bulldozer filled a new shell crater in the middle of the road. We had gone only about 100 yards beyond the crater when we ran into some infantry. They stopped us and said:

"Be careful where you're going. The Germans are only 200 yards up the road."

Bulldozer Leads Way

Captain Strawn said he couldn't get to the wounded men that way, so he turned around to try another way. A side road led off at an angle from a shattered village we had just passed through. He decided to try to get up that road.

But when we got there the road had a house blown across it, and it was blocked. We went forward a little on foot and found two deep bomb craters, also impassable.

So Captain Strawn walked back to the bulldozer, and asked the driver if he would go ahead of us and clear the road. The first thing the driver asked was, "How close to the front is it?"

The doctor said, "Well, at least it isn't any closer than you are right now." So the dozier agreed to clear the road ahead of us.

WHILE we were waiting a soldier came over and showed us two eggs he had just found in the backyard of a jumbled house. There wasn't an untouched house left standing in the town, and some of the houses were still smoking inside.

Also, while we were waiting, two shock cases came staggering down the road toward us. They were not wounded but were completely broken—the kind that stab into your heart.

They were shaking all over, and had to hold onto each other like little girls when they walked. The doctor stopped them. They could barely talk, barely understand. He told them to wait down at the next corner until we came back, and then they could ride.

When they turned away from the jeep, they turned slowly and unsteadily, a step at a time, like men who were awfully drunk. Their mouths hung open and their eyes stared, and they still held onto each other. They were just like idiots. They had found more war than the human spirit can endure.

A "Superman Sad Sack"

At the far edge of the town we came to a partly wrecked farmhouse that had two Germans in it—one was wounded and the other was just staying with him. We ran our jeeps into the yard and the litter bearers went on across the field to where the aid men had been told some of our wounded were lying behind a hedge.

The doctor sent the able German soldier along with our litter bearers to help carry. He was very willing to help. I stayed at the house with the doctor while he looked at the wounded German, lying in the midst of the scattered debris of what had been a kitchen floor.

The German didn't seem to be badly wounded, but he was sure full of misery. He looked middle-aged, and he was pale, partly bald, had a big nose and his face was yellow. He kept moaning and twisting. The doctor said he thought morphine was making him sick.

The doctor took his scissors and began cutting his clothes open to see if he was wounded anywhere except in the arm. He wasn't. But he had been sick at his stomach and then rolled over. He was sure a superman sad sack.

PRETTY soon the litter bearers came back. They had two wounded Germans and one American on their litters. Also they had two walking cases—one hearty fellow with a slight leg wound, and one youngster whose hands were trembling from nervous tension.

The doctor asked him what was the matter and he said nothing was, except that he couldn't stop shaking. He said he felt that his nerves were all right, but he just couldn't keep his hands from trembling.

He was a machine gunner on a half-track. Captain Strawn talked kindly to him.

"Who sent you back?" he asked.

"We've got a new lieutenant," the boy said, "and he told me to come back and report to an aid station for rest."

The doctor thought awhile. "I can't send you to a hospital," the doctor said. "You're not in very bad shape, and they need men too badly up there."

Just a shade of disappointment passed over the boy's face, but he was game.

"That's what I told the lieutenant," he said. "I think I'm all right to go back."

I could tell the doctor liked his attitude. There was nothing yellow about the kid.

The doctor said:

"I'll tell you. You get on this jeep and go back to the aid station. We will give you some sleeping stuff, and you can just lie around there on the ground for a day or two and you'll be all right."

And with that compromise the kid—relieved at even a two-day respite—got into the jeep with the wounded men and went back down the road.

Vatican Newspaper Sees Allied Victory

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 17. (U.P.)—The Vatican City newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, expressed belief today in an Allied victory in World War II.

In an article on the Atlantic Charter, L'Osservatore said the entire world now "is dominated by the Allied armed forces" and expressed the hope that the principles of the charter would be translated into reality in international life.

CANCEL SHOW

WOODWARD, Okla., Aug. 17 (U.P.)—The Elks' Rodeo, held here annually for many years and ranked as the world's third largest Wild West show, has been cancelled this year because of wartime transportation and other problems. Ted Pinkerton, president of the Woodward Elks Rodeo Assn., said it might be revived in 1945—or as soon as conditions improve.

than any other wartime year and almost equal to 1929's banner year.

Information on Santa's dilemma came from Chicago's merchandise mart, which keeps an account of his activities. Toy exhibitors reporting on the recent summer market said many department stores were reluctant to place orders for available merchandise, apparently convinced metal goods soon would appear, thus causing burdensome inventory losses.

BUYING RUSH LACKING

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Resale-minded investors continued to take on modest amounts of stocks with good postwar prospects in today's market but there was no real buying rush for most categories. The feeling still persisted that industrial transition worries may have been exaggerated and that a quick end of the European conflict might find bulls in control, as they were when "D-day" developed.

Dealings quickened at intervals after the opening but slow-downs were plentiful. Gains running to a point or more were trimmed near the close and scattered losers were in evidence. Transfers exceeded the million share mark for the first time in a week.

In the supported section were American Locomotive, American Airlines, Braniff Airways and American Radiator, all at peaks for 1944; Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Eastman Kodak, International Harvester, American Can, Douglas Aircraft and Allied Chemical.

Bonds, notably rails, tiled selectively higher.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Renewed efforts by Senator Bankhead to force raw cotton prices higher caused broad commission house and mill buying in the cotton market today. After weakhering heavy profit taking the market again turned strong in the afternoon on renewed buying by locals.

Produce Market

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 17 (AP)—Produce: all prices unchanged.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—General relief from drouth conditions in the eastern corn belt failed to encourage bears in the grain market today and a firm undertone prevailed in all trading pits with wheat showing independent strength.

Local demand for wheat found the market rather bare of offerings and prices advanced to new highs for the day.

Relative weakness of September oats was due to a rather steady flow of offerings without sufficient buying interest to absorb them readily.

At the close wheat was unchanged to ¼ higher than yesterday's finish, September $1.55 ¼. Oats were ¼ higher to 1 cent lower, September 71 ¼-½. Rye was unchanged to ⅛ lower, September $1.07 Barley was 3/8 higher to ¼ lower, September $1.14 ¾.

CHINESE FORCES LAUNCH FRESH OFFENSIVE

CHUNGKING, Aug. 17. (AP) — Chinese troops, in an apparent attempt to dislocate the Japanese drive in Hunan province, have started a fresh offensive in the Tungting lake area north and south of the Yangtze river and are continuing their advance northwestward toward Ichang, the high command said tonight.

Heavy fighting was reported in "the outer ring" of Hengyang, the fallen Chinese bastion on the Hankow-Canton railway. The Chinese appeared to be attempting to contain the Japanese around Hengyang and to frustrate their efforts to push south and close the railroad.

Defendants Named In Criminal Cases

Criminal cases filed this week in the office of Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner for the Lubbock division of the northern district of Texas, named the following as defendants: Charles J. Gaines, charged with unlawfully operating his automobile without obtaining ration coupons for gasoline, entered plea of innocence and bond was set at $250. F. M. Moses, charged with possession of ration book issued to him for use in connection with his automobile which had been sold to E. L. Snodgrass, Moses having to return coupon book to ration board, with unlawful possession of three A-12 and two "B" ration coupons, and with possession of four automobile tires, not being tires listed on his tire inspection record and was not person or agent of person to whom ration certificate for procurement of said tires, bond being set at $250 and had not been arraigned.

R. A. Scott, who entered a plea of innocence and waived hearing when arraigned on charges of unlawful possession of gasoline ration folder and losoe gasoline ration coupons, bond being set at $250; and F. G. McKinley, who entered plea of innocence and waived hearing on charges of unlawful possession of 38 serially numbered R-1 gasoline ration coupons, bond being set at $500.

Weather Is Cooler

officials reported, "seems to be in better crop-growing condition than any other county touched by lines of this division—which extend 1,140 miles: From Canyon to Sweetwater, from Texico to Lubbock, from Lubbock to Seagraves, from Lubbock to Bledsoe, from Lubbock to Crosbyton, from Floydada to Plainview, and from Altus, Okla., to Presidio."

Moist Areas Spotted

At that, Gordon explained, moist areas are spotted. In the northern part of Lubbock county, particularly in the northeast corner and extending into Floyd and Crosby counties, there is a definite dry area where crops noticeably are feeling drouth effects. In some sections of that area rainfall "could be considered as too late to help some crops, even if received today." Farmers in those sections faced late planting because of moisture deficiency, and have seen their crops have to compete with Johnson grass and weeds for what moisture did fall.

"There has been a significant change the last two weeks in crop conditions. Rain slightly more than a week ago gave a temporary impetus to cotton and sorghums growth, but soon was exhausted. W. P. Martin, farmer who has 1,000 acres of grain sorghum, said hot winds had been the principal bane to his efforts, but crop authorities said today's weather would have "remarkable effect toward maturing such crops.

For areas where rainfall might be too late for early crops, there could be seen heavy late feed were killing frost to be late.

Farmers who have irrigated have managed to "hold" their crops fairly well, Gordon said. Their pumps have run almost continuously in recent weeks, and production is not up generally to expectations, individual farmers have said.

Rainfall now would present possibilities of another problem, however: Of worms on cotton. From Aug. 20 to Sept. 1 likely would be the period of infestation if cloudy weather, punctuated by light showers, were to hold. Several farmers have informed Gordon they have rigged their dusting and spraying equipment against that possibility. "Heat, however, has kept down the egg hatch, and we may get by."

The cotton leaf worm, which attacks forming bolls and is not akin to the pink bollworm, figured in only a "light infestation," from July 25 to Aug. 5, farmers had reported, and caused almost negligible damage.

Hot weather has created yet another problem—with attendant necessity of polling farmers and determinine what their needs are likely to be.

"The heat has matured feedstuffs faster in some sections than had been expected, so we don't know how many farmers will be needing combines from other counties to help them harvest their crops," Gordon said. "We had expected that 25 per cent of the crop would be harvested in September, but we may have to begin next week. We'd be glad to have reports from farmers as to their needs, so that we can inform the farm labor office at Plainview."

Wainwright Sends Word From Jap Camp

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, commander on Bataan when it fell and a prisoner of the Japanese since, has told a Red Cross interviewer conditions in his camp in Formosa are "as good as can be reasonably expected."

Red Cross headquarters said today General Wainwright and two other officers, Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Beebe and Capt. George T. Schooley, have been visited within the last 90 days by a delegate of the international committee of the Red Cross. They were interviewed as spokesmen for the men held in their respective camps, all in Formosa.

The delegate was permitted to give the numbers of the camps, but not their locations.

Transit Company Is Returned To Owners

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17. (AP) —Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes returned control of the Philadelphia Transportation company to the owners at 11 a.m., today, stating that the Army's mission had been accomplished by the restoration of the city's transit facilities.

He said the troops who seized the strike-bound system August 3 would return now to their main job of "fighting Japs and Germans."

News Briefs

S/Sgt. Earl F. Phipps, son of Mrs. Jannie Phipps, 2402 Seventh street, was wounded in action in the European area, the War department announced today, according to the Associated Press.

Billy Buckman, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Buckman, route 1, Lorenzo, was admitted to Lubbock General hospital Wednesday for bruises and cuts received when a tractor ran over him. He was released from the hospital this morning. He was not seriously injured, it is believed, because he was in a low place in the field when struck by the tractor.

The condition of J. H. Crump, Shallowater farmer who was shot in the leg while hunting rabbits Wednesday, is satisfactory today, West Texas hospital reported. His left leg was amputated above the knee, attendants said. Crump's gun fell out of his car and accidentally discharged, hitting his leg.

Judson S. James of Dallas, executive manager of the War Finance Committee of Texas, and C. M. Smith of Plainview, regional manager, were honored in a luncheon a Lubbock hotel today noon by War Loan officials of Lubbock county, Geo. E. Benson, co-chairman of the Amarillo region, was official host. James announced that the Sixth War Loan drive had been set for Nov. 11-Dec. 7 and that the amount and state quotas would be announced about Sept. 15. He lauded the work of Lubbock county officials in previously war loan drives and cited the sale of 'E' bonds in the Fifth War Loan drive here as one of the outstanding accomplishments of the drive in the state.

President Returns

was another meeting with Prime Minister Winston Churchill, and soon, too. It has been the Roosevent-Churchill custom to meet about every six months since the war began and their last meeting was in Cairo and Tehran last November and December.

New Meetings Expected

With Allied landings both in Normandy and southern France well in progress, the time is believed very near when the President, the prime minister and their combined chiefs of staff will get together and talk over the next major Allied operations. Conceivably the Pacific will be the big point in the next British-American war talks and probably one of the basic reasons for Mr. Roosevelt's Pacific tour was to equip himself first hand for these later conferences.

At his press conference aboard the train, Mr. Roosevelt took occasion to discuss what procedure would be followed if the enemy collapses when Allied armies reach its border.

Taking Germany as the closest example, the President said that we won't let the Germans quit as they did when the Allies reached their boundaries in the last war.

Must Complete Job

If we fail to drive right on until we have completely captured the whole of Germany, the President said, the next German generation will be told that their nation actually had won the war. The same, he said, goes for Japan.

Mr. Roosevelt made plain that in his opinion the recent internal upheaval in Germany and the rapid Allied advances through France did not add up to German collapse, pointing out that on the basis of past performance, he personally did not expect a collapse until Allied armies reached the borders of Germany. And that might come from either direction, he said in reference to the Russian offensive in the east and the British-American-French campaigns in western and southern France and Italy.

After saying that the more trouble there is inside Germany the faster the war will end, he went on to express doubt that Germany will make any last-ditch defensive stand around Berlin, or even on the Rhine, for that matter.

He said the same application of "unconditional surrender" would be used in the case of Japan.

To "Fence Off" Japan

Elaborating on his Puget Sound Navy yard speech at Bremerton, Wash., last Saturday, the President said that because of Japan's long record of international dishonesty it was his idea that the Allies should build a figurative, operational fence around Japan after the war and maintain this tight bulwark until "years of proof" have shown without doubt that Japan is ready and willing to live in a community of peaceful nations.

Saying that the future defense of the Pacific would be a top item on his agenda on his return home, Mr. Roosevelt said that we now have the wherewithal—the planes and ships—to defend the Pacific and it is our duty to defend the Pacific coasts of Central and South America just as much as it is to defend their Atlantic coasts.

This, he said, is not just the Monroe doctrine, but common sense.

The President followed his Bremerton theme, too, in saying that it was of necessity that the Pacific war was our major responsibility and that we were a great deal stronger in the Pacific than any of our allies, such as Australia and New Zealand. He made this explanation of why few decisions on Pacific strategy go to the Anglo-American combined chiefs of staff, but instead to himself and his own joint staff chiefs.

Pacific decisions, excluding those involving the Mountbatten sphere of command in Burma, have been made right along by the American high command without going to London, he said.

On the domestic front, Mr. Roosevelt planned to turn first attention to postwar unemployment compensation legislation now pending in Congress. He said he planned to study both the Murray-Kilgore and George bills on this subject but did not commit himself on either measure. He said, too, that he had no plans for congressional messages in the near future.

Abernathy Woman Claimed By Death

A few hours after she had returned with her husband from Hedley, where she was said by friends to have visited the grave of her late father, Mrs. J. B. Parrack, about 50, of near Abernathy died last night in the Abernathy office of Dr. W. H. Williams.

Her husband said she complained of a "splitting headache" and said she would take headache powders.

Instead, officials and physicians said they were informed, she took strychnine by mistake.

Parrack rushed his wife from his farm six miles east of Abernathy to the physician's office, and she died there soon afterward, at 10:15 o'clock.

Hale County Attorney Ernest Tibbets, a deputy sheriff and City Marshall O. Rutledge of Abernathy determined no inquest was necessary, after a conference with R. D. Rankin, justice of peace, it was announced.

The Parracks had lived near Abernathy three years, relatives here said today.

She is survived by her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Carl Prestridge of Beaumont and three grandchildren.

The body is at Sanders Funeral home. Funeral arrangements are pending arrival of Mrs. Prestridge.

Invaders Advance

might mass armored reserves to make a counterattack.

Transport Columns Move

Enemy transport columns were seen moving out of Genoa, the historic port of northern Italy where there were heavy Allied pre-invasion bombings. These were going westward, apparently to protect Nazi-held Italy behind the Gothic line.

Smaller scale enemy movements also were seen between Nice and Imperia, on the coast just inside the Italian border.

Other fires were reported roaring along the Italian Riviera.

"All seacoast defenses have been silenced through effective air and naval bombardment," headquarters of Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch reported from the Riviera beachhead.

New Landings Reported

(The Vichy radio said new Allied landings had been made under a heavy naval barrage, and reported heavy fighting west of St. Raphael, about 20 miles southwest of Cannes.

(DNB said the Allies attempted new landings on both sides of Toulon, but declared they were repulsed. Last night the German radio said Nazi forces were carrying out demolitions in Cannes and were withdrawing.)

Allied casualties were reported moderate. The Allied command declared there was good evidence enemy losses were heavy.

Fliers reported fires roaring early today in the Nice harbor and along the Italian Riviera west of Genoa.

Nazis Wreck Harbors

These reconnaissance reports appeared to substantiate German reports that the Nazis had wrecked harbors at Nice, Cannes and St. Tropez.

Enemy radio reports indicated the Germans were fearful of landings around Genoa, Italy's leading port. Fires were seen west of there and may mean destruction of military stores.

Unofficial estimates places prisoners at about 3,000.

Unloading of men, guns, tanks and supplies exceeded expectations, an official announcement said.

"Latest reports received from the naval commander on the south coast of France, Vice Adm. Hewitt, say disembarkation of troops on various beaches are proceeding according to plan," an announcement said.

Convoys with reinforcements continue to arrive, empty convoys to leave."

Roosevelt-Truman

Wednesday night's meeting. Included in those attending were leading business and plofessional men of Lubbock and Slaton as well as prominent citizens from over the county.

The state-wide movement may result in wider differences in the state's two party factions and may even go so far as jo cause the holding of two conventions at Dallas and the naming of two groups of electors, Campbell predicted today. "Then it will be up to the courts to decide," he declared.

"Should Vote For Nominees"

"We believe that the party's electors should vote for the party's nominees and are unalterably opposed to any movement with an otherwise purpose," Campbell said today. "We don't think it is right for 15 of Texas' Democratic electors to take the attitude that they're going to vote for Byrd or O'Daniel instead of regular nominees of the party which they are morally bound to do," Campbell added, "and for that reason, this movement is sweeping the state and is due to reach its heights of fury at the September convention in Dallas Sept. 12."

The local club plans to send a delegation to Dallas for the preconvention meeting of pro-Roosevelt Democrats, Campbell said.

Speakers at last night's meeting included L. A. Howard, local attorney and livestock marketing executive; Mrs. W. G. Dingus, W. P. Florence of Slaton, G. H. Nelson, Campbell, Ellis and Jones. Campbell was temporary presiding officer and C. A. Bestwick, temporary secretary.

WOULD PROTECT WILL

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Emma Wells, 72-year-old widow has asked circuit court here to validate her will leaving $100,000 to her chauffeur because she says she fears an attack will be made against it by her cousins after her death. Her chauffeur, Lawrence E. Stanhope, 42, joined in the suit.

Congratulations To:

Pvt. and Mrs. Leroy Ankrum of 2306 Twenty-first street on birth of a son weighing 6 pounds 7 ounces at 9:20 o'clock Wednesday night in St. Mary's hospital. Pvt. Ankrum is stationed at South Plains Army Air field.

Oil Industry Asked To Criticize PAW

AUSTIN, Aug. 17. (AP)—The State Railroad commission today invited the oil industry to single out regulations of the Petroleum Administration for War which industry representatives believe might be abolished without impeding the war effort.

The invitation was given at a statewide proration hearing by Commission Chairman Beauford H. Jester who recently wrote Harold L. Ickes, petroleum administrator for war offering the commission's assistance in liquidating PAW after the war.

Meantime, said Jester, certain regulations of the federal agency might be abolished immediately as an aid to the industry and without impairing war production.

He asked operators for specific suggestions on regulations they believe might fall in this category.

The commission was hearing testimony on which to base a September production schedule.

PAW asked for total petroleum liquid production of 2,303,000 barrels daily in Texas next month, including 2,163,000 barrels of crude oil. The crude recommendation was a 54,000-barrel increase over the August certification by PAW.

Purchaser nominations for September, filed with the commission, totaled 2,333,700 barrels daily.

U. S. Casualties

emy units escaping from the pocket are "pretty well shredded."

In two days, he said, American fighter planes seeking to hamper the German withdrawal have destroyed over 1,000 trucks and barges, 6,000 railway cars and 594 locomotives.

"All of this sounds optimistic and there is no reason to disguise the fact that the trend of military affairs is favorable," McCloy said.

"The Germans seem definitely on the toboggan," he added.

"But even where the Germans have been cornered, as were their armies southwest of Caen, they have fought stubbornly. When they were finally compelled to withdraw they fought bitterly at points of the most danger. They have large forces in the west not yet in battle. Our own soldiers are engaging in a great deal of heavy fighting in which our men are being killed and wounded and face constant danger.

"Under these circumstances it is sometimes repugnant to soldiers to hear that the war is over or nearly. We recently heard of a case of a soldier in western France who received from home a letter to this effect.

"The soldier wrote back: 'The Heinies down the road don't seem to know about it yet'."

McCloy announced that total American Army casualties in all theaters whose next of kin had been notified by July 29 were 244,775 — 45,491 killed, 113,977 wounded, 42,102 missing and 43,205 prisoners of war.

These included only part of the French casualties which McCloy announced. Of the wounded, he said, 57,956 have returned to duty.

A Navy casualty list released today showed 54,699 announced casualties to date for the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, bringing the notified total for all service including the Army to 299,474. However, this does not include a large part of the casualties to date.

The Navy list showed 22,665 dead, 17,819 wounded, 9,746 missing and 4,469 prisoners.

Funeral Set Friday For Curtis Youth

Funeral services for Pvt. John William Curtis, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Curtis, 1810 Avenue R, will be held at 10 a.m. Friday in the Calvary Baptist church with Rev. C. J. McCarty officiating.

Curtis, who has been in the Army since April, died Tuesday morning after a short illness in Harlingen where he was stationed. He was graduated from Lubbock High school in 1943, and prior to entering the service he was with the Plains Typewriter service.

Other survivors are a sister, Jo Ruth Curtis; one brother, Pvt. Arbye Lee Curtis, jr., of Camp Howze, Tex.; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cutbirth of Big Lake and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Curtis of Windom.

Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery with Rix Funeral home in charge.

Yanks Sweep Toward Paris

to stem the tide of American power.

Chartres itself fell after a brief but bloody fight with one band of crack Nazi trops that Miller described as "the toughest and best" enemy soldiers he had seen in France.

The Nazis were ordered to stand and die in Chartres, but they quit after French patriots inside the city rebelled when the Americans stormed in from the west.

Other Germans Menaced

The whirlwind American thrust on Paris also menaced the rear of the German armies battling to escape annihilation in the Normandy pocket.

Front dispatches gave a contradictory picture of the fighting around the pocket. One United Press reporter at the front said 50,000 Germans were trapped hopelessly in Normandy, following the Canadian capture of Falaise, at the eastern end of the escape corridor.

Other information reaching Gorrell with the Americans said the trap had been broken and that the bulk of the German 7th army had escaped to the east.

All accounts of the march on Paris and the Seine river, however, agreed that the Americans were riding roughshod through relatively feeble enemy resistance.

Yanks Cross Eure

Gorrell reported that the Americans crossed the Eure river at an unspecified point west of the Dreux-Chartres highway and established a bridgehead on the east bank of the Aunay river at a point 32 miles southwest of the French capital.

The latter spearhead presumably was near the village of Auneau, 10 miles east of Chartres.

The column advancing on Orleans, Gorrell said, captured Chateaudun, 28 miles northwest of the Loire industrial center, and St. Callaias, 52 miles west of Orleans and 37 miles due north of Tours, another major objective.

Censorship Still Tight

Information trickling through the still-tight Allied censorship and from the German high command made it clear that the Americans were striking on a major scale and already had breached the last natural barriers west of the tottering French capital.

In three days the Americans had driven more than 60 miles beyond their probable jumpoff point along the Le Mans-Alencon line to Dreux and Chartres, and gained about 80 miles in the drive to Orleans.

Those lightning advances suggested that the hard-pressed Germans, staggered by the resounding defeat of their Seventh army in Normandy, were able to offer only the feebiest resistance to the American armor.

50,000 Nazis In Trap

The battle of the Normandy pocket, meanwhile, appeared to be nearing a disastrous end for some 50,000 Nazis still pinned down under the converging guns and armor of three Allied armies.

Veteran Canadian infantrymen stormed through the burning town of Falaise and pushed on 1,000 yards to the south and east last night, while American and British troops from the west and south drove as much as seven miles into the center of the pocket.

Allied tanks and armored cars ran wild through the heart of the German defenses, killing hundreds of fleeing Nazis and squeezing the bulk of the enemy force into a narrow corner north of Argentan and southwest of Falaise.

Some enemy units admittedly were running the gauntlet of Allied bombs and shells and escaping under cover of darkness, but a dispatch from United Press War Correspondent William A. Wilson said flatly that the Falaise-Argentan gap was closed to all large scale enemy movement.

French Revolting

Gingolph, 30 miles northeast of Annemasse near the south short of Lake Geneva, surrendered to a Fighting French detachment which surrounded it at 10 a.m.

In this action the French, armed with light artillery, mortars and machineguns, rooted the Germans from a hotel. (The absence in this dispatch of a mention of casualties suggested that the Germans gave up without a fight). Some of the patriots were men of St. Gingolph who returned after hiding since the Germans burned part of the town July 23. About 250 others came from Evian and Thonon, now fully under French control.

Emmons Commanding Alaskan Department

HEADQUARTERS, Alaskan Department, Aug. 17. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Delos Carleton Emmons, former commander of the Hawaiian department and western defense command, today was announced as commanding the Alaskan department. He succeeds Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, jr., and has been so serving since June 21.

Brig. Gen. Robert M. Bathurst, who came here as General Emmons' chief of staff, served with him in Hawaii and in the western defense command post.

General Emmons served in Alaska, for two years as an infantry lieutenant prior to the last war and was an observer in the Aleutians last year.

Dewey Warns Of Rule By 'Big Four'

By JACK BELL

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 17. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared today that if the Washington post-war security conference resulted in a permanent four-power alliance "to dominate the world," the United Nations will have descended to power politics and "we will have lost the war before we have won it."

In a statement frankly interpreted by aides as critical of proposals made by President Roosevelt and Russian representatives for an enduring partnership between the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China, the Republican presidential nominee insisted that as soon as the world was brought to order by the big four, the small nations must have a voice in deciding their future destinies.

Represents GOP Views

Telling reporters he believed he spoke the views of the Republican party, Dewey said that "in the kind of permanent world organization we seek, all nations, great and small, must be assured of their full rights."

He had received "disturbing reports," Dewey said, that the conversations which were to begin between diplomatic representatives of the four big Allied countries at the old Georgetown mansion of Dumbarton Oaks in Washington next week might be aimed toward a permanent four-power military alliance.

Mere Alliance Called Tragedy

"It would be a tragedy if the coming conference among the British, Russian, Chinese and ourselves should be distracted from the task of planning for a genuine world organization for peace by proposals which amount merely to a four-power military alliance to control the world," he said in an 80-word statement handed to newsmen who gathered in the executives offices.

To this he added, when reporters asked him to put it on the record, the following statement:

"If we get off on the wrong foot of cynical power politics, we will have lost the war before we have won it."

DEWEY PUTS SPOTLIGHT ON KNOTTY PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17. (AP) — Governor Thomas E. Dewey's warning against "cynical power politics" today highlighted one of the knotty problems facing framers of the post-war peace:

How to give small nations a voice in the world peace-enforcing agency and yet satisfy demands, notably from Russians, that the little countries not be permitted to impede swift action to quell threatened aggression.

There was no immediate comment from the State department on the statement by Governor Dewey, who said he was deeply disturbed by reports indicating that at the Dumbarton Oaks conference opening next Monday "it is planned to subject the nations of the world, great and small, permanently to the coercive power of the four nations holding this conference."

Called "Timely Warning"

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) called Dewey's statement a "timely warning." Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate foreign relations committee had no immediate comment.

Senator Thomas (D-Okla) said: "Dewey's remarks are strangely reminiscent of the Republican chant of the last war. It sounds like a theme song of isolation. If the big powers don't get together and form an organization with power to back it up, certainly the little fellows can't be expected to do anything. They (Republicans) are beginning to sidestep, question and straddle. Whatever is proposed from now on will be opposed by Dewey."

Senator Hatch (D-NM): "Governor Dewey is to be commended for expressing opposition to a mere military alliance as an effective means to preserve the peace of the world. I truly hope he and the responsible leadership of his party will now come out for a strongly supported world organization of all peace-loving nations, backed with force to prevent aggression and the use of which for such purpose will never be in doubt."

Question Under Discussion

The question of the role of small nations has been under discussion for some time.

In a White House statement last June, President Roosevelt outlined a plan for a post-war peace organization, including a council, "elected annually by the fully representative body of all nations, (the United States, Britain, Russia and China) and a suitable number of other nations."

Recently, in an unofficial magazine article, a Russian writer suggested that it would be wise to leave decisions on the use of force to quell aggression to powerful countries with arms on hand.

American officials have indicated the opinion that a way can be found to give the small nations their way, and yet assure speedy decisions by the world organization. How this would be done has not been disclosed but it was hinted that the voting rules might be so arranged as to prevent a minority of small nations from blocking action by the council.

It is believed that the Soviet delegates will be willing to go along if measures for giving the weaker nations a voice in decisions provide also for adequate peace enforcement.

Limited Peace Setup Favored

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (U.P.)—The Russian proposal for a world security organization would limit its work solely to safeguarding peace and security and specifically prohibit it from engaging in "superfluous functions" concerned with general world welfare, it was learned today.

The objective of the Russians—to prevent the world organization from bogging down because of too many diverse functions—is also sought in the outline made public by President Roosevelt on June 15. But the American plan would merely limit the council of big nations to the work of keeping the peace and would allot to the assembly of all nations the job of promoting world welfare through various other technical organizations.

Election Most Important

The most important job of the assembly under the rough outline prepared by the United States would be election of the "suitable number of other nations" which, with the big four, would make up the council.

The Russians, it was understood, object even to keeping any ties between the future international security organization and the international labor office, of which Russia is not a member.

Thus the United States and the Soviet Union agree in principle—that the organization to keep the peace must not be saddled with a lot of other duties, too. However, there is a difference—the United States thinks an assembly could do the general welfare work, while Soviet Russia would sever the ties completely.

Varied Weather Hits Points Over Nation

(By The Associated Press)

A woman was killed by lightning, at least three other persons were hurt, subway and surface trains and street car service were crippled, and electric lighting was affected when a wind-driven rainstorm struck New York Wednesday night to bring a few minutes relief to sweltering millions.

The thermometer dived 15 degrees, from 82 to 67, in 10 minutes but promptly afterward resumed its climb.

Relief from the heat along the Atlantic seaboard from Maine to Virginia, however, was not expected before Friday or Saturday. The hope was based on reports that in the past two days western and middle-western areas had cooled somewhat.

Thundershowers in Iowa, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana had lowered the mercury and a substantial drop in temperature was forecast for Michigan today. Farther west in Minnesota and the Dakotas actually cool weather was reported. Ohio, which has had 44 days of temperatures above 90 degrees, also was expected to enjoy more moderate weather today.

Former Rice Football Star Killed In Crash

HOUSTON, Aug. 17. (AP)—Major Thomas F. Vickers, football star at Rice institute in 1935, 1936 and 1937 and holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with seven Oak Leaf Clusters, was killed yesterday in a plane crash at Paterson field, Ohio.

A B-26 pilot who had participated in 55 combat missions over Africa, Sicily and Italy, Maj. Vickers returned to the United States last November, spent a month in Florida and was assigned to Paterson field at Dayton, early this year as a flight test officer.

He was graduated from Fort Worth's Paschal High school and funeral services and burial will be in Fort Worth. Survivors include his widow and a 13-months-old son, Thomas Francis, of Houston and his mother, Mrs. Alice Vickers of Fort Worth.

Hugh J. McClellan, secretary of Lubbock Masonic bodies, said members of the Yellowstone lodge and all lodges in this area were eligible to take the examination.

Gen. Walker Visits Wounded Of 36th At Temple; Says Men Of Division Better Than Nazis

TEMPLE, Aug. 17 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Fred L. Walker and Texas veterans of the fighting 36th division which he formerly commanded, recalled incidents and old friends of the Italian campaign from Salerno's bloody beaches almost to Rome during a reunion here.

The general was guest at an informal dinner last night given him by the 36th division memorial division, after he had rejoined his former battle-scarred fighters at McCloskey general hospital.

Forty men from the division greeted Gen. Walker in one of the hospital's large wards; others packed a lounge room adjoining.

Some had left arms or legs in Italy, a few came in wheel chairs, several grinned and others tried to come to attention as Gen. Walker strode into the ward, accompanied by Brig. Gen. James A. Bethea, hospital commander.

Gen. Walker asked each man's regiment and company and in nearly every case recalled other men, officers and enlisted men, from that outfit.

Encouraged Men

For each man he had words of encouragement; a few he called by name before they introduced themselves.

The general told Pvt. Kalman Hamorszky of Waco: "Well, I know we both wish we were back over there with the boys."

One 36th soldier, telling of the battle in which he was wounded, mentioned a hill "on the left of our outfit."

"No, that was on our right. The French were on your left," said General Walker.

The soldier thought a moment, said: "By golly, that's right, sir."

Praises Courage, Skill

To the group in the lounge room, he said: "You men have something to be proud of all your lives. Your courage and fighting skill helped make a great combat division. Your country, and all its people, are grateful to you. And so is your former commander.

In an interview earlier in the day at Dallas, Gen. Walker said that the soldier of the 36th division was "man for man, better than the Germans because he was more cheerful, more confident and a better marksman."

In Dallas visiting friends, the general said that last September the German prisoners taken by the Allies were arrogant and convinced Germany would win the war.

Nazis Expect Defeat

"By the time I left recently to come back to this country, the prisoners we took were convinced Germany would not win the war. The majority were quite willing to talk and they gave us a great deal of useful information," said Walker, now commanding the Fort Benning, Ga., infantry school.

"One prisoner, without any urging, actually told me a conversation he had overheard the night before between his colonel and the colonel's staff in which the officer had given some orders. The prisoner repeated the orders. As it turned out, he was telling the truth.

Walker recounted the story of the only enlisted man who ever talked back to him.

The stocky, tanned native of Ohio, admitted that the offender, a Texas sergeant, went unpunished.

"We were in hot pursuit of the Germans," Walker said, "and I didn't want them to get away. I was traveling along and came across a group of weary men who were taking a rest. I picked out a sergeant and ordered him to get on the move, explaining that speed was necessary.

"A few minutes later I came back to this position and the men were still there. I found the sergeant and told him to get going.

"'Damn it, general,'" he replied, "'I'm going but I'm not going until I get my men together.'"

General Walker repeated his belief that the 36th division participated in the invasion of southern France. He estimated the present strength of the 36th at 16,000 men and said it had suffered about 10,000 casualties, killed, wounded and missing, in the Italian fighting.
