BEST CHRISTMAS PRESENT OF ALL

Rain--Real, Wet Rain--Is Due To Fall Over Plains Tonight

Rain—real, wet rain—is predicted for the South Plains tonight and tomorrow.

The Weather bureau north of the city said this morning that welcome moisture was as close as Amarillo on the north, Mineral Wells on the east.

And there'll be more rain tomorrow, both in East and West Texas, the Weather bureau in Dallas told the Associated Press.

There's even a possibility that the north portion of the Panhandle could have a white Christmas. The bureau forecast that rain in that section will turn to snow tonight. But elsewhere, Santa Claus had better leave his reindeer and sleigh at home and travel by more conventional means.

From midnight until 8 o'clock this morning, .07 inch of moisture had fallen at the Amarillo Weather station.

The Lone Star state—and particularly the South Plains—can use every drop of moisture it gets. Wednesday the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported that recent rains helped Texas crops and ranges but the long drouth is not broken.

Rain is especially needed in the southern high plains and low rolling plains, where all signs have indicated a worsening of dust conditions unless moisture is forthcoming.

A temperature range of 32 to 60 degrees is predicted for the Lubbock area today and Friday, and probably for Christmas day.

Meanwhile, this morning South Plains residents were watching gray overcast skies and hoping for the best Christmas present of all—rain.

CAROLERS VISIT FIRST FAMILY

President Starts Christmas Holiday

(By The Associated Press)

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Dec. 23—The Christmas celebration started early for President Truman.

A Christmas tree, 10-feet tall, stood today in the parlor of the big frame white house on North Delaware street where Mr. Truman bustled about in a holiday mood.

Mrs. Truman and the President's daughter, Margaret, had spent three hours Tuesday night decorating the tree to have it ready when Mr. Truman flew in from Washington by plane yesterday.

It was lit up last night when two groups of carolers got down to the business of serenading the White House family from the sidewalks bordering the spacious lawn.

Singers Tune Up

The singers, from the William Chrisman high school and the Independence junior high school, tuned up with "Silent Night, Holy Night." They went on to "Noel" and then the popular "White Christmas." And finally, "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing."

The President listened from his study, but made no appearance. Mrs. Truman and Margaret appeared on the front porch and waved at the crowd.

Mr. Truman planned to drive to nearby Kansas City again today for more work in his penthouse quarters in the Hotel Muehlebach on reports and other official papers flown to Missouri by courier plane.

Spends Time At Work

The President spent two hours at work yesterday afternoon.

His press secretary, Charles G. Ross, said the chief executive will work while here on phases of his state of the union message to the new Congress, as well as on his budget and economic messages.

Mr. Truman read with interest accounts of the hanging of Hideki Tojo and six other Japanese warlords, but withheld his reaction.

"No comment," he told report-

Horsemeat, Texas? Why, It's Houston To Lubbock Folks

HOUSTON, Dec. 23 (U.P.)—Houston's "horsemeat" tag will last for many a year.

For example, take the Christmas card C. J. Glasgow received yesterday from a friend in Lubbock.

Truman Salary Boost Planned

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 — For the first time in almost 40 years Congress may vote a pay raise next month for the President.

If it does, it will make Harry S. Truman the government's first $100,000-a-year-man.

A Senate civil service subcommittee has a bill ready which would give Mr. Truman a salary increase of $25,000 a year—plus a $50,000 addition to his present expense allowance of $40,000.

The last time a president got a raise was back in 1909 when William Howard Taft was chief executive. Congress at that time upped the pay from $50,000 to $75,000.

Other Raises Proposed

The subcommittee's bill also would give pay increases to other top-level officials in an effort to keep good men in government service and attract young people into public careers.

Here are the bill's other provisions for pay boosts:

Cabinet officers—from $15,000 to $25,000.

Vice president and speaker of the House—from $20,000 a year to $30,000 plus $10,000 expense accounts.

Undersecretaries, and heads of independent agencies, boards and commissions — salaries raised to levels of $17,500, $20,000 and $22,500 depending on their responsibilities.

In addition, the bill would add $230 to the yearly pay of 13,598

Committee Report Says CIO Taking Steps To Oust Reds

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The House un-American Activities committee tied a Red tag today to 13 union officers in the CIO.

But it said the CIO has taken steps to purge itself.

Four of the men named by the committee as "Communist officers" are union presidents. They are Harry Bridges of the longshoremen's union, Ben Gold of the fur and leather workers, Abram Flaxer of the Pnited Public Workers of America, and Donald Henderson of the food, tobacco and agriculture workers.

In a report, in question and answer form, on "100 Things You Should Know About Communism and Labor," the committee also:

Would Send Soldiers

1. Warned the working man that if he went on strike under a Communist government, the government "would send soldiers around with guns, to kill you."

Question: "Kill Me, personally?"

Answer: "To kill you, personally."

2. Listed 20 CIO unions in which it said Communist leadership was "strongly entrenched" in 1944. It said the Reds are "still in the saddle" in a number of them, such as the United Electrical Workers and longshoremen's unions.

In a war, the committee said, the longshoremen could "wreck the whole U. S. fighting power." It said the electrical workers union has "at its mercy" leading plants making important parts for guns, tanks, torpedoes, range finers, sound detectors, motors, cameras and other vital equipment.

3. Named 33 organizations as Communist or Communist-front groups which the committee said are trying to influence labor. Among them was the American Labor party.

4. Said unions would be "wiped out" if the Communists ever ruled the country.

5. Placed responsibility for cleaning out Red-infested unions primarily on rank and file members.

6. Quoted the Reds themselves as saying that in case of war between this country and Russia, they would "stop the manufacture and transport" of munitions and war materials through mass demonstrations, strikes and picketing.

Murder Trial Is Deadlocked

MARBURG, Germany, Dec. 23. (AP)—A U. S. military government court appeared to be deadlocked today over a verdict in the trial of Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo, charged with killing her American soldier husband.

The court met at 4 p. m. (9 a. m. CST) and Presiding Judge Dewitt White of Morgantown, W. Va., said:

No Verdict Reached

"The court regrets that it has not yet reached a verdict."

The three judges had announced yesterday they expected to give a verdict at this time.

The court recessed until 8 p. m. (1 p. m. CST) on the chance it may reach a verdict by that time.

Mrs. Ybarbo is accused of killing Sgt. Ybarbo of Goliad, Texas. The Malden, Mass., woman appeared pale but composed when she entered court today. She did not change expression when the court made its statement. As she left the courtroom, her lawyer, Stanley H. Gaines of Brookline, Mass., whispered to a friend:

"Is this delay good or bad?"

The court gave no indication of the nature of the disagreement. The other two judges are John C. Campbell of Alhambra, Calif., and Eldon V. Soper of Glendale, Calif.

PRINTER IS KILLED

27 Persons Killed In Airplane Crash

MADRID, Dec. 23. (U.P.)—An Iberia Airlines plane crashed in the mountains near Barcelona today, killing the 27 persons aboard.

The plane was en route from Barcelona to Madrid when it crashed in the Paondols Sierra mountains in the province of Tarragona, soon after taking off from Barcelona.

It was believed that all aboard were Spanish.

There was no indication as to the cause of the crash.

Strike Alert For Five States Ends With Settlement

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Dec 23—A threatened Christmas holidays strike of Southwestern Bell Telephone company union employes in five states was averted with a settlement in pre-dawn hours today.

The 50,000 members of the southwestern division of the Communications Workers of America will receive $3 to $6 a week increases for an average aggregate increase of 10½ cents.

Will Cost Millions

The total cost of the increases to the telephone company is estimated at $11,500,000. Of that amount $750,000 is for adjustments of so-called fringe items.

Union and company spokesmen in announcing the settlement of negotiations which have been in progress for nine months, said details of the contract remain to be worked out.

The settlement was reached at 2 a. m. Central Standard time, four hours before a threatened walkout of union members in Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Alert Is Called Off

Some company employes here were notified last night to stay away from their jobs unless they were informed otherwise. Gus Cramer, general strike director for the union, was busy at union headquarters this morning sending notices to 12 regional strike directors that the strike alert should be called off.

In the tense hours preceding the settlement, there appeared to be little prospect of breaking the stalemate which had prompted union officials to predict a strike before Christmas.

Federal Conciliator Anton E. Johnson earlier had announced the company's rejection of a compro-

Soldiers Sentenced In Japanese Slaying

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 23 (U.P.) — Two United States Army recruits have been sentenced to life imprisonment for the Aug. 4 murder of Akiri Nagai, Japanese chauffeur of the Australian mission in Tokyo, the Eighth army announced today.

The soldiers, Arthur D. Smith, 24, of Baltimore, Md., and Eugene K. Wilson, 18, of Kilgore, Tex., also were convicted of homicide in the death of Tokutaro Yamaguchi, a Japanese.

Both were members of the 56th quartermaster supply and sales company in Yokohama.

The prosecution charged that Smith and Wilson commandeered the car and chauffeur of the Australian mission and that the car, driven by Smith, struck and killed Yamaguchi who was riding a bicycle. Later, the prosecution charged, the pair kicked Nagai until he was unconscious and then tossed his body into a river.

Houston Boys Admit Thefts, Burglaries

HOUSTON, Dec. 23 (U.P.)—Police held six 'teen-age boys today after they admitted a round of crimes including two Houston car thefts, and burglaries in Conroe and Lamarque.

Two of the boys, both 17, were on parole, from the Gatesville school for boys, and another, 16, had escaped from the same institution.

In a car in which five of the youths rode, detectives found a quantity of jewelry. At the home of the sixth boy, $1200 in jewelry was picked up.

Lubbock Boy's Santa Letter Wins Contest

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

A wish for Christmas happiness for children all over the world was the request that 10-year-old Bob Parsons made in his letter to Santa Claus.

For that, and for excellent quality of his letter, Bob today was named grand prize winner among hundreds of thousands of Texas school children in the third annual "Letter to Santa Claus" contest sponsored by Emilie and Fritz Toepperwein of the Highland Press of Boerne.

Wing Trip To Camp

The son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Parsons of 2503 Twenty-fourth, Bob's winning letter has won him an expenses-paid trip to any summer camp of his choosing next summer.

Bob's letter, decorated with his own sketch of Santa Claus and his sleigh and a water-color of the Western Hemisphere showing Santa Claus' route, read as follows:

2503 Twenty-fourth St.
Lubbock, Texas
Dec. 8, 1948

"Dear Santa,

"I hope all your reindeer are well for their Christmas trip, because there are people all over the world that need the following things, food, clothing, home, and toys.

"It would be too bad to disappoint them. There are a lot of things I would like but other people need them worse.

"Please don't forget the orphans; they need lots of things."

With Love, Bob Parsons.

Is Good In Art Work

Bob's teacher, Miss Gertrude Herm, and his principal, Mrs. Ivy Savage of Roscoe Wilson school, speak highly of the handsome fourth-grader. They describe him as remarkably good in art work. He has attended Roscoe Wilson all four years of his schooling.

Runner-up winners were from Laredo, Waco, Fort Worth, Galveston, Boerne, Paliacios, Dalhart, Houston, San Antonio, McAllen, Bay City, San Angelo and Huntsville, Mr. and Mrs. Toepperwein advised the Evening Journal.

Bob's tenth birthday will be Saturday — Christmas day. He

One Dead, Six Hurt In Groom Collision

AMARILLO, Dec. 23 (AP)—Mrs. Harvey William Helms, 66, of Elgin, Ill., was killed and six other persons were injured today in a collision of two cars on a fog-shrouded highway at Groom.

Her husband, 68 years old, and Mrs. Clyde J. Newman, 20, of Scott City, Kas., were seriously hurt.

Clyde Newman, his two children, and Lawrence E. Linder, 17, also of Scott City, were less seriously injured.

GOODFELLOWS SEEK CARS, DRIVERS

Helpers Needed To Give Out Packages

Cars and drivers will be needed early Saturday morning to help distribute Christmas packages to the needy children of Lubbock, the Chief Goodfellow reminded today.

Those in position to assist are asked to hold themselves in readiness. Detailed instructions will be published Friday.

Final Report Made

First preparations for the distribution were announced along with the final report of contributions to the Goodfellow fund. The final total, $4,081.20, is the largest since the Goodfellows were organized in Lubbock 14 years ago.

The final list includes $200 from the concert in Senior High school auditorium last Monday night by the Texas Tech concert band and Men's Glee club under the sponsorship of Kappa Kappa Psi, national band fraternity. The fraternity paid all expenses of the concert. Every cent realized from ticket sales, above federal taxes, went to the Goodfellows.

Now for some further details regarding the preparations for the distribution of packages Saturday morning:

The packaging is almost complete. Each package contains new toys, candy, fruits and nuts, all in generous quantities. Each package will be addressed to the child who will receive it.

Clashes Begin In Holy Land

TEL AVIV, Israel, Dec. 23 (AP)—Fighting broke out today between Jewish and Egyptian forces along the Negev front.

Both air and ground forces were reported involved, shattering hopes for armistice talks soon between the two nations.

The Negev is the southern desert area of Palestine. It was assigned to Jews under the United Nations partition plan of 1947. An Israeli October offensive drove back Egyptian troops astride roads into the area and a brigade of Egyptians was bottled up at Faluja.

Ready To Negotiate

Israel notified the United Nations Dec. 10 she was ready to negotiate a step by step release of the Faluja garrison, and to discuss demarcation lines throughout the area).

The clashes began late last night between infantry and some

Turkey To Receive U. S. Navy Vessels

LONDON, Dec. 23. (AP) — Two battle-tested American destroyers, the Buchanan and McCalla, are being transferred to the Turkish navy, U. S. Navy headquarters here said today.

The destroyers are being reactivated at the naval shipyard at Charleston, S. C., under an enactment approved last April authorizing additional funds for the Greek-Turkish aid program.

Both vessels were built in 1942 and have extensive World War II battle records. U. S. crews will sail them to Turkey early in 1949.

Woman, Two Children Injured In Accident

FORT WORTH, Dec. 23. (AP)—A 27-year-old Tulia mother and her children were injured early today when their car overturned four times.

Mrs. O. J. Love, the mother, suffered a possible broken left shoulder when her car was involved in a collision in Fort Worth. Her son, 4, and daughter, 8, suffered less serious injuries.

Music, Communion And Sermons Planned

Christmas Services Will Be Conducted At Churches Here

Christmas Eve and Christmas day service will be conducted in several Lubbock churches, with music, communion, and other forms of worship observing the birthdate of Christ.

At St. Paul's Episcopal church, a service will open at 11:15 o'clock Friday night. Caroling outside the church, by the choir, a candlelight procession into the church and presentation of Gounod's "Mass in C" will be included in the service.

Outside the church, the prelude will be "Pastorale (Guilmant). The choir will sing "O Holy Night." During the processional into the church, the choir will sing "O Come, All Ye Faithful." Special music before communion begins will be a traditional French carol; "O Lovely Voices of the Sky," with Miss Anne Crenshaw as soloist and "Sleep Holy Babe," with Marion Canterbury as soloist, both with choral accompaniment. During the communion service

Decrease In Cost Of Living Continues Through November

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 — Government figures today disclosed a continued decline in living costs in November.

The index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics for mid-November was down 8/10ths of one percent from a month earlier. The fall was due to a drop in food prices for the fourth consecutive month.

The first decline from a steady 1948 living cost climb came in mid-October. So today's figures recorded the second straight monthly decrease in cost of living.

The index measures the retail prices of goods and services purchased by moderate-income families in large cities. Food is the major item in the index.

Food prices have continued to go down slightly since mid-November. That points to a third decline in the living cost index when figures for mid-December become available a month from now.

The index for mid-November was 172.2 percent of the

Aussie Compares Dutch Acts With Hitler Invasions

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Dec. 23 — Australia demanded today that Holland be expelled from the United Nations unless she halts her attack on the Indonesian republic.

Col. W. R. Hodgson of Australia told the U. N. security council the Dutch assault on the Indonesians was "the first clear-cut deliberate violation of the U. N. charter by a member."

He called the council's attention to article 25 of the charter which says "members of the United Nations agree to accept and carry out the decisions of the security council."

U. S. Proposal Backed

Dr. C. L. Hsia of China opened the second day of discussion of the Indonesian dispute in the security council. He declared China will support the resolution submitted by Dr. Philip C. Jessup of the United States yesterday.

The American resolution calls for an immediate halt to the fighting and orders the Dutch to withdraw to positions occupied before they began their so-called "police action" against Indonesia.

Colombia and Syria joined in supporting the American proposal yesterday, so China's decision brought to four the number of nations certain to support the resolution.

Order Claimed Violated

Hodgson joined the Chinese delegate in saying the Netherlands clearly had broken the security council's cease fire order of Aug 1, 1947. He said they also had violated a "solemn undertaking" to observe that council resolution as well as later resolutions on the same subject.

He said the final Dutch communication to the Indonesian Republicans was "an ultimatum calling for complete surrender on every point," which allowed only 17½ hours for a reply.

The Australian rapped the council table as he declared:

"This is worse than Hitler did to the Netherlands in 1940."

Article six of the U. N. charter provides that a member "which has persistently violated the principles contained in the present charter" may be expelled by the assembly upon the recommenda-

Man Shot In Scuffle Here

William M. Kirk, about 43, described as a resident of a trailer camp here was in Lubbock Memorial hospital today for treatment of a shotgun wound of the left arm below the elbow. One bone was broken, but no artery was severed, a surgeon said.

A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney, and members of the police said they were informed by Joe Law of 1500-block Eighth that the shooting happened there when he and Kirk were struggling over the gun.

Blood Trail Found

Police received a call at 1:20 a. m. from the hospital and Patrolmen W. C. Johnson and F. O. Randall went to the Eighth street address. They were joined by Sgt. L. D. Blakney and Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson.

A trail of blood led from the premises, they and Salyars said.

The investigators were informed from the hospital that Kirk "flagged down" a passing motorist who took him to Lubbock Memorial.

No Charges Expected

The other principal gave Salyars an oral statement, but the victim told the investigator he did not wish to press charges, that "we are friends."

Salyars said he was informed that the men wrestled over the gun and that it "went off." They were the only persons in the house at the time, he was told.

An argument preceded the shooting, Law said, explaining that he grappled for the gun after Kirk had snatched it up. He said he was struck several times and that he had been treated for a head wound.

Dangling Ends Of 1948 To Be Picked Up During Coming Year

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Has 1948 left you with a feeling of unfinished business?

Do you feel that somehow you've been living through a year that was only getting ready for next year, or the next?

The year 1948 has left an awful lot of loose ends dangling.

First, of course, there were the Russians, and Berlin, and the United Nations, and the Marshall plan: all unfinished business.

By mid-year the Russians, who had been getting tougher by the minute, got very tough and threw a land blockade around Berlin.

We had to begin shipping in supplies by air, a very expensive job. And we're still doing that. No one knows how it will end.

Part of Cold War

But everyone knows it's only part of the vast non-shooting war between this country and Russia.

And in the United Nations the Russians screamed and called names and got names screamed back at them.

This performance of the diplomats wasn't very pretty to the plain people everywhere who thought the U.N. had been created to bring about some kind of world harmony.

But at least at year's end the U.S. is still in existence, although looking pale.

And the Marshall plan got started. The 80th Congress voted billions for it to help Western Europe recover and stop Communism.

The plan is reported to be doing some good. But it will have to go on for maybe three more years or longer.

Demos To Have Chance

And here at home, looking back, 1948 seemed to be a year of endless war between President Trumanman and the 80th Congress, run by Republicans.

The "do-nothing Congress," he called it. He made that a slogan in his fight for election to a full four-year term.

And he won, much to the embarrassment of Washington's political experts and the nation's polltakers who said he didn't have a chance.

This startling victory alone forced everyone to realize that 1948 truly was a year of unfinished business.

With the Democrats back in control of Congress in 1949, they'll have a chance to do what they said in 1948 they'd do if they got elected.

Spy Probe Unfinished

And what they promised was really a promise to revive and carry on the new deal which had gone into a coma before President Roosevelt died in 1945.

So the Democrats took their election as an order from the people to go on with their unfinished business.

And there was a little more business begun but not finished in 1948: the draft, to build up the armed forces.

Since the reason for the draft in the first place—worry about Russia—is still unfinished business, the draft is still on the books.

And there was the spy case. That's really unfinished business.

A federal grand jury indicted Alger Hiss, former State department official, on a perjury charge in this case.

He was the only one against whom any charge was made. And the grand jury which indicted him on Dec. 15 folded up the same day.

That jury had been investigating spying for 18 months and, since its life was only 18 months, it had to end.

Then a new grand jury picked up where the old one left off. It will be looking into spying in 1949.

So will the House un-American Activities committee, which dug into spying in 1948 but is rather quiet right now, getting ready its report on the year's work. In 1949 it will pick up where it left off.

TEACHER'S PET?—Left at home when Alonzo Burnham went to school in Schenectady, N. Y., this pup wasn't happy at all. If he was kept inside the house he chewed the window shades; if he was tied outside he barked continuously. Finally let out, he raced to school to be with Alonzo. Teacher says he's a model, and silent, pupil.

Wife Of Spy Probe Witness Acquitted

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 23 (AP)—Mrs. Whittaker Chambers has been acquitted of a charge of causing the death of Mrs. Maggie Thomas, 70, in a traffic accident last Friday.

Ms. Chambers, wife of a key figure in the Communist spy probe, said nothing during the proceedings before Magistrate Reuben Caplan yesterday.

Her acquittal came after patrolman L. F. Davis testified "there were no skid marks and nothing unusual about Mrs. Chambers. She said she knew nothing about the accident until she saw a flash and felt an impact."

Mrs. Chambers was driving from her Westminster, Md., farm home to meet her husband when her auto struck Mrs. Thomas.

Phosphorus was discovered in 1670.

Former Commander Of Corps Area Dies

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 23. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, who was removed by the late President Roosevelt from command of the eighth corps area with headquarters in San Antonio, died yesterday.

The 75-year-old officer died at naval hospital here. Cause of death was unannounced. He retired from the U. S. army in 1936. His removal from San Antonio followed a public statement in the early days of the new deal referring to Works Progress Administration expenditures as "stage money."

Some princes, now impoverished, are working for India's new Government.

THANKS GI'S — The Right Rev. Philip N. W. Strong, Lord Bishop of New Guinea, is visiting the United States to thank American soldiers who helped liberate the island from the Japanese. Arriving on his first visit to the U. S., the bishop said, "I think New Guinea will always be sacred ground, for thousands of Americans gave their lives there."

Yule Party Planned For Milam Children

Seventeen children from the Milam home will be honor guests at a Christmas party featuring Santa Claus and a well-laden tree at the Gus Everett residence, 2615 Thirty-first street, from 5 to 7 p. m. today.

The distribution of gifts to the children, ranging from 5 to 12 years of age, will be preceded by a program of Christmas carols and appropriate readings. The carol singers will be Reta McIlroy, Bettye Armstrong, Nancy Herrington and Harriet Henderson. Kara Sam Dunn will play the accompaniment.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett have been residents of this area of the southwest many years, but did not move to Lubbock until last summer. They have followed the practice of sending a check to an orphanage each Christmas in the past. This year they decided to use the money on a party for the Milam children.

They have three daughters, Royce, 24, Norma, 17, and Glenda Kathryn, 8. Everett is drilling superintendent for George Livermore, Lubbock oil operator.

HEARING IS SET

AUSTIN, Dec. 23. (AP) — The railroad commission has set hearing for Feb. 9 on the application of the Humble Oil and Refining company for a discovery allowance for its Morgan Berry well No. 4, Odell field, Wilbarger county.

New York alone has a many telephones as all of either Latin American or Asia.

Employes Of Railroad Get Busy To Be Certain Canadian Girl's Faith In Santa Is Not Broken

DANVILLE, Ill., Dec. 23. (INS) Santa Claus doesn't live in Danville—but some of his friends do.

And they stepped into the breach so that a little girl's faith in the old gent with the white whiskers would not be broken.

The girl is Joan Stewart, who lives in the remote village of Quarryville, in New Brunswick, Canada.

Joan figured that she lived in such an out of the way place that Santa, busy man that he is at this season of the year, might very well miss her on his midnight ride.

Pens Letter To Santa

So she penned him a letter—and tied it to one of the Christmas trees they grow in New Brunswick.

The Christmas tree was cut and shipped to the United States and finally to Danville, where it was purchased by V. H. Ellerman, ticket agent at the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad.

Ellerman discovered the letter as he was setting up the tree. The letter, printed in large characters read:

"Dear Santa:

"My name is Joan Stewart. I am 9 years old and I go to school every day. It sure is a long walk. And Santa I have a married sister and she has a little baby boy 1 year old. And Santa if you will please get him and me things for Christmas, that we will love. . . so please don't forget us Santa for we love you so very much and hope you have a very Merry Christmas. With lots and lots of love. . . Joan Stewart."

Couldn't Be Ignored

Ellerman figured that letter couldn't be ignored. He started a collection among C&EI employes in Danville and in Chicago to buy gifts.

Joan's package will include dolls, coloring books, crayons, toy cars, balloons, Christmas candy, a red sweater, and matching gloves, a pair of slippers and a flannel nightgown.

Presents for the baby include a soft doll, a pair of wool pants, a sweater, and pajamas.

A pair of hose was sent for Joan's mother and razor for her father.

The packages were placed aboard a Trans-Canadian Airways plane today. They will be flown to Muncton, Canada and shipped from there by train.

The C&EI has asked the railroad station agent in Quarrville to take the outside wrappings off the packages before delivering them—to allay any suspicions Joan might have that Santa had failed her.

Town's Holiday Due To Be Howling One

READING, Pa., Dec. 23 (AP)—Dog days are a little out of season in December—but the dogs had quite a day in Reading yesterday.

It all started when a Reading newspaper published a photo of three dogs the humane society was giving away for Christmas.

That apparently caught the eye of a lot of parents plagued with last minute Christmas shopping problems.

They descended en masse on the city pound.

All 25 dogs that were there yesterday are gone now.

Christmas should be a howling success in plenty of Reading homes.

Rhyming of words in poetry was unknown to the ancients and is considered to be accidental when it appears in the words of classic Greek and Latin poets.

French Acquit Vichy Official

PARIS, Dec. 23. (AP) — The French high court of justice, created to try former Vichy officials, returned its first verdict of not guilty last night.

Marcel Bernard Peyrouton was acquitted of treason charges.

The jury deliberated 46 minutes.

Peyrouton, like most former Vichy ministers, was accused of "intelligence with the enemy" and therefore risked the firing squad.

He had served from 1940 to 1942 as general secretary of police interior minister and Vichy ambassador to Argentina.

During Peyrouton's three-day trial many witnesses, including Gen. Maxime Weygand, testified in his favor.

Arrested Laval

Peyrouton was the man who arrested Pierre Laval, Vichy chief of state, on the eve of the transfer to the Invalides of the body of the Duke of Reichstadt, son of Napoleon.

This ceremony was organized by the Germans under specific orders from Hitler. It was meant to be the beginning of a new era of collaboration. It failed completely, however, as Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, Vichy chief, did not go to Paris at the time and Laval could not leave, since he was under house arrest.

Peyrouton testified he "changed the face of things" by making the "palace revolution."

When Laval returned to power in April, 1942, Peyrouton resigned and went to Algiers. Under Gen. Henri Giraud he was appointed governor-general of Algeria after the landing of the Allies. In December, 1943, he was arrested under Gen. Charles De Gaulle's orders he was granted provisional liberty last June.

Approvals For Soil Practices Started

Issuance of approvals of soil practices under the 1949 government program in this county has started at the Agricultural Conservation association (ACA) office here, it was announced yesterday by Walter Y. Wells, county administrator.

Wells said the approvals are effective on work that will not be completed until after first of the year. The program is a part of the government's effort to induce farmers to adopt practices that will conserve soil and build up fertility.

Payments vary, depending on the practices involved, and a large number of practices are permissible, but Wells is particularly interested at present in land chiseling, for which the program pays $1.50 an acre for a minimum chiseling depth of 12 inches.

He cautioned that payment cannot be made for the work unless approval of a practice is secured before the work is started, and said he will be glad to be of assistance in working out practices. The office is located in the Agriculture building at Fourteenth and Ave. Q.

He Called Shots From Many Hills As Wartime Captain

Quentin Roosevelt Faced More Danger In His Life Than Famous Grandfather Wrote About

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 —It was a rocky ridge in the Ousseltia valley in Tunisia in January, before the almond trees come to bloom.

A battle was going on between the Americans and Germans, and the bare hillsides echoed a mortal noise. I climbed slowly toward the ridge top with a middle-aged colonel who wore a baseball cap instead of a helmet.

The overweight colonel paid no attention whatever to the gun fire. It was his shaky legs and shortness of breath that bothered him. We paused as he mopped the sweat from his forehead.

We climbed to the ridge peak and then it became a matter of belly progress. The colonel crawled slowly—a reluctant earthworm.

At Peak Of Ridge

It was then I saw the young captain at the peak point of the ridge. The thing I first noticed about him was his neatness. It seemed incredibly out of place in the wilderness of noise and death. The captain had a field telephone in his hand. He had just set up a forward observation post for his artillery battalion, comfortably situated in a wadi far back.

Calmly, almost as placidly as if he were reading a newspaper aloud, he called back directions for support fire for the infantry. He was completely heedless of danger.

He Turns Around

Then he turned around. He had a light sandy moustache of the old-fashioned crowbar style. His eyes were alight with battle excitement, and his lips parted in a wide grin as he saw us. Something in that grin stirred an old memory. The young captain recognized the colonel and belly-flopped over to us.

"The infantry is working around the next hill," he said. He and the colonel chatted for a few moments, and then the captain started to crawl back to his post. Turning, he flashed a grin—he obviously was enjoying himself—and again that grin touched something way back in my memory.

War Was Young

In those days when the war was young, the battles were being fought by battalions instead of whole armies, and the papers at home were eager to print the names of individual soldiers in action. So I crawled toward him, wishing at every inch I was back in a nice safe Manhattan subway.

"What's your name, captain?"

"Roosevelt," he said, and his face kindled again in his family's famous friendly grin.

It was Quentin Roosevelt, grandson of President Teddy Roosevelt, living up to his grandfather's gospel of "The Strenuous Life." He lived it to the core. Old "T. R." won immortal fame as the "hero of San Juan hill." But young Quentin—"Q" his battery mates called him—called the shots from many hills.

In 29 brief years he crowded more danger and adventure into his life than his granddaddy ever wrote about. There was no finer soldier in his clan.

Today young Quentin lies dead in distant Hong Kong, killed in a plane crash. I saw him often in the early battles for Tunisia. But I like to remember him as at first—at the peak, having the time of his life atop a nameless hill in Africa.

Ancient Rome had 14 aqueducts which brought in 300 million gallons of water a day.

Church Ceremony Read For Miss Caraway, Dr. Trotter

In a double ring ceremony solemnized at First Christian church Wednesday at high noon, Miss Louise Caraway became the bride of Dr. Raleigh Furman Trotter. Dr. Roy Kemp of Fort Worth performed the service before a candlelighted altar banked with baskets of poinsettias and gladioli. The bridal aisle was marked with candles, greenery and white satin bows.

Miss Maxine Hyde, pianist, played "Indian Love Call" and accompanied John K. Caraway as he sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer." The bridal chorus from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's wedding march were offered by the pianist.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney James Caraway of 1714 Ave. K, was given in marriage by her father. She wore an original dressmaker suit of beige with a matching blouse with medallion trim and carried a brown orchid surrounded by split white carnations on a white Bible. For something new, she wore a strand of pearls, gift from the bridegroom; for something borrowed, she carried an imported lace handkerchief belonging to the matron of honor, Mrs. Judson I. Clements; for something old, she wore her mother's watch; and for good luck, she placed a penny in her shoe.

Sister Is Attendant

Mrs. Clements, sister of the bride, wore a slate blue gabardine dress with balenciago accessories and carried talisman rosebuds.

Bob Trotter of Denton served as his brother's best man.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans and other points in the South, the bride is wearing brown lizagator shoes and an off-white French beret with bronze bead trim with her wedding suit. After Jan. 3, the couple will be at home at the Midway apartments.

Mrs. Trotter is a graduate of Lubbock High school and Texas Technological college and is secretary to Claude B. Hurlbut. Dr. Trotter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Brooks Trotter of Denton, is a graduate of Denton High school, North Texas State Teachers college and Baylor University School of Medicine, and is in private practice with an uncle, Dr. L. B. Woods. He is a member of Phi Chi medical fraternity.

Out-of-town wedding guests included parents of the bridegroom. Others were from Denton, Fort Worth, Amarillo and San Angelo.

The White Mountains of Arizona, located in the eastern part of the state, are a trout fisherman's paradise. Through this area are miles of trout streams running through heavy forests.

Sue Boulter Is Honored Guest At Gift Party

Miss French Is Married

Miss Tommie Jean French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom French of 2428 Twenty-fifth, and Richard C. Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis A. Rogers, sr., of Rt. 4, were married Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at First Baptist church chapel with Dr. J. Ralph Grant reading a double ring ceremony. Pink and white gladioli decorated the altar.

Miss Cynthia Tankersley, pianist, accompanied Miss Mary Helen Bruce as she sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "Wonderful One."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white wool crepe dress buttoned to a dropped waistline in front with self covered buttons. A fold of matching material at the waistline extended into a bustle back. Her long sleeved jacket was adorned with a seed pearl design and was fastened with an heirloom pin, a gift from her mother. For something borrowed, the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to the bridegroom's mother, and on her white Bible, she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Wanda Green of Gladewater, maid of honor, wore a pink dress decorated with silver beads, with a silver hat and green accessories. Her bouquet was of cream roses.

Light Candles

Candlelighters were Mrs. George Griffin who wore dusty blue and Mrs. J. B. Curtis of Levelland who wore dusty rose.

Otis A. Rogers, jr., served as his brother's best man and Donald Rea French, brother of the bride, and George Griffin were ushers.

Poinsettias and white gladioli decorated the French home where a reception was held following the ceremony. In the house party were parents of the bride and bridegroom and members of the wedding party.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Howe of Dimmitt; L. Hollinsworth, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hollinsworth and children of California; Mrs. V. R. Green of Gladewater; and S. T. French of Dawson.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride wore a wine suit with brown shoes and hat, a mink muff, and cream blouse and gloves. Her corsage was of green orchids. After Jan. 1, the couple will be at home at 3719 Twenty-third.

The bride is a graduate of Lubbock High school and a former student of Texas Technological college and the bridegroom is a graduate of Cooper High school and a senior student at Tech.

Author Visits U. S. To Buy Underlinen

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP) — Somerset Maugham, who will be 75 years old in two weeks, said today he had "written my last novel."

Arriving from England aboard the Queen Mary, Maugham said his latest novel, "Catalina," was his last. He added:

"I'm now a very old party. I've retired from the ranks of professional authors."

From now on, he said, he will write "essays and things like that —literary criticism and about life in general."

The purpose of his visit?

"To see my friends and to buy some underlinen—you see, I haven't got any coupons in England.

ATHENS, Dec. 23. (AP)—The Greek general staff said today that some 2,000 rebels who attacked Edessa and Niaousta, both less than 30 miles from Yugoslav border, have been pushed back.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Woman 44, Who Has Been Employed In One Job 25 Years, Develops Crush On Boss

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am unmarried, 44, have worked for one firm 25 years, and currently I have a crush on my longtime boss, an extremely handsome friendly man in his early sixties, who gets along fine with his wife, as I know.

He is exceptionally considerate always, and very appreciative of my services, consequently it has been a happy situation; although my home life, until recently, was rather stressful. As the eldest of seven children, I early assumed responsibilities that my father shirked; but my burdens have lightened in the past five years and I have become healthier, more agreeable and better looking.

However, about 18 months ago I had a serious illness and was hospitalized, off and on, for three months. My employer was very helpful with advice, as he had been in previous crises; he continued my salary, and gifts and flowers were sent me by himself and wife. During my convalescence I thought constantly of his kindness and found myself getting quite a crush.

SHE WON'T PERMIT OFFICE LOVEMAKING

WHEN I was nearly recovered he stopped at the house to get my help with some business papers. Out of a clear sky he started kissing me and I responded with feeling. When I was back on the job he wanted to make love to me again. This I ruled out in a firm yet friendly way; but since then, every so often he wants to make love. When I asked him one day why he acts this way, he said he was sorry but couldn't seem to help it.

I suppose he knows, from my one response, that I do like him; and the conflict between my desires and my conscience gives me the jitters. I've had love affairs in the past, but never married because salaried security seemed preferable while I was carrying family responsibilities. At present I don't have a beau, which I think accounts for my crush on the boss.

I like the work, the position is excellent, and soon I'll be working for one of his relatives, whom he is bringing in as assistant. Can you guide me to a common sense handling of the situation?

SIGNED S. C.

WOMAN'S ATTACHMENT INCITED BY ILLNESS

DEAR S. C.: In health and at your best, you are a salt-of-the-earth character with a fine head on your shoulders, as witness your remarkably clear, fair summing up of what goes on here. Rare indeed is the man or woman who could match that sturdy, honest, intelligent objectivity in confessing an emotional storm that involves the self.

So it's understandable that the boss, by nature considerate and appreciative, would (1) cherish you kindly as a well-nigh invaluable employee and (2) reach out with constructive evidence of continued interest in your welfare during illness, not only to buoy your spirits in a discouraging period but also, impersonally, to expedite your recovery and return to employee-usefulness.

In that time you were "down and out" from the salaried security angle; and being a spinster without a beau, in addition to being seriously ill and economically threatened, you would, of course, lapse into a sick psychological state, too—a state of extreme emotional dependency upon any stronger power to plan for and reassure you, with show of competent steadfast protectorate concern.

SHE IS UNCONSCIOUSLY FUELING THE PROBLEM

THIS is a typical concomitant of prostrate illness in persons who ordinarily must be self-reliant; and the doctor himself may act temporarily to provide psychological succor to the patient who has no other resources. Whereupon the patient rewards the doctor with grateful idolatry, which tends to evaporate in time, however, if the patient rallies sufficiently to return to normal routine; and if the doctor (as he usually does) tapers off the attachment with therapeutic skill.

In your case you leaned, psychologically, to the boss for security of all kinds; and your solitary thinking about his cordial benevolence during the illness engendered rapt feeling that infiltrated his unconscious and sparked the impetuous flash of responsive ardor. That's the genesis of the problem, in which he is more victim of circumstances than you are; so it's not good sense to believe or act as if you're on the defensive in relation to his follow-through.

Essentially good handling of the situation consists in relieving the boss of your concentrated hunger for his personal interest, a pressure you are now levying unconsciously. When you do that, his reactions will subside and impersonal fellowship again hit its stride. M. H.

Dallas Company Stakes Wildcat In Northwest Andrews County

Another deep wildcat was staked in Northwest Andrews County by M. J. Delaney & Company, of Dallas.

It is to be that concern's No. 1-B University, located 660 feet from south and 1,984.7 feet from west lines of section 1, block 13, University survey. That puts it about 11 miles northwest of the town of Andrews.

Elevation is 3,250 feet. The venture is projected to 10,000 feet to test into the Devonian.

The drillsite is 2,050.7 feet north of Delaney No. 1-A University, drilling wildcat, 1,984.7 feet from west and north lines of section 12, block 13, University survey.

On last report, this prospector was making hole below 3,035 feet in anhydrite. It is also scheduled for a Devonian test, with an elevation of 3,276 feet.

Wildcat Drilling Ahead

Lone Star Producing Company No. 1 Maule, North-Central Scurry County wildcat, three miles east of Dermott, one and one-half miles west and one-half mile north of the Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Brown, discovery for flowing oil from the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian, and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 451, block 97, H & TC survey, was drilling ahead, after taking a drillstem test on a Permian lime horizon at 2,003-2,167 feet.

The tool was open one hour. Recovery was 130 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water. The venture is to continue to the Pennsylvanian to test the zone found productive in the Stanotex discovery.

Wildcat Is Bottomed

Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 County wildcat, 15 miles south and Hawkins, South-Central Gaines slightly west of Seminole, was bottomed at 12,251 feet in Ellenburger lime, and was circulating while waiting on orders.

Top of the Ellenburger has not been officially reported. The current bottom is not very deep in the horizon.

Operator is deciding whether to take a drillstem test, or to run casing before testing the Ellenburger.

This development, located 1,983 feet from north and 665 feet from east lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey, has already proven for a discovery from the Clear Fork-Permian, and has also shown for the opening of a heavy flowing production from the Devonian.

It is two and one-half miles southwest of the Robertson field where the production is from the middle Permian, above 7,200 feet.

Prospector Bottomed

Placid Oil Company No. 1 Davis, North-Central Scurry County prospector, six and one-half miles north and slightly east of Snyder, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 387, block 97, H & TC survey, was bottomed at 7,730 feet in Ellenburger lime, entered at 7,720 feet, and was taking a drillstem test.

This exploration has already indicated the discovery of commercial production from two separate zones of the Pennsylvanian lime.

SHORT TERM — One of the shortest terms in the history of the U. S. Senate will be served by Mrs. Vera Bushfield, widow of the late Sen. Harlan Bushfield, South Dakota Republican. Mrs. Bushfield will take over her husband's post for the remaining weeks of Congress, until the new Congress is sworn in.

TAHOKA, Dec. 23 (Special) — Investigation today continued in the death of D. D. Renfroe, 35-year-old New Home farmer who was found shot to death in his car northwest of New Home Wednesday afternoon.

The car was found 50 yards from the road in a field, with a .38 caliber revolver on the seat beside the body, Sam Floyd, Tahoka sheriff, said.

There were powder burns on the right side of the head, and one of the left windows of the car was broken. Glass of the same type as that in the window was found on the road at about the place at which the car had entered the field.

Father Finds Body

The body was discovered by P. H. Renfroe, the victim's father, at about 2:30, and after an examination, Dr. Emil Phrol, of Tahoka, reported that the farmer could have been dead no longer than four hours.

Ignition of the car was turned on, and the vehicle was in gear. The victim's father reported a .38 caliber revolver was missing from his residence, the sheriff said.

The dead man had taken a tractor to New Home for repairs this morning and left his car at his father's house. He apparently returned there, left the tractor and drove his car about one-half mile from his father's house, when it left the road. No fences bordered the road the sheriff said and it was impossible to be certain whether the car's leaving the road was accidental, or whether Renfroe deliberately drove off the road.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Renfroe were returning from New Home when Mrs. Renfroe remarked that the car in the field looked like the one driven by their son. The couple went on home and Mr. Renfroe returned to the parked car some time later and discovered the body.

Arrangements Incomplete

The body was taken to the Stanley Funeral home at Tahoka, but funeral arrangements had not been completed. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Irene Renfroe; a son, Delwin; a daughter, Bonnie; the mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Renfroe; three brothers, P. H. Jr., of Denver City; Loyce, of Amarillo; and Morris, of Corpus Christi; and three sisters, Mrs. Edna Summers, of California; Mrs. Jack Hale, of Corpus Christi; and one sister whose name is not available, of Wichita Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hale are on their way to North Dakota for the holidays, and police are attempting to locate them.

If it fails to make an oil well in the Ellenburger it is due to be plugged back and efforts made to complete it from the pay zones already encountered.

Coring Firm 7,201 Feet

Sun Oil Company and The Ohio Oil Company No. 1 Helms, Northeast Scurry County wildcat, 20 miles northeast of Snyder, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 636, block 97, H & TC survey, was coring from 7,201 feet in Ellenburger dolomite and chert. Top of the current formation has not been officially reported.

A drillstem test was run at 7,177-97 feet. The tool was open one hour. There was a light blow of air for 15 minutes, and it then died.

Recovery was 85 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water.

Hero, Deserter Back In Army Good Graces

CAMP HOOD, Dec. 23 (AP) — Millard J. Allison, hero and deserter, has been restored to full status in the U. S. Army.

Allison, convicted of deserting a peacetime American Army to get into the fight with the Canadian forces, was in Fort Worth, on parole from the Camp Hood stockade, when the news reached him yesterday.

His case attracted widespread attention because he fought so valiantly for Canada that he won that country's highest medal.

Last week he was convicted by a general court martial here of deserting the U. S. Army in August, 1941, and remaining in desertion until apprehended in 1948.

Maj. Gen. James Christiansen, commanding the Second Armored division at Camp Hood, announced yesterday that he had reviewed Allison's court martial sentence of six months, approved it, but remitted execution of it.

He informed U. S. Rep. Wingate Lucas at Fort Worth of his action. Lucas was chief defense attorney for Allison.

Allison was at home in his trailer with his wife and three daughters when he received the news.

He said he planned to work on his discharge at once.

"It's a wonderful Christmas present," he added.

County Jail Inmates Will Be Hosts--Pass Butter Please!

DES MOINES, Dec. 23. (INS) — Invitations were sent out today for a Christmas turkey dinner "with all the trimmings" to the prisoners of the city jail—by the inmates of the Polk county jail.

Sheriff Howard C. Reppert issued the invitation on behalf of his prisoners, to the Police Chief Lorin Miller, who accepted on behalf of his prisoners.

First Social Move

This is the first time such a social move was taken, the Sheriff said, and said the reason for the move was:

Some anonymous donor contributed six large turkeys, and all the trimmings, including candied yams and butter, for the dinner.

Reppert said it was the first time in two years that county prisoners will be served butter.

Dinner Menu Given

The menu which will include tomato juice, celery hearts and pickles, cranberry sauce, roast turkey and sage dressing, candied yams, buttered green beans, bread and butter, fruit and cake and coffee and candy, is a delightful switch for the city prisoners.

Their bill of fare was to have included coffee and roll (no butter), for breakfast, beans and bread (no butter) for lunch, and beans and bread (no butter) for dinner.

Will someone please pass the butter.

U. S. Military Aid To Turkey Getting Results, Survey Shows

ANKARA, Dec. 14. (U.P.) — Has the $100,000,000 worth of military aid to Turkey been poured down a rat hole?

For the first time since the Truman Doctrine aid program to Turkey began, an American reporter has been permitted an extensive tour of Turkish army, navy and air bases to see what the program is doing.

This reporter was allowed to talk freely with Turkish military men from generals and admirals down to the Turkish GI. He talked with American instructors, both officers and enlisted men. He visited tank, artillery and communications training centers near Ankara, air bases at Eskisehir and Izmir, and the naval bases at Izmit and Golcuk.

The answer to the $100,000,000 question, so far as could be determined, is a qualified no. Even the sharpest critic of the aid program, either from the Turkish or American side, admits that the Turkish forces are rapidly becoming a far more effective striking force than could ever have been possible without the aid.

Equipment Obsolete

Before the air program began the Turkish army transport was largely drawn wagons and carts. Artillery included Krupp guns 50 years old and more. The navy was a conglomerate collection of old ships and boats of various nationalities, ages and quality. The air force, at best, was a step-child The backbone of the 600,000 man Turkish military force was still the foot-slogging infantryman with his rifle and bayonet.

Scattered throughout this force, to be true, was a sprinkling of fairly modern equipment the Turks had slowly and painfully been acquiring from various sources, mostly British. The British had made quite extensive deliveries of Spitfire fighter planes, Mosquito bombers, some radar, tanks and motor transport.

In addition the Turks had a certain amount of equipment acquired from the Germans during the war when the Germans were doing their best to woo Turkey.

Not until the American equipment arrived, however, did the Turks possess enough modern equipment of any brand or nationality to make the slightest approach to standardization.

Prices Sharply Cut

It must be remembered that the $100,000,000 figure is no accurate yard-stick. It is an open secret that most of the American equipment is being charged off at less than ten cents on the dollar of manufacturing cost, much of it at five cents and some even less. That simply means ten times more P-47 fighters, M-36 tanks, 155 millimeter howitzers, etc. It isn't enough to form a basic standard.

Then there is the training. The big difference here is that where the Germans and others were content to make information available the Americans are determined that the Turks learn how to use it. The Americans, with Turkish cooperation, have picked the most highly trained technical men available in the Turkish forces, most of them with foreign educations, to form the nucleus of the new system.

So far as the American equipment is concerned, some Turks have said that the equipment is old and of poor quality. Those critics are, however, in the minority.

This reporter, who saw what the American Army used, both at the beginning and at the end of World War II, on his trip saw only equipment used by the Americans at the end of the war; M-36 tanks, P-47 Thunderbolt fighters, 155-millimeter howitzers, Sperry gyroscope gun and bomb sights, 1944 model submarines with the latest electronic equipment, etc. Almost all the equipment is brand new and defective equipment is rare.

Sunless Day Begets "Drinks On House"

BOULDER CITY, Nev., Dec. 23 (AP)—The drinks were on the house because the sun didn't shine in this Hoover dam area yesterday.

It was the first time in two years. Gil Telford and Harry Rayner, recreation hall proprietors, said they had promised free beer to all comers whenever there was a sunless day.

They served beer to a crowd, "even teetotalers," they estimated at one-fifth of the 5,000 population.

In nearby Las Vegas the swank El Rancho Vegas hotel offered free drinks, not limited to beer, up to midnight but reported no stampede, presumably because word hadn't gotten around soon enough.

Students Will Work As Showboat Actors

HIRAM, O., Dec. 23 (U.P.) — Hiram College students will have their cake and eat it too next spring and summer when the dramatic department will operate the showboat "Majestic" on the Ohio and Kanawha rivers.

A permanent company of players will be on the kerosene-burning paddleboat when it goes from town to town. Hiram College will give six hours of college credit to high school and college students who are used as additional actors, instrumentalists and dancers for the term.

The repertoire will include one old-fashioned melodrama, one modern comedy ,and one variety show, with matinees aboard the showboat featuring marionette shows for children.

Conrad Ward Named Head Of 20-30 Club

Conrad Ward was elected president of the 20-30 club when that organization held its weekly meeting Wednesday night at Hotel Lubbock.

Ward will take office for a six-month period Jan. 1. Other officers elected were not disclosed last night.

Members of the club are to work in the Salvation Army "Kettle House" today, and plans for the fund-raising campaign were made.

Ward reported on the trip taken last week by eight local 20-30 members to Amarillo, where they visited the Amarillo 20-30 club.

Miss Glenna Addington played several piano selections. Charles Nelson, club president, was in the chair.

Five-Year-Old Boy Who Didn't Know About Santa Claus Finally Learns Real Meaning

OWOSSO, Mich., Dec. 23 (AP)—Who is Santa Claus? A five-year-old boy finally has found out.

A Salvation Army worker told today how it happened.

He and three other volunteers visited a shabby home near here.

Turning to the five-year-old—oldest of several children—he asked if he knew "who sent us."

The boy shook his head.

"Santa Claus sent us," the man said.

Still only a blank stare.

"The name Santa Claus doesn't mean anything to him, or to any of the others. We have been too poor to afford any Christmas presents so we never mentioned Santa Claus to them."

The Salvation Army workers first explained who Santa Claus is. Then they provided the things to prove there is one.

Cave-Dwelling Tribe To Open Sun Carnival With Long Race

EL PASO, Dec. 23 (U.P.) — Two teams of cave-dwelling Indian runners will stage a rugged 230-mile race from Chihuahua City, Mexico, to Juarez, Mexico—across the Rio Grande from El Paso — Sunday and Monday to give this border city's 14th annual sun carnival a colorful opening.

The Mexican Indians, last remaining cave-dwelling tribes in the western hemisphere, race in teams, each team kicking a wooden ball over the entire course and sun carnival sponsors hope to arrange for the winner to compete in the long distance events of the 1952 Olympics.

Legs Are Painted

The primitive Indians paint their legs for the race and carry magic belts hung with deer rattles to give them swiftness and prevent their failing asleep.

Their abode is some four days by pack mule from the nearest rail point in northern Mexico and negotiations have been underway for several months to arrange the coming race, which will climax the Indians' own primitive sun worship ceremonies.

Will Light Fire

After the finish of the race Monday at the Benito Juarez monument in Juarez, the Indians will spend the night in the Mexican metropolis across the river. Tuesday they will cross the international bridge carrying torches to light a fire in a huge urn in El Paso's San Jacinto plaza for the start of the sun carnival.

Final arrangements for the race were concluded yesterday in the tiny Mexican town of Sanmachique, west of Chihuahua City, by Dr. Robert Zingg. Dr. Zingg, an anthropologist, spent a year with the Tarahumara tribe 19 years ago on a University of Chicago grant and has been with the tribe since Dec. 6 this year making the final arrangements.

P. O. Owen Funeral To Be Held Friday

Funeral services for P. O. Owen, 60, widely-known West Texas general contractor who died at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in Lubbock Memorial hospital, will be held at 10:30 a. m. Friday in Rix Funeral home chapel.

Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor of First Presbyterian church, is to officiate.

Owen's death was caused by uremic poisoning. He had entered the hospital Dec. 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen have lived at 1904 Fourteenth. He was a member of Knights of Pythias, and a life-long Presbyterian.

As a general contractor Mr. Owen had become widely known in West Texas, and operated Shook-Owen Construction company many years. In recent months he had been associated with Panhandle Construction company of Lubbock.

Born in Tiptonville, Tenn., Jan. 21, 1888, he came to Texas when he was 20 years old. On May 7, 1922, he married Miss Ella Sue Thomas of Graham.

Survivors, other than the widow, include two sisters, Mrs. Phil Campbell of Tiptonville, Tenn., and Mrs. H. T. Haynes of Tiptonville; three brothers, R. D Owen of Yazoo City, Miss.; Joe Owen and Robert Owen, both of Tiptonville.

The earth is nearest the sun in January and farthest away in July.

Court Okays Damage Action Settlement

Agreed settlement in a damages action arising from a June 21 collision of two automobiles near Smyer, in Hockley county, was approved by Judge G. V. Pardue of 99th district court Wednesday afternoon.

Judge Pardue entered judgment of $3,000, which was apportioned, in the case of L. L. Lawson and Mrs. Lawson, individually, and Beverly Jan Lawson and Luther Lawson, minors, acting through C. J. McCarty as next friend, plaintiffs, against James L. Black and Joan Black, defendants.

The plaintiffs, of Lubbock county, were riding in a car owned and operated by W. P. Mann, at the time of the collision. The other car, owned by Black, was driven by his daughter Joan, the court was informed. Both defendants live in Hockley county. The plaintiffs, in a petition drawn by the Lubbock law firm of Anderson and Howard, represented to the court that they were injured in the mishap.

YOUTH IS KILLED

AMARILLO, Dec. 23. (AP)—Richard Beckman, 17, was killed yesterday when the truck he was driving was struck by the Grand Canyon Limited near Umbarger, Randall county. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Beckman of Umbarger.

Killer Sought In Death Of 4

LUCEDALE, Miss., Dec. 23. (AP) —A four-time killer, who riddled three members of one family with buckshot then shot down a sheriff and escaped in his car, is being hunted in two states today.

Justice of the Peace J. V. Havard said posses are looking for a Lucedale farmer, wanted for questioning in the quadruple slaying. He said the farmer, Murdock Hinton, 48, was reported armed with a pistol, shotgun and a box of buckshot.

A search was underway in a wooded area near Lucedale, and another was in progress in a Mobile, Ala., suburb, 30 miles to the south, where a man answering Hinton's description was reported.

Domestic Trouble Reported

Hinton's wife, their daughter, Gloria, 18, Gloria's two-month-old baby, Judy, and Sheriff J. E. Nelson were killed Monday by shotgun blasts at close range. Nelson had gone to the Hinton home with Gloria, who had reported some "domestic trouble."

Officers reported a neighbor, Grady Fagan, witnessed a part of the tragedy. Fagan was quoted as saying he heard Hinton tell Gloria: "Get out of the (sheriff's) car; you're next." Mobile Chief Deputy William Holcombe said Fagan reported he then saw Hinton walk over and fire a shotgun blast into the sheriff's body.

Hinton and his wife were divorced about a month ago. County officers said the man was under a $500 peace bond on a charge of assault and battery on his ex-wife.

Havard said officers had had to go to the Hinton home several times previously because of domestic trouble.

Baseball Covers Of Fish Skin Proposed

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Dec. 23 (U.P.)—There'll be something fishy about baseball if Earl McFee has his way.

McFee, chief chemist of a seafood concern, wants to take the horsehide out of the national pastime. He'd replace it with a fish skin.

McFee is trying to develop a method of curing codfish skins and making them tough enough to cover baseballs. He got the idea listening to old-time fans deploring the liveliness of the modern ball.

If McFee's experiments succeed, he says it will mean the end of the rabbit ball and bring on the fish ball.

Red Authors Promise Stalin To Improve Poor Playwriting

MOSCOW, Dec. 23. (AP)—A group of Soviet authors have written a letter to Prime Minister Stalin. They told him Russian play and screen writing has become "insufferable in its backwardness" and promised to do better.

The letter was sent by the 12th plenum board of writers, which has just finished meeting. It said:

Must Do More

"In order that literature fulfil its honorable educating role, we must do more. Especially insufferable is the backwardness of our playwriting and scenario writing—these very active and mass types of art."

The writers told Stalin they realized that only by following the decrees of the Communist party on art (issued late in 1946) could there be a further flowering of art in the theater and on the screen.

"From all our heart we wish you, dear leader and teacher long years of health," the writers said.

Russian playwrights received a further going over today in Pravda, Communist party organ.

A. Sofronov, secretary of the board of the union of Soviet writers, wrote a general critique on Russian plays that have appeared since the 1946 decrees.

A comedy, entitled "Meeting With A Youth" was singled out as poor because, Sofronov said, it did not succeed in creating any memorable characters.

Texas Sports Writers Picking Waco And New Braunfels

Sandies, Monahans Decided Underdogs

BL HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

If Waco and New Braunfels don't win the state schoolboy class AA and class A championships respectively Saturday a flock of sports writers will absorb plenty of razzing.

They were quite positive today when polled that Waco would lick Amarillo at Fort Worth and New Braunfels would whip Monahans at Odessa.

Waco was given the widest margin with 21 writers casting their ballots for the Tigers and only five for Amarillo. New Braunfels was the pick of 20 writers and Monahans five.

George Kellam of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram selected Amarillo to win 20-19 and said "it can't possibly happen, but it might." Joe Kelly of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal took the Golden Sandies without comment and Cliff Clines of the Vernon Record said "Amarillo over Waco in an upset."

George Yow of the McAllen Monitor picked Amarillo 14-7 and said the Sandies would be fired up. Zarko Franks of the Houston Chronicle commented: "Amarillo 13-6. Kincannon (Claude Kincannon, Waco's ace passer) won't do much sky-writing against the Sandies."

Yow also picked Monahans to beat New Braunfels 20-13. Warren Hasse of the Pampa News took Waco 20-7 over Amarillo but picked Monahans to edge New Braunfels 14-13. Tom Smith of the Odessa American picked Waco to beat Amarillo 10-13 and Monahans to lick New Braunfels 20-7. Gene Gregston of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram said he was taking Monahans by 12-7 "because of their tremendous spirit in the past two games, Waldo Young and the Odessa playing site." Odessa is near Monahans but is several hundred miles from New Braunfels.

Other Predictions Made

Collier Parris of the Abilene Reporter-News took Monahans over New Braunfels although selecting Waco over Amarillo.

Other predictions:

Corlis Holt, Abilene Reporter-News—Waco over Amarillo, New Braunfels over Monahans.

Zarko Franks, Houston Chronicle—New Braunfels 20, Monahans 7.

Harold Scherwitz, San Antonio Light—Waco 14, Amarillo 6; New Braunfels 20, Monahans 7.

Johnny Janes, San Antonio Light—Waco 13, Amarillo 7; New Braunfels 21, Monahans 6.

Paul Moore, Corsicana Sun — Waco 20, Amarillo 13; New Braunfels 20, Monahans 6.

Tanner Laine, Midland Reporter-Telegram—New Braunfels 20, Monahans 7; Waco 13, Amarillo 0.

Jinx Tucker, Waco News-Tribune—Waco 20, Amarillo 13; New Braunfels 20, Monahans 7.

Dick Oliver, Port Arthur News — Waco 20, Amarillo 6; New Braunfels 26, Monahans 14.

Al Echols, Greenville Banner—Waco two touchdowns over Amarillo; New Braunfels possibly more over Monahans.

Bill Adams, Victoria Advocate —Wins for Waco and New Braunfels.

W. H. Mason, Alice Echo—Waco and New Braunfels.

Tim Driver, Laredo Times — Waco 13, Amarillo 6; New Braunfels 20, Monahans 13.

Cliff Clines, Vernon Record — New Braunfels over Monahans.

Jimmy Banks, Dallas News — Waco 20, Amarillo 7; Kincannon's presence and Garner's (James Garner, Amarillo end) absence add up to a Merry Christmas for the Tigers. New Braunfels 14, Monahans 6.

Joe Kelly, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal — New Braunfels over Monahans.

Louis Cox, Dallas Times-Herald — Waco 20, Amarillo 13; New Braunfels 26, Monahans 6.

Beaumont Enterprise sports staff —Pick Waco if the Tigers' passing in tune; also New Braunfels.

George Raborn, San Antonio Express—I predict victories for Waco and New Braunfels. Both Amarillo and Monahans are weakened by injuries while New Braunfels boasts a tremendous weight advantage over Monahans. James Garner, Amarillo's star end, is not expected to play and this dims the Sandie hopes considerably.

Lefty Byers, Temple Telegram —Waco and New Braunfels.

It's Waco 20, Sandies 7!!

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

The championships of Class AA and A in Texas schoolboy football should come to rest in Central Texas this year.

For, Waco and New Braunfels —a pair of potent offensive machines—boast the attack and defense necessary to bring them the titles in their respective divisions of the Texas Interscholastic league.

Here's The Prediction

Without further ado, we'd like to go on record with the predictions that the final scores in Saturday's two title games will be close to:

Waco 20, Amarillo 7.
New Braunfels 27, Monahans 13

Coach Howard Lunch's Amarillo Sandies probably could have given the Central Texas Tigers a battle on Texas Christian university sod in Fort Worth Christmas day if the club hadn't been stricken by injuries.

But, with Claude Fox and James Garner both out of action there seems little reason to expect that the Panhandle Sandies can match the finesse on the ground or through the air that Coach Carl Price's Tigers can muster.

Unblemished Records

Both class A contenders, as do their big brothers in the AA ranks, move into the finals with unblemished records, but that of the New Braunfels Unicorns looms best for the inaugural class A championship.

The passing of Claude Kincannon and the running of Richard Parma and Bobby Patton for Waco can't be ignored and only a superhuman psychological job by Lynch in "firing up" the Sandies seems the only hope Amarillo has of becoming the league's top championship winner.

Waco now holds a half-title edge over the Sandies—four full titles and a co-championship to Amarillo's four crowns—since the TIL started in 1920.

Aerials Big Difference

Kincannon's aerials should be the big difference. He has hit 73 of 122 thrown this season for a phenomenal 1,302 yards and, when he wasn't passing, has managed to pick up a creditable 527 yards rushing and seven touchdowns.

But, even on the ground, the Tigers can move. Parma has counted 21 touchdowns, gained 1,071 yards rushing and added considerably more as the major receiver for Kincannon's passes. Patton has crossed enemy goal lines 10 times while rolling up 988 yards rushing and has booted 39 out of 49 conversion attempts.

New Braunfels' record is even more impressive. Since records were not kept on the Unicorns until after the first five games, no season total is available. But for the last nine victories, their statistical record tops Waco's for the full seasons.

Bindseil Is Star

In those games the Unicorns have bowled along for 3,358 yards on the ground and 297 on passes with Jerome Bindseil in the starring role.

The 156-pounder, who has chalked up 139 points despite missing three games, picked up 896 yards rushing in the last six games he played for an average of 8.5 yards per carry. Teammate Jimmy Schmid has added 850 yards in nine games and Allen Pittman and Harvey Pape, the other regulars, 641 and 369 yards, respectively.

The Unicorns do little passing, but have averaged 8.7 yards on the 17 completions they have made in the final nine games, while holding their opponents to a 3.8-yard average on 61 completions out of 195 tried.

Oleander Bowl Has Big Plans

GALVESTON, Dec. 23. (AP) — The first annual Oleander bowl classic to be staged here Dec. 29 will honor more football teams at the pre-game banquet and will have more school bands participating in festivities than any other bowl attraction in the nation, according to Homer Norton, general chairman of the Oleander bowl.

Four teams, instead of the usual two, will be feted at the elaborate banquet on Dec. 28, while at least ten bands will take part in the parade the afternoon of the game and at the event that night.

To Honor High Schools

Officials of the Greater Galveston Beach association decided to entertain the isle's two high schools, Ball and Kirwin, at the banquet, in addition to the bowl teams, Wharton and Paris Junior colleges.

Morris Frank, sports editor of the Houston Post, has been selected as the banquet's principal speaker. Mayor H. Y. Cartwright, jr., will be toastmaster. Prominent sports writers and sports announcers from all over the state have been invited, Coach Norton said. An estimated 400 persons will attend the fete at the Buccaneer hotel, to which the general public is invited.

Corps To Be Featured

Beach association officials also announced that the famous Brigadiers, Baytown high's drum and bugle corps, will be featured in the parade and during the big half-hour show at the half. Other participating bands include: Wharton Junior college, Paris Junior college, Paris high, Texas City high, Dickinson high, Baytown high, Alvin high, Ball high, Kirwin high and Central high.

The first annual Oleander ball will be held after the game in the marine room of Galveston's fabulous $2,000,000 pleasure pier.

Denver Man Is Top Cage Scorer In U. S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—Vince Boryla, of Denver, is the nation's top major collegiate individual basketball scorer.

The former Notre Dame star has compiled an average of 25.8 for the four games he has played through Dec. 18 to lead Ernie Vandeweghe, of Colgate. Vandewaghe is credited with an average of 24.3 for three games.

Westerners Defeat Abilene, 59 To 39

Brilliant shooting by Charles Galey, Jimmy Sexton and Jim Wilson paced the Lubbock High Westerners to an impressive 59-39 non-conference cage triumph over the Abilene Eagles, defending champions in District 3-AA, here Wednesday night at the Senior High gym.

The Westerners, in probably their best offensive performance of the new season, rolled to a 10-2 lead in the first quarter, then moved into a commanding 29-9 edge at halftime. Both coaches used substitutes freely during the second half, with the Hub city schoolboys holding their 20-point margin for the final count of 59-39.

Galey, stocky Westerner veteran, copped high point honors for the tilt with 18 points on seven field goals and four free throws. Sexton, playing at both forward and center, notched 15 points and Wilson, tall Westerner center, hit the loop for 11 points. Jack Stuard sparked the Abilene offense with 15 points on five field goals and five charity throws.

Take Lead Early

Lubbock's cagers jumped into the lead early in the game, when Wilson dropped in a free toss. Big Hub Ingraham connected on a long set shot seconds later, however, to send Abilene into a brief 2-1 lead. But Galey swished the net on a short push shot, Guard Blair Hankins sank a free throw and Sexton hit the loop for two field goals to give the Westerners an 8-2 edge. Wilson boosted the first quarter count to 10-2 with a pivot shot just before the end of the stanza.

Galey and Sexton put the Lubbock quint far out in front in the second period. Sexton connected for three field goals in succession, then Galey dropped in two field goals and one free shot. Hankins chalked up one point on a charity throw, then Sexton and Galey each added another two field goals for a halftime count of 29-9

Hankins, Wilson and Galey opened up with another Lubbock attack in the third quarter, but they were matched—point for point—by the shots of Abilene's Kenneth Green, Bob Landrum and Stuard. Wilson and Guard Bob Rooker hit field goals just before the end of the period to give the Westerners a 47-27 lead.

The final stanza followed the pattern of the third period, with each team connecting for 12 points. Guards Morris Turner and Galey tallied most of the Lubbock points in the final quarter, with Stuard and Ingraham scoring for the Eagles.

In the "B" game preceding the feature setto, the Abilene quint romped to a 50-37 win over the Lubbock five. The visitors went out in front early in the tussle on the shooting of Charles Montgomery and James Dillard, although Richard Allen and Jimmy Hamilton kept the home quint in a contending position with accurate shots.

Landrum topped the Abilene scorers with eight points, but Allen tallied 12 to cop high point honors.

North, South Squads Set For Grid Battle

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 23 (AP) — North and south teams are all set for their intersectional gridiron battle in the Orange bowl Christmas night.

The south unanimously elected Mississippi's great Barney Poole to captain them in the Mahi Shrine set-to.

Tech Raiders Lick Marshall

Texas Tech's basketball squad was freed from court action for a couple of days for a short Christmas vacation, following last night's 65-54 victory over the Marshall college Green Wave of Huntington, W. Va.

The Raiders were given a couple of days off by Coach Polk Robison, but the players will reconvene shortly to make the trip to Oklahoma City, where they are in the annual invitational tournament. Their first round opponent there will be Oklahoma A. & M. on Monday, first day of the three-day tourney.

Racks Up Seventh Win

Last night, before an appreciative crowd of 300 townspeople and an additional large group of students, the Raiders flashed some of their best ball of the season, their keen basket eyes accounted for their seventh victory in eight starts and most of the time they outplayed the talented, highly-rated visitors.

The Tech scoring was led by Center Don Grove, who again demonstrated his increasing ability and finesse. He tallied 16 points, not high for the night, but tops on the Raider squad, and his floor game was within inches of being flawless. It was a beautiful performance b ythe big pivot man and easily gained him the distinction of being the best man on the court.

Neat Floor Work

The Green Wave, however, showed the local cage fans some of the neatest floor work and passing that has been seen here. They passed in any direction without looking and their fast break resulted in countless layups. In fact, the Raiders couldn't break up the fast break on rebounds until late in the game, which was when they needed every point the most.

Tech and Marshall exchapged flurries of baskets through the first 15 minutes of the first stanza, before the Raiders went on a scoring spree. With the score 24-22 and 16 minutes gone, five quick baskets handed the Raiders a 34-22 advantage at the intermission.

The Green Wave rallied in the second half, outscoring Tech from the field during the first 15 minutes, 13 field goals to nine and pitching in one free throw to two for Tech. This sustained rally lowered the count to 54-49, the closest the visitors had been since early in the game.

Jiggs Jackson Connects

Then the Raiders rallied to open the gap again. Jiggs Jackson, one of Tech's stars last night, connected on a set shot, Whistle Banks dropped in a free throw, Wimpy Hill hooked a follow, Jackson drove in for a layup, Ardis Barton sank two free throws and Banks went in for a layup to end Tech scoring.

Tribe Has Greatest Pitching Potential

CLEVELAND, Dec. 23 (AP) — A fellow who should know says the world champion Cleveland Indians have the greatest depth in pitching he has ever seen.

Herold (Muddy) Ruel, former bullpen coach who now is a member of the Tribe's farm organization, maintains that no team he can recall possesses the potential pitching strength the Indians have with Bob Feller, Bob Lemon, Gene Bearden, Early Wynn, Steve Gromek, Sam Zoldak, Frank Papish and Satchel Paige.

Three New Fighters Set For Star Bouts

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP) — Harry Markson's search for new talent to bolster sickly fight gates at Madison Square Garden has resulted in an all-star show for Jan. 14, featuring three brilliant newcomers — Vince Foster of Omaha, Roland La Starza of New York and Lil Arthur King of Toronto.

When Markson took over his director of the Twentieth Century Sporting club, he announced the door was wide open for new fighters from any section of the country.

Score Terrific Hits

Foster, La Starza and King scored terrific hits in semi-finals on the last three Golden shows. Markson rewarded all three by moving them into an all-star show.

Foster, a good-looking kid with a sock, impressed local fans recently by overcoming the handicap of a severely cut eye to batter Tony Mistovich of Youngstown, Ohio, for a unanimous decision. Now he meets tough Tony Pellone of New York in the 10-round star bout.

La Starza, unbeaten in 28 pro fights, "arrived" Dec. 10 when he got up off the floor twice to stop Gene Gosney, Seminole, Okla., heavyweight in the semi to the Ezzard Charles-Joe Baksi bout. Markson has paired 21-year-old La Starza with Jimmy Evans of Brooklyn in an eight-rounder. La Starza defeated Evans in a six-rounder at the Garden late in 1947.

Best Looking Prospect

King, only 22, is the best looking prospect to show here in many a year. He polished off Tony La Bua of Ozone Park, N. Y., with a third round knockout on the semi to the Sandy Saddler-Terry Young main event.

The Toronto lad moves his hands faster than any newcomer in the busines sand is particularly adept with his left. As he is a stablemate of lightweight Champion Ike Williams, he can't aim for that crown until Ike moves up another notch to the welter class.

King has been matched with Willie Beltram, a toughie from Brooklyn, in another fight on the Jan. 14 show.

This card may not pack them in at the Garden but it could provide sure fire main attractions for later shows. With the fight game leaning heavily on shop-worn veterans, this should be a healthy shot in the arm to a sick trade.

Between . . . The Lines

— By JOE KELLY —

The Marshall College Green Wave presented basketball fans of Lubbock with a real treat last night, yet only about 300 turned ou for the game. Here was one of the top college teams in the nation, a team that you would pay more than a dollar to see almost any other time. And they were playing a Texas Tech that has won two out of three games from Southwest Conference opposition, in addition to four out of four against other competition .

Tech officials announced well in advance that the gym primary would be thrown open for townspeople, since the game purposely was scheduled during Christmas vacation. Here was an opportunity for them to see an outstanding visiting team and an equally outstanding home quintet. Yes, we know its' just before Christmas, but most sports lovers can always find another dollar for a top athletic spectacle. And this was one they shouldn't have missed.

Coach Polk Robinson's antics during a game generally are more interesting than the game and such was the case last night. Poor Polk suffered all the tortures imaginable and went through motions calculated to wear out even the most untiring. But he gained vast reward for the victory over Cam Henderson of Marshall. The Green Wave doesn't often taste defeat and last night's was fairly won by Tech, even though the officiating could have been slightly uncharitable to the visitors. Not to the extent that it would have given them victory, but it did hurt a little.

At the same time, you can't rob the Raiders of a victory that war won by outhustling and outshooting the visitors. They made a lot of mistakes, at times, mistakes that usuall; resulted in Marshall chalking up two points. But when the Wave had drawn within five points, and only four minutes were left, Tech had the ability to stave off the threat. They did it by out-passing one of the cleverest passing teams we have seen in a long time. The Raiders weren't as fancy with their passes, but they were more effective. And when they had to score, the Raiders poured it on Marshall.

We feel pretty safe in saying that the Raiders, without Don Grove at center, would be a good, average team, but that with him in the lineup, the Raiders are a better than average quintet. Don was good and he was consistent last year. This year he has improved even more and his smooth work with the ball is paying off. Last night he turned in a brilliant game, both offensively and defensively. He has perfected a one-hand shot that is arched slightly and generally falls dead through the hoops. It is difficult to break up and it is used just at the right times. Defensively, Don has learned to protect the basket better and to move over the floor better, aiding the Raiders tremendously.

Three other Raiders are helping make this year's version of the Tech quintet much better than last year's crew. Whistle Banks, Jiggs Jackson and Wimpy Hill are doing fine jobs, with the first two carrying much of the load. Hill is cool and calm on the court, helping to steady the Raiders. Ardis Barton, despite his nine points, had an off-night defensively, but fits into the Raider quintet nicely. Wayne Bowles is showing the most improvement and can be counted on to play a lot of ball before the season is over. It is also not necessary to point out that Gene Gibson, when healthy, is a valuable man and deserving of his starting berth.

The Oklahoma City tournament, which comes next on the Raider schedule, should be a good time to learn how good the players are under tense conditions. They will be on an unfriendly floor and they will be opposing some of the top teams in the Southwest. The first game for the Raiders takes them against Oklahoma A & M and if anybody thinks that Coach Henry Iba is slipping, don't mention it out loud. Iba is one coach who can make a silk purse out of a sow's ear, or a reasonable facsimile. Among the other teams entered, Tech has the possibility of facing powers like Baylor, Texas, SMU, Alabama, Auburn and Colorado A & M. It will be valuable experience for the Raiders.

THE ROUNDUP: Bulldog Turner of the Chicago Bears, with eight new cars, has set himself up in business again, temporarily, at the same old stand . . . Joe Smith was through town Tuesday, but only had a minute to spend . . . Here's a hope that Lubbock gets the annual Texas High School Coaches Association's coaching school next summer . . . KSEL will air the Waco-Amarillo game Christmas Day . . . Charley Reynolds, Tech sprinter and football halfback, became the father of a girl recently . . . We thought Texas Mines had laid it on pretty heavy when they beat Hawaii 49-6, but Nevada licked Hawaii 73-12 last week . . . They say the only thing keeping Doak Walker from turning pro before next fall is the fact that he can't play until his class graduates.

Hank Borowy Glad Of Trade

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23 (AP)—Hank Borowy let it be known today that he's mighty happy he was evicted from the Chicago Cubs' doghouse to become a tenant in the Philadelphia Phillies' pitching box.

Hank was part of the four-player swap that brought Eddie Waitkus to the Phils and sent Dutch Leonard and Walt Dubiel to the Cubs this month.

Sulked A Little

Borowy admits he "sulked a little" over the way Cub Manager Charley Grimm used him last season, but insists he is nowhere near finished as a winner despite a wretched record of five victories and 10 losses last season.

The 30-year-old righthander put it this way:

"I like to pitch in turn and feel that I can pitch my own game without half a dozen people telling me what to throw and how to throw it.

"Last summer I'd start one day and the next day I'd relieve if we were in a tight game and the next day I'd finish a game that was hopelessly lost.

He Wants To Pitch

"I'm glad I was traded to the Phillies. They need pitchers and I want to pitch."

Borowy, the Forcham university graduate from Bloomfield, N. J., broke into the major leagues with the New York Yankees in 1942 and was a mainstay of the pitching staff that helped the Yanks to pennants in 1942 and 1943.

Then in one of the most surprising moves in baseball history, Borowy was sold to the Cubs in midseason of '45 for a reported $100,000. He won 11 and lost two for the Cubs and led them to the National league flag that year.

But, says Hank, he got into Grimm's doghouse early in 1947

"I used to get a blister on the hand," he said. "Whenever I got in trouble I gripped the ball too tightly. They had doctors put stuff on it and made me take different kinds of medicine but the stuff they put on my finger made it worse.

"I argued with them but it didn't do any good. I was never a prima donna but some of the front office boys may have thought I was."

Cotton Center Girls Win Over New Deal

COTTON CENTER, Dec. 23. (Special)—A smooth-working offense gave the Cotton Center girls an impressive 53-48 non-conference victory over New Deal girls here Wednesday night.

The girls from the New Deal school went ahead early in the tussle on the accurate shooting of Marie Wales, but Cotton Center, paced by the point-making of forward Ruth Cannon, tied the count after four minutes of play. Then the Cotton Center cagers surged into the lead and were never behind again.

Cannon took high point honors for the tilt, with a total of 38 points, while Wales tallied 19 for New Deal.

In the boys' game, New Deal chalked up a 32-24 win over Cotton Center. Pounds took high point honors with 16 points for Cotton Center, as Hobgood topped New Deal with 10.

Sul Ross Gridders Receive Pro Offers

ALPINE, Dec. 23 (AP)—Since 12 members of the Sul Ross State football squad will graduate next spring, several of them have been approached by professional football scouts.

Sul Ross was undefeated and untied during the past season and plays Murray state in the Tangerine bowl at Orlando, Fla., Jan. 1.

Among professional clubs contacting the Sul Ross seniors are: the New York Giants, Pittsburgh Steelers, Los Angeles Rams, Philadelphia Eagles and Detroit Lions.

Men of the squad who have been mentioned are John C. Waldrum, Frank Barton, J. L. Dodd, and John O. Parks. To date, however, none of the boys have signed contracts.

HEADACHE PROMISED

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 23 (AP)—California's high spirited Bears held the last of their two-a-day practices today with their running attack promising a headache for Northwestern in the Rose bowl New Year's day.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton, jr

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—Some of the local hockey experts seem to believe it was a disagreement between Lester Patrick and Frank Boucher that caused Frank to be relieved as manager of the Rangers . . . Still we can't help recalling Patrick's remark a few weeks ago: "I'm retired, but it's hard to sit here (right across a desk from Business Manager Tommy Lockhart) and not do any second guessing" . . . Could be that Leo Durocher's celebrated remark about nice guys wasn't too far wrong. If there are any nicer guys in the sports business than Boucher and Mel Ott, we don't know them. But neither one ever got quite as good results from his athletes as some managers who aren't quite so nice.

One of the speakers at Penn State's recent football banquet was Andy Kerr, the little veteran who "retired" to Lebanon Valley college after years of sending Colgate teams against the Nittany Lions. During the evening Coach Bob Higgins and 27 varsity lettermen left the hall to elect the 1949 Penn State captain . . . Some 30 varsity and jayvee players remained . . . Kerr, watching the huskies depart, leaned over to the toastmaster and asked: "is it all right if I make a short talk and try to interest some of these left-overs in Lebanon Valley?"

One-Minute Sports Page

Another story out of Philadelphia is that Branch Rickey demanded $300,000 (covering his losses) to pull out of the All America football conference and let it fold up quietly. But how about that $98,000 he is supposed to have received to come into the league? . . . Charles Lancaster, who'll carry Missouri's colors in the Sugar bowl half-mile run, started out as a hurdler then tried the 440 before he found his best distance . . . Butch Songin, of Boston college, a better than fair footballer and probably the outstanding defense man in college hockey, is being eyed by the Boston Bruins as a pro prospect . . . Northwestern will fly George Maddock home from the Rose Bowl game so he can play with the basketball team against Missouri, Jan. 3.

When a strange story came out that Arizona's footballers had demanded $175 apiece to play in the Salad bowl game, it made them good and mad . . . So they demanded that the sponsors put $10,000 in escrow for the underprivileged children who are to benefit from the game . . . Now Arizonans are suggesting that all the small "bowl" games adopt the same procedure. That would protect the colleges and at the same time freeze out any promoters who might figure that charity begins at their homes.

Last Laugh

Gabe Mendez, the Washington fight promoter, went to the Charlestown races recently and was tipped to four winners . . . Gabe gratefully told his informant: "I'm going to do something nice for you. I'll give you two winners on tonight's wrestling show at Turner's arena."

Missouri Confident Of A Bowl Victory

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 23 (U.P.)—Missouri's Tigers, long distinguished in collegiate football but not in post-season bowl games, think they finally have found an opponent they can beat in perfect record Clemson, their foe in the New Year's day Gator bowl get-together.

Despite the fact that the Tigers from South Carolina are unbeaten and untied, Coach Don Faurot's crew has a statistical edge particularly on offense where it had an average of 371 yards net gained in rushing and passing in 10 games this season.

Ready This Time

Missouri, which lost successively to Georgia Tech in the Orange bowl in 1939, Fordham in the Sugar bowl in 1942, and Texas in the Cotton bowl in 1946, thinks this time it is well equipped to snap Clemson's 13-game winning streak which stretches over two seasons.

Coach Don Faurot will throw his widely copied split-T formation against Clemson's single wing and the contrasting clash in offenses will produce a very interesting game, he thinks.

"Clemson is about our speed," he said. "It ought to be a hard fought and clean game."

Faurot was very emphatic about it being "clean." That's the brand of football he teaches and he thinks the game in some quarters is getting a little out of nand as far as roughness is concerned.

He Demands Clean Play

"The rocking and socking in college football has begun to outdistance the rules," he said. "There's too much use of the forearm and too much piling on. I'd rather get socked by a fist than a forearm.

"If I've got to teach my boys to slug to win football games I'll quit."

Just what prompted Faurot's little sermon on gridiron cleanliness didn't immediately meet the eye, but close observers recall that flailing arms and legs met the eyes of several of his gridders in a rough season.

In that campaign Missouri finished with an 8-2 record with losses to Ohio State in the first game of the year and to Oklahoma in a Big Seven title game. The Tigers scored 308 points, a new Missouri record, while holding the opposition to 137.

Missouri's offense, operated by Quarterback Bus Entsminger, reached its peak efficiency against Southern Methodist in a 20 to 14 victory that ranked with the major upsets of the year.

The roof fell in just once, Oklahoma, stunned by a quick Tiger touchdown, roared in retaliation and won a 41 to 7 rout.

"They just beat the hell out of us," Faurot said.

Kentucky Cuts Tulane Record

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP) — Mighty Kentucky turned back last night another challenge to its collegiate basketball supremacy. This time it was previously unbeaten Tulane which had pointed nearly a year for its meeting with the NCAA champs. The score was Kentucky 51, Tulane 47.

Unbeaten Purdue, Minnesota and Bradley all kept their records clean. Purdue trimmed Drake, 54-47; Minnesota trampled St. Marys of California, 52-42; and Bradley whipped Los Angeles Loyola, 60-50.

Iowa nosed out Texas Christians, 47-46, in an overtime struggle at Iowa City, Ia.

Texas Tech 65, Marshall (WVa) 54.

Texas Aggies 50, Southwestern Okla. Tech 30.

St. Marys (Tex) 44, Oklahoma Baptist 43.

Grapplers End In Draw Here

A pair of champions, meeting in the ring, usually settle something one way or the other, but last night at Sled Allen's arena, neither Dick Trout nor Milt Olsen could settle a thing. They wrestled to a draw.

The crowd was treated to a fine wrestling match in which scientific, clean wrestling predominated. But the crowd appreciated the contract with the two earlier bouts, in which nothing was barred and in which almost everything was tried.

Preliminary Exciting

Olan Boynton held the nongenial rowdy dowdy Pat O'Dowdy to a 20-minute draw in the preliminary, during which time the two grapplers provided the crowd with plenty of action.

Benny Trudell and Monty LaDue, both Canadians, also staged a good match, with LaDue making his debut a good one by taking both flip flops. Lobo Brown, the retired wrestler, called all three bouts.

Couldn't Hold Trout

Trout, the Southwestern Junior Heavyweight champion, had too much weight for Olsen, the Texas Junior Heavyweight champ, or else he might have lost the match. Olsen, in the final fall, after the wrestlers had split the first two, repeatedly had Trout on his on his shoulders, but couldn't hold him there long enough for a three count.

The Southwestern champ wriggled lose from Olsen's shoulder pin by using his weight, with Olsen each time throwing him back up. But Trout refused to remain cornered and the bell finally stopped the match with both men tired.

It was one of the best matches in recent weeks and the large crowd enjoyed it. Neither man resorted to the usual "dirty" tactics so familiar to most local fans, relying solely on knowledge of the ring to survive.

In the semi-final, LaDue pinned Trudell twice, taking 20 minutes to pin his opponent in the opener with a reverse toehold. Trudell came back to carry the fight, but LaDue slipped out of every effort to pin him and applied a half nelson that stopped Trudell in eight minutes. LaDue lived up to advance billing and proved himself a crowd pleaser.

In the main go, Trout used up 33 minutes before winning on a headlock, that had been applied early in the match. Olsen came back to win the second fall with a shoulder pin in 12 minutes and the two wrestlers fought to a draw in six minutes in the final fall.

A gift collection netted the Salvation Army both clothing and foodstuffs to be used in the Christmas distribution.

Neighborhood Joins In To Aid Youngsters Santa Might Skip

PENNSAUKEN, N. J., Dec. 23 (U.P.)—Santa Claus skipped George Dyson's kids 25 years ago. So he knows how it feels to be "up against it" at Christmas.

Since then Dyson, who looks like a jolly Santa himself, has been doing his darndest to see that other children don't go without toys as his youngsters did that year.

By midnight this Christmas eve, when the Dyson family and their neighbors settle back from their work of repairing broken toys, they will have distributed 500 gifts to children who otherwise would not get any.

Get Good Feeling

"You sort of get a good feeling when the last toy is handed out," Dyson said. "We call it our Christmas present to ourselves."

From Thanksgiving to Christmas, the Dyson home is a real Santa's workshop. Dyson works at a large Philadelphia department store. The store gives him all the broken new toys which it cannot sell and then he and his family go to work repairing them.

It's a neighborhood project by now. The iceman and the milkman tip Dyson off on any families who are having it tough. The local visiting nurse tells him about other cases. The insurance man drops a hint when a family can't keep up its payments.

Dysons Go To Work

Then the Dysons get busy. Mrs. Dyson sorts out broken parts. George, jr., 21; Maurice, 15; David, 13; Louella, 27, and two married daughters and their husbands go to work with tack hammer, paint brush and glue pot.

A woman across the street who crochets is a specialist in replacing lost doll booties. Another whose hobby is ceramics fixes broken dolls' heads.

The family and neighbors sit around on the floor working late into the night as Christmas draws closer.

Others Lend Help

Then the breadman and insurance man help deliver toys to the families they know about.

"My insurance man just told me about a man who lost his job the day his wife came home from the hospital with their fifth baby," Dyson said. "We'll have to do something for them."

The Dyson workship tries to give each child two toys, if there are a number of children, they add books or toys that all can use.

Dyson finds being a Santa Claus is a year-around proposition. During the Christmas season he could keep busy around the clock playing Santa for churches, schools and childrens' institutions. He manages to double for the old elf about 35 times, as it is.

Work Is Exhausting

It's exhausting work and means time lost from his regular job. Every year the Dysons decide this will be the last time.

"But we don't really mean it, I guess," chuckled Dyson. "We wouldn't know any other way to celebrate Christmas."

There's just one thing, though. It would be nice if St. Nick would give his helper a band saw for Christmas. Dyson wants it so he can be a better Santa Claus, himself.

Helpers Needed

auto owners will be asked to drive to the distributing station. The address of this building will be kept secret until tomorrow. There have been break-ins at such places in the past, which is the reason for present secrecy.

Police Chief Lewis Kittrell is working out details to expedite the movement of the cars. These will be reported Friday.

But cars will be driven past the entrance of the distribution station. Boy Scouts will be on hand to put packages into cars.

Final List Given

The drivers will deliver them to the addresses on the packages. No one will be asked to make more than two or three deliveries. In most cases, the children will be waiting for their only Santa Claus of this Christmas to arrive.

It won't be necessary to call anyone about helping. Just be on hand. It will afford the opportunity for a heart-tugging experience to last a lifetime.

The final list of contributions to the 1948 fund follows:

armored forces in the vicinity of Nirim, a Jewish settlement within sight of Mount Sinai and about 12 miles east of the Egyptian frontier base at Rafah, an Israeli military spokesman said.

Air Forces Used

"Air forces were used by both sides," he added.

After dawn today planes—presumed here to be Egyptian—bombed a large Jewish community southeast of Tel Aviv. Censorship did not permit the name of the community to be disclosed.

The extent of the fighting could not be judged from here immediately, but apparently it threatens to shatter the fitful truce which has been in effect along the desert front in recent weeks, from the Egyptian border to the Faluja pocket, where 3,000 Egyptians are held in an Israeli trap.

Daily Markets

Stock Market

MARKET IS IMPROVED

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (U.P.) — The stock market improved in afternoon dealings today as reinstatement buying again made itself felt. Activity was slightly better than in the previous session.

Most of the demand in today's session came from investors who recently have engaged in tax-loss selling. Professionals in Wall Street anticipate little change in the character of the market prior to January 5, when President Truman delivers his state of the union message to the 81st Congress.

Meanwhile, most informed quarters feel that early 1949, at least, will find industrial activity holding around present levels, an opinion bolstered by the late spurt in nationwide retail sales, which now are expected to reach $13,000,000,000 and the best level on record for December, which would be a three per cent gain over 1947.

Retailers all over the country this week are reporting sharp gains in dollar volume, although it is noteworthy that shoppers still are watching closely both quality and price.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular in dull trading today. The approaching holiday and quiet conditions in textiles and spot cotton discouraged trading. Light liquidation and hedging were offset by mill buying. There was some straddling operations between the nearby March and October, 1949, delivery.

Attention was attracted to Washington reports that additional support is developing among congressmen for the elimination of the flexible price provisions in the farm bill in favor of a mixed 90 per cent of parity support level.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP) — Although the grain market was very quiet today, it turned in some fair-sized gains in wheat, corn and oats. At times prices were up a cent as a small run of buying orders had more influence than would have been the case in a normally active market.

Three items spurred the buying: more statements by congressmen favoring revision of the precent farm support program; announcement by the Economic Cooperation administration of additional funds for wheat and corn exports, and a boost in the government buying price for corn.

Wheat closed 1¼-2¼ higher. May $2.28¼-¼; corn was ¾-1¼ higher. May $1.47¾-1.48; oats were 1 to 1½ higher. May 78¼-¾; rye was 2½ higher. May $2.72½; soybeans were ¼-¾ higher. March $2.60½-¾, and lard was 3 to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher. January $16.90.

Rites For Victim Of Auto Accident Set

LITTLEFIELD, Dec. 23 (Special)—Last rites for J. A. Cottrell, Littlefield auto salesman who was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday night on the Lamesa-Lubbock highway, were scheduled for 3 p. m. today in First Methodist church.

Burial was to be in Littlefield cemetery, under direction of Hammond Funeral home.

Survivors of Cottrell include the widow; a month-old son, Doyle Glenn; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cottrell, of Sundown; and four brothers, Harry E. Cottrell of Sundown, Travis Cottrell of Levelland, Dreal Van Cottrell and Bobby Lee Cottrell, both of Sundown; and six sisters, Mrs. C. C. Gregg of Lamesa, Mrs. A. D. Roberts of Levelland, Mrs. C. B. Singleton, Mrs. W. E. Wright, Mrs. W. C. Green, and Miss Archie Pearl Cottrell, all of Sundown.

American equipment may be used in a 350-bed tuberculosis hospital in Iraq.

THEY'RE THE FIRST OF THEIR KIND—These four calves are believed to be the first bovine quadruplets in America resulting from artificial insemination. Born to the Holstein sow seen with them, they're owned by Edwin Nussbaum, whose farm is near Berne, Ind.

mise arbitration plan proposed by three federal conciliators.

End Comes Suddenly

The end came suddenly and unexpectedly.

Said Cramer, "everything was quiet and then all of a sudden everyone started running for telephones."

Terms of the new contract which runs for one year from Dec. 1, 1948, provide for restoration of certain seniority rights and service credit which some union members lost because they took part in a six week long strike in the spring of 1947.

The wage increases are retroactive to December 1 of this year.

Neither the company nor the union would disclose who suggested the proposal which brought about the settlement.

Governors and mayors in the five states were notified yesterday of impending walkouts. They were told there would be union standby crews to handle what the union decided would be emergency calls.

Will Try To Relax

While the President will keep up with the usual White House routine, Ross said he will try to relax as much as possible.

"He's here to enjoy the Christmas holidays with his family and friends," Ross said. Ross and Matthew J. Connelly, appointments secretary, kept Mr. Truman abreast of foreign and domestic developments.

But, mainly, the President found in this little midwestern town where he began the career that led to the White House the contentment and happiness of any successful boy at home for the Christmas season.

He looked forward to a big dinner Saturday with his family. There'll be hams and turkeys and all the traditional Christmas delicacies.

Man Wounded

ment said several thefts had been reported today, others Wednesday night.

Two cases of eggs valued at $38 were stolen from French Food store on East Broadway.

A tire and wheel valued at $30 were stolen from A. A. Walker, from 1957 Texas Ave.

An $85 red plastic self-charging portable General Electric radio was stolen from a display window of Dunlap's Appliance store, in 1200-block Ave. H.

Christmas Lights Taken

Christmas lights were taken from the 3311 Twentieth residence of Mrs. Emerson Blake.

A $100 topaz and ruby ring was reported stolen from Mrs. James Hamilton of 1411 Eighth.

An elderly negro, Carl G. Lewis of 2404 East Ave. F, turned over to police for claiming by its owner a suitcase containing a pair of roller skate-fitted shoes that he found at rear of 1114 Tenth in trash.

Officials said an attempt to knock the knob of a safe of Randall Lumber company in Lamesa failed, but the burglars stole a .38 caliber Smith & Wesson pistol and other property.

Theft of packages from under the Christmas tree in the Cliff Elliott home at 2124 Twenty-sixth was reported to city police department Wednesday night. Total value of the packages, 11 in all was set at $130.

Entrance to the house apparently was through a rear window of the residence.

Other thefts of clothing, tires, Christmas packages from parked cars, as well as burglary of a local packing house, were reported to police and sheriff's departments Wednesday afternoon and night.

Packing House Entered

Burglary of a packing house on North Ave. U. at present not in operation, was reported to the sheriff's department Wednesday by O. L. Lawson. He said that a butane bottle and copper stuffer connections of sausage mills were taken.

Russell Fogerson, of Men's Dorm No. 4 at Texas Tech, reported theft of clothing valued at $150 from his car parked on a lot in 1200 block Ave. M, directly behind Lubbock Memorial hospital.

Thomas E. Bills of Sundown reported that four or five Christmas packages had been taken from his car which was parked on the same lot Wednesday night. The value and contents of the packages were unknown, Bills said.

J. B. Richardson of Sundown said a package containing a large pitcher and six glasses, value $3.50, had been taken from his car parked in 1300 block Broadway Wednesday night.

Car Reported Stolen

A blue, 1940 Oldsmobile business coupe, license Texas EX-4339, owned by O. J. Farris of Dallas, was reported to city police as being taken from 1100 block Ave. L Wednesday night.

Earl Malone, of 502 Ave. T, Wednesday reported theft of a bicycle belonging to him from 1000 block Main street Tuesday night. The bicycle, blue and cream-colored, was valued at $25.

Felipe Solis, of 100 block Ave. M, told police department that two new tires and tubes had been taken from his unlocked car parked at that address Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. The loss was not discovered until Wednesday noon.

Two Pay Fines

A charge of assault with intent to murder filed Dec. 13 against Preston Hagger, 23, of Borger and Lubbock, was reduced Wednesday afternoon to aggravated assault, and Hagger paid a county court fine of $100 and costs.

Leroy Dover, 29, of Lubbock was fined $1 and court costs on a plea of guilty of check law violation, officials said.

E. G. Wade of Littlefield route 2, Hockley county, reported that a battery had been stolen from his irrigation well house.

Photographer Takes Shots Under Water

COULEE DAM, Wash., Dec. 23 (U.P.)—A photographer has taken successful pictures of the spillway base of Grand Coulee Dam here with an experimental underwater camera.

Harold Maiken made the pictures 70 feet below the surface of the Columbia River. The photographs were taken to determine needs of repairs.

Maiken said the camera can take 40 pictures and is adjustable for depths and water conditions. It is complete with batteries and flash blubs and is encased in a steel box.

Funeral Rites Set For Lubbock Baby

Funeral services for Clovis Malcolm Isaacs, eight-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Isaacs of 2218 Fifth who died at midnight Wednesday in the polio clinic at Plainview, have been set for 3 p. m. Friday in the Pioneer Memorial Methodist church.

Rev. J. Alvis Cooley will officiate.

The youth was admitted to the clinic last Sunday.

Survivors include the parents; maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bertie Reynolds of Lubbock; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lydia Isaacs of Lubbock; and a sister, Marilyn Jane.

Living Costs

1935-39 average of 100. At this level, living costs were 4.4 percent above a year ago, 29.2 percent above June, 1946 when wartime price controls were abandoned, and 74.6 percent above August, 1939 when World War II began.

Foods alone dropped 1.9 percent from October to November. Clothing and house furnishings prices declined fractionally.

Foods in November were 2.4 percent higher than a year ago but 42.5 percent above the controlled price period of mid-1946.

Meats dropped most among the foods, but there were two percent declines in dairy products, fruits and vegetables, and fats and oils. Egg prices rose two percent and prices of sugar and sugar products advanced a bit.

The bureau said that butter prices at 75 cents a pound averaged lower than in any month since June 1947.

didn't say whether that gives him a special connection with Santa Claus.

Last year's winner was Mary Jane Esser of Kendalia, and the year before Richard Black of Jarrell, Texas, was grand prize winner.

Bob's pleasure at being informed of his honor this morning was equaled only by that of his parents and younger brother, Jerry, age 8, and sister Susanne, age 3.

Eagerly Read Letter

They eagerly looked at the original letter, which they had not seen previously, to see what kind of letters Santa Claus likes to receive.

The Highland Press publishes children's books at Boerne. The postmaster, a kind and patient man, doesn't blink an eye any more when he receives letters addressed to "Santa Claus, North Pole, Boerne, Texas." Letters like that have been coming in by the tons.

The nicest thing about the whole contest, friends of the Toepperweins agree, is the way they follow up their prize winners. The Toepperweins travel a lot, in answer to requests for autograph and library parties all over the state. And when they visit a town where a prize winner lives, they make it a point to see the youngster and encourage him in his writing.

Bob's art work has won him accolades before. His posters and drawings have been displayed at Roscoe Wilson's Hallowe'en carnivals and at other exhibits.

Baby Teaches Group How To Be Mothers

NEWARK, Del., Dec. 23 (AP)—The youngest instructor at the University of Delaware can't even talk.

He is husky and be-dimpled Charles P. Griffin IV, ten months old and weighing 22 pounds. His job is to give Delaware's home economics students practical experience in baby care.

It's a 24-hour assignment and young Charles has five mothers responsible for his well-being.

One is his real mother, Mrs. Nell H. Griffin, a widow who is assistant professor of home management in the university's home economics school. The other four are students studying home management as part of the regular college course.

Biggest Sales Month In History Is Seen

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—As Christmas shoppers trudged through the final hours of their weary rounds today, a late buying splurge promised to skyrocket the nation's retail store sales for December to an all-time high.

Incomplete reports indicated the dollar sales volume for the month might reach $13,000,000,000, about three per cent higher than 1947's record.

Despite a decline in November sales that left retailers gasping, limited reports received by Dun & Bradstreet which operates a retail trade research department, make it appear that this month will be the granddaddy of them all that 1948 will prove to be the greatest retail sales year in history.

On the preliminary basis of December figures, the total dollar volume for 1948 would be about eight to 10 per cent above the $118,000,000,000 total sales reported in 1947, the top year.

Church Services

the choir will sing parts of the mass, Kyrie Eleison, Sanctus and Benedictus and Agnus Dei, then will sing traditional Christmas carols as the congregation takes communion, then Gloria in Excelsis, followed by Nanc Dimittis. The postlude will be the Hallelujah Chorus from "The Messiah."

Rev. Claude E. Canterbury, pastor, will administer communion. The service will be open to the public.

At Asbury Methodist church, the senior department requested of the pastor, Dr. C. A. Bickley, that they might keep the church open during Christmas day so members of the public may go in and worship. Members of that department and other young people of the church will take turns in staying at the church during the day. They will place a sign outside the church to let the public know the church will be open throughout the day.

At Redeemer Lutheran church, a vesper service will be conducted at 7:30 o'clock Friday night. The theme of the sermon by Rev. Karl Keller, pastor, will be "The Peace of Christmas." A festival day service will be conducted at 10:30 o'clock Christmas morning. The pastor's message will be "The Christmas Gospel." On the Sunday after Christmas, the service will observe "The Second Christmas Day," with the morning message being on the subject, "The Adoration of the Shepherds."

A Christmas day service will be conducted at 10 o'clock Saturday morning by the Shepherd King American Lutheran church at Plains Funeral home chapel, 2020 Broadway. Rev. David Sieberg, pastor, will deliver a sermon.

Two simultaneous services will be conducted by St. Joseph's Catholic church at midnight Christmas Eve, with Rev. J. T. Moore conducting the service in the church building and Rev. J. A. Noon conducting the service in a tent which has been erected near the church. More persons have been going to services than could get into the church and the tent was erected. The church will accommodate about 300 persons and the tent, about 800. Masses will be conducted at 8 a. m. and 10 a. m. Christmas day.

At the First Foursquare church, a Christmas tree and play will open at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Sunday school classes drew names for exchange of gifts. The church will present gifts to the children. "The Christmas Heart," play, will be presented by young people of the church. Rev. Floyd Dawson is pastor.

Christmas services at St. Elizabeth's Catholic church will begin with singing of carols by the church choir at 11:30 o'clock Friday night, to be followed at midnight by a high mass to be sung by Rev. Wm. F. Blakeslee, pastor. The choir will assist in the mass and sing the "Christmas Carol Mass," by Korman, including the Kyrie, Gloria, Credo, Sanctus, Benedictus, and Agnus Dei. The sermon will be delivered by the pastor.

The carols to be sung include "To Christ the King," "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," "Hodie Christus Natus Est," "O Holy Night," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Joy to the World," and "Silent Night." "Gesu Bambino" will be sung at the offertory and "Adeste Fidelis" will be sung at communion. "The First Noel" will be sung as the recessional.

On Christmas morning, masses will be said at St. Elizabeth's church at 8 a. m., 9:30 a. m. and 11 a. m.

Soloists for the midnight services will be Mrs. Robert Farrier, Caroline Schaefer, Mrs. F. C. Goodwin and Jack Hall. Mrs. John Oldham will be the organist. Paul G. Schaefer is the director.

Man Alive After Shooting Self In Chest, Swallowing Poison

FREEPORT, Dec. 23 (U.P.)—Truman Henley, 43, was still alive today after shooting himself in the chest and swallowing strychnine because of an attempt to slay his ex-wife.

Mrs. Victoria Henley, 40, received two minor wounds in the arm and leg, but a by-stander, Richard Allen Black, 36, was instantly killed when Henley misfired.

Henley opened up on his estranged wife as she left a drive-in cafe last night. Black had just pulled up to the curb, and was leaving because he found the place closing.

Found Still Conscious

Witnesses said Black, an employe of Dow Chemical company, ran toward Mrs. Henley when she fell and was hit by one of five shots.

Officers said Henley then put two more bullets into the .38 caliber pistol, shot himself once and drove to his brother's home. Police found him sprawling across the bed, still conscious, and suffering from the bullet wound and effects of the poison.

Doctors at Dow hospital said Henley was in "critical" condition, although he rallied slightly during th night.

Murder charges were filed against the man before Justice of the Peace Frank E. Aowler of Velasco.

lasted, from 1939 to 1941. The committee said the Communists actually carried on such a policy through "terrible strikes that delayed U. S. rearmament."

Red Aim Declared

7. Declared that the aim of Communism is to seize control of "your job security, working conditions, pay and union membership, if any," and to "end forever your chance of living as a free citizen."

The committee listed the CIO Transport Workers as one union that "belatedly tried to clean out Communists" under the direction of Union President Michael Quill.

It said this union could paralyze bus, subway and trolley systems in some of the largest cities and tie up some of the most important airlines.

Of the American Communications association, which the report said had been under Communist leadership in 1944, the committee declared:

Could Garble Messages

"This outfit is in our cable offices and in the radio control rooms of our merchant ships and commercial airfields. They could garble messages so as to sink ships, wreck planes, tap intelligence channels, and isolate us from the rest of the world."

Many members of the United Public Works are in Navy yards, arsenals, experimental stations and the State department, the committee said, and 15,000 are in the Panama Canal Zone.

tions of the security council. It has never been invoked.

Hodgson said that the security council's commission in Indonesia had reported the Dutch notified the Republican truce delegation of their repudiation of the truce only 15 minutes before they cut communications to the interior.

The Australian, who is not a council member, then took up the statement made yesterday by Dutch Delegate J. H. Van Royen.

Van Royen said the Dutch had only two alternatives surrender to the republic—or their current "police action."

Arbitration Suggested

"What an outrageous statement," Hodgson said. He added there was a third course—settlement by peaceful arbitration.

He suggested an amendment to the American resolution expressly ordering the Dutch to release Indonesian leaders held by them and to prohibit reprisals or punitive action against individuals and said he hoped some council member would sponsor the amendment for Australia.

Hodgson said the Dutch violation of the truce agreement would have "incalculable consequences" throughout southeast Asia. He said it would bring "strife, strikes, turmoil, the loss of raw materials needed for world recovery, and the loss of trade and commerce."

Printers Call Strike On Miami Newspaper

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 23 (AP) — Miami local No. 430 of the International Typographical union today called a strike in the composing room of the Miami Herald.

Eddie Page, union local president, said the shift due to report at 10 a. m. would not go on.

Emphasizing the relationship between the Prince of Peace and general peace in a restless world, Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of First Baptist church here, told the Kiwanis club luncheon at Hotel Lubbock today that "we must implement the United Nations and other similar organizations with the spirit of peace in the human heart."

Asserting that "I do not know whether peace is possible in our time," the minister believes, however, that "if our spiritual progress is brought to a par with scientific progress," the world would be long strides toward the goal of peace.

He believes that we must recognize the oneness of the world, and that lasting peace can be gained only if the spirit of Christ is invoked in all deliberations and dealings throughout the world.

Suggestion Offered

Dr. Grant offered six suggestions he believes will help. He listed these as contributing a faith that peace is possible, peace is not cheap, contributing a spirit of national criticism, contributing a new concept concerning our enemies, a feeling of the difference between patriotism and humanitarian service, and contributing a global concept of patriotism.

The speaker was introduced by George McCleskey, program chairman, and the address was preceded by two carols presented by Rex Webster, the soloist, as probably not so widely used but recognized as contributing their part to the Christmas story.

The carols were Gesu Bambino and Sweet Little Jesus Boy, the latter a Christmas spiritual. Miss Imogene Webster was at the piano.

Club President L. E. Davis announced that the club profited $364.38 from the recent three-day repeat showing of the McMillan African adventure film, and that the total now in the Girl Scout Little House expansion fund is $4,671.88, toward the goal of $10,000.

Invocation was by Rev. Mr. Grant.

Salary Boosts

District of Columbia and foreign service employees who were not included in government pay raises voted earlier this year.

Senator Flanders (R-Vt), subcommittee chairman, said the group considers this bill as "emergency legislation" which it will seek to get approved before the presidential inauguration January 20.

Under the constitution the President's salary cannot be increased during his regular term of office—so Congress must act fast if Mr. Truman is to get any raise.

Recommended By Hoover

The cost of giving the President and top-level government officials a raise is estimated at $1,719,973 a year. The pay raise for the district and foreign service employes would cost $4,487,340 a year.

The proposed bill follows the recommendation of former President Herbert Hoover that the nation should be willing to pay for the President's "board and lodging."

Hoover told a Senate committee several days ago that when he was president, it cost him about $30,000 a year above his expense allowance to run the White House alone.

Postman To Blame For Heavy Mail Bag

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 23 (U.P.)—Postman Orval Ammerman's mail bag is overflowing with Christmas cards and he has himself to blame.

Ammerman added 318 postcards to his heavy pouch and $3.18 to his expenses by sending Christmas greetings to every family on his route.

Chile Seeking Cooperation In Checking Revolts In America

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 23 (AP)—Chile seeks cooperation of American governments to check revolts and revolt plots such as have troubled Latin America throughout 1948.

Measures to "strengthen the stability of democratic regimes" were advocated in a statement by the foreign ministry last night.

The statement expressed gratification at consultations initiated by the United States "with the object of adopting necessary measures to end threats against democratic and representative regimes on the American continent."

Agreement Voiced

Agreement with the U. S. position also was voiced by Colombia's foreign minister, Eduardo Zuleta Angel. In a statement to a Bogota newspaper, Zuleta Angel said "something must be done to defend the effectiveness of democracy in the Americas."

Military coups have unseated the governments of Costa Rica, Paraguay, Peru, Venezuela and El Salvador this year. Bolivia, Chile and Colombia were among the targets of subversive plots which failed.

A diplomatic source said Chile's president, Gabriel Gonzalez Videla, has been considering the possibility that some international organization of democracies might be formed to counteract what the president recently called a continental conspiracy of neo-Fascist and Communist totalitarians.

(Robert A. Lovett, U. S. under secretary of state, told a news conference in Washington yesterday the United States had no reason to believe the series of revolts had any "central direction." He said talks on the problem will be carried out through normal diplomatic channels.)

Wee Bonfire Amazes Workmen In Oakland

OAKLAND, Dec. 23. (AP)—It was just a wee bonfire, built to warm the hands of working men on a frosty morning.

No wonder the crew of street workmen was amazed and barely escaped when flames leaped skyward over a 200-square foot area.

138-Year-Old Man Reported In Russia

LONDON, Dec. 23 (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass said today an Azerbaijan farmer recently celebrated his 138th birthday.

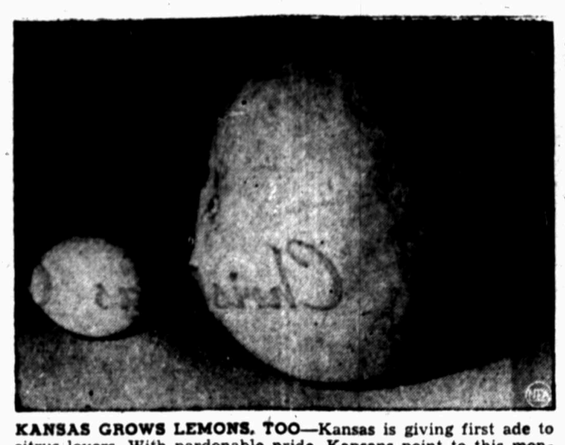

The Tass dispatch distributed here by the Soviet Monitor said the farmer, Safar Gussein Ogly, of the village of Morul, is "sturdy and in good health."

His family includes 10 children, 43 grandchildren, 41 great grandchildren and four great great grandchildren, Tass said.

SUSPECT IS HELD

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23 (AP)—The arrest of a San Francisco seaman on suspicion of having smuggled approximately one million dollars worth of heroin into this country was announced today by customs collector Paul Leake. Leake said approximately 104 ounces of heroin, presumably ready for the trade, were seized. He said the haul was the biggest narcotic smuggling case in the history of the San Francisco customs office.

Eire's Labor Court has recommended pay raises for 4,000 hotel workers.

Noted British Movie Actress Will Brave Critics On Stage

BY ED L. CAMPBELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Dec. 23.—An 18-year-old girl is stage-struck. Yeah, millions of 'em are.

But not usually one who already has played "Ophelia" to the great Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet."

Yet Jean Simmons, Britain's No. 1 juvenile boxoffice attraction, insists she must try the footlights.

Neither the choice role in what may be 1948's top motion picture, parts she has played in a dozen other films during the past three years, nor a five-year picture contract reputedly worth $280,000, suits this dark-haired miss.

"I've just got to find out whether I can do it," Jean said. Honey flecks danced in the gray-green eyes.

What her fans will say remains to be seen. The news she chattered at this studio interview had not leaked out to the British press. Her friends in the J. Arthur Rank organization are for the most part enthusiastic.

Twiddles Pigtails

Long sensitive fingers twiddling with a pigtail—she was busy filming a new picture in which she plays the Cinderella-role of an orphan—Jean confided that she plans to start her stage venture this winter.

Stewart Granger, Britain's bobbysox idol who co-stars with her in the current production, "Adam and Evelyne," probably will be her leading man. He was a member of London's distinguished "Old Vic" company before turning to films.

Granger, incidentally, is rumored to have more than a professional interest in Jean. But she scoffs at such talk.

"We are just good friends," she says of the 35-year-old actor. "Some day I expect to marry and raise a family. When I'm about 25. Right now I'm too busy. And I want to do this play."

The play is French Author Marcel Archard's "Le Corsair" (The Buccaneer). It's not too heavy and little Jean, all five feet four inches of her, acknowledges that is important.

"I should like to be able to start from the bottom," she smiled a bit ruefully. "Olivier says I might do all right if I began at some place like Bristol."

But bit roles are out for anyone who can pull in the public like this youngster. And, for the same reason, her play probably will be launched in critical London.

Veteran Film Director Harold French thinks she has a good chance to get away with it.

Has Natural Talent

"She's got an amazing amount of natural talent," French said. "All she ever requires is just a little guidance. She does the right thing instinctively."

It was this instinct that got her where she is today.

Jean was studying dancing with hopes of forming a school of her own in a quiet London suburb when her teacher sent her with 200 other girls to answer a studio call. Jean was chosen for the minor role. After that other small parts fell her way. She made the most of each opportunity.

Finally, as the young Estella in "Great Expectations" she caught the public fancy. The Rank studios promoted her to stardom almost overnight.

There are more than 300 known species of rhododendron, most of them natives of mountainous regions of the words.

Family Killed In Air Crash

ALICE, Dec. 23 (AP)—A wealthy hero of the second world war perished with his family of four last night when his plane crashed, 36 miles northeast of here.

Orville Miller, 29, three-time medal winner, ex-Navy pilot and prominent Dallas oil man, tried desperately in heavy fog for an emergency landing. The gasoline supply failed and Miller aimed for a pasture. But the ship cracked into a powerline, rammed through a fence and plowed into a mesquite grove.

Sons Thrown Clear

Rescuers found the body of Miller's wife pinned underneath a wing. Miller and his sons, Orville B., jr.; James Crane, 2 and Robert Stanley, 1, were thrown clear. But all died instantly. James Crane would have celebrated his second birthday today.

The single-engined, five-place Stinson did not catch fire. Highway patrolmen said its tanks were bone dry.

Scene of the crash was the pasture of Joe Schackerl, a farmer, four miles north of Orange Grove in deep South Texas. The time was 7.30 p. m. (CST).

The Millers were en route from Dallas to Benavides, in Duval county, for a holiday visit with

Jap War Makers Give Lusty Battle Cries Before Hanging

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Dec. 23.—Hideki Tojo and three of his six war maker companions gave lusty "banzai" shouts before they were hanged in Sugamo prison today.

The last act of defiance by the four of the seven old condemned men came in the little Buddhist temple near the death house, Shinso Hanayama, the priest who attended them, said.

The banzai cry—which means blood for the emperor—featured the last charges of many Japanese soldiers in the great war. Tojo and his companions also shouted for a greater Nippon before going to the gallows, the priest said.

Gets Only Weak Wine

Tojo, whose military clique plotted and ordered the infamous Pearl Harbor attack and plunged half the world into its greatest war, asked for a drink of sake before he went to his death. But he had to be content with a glass of weak wine, the priest said.

The priest described Tojo and the other three of the first four hanged shortly after midnight as almost jaunty.

Tojo, said the priest, left a message for the world which he was forbidden by occupation authorities to make public.

The former premier also left a poem, which the priest translated roughly:

"It is goodbye
"Over the mountains I go today
"To the bosom of Buddha

Grasped Wine Glasses

All seven of the Japanese war leaders grasped wine glasses in their handcuffed hands and swigged a hefty drink before marching to the gallows, the priest said in a press conference after the executions.

Gen. Seisjiro Itagaki, who was hanged for aggression against China, told the priest that he prayed "for the rise and prosperity of China and Korea."

Another of the doomed men, Koki Hirota, 70, the only civilian, asked the priest to tell his family that "I died silently and calmly."

Hanayama said that Tojo raised his Buddha rosary in his left hand above his head in a gesture of prayer when he was informed in the office of the Sugamo commandant yesterday that he would die this morning. Then, said the priest, Tojo mumbled to the commandant in English:

"Okay, okay."

Last Meal Ordered

Tojo asked the priest to thank prison officials for his treatment. He ordered a last meal of rice, soy bean soup, broiled fish, coffee, meat and jam, the priest said.

Hanayama said he had been forbidden to make public anything that happened in the prison

Sharks Fought Off By Boy, 13

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba, Dec. 23 (AP)—A 13-year-old cabin boy who fought off sharks for nearly two days in coastal Cuban waters, was reported "getting along fine" today in a United States Naval hospital.

The boy—Russell Anthony Latona, of Sacramento, Calif.—told authorities he had leaped overboard to try and save Bent Jeppsen, his 14-year-old Danish fellow cabin boy aboard the ship Grete Maersk. Sharks killed Jeppson. No one saw the boys go overboard and they were not missed.

"I tried to save Bent," Russell said, "but the sharks got after him, and the spot where we were was soon red with blood, and the sharks got after me too."

Wore Life Belt

"Finally, the sharks killed Bent, and I moved away from there, but they kept after me. I don't know how I kept them off, but I splashed at them, screamed and pulled away as fast as I could."

Russell jumped overboard off the coast of Cape Maisi on Dec. 14. He finally reached shore near Taco, on the north Cuban coast, about 10 miles from where he leaped into the sea. He wore a life belt.

THE QUESTION

What is the principal difference in observance of Christmas here and in your native land?

THE ANSWERS

VICTOR LOLAS, West hall at Texas Technological college, student from Arequipa, Peru: "Our people are more religious in the spirit of Christmas. We do not use Christmas trees. We have the manger scene in the homes. The tweny-fifth of December, there is a great parade with Santa Claus, and in the principal part of the town they have all the poor families and Santa Claus comes on a big truck with presents for all those people. It is essentially a Catholic country. The principal event of the Christmas season is a midnight mass. After that mass, there are usually great big dinners and parties and in every town there is a public dance in the principal park, lasting all night. Christmas day is mostly observed at home. Usually, the family gets together in the house of the grandmother or other member of the family. It is essentially a day of rest. The little boys are all glad with their presents.

MRS. L. R. DAVIDSON, JR., 2017 Fourteenth, pharmacist at Mark Halsey No. 4, formerly of Manila, Philippine islands: "I don't see much difference at all. We celebrate it on the day you celebrate it here. We go to church Christmas Eve and Christmas morning and sing Christmas carols. We have Christmas trees and we have Santa Claus."

LABANG NAW, 2101 Thirteenth, Texas Tech student from Rangoon, Burma: "In Burma, you know, we celebrate but we don't put lights on the streets and we celebrate on Christmas Eve by singing carols. On Christmas day, we go to a friend's house, eat, sing and enjoy it. On the twenty-fourth and on the twenty-sixth, we have boxing tournaments. On Christmas Eve, we go in bands caroling over the countryside. We exchange gifts, the same as you do here. In general, Christmas is carried on about the same way."

TOM CLEVELAND, 1310 Ave. N, Texas Tech student from Lubondai, Belgian Congo, Africa: "Well, the thing about it is that different groups of people celebrate it entirely differently. The native people who are Christians celebrate it differently from the other natives who know nothing about it. The latter don't celebrate it at all, but take advantage of the celebrations the Christians have. They dress up and make their debut in the villages. In the home itself, it is very similar to the way it is here, because my parents are Americans. They grew up here. We try to have it as American as possible. We grew up with the Christmas tree, and the sharing of gifts. On Christmas, there is always big eating. In our own home, the missionaries all get together every Christmas and we have a huge dinner. It's as much thoroughly American as anything could be outside the United States. Then, we join with the native Christians in their celebrations the rest of the day. The morning of Christmas there is a big pageant, followed by a big dinner and big celebrations, composed of tournaments—more or less sports affairs. No money is involved. It is always just for the entertainment. The natives know nothing of the customs of Christmas trees and giving of presents. Theirs is mostly the giving of good will and they do that. They have been taught by the missionaries that the doing of good deeds and celebrating the birth of Christ is the center of everything."

JIM C. S. YOUNG, 2415 Thirteenth, Texas Tech student from China: "First, we just got three holidays in the Christmas vacation at Fukien Christian university in Foochow, China. Here, we get 13 days. In China, not all people are Christians, but just a part or most are Christians. Just the Christians observe Christmas. The Christians there observe it much the way they do here."

FELIX L. OLIVER, Men's Dormitory No. 3, Texas Tech student from Arecibo, Puerto Rico: "The main difference in observance of Christmas between the United States and Puerto Rico is the way that Christmas Eve is celebrated. We call it Christmas night out there. At that time, different parties of people will go from house to house singing Christmas carols and at every house they stop, wine is served as the main drink and food is usually served. Early in the morning, they go home and as soon as the children get up the whole family gathers around the Christmas tree and they open the Christmas packages."

Seven Chinese Die In Gold Buying Rush

SHANGHAI, Dec. 23. (AP) — Banks today resumed selling gold bullion at the unrealistic official price of 2,000 yuan for an ounce, and seven Chinese were killed in the buying rush.

More than 100 others were injured seriously. A crowd of 30,000 swooped down on the banks, which had been closed for one day, to get the bargain gold. On the black market they can sell it for between 3,000 and 4,000 gold yuan an ounce.

The whole city was paralyzed by the money mad mobs. Police flailed the crowd with clubs but failed to break them up. Traffic was jammed for hours in narrow side streets.

(The U. S. pegged price of gold is $35 an ounce. China's new currency started at four yuan to $1—but sank to 20 to $1 and continued downward in the wild inflation.

Kicking Youth Hits Jar With Valuables

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 23 (U.P.) Like many American boys, Allen Bishop skips along kicking anything in sight, to the despair of his parents.

The last time he did that, in one corner of a vacant lot, it was a pickle jar containing some valuable items.

The treasure included a gold watch, a wedding ring, a class ring, an ornamental ring, a mechanical pencil and one penny dated 1898, police said.

"Restricted" Military Buying Exhibit Scooped By Newsman

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Out in a long warehouse in nearby Virginia is a dollar-and-cents exhibit of the high cost of independent buying by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Some 400 items of clothing and personel equipment—things the three services are paying $247,000,000 for this year—are laid out on counters for the edification of red-faced military buyers.

The munitions board—an advisory group in the defense establishment—got the exhibit together to convince the three services that many items should be the same for everybody, and cost less.

Public Report Banned

The board emphasized that it has no intention of trying to standardize such things as uniforms, buttons, insignia or "distinctive items of outer clothing which show to which service the wearer belongs."

But blankets, undershirts, belts, fatigue uniforms and a host of other articles have come under critical scrutiny.

A three-service committee is trying to reach agreement on such things. An announcement from the office of Secretary of Defense Forestal said numerous items can be agreed upon for standardization but the committee "anticipates arguments" on many others.

Newsmen are barred from the warehouse at the Army quartermaster depot in Arlington, just across the Potomac from Washington. The munitions board ruled that a detailed public report of the exhibit would embarrass the armed services.

Reporter Slips Through

The variety gets into full swing with blankets.

There are seven kinds, four colors and various stripes and markings.

Like this: different blankets, and different prices, for (a) sailors, (b) Navy officers, (c) Marines, (d) Army and Air Force, (e) Navy medical, (f) Army medical and (g) Army field medical.

Price tags carry the year in which the latest purchases were made by each service, so a strict seven-way comparison is impossible.

However, the Navy officers' blanket (at $8.25 each in 1945) is a few inches wider and has a blue "USN" on its white surface, whereas the sailors' number ($7.30, also 1945) is solid white.

Special Stripe Costly

The Marines' blanket ($8 in 1948) is green and has a special stripe which an accompanying card says forces the manufacturer to weave it straight, even though this slows production.

The Army-Air Force blanket ($7.75 in 1947) is khaki.

The Navy medical blanket ($8.95 in 1945) is white with a blue stripe, the Army medical number ($7.95 in 1946) is white with a maroon stripe and the one for field service ($8.04 in 1946) is olive drab.

Here are three folding canvas cots. The Navy paid $3.20, the Marines $7.50 for the same weight of canvas. The Army, with a $6.34 price tag, points to a heavier material which it says means twice the life of the Navy cot.

Pillows In Five Sizes

Pillows come in five sizes. The Marines pay $2.50 for the same size the Army gets for $1.77.

Here are white sneakers for the Navy and Marines (97 cents) and brown sneakers for the Army and Air Force ($1.67).

Here are tan shoes for the Navy at $7.73, tan shoes for the Army and Air Force at $5.07.

Here are electrically heated flying suits. The Air Force model at $121.78 is good down to -65 degrees. The Navy's at $122.47 only down to -20 F.

Exposure suits for surviving long periods of soaking in the ocean cost the Navy $25.91, the Air Force $47.13. The Navy's is black with a yellow dye package, the Air Force's is bright yellow. The Air Force has a zipper on the case the suit comes in; the Navy uses a snap button.

Healthy Diet Urged In Caring For Teeth

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 23 (UP) — A healthy diet and good medical care will go a long way toward preventing children's mental disturbances caused by poorly-formed teeth.

That is the consensus of a dental health workshop at the University of Minnesota, attended by dentists from throughout the state.

They examined, among other things, the relationship between mental balance and facial defects caused by crooked teeth.

Dr. Thomas Speidel of the university's dentistry school, said badly-formed teeth result in such things as inferiority complexes.

"For example," Speidel said, "an otherwise pretty girl with crooked teeth in many cases will suffer just as surely as will a person with diseased teeth."

But, Speidel added, "If parents can keep a child healthy, give him an adequate diet and insist on good, periodic dental care, they have done their duty toward a good-looking facial structure."

Rites For Seminole Resident Set Today

SEMINOLE, Dec. 23. (Special) Funeral services for W. J. Davis, 72, retired merchant and resident of Seminole who died here Wednesday morning, were scheduled for 3 p. m. today in the First Methodist church.

Rev. C. S. McKinney, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was to officiate, assisted by Rev. Preston Florence, a retired Methodist minister.

Burial was to be in Seminole cemetery, under direction of Alpha's Funeral home.

Nolan Bennett, Robert Pittman, Thomas Furrow, J. R. Coker, C. B. Estep and Joe Martin were to be pallbearers.

Davis, born in Point Rock, Ala., had lived in Texas 66 years.

Survivors include six daughters, Mrs. Charles E. Smith, of Lubbock; Annie Guy Watkins, of Lamesa; Mrs. F. A. Marcus and Mrs. Elton Parker, both of Seminole; Mrs. Dick Bingaman, of Monument, N. M., and Mrs. Harold Clocker, of North Baltimore, Ohio: two sons, Earl S. Davis, of Fresno, Cal., and Carl T. Davis of Seminole.

An improved electrical precipitation apparatus for cleaning dust, pollen grains and other particles out of the air is now available. The air is passed through a honeycomb of metallic conduits the walls of which are kept charged with particle-pulling static.

Couple Admits Fondness For Each Other

Rita Hayworth, Prince From India Cornered Once Again

COBH, Eire, Dec. 23. (AP)—Rita Hayworth and Aly Khan said today they are fond of each other.

The red-haired American movie actress and the son of the wealthy Moslem leader, the Aga Khan, disembarked from the liner Britannic here.

They previously have turned up at the same time in the south of France, New York, Hollywood and Havana, to mention a few places.

Problem Admitted

Miss Hayworth modestly turned away a question from a roporter who asked whether the two intended to marry with a horrified: "Heavens, what a question."

She then added a question of her own. "There are difficulties in the way aren't there?"

The "difficulties" include the fact that the gentleman in the case is married.

Rita was accompanied on the trip by her four-year-old daughter, Rebecca Welles. Miss Hayworth formerly was married to Orson Welles.

Aly Khan said he hopes to see his children in school in Switzerland very soon. He said he also will discuss his future with his father, who now is in Cannes.

Aly Fond Of Rita

Rita and the prince—the title is honorary—sat on different benches in the tender as it brought the passengers ashore from the trip.

Asked whether she was in love with Aly, she replied demurely: "I am fond of him."

Pressed for elaboration, she said "I really can't say any more on that subject."

Aly Khan said he in turn is fond of Rita.

"Is it love?" he was asked.

"I do not think I could answer that question, but it was very gracious of Miss Hayworth to say she is fond of me."

Cecil Rhodes, British colonial statesman, provided in his will for three-year Oxford scholarships for about 200 students. Of these 32 scholars are elected from the United States; five annual scholarships allotted to Germany were annulled in 1916.

Weather Slows Chinese Civil War; Peace Feelers Rumored

NANKING, Dec. 23 (AP)—Bad weather slowed action on the great Chinese civil war front today.

The quiet was taken in some quarters to mean that peace feelers had been put out to the Communists by members of Premier Sun Fo's newly formed cabinet. But there was no official word from any source.

At least two of the cabinet ministers, former Premier Chang Chun and Wong Wen-Hao, commander of the northwest headquarters, are known to favor a quick peace with the Reds, who have overrun almost half of China.

Negotiation Possible

Premier Sun described the cabinet members as men who would "fight on until we can secure an honorable peace." This was widely taken to mean the government is warm to a dicker with the Communists despite their insistence a peace can be achieved only if President Chiang Kai-Shek steps out. However, Chiang has not so much as hinted he will move aside.

Dispatches from the Pengpu front northwest of Nanking merely mentioned continued Red attacks "toward Pengpu," which presumably still was in government hands.

Some papers even said Communist units were retreating northward from the Pengpu front, but gave no details. Military sources here took this to mean the Reds were regrouping for possible further attacks toward Nanking.

Tientsin Isolated

The Kuomintang's Central Daily News carried a story attributed to Communist war prisoners that one-eyed Red General Liu Po-Cheng had been killed in an air attack and his body taken to Suhsien. There was no confirmation, and government quarters expressed skepticism.

Communists were reported moving on Tientsin, North China's commercial center, from all sides. Tientsin was isolated except by air—and that only because planes can land on the city's race course.

A transport plane evacuating three U. S. embassy attaches and four newspapermen from Peiping was forced by engine trouble to land at Tientsin today. Repair parts from Tsingtao were needed before the plane could hop for Nanking.

Historic Peiping was without running water. Communists besieging the city captured the waterworks in the northeastern suburbs. Peiping has numerous artesian and other wells, however, and no immediate shortage of water was in prospect.

The British consulate at Peiping arranged to take over the protection of Danish, Norwegian and Swedish interests there.

Unearthly Sounds Only Man Snoring

VERONA, N. J., Dec. 23 A worried telephone operator yesterday told police she heard "unearthly sounds" coming from a phone in a private home.

A householder told them an extension phone next to his bed was off the hook.

"I must have been snoring," he added sheepishly.

Search Is Still On For Mother Wanted On Kidnaping Charge

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 23 (AP) A host of Christmas presents wait under a Christmas tree here for three-year-old Vicki Jeanne Snyder, whose mother is charged with kidnaping her from her foster parents.

"We were planning a big Christmas for Vicki," said Mrs. Harry M. Snyder, the child's grandmother who adopted her three years ago after the mother left her here at the Snyder's home.

"We'll keep everything as it is and hope she gets home for Christmas," she added.

Mother Is Sought

Meanwhile, Vicki's 21-year-old mother was the object of a nation-wide search District Attorney Carl B. Shelley said a felony warrant charging kidnaping has been sworn out for the arrest of Mrs. Braget and her husband, John M. Braget, 25 of Tacoma, Wash.

Shelley said the couple had made off with the child Sunday afternoon on a pretense of visiting nearby friends. The Bragets, driving a new convertible, were believed to be taking a southern route back to Washington.

Mrs. Snyder said it was "revenge—not love" that prompted Mrs. Braget to take Vicki from them.

"The baby grew up to be such a lovely child that her mother took her away so we couldn't have her," she told a reporter.

Mrs. Braget's first husband Harry H. Snyder moved to Santa Monica, Calif. Soon after his parents adopted Vicki. He has since remarried.

Britishers Deplore Hollywood Influence

BLACKPOOL, England, Dec. 23 (U.P.) — City authorities have prepared a campaign today to protect teen-agers from Hollywood influence on their sex life.

F. E. Harrison, education officer for this resort city in northwest England, announced a series of lectures on sex has been arranged for youngsters to combat "the Hollywood version of normal domestic life."

Harrison admitted, however, that sources outside of the American film colony also have caused concern among the city fathers. Too much of teen-agers sex education, he said, came from street corners, dance halls an "in other underisable ways."

Filmland's Christmas Holiday Gets Started During Summer

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23.—Listen closely, children, and you'll hear how Christmas is celebrated in this strange land.

Hollywood's holiday starts in July when studio starlets pose in bathing suits or less before wintry scenes concocted on film stages. With scant regard to season, the curvy cuties hang their stockings in the summer heat—so their likenesses can appear in December magazines.

Begins In Earnest

Christmas begins in earnest on the night before Thanksgiving. Hollywood boulevard is transformed by magic and $50,000 worth of lighted metal trees into Santa Claus lane and a huge parade is held.

The holiday season is declared open.

To many stars, Christmas is a pain in the neck. Publicized as generous glamor creatures, they must live the part. They must be bountiful with their gifts, and overlook no one.

Filming Carried On

Film making is carried on during the morning before Christmas. Most companies do no shooting in the afternoon, possibly because the nearness of holiday cheer makes some actors unphotogenic.

The afternoon of Christmas eve has been devoted to studio parties, but these will probably be scarce or lacking this year. Hollywood has less to celebrate than in previous years.

Christmas day in Hollywood is observed much the same as in any American home. Show business folks are a sentimental lot.

Young Grandmother Title Changes Hands

DENVER, Dec. 23 (U.P.) — Mrs. Robert Lolovich held the record of being Denver's youngest grandmother at the age of 32 until it was taken from her by 31-year-old Mrs. Helen Woodburn.

Mrs. Lolovich's granddaughter was born to her daughter, Phyllis Schonover, when Phyllis was 15. Mrs. Lolovich herself was married when she was 15.

The new champion, Mrs. Woodburn, was married when she was 14. Mrs. Woodburn's daughter, Mrs. Barbara Chickson of Evans City, Pa., waited until she was 16 to present her 31-year-old mother with a granddaughter.

New Type Post-War Santa Makes Debut

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23. (AP)—John Paul Turk is a sort of Santa Claus in his own way to parents and pet lovers.

He says he has a newly furnished apartment for rent only to someone with a child AND a dog.

Turk, a plumber, and his wife, a nurse, never have had children of their own. He said:

"There are a lot of people who can't get homes on account of having a dog or a baby. I like kids. If anyone wants to rent the place and hasn't got a child and a dog, I'll turn them down."

Terrell Man Dies In Spectacular Smashup

DALLAS, Dec. 23 (AP)—A Terrell man was killed here last night when his car missed a bridge approach and plunged 30 feet over an embankment.

He was Louis Devirne Jacobs, 21, of Terrell.

Death Toll Over Nation May Total 265 During Christmas

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP) — The nation's death toll resulting from traffic accidents over the Christmas holiday may total 265, the National Safety council estimated today.

The council's estimate covered only immediate traffic deaths—those killed between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday. The final toll may exceed the 265 estimate, the council said, due to delayed fatalities not immediately reported.

Might Be Too High

The estimate will be too high, the council said, if two things happen: (1) If drivers and pedestrians use extra caution, especially in mixing gasoline and alcohol, and (2) If the weather generally is so bad that drivers must use extreme caution or stay at home.

"We are not trying to put a damper on Christmas cheer with this estimate," said Ned H. Dearborn, council president. "On the contrary we feel that if drivers and pedestrians understand what can happen, based on past experience, they will make sure it doesn't happen to them. We hope this estimate is far too high."

That Girl on Broadway says climbing too rapidly up the ladder of success makes some people dizzy.

FOR a good many days—and in some cases even weeks—millions of people in various parts of the world have been engaged in thought about, and preparation for, Christmas Day.

As is the case at this season of every year, more Americans are more actively interested in Christmas than in any other one thing.

Call it the "Christmas Spirit," call it anything you like, but the Yule holiday has something that no other holiday has in the way of mass appeal.

It is the greatest single moving force we have.

Peculiarly, perhaps, but never-the-less true, most of us know very little about the historical background of this Christian holiday we call "Christmas."

We recognize the hold it has upon us.

We realize its worth to us and to the nation as a period of the year in which most of us are less selfish than we normally are; when Good Will and human understanding are at their best.

We know we are happier at Christmas time than at any other point on the calendar and we were "brought up" to recognize the Christmas season and Christmas Day as something very special.

But when did it all start, and how?

THE pages of history are not as illuminating as they might be, but man's record of man's doings does shed some light on the subject of Christmas.

Let's peer at the light.

Christmas was not one of the first festivals celebrated in the early Church. One reason was uncertainty as to the actual date of the birth of the Savior. Nowhere do the Gospels give the date, which had to be set by deduction from other happenings.

Many church historians believe that the birth of the Christ was first generally celebrated on January 6, when the birth and the baptism were honored simultaneously. December 25 seems to have come into use in most of the early Christian communities toward the end of the fourth century. The Armenian church stuck to January 6.

The end of the Winter solstice was marked by rites, including the lighting of candles, in many heathen religions, and there is evidence that December 25 was celebrated in Britain before it was Christianized.

The Jewish feast of Chanukah comes at about the same time (the Jewish calendar is based on the moon) and is "The Feast of Lights."

Many ancient peoples celebrated by the kindling of a huge log the time of the year when the daylight began to lengthen.

SIR James G. Frazer in "The Golden Bough" points out that Augustine exhorted his Christian brethren to celebrate December 25 not because of the birth of the sun, as the heathen did, but because of the birth of Him who made the sun. Frazer quotes an early Syrian writer, a Christian:

"It was a custom of the heathen to celebrate on the same 25th of December the birthday of the sun, at which they kindled lights in token of festivity. In these solemnities and festivities the Christians also took part. Accordingly when the doctors of the Church perceived that the Christians had a leaning to this festival, they took counsel and resolved that the true nativity should be solemnized on that day and the Epiphany on the 6th of January."

The English word "Christmas" is derived from "Christ's Mass." The German word "Weinacht" bears testimony to the birth of Jesus during the night. The French and Italian words derive from the Latin root for "birth."

Church historians agree that some festivities now associated with Christmas were originally of non-Christian origin. The Romans celebrated their feast of the Saturnalia on December 17-24; it was marked by much merry-making.

In England a popular figure during the Christmas holidays used to be the Lord of Misrule (in Scotland he was the Abbot of Unreason). Christmas festivities were repugnant to the Puritans, and the Commonwealth Government in 1644 forbade the celebration of Christmas. It was termed a heathen holiday, and the shops were ordered to stay open.

In the New World the early Puritans felt similarly, and in 1659 the General Court of Massachusetts made Christmas observance a penal offense. The day is still observed with some restraint in Scotland.

ONLY in Anglo-Saxon lands are presents widely given at Christmas. Latin countries are apt to use New Year's Day, instead, for that purpose. The old Russian Orthodox church used Twelfth Night for gift-giving. In Latin countries cradles are frequently set up in the churches on Christmas.

The sending of Christmas cards became the vogue only about a century ago. Decoration of a Christmas tree was originally a German custom; it was popularized in England by the German-born husband of Queen Victoria. The use of mistletoe is probably of Celtic origin.

The rites celebrating Saint Nicholas, the patron saint of children, gradually became amalgamated with the Christmas rites.

"Santa Claus" seems to be a corruption of the Dutch "Sant Nicolaas."

The custom of exchanging gifts, which is such an important part of Christmas as we Americans observe it, doubtless stems from the Biblical accounts of the First Christmas, when gold, frankincense and myrrh were laid before the Cradle in Bethlehem. Therefore, the cries of the critics that "commercialism has supplanted the real reason for Christmas" lose some of their sting.

But "commercialism," or no "commercialism," most Americans will agree, we think, that the basic reason for Christmas—the observance and celebration of the Birth of Jesus Christ—remains, as it should be, the underlying force of the day and the season.

Otherwise, the mere decorating of trees, the lighting of homes and business buildings, the cheery greeting cards, and even the exchanging of gifts, could not make the day and season what they have come to mean to us.

SOMEWHERE, somehow — perhaps, in some cases unconsciously—Christmas to all of us reflects Verses 13 and 14 in the Second Chapter of Luke:

"And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth, peace, good will toward men."

BY DREW PEARSON: SEN. LANGER PUTS ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT MAKERS ON CARPET

President's Advisers Suggest Deflation Control

WASHINGTON—President Truman's council of economic advisers is keeping it very quiet but they are now studying an anti-deflation program as well as an anti-inflation program.

PEARSON

The President's advisers have been bombarded during the past few weeks with confidential memoranda revealing that business is down in many parts of the country. Department stores in some areas report business off as much as 18 per cent. The appliance industry also complains that the demand for radios, refrigerators, electric ranges, vacuum cleaners and other produce has slumped.

Layoffs have been growing and employment has dipped below the 60 million mark for the first time in close to a year. This, of course, is still an extremely high figure and one we never expected to attain before the war.

The council also has memoranda which show that savings in the lower income brackets have been nearly wiped out by higher prices. In 1946, 63 per cent of America's families owned U. S. savings bonds. This year only 48 per cent of the families own bonds.

This is why some members of the economic council believe a deflationary spiral may be under way and a recession actually here. As a result, they are taking an entirely fresh look at the whole economic picture before drafting the report on which President Truman will base his state of the union address.

Note—The big question the council has been unable to get an answer to is: How much money will the military men in the Pentagon need next year. If the Pentagon is held to the 15-billion-dollar limit President Truman has set, then, council members feel, the deflationary spiral may continue. But if the brass hats succeed in jacking up the budget several billion dollars, the council believes inflation will still be a danger.

Annapolis race riots—serious friction has developed between white and negro enlisted men who do the housekeeping around the Naval academy. Last summer the situation got so bad that President Truman sent the skipper of his presidential yacht, Capt. Charles Freeman, to straighten things out. More trouble, however, broke out at a recent dance, where three white sailors were slashed with knives, and one negro sailor, Thaddeus Kent, subsequently was sentenced to five years in the brig. Trouble is still rumbling sub rosa.

Berlin unemployment grows—General Clay is worried over the fact that the airlift has been unable to keep Berlin industry active. Unemployment due to lack of coal is growing. Clay's advisers predict half a million unemployed by February. Meanwhile the Russians have a whole crew of agents ready to move into western Berlin and stir up food and coal riots when the weather gets really bad.

Rural electrification shutout—rampageous Senator Langer of North Dakota has called seventeen leading manufacturers on the carpet to explain why Rural Electrification administration co-operatives aren't getting enough electrical equipment. The companies called to Washington for hearings Dec. 28 include: General Electric, Westinghouse, the Aluminum Corporation, Anaconda and Phelps-Dodge. Langer charges that these firms have been delivering scarce equipment to private power companies while cold-shouldering REA co-ops.

Polish purge—American intelligence has reported to the Army department that a big purge of the Communist party is going on in Poland on direct orders from Moscow. More than 20,000 Polish Communists already have been kicked out of the party on the suspicion they might not be 100 per cent loyal in case of war with the United States. Official excuse for the purge: Those fired are "habitual drunkards, tricksters, capitalists, profiteers and a disgrace to the party."

Mrs. Dixiecrat—while Governor Talmadge of Georgia plots new ways to prevent negroes from voting, a group of whites and negroes gathered in the small town of Due West, South Carolina, to honor the town's No. 1 citizen—Dr. W. L. Pressly, recently named "family doctor of the year." One distinguished guest was gracious Mrs. Strom Thurmond, wife of the Dixiecrat candidate for president who sat on the platform not far from a negro preacher, Reverend Naggie Voss. Of the 400 people admitted to the small hall to pay honor to Dr. Pressly, who has administered to colored patients as well as white, 150 were negroes.

Small Business Suffers

The Marshall plan is proving a lush windfall to American big business, but not to American small-business men. They complain that the recovery program is hurting instead of helping.

The European countries are so hard up for U. S. dollars that they have agreed to buy as much from each other as possible, saving dollars to buy only essential American items.

As a result, they have cut off trade with small U. S. exporters wherever the goods can be obtained within Europe. Meanwhile, trade has gone largely to big U. S. concerns with European branch offices and representatives. The little compahies which can't afford foreign branches are losing out even on normal trade.

AMBASSADOR Bedell Smith will return from Moscow in about three weeks—probably for the last time . . . There are some very red faces among officials of the International bank. Last month they loaned half a million dollars each to the supposedly peaceful countries of Costa Rica and Nicaragua. Now it appears that some of this money is being used to finance war and revolution—at least in Nicaragua . . . U. S. Ambassador Caffery in Paris has cabled an interesting prediction to the State department. He predicts that General De Gaulle will come to power—"legally or illegally"—by May 15. (That's the ambassador's prediction, not mine.)

Great All-Negro Show Of 20s To Be Reopened Next Spring

THE Broadway Lights — Stage Door: "Shuffle Along," the great all-negro cast revusical of the early 20s (it ran 2 years and made about 3 million) is being revised and brought up-to-date. Due next spring. I. Gaumont will produce. Noble Sissle and Eubie Blake will score it. Pearl Bailey, the Berry freres and John Murray Anderson are a few of the Broadway Greats who will zing it . . . The Sardi Set years Margaret Sullavan wanted to play opposite John Garfield in Clifford Odets' "The Big Knife" but feared it would end her Hollywood career. This play we hear cuts Tinsel Town's top tycoon to tatters . . . Moss Hart's ex-collabber (Geo. S. Kaufman) has to watch his own "Bravo" struggling for survival. But his own investment ($3,750) in Hart's hit, "Light Up the Sky," promises to bring him a juicy profit . . . Ann Whitney Bourne Choate (once actress Whitney Bourne), who scored in a Hecht-MacArthur film, has coin in Cole Porter's "Kiss Me Kate," a reported out-of-town click . . . The Daily Mirror's critic at the Yiddish play (starring Menasha Skulnick) was Frank Quinn, a foine broth of a bhoy . . . S. Chapman (groom of Ceil Chapman, creator of the New Look) appreciated that item about his wife here. So he invested $2,000 in "Lend an Ear" (a riot in Movietown), soon due on B'way. He says his profit will go the the Runyon Fund.

The Snow-Shops: Maxwell Anderson (who scolded the critics for their sour notices in the yesteryear) returned with a new hit, "Anne of the Thousand Days," to devour their sugary wordcookies. The author's rhetoric, they agreed, is made of pure silk, and the drama is deftly embroidered by the pretending of Rex Harrison and Joyce Redman. (Nu, Max?) . . . Charles Boyer's personal electricity generated radiant superlatives for his B'way stage debut the other wk-end in "Red Gloves," the French hit. The lines at the box-office must remind co-producer Jed Harris of his hey-dey when his hit, "Broadway," was more exciting than the artery for which it was titled.

THE Movie Critics Report: Rodgers and Hart's musical treasury guarantees melodic gems in "Words and Music." The film is engraved with 14-karat entertainers: Kelly, Garland, Allyson, Horne, Como, Rooney, et and cetera . . . "Let's Live a Little" (starring Ooh-La-Lamarr) is a generally amusing romantic creampuff. The plot may dally, but Hedy is always a dilly . . . "The Decision of Christopher Blake" is an acceptable tickertugger that pays off in sighs, although several tear-drenched episodes get too soggy . . . "Northwest Stampede" is a pleasant outdoor fable. The landscape makes the photos very scenic, and Joan Leslie makes 'em genic. Jack Oakie is tossed in for laughs . . . "The Untamed Breed" has a yarn that perished ages ago, but producers continue burying it in celluloid . . . "Racing Luck" is a race between yawns and snores. The snores win—by a nose. This is what the wags calls "a must-not-see."

The Airistrcrats: Senator Pepper on the Mutual Forum's tug-of-words banked a few shots off the thick skulls of opponents. He's a deft debater who knows how to make the whip of his indignation snap with logic . . . The "Suspense" series co-stars Heebie & Jeebie . . . "The Lone Ranger" has become effete. I haven't heard the word "varmint" used in the last two episodes . . . One of Bob Monroe's "High Adventure" yarns goes before the lens as "The Crooked Way." Ellen Drew and John Payne will star . . . The nightly Bob Towers broadcast from the Cardinal (WINS at 11:30) is enticing the celebs . . . That's a terrific notice M. Berle got in Radio Best mag. He rates it . . . Thanks to the same editors for their Silver Mike Award. Particularly the words: "Regardless of personal safety and villification." The latter never bothered us. When you're in the brick-throwing racket you must expect to get hit by a brick now and then, George Jean Nathan once counseled this cub.

THE Intelligentsia: Things can't be that bad in Hollywood. MGM just plunked down $100,000 for Edw. Streeter's book "Father of the Bride" . . . Trudi Michel (who auth'd "Inside Tin Pan Alley") just had another accepted by Fell Pub. Co. Her collabber is brother Scott Michel, writer of psycho thrillers . . . Guiliano, the famed bandit, was in Rome looking for Mike Stern. No like the story Mike wrote about him . . . The advance reports are fine about Leonard Sillman's "New Faces" revusical, planned for the Plaza's Persian Room. Two perfs nightly at 9:30 and midnight. First time the format's been used for a supper spot . . . Among the fledglings at Cosmopolitan is author J. P. Marquand's Jr. . . . Whittlesey House (McGraw-Hill) is readying Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen's new tome . . . Al Capp (whoever he is) will make more money from his "Life and Times of the Schnoo" than from an entire annum of drawing "Li'l Abner" for the gazettes.

HERBLOCK

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

THE secretary who doesn't realize that it's important for her to make a good impression on the boss's wife often finds herself losing a job and wondering why.

Here, then are a few rules for getting along with the boss's boss:

MILLETT

One. Be businesslike on the telephone. She'll be critical of you if your voice cooes or your manner is flippant.

Two. Treat Mrs. Employer like a Very Important Person. If her husband is too busy to speak to her, explain why—and assure her that he'll call right back. See that he does, too.

DRESS CAREFULLY

THREE. While it is important to dress in a manner the boss finds pleasing, it is also important to dress in a manner that is in quiet enough good taste to get by with the boss's wife.

Four. Don't discuss your personal life with the boss. It will get back to his wife, and she may resent your being on such confidential terms with him.

Five. Don't act too chummy with the boss when his wife stops by the office. That's the time to be strictly business.

If you should be tempted to hoot at these suggestions and tell yourself, "After all I'm not working for her," remember this:

If she doesn't approve of you, you may not be working for him for long.

"Try And Stop Me"

FROM Scotland comes the sad tale of one Maclourin, Professor of Mathematics in the College of Edinburgh. It appears that the good professor could not yawn without dislocating his jaw. To make matters worse, his instinct of imitation was so strong that he could not resist yawning when he witnessed the act in others.

His unprincipled pupils, of course, were not slow in discovering and exploiting his weakness. When they tired of his lectures, they would simulate yawns, the professor would follow suit, and then stand helpless with his mouth wide open until his assistant could arrive and shut it. The pupils, meanwhile, were far, far away.

Professor Maclourin has now been retired on a pension.

Congress To See Battle Over Spy Probe Committee's Form

WASHINGTON — One thing about the House Un-American Activities committee is certain. The new Congress will see a bitter and probably prolonged struggle over the form the committee is to take, with a Democratic majority in control of the House.

CHILDS

The discovery of the secret documents and the indictment of Alger Hiss put a different light on the work of the committee. The tactics of the committee are all that its critics have said—bumbling, crude, sensational, headline seeking, often working grave injustice on innocent persons.

But the overwhelming fact is that secret documents have been taken from the government's files and the transmittal of these documents to a foreign power could have worked great harm to this country. If it had not been for the persistance of the committee, followed by the Hiss libel suit against Whittaker Chambers, the documents would not have come to light.

In this column there have been frequent criticisms of the methods of the committee. The method of the committee has been contrasted with the procedure of the royal commission in Canada where thoroughly and effectively, without any publicity whatsoever, a Communist espionage ring was exposed and the guilty persons punished.

Aware of Contrast

Rep. Richard Nixon, of California, a Republican and perhaps the most conscientious member of the committee, is well aware of this contrast, as he is also aware of the sins of the House group. But he points out that the method of the royal commission was possible only under Canada's wartime espionage act.

Under this act the hearing could be held in secret. Perhaps even more important, witnesses could not escape testifying by pleading the 5th and so doing they might incriminate themselves.

In recent months a number of witnesses before the House committee have used this provision of the law to avoid answering questions. In this way they escaped citation for contempt of Congress, the punishment which befell those who merely refused to respond.

Nixon believes that government employees, or former government employees, should not be allowed to use this loophole when the questions asked directly concern their government work and status. In other words, government servants would have a special responsibility to respond in connection with their work in government.

AMONG the changes in procedure that Nixon will suggest is one that would modify the right of witnesses to escape testimony on the ground of self-incrimination. Whether that one can be done under the constitutional guarantee against self-incrimination is one thing. Whether enough Democrats would join the Republican minority to put it over is quite another matter.

On the Democratic side, Rep. Chet Holifield, also of California, has drafted a lengthy amendment to the rule of the House under which the committee now operates. Many of the provisions are intended to correct flagrant abuses of procedure.

Thus majority vote would be required to compel witnesses to testify at a secret hearing or to produce documents. This would end the absurd and dangerous business of individual committee members going off on their own individual searching expeditions, as Rep. John McDowell of Pennsylvania, a lame duck Republican, now is doing in New York.

Could Make Reply

Under the amendment proposed by Holifield, one of the leaders of the liberal wing of his parity in the House, witnesses would have the right to reply to charges made against them and even to submit questions to be asked of those who had testified against them. All witnesses would "be advised of their constitutional right against self-incrimination."

This last runs directly counter to Nixon's view. It would seem to encourage witnesses to use a constitutional right to balk the committee. What all this inevitably suggests is that a legislative body is not under any condition equipped or constituted to expose the criminal activities of spies and saboteurs.

To attempt to do so is to pervert the legislative process, and that is true even when the effort happens to be successful. Enforcing the law, which includes catching spies, is the function of the executive branch of the government. Attorney General Tom C. Clark has said he would recommend changes in the espionage laws, which are obviously inadequate. With better safeguards the Department of Justice can prevent or detect espionage. The Un-American Activities committee must first of all seek to restrict its activity to what concerns legislation. That should be possible now that the time for political headline hunting is almost over.

Today's Journal Editorial

LET'S HAVE A CRACKDOWN!

Few individuals could descend to such depths of plain, sneaking meanness as those who have been guilty during the past few days of smashing or stealing outdoor holiday ornaments at Lubbock homes.

Between the two, the vandal is even more despicable than the thief. Needs might tend in some degree to excuse thefts in occasional instances. There is no excuse for those who destroy such things wholly for the sake of destruction.

Anyone who knows individuals guilty of such acts should not hesitate an instant in reporting the information to police. And it is to be hoped that authorities possessed of or able to procure by diligent investigation proper information will act in a manner which will discourage outrages of this kind.

Individuals who commit such acts are a disgrace not merely to Lubbock but to the whole human race. They are entitled to no slightest consideration by anyone of decency, even at this most reverent and mellowing of all seasons.

"A MIRRO-MATIC for Mother"

. . . and better meals for you!

Give Mother her dreamed-of MIRRO-MATIC Pressure Pan this very Christmas, and you'll be doing a good turn for the whole family! With this popular utensil, she can prepare dishes in a fraction of the time. Full flavor and a bonus of vitamins will be cooked right in.

MIRRO-MATIC pressure cooking is easy as pie! Its precise control lets you select the pressure you need—5, 10, or 15 lbs. —and then keeps it there, automatically, without watching! Do your MIRRO-MATIC shopping first! 4 qt., $12.95.

39—Legal Notice

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: Robert Fuller, unknown heirs, executors administrators or assigns of Oscar Wilson, Sr., deceased; and all persons interested in, or claiming an interest in the property in controversy herein Defendants. Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 99th District Court of Lubbock County at the Court House thereof in Lubbock, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 24 day of January A.D. 1949, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 4 day of December A.D. 1948, in this cause numbered on the docket of said court and styled GULF INSURANCE CO., A CORP. Plaintiff vs. SAM GRAY ET AL Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit: Hickman and Gray Insurance agency issued an insurance policy to Sam Gray, dated November 12, 1947, covering $1,500.00 fire and extended coverage on the one-story composition roof frame stucco building, located on Lot 13, in Block 3 of N. T. Swanner Subdivision to the City of Slaton in Lubbock County, Texas. Due to the dwellings being completely destroyed by fire on October 3, 1948, and unearned premium of said policy of $29.94. Plaintiff became liable for full amount of said policy in the amount of $1,529.94. Named defendants are likely to assert some claim against proceeds from said policy. Plaintiff herein tenders $1,529.94 into this court, and stands ready to pay person or persons entitled to receive same.

Plaintiff prays the Court to adjudge and determine true and rightful owner or owners of said sum due under said policy of insurance; to adjudge costs against Defendants; to award attorneys fees; and to adjudge such other further relief as prayed for herein as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this the 7 day of December A.D. 1948.

Attest:
ROYAL FURGESON Clerk
99th Dist. Court, Lubbock County, Texas.

Santa Has Big Bag For Family Of 13 Living In Small Shack

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Dec. 23 (AP)—Santa has a loaded pack for his visit to the 13 Dorseys in their two-room, tar-papered shack.

There's no chimney for him to slide down but that doesn't matter to the 11 children. They'll be sleeping tomorrow night when he slips in the door.

The kids are sleeping snugly now. Two heart rending trips by their determined 26-year-old mother has assembled them under their own dilapidated roof. Mrs Dorsey hitchhiked here from Panora, Iowa, last Thanksgiving with her five children to be near relatives. Later she went back to Panora in a friend's car and returned with her 45-year-old disabled husband, Arthur, and his six children by a previous marriage.

The Salvation Army and the county welfare department are outfitting Santa Claus for his visit to the Dorsey home on the city's outskirts.

Two toys for each of the children and bulging sacks of candy nuts and fruit will be packed in Santa's bag. He's also going to lug along a basket of groceries for Christmas dinner.

Dad's gift comes later. Welfare authorities have arranged for a surgeon to operate on a hernia he says prevents him from holding a job.

But the priest revealed that Tojo had asked him specifically to thank prison officials for giving him 24 hours notice before his death.

"I thought they might get me suddenly, like out of bed," he quoted Tojo.

As news of the hangings spread through Japan temple bells tolled for world peace in village and town.

Peace prayers were offered by millions in Buddhist and Shinto temples. The Japanese people acted on the hint of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. The general had expressed the wish that peace prayers would be offered the day of the executions.

The traps were sprung on Tojo and three others at 12:01½ a. m. (10:01½ a. m. Wednesday EST).

There will be no graves for the seven. The Army cremated them and scattered their ashes to prevent enshrinement.

Headed For Airport

Miller was the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Miller of Dallas. The Miller family owns an oil field and a ranch at Benavides, and an airport on the ranch was the plane's destination.

Miller was a partner in the M. M. Miller Oil company of Dallas and general manager of the Supervend Corporation, Dallas, a company which sells vending machines.

During the war he won the distinguished flying cross for attacking a Jap destroyer near Okinawa. For other actions he was awarded two air medals.

Two brothers, Herbert and M. M. Miller, jr., live at Benavides, as does Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. J. F. Dunn. Mrs. Miller also is survived by a brother, James Dunn of Dallas.

The bodies were brought to Alice.

Woman's Body Found In California River

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 23. (U.P.)—A young woman whose nude torso was found floating in the American river may have been the victim of a sex maniac, authorities said today.

Police were attempting to identify the body found yesterday by Angelo S. Pellegrini, 17, of North Sacramento. Pellegreni was hunting rabbits on a ranch bordering the river when he spotted the corpse.

He notified the sheriff who sent deputies to remove the body from the water.

The legs had been sawed off at the hips and the head was missing. The fingernails bore red polish. A costume bracelet, with two rows of green and white stones in a setting of gold mesh, was around one wrist.

The coroner's office tentatively placed the victim's age as about 21 years. They estimated she was about 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighed 110 to 120 pounds and was a brunette.

Searchers Discover Missing Czech Plane

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 23 (AP)—U. S. searchers said a Czechoslovak plane which disappeared with 24 persons Tuesday night on a flight to Palestine was spotted wrecked today in the Peloponnesus.

There were no signs of life, said Capt. Arthur G. Ray of Amarillo, Texas, commander of an air-sea rescue unit.

The wreckage was seen on a hill in the Taygetos mountains five miles northeast of Kalami (Kalamata). Ray said efforts were being made to get an amphibian plane to take a group to the port of Kalamai, from which the group could proceed overland to the hill.

Unofficial reports said most of the 19 passengers aboard the Czechoslovak plane were Jews enroute to Israel. Five were Brazilians. The plane, a DC-3, also carried a crew of five. It disappeared while enroute from Rome to Athens.

Change In GOP Setup Sought

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—A defeated Republican senator today called on Rep. Hugh Scott (Pa) to resign as GOP national chairman.

The suggestion came from Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky who also told a reporter he has been sounded out about taking over Scott's job. Cooper said he doesn't want it "even if I could have it."

The Kentuckian lost his Senate seat to Rep. Virgil Chapman in the November election which gave the Democrats control of Congress and President Truman a new four-year lease on the White House.

Cooper has bucked the Republican leadership on various issues in the Senate, but he has not been regarded as a party renegade.

Nothing Against Scott

Cooper said he has nothing against Scott personally but feels the party ought to make "a fresh, clean start" under new leadership.

Scott was picked for his job as Republican chairman by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The defeated GOP presidential nominee has not spoken out regarding Scott's future. But Scott himself has left no doubt that he will fight to retain his post.

Cooper said: "The party chairman ought to be someone in no way identified with any candidate, or with defeat in the past."

He added that a new chairman should set out to:

1. Find outstanding leaders in each state whose job would be to develop "truly unified organizations."

2. Sharply define Republican party policy and "the political principles on which it is based."

State Land Official Hits Clark's Action

AUSTIN, Dec. 23 (AP)—Bascom Giles, commissioner of the general land office, today suggested that U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark resign.

Commenting on the suit filed by Clark in the U. S. Supreme court to establish federal jurisdiction over Texas and Louisiana tidelands, Giles said in a prepared statement:

"A conscientious attorney general would not file a claim which he knows to be unfounded. Tom Clark knows full well that Texas holds her public domain by the most sacred covenant known to mankind.

"There is no justification for even a former Texan petitioning the Supreme court to jeopardize or impound some $36,000,000 which has been collected for the public school system of Texas.

"Even if directed by the President to file such a suit, Clark should have shown the courage and integrity to resign before presenting such a spurious claim to the Supreme court.

Suspects In Texas Robberies Arrested

HOUSTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—Police and Texas Rangers today said a gang believed to have netted $30,000 in robberies all over Texas since Dec. 1 was arrested today.

Arrests of five people were said to have been made in Houston, Alvin and Conroe.

Police said one of them, a woman, signed a statement connecting members of the gang with burglaries and robberies in Corpus Christi, Orange, Palestine, Willis, Refugio and Wichita Falls.

Detectives H. M. Sillivan and W. W. Stephenson said they spent 38 hours observing a Houston residence before arresting the pair.

Berlin Airlift Crews To Get Yule Turkey Between Flights

BERLIN, Dec. 23 (AP)—Americans flying the airlift will get turkey and all the trimmings Christmas day—but they'll have to grab it between flights to this blockaded city.

Round-the-clock flights are scheduled for operation vittles on Dec. 25, U. S. Air Force officials said today.

Hard Hit By Fogs

Berlin's aerial lifeline to the west, hard hit by fogs during most of November, can't shut down for holidays, Air Force officials pointed out.

But a sumptuous meal will be awaiting American officers and enlisted men as they pull their lumbering C-54s into Wiesbaden, Rhein-Main, Tegel, Gatow, Celle and Fassberg airports. British airlift crews at Fassberg will eat Christmas dinner with the Americans.

Crews Not Forgotten

The folks at home haven't forgotten the vittles crews, either. Air Force officials estimate they've received 80,000 Christmas cards from friends and relatives.

What do they think of working all day Christmas?

Capt. Norman Dixon of Houston, Tex., says he doesn't mind flying "because my family isn't here."

Christmas Recipe Is One Big Mess

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23 (AP)—Yuletide recipe: Take 360 quarts of milk, 40 quarts of tom and jerry batter, 12 quarts of eggnog batter, 800 eggs and 40 pounds of butter. Mix them up and what do you have?

An awful mess, reported police, as they cleaned up a downtown intersection after a fully-laden milk truck loaded with the Christmas makings and a rubbish truck collided today.

Victim Of Fall Cleared In Spy Cases By Congressman Nixon

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—A member of the House Un-American Activities committee has given the late Laurence Duggan a clean bill of health in connection with spy-ring activities.

Rep. Richard M. Nixon (R-Calif.) said on a television broadcast last night from Washington that recent developments had cleared the former State department expert in "this espionage case."

His statement came as a New York city medical examiner reported that an autopsy showed "no evidence of criminality" in Duggan's fatal 16-story fall from a Manhattan office Monday night.

"We may never know exactly what happened," said Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, the examiner. "He could have been pushed. We do know he was not assaulted, nor beaten, nor strangled."

The autopsy report read: "Fell or jumped from 16th floor."

The same verdict remained on police records as detectives continued a painstaking investigation of the death on orders of Mayor William O'Dwyer. They expected to finish the probe by noon today.

Meanwhile, these were the developments in the spy investigations:

Date for the trial of Alger Hiss, ex-State department official charged with perjury, was postponed from Jan. 24 to Feb. 24. He is accused of lying when he denied he gave secret documents to Whittaker Chambers, one-time Communist courier.

Calls Closed Session

In Washington, the House committee called a closed session today for questioning of Francis B. Sayre, former assistant secretary of state in whose office Hiss was a top assistant.

Sayre was questioned yesterday by a federal grand jury in New York, and later told newsmen he was convinced "highly confidential" papers were stolen from his department. The jury recessed for the holidays until Jan. 3.

Nixon's comments last night concerning Duggan were prompted by statement by Chambers that Duggan never had furnished him any confidential documents.

Clears Mr. Duggan

Nixon said that statement "clearly clears Mr. Duggan."

A little later, Rep. Karl Mundt (R-SD), acting chairman of the House committee, went on the air in defense of his release of testimony that implicated Duggan in the Communist probe.

"We felt that whatever light we could shed we should shed," Mundt said. "We are not in a position to conceal from the American public any facts, pleasant or unpleasant."

The testimony released shortly after Duggan's death, was given in secret committee session early this month by Isaac Don Levine, anti-Communist magazine editor. He had quoted Chambers as saying that Duggan had supplied him with confidential papers.

Never Met Duggan

But Chambers said later he never met Duggan.

In Mexico City where he is on a visit, Levine yesterday said that Chambers in a conference in 1939 with Adolf Berle, then assistant secretary of state, had listed Duggan as a member of a "pro-Soviet clique" who was "useful to Chambers' underground group."

"For Chambers to have mentioned him that night," Levine said, "and for him not to have met Duggan is for Chambers to explain."
