JC's Say Recall Election Will Be Certainty Tonight

P.H.S. STUDENT LEADERS — Keith Swanson, left, was elected president of the Pampa High School student body and Janie Thompson was elected vice president in the annual school election held yesterday. Election officials said 74.3 per cent of the sophomore and junior students eligible to vote went to the polls in the election. A secretary for the student body will be elected later in the school year, according to Cameron Marsh, high school principal. Voting began yesterday after the candidates presented their campaign speeches at a student body assembly. Both student leaders are junior students.

US Asks Conference To 'Repeal Law Of Jungle'

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States called today for "repeal of the law of the jungle" with a speedy 30 per cent reduction in world arms and nuclear delivery vehicles plus a global warning system to prevent war by surprise or accident.

The Russians countered with a draft treaty for general and complete disarmamant — at first reading similar to the one they proposed two years ago. They remained as opposed as ever to the kind of controls the West demands.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko presented the plans of their two countries at the opening of debate by the 17 - nation disarmament conference.

Their speeches were relatively low-keyed, with neither engaging in any particularly open propaganda attack on the other. Gromyko spoke first and Rusk followed, thus getting the two nuclear giants on record at the start.

Rusk urged the conference to approve "without delay" a four-point interim program which, among other features, would end production of fissionable material for nuclear weapons.

In addition, he again appealed to Russia to sign a nuclear test ban treaty with inspection and control provisions to guard against bootleg blasts.

Gromyko countered with a repitition of earlier Communist proposals for immediate creation of an atom - free zone comprising

JFK Wants Controls For Consumer's Protection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today proposed sweeping new federal controls to protect the consumer's health and pocketbook in the purchase of food, drugs and cosmetics.

In a special message to Congress, Kennedy urged passage of bills to provide the government with a tight check on misleading advertising, packaging, sales and other practices aimed at bilking the buyer.

The presidential message is the first of its kind to deal entirely with the interests and needs of the consumer.

Kennedy also announced an executive order to give the consumer "whose views are not often heard" in Washington, a voice in government.

Fulfilling a campaign promise, he directed the creation of a consumers' advisory council to keep the Council of Economic Advisers posted on the needs of purchasers of goods and services. He also ordered the head of each applicable federal agency to pick an assistant to keep him advised on consumer interests.

He also directed the postmaster general to set up a pilot project by displaying in some 100 post offices, samples of publications useful to consumers.

"The housewife is called upon to be an amateur electrician, mechanic, chemist, toxicologist, dietician and mathematician," Kennedy said, "but she is rarely furnished the information she needs to perform these tasks proficiently."

Kennedy said the cost of his consumer proposals would be "modest." Officials estimated the cost would run about $10 million for the added staff and programs.

Strongly stressed in the message was a proposal to require that new drugs and therapeutic devices, such as back braces and trusses, be effective as well as safe before they are put on the market. Kennedy also called for testing of lipsticks, rouge, mascara and other cosmetics for safety before they are sold.

The President pointed out that "existing laws give no such assurance to the consumer," He said "thousands of women have suffered burns and other injuries to the eyes, skin and hair by

Club Plans To Have Ten Per Cent More Signatures Than Necessary

A recall election for Pampa's mayor and four city commissioners will become a certainty tonight according to Junior Chamber of Commerce officials who began circulation of the petition 15 days ago.

A spokesman for the Jaycees indicated shortly before noon today that more than enough signatures already have been obtained on the four ward commissioners and that the petition on the mayor will be completed tonight.

A Jaycee spokesman said the petitions will not be returned to the city secretary until it has been established that they have at least ten per cent more signatures than are needed.

He said the Jaycees tomorrow will begin a complete check of all signatures obtained on the five petitions to make certain there are no errors in signatures and that they do not contain any ineligible names.

"We're going to make them letter perfect," he said.

Checking the petitions will take several days and it probably will be Monday or Tuesday before they are returned to the City Secretary's office, he stated.

The petitions will demand a recall of Mayor E. C. Sidwell and Ward Commissioners Lloyd Simpson, Newt Secrest, Leon Holmes and L. P. Fort.

Although the Jaycees stated the recall movement did not necessarily have any connection with the commission's request for the resignation of City Manager John Koontz, it was launched on the day following that action.

The Jaycees have since announced that their only interest in the recall project was to give the people a chance to settle the current controversy in the Democratic way, at the ballot boxes, rather than in various news media.

City Manager Koontz' resignation became effective today. Actually, R. B. Cooke, public works director, had taken over as city manager several days ago, and today becomes the official city manager until a successor is appointed. Cooke has stated to the commission that he does not wish to stay on the job as city manager but prefers to return as works director as soon as the commission can name a city manager.

When the Jaycees file their petitions with City Secretary Edwin Vicars the first of next week, the city charter states that he shall "at once submit the same to the governing authority of the city (the city commission).

The mayor and commissioners will then have five days in which to resign. If they choose not to resign they must set a date for the recall election.

City Secretary Vicars said the charter states that the election must be held not less than 15 days nor more than 30 days from the time the recall petitions were presented to the governing authority.

The ballot at the recall election must read:

"Shall (name of person) be removed from the (name of office) by recall?"

Immediately following each such question there shall be

House Calls Up Bill To Reform Welfare Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today called up a bill to reform the welfare program. Republicans accused Democrats of making it an invitation for states to raid the federal treasury.

The $325 million measure carries most of the requests President Kennedy asked to help the needy and get some of them on their feet.

The bill had general support except for two provisions. One of them costing $40 million, would raise from 50 per cent to 75 per cent the federal share of the cost of certain welfare and counselling services. The other would shift from the states to the federal treasury $140 million of the cost of the program.

Only one amendment was to be allowed, and Republicans hoped to use it to knock out both provisions, cutting $180 million of the bill. They appeared to have little chance of success.

Governor To Speak At Kiwanis Club

Gov. Price Daniel will stop over in Pampa tomorrow long enough to speak at the regular Friday noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis Club in First Methodist Church.

The governor is expected to arrive here from Borger in time for the luncheon. He will stay only a short while after the luncheon and then go on to Shamrock tomorrow night when he will be guest of honor at the annual St. Patrick's Eve banquet there.

He will remain in Shamrock Saturday to review the annual St. Patrick's Day parade, one of the highlights of the annual Irish Day celebration.

Governor Daniel was in Dumas today for an address at a meeting of the Dumas Lions Club. His tour through the Panhandle includes stops at Canyon, Amarillo, Borger, Dumas, Pampa and Panhandle.

Kidnapped Child Returned

'I Was Going To Keep Her Forever' Says Girl

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) —A 19-year-old girl who suffered two miscarriages faced federal kidnaping charges today because she wanted to keep the bright-eyed, pixyish three - year - old daughter of a Texas couple who befriended her.

Red-haired Carol Lavonne Cain Beck, of Grand Rapids, Mich., was captured at a Grants, N.M., roadblock Wednesday. She signed a statement admitting she took little Sharon Henderson Tuesday from the Conway, Tex., home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Henderson.

"I was going to keep her forever," she told FBI agents.

The Beck girl, obviously tired and disheveled from the strain as she was returned to Albuquerque, wept as she appeared at her arraignment only hours after she was halted in a pickup. Acting U. S. Commissioner James A. Maloney set her bond at $5,000 and ordered a preliminary hearing within 48 hours.

Officers said Carol and her young companion apparently spent the night in Albuquerque, several hundred miles from Conway (35 miles from Amarillo), where the long journey started.

Though Carol was tired, Sharon was clean, happy and well, though bewildered by all the excitement, when she was returned to her parents in the federal courthouse here Wednesday.

"She certainly is a happy little individual," said nurse Mrs. Jane Whitty. The child beamed when she was given a stick of gum at the Grants police station.

Acting Grants Police Chief M. A. Maestas said Carol, befriended Sunday by the Hendersons in the little West Texas town, said she took her young charge away because she could not have any children of her own. Her doctor, she said, told her she could not bear a child because of two miscarriages.

"I love that little girl," he quoted her as saying.

She told police she was going to see her husband, whom she identified as a Marine sergeant stationed at Treasure Island near San Francisco.

Henderson and his wife, looking immensely relieved from the worry of recent days, arrived to pick up their daughter just before sundown Wednesday.

Search Underway For Abductors Of Wife, 2 Children

BLACKWELL, Okla. (UPI) — One of Mrs. Lester Bertha Bartholomew's last acts was to purchase new Easter clothes for her three adopted children. They may be worn to her funeral instead.

A widespread search was under way today for two men who early Wednesday afternoon took the 40-year-old housewife from her rural home near Bartlesville, Okla., along with her son Martin, 3, and her daughter Leslie Ann, 19 months.

At 6:45 p.m. a Blackwell attorney, W. W. (Bill) Rodgers, saw the two children wandering arm-in-arm along a state highway 10 miles east of here.

They led him to their foster mother's body.

She was found lying on her back in a granary. A single gunshot wound in the back of her head had taken her life.

The three-year-old youth, his emotions numbed by the harrowing events of the afternoon, could say merely:

"They were real mean to my mommy."

Muskogee County sheriff's deputies arrested a suspect from Porum, Okla., early today. The Oklahoma highway patrol said the 30-year-old man has been accused of earlier burglaries at the Bartholomew home and was released from prison last November after serving a burglary term.

The abductors may have been surprised in the act of ransacking the Bartholomew home four miles from Bartlesville in nearby Osage County. Mrs. Bartholomew, Martin and Leslie Ann returned home

MD Drive Is Postponed 'Til March 29

Pampa's drive for Muscular Dystrophy funds, originally scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until Thursday, March 29, it was announced today by A. J. Carubbi, local drive chairman.

Carrubi said the house-to-house canvas will be made in Pampa between 7 and 9 p.m. on the night of March 29.

The city, he stated, has been divided into 33 segments, and representatives of various civic organizations will make the solicitation.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association, Inc., Carubbi stated, devotes itself to the scientific conquest of neuro - muscular diseases, especially muscular dystrophy, a mysterious disease which primarily strikes children.

Reservists To Be Designated As 'Fillers' In New Mobilization Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Approximately 100,000 Army Reservists will be designated as "fillers" to be called to active duty if high-priority Reserve and National Guard units are mobilized, defense officials said today.

An additional 400,000 Reservists and National Guardsmen will be in the high priority units, making a total of a half million men available for callup on 6 to 12 weeks' notice in case of another cold war moblization.

The new mobilization plans are being drafted at the Pentagon to avoid future complaints such as those that came from 39,000 Reservists who were called up as fillers for the Berlin crisis without having previously been assigned to units.

Defense officials said the designated fillers will not drill with the units to which they are assigned, but they will be either strongly encouraged or required to attend one or more two-week summer training camp sessions with their units.

To make the joint summer training possible, the fillers ordinarily will be in the same section of the country as the units to which they are assigned.

The plan is to place six divisions, probably all from the National Guard, in the No. 1 priority category. These and their supporting units will be available on six weeks' notice. Two more divisions will be in priority No. 2, available in 12 weeks.

The fillers will be selected from the Army's pool of 748,000 ready Reservists. They will be unpaid except for summer training, but they will be in no doubt about their liability of callup if their units are mobilized, officials said.

The Navy and Air Force also will designate fillers to be called with high-priority units, but officials said the problem in these services was comparatively small.

British In Hot Protest Over 'Harassment'

GENEVA (UPI) — Lord Home, Britain's outspoken foreign secretary used such strong language in his protest against Russian harassment of Berlin air corridors that it amounted to an implied threat to leave Geneva, it was disclosed today.

A British delegation source said Home first protested to Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko Sunday at a meeting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and again Tuesday night when just the two of them met.

Home was incensed upon learning that the Communists had seeded the air with "chaff" to confuse Western radar screens.

Although the British delegation source could not confirm the exact wording, another source said Home told Gromyko he felt "like turning back to London."

Lord Home is known to be a man who does not hesitate at expressing himself directly without mincing words.

Gromyko, for his part, was reported not to have made any commitment to use his influence to stop the Soviet harassing tactics.

Thus there was no indication here whether Gromyko had anything to do with the sudden cancellation Wednesday night of four Soviet flights scheduled in the Berlin corridors at the same times as Western flights.

Warren Fatheree To GOP Rally

Warren Fatheree of Pampa, Republican candidate for state representative from the 87th legislative district, will attend a G. O. P. rally in Wellington tonight.

Fatheree said the rally, to be held in the Wellington Community Building at 7:30 p.m. today, will be attended by a number of Republican candidates for state offices who came into the Panhandle in advance of tomorrow's Young Republican Club rally in Amarillo.

Florence Traywick of Hereford, district committee-woman, will preside at tonight's meeting in Wellington.

JFK May Be Preparing Public For Summit Meeting

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy appeared today to be preparing the public for his participation in a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in the not too distant future.

Although the President claims his position is "constant," there has been a slow shift away from his stand that he would go to the summit only to avert war or give final approval to agreements worked out at lower diplomatic levels.

At his news conference Wednesday, Kennedy added a third condition: "I would go if I thought it was in our national interest."

"I do not intend to go," he added, "unless there is a situation developing which I believe would make such a trip fruitful and rewarding."

The President's chief Western partner in negotiating with Russia, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, is coming to this country next month. By the time he sees the President in late April, proceedings of the disarmament conference at Geneva should have indicated whether a summit would be, as Kennedy put it, fruitful and rewarding.

The 17-nation Geneva conference met with the understanding that a progress report would be drafted before June 1. This has led to speculation about a possible summit conference in late May or early June.

Other comments at Kennedy's news conference touched on relations with Russia, East-West tension, proceedings in Congress and politics. The President made these points:

Berlin: Russian tactics to hinder movement o[illegible] aircraft through the B[illegible] corridors are dangerous, additional hazards to a Berlin settlement. Russian dropping of aluminum foil chaff to upset radar installations might "intensify the danger."

Medical Care: He indicated he will press for a showdown vote this year on his plan to finance medical care for the aged through Social Security. He said he felt the proposal would come to a vote "definitely in the United States Senate and, I am hopeful, in the House before the end of this session."

Nuclear Tests: The U.S. would rather have a test ban treaty now than go ahead with its scheduled April series of atmospheric tests. A system for detection of tests as part of a safeguarded treaty is more important than a system for detecting preparations for tests.

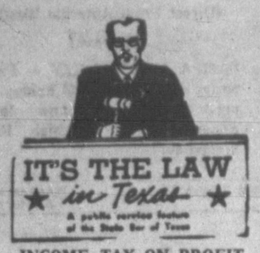

Foreign Aid: He threw his full weight against those in Congress who would axe his request for $4.9 billion in foreign aid for the next fiscal year, saying if such economy advocates no longer were interested in fighting communism, they should cut the program. "I think it would be the most unwise act possible to diminish our assistance program," he said.

Edward Kennedy: He will not participate in his brother's senatorial campaign in Massachusetts, but will vote in the primary.

Agriculture: He called on Congress to reverse the House Agriculture Committee's rejection of his temporary program to keep dairy price supports at their present level for the rest of this year. He said the committee action threatened "unnecessary hardship" for dairy farmers.

Storm Damage: He may ask Congress for supplemental appropriations to revive a 1956 plan for federal insurance and reinsurance against flood and water damage. Much of this type of damage caused by recent East Coast storms was not covered by ordinary insurance.

INCOME TAX ON PROFIT FROM SALE OF HOME

In completing your income tax return, you are required to include in your gross income the sale of your personal residence. This profit is normally the difference between sales price less agent's commission and the purchase price of the house when you bought it.

This additional income can, however, be postponed in the situation where you buy a new residence within a one-year period before or after the date on which you sell your old home. However, you postpone the payment of tax on the sale only if your new home costs as much or more than the price you received for your old house after deducting the agent's commission, selling expenses and the amount you spent to fix the house up for sale during the 90-day period before which the house was sold.

For example, if you paid $10,000 for your old house and sold it for $15,000, you made a profit of $5,000 on the sale. If you buy a new home within a year for $16,000, you report no profit on the sale of the old house. You must, however, reduce the cost of the new home for later sale purposes by the amount of the untaxed profit you received on the old home. Thus, your new house cost would be reduced $5,000 and would be valued at $11,000 for later sale purposes.

Assume the same facts except that you spend $500 fixing up your old house for sale within 90 days before selling it, and bought your new house for $13,000 rather than the $16,000 figure used in the example above. You would deduct the $500 from the $15,000 sales price to obtain the adjusted sales price. Inasmuch as the purchase price of the new house was less than the adjusted sales price of the old home, you would have to include the net difference of $1,500 as capital gain in your gross income.

The value of your new house for subsequent sale purposes would then be reduced by $3,500 which is the difference between the total profit made on the sale of your old residence, ($5,000) and the amount you showed as income when you bought the new residence ($1,500).

Often you sell your old house in one year and don't buy a new one until the subsequent year. Where this occurs, you should show the fact of sale in your tax return for the year of sale and indicate that you intend to buy a new house within the one-year period.

When you later purchase a new house and have gain to report because it cost you less than the adjusted sales price of the old house, you should amend your return for the year in which the old house was sold and report the proper amount of gain includible in income as a capital gain.

Where you desire to build a new house to replace the old house sold, you are entitled to these tax benefits as long as construction begins within the one year period after the date of sale of the old residence, and is completed within 18 months after the same date.

Energetic Jackie Heads South To See Taj Mahal

By PATRICK J. KILLEN

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—An energetic Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy left New Delhi behind today and sped southward by special train to see India's ancient Mogul capital of Fatehpur Sikri and the beautiful Taj Mahal at Agra.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and a large crowd of women in colorful saris gave the wife of President Kennedy a warm send-off at the station.

The government relaxed its restriction against alcoholic beverages and permitted cases of liquor aboard the train with Mrs. Kennedy.

The only previous occasion this was known to have happened was in 1955 when Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev traveled through the Indian countryside by special train.

Nehru placed at Mrs. Kennedy's disposal the great, red air-conditioned railway coach which is used by President Rajendra Prasad and important visitors.

The coach, hooked into an 11-car train, contained a brown wood-paneled bedroom and an adjoining sitting room which looks surprisingly spacious for a train car.

Mrs. Kennedy, smiling broadly, waved repeatedly to the crowd as she entered the coach. Hundreds of women had gathered to see her drive along the route from Nehru's house and as she passed they lustily cheered the "Ameriki rani" (American queen.)

At the station, police tried to check every person entering the train platform but the Kennedy-crazy crowd argued heatedly with them and finally squeezed past.

Young girls shouted "Kennedy zindabad" (Long live Mrs. Kennedy).

Former Pampan Suffers Bruises, Cuts In Mishap

A former Pampa woman escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon when the foreign automobile she was driving overturned five miles south of Pampa on Farm Road 749.

The woman, Mrs. Sandra Gist, 20, of Lubbock, told Highway Patrol officers she was driving along toward Bowers City after visiting relatives in Pampa when she failed to make a curve in the highway.

She was taken to Highland General Hospital by ambulance where she received emergency treatment for cuts and bruises and was released.

The accident happened about 5 p.m., according to investigating officers.

New Industry Attractions Are Studied

Development techniques for attracting new industry to Pampa will be discussed by members of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee at a noon luncheon Monday in Coronado Inn.

Johnny Watson, committee chairman, said today it is planned to make a detailed study of the chamber's new Community Analysis brochure and to discuss ways and means of putting it to use.

The Monday session, Watson said, will be in the form of a workshop in which committee members will be asked to submit ideas for bringing potential industries to the community.

The family home had been broken into and ransacked, a safe pried open and the telephone cord cut. A .22 caliber rifle had been taken down from wall brackets and dismantled.

The new Easter clothes which had been purchased Wednesday morning by Mrs. Bartholomew for the children were arranged neatly on a table in the dining room, ready for a happy outing which will never come.

Mrs. J. D. Smotherman, 844 Campbell St., reported to police yesterday that when she returned from a trip out of town she discovered someone had entered the house and stolen a punch bowl, U.S. flag, and a Japanese rifle.

The rifle was recovered from a neighborhood boy who implicated another youngster in the thefts.

Police Chief Jim Conner said juvenile authorities were to question an 11-year-old boy and an eight-year-old youth in connection with the thefts later today.

Democratic Candidate State Representative— 87th District

LOAN SHARK

I am a Democratic Candidate for the State Representative for the 87th District. This is the second in my series of newspaper columns and radio speeches. The issue I would like to discuss with you this week is the effort made by our House of Representatives to legalize an excessive interest rate on loans of up to $1500.00.

House Bill 3, introduced and passed by the House of Representatives in the third called session this past January, contained a provision to legalize an interest rate on loans made by licensed lenders in the following amounts:

Size Loan	Present Law	Under HB 3
$100.00	10%	36%
$500.00	10%	27.48%
$1500.00	10%	18.48%

The present Representative of the 87th District voted for HB 3 on its final passage.

Under this law only the unethical type lender would have been allowed to charge this interest rate. Banks, reputable Finance Companies, Savings & Loan Associations and other ethical lenders are not included in this bill.

I am for retaining our present law which provides a maximum interest rate of 10%.

A detailed discussion will be made on radio, Friday of this week.

Germany, Poland and Cazhechoslovakia and the conclusion of a non-aggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw Pact powers.

Gromyko also proposed immediate signing of a treaty banning nuclear tests in the air, under water and in outer space, but to be self - policed. There would be no international inspection of such a ban.

The Russian said that policing of general arms reduction would be restricted to the arms being eliminated "and not the armed forces and armaments retained by states at any given stage."

Rusk said this was not enough, that the United States wants "assurances commensurate with the risks."

Rusk said his government is willing to consider various means of verification of disarmament, such as sampling techniques which would not require surveillance everywhere.

At one point in his speech Gromyko accused the United States of delivering "a fairly painful blow at the talks even before they had a chance to start" by announcing its intention to start nuclear tests in the atmosphere next month.

Rusk reacted testily, "I had supposed there was one delegation here—that of the U.S.S.R.—which could not have found it possible to criticize the United States for resuming nuclear testing."

Rotarians Elect Seven New Directors

Seven members of the Pampa Rotary Club were elected to serve on the board of directors yesterday at the club's weekly luncheon held in the Coronado Inn.

Roy Sparkman, club president, said the men elected to serve a term from July 1, 1962, to July 1, 1963, are: James Gallemore, Cameron Marsh, R. D. Wilkerson, Herschel Wilks, Lucian Young, Gordon Lyons and Gene Groom. Sparkman will automatically serve on the board as past president.

The program was presented by Evelyn Milam, Pampa High School student counselor. She discussed the duties of a high school counselor. Miss Milam was introduced by Cameron Marsh, high school principal.

Sparkman said the newly-elected board met this afternoon to select a new club president to serve the coming year. His name had not been announced at press time today.

Shamrock Trip Plans Gaining Momentum Here

Plans were going ahead today for the Pampa delegation being formed to attend the annual St. Patrick's Day celebration Saturday at Shamrock.

Chamber of Commerce officials said today they were in hopes of getting enough reservations to charter a special bus for the trip to the Irish City.

Those wishing to make the trip are urged to call the Chamber of Commerce at MO 4-3241 before 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Plans call for the bus or private cars to leave the City Hall at 9:30 a.m. Saturday and return to Pampa by 3 p.m.

Commander's Award For Reserve Unit

For the second consecutive year the Pampa Army Reserve unit has been awarded the commander's award for the top battery in the 3rd Howitzer Battalion, 78th Artillery, according to Capt. Bill C. Cooper, Pampa.

Cooper said the Pampa unit received the award recently from the division artillery headquarters in Austin.

untested or inadequately tested beauty aids."

"It is time," he declared, "to give American men, women and children the same protection we have been giving hogs, sheep and cattle since 1913, under an act forbidding the marketing of worthless serums and other drugs for the treatment of these animals."

Turning to food, Kenedy noted that one-fifth of all the meat slaughtered in the United States is not inspected. He urged passage of legislation to broaden the Meat Inspection Act to cover all meat slaughtered in this country.

His message also supported enactment of pending legislation that would require lenders and vendors to tell borrowers in advance the actual amounts and rates they will be paying for credit.

Kennedy also strongly supported passage of a bill that would require all new television sets to be equipped to receive both very high frequency (VHF) and ultra high frequency (UHF) stations. He said it would broaden the range of television programs now available to the public. Most TV sets now are equipped only for VHF signals.

To keep the public from getting stuck on the so-called "large economy size" and "cents-off" promotional advertising, Kennedy said a government survey would be made of packaging and labelling abuses.

A bill proposed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) that takes in most of President Kennedy's proposals to provide consumers with safer and cheaper drugs was sidetracked Wednesday and perhaps killed by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Kid Pony Show Planning Meet Is Slated Today

Plans for the Kid Pony Show which kicks off the annual Top O' Texas Rodeo every year will be discussed at a meeting of the show committee at 7:30 p.m. today in the Chamber of Commerce conference room at City Hall.

Dear Abby....

Mother's Teeth Are On Edge!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How can I get my mother to ADMIT that her dentures are no good and to DO something about them? When she talks, she makes clicking sounds that cause people to giggle. When I ring her bell, I can see her through her large picture window running first to get her teeth, so I know she doesn't put them in her mouth unless she has to. Her dental bill was not cheap (I paid it) and I can't understand why she refuses to go back to her dentist and complain. Can you help me?

HER DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Any dentist would be happy to adjust dentures which he made. Perhaps your mother is frightened or embarrassed. Call her dentist. He'll know what to do.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who "had to" get married. Not for the usual reason, but my story might be worth space in your column to keep other girls from making the same mistake. I "had to" get married because at 22 I graduated from college and, believe it or not, I wasn't trained for any special job. I couldn't see going home to live with my parents as a "child" again, but the main reason was that all my friends were married. So I married a nice, dull, average man who had had a crush on me since high school. He has no big glaring faults, but he is the world's worst bore. He is selfish and inconsiderate and some of his personal habits are revolting. He never argues. Just sulks. His big interest is sports. Two weeks after the wedding I knew it was a mistake. My religion doesn't permit divorce, so I am stuck. I hope no other girl "has to" get married for the foolish reasons I did.

STUCK

DEAR ABBY: Four months ago we adopted a beautiful baby girl. We never dreamed people would ask us the questions we have been asked about this baby. Such as, "Where did you get her?" "Do you know who her parents were?" "Was her mother unmarried?" How can people have such nerve to ask questions like that? Please tell us what to say.

NEEDING ADVICE

DEAR NEEDING: You are under no compulsion to answer every question you are asked, you know. Tell them that their questions are too personal, and change the subject.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HATE MYSELF": Report the physician to your county medical society, and do not see him again professionally or otherwise. Tell your husband you wish to change doctors, but don't go into detail.

Still worrying about the same old problem? Write to Abby for a personal reply. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Double-Ring Nuptials Unite Miss Sutton Bryan Patrick O'Quinn In Church Rites

CANADIAN (Spl) — A double ring ceremony performed in the First Baptist Church at 5 o'clock in the afternoon on Feb. 24 united Miss Carolyn Claudie Sutton and Bryan Patrick O'Quinn in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sutton. Mr. O'Quinn's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Justin O'Quinn of San Antonio.

Vows were read by Joe Vernon before an altar setting featuring a large basket of white gladioli, carnations and white daisies. Greenery decorated the altar railing and seven candelabra lighted the background. A candle and greenery in each window completed the setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie, its wide decollete neckline edged with floral appliques of hand run lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. The molded bodice of the dress was complimented with long fitted sleeves and was marked with a narrow hand - rolled cord at the waistline. The embroidered skirt swept to a cathedral length train.

Her headdress was a pillbox of white peau de soie to which her finger tip length veil was attached. She carried a cascade bouquet of white stephanotis from which fell streamers of white satin ribbon.

Beth O'Quinn, of San Antonio, sister of the bridegroom was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Tracy Moore of Dallas, Theresa Cloyd and Patsy Yarnold. The bridal attendants were attired in dresses of aqua nylon taffeta styled with fitted bodices and full skirts. Their headdresses were of aqua net attached to aqua rosebuds. They carried bouquets of aqua carnations.

Christy Jones was the flower girl. Candlelighters were Brad O'Quinn and George Dillman.

The bridegroom was attended by Allen Burkehart of Lubbock as best man. Ushers were David Thigpen of San Antonio and Bill Jones of Houston.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Bill Popham sang "A Wedding Wish" and "O Perfect Love" accompanied by Mrs. Robert Dillman. The processional, a theme from Beethoven, and the recessional, The Hallelujiah Chorus by Handel were also played by Mrs. Dillman. She accompanied Mrs. Popham in the benediction "The Wedding Prayer".

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table featured a tiered wedding cake in white topped with white wedding bells. Mrs. C. H. Lansdown served the cake and Miss Daisy Childers poured the punch. Greta Henderson of Sweetwater registered the guests.

The bride was graduated from Canadian High School and has been attending Texas Tech at Lubbock where the bridegroom is also a student. The couple are making their home at 807 A Avenuep in Lubbock.

Take It From Kathy

. . . . by kathy peterson

Dear Kathy: My friends tease me because I love English and want to major it in college. My dad would like me to be an engineer.

Most people don't seem to think a boy can build a good future with just English as a background. I'm not sure what I would like as a career, but no other subject really interests me.

People say things like, "What do you plan to do, quote Shakespeare for a living?" I know it is difficult to become famous as an author and I don't like the idea of becoming a teacher, but there must be other possibilities.

I would appreciate any thoughts you might have on the subject.—Sincerely, A Senior.

Dear Senior: You needn't quote Shakespeare for a living just because you are well informed on the subject. Studying English involves a great deal more than that. Remember, the subjects in which you minor will broaden your background, too.

It's better to be a dedicated English major than a mediocre scientist, engineer or sociologist.

There are a tremendous number of possible careers for someone like you. Surveys have indicated that one thing top supervisers and executives have in common is the ability to express themselves well.

People with similar backgrounds have become travel agents, journalists, lawyers, airmen, diplomats, politicians, etc.

SKINNER GOLDEN GLOW MACARONI makes quite a difference!

Tuna-Macaroni Buffet Casserole

2 cups SKINNER Elbow Macaroni
1 cup commercial sour cream
½ cup milk
¼ teaspoon crushed oregano
2 6½-oz. cans tuna
½ cup sliced ripe olives
¾ cup sliced mushrooms
¼ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup chopped cashew nuts
1 cup grated process American cheese

Cook macaroni as directed on package. Drain. Combine sour cream, milk, oregano, tuna, ripe olives, mushrooms, green pepper, and cashews. Mix well. Carefully fold in the cooked macaroni; turn into a buttered 2½-qt. casserole, top with grated cheese. Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes, uncover casserole for last 10 minutes of cooking. Serves 6.

Next time you're at the store, compare the color of Skinner Macaroni, Spaghetti and Noodles with other brands. You'll see that Skinner products have a richer, more appetizing color—a golden glow of quality. And they cook firm, yet tender. Reason: Skinner uses 100% amber durum wheat. Many macaronis don't. It makes quite a difference.

Senior Center Corner

By MRS. O. A. WAGNER
Senior Citizens Center

Mrs. Mary Harris, who celebrated her 80th birthday on March 3, has been a music teacher for years and still is teaching a class. As her birthday gift to the Center, a piano was provided and Linden Sheppard came over and conducted a sing-song of church hymns and sang a selection of solos. Mr. Sheppard was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Harris' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nola Harris of Borger. To complete the program, three of Mrs. Harris' pupils, Ricky Phiel, Gail Green and Phyllis Powell, played several numbers.

It was nice to have Uncle Billy Frost back with us. Hope he soon regains his usual pep!

Clifford Vincent and family were in last week to attend the stock show and, of course, Katie Vincent enjoyed having them a part of the time.

Mrs. Jessie VanHuss is quite ill with penumonia in Worley Hospital. Her two sons, Virgil and J. P. VanHuss and wife of Wichita Falls came Wednesday for a short visit. They plan to take her to Wichita Fallas as soon as she is able for her convalescence. Mrs. Mollie enjoyed a short visit with them while they were here.

Was nice to have Mrs. O. F. Kreimeyer back with us in her Gray Lady duties after her illness. We missed the Rev. P. H. Gates, who has been ill and was not up and going out yet. Mrs. Gates was present. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gates and their three children of Lubbock and another grandson, Mark Gates, student at Texas Tech, spent a weekend recently with the Gates.

Mrs. Ida Faulconer had a nice visit from her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Harris and husband of Elk City, Okla. recently.

Mrs. Nora Trusty of Mobeetie is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. Joe Gabriel and family; and came to visit at the Center on Thursday. So glad to have her. Mrs. Trusty also visited Mrs. Emma Gabriel while here. Mrs. Gabriel is the mother of Joe Gabriel; all in the family, so to speak.

Mrs. Ollie Daniel and Mrs. Vertreece Bodey are entertaining Mrs. Leila Young from Hooker, Okla. and brought her to the Center. Mrs. Young is a daughter of Mrs. Daniel and a sister of Mrs. Bodey. Always nice to have the Center-ites bring their guests.

Mrs. Emma Gabriel and Mrs. Lou Mullin were back with us after a lengthy absence. We hope to see them oftener.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McKnerney, 2113 N. Russell, were welcomed at the Center this week. Mrs. McKnerny is a retired railroad man and they are making Pampa their home to be near their daughter and family, the Forrest Hills.

The delectable St. Patrick Day's cake, which the Southwestern Bell Telephone Club, served at the Center on Thursday, was the talk of the party. The plates were so pretty with the mint cups decorated with green Shamrocks, green napkins. The center of the cake was inscribed with "St. Patrick's" and was surrounded by pink candy roses and Shamrocks. Eighty - two Seniors were present. Mrs. Louise Sewell, Mrs. L. L. Harkins, Mrs. Thelma Bray and Jay Flanagan assisted with the telephone ladies' club with serving. Mrs. Mack Harmon, Mrs. O. F. Kreimeyer, Mrs. A. D. Hills and Mrs. Ola McAfee, Red Cross Gray Ladies, provided transportation for the guests.

Door prizes were won by H. M. Hassell and Mrs. Barbara Roop.

Twentieth Century Cotillion Study Club will be hostess for the next meeting on Thursday. See you next week. Love, Mrs. Magner.

Hep Cat Club Names Officers

Hep Cat Club elected officers at a recent meeting held in the home of the sponsor, Mrs. J. E. Leverich, 1324 Christine.

During a business meeting, conducted by Miss Virginia Sims, acting president, the following members were elected for a six-months' term: Frances Holt, president; Julie Hofsess, vice president; Patsy Holloway, secretary; Pam Martin, treasurer; Norma Reed, parliamentarian and Martha Bearden, historian reporter.

Pretty plaids will march proudly in the Easter parade this year. Lloyd Schecter does a green-and-white plaid (left) in a suit cut with trim little jacket and panel front skirt. Collarless suit (right) is by Herbert Sondheim in a fine American wool plaid. The color is beige. A sleeveless silk blouse is worn under the jacket.

Fit's The Thing In Spring Suits For Pretty Walk In Easter Parade

By GAILE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — The suit that will walk proudly in this year's Easter parade is one that has more fit than in any Easter for some time past.

This doesn't mean that it will be curved exactly to the figure. Far from it. Our eyes have become adjusted to a gentle fit. The plastered - to the - body look of the early '50s has departed. In its place, there is a new kind of fit which indicates body lines without clinging to them.

The result is a neat and youthful look for women. In keeping with this look, suits are collarless or have flat, little, notched collars. Some suits are belted; others achieve a waistline through careful seaming.

Skirts are short and given just enough walking ease through a back pleat so that the wearer need not mince along in the Easter parade.

It is surprising that the set - in sleeve should have returned to fashion in a season when clothes are markedly soft and feminine. But it has. The difference between this and the set-in sleeve of old is the neat, narrow look. This is because padding is gone and the shoulder line is both natural and elegant.

Plaids and checks will parade on Easter Sunday. Most will be soft and muted. But solids will be in evidence, too, in the bright and welcome colors of spring. These include apricot, blue, red, soft and brilliant greens, off - white, yellow and pink. The classic black, navy and gray will, of course, be worn.

Pre - Christian Origins

The decorations considered traditional at Christmas tide date back to pre - Christian origins. The Romans ornamented their temples and homes with green boughs and flowers during their season of giving presents; the Druids gathered mistletoe and the Saxons decorated their houses with holly and ivy for holidays, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

'Stain Removal' Forms Club Topic

LEFORS (Spl) — Lefors Home Demonstration club met recently with Mrs. B. J. Diehl for a business meeting and a program on "Stain Removal" presented by Mrs. John L. Lantz and Mrs. O. O. Bishop.

Remedies for the removal of rust, nail polish, ball-point pen marks and acid stains were presented by the speakers.

Included in the afternoon's program were humorous readings by Mmes. Diehl, Bishop and Lantz.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. A. J. Rollins, Mrs. Diehl finance chairman, reminded members of the rummage sale planned by the club for April 6-7.

Final plans were made for participating in the Junior Livestock Show on March 6, which was the club's day to serve luncheon.

Mrs. G. W. James was welcomed as a new member.

Canary Pudding Satisfies Irish Clan Of Great Dessert Eaters

CANARY PUDDING IS IRISH FAVORITE

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

With St. Patrick's Day coming up, it's a good time to realize that Irishmen are great dessert eaters. It is not uncommon at dinner in Dublin, for example, to serve two desserts. One will be hot and the other, almost invariably, will be served cold.

For a two - dessert dinner, serve cold fruit compote flavored with "vanilla essence", or as we call it, pure vanilla extract. For the hot dessert, try this very popular and traditionally Irish steamed pudding.

STEAMED CANARY PUDDING
(Yield: 6 servings)

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon double - acting baking powder
2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
½ cup butter or margarine
2-3 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ cup milk
Jam sauce

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Set aside to use later. Blend pure vanilla extract with butter or margarine. Gradually add suar, mixing well after each addition. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add flour mixture alternately with milk. Beat batter ½ minute.

Turn into a well - greased, lightly - floured 1 - quart shamrock mold filling it 2-3 full. Cover with 2 layers of metal foil. Tie to hold securely with a strong cord. Place on a rack in a deep kettle. Pour in boiling water, to come halfway up the side of the mold. Cover and steam 2 hours or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean, counting cooking time after water begins to boil. Add additional boiling water to the pan as needed. Serve warm with jam sauce.

If serving for St. Patrick's party, sprinkle with sifted confectioners' sugar and decorate center with green sugar shamrock. To make it, place a shamrock pattern in the center. Trace around it with a pointed knife. Remove pattern and fill in with green granulated sugar.

Irish Soda Stack Treats Youngsters

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Buttermilk and baking soda, the traditional Irish way, are used to make these teen-age pancakes. Big, rib-sticking and exciting; make a great stack when th youngsters want to give a party. Allow at least 4 for each girl, 6 for each boy.

IRISH SODA PANCAKES
(Makes 11 to 12—5½-inch pancakes)

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, sparated
2 cups buttermilk
2 tablespoons melted butter or Melted butter or margarine
margarine
Sugar
margarine

Sift flour, baking soda and salt together into medium-sized bowl. In small bowl, beat egg whites until soft peak form. Beat egg yolks, buttermilk and 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine together until just blended; add to flour mixture and beat until smooth. Fold in egg whites. Using a ½-cup measure, drop onto hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake until edges are full of bubbles. Turn; bake other side until golden brown. Brush each pancake with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle with sugar and serve immediately.

St. Pat's Day Cheer In Lemon Chiffon

The luck o' the Irish is with us! For the St. Patrick's Day celebration, here's a luscious Lime Pistachio Chiffon Pie, topped with the shamrock of Erin. Close by are steaming cups of coffee and a big potful in reserve for holiday callers. Sure, and it's a welcome treat, especially for the sons of Ireland who've been out watching — or marching in — the big holiday parade.

LIME PISTACHIO CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar, divided
1-3 cup lime juice
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated lime peel
Green food coloring
1-3 cup finely chopped pistachio nuts
1 9-inch baked pie shell

Soften gelatine in cold water. Beat egg yolks. Beat in ½ cup sugar. Add lime juice and salt. Cook and stir over hot water until thickened. Add grated peel and gelatine. Stir until gelatine dissolves. Tint pale green with food coloring. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until they form soft peaks. Beat in remaining sugar slowly. Fold egg whites and pistachio nuts into gelatine. Spoon into baked pie shell. Chill until set. Garnish with large chocolate shamrock sprinkled with sugar, or small shamrock candies.

Poached Eggs Are Good Mood Setter

Sunny side up on a Sunday spring morn is this breakfast mood setter — perky poached eggs and sausage celeri. On each toast slice, place 2 or 3 grilled sausage links (split). Ribbon with hot undiluted cream of celery soup, and gloriously top it off with a poached egg.

CRISPY corn meal crackers, with sour cream and green onions in the dough, are shaped for St. Pat's Day party.

Party Crackers Dance Irish Jig Across Pretty St. Patrick's Table

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For that St. Patrick's Day party, here are snacks in the shape of pipes and shamrocks and bowlers, all dear to th hearts of the sons and daughters of the Emerald Isle.

Full of spirit and flavor too, they are made of dairy sour cream, shredded green onions and yellow corn meal. Serve with a green aocado spread and chilled beverages. And of course, everyone joins in singing "The Wearin' of the Green."

GOLDEN ONION CRACKERS
(Makes 5 dozen crackers)

½ cup enriched yellow corn meal
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon shredded green onions
¼ cup shortening
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 egg
½ cup milk

Heat oven to hot (425 degrees F.). Sift togther corn meal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into bowl. Add onions. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in sour cream blended with egg and milk. Mix lightly until mixture is just dampened. Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas and knead gently 2 or 3 times.

Divide dough in half; roll each half to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut into desired shapes. Place on ungreased cookie sheets; prick each cracker well with a fork. Bake in preheated oven (425 degrees F.) 6 to 8 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Cool; serve as an appetizer, snack or with soup.

Stuffed Trout Is Lenten Delicacy

Fish and loaves divided amply when the Lenten dinner dish is Tomato - Parmesan Stuffed Trout. This modern conception of the Biblical loaf is an 8-ounce package of seasoned bread stuffing mix used to stuff a 3-pound fish. Combine stuffing with 1 (No. 1) can of undiluted condensed tomato soup, 1-3 cup grated Parmesan cheese, and ¼ cup melted butter. Place the fish, with the cavity stuffing - filled and unskewered, in a large, greased, shallow baking pan and brush with melted butter. Bake in a 400 degrees F. oven for 10 minutes, lower heat to 350 degrees F. and bake for 30 minutes more. To serve: Garnish stuffed trout with stuffing muffins-made, in greased muffin or custard cups, from the leftover stuffing.

Overeating Is Family Habit

Q—My family is fat. Doesn't that mean I was born to be fat, too?

A—Not necessarily. In her book "Food Becomes You," Dr. Ruth Leverton answers that question this way: "Overeating is often a family habit — and then the whole family is over-weight. Our calorie supply depends on our eating habits, and the habit of overeating brings overweight. When you eat with a family in which everyone is overweight, you usually have foods cooked in extra fat and cream to add flavor, have second and third helpings because things are so good, have rich and sweet desserts, and have bedtime snacks that by themselves would supply a good share of the day's calorie need."

Q — Isn't pasteurized milk a perfect food?

A—There is no single perfect food. Pasteurized milk is an excellent food, rich in high quality protein, calcium and riboflavin. But it lacks essential iron and vitamin C.

Toasted Egg Cups Add Light-Touch

A light-touch Lenten lunch might well take shape from Toasted Egg Cups. Simply designed, the "cups" are really crust-trimmed slices of enriched bread, brushed on both sides with melted butter, each gently pressed into a large custard cup. Poured into the "cups" is a scrambled egg mixture of beaten egg, milk, and a little salt, plus a nippy but generous pinch of grated sharp process cheese. The dish is baked in a 350 degrees F. oven for 30 minutes. Tossed salad greens make a crisp and inviting accompaniment.

Cook's Morale Boosted By Fully-Cooked Meats

There's no need to feel like a Mother Hubbard when you keep plenty of canned meats on your cupboard shelf. Canned meats, always ready at your fingertips, are wintery day boosters to the cook as well as to the other members of the family. And, canned prok and beef luncheon meat on a fruit-nut stuffing supplies the high-qaulity, complete meat protein necessary to good nutrition.

The world's most useful meat in a twelve ounce can bearing the two most trusted words in meat is fully cooked when purchased. It may be sliced and served cold, diced for use in casseroles, or baked on top of stuffing. All you need do is open the pork and beef luncheon meat can to solve any mealtime problem.

Now don't miss an opportunity to dress up this convenience food. It takes so little to add a flair with your own personal touch. You can play "French chef" and make a flavorful stuffing using ingredients you might happen to have on hand. A combination of dates, nuts, chopped apples, celery and bread cubes is a complement to the layered sliced luncheon meat. Corn relish and lemon-buttered asparagus are added making a colorful meal to brighten any dreary, wnter day.

LUNCHEON LOAF ON FRUIT NUT STUFFING
Yield: 4 servings

12 ounce can pork and beef luncheon loaf
2 cups bread cubes
1 medium red-skinned apple, chopped
¼ cup orange juice
¼ cup chopped dates
¼ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup chopped celery
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted margarine
GLAZE:
2 tablespoons honey
2 teaspoons orange juice

Slice luncheon loaf into 8 slices. Combine remaining ingredients to make stuffing. Place half of the stuffing on the bottom of an 8 by 8 by 2 inch baking dish. Arrange 4 luncheon loaf slices on the stuffing. Place remaining stuffing in baking dish. Top with 4 slices of luncheon loaf. Combine honey and orange juice and spread over luncheon loaf. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) ½ hour.

PRIZE PILAF
Yield: 6 servings

12 ounce can pork and beef luncheon loaf
3 tablespoons chopped onion
½ stick (¼ cup) melted butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup cooked rice
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
½ cup chopped peanuts, chow mein noodles or crushed corn flakes

Cook onion in butter until tender but not brown. Add flour and blend. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly. Add salt. Cook 5 minutes. Blend in cheese until thoroughly combined. Dice luncheon loaf into ½ inch cubes. Combine all ingredients except peanuts. Pour into a greased 2 quart shallow baking dish. Sprinkle nuts over top of casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

These recipes were deveoped for use with Swift's Prem.

Canned Tuna Is King Of Fishdom

That old-salt of fishdom, canned tuna, is featured for Almond-Tuna Scallop. A 7-ounce can is combined with 1 pint toasted bread cubes, tasteful touches of lemon juice and chopped parsley, and ½ cup finely chopped celery. The fish mixture is then matched with 1 cup of medium-thick white sauce, to which ½ cup grated sharp cheese is added and stirred till melted. A greased 1-quart casserole holds the resulting mixture, to be sprinkled with sliced almonds before baking in a 350 degrees F. oven for 25 minutes. To serve: Dot with bits of bright, chopped parsley.

Lenten Casserole Teams With Bread

Typical foods of early Christian times team to make this Lenten repast — Egg - Olive Casserole. Layered in a casserole dish are soft bread cubes; a cream sauce made from milk - diluted condensed cream of mushroom soup, cooked peas, coarsely chopped ripe olives and a sparkle of prepared mustard; and hard-cooked egg slices. Repeat a layer of bread cubes and cream sauce. Bake in a 350 degrees F. oven for 30 minutes — then garnish with several hard-cooked egg slices and green pepper strips.

It is estimated that 80 per cent of the world's dates are harvested in Iraq.

Texans Set A New Record In Poll Taxes

By CARLTON WILSON
United Press International

AUSTIN (UPI)—Texans have set a new record for poll tax purchases during a non-presidential lection year, a United Press International survey shows.

The number of qualified voters may surpass the all-time high of 2,594,254 set in 1960 when the Kennedy-Johnson ticket barely carried Texas.

Spurred by the hottest gubernatorial contest since 1946, Texans have purchased at least 2,373,857 poll taxes this year and late reports from the metropolitan counties are expected to swell that total.

The total for this year already exceeds the 2,055,318 eligible voters who paid their $1.75 or filed for exemptions in 1958, the last non-presidential election year.

Last year, when there were no statewide races to consider, Texans also broke the 1958 mark, picking up 2,594,254 poll taxes.

Republicans and Democrats will use their poll tax receipts for the first time this year in primary elections of May 5. Primary run-offs will be held June 9 and the general election Nov. 6.

The poll tax will be a key issue in the first primary. Both parties have agreed to take a straw poll on the ballot to see if Texans are for the abolition of the poll tax as a requirement for voting.

Incomplete reports to the state comptroller show that so far this year, residents of 239 of he state's 254 counties have bought 218,212 more poll taxes than they did in 1961.

Several of the largest counties swamped with more poll taxes and exemptions than last year delayed their reports to the comptroller. United Press International made a spot check of the counties which substantiated the trend toward higher numbers of voters throughout the state.

Harris County led the state with 357,500 eligible voters, an increase from 340,059 last year.

Dallas County is the second largest concentration of votes, with 248,483 eligible persons compared with 221,973 last year.

Bexar County has 155,933 eligible voters, compared with 137,394 in 1961.

Travis County qualified 62,406 voters, an increase of 2,830 over the previous all-time high year of 1960.

Supermarket Business Is 'Going Hollywood'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The supermarket business appears to be going Hollywood Lester L. Wolff, the industry's chief drumbeater, admitted today.

Wolff, whose advertising agency, Co-ordinated, Inc., handles 18 large supermarket chain accounts, said things have come to such a pass that a supermarket covering half a square block may be merely colossal and nearly obsolete.

"The bitter truth is that a supermarket that costs $1 million to open can become obsolete in seven years" Wolf said.

Moreover the huge emporium carrying 10,000 or more items, ranging from teaks and eggs to girdles, tractors, and perfumes, no longer appeals to people on cost alone.

To provide the convenince of one - stop shopping the modern family demands, the supermarket has had to lift its overhead margin sharply.

Back in 1930 when Michael King Cullen opened the first King Kullen store in Jamaica, N. Y., believed to have been the first true supermarket, he figured 10 to 12 cents on the sales dollar would cover all expenses and profit.

It takes 18 cents of each sales dollar to run today's supermarket, Wolff said. "But that's a lot cheaper than many small groceries, who need 26 to 30 cents from each dollar to cover expenses and profit."

Nevertheless, the supermarket with its packaged ready-to-serve or heat-and-serve foods sell convenience more than price, Wolff said.

"There's no glossing over the fact," he said, "that cereal costs 70 per cent more in the little one serving boxes than in the big family-sized boxes, but people like the little boxes and will pay for them."

GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — The woman held up two steel bear traps in County Domestic Relations Court Tuesday and said, "My husband put them in his car to stop me from trying to take it."

Judge Wendell Odom granted her a divorce.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Just published is a dreadful book entitled "The Night Hamburg Died."

Dreadful is the word. This book excites dread and horrow. It is the story of the death of Hamburg in a firestorm induced by the day and night bombing of Germany's second city, population about two million. This was in 1943.

This book should be accepted as part of the national debate in the United States about how to obtain civil defense against thermonuclear war.

The shocker in this book is the argument that the government and people of the United States have not yet identified the killer against which they would raise civil defenses. The killer is fire but, more properly, it is heat. Perhaps few would live to die from fallout.

Hamburg was rated the best prepared of all German cities to withstand fire bombing. When the bombing came, however, it was on a scale unprecedented. The city died. There was not merely fire, there was firestorm. Flames shot up 15,000 feet above the doomed city; the smoke plume rose 40,000 feet.

The roaring flames consumed the atmosphere at the ground level and sucked in from suburbs and outlying farm lands more air with a horizontal movement greater than hurricane force, estimated at 150 miles an hour.

Shelters that were almost proof against fire from without were almost defenseless against the brutal heat pervading the city. In the streets moving human bodies burst suddenly into puffs of flame. In the shelters death was more gentle, induced by heat and suffocation for lack of oxygen. There are pictures in this book. Beneath one of them is this cutline:

"These victims—spared the direct effect of flames—died early in the firestorm from the combined effects of heat, carbon-non oxide and suffocation. In many shelters the heat became so great that the corpses, as well as glass and metal, melted into blobs."

It is estimated that the ground level temperature in Hamburg during the firestorm reached 1,400 degrees. It is no mere estimate that successful thermonuclear attack would exceed in all respects the effects of the British and American day-and-night bombing. This Hamburg story raises a new question with respect to civil defense.

DISTRESS SIGNAL

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Residents flooded the police station with calls Tuesday asking what was the trouble.

The trouble was that policeman Charles Weaver ran up a distress signal when he hoisted the American flag upside down at dawn.

A DECENT WAGE

FORD, England (UPI)—Bedford head postmaster Leonard Marsh was stampeded by applicants because the ad for a postal job mistakenly said that $823 was the weekly—instead of the annual salary.

NEW ROAD PROBLEM

AMES, IOWA, (UPI)—The Iowa High Commission has a new road problem — muskrats.

The commission said Tuesday the animals burrow into road shoulders which sink when the burrows collapse and cause culverts to wash out.

PROPOSE GUINEA PLAN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Tuesday it had proposed to The Netherlands and Indonesia a plan for negotiating their dispute over West New Guinea. It was believed the proposal called for a U.S. citizen to act as observer at the talks.

Quotes In The News

By United Press International

NEW YORK — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, describing in a Life Magazine article his reaction to requests from Republican leaders that he withdraw from the 1962 election because of a controversial campaign fund:

"I really blew my stack."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Mrs. Renate Beck, who says cups, saucers, lamps and other crockery have been mysteriously hurled against walls and floors of her home this week:

"I can't take much of this . . . Anyone who might be able to help is welcomed in this house."

NEW YORK — Window washer Warren Rogers, who narrowly escaped falling twice during the same day because of a faulty safety belt:

"I'm going home."

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. — Police Sgt. Carl Stolz, referring to anonymous telephone bomb threats to the hospital where six infants died of an apparent overdose of salt in their formulas:

"The callers would have to be screwballs or cranks."

Dick Powell Took Advantage Of Idea That Viewers Like Hoodlums

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — More disturbing than outright violence on television are such programs as Tuesday night's "Dick Powell Show" which subtly glamorize thieves and hoodlums.

Few persons would openly advocate violence after seeing it on the home screen. But there is an insidious corruption of values in making the cheap charm of the underworld and nightclub bums seem enviable to youngsters.

In Tuesday night's show on NBC, Powell played an American gun-smuggler in Paris who sells his wares during the Algerian conflict to whichever side bids highest. But is he a bad guy? An abominable parasite? You bet not.

He is elegant, charming, debonair. He knows the best restaurants; what years offered the finest vintage wines. Beautiful women pursue him; he always has a bright remark at the ready. He owns a club; his henchman is a likeable fellow; and a police inspector knows that deep down our smuggler really has a heart of gold.

In an ending as inevitable as a sportscaster's bad grammar, Powell, smitten with an American tourist (Jane Powell), tells the inspector he had changed his mind and would not have sold the guns to either side even if police had not arrested him.

Powell is a smart producer. He has played this type of role endless times. He grew up in the movie business in the Bogart-Cagney-Edward G. Robinson era when glamorized gangsters were film heroes. And he knows there are countless persons who still are suckers for the same kind of character.

Watching Tuesday night's show, one could not help thinking that if Humphrey Bogart hadn't made "Casablanca" and Powell himself hadn't done his famous tough-guy role in "Murder, My Sweet," half the writers in Hollywood would be in a state of panic looking for plots.

"Casablanca" was especially in my mind. There was the night-club owner (Bogart), the inspector (Claude Rains) and the same friendly enemy relationship between them. There was also the inaccessible girl who wanted the hero (Ingrid Bergman) and a showdown scene at the airport.

Well, it's just a thought. Tuesday night's inspector, Akim Tamiroff, was amiable but unusually flat; and Bella Darvi was Powell's nightclub girlfriend. He semed to enjoy kissing her. In fact, their kisses were about the only intensely acted moments of the story.

Miss Powell played a girlish young lady and appeared at home in the part. Her idea of sex appeal was to raise an eyebrow, but at least she didn't sing. As for Powell, the host, he played his part with the assurance of a man who knows that although televiewers may watch "CBS Reports" when company is around, a good many of them probably flip on "Cheyenne" when they're in private.

Following the Powell show, NBC-TV Tuesday night presented "The Land," a study of changing American farm life, with Chet Huntley narrating.

Huntley brought home the plight of the fast-vanishing small farmer with unusual humanity by going to the people themselves rather than getting the routine series of dry interviews from politicians.

A sensitive camera caught the flavor of the midwestern countryside with the poignancy of a William Inge play. And Huntley, unlike many narrators, knows when to shut up and let the camera tell the obvious.

The Channel Swim: ABC-TV is going ahead with plans for a new Dorothy Provine series, "The Perils of Pauline," based on the old movie serial about a girl with hair-raising adventures. CBS-TV's "The Twentieth Century" was renewed.

NBC-TV will offer a one-hour special April 1 on Mrs. Jacqueline Kenedy's tour of India and Pakistan. CBS films will produce a 45-minute documentary for the Department of Defense on the history and objectives of communism.

Tad Mosel, author of the Pulitzer Prize winning play "All the Way Home," has written a one-hour drama, "That's Where the Town's Going," which CBS-TV will present April 17. Shirley Jones and Maureen O'Hara headline NBC-TV's "Telephone Hour" March 30.

Lenten Message

By The Rev. H. John Murchie
Pastor, First Baptist Church,
Woburn, Mass.
Written For
United Press International

The central message of Lent is the truth of the gospel, namely, the good news of the divine victory in the cross. God has overcome for man what man could not overcome for himself.

The victory of the cross opened new possibilities for mankind. Life became touched with forgiveness and healing. New life came into the old order of society. Every promise of life felt the force of fulfillment in the Christ who has out-lived the cross. The power and presence of that life is available for man.

We would like to have things different. We want a better world. We want the gifts of life for ourselves and loved ones. But it involves too much self-discipline! It means repentance and obedience and we are not ready for all that. It is easier to change our surroundings than it is to become a changed self.

But if the meaning of life is to come into clear focus during this season, the spirit of man must experience the spirit of Him who mastered the cross. Man needs to be disciplined, guided and made strong at the center of his being. If any man will humbly seek God with an open heart, Lent will bcome the spring-time of renewed life.

Westminster In Feature Contest

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Top-seeded Westminster (Pa.) squares off tonight against run-and-shoot Orange County (Calif.) State in the feature quarterfinal game of the 25th annual National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) basketball tournament.

Missing from the field, though, are six of the top 10 seeded teams in the tournament.

Westminster stayed in the running with an 82-65 victory over William Jewell (Mo.), while Orange State rolled up the biggest score in the tourney thus far, whipping Lewis and Clark (Ore.) 97-78.

Other games tonight pit Ferris (Mich.) Institute against Southeastern Oklahoma State, Carson-Newman (Ten.) against Western Illinois, and Arizona State aginst Prairie View (Tex.) A&M.

Ferris Institute advanced with a 66-60 win over fifth-seeded Pan American (Tex.), Southeastern Oklahoma slowed down fourth-seeded Winston-Salem (N.C.) Teachers' 87.5-point offense for a 59-50 upset victory, Carson-Newman (Tenn.) edged Peru (Neb.) State 67-65, Western Illinois routed 10th-seeded St. Cloud (Minn.) 85-68, Arizona State College of Flagstaff outscored sixth-seeded Savannah (Ga.) State 95-91, and Prairie View (Tex.) A&M won over Morris Harvey (W.Va.) 85-70 in other games Wednesday.

Only Westminster, Prairie View (No. 2), Western Illinois (No. 7), and Orange State (No. 9) remain from the top 10 seeded teams.

Ron Galbreath and Lou Skurcenski tallied 22 and 20 points, respectively, to lead Westminster to its triumph. The Pennsylvanians hit 48.7 per cent from the field and took advantage of 25 mechanical errors by William Jewell.

Edgar Clark turned in a brilliant exhibition of ball-handling and shooting in pacing Orange State to its second lopsided victory in a row. He scored 31 points and grabbed 15 rebounds to offset the losers' Jim Boutin, who had 20 points and 14 rebounds.

Coleman Carrodine, a 5-10 sophomore guard, pumped in 32 points in the Western Illinois win, while Toy Palmer had 29 in Ferris Institute's upset of Pan American.

Arizona State broke a 91-91 deadlock in the last 15 seconds on two free throws by Bill Boyd and a pair of charity tosses by Don Buttram. Buttram had 23 points, but Redell Walton of Savannah State scored 37—the most made by a player thus far in the tourney.

All-America Zelmo Beaty was held to 12 points, but his Prairie View teammates had little difficulty in subduing Morris Harvey. Game honors went to the losers' Dick O'Neal, with 23 points.

Carson-Newman, the tournament darkhorse which knocked off third-seeded Georgetown (Ky.) 75-51 in the first round, had its hands full with Peru State. Carson-Newman caught up with 20 seconds left in the game on a layup by Clark Bryan.

Sims Enters Two Horses In Event

John T. Sims, jr. of Pampa has entered two thoroughbred horses in one of two important horse races which will be held in Littleton, Colo. Jun 29 - Sept. 10 at the Centennial Race track.

Sims has named Salty Tang, a filly, by Easy Mon out of Roman Tack for the Silver Heels event. The race, designed exclusivly for fillies, has attracted some 93 entries.

Sims also named Easykin, a filly by Easy Mon out of Heart's Kin, for the five furlong event which will be run Aug. 8. A payment of $10 was needed to make both of these hopefuls eligible for the race.

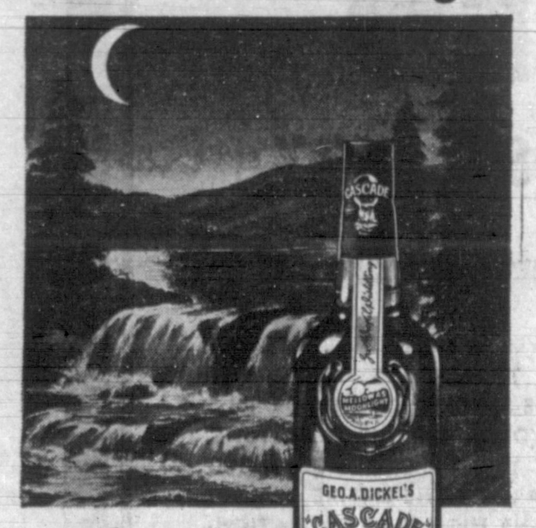

Centennial's stable area will open for the training of horses on April 15.

Beaty, Strickland In All-America Limelight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Zelmo Beaty of Prairie View A&M, rated a "can't miss" pro prospect, and high-scoring Roger Strickland of Jacksonville (Fla.) University were the outstanding choices on the 1961-62 United Press International small college All-America basketball team announced today.

The three other players honored were Charles Hardnett of Grambling (La.), Porter Merriwether of Tennessee State and Ron Galbreath of Westminster (Pa.), rated the nation's leading small college team.

This team was selected with the help of the 35 leading small college coaches who rated the teams each week for UPI.

Beaty, Prairie View's 6-foot-8 center, and Merriwether, a 6-foot-1 backcourt standout, each was chosen for the second year in a row.

This year's small college All-America is an exceptionally well-balanced unit. The 6-foot-5 Strickland leads the small college scorers with an average of 3.1 points per game. Beaty and Hardnett, both 6-foot-8, are excellent rebounders as well as high scorers, while Merriwether and Galbreath stand out as backcourt playmakers.

Beaty has averaged 25.2 points and 21 rebounds per game; Hardnett's scoring average is 22.9 points, he boasts a field goal shooting percentage of 58, and also has averaged 19.5 rebounds per game. Merriwether's scoring pace is 19 points a game and Galbreath's 17.2.

Gary Auten, 5-foot-9 Kentucky Wesleyan guard, was narrowly beaten out for a first team berth. He was named to the second team along with John Bradley of Lawrence Tech, Lindbreg Moody of South Carolina State, Tem Pearsall of Albright and Hans Albertson of Pacific Lutheran.

A third team was comprised of: Ed Spila of Southern Illinois; Bill Giessing of Southeast Missouri, Richie Swartz of Hofstra, Marvin Trottman of Elizabeth City and Bob Mahland of Williams.

Buff Coach Might Be Given Axe

BOULDER, Colo (UPI) — University of Colorado football Coach Everett (Sonny) Grandelius doggedly continued a recruiting foray into New Mexico today despite reports that he will be fired at a special meeting of the Board of Regents here Saturday.

Grandelius refused to comment on the reports.

"I'll be with the University of Colorado next year as far as I know," he said at Cortez, Colo., before traveling into northwest New Mexico to seek another high school star for Colorado.

Members of the Board of Regents contacted by United Press International were noncommittal about Grandelius' future, although a few admitted it had been discussed at a special meeting last week and would come up again Saturday.

The Rocky Mountain News of Denver said flatly Grandelius would be fired. The newspaper quoted an unidentified member of the board as saying the action was certain "as a Supreme Court decision."

Colorado's football recruiting methods have been the subject of scrutiny by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. It has been reported the school faces a stiff suspension by the NCAA at a meeting of the college organization next month.

Regent Philip A. Danielson of Denver said the NCAA charges are "serious" and added that he did not think the board should allow the "rumor, gossip and speculation" about them to continue.

"The board owes it to the school and the coach and everyone to take some action," he said. "I hope the university will live up to the NCAA code."

Grandelius, 32, came to Colorado in 1959. He guided the Golden Buffaloes to their first Big Eight Conference football championship in 1961. They followed that with an appearance in the Orange Bowl, where they lost to Louisiana State University, 25-7.

During his three seasons here, Grandelius' teams had 5-5-0, 6-4-0 and 9-1 seasons.

Grandelius was an assistant at Michigan State when he was tagged to succeed Dal Ward at Colorado. He had a brilliant playing career at Michigan State as a halfback.

Dodgers Might Garner Two Pennant Winners

United Press International

Manager Walt Alston says it's a lot of hokum but his Los Angeles Dodgers seem out to prove they have enough talent to win two pennants at once.

It's a form of riches not without embarrassment inasmuch as Alston is dedicated this spring to picking a stabilized lineup in contrast to the platoon system which failed to win a pennant in 1961.

But what can you do when your "fourth" outfielder is hitting .588 and your "A" team beats the Minnesota Twins, 7-5, while your "B" team is defeating the New York Mets, 9-3, on the same day?

The hottest of all the Dodgers is 22-year-old Willie Davis, whose three-run sixth-inning triple sparked Wednesday's victory over the Twins and who is belting away at a .588-clip. Tommy Davis also hit his second homer in as many days and rookie Larry Burright had three hits and made several fine defensive plays. In addition there was a three-inning, one-hit shutout performance by Johnny Podres.

That was at Vero Beach, Fla. Meanwhile, over at the St. Petersburg, Fla., ranch, the "B" team walloped six extra base hits including a homer over the centerfield fence by Ken McMullen to end the Mets' three-game winning streak. Capt. Duke Snider hit one of the B's three triples.

The two victories gave the Dodgers a 5-1 spring record during which they have amassed 44 runs. And the opposition has yet to score a run off Podres, Sandy Koufax or Don Drysdale, the "big three" of the Dodger staff.

Rookie Ray Washburn pitched one-hit ball for five innings to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers. The 23-year-old right-hander struck out five and walked only one behind a 12-hit attack that included a two-run homer and two singles by Bill White.

Jerry Kindall's 10th-inn[ing] homer snapped a 5-5 tie and [gave] Cleveland Indians went on to [beat] the Boston Red Sox, 7-5. Red [Sox] rookie Dalton Jones tripled to [ex]tend his hitting streak to f[ive] games.

The San Francisco Giants h[it] 21 hits, including homers by D[on] Phillips and Ed Bailey, to w[in] the Los Angeles Angels, 14-[5]. Catcher Bob Rodgers had a b[ril]liant day for the Angels with [two] homers, two singles and a doub[le].

George Alman drove in th[ree] runs with a double and t[wo] singles as the Chicago Cubs be[at] the Houston Colt 45s, 7-3, in [a] game marred by blustery win[ds] at Apache Junction, Ariz. D[on] Cardwell gave up one hit a[nd] one run in four innings to w[in] for the Cubs.

Homers by Chuck Cottier, B[ob] Johnson and Bob Schmidt pac[ed] the Washington Senators to a 12[-5] triumph over the Cincinnati Red[s]. John Gabler, rookie Carl Boul[ed] and Fred Green limited the N[a]tional League champions to fi[ve] hits.

Rookie Mike Hershberger [had] three hits and his third steal [of] the spring helped the Chicag[o] White Sox shade the Milwauke[e] Braves, 4-3. Don Clendenon hon[-] ered as the Pittsburgh Pirate[s] coasted to an 8-3 win over t[he] Philadelphia Phillies and Jac[k] Reed's 11th-inning homer, provi[ded] the world champion New Yo[rk] Yankees with a 4-3 victory ov[er] the Kansas City A's, stretchi[ng] their winning streak to fi[ve] games.

Providence Opens Defense Of Tourney Cage Title Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI)—Providence opens defense of its National Invitation Tournament basketball championship tonight against Temple with virtually the same team that won last year's title.

The Friars' first-round encounter with the shorter Owls will feature Jim Hadnot, Vinnie Ernst, George Zaluck and Ray Flynn. Only Johnny Egan is missing from last year's championship squad. Providence has a 20-5 record compared to 17-8 for Temple.

Dayton has reached the finals five times in 10 NIT appearances and the Flyers are slim two-point picks to go past the first round in this year's tournament.

In Saturday's first-round bracket, Holy Cross (19-5) and Jack Foley, the nation's second highest scorer, take on Colorado State of the Skyline Conference, while (Navy (13-7) tangles with the Ironmen of Duquesne (20-5).

On Saturday night, Houston meets the winner of the Dayton-Wichita game and Loyola of Illinois gets against the survivor of the Providence-Temple tussle.

Bradley, runner-up to NCAA defending champion Cincinnati in the Missouri Valley race, gets into action next Tuesday in a quarterfinal round against the winner of the Navy - Duquesne game. St. John's (19-4) meets the Holy Cross-Colorado State victor in the other half of a twin bill.

The semifinal set will be staged next Thursday with the finale being played Saturday, March 24.

FUTURE COUGERS

HOUSTON (UPI)—Ray Goehring, a 6-7 basketball center from Baytown high school, said Wednesday he would enroll at the University of Houston on a basketball scholarship next fall.

SNOW STORM

WACO, Tex. (UPI)—A heavy snow forced cancellation of Wednesday's spring football workout at Baylor University. Coach John Bridgers re-scheduled the drills for today, which had been planned as an off-day.

Wittenberg In Title Defense

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI)—Defending champion Wittenberg, conceded at least a 50-50 chance to repeat, opens defense of its NCAA college division basketball championship today against strong Mount St. Mary's of Maryland.

The game highlights quarterfinal action of the 6th annual tourney with five of the hopefuls new in the round of eight.

Wittenberg and Southeast Missouri, runnerup last year, were considered the teams to beat. The two can not meet until the title round Saturday night.

Southeast Missouri 18-6, meets Nebraska Wesleyan, 19-6, in the afternoon opener.

Rounding out quarter-final play tonight will be Southern Illinois, 19-9, against Northeastern of Boston, Mass., 17-7, and Sacramento State of California, 19-8, against Valpariso, Ind. 17-7.

Only Wittenberg, Southeast Missouri and Mount St. Mary's have played in the eight-team finals before.

Pampa Netmen Lose To Borger

Pampa's netmen put up a gallant fight Wednesday afternoon but faltered in the final set to lose out to Borger, 4-3.

Both teams had won three matches with one match to go. In the final match, Eugene Eads Pampa lost out to John Cooley 6-4, 2-6, 4-6 to give Borger the nod.

In boys doubles, Don Collins and Jerry Thomas, Pampa, teamed to down Neal Latman and Charles Cooley, 6-0, 6-0.

Charles Ashby won his singles match for Pampa, also winning over Marion Baxter, 6-2, 6-2. Bill Vandover, however lost his singles match to Baxter in straight sets, 4-6, 4-6.

In girls doubles, Donna Wals and Elaine Hawkins, Pampa, lost to Sandra Zimmerman and Peggy Hulsey, 6-0, 6-2.

Jerry Edmondson won over Barbara Newby, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4, in her singles match while sister Terry Edmondson was losing to Judy Jameson, 2-6, 2-6.

The charges of coach Roy Kieval travel to Spearman today for a dual meet at 3 p.m.

One Ref Cleared In Detector Test

DALLAS (UPI)—Southwest Conference basketball officials expected to receive by mail today the results of voluntary lie detector tests they took in connection with alleged game-fixing. One referee was given a clean bill Wednesday.

Homer Fuller, a Dallas-based official, told United Press International Wednesday night that he had received a notice about the lie detector test he took at Department of Public Safety headquarters in Austin.

Fuller's letter, sent to him by registered mail from Southwest Conference headquarters in Dallas, said his test "failed to disclose any responses that would indicate he was being untruthful concerning the matter on which he was being questioned."

Fuller's polygraph test was administered by Tom Barnes. Fuller said he was asked such questions as "did I know any gamblers, and had I ever placed bets."

Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the SWC, said the results had been mailed to each of the 21 officials who took the lie detector tests.

Ken Pryor said in Midland that "as long as there is no restriction placed on the disclosures by the conference or the DPS, I'll be happy to discuss the results I receive."

In Waco, Bill D. Johnson said, "I have no comment. All information will have to come from up there (Dallas). As far as I'm concerned, I'm awaiting further word from the (the conference)."

Also in Waco, Odell Preston said "I wouldn't feel free to say anything in advance. I wouldn't be at liberty to say anything until I have received the letter. I would want to talk to Mr. Curtis (Abb Curtis, head of conference officials) before I say anything. The last time I talked to Abb he said to make no comment and I'll just have to wait for instructions. I wouldn't want to do anything contrary to their policy up there."

Bobby Scott of Amarillo said "When I do get my clearance, I'll be glad to show it to anyone who wants to see it."

Many officials could not be reached for immediate comment.

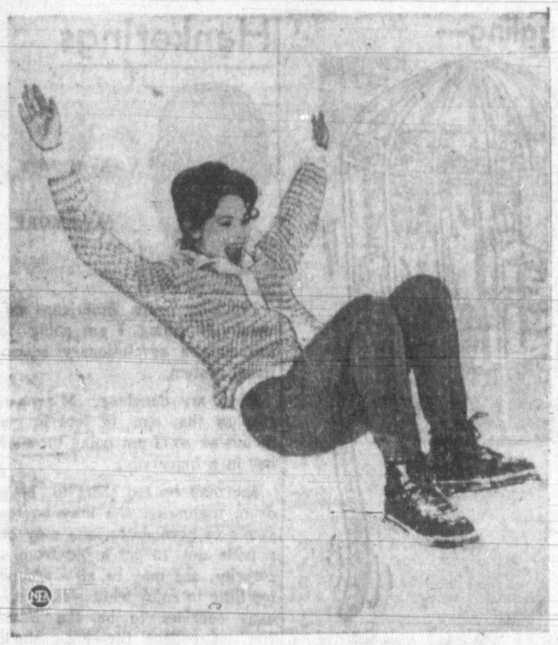

"These examinations," Grubbs said, "were given to each official on a voluntary and confidential basis at the request of each official who was given the examination."

Grubbs has never released the names of the officials. The conference office did by implication clear nine men who were named to officiate at the final games of the season March 6 after reports of alleged fixing became public.

These nine are Joe Shosid, Bo McAlister of Atoka, Okla., Shorty Lawson of Abilene, Tex., Percy Penn of Dallas, Peyton Shelton of Houston, Pryor of Midland, Tex., Scott and Steve Gergeni of Amarillo, and Don Watson of Austin.

The names of the other officials who worked one or more conference games during the season included Preston and Johnson of Waco, Charles Lutz of San Antonio, Joe Daisa of Bryan, Charles Yarchak and Tom Hamilton of Austin, Phil Trice of Lubbock, Gene Main of Temple, Roy Santzer of Port Arthur, Gene Hundley of Little Rock, and Carl McCullough, who recently was transferred by his employer from Oklahoma to Utah.

State officials at Austin said they will continue to investigate possible game-fixing. This was taken to indicate that results of the lie detector tests had not been conclusive.

Ridgway's Jumping Is Texas Highlight

LAREDO, Tex. (UPI) —A stringbean Australian, Colin Ridgway, has jolted the attention of speed - loving southwestern track fans back to the honored art of high jumping.

Ridgway leaped 7 feet ½ inch in the 30th Border Olympics giving southwesterners the first jump they can really gloat about since Texas A&M's Walt Davis cleared 6 11¾ at Dayton, Ohio in 1953, a world's record at the time.

Ridgway's jump was the best ever recorded by a Texas collegian in a Lone Star state meet, replacing the 6 10¾ Southern Methodist's Don Stewart made in 1957. The jump was also the best so far this year in the United States.

The 6-4 Ridgway, who is a sophomore at Lamar Tech in Beaumont, Tex., made two tries at 7 1½ after his record jump in the Border Olympics and then quit.

"It was anti-climactic," he said. "I already had what I've always wanted."

Ridgway was a 16-year-old protege in the 1956 World Olympics, winning sixth place with a jump of 6-10.

"I thought seven feet was just around the corner, but I could never get there," the 190-pounder said.

His performance in the 1960 World Olympics had some track observers thinking he was washed up. Ridgway didn't even place in the Rome meet.

Oklahoma State's Ralph Higgins had other ideas about the lanky native of Melbourne.

He began talking to Ridgway about attending college in the United States, and the young Aussie finally agreed.

Ridgway was not eligible to compete in the Big Eight, Oklahoma State's conference, so Higgins recommended him to Ty Terrell, coach at Lamar Tech.

"I knew he could jump well," Terrell said, "but I didn't think he could do that well (seven feet). You don't even think about things like that."

Terrell believes Ridgway, who is 23, is jumping better for two reasons.

"He had uninterrupted practice during the fall, and has worked hard on running and weights," Terrell said. "He is a lot stronger this year."

"Second, he is running from a shorter distance and he isn't approaching the bar at such a angle...he is jumping down the bar instead of across," the coach said.

Ridgway also believes the change in approach has put a real kangaroo kick into his jump.

"It gives me more time to rotate over the bar," the dark-eyed Australian said. "If coach Terrell hadn't changed my approach, I know I wouldn't have come close to that record."

The new approach pushes Ridgway into sub-orbital flight from a 45 degree angle.

Canada Seeking To Extend Laurels In Figure Skating

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UPI) —Canada was seeking to extend its laurels in the world figure skating championships after Wednesday's triumph in the pairs competition by Maria and Otto Jelinck of Bronte, Ontario.

Donald Jackson of Canada, trailing Karol Divin of Czechoslovakia in the men's championships, was favored to overhaul Divin in the two free figure skating maneuvers which wind up the men's championship Friday night.

The Jelineks, a brother and sister combination, captured their first world title in their native country with a flawless performance.

Second to the Jelineks was the Russian husband and wife team of Ludmilla and Oleg Protopopov.

The West German pair of Margot Goebl and Franz Ningel came back from their recent flop at the European championships in Geneva to earn a third-place finish.

The two Americans in this year's meet, Monty Hoyt of Denver and Scott Allen of New York, were 6th and 12th, respectively, after the first four of the six compulsory figures.

Week after week carefully tabulated figures published in "Automotive Market Reports" show that Chevrolet trucks are worth more in resale value.*

why?

If you were a professional used truck buyer, why would you pay more for one make than another?

There may be several reasons, but among them would be:

1. A greater demand for the product
2. A more desirable product for resale

So if used Chevrolet trucks consistently bring higher prices at auctions all over the country, it means that their quality features pay off for you not only as long as you own them but also when you are ready to trade them—double-wall cabs, doors and side panels, roof insulation, select wood floors, reliable and economical engines, real rugged tailgates, a suspension system that helps prolong truck life.

See your Chevrolet dealer for a quality '62 Chevrolet Jobmaster truck.

*"Automotive Market Reports" is a weekly authoritative wholesale publication which reports the average prices paid for used trucks and cars by professional buyers at auctions all over the U.S.

See your Chevrolet dealer for trucks that keep working and working and working and working!

Ibañez' unforgettable story sweeping you from the broad pampas of the Argentine to the boulevards of Paris, telling of Julio, with his fast cars and sleek women, of Marguerite, who tried to divide her love, and of Marcelo, who ran from one war to be caught by another. Telling of Madariaga, who built a Paradise and of Karl, who destroyed it, of Etienne, who knew the depths of man's depravity and Chi-Chi, who believed only in man's good. AN INDEPENDANT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandmants, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities in harmony with the above moral principles.

Shameful Performance

He could have been Smilin' Jack, the All - American Boy, who talked sassy to the Russians, and everybody in the country, excepting ADAers around the White House, would have raised the roof with their howls of approval.

Instead, once again our President, in his speech a week ago last Friday night, was Jack on Caroline's bicycle — not Jack on a horse.

What a boring and embarrassing performance for a nation whose patience has been sorely tried by Mr. Kennedy's fear of world opinion, his lack of firmness with the Russians, his procrastination in all matters except domestic politics.

Why did the nation have to be subjected to that long, boring, shameful speech, designed not for our ears, but for World Opinion, which together with the Russians, seems to be making US policy.

World opinion respects strength, firmness, independence. It responds with derision, as is only natural, for a strong and powerful nation that cries like a pulling and cowardly youth to be understood, to be loved, to merit friendship.

If the Russians agree to the US plan for ending nuclear testing, the US tests won't take place, suggests Mr. Kennedy. If the President were prepared to back up those words, as the people are, perhaps there would be no harm in them. But this is a dangerous statement for a man who is so sensitive to World Opinion as is Mr. Kennedy.

The Russians have three possible responses. They may now begin more tests of their own, claiming that the US announcement of plans to resume testing has made it necessary. And they may fill the air so full of radioactivity that when the end of April rolls around, World Opinion may then really be meaningful. After Russian propaganda has convinced the world that any more testing would create so much radioactivity as to be deadly, the whole world would be hysterically opposed to the US tests.

Or the Russians may string us along again, working up to near agreement, then backing off. If near the end of April, it appears that an agreement between the major powers to end nuclear testing, and providing for the inspection that the US insists on, is all but signed, would Mr. Kennedy go ahead with the US experiments or would he delay, still believing that the Soviet government can act in good faith? On his past record, there is nothing to indicate that Mr. Kennedy would display the firmness required in such a situation —the firmness to give the signal for the US tests to proceed on schedule.

Or the Soviet government could actually sign an agreement to end testing and to destroy nuclear weapons — anything anybody wants. Would it mean anything? Could anybody trust them to keep the pact?

Once again J. F. Kennedy let his country down. When the people wanted him to say, 'We are resuming tests, and to hell with anybody who doesn't like it!' he chose instead to apologize, to beg and to plead. It was shameful.

Communism & Democracy

We have an impassioned plea from a reader who is afraid to sign his name. He wants us to talk about communism, which he detests. And he fears some kind of physical reprisal if he signs his name. But he counsels us to have courage and to write about communism, evn tho he is so fearful of it that he won't identify himself.

We have written extensively concerning communism for years. And it so happens that we have at hand an item which is of importance and which relates to this same subject.

On Thursday, February 15, Gus Hall, secretary general of the U.S. Communist Party, appeared at Stanford University in California and delivered a lecture on the subject of communism. About 1,500 students and faculty members turned out, applauded politely and laughed occasionally.

The message of Gus Hall was essentially the message we have included in these pages for a very long time. It is this. The eventual Communist revolution that will bring the United States into line with socialist countries thruout the world "can be achieved within the framework of this country's existing democratic institutions."

Hall went on to say that the advent of communism in the United States "need not mean the death of such institutions as the Constitution, or the two-party system.

"The path of communism cannot be blueprinted in advance. But the American brand of communism undoubtedly will reflect this country's long experience with democracy.

"There is no doubt that U. S. communism will be stamped 'made in the U.S.A.' and not 'made in Russia' or anywhere else."

Why did Gus Hall make such statements? Was he seeking to frighten us?

Actually, he was stating no more than the truth. We are well on our way toward the adoption of a form of "made in U.S.A." socialism. And, tho our movement in this direction has not been aired by the violence of an overthrow of government, which is the classical pattern outlined by Marx, Lenin and others, nonetheless it follows the Communist pattern in its adherence to "democratic" methodology.

To understand communism, it is essential to grasp the single significant item of all Communist writings. A Communist is merely a socialist who sees in government the tool for the establishment of an economic system which will favor socialist ideas. The Communists, as Marx stated in the Communist Manifesto, seek to "win the battle of democracy."

Many people who oppose communism see it as a religious, a racial, a social or a political movement. But such people oppose communism only on the periphery. At its core, communism is an idea relating exclusively to economics.

This also was revealed by Gus Hall.

"A Communist revolution in the United States is inevitable because capitalism can't solve the problems facing the world today. Despite a tremendous upsurge of production brought about by automation, the United States finds itself with five million unemployed workers.

"Capitalism's only answer to unemployment is to shorten the working day. But this is only a temporary solution that will breed discontent and social unrest."

Then he went on to point out examples of governmental subsidy of industry as being "indicative of the illness that besets capitalism.

"If the public is going to have to annually subsidize railroads and airlines, then it seems logical to me that the public should have outright ownership of such industries."

This is the core of all socialism. It is the core of communism, which is merely socialism. Communism seeks to do away with capitalism in the sense that it has been developed in this country. That is to say, it seeks to do away with the private ownership and the private management of the means of production and distribution.

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. HAROLD T. HYMAN

BODY'S REACTION TO DANGER IS AN AMAZING MECHANISM

What is called the "alarm reaction" in medicine is a result of an outpouring of an internal glandular secreation called epinephrine. And epinephrine is identical in its actions with the drug we know as Adrenalin.

Now an outpouring of epinephrine and a shot of Adrenalin result in the following: A quickened pulse rate, rate, elevation of blood pressure, faster and deeper breathing, tensing of muscles even to the point of having fists clench and fingers quiver, hair up on end, face deathly pale or deeply flushed, elevation of blood sugar so as to have an emergency ration of fuel at hand, speedier clotting time to minimize blood loss in case of a wound and enormous increase in white blood cell population to provide first-aid at "field casualty stations."

And the overall picture is preparation for an emergency. Just as a nation mobilizes for war, this is a truly pushbutton mobilization by tissues that "learned" to mobilization by tissues that "learned" to mobilize centuries before the idea of a "pushbuton war" was thought of.

Up to this point, we have a fair understanding of the "alarm reaction." Both in health and disease, in individuals and in nations.

But what happens beyond this point? Why does the rabbit "freeze"? The mouse turn and run? Or the rhinoceros charge?

Why do some of us stand transfixed? Others take to our heels? Still others start banging away without thought to odds or consequences? Why do some of us go to pieces? Fall in a faint? Have a "nervous breakdown"? Break out in hives? Develop an attack of asthma? Or rise to the occasion and perform heroic feats of which we never thought ourselves capable?

I don't suppose anyone knows the answers to these questions. Certainly they are beyond my understanding.

But this I think I do know. We respond more efficiently and more courageously when we've been prepared to respond. Maybe by seeing our parents or a companion rise to an occasion. Maybe by reading a book such as our president's "Profiles in Courage." Maybe by studying the life of a heroic man or woman whom we have learned to admire.

All of which brings me the long way around to a point on which I've dwelled before. Namely the well-intended but long - range folly of bringing up children too protectively. Of trying to shield them from the unpleasantnesses and hardships of life. Of determining that they'll be spared the knocks and bruises we had to take in our upbringing. Of treating them "hermetically" while they're young, on the theory that there'll be time enough later for them to find out that they are in a biologic battle for survival almost every day of their lives.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, March 15, the 74th day of the year with 291 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Saturn.

There is no evening star.

On this day in history:

In 1767, Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the United States, was born.

In 1916, Gen. John J. Pershing was ordered to proceed into Mexico with 12,000 soldiers to capture Pancho Villa, a Mexican revolutionary leader.

In 1953, Premier Malenkov of Russia, Joseph Stalin's successor, said that international disputes could be settled by "peaceful means."

In 1960, five Soviet bloc nations and five Western nations started disarmament talks at Geneva.

For a copy of Dr. Hyman's leaflet "How to Choose Your Family Doctor," send 10 cents to Dr. Hyman, care of The Pampa Daily, Box 489, Dept. B, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

This is why we must insist that communism or socialism are ECONOMIC in character. The sooner we stop chasing illusions respecting communism and get down to the bed-rock of economics, the sooner we will come to grips with the enemy.

West's Disarmament Strategy Disastrously Wrong On Khrushchev's Aims, French Insist in Holdout

WASHINGTON — The U. S.-French split goes much deeper than this issue over whether the West should undertake disarmament negotiations with Russia this week.

The dark heart of the division goes to the evaluation of the "intentions" of Soviet Premier Khrushchev in proposing a non-aggression pact between the Warsaw Pact nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

President Kennedy and Ambassador Charles "Chip" Bohlen, his chief adviser on the Soviet Union, hold that Khrushchev, unlike Stalin, is being guided by "nationalist" intentions and not the interests of "international Communism" in pushing the treaty at this time.

President de Gaulle and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville violently dispute thus viewpoint, contending that any East-West negotiations based on this premise will lead to Western appeasement and eventual disaster.

They vigorously argue that the non-aggression proposal, including the removal of all nuclear weapons from East and West Germany, is designed to promote and consolidate the "international Communist movement" in the heart of Europe and there is nothing "nationalist" about these objectives.

The Khrushchv proposal, they contend, must be treated by the West as part of the over - all strategy of the Kremlin to dominate the world, and not as any Soviet tactic to protect its European border.

MAKING IT CLEAR — Until this new premise is adopted as the basis for negotiations, de Gaulle will not permit France to take part in any East-West talks at foreign ministers level or above.

This diplomatic position was made clear by De Murville in an unpublicized meeting with Ambasador Bohlen. The U.S. expert on Russia was sent to Paris recently to try to convince De Murville that Khrushchev's main objective in proposing the treaty was "nationalist" and the West should consider it as a basis for negotiations.

As reported in this column on February 23, Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko proposed the non-aggression pact in his secret Moscow talks with U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson earlier in February.

After quietly listening to the Kennedy Administration's analysis of the Khrushchev proposal, De Murville rocked Bohlen by replying:

"President de Gaulle would like to have your government present those arguments in public. He would not only denounce them but would laugh at you for making them.

"Anyone who contends Khrushchev is guided by 'nationalist' intentions does not understand the international Communist conspiracy or what makes Khrushchev tick.

"President de Gaulle believes that negotiations with Russia on that premise would lead to appeasement and the abandonment of Eastern Europe to the Communists. This he will never agree to. He will not permit me or any other foreign minister to attend a meeting as long as the Western position is based on that faulty premise."

ODD MAN OUT — President de Gaulle's "odd man out" role in Western alliance matters is now one of President Kennedy's chief international concerns.

He believes that after France has achieved an Algerian solution, de Gaulle will be an even more prickly ally than before.

In a meeting with his congresional leaders, the President confided that the 71-year-old de Gaulle is not planning to retire and leave affairs of state in the hands of younger, more cooperative men, as some reports have indicated.

"Far from longing for retirement," the President said, "it is our information that de Gaulle is planning enough major projects for France to keep him busy at least until his term as President runs out at the end of 1965."

The President pointed out that some of these projects will provide headaches for the NATO alliance, stating:

"With Algeria settled, de Gaulle will be a more difficult ally because he will be able to concentrate more of his time and energy on bringing these projects to fruition.

"He is bent on developing his own nuclear deterrent force and has set 1963 to have ready the first operational units of the French atomic force. This could hamper the development of any NATO-controlled nuclear force."

De Gaulle, who is highly regarded among the congressional leaders, is said to have sent word to President Kennedy that the American argument that an independent French nuclear force would create the danger of a further spread of such weapons is just an excuse, hatched up by Secretary of State Rusk and Bohlen, to frustrate France.

He warned that French-American relations would remain strained so long as the U.S. opposes France's nuclear ambitions.

FRIENDS AGAIN — General Douglas MacArthur has mellowed with the years in his views toward former President Harry S. Truman, who recalled him from Korea in 1951. The "old soldier" recently told a visitor: "Truman made some of the greatest decisions ever made by an American President. Of course, those were before he fired me." . . . Attorney General Robert Kennedy has recommended to President Kennedy that he order U.S. ambassadors to spend more time outside their embassies, making personal appearances and speeches in the countries they represent. He also wants more U.S. officials to make trips overseas to "sell" the U.S.

matter of Fact

No one seems to know when and where the custom of women wooing men during leap year originated, but in 1288 in Scotland a law was enacted giving women the right to do so. Not only could the woman propose but also the man had to accept or pay a fine or even be punished. The only escape was proof that he had a wife already.

Hankerings

By HENRY McLEMORE

Providing some American university is willing, I am going to introduce a revolutionary educational system.

When my daughter, Megan, reaches the age of four in a month or so, I am going to enter her in a university.

She may be too short to be a drum majorette, she may be too young to have dates, she may be a trifle tiny to get a bid from a sorority, she may be all - around too little to enjoy what we Americans consider to be the "benefits" of college life—but she'll learn.

Any man who has ever had a child knows that the child is much smarter than he ever was when he was a child. A child's mind is nothing but a blotting paper in rompers. A child remembers everything. Please allow me to repeat, in capitals, EVERYTHING.

Everything you tell a little child flies into its ears (if I may be technical) and hits its brain like a sculptor's chisel on marble.

The information cuts deep and stays. Memory for a child is an effortless process. I have owned Megan for nearly four years and I will swear to you that she has forgotten nothing that she has heard, seen or been old. Many times this faultless memory is embarrassing.

The average American girl or boy goes to college when he or she is about 18. It is my inexpert medical observation that at that age the brain is already falling apart. I remember my own college days. How hard it was to remember! How difficult it was to keep 1066 separated from 1492. Megan would have no such trouble at four. 1066 would mean Hastings to her and 1492 would mean — well, just to show you, I don't remember.

To get serious for a moment. It is ridiculous to expect a four-year-old child, with the mind he or she has, to be satisfied with the idiotic, simple, unimaginative instruction given to American children in nurseries today. It bores them as completely as a Wagnerian opera bores most of their parents. So I'm sending Meban to college at four. I hope to get half-tuition because she does not need quite as much as an 18-year-old boy or girl.

I just want her to sit in the back of the lecture halls and listen. What she hears she will remember, be it physics, social hygiene, poultry care, or astronomy. I am perfectly willing to risk having a five - year -old daughter smarter than I am. I am fortified by the fact that she already is.

I lay no claims to having a smarter daughter than anyone else. I think she is average and I am very happy that she is. But since becoming a father I have seen enough of little children to know that the way we teach them, and launch them on an education, belongs to centuries past.

Will any university interested in enrolling a four-year-old girl, moderately well - behaved, send me a prospectus? Also the cost of an adjoining double room next to Megan's in the dormitory, because her mother and I would not consider being separated from her.

Indignant Young Texan Visits Capitol Hill

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One of the right-wing movements right out of Texas came to Washington in the person of Frank McGehee, 33-year-old, 100-mission Korean war jet fighter pilot who started the National Indignation Conventions last October.

Purpose of McGehee's visit to Washington, his first foray into the East — was to be present when Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex., and other congressmen introduced a concurrent resolution to prohibit U.S training of enemy military personnel and aiding Communist nations. This McGehee-sponsored resolution makes four demands:

1. No U.S. funds shall be appropriated for training any military personnel from any Communist country.

2. Send home any such personnel now receiving training.

3. Stop the transfer of all American planes and other war materials to any Communist country.

4. Remove from office any U.S. official found guilty of violating these restrictions.

While here Mr. McGehee held a Washington's birthday Indignation Convention in Arlington, just across the Potomac. This was merely a warm-up.

Next May, McGehee and his followers are planning to hold a National Indignation Convention in Washington's big DAR Constitution Hall. It will begin at 7 p.m. on May 29 and run nonstop to midnight May 30. "We want to get people from all over the United States to find out that their capital belongs to them," says McGehee. "We want to bolster the dignity of government officials and give them the moral support they need to fight communism. If they don't, they'll be brought home next November to stay."

Frank McGehee is interesting as a symptom, or as a symbol of many people in the United States who believe that their government is soft on communism. He is a lone cowboy. He does not favor an alliance of right-wing groups such as the Rev. Billy James Hargis, director of the Christian Crusade of Tulsa, Okla., wants to put together in a Washington rally on March 18.

The thing that got McGehee so indignant in the first place was his discovery that there were four Yugoslav pilots and five mechanics in training at Perrin Air Force Base, Tex.

He says four Yugoslav pilots were later trained at Lowry Air Force Base, Denver. Eight jet transport mechanics were trained at an Eastern Air Lines maintenance base in Miami till the unions threatened a strike. From 5 to 15 Yugoslavs received training at U.S. atomic centers, says McGehee.

He has no knowledge of any from other countries or of how much military assistance the United States has given Red countries.

McGehee says Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy and the State Department under both of them have tried to explain this away, "but the people won't buy it. Nobody in America wants communism or socialism. When Christian men and women decide atheistic communism is wrong, it will be stopped. The American people are on the move. The target is to defeat communism.

"This is a crusade and God help the man that stands in its way. Not that there will be physical violence. We are not running an extra-governmental organization. We are merely exercising our rights of free assembly and free speech."

McGehee has organized his crusade to this end. He has sent questionnaires to all 537 congressmen. So far he has received replies backing his position from only 89. Other convention groups in other congressional districts are taking it from there. Any Congressmen who don't respond will be opposed for re-election.

McGehee has no real national organization, he says. No dues, no headquarters, no publication or other literature.

Every one of the 100-odd local conventions that have been held so far in 30 states has been autonomous. McGehee is simply Dallas chairman. Every one of his supporters is a chairman — there are no members — and his duty is to solicit signatures for petitions on the four points of the resolution now before Congress. McGehee claims there are a half-million signatures on his petitions now. Supporters have volunteered $35,000 in Dallas. McGehee says he has no information on the financing of other conventions in other cities.

Frank McGehee is a strapping big Texan, over six feet tall and weighing close to 200 pounds. He resigned from the Air Force to go to law school.

To finance their legal education, he and two partners started an auto maintenance center in Dallas.

But they got so interested in the indignation conventions that they quit law school and neglected their business, which they're trying to save.

McGehee is married and the father of five children.

Editor:

Although I am not a resident of your City, I wonder if you would permit me to voice an opinion concerning the publicized disagreements of your City officials and some of your citizens. All of which I know nothing about. Just what I have heard on radio, television and read in the newspaper.

With all the major problems confronting our Nation today, and they are many. Including the threat of communist infestation knocking loudly at our door. We should work together, cling together in our small way to strengthen the defense of our Nation and community. In so doing we would become stronger, to force retreat of any power which might threaten our security and freedom.

When we start fighting among ourselves, blasting out at our friends and neighbors, we are falling into the category of a weak, susceptible people. Easy prey for our communist invaders. This is what they want, division among our people.

I firmly believe in fighting for what one believes to be right. I also think that disagreements can be worked out in an orderly manner. If parties concerned are willing to meet at a half way point.

We have progressed far, since the time long ago when the path of the calf made through the primeval forest became the main street of a village. And eventually the leading thoroughfare of the City. From this in all directions grew the town.

Today we entrust the welfare and planning of our Cities to competent, intelligent persons who work together for the betterment of a community. For the development and progress of a City which will attract people, business and industry.

Unity we must have, in our Cities, in our Country if we are to survive.

Have you ever tried the match test? Let a large group of people enter a darkened room, then one by one light a match. At first with only a few matches burning, theres hardly any light. But then as they keep lighting the matches, soon the room is flooded with light. The darkness is gone. A small illustration, with a world of meaning.

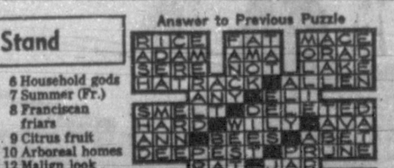

Never let our Cities, small communities, State and Nation become comparable to a primeval forest.

"United we stand, divided we fall."

$25 REWARD!

For return of metal tool lost on highway 273 between Lefors and Pampa, Texas on February 25th, 1962, a radium test source. It is about 5 feet long and consists of 2 metal bars hinged in the middle, with a vise grip plier clamp on one end and a small lead cylinder, 1 3-8" in diameter by 3 7-8" in length, contains about $5 worth of radium. Radiation from the source at 36" is about the same as that from an average radium-dial wrist watch at one inch. Keep at least one foot from people. Do not handle unnecessarily. CALL COLLECT — Schlumberger Well Surveying Corp., Pampa, Texas, telephone number MO 5-5791.

SWAMP SESSION—In one of the most unusual classrooms in the Army, a Ranger instructor uses a flooded swamp to conduct a lecture on survival and military operations in swamp and jungle areas. The scene is the Florida Ranger Camp. Since the Rangers no longer operate in groups, soldiers completing the nine-week course, which includes mountain survival and tactical training, are integrated into other Army combat units.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

If any one department were to be selected as a symbol of Communist failure, then agriculture would have to be a foremost candidate.

Agricultural shortcomings in the Soviet Union have pre - occupied Nikita Khrushchev since last November.

In the Soviet Union, private enterprise among the peasants continues to confound the economic planners by producing the bulk of Soviet eggs, milk, poultry and a large proportion of its meat supply.

Totally collectivized East Germany, once the larder of the whole of Germany, cannot produce enough to feed itself. Poland's farmers, enjoying more latitude than most within the Communist empire, have demonstrated indisputably that they value private ownership of a horse above communal partnership in a tractor.

Hungary, once a food exporting nation, is in just as bad agricultural shape as East Germany.

In 1958, as part of the "great leap forward," Red China began jamming 500 million people into 10,000 giant communes. Private enterprise, as well as family life, was to disappear in an overnight lunge toward the perfect Communist state.

Even as dedicated a Communist as Khrushchev ridiculed the idea, and thus perhaps for the first time disclosed the now widely advertised rift with Red Chinese Leader Mao Tse-tung.

But even the determined Chinese have been forced to make accomodations.

The communes have not been abandoned, nor are they likely to be during the lifetime of Mao.

But the old backward steel furnaces and other home industries which were to provide the communes with much of their own equipment, long since have disappeared.

More recently, many communal dining halls, nurseries and other facilities have been closed or used only part of the time.

A Swiss professor who visited Red China in 1961, wrote:

"The party's instructions. . .encourage rural fairs where the peasants sell the product of their individual work — vegetables, fruits, poultry, eggs, sometimes a pig, more rarely a cow."

Not for the world would the communists consider this a concession to capitalism. Instead it is an "adjustment" to bring "into still fuller play the enthusiasm of the commune members in production" and "mobilize the whole party and the whole nation to support agriculture."

NEW YORK (UPI)—The general market still is in a testing period and investors remain cautious pending solution to some of the principal uncertainties and the eventual introduction of an important market stimulus says Kenneth Ward of Hayden Stone & Co.

Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co. puts much stock in the rise of the Barron's Confidence Index last week to a nine-month high.

Thomson & McKinnon says continuing favorable business news — although not at the rate predicted — still points to the possibility of a traditional spring stock market rise.

James Dines of A.M. Kidder & Co. says his expectation of a dull mixed market, within .2 per cent of the 730 level in the D-J industrial averages unfortunately come true, and he does not see much prospect of a change through the rest of March.

Death rate from accidents in the United States is about 85 per 100,000 or seven times the toll taken by pneumonia and tuberculosis.
