ROUGHTEST SEA OF ALL TIMES REPORT GIVEN

WEAK AND UNDERNOURISHED MEN MAKE THEIR REPORT

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS United Press Staff Correspondent QUEENSTOWN, Jan. 30.—The rescue ship President Roosevelt came into Cork harbor to-night out of a storm wrecked sea, bearing 25 men of the wrecked 'Antonie' who as they put in, "had been through hell."

Cheers from out the dark greeted them. It was their first link with land after a battle with the seas such as none ever hoped again to witness, and it was typical of a nation feeling of gratitude and admiration for the glorious adventure of Captain Fried and his men.

CAL OFFICER RECEIVES REWARD

The Retail Merchants' Association has a twenty-five dollar reward for the arrest and conviction of a person giving a "cold" or "hot" check to a member of the police. The rewards are included in the amount of the fine. Friday afternoon a reward was paid to Constable M. F. Cline January 29 for giving cold checks to Hodges and P. A. Brown, members of the association. Cline was arrested and convicted for giving the cold checks. The fine totaled thirteen dollars, which he paid in addition to a fine of $28.30 and other costs. This makes an additional reward of approximately $33.00 in honor to the amount of the reward.

The Retail Merchants' Association making a strong fight to stamp out the cold check evil here, and has been filing complaints and prosecuting cold check cases.

Anyone giving a worthless check will be prosecuted regardless of his standing with the merchants unless a check be given through mistake and properly taken care of when filed to the attention of the customer.

In addition to posters placed in the stores of all merchants who are members of the Retail Merchants' Association, six large billboards have been placed at the highway entrances of Lubbock, which gives the law officers due notice. Regarding the warnings and prosecutions, it is expected that the cold check evil will be stamped out by the association.

neck and passing through Starnes' hat.

Other officers arrived in the police car and took refuge behind the ambulance. As Ernest, one of the ambulance drivers, peered over the top of the ambulance he was struck on the hand by a shot from the house.

An ambulance was backed up to the spot where Franklin's body was lying and screening themselves from the house, the officers placed the detective's body in the ambulance and the car sped away.

John Hollingsworth was also taken to the hospital. A general riot call was turned in to the police station and every available officer was dispatched to the scene. Sheriff Owen and his deputies also went to the scene.

Many shots were exchanged back and forth in the darkness while railroad flares were thrown in the windows.

Everything was quiet in the house for some time, and officers then crept up close and peered in the windows. Taking a chance that Hollingsworth was out of ammunition, several hundred men stormed the house and captured the boy alive.

Bledsoe Funeral Will Be Held At Estacado Today

Funeral services for W. E. Bledsoe, who died at the family home at Becton Friday, will be conducted this afternoon at Estacado according to announcement made yesterday after all relatives who will attend were heard from.

Deceased came to the plains more than thirty years ago, since which time he has been active in the development of this section of west Texas, his most recent work being the drilling of a test well for oil near Abernathy, which created a great deal of attention because of the confidence he exhibited in the mineral possibilities of that vicinity. Since that time Mr. Bledsoe has done a great deal of business in other oil fields of Texas, and was known throughout the state for his operations in that business.

The deceased was 64 years, one month and four days of age, and is survived by his wife, six sons and two daughters, as follows: Robert of Friona, Texas; Frank, Abernathy; Ed of near Roswell, N. M.; Jim, Friona, and Carl and Henry of Denver, Colo.; Mrs. W. A. Jones of Lubbock and Mrs. John Jones of Abernathy.

Guy Hufstetler, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hufstetler and Mrs. A. W. Kaufman have just returned to their homes here after a short vacation visit to San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Kingsville. Rain and snow made some of the roads over which they traveled all but impassable; however the trip was withal an enjoyable one.

Y. Partaine of Greenville, Texas, who recently visited at the home of Attorney J. C. Levens here, has moved his family to Lubbock and will be engaged in business. Mr. Partaine is an experienced grain dealer.

VOTERS SLOW ABOUT PAYMENT OF TAXES

When the books of the county tax collector's office were closed at midnight Saturday between 5,500 and 7,000 poll taxes had been paid, according to a report made to the Avalanche by the collector, I. F. Holland.

It was impossible for Mr. Holland to state definitely how many poll taxes had been paid. However, his report will be completed early this week when the definite number will be given.

The line of enthusiastic "last chance" poll tax payers all but filled the lobby of the court house throughout yesterday, with Collector Holland and the several clerks employed in his office making feverish haste in taking care of the tax payers.

The office of the city tax collector was also rushed throughout Saturday, and a check on the records

Prisoners Will Be Entertained Says Sheriff

By United Press
OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 30.—Prisoners in Douglas county jail hereafter will be entertained with orchestra concerts, lectures and moving pictures, Sheriff Mike Endres announced tonight.

This innovation was suggested by Dr. Victor E. Levine, of Creighton University, who recently spent a week in jail to study conditions at first hand.

Sheriff Endres agreed to the suggestion and is making alterations in the jail dining room, making it larger so that all prisoners can be seated in the lecture hall.

W. E. Cope of Abilene was a business visitor to Lubbock yesterday.

Captain and Three Members of Crew Were Picked Up

By United Press
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 30.—The captain and three members of the crew of the schooner "Tifton" were picked up in the storm swept Atlantic ocean today by the steamer America, according to a wireless message to the Rainbow Pier Station.

The rest of the crew, who abandoned the vessel which was wrecked by the giant waves, were drifting helplessly in lifeboats at the mercy of the high seas, the message said. The steamer America also picked up the crew of the wrecked tug Endurance.

Officials Are Investigating Dust Explosion

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 30.—The officials investigating the dust explosion in the Mosbore mines of a Premier Coal Company, which resulted in the death of 27 workers, tonight announced that a "windy" shot was responsible for the blast. A "windy" shot, it was explained, was caused by a misfire of black powder, the charge blowing backward instead of forward, killing all those in Nos. 5 and 6 entries. They were quitting work for the day.

So great was the force of the explosion that a mine was found on top of an empty coal car, forty feet from its post.

Faculty Represented in Who's Who

In the latest edition of "Who's Who in America," the faculty of the college receives a good representation. This book is a catalog of the great men of the nation. It gives in brief, crisp, personal sketches of the most notable living Americans in all parts of the world—the men and women whose position makes them of general interest. Several thousand names are listed in the book and the Tech is indeed fortunate in having such individuals among its faculty. The following members of the Tech faculty are mentioned in the 1924-25 Who's Who in America: President Paul W. Horn, Dr. John C. Granberry, Dean J. M. Gordon and Miss Elizabeth H. West.

Open Forum for Lubbock Discussed

During the past week a great deal of interest has been manifested in the college over the possibility of an open forum for Lubbock. Most of this comes from the sociology class under Dr. Granberry. The pen forum is a meeting held by the citizens of a city for the purpose of holding discussions on public questions without causing so much sentiment and fire among them.

The students of this class have shown unusual interest in the question and have been debating whether Lubbock is large enough for such an organization. Dallas has an open forum and many things result from it. It is hoped that the question will be taken up by the citizens of this city and that Lubbock can support a forum in the near future.

Dean Leidigh Appears on I. H. C. Short Course at Kress

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the school of engineering appeared on the program of the International Harvester short course at Kress yesterday. His subject was "Feed Sorghums." The course was held here for the past two days and was attended by large crowds. Dean Leidigh also spoke to the farmers here during the course.

Dr. Granberry to Talk to "Y" Today

At the call meeting of the Y. M. C. A. today at 3 o'clock in room 305 of the administration building, Dr. J. C. Granberry will address the members. His speech will follow the installation of officers. His subject will be: "How to Vitalize the Y. M. C. A. in Texas Tech." His speech will foster the plan of solicitation of talks on live subjects from men of the different departments of the school and different phases of life. The selection of the delegates for the state convention which is to be held in Austin, February 12-14 will be made. The college "Y" plans to send at least three men to represent

CAMPAIGN TO RAISE TECH COLLEGE ATHLETIC FUND DEFICIENCY TO BE LAUNCHED HERE THURSDAY MORNING

Walter Myrick, Jr., president of the Matador Club and colonel of the campaign organization, that has been perfected to raise the $3,700 Tech College athletic fund deficiency, stated yesterday that everything is being whipped into shape for the campaign to start Thursday morning and be continued through Friday.

Colonel Myrick expressed confidence in the ability of the team to put the campaign over, the majors who have been appointed for the campaign being Garland Woodward, F. C. Patton, B. C. Dickinson, Jr., and J. A. Raley.

This campaign will doubtless be given the heartiest support of Lubbock people, who realize that the deficiency that was created this year was due to the unexpected number of athletes reporting to the Tech training camp last fall for the football tryouts, the unusual number of new suits, and other equipment costing a great deal more than was anticipated, and this expense will not occur again before college athletics here have been put on a self-sustaining basis.

The Matador Club, of which Mr. Myrick is president, was organized at the opening of the college term to support college athletics and to develop closer contact between the people of the plains and the college students and faculty members in order that all athletic programs may be given the whole-hearted support of every one, resulting in enlarged attendance at all events.

The success of the campaign is assured if the people of Lubbock make the same liberal donations that have been made by out-of-town residents who have already contributed to the fund.

Faculty Women Attend Club Meeting at Lockney

Miss West, Miss McGee, Miss Weeks and Mrs. Price went to Lockney yesterday where they attended a meeting of the federated clubs. The day meeting yesterday was for the department of "Better Speech in America." Miss West and Miss McGee are officers for this district and are very interested in this work. The meeting at Lockney was attended by a large group of Floyd county women.

Dr. Horn to Speak in Matador Tomorrow Night

President Horn will address the Chamber of Commerce of Matador tomorrow night at their banquet. The president is a very able speaker and is in demand for almost every meeting on the plains. He returned yesterday from Wheeler and other counties north where he has been addressing teachers institutes.

The lifeless body of G. H. Smith, 78 years old, was found in the basement of the court house here at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. A coroner's verdict was that death came from natural causes. Physicians who examined the body declared that the deceased had evidently suffered of heart failure, this theory being borne out by the fact that at the time Smith left his boarding house a few minutes before his body was found he remarked to friends that he felt better than had been the case for years, and that he had gained ten pounds in recent weeks.

Smith had been a resident of Lubbock during the past five months, working for an oil burner company as salesman, but because of his old age and inability to make his own way the local First Baptist church had given him assistance. It is believed that the man has no relatives as officers searched his clothing and found no letters or anything bearing the names or addresses of friends.

The body is being held at the Rix Undertaking Company awaiting information from the company for which he was employed and from a lodge in Oklahoma City of which he was a member, however, it is not expected that either of these sources will reveal any special information about the deceased.

BROKEN HEARTS

Are the laws of the country to blame for broken hearts? We say yes, to a very great extent they are. We have laws plenty of them, and some of them are nothing but a farce, or a toy in the hands of lawyers. We have laws that are nothing in the world but jokers, and the legislature very seldom of late makes them any better. It seems that laws are made for the protection of criminals, and not for the people who want to do right and see others do right. We have the present liquor laws. They seem to have been framed for the special protection of bootleggers, and those who would take every advantage possible of the weak points in the laws of the state, in regard to the traffic of this stuff.

The present condition in Texas indicates us very plainly that the State Legislature does not have half as much time as they need to transact business. The representatives do not have one-tenth enough time to look over the bills that are presented for their consideration. They accept the statements of the author of the bills or friends of the bill, and very often they vote for some bill that if they had time to read would not be in favor of at all.

Then the people are very often asleep to their duty along this line, and do not elect men that are capable of law making. This is a great calamity to the state, and a handicap to Texas peace officers.

We have on the statute books of the state of Texas now, the search and seizure law that seems to protect the bootlegger and the fellow that is peddling booze to the extent that it is very hard to convict the guilty party, even though the guilt may be well established in the minds of the people of the community. The officers who made the arrests believed that he had plenty evidence to convict, but too many of the officers we elect are in sympathy with the criminal, and they work it around some way to get the hardest criminal out of jail, and freed from any charges, and he goes back into business and peddles dope that gets the boys of the community in bad.

Such laws are heart breakers, and many a mother has sobbed her life away because of the trouble that her son has gotten into, which is no fault of hers, but is the result of the laws of the state, and the way they are not enforced in the city. They are so framed that criminals can keep on plying their trade, and putting temptations before the young men, that lands them in jail, tears down their character, ruins their reputation, and chances of success in a business way. If the people of this community who believe in the enforcement of laws, do not rise up and fight with a mighty determination, Texas will be swimming in bootleg whiskey, dope and drugs, that will make any nation ashamed. The people who are supposed to be against the traffic are responsible for it. They are dumb in their efforts to stamp it out. They do not see the serious side of the thing, and do not believe that it is as bad as we say it is. But it is a well known fact that peace officers are tied so far as enforcing the dry laws of Texas, are concerned.

The wholesale pardoning of bootleggers has had much to do with this, and with prosecuting attorneys that are not what they should be in the prosecuting of crime, there is little hope to check criminals in their operations throughout the state, and not only the criminals in Texas continue their dastardly work, but it will soon become the rendezvous for criminals from other states, because they know that they will have an easy time getting by with their crimes in Texas.

WHAT HAS AMERICA GAINED

During the first quarter of this century the greatest war in all history has been recorded, entailing the sacrifice of millions of our fellow men, millions of maimed and defective, millions of ruined and blasted homes and hopes and weeping widows and its millions of innocent orphans condemned to lives of unaided, unguided dependence and struggle for existence. Born of selfishness and greed it is the one dark blot on an otherwise glorious human horizon. If the price has been as is claimed, a necessary contribution to the advancement of Christian civilization and democracy the barbaric struggle will not have been in vain—but after ten long years of weary effort the question is being asked:

"What has America gained from the World War?"
 David Starr Jordan answers in this manner: "Financially it has made some thousands rich, but at the expense of all the rest of us. The death of some 30 millions of people of our own race, by shot, shell and sword, by smothering, starvation and poisoning, has left a real or permanent good results unless it be the picture of the fatal balloon of war-glory, the exposure of the folly of military security and the downfall of a pastboard Caesar."
 Rudyard Kipling has said, "Triumph and defeat are of the same nature and must be treated alike. Aristide Briand says: "We were all beaten together," meanwhile every dollar of the 300 billions of war debt must some time be made good by the hard labor of men and women. To look for good results among this monumental mass of folly is like the proverbial search for the needle in the haystack.

In history every great collective wrong has died in the moment of its triumph. When men see it nakedly for what it is, every legalized wrong faces its doom.

SUPER POWER ON WHEELS

And now it seems that the old coal-and-steam locomotives, spouting smoke and cinders muzzing up the countryside, soiling the housewives' dainty furnishings and often sending forests and haystacks up in flames is doomed for the junkheap.

There's a new engine on wheels—a new day locomotive that's going to take a bit of color out of railroading, for it doesn't chug-chug, with a roaring exhaust and a belching of smoke and sparks. It looks like a glorified box car, but it has a pull like a thousand-mule team. It may go from New York to San Francisco without pause for fuel or water or rest. Although very few of these locomotives are in use, tests already made have yielded highly significant results. One of these oil-electric engines lopped 38 hours off the best previous limited time over the Canadian National Railway, setting up a new record of nearly 3,000 miles in 67 hours of almost continuous running.

Another and larger engine of similar design pulled a freight train in a non-stop run from Erie to New York for less fuel cost than one round-trip passenger fare.

WORLD COURT

After three years of intensive publicity by national and international organizations in this country, the United States has declared its allegiance to the World Court of International Justice. The fundamental argument in favor of this action is that we subscribe our moral support, at least to any effort that promises to promote peace in the world. The arguments against this action have been based on the fear that it means an abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine, the breaking down of our independent individualism which has been a most potent power in the League of Nations. It is a new venture for this great democracy and time alone will justify the soundness and wisdom of its supporters or objectors.

The measure has passed the Senate with a condition providing that adherence to the court shall not be construed so as to require the United States to depart from its traditional policy against entangling alliances or a relinquishment by the United States of "its traditional attitude toward purely American questions."

We are not going to sacrifice our independence of action, such as it is, by joining the world court. We are not going to become, ipso facto, a part of the League of Nations. We are not going to become entangled any more than we already are, by virtue of commerce and finance in the European system. The Southern states will not have to make good, unless they have a change of heart, on their defaulted reconstruction bonds. All we were going to do, in fact all that we intended to do, is to demonstrate our approval and acceptance of an organization which exists for the purpose of fostering the judicial settlement of international disputes which we want settled in that way.

QUALIFY TODAY FOR VOTING

Each year newspapers take it upon themselves to call attention to the rapidly diminishing time to qualify as a full citizen by paying your poll tax. It is more, or less monotonous, nevertheless it is a reminder to many who might fail to pay their poll tax and save their voting franchise. The time is short and to enable you to cast your ballots and help select those who will give us a good administration, you must act before the 30th of the month. The 31st falling on Sunday and the Tax Collectors office will not open.

It is every citizen's right to criticize the government, and there is no doubt that there are many things wrong with our State, National and Local administration, but the right to criticize is lost in the case of the man who is not an elector. Such a man is not a citizen, he is only an inhabitant and voluntarily surrenders his right to assist in the governing of our county, state and nation.

Do not allow the next three days to pass without qualifying as a citizen, you will lose your right of suffrage for the next 12 months if you do not pay your poll tax before Sunday.

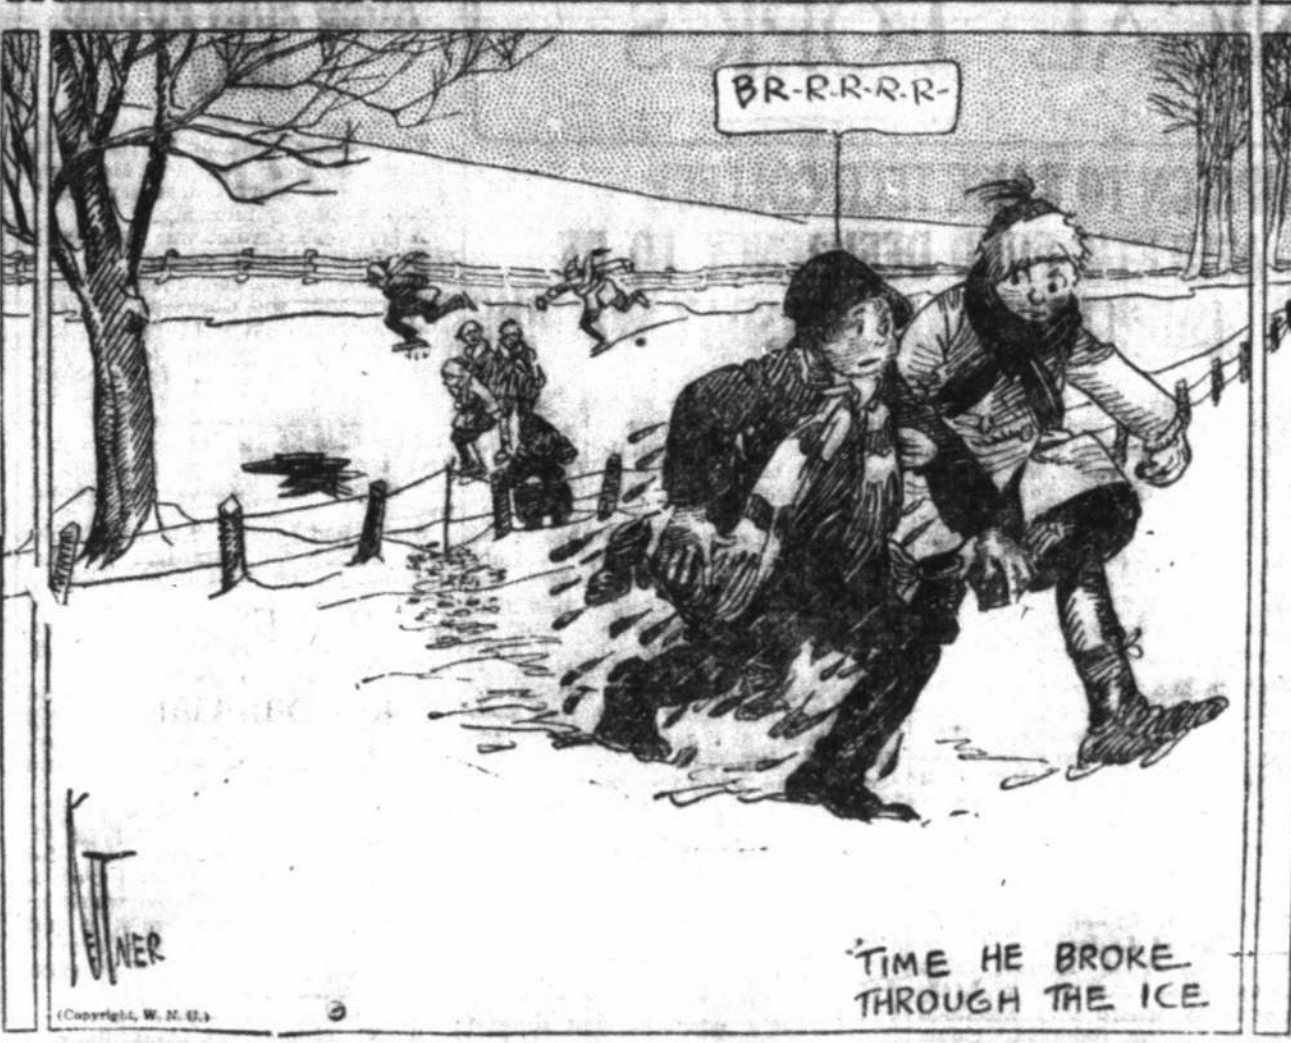

Scientists are now investigating the proposition to broadcast heat by radio. We know that heat travels through space, through solids, and when we once learn how to pick up these waves and control them, heating throughout the world will be revolutionized. There would be no stoking, no ashes, no belching chimney pots, no fear of coal strikes.

Following hard on the heels of this development the world might expect radio transmission of power for domestic, commercial and industrial uses. In radio the world has a potential Aladdin's lamp.

The Secretary of War recommends drastic changes in the United States Air Service, in fact a complete reorganization. His recommendations to Congress are based on the Morrow report, approved by the President, and include changing the name to "Air Corps", a second assistant secretary and three assistants, extra pay for flying life insurance for flyers, with medals, etc. for heroism. There is a strong sentiment in Congress to adopt even more drastic measures but in view of the many other important measures to be disposed of, it is very probable that the Mitchell court martial and verdict will be allowed to stand without serious argument and the whole matter work itself out in time.

The demand for bibles in hotels in the United States and Canada is greater than the supply permitted by Bidean funds. The Gideans, an organization of Christian traveling men, have in 15 years, placed a total of 670,000 bibles in the hotels, and requests are constantly pouring in.

Events in the Lives of Little Men

SO THINK WE

We think that Lubbock should wake up to the importance of stopping the sale of extracts and dope that will make men drunk or crazy. It is being sold here, as well as other places, and Lubbock people can stop it if they want to.

We think the world is pleasure mad, and people do not seem to think that much of their so-called pleasure is responsible for the downfall of many of the young people of the country. Better put on the soft peddle, and take time to think where we are drifting.

We think just a few games of pool, or poker in the home is not bad, but when a fellow gets familiar with the cards he is liable to play for money, and finally wind up in the electric chair for the murder of some fellow in a fuss over the results of the game, and finally land in a gambler's hell, because mother taught him how to sling the hearts and the spades and the jacks and other characters represented in the deck of cards.

We think that many a young man learned his first poker game in his mother's home. Then why should we not fight this evil.

We think that crime will out, and after six years an Oklahoma man has been arrested for a crime committed.

We think that the girls who object to the new proposed style of skirts fourteen inches from the floor, are just simply silly, and their mother was probably silly before she was.

We think that silly style and silly customs are to blame for many of the things that happen that are not just exactly right.

We think that the fellows that are trying to change up the months in the year are simply meddling, and they should be given their attention to other things of more importance. We believe the people are very well satisfied with the years, the way they are arranged, and these fellows who are working this up are merely working for so much publicity.

We think the Fair Association should begin now to give the public to understand that if they are coming to Lubbock to the fair just to find a bunch of gambling devices on the grounds, they will be fooled. Then give the carnivals to understand that if they cannot make money on decent concessions that they can stay away.

We think the preacher was right last Sunday, when he said most people had a double sense of responsibility, a personal responsibility and a group responsibility. Men will sanction things in a public way that they would not in a personal capacity.

We think it is really not a first class citizen who will not exert themselves on Sunday morning to attend church services, as important as the church is to the community. There is not one half of one percent of the people of Lubbock who would stay here a week if there was not a church in the city, and knew there would not be one any more.

We think that eight young people tonne coupe is just six too many.

We think the radio bug is most always a sleepy eyed creature.

We think that no child under fourteen years of age should drive an automobile.

IT IS REPORTED

That spring fights have opened up in Tahoka. We think they are rushing the season just a little bit.

That old Battle Axe had a pretty hard time hitting the sidewalk yesterday. The wind was so high that the paving got most of it.

That some people are always thinking someone is talking about them. Usually such people never enter into the minds of the sober thinking people.

That "jake" is still being sold in Lubbock, and we imagine it will be so long as good evidence will not be accepted to convict them of the crime.

That it is very hard to convict a man for selling extracts in Lubbock, because of loop holes in the laws.

That "spudding in" will be in order on some of the proposed oil wells soon.

That bootleggers still continue to get pardons, while the fellow that stole groceries for the sake of feeding his starving children remains within the bars. We suppose there is a reason.

That the weather pessimist is having a very uneasy time these days. He is in dread all the time that these pretty warm days are going to turn "dreadfully cold".

That a few fellows were too late to pay their poll tax last night. They will have a good time looking on, but they will not have much luck voting against anybody this year.

That Jim and Dan will both make the race for governor this summer. It will likely be a hot race, if they do.

That the housewives are having to exercise a good deal of patience these days because of the trouble at one of the light plants. Some of the husbands and the kids get the benefit of the patience, however.

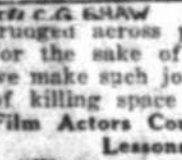

That Lynn county is bragging about being the banner cotton county of the South Plains the past year. Guess that is right, but we believe the county that is the banner cow, sow and hen county will be the most popular with the bankers.

TIMELY WORLD VIEWS

Speed, Radio, Jazz and Love of Today Are Scored by New York Psychologist.

"Speed, radio, sex, health, jazz, modern psychology and money are the seven deadly values of modern life," claims Dr. Charles Gray Shaw professor of philosophy at New York University.

In a recent interview he discussed several of the so-called "deadly values."
 "Columbus crossed the sea for the purpose of getting to another continent, not for the sake of setting the trans-Atlantic speed record. Our pioneers trudged across plain and mountain for the sake of gold or gain, but we make such journeys with the aim of killing space by means of time. Film Actors Could Give Cave Man Lessons in Love."
 "We revere radio, and have set up its million altars for no other reason than that we can listen in on the most commonplace entertainment at the greatest distance. Another age would have hesitated to annihilate space and time the way we grind them up in our machines. They would have feared the envy of the gods. But we enjoy the idea of overcoming the natural limits of human life."
 The twentieth century conception of love is the third ideal Dr. Shaw questions. "We ought to know that primitive man was barely capable of love," he contends. "Love is aroused by civilization, and the more crowded our cities and intense our way of living, the warmer is the erotic feeling. We have improved the cave man's technique and our film actors could give him lessons."
 "The love-value advertises itself

Poems That Live

IF I can stop one heart from breaking,
 I shall not live in vain;
 If I can ease one life the aching,
 Or cool one pain,
 Or help one fainting robin
 Unto his nest again,
 I shall not live in vain.

Westerners Win the Slaton Basket Ball Tournament

WESTERNERS DEFEAT RALLS IN THE FINAL GAME

Some ten teams attended the first Slaton tournament fostered under the supervision of Coach Gus Miller of Slaton Friday and Saturday of this week. The Lubbock high school Westerners were the champions of the meet winning the final game with the Ralls Jackrabbits with 23-20 count. In the last game the two teams both fought on the offense keeping about even until the break came in the last few minutes of play when Captain Hays of the Westerners broke through ringing a field goal which was principally the tournament point.

Many prizes were awarded by the officials of the meet. Lubbock won the large basket ball silver loving cup to be the permanent property of the school. "Red" Cannon of the Ralls team was awarded the gold basket ball for the best sportmanship shown in the tournament. The winners of the south district of the tournament, Post, was given an official basket ball.

Post won the meet yesterday and were defeated today. There were two classes of teams in the meet, a schedule was arranged and carried through dividing the teams represented into two districts, the south and the north. Elimination was the manner of procedure taken for the decision of the games.

The scores of today's games at Slaton were:

Rural Schools Tournament Here Monday

Monday and Tuesday basketball games will be plentiful in Lubbock as the county rural schools will meet at the Lubbock high school gymnasium in the Rural School tournament. There will be four games played each day and the tournament will wind up late Tuesday evening.

The schedule has been arranged as follows:

Bledsoe vs. Union at 4 p. m.; Grovesville vs. Monroe at 5 p. m.; Hardy vs. Wolfforth at 7 p. m.; Woodrow vs. Shallwater at 8:30 p. m. These games will be played on Monday at the high school gymnasium. On Tuesday the schedule will be: Acuff vs. Canyon at 4 p. m.; New Hope vs. County line at 5 p. m.; Caldwell vs. Carlisle at 7:30 p. m.; Possey vs. Liberty at 8:30 p. m.

After these games have been trimmed down, the winners of the schedules will determine the championship on Wednesday. Intense interest will be shown in this tournament and arrangements are being made to care for those that attend the meet.

PARK AND FIELD TO BE REPAIRED FOR SEASON

Baseball is still pointing towards its best year in Lubbock as five of the Hubbers of the last year's club have taken over the Merrill Park and many changes will be made for the betterment of the playing field and grand stand.

Sled Allen, Hensley, Sanders, Jackson and Sheppard have leased from Capt. M. E. Merrill the Merrill park for the coming season. They have secured the grand stand and playing field with the right to sell concessions, fence advertisements, and will have full charge of the gate receipts.

Sled stated yesterday that the sale of the fence advertising would be at an early date in order that the sign writers will have all ads painted by the time base ball season opens. He further stated that the sale of concessions would be held soon.

Arrangements will be made soon for the repairing of the damaged part of the grandstand which was caused by a fire in the latter part of the season last year. The playing field will be overhauled, new dog houses built and in fact the field will be made into one of the fastest in the section of the country.

Allen has been corresponding with Louis Sloan, Hudspeh and Underhill and he is most certain that the three will return here for the season this year.

The Wichita Falls proposition that was submitted to Allen some few weeks ago is still pending. Fred Brainard will be here this week to consult with Skipper on the contract and announcement will be made soon.

Bears Win First Basket Ball Game For Steers

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 30.—Frank Bridges' basketball team won its first game from a Texas Longhorn team in basketball here tonight, 29 to 22.

In trimming the Longhorns the Bears flashed by far the fastest five that has been seen in Austin this season.

Despite the spectacular goal tossing of Joe King, the Bears gained a big lead in the beginning and at no time was that lead ever in danger of being overtaken. Texas came back strong in the second period to chalk up six points, but the Bears limbered up quickly and forged far into the lead.

A last minute rally by Joe King fell seven points short of tying the count.

A long-legged youngster, Louis Shade, a product of the Waco high school, provided the entertainment for the largest and most enthusiastic crowd that has been at a game here this season. The steers fought to the limit of their ability—Ox Higgins, Joe King and Johnny Estes turning in some brilliant floor work.

BRILLIANT FLOOR WORK OF BUFFALOES IS TOO MUCH FOR MATADORS IN CLASH HERE LAST EVENING AT STOCK JUDGING PAVILION

The Texas Tech Bull fighters were out witted and stampeded on with the mighty machine of the West Texas State Teachers College with a heavy run of 32-17 on the Matadors. The harmonious passing game the Teachers put up together with accurate shooting a rapid count was made by them in the early part of the game. The Teachers scored 10 before the Matadors counted giving the Buffaloes a decided advantage of the game.

Lowes, the inexperienced center counts, but were thrown off, as of the Buffaloes, rung up a total pearing to be too rushed and did not take their due time in taking 16 counts on the Matadors, showing good training on his fast shoots and duly took advantage of all crisp shoots. Crump, the fleet forward of the Buffaloes, who hails from Ralls and a former member of the championship Jackrabbit Club, was second high point man of the tilt, scoring four field goals and two free tosses.

The entire Tech club were not certain of their shots and appeared a bit undetermined on open tosses at the basket. Several times the Bull Fighters got fair chances for

The entire crowd was estimated at 1,000.

Hereford To Have Good Baseball Year

Chas. Whitehead, local barber and an enthusiastic baseball supporter, was selected to manage Hereford's summer baseball team, at a meeting Tuesday night in the District Court room, with a good crowd of baseball aspirants and fans in attendance.

Mr. Whitehead was unanimously elected manager. In his talk he urged local people to support summer baseball and help him in his undertaking. His word to the players was that he would take charge of the team with the understanding that he would be in absolute charge of the work. In other words Mr. Whitehead will be boss of those who are under him, and the players will be like checkers to move as he directs. With his past experience as a player and as a manager, he should be able to build a team that will do credit to Hereford.

The question of securing uniforms for the players was discussed at the meeting, and a committee was appointed to work out a system of raising finances for the equipment. Chas. Galbreath, T. D. Moss and Ralph Smith were appointed to work out a plan to get equipment for the club. It is believed that the team will be self supporting just as soon as the playing season opens, if it is given support. A home talent play or some other form of entertainment will probably be arranged at an early date and the funds made will go towards the purchase of uniforms.

According to reports Mr. Whitehead will have a wealth of material with which to work. Two or three men have already announced for the receiving position. Tate and Galbreath, main-stays of last year's team, are out for the twirling job. Jones, a nee woman who has quite a reputation will also try out for the pitching job. Competition for all the in-field positions will be keen, and reports show that several men will be out for the garden jobs—Hereford Brand.

Local Clubmen To Vie For Cager Championship

Members of the Lubbock Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs will stage a Tech College Athletic Fund benefit basketball game if plans that were discussed here yesterday materialize.

There are some ex-profs among the memberships of the clubs, and should such game be staged it will be for the nickel or whatever price is set on admissions.

The game will probably be played at the Tech College court, and the teams will be so well coached before the main event that it will be worth while.

A contest on attendance at the game will probably be one of the attractive features, the club having the fewest number of members in attendance being penalized in the score.

Edgar Innon, of the Rotary Club, is a prime mover from that side of the court, and Secretary Claud Burrus, of the Kiwanians, is perusing the club roster for possible champions.

"It will be a great game," Burrus said.

SCHOOLS TO BE BENEFITED.

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 30.—An appropriation of $1 per scholastic is to be made February 10 for the benefit of the public schools of Texas, according to S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction. This will represent $1,341,000.

MUSTANGS DEFEAT AGGIES FOR 20-13 SCORE

DALLAS, Texas, Jan. 30.—Dreadly accurate passing and close guarding gave the S. M. U. Ponies a victory tonight over the Texas Aggies 20 to 13 in the opening game on the home court. Starting out with a field goal and a point scored from the foul line, the Aggies led the first few minutes of play.

After the Ponies' machine got started they maintained the lead throughout the game and the outcome was scarcely ever in doubt. So close was the Aggies forwards held down during the last half they were able to make only a few wild shots at the basket.

FARMERS WIN SOME VALUABLE PRIZES

WACO, Texas, Jan. 30.—Cash prizes totalling $1,000 will be given to the three McLennan farmers who won first, second and third prizes in the chamber of commerce annual most dollars per acre cotton contest which was concluded here a few days ago. The awarding of the prizes will take place in the form of a banquet on Tuesday night February 9.

Identity of the winners has so far remained a secret.

George Dealey, president of the Dallas News, Victor Schoffelmayer, farm editor of the Dallas News, Frank Biggs, editor of Farm and Ranch Magazine and other men prominent in Texas farming circles have been invited to the affair.

Razorbacks Hold Gentlemen To Small Count

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 30.—The Razorbacks made it two straight from the Centenary Gentlemen by a decisive 43 to 8 victory in the final tilt of the series here tonight.

The Razorbacks again displayed an airtight defense system that held the visitors to only three field goals. Pickel was leader of the Razorbacks offensive with 78 points. Adams was second with 11 points.

Boydston and Lawrence tied for scoring honors for Centenary.

LOCAL ELKS ELECT HIGH PRIVATE TO REPRESENT THEM AT ELKS ARMY AND NAVY ASSOCIATION CAMP AT DALLAS

At the regular meeting of Lubbock E. R. O. Elks lodge No. 1348 January 26, H. B. Carroll was elected as high private in the Lubbock regiment of the Elks army and navy. Quite a number of Lubbock Elks have already applied for their commission and it is expected that the general staff will be completed during the coming week. Any Elk may be communicating with the secretary of Lubbock lodge or with Major General W. H. Mulvay of Dallas by issuing a beautifully lithographed commission for one dollar.

General William H. Patterson, commanding general of the Elks army and navy, has issued a call to his Texas forces summoning them to arms in anticipation of the coming session in Dallas of the Texas Elks State Association. There is feverish activity in the headquarters of the commanding general as hundreds of new recruits have to be measured for their uniforms and formally presented with their commissions. There is only one high private in the Dallas contingency of the Elks army and navy, Charles A. Mangold, and he makes it a point to snub some ranking officer at least once a day. High private Mangold has been commissioned generalissimo of No. 71 of the 65 privates of the Elks army and navy. Our army consists of 65 privates and about 4,000 commissioned officers. All high privates of the different regiments on arrival in Dallas report to High Private Mangold, generalissimo, at his headquarters, Jefferson hotel, for full information. Every lodge in Texas is commanded to elect a private in each regiment and uniform him according to his own taste, commanding General Patterson has to contest the ground continually with Private Mangold but so far has not been able to get him to salute or stand at attention.

"For the benefit of those Elks over the state," said General Patterson, "who are not yet conversant with our plans, I will state that the Elks army and navy was organized by me in 1905. It was originally intended as a satire on war and proved to be the greatest quotic enterprise that ever functioned to the embarrassment of the war lords. We turned the usual army organization program upside down by having but one private, all of the rank and file being holders of high titles and commissions. The officers in the army and navy, including the commanding general, salute the lone high private, who observes their salutes with cold indifference without the courtesy of a return salute. The Elks army and navy carry no arms of any kind. Their uniforms and general decorum, however, are highly militaristic. The army and navy ball will be given on the occasion of the coming meeting of the State Elks Association and it is going to be the most brilliant military spectacle ever seen outside of Uncle Sam's army and navy club in Washington."

Tuesday night, February 2, is an exalted ruler night throughout the order of Elksdom and on that night Lubbock lodge will be conducted by the following exalted rulers: Geo. E. Benson, exalted ruler; B. C. Dickinson, esteemed leading knight; Gene Adair, esteemed loyal knight; Spencer Wells, esteemed lecturing knight; W. E. Powell, esquire; Walter Myrick, chaplain.

Lubbock lodge at present has many irons in the fire. Some of these are the Elks' Extravaganza, the vaudeville, the Chicago trip to the grand lodge, and the Zero Hour. Much interest has also been manifested in the speech which "Daddy" Dickinson has announced he will make Tuesday night.

Alex McDonald, famous for feeds extraordinary, has announced that he will have a corking good Dutch lunch for all present Tuesday night and Wayne Hutson has said that only the best of Hutson's special cigars will be distributed. All visiting Elks are cordially invited to attend the biggest stag event of the season.

Officers Unable To Locate Car Stolen Here

Despite diligent work of officers, a Ford coupe which was stolen from 1210 16th street Thursday, has not yet been located and it is believed that those who took the car have made good their getaway.

The car is the property of J. G. Clark of the Halsey-Hall drug store No. 2, and was stolen about 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

BANQUET AND ELECTION OF OFFICERS TO FEATURE ANNUAL MEETING LUBBOCK RETAIL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION SOON

The annual meeting of the Lubbock Retail Merchants Association which is to be held Tuesday evening, February 9, will be one of the most important sessions conducted by the association since its organization, if plans that have been tentatively made are executed.

New officers for the association will be elected, the program which was carried on during 1925 will be reviewed, and a discussion of a program that will be entered into, and while a glance at these plans might lead one to believe that the program will be quite lengthy, officials have stated that these features will be so appointed that the minimum of time will be consumed in making disposition of them.

Edgar Kemp of San Antonio, who is a field man for the Retail Merchants Association of Texas, will be one of the principal speakers, and will bring a message of special instruction to the merchants here in the handling of the affairs of their association.

South Plains Towns to Be Represented
Many South Plains towns having representatives at the banquet here, according to an announcement yesterday by Garnett Reeves, secretary of the local association. Secretaries and presidents of these associations will be in attendance and that they will gather valuable information for the operation of their associations is but to be expected. Mr. Kemp of the state association will probably hold a conference with these officers following the regular meeting here.

Arrangements are being made to give a banquet in connection with the program, details of which however have not been announced. Arranged out by a committee composed of W. W. Royalty, J. D. Hassell, L. A. Howard, P. L. Sherrod and Fred Owen.

Men Held Here Acquitted In Theft Case

charged with the theft of an automobile, which it was alleged they took from a Plainview man and sold to a Lubbock man, were found not guilty in district at Plainview yesterday.

The defendants were represented by Bishop and Starnes of Lubbock. Immediately following the close of the trial at Plainview the two were brought to Lubbock and are being held in jail here for Lynn and Terry county authorities, who charge them with burglary.

They will be transferred to the Lynn county jail at once, it was stated here last night.

DISTANCE IS TIME

We used to measure distance by miles; but since the automobile is here, we refer to our destination as so many hours or minutes from starting point. The average driver would say, it is a two hour drive to Plainview—BUT—if he should have one flat tire on the trip, it would be two hours and thirty minutes, two flat tires would mean a three hour trip. If you would wish to be accurate on distance, equip your tires with Coffield tire protectors. They cause less trouble and less profanity. See the Coffield Man at Super Service Station. (92-1)

GRAINGER'S BEATLESS MUSIC

Percy Grainger, who is appearing in Lubbock February 5th, is engaged in experiments with his "beatless music" in which the standard duration of beats, in which there is no rhythmic unanimity between the various polyphonic systems of which it consists, but the rhythms of which are as free and untrammelled as those of prose. Grainger was not led to these experiments by the influence of any of the futurist schools of music. As a boy he always heard a kind of polyphonic music of complete rhythmic freedom, and ever since he has been working towards the realization of this boyhood vision. As early as 1899 he was experimenting with a notation that would make "beatless music" a practical possibility. He had to abandon his experiments for lack of material resources. These early experiments led him, however, to "irregularly accented music," in which a standard duration of beats or sub-beats is maintained, but which are grouped with irregularity of kaleidoscopic variety hitherto unknown. In the course of some of Grainger's most important works, such as his "Hill Song," "Marching Song of Democracy," "The Bride's Tragedy," are examples of irregularly accented music. So also is Cyril Scott's Piano Sonata No. 66—Cyril Scott having gained Grainger's permission around 1903. Grainger's system of irregularly accented music (Scott's "beatless music") is a developed and original manner of his own. Meanwhile, for the last 25 years "Beatless Music" has sustained all efforts to make it a practical musical possibility and it is only just lately, largely through the help of the Duo-Art, that Grainger sees prospects of fulfilling this dream in the near future. Grainger writes as follows of "beatless music": While fully in sympathy with the discordant (non-harmonic) system of Schoenberg, Hindemith, etc., with the quarter-tone experiments of Alois Haba and others, and with the trends of musical modernism in general, I must confess I am opposed to the new completed yall the musical futurists who to me have neglected rhythmic liberation, i. e. the power to employ in music, even the most polyphonic nature, rhythms as free as those of prose speech and to combine and interweave these free rhythms in complete freedom or semi-freedom. Doubtless rhythmic liberation (beatless music) is inevitable, just as harmonic liberation (Schoenbergian) is inevitable, just as intervallic liberation (quarter-tones, etc.) is inevitable. The course of the highest music is always in the direction of ever greater freedom. However, the advent of "beatless music" however successful it might be, will not tend to sway what the two already existing rhythmic systems of music (temporarily "beatless" and irregularly accented music) any more than the literature "beatless music" will tend to sway the "beatless music" of the governing spirit of art will always be for tolerance and diversity, never for intolerance and uniformity.

our wonderful appreciation of what they are doing for us.

We feel that we could not part with them. Have you been coming out to hear the wonderful programs that our young people have been giving? Then your dear church member you have been missing the best part of your church program. Surely there is not a young person who can stand up and say that he or she has failed to come and enjoy these Sunday evening get-togethers. Surely you can't have missed the best treats of your life. If you have failed to come you have missed a good part of your life. Wake up young people, fall in line, accomplish something, you will not be wasting your Sunday evenings. Come out, meet the pepiest, liveliest, best looking young people in town. Come once, fall in line, and you will never have to be asked back again. Our young people will meet you at the door with a smile and that smile will stay with you, not until the close of the evening, but throughout the entire week. You can feel God's wonderful spirit radiate through the crowd as the program is rendered and the voices of God's young Christian soldiers raise in thanks, prayers and song. Jack Lewis' prayers are being answered, our young people are alive and doing a work for Christ that will live forever. Mother realize that after all the church is just about the best place to go for enjoyment on Sunday evening. Then these wonderful acts; your mouth begins to water as you enter the door. We are handed the real eats by the ladies of our church. Thanks Mrs. Jack Lewis will furnish the lunch on next Sunday evening, you miss it—well I should say no. C. E. REPORTER.

AT THE CHURCHES

First Presbyterian Church

Corner Avenue N and 14th. JACK M. LEWIS, Pastor. The usual services will be held at the church throughout the day. It is important that every phase of the church's work be given your whole-hearted support in order that the greatest good may be accomplished in the church's purposes.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR OF FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH FURNISH ROOM

The C. E. of the First Presbyterian Church of this city surprised all when they met on last Thursday evening to furnish the C. E. room. They were the busiest bunch of young people you ever saw. The room was filled with busy bees. A machine was in the center of the room. You could see the busy hands as they sewed and made the curtains for our windows. Boys were busy hanging the curtains. Rags were being bound for the floor. Every where you looked you could see the happy smiling face of Jack Lewis as he gazed on and admired the work of his band of young people. While we worked candy was made. Work continued until about 10:30 o'clock, then the following people were served with candy: Messrs. Jack Lewis, Stoltz, Wesley Griffin, R. P. Cook, Elaine, Pickett, Garwood Kennedy, Edward Pangborn, Elmo Adair, R. D. Campbell, Joe Wilson, Rex Wright, Tomson Waddill, Payton Waddill, Albert Schofield, George Eaton, Alfred Adkinson, Bill Cox and Elbert Hester. Mrs. Jack Lewis, Stoltz, Wesley Griffin, R. P. Cook, Ballenger, Misses Martha Chapman, Kate Presley, Louise McKee, Edna Adkinson, Nannie Rush Cooper, Elizabeth Wilson, Blanche Bean, Bill McCauley, Mae Littleton, Daisy B. Kelly, Ruby Kennedy.
Now young people come out to worship with us; listen and join in a real program, rendered by a real band of young lively Christian soldiers in a real up-to-date C. E. room.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR OF FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The First Presbyterian church of this city has just come to the realization that the Christian Endeavor is alive and doing a wonderful work. No longer can the C. E. be spoken of as a minor organization in this church so far as pap, number and good work is concerned. The C. E. has gone over the top. Full organization has been accomplished under the guidance of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Cook, who have so willingly offered their time and service to the development of the work of our young people. We as the young people of our church have grown to love them and depend upon them for help and advice in everything we undertake. We are certain that two better leaders could not have been found any where. We wish to take this opportunity to assure them of

GOODFELLOWS' BIBLE CLASS OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday morning at 9:45. Subject, "The Throne of David." Lesson outline: Israel rejected God from being king—1 Samuel 10:19. God would have ruled Israel as in the days of Moses and Joshua had they not rejected Him. Saul is a type of the carnal earthly ruler. Theocracy, the ideal form of government for man. God intends through the descendants of David to set up His rule on earth again. II Samuel 7:13-6; Isaiah 9:6-7. This son of David will be the Messiah who shall reign in righteousness. Isaiah 11:1-5; Hosea 3:4-5; Amos 9:11-12. The blessings of God upon this reign. Ezek. 34:22-26; 37:24-25. When the Messiah comes, God will set up His kingdom on earth. Daniel 2:44-45; 7:13-14. The Lord shall be King and rule in righteousness. Zechar. 14:9 and 16:21. The nations shall learn war no more. Isaiah 2:1-5; Micah 4:3-5. Peace shall reign on the earth. Isaiah 11:5-9; 60:16-22; 65:17-25. Did the Jew in the time of Christ have ample reason to believe that the Messiah should reign over the earth? At a meeting last Sunday afternoon, it was decided to admit the ladies to the membership of the class. So those ladies who are not members of other Sunday school classes, are cordially invited to join us. Music every Sunday by a splendid male quartet.—Class Reporter.

BISHOP SEAMAN TO BE HEARD AT METHODIST CHURCH TODAY

The First Methodist Church takes pleasure in announcing that at the evening hour of worship Bishop E. Cecil Seaman, Presiding Bishop of the Northwest Texas Diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, will preach. We extend to the public a cordial invitation to hear one of our chief ministers in the church of our Episcopal Brethren. The hour of worship is 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. A number of classes are making special effort to secure a large attendance at this hour. It is hoped that those attending the services of the day may be present in time for the opening musical number. At 10:35 a. m. the pastor will deliver the fourth of a group of sermons relative to the church. The subject is "The World's Greatest Brotherhood." Members of the church especially will be interested in this important subject. Visitors are always welcomed guests. The young people will meet in their Epworth League program at 6:30 p. m. The Intermediate under the supervision of Mrs. A. E. Harvey meet at the same hour, an able Junior under the direction of Mrs. M. C. Overton meet at 3:30 p. m. At 10:55 the Junior Church meets under the direction of Mrs. H. W. Richardson. This group includes children and twelves. The place of meeting is in the basement of the church.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS AT BROWNFIELD

MUSIC STUDENTS OF MRS. DALTON LEWIS HEARD IN RECITAL

The music class of Mrs. W. H. Dalton gave a most pleasing program on the night of January 22nd in the Methodist auditorium. The appreciative audience were delighted with the efforts, even of the tiny musicians, who played with a surprising sureness. The program was made up of solos and duets, interspersed by vocal numbers. Miss Elizabeth Downing sang "Fanny Little Follow" by Allen P. Grant. Her second, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," by Ernest Scott. Miss Fay Brown gave a sacred solo, "Lead Thou My Soul" by Percy Miss Voucile Holgate sang "Eggs Land," and "Sleepy Hollow Tune" by Richard Kountz. These young singers were greatly appreciated and deserved the compliments paid them. The piano numbers ranged from the medium to advanced work, and included classic with opera selections. Having a part on the program, were: Juanita Tankersley, Lorraine Kieba, Martha McClell, Katherine Holgate (who gave a pretty little reading), Queenelle Sawyer, Faye Franks, Gladys Cox, Naomi Newton, Velma McClell, Wilma Weatherly, Dora Nell, Fay Brown, Edna Brown, Christina Sawyer, Louise Holgate, Robbie Marion Hardin, Rebecca May, Dolores Lynn, Mrs. Harry O'Harrow, Lucille Holgate, Elizabeth Downing. The public who were anxious to hear a part on this program, will appear in the closing recital in May. The music completing the evening, was an Indian selection, sung as a duo by Misses Holgate and Downing. Miss Fagle playing the violin accompaniment by the Waters of Minnetonka, Minn.

MRS. BOWERS GIVES CHARMING PARTY SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The cozy and attractive home of Mrs. Bob Bowers was filled with a happy assembly of ladies on Saturday afternoon, January 23rd. Guests diligently played forty-two through several progressions. When beautiful linens were used as coverings of the tables—both Madras and colored embroideries being used. A plate of salad and other delicacies, with hot coffee were served to Mesdames Henry Alexander, Joe J. McGowan, Ray Brownfield, Morgan Copeland, A. M. Brownfield, Will Alf Bell, J. H. McKinney, McDuffie, A. A. Sawyer, O. W. Fagala, Ike Bailey, McBurnett, Hudgens, Miss Traversay and Mrs. Dallas. Mrs. Ray Brownfield drew high and was presented with a lovely dish-colored. Mrs. Bailey received a dainty embroidered guest towel for the low number drawn. This was indeed a most delightful occasion.

Merger of Rock Island and Frisco Into Country's Largest Rail System Awaits Government's O. K.

By W. Y. FERROL
 CHICAGO, Jan. 30—Western railroad executives are stirred up over the purchase of a dominating interest in the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, "The Rock Island Lines," by the St. Louis and San Francisco, "The Frisco Lines," which means another great railroad system is being wrought in the southwest. The combined tracings of the two roads, in excess of 12,000 miles, will make the united system the largest in the country.

The Rock Island has been figuring in merger talk for some months, but always in connection with the Southern Pacific, of some of the smaller lines, like the St. Louis and Southwestern, the Missouri-Kansas-Texas, and the St. Louis Southern, so that the announcement of the deal whereby the board of the Frisco, represented by Speyer and Co., had bought into the Rock Island came as a surprise.

A director of the Rock Island has heretofore rested with Hayden, Stone & Co., of which Charles Hayden is the senior partner and chairman of the board of directors of the railroad. Hayden attempted to form a new railroad system by uniting the Rock Island and the St. Louis and Southwestern. He purchased a controlling interest in the "Cotton Belt" from Edwin Gould, the son of Jay Gould. Failing to win the approval of the interstate commerce commission he disposed of his holdings to L. E. Loree, who announced he would form a southwestern system by merging it with the Kansas City Southern and Missouri-Kansas-Texas.

Has Outlet to Gulf
 This left the St. Louis San Francisco, one of the old Gould roads which met financial disaster in 1913 in the position of an orphan in the southwest, which is highly competitive territory.

A short time later the Frisco was authorized by the commerce commission to acquire control of the Memphis, Shreveport, Birmingham and Pensacola which gave it an outlet to the Gulf of Mexico and afforded a share in the record Florida traffic.

With this controlled road and the Rock Island, the new Frisco system will be second to none in size. Its southern terminals will be Pensacola, Fla., on the east and Fort Worth, Texas, on the west. On the north it will serve Chicago and the Twin Cities, on the west Denver, and on the east St. Louis.

In Line With Cummins Bill
 The consolidation is important to shippers because it means one more strong rail combination capable of giving efficient and economical service, especially on through shipments of farm products to the gulf for foreign export.

These voluntary movements toward consolidation are in line with the bill recently introduced by Senator Cummins of Iowa, giving the railroads three years in which to effect such consolidations. After that the interstate commerce commissioner would step in and force them. The Iowa senator regards consolidation as the only alternative to government ownership. Either plan would link the weaker to stronger roads and effect such earnings distribution that freight rates might be avoided, he believes.

Map shows how Rock Island and Frisco lines interlock. Inset is E. N. Brown, chairman of the board of the Frisco, who is engineering the merger.

Early action on the merger by the interstate commerce commission is expected. The commission now has before it for approval the Van Sweringen plan to link the Nickel Plate, Chesapeake & Ohio, Pere Marquette Erie and some smaller lines.

A MONEY SAVER!

In our honest opinion no other stove or method of cooking is as economical as the Western Electric!

Now is the time of saving—and when saving is so necessary. For that reason alone we think it sufficient to cause many homes to do away with their old worn-out and inefficient, oil and coal "eating" stoves and equip the most important work of the home modernly.

Where equal heat is required in our opinion heat is required in our opinion there is no other stove or method of cooking on the market that is as saving of dollars and cents as the Western Electric.

Surplus of Grain Being Shipped From Hurlwood

Special to The Avalanche. HURLWOOD, Jan. 30.—From 5 to 10 cars of maize is being loaded at Hurlwood, each week, where the farmers of that portion of the county are disposing of their surplus grain. A great deal of threshed grain will be shipped from there this coming week.

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THE THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1926

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Due to Mrs. Henderson's criticism of short skirts, the ladies of Washington society have christened a new scarf which is sufficiently long to extend below the skirt, "The Henderson Scarf." The scarf is merely a three yard length of chiffon, usually finely pleated, which wraps once about the throat with ends falling below the hemline of the frock. They are most attractive when made of the same shade as the frock as they then appear to be part of the frock itself. Bright, gaudy colors are not effective in such long scarfs.

The popular New York hotels offer many ideas in dancing costumes. Of course, everyone is certain by this time that chiffons and velvets are the ruling fabrics for evening wear. Young women prefer chiffons whereas matrons appear to best advantage in velvets or soft brocades. This week a new note was stressed when several girls appeared in tulle or chiffon frocks posed over gold or silver slips harmonizing with their dancing pumps. The slip in most cases was slender-lined while the sheer overdresses of tulle or chiffon in lovely pastel shades were circular or ruffled.

Buckles of every description are being stressed for footwear of dressy type. Bright silver buckles are worn by many although most women feel that cut-steel or bronze are quite as lovely and less conspicuous than silver metal. These large buckles are worn, of course with pump shoes. Strapped shoes merely use tiny buckles through which the straps may slip and the buckle in this case is worn at the side covering the shoe button. Small bow-knots in cut steel or bronze are used as strap clips. Taffeta is becoming again a popular material for the afternoon and evening frock. Often a plain black taffeta will be made with three scalloped ruffles set on in apron-front effect with each scallop outlined in flowered taffeta. Uneven hemlines are used to some extent on taffeta frocks. In evening models, for instance, the full skirt may be cut shorter in front than at the rear with the hem faced in cloth of gold.

SING SING WARDEN AIDS DARROW'S WAR ON DEATH PENALTY

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—A campaign for the abolition of capital punishment at this session of the New York legislature will be launched tomorrow at a meeting here of the League for the Abolition of Capital Punishment.

Prominent among the leaders of the movement are Clarence Darrow noted criminal lawyer, Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing and Dudley Field Malone. In speaking before the meeting Darrow and Malone plan to attack capital punishment on humanitarian grounds while Lawes will oppose it as a result of his observations during the years he has directed the machinery of Sing Sing prison.

GREAT ELK HERD EN ROUTE TO MASS.

By United Press. FARGO, N. D., Jan. 30.—Transportation of 620 head of Elk from Montana national bison range of Missoula to Middleboro, Mass., is under way, according to Northern Pacific traffic officials.

Railroad officials characterize this as the "greatest single shipment of wild animals of such size ever made in this country."

The government sold the animals to prevent overcrowding of the range to the Elk Breeding and Grazing Association of which Percy R. Jones of Middleboro is president. The association maintains a 15,000 acre game preserve.

Paducahian Takes Position With Minte-Gamel

Dewey McClellan has arrived here from his home at Paducah and accepted a position in the shoe department of the Minte-Gamel Company store here, succeeding J. H. Kimmel who has bought an interest in a local variety store business and will begin active work in the venture tomorrow.

Mr. McClellan before going to Paducah was identified with a big department store at Stephenville, and has had a number of years experience in that business.

Mrs. McClellan will arrive here this week and they will establish their permanent home here.

Beef Canning Is Demonstrated By County Agent

Miss Lela DuBose, county home demonstration agent, has been exceptionally busy throughout this month, and her report will include some special work that has been of more than usual value to the members of the county demonstration clubs.

Miss DuBose conducted beef canning demonstrations at Woodrow and Idalou, canning a beef at each place, each demonstration being well attended.

FARM ENGINEER HELPS WITH PROBLEMS LUBBOCK COUNTY

M. K. Bentley, farm engineer for the extension service, A. & M. College, was here yesterday conferring with David F. Eaton and Miss Lela DuBose, Lubbock county agents.

Mr. Bentley is especially interested in the matter of farm water supplies, and has given a great deal of attention to working out plans for the economical furnishing of every farm home with the conveniences that are enjoyed in the urban home.

PICTURESQUE NAMES ALL THAT REMAINS OF GOLD RUSH CAMPS

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30.—Except for a half dozen or so survivors the picturesque California camps of the "floating fifties" have followed into oblivion the gold seekers who created them.

A few have prospered, a survey by the historical department of the California state library reveals. Hangtown, one of the settlements to weather the years is now the city of Placerville. Angell's Camp also has withstood the march of time.

But the early day camps that have joined the "ghost cities" of the west number at least 150.

Brandy Flat, Brandy Gulch and Delerium Tremens have gone the way of Dead Man's Bar, Chickenhead Diggins and Hell's Delight. Lazy Man's Canyon and Loafer's Retreat are enjoying a long rest. Poverty Flat and Poverty Hill are poor indeed now. Rough and Ready boasts but one family. Timbuctoo consists of but a single family, too, though once it was a bustling camp. Poker Flat lives on, but only because the name was perpetuated in a tale by Bret Harte.

Some of the other camps stripped of their gold and lost in the years are: Barefoot Diggings, Bogus Thundret, Chicken Thief Flat, Chivalry Hill, Churntown, Coarse gold Gulch, Dead Man's Bar, Devil's Basin, Fair Play, Gift Up and Git, Gospel Flat, Grave Yard Canyon, Growler's Flat, Happy Valley, Humbug Canyon and Hungry Camp.

Lousy Ravine, Love Letter Camp, Miller's Defeat, Muzzelle Flat, Murderer's Bar, Pancake Ravine, Pepper Box Flat, Petticoat Slide, Piety Hill, Rag Town, Rat Trap Slide, Red Dog, Secret Town, Seven-Up Ravine, Slap Jack Bar, Sluice Fork, Slungullion, Squabble Town, Swell Head, Diggins, Turnback, Creeks, Yankee Doodle and You Be Dam.

LOUIS HUNGATE JR. IS EMPLOYED BY TEXAS COMPANY

Louis H. Hungate, Jr., has gone to Port Arthur, Texas, where he has been employed in the engineering department of the Texas Oil Company.

Young Hungate, the only son of Louis H. Hungate, who has charge of Santa Fe traffic business in this division, was with the engineers for the Santa Fe in building the Bledsoe line west from Lubbock, and upon completion of the project was immediately employed by the Texas Company.

He graduated from the New Mexico A. and M. College in June, 1925, since which time he has been active

STATES COMBINE IN CLEARING ROADS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Close cooperation between state, county and city administrations is gradually eliminating the annual winter problem of snowbound highways which up to a few years ago prevented expeditious movement of mails, express and ordinary travel.

With the extension of hard surface roads, now largely depended upon for short haul passenger, freight and express movements by truck lines in practically every part of the country, most of the states within the "snow belt" have completely organized the work of removing snow as a traffic obstruction during the long winter months. A total of 21 states of the 35 in the snow area have organized the snow removal work on the principal highways under direct state control.

Texas has 4,272 miles of pipeline for conveying natural gas to be used by people of 120 cities in this state.

Lubbock Morning Avalanche

TO BE CONDUCTED UNDER THE PERSONAL SUPERVISION OF

Mrs. Florence Austin Chase

Heretofore the Fort Worth Star-Telegram has featured Mrs. Chase's service exclusively in this section of the Southwest to the women of that City and section. By special arrangement this newspaper has secured her services for one week in Lubbock.

The Better Homes Exposition which she will conduct and which this newspaper will sponsor should not be confused with the ordinary cooking school, etc., so often held—but a week full of unusual opportunities for the Home-Lovers to SEE HOW to MAKE HOME BETTER—MORE LIVABLE—to see in actual OPERATION the LABOR-SAVING APPLIANCES that have BEEN APPROVED BY MRS. CHASE—to have ideas of cooking and preparation of meals—never before presented by an equal authority in this section.

While the securing of the services of this Nationally known expert was no little matter in financing or efforts—we believe that it will be so beneficial to our City and community that its effects will live years in the memory of those who cherish something really constructive and worth-while.

Watch for the Announcement of Dates

The LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Note: While trying to secure the services of Mrs. Chase this newspaper was informed by her Manager Mr. Cronk of Los Angeles that no other newspaper in a town as small as Lubbock had borne the expense of her services. But as a Lubbock Institution—this newspaper believes there's nothing too good for its citizens—and that the extra expense entailed would be readily offset by the greater good to be derived.

SHORT COURSE LECTURERS GO TO HEREFORD

WILL COMPLETE WORK IN TEXAS THERE AND LEAVE FOR COLORADO

Having successfully completed their work in Lubbock, the staff of lecturers for the International Harvester Company who conducted the Farmers Short Course at the First Baptist Church here Friday and Saturday, entrained yesterday for Hereford where they will present their last community program of this season in Texas.

Staff manager L. A. Hawkins, assistant manager H. G. Janssen and Mrs. Gordon W. Randlett of the International Harvester Company were accompanied to Kress by Dean A. H. Leidigh of the department of agriculture of the Texas Technological College, here, where Mr. Leidigh and Mrs. Randlett spoke at a community meeting that was held last night. Dean Leidigh was called upon to carry on the work of E. B. Eberhart of the International Harvester Company, who is in a local hospital suffering with influenza. He returned to his home here early this morning from Kress.

Messrs. Hawkins and Janssen did not appear on the program at Kress but went to Amarillo where they will spend this afternoon and will go to Hereford early Monday to complete arrangements for the two days short course sponsored by the Hereford Chamber of Commerce. The International Harvester Company representatives have done some wonderful work in this section and better farm conditions will doubtless reflect the value of their work far into the future.

Gus Collett was here yesterday from his farm home southeast of town and reported that he has started farming for a bumper crop in 1926. Mr. Collett has been farming in Lubbock County during the past eight years and believes that early preparation of the soil is necessary for best production.

Poultry Industry Shows Wonderful Advancements during the Past Year According to Data Gathered

By E. S. SHOAF
Special Correspondent to Lubbock Morning Avalanche

LOCKNEY, Tex., Jan. 30.—The poultry industry upon the South Plains has made great strides in the past year, every county has shown a substantial increase both in number of breeders and fowls. Floyd county has led all West Texas counties since the government census of 1910 and showed a gain of 16 per cent in 1925. There was over a million pounds of poultry and approximately 50,000 cases of eggs produced and marketed in Floyd county last year, many farm women paid their grocery and clothing bills and had money left over from the sale of chickens and eggs. There has been a 15,000 egg incubator installed at Floydada which will do custom hatching, and it is expected that one of approximately the same capacity will be installed at Lockney before the hatching season is under way. There are several breeders around Lockney and Floydada and Lockney that raise from 200 to a thousand fowls annually. The Floyd County Poultry Association will furnish eggs free to its club boys and girls, the chickens hatched are to be raised under the direction of the home demonstration agent, and the county agent, the only requirement of the association is that the club member show at least three of the fowls raised at the annual poultry show in December which is held at Lockney. The Floyd county breeders prefer the general purpose fowls to the lighter breeds and the Wyandottes, Rhode Island Reds and the Plymouth Rocks predominate.

Crosby county shows a gain of 15 per cent and many improvements were made in 1925. S. A. Guy of Crosbyton has converted his Cap Rock Jersey farm into a poultry ranch. Mr. Guy has imported 3000 English White Leghorn females and 200 males, he will specialize in the hatching of baby chicks, and has installed a 15,000 egg incubator to handle the trade and will install another one if the business demands it. This farm is said to be the largest and best equipped in West Texas and has one laying house which is 35 feet wide and 159 feet long. A sun-hatchery has also been installed at Crosbyton, and there are a number of farmers throughout the county that raise a large number of fowls annually.

Lubbock county has shown a gain of 42 per cent and the city of Lubbock is the largest concentrating point on the plains, there is one poultry house that employs twenty people, and the money paid out annually is a considerable sum. There has been a large hatchery installed at Slaton and Lubbock and it is expected that the business will be so large that expansions will be necessary before the hatching season is over. The White Leghorns predominate in this county as most farmers cater to the egg trade.

Lynn, Terry, Hockley, Lamb, Swisher and Briscoe counties all show a good gain for 1925 and the money derived from the sales of poultry and eggs in these counties are enormous. The general purpose fowls predominate.

Hale county has ranked second in production since the 1910 census and its gain for 1925 was 14 per cent. Plainview like Lubbock is a great concentrating point for poultry there being several production houses that ship in car lots to Eastern markets. There has been much activity in the county the past year in the way of improvements of houses and flocks. A White Leghorn farm has been installed just outside of the city limits of Plainview and several hundred females are kept for egg production.

Poultry production on the South Plains ranks third in dollars and cents, there being only two industries that bring more money into the pockets of the producers. Small grain is first and cotton second, and if gains continue it seems that if poultry will some day be first.

POST OFFICE GRANTED HURLWOOD; HORTON IS POSTMASTER
HURLWOOD, Jan. 30.—Word has just been received by Claude B. Hurlbut and G. K. Horton, owners of the townsite of Hurlwood, that a post office has been granted for Hurlwood. This will give the people living in the west part of the county mail service, which they badly needed. G. K. Horton, was appointed postmaster.

Diges of Late Decisions of Higher Court of Texas

Chickens—Authority of City to Prohibit Running at Large.

A city incorporated under the general laws, does not have authority to pass an ordinance making it a penal offense for the owner or person in charge of chickens to permit them to run at large within the corporate limits of the city under article 860, which provides for prohibition from running at large of horses, mules, cattle, sheep, swine and goats, because this article restricts the power of prohibition to the animals named alone.

Contract—Abandonment.
Upon abandonment of a contract by one of the parties thereto, the other party, if not at fault, may rescind such contract, and by restoring or offering to restore to the defaulting party such benefits as may have been received under the contract by the party rescinding, may recover of the defaulting party the value of such property as may have been furnished to the defaulting party in pursuance of the contract by such rescinding party. In such circumstances there arises independent of the expressed obligations of the contract, an implied obligation on the part of the defaulting party to pay to the rescinding party the value of the property so furnished at the time it was furnished.

Oil and Gas—Joint Ownership.
Where two persons own an undivided interest in the oil or other minerals under a tract of land, and one consented to the exploration of such tract by an oil company under a lease which had expired, but the other protested, the consent of the one party would not preclude the other from recovering damages against the oil company upon its failure to discover oil on the tract, it being shown that the land could have been leased prior to the drilling of the last well. The damage would be the value of the leasehold right before the entry and exploration of the oil company under the expired lease.

Partners—Liability of Retiring Partner.
A retiring partner is not released from the existing liabilities of the partnership even through there be an agreement between himself and his former partners that the latter shall become responsible for such liabilities, unless there has been in addition thereto an express agreement with the creditors of the partnership to the same effect.

Real Estate—Rents Under Vendor's Lien.

Where a person buys real estate subject to a vendor's lien, he is entitled to the use and occupation and to the rents of the premises that accrue before he loses title in some mode provided by law, and in case of a foreclosure, he retains title until the land is purchased under a statutory sale.

Wills—Disposition of Community Estate.

Where the maker of a will therein disposed of property which was community property of himself and wife, the surviving widow must elect whether she will take by the will or renounce the will and take her community interest. If the widow in due time causes the will to be properly probated, and files an inventory and takes possession of the lands or property devised to her, this is held to be an election. The election to take under the will cuts off the community interest.

Waltonians Meet At City Hall Monday Night

Robert A. Sowder, secretary of the Lubbock Club of the Isaac Walton League, has announced that a meeting of the club will be held at the city hall Monday evening at which time it is hoped that a large number of the members will be in attendance.

"This is your league and if you don't look after it we might as well empty the coffee grounds on the fire and whistle for the pup," Sowder told each member of the club in his written announcement of the meeting Monday evening.

DALTON MURDER CASE SET FOR TRIAL MONDAY

NO ACTION EXPECTED AS VENUE MOTIONS MAY BE GRANTED

Much speculation is being made about the disposition that will be made of the murder charges held against Ed Walker and Will (Dutch) Luman, of Garza County, growing out of the fatal shooting of Roy C. Dalton, Lubbock and Garza County ranchman.

Dalton was killed at the Luman arm home five miles from Southland on the morning of March 15th, following which Walker and Luman were arrested and were later indicted by the Garza County grand jury.

The cases are set down for trial in the 72nd Judicial District Court here Monday, but according to court officials there is little probability of their going to trial at this time.

Defense attorneys will file motions for change of venue cases out of this county because of the close proximity to the scene of the alleged murder and because of the fact that the deceased had been reared in this county and was well known, according to information received here yesterday. This action has been expected, and there are some technicalities involved that will doubtless give legal support to this motion.

No special venire for jury selection has been ordered, and this has been taken as indication that the cases will be passed to another term or transferred from this county.

A Federal Bureau of Education similar to the United States Bureau of Education, for the purpose of collecting and diffusing information respecting education generally, is urged for Australia by the Australian Teachers' Federation.

Farm Improvements Shown At Short Course

Many ways of making the farm a more pleasant place to live and to gain more profits from farm work were pointed out to those attending the agricultural short course here that was conducted by representatives of the International Harvester Company under the auspices of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

The following cuts show some points that were explained by the speakers:

THE COW BEFORE THE JURY
THE MILK SCALES BARCOCK TEST FEED RECORD MILK RECORD
THIS JURY WILL RENDER A FAIR DECISION WILL IT BE TO THE BUTCHER OR BACK TO THE BARN

E. T. Ebersol, of the International Harvester Company, said: "No man can know, absolutely, the value of a cow until she has been before the infallible jury, consisting of the milk scales, the Babcock test, the feed record and the milk record."

"The verdict of the jury enables you to know whether the cow is returning less than her cost; just playing even with you; or is actually making for you a fair return for the feed consumed, the labor expended and interest on your money."

The speakers emphasized the use of milk. The chart shows two tests which were fed exactly alike except one had cottonseed oil and the other had butter fat. The rat fed cottonseed oil could not grow because it received no vitamins.

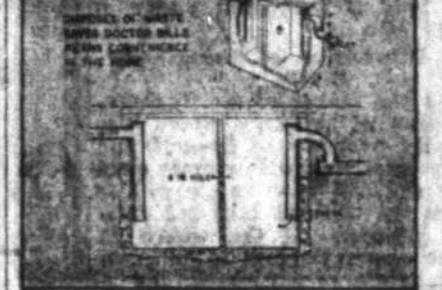

to develop a strong body, steady nerves, and a vigorous mind. In addition to furnishing the health-giving, growth-promoting vitamines which all children must have, milk supplies plenty of lime in an easily digested form.

This was one of the charts used at the agricultural community short course.

A septic tank is not complicated and does not require an expert to build it. Any farmer who can mix cement can have a septic tank for his home. It costs little; it lasts for years; it needs cleaning only once in a great while; it makes the farm home sanitary; it saves work for the housewife.

Peddlers and Monuments

Show this to the next Peddler who tells you he sells all the monuments here

We have been in business in Lubbock over 5 years, during this time there has been 16 monuments placed here by dealers located elsewhere, these 16 were divided between 5 dealers, no one man selling more than 3 monuments, except one man who has sold 10 (including 3 being delivered now out of these 10 sales only TWO buyers considered our line.

These 8 buyers who did not consider our line doubtless had good reasons best known to themselves, we do not question or criticize their acts, we are simply stating facts to show the excellent record which we have made, in only TWO cases have we lost a sale to an outside concern where we were given any consideration whatever.

There are several reasons for this good record, and lack of competition is NOT one of them, First, we give you good honest materials and workmanship, no better can be had, no matter where you go; Second, our prices are consistently low, the outside dealer cannot pay agents commissions, local freight, and other added expenses where work is sold and delivered at a distance and compete with us, it simply can't be done. Last but by no means the least, is the loyalty of the Lubbock people to their home merchants they all believe in trying the home dealer first; And we assure you that we appreciate this spirit, and we shall as long as we are in business, continue our policy of the square deal towards our customers.

EDERSOL SUFFERING WITH INFLUENZA AT HOSPITAL

E. T. Ederzol, a member of the staff of the International Harvester Company Farmers Short Course school, is seriously ill at the West Texas Hospital.

Mr. Ederzol was not able to fill all his speaking appointments here as a result of an attack of influenza, but remained at his work through the short course that was held here until Friday morning when his condition was such that it was necessary for him to go to the hospital.

It is believed that he will be able to leave the hospital within one week, in which case he will go to Alamosa, Colorado, to join the other members of the staff in a Farmers Short Course and community program.

CONWAY TEARLE IS TIME-SAVING BUYER

Conway Tearle, considered one of the best-groomed men of the screen, shops as he dresses, conservatively and regularly. He knows exactly what he wants before he enters a shop, so that he conserves time, energy and money, all three of which are wasted so extravagantly on shopping to-day, whenever he goes to the shop. Mr. Tearle plays the leading role in "The Mystic," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production coming to the Lyric Monday and Tuesday.

(By Conway Tearle)

In shopping, I have learned that knowing at least approximately what you want before you enter a shop saves not only time and a lot of energy, but actually means money in one's pocket. At least you have not suddenly thrust before you a lot of new things out of which you finally choose something or other in a dazed sort of way, only to find, when you take it home, that it is really not the sort of thing you should wear at all. With the result that you either have to take it back and lose more time and energy, or keep it and lose money!

For instance, everyone knows, or should know, what styles best suit his particular type and then make that a basis of his new wardrobe whenever he goes shopping. I, for one, know that I look best in dark blue, double-breasted suits, so that the visits to my tailor usually mean re-ordering the same style and type suit I usually wear, with little variations here and there, according to the new mode. But in the main, the basis of my wardrobe may be said to be dark blue, double-breasted suits, though, of course, there are other suits I wear, too.

In ties, too, I have a decided preference for one style. I am very fond of bow ties, having all kinds of color combinations to choose from, but preferring the new polka dotted bow ties, so fashionable now.

Being well dressed, however, consists more in being immaculately groomed than in being clothed in the very newest top-notch style. You will find that the man who appears dressed in distinction and good taste is usually one who is conservatively styled, but whose clothes are of good quality, fine tailoring, well pressed and brushed, and otherwise immaculate in appearance. Owning only one finely made and well-kept is infinitely more value in making a well-groomed appearance than owning several suits whose quality and workmanship give one a cheap appearance.

CHANEY'S NEXT BY SWEDISH NOVELIST

Selma Lagerlof, the famous Swedish novelist, who has become so popular in America as she is in Europe.

Many motion picture directors, who have followed European film production closely, believe that "Gösta Berling's Saga," made by the Svenska Film Industrie, Stockholm, Sweden, is one of the best, if not the best, European films ever produced.

The film was a screen adaptation of Selma Lagerlof's first novel and like the book the picture was a sensation abroad. Incidentally it went a long way towards creating for Svenska Film Industrie the great reputation which it has since enjoyed.

Louis B. Mayer, head of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, while abroad recently secured the film rights to "The Emperor of Portugal," Miss Lagerlof's prize-winning novel, and it has been filmed under the direction of Victor Sjöström with Len Chaney and Norma Shearer in the starring roles.

The picture, produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is to play at the Palace Theatre on Monday. It was adapted to the screen by Agnes Christine Johnson, one of the best known continuity writers, and in its translation for picture purposes is said to have lost none of its original charm.

"The Tower of Lies" was directed by Victor Sjöström, one of the great Scandinavian directors now with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and who was responsible for the great screen success, "He Who Gets Slapped." Chaney has the role of Jan, the aged and mildly insane "emperor," while Norma Shearer portrays the role of "Gully." The part of Katrina was very wisely entrusted to Claire Bennett, who has just completed her role as the mother of "Sun Hat" in the great production of that name now being filmed under the direction of Fred Niblo.

Incidentally, it might be mentioned that Director Sjöström made his directorial debut in Sweden, and with the Svenska Film Industrie, which gave "Gösta Berling's Saga" to the film world. He has closely followed the literary career of Selma Lagerlof and regards "The Emperor of Portugal" as the best work she has contributed to modern literature.

The remainder of the cast of this picture are: Ian Keith, Claire McDowell, William Haines, David Torrence, Edward Connelly, Anne Schaefer, Bessie Rosing and Len White.

THE HUNTER THREW THE HELPLESS HYENA INTO THE CAVE AND CLOSED THE DOOR. HE WAS TALKING TO THE CREATURE IN A MOCKING VOICE. 'Twas Hyena himself who was frightened. Peter could tell that from the sound of his cries.

"Ho, he, Tiger Wolf! Is this the way to treat a guest? I have walked many a weary mile to find you. Will you not give me so much as a bit of greeting? Shame upon you, Laughing Hyena! And I have brought you a present, too; such a fine present! Were you a lion, now, you should have a bullet from the gun that never misses. Had I been coming to see a Tiger I should not have dared to offer him less than a gleaming sword. To a leopard I would have presented my spear. But to you, my spotted one, I bring only a handful of mud!"

"Ho, ho, ho! Ha, ha, ha! Hee, hee, hee!" shrieked Hyena, raising with fury and the little brown Head Hunter shook with rage.

"Only a handful of mud, my pretty one, but it is to make you more beautiful! What? You will not come out to get it? Must I come into your den? Very well, then, so be it. I enter to give it to you. Ah! Your gleaming eyes! They guide me!"

The little brown Head Hunter crawled into the cave. Hyena was leaping no longer. He was moaning and groaning and trying to escape his tormentor. Peter heard him shuffling around. A sudden yell of fright and pain, as when out of the cave came the Hunter dragging poor Hyena behind him.

"I am blind! I am blind!" wailed the poor captive, rolling his head from side to side, too bewildered to even try to run away.

"To be sure you are," chuckled the little Head Hunter. "That's what I threw the mud straight into your eyes for. I am a good shot, hey, Hyena? Now you are going for aride, but you will never come back. Say goodby to the old home cave. You have stolen our cattle, played tricks upon us for a long while. Now we are going to throw stones at you. How will you like that?"

Hyena groaned. Peter, powerless to help the poor fellow, had to watch while the Hunter tied Hyena's paws together, muzzled his mouth, tossed his helpless form over his shoulders and trotted off with his prize.

"All bet, Hyena wishes now he'd been an honest beast. Poor fellow, I feel sorry for him—even if he does deserve the punishment that's coming to him!" thought Peter as he watched the Head Hunter and Hyena out of sight.

PREACHES BAREFOOT ON ICY PAVEMENT

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 30—Bare of feet, on even the coldest days of winter, Claybourne Martin, colored evangelist may be seen night after night, seven nights a week exhorting crowds on Cleveland's downtown corners to heed the homelier virtues.

He stands on icy snow-covered slabs of stone, and aims hot shots at modern life. Three times this winter his talks have attracted such crowds that he has been arrested for blocking the traffic.

Martin had a vision when he was a little lad he told the United Press. He was ordered to go bare headed and barefooted and preach the gospel. He has been following his orders for nearly half a century.

J. W. WHITFILL LIQUOR CASES TO BE TRIED

DEFENDANT SUMMONED TO APPEAR IN DISTRICT COURT MONDAY

J. W. (Shorty) Whitfill, Lubbock county farmer who was arrested at Floydada on the day following Christmas after a 200-gallon capacity still was found on his farm five miles northeast of Lubbock on Christmas day, will go to trial in the 72nd Judicial District Court here this week on two charges of violating the prohibition law.

One of the counts on which Whitfill was indicted charges possession of intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale, while the other charges manufacture of intoxicating liquor.

Whitfill was lodged in the Lubbock County jail here following his arrest and at an examining trial in Justice Johnson's court was granted bail in the amount of one thousand dollars on each charge. He was indicted in Dawson County in 1925 on three counts, and is under bond in the amount of one thousand dollars in each of these cases, bringing the total bond under which he is held to five thousand dollars.

Whitfill's case is to be called after disposition has been made of the Ed Walker and Will Luman cases, and it is believed by court attaches that he will go to trial not later than Tuesday morning.

HERE are two of fildom's greatest stars in a page from the book of life itself. A picture you will take to your heart—a tale of tangled love, a father's sacrifice, woman's betrayal—life's sunshine and tears.

Out of these truths, Victor Seastrom has woven authentic drama—soul-stirring, vivid, passionate! The matchless talents that made possible "HE Who Gets Slapped"—Shearer, Chaney, Seastrom—now achieve an even greater triumph in a screen attraction that will make motion picture history.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

Mother Has Mania for Listening in on Party Line

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We live in the country and are on a party line with a lot of others and the phones are busy all the time. Our mother just listens at the phone all the time and it is pretty awful. As far back as I can remember as a child she did not care about anything but listening to what the people on the line have to say. She does not go any place, even to the neighbors if she is invited. She would rather sit at home and listen and tell them she is too busy with her work. She looks the meals as quickly as possible, does not care how the table is set, and her beds look terrible. Yet she always tells us she is too busy to make them up. I am sure the neighbors know she is listening, as I have overheard their conversations about times when she has been listening and has put the rest of the phones out of commission so they could not carry on a conversation, because she is using up the listening properties. We have all asked her to quit, but I think it is such an old habit she just can't stop. She always complains about how nervous she is and is more so if someone is at the phone and she can't listen. She is listening when I go to school and still listening when I come home. I feel guilty in writing this, but I look to you as the only advice I can seek. She is kind to us and wishes us the best in the world, yet my sister, who also goes to school, has threatened to leave home because she feels so embarrassed when her boy friends come. I stop in at my chum's place on the way home from school and his mother has to be nice and clean and always has good, eatable food, but my mother never makes anything out of the ordinary and I blame it all on that most dreadful habit of hers. What would you do?

FARM BOY

Possibly loneliness of a sort you do not understand is at the bottom of this mania of hers. If some way could be managed to persuade her to get out with her neighbors more, if something could be found that would interest her so vitally that it would take her out amongst her fellow-farmers, in spite of herself, she would be a different woman. Doubtless your mother feels she does no harm in listening and undoubtedly does not realize it is a sneaky way of finding out the other fellow's business. Your mother needs your pity and your help a lot and you have guessed rightly that she has formed a habit it will be hard to break. But it is worth trying to break, even unto having the phone removed until it is brought about if necessary. Maybe if you and your sister see that the table is set better, the beds are beautifully made and the food nicely cooked, it will shame her into doing better. At all events try to keep her mind diverted and bring her all the news you can make and scrape so you can engage and keep her interest on listening to you instead of her neighbors—who are assured in their claim that she wears out the listening properties of the party line, by the way.

Should She Reveal Her Past?—A Man Answers

A correspondent, Worried Blue Eyes, asked me if a girl, "with a past" should tell about her errors when she finds a man she loves, and who wants to marry her. Various young men have written me in response to her letter, and the following is representative of their views:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I don't think "Worried, Blue Eyes" should feel as she does about her past. For I think a man should overlook a misfortune that has come her way, as we all know that misfortunes will happen to the best of us. I may be old-fashioned in my beliefs, but I feel that it is best to let the past be forgotten. I believe in a girl as she is today and not what she was years ago. So I think if she can find a man whom she loves and he loves her, her misfortune of the past need not interfere with her happy married life.

RAYMOND

I am glad to be able to say, "Worried Blue Eyes," that young men appear to be more liberal in regard to this matter than they once were.

B. A.: Foolish girl! Your first worries should be your condition and a name for your child. I think you should take your mother into your confidence at once, for she can help you more than any one else will. You have forfeited the love of this other boy for whom you long, and even if you weren't in trouble, it would be idle to build hopes upon the prospect of marrying a young man who won't be free for nearly four years. Yes, tell your mother. Unless she is minus every vestige of motherly love, she will not turn you out, but will help you all she can.

Serious: I agree with you. No woman should be so narrow minded as to refuse to accompany her husband to decent shows where he enjoys them so much, and wants her company. That is becoming a fanatic about religion. Surely she should realize that in carrying her personal beliefs to such lengths as

HAPPY JACK JENKS PLAYS LUBBOCK FAVORITES MONDAY AT THE LINDSEY

HAPPY JACK JENKS Meet Him Monday at Lindsey

Happy Jack Jenks and his famous players, Lubbock favorites, will open their engagement Monday night at the Lindsey Theatre in that great play "The Power of Mother Love." Regardless of the good plays you have seen, we predict you will place "Mother Love," most indelibly in your pleasant memories. No production in the endless, shuffling parade of plays that have passed the reviewing stand since the season began can compare in memorable beauty. The play reaches thrilling heights and profoundly stirs audiences with its pathos. A great play is a phrase so overworked as to be utterly trite, yet we cannot withhold it from one which so honestly you describe, she is alienating her husband's love and regard.

Blue Eyes: Such a silly thing to fall out over! There's nothing wrong about an unmarried woman taking her escort's arm; it even is expected in some circumstances. He owes you an apology for his rudeness.

A Definition of "Petting"

The other day I asked what my readers understand is meant by the term "petting." This is what one woman (married) says:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I think "petting" is a habit acquired by both men and women. In all of us there is a certain amount of emotion and affection. Petting is a method of expressing emotion, instead of affection as it should be. I do not believe "petting" to be more than "kissing and hugging," but I do believe "petting" leads to baser emotions which cause some of our best young people to be immoral. I have been guilty of "petting" with only one man, and that is my husband.

MRS. M. H. P.

M. H. W.: There are library books with outlines of the kind of speech you want to make. Ask a librarian to help you.

Just Jack: Your remarks addressed to "Toddie Femina" are vulgar and uncalled for. It's no wonder you are lonely.

call it as "The Power of Mother Love."

Mr. Whitney Collins has done more than write a remarkable drama he has rendered a service to his country and to the cause of civilization. It is a true story of peculiar spiritual exaltation, yet you laugh more helplessly, more flagrantly and more continuously than ever before in your life.

As an extra added attraction there are four big acts of vaudeville, interspersed between acts, which eliminate any waits. Also a singing orchestra, and the picture program, all at popular prices.

The Happy Jack Jenks Players are sure to prove themselves more popular than ever as Lubbock favorites. The doors are open at 6:30 p. m. The curtain rises promptly at 8 o'clock.

STUDY HANDWRITING BEFORE MARRIAGE

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Do your a's and o's look sloppy and open? If so, you are a gossip.

Mrs. Herbert C. Hall, Cook county graphologist (in plain words, a handwriting expert), says that sloppy a's and o's usually denote "gossip."

Mrs. Hall says that she can tell more from your handwriting than most friends know about you. And here's some advice she gives to young people:

"Don't ever get married until you see a love letter and find out what the handwriting shows."

If she dots her i's high above the letter she is inclined to be gossip and observant, Mrs. Hall says.

"Now as to the young gentleman: if he writes with a wavering baseline, he is battling with himself and probably won't amount to much."

"Writing which slants to the right shows a poetic sensitive nature."

According to Mrs. Hall the t's, a's and g's are a dead give away to your character.

Vaudeville acts in connection with Sunday evening services have been discontinued by the First Baptist church of Erie, Pa., after giving the innovation a trial.

A GREATER TELEPHONE SYSTEM FOR TEXAS

Telephone News

A Journal of Telephone Information Published by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company

Vol. 1 No. 1

24,500 NEW TELEPHONES

More than $11,500,000 will be spent in Texas for additional telephone equipment

According to present estimates more than 24,500 new telephones will be added to the Southwestern System in Texas during 1926. This gain will be the net result of disconnecting 62,100 telephones and connecting 86,600.

The total cost of this work including all other additions to telephone equipment in the State will be approximately $11,500,000, or almost $1,000,000 a month.

OUTSIDE CONSTRUCTION

Aerial construction, which includes poles, wires and cable, will cost about $3,761,800. This will be required for extending and rebuilding toll lines and for stringing new cable in exchange areas.

Underground construction, carried on for the most part in large cities, will involve the expenditure of approximately 125,900. This will be spent on underground conduit and cables.

Land and buildings together with additions to switchboards and other central office and station equipment will cost around $6,706,000.

This extensive program will keep the telephone development in Texas on a par with its rapid progress in other lines of industry.

San Antonio reached by C. N. & S. A. Railway, January 15, 1927.

A NEW SERVICE

The simplified method of placing long distance calls by giving the distant telephone number direct to the local operator is rapidly gaining favor with telephone users. This service is applicable on long distance station-to-station calls where the calling party knows the number of the desired telephone.

When the local operator asks, "Number, please," the subscriber gives her the number of the distant town or city and the number of the desired telephone; for example, "Erie, Oklahoma 456." In most cases the connection is made while the subscriber remains on the line.

The new method is faster and more convenient. This is particularly true on calls to nearby points. Try it the next time you call.

EDITORIAL
Purpose of the News

This newspaper, within a newspaper, will devote itself exclusively to telephone news. Possibly we should have said telephone "information," because there is, and always has been, some disagreement among great editors as to what "news" is.

The word NEWS has never been clearly defined. At least there is no accepted definition. John L. Green, in his book "Making a Newspaper," says, "news is fresh information of something that has lately taken place." Will Irwin, in an article "What is News," says news is "a departure from the established order."

Possibly this paper will not print strictly NEWS. It will endeavor, however, to interest its readers with information about the telephone which enters the life of almost everyone so intimately and is, in addition, an agency of comfort, convenience and necessity.

OPERATORS

In the State of Texas there are 600 Bell operators who handle 1,200,000 local calls and 30,000 toll calls daily.

To thousands of people whom she serves, the telephone operator is only a voice.

Yet so completely has she mastered the fine art of making her voice project her personality that it cannot but carry to the listening ear some hint of the spirit which motivates her the highly skilled public servant she is.

1876-1926 THE TELEPHONE IS FIFTY YEARS OLD

AUTO RACE TRACK IS WANTED HERE

FAIR PARK IS MENTIONED AS BEST LOCATION

INTEREST IN THRILLING SPORT TURNS ATTENTION TO THIS PROJECT

Particular interest is centering about the possibilities of building an automobile race track near Lubbock, with a great deal of favor shown the grounds of the Panhandle South Plains Fair as the most likely site for the track.

Automobile men have discussed the proposition a great deal and directors of the South Plains Fair Association have declared themselves in favor of building a track at the fair grounds, providing an investigation will find it feasible.

"I am confident the board of directors will give the possibilities of building a race track at the fair park all possible consideration, and if they can make some arrangements for financing the project there is no reason why it should not be completed," one of the members said yesterday.

Those who have given attention to the need for such race track here and who realize the amusement automobile races afford, believe there will be no great difficulty experienced in financing the project, and that regular race events to be given at least once each month will draw such large crowds that the money involved in the building of the track will prove a profitable investment.

Number of Racing Cars Being Built Here

At least three specially built racing cars are being assembled here at this time, and it is but natural that the owners of these cars will wish some place to "air 'em out" when the spring weather comes and the thrill of ninety miles per hour is necessary to the normal pulsebeat of the good sportsman. These cars are of the lighter type and will be seen on the highways in this vicinity during the spring, regardless of whether or not the race track is built.

It is the consensus of opinion among sport fans here that a num-

Texas State Board of Health Weekly News Letter

Texas Has a Chance to Get Into Registration Area.

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—That Texas may have a chance to get into the registration area of the United States this year, was stated by W. H. Lackey, special agent of the United States Bureau of Census, who was in the state recently conferring with officials of the State Board of Health relative to plans for conducting a registration test by the federal government some time within the next six months.

Tentative plans call for an intensive state-wide birth and death registration campaign to be conducted by the State Board of Health over a period of several months, following which the "test" will be made by the Bureau of Census to determine if 90 per cent of births and deaths are being recorded. If this test, which provides for information to be secured by the Census Bureau from various independent sources, proves successful, then Texas will be admitted into the registration area.

Texas Does Not Exist Statistically. Although there is a state law requiring all births and deaths to be registered, this law is not being fully complied with by those entrusted with this obligation, and failure to do so prevents Texas statistics being made a part of the records of the United States.

At present, 31 states are included in the birth and 39 states in the death registration area. "Every state in the registration area by 1930," is the slogan being used by the government, and the co-operation of everybody is asked by the State Board of Health in putting Texas in this area in 1926.

During 1925, approximately 74 per cent of births were reported to the state department of vital statistics, the reports on deaths making a somewhat better showing. The state law requires the birth of every child to be reported within five days.

Number of professional race car drivers can be brought to Lubbock by the setting of special dates for racing events that will correspond with schedules at Abilene, Amarillo, Haskell and other places where tracks have been built and where racing events have become popular.

after birth by the physician or midwife in charge of the case. You can help in this campaign by ascertaining if your own children and the children of your neighbors are registered. Help at Texas in the registration area.

State Health Officer Discusses Milk Sanitation.

A state-wide milk sanitation program was discussed by Dr. H. O. Sappington, state health officer, at the recent meeting in Fort Worth of the eighth Annual School for Texas Water Works Operators, milk sanitation being one of the new courses added to the school. "In the past," Dr. Sappington stated, "the widest variance has existed in the methods adopted by states and municipalities to secure safe and wholesome milk, a survey made in Texas a few years back revealing some 60 ordinances with different regulations covering milk production and distribution.

"As a forward step in unifying measures for the safeguarding of this important food, the State Board of Health adopted the milk sanitation ordinance recommended by the United States Public Health Service, and to date, has been successful in obtaining the adoption of this standard ordinance by some 20 municipalities of the state."

Milk Sanitation Lowers Infant Death Rate.

"Milk," Mr. Sappington further stated, "as we all know is the best all round food obtainable, but unless care is taken that it be produced under proper sanitary conditions, it may also become one of the greatest disease-carrying vehicles known. If strict milk sanitation ordinances were adopted by all local municipalities, it is highly probable that the infant death rate in Texas would be cut half in two."

"Believing that safe milk would materially aid in the promotion of public health in the state, the State Board of Health has made a state-wide milk sanitation program one of its major activities for 1926. Dysentery, a disease most common to children, and which is usually caused by dirty milk or a contaminated water supply, decreased last year in the state 64 per cent. It is confidently hoped that further progress along the program of milk sanitation will result in a much larger reduction of this disease this year.

"The public conscience has been awakened and it is believed that milk sanitation along uniform lines for the entire nation is now within sight. At the close of the fiscal year, the report of the surgeon general of the United States shows that eight states and 53 cities had adopted uniform measures for the sanitation of milk. It is gratifying to know that Texas is one of the eight states, and that 20 of the cities are in Texas."

PASSAGE TO RUSSIA FOR FOUR FAMILIES PAID BY LADY ASTOR

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Lady Astor's announcement, bluff, some thought it, that she would pay the passage to Russia of any family that was willing to reside there has been taken up. Not one family is going, it is understood, but four. Immediately after Lady Astor's declaration in the course of a speech at Plymouth that she would pay the passage to Russia of any family that was willing to guarantee that they would "stick it" she received some thirty requests for further information. This was promptly supplied. Thereafter ensued an ominous silence until finally out of the thirty-four replies came back they were willing to chance it.

After thinking it over Lady Astor decided to finance the passage of all four families, although she had originally intended to send only one. The successful applicants are now seeing about their passports and should start shortly. No further applications, said Lady Astor, would be considered.

BIRDS NEST SAFELY ON GHOSTLY LEDGE

POMEROY, O., Jan. 30.—In full view of this little Ohio River town today there is a bird sanctuary where slingshots and air rifles are unknown. No boy goes about the place. This was promptly supplied. Thereafter ensued an ominous silface of a 200 foot cliff in the rear of the town, with a ghostly history that has been handed down for more than sixty years.

Sixty years ago, Fred Hoffman, a 10 year old boy climbing about these cliffs, discovered a bleached human skeleton lying stretched at full length on the narrow shelf with bird's nests built around it.

Hoffman and his companions ran to the court house and told the county officials. The skeleton was lowered and buried in an unmarked grave.

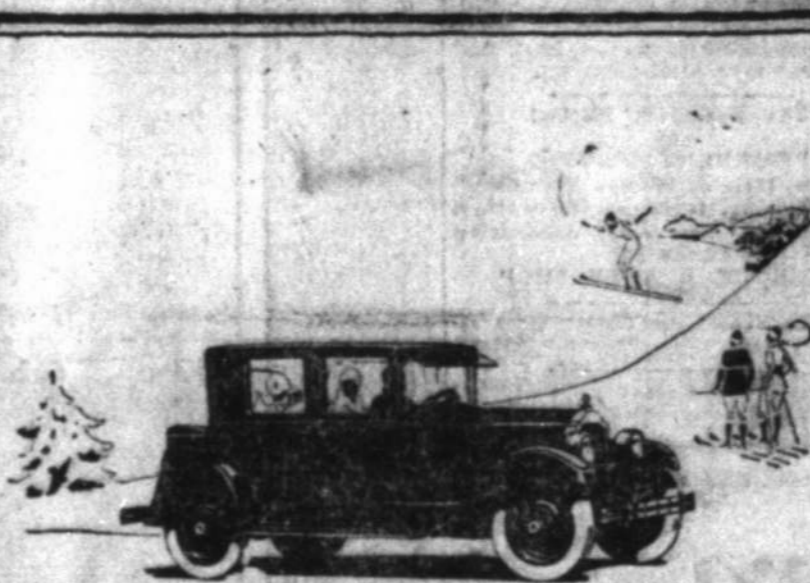

Since then the birds nest unmo- lested on the ledge.

Mrs. Frank Hullings of Camden, N. J., sued for divorce, because her husband went on "5 and 10 cent store sprees," buying all the knick knacks in sight.

Are You Being Sold or Served?

IS your motor car maker serving you or selling you—which? Does he intrigue you with yearly models and rash promises or does he protect your investment?

To serve means a new car only every four or five years—or more. To sell means a new car every year or two—or even less!

Packard is in the business of serving—knowing that those who serve best will never want for sales.

Evidently the public appreciates that Packard is serving, for more than twice as many Packard Six cars were bought in 1925 as in 1924.

The Packard Six with all its comfort, beauty and distinction is not high in price—for example, the five-passenger sedan costs but $2585 at the factory. And there is a liberal monthly payment plan which removes the last reason why anyone should not be served by a Packard Six.

The Packard Six may be had in nine beautiful, distinctive body types, four open and five enclosed.

YOU CAN'T WIN!

"Sheik Bandit" Learns at Last

By W. Y. FERROL
Central Press Correspondent
CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—The handsome of Martin J. Durkin, murderous two-run "sheik bandit," is withering.

His smile is fading.
He is making fewer "wise cracks"
to police officers who have him under close guard.

The romance which he seeks to emphasize about his startling career is becoming revealing.

The lesson that Martin J. Durkin has learned at his mother's knee is sinking in: You can't win! Crime doesn't pay!

Durkin is no Robin Hood, no Jesse James. Officers say he is of the same ilk as Gerald Chapman, a covard at heart who never gave any man he faced a fair chance for life, but always stood his two guns without a waver of courage.

State's attorneys, as they prepare the case against him, hope they can rid the trial of sentimentality and try Durkin not as a handsome youth who loved and was loved by beautiful women, but as a confirmed criminal. They believe they have drawn a net around him strong enough to send him to the gallows.

Durkin has been regarded as one of the most notorious and daring criminals of the present day. Six times he has shot officers, two of them mortally. Another man who attempted to trap him also was killed.

His known exploits have covered less than two years. With one Betty Werner, who had a baby, he made a trip to California after shooting two policemen. The second trip he found off two policemen as they found him stealing an automobile in Sacramento.

Betty Aided Escape
Later he was caught and led into the police chief's office. It is said that Betty sauntered into police headquarters hall and began to dance. The policemen watched and then Betty suddenly slammed the door of the room where Durkin was held. The lock caught, and her sweetheart jumped out the window safely.

It was in the summer of 1925 that Chicago police were sure they had Durkin. He had returned to Chicago from California in his stolen car with Betty Werner, who was his sweetheart before he became enamored of his present wife, Irma Sullivan, 18, who was with him when he was captured. Durkin's car was in a garage in Chicago. Edward C.
Shanahan, a government agent, with detectives and police, were sent to watch the garage.

Durkin drove in. Shanahan walked up to him, covered the bandit with a revolver, and said: "I want you. Put them up."
That's all he said. Durkin drew his weapon. Shanahan fired from a distance and missed. Durkin, firing from his hip, shot the agent and fired another shot into the pros-

A new photo of Martin Durkin.

As he jumped into his car he struck Betty. Durkin drove off. The hunt for him increased.

His "Self Defense" Alibi Durkin's confessions maintain a stout plea of self defense against the charges that he killed Shanahan.

As to the second charge of murder, that he killed Detective Sergeant Harry Gray, Durkin pleads not guilty, citing the bungling of Gray's fellow detectives in the ambush and they had laid for him and in which it has been admitted Lloyd Austin, the in-former, was killed in the cross fire.

Once Durkin left his coat and overcoat, each containing holes made by a shotgun, and a fake suicide note to his mother on Michigan Avenue bridge.

For days police dragged the Chicago river to find his body. Then they concluded it was a hoax and the great man hunt went on.

WITH THE WOMEN TODAY

The only woman member of the
New York State Industrial Board,
Miss Frances Perkins of New York
City, has been made its chairman.
Governor Al Smith made the appointment and she will succeed John D. Higgins, of Oswego, who resigned. The post pays $8,000 a year. Miss Perkins was appointed a member of the board in 1923 for a five-year term.

Before her appointment to the Industrial Board Miss Perkins had been a member of the State Industrial Commission from February, 1919, to April, 1921, also an appointment she received at the hands of Governor Smith.

As far back as 1910, when Miss Perkins first became secretary to the Consumers' League, she directed investigations of factories, mercantile establishments, tenement house work and other industrial subjects.

She is credited with having directed the forces which in 1912 made a successful campaign to have passed in the legislature a bill to limit the hours of labor for women to fifty-four a week. And an investigation which Miss Perkins conducted in 1911 resulted in a strict regulation of bakeries in New York City.

In 1912 Miss Perkins became secretary of the committee of safety, an organization formed after the Triangle fire in New York City, to promote measures to prevent factory catastrophes either from fires or accidents.

The Business and Professional Woman's Club of Cleveland, Ohio, will put on a woman's exposition
March 3-15. It is intended to show the progress and accomplishments of women in trade, professions, art and industry. The affair is to be battered somewhat after the Women's World's Fair held in Chicago last spring, and like it, will be made an annual affair.

Miss Natalie Rogers (Mrs. Oscar de Luna Mayer), a former student of medicine at Cornell University, holds the distinction of being the first white woman to penetrate one of the least known and most inhabited regions of the Amazonian basin, South America, and of popularizing bobbed hair among the Indians. Miss Rogers told the story of the adventurous trip made by herself and her husband, who is a mining engineer and a graduate of Harvard, recently. It was a story of crossing the frigid Nevado De Sarato mountains in Bolivia, of riding the dangerous rapids of the Mapiri river of subsisting on monkey meat and tropical fruits when their food supply became exhausted, of narrow escapes from man-eating crocodiles and of ravages of malarial fever.

While traveling in the tropical heat of the interior of Bolivia, Miss Rogers wore overalls, and with her bobbed hair she said she found it hard to convince the natives that she was a woman. "My bobbed hair," she said, "aroused a sensation in all the neighborhoods, we visited along the Mapiri and Beni rivers. In one place all the women visited me to have their hair bobbed, and I was kept busy with my scissors."

Miss Pearl Landrum of Louisville, Ky., has charge of the department that buys cross ties, switch ties and lumber for the Louisville & Nashville railroad system. Miss Lan-drum has been with the company for 18 years, and all but five and one-half years of that time have been spent in the Louisville office. The five and one-half years were spent in Elizabeth, Ky. "My work is interesting," says Miss Landrum, "as it brings me into direct contact with all sorts of people. I do not see why more women don't hold executive positions in railroad work, as there are wonderful possibilities in it." She directs the work of an office force of eight people, is a tireless worker herself, and says her idea of a real vacation is to spend several weeks in the mountain fastnesses of Kentucky, where she can't hear a train whistle.

SANTA BARBARA MAYOR PUTS BAN ON SMOKING

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 29.—
Santa Barbara's new mayor, H. A.
Adrian, admits that he is good. "My services will be worth $50,000 to the city in the next two years," he said after taking office recently, "but I will receive only $15 per month."
Mayor Adrian explained that he was receiving $100 per day as a lecturer, and that he is giving up this income to serve Santa Barbara.
"I have visited 11,000 cities in my lecture tours," he said, "and I find 10,000 of them exactly alike.
Santa Barbara is unique."
The mayor banned smoking in his office in the city hall. "It impairs my thinking," he said.

Varnishes--Pure Fossil GUMS,—VEGETABLE OILS.—TUR-PENTINE

The great problem of satisfactory varnish manufacture is to secure that resiliency that makes for permanency of finish and which does not sear easily.

Pure Fossil gums—the solidified residue of the sap of trees which grew, died and were buried thousands of years ago. Under heat and pressure this residue was transformed into hard, knobby lumps of tough, fossilized gum. This is mined by natives in tropical countries and shipped to makers of good varnishes all over the world.

When used in Varnish, fossil Gums have excellent linseed oil absorbing and amalgamating powers and form a hard, tough, durable and elastic finish.

We offer such a varnish to the people of this vicinity. Remember that Ester gum (treated rosin) is the ingredient of most varnishes and that one of its characteristics is brittleness—not so with PURE FOSSIL GUM VARNISHES.

We have a very complete stock of Paints and Varnishes for every purpose.

These Men Will Administer $1,500,000 Given By Daniel Guggenheim to Promote Civil Aviation

By JOHN T. LEWING, JR. Central Press Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Taking upon himself as a private citizen a duty aeronautical organizations have been imploring the government to attend to, Daniel Guggenheim is using some of the millions his family got by exploring under the ground, to advance exploration over it.

The ten distinguished Americans named by Guggenheim to administer the $1,500,000 he gave to promote commercial aeronautics, are: Orville Wright, who, with his brother, Wilbur, was the first to fly in a heavier-than-air machine; Dwight W. Morrow, Morgan partner, who was chairman of the recent civilian investigation of government aircraft affairs; George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal; A. A. Michelson, Nobel prize winner; Elmer Root, former secretary of state; Dr. William E. Durand, another member of the Morrow board; John D. Ryan, director of the air service in 1918; H. E. Cone, retired rear-admiral; F. Trubee Davison, New York legislator; Harry F. Guggenheim, son of the donor, who was overseas as a naval aviator.

As Mr. Guggenheim sees it, aviation is going through a period of experimentation, preparing to emerge from infancy. He does not intend the fund to operate permanently, but to bridge over a possible ten-year gap until aviation can go ahead on its own.

Advancement of aviation has become a hobby with Mr. Guggenheim whose family has amassed millions in mining interests, notably in Alaska. He fears America is lagging behind the rest of the world in aviation, and is taking this means to protect the tradition of aviation leadership begun when the Wright Brothers, Americans, flew the first heavier-than-air plane.

Last June he founded a school of aeronautics at New York University by giving $500,000. The money in the new fund will be used by the administrators to promote aeronautical education in other schools; in assisting scientific research in aviation; in the development of safer and more efficient commercial air equipment; and in furthering the application of aircraft in business, industry and other economical and social activities of the nation.

Certain restrictions are placed on the administrators under the terms laid down by Mr. Guggenheim. The work must be limited to civil activities.

Duplication of effort with other aeronautical societies must be avoided.

Work properly a governmental function must not be undertaken.

Work must be planned carefully, to concentrate effort and carry any investigation or project through to a definite conclusion.

A simple, inexpensive direction organization must be maintained, pending on outside established agencies, wherever possible, to carry out

About Monuments

Place your order with us and you will not have to worry. Each order that is placed with us is executed with the idea of making this particular monument an advertisement for other sales, and the idea works.

Some of our very best orders are coming to us as the direct result of some sale that we made years ago to some friend or neighbor of the buyer. Hadn't you rather deal with a firm of this kind than some peddler that you know little about, and likely nothing whatever about the house he represents? Our prices are no higher, usually less, than the transient peddler, and when the work comes it's always right.

Soviet Heads Would Trade Romanoff Crown Jewels for Chemicals and Various Industrial Machinery

Above is a photo of the Russian crown jewels valued at $250,000,000 now on display in Moscow where they are guarded by soviet officials. The late Czarina is shown wearing some of the imperial jewelry and the murdered czar is seen in dress regalia.

By JACKSON V. JACOBS

PARIS, Jan. 30—Wanted: a purchaser for $250,000,000 worth of crown jewels. American millhoaires with farming implements, chemicals, mining machinery, etc., to trade will receive consideration.

Agents of the Soviet government are quietly making inquiries here and other foreign capitals which may result in the early disposition of many, if not all, of the Russian royal collection of gems.

Contrary to reports that the jewels were stolen by revolutionists and scattered to the four winds, they are still in Moscow, and are being exhibited publicly.

An imposing but dilapidated old chateau guarded by several regiments of soldiers is the treasure house of Soviet government.

Here are kept the jewels of the czars, including what is declared to be the greatest single piece of jewelry art in the world, the crown of Peter the Great, valued at 104,000,000 rubles, which is $152,000,000.

It weighs five pounds and is covered with 4,000 carats of diamonds. In shape the crown resembles a derby but without a rim and having two long slits lengthwise across the top. It is lined with red plush. In the center is a rectangular diamond as large as an American postage stamp. It is topped by a cross of five-carat diamonds, standing on an uncut ruby one of the largest ever discovered. In the sunlight the crown reveals many colors owing to the fact that the diamonds are of many hues, including yellow.

Fear U. S. May Seize Them

Tragic stories are connected with all these jewels. Figuratively speaking, few of them are not covered with blood. They are a burden to the soviet, which has no use for them, except as evidence of the tremendous extravagance of Russian czars while millions of their subjects were starving miserably. Furthermore, guarding them is a big and expensive responsibility. So the soviet chieftains are eager to find a means of disposing of them among "capitalist" nations. They are willing to trade them for the things they need most, farming implements of all sorts, chemicals, mining machinery, flour mill equipment, railroad engines and cars, steel rails, the things with which a greater and more advanced Russia can be built.

But first they want to be sure that the jewels will really bring them these things, and not be seized by other nations as part payment of old debts contracted by the czars. The soviet governors are afraid, for instance, that if they sent a collection of the jewels to New York to be disposed of, where there are millionaires to buy them for ambitious wives and gaudy mistresses, they would be seized by the United States government; pending the settlement of loans made to the imperial Russian government.

Next to the crown of the czars, the most valuable and perhaps the most interesting piece in the collection is the imperial sceptre, which an American millionaire can have as a paper weight for a mere $30,000,000. It is a three-foot stick of gold, ribbed with bands of diamonds and containing the great Orlov diamond, which weighs 194 3/4 carats.

Description of the Jewels
Two crowns, smaller in both size and diamonds—1,000 carats in each and apparently duplicates—belonged to the late Czarinas, one to the Dowager Marie Feodorovna, widow of Alexander III and mother of Nicholas II, and the other to Alexandra, consort of the last of the Romanoffs. These crowns are too small to fit around a head. Each is valued at 8,982,822 rubles.

A wedding crown, a horizontal inch-wide band of three rows of diamonds with six bands of similar width meeting at the top under a cross of larger diamonds—1,000 carats of stones—is the best of several other assorted crowns.

Chaplets or tiaras are numbered by the dozen. Two heavy ones were worn by the last Czarinas. Another that belonged to the jewel-loving Marie Feodorovna is of delicate sprays of wheat in diamonds, lacking only the hammer and sickle to be the emblem of the present Soviet State.

Though not a single finger ring is in the collection, brooches there are without end. The best of them is a sparkling blue sapphire from India, 258 carats, encircled by twenty-five diamonds, each as large as a currant, and valued at 22,556,902 rubles. Another of the same style with an even larger sapphire of a darker blue, but without the fire, is less valuable.

The sword of Czar Paul I, son of Catherine the Great, with a handle covered with diamonds and a damascened light triangular straight blade, is in an ordinary leather scabbard. This was the weapon which that military fanatic, trained in the old German school, carried when he made his daily reviews. A motion with the sword in one direction meant approval and in another exile of the entire regiment to Siberia if one man was out of step.

Catherine the Great had a passion for diamonds, as did the more refined Marie Feodorovna. Catherine's earrings were numerous and of barbaric size. They hooked over her ears like gold-rimmed spectacles. One set has six large and half a hundred smaller diamonds in each piece. In another four rubies take the place of the larger diamonds—a plaque about two inches square.

A Baby's Rattle
Pathetic is the gold rattle with its filigree of diamonds and rubies, one end a gold whistle and the other an ivory handle on which to cut baby teeth. It was the sole solace of the little czarovitch, Ivan Antonovitch, in Schusselburg fortress. When the motley group of short-term rulers who followed Peter the Great was exhausted Anna Leopoldovna, a German princess, and widow of one of Peter's descendants, brought young Ivan from Germany. She was regent and he was a baby czar, but the tyranny and cruelties of the German favorite who accompanied her brought their downfall. They fled to Germany. The two-year old czar, with his rattle and his baby toys, was imprisoned in the fortress. The political problem was solved, Russian style, by the murder of the baby.

VETERAN STUDEBAKER EMPLOYEES TO BE HONORED

Veteran Studebaker employees will be honored by a policy just adopted providing for the naming of plant gates and streets after old employees.

Streets named for pioneers, great soldiers and statesmen—long dead in the majority of cases—are common enough. But the pioneers Studebaker proposes to honor, with only three exceptions, are hale and hearty. Several, in fact, are still actively engaged in the plants which they have helped to build.

Studebaker has always been proud of the number of its employees who have records of long, faithful service. Ninety Studebaker employees are on the Corporation's pension list, receiving a regular monthly pension. These employees have all served the Corporation 20 years or more and are 60 years or more of age which automatically entitles them to the benefits of the pension plan.

There are a number of veteran employees in the Studebaker body plants who are working side by side with their sons, teaching the fruits of their coach building experience to the next generation. It is only fitting that the Corporation should pay some form of recognition to these veteran employees as it has decided to do in naming plant gates and streets.

Poems That Live

TO MY MOTHER

Because I feel that, in the Heavens above,
The angels, whispering to one another,
Can find, among their burning terms of love,
None so devotional as that of Mother:
Therefore by that dear name I long
Have called you;
You who are more than mother
unto me,
And fill my heart of hearts, where death installed you,
In retelling my Virginia's spirit
free,
My mother—my own mother, who died early,
Was but the mother of myself;
but you
Are mother to the one I loved so dearly,
And thus are dearer than the mother I knew,
By that affinity with which my wife
Was dearer to my soul than its soul life.
—Edgar Allan Poe.

1/5 of a Car's Cost is in the Engine, 1/3 is in the Body

By One-Profit manufacture of all bodies, engines, etc., Studebaker is enabled to sell the Big Six for one-half the price of any other car of equal or greater rated horsepower. THEREFORE! The Big Six has become the fastest-selling high-powered car in the world

TODAY the Studebaker Big Six is outselling every other car in the world of equal or greater horsepower, according to the rating of the Society of Automotive Engineers and the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

No other quality car built enjoys the important advantages of One-Profit manufacture and volume production responsible for its remarkably low price.

Studebaker's Unique Facilities
Few motor car "manufacturers" have foundries, forges, etc., to make their own engines—yet one-fifth of the cost of an automobile is in the engine. Even fewer build their own bodies—yet one-third of the cost of a car is in the body.

Not only does Studebaker make all bodies, and all engines used in Studebaker cars, but also all clutches, gear sets, brakes, springs, differentials, steering gears, axles, gray-iron castings and drop forgings. Only Ford in the low-price field and Studebaker in the fine-car field enjoy the benefits of such complete manufacturing facilities.

One-Profit Value
These facilities enable Studebaker to manufacture quality cars on a One-Profit basis. They enable Studebaker to eliminate the profits of outside parts and body makers. Many major savings are thus effected and passed on to the ultimate buyers of Studebaker cars.

either in the form of higher quality, lower price—or both.

Unit-Built Construction
Studebaker facilities result, too, in Unit-Built construction—in cars designed, engineered and built as units. The hundreds of parts used in a Studebaker car function together as a unit, resulting in longer life, greater riding comfort and higher resale value. Scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation thus are built into Studebaker cars.

Always Kept Up-to-Date
Because all phases of manufacture are directly under Studebaker control, Studebaker cars are constantly kept up-to-date. We add improvements regardless of the calendar—we do not save them up for spectacular annual announcements which make cars artificially obsolete. Resale values are thus stabilized.

Rock Bottom Time-Payment Rates
Leading bankers, recognizing Studebaker stability, have made money available for financing Studebaker cars at low interest. They know Unit-Built cars bought at One-Profit prices and protected from depreciation by the "No-Yearly-Models" policy are exceptionally fine risks. Therefore no car in the world is able to offer lower time-payment rates than Studebaker. Before you buy any car out of income get the Studebaker rates.

Studebaker Big Six Sport-Phaeton

To surpass it in rated horsepower costs $2175 to $5885 more

THE Studebaker Big Six Sport-Phaeton is powered with the identical engine that carries hundreds of Studebaker buses at high speed hour after hour over hills and valleys. Hence we urge you to compare its thrilling performance with that of any 8-cylinder car.

Based on the rating of the N. A. C. C. and the Society of Automotive Engineers, only seven American cars equal this Big Six in power. But they sell for two to four times its price, as shown by the following table:

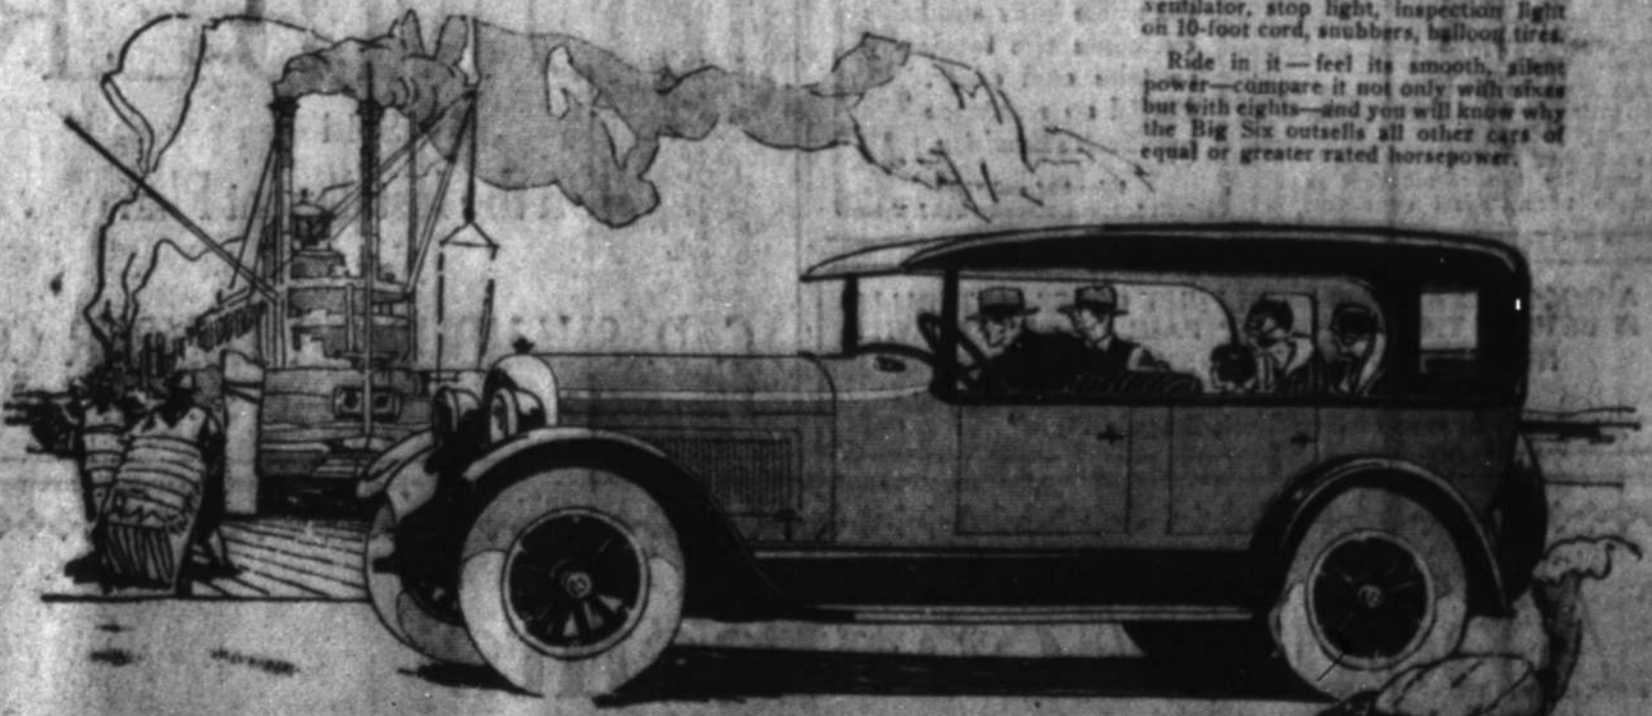

STUDEBAKER BIG SIX
N. A. C. C. and S. A. E. rating—34.00. Price of 5-Door Sport-Phaeton, 2000, factory, $1575.
Car A—12 more power, $2175 higher price
Car B—15 more power, $2425 higher price
Car C—17 1/2 more power, $2875 higher price
Car D—20 more power, $3225 higher price
Car E—22 1/2 more power, $3575 higher price
Car F—25 more power, $3925 higher price
Car G—27 1/2 more power, $4275 higher price

It is not surprising that the Big Six outsells every other car in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower.

The Duplex body offers important advantages—found in no other open car. Controlled within its steel-framed outer structure are roller side enclosures which the driver may raise or lower in 35 seconds without leaving his seat—providing instant protection from snow or cold.

Lights are operated from the steering wheel. Spark control is automatic. There's an 8-day clock and gasoline gauge on the dash, automatic windshield cleaner, rear-view mirror, cowl ventilator, stop light, inspection light on 10-foot cord, snubbers, balloon tires.

Ride in it—feel its smooth, silent power—compare it not only with others but with eight—and you will know why the Big Six outsells all other cars of equal or greater rated horsepower.

Studebaker Big Six Sport-Phaeton
(FIVE PASSENGERS IN REAL COMFORT)
Under Studebaker's fair and liberal Budget Payment Plan, this Sport-Phaeton may be purchased out of monthly income for a small initial payment and at the lowest time-payment rates known to the automobile industry.
