TRASH BURNING PROHIBITED

Council Acts to Erase Grass Fire Outbreak

City Council acted swiftly this week to cut down a mushrooming threat of grass fires.

With 18 fire alarms in less than two weeks for fires on vacant lots, council Monday night unanimously adopted a resolution:

1. Outlawing the burning of trash except by special permit from the city's fire chief.

2. Notifying owners of vacant property to immediately mow and remove grass and weeds as a fire prevention measure.

Citizens' attention is directed to the special emergency resolution in advertisements published in this edition of The Record.

City Manager Rollin K. Snethen reported on the grass fire threat to City Council and urged immediate action as a safety measure.

"This is a serious situation," Snethen emphasized, as he called attention to the 18 grass fire alarms, "and the situation has become dynamite."

"These fires are being set by burning of trash in open barrels."

"And the situation creates too big a hazard."

The city manager pointed out to council that city waste disposal crews now collect trash regularly — in addition to garbage pickups — and that burning of trash should be prohibited.

Resolution adopted by the council states:

"Whereas: An abundant growth of vegetation has accumulated on the vacant property in Colorado, and

"Whereas: Uncontrolled burning of such vegetation constitutes a menace to the safety and welfare of the citizens of Colorado City and their possession, and

"Whereas: The burning of trash, both in barrels and bonfires, constitutes the chief cause of fires in such vegetation,

"Therefore, be it resolved by the City Council of Colorado City in its regular meeting on 9th Day of June 1958 that (1) the burning of trash, except by permit from the Fire Chief, be discontinued at once; (2) and owners of vacant property proceed at once to mow and remove such weeds, grass and other vegetation so as to diminish the existing hazard."

Permits from the fire chief will be issued only in cases where special equipment is available for burning trash.

City machinery can be obtained to mow vacant lots at a small fee.

Jeff Taylor, whose term expired. Re-elected to a new term on the board then was Ed Rothwell, employee of Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative.

In other business Monday night council:

Heard a report that fire alarms outside the city already had cost $750 in the first four months of a city-county agreement. The county authorized $900 payment to the city for answering rural calls for an entire 12-month period.

Authorized the opening of bids July 14 for city purchase.

Fire Destroys Residence, Furnishings

A house and trailer — the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Huff and family — was destroyed by fire Wednesday at 9:55 a. m.

The blaze, starting at a cook stove, quickly enveloped the residence at the edge of the city's southeast boundary, three blocks east of Seven Wells Rd.

All furnishings and belongings of the family were destroyed in the fire.

And, except for the quick thinking of 14-year-old Bill Huff Jr., there might have been tragedy.

For Bill Jr., one of nine Huff children, led two small cousins to safety.

Bill Jr. and the two cousins — Eddie and Eva Goodson — were alone in the Huff residence when the fire happened. The older boy was watching television, when he heard the smaller children crying.

"There was a fire at the stove and they (the two cousins) were there," Bill Jr. said.

"I got them out real quick."

he continued, "and then tried to cut off the butane."

The youth, an eighth grade student, disconnected the tank fueling the stove and then pulled it away from the outside of the house.

"But it was so heavy I could get it only so far ... and no farther," he said.

Bill Jr. then ran toward a house with phone a few hundred yards away. But the alarm had already been turned in.

The father was at work on the Sam Thompson farm when the fire happened. Mrs. Huff was hospitalized.

7,200 VOLT CURRENT

High Volt Line Injures Worker

A huge jolt of electricity—right from a 7,200 volt line—surged through the body of Hubert May.

From his hand to the bottom of his feet, too.

May, an employee of Rio Engineering Company of Houston, was working with a power digging truck south-east of Lake Colorado City, near the Cherry Creek road, when the accident happened Tuesday at about 11:45 a. m.

The power digger was being used to dig out beds to draw off electrolysis on Gulf pipe line facilities near the lake.

And the digger came in contact with a 7,200 volt Texas Electric Service Company line.

Electricity surged through the body of May, who was walking beside the truck with his hand on the vehicle.

"It entered my hand and went out the bottom of my feet," May said.

Driver of the truck-digger saw May was in trouble and stepped down to investigate.

"When one foot touched the ground," May said, "he was knocked away from the truck."

The driver was shaken up, but was not injured. However, May was taken to Johnson Memorial Hospital in Loraine for treatment.

He was in the hospital Thursday as he recounted the accident and nursed burned hands and feet.

Worst burns were on May's hands—that came in contact with the electricity at the truck. His feet were burned on the bottom, apparently as the current was ground.

The electricity set the truck afire, causing both electricians and firemen to rush to the scene.

May had been working for

"It entered my hand and the Rio firm only two weeks.

ELECTRICITY DISCUSSION

James Hull Speaks To Carr HD Club

James Hull was guest speaker Friday for a regular meeting of the Carr Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Louis Rees.

Hull, electrical advisor for the Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative, discussed electric wiring in the home. He spoke of the various types of wiring used in homes today and the effects of wiring in the operation of the many appliances in the modern home. He presented a discussion and demonstration of the best results from properly wired homes.

Four out of every five homes are inadequately wired compared to modern standards, Hull pointed out.

Volts are the pressure for electricity, Hull explained to the group. For each electric circuit there should be a circuit breaker.

About every five to seven years our use of electricity doubles, Hull said.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. T. A. Reese. During a brief business session Mrs. Ruth Airhart was selected as prospective delegate to attend the state THDA meeting in August in Austin.

Following the program and business meeting the hostess served refreshments to Mrs. T. L. McKenney, Mrs. T. A. Rees, Mrs. C. N. Adams and Mrs. Ruth Airhart.

TOPIC - "MAKE AN ART OF LIVING"

Beta Sigma Phi Program Features Mrs. McClure

"Make An Art Of Living" was the topic of the cultural program presented by Mrs. W. D. McClure for members of the Mu Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi recently in the home of Miss Mary D. Hickman.

In presenting "Make An Art Of Living" Mrs. McClure began by asking each person present to name someone they considered a master in the art of living.

"In the hurry and scurry of our everyday lives we seldom find time to commune with God through nature," Mrs. McClure said "Yet when we find ourselves in a quiet spot with God's wonders growing about us, we cannot but feel His nearness to us."

"And now as we sit here in this beautiful garden surrounded by so many trees, let us try to see our God through them and let the trees bring to us a lesson."

"First come to the roots of the tree. Practically all the moisture that is needed in the tree is received through the roots," Mrs. McClure added. "The roots are the absorbing part. The life of the tree starts in the roots. The more moisture they take in, the fresher, greener, stronger, larger and more beautiful the tree becomes. So it is with each one of us—if we are willing to absorb and take in all that is offered of God's word then the stronger, purer and greater we will grow."

"After the roots of the tree comes the trunk," Mrs. McClure continued. "When we go into the woods where people have been, we find many times that someone has taken his knife and carved his initials on the trunk of a tree.

"But because the life of the tree is inside the bark where no one can get at it, this tree will not be injured by a small knife. It will only be marred on the outside."

"Like the tree, many of us are scarred or marred. But, also, like the tree, our lives are lived within. We can be pure in the sight of God, we can bear good fruit and be as strong and sturdy as the trunk of the tree," Mrs. McClure said.

In presenting her talk Mrs. McClure compared other facets of a persons life to other parts of the tree, such as the branches, leaves and fruit which a tree bears.

"The last part of the tree is the fruit," Mrs. McClure concluded. "The best part of a tree is of course the fruit. How sweet it tastes when it is purely ripe."

"And isn't it the fruit which tells us what kind of a tree it is. A good one or a poor one. If we want to bear fruit for Christ we want it to be sweet, top. We want to show forth Christ in our lives so that others will learn to know Him through us and they will bear sweet fruits for Him too."

"So let us bear good fruits by doing our very best at all times because it is our fruits that we are known."

"I want to leave with you a challenge—that you grow tall as a tree, always looking upward. So that at the close of the day you can say—Today I have grown taller from walking with the trees," Mrs. McClure concluded.

The business meeting preceded the program and Miss Jane Merrill presented a report of the last meeting of the Mitchell County Federation of Women's Clubs. Miss Merrill also discussed the federation program which featured a guest speaker, R. K. Snethen, city manager, discussing "Urban Renewal."

Mrs. J. W. Bradham presented the Club's annual $100 Scholarship to Helen Adams during the Colorado High School Commencement Exercises.

Following the business session and program the hostess served refreshments to a new member, Mrs. Ernest Larmer, Mrs. McClure, Mrs. R. E. (Dick) Gregory Jr., Mrs. James Kelley, Mrs. Bob Thompson, Miss Merrill, Miss Sallie Sharp and Miss Elinor Harvey.

IN TENNESSEE

Earnest Attending School Activities

Joe Earnest left last week to attend the Commencement activities at a former school of his, the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn. For Joe, this is a year of anniversaries — the Centennial of the founding of the University, his tenth year as trustee of the school, his thirtieth year of graduation, and the 75th anniversary of the installation of his social fraternity, Delta Tau Delta.

The Board of Trustees met Friday, followed by Alumni Day Saturday at which time Earnest, who is president of his class, will have charge of 'Homecoming' for the class of 1928. Through the years since graduation Joe has kept up with the 125 members of his class now scattered to the five continents. One of his classmates and friends, Dr. Harry Hunt Ransom, who completed his graduate work at Yale and in England, and is now vice president and provost of the Austin branch of the university of Texas, received from Sewanee the degree of Doctor of Literature. Dr. Ransom has recently started the literary publication, the Texas Quarterly. T. G. Vernon-Inman, the Anglican Bishop of Natal, Africa, was the baccalaureate speaker Sunday. Roger M. Blough, chief executive of United States Steel Corporation, was commencement orator Monday. Statues of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn stand in Hannibal, Mo., boyhood home of Mark Twain.

CARDINALS WIN

Sox Defeat Athletics To Widen Loop Lead

Pitching wizardry of Steve Hillhouse continued Monday to hoodoo the Pony League. And the slender southpaw whammed out a couple of two-base hits, scored twice as his White Sox widened their Pony League with a 3 to 2 triumph over the Athletics.

It was a thrilling skirmish for the two top teams of the league.

But the excitement was just as swift in the league's second game Monday night with the Cardinals breaking a tie in the final inning for an 8 to 5 verdict over the Braves.

The victory boosted the Cardinals into undisputed possession of third place and shoved the Braves alone into the cellar.

Hillhouse and Archie Biggers squared off in a sterling duel in the opener Monday.

The White Sox tabbed the Athletics' Biggers for six hits, managed for single runs in each first, fourth and sixth innings.

Athletics managed for only one hit — a solid triple — but it was the big noise in a rally that almost tipped the Sox victory boat.

Kenneth Beasley, the second baseman, opened festivities for White Sox as he led off the second half of the first inning with a single. A few minutes later he scored on the heels of Tommy Vest's double.

Biggers silenced the Athletics during the next two innings, but was touched for three hits and a second run in fourth. Hillhouse's two-base hit with two out, followed by Louise Franco's walk and Kenneth Cloud's single did the damage with Hillhouse scoring.

The margin for victory, though, came in the sixth with Hillhouse again slamming out a double and scoring with the aid of an Athletic error.

Hitless for the first six innings, the Athletics came to life in the top half of the seventh when Dickie Summers, centerfielder, walked with one out.

Then Charles Houston whammed a triple, ruining any no-hit notions by Hillhouse and scoring Summers.

An error soon brought Houston across home plate and the score tightened to 3 and 2.

But it wasn't enough. Hillhouse then struck out Raye Conaway to end the uprising and keep the White Sox record unblemished through seven games.

For their important 8 to 5 win over the Braves, the Cardinals took advantage of their opponents' pitching wildness.

They came from behind with three unearned runs in the sixth, then added two more in the seventh to move out of the cellar.

And just to make it certain, Willie Joe Smith, who took over mound duties in the sixth for the Cardinals, put the Braves down in order in the final half of the seventh. The Braves used three pitchers in an attempt to keep from nosing into the league cellar. Alton Curry started on the mound, was relieved by Felix Salmeron in the sixth and followed in the seventh by Kenneth Stinson.

Three hurlers also went to the mound for the Cardinals — Daniel Garcia, starting, followed by Harry Johnson and Willie Joe Smith in the sixth. But they had better luck and Garcia gained credit for the win as he left the mound with a lead.

Scoring for Cardinals in the top of the sixth to put them in the lead were Kenneth Cannon, H. Johnson and Derby Pearson. One error, two bases on balls and a hit batter — with Garcia's single thrown in for good measure — accounted for the three runs.

Braves came back in the last half of the sixth to pull up, 5 to 6, Salmeron and Stinson, who walked and singled, scored following Terry Breeden's walk and Max Connell's single.

But continued pitching wildness in the seventh by the Braves hurled led the game for the Cardinals. Four out of the first five Cardinals batters were walked and Kenneth Cannon and H. Johnson scored.

LITTLE LEAGUE LEADERS WIN

Pirates Jar Giants, 6 to 4, As Indians Squeeze by Yanks

After two more nights of play, it's the same old song with different verses for Little League.

Apparently, the Pirates know every verse, too, for they have chalked up victories No. 5 and 6 to widen their league lead with a spotless record.

Just the opposite are the Giants, who lost Thursday and Tuesday nights. That kept their winless record intact and sunk them deeper into the league cellar.

In between, the Indians and Yanks kept their No. 2 and No. 3 contender spots with a win and a loss each.

The Giants did just about everything but win Tuesday night as they threw a big scare into the Pirates before losing, 4 to 6, to the league leaders.

They scored first and last, outhit the winners 10 to 5, and scored in the most innings. But that wasn't enough.

Dale Walker gained credit for the victory as he pitched all six innings for the Pirates. Losing hurler, although he allowed just half as many hits as the winner, was the Giants' Denzil Pendergrass.

Howard Belvin opened scoring with a lone run for the Giants in the second inning. But Gary Jones and Walker put the Pirates into the lead, 2 to 1, in the third.

The Giants retaliated, however, in their half of the third, tying the score with Roger Proctor's marker.

Another lone run was scored for the Giants in the bottom of the fourth by David McKay, but the Pirates held a 4 to 3 lead with scores by David Salter and Roy Sprott in the inning's opening half.

The real margin for victory came in the top of the sixth with Jones and Walker again scoring for the Pirates.

McKay scored in a Giant rally the last of the seventh, but the effort was cut short.

It was an even closer battle in the other Tuesday night contest with the second-place Indians squeezing out an 8 to 7 triumph over the third-place Yankees.

Rickie Houston and Bobby Cupp shared mound duties for the winning Indians with Cupp relieving in the second and gaining credit for the victory.

Dividing hurling chores for the Yankees were starter Reggie Noble and Joe Anderson, who took over in the fifth.

Big damage against the Yanks came in the fifth inning with the Indians racing six runs across on a combination of pitcher wildness, a single and a double. Scoring for the Indians in the big fifth were Houston, Johnny Castillo, Cupp, Bill McGuire, Tom Mann and Larry Currie. Lone tallies also were added for the Indians by Houston, in the first, and by Mann, in the sixth.

The Yanks rolled out their artillery in a hurry with Norman Corbell, Ronald Lee Hillhouse and Mike Mundy — the leadoff trio — scoring in the bottom half of the first inning. That provided the Yanks with an early 3 to 1 advantage.

The lead was increased to 5-1 with Mundy and Joe Anderson scoring in the third. But all that — plus a pair of markers by Wayne Parham and James Cannon in the sixth — were offset by the Yankees' seven runs in the last two frames.

Hotel Can Be Our Best Salesman

Newcomers like Ed L. Baker, who look to tomorrow with development and progress today, naturally are a boost for any community. Their value is multiplied, not only in their physical accomplishments like the new Baker Hotel, but in the psychological field, too, as they provide a fresh outlook for homesteaders who take for granted their own assets.

Those who talked with Baker when he was here Friday and Saturday for the opening of his fine hotel should be impressed with that fact. For the Fort Worth business and civic leader most of the time was expounding the solid economic foundation, the diversification, the opportunity and potential for Colorado City.

To put it plainly and briefly, Baker foresees a bright future for this community. For that reason, he has invested more than a quarter million dollars in business here and plans more.

But just as Ed Baker has learned about our town, the assets and the possibilities, we need also to know about his business so that we can best promote it for the good of the whole community.

Few people will think of the new Baker hotel—or the motor hotels in the outskirts—as a local industry. Yet, it is one of the most important. Collectively, over the nation, it will bolster our economy by expenditures of two-and-a-half billion dollars this year.

And most of this will be spent locally—for wages, food, beverages and the hundreds of other supply and maintenance items and services required to keep the nation's hostelry operating. It is important to note, too, that most of the money taken in by the hotel is new money from outside the community—that would not come to town but for these accommodations.

In addition, those who stop at the hotel also spend money in town. This year, for instance, Americans are expected to spend some twenty billions on travel.

Statistics of American Hotel Association reveal over 85 per cent of every hotel dollar finds its way into the pockets of the nation's business and professional men, farmers and laborers. The balance is accounted for in interest and tax payments and profits—which average about four per cent, nationwide.

"Hotels spend about 38 cents (of the hotel dollar) for wages; 15 cents for food and beverages, and 23 cents for operating costs. Rent, interest and profits account for 8 cents; depreciation, 6 cents. Taxes total 10 cents out of every dollar. Their heavy spending—for services and supplies is right in the community in which they operate."

In addition to the pleasant influence of out-of-town visitors on local business activity, they also reduce everybody's local taxes. A Southern city of 125,000 population estimates that hotel taxes, plus taxes paid by tourists on direct purchase, mean that every single visitor to the city reduces the local tax burden by 50 cents.

More than a good-will ambassador for the community, the hotel is also one of our best out-of-town salesman.

BIBLE COMMENT

The Resurrection Lighted Darkness

No description can do justice, can suggest all the wonderment and glory of the Resurrection for the disciples.

They had followed Christ with all that they possessed on earth. All their vision and hope of heaven was staked on their commitment to Him.

Undoubtedly they had looked for some earthly consummation of His Kingdom and some triumphant outcome in which they would share.

Their hopes must have been high as they saw, and shared, Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem with the spreading of palm branches and the "Hosannas" of the people.

And then had come the cruel and disillusioning experience as they saw Him overcome by earthly powers, led for trial and crucifixion. It was an hour of darkness but scarcely an hour in which their faith would be obliterated.

They had not lost the sense of the glory and beauty of all that He had said and done. The sadness of the lost but glorious dream was in their memory of hope turned to tragedy. "We trusted that it had been He who should have redeemed Israel."

And then, suddenly out of their black night, came the glory of the Resurrection morning—the rumor, as yet a wishful longing, that Christ was alive and that some had seen Him.

Then came the assurance of His actual presence and the evidence that convinced even the doubting Thomas.

No words can convey what they felt. There was the reality of the revived faith and hope in which the disciples went out to establish the Church, and fulfill Christ's commission to preach the Gospel to every creature.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Finds Senatoring Is Like Farming

Editor's note: The Philosopher on his grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek probably is confused this week, but it's not the first time.

Dear editor:

According to an article I read yesterday afternoon while I was sitting under a tree out here on my farm—I could have said while I was resting under a tree but I have never felt that a man had to be tired before he could sit down in the shade of a tree in the summer time and I sat down under this tree because I wanted to—the high cost of campaigning for office has become a serious problem and the two major political parties are trying to do something about it.

As I understand it, it sometimes costs more to run for an office than the job pays. One U. S. Senator said it costs between $150,000 and $200,000 to run for that office, while the job only pays $135,000 for a full six-year term.

You mean to say Senatoring is no better job than farming? I can understand how a farmer would spend more asking a crop than he gets, it happens all the time, but I always figured a Senator was smarter.

However, what interests me about the thing is that the two parties are going to do something about it. A drive is now underway to get individuals all over the country to contribute more money. Doesn't make any difference which party you give it to, the one of your choice, but give something, and the money will be taken and distributed around to cut down on the high cost of campaigning. This way a candidate will be obligated to a lot of people instead of a few.

I think we ought to get behind this program. I'll keep politicians interested in their jobs. Anybody can see if a man has to pay more for his job than his job pays, it won't be long until he gives it up and tries something else, and how could the United States face the world if it came up with half the seats in the U. S. Senate unfilled?

It's one thing for a farmer to give up and move to town, but the United States would be the laughing stock of the world if half its Senators and two-thirds its Congressmen threw in the towel because, economically speaking, they were marginal politicians, no more able to justify their existence than marginal farmers.

Personally, I think we need the U. S. Senate and Congress too and people who say if the job doesn't pay they ought to give it up and try something else are taking a mighty shortsighted view of the matter. If you'll tell me where I'm supposed to send my money to keep the Senate filled, I'll think it over.

Your faithfully
J. A.

TEXAS AGRICULTURE

Research Sends Agriculture Up

By JOHN C. WHITE
Agriculture Commissioner
Last summer, Nikita Krushchev told Americans via a television interview that Communism would eventually win its contest with Capitalism.

The Russian leader was not threatening a hot war. Instead, he based his prediction on the claim that the Soviet Union would in five years outstrip the United States in the per-capita production of meat, milk, and butter plus other agricultural products.

In a word, he was reminding us that a nation is only as strong as its agriculture. But while Russia still appears to have an edge in "Sputniks," that nation is far behind us in farming methods—yet is determined to catch up.

Fortunately, we are not lagging in our scientific achievement in agriculture. The Russians will have quite a way to go if they catch us because our own progress in farming has been phenomenal.

In 1939, when World War II broke out in Europe, American farmers produced a 2½-billion bushel corn crop on 88 million acres. Last year, they produced 32 per cent more corn on 17 per cent less land.

Since 1939, the national wheat crop has risen from 740 to 940 million bushels, but harvested acres have

WITH HOLD-THE-LINE PLEDGES

Double Talk or Finance Magic In Platforms of Candidates?

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association
Texas Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools is working toward getting a gold star when an economy-minded Legislature hits Austin next year.

Launching a new tight-purse policy, the Board voted to prohibit superintendents of individual state institutions from (1) using left-over funds without Board permission and (2) making any expenditure of more than $1,000 without Board approval.

Sometimes individual hospitals develop surplus funds resulting from smaller patient loads than had been expected, or other reduced costs. New rule puts an end to no-string-attached spending of such surplus. These lapsed funds could amount to as much as one million dollars, according to Board Member W. G. Kirklin of Odessa.

CHILL WIND — Hospital Board's move pinpointed the spot where the state's money shortage is expected to pinch hardest — administration of state's services.

A revenue shortage in excess of $100,000,000 by next year has been freely predicted by various authorities for months.

A survey of the platforms of legislative candidates over the state shows a fairly consistent approach by those making statements on the revenue dilemma. General pattern of promises to voters:

(1) Continuation or, often, increase in state obligations for education, welfare payments, road building, soil and water conservation, etc.

(2) Opposition to certain new taxes or sometimes new taxes in general.

(3) Cuts in state spending by "elimination of waste, duplication and needless services by state agencies."

Actual achievement or near-achievement of this fiscal magic will put a real squeeze on every state department.

NOT ME — Likelihood that someone may draw the "black bean" of new state taxes has group after group telling the State Tax Study Commission how overburdened they are already.

A spokesman for the Texas Motor Bus Association told the Commission taxes on that industry are heavy and discriminatory. He said many smaller lines were having to go out of business.

A representative of retired people asked tax relief for people living on pensions.

"We are no longer concerned with saving the goose that lays the golden eggs. Our goose was cooked when we lost our ability to work and earn," said W. B. Wood of Port Arthur.

State Capital NEWS

On behalf of the Texas Association for Tax Relief for Texans over 65, Wood asked for tax exemption for the first $3,000 of property owned by oldsters. He also opposed a sales tax.

REPUBLICAN — Texas Supreme Court is considering the question of whether a former Democratic candidate is entitled to a position on the Republican primary ballot.

Grover Cantrell, Dallas labor leader and onetime Democratic candidate for the Legislature attempted to file against Texas' only Republican congressman, Bruce Alger. He called himself a "Stevenson Republican," an apparent parody of Eisenhower Democrats.

A lower court ruled that Cantrell, as a member of one party, was not entitled to seek nomination in another party's primary. Cantrell appealed to the high court.

Since there is usually only one nominee for each office, Republican primaries do not ordinarily attract a heavy vote. It is widely assumed that many Republicans cross party lines to vote in Democratic primaries where most state offices are decided.

Cantrell's candidacy is generally interpreted as a move to force Republicans to stay in their own primary.

DIESEL TAX CHANGE — Proposed revisions in the diesel fuel tax law are being planned by the State Comptroller's Department.

Next Legislature will be asked to change the law so diesel fuel taxes would be collected from the wholesale distributor rather than the user, said a department official. This is expected to make it easier for tax agents to keep track of consumption and purchase.

Comptroller's department staffers admit that there are some evasions of the state motor fuels tax, but contend that Texas collects more per vehicle than any other major state. They discount as too large Sen. Charles Herring's guess that some $25,000,000 in fuel taxes went uncollected.

Senate investigating committee looked into records in the Houston area to discover if small staffs, vague laws or insufficient penalties were causing the state to lose revenue.

OVER THE HUMP — Texas' general revenue fund is back, according to State Comptroller Robert Calvert.

During the spring, state expenditures got ahead of tax receipts. A month ago the fund was in the red by some $1,250,000. But collection of corporation franchise taxes and insurance company occupation taxes during the month put finances back on schedule.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Willing Buyers Need Tempting

By JOE ED BOATRIGHT
Record Advertising Mgr.

A survey made by a New York Department store last month indicates that most people who are willing and able to buy new products are holding on to their money because no one has attempted to sell them anything.

The store took the results of the survey as a warning to step up its advertising. "The American people have more savings than at anytime in history. They are ready to buy. We found that they just don't have enough information on the latest products," a store official reported.

This New York store is one of many which have rediscovered the fact that no product sells until the public has been convinced it is needed as a better replacement for something already in use.

For no one is going to spend money on anything unless he feels the expenditure will bring him goods and services worth more than the money spent. This is why a free economy can not expand without advertising. The job consumer education must be continuous.

The same fact is proved here in Colorado City time and time again, week after week, with area residents spending the most where advertising has whetted their appetite to buy.

Even the grocery stores—dealing in food commodities every person has to have to live—must attract the housewives, increase their sales by advertising and displaying in a manner to create buyer appeal.

And citizens drive daily to neighboring cities to buy products and services which they could obtain here at home if only they had been "told about 'em" by local advertising.

On the national level, manufacturer who fails to convince the public that he has a better product in 1958 than in 1957 can not expect new buyers for his goods.

On the local level, the retailer who expects to tap the increased consumer savings must constantly remind his public that he has updated his goods and services.

Locally or nationally, the best advertising is information which promises a better and richer life—which convinces the public that a new product will return benefits worth more than the cost of the product.

Lusty 'Gods Little Acre' on Palace Screen for Two Days

With the publication of a twenty-fifth anniversary edition of two-million copies, Erskine Caldwell's "God's Little Acre" reached the ten million mark, and with it the distinction of being the all-time best-selling novel.

This achievement coincides with the motion picture version of the earthy, lusty story of a Georgia farmer and his racy family. The film adaptation of "God's Little Acre" opens Sunday at the Palace Theatre through United Artists release.

Robert Ryan and Aldo Ray share top starring honors in "God's Little Acre," and co-starring roles are played by Buddy Hackett, Jack Lord, Fay Spain, Vic Morrow and Helen Westbrook with Lamar Fuller, Rex Ingram, Michael Landon, and in a sensational film debut, the red-haired Tina Louise.

An Anthony Mann presentation, "God's Little Acre" was produced by Sidney Harmon and directed by Anthony Mann from a screenplay by Phillip Yordan. Ernest Haller, A.S.C., was chief cameraman, and the musical score was composed and conducted by Elmer Bernstein.

In the field of fiction, "God's Little Acre" is supreme, having recently dethroned Charles M. Sheldon's "In His Steps," which had held the best-selling championship since its publication around the turn of the century.

"God's Little Acre" has also been preeminent, over the past quarter of a century, in another respect — as the object of more censorship attempts than any other book in American publishing history. But at the same time, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Walker.

more than 1,000 newspaper editorials have appeared, defending the book against its would-be censors.

Robert Ryan plays the most offbeat role of his distinguished career as Ty-Ty Walden, the raffish, middle-aged Georgia farmer who has spent fifteen years digging innumerable holes on his property in search of gold. A characterization as original as that of Caldwell's Jeeter Lester Ty-Ty Walden must rank as one of the most interesting and poignant portraits in American literature.

Aldo Ray's role as Will Thompson, son-in-law of old Ty-Ty, is a welcome furlough from a long succession of military roles. There have been so many of these, according to Ray, that "I automatically snap a salute to doormen, ushers and Western Union messengers." One of Hollywood's fine younger actors, Ray feels that his role in "God's Little Acre" is the most challenging he has ever had in Hollywood.

Even in Hollywood, with its available plenitude of beautiful girls, it was not easy to cast two of the most agitating sexpots in the annals of American letters — Griselda and Darling Jill, the fever-inducing daughters of Ty-Ty. Still, the role of Griselda went unerringly to Tina Louise, who lately drove men crazy with her performances the lush Appassionata Von Climax in the Broadway musical production of "Lil Abner."

Kegans Are Guests

for what I was?

Let me tell you what I saved when I drove a new Plymouth...then bought one!

Just like a lot of other people, I was putting off buying a new car... even though we sure needed one. Then I found out what my Plymouth dealer was offering in the way of low prices and really big trades.

Mister, when I saw what I saved I knew there was no use putting off any longer! Got more for my old car than I believed possible. (Plymouth dealers need used cars and can sell all they get!) Got a terrifically low price on the new Plymouth... and choice of models besides... hard-tops, sedans, convertibles, wagons.

And I saved a cool $140 on the ride alone! Plymouth's top-luxury ride, Torsion-Aire Ride, is standard at no extra cost, while you have to pay up to $140 for the top ride of competing "low-price 3" cars.

What's more, I got the car that proved it can save me gasoline, by winning the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run. A car with Silver Dart Styling that is so far ahead right now it will still be worth more when I trade. With the kind of easy handling that makes every minute of driving a downright thrill! The stamina to stand up without nagging adjustments and big repairs... a car as much better built as it is better looking!

Any wonder I quit waiting? Take my tip... get your Plymouth bargain right now.
