An Olton Cemetery Christmas Project has been suggested by directors of the Cemetery Association. A similar project last year was used to finance the chimes.

Residents are invited to make contributions to the cemetery fund in lieu of sending Christmas cards to local friends.

Contributors names will be listed in the paper, informing friends that the worthwhile project was selected as an expression of Christmas greetings.

Donations may be left at Olton State Bank or mailed to Mrs. Pearl Schreier, secretary-treasurer of the Cemetery Association.

76 Million Pounds Milo Fed By Local Feedyards

"We used 76 million pounds of milo along with cotton seed hulls from approximately 10,000 bales of cotton last year."

This is a statement made by Charles Koontz, manager of Olton Feedyards, Inc., as he spoke to the noon meeting of the Lions Club Tuesday.

The feedyards has been in operation for one year and Koontz was commenting on the effect that the business has had on the economy of Olton.

"A business like ours, which is not seasonal but year 'round, it can't help but be a boost to the community's economy."

"In these days, when rural America is fast becoming a thing of the past, we are privileged to have such a business."

Koontz said that the feedyards was at the present time about 95 per cent full. In a survey of other feedyards in the Panhandle, it was noted that most of the yards were only about 80 per cent full. In comparison, Olton Feedyards is considered "very successful."

The 76 million pounds of milo, which is the harvest of about 13,000 acres of irrigated acres, is fed along with a scientific blend of other nutrients. The hourly use of milo runs up to between 11 and 12 thousand pounds. Last year's milo bill for the yards was a staggering figure of $1,634,000.

Looking to next year, Koontz said they expected to use 100 million pounds of milo, which would be the fruit of 1700 acres of milo with an approximate cost of $2 million.

The feed producing machine uses 160,000,000 pounds of feed products, Koontz said. One ton of beef an hour for 24 hours a day is produced by the yards. This is 27,500,000 pounds of beef per year.

With $4 million dollars worth of cattle on hand, plus feed costs, Koontz said with a turn over of the cattle average 2.4 per year, a total of $14 million worth of cattle could be sent through the yards.

Eighty per cent of the 25 employees at the yards are local people, while the other 20 per cent are from Roswell, N. M. The year's up coming payroll is expected to be about $200,000.

"Some of it will stay here -- we hope it will all stay here," Koontz commented. "This will help stabilize our economy."

Other advantages to the community in having such a business is, of course, taxes paid by the yards.

Around $30,000 in taxes will be paid for school, state and county including the taxes on the plant facilities which is around $6,000 and the taxes on the cattle in the yards which runs about $25,000.

Koontz told the Lions that about $50,000 worth of automotive vehicles had been purchased in the local area since the beginning of the business.

When asked what sort of tie-in business would help our economy, Koontz replied that a large trucking firm that would make their headquarters here would be a big benefit to the community.

Asked about the use of alfalfa pellets, Koontz said that there was not a local source for the pellets and that they were being brought from another state at the present time, but that if a local source was available, and the price competitive, pellets would be purchased locally as is the milo and cotton seed hulls.

To supply the yards with the amount of alfalfa pellets needed, about 1600 acres would be needed and it would take four cubing machines to keep pellets made up for their use.

When questioned on the possibility of expansion, Koontz said that as things stood now, there is no need for expansion. He said there would be no need to expand until the yards remained full for about a year or so.

To sum it all up, Olton Feedyards, Inc. is a profit making business, made up of business men, who invested their money into it in order to make money, but in doing so they have also helped the economy of Olton.

Three Olton Residences Burglarized Last Week

Three Olton youths are in the Lamb County Jail charged with the strong-armed robbery of an elderly Olton man and the burglary of two other residences in the Olton area Wednesday.

In custody are Mike Pedrosa and Ensedio Martinez, both 18-years-old, and a 16-year-old juvenile.

G. R. Smith, a farmer in his late 60's or early 70's who lives four miles west and three miles north of Olton, said two youths knocked on his door late Wednesday afternoon, said their car was broken down about a mile down the road, and asked to use his telephone.

When he let them in the house, Smith said the youths jumped him, with one pulling his feet from under him and the other choking him. Smith told officers the boys threatened to kill him unless he gave them his money, and that they took about $250.

Following this incident, the three youths are charged with burglary of the C. B. Fancher residence and the Minnie Simmons residence, with the occupants gone from home in both instances.

Burglary of the Fancher residence, one mile west and three-fourths of a mile north of Olton, occurred between 5:30 and 8:30 Wednesday night, and a radio was reported missing.

The Simmons house, located one mile west and one-fourth north of Olton, was entered about 8 p. m. with entry gained by kicking the front door open. The telephone and telephone wires were jerked from the wall, and a television and stand, jewelry box and radio were taken.

All of the merchandise was recovered within two hours after the burglaries were reported, with stolen items found in a vacant house in Olton.

In county courts this week, murder indictments were returned against Clara Bertha O'Neal and Paul Luevano. Other indictments were against Ezequiel Fuentes for rape and Ricardo Juarez, felony theft.

Locally, three men were arrested on gambling charges, and one woman was charged with permitting gambling at her place of business. Arrested were James Edward White, Oursbourn Brown, and Quincy Standmire. They pled guilty and were fined by the Justice of the Peace. Frances Brown was fined $50 for allowing gambling at her business.

New Band Testing Program Helps In Student Evaluation

A new testing program allows Olton band director to evaluate students on an individual basis each week.

"This new teaching technique has accelerated the progress of every member of the sixth grade band. Over 30 of the 35 students in the class have doubled their ability in the first two six-weeks of school," states Fred Stockdale, director.

The new program was in the planning stage for more than a year. Stockdale watched the progress of students in Plainview High School and through planning session with the Plainview director, O. T. Ryan, adapted the system to Olton Band program.

Each student plays his lesson individually on a cassette tape recorder during the regular band period. The student misses only five minutes of class participation to do his recording. The cassette tapes are graded by the director after school and at night and each student is given a grade.

In addition to grading the exercise, the band director can listen for playing habits that should be corrected. Grades are posted the following day and new assignments made for every student in each band.

A new instruction method adopted by Stockdale allows the student to take the recorder home with special material, or difficult passages, already recorded so that he may learn by listening. Drummers have used this to learn difficult lessons rapidly.

Bookmobile To Stop Here December 19

THE LIGHTS OF CHRISTMAS -- City employees were busy this week hanging the street decorations and giving Olton that festive Christmas look.

Enjoy The Season

Much has been written and more has been said to warn us against our present state of "unreadiness." We often promise ourselves that we will never again be caught up in the last mad, hectic days of Christmas shopping, thereby ruining the wonderful spirit of the season.

How can one be friendly and forgiving, or happily enthusiastic in the final "Twelve Days" before Christmas when our gift list is incomplete (or not even started) and our feet hurt; we stand confused in crowds that irritate and jostle; and, because parking was impossible, it is still an agonizing distance to the car?

The solution is so simple! Try shopping in the attractive, well stocked stores of our own hometown.

There we may savor the relaxed, friendly atmosphere. Relish the opportunity of browsing...morning, noon or late afternoon...for as long or as short a time as we wish. Thrill to the opportunity of making choices for friends, among friends. Or delight in being helped by a clerk who will call us by our name, and take a real interest in helping us find just the right gift.

And, finally, we indulge in the luxurious request, "Yes, please - gift wrap it, and I'll pick it up later." There is no necessity for filling out complicated records of identification, nor even keeping up with the "wrapping department stub", nor standing in line to retrieve it.

We can return to our same friendly merchant, at our convenience, and he'll make it HIS convenience to produce the attractive package with his "Thank You" for this opportunity to serve. This kindly spirit may not always be true of a busy and preoccupied attendant in some distant, perhaps larger store where, after we have driven some 25 to 100 miles, and have chosen an identical or at least similar object for which we likely paid a HIGHER price.

So as we go about securing our holiday luxuries and necessities, let's enjoy these few remaining days, with as little haste as we can manage, with a spirit of true good will and friendliness, as we take advantage of the blessings near at hand.

Remembering all the while that home town shopping aside from being so pleasant, also helps build OUR TOWN.

Where Are The Fans?

Loyalty and spirit - two qualities that have long been lauded for the football fans of the Olton Mustangs!

It is no idle brag - our people are ardent and enthusiastic followers of the gridiron guys.

Lots of remarks have been made about how Mustang fans overflow every stadium - how they often out-number the host team's crowd.

Newcomers comment about the trait soon after their first Mustang game. Coaches are impressed. And the players - they're proud of our people!

What happens to that loyalty and support, though, when the last football helmet is packed away and the spikes laid aside till next year?

Wonderful, thrilling and exciting as it is, football is not our only sport!

Olton Mustang cagers show the potential to be one of the best basketball teams OHS has ever had. The Fillies have begun district competition with the look of champions.

But where are the fans? Cage action this week in Hale Center offered an exciting, thrill-every-minute battle. But where was the shouting?

Fourteen fans, sitting lost in a vast amount of bleacher space, can't make much noise.

Fourteen fans! What happened to that old reliable loyalty?

Basketball - volleyball - track -- they're played at OHS, too. Team members are our kids, too. They like the roar of a crowd encouraging them on, too.

Let's give them that old Mustang loyalty. They deserve it!

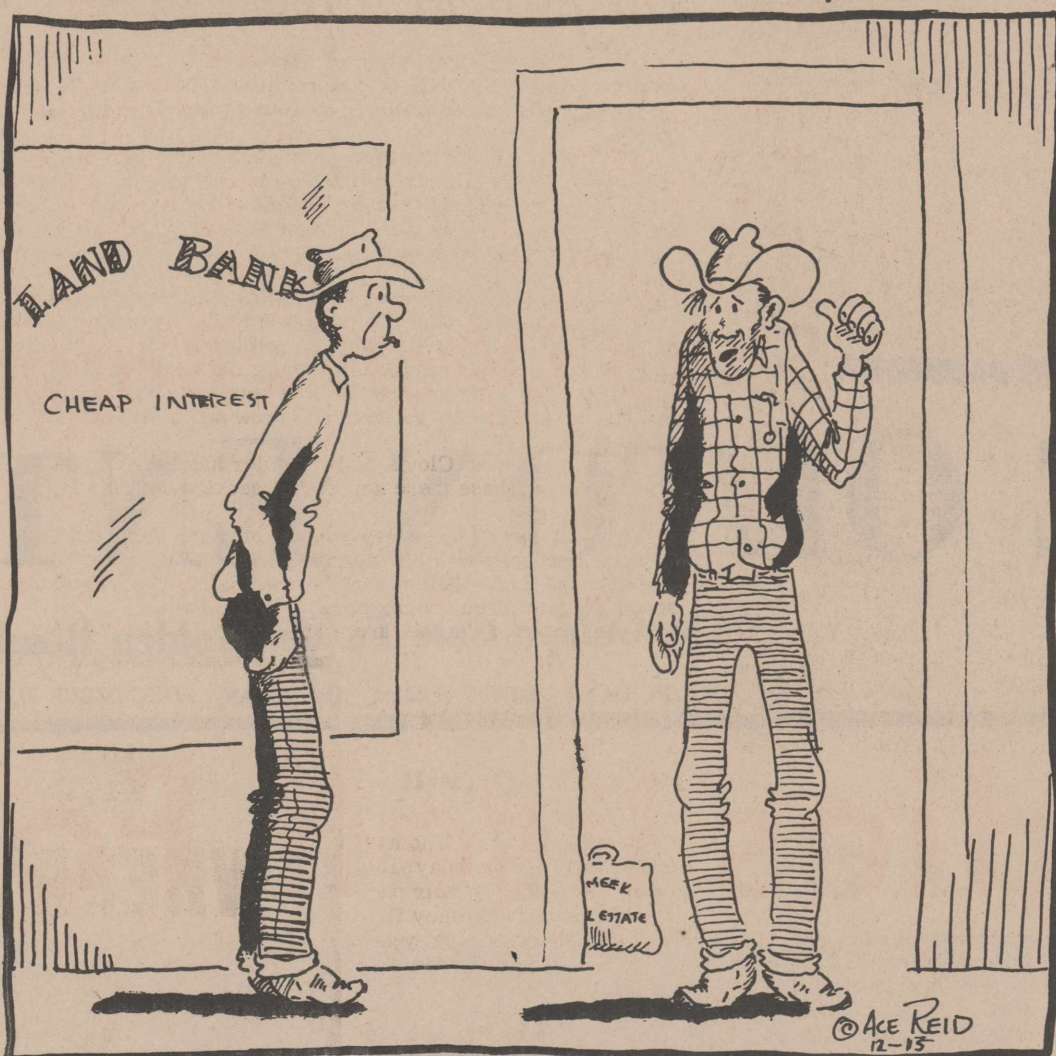

CHRISTMAS CAROL
Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" was first published in December 1848.

He who has not Christmas in his heart will never find it under a tree. - Roy L. Smith

I do love Christmas - to me it is like a Gothic ruin come to life for 24 hours. - Dick Sheppard.

Health Department Issues Holiday Season's Dangers

Someone mentions Christmas, and the first thing you think of is happy times around the Christmas tree. But the Texas State Department of Health would like to put in a plug for a little common sense this holiday season.

Mistletoe is fine when cast in its traditional Christmas-time role, but brewing a tea of mistletoe berries is not--- repeat, is not---part of that role. The State Health Department has information of a death following the drinking of mistletoe berry tea. It came ten hours after the victim drank the brew.

Who does such a thoughtless thing? More people than you would expect. There are more than the usual hazards of life and health around the American home during the Christmas season, all capable of putting a damper on festivities. Some kill, some seriously sicken the unwary.

Holly, for example, is widely used as a Christmas decoration. Its berries are reportedly toxic when eaten, producing violent nausea and central nervous system depression.

Christmas tree light bubbling decorations are equally dangerous. The gas propellant in artificial snow is toxic if inhaled, but leaves no residue when dried.

Unknown to many persons, some forms of trees can cause discomfort from allergies. A chief offender is cedar, which can be the cause of watery eyes, stopped-up heads and breathing difficulties. And of course, there is always the fire hazard with any tree. Be sure your Christmas tree is kept well watered, and electric lights and candles are carefully placed and checked frequently.

The Christmas season is a prime time for one of the four million yearly home accidents to happen. People are in a festive mood and they forget the dangers just waiting to claim them.

Plan in advance and your Christmas can be a merry one with no regrets lingering over into the New Year. Safety is part of the "good health habit."

Retta's Ramblings

Christmas season is nearing and everyone is hustling and bustling.

The Olton Enterprise Staff is so busy that you wouldn't believe it. Juanita Thomas was off work to be with her daughter, Connie, who had knee surgery.

In sheer desperation I was called to the scene on Tuesday afternoon. Interior decorating was to be my official title.

My first job was to take the Olton Mustang figure off the front window. To do this simply required a razor blade and lots of effort.

Then of course the window needed washing - both inside and out. I finally located and assembled the silver Christmas tree - which appeared to have shrunk since last year.

So I decided to put it in the studio window.

Also had visions of adding Jo Lisa's living color picture but was told that direct sunlight might fade it. So to enhance the beauty we added hand crafted ceramic figures courtesy of Joyce and Joe Hoover. If you've never seen an Aline manger before that is some of my individual doings.

By this time we had located the real silver tree that I was supposed to do in the first place, so it was assembled and put in the office window. After finishing the decorating job, I proof-read and left for home about 6:30. The rest of the staff stayed on. I drove around the block and decided two trees looked ridiculous!

Come Wednesday morning Joe Snider and I gathered spruce to add a holiday smell to the Enterprise. Also took tree from window and added the Holy Bible.

After completing my interior decorating I was given the job of helping put the paper together. If you've never visited a paper office putting out a paper you wouldn't believe what all they do just so we can read weekly news. It is fantastic!

Needless to say I didn't do too well, so was given job of answering telephone which leads me to one conclusion--- newspaper work is not for me--- but I sure am glad Sue and her staff do such a great job with it.

Ready For Christmas

Alice Haneche Mortensen

"Ready for Christmas," she said with a sigh, as she gave a last touch to the gifts piled high. Then warily sat for a moment and read, Till soon, very soon, she was nodding her head.

Then quietly spoke a voice in her dream, "Ready for Christmas? What do you mean? Ready for Christmas when only last week you wouldn't acknowledge your friend on the street."

"Ready for Christmas, while holding a grudge? Perhaps you had better let God be the judge. Why, how can the Christ-child come and abide in the heart that is selfish and filled with pride?"

"Ready for Christmas when only today a beggar lad came and you turned him away Without even a smile to show that you cared? The little he asked-it could have been spared."

"Ready for Christmas? You've worked, it is true, But just doing the thing that you wanted to do; Ready for Christmas? Your circle's too small- Why you are not ready for Christmas at all!"

She awoke with a start and a cry of despair, "There's so little time and I've still to prepare, Oh, Father, forgive me, I see what you mean, To be ready means more than a house swept clean."

Yes, more than the giving of gifts and a tree, It's the heart swept clean that He wants to see, A heart that is free from bitterness, sin- Ready for Christmas--and ready for HIM. -"Gospel Herald"

Texas Public Buildings To Meet New Requirements

Public Buildings in Texas are beginning to display a yellow and blue symbol, with the outline of a person in a wheelchair. The Texas State Building Commission by law is charged with the responsibility of requiring all public buildings constructed with federal, state, county or municipal funds to meet the standards and specifications which will make the structures accessible to handicapped and disabled citizens.

The symbol displayed on a building indicates that it has been certified by the Texas State Building Commission that it meets the standards and specifications to accommodate handicapped and disabled citizens in compliance with the State Law which became effective Jan. 1.

The law passed by the Sixty-first Legislature removes architectural barriers for handicapped and disabled citizens which would otherwise deny to them gainful occupation or maximum independent access in our public buildings.

Texas State Building Commission, P. O. Box 12427, Capital Station, Austin, Texas, 78711, telephone, Area Code 512, 475-2941 will assist public officials, architects, engineers and contractors in complying with the standards, specifications and certification provisions of the law. A fifteen minute audio-visual presentation is available for use by interested groups throughout the State. Printed material describing the provisions of the law, and consultation with staff representatives of the Commission are also available.

Cook Of The Week

Special recipes for goodies through the holidays are shared this week by a number of Olton's good cooks.

Melt-in-the mouth good is the cake shared by Mrs. Fred Hicks.

HEAVENLY HASH CAKE

1st. Mixture-
4 eggs slightly beaten
2 cups sugar
2 sticks melted butter or oleo

2nd Mixture-
1 1/2 cups self rising flour
4 tbs. cocoa
2 cups chopped nuts
2 tsp. vanilla

Mix by hand (do not use mixer) the two mixtures, Cook in greased and floured 13x9x2 in. pan - 350 degrees until done.

Cut large marshmallows in half (small package). When cake is done leave in pan, and while still very hot, place cut marshmallows cut side down on cake. Pour icing over marshmallows. (While cake is still hot).

ICING

3/4 box powdered sugar
3 tbs. cocoa
8 tbs. cream or evaporated milk
4 tbs. melted oleo
1 tsp. vanilla
Beat until smooth.

Place marshmallows on cake so you will have a half marshmallow on each square when you cut cake.

Mrs. Jake Mitchell likes to take a recipe and add her own variation. She shares a friend's fruit cake recipe which she adopted for her family's likes.

FRUIT CAKE

1 lb. Parkay margarine
2 cups sugar

8 eggs
4 cups flour
1 lb. nuts
1 lb. candied cherries, chopped
1 lb. candied pineapple, chopped
1 oz. lemon extract
1 tbs. salt
1/2 cup pineapple or orange juice
1 lb. dates, chopped
1 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. allspice
1/2 tsp. cloves

Cream oleo and sugar. Add eggs, two at a time and mix well. Add juice and extract. Sift together 3 cups flour, soda, salt and spices. Mix well. Mix fruits and nuts with other cup of flour. Mix well and bake in two greased, floured tube pans in 275 degree oven for two hours (or until toothpick comes out clean). To glaze: Bring 1/2 cup white Karo to boil and glaze one cake. Repeat for other cake. (Don't try to save a few minutes by attempting to glaze both at one time.)

Mrs. Garrett Bley shares a recipe for a hot beverage which is good at any time but especially nice to serve to holiday guests.

SPICED FRUIT DRINK

3 qts. water
1 qt. apple juice
1 1/2 cups Tang
3/4 cup lemon juice
1 tbs. artificial sweetener
2 7 1/2 oz. pkgs. red hots
Put water in large pan and add red hots, heat till dissolved. Add other ingredients. (can be made up and kept in refrigerator and heated as needed.)

Mrs. Gary Lawson had a quick and easy recipe for yummy little goodies.

CHO-CO-MELS

1 6 oz. pkg. chocolate chips
1 6 oz. pkg. cherry, caramel or butterscotch chips (use the one you prefer)

1 3 oz. can chow mein noodles
1 cup pecans
Melt chips over lowest heat, stir till creamy. Add noodles and nuts and stir till well coated. Drop by spoonfuls onto waxed paper-covered cookie sheet. Set in refrigerator to cool.

Mrs. L. A. George shares a candy recipe which has been a favorite with her family.

DIVINITY

3 c. sugar
3/4 c. Karo
3/4 c. water

1 pkg. unflavored gelatin
2 egg whites

1 c. nuts
1/2 c. cocoanut

Mix sugar, Karo, water and cook to boiling point, stirring constantly. Boil 225 degrees or until a hard ball is formed in cold water.

Beat egg whites until they start to fluff, add gelatin and continue beating until stiff. Beat candy until it holds its shape and pour into 9 inch greased pan and chill until firm.

This recipe takes a while longer than some to make but is well worth the extra effort says Mrs. Uil Gunter.

CARAMEL NUT FUDGE

3 c. sugar
1 1/2 c. whipping cream
1 c. white Karo
1 tsp. vanilla
1 c. chopped nuts

Mix all ingredients except vanilla and nuts in large heavy kettle. Cook until a small amount dropped in cold water forms a firm ball. Add extract. Cool and beat till stiff. Add nuts. Pour onto greased board and knead until firm. Shape on waxed paper making a slim roll. Roll up and refrigerate till cool. Slice in 1/4 inch slices as needed.

Mrs. Singleterry Hosts Wesleyan Service Guild

Mrs. Glen Singleterry was hostess Monday evening for a dinner and Christmas party for members of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First United Methodist Church.

Over dessert, members recalled former members who moved away in years past and pledged to remember each in prayers.

A Christmas story from "Out West" was shared by Mrs. R.H. Campbell. The story related how rough, tough Stubby Pringle, bachelor cowpoke from a remote linecamp, set out one Christmas eve for a party and dance in the valley schoolhouse.

Stubby Pringle never made it to the dance, however, for he stopped to help a poor homesteader's family. The burlap-wrapped package with the pretty length of dress goods which he had planned to give to the miss who caught his fancy was, instead, given to be quickly hand stitched for the curly haired little girl of the ill homesteader. Stubby Pringle's seven-bladed knife was used to carve a grand horse from good pine wood for the little waist-high boy.

And as Stubby prepared to leave the small cabin, he placed the fancy box of chocolates-with-varigated-centers in the lap of the weary housewife who had fallen into exhausted sleep in her rocking chair. The seven-bladed knife he placed by the sleeping, sick homesteader.

Down in the valley, the dance was over. Folks were riding away and Stubby set his faithful roan toward the line cabin high on the ridge. And in the stillness of the night, Stubby heard the tinkle of something like sleigh bells and the echo of a deep voice saying, "Well done, podner."

Mrs. Al Jennings shared devotional thoughts, "A Happening".

Members attending were Mmes. Campbell, Jennings, Alva J. Spain, J.T. Tollett, Bob Daugherty, Delmer Givens, Earl Robertson, Roy Aikman, Gene Trotter and a special guest, Mrs. W.M. Mason, mother of Mrs. Singleterry.

Texas Cancer Registry Research Aids Patients

Cancer patients in Texas are being aided by information collected by the Texas State Department of Health in its Cancer Registry.

While previous research into cancer is of great benefit to those with the disease today, the future holds more promise because of information being collected on cancer, its treatment and follow-through examinations.

"One of the primary purposes of the Cancer Registry," said Dr. W. S. Brumage, Chief of Special Health Services of the Texas State Department of Health, "is to follow-up cancer patients through their family physicians and hospitals to determine the quality and length of care and survival. Continuation of care to the cancer patient is of primary importance." He said this necessitates a lifetime follow-up and periodic examinations.

The Registry hopefully can provide us with information as to what is the best type of care, he said. This includes surgery, radiation, chemotherapy or a combination of these. "This can be of vital concern to cancer patients of the future," said Dr. Brumage.

The Registry had its start in 1949 and was housed at M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston. It operated under sponsorship of the Texas Cancer Co-ordination Council and was composed of volunteer hospitals which provided records of cancer cases and follow-up exams.

On the council were the State Health Department, M. D. Anderson Hospital, Texas Medical Association, Texas Dental Association and Texas Division, American Cancer Society.

In 1959 the State Health Department took over sponsorship and designed a local hospital cancer registry booklet. A manual, "Your Hospital Cancer Registry Guide," provides each participating hospital with suggestions to use in collecting uniform data about the patient, the disease, treatment and follow-up. One aspect of the disease of major importance is its location in the body and the stage of the disease when the patient reported for treatment--whether localized, with regional involvement or remote metastasis.

Dr. Brumage said the local hospital or clinic is the base on which the Registry is built. This operational procedure is approved by the American College of Surgeons. He noted that many hospitals use the services of the Cancer and Heart Division. Some use the reporting forms and although they may not be a part of the Cancer Registry program, we consult with them also, said Dr. Brumage.

Information from the participating hospital or clinic is put on the Texas State Department of Health Computer. More than 100,000 persons are on the Register now. Some 20,000 new cancer cases were reported in Texas in 1969.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

Aren't Uncle Sam's nativity Christmas stamps pretty? And aren't the antique toys cute?

Antique toys! That takes me back to the days when jolly old St. Nicholas used to visit me! "Those were the good old days," may apply in some ways but not when it comes to the toys of yesteryears.

A "depression child" would be as amazed over today's toys as great-granddad would be of the Chevrolet SS Sport Coupe!

Such dolls as we have today! It's enough to make a person deliberately turn to their second childhood!

Just before I got too old for a doll, "Betsy Wetsy" was born. I thought I was the luckiest little girl in the world to have such a wonderful doll. I kept her for a long time--but they lacked something in durability, those dolls of my day. As "Betsy" grew older her "skin" took on a consistency somewhat like chewing gum that has been chewed all day and left on the bedpost overnight!

Seems, too, that Santa seemed to not have as large a pack in "those days" but no one ever told me I was poor so I didn't know I wasn't getting everything my little heart desired.

I can't seem to remember ever being unhappy at Christmastime--unless it was the year I left my dolly (made of composition) on the floor by the old coal heater. I remember that one morning Daddy didn't look under the rockers of his chair. From the day after Christmas on, I had a poor little one-legged dolly.

If I'd been a today's little girl, I'd have ordered a nurses kit and a doctor's set and I could have fixed her fine. But I was a yesterday's little girl--so I loved my broken dolly.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

Will Israel Be Attacked?

What will happen next in the tense Middle East?

Is there any real hope for a negotiated settlement of the crisis?

"History teaches us," said Abba Eban, Israel's ambassador to the United Nations, "that men and nations behave wisely, once they have exhausted all other alternatives."

His view is that Egypt has pretty well exhausted the alternatives and will have to recognize that it must accept the fact that the nation of Israel exists and must be dealt with.

Asked about the possibility of direct Russian military intervention against Israel, he replied that Russia was obviously interested in establishing its power in the Mediterranean area, but he did not see this as an indication that she was interested in invading Israel directly.

The distinguished ambassador is, no doubt, gauging Russia's intentions on the basis of information available to him from both public and confidential sources, but he may have overlooked one source which has proved to be highly accurate and dependable.

Armageddon Near?

The Bible tells us that Russia will attack Israel—with a vast army and with many allies. It also tells us the motive for the predicted attack.

The Bible says, "Thus saith the Lord God, . . . Thou shalt say, . . . 'I will go to them that are at rest, that dwell safely . . . to take a spoil, and to take prey'—to turn thine hand upon the desolate places that are now inhabited and upon the people that are gathered out of the nations. . . . Thou shalt come as a cloud against My people Israel, as a cloud to cover the land. It shall be in the latter days."

The result of the battle is also prophesied. Israel will suffer enormous casualties at the hand of Russia and her allies, but her enemies will be destroyed in the great battle known as the battle of Armageddon.

Not long ago, when I was appearing on a radio interview program, the man who conducted the program told me that he had had a number of telephone calls from people asking whether the battle of Armageddon was coming soon.

"Is the battle of Armageddon near?" he asked me. "Will it come about from Russia's attacking Israel, with the United States going in to support Israel and thus bringing about a confrontation between the super-powers?"

The answer is this: the Scriptures do not tell us when this great battle will occur. It is clear that Russia will fight against Israel, but I know of no indication that the United States will be involved.

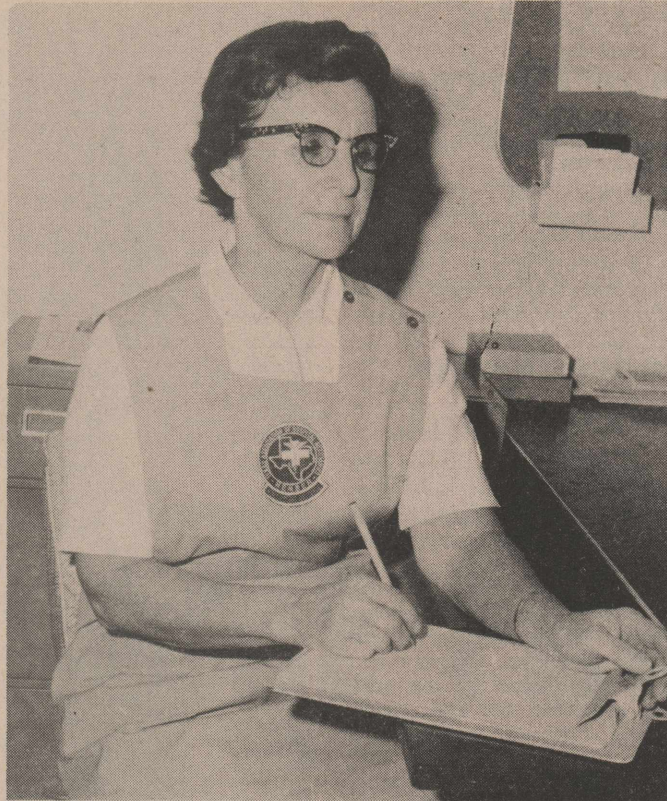

History Prewritten

Some of Russia's allies are mentioned, including Libya, which is already in the Red-oriented group, but also including some which are not now allied with Russia—so the indication is that some realignments must still occur before the time of the great battle.

But it will come. Biblical prophecy is, you know, history written before it happens. So we can be sure that it will occur, though we cannot know precisely when.

No doubt, Abba Eban is right that men behave wisely when there is no alternative. But Israel's enemies have not yet exhausted all the alternatives. So look for more fireworks before the peace that will come.

U.S. Savings Bonds Sales Almost Meet County Goal

United States Savings Bond sales in Lamb County totaled $9,096 for the month of October. Sales for the ten-month period were $100,975 which represents 78 per cent of the 1970 goal for the county, according to Judge C.O. Stone, County Bond Chairman.

Sales in Texas during October were $15,665,738 while year-to-date sales for January thru October totaled $151,968,956 for 84 per cent of the 1970 goal of $179.0 million.

"The County Bond Committee

In case there is some special on your Christmas list, let us suggest that you go to your bank and buy 'the gift that keeps on giving' -- United States Savings Bonds. Special gift envelopes are available, without cost, at your bank," Chairman Stone stated.

Just for a few hours on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day the stupid, harsh mechanism of the world runs down, and we permit ourselves to live according to untrammelled common sense, the unconquerable efficiency of good will, -- Christopher Morley.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"No Pets Allowed"

When the Scotts rented a new apartment, they took it for granted that their dog Rover would be as welcome as they were. But soon after they moved in, the landlord called their attention to the "No Pets Allowed" clause in their lease.

Unwilling to give up either the dog or the apartment, the Scotts determined to fight. In a court hearing, they offered this argument to the judge:

"Rover happens to be a quiet, well-behaved animal who never bothers a soul and never does any damage. Of course, if he should cause trouble, we would gladly take full responsibility. But in the meantime, enforcing this no-pets rule against us would be arbitrary and unfair."

Nevertheless, the court held they would have to abide by the rule or move out. The judge said a landlord may reasonably be concerned not only about noise, and not only about damage, but also about the likelihood that other tenants might want to keep pets too.

Generally speaking, the law gives a landlord broad discretion with regard to pets on the premises. In fact, even if no restrictions are spelled out in the lease, he may still be able to take legal action.

Thus, another landlord won an eviction order against an elderly woman who harbored no less than 25 cats in her small apartment. Even though pets were not mentioned in the lease, the court said 25 cats were—simply as a matter of common sense—"23 cats too many."

On the other hand, a landlord may lose his enforcement rights by "going easy" on a tenant for a substantial period. In one case, a landlord tried to evict a tenant after permitting him to keep a parrot for almost four years.

In these circumstances, the landlord was held to have waived the rights he had under the lease. The court said that, even though the lease plainly said "No Pets Allowed," the landlord's inaction spoke louder than words.

BIRTHSTONE LEGEND

The turquoise, birthstone for December, has always been regarded as a talisman of love; certain to preserve the fidelity of friends, prevent bodily harm and bring good luck and prosperity to its owner.

Take Christ out of Christmas, and December becomes the bleakest and most colorless month of the year. - A. F. Wells

When we were children we were grateful to those who filled our stockings with toys at Christmastide. Why are we not grateful to God for filling our stockings with legs? - G. K. Chesterton

Happy, happy Christmas, that can win us back to the delusions of our childish days, recall to the old man the pleasures of his youth, and transport the traveler back to his own fireside and quiet home.
Charles Dickens

Travelers may have noticed that some communities have a sign posted at their city limits announcing that their municipal water supply has been approved by the State Health Department. This sign indicates that the water supply does more than meet the minimum requirements of the U. S. Public Health Service Drinking Water Standards and State Health Department regulations.

Today there are some 450 public water supplies across the state that have been approved by the State Health Department and certified as safe and sanitary.

The evaluation of a public drinking water supply appraises the origin, treatment, distribution, and storage of water, and the bacteriological, physical, chemical, and radiochemical qualities of the water as it flows from the tap.

The owner or manager of every water supply system furnishing drinking water to 25,000 or more persons is required by state law to have the water tested at least once daily for the determination of its sanitary quality, and to furnish a report to the State Health Department. Public water supplies serving less than 25,000 persons must be monitored at least four times a month.

In enforcing its regulations, the State Health Department has so thoroughly blanketed the field of water sanitation with State Health Department engineers that water-borne diseases from public drinking water supplies have virtually disappeared in Texas.

Failing slips went out this week to many students as we come to the end (well, almost to the end) of another six weeks! Really, it is the end of a SEMESTER!! The Student Council attended the SPASC District Convention in Littlefield High School this past Saturday. The topic of the convention was "Being Heard in a Noisy World". There were approximately 20 students from Olton that attended. Discussion groups were led by students from other schools in the SPASC district. Pointers were given on such things as how to increase school spirit, better attitude toward school, relations between students and teachers, pros and cons concerning dress codes, how to plan for a football game, student involvement in school activity, successful fund raising projects and participation in extra curricular activities. We all enjoyed the pointers and we know it will help in the years to come to make Olton High School the best school in the district.

The choir will participate in the Regional Choir concert this coming Saturday in Lubbock. There are two students whom the choir owes this honor. They are Rita Graham and Luis Rey. Since they made the All-Region choir, it made it possible for the whole choir to perform that same day. The choir has worked mighty hard for this and we all know that they will do a great job.

The choir will also perform for the community Saturday, Dec. 19. This will be the annual Christmas Concert and we urge all of you to attend. It will help us all to get a little more into the Christmas spirit.

Have you written your letter to Santa Claus? Don't you think it is time? Don't wait a minute longer, write now and we will publish your letter in The Olton Enterprise, since we all know Santa reads this paper especially. He has to know some way if you have been naughty or nice, so what better way to find out? Give them to either of the MUSTANG ALLEY columnists.

Some of the students didn't have time to write a whole letter to Mr. Santa, so they just told us what they wanted.

One of the major embarrassments to which lectures are submitted is the student's looking at their watches. I once asked Coach Blakely if he found the ordeal particularly trying.

"No, he replied, "not until they start shaking them!"

Speeches are like steer horns -- a point here, a point there and a lot of bull in between.

The young Miss Powers stalled her car at the traffic light one winter day. She stamped on the starter, tried again, choked her engine, while behind her an impatient citizen honked his horn steadily. Finally she got out and walked back. "I'm awfully sorry, but I don't seem to be able to start my car. If you'll go up there and start it for me, I'll stay here and lean on hour horn."

Miss Powers -- What's so wrong with NASA?

Gary K. -- I hear you're going to college, but I never heard of that name before.

Johnny A. -- Can't you tell the difference between a lizard and a baby alligator?

Clerk to sweet young thing in form-fitting sweater: "Would you like to step outside and try it for whistles before you decide?"

Bank teller to man at window: "Sorry, Mr. Cotter, Your wife beat you to the draw."

Small girl, commenting to friend on passing boy and girl: "Goodness, she's old enough to be his sister."

Repentance was best defined by a nine-year-old girl: "It's being sorry enough to quit."

One of the greatest inventions of today is tomorrow.

Youth is a wonderful thing. What a crime to waste it on children.

Some cause happiness wherever they go; others whenever they go.

Horticulturist Issues Tips For Evergreens Winter Care

Weather injury, especially during the winter, can inflict serious damage to evergreens, explains Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Evergreens are particularly susceptible to winter drying in areas such as West Texas where the relative humidity is low, says Janne. This damage occurs in late winter or early spring before new growth can get started. Strong winds and low humidity desiccate the foliage because the plants are unable to replace the moisture given off by the leaves through excessive transpiration.

According to the horticulturist, visible symptoms of winter drying depend on the severity of the injury. Sometimes only the branch tips will be dead; at other times entire branches or even the whole tree or shrub may turn brown and die. In windbreak plantings, dead plants are often found next to apparently healthy ones.

Janne explains that the best precaution against drying of evergreens this winter is to plant them in a well-drained, fertile soil. Since this isn't always possible, the next best thing is to provide adequate soil moisture.

Homeowners and gardeners often store the water hose at the same time they put away the lawnmower for the winter, points out Janne. Landscape plants still require moisture even though wintry weather has made the scene.

To prepare evergreens for the winter and reduce weather damage, Janne outlines these steps:

1. Water trees and shrubs thoroughly at regular intervals throughout the winter, especially where they are protected by wide overhangs on homes.

2. Use a mulch to prevent surface evaporation and to keep the soil warmer. Evergreens have difficulty taking up moisture when the ground is cold.

3. Maintain a fertile, well-aerated soil to encourage deep root growth. Compacted soil hinders good root growth.

Evergreens display a beauty all their own and add much to the winter landscape. They can maintain this beauty only if they are cared for properly, adds Janne.

SAFE HOLIDAYS

"We wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year" ... "But as safe holidays are so much more fun, be sure to include good fire safety rules in the festive mix," says a well known expert. "You may save a life."

"Our well loved symbol of Christmas, the decorated tree is a potential killer - unless appropriate fire prevention techniques are followed," reports Dr. Imogene Nevins Holloway, recently with the Consumer Education Office of Product Safety of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, now consumer consultant for Owens-Corning Fiberglas.

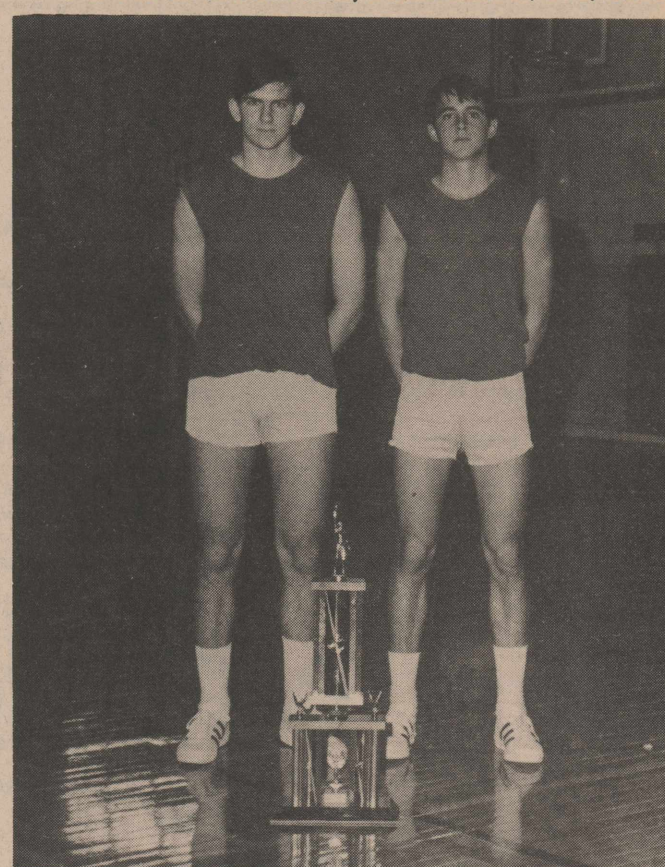

Christmas decoration fire accidents and tragedies do continue to occur, states Dr. Holloway, and the yearly high statistics from the National Fire Prevention Bureau certainly verify her comment.
