SIX AMERICAN ARMIES ROLL FORWARD ON 400 MILE FRONT

Ohio Phone Operators On Strike Paralyzing Long Distance Calls

DAYTON, O.—(AP)—Union-affiliated telephone operators walked out early Friday in a sudden protest against employment of out-of-town personnel and two hours later operators at Columbus and Toledo quit work in an expression of sympathy.

Paul Denning, commercial manager at Columbus, said at least 50 per cent of his long distance operators were absent at 9:30 a. m. and operators said they were accepting emergency calls only.

Miss Jeanette Reedy of Dayton, president of the southwestern area council of the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers, an independent union, said about 600 of Dayton's operators were affected. There was no immediate count on the number out at Columbus.

Miss Reedy said she had "assurances" that other locals of the federation would quit work, too.

Dayton and Columbus are in the heart of the vital industrialized Midwest, and the Army Air Forces' two important fields—Wright and Patterson—are just outside Dayton.

There was no immediate indication of how generally the strike would affect service. Automatic equipment was operating as usual in both cities.

Picket lines formed outside Ohio Bell offices in all cities affected, and employes who went through the lines were jeered. Bobby-sox girls carried placards before the telephone building here.

Andrews, Pecos And Kent To Get New Oil Projects

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

Andrews, Pecos and Kent counties are to have new oil prospectors start at once. Each project will be of considerable interest and importance.

The Atlantic Refining Company No. 1 Iowa Realty Trust, 660 feet from the northwest and northeast lines of sectiin 27, block 10, H&GN survey, in North-Central Pecos County, is proposed to 6,500 feet, to test through the Ordivician.

It is about three miles northwest of the Heiner area, he closest production from the Ordovician Cross Drilling Company is moving in material for the rotary rig.

Two New Operators

Frontier Fuel Oil Corporation No. No 1-A University, is the Andrews County exploration. Location is at the center of the northwest quarter of the nortwest quarter of secion 35, block 13, Universiy survey.

It will dig to the Fullerton-Clear Fork lime pay of the lower Permian.

That section should be found around 6,800-7,500 feet. It is three an one-quarter miles southeast of nearest prouction on the southeast side of the Fullerton field—that being Frank and George Frankel No. 1-B University, in section 17, block 13, University survey.

The new prospector will be two and one-quarter miles southeast of the Frankel 1-E University, a wildcat one mile southeast of the proven area in the pool. Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation No. 1-7 University, Silurio-Devonian discovery on the south side of the Fullerton area, is two and three quarter miles northwest of the new wildcat.

This effort marks first operation in the Permian Basin for Frontier Fuel Oil Corporatiron, which headquarters in Buffalo, New York. Associated in the venture is Riddell Petroleum Corporation, New York City.

CSO FARMOUT DEAL

The test is in a farmout from Cities Service Oil Company. Several operators with properties in the vicinity have made dry hole contributions on the test.

Details of the transaction were worked out by Paul F Barnhart, Houston general manager for Frank and George Frankel. The

Reds Crack Main German Defense Line

LONDON— (AP) —Russian troops have pierced the main German defense line 10 miles east of Budapest, capturing the rail station of Gyomro, and in a pivot northeast of the besieged capital Friday threatened the key railway junctions of Godollo and Hatvan.

Far to the northeast other units of Marshal Rodio Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine Army struck to within five miles of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth city, which is now exposed to Red Army artillery fire.

Move Toward Hatvan

Battling along the roads leading around Budapest to Austria, the Russians crossed the Budapest-Miskolc railway at Vamosgyork in a 12-mile advance from Jaszbereny and were moving toward Hatvan, Moscow announced Thursday night. Hatvan is a junction of the Budapest-Miskolc line and terminal of the railway running north into Central Slovakia, 38 miles beyond.

The threat to Dodollo, less than 10 miles northeast of Budapest, developed when powerful Soviet tank and infantry forces swept through Dany, less than 11 miles southeast. Godollo governs road and rail routes to Vienna and Central Slovakia.

Meanwhile, a midnight Soviet war bulletin indicated the Red Air Force had begun to track down the German fleet hiding in the Baltic. Since the RAF sinking of the Tirpitz, the only surface warships left to the Germans are believed trapped there. Torpedo planes of the Red Banner Fleet opened the attack by sinking a 6,000-ton transport in the big Nazi port of Danzig, the war bulletin said.

Modigliana's Nazi Retreat May Be Beginning Of End

ROME — (AP) — Fifth Army troops have occupied Modigliana, important road junction nine miles south of the Bologna-Rimini Highway town of Faenza, in the wake of a surprise German withdrawal after a week-long vigorous defense, Allied Headquarters announced Friday.

Several previous Allied assaults on the town had been thrown back.

Mined and Booby-Trapped

When British and Indian troops moved in Thursday they found the Germans had left the town thoroughly mined and booby-trapped.

Six miles north of captured Forli, Eighth Army units, moving cautiously toward the Montone River, cleared Coccolia and reached a point within 2,000 yards of San Pancrazio.

Other troops pushed about two and a half miles west of Forli against comparatively light resistance from German rear guards.

In the Adriatic coastal sector the Germans blew a gap in the banks of the Fiumi Uniti, flooding large tracts of land east of Highway 16 and making maneuvers there virtually impossible.

M. C. Ulmer Will Be Chairman Of War Loan Drive

M. C. Ulmer will be chairman of Midland's Sixth War Loan campaign, which starts Monday, Mayor A. N. Hendrickson, chairman of the Midland County War Finance Committee, announced Friday.

The mayor has been called to New York on business and Ulmer, who also is district chairman for War Loan campaigns, agreed to head the new campaign.

Midland County's quota in the campaign is $1,370,000 and the quota for Series E bonds is $315,000. Midland always has exceeded its quota in war activity campaigns and every effort will be made to push the drive to a successful conclusion at the earliest possible date.

WORKERS TO BE NAMED

Mrs. Alice Thomas will serve as secretary to the Sixth War Loan committee. She aided in the last campaign here.

Ulmer was busy Friday getting his organization ready for the campaign and will announce the names of committeemen and workers within a few days.

Purchases of Series E War Bonds since November 1 will count against the quota in the Sixth War Loan campaign. A number of special events will be arranged in connection with the drive and officials of Midland Army Air Field again have pledged their co-operation in the campaign.

Yanks Mop Up Mapia

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Torrential rains slowed up American infantrymen closing in on bitterly-resisting Japanese in the Philippines Friday while 900 miles to the southeast other Yanks encountered little trouble cleaning up enemy remnants on the newly-invaded Mapia Islands.

The tropical storm eliminated most of the aerial activity over the Philippines but bomb-carrying fighters destroyed 30 barges at Ormoc, Japanese supply port on Leyte Island, and raised havoc with a motor pool in Ormoc Valley around which land fighting rages.

Amid reports of further U. S. naval and aerial probing of the southern approaches to Japan and the home islands themselves, Tokyo radio announced the creation of a "liaison council to cope with air raid disasters in view of the inevitably large-scale enemy air assaults."

Engagement Reported

Japanese broadcasters said several U. S. warships engaged a Nipponese patrol ship in an eight-hour battle Wednesday off the Bonin Island, some 600 miles south of Tokyo. A Superfortress was reported to have made a reconnoitering flight over Kyushu, frequent target of China-based B-29's.

Like previous similar reports, these Tokyo announcements were without American confirmation, although Admiral Nimitz did report new air strikes at the Bonin and Volcano islands in which one, or possibly two, enemy ships were bombed.

Two other small Japanese ships were sunk and two damaged in Philippines waters and off Borneo. Tokyo claimed that eight U. S. aircraft were shot down out of 40 raiders in a later strike at Borneo.

Final Battle Of Western Front May Be In Action

By WILLIAM FRYE

LONDON—(AP)—Six Allied armies battered out gains along 400 miles of muddy front Friday in a massive test of German staying power.

Perhaps 2,000,000 men were engaged on both sides in what may be the last great battle of the war in Western Europe. Prime Minister Churchill has announced that between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 Allied troops were in Europe two months ago. The Germans were believed to have 500,000 men in the battle line.

The U. S. First and Ninth Armies, fighting shoulder to shoulder in sectors from 31 to 28 miles from Cologne on the Rhine, deepened their wedge in the Siegfried Line by one to two miles and advanced to within seven miles of Julich, a communications center on the Cologne plain.

The First and Ninth were supported in their jump-off attack Thursday by the greatest air fleet ever to go into a single action in direct aid of ground forces.

Nearly 6,000 bombers and fighters blasted at the gateway to the Rhine with 13,000 tons of explosives for five hours and infantrymen captured hundreds of Germans stunned by the onslaught.

On the Americans' left flank the British Second Army in Holland capped a 12-mile advance in three days by capturing Wessem, on the Maas below Roermond in Holland, and Buggenum, three miles north of Roermond. The British virtually reached the Maas on a seven-mile front in this sector facing the German border from three to seven miles farther east.

Highlighting the ever-present danger of a fresh offensive sweep around the Germans' northern flank, Allied patrols slipped across the lower Maas between 'S-Hertogenbosch and Moerdijk. German artillery reacted violently.

Pursued by British units mounted in Kangeroos — armored vehicles which are converted into troop carriers—the Germans fell back so rapidly in the flat, canal-broken country near Roermond that the Tommies lost contact.

Reported In Retreat

The Germans were reported withdrawing to their defense lines east of the Maas River.

While the tank-led troops of the First Army pushed their breach of the Siegfried Line deeper, the Ninth rolled forward through the towns of Immendorf, Floverich, Euchen and Beggendorf, all east of Geilenkirchen, and representing advances of about a mile.

The onslaught of the First and Ninth Armies into Germany was marked by a considerable increase in the German use of flying bombs, a front line dispatch said.

To the south, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army closed in to within a mile and a half of Metz on the north, south and west, bypassing German forts, working into the suburbs and fighting into the hangars of an airfield a mile southwest of the city.

But the Germans apparently

LA Police Believe Killer Was Luring His Third Victim

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Otto Steve Wilson, 31-year-old janitor, was held incommunicado Friday in the mutilation slayings of two women while police attempted to determine if he had planned to lure a third woman to the same fate.

Detectives said they would question a woman who was seen chatting with Wilson at a bar shortly after the bodies of the two other women were discovered Wednesday. While talking to the third woman Wilson was handcuffed and arrested by a patrolman.

Capt. Thad Brown, head of the police homicide bureau, said Wilson, discharged Navy pharmacist's mate, told him he "didn't know what I might have done to her." Her name was not disclosed.

Went To See Horror House

Wilson's confession said the authorities, disclosed that he choked 26-year-old Virgie Lee Griffin to death Tuesday evening and stayed up all night drinking whiskey and mutilating her body with a nine-inch knife. He said he went to see a horror movie starring Boris Karloff the next day then picked up 38-year-old Lillian Johnson in a bar, took her to a hotel room and mutilated her.

Wilson, in his confession, said that after he had strangled and cut Mrs. Griffin "a kind of a craze had gotten hold of me." ,I don't know just how to explain it," he said.

The bodies were found in separate hotels Wednesday afternoon and within two hours Wilson, employed as a janitor at Terminal Island, was arrested by a patrolman following a broadcast description.

'Cotton Ed' Smith, South Carolina Senator, Dies

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Senator Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina died Friday at his home in Lynchburg, his office here was advised.

Boake Carter Dies Suddenly In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD— (AP) — Sudden death has claimed Boake Carter, 46-year-old radio commentator, whose frequently provocative programs won him thousands of friends and opponents.

He appeared to be in good health but complained of feeling ill after his daily program for Mutual Broadcasting System Thursday. Taken to a doctor's office, he suffered a stroke and died shortly after he was admitted to Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital.

"Cheerio"

Carter's radio signature, "Cheerio," was familiar in almost every American household.

He was born in the British consulate at South Baku, Russia, of Irish-English parents, came to the United States in 1920, and for a time served as city editor of the Philadelphia Daily News.

He began his career on the airwaves in Philadelphia, but kept his job as a rewrite man on his newspaper until he became a full-time news commentator. In 1924 he married Beatrice Olive Richter, assistant society editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin. They had two children but were divorced in 1941 and he married Paula Nicoll, a traffic manager for Mutual Broadcasting System.

DR. RAINEY TESTIFIES BEFORE SENATE GROUP

AUSTIN— (AP) —Fundamental differences in conceptions of what make a great university, including different interpretations of academic freedom, were cited by Dr. Homer P. Rainey, former president of the University of Texas, as factors breeding his clashes with the board of regents.

Dr. Rainey testified at length Thursday before the State Senate's Educational Investigating Committee, and was the first witness called to the stand Friday as the committee continued its inquiry into the university controversy.

The former university president told the committee that one of his greatest disappointments was that he and the members of the board had never been able to see eye-to-eye on their basic views of what constitutes greatness in a university.

He prefaced his analysis with a statement, prompted in part by questions from committee members, in which he made these points clear:

He is not a Communist.

He has never been on the Federal payroll.

He does not believe in "social equality and intermarriage" as between negroes and whites, and does not advocate the attendance of negroes and whites at the same schools. He believes in equal educational opportunities for negroes "in their own schools."

He is a "Liberal Democrat" in politics "as exemplified by Woodrow Wilson. Basically I have two sets of principles: those of Christianity and those of democracy."

Dr. Rainey told the committee he made those statements in answer to rumors "regarding my connections and attitudes."

In answer to a question by Sen. Wardlow Lane, of Center, as to what took place in Houston just prior to his dismissal, Rainey testified:

Wanted Statement

"At the end of the first day's session I was informed the board wanted me to make a statement the next day as a basis for the adjustment of our differences. I worked late that night preparing it. It was approved by the ex-student and faculty committees which presented it to the board the next day and recommendsd that it be accepted as a basis of settlement.

"The statement declared that my references to regents on Oct. 12 before the faculty were not intended to reflect upon the regents' integrity, that I was speaking of them as regents and not as persons, and it also recognized the authority of the board under the constitution, statutes and their own rules. It said I would be happy to work with the board in accordance with these laws, rules and regulations.

"I also agreed that a faculty liaison committee might be appointed to assist us in working out differences that might arise in the future.

Withdrawal Mandatory

"Evidently my statement was laid aside early and it was stipulated that the conditions for a settlement of differences was withdrawal of my statement of Oct. 12 to the faculty.

"I insisted that I could not withdraw it because it was made only after careful and long deliberation.

"I then proposed a joint statement, by me an the regents, to the effect that mistakes had been made on both sides and for the good of the university we would forget them and begin anew working under the rules and regulations of the regents.

"I think I went as far as I could in trying to arrive at an agreement with the board."

Lesson For The Master Race

If recent reports from within Germany are to be credited, the Nazis themselves have accommodatingly started the difficult task of de-educating and re-educating their followers. This is being done not through books, but through impressive laboratory demonstrations in their own city streets.

It seems that their dwindling manpower reserve has forced the Nazis to impress prisoners from Asiatic Russia into service, and thus knock the racial supremacy theory for a loop. For today the Germans see about them a conglomerate collection of men in German uniforms whose complexion and bone structure proclaim them to be "inferior," according to the master-race diet which Hitler fed his people for 10 years.

That must be quite a jolt. And particularly since many of these foreigners wear the SS uniform. The SS used to be the cream of the Nazi crop. Its fanatic members were intent on proving, by blood and slaughter, that the "Nordics" living inside certain artificial political boundaries were ordained by nature's laws to enslave and rule their neighbors.

Today thousands of those ardent disciples of the New Order lie buried in distant lands. So many are gone that the Nazi leaders must now force members of the destined slave race, on pain of death, to defend the master race against inevitable defeat by the conquering "inferior" armies.

It would be a baffling task to try to explain such an anomaly. Here are prisoners compelled to take up arms in defense of a philosophy which would enslave them but which, by defending, they also destroy. The significance behind the sight of a Mongoloid face above an SS uniform can hardly be lost upon the most obtuse German.

And yet it may be wondered how lasting an impression the lesson will make.

Super-racism isn't a Nazi invention. It has flourished in Germany for more than a century, in such thinge as Hegel's theory of the dominance of the Germanic people as world rulers; Nietzsche's vision of a superman and "daring and ruler race," Wagner's grandiose Teutonic myths; Treitschke's anti-Socialist, anti-Catholic, anti- Polish and anti-Jewish writings.

Hitler's circle weren't the first small men to pervert philosophic thought to despicable practice.

Germany was also the cradle of modern anti-Semitism. In the last quarter of the 19th century this bigotry spread to Russia, Hungary, Romania and France, climaxed there by the infamous Dreyfus persecution. Directly after the last war anti-Semitism reappeared in Germany, and it took but little encouragement for Hitler to fan it into flame.

Racism is a congenital German aberration. Its eradication will be a hard, perplexing roblem for Germany's conquerors. But a practical example of its inconsistent folly, presented unwillingly by German authorities, may be as hopeful a beginning as could be asked for.

Movies Join The General Staff

If Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton, perhaps a practice originated on America's football fields may be helping to win this war. For just as a coach looks at the movies of last Saturday's game to study and avoid mistakes in the next one, so our general staff studies combat films for what they can teach in the conduct of war.

In Western Europe alone there are 200 combat photographers who shoot an average of 60,000 feet of film a week. This is rushed to London for developing, then flown to Washington. Thus for the first time in the history of war, the generals and admirals who plan the broad strategy of battle may share the field commander's view of its tactical application.

Conceivably this is saving lives and speeding victory. So the next time we growl at spending money for some mine-run Hollywood product, we might temper our ire with the thought that the technical refinements of movie-making are making a real contribution toward winning the war.

Home Ties

Mr. Churchill, who has spread more good will than the former Prince of Wales and traveled farther than Mrs. Roosevelt, is off again—this time to Paris. In the course of his travels he has picked up more knowledge of world conditions than most of his fellow men could ever hope to know. Yet there is one condition prevalent in America which we do know about, and we suspect that it prevails throughout the world. On the basis of it we offer our explanation of why England gets to see as much of its prime minister as he does. He has to go home occasionally to get his laundry done.

Patton Applied

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

This looks like the big moment we've been waiting—General Eisenhower's all-out drive to crack the formidable Rhenish defenses and administer the coup de grace.

German Field Marshall Von Runstedt may have half a million men with which to meet the terrific weight being hurled against his 450 mile battle-line that stands between us and victory. If that's a correct estimate it means the Germans are outnumbered by probably five to one—maybe more. The Allies are supreme in the air and their striking power in all other categories is superior.

False Picture

We should have a false picture, however, if we left it there. The deeply fortified area between the Allies and the Rhine present a great barrier, and the wide, swift river itself is a terrific obstacle.

It's likely to be a cruel route through that Rhenish valley. Success won't be cheap.

General Eisenhower has been working the shrewd scheme of varying his pressure on the Germans in order to keep them off balance. He could do this successfully because of his great superiority in manpower and equipment. By hitting 'em here, there and everywhere he sooner or later will find the weak spot he's looking for --and that's where he will develop the break-through.

May Come In North

The idea that the break may be on the Northern Front is rather encouraged by the mysterious appearance of General Simpson's will-'o-the-wisp U. S. Ninth Army in the line just north of General Hodges' U. S. First Army. The Ninth got into action quickly and the Hitlerites must have had a shock to find it there. They had known, of course that it was knocking about somewhere, but the manner in which it was spirited across France without disclosing its whereabouts is one of the wonders of the war.

north of New Guinea, were invaded to eliminate the Japanese air warning system. MacArthur reported American landing parties had completed occupation of Pegun and were mopping up Japanese on Bras Island.

MacArthur said American artillery continued to raise havoc with the Japanese although drenching rains temporarily bogged down double encircling movements. Several thousand enemy soldiers around Limon, about 15 miles north of Ormoc, were virtually surrounded and Yank infantrymen were within rifle range of their supply road.

First Division cavalrymen consolidated mountain positions to the rear. No new progress was reported in the three-way push toward Ormoc.

The 24th Division shot its way to control of bloody Breakneck Ridge near Limon and the Yanks' right flank pushed to within 1,000 yards of the town. Entrenched Japanese stymied the left flank.

In Southwest Burma, Indian troops from the Chin hills joined East African captors of Kalemyo for a possible assault on Kalewa, 16 miles to the east. American-trained Chinese in Northwest Burma encircled by-passed Bhamo and cut off all escape routes of the trapped enemy garrison.

Standard Oil Company, (Ohio) No. 1 W. A. May, 660 feet from the north and east lines of section 44, block 4, H&GN survey ,in West-Central Kent County, is to start at once to drill to 3,500 feet with a rotary.

The location is seven and three-quarter miles south and five miles west of Clairemont. According to application to drill, filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas, Standard of Ohio has a block of 10,279 acres surrounding the drillsite.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Federal-Leonard, section 12-26s-37e, Southeast Lea County wildcat which has discovered the first Ellenburger production in New Mexico, reported flowing for 12 hours and making 200 barrels of oil and 10 barrels of water, through a 5/32-inch tubing choke. Tubing pressure was 2,800 pounds; casing pressure was 2,000 pounds, and shutin pressure was 3,100 pounds. The water is supposed to be coming from back of the casing, which is set on bottom at 11,969 feet. The oil is from preforations at 11,890-928 feet.

Still Drilling On Cravens

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware and Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Carvens, section 16, block D, L&SV survey, North-Central Lubbock County wildcat, was making hole below 6,743 feet, in lime section showing no oil—but is unofficially reported to be carrying sulphur water.

There is a possibility that the project will be carried to granite before testing oil production indications in the lower Permian between 6,050 feet and 6,210 feet, which ray make an oil well.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Parrott, section 3, EL survey, in East-Central Upton County, reported recovering 80 feet of casing from the hole, which is supposed to have cleared the cavity of all of the stuck casing.

Conditioning Hole At Parrott

The operator is conditioning the hole at 7,000 feet, with total depth reported at 7,750 feet, in shale.

The Texas Company No 1 Hogg, section 24, block B-10, psl survey, Southeast Winkler County wildcat, which has found production one and one-half miles north and west of the initial producer in the North Monahans, Tubb-Permian field, flowed 213 barrels of pipe line oil in five and one-half hours, on a test Thursday. The petroleum is from 6,100-40 feet, through casing perforations.

Texaco No. 1 Montgomery, Central Hockley County prospector, in labor 19, league 70, Val Verde County School Land survey, is bottomed at 4,730 feet, in lime, testing a slight show of oil above that level.

Taking Another Core

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 22 Foster, West Mitchell County exploration in section 17, block 29, TP survey, T-1-S, was starting to cut a ten-foot core at 8,430 feet, in Ellenburger dolomite. No shows of oil or water have been reported in coring and drilling from 8,417 feet to the present total depth, which is 15 feet in the Ellenburger.

Shell Oil Company, Inc., and Cities Service Oil Company No. 1 TXL, section 7, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, West Ector County exploration, was reported by the operators to be shutdown at 10,069 feet in lime.

Unofficial reports that the project recovered around 5,900 feet of sulphur water on a 36-minute drillstem test at 9,978-10,109 feet, have not been confirmed, officially.

Some sources report the Ellenburger was topped at 9,980 feet. Surface elevation is 3,320 feet. The project has already tested for commercial production in the lower Permian. the Devonian, and the Silurian.

Thanksgiving Theme Of Junior Chamber Of Commerce Program

The people of the United States will be ingrates if they fail to thank God this Thanksgiving for having escaped so many of the ravages of war which many other nations have endured, the Rev. Vernon Yearby told members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon held Friday in the Roosevelt Room of the Cactus Cafe.

Thanksgiving originated with the Israelites while they were in bondage in Egypt, the speaker pointed out in a Thanksgiving message. He compared the lot of the Israelites with conditions here today and how much more fortunate we are.

Things More Basic

While it is all right to enjoy a good Thanksgiving dinner, attend a football game or enjoy other forms of recreation on Thanksgiving, there is something more basic to the day than these things, the speaker declared.

It is a day when we should spend some time reflecting and remembering how good God has been to us. We should offer up prayers of thanks and not close them by asking God for something, the speaker said.

Announcement was made at the luncheon by Clint Dunagan, state president of the Jaycees, that the next issue of the state organization's official magazine would contain 32 pages, by far the largest ever printed. More than 5,000 copies of the issue, which is devoted to Midland, will be printed and mailed to all Jaycees in Texas.

L. W. Sandusky, president of the Midland Jaycees, named a committee to be in charge of arrangements for the Christmas dance to be given by the organization December 21, at the Scharbauer Hotel. Those named are A. A. Jones, chairman, Don Scott, Dick Prather, Joe Mims and J. R. Maedgen.

The orchestra from the Pyote Army Air Field will play for the dance.

West Texas Due Same Oil Yield For Next Month

AUSTIN —(AP)— The Petroleum Administration for War has called upon Texas to produce 2,273,000 barrels daily of all petroleum liquids in December.

The PWA certification said: "The total crude oil production from fields in Railroad Commission Districts 7-C and 8 which will be required to meet the December certification will amount to 462,000 barrels daily which is the same quantity as that certified for production during November.

"The 22,000 barrels daily increase in the crude oil rate for sweet crude oil fields certified for production during November has been continued in December and such increase should continue to be allocated to sweet crude fields tributary to the Longview terminal of the War Emergency Pipeline.

"The total crude oil rate certified herein for production from Texas during December exceeds the maximum efficient rate on production as determined by the Petroleum Administration from a careful investigation of available data.

"Therefore, it is certified that the amount of production required as an emergency measure in excess of the maximum efficient rate as determined by the Petroleum Administration shall be produced as a matter of war necessity to supply essential requirements for crude oil."

Peace Thoughts Are Causing War Shortages Says James F. Byrnes

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Hopes of a return to peacetime production are running aground on shortages of war goods, manpower troubles and what government officials term a lack of public war consciousness.

And Republicans and Democrats alike, although concerned by shortages that War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes says could prolong hostilities unless quickly remedied, are pushing plans for a strong peace organization to follow the war.

The War Production Board, fearful that talking about reconversion makes people forget the war, may hold back disclosure of broad reconversion plans until Germany's collapse is assured. Mapping of its plans will continue quietly.

Byrnes last night threatened complete suspension of plans to resume limited civilian goods output unless the bottleneck in war production is smashed.

Stressing manpower troubles, Byrnes Thursday night ascribed failure to meet some munitions goals to "the mistaken belief on the part of some people that the war is about over." Two hundred thousand able-bodied men could break the bottleneck, he said.

If it is not broken, the mobilization chief asserted he would "not hesitate to take more drastic action," in these forms:

First, suspend the "spot" authorization procedure for covilian goods manufacture in the two classes of cities having labor shortages; and second, "completely suspend resumption of the production of civilian supplies."

New County Agent Arrives In Midland

J. H. Green, Midland County's new county agent, arrived in Midland early Friday morning from Houston, where he has been assistant county agent for the past 14 months.

Prior to accepting the position of assistant county agent of Harris County, Green taught vocational agriculture for three years.

Active In 4-H Club Work

Green was particularly active in 4-H Club work in Harris County. When he left there his clubs had a membership of 450 boys who were carrying on 4-H work.

Green takes the place formerly held by I. O. Sturkie, who resigned recently to accept a position with the Lederle Laboratories at San Antonio.

Lt. Gen. Wheeler Succeeds Gen. Stilwell

COLOMBO, CEYLON —(AP)— Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler has been designated to succeed Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell as deputy commander of the Allied Southeast Asia Command and will continue as its principal administrative officer under Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, it was announced Friday.

As the general commanding the U. S. Army section of the Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, and as the senior American officer in the command, he is in charge of lend-lease to all Allies in this theater.

Japs Saved Own Skins But Let 1,300 POW Die

LONDON —(AP)— The Japanese saved their own nationals from a sinking transport off Singapore in September but left 1,300 British and Australian prisoners of war to die in the sea, War Secretary Sir James Grigg told the House of Commons Friday.

American submarine crews which torpedoed the transport risked their lives to save the prisoners, but a majority drowned, he said. One hundred and fifty survivors have arrived in England.

"Thanks to the Americans, nearly all the rescued men are recovering from their terrible experiences," said Sir James.

HAND DECORATED BOTTLES NOT ESSENTIAL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—After deliberation, the Office of Price Administrtion decided hand decorated used bottles are not vital to the cost of living.

So hand decorated used bottles, along with some other odd items, including costume jewelry made from seeds, pods, nuts or other natural vegetable products, except wood were formally exempted from price control.

THREE YOUTHS STEAL ARMY MACHINE GUNS

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Three boys—aged 15, 11 and 10 years—created something of a sensation when they strolled along a Baltimore street, each with a machine gun tucked under his arm, but not for long.

A curious policeman questioned the boys and said they told him they took the three guns and a life jacket from an army vehicle on a freight car. They were released in the custody of their parents pending hearings

Rainey Suggests Investigation Of State's Colleges

AUSTIN — (AP) — Dr. Homer P. Rainey, discharged president of the University of Texas, Friday proposed a Senate committee before which he was testifying investigate the "interlocking interests" among various boards of directors of state colleges.

Dr. Rainey who had been explaining his differences with the board of regents of the University of Texas, which he described as due in large measure to the question of attitudes, broke off his explanation to declare:

"I suggest that the committee investigate how the members of various college control boards got there.

"There's an interlocking of boards of A. & M. College, Texas Tech, Texas, and Texas A. & I. and you ought to investigate it carefully.

"It is such an interlocking that the whole thing frightens me."

Two OWI Girls Show Up Puffing On New Pipes

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Two government girls stuck pipes in their mouths Friday as a personal solution for the cigaret shortage.

Dorothy Thompson, formerly of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Mrs. Una Franklin, formerly of Birmingham, Ala., began the day's work at the Office of War Information with puffs on their pipes.

Mrs. Franklin, mother of two daughters, said she had smoked a pipe at home off and on for five years. Miss Thompson reported she was testing a corn cob as a cigaret substitute for the first time.

TODAY'S NEWS IN PICTURES

Mass Killer?

Dr. Marcel Petiot, who was wearing the uniform of a captain of the FFI when arrested in a Paris, France, suburb, is accused of murdering more than 50 persons in a death chamber. He has denied the charges and awaits trial.

Lookee! Lookee!

General Sherman, You Were WRONG!

At the moment, war is far from what General Sherman said it was for Sergt Stanley R. Strurous, as Marlene Dietrich puckers up for a kiss over the "stage door" of the makeshift theater where she performed for his less lucky pals of the 35th Infantry Division's 134th Regiment

Help Via Horseback

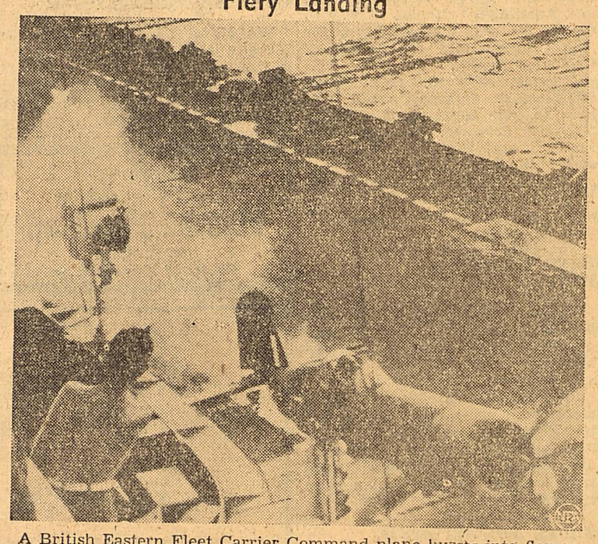

Devised for evacuation of wounded Allied soldiers from mountainous terrain, these twin stretchers, being demonstrated in this picture by British soldiers, are mounted on a Johnston carrier, which may be placed across the back of a mule or horse for easy transportation.

Wins on Pension

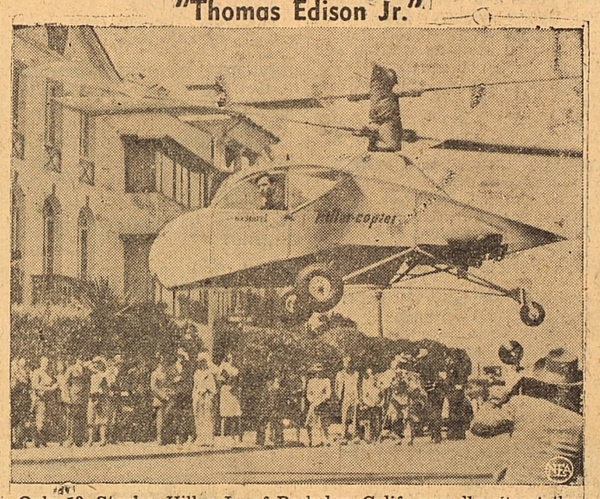

From a city pensioner at $25.48 a month to a congressman from the 3rd Minnesota district is the big step taken by William J. Gallagher, above, who worked as a watchman in Minneapolis to raise his campaign fund. Gallagher's platform favored a pension of $60 for all over 60.

Fiery Landing

A British Eastern Fleet Carrier Command plane bursts into flames while coming in for an emergency landing on its carrier after participating in attack against Jap rail repair centers at Sigli, Sumatra.

"Thomas Edison Jr."

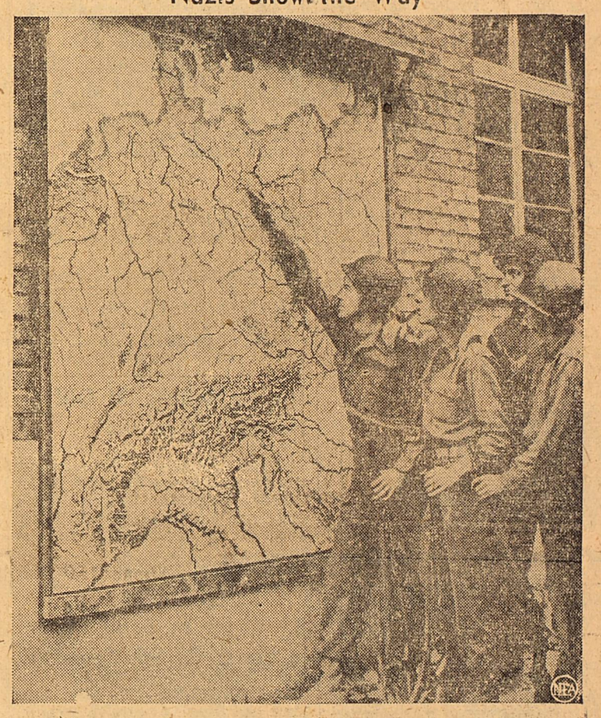

Only 19, Stanley Hiller Jr. of Berkeley, Calif., proudly sits at the controls of his newly invented helicopter as he demonstrated the new ship. Novelty of the plane, which has attracted attention of the Army, Navy and the National Bureau of Aeronautics officials, is in the construction of its contra-rotating blades, which give ship both lift and forward motion.

Self-Service

Patrons of filling station operated by Tom Haywood, New Bern, N. C., get quite a kick out of this gadget, demonstrated by Mrs. C. C. Cain, Canton, O., Navy wife, who makes good her threat, "I could kick myself!"

Nazis Show the Way

Nazi soldiers who evacuated German town did Yanks an unintentional favor by leaving behind this excellent map, which shows in detail the area where stubborn fighting rages.

Taps for American Heroes

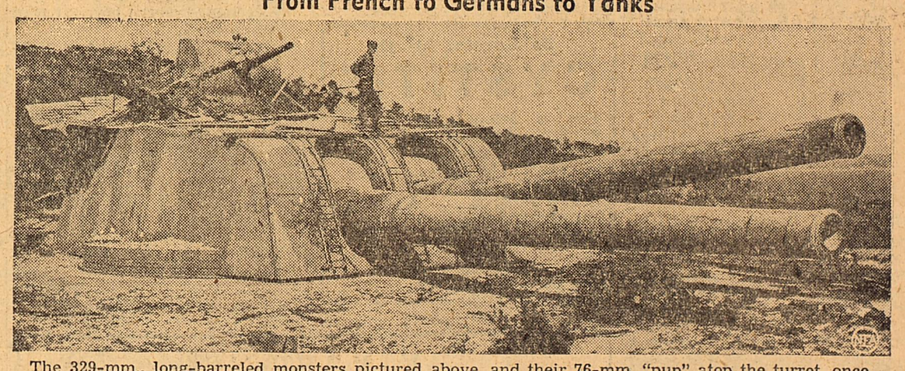

Beside a mass grave in a U. S. Army cemetery in England, Americans who gave their lives for their country lie side by side in flag-draped coffins as their comrades pay their last respects during military funeral services.

Millionth Rocket

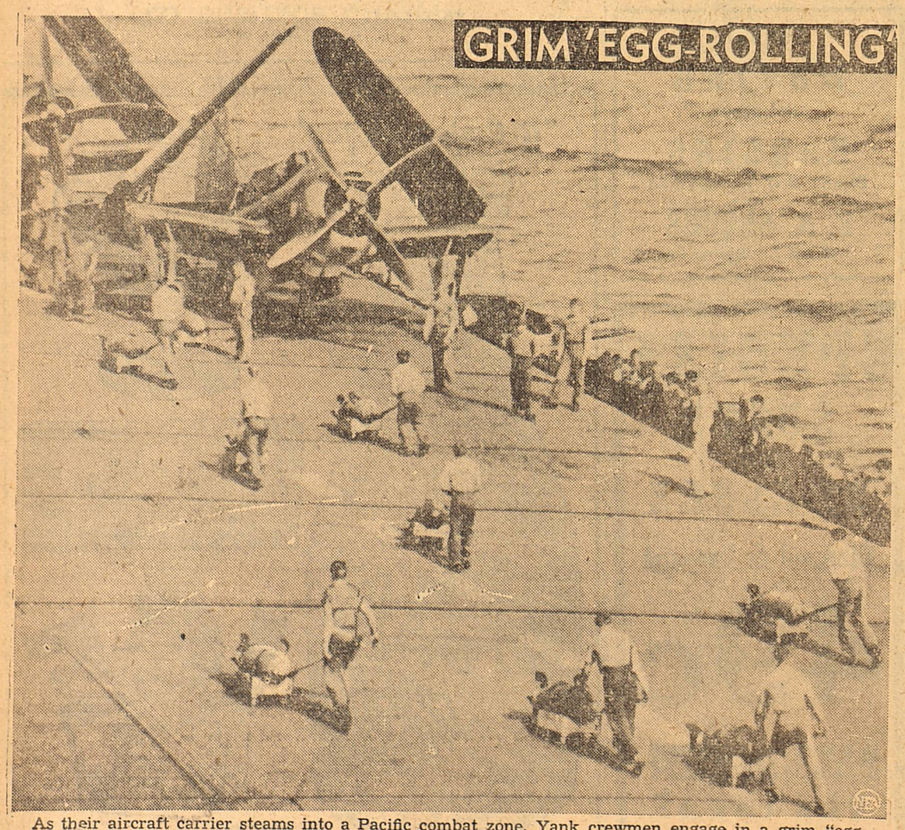

Employes of the California Institute of Technology's rocket production staff gather around to autograph the 1,000,000th rocket to be turned out at the Pasadena plant. The missiles have demonstrated their deadliness in use against the Japs in recent Pacific invasions.

From French to Germans to Yanks

The 329-mm., long-barreled monsters pictured above, and their 76-mm. "pup" atop the turret, once graced a French battleship. The French removed them and installed them at Fort de Janas, guarding the harbor of Toulon, great French naval base. Then the Germans came along and captured them. And now they're in the hands of the Allies, intact, because although all ammunition, living quarters and other installations near the guns were destroyed by American bombings, the big babies went unscathed.

GRIM 'EGG-ROLLING'

As their aircraft carrier steams into a Pacific combat zone, Yank crewmen engage in a grim "egg-rolling" as they trundle 500-pound bombs toward a group of dive-bombers on deck.

G. I.'s Get the Jump on the Foe

Jap Pep Talk That Failed

Brig.-Gen. Omar T. Pfeiffer, USMC, of Minneapolis, Minn., holds a Japanese slogan board which he found in a dugout during the Peleliu landings. Dated June 20, 1944—the day the Jap fleet was defeated in the battle of the eastern Philippines—the inscription reads: "Defense to death; we will build a barrier across the Pacific with our bodies."

YOU GOTTA THINK QUICK

By Stanley Paley

Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Ginger was right in prophesying that Boggio's attack of dyspepsia would leave him cockier than ever. He berates Kabatéck for not working hard enough but refuses to let him open an office.

XV

AS time went on my meetings with Ginger were greatly simplified. She had hit upon a system that we called "Maisie."

Maisie O'Driscoll had been one of the girls in the line at Minsky's when Ginger had first started out there. Maisie was the third from the left. Ginger the fourth. That kind of a setup makes for either rivalry or friendship. In this case they hit it off.

What objections could Boggio have if Ginger suddenly decided to see a whole lot of her friend who had meanwhile married and settled down?

And then one evening we became reckless. Busier than ever, Boggio had told Ginger he'd be out until late.

"Let's go to the Scheherazade," she suggested.

It was a flashy place. The tables were arranged in tiers around the dance floor, enabling everyone to get a good view of the floor show that went on intermittently throughout the evening. Our table was on the highest tier, on a sort of mezzanine. The Scheherazade wasn't very big but the walls were practically all mirror and when half a dozen girls kicked their legs it looked as if there were millions of them.

Ginger and I were in excellent spirits and after a couple of cocktails became positively boisterous.

"Hello Maisie," she grinned.

"Hello Ginger."

She turned to face the mirror across from us.

"Don't you think we make a pretty good combination?"

"You bet we do. With my looks and your brains we're about the smartest couple in the joint."

We both laughed and then something happened. Ginger turned to look at herself in the mirror again and the laugh froze on her face.

"WHAT'S the matter?"

She didn't answer and her face was white as a sheet. I followed her gaze. The mirror she was looking into reflected the one facing the bar downstairs. My gaze slowly traveled along several figures seated on the high stools, then my stomach turned to lead. Holding a glass of milk in one hand and talking excitedly to a man whose face I couldn't see was Boggio. All he had to do was look up and he'd see us.

Practically paralyzed, I slowly turned back to Ginger again.

"Oh, Leo," she murmured. "I'm scared. Get me out of this. Do something, please!"

"Shut up!" I snapped. "And don't move."

It was hard enough for me to figure out what we were going to do without having Ginger throw a fit.

In this lousy Hall of Mirrors we had as much chance of remaining unseen as a couple of goldfish.

Finally I leaned forward. "Where's the little girls' room?" I whispered. "You might slip in there."

"Right back of you," she answered. She was about to rise but I stopped her.

"It's no good. When you walk past that mirror you'll be smack in his field of vision. Just stay put and look at the menu."

IT was one of those huge affairs, the size of a tabloid. She did as she was told and I continued to think. Maybe we could slip over to a less prominent spot? But the place was packed. Only one table was empty and it was marked "Reserved." It wasn't much better than ours but you clutch at any straw in an emergency. Hiding my face I hailed the waiter as he walked by.

"Look," I said. "We want to move to that table over there. Can you arrange it?"

"Sorry. We've been holding it for some regulars. And I've promised it to a couple of gentlemen at the bar if the party doesn't show up in five minutes."

"One of them drinking a glass of milk?" I managed to say.

"Yes."

I beckoned to him to come closer. He leaned down.

"I don't want him to see me. Stall him. Get him out of here. I'll make it worth your while."

"I'm sorry. I've already promised him the table."

This was no time for arguing.

"How much did he give you?" I inquired. The waiter hesitated.

"Come on!" I snapped. "How much?"

"Ten dollars," he said, reluctantly.

I fumbled in my pocket, pulled out a wad of notes and peeled off three fives. I slipped them into his willing hand.

"Tell him you're sorry but that party is arriving. They've just phoned you. Give him back his ten bucks. When he goes I'll give you another fifteen."

He bowed, shoved the plates on a tray, and scurried off.

After a while I mustered up enough courage to look in the mirror. Down at the bar the waiter was arguing with Boggio. I couldn't stand it and closed my eyes.

An eternity passed and then I felt a tap on my shoulder. The waiter was standing beside me.

"They're gone."

I slumped back in my chair and didn't move for a few moments. I was numb all over. Finally the waiter coughed and I pulled myself together. I gave him the dough I'd promised and also paid the check.

We went down to the checkroom and I threw Ginger's coat at her. I wasn't in any mood for niceties. I ordered a taxi and paced up and down until it drew up in front of the door. Then I put Ginger in it.

It was only after it had driven down the street that I weakly staggered over to my car.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Should South open the bidding on today's hand? It is true that he does not have two and one-half tricks, but the tendency of the bidder today is to open this type of hand.

However, supporting South passes, North will open the bidding with one heart. Now what should South do?

Most of us agree that South should bid two spades at this point; but when I saw the hand played, South bid one spade and his partner bid two diamonds. Certainly now South should bid three spades—but he didn't. He bid two spades, North bid three spades, and South signed off with four spades. And in the play of the hand, they made only five, although six was a spread!

West's ace of clubs held the first trick and he continued with a club, South winning with the king. Now South should lead the ten of hearts. If West covers with the king, dummy wins, leads a small heart to the jack, and South ruffs a club, cashes the king of spades, ruffs a small heart, picks up the trumps, and does not even need to finesse the diamond.

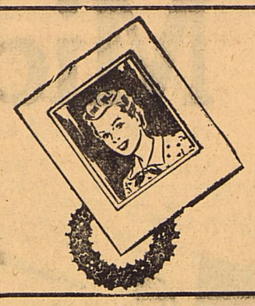

Prewar Practice Makes Perfect

LONDON—(AP)—Six years ago, before the war, a small combined operation was carried out as a test by a brigade of infantry which embarked in Portsmouth harbor and went ashore at Stokes Bay.

The soldiers, wearing the "Battle dress" of the day — Norfolk jackets, lace-up gaiters and deer stalker hats—were under command of a little-known officer, Brig. Bernard Montgomery.

"I like to think," said Lt.-Gen. W. D. Morgan, who told the story, "that Field Marshal Montgomery looks back on those days and derives considerable satisfaction in view of the successful operation in France."

About 300 people are killed and 1,000 injured every year in home fires and explosions due to the improper use of inflammable cleaning fluids.

Eastward Ho! For British Ships

LIVERPOOL —(AP)— The queerest job yet to come the way of dock workers is "tropicalizationing" the royal and merchant navies. This is the reconditioning of ships that have played their part in the European war for action in other waters—probably the Pacific.

Already 600 warships and 2,000 merchant ships have been prepared for the tropics and work is continuing on other vessels.

Double Life Exposed

LONDON —(AP)— A 45-year-old London woman was sentenced to three months in prison for having drawn double rations since the start of the war, five years ago, under false pretenses. She obtained two identity cards, two ration cards and two sets of clothing coupons. She was found guilty of hundreds of offenses for every time she used a ration book she violated the law.

What Every GI In India Wishes

CALCUTTA—(AP)— Approximately 50 hours of flying time spread over a month, a looping tour of the CBI theater from Kandy to Chungking and talks with hundreds of Americans, British, Chinese and Indians, brings the following conclusions:

1. Every last GI wishes the war would end right away. That goes for British, Indians and Chinese.

2. Every last GI wishes he could go someplace else to fight—if he must keep on with the war. It is too hot, dirty and lonesome in India, too dirty and lonesome in China. It can't be said for sure what the British, Chinese and Indians think about going someplace else.

3. Every last GI believes that nobody else is fighting the war very hard except the Americans. It is fairly clear that the British Chinese and Indians think the same thing.

Car-Hungry Rio Is Jeep-Crazy

RIO DE JANEIRO—(AP)— Rio's newest game and unsolved riddle is "Jeep, Jeep, who's got the Jeep." The rumored gent who is taking orders for postwar deliveries for a $25 down payment is Rio's most sought after individual.

The whole thing stems from rumors floating around Rio's coffee shops that the U. S. Embassy is arranging for postwar sales of guaranteed used Jeeps. The quoted price is $85 to $95 and footweary auto-hungry Cariocas are gobbling it up.

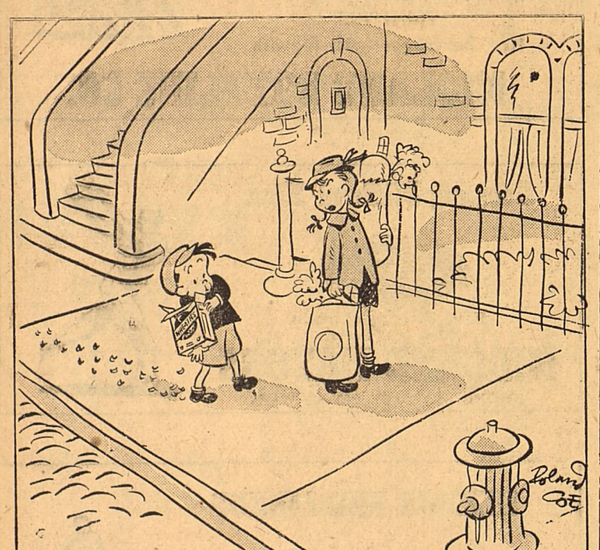

Embassy officials, amazed at the wildfire story, have tried to kill the rumor, but recently it has come back stronger than ever.

About one-third of the fires put out by municipal fire departments in the United States are put out wih hand extinguishers.

SIDE GLANCES

"Thank you for the compliment! I feel wonderful, too, since our car was junked and I've been taking that long walk to the beauty shop twice a week!"

Legion's Military Training Plan To Be Explained Here

The plan being sponsored by the American Legion for universal military training after the war will be presented to Midland members of the Legion and members of the various civic organizations at a meeting to be held December 5, A. C. Hefner, post commander of the Woods W. Lynch Post of the American Legion, said Friday.

Lt. Col. John H. Alvis will be in Midland to explain and present the Legion's plan for universal military training.

Prior to the meeting Hefner plans to extend an invitation to members of the luncheon clubs, the Texas State Guard and other organizations to attend the meeting.

New Trial Asked In Shirley Howard Case

ODESSA—A motion for a new trial in the case of Shirley Howard, convicted on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting of J. A. Whittenton at Midland November 9, 1942, was filed in 70th District Court in Odessa Thursday by R. W. Hamilton, the defendant's attorney.

Hamilton asked for a new trial on the basis the presiding judge's charge to the jury prejudiced the defendant's case and that hearsay testimony was introduced.

Howard was convicted Tuesday night when a jury assessed a penalty of 10 years in the penitentiary.

Muddy Field May Upset Midland-Cisco Game Friday Night

The Cisco Lobos invade the Midland High School gridiron at 8:30 p. m. Friday in what promises to be an interesting game despite the fact Midland is rated above the visiting eleven.

Coach Gene McCollum has expressed doubt over the probability of Bill Richards, star halfback, starting the game and the other halfback, Red Roy, still is suffering from shoulder injuries, received in the San Angelo game November 3. Quarterback Wilbur Yeager is back in play after an illness.

The Bulldogs outweigh the Lobos an average of eight pounds per man. A closer glance at the weights reveal, however, that Lobo Cleveland, backfieldman, who only weighs 118 pounds, is able to pull the average of the entire team down quite a bit.

Cisco Line Lighter

The Cisco line is a bit lighter than the Midland team and the backfield is considerably so.

Cisco won this year over Stephenville and Mineral Wells, whereas Midland has wins over Pampa, Austin High (El Paso), Plainview and Big Spring.

The Probable starting lineups

Midland	Position	Cisco
Conly	LE	Williams
McNeal	LT	Nobles
Leftwich	LG	Smith
Edwards	C	Harrelson
Gerald	RG	Ramsower
Funk	RT	Penn
Hyatt	RE	Collins
Yeager	QB	Cleveland
Richards	LH	Paschall
Roy	RH	Tompkins
Hale	FB	Johnson

Officials will be Stalls, Hart, Siebert and Patterson.

Sports ★★ Roundup

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr

NEW YORK—(AP)—From a bomber squadron in France, Corp. Doug Gary reports: "The World Series was thicker than snow in the Rockies here. Everybody pulled for the Browns and when they won one the camp went wild and they all stayed up to listen to the remaining games (they stayed at 7:30 our time). . . . Several Frenchmen asked me about the outcome of the World Series." . . . Seems that World Series is correct. . . . Vivian Morrow of Utica, N. Y., broke a finger on her right hand playing softball, but that doesn't keep her from bowling in three different leagues. She merely switched to left-handed bowling. . . . Last word on the Army-Notre Dame game (from Scout Jack Lavelle): "They couldn't hit me; I was up in the upper stands."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

The Honolulu pro football club, which wants to get into one of the U. S. leagues, will include as many Hawaiian players as possible and Prexy Ralph Olson promises a troupe of Hula gals and Hawaiian entertainers will accompany the team on its travels.

ANOTHER GOOD PLAN

Military authorities in Bermuda have been trying to drum up an Army-Navy series (not just one game) during January, but when Coach Joe Maniaci of the Bainbridge Naval Training Center was invited to contribute himself and eight players to the Navy squad, the word went back that Joe couldn't be spared from his duties in the Provost Marshal's Division for a month, nor could the players get away for so long without replacements. . . . It would be swell for Bermuda's service men but tough on Bainbridge.

DOT'S ALL, BROTHERS

Since 1933, when Virginia's footballers sent word ahead that they were ready to "shoot the works" against Ohio State—and then lost 75-0—that expression hasn't been popular with the Cavaliers until this year. . . . So far three rivals, Hampden-Sydney, West Virginia and Richmond, have announced that they were gunning for Virginia. Scores: 37-0, 24-7 and 39-0. . . . Coach Frank Murray now is hoping for some kindly expressions of ill feeling from Yale.

Schoolboy Football Has Little Chance Of Weekend Upset

By The Associated Press

The four remaining high school teams with untied and undefeated records meet relatively weak opposition in games Friday and few fans gave serious thought to the possibility of any one of them coming out loser.

The four—Paschal (Fort Worth), Waco, Goose Creek and Austin—meet Arlington Heights (Ft. Worth), Cleburne, Beaumont and Corpus Christi. On the basis of the season records, the Big Four should have little trouble.

Thursday night Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth) beat Masonic Home 6-0; North Dallas polished off Adamson (Dallas) 7-0; and Jeff Davis and San Jacinto played a scoreless tie.

Foul Line Judges In Bowling Nearly Gone

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Foul line judges—those silent men who sit up against a wall in bowling alleys and press little buttons when you slide over the line—are likely to be looking for other jobs after the war.

The American Bowling Congress has imposed the death sentence on foul line judges by approving a "fouldicator" — an electric device that registers fouls by means of an electric eye and wall contact plates.

Seven similar devices had been presented to the ABC previously, but all had some faults and were rejected. The fouldicator, however, a special ABC committee decided after watching it in operation, overcame all objections.

Landis Retirement Rumors Flying Fast

CHICAGO — (AP) — Rumors that Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis was ready to retire were rife Friday as a group of major league officials met to consider the big league agreement which, among other things, provides for procedure to be taken in event of a vacancy in the office.

For the past several months there have been unconfirmed reports in baseball circles that Landis, who assumed baseball's highest office when the present major league pact was signed on Jan. 12, 1921, was not to be a candidate for re-election when the agreement expires on Jan. 12, 1946. The rumors have increased in hot stove talk since Landis' recent illness, which has confined him to St. Luke's Hospital for the last six weeks.

Lieutenant Plautz Betters Hole In One

First Lt. Sanford Plautz beat a hole in one at the Midland Country Club in the opinion of Gaither Nowell, club pro, when he made the long number nine hole with a deuce.

Lieutenant Plautz was playing with Fred Hogan and Curt Inman when he made the 436 yard number nine with two strokes.

Egad! I have been reading — haw! haw! — the prognostications of several of our leading football experts—haw-haw! Really, gentle readers, it's the best laugh I've had in year. (Ed. Note: He ought to read his own if he's that easily amused!)

Um! I haven't checked my forecasts lately, but I am going forward on the assumption that the selections have hovered close to 100 per cent. (Ed. Note: If he doen't do any better today than he's been doing, we're going to ride hi mout of town on a rail.)

Today, I offer you these superspecials, the first of which is Purdue to beat Navy, 13 to 6. Egad This will be a grueling game, with the shock of body meeting body sounding like a barrage in Germany. The Boilermakers are better than popularly rated, rest assured.

The game of games in the Western Conference, which I have nicknamed the Big Nine, will be the struggle between Illinois and Ohio State. The Buckeye Monday Morning Quarterback Association isn't going to like this, I'll wager. My figures are: Illinois 21, Ohio State 20 .In addition to which I am giving you: Wisconsin 7, Michigan 0.

Municipal Airport Basketball Team Is Looking For Games

The enlisted men of the Eighth Ferrying Service at the Midland Municipal Airport are looking for games for their basketball team, Lt. John Blunt, special service officer and coach, said Friday.

Anyone wishing to match a game with the airport team is asked to telephone 940, extension 9, and ask for Lieutenant Blunt.

In a practice game played Thursday night at the Midland High School gymnasium the airport team trounced the officers' team from Midland Army Air Field 42 to 22.

Lieutenant Blunt said any Midland business concern wishing to sponsor the team could do so.

Houston Logical Air Route, Connelly Says

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Connally (D-Texas) has requested the International Aviation Conference in Chicago to designate Houston as an aerial gateway to Latin America in any plans involving air routes.

In a telegram to conference officials Thursday, Conally said: "Houston and the entire Gulf country do a large busines with the Caribbean and Central and South America. It is highly desirable that an aviation outlet through that port be provided. Houston is one of the great modern ports of the nation and to ignore it and route all aviation through other points would be rank discrimination and would work a great hardship on the whole area."

Brig. Gen. Easley Wounded On Leyte

WITH THE U. S. 96TH DIVISION, LEYTE ISLAND—(AP)— The Army announced Friday that Brig. Gen. Claudius M. Easley, assistant commander of the 96th Division, was wounded recently on one of his numerous trips to the front.

The general, a Texan who lives near Waco, was shot by a Japanese sniper. The announcement did not mention the extent of the wound.

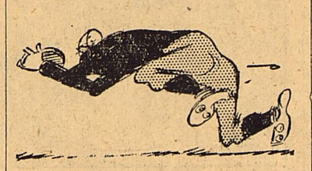

★ From The Press Box

By JACK LIVELY

The Bulldogs took their pre-Cisco game practice in the High School gym Thursday afternoon as the weather was too rough for either the team or the field. The Midland gridiron hasn't too good a turf on it and with the team prancing around, the chances are there would be more mud than grass for the game.

Coach Gene McCollum said the boys who were ill the earlier part of the week now are "back in the saddle" and while a couple were still a little "puny" there was enough to let the Cisco team know they are in a game.

Midland outweighs Cisco an average of eight pounds per man and is generally favored to win. Under average conditions we might predict a margin of 30 points in the Bulldog favor, but on a wet field, such as the teams will have Friday night, the odds are, the game will be closer.

Roy And Richards

Red Roy's shoulder and Bill Richards knee may keep them from the game. This will of course tend to tighten up the game. However Coach McCollum said that he had not decided whether to keep them on the bench or not. For the time being he has them in the starting lineup.

Bullpup Coach Jack Mashburn has a game scheduled with Odessa for Saturday afternoon but doubt was expressed Friday that the game would be played on account of the bad weather.

Had To Have Help

We happen to own a black Cocker Spaniel named Happy. Happy is exceedingly interested in football. His interest stems back to the point of ham. Ham is pork, pork is of course pig and a football is pigskin. Therefore, Happy is qualified to, through his liking for pork, etc. to do a certain amount of forecasting.

Now we give you, with the able assistance of the dog, the following:

Army-Penn—Army's power will wear the Quakers down for another one-sided score for the Cadets.

Purdue-Navy—The Middies may find a tough nut to crack in the Boilermakers before winning by two or three touchdowns.

Illinois-Ohio State—A battle of speed between backs. The line probably will be the difference in which case it'll be Ohio State to remain unbeaten.

It's Mississippi

Mississippi State - Alabama — Shorty McWilliams will spark State to its seventh straight victory and possible bowl bid.

Northwestern-Notre Dame— Bob Kelly may not see murh action but the Irish have enough to rebound from the Army drubbing. Notre Dame.

Wisconsin-Michigan— The once-beaten Wolverines aren't going to let Badgers stad in their way of a chance to win the Big Ten title. Michigan.

Georgia Tech-Lousiana State — The Engineers are riding high again. Georgia Tech.

Oklahoma-Kansas—A torrid Big Six rivalry with the Sooners in front.

Texas Christian-Texas—The comparative scores say it'll be Texas.

Iowa Pre-Flight-Missouri—There's too much power at Iowa City for the Collegians to handle. Iowa Pre-Flight

Office Gal Helped

Texas Aggies-Rice—We asked the office gal for help on this one and she picked the Aggies. Said she doesn't like Rice.

Marquette-Great Lakes — The Sailors will sail right through a mild storm, Great Lakes.

Colgate-Syracuse — Heads it's Syracuse, tails Colgate. The coin showed Syracruse.

California-Southern California — The Trojans need this one to get into the Rose Bowl and they'll be there Jan. 1. Southern California.

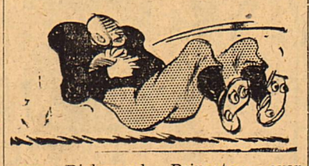

Duke - South Carolina — Don't pause—Duke.

North Carolina-Yale—Yale will continue on its all victorious march.

Pittsburgh-Indiana—The Hoosiers, we hope, will rebound from last week's surprise defeat by Minnesota.

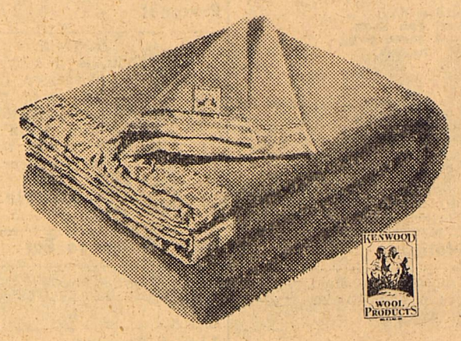

The Majority

And now here we go over the nation's chalked lines: Auburn over Georgia; Arkansas over Southern Methodist, Brown over Columbia, Tulane over Clemson, Cornell over Darthmouth, Penn State over Maryland, Minnesota over Iowa, UCLA over Pacific, North Carolina state over Richmond, Princeton over Swarthmore, Randolph over Southwestern (Texas), Tennessee over Temple, West Virginia over Kentucky, William and Mary over V. M. I., Iowa State over Drake, Texas Tech over New Mexico, and Colorado over Colorado College.

TCU Leading Conference, But Underdogs

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs are in the unique position of leading the Southwest Conference football race but being underdogs in every game they play.

Saturday they face another opponent expected to tear them apart—the University of Texas.

It was like that when they played Arkansas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech. But the Frogs are still hale and hearty and haven't lost a game to a team in the Southwest.

The critics don't think the Frogs can stand up before the giant Texas line. Too big, too tough, too experienced, too much manpower, they say. Well, they might go around or pass over the Longhorns, mightn't they? And that's what Coach Dutch Meyer plans to try.

Will Pass Every Opportunity

"We can't hope to run that line," he says. "We can't even hope to keep them from running us with that line. Our only chance is to try a touchdown heave every time we get hold of the ball."

But the wily Meyer had something on the same order to say last week when TCU played Texas Tech. Didn't have a chance, he told the football populace. Score: Texas Christian 14, Texas Tech 0.

Anyway, Saturday's game is a blue chips affair for Texas. The Longhorns are a little on the unique side, too. They need to win to stay in the race, yet are favored to beat TCU. Now how'd the Longhorns get in such a precarious state if they're so tough?

Fully as important—at least for the teams involved—is the Rice-Texas A&M game at Houston. The Owls had expected to be leading the race today, but stumbled up at Fayetteville Saturday and lost to Arkansas. Thus, they too must win Saturday to remain in the battle for the conference championship.

Big Day's Work

It's a big afternoon's work that faces Rice. The Owls are going against the top offensive team of the league in the big, tough Aggies who have averaged more than 311 yards rushing and passing per game. All they've needed to do was hold onto the ball.

It's been some time since Rice has beaten A&M. Fired up as they were against Texas, the Owls would have an excellent chance to break the winless string. But it's going to take jam-up football to turn down the Cadets, who are really rolling at last.

Arkansas, which already had done better than any season since 1937, will journey to Dallas to play the fading Southern Methodist Mustangs. But winning that game, which Arkansas is generally expected to do, the Razorbacks can clinch a first division berth and it would be within the realm of possibility to cop the championship.

There could be quite a jumble in the standings should Texas beat Texas Christian, Rice down A&M and Arkansas beat SMU.

Farm, Factory Cooperation Will Save Economy

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)— The future prosperity of America would be more potential if business and agriculture can "formulate plans for the private distribution of export surpluses," R. B. McLeaish of Edcouch said Friday.

McLeaish, in an address prepared for delivery before a conference of national and state agricultural and business leaders, outlined three points for coopration between agriculture and business which he said would promote a better America after the war. The National Association of Manufacturers is sponsoring the conference at Texas A. & M. College.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard told delegates Thursday night "The great problem for agriculture and the whole nation will be to match high agricultural production with equally great markets at fair prices" in the postwar period.

Wickard told the delegates:

"Let us assume, from here on, that we shall—or indeed we must—find—or create markets for all that farmers can produce. Can we measure the stake that American industry has in the prosperity of American agriculture?

"There is no single group in our economy which offers as big an outlet for the products of the factory and the plants of industry as the American farmers and their families."

Roosevelt Favors Universal Training

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt said Friday he hopes legislation requiring a year's government service of the nation's youth will get through Congress this winter.

At a news conference, Roosevelt made no attempt to say whether such service should include girls as well as boys.

A questioner had asked about girls. In a general discussion previously, the President said the idea is for the nation's boys to give one year of service to their country.
