FDR WILL NAME CZAR TO CONTROL WAGES

ALL FACTORS IN COST OF LIVING TO BE IN HANDS OF ADMINISTRATOR AND A FOUR-PARTY BOARD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. — President Roosevelt today put the finishing touches on a sweeping executive order creating an economic czar with unprecedented powers to control wages, prices and other factors in the spiralling cost of living.

His new anti-inflation program is virtually completed and will be outlined to the nation Monday night in a Labor Day "fireside" chat. Congress will learn its details in a special message at noon.

Barring an eleventh hour change, the program will call for appointment of an over-all administrator and a four-party board to formulate national policy on wages, farm prices, salaries and other income.

The Administrator's decisions will be final and are to be carried out by existing governmental agencies, departments and bureaus.

Speculation mounted as to Mr. Roosevelt's choice for the all-important job. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York were most prominently mentioned, but the possibility of a "dark horse" was not discounted.

The president cancelled all engagements yesterday to work with his special adviser, Judge Samuel Rosenman of New York, on details of the program as well as his messages to congress and the nation.

Informed quarters said the president's order undoubtedly will entail rationing of additional commodities as well as extension of price control to virtually all items relating to the cost of living.

Farm prices, it was believed, will be fixed in most cases below the 110 per cent of parity floor provided in the price control law. This could be done through use of the president's war-time powers, possibly by government purchase at legal limit for resale at a lower figure.

Some quarters, however, insist that the price law's farm price provisions can not be overturned by executive order and that congressional legislation will be required.

Stabilization of wages probably will be handled through the War Labor Board in accordance with its "Little Steel" formula which strives to restore purchasing power that existed on January 1, 1941.

Farm and labor leaders who discussed the over-all program with Mr. Roosevelt have indicated that it is not entirely satisfactory. Some have said privately that it would "put us in an economic strait-jacket."

Men 17 to 50 not yet in uniform

How will YOU answer these 10 Navy questions?

1. What are you doing to protect your home, your family, your freedom?

It's your country. It has been pretty good to you. It has given you the right to do what you want to do, go where you want to go, live the kind of life you like. Now your country is at war. It's fighting for your freedom. What are you willing to do to help win this fight? Is there any job that you can do which is more important than the job waiting for you right now in the United States Navy?

2. Are you fed up with taking it—ready to dish it out?

Are you sick and tired of reading about "another U.S. ship torpedoed without warning"? About women and children being cast adrift in lifeboats? Are you through with just talking about what should be done? Okay. Here's your chance to do something—to blast the Nazi subs out of the seas—to kick the Japs off our islands. The Navy is ready to dish it out, and it needs your help to do it.

3. Do you want expert training in a skilled trade?

It's a big job, and to do it right you've got to have the training. The Navy will give you that training—make you an expert electrician, metalsmith, photographer, torpedoman, gunner—any of nearly 50 skilled trades. More than 50% of Navy men hold Petty Officer ratings. You can be one of them!

4. Do you want good pay, quick promotion, responsibility?

You draw pay while you learn in the Navy. You get your first pay increase in approximately two months, upon completion of recruit training. And by the end of your first enlistment, you can earn up to $138 a month, plus liberal allowances for dependents and for special duties. Promotions come rapidly. And each one means more responsibility. In the Navy you play an important part on a team where every man is important.

5. Would you like $133 worth of uniforms and clothing free?

That's what you'll get in the Navy—complete outfits for both winter and summer. Everything you need, everything from cap to shoes, from whites to blues. They're the kind of uniforms you'll be proud to wear. They mark you as a man who is doing a big job for his country.

6. Would you like to build yourself up physically?

You must be in normal good health, but you don't have to be a perfect physical specimen to get in the Navy. After only a few weeks of Navy life you will be in top-notch trim. Figures show that many men become 93% stronger during their preliminary training. That's what Navy physical conditioning does. It makes men. Rugged, husky, fighting men who can take it—and dish it out!

7. Would you like good food—and plenty of it?

You'll get real man-size meals in the Navy. The finest food a fellow could ask for. Three square meals a day, prepared by expert cooks trained in the country's best restaurants and hotels. Wholesome, hearty meals that stick to a fellow's ribs—the kind of meals you need to do a man's job. And all the "seconds" you want!

8. Would you like travel, adventure, action?

In the Navy you go places on the finest ships afloat. You meet people, visit exciting ports most men only read about. And you get action! The kind of action that helped smash the Japs at Midway Island, that knocked them for a loop in the Coral Sea. The kind of action that thrills a he-man right down to his toes!

9. Do you want to step into a well-paid job after the war?

Men make the Navy—and the Navy makes men! Trained men who are doing great things now, who will be ready to step into important positions in civil life when the war is won. You can have no better recommendation than to be able to say, "I have had Navy training."

10. Do you want to choose your service while you can?

Before this war is over, you know you're going to be in it some way. Be fair to yourself and choose your service now before it is too late. If you're 17 to 50 and in normal health, get all the facts you need to help you decide. Ask your nearest Recruiting Officer for "Men Make the Navy"—free, 48-page, illustrated book. There's no obligation.

You know in your heart the right answers. And you can do something about it today. Call, write or phone for "Men Make the Navy" at your nearest Navy Recruiting Station.

REDS' COME BACK POWERS AMAZES WORLD

MOSCOW, Sept. 5.—Showing an amazing power of recuperation, the Red army was reported Saturday to have beaten off triumphant blows at Stalingrad and stopped the German advance upon that Volga river industrial center. In the Caucasus also, military advisers said, the Russians were checking the German progress, and in the central and eastern sectors were counter-attacking.

The only enemy advance recorded in Saturday's dispatches was in the single sector of the Western Caucasus above the Black Sea naval station of Novorossisk.

The Red army meanwhile continued to push its own offensive at Rzhnev, northwest of Moscow, on a smaller scale than the gigantic German campaigns in the Caucasus and in the Volga Basin, but strong enough to bend the German line farther back from Moscow. Several more populated points were reported recaptured on this western front.

About Stalingrad, the Germans were described as being in difficulties with a screen of Red army fire ahead of them and a barren expanse of steppes behind.

Northwest of Stalingrad the Russians broke into some German positions, capturing prisoners and supplies and killing 270 of the enemy, Saturday's communique said.

The Russian lines stiffened after three successive days of withdrawals and the newspaper Red Star said the enemy apparently was "assembling his last forces" in an effort to break through to the Volga.

Ten American Red Cross recreation directors have arrived in Australia to help provide recreational activities for fighting men of the United States.

GERMAN CITIES RAKED BY FIRE FROM THE SKY

The heart of Nazi Europe Saturday for the first time felt the weight of a co-ordinated Allied bombing attack which struck from Bremen and Koenigsberg in the north to Vienna and Budapest deep inside the Nazi lines.

The attack was delivered by bombers of the Royal Air Force and the Red Air Fleet which struck at an hour when some of the war's heaviest fighting was raging on the defenses of Stalingrad and over the western desert of Egypt.

Reports from the Berlin Radio indicated that Russian planes carried out one of the heaviest nights of bombing ever attempted by the Soviet. They struck at Koenigsberg and Breslau and ranged south to blast at Vienna, Budapest and other points in Hungary. It was the first attack of the war on Vienna.

At the same time a strong force of British bombers rammed home their 99th attack of the war on the big German seaport of Bremen. The bombardment was carried out as reports from the active land fronts assumed a slightly more optimistic hue.

U. S. FLYING FORTS

SOUTH COAST BRITISH PORT, Sept. 5.—American Flying Fortresses were seen today flying toward France, possibly heading for the Dieppe area. The planes flew in groups of three and four. They were strongly escorted by fighters. The Fortresses were flying so high that it was not possible to count them, but it appeared to be a large force from the sound of their motors, which was deafening.

OFF TO MEXICO.

FT. WORTH, Sept. 5.—A huge 21-passenger American Airlines flagship took off from Municipal Airport shortly after 10 a. m. today, dipping silver wings over Fort Worth, then headed south to Mexico City on a trail-blazing flight with high government officials and civilians. Representatives from three countries and 18 U. S. cities were aboard.

TREASON TRIAL

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Federal authorities Saturday moved swiftly in their efforts to hasten trial for six Chicagoans who were indicted on treason charges Friday in connection with alleged aid they gave the executed Nazi spy, Herbert Hans Haupt.

BOYS OUT FOR PRACTICE

Seventeen boys came out for football practice Saturday when a once-daily schedule was instituted. Coach Monroe Sweeney to order up the players between school and school opening, at which time a more strenuous exercise of training will be inaugurated, Sweeney said.

The boys are a fine group of youngsters and are alert, putting plenty of enthusiasm into their work, the coach remarked. Others are expected to drop in for a tryout for places when school begins, September 14.

AIRPORT

By CHARLES D. ROBERTS
Clearance Officer

A number of planes visited Cisco municipal airport this week, finding good landing and take-off facilities despite rains that proved a handicap to operation of many fields. Cisco port is good in all weather, since the gradual runoff slope drains the field perfectly. The Cisco port is proving its facilities to land large army planes, and they are able to take off with room to spare.

W. A. Jessup, pilot, and L. W. Namer, passenger, landed in a Taylor Craft plane and Paul Angle, pilot and Robert C. Raunke, passenger, in a Liscombe plane, this week, clearing for Ardmore, Okla. These four young men are being instructors for the planes that have been making Cisco from the Coleman field. They were being private planes this time and were on their way to visit their homes back east, between classes.

John D. Harvey of Eastland flew his private plane, a Piper J-3, to Abilene and returned on a pleasure and business trip this week. Mr. Harvey keeps his plane at the Cisco airport.

Frank Coats, rural mail carrier, has his student license now and flies his plane most every day. He is doing well.

Another young businessman began taking instructions here as a private flyer this week. He is Albert Miller of Brownwood. P. B. Higgins is his instructor.

Six army planes stopped for gas Saturday afternoon on the way west.

G. P. Mitcham, Jr., and his wife and children flew in from Fort Worth to spend the week-end with his parents, Mayor and Mrs. G. P. Mitcham. Young Mitcham flew his private plane, a Liscombe.

HANDS OFF, CONGRESS!

Some ideas do not have to be tried before we know that they won't work. They have been tried before and failed. One such is the attempt, occasionally suggested, to have congress oversee the management of the war.

But the greatest failure of this notion was in the Civil war. The committee on the conduct of the war, established by congress in December, 1861, was one of the sharpest thorns in Lincoln's flesh.

Harry Williams, a Wisconsin historian whose newly published "Lincoln and the Radicals" studies this committee thoroughly.

It became the spearhead of the radical drive against the administration. It investigated the principal military campaigns, worked to undermine democratic and conservative officers, interfered boldly with the plans of commanders, and bullied Lincoln into accepting the radical program.

The work of the committee was as bad as its qualifications. It encouraged army officers to conspire against their superiors, stirred up private soldiers to complain against their officers, and assisted that commanders be appointed because they belonged to the committee's particular political faction.

The old advice still holds good: "Shoemaker, stick to your last." Congress has an important place in the governmental scheme, but it should keep its hands off the armed forces.

MODERN SLAVERY

Hitler, having exhausted available man-power in the Reich, is turning to slave labor. It is well for the nations still free to realize just what is occurring along this line.

The Germans themselves, by any frank appraisal, must be recognized now as slaves of their Nazi leaders. They are in bondage to do any kind of work or fighting to go anywhere and live any kind of life that Hitler and his super-killers order them to do.

This is a situation that has not existed before in Europe since the Dark Ages. It is evident that if the process were not stopped, it would extend everywhere and the whole world would be reduced to slavery.

TAXES

Everybody might as well face the worst, economically and politically as well as militarily. Statesmen and politicians are singing low right now about federal taxes, hoping to ease through the fall campaign with as little unpleasantness as possible.

It will come necessarily, whether people in office or out of office like it or not. The biggest and costliest of all wars will have to be paid for. The sooner the payment starts, in this era when incomes are high and money is plentiful, the less burden there will be when the war is over and everybody, including the government, is much poorer.

RUSSIAN LOSSES

Napoleon's Russian campaign is often in people's minds when they think of military disasters. It is not always known how near the Russians of 1812 came to losing. The invasion was marked by one great battle, Borodino. In this, out of their 112,000 men the Russians lost 58,000 more than one-half. So dreadful were the Russian losses that they forced the surrender of Moscow.

Today resembles 1812 in its bloody fighting out today as in 1812, so long as the army survives, Russia remains as an ever-present danger to Hitler.

I love the house of the hills. The song of native birds. I love the falling of the leaves. A shawl without words.

I love the light of crackling logs. A camp fire burning low. How neat these things are to my heart.

"A SHARP ENEMY ATTACK WAS REPULSED DURING THE NIGHT"

TODAY'S war communiques have a familiar ring to Reddy Kilowatt and the men who maintain and repair the electric lines. For years, they've been fighting cyclones, sleet, snow, lightning, wind and other elements, right around the clock and the calendar.

Real war was not new to them. They've been fighting nature's enemies for years... mending lines and setting poles while lightning crackled all around and wind and hail, rain and snow lashed at tired bodies in darkest night. When war came, they were ready.

They were ready to keep the lines "hot" with the precious electricity that powers America's war industries.

There has been no shortage of power in this West Texas country partly because these men know their job so well. That, and because the business men who manage your electric servant planned ahead. They

Training and experience, we've all learned, is the best qualification for any job—even to fighting a war. For want of them a battle can be lost. For want of them most politically managed government-in-business projects have failed, even when tax-subsidized.

It is the long peacetime training and experience of the men and women with this company which now—in wartime—is providing you with ample light and power while also serving Uncle Sam's military training schools, camps, and war industries. And the low cost of electric service has been maintained despite greatly increased operating costs and while carrying a much heavier tax burden.

THIS is the accomplishment of a free people, working under the American system of FREE enterprise. Just as it improved the standard of living in the pre-war period, it will increasingly enrich the life of every West Texan in peaceful years to come.
