Miss Rockport-Fulton Pageant Will Be Held Again This Year

The Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association will again sponsor the Miss Rockport-Fulton Pageant in June, Jim Fowler, president, has announced.

Winner of the County pageant will enter the Texas Pageant held to select the state queen, who will compete for the crown of Miss America in the national competition at Atlantic City, N.J., in September.

The event this year will be the third annual Miss Rockport-Fulton pageant sponsored by the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association. "We are again serving as sponsors of the pageant this year because we believe it provides a valuable contribution to the community and to the young ladies who will enter the competition," Fowler said in announcing plans of his organization.

"We believe it serves the community well because it focuses attention on the high calibre of young ladies who are residents of our area and we believe it serves youth well because it provides the opportunity for the young ladies who compete to gain added poise through public appearances and to gain added maturity through participation in a community program such as the Rockport-Fulton Pageant," Fowler added.

"Most important, it will provide the opportunity for the girl who is the winner to continue to seek scholarship awards at the Texas Pageant, which will aid her in obtaining an education at the college of her choice," the president said.

In announcing that this organization plans continuation of the Rockport-Fulton Pageant sponsorship, Fowler said it will be held in June, but that the time and place have not yet been scheduled.

He also announced that committees to plan the program are being formed and that organizations and businesses in the area will be requested to sponsor contestants for the pageant.

"This will be a community endeavor and we in the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association are sure all in the community will participate to insure its success," Fowler commented in making the announcement.

"We will be requesting the community, its organizations and its businesses to sponsor contestants, to attend the pageant the nights it will be conducted and to support it financially," he said.

Kelsay Shot In Back, Critical

Bill Kelsay, well known community leader and former service station owner, was in critical condition Monday in Memorial Medical Center after being shot in the back Sunday afternoon following an argument over a dog.

Sheriff Bob Hewes said Alva Garner, 71, a neighbor of Kelsay in West Terrace, shot the victim in the back with a .32 caliber pistol.

Garner was taken into custody by Sheriff's Department officers, charged with criminal intent to murder, and given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Lawrence Miller. Bond was set at $2,500 which Garner posted and was released.

According to Sheriff Hewes, Garner and Kelsay argued about a month ago about "some kind of dog incident." "On Sunday afternoon," Hewes said he was informed, "Garner renewed the argument and tried to get Kelsay to apologize. Kelsay refused and turned to walk away and was shot in the back."

Man Killed In Auto Crash

One person died and another suffered injuries when a car struck a utility pole on Church Street here at 11 p.m. Saturday.

Juan Barrera, 69, was pronounced dead on arrival at an Aransas Pass hospital at 11:45 p.m. Saturday. Police said he apparently died from head injuries.

A passenger, Magdalena Espinosa, 41, was injured and placed in the intensive care unit of Memorial Medical Center in Corpus Christi.

Police said the car had been heading south. The accident, police said, is under investigation.

Barrera was a native of Mexico. He was a retired concrete finisher, and had lived in Rockport 13 years.

Among survivors is one Corpus Christi resident, a daughter, Mrs. Mary Alejandre.

Surviving are six daughters, Misses Lupe, Connie and Frances Barrera, Mrs. Sue Martinez and Mrs. Janie Sanchez, all of Rockport, and Mrs. Mary Alejandre of Corpus Christi; six sons, Joe, Martin, Pete, Robert and Tony Barrera, all of Rockport, and John Barrera of San Antonio; and 32 grandchildren.

Funeral Mass was celebrated Monday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Burial was in the Taft Cemetery.

Marshall Funeral Home was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Plans for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company to lay a submarine cable across Copano Bay near the bridge, at a cost of $300,000, were announced by R. G. Maples of Corpus Christi, district manager for the utility, at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club February 27 at Ramada Inn.

This will replace the present cable which follows the old bridge and will provide improved service for residents of the northern part of Aransas County, Maples explained. Since the two sections of the bridge have become fishing piers, fish hooks and fish fins frequently penetrate the telephone cable, he said. It is anticipated that the new cable will be in place before the end of this year, he added.

Maples asserted that the Rockport area is served by the most advanced telephone system in use anywhere and that a new and more convenient method of long distance direct dialing is planned for the near future. He added that the so-called "picture" telephone with which those telephoning see each other is a long way off. In his opinion, this feature would be too expensive and would add little to the convenience of telephone service.

The telephone executive reported that total subscribers in the Rockport area had increased from 791 in 1950 to 6,133 at present. He explained that the geographical layout of this area made expansion more difficult and more expensive than in communities where population increases occur in all directions. Rockport's growth to the east is restricted by the presence of Aransas Bay, he explained.

Maples also said that because many homes in this area are occupied on a part-time basis revenue, especially long distance income, is limited as compared with communities that are not resort areas.

He reported there are now 12 full-time Southwestern Bell employees in Rockport, the largest number ever, and that several others work in Rockport on a part-time basis.

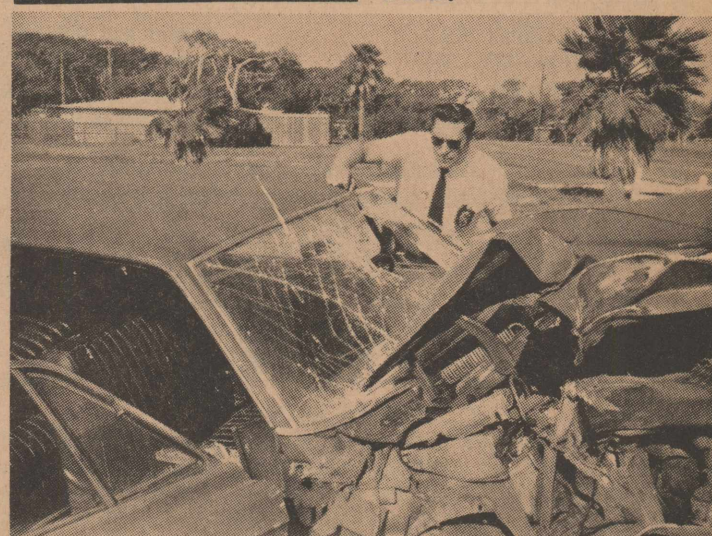

At the beginning of his talk Maples made it clear that International Telephone and Telegraph Co., which has appeared in the news frequently of late is in no way associated with Southwestern Bell and American Telephone and Telegraph Co., which is the parent company for Southwestern.

Maples has been employed in a management capacity with Southwestern and A.T. & T. since 1959 having been stationed in Dallas, Fort Worth, Waxahatchie and Tyler, Texas, as well as Corpus Christi. He also spent two years at A.T. & T. headquarters in New York.

Area Promoted Through Auto Dealers

Mrs. Loyce Landrum, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, drew the winning cards out of a bowl held by Bob Barclay as the climax of a "January Special" offer made by Bob Barclay & Associates of Rockport to 4,000 automobile dealers in the states of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The '73-'74 Automotive Advertising catalog issued by the firm features the Rockport area and includes serially-numbered order cards. In the "January Special" Barclay placed all order cards postmarked in January in a bowl and Mrs. Landrum drew out a card for each of the four states, the winners to receive $50.00 credit on anything they order from the Rockport firm.

These cards then go into the main drawing, which will be held next August, with a winner from each state receiving a 4-day holiday in Rockport, including accommodations at Key Allegro Inn, free meals at Corky's, Martin's Steak House, Rockport Racquet & Yacht Club and a wide variety of other "hospitality gifts" previously announced in The Rockport Pilot.

Winners of the "January Special" drawn by Mrs. Landrum were: Dixon Motor Co., Washington, Mo.; Magourik Chevrolet & Olds, Cimarron, Kansas; Al Salyer Motor Co., Norman, Okla.; and Franta-Carrell Pontiac, Inc., Highlands, Texas.

Each of the winners received Rockport Chamber of Commerce literature along with their $50.00 free merchandise certificate.

Sheriff Bob Hewes reported Tuesday that four local men had been taken into custody within the past week and charged with possession of heroin.

Three men were arrested in one investigation and the fourth in another case.

Taken into custody by Deputy Sheriffs Daniel Vargas and Don Beard were Jose Zamudio, Richard Arispe and George William Crabb who were in county jail Tuesday under $5,000 bond each.

They were nabbed in a car on Highway 35 South after the Sheriff's Department had received information that the trio was heading toward Rockport. City police and state highway patrolmen assisted in stopping the car.

In the other investigation, Deputy Sheriff Mike Webb on March 2 arrested Phillip Striano of Fulton on a charge of possession of heroin. Striano was released on $5,000 bond.

Chief Craigmile Addresses B&PW

The Rockport Business and Professional Women's Club met February 25 at the Ramada Inn for a regular meeting. Business discussed included the election of a nominating committee for the purpose of selecting a slate of officers for the year 1974-1975 and the enlisting of volunteers to attend various civic meetings for the purpose of representing B&PW and to become aware of the functioning and business transacted there.

The Civic Participation and Women in Government committees, headed by Patsy Parr, Virginia Shivers and Tony Harden presented Chief James Craigmile of the Rockport Police Department for the program. Chief Craigmile addressed the club on some of the duties, responsibilities of the city police and the active role the community can take in supporting the local police.

The two points he strongly presented were that the police officers and patrolmen were only human with human thoughts and actions. He said they try to maintain as normal lives as possible amid long working hours, dangerous duties, low pay and requirements made by the community on law officers.

His second point was that citizens must keep in mind that the laws being actively enforced by our city police were those that the community itself set and that law officers do not seek out individuals to give them a hard time. Chief Craigmile said that he is very proud of his force of men here and that he is happy to be in Rockport.

The next meeting of the Rockport B&PW will be on Monday, April 25 at a place yet to be determined. Members will be contacted.

Lady of Fatima Statue Coming

It's a fact -- the sun really did flip-flops in the skies over the Cova da Iria, Or, at least it seemed to -- that October 13, 1917! Ask anyone who was there -- the small children of Fatima, the villagers, the lame, the ill, the curious, the disbelieving -- who came to jeer perhaps, and went away convinced that they had seen something much out of the ordinary.

Catholics and others throughout the world recall this incident near a small village in Portugal as the Miracle of Fatima, in which the Mother of Christ appeared first to the three children of Fatima, later, to the crowd that gathered on October 13th. To venerate this event, and consecrate all peoples of the world to Christendom, prayers and special devotions are held as well as the exhibition of the Statue of the Lady of Fatima which is transported throughout the United States and installed for varying periods of time in the Catholic Churches of the country.

The Statue, scheduled for arrival in Rockport on the afternoon of March 9th, will be exhibited from 7 p.m. Saturday when there will be a Procession and Mass, until 2:30 p.m. Sunday, when it will be moved to the House of Schoenstatt in Lamar from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to visit either or both of these locations during the stated hours.

RFHS GIRLS BEAT I.W.A.

Rockport - Fulton girls volleyball teams found Refugio too much to handle as they dropped 3 matches last Tuesday in Refugio. The Freshmen dropped their match 9-15, 15-5 and 12-15; the Junior Varsity was defeated 5-15 and 11-15; the Varsity fell 15-9, 3-15 and 3-15.

On Thursday, the girls played I.W.A. and were victorious in all three matches. The Freshmen had little trouble in their win with scores of 15-2 and 15-2. It took the Junior Varsity 3 games to win 15-10, 13-15 and 15-2. The Varsity girls took the first game to warm up then blew I.W.A. off the court. Final score in that match was 15-11 and 15-0.

This Tuesday, the girls will host Aransas Pass for a big game, and then travel to Corpus Christi Thursday for matches with I.W.A. The Lady Pirates

The Kinsey Report

After considerable deliberation, I have decided to write a column about toilet seats but with emphasis on one particular type of toilet seat.

My reasoning was, "Why shouldn't something be written about this important item with which all of us come in contact (hopefully) every day."

Have you ever noticed how hard toilet seats are?

Well, one manufacturer has done something about this objection. A toilet seat is now being made and sold that is constructed from vinyl plastic.

The first one I saw was in our son's home in San Ramon, California. They are available in various colors and they have just enough "give" to be extremely comfortable and they are nice looking.

I raved so much about this fixture that my son insisted on sending one to me. It hasn't arrived yet but I'm looking forward to receiving it. Our son is the vice president of a west coast hardware firm and so he can get a good price.

Contagious
"I hear they're starting a new campaign against malaria."
"Dear me! What have the Malarians done now?"

Fast Horses and Fast Track Should Bring Records

The annual Spring Race Meet at La Bahia Downs, scheduled for each Saturday and Sunday from March 23 through April 7, will offer excitement for the young and old. A record number of top caliber entries and a lightning fast track should send track records tumbling. Nominations Secretary, Kathy Franke, announced this week that entries from 22 states have already been received for the rich Texas Futurity and South Texas Derby.

Among the entries is "Heza Charger", owned by A. F. Stanley and Ronald Hausman of Anna, Illinois who recently set a new world record for 300 yards during the recent Laredo Race Meet. Also nominated for the Futurity is "Bar Parr Deck", owned by Raymon Brooksher of Maysville, Oklahoma, who recently set a track record in top AAA times at Hilltop Downs. The Derby field includes last year's Futurity winner, "Vince's Bar King", owned by Louis J. Vincent of De Ridder, Louisiana.

Track Superintendent, Robert Martinez pronounced the La Bahia Downs Track in top shape and ready for a record breaking performance by the speedy entries. The Gollad Track, always among the fastest in the nation, has been brought to a fine key by the track maintenance crews.

Late entries in the three major stake races continue to pour in. Late entries will be accepted until March 22 by payment of the regular fees plus a penalty. As always, many owners wait until the progress of their colts are determined before entering the rich stake races.

Stall Superintendent, Louis King, predicts an all time record number of horses. Close to 800 will probably participate during the six day meet.

In addition to the three feature stake races; the Texas Futurity, estimated purse $125,000; the South Texas Derby, estimated purse $35,000; and the Anticipation Derby, estimated purse $10,000; the Gollad Track will also offer the Gollad Graded Championship at 350 yards with a speed rating of 79. Trials for this race will be run on March 24 with the Finals to be run on March 31. Also featured will be a Great Texas Championship at 400 yards for 3 year olds and up. This is an open race and will serve as the meet championship with the winner receiving points toward the Racing Board of Texas Maturity

Seasickness Can Strike the Strong And the Weak

AUSTIN -- You know you aren't going to die from seasickness, but sometimes you might wish you would.

Persons who are prone to seasickness, a catch-all term for motion sickness whether it be from cars, trains, airplanes, boats or carnival rides, can testify that their affliction is one of the most miserable and temporarily debilitating conditions under the sun.

Weak or strong, man or woman, adult or child, no sex or age group is immune to motion sickness, and some strong, he-man types are rendered helpless when the boat starts rocking.

Even the Skylab astronauts had their problems with queasiness their first few days in space.

The bad thing about seasickness is that once the victim becomes queasy, it's too late for a cure. So prevention is the key.

The most commonly prescribed drugs are dramamine and bonine. These should be taken on the dock before you leave on your trip, not after you get sick. Then, it's too late.

Once you are sick some of the commercially available stomach-soothing drugs may be of some value.

If seasickness is really a major problem with you or your friends, and the usual medications do not help, you might consider consulting your physician. He may be familiar with recent studies which have shown that a combination of an antihistamine such as phenegan with a mild stimulant such as ephedrine is as much as five times more effective as the more common motion-sickness drugs.

Championship. Entries for each weekend's races are taken Thursday for Saturday races and Friday for Sunday races.

Texas has a peculiar situation in its sea food industry. Few states are able to match the quantity, quality, and variety of our sea food resources, however, many species with high food values are not fully utilized. In fact, many of them are not used at all as food in Texas. Drum, Spanish mackerel, king mackerel, and mullet are some of the species whose potential is not reached. Much of the delicious meat of the blue crab taken in Texas must be shipped to other states to find a market.

To help the fishing industry in Texas, a few years ago the Legislature passed an act increasing the commercial license cost and earmarked the increased revenue for seafood promotion. The Seafood

Marketing Section of the Parks and Wildlife Department was formed. Federal matching funds are made available at the ratio of $3 for every $4 spent by the state on this project. This section is made up of a seafood marketing specialist and a professional home economist. The home economist works with professional food people such as food editors, food chain merchandisers, restaurant operators, school lunch managers, college and universities, and others who work with large quantities of food, as well as the general public. In addition to working with these same people, the seafood marketing specialist works with producers, processors, fishing trade association agencies, and others.

One of the most important aspects of the development of the seafood industry is the expansion of the consumer market. The seafood marketing program of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is directed toward more widespread education in the use of these products that come from the sea. This attempt at educating the housewives of Texas has taken several forms. A 28-minute film was produced showing how to buy, store, prepare, and serve seafoods. This film is available to interested organizations from the Austin Headquarters of the Department or from any field information officer. Quite often the weekly news packet that the Department mails to all newspapers has one page devoted to seafood recipes or other information that can be used by food editors. One of the nicest things they have put out is a little packet of 12 recipes on 3" x 5" cards with a divider card tabbed "seafood". These recipes are for such things as "Buttermilk Fried Fillets", "Fish Fondue", "Shrimp Victoria" and others just as tempting. Each card even has a mouth-watering colored picture of the dish. They are available at any office of the Parks and Wildlife Department or by writing to: Seafood Marketing Division, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John Reagan State Building, Austin, Texas 78701. They're free and will make a welcome addition to your recipe file.

Cub Scout News

Cub Scout Pack #49, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Rockport, met Saturday, February 23 at the Live Oak Elem. cafeteria. The occasion was the annual Blue and Gold Banquet. This was the 42nd national anniversary of cub scouts and the 21st anniversary for Pack 49. Special guest on this night was Bill Janacek, Institutional Representative for Pack 49.

Cubmaster Gary Olson called the meeting to order. Den 2 presented the colors and led the pack in Pledge of Allegiance. The invocation was given by John Leslie, Scout Commissioner.

The new Webelos were introduced to the pack. They are: David Kelly, Ray Boudoin, Salvador Galvan, Troy Casterline, Earl Harris, Cris Kubiak, Lloyd Dobson, Timothy Butcher, and Scott Meyer. Webelos den leader is Grady McNutt of Troop 281 and the assistant den leader is Kenneth Butcher of Troop 49. Mike Gibson is in charge of the Webelos program.

The Wolf badge was awarded to Ricky Hill of Den 3. He is the first cub to be given this award for this year.

The new denners and assistant denners were recognized. Those cubs are: Den 1--Denner Shawn Bateman, Assistant John Longino; Den 2--Denner Charles Daniels, Assistant Joe De La Garza; Den 3--Denner Alan Vollmering, Assistant Rodney Schexnider.

Games were enjoyed by the cubs, Webelos, and their dads. The Webelos entertained the pack with a song and Den 2 entertained with a skit, Knight vs Dragon.

For the closing ceremony, each person had a gold cupcake with a life blue candle. The room lights were turned out and Happy Birthday Cub Scouts was sung by the pack. The closing was led by Den 3. Approximately 75 people attended.

W.M.S. Meets

Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church met February 26 at the church to study a mission study book. The book taught was: "Evangelism--The Cutting Edge." The meeting opened with the song "Re-voice Us Again".

Mrs. George Peirce read the names of missionaries whose birthdays appeared on the "Calendar of Prayer". Different members read scriptures. Mrs. George West taught the Mission study book.

Fourteen members and visitors enjoyed a covered dish luncheon after the meeting.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Townsend announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce Townsend Ratliff of Rockport to John Andrew Dittmar of Corpus Christi, son of John Adam Dittmar of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. The wedding will take place in April.

MAKE DEAN'S LIST

When students at Sam Houston State University excel in their classwork, they are rewarded by having their names placed on the Dean's List of Academic Honors.

The list contains the names of all students who have attained a semester grade point average of at least 3.0 ("B") on a 4.0 ("A") scale in at least 12 hours of university classwork at SHSU.

Released from the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs, the fall semester, 1973 Dean's List named more than 2,300 SHSU students to the honor roll.

Following are the names and the semester grade point averages of students whose names appear on the Dean's List from Rockport: Debra Lynn Williams, 3.0, sophomore, Donna P. Hadley, 3.2 sophomore.

Large cuts of meat may cost less per pound; divide to make several meals. For example, get three different cuts from an 8- to 10-pound butt half of smoked ham. Cut under the round bone and across the middle to form a large boneless piece for baking. Remove bone from upper part of ham. Cut three or four slices from larger end for pan-frying or broiling. Smaller end can be cubed or sliced for casseroles.

The Lieutenant Governor's Report

By BILL HOBBY

AUSTIN -- Ironically, the energy crisis may prove to be a blessing in disguise for Texas.

For the past few years, Arab nations have been selling oil to the United States at a price so low as to restrict exploration for new oil in this country, and to retard recovery of oil here by the more expensive secondary methods.

With the Arab oil boycott and substantial increases in price of other imported crude, we are seeing a boom in the oil fields of Texas.

Suddenly, there is economic incentive to go out again and find oil. In many parts of the state, this boom is having a very beneficial economic effect.

The majority of Texans will benefit primarily because this new activity will result in greater tax and royalty payments to the state. In fact, income to the state from oil and gas production is the only reason Texans have been spared from onerous corporate and personal income taxes so far.

Before the Arab nations shut off their oil, this country was using about 17 million of oil and its gas equivalent. Ten percent of this was imported from the Middle East.

Through new incentives for exploration, producing known reserves in Alaska, the Gulf of Mexico, Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, and cutting back our very extravagant use of energy, I believe we can make this country virtually independent of Middle East crude in a few years.

One of the most hopeful developments in working out a solution to the energy problem is the appointment of William Simon as director of the Federal Energy Office.

With a strong background in investment banking and a thorough understanding of our free enterprise system, Simon is one of the ablest people in government today.

The first step in solving any problem is to put the best talent you can find on the job. I think this very important first step has been taken with the appointment of Simon.

Last week, Simon visited in Texas, meeting with oilmen and state officials. He spoke to a special meeting of the Governor's Energy Advisory Council, of which I am chairman. Later, he met with members of the Railroad Commission and with the Governor and other state officials.

I think he left Texas with a much clearer understanding of the peculiar problems that face our state, which produces one-third of this nation's domestic oil and gas.

From visiting with him, I know Simon is aware of the vast contributions which can be made only by the states in solving this national crisis.

Time to Put Boat In Shape for Summer

AUSTIN -- Spring seems to be starting a bit early this year, and it has probably caught a lot of boat owners with their boats in the same shape they were in last fall.

If you and your boat had an active season, this might not be too good.

There are a few things a boat owner should take care of before he sets out to sea for another season of fun in the sun. These things range from minor checks to avoid inconveniences to very important matters which could make your day in the sun not so much fun.

Starting with your boat, you might take the opportunity while it is still up on the trailer to give the hull a good cleaning. On wooden boats, old paint should be stripped off and some new paint applied. This is not only good for the hull, it is good for the boater's morale.

While you're down there chipping away at that old paint, check the caulking to see if it is still smooth and doing its job. If it's cracked, replace it with fresh caulking before you repaint.

Fiberglass hulls should be cleaned thoroughly and then given a luxuriant coating of wax. Wax helps the boat slip through the water, producing both speed and fuel economy, something which can't be discounted in these days of gas shortages.

The next items on your checklist should be your safety equipment. Take a look at your personal flotation devices, for example. By law, they must be serviceable. This means the straps should be firmly attached and the kapok bags unruptured. If your PFDs suffer from these deficiencies, they should be replaced.

It will take just a minute to see if your running lights and horn work. Replace any bulbs which don't shine. If they all shine but seem dim, your battery probably needs charging. Consider yourself lucky you found this out before you drove all the way out to the lake.

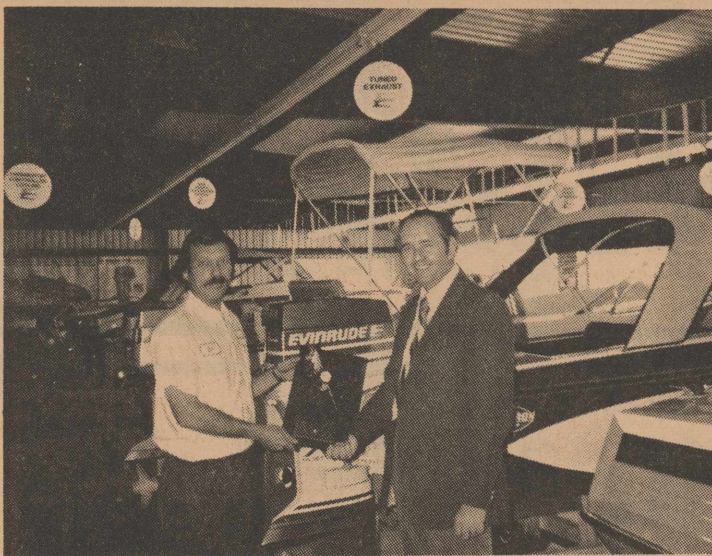

Your fire extinguisher also needs a check for cracked or broken hoses or obstructed nozzles. Check the pressure gauge, locking pins and sealing wires. Recharge if your gauge indicates extinguisher pressure is low.

One of the most important jobs is still ahead of you, tuning the engine. It can spoil your day to have the thing cough and sputter to the middle of the lake and then quit completely.

Boat checked out? Then you're ready to go, right? Not quite. Your boat trailer may need some attention. There's nothing like a burned-out trailer wheel-bearing on a Sunday afternoon to cause a grown man to cry.

Wheel bearings should be replaced at the first of the season. Check the bearing for pits and rust. If there is any doubt in your mind about the bearing, replace it.

There are some other moving parts on your trailer which need some attention. Lubricate all working parts of the couplers, winch, tilting mechanism, moving brackets and oil rollers.

Check the tires for proper pressure and wear, and see that the hitch on your car is tight. Hook your trailer to the car and test the lights.

Each trailer is different, so it is up to the owner to deal with specific problems.

These precautions will take a little time, but it is more convenient to find problems while you are still in your own yard than to find them 100 miles from home and 50 miles from your destination.

P.E.O. News

Unaffiliates are invited and may phone 729-5282 for transportation.

Take a Skunk To Lunch

Obnoxious personal habits notwithstanding, the skunk is one of man's best friends.

Just remember the next time you are soaking your clothes in tomato juice that the skunk is perhaps the most important insect eater in the mammal family.

One biologist has said that skunks destroy more insects than all the other mammals combined.

Insects in the skunk's diet that are harmful to man include grubs, cutworms, other caterpillars, potato beetles and crickets.

From an intensive study in Canada on an eight-acre tract, it was estimated that skunks destroyed 115,000 white grubs in a relatively short time.

During an outbreak of the range caterpillar in New Mexico, skunks made this pest some 60 to 90 percent of their diet.

And, beer drinkers, raise your glasses to the skunk. The people of New York have because the little animals are effective controls for the hop grub, a serious pest in the hop fields.

New York hop growers went to their legislature and asked for laws to protect the skunks. The legislators understood the value of a healthy hop crop and complied.

When insects are not available, skunks will eat a variety of other foods: rats, mice, fruits, vegetables, reptiles, amphibians and almost any other small animal they can catch.

True, they also eat poultry, eggs and the young of ground-nesting birds.

In a study involving 1,000 skunks, it was found that less than one percent of them contained remains of poultry.

Not a trace of game birds or their eggs could be found in another study of some 1,700 skunks.

Skunk skins are widely used in the fur industry, but the price fluctuates considerably. On the average, however, the number of skunk skins processed in the United States is exceeded only by those of muskrats and opossums.

The secretion the skunk uses to produce its defensive spray can be deodorized and used in the manufacture of perfume. When used in the base of a perfume, this musk has the ability to take and retain odor mixed with it for long periods of time.

So don't shun the skunk.

YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT APPRECIATED

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the past voters who have helped in electing me and who have kept me in office for the past six years.

As you well know, when I started serving you as Alderman, I had very little experience, but thanks to the guidance of citizens like you, I had the chance to learn all about city government and have done all I could possibly to earn the respect of citizens in my community.

As you well know, I am a family man, have a wife and two lovely children whom I am very proud of. I am also your friendly barber, owner of Pepe's Malt and Notary Public. I am also an active member of the Rockport American G.I. Forum and a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

For those who keep up with our meetings at City Hall, you will remember that describing my character, I was referred to as the "Champion of the Common Man" because I have done everything possible for the benefit of low income individuals and families, and in so doing, I have sought to be color blind in representing all the people in Rockport, and not only those in my precinct.

Therefore, I am here again, asking for your support and your vote this coming election.

Thank you.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D.
Director
National Institute of Mental Health

CHILD HEALTH

A special program is being launched to stimulate the development of community-based mental health care for children.

The program was implemented with a series of recently announced grant awards totaling close of $10 million for staffing children's mental health services in a total of 60 facilities in 35 States and the District of Columbia.

The communities will use the funds, from the National Institute of Mental Health of HEW's Health Services and Mental Health Administration, to set up innovative services and collaborative programs.

In many of the programs, community mental health centers and other service agencies will join in providing a comprehensive range of treatment and follow-up services for children.

A major goal of the Federal aid is to help develop preventive programs that will reach out to children and their families in their everyday life settings.

An estimated 10 million American children are in need of mental health services. The activities to be made possible by the grants will help to fill some of the gaps in this need.

By encouraging community mental health centers to seek active collaboration with other community resources for children, progress can be made toward a main goal in child mental health. This goal is to provide an optimum environment for the healthy growth and development of all children and to reduce institutionalization.

A variety of approaches will be tried and, if successful, used as models elsewhere. Parent - child walk-in centers, prenatal and well-baby clinic programs, parent education, and consultation and collaboration with the courts are among the services being funded under the NIMH grants.

ASTHMATIC CHILDREN

Young children suffering from bronchial asthma may be taught to ward off the suffocating attacks by voluntarily expanding the size of the tubes through which air flows to their lungs the moment breathing becomes difficult.

This is an objective of research underway at Chicago's Children's Memorial Hospital with the aid of a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health, of HEW's Health Services and Mental Health Administration.

Research in recent years has indicated that, while an initial asthma attack may have a physiological root cause, children often associate the attack with emotional or situational events occurring around the same time.

Within a short time, social-psychological events such as change of environment or emotional excitement may trigger the majority of attacks that children suffer.

In the new study, the scientists hope to train asthmatic children to control the constriction and dilation of the bronchial tubes into the lungs. Aided by encouragement and reassurance, a child will breathe into a specially de-

In early stages of the training, medication will be used if necessary to assist the children to dilate their bronchial passages. Gradually, the medication will be decreased until the children can be told that they are successfully producing bronchodilation on their own.

At this point, they will be asked to practice the new skill as "homework."

Carefully screened young asthma patients whose lung and bronchial tissue has not yet been damaged by the illness are participating in the project.

John Marin, An American Original

Ships, Sea and Sky, John Marin, 1923, From the collection of Professor Albert Gold, Philadelphia College of Art.

John Marin was born in Rutherford, New Jersey, Dec. 23, 1870 - and grew up in 1905! "I was a kid until I was thirty," he said. His maiden aunts, Jenny and Lelia, who raised him after his mother's premature death, would attest to that. They worried constantly about his future and informed his father, whose business commitments kept him away throughout most of John's youth, that he wasn't "doing" anything.

Marin attended Stevens Preparatory and technical schools and subsequently held a variety of minor jobs.

Throughout this period, he sketched continuously everything around him, and, finally, his father was persuaded to support him while he studied at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia from 1899 to 1901, and later in Paris. Two of his teachers were the renowned Thomas Anschutz and Henry Breckinridge.

During this same year, the French government bought one of Marin's oils and ten watercolors which were included in the 1910 Autumn Salon in Paris, a great honor for an American painter.

After four years in Europe, he returned to this country, married Marie Jane Hughes, and settled in Cliffside, New Jersey, where their only child, John Jr., was born in 1914. Winters were spent at Cliffside, but the summers found Marin in Maine painting the watercolors which became the hallmark of his fame.

Alfred Steiglitz held annual Marin exhibitions at his Gallery 291, the Intimate Gallery, and his last gallery, An American Place, where Marin showed regularly. Steiglitz and Marin were thought to be uniquely linked. Steiglitz was considered by many to be the greatest photographer of his time and Marin a precursor of modern American painting.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Confessing While Asleep

Situation comedies often depict a hapless husband, confessing —while sound asleep—to some sort of indiscretion. His wife, of course, is scandalized. But in real life, how reliable is such a statement? Would it stand up in court?

In a homicide case some years ago, a "sleeping confession" did indeed help to convict the defendant of murder.

The court said his statement, "though in sleep, was but the divulgence of truth springing from guilt which rested heavy on the soul, the half conscious man revealing secrets which, if fully awake, he would fain have suppressed."

Modern courts, however, have generally refused to allow this kind of evidence. Thus, in a more recent murder case, incriminating exclamations by the defendant during sleep were held not admissible.

The court did not deny that his exclamations might be truthful. But it found other grounds for rejecting the evidence.

"Only the voluntary statements of the accused can be used against him," said the judge. "If the defendant was not conscious, the statement was not voluntary."

Not only sleeping words but also sleeping deeds are usually considered beyond the concern of the law. For example:

A weary hunter was dozing in a hotel lobby, his gun in his lap, when a hotel employee gave him a rough shake. Startled, the hunter grabbed his gun and fired a shot that killed the other man.

Charged afterward with manslaughter, he was able to convince the court that he had still been asleep at the moment he pulled the trigger.

Accordingly, the court found him not guilty. "Our law punishes only for acts done by responsible moral agents," explained the judge. "If the prisoner was unconscious when he killed the deceased, he cannot be punished for that act."

PUBLIC NOTICES

BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.

TV COMMENTARY

By John Smiley

AN ABC SPECIAL to be aired on March 11 is called "Portrait: A Man from Independence." It's about the late President Harry S. Truman during the time when he was presiding judge of Jackson County, Mo. Various scenes in the picture show characteristics seen later in Truman as President--his loyalty, honesty, guts, great affection for his mother and wife, and great pride in his daughter.

CBS DAYTIME 90 is an attempt to step out of daytime TV's almost total preoccupation with game shows, soap operas and situation comedy reruns. The 90-minute romantic melodramas will emphasize action in contrast to the tear trickling, slow soaps.

IF THE DAYTIME 90 experiment is successful, CBS probably will crank them out regularly next fall, with dramas three days a week, alternating with soap-types two days a week.

APPROXIMATELY 55 of pro-football's top players will compete in an "All-Pro Olympiad" in the Orange Bowl on CBS March 17. The game will consist of ten events, including a blocking sled race.

OUR NEW MEAT LABELS TELL YOU WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

Our new meat identification program takes the guesswork out of selecting meat and how to prepare it... helps you be a "smarter" meat shopper and a better cook. Our improved meat label tells you at a glance the type of meat (Beef, Pork, Lamb or Veal), where it comes from, and the specific portion or common retail name.
