Fair Week Activities Open Here on Monday

Collingsworth County Fair Week opens in Wellington Monday, Oct. 13, when the D. S. Dudley Shows opens its rides and game booths.

These shows will continue through Fair Week, and lead up to the two big days of the Collingsworth County Fair, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 17 and 18.

The rides will open about 7 p.m. each evening, and will be open all day Friday.

Several major developments were announced by Fair Supt. Billy Moseley.

A new youth horse show division has been added, to follow immediately after the Youth Activity Horse Show and Quarter Horse Show on Saturday.

This new division is for grade (unregistered) horses only, giving an opportunity for participation by those boys and girls who will not be participating in the Quarter Horse junior and senior events.

The events will be the barrel race for boys and girls 12 years and under, and barrel race for those 13 to 18 years; pole bending for youngsters 12 years and under, and pole bending for those 13 to 18.

Bicycle Brigade

Mrs. Farris Wood has been appointed chairman of the Bicycle Brigade for the big opening parade Friday at 10 a.m.

She will be working to get as many school youngsters as possible to decorate their bicycles and ride in the parade.

Schools Dismiss

The Wellington Schools will be dismissed all day Friday for the opening of the Fair.

E. W. Clement, high school principal, said.

Quail, Dodson and Samnorwood Schools will bring their students by bus for the parade Friday morning, and remain for the youngsters to enjoy the rides, then return to classes about noon.

WINS DOUBLE HONORS

Honors came twice in the last week to Mike Davis, Wellington Future Farmer. First he received his certificate as a Lone Star Farmer, highest in the state FFA organization. Then he was elected secretary of the Greenbelt District FFA in its organizational meeting.

Tigers May Mean Trouble

Rockets Meet Electra Here Friday Night

The Wellington Skyrockets will entertain the Electra Tigers Friday night, Oct. 10 at Powell Field in the second conference game of the season.

This year's Tigers are a good-size ball club — not extremely big, but much bigger than the Rockets.

"They have been giving all the teams they have played a lot of trouble," said Wellington Head Coach Thayne Amonett.

"They have won only one game and tied one, but they have pressed every team they have come up against."

Electra has two standouts, both fine backs, in Toby Mash and Ronnie Gaffney.

The Tigers were defeated by Archer City in their first game, then tied Holiday and won over Notre Dame of Wichita Falls. Last week they fell to Seymour 21 to 7, but that was a close game until the last four minutes of play.

Monday night and Tuesday night Wellington coaches studied films of Rocket games to see if they can pinpoint weaknesses that should be overcome.

Despite their loss to Iowa Park, a team playing its last season of AA football, the Rockets are in good spirits, Coach Amonett said.

"They realized they were up against a tough club, and that in spots they did not play up to par. Anytime you get a team down, you can do almost anything to them, and that is what happened to us."

"We looked at the film Monday night and we played much better ball than the score indicated," the Wellington coach continued. "We had a total of over 180 yards offense and that

Consider Farm Program

Farm Bureau Barbecue Slated Saturday Night

The Collingsworth County Farm Bureau will hold its annual barbecue and membership meeting Saturday, Oct. 11 in Bura Handley Community Center.

The pit barbecued beef with all the trimmings will be served at 6:30 p.m. and the business meeting will start at 7:30.

Officers and directors for the coming year will be elected.

This year, however, resolutions will come in for top consideration.

Willie Knoll will head the group in charge of the barbecue, as he traditionally does for the Farm Bureau meeting.

Farm Bureau members will consider two alternatives concerning the future government farm program, and the one which the Collingsworth group approves will be recommended at the state convention in November, according to Buddy Yarbrough, president.

The first alternative would be a continuation of the 1965 Farm Program as it is now in operation.

The other proposition, according to the policy development committee composed of Doug Coleman, C. A. Wilbur and Carl Wischkaemper, would offer a price support program on major crops, but no diversion payments.

This program would propose: —Wheat: A support price of $2.70 per bushel on 50% of the wheat allotment, with all over to be sold on the world market. —Grain sorghum: $2.30 cwt on 70% of the domestic allotment, the allotment to be determined by the secretary of agriculture. The excess would go on the world market. —Cotton: 36¢ per pound on cotton grown on 65% of the present allotment, middling 1-inch white basis. The FB will also recommend that 35% of the cotton be held over until next year or go on the world market.

Other recommendations of the proposed program are a continuation of the present peanut program and a support price

Free Immunization to Be Offered in Clinic

A free immunization clinic for both adults and children will be set up during the Collingsworth County Fair, sponsored jointly by the Collingsworth County Community Action Center and the Texas State Department of Health.

Plans were announced by Mrs. Bob Sessions, community action coordinator, and Darrell W. Morris, regional field representative of the Department of Health.

Dr. Carter Holcomb, county health officer, has endorsed the program.

At present, it is planned that immunization shot will be given for diphtheria - tetanus, whooping cough and smallpox, with possibly others to be included, Mrs. Sessions said. The antitoxin and vaccine will be furnished without cost to those receiving it.

The program was initiated after informal investigation showed that many county residents of all ages have had no protection against these diseases.

"We believe that at least one-fourth of the adults need some type of immunization, and there are many pre-school children who have not had any of their shots. This is especially true among the low-income families in our county," said Mrs. Sessions.

She said that among the 87 families who are touched by the Community Action program only three had given their pre-school children their protective shots, she continued.

The clinic will be set up in the Bura Handley Community Center for the two days of the Fair, and the hours when the shots will be given at 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. and 2:00 to 4:00 p.m.

Voter Registration Applications Mailed

Application for 1970 voter registration certificates have been mailed to all county residents who were registered this year, Mrs. Rita Owens, county tax assessor-collector, said this week.

These should be signed and returned to Mrs. Owens' office, either in person or by mail, before Jan. 31, 1970.

Those who bring the applications to the office can receive their registration certificates immediately, as it takes no longer to prepare one than it did a poll tax. Others will be mailed, she said.

Mrs. Owens reminded that 1970 is an election year and that besides the usual elections, there may be special elections coming up on the local level.

In 1969, there were 2110 persons registered in Collingsworth County, and there is a potential of between 2,600 and 2,700, the tax official believes.

She emphasized that persons are not registered automatically, even though they may have been registered this year.

All persons 21 years of age and over who want to vote must register, it was pointed out. There are no "overs" and "unders" as there were in the poll tax system.

Members of the Wellington Masonic Lodge will entertain their wives and the widows of former Masons Monday evening, Oct. 13 at a barbecue to be followed by a program.

Plans were announced by Hubert Brooks, worshipful master.

Later the group will go to the Masonic Hall for the program.

The guest speaker will be Irvin S. Johnsey of Memphis, Past Grand High Priest of the Royal Arch Masons of Texas. He has retired only recently as a rural mail carrier in Hall County.

Active in Masonic circles, he is widely known by Masons throughout Texas.

The program will open with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, led by Willie Gragson, then the wives of Masons and widows of deceased members will be recognized. Cal Hurst will introduce the speaker.

Mr. Deger had extensive farming interests, and the sale will include four tractors, two pickups, a combine, a large quantity of other farming equipment, irrigation equipment, hay, shop tools, and a variety of other items.

LCC Chorus Sings Here on Thursday

The chorus is made up of 58 young men and women who are students at the Lubbock school, and it is currently on a concert tour of Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Oklahoma. Choral numbers as well as traditional hymns will be presented and the highlight of the program will be the "sermon in song."

The local Church of Christ is engaged in a gospel meeting this week and the chorus will be presented as the closing feature of this effort.

The Thursday evening program will begin at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited and there is no admission charge, said Gaylord Cook, minister.

UIL Preview

Band Gives Special Half-Time Friday

Supporters of That Skyrocket Band on Friday night, Oct. 10, will get a full-scale preview of the program it will offer in the University Interscholastic League Marching Band Contest at Canyon Tuesday, Oct. 28.

Miss Carol Blain, band director, said that the performance will be given between halves of the Wellington-Electra football game at Powell Field.

The marching contest is the first in the series of UIL contests in which the band competes each year, working toward the coveted Sweepstakes to the Class AA top ranking band in the Panhandle.

Charles Floyd will film the half time performance at both the Electra and Seymour games and these will be used by the band as study guides, Miss Blain said.

Besides the day to day practice, That Skyrocket Band will have extra practice sessions on Saturday and Sunday afternoons before the contest.

"If the people want to come out to the football field and watch on Sunday afternoon, they are welcome," Miss Blain

7-County Meeting Due

Regional Planning to Be Studied by RC&D

The North Rolling Plains Resource Conservation and Development Board has scheduled a meeting for late this month to discuss setting up a Regional Planning Commission for the seven member counties.

The tentative date is Oct. 30, and the meeting is expected to be in Shamrock, according to Gary Reed, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service.

A representative of Governor Preston Smith's office — who is in charge of regional planning, is due to meet with the North Rolling Plains group.

Representatives of all legal entities of the seven counties will be invited to attend the planning meeting.

"We have felt out all the counties in the RC&D, and in most cases the governments are not interested in joining the Amarillo group, but they could possibly be interested in forming one of their own within

A Salt Fork Soil Conservation District director for the southeast section of the county will be elected at Dodson from 12 to 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 11.

This election will be held during the meeting of the Dodson Men's Club, said Gary Reed, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service.

Don Reeves, county agent, will be in charge of the election.

The director elected will succeed John Brim, who is filling an unexpired term created when W. O. Vaughan resigned Jan. 1 to become commissioner of Precinct 1.

Nominations will be from the floor, Mr. Reed said.

This director will serve that part of the county lying east of Wellington and south of Salt Fork River.

CJC Enrollment Reaches Peak

Clarendon College, "oldest new college in the Panhandle", has reached an all-time enrollment high of 354 students, Dean Beryl Clinton has announced.

This represents a 18.32% increase over last year and 82% increase over the past five years.

Several factors contribute to this, the administration believes.

This includes the large graduating classes in the area for 1969, the stress on students to go on for higher education, the many financial aid programs, returning Vietnam veterans, and the new facilities of the college itself.

Veterans attending school under the G. I. Bill are reminded that it normally requires three months before they receive their initial subsistence check, which will be retroactive to the start of training.

First Chamber of Commerce was organized in 1768 in New York City.

4-H WEEK

Governor Preston Smith in an official memorandum said, "Texas' 100,000 4-H members are observing National 4-H Club Week, Oct. 5-11."

"The purpose of 4-H work is to give equal training to the Head, Heart, Hands and Health of Texas' young people and to help prepare them to be better leaders and citizens who will fit into society where their life's work may take them."

"4-H is a part of the educational program of the Texas A&M University Cooperative Extension Service and is supervised on the local level by county Extension agents along with the help of 19,000 local volunteer 4-H leaders who are outstanding men and women in their local communities."

"Texas 4-H members, working with over 202,529 educational learn-by-doing projects, apply the latest research and scientific information to their work, keeping records, arranging exhibits and giving demonstrations as means of passing information learned to others."

"The leadership and citizenship training which 4-H members receive is a valuable asset to our democratic way of life."

The governor urged all citizens to support and encourage the work of the "To Make the Best Better" organization.

Cattle Parasites

Internal parasites can rob you of cattle profits. Though your cattle do not "look" wormy they may be. Internal parasite infestations often are well established before the animal show obvious symptoms.

Probably the number one cause of internal parasites in beef cattle in this area is malnutrition. Although cattle have an inherent high resistance to parasite damage, this resistance is lowered by malnutrition.

The animal's immunity mechanism cannot function properly if the diet does not provide enough of the needed fuel.

Another cause is sanitation. Keeping water, feed and grazing areas clean will go a long way toward reducing internal parasite troubles.

A third cause of internal parasites is improper pasture management. This comes from overgrazing and high stocking rates. With overgrazing, animals are forced to clip the plants close to the ground where more of the larvae are to be found.

On highly developed pastures where stocking rates are high, contamination of the pasture from excessive manure can be a problem. This is one reason why a good number of stocker cattle shipped in from the southeast are infested with worms.

Tree Wounds

Small cuts on trees or shrubs usually heal over quickly and treatment is not necessary.

But if the cut is over 1 inch in diameter, some protection should be given to prevent decay organisms or diseases from entering through the wound.

Painting the wounds with a water emulsion or a commercial tree wound dressing that contains an antiseptic is suggested. The antiseptic helps to prevent the spread of organisms which may contaminate the tree paint. Most garden supply houses have commercial preparations suitable for treating tree wounds.

Ordinary asphalt paint can be used if the wound is first swabbed with alcohol. If the wound is wet or weeping, it may be necessary to wait until it dries before applying the dressing.

Do not use tar or creosote compounds for tree wounds. They are toxic to the cambium layer beneath the bark and may prevent the wound from healing over.

It is best to keep an unbroken film or dressing over the pruning wound. One coat of tree wound dressing should last two or three years. On larger wounds it may be necessary to recoat them several times while they are healing over.

Dirty Filters Slow Performance of Air Conditioners

COLLEGE STATION — Dirty filters hinder performance of air conditioners. Most new air conditioners have permanent filters which don't need to be replaced, but do need to be kept clean.

Mrs. Jan Berry, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist, tells how to keep a unit at top performance. List the filter out, shake off loose dust, then dip it up and down in hot sudsy water. The bath loosens and removes the greasy soot which the filter has captured.

Rinse, dry and apply a coat of special filter oil to help "trap" and hold additional soil, lint and air-borne grime.

Disposable filters should be cleaned in the same manner, but since they will take only a couple of cleanings a season, it is necessary to replace them occasionally.

Hawks Win Onesided Game Friday, Oct. 3

By JACK FORD

The Wellington Skyrockets football eleven suffered their first defeat of the season, 68 to 6, at the hands of the powerful Iowa Park Hawks, Friday night, Oct. 3 at Iowa Park.

The Rockets, led by Charles Mauldin, Bobby Saied, Nicky Watts, Larry Robinson, Ricky Nall, Danny Watts, Teddy McLain, Mark Killian, James Jones, Danny Brooks, Ted Harris, Reece Bowen, Danny West, Dallas Holland and Lester Robinson did their best on both offense and defense. But the top-ranked Hawks were just too strong for their smaller and injured opponents.

The Rockets had their troubles with fumbles and pass interceptions, but at times they did get some good drives going, penetrating to the Hawks' 28, 10 and 35 yard lines. The Rocket fans had some moments to cheer at the running of Charles Mauldin, Larry Robinson, Danny West and Nicky Watts in the second and third quarters. The passing of C. Mauldin to his receivers brought the Rocket fans to their feet several times.

The Rockets won the toss and chose to receive, but a 5-yard

THE EIGHTH-OBOL

Do you know which was the smallest coin ever minted?

Finding the answer to this question is in itself no easy task.

Most historians, however, believe the world's tiniest coin came from ancient Athens. It was called the "eighth-obol" and was made of silver.

As you might guess, the "eighth-obols" were short lived. They were so small people kept losing them.

The authorities stopped issuing them and minted a large copper coin of equal value instead. Oddly enough, many people protested the change! Immediately, there was a strike in the Athenian fish market. The fishwives had a habit of holding small change in their mouths and couldn't quite handle the new large coins. They found it very difficult to talk with a mouth full of copper!

Tarters Join 1200 Relatives at Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tarter left Wellington for Commerce Wednesday, Sept. 24, where they joined his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Brent Tarter for a trip to Somerset, Ky., to attend a Tarter Reunion. This is an annual affair, which this year drew 1,200 relatives.

The two Texas couples traveled the greatest distance to attend.

Most of the country through Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky was prosperous looking, with green grass, fat cattle, and beautiful brick homes, the Bill Tarters report. Little Rock, Ark., they found to be a beautiful city, with the Arkansas River flowing through it.

Mrs. Bill Tarter had never been that far east, although her mother, Martha Tinsley, grew up around Nashville and was a music teacher there when she met Alex Muncie of Glasgow, Ky. He was a school teacher. They married and moved to Oklahoma, then Texas.

It was quite a thrill, Mrs. Tarter said, to set her feet on the ground where her parents grew up. She had heard her mother talk so much about crossing the Mississippi on a ferry boat. They saw the ferry, still operating, from a distance.

Nashville they found to be a beautiful city, too, and spent the night in the heart of the city, which is a busy place. They didn't see much of Memphis, as the freeway skirts it.

One of the highlights of the trip came at Glasgow, Ky., where they had a two hour visit with Minister and Mrs. E. J. Fletcher, formerly with the Church of Christ here.

"They have a beautiful new church building, and a congregation with a membership of about 1,200, none of them more than 50 years old," said Mr. Tarter. The Fletchers are also near their farm home in Georgia, and not so far from their only daughter—and they are very happy, the Tarters report.

The two Tarter families arrived in Somerset about 5:00 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 27 and had reservations at the Quality Courts, owned by a first cousin.

in, Earl Tarter.

"It was a beautiful place. We then picked up some relatives and drove out several miles where our mother, Lu Wertha Trimble, was born and lived until she was married and moved to Texas. The same house was there and people living in it 90 years old. It had a fireplace in each end that looked as good as ever," Mr. Tarter recounted.

"We then went to Jim Tarter's birthplace a mile or so away. The old house had been replaced, but an apple tree which he, himself set out when he was 12 years old still stands. It is now one hundred years old and this year it bore apples. The people there gave us a sack of tomatoes that looked just like big oranges. They were just as sound when we got back to Wellington as when we left there. They were non-acid and delicious."

Sunday morning, Dr. and Mrs. E. M. (Ted) Trew of Lexington, Ky., 75 miles north of Somerset, met them at the Quality Courts. Dr. Trew, who was reared in Lexington, received his doctorate from Texas A&M University and was associated with the Texas Extension Service many years. He is now with the University of Kentucky and is in charge of its grass program for the entire state of Kentucky.

"The only disappointment we had was in not getting to go to Lexington, the prettiest part of Kentucky, we were told," the Bill Tarters said. "Most especially did we want to visit their new home. They raise mostly horses and mow the grass on the hillsides. They have white fences around each farm, Ted Trew told us."

"We next went to the State Park where we met 1200 people, all but a few were Tarters and Trimbles or had been. The entertainment was mostly visiting and eating. The men barbecued 600 chickens, each cut in half and placed in rows on wire racks, about 3 x 6 feet. When they wished to turn the chickens, they placed another rack over the halves and a man on each end turned them. They were barbecued in an upright pit. It was the most delicious chicken we ever tasted," the Wellington couple recounted.

The coffee was another matter. Bill Tarter declared it was so strong it turned green.

He shook hands with everyone there!

"The wind just doesn't seem to blow there. On Sunday there was a nice cool breeze. Quite a few attended church, including the Texas Tarters."

Monday morning they visited the Earl Tarters on the way out. He has 55 acres of grass land back of his beautiful home. He keeps 150 mother cows on it the year around, and he added that the grass is sweeter after it freezes.

It was tobacco harvest time in Kentucky. The warehouses were full of the harvested leaves, and they saw trailer after trailer load, also. It was apple harvest, too. And the Bill Tarters brought home one other memory—of the delicious Kentucky Cured Hams, with the County Men on Rolling Plains Cotton Board

David Baumgardner, who lives two miles south of Wellington, was named a director-at-large, and Johnny Carson of Quail a new director of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., at the annual membership meeting held recently in Abilene.

Tommy Lewis is the holdover director, Carson succeeds Earl Lynn Bartlett.

Charles Stenholm, young Jones County cotton farmer, electric co-op manager, former vocational ag teacher and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Cotton Producers Institute, is the new president of Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Stenholm was elected successor to J. B. Cooper, Jr., Roscoe cotton grower, as chairman of the 32-county grower group at the annual membership meeting recently in Abilene.

Other officers named at the meeting, attended by a record crowd of more than 400 members, included Neuman Smith of Ballinger, renamed vice president of the southern section; J. Frank Inman of Childress, vice president of the northern section; and Billy Golden of Seymour, secretary-treasurer.

Meetings were held at Lytle Shores Lake Auditorium, owned by WTU, with lunch by the lakeside.

All of the nine WTU districts were represented at the meeting.

Also attending from the district office were J. C. Randall, district superintendent, and Cleve Evans, new sales manager.

A "Signs of the Times" brunch on Thursday, October 2, opened the current year for the 1924 Study Club members. Hostesses for the event at the Cherokee Inn Restaurant were Mrs. Sam Adams and Mrs. B. M. Sims.

Members and guests registered in multi-colored ink around a zodiac which correlated with the invitations. Juice appetizers were served near a free standing black and gold zodiac. Beneath this were paperweight favors with individual signs of the zodiac.

"The Zodiac and You" was presented by Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Sims as guests were grouped by astrological signs. The history of astrology, its application past, present and future were related via audio-visual methods. Each person present received "readings" on selection of spouses, friends, entertainment. Burglars Enter Three Places Early Sunday

Burglars entered two Wellington businesses and the Post Office in the early hours Sunday, Oct. 5, Police Chief Donald Nunneley has reported.

The Post Office burglary constitutes a federal offense and the inspection department of the postal service has been notified, Postmaster L. B. Bratten said.

First of the burglaries reported was that of the Wellington Lumber Company, about 9:00 a.m. Sunday. A tool box and several boxes of socket wrenches were reported taken, Chief Nunneley said.

Entry was gained by using a pry bar on the wooden door on the east side of the building. The burglary was discovered by Herman Harris, manager.

At 11:30, Chief Nunneley and Deputy Alvin Minatrea were notified of the burglary of Hale's Jewelry on the west side of the square.

With the help of Mrs. Almeta White, manager, it was determined the loss included four men's watches, several women's watches, several wedding bands, a bracelet and necklace and possibly other items, taken from a display case, Mr. Nunneley said.

Entrance was gained by breaking the bottom half of the glass front door.

The Post Office burglary was reported about noon. The burglars had pried open a window on the east side of the building, into the northeast room, which is the employees' lounge.

As nearly as can be determined, the only thing missing is a small amount of change, employees' coffee money, from a cigar box. A Dr. Pepper machine was open, but no money was taken, according to the Police Chief. Two cabinets were opened but apparently nothing was taken, he added.

Swollen Welfare

Given the Supreme Court decision ending the prior-residence requirement for welfare eligibility, America's relief rolls are bound to expand further. This summons national attention to a phenomenon which to some seems baffling: Why do the welfare rolls continue to swell when the United States is enjoying unprecedented prosperity?

We are glad to see that President Nixon has asked his urban experts to come up with some answers here. We would stress that it is important, too, to discover policies which will serve to contract the relief rolls—not by severing help to the needy but by rendering more individuals "employable."

What is not always realized is that well nigh 50 per cent of the nine million Americans on welfare are children under eighteen. And that 30 to 40 per cent more are aged, or permanently disabled—hardly candidates for the work force.

Looked at from another angle, most of the rise in the relief rolls has fallen into a single category, that of Aid to Families with Dependent Children. This roll has skited up from three to six million recipients in 10 years. Welfare in all areas—federal, state, local—costs taxpayers $7 billion a year.

But to answer why the rolls have been rising by some 10 per cent per year: One reason is the big migration from the rural South to Northern big cities. This historic trek has tapered off, but many arrivals are only now discovering their relief eligibility. Militant "rights" organizations, plus community campaigns, have encouraged the poor to apply.

Again, many fathers earning small wages have left their families to make those families eligible for relief—such is the impact of today's curious rules. Illegitimacy is another cause—big families and unwed mothers, black and white.

Are new policies — new approaches — required? Some experts urge the establishment of a minimum national income, or a family allowance system. Much study, much pondering, is needed here. Shrinking the relief rolls won't be easy. This can be done, to a degree, by such devices as day-care centers for children of working mothers, by the business community's involvement in training the hardcore unemployed. Better housing, "Head Start" programs for kids, a drive on hunger, will help to break the poverty cycle which produces many welfare clients. But this is one of America's toughest, most complex problems, and President Nixon indicates that he is well aware of this.

Print Lives

Self-anointed media expert, Marshall McLuhan, says the printed word is dead. Yet, one large paper corporation reports that paper consumption for books, magazines and newspapers is expected to exceed 36 million tons this year. Evidently, there are still some folks who haven't been informed that reading is out of style.

AUSTIN.—Higher automobile insurance rates were adopted by the State Board of Insurance, but they are not as high as had been originally predicted.

Statewide, the increase in rates on Nov. 1 will be 9.9%. Insurance Board's staff earlier had recommended an 11.4% increase.

This smaller increase was accomplished by accepting the recommendation of Gov. Preston Smith's study committee that the percentage allowed insurance companies for acquisition costs be cut from 25 to 22.5% of the premium.

Another recommendation of the study committee headed by former Gov. Price Daniel was that the Board should include investment income of insurance companies in setting rates.

Board Chairman Ned Price said the Board would give careful consideration to inclusion of investment income from unearned premium and loss reserves as "profit and contingencies". He added that "we may have further comment on this at a later date."

However, Price also warned that it may not have as much effect on the price of insurance as had been thought. He said "The Board has consistently recognized and considered in its regulatory acts that the companies have other income than that from underwriting."

Price also said that the Board will begin "as time and circumstances permit" a detailed study of automobile rate-making formulae. He said the study of the present formula used in setting rates would be made during the coming year. The formula, he said, "will be reviewed with the objective of determining if rates can be made more precisely by another formulae."

U.S. Senate voting for a $75,000,000 subsidy to help poor people pay the rent on fancier houses than they can afford has got some folks around here drooling over the prospects of such benefactions for other good purposes.

Like my bicycle-income neighbor is looking hopefully for the Potomac Robin Hoods to hit the Ford-income taxpayers for the money to soothe his Cadillac-income soul.

Courts Speak

Supreme Court handed down a roomful of cases after its summer recess. It declined rehearings in three major cases decided last July, reaffirming that:

—Sundaco, Inc. of Tarrant and other counties will not get an advisory court opinion on whether its arrangement for evading Sunday closing law is legal.

—Until the Sarita Kenedy Eas will contest is concluded, Alice National Bank will remain as executor of the $300 million estate.

First Candidate Emerges

Hawthorne Phillips, former district judge at Brownsville and now executive assistant to Attorney General Crawford Martin, has announced his candidacy for the Texas Supreme Court.

He says he will run for the seat being vacated by Associate Justice Robert W. Hamilton of El Paso, who recently announced that he will not run again, after 11 years on the bench.

Crime

Judge Joe Frazier Brown of San Antonio, executive director of the Governor's Criminal Justice Council, has urged industry to take a technological hand in fighting "the ever-rising threat of crime".

He said, "In spite of the fact that our society has developed systems that take us to the moon, our approach to the Crime Control Act was still too much the old hit-em-in-the-head night-stick philosophy, or the ignore-the-problem-and-it-will-go-away philosophy. This has got to change."

To Awaken Small Towns

Gov. Smith announced a "Texas Communities Tomorrow" program to revitalize the small towns in Texas.

Aim is to provide a central source through which small towns can get information on governmental aid available to them and to help find technical and financial know-how for improvement programs.

Juicy Pears

Ancient Persian kings gave the pear a special place in their courts.

From the splendor of Persia's courts the pear was transplanted to northern Europe, where it became a favorite with the French nobility.

After sailing to America in the 18th century, however, the pear lost its royal perch and became a special favorite of almost everyone.

Pears are plentiful now in Collingsworth County. Overall pear production in the US is expected to run about 16% more than last year. Bartlett's account for about 70% of the nation's total pear supply.

Pears, which are hard when you find them in the store will probably ripen if kept at room temperature, but it is wise to select pears that have already begun to soften—to be reasonably certain that they will ripen satisfactorily.

Fresh pears are fun to offer to the family in a variety of different dishes. Salads, stewed pears, baked pears, fried pears, pear jams and marmalades are but a few of the uses for this elegant fruit.

Try these pear recipes:

Pears on a Stick

Closely akin to caramel apples, this treat is bound to be a hit with the children in your family. To prepare, melt caramel candies in top of a double boiler over boiling water. Insert a flat wooden skewer into the stem end of washed fresh pears, then slowly swirl the pear in the caramel sauce, spreading it with a knife to make sure the pear is entirely "hidden". Set pears upright in waxed paper lined baking pan and refrigerate until caramel is firm.

Whole Baked Pears

Core fresh pears and fill the cavity with your choice of cranberry sauce; mincemeat; chopped dates, nuts and coconut; a fruit jelly or jam; crushed pineapple; or a peanut butter-honey mixture.

Stand pears upright in a buttered casserole and add ¼ cup water. Cover. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes, or until tender. Serve pears hot with milk or cream.

Pear Honey

Fresh pear honey is delicious on waffles. To prepare, wash, core, pare and chop fine about 8 cups of pears. Slice one scrubbed lemon into thin circles, then combine lemon, 5 cups sugar and 1 teaspoon ginger in sauce pan along with about ½ cup water.

Bring to a boil, then simmer slowly until thick. Use hot, cold or preserve for future use by pouring boiling hot into hot sterilized jars and sealing at once. Or allow to cool and pour into pre-portioned freezer containers. This recipe yields a generous quart of pear honey.

Supermarkets of 1975

Picture information phones, customer lounges, store hostesses, professional food consultants, roofed parking areas, and no-wait check-out lines.

These are a few requests food consumers asked for in a recent series of panel discussions conducted across the country. The panels tried to discover what Mrs. Shopper wants in the supermarket of 1975.

She wants aisles free of stockers during rush hours, better price marking and a larger merchandise selection.

In store interiors, she wants wider aisles, help finding products through store directories, rest rooms and snack areas.

But she doesn't want to shop for groceries via television. She wouldn't trust the long-distance appraisal of meat and vegetables and she fears losing contact with store personnel.

Consumers also reacted negatively to credit cards for food

At County Fair

Entries Sought in Annual Flower Show

Many Collingsworth County yards are still abloom with beautiful flowers, and owners are urged to enter them in the Flower Show at the Collingsworth County Fair Friday and Saturday, Oct. 17 and 18, Mrs. Henry Vaughan, chairman, announced.

"Since the rains and cooler weather, there should be an abundance of flowers, and entries are especially needed in the arrangements division," she added.

Flowers must be in place by 9:00 a.m. Friday, Oct. 17, and remain until 5:00 p.m. Oct. 18.

As in the past, there are three divisions, including: Division I: Horticulture, all specimens must be in Coke or milk bottles, furnished by the exhibitor.

Division II: Potted Plants, class 1, African violets; class 2, flowering plants—must be in bloom; and class 3, foliage plants.

Division III: Arrangements, carrying out the theme "Your Favorite Bouquet." These may be of fresh flowers or dried flowers.

At least 12 entries of fresh flowers are needed for good competition, and at least six purchases. The consumer doesn't seem to trust herself to control spending.

Other wants of Mrs. Shopper include more personnel to serve shoppers better, less confusion about prices by checkers, trained baggers who know proper handling of products, improved methods of bagging, easy-to-read and conveniently placed cash register window showing price of item checked, better way to get purchase from store to car and larger car spaces with angled parking.

The A. C. Nielson Company conducted the panels.

entries in the dried flower section, Mrs. Vaughan said.

First, second and third place ribbons will be awarded in each class. A grand champion rosette will be given in each division.

Assisting Mrs. Vaughan are Mrs. Silas Crawford, co-chairman, and Mrs. J. M. Strong, Mrs. Ray Clubb, Mrs. Howard Riggs, Mrs. W. R. Franks, Mrs. Joe Thompson, Mrs. R. R. Hightower, and Mrs. B. T. Webb of Dodson.

All Garden Club members are asked to assist, said Mrs. Vaughan.

Mrs. Templeton at Workshop

Mrs. Louise Templeton, medical records librarian at St. Joseph's Hospital, attended an ICDA Coding workshop in Tyler Thursday and Friday, Oct. 4 and 5. It was sponsored by the Texas Hospital Association.

ICA (International Classification of Diseases, Adapted) Coding has been adopted by hospitals throughout the nation, Mrs. Templeton explained.

Records on diseases treated receive coded numbers for filing, making it possible to instantly retrieve data for research, study or other uses at any time in the future.

One hundred and five medical record librarians, other hospital personnel, and doctors attended, most coming from East Texas.

Accompanying Mrs. Templeton to Tyler was Mrs. Joe Baumgardner, who was the guest of Mrs. Hester Stall, who lived here a number of years ago; and Mrs. J. F. Michael, who went on to Shreveport, La., to visit a daughter.

Dale Darrow Ordained by Norwood Church

The First Baptist Church at Samnorwood licensed Dale Darrow, a member of its congregation, to the ministry Sunday evening, Sept. 28.

This indicates the Church's willingness to support him as he begins study for the full time ministry, the Rev. Dick Roehr explained.

The Rev. Roehr questioned the young candidate concerning the doctrine and ideals of the Baptist Church, then preached a brief challenge.

A license to the ministry in the Southern Baptist Convention gives him the authority to perform marriages, conduct baptisms and funerals and carry out the other ordinances and duties of the church.

Mr. Darrow, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Darrow of Dozier, was graduated from Samnorwood High School two years ago and attended Clarendon College two years.

8 Nuns Send Greetings Here

Mrs. Morris Wells has returned from a visit to historic points in Louisiana and Mississippi towns. She was accompanied by two sisters and a niece.

Their first stop was in Natchitoches, one of the oldest towns in Louisiana. They visited the grounds of some of the area's historic homes.

They saw points of interest in both Natchez and Vicksburg. At St. Dominick's Hospital in Jackson, Miss., Mrs. Wells visited with eight members of the Dominican Order who through the years have been at St. Joseph's Hospital ... and who all sent their greetings to Wellington friends.

These included Sister Josephine Terese, who served as administrator here and is the present administrator of St. Dominick's Hospital; Sister Mary Rupert, Sister Catherine Dominic, Sister Ruth Marie, Sister Mary Robert, Sister Helen Marie, Sister Mary Ellen and Sister Marguerite.

Governor Pledges Commitment to Texas Industrial Plan

AUSTIN.—Gov. Preston Smith has announced his total commitment to a detailed plan for industrial development in Texas, and called for support of all Texas citizens to carry it out.

Gov. Smith told Texas industrial leaders that the state has what it takes to attract new industry from throughout the nation for both large and small areas, but must have goals and direction.

"We have the foresight," the governor said. "We have the knowledge. We have the desire. All that we require is a soundly based plan of action to meet the challenge of the 70's."

"We cannot afford to leave to chance the expansion of industry in Texas. We must seize the initiative and pursue new industry aggressively," Gov. Smith said.

The Texas Industrial Commission reported that although industrial growth has been spectacular across the state in recent years, it still falls far short of what could be accomplished through an intensified program of action.

Gov. Smith called all industrial development leaders and chambers of commerce to join him in creating "A Comprehensive Plan for Texas Industrial Development" to bring about this needed program.

"The Texas Industrial Commission has recommended to me that the state be divided into 21 regions and each region be studied by qualified professional consultants in terms of industrial development potential in the 70's," Gov. Smith explained.

He said the consultants will work with local leaders and the Industrial Commission in creating a practical, 10-year plan for attracting industrial expansion in Texas communities.

"As our communities have varying objectives, the consultants' first step will be to determine the local goals for industrial development that would best complement the local economic base," the governor said.

"The next step will be to study in depth the feasibility of attracting selected industries. Some will be feasible for short-term location and should be approached immediately. Others will be feasible for location only if certain barriers are eliminated.

"Here we will seek alternative means of eliminating these barriers," Gov. Smith added. "Other types of industry will, of course, not be feasible for location. But even this category is important, for it tells us where not to exhaust our efforts."

He warned Texans to be prepared to deal with the situation as it truly exists and meet the competition of other states squarely.

"Although we anticipate that these studies will require at least a year, the final product of our effort will be a series of reports—more extensive in their identification of potential and specific methods of attracting industrial growth than any ever accomplished in the United States," he said.

Clement Car Taken at Dallas

The 1969 Chevrolet Caprice belonging to Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Clement was stolen from a Dallas parking lot Saturday night, Oct. 4, and found by police Sunday morning, completely stripped and damaged.

The car was parked about 7 p.m. and the Clements and other members of their party, Mrs. Bernice Welch, now of Ft. Worth, Mrs. Barbara Williamson and Louis Graham, attended a production of the musical, "George M" at the State Fair Auditorium.

The loss was discovered about 11.

Due to the extensive damage, the car was turned over to the insurance company, Mr. Clement said.

Reader Interest is the Key To Profitable Advertising

For the first time in recent weeks, The Wellington Leader was completely sold out of extra copies by Friday morning — at the newspaper office, Lowry News Stand and all other places where the newspapers are sold each week.

This is not the first time this year that all copies have been sold and we have needed to seek the return of copies for people who had a use for them: but it is the first time all 2,450 papers have been distributed by Friday morning.

A newspaper with such an intense reader interest provides an advertising medium that will produce sales for the merchant that uses space regularly and devotes time and attention to the preparation of his advertisements just as he should to buying and the appearance of his store.

Through the years The Leader has provided the merchants of the Wellington area with an outstanding means of taking their sales message to potential customers. In addition to be the most EFFECTIVE and PRODUCTIVE method of advertising, it is still by far the CHEAPEST judged by customers reached and results produced.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

It was a pleasant sight Tuesday to see the string of box-cars rolled up alongside the compress and a gang of laborers unloading the bales. The compress going at full activity can be an important part of our economy.

You have to give Temple Slay credit for one thing—he has done more to keep the business houses around the square full and neatly repaired than anyone. By buying and remodeling old buildings he has done a wonderful job in keeping the places of business looking spic and span. When John Sherman completes remodeling his building, the entire east side of the square will have an entirely new appearance.

Ralph Owens, who has put forth a tremendous amount of mental and physical effort during the nine months he has been president of the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce, says Wellington Travelers, Inc., needs fifteen men to put in $2,000 each to provide a working capital to enable this desirable business to buy in quantity and keep it competitive and healthy.

Wellington Travelers has already demonstrated that it can build these desirable and durable trailers and that it can sell them as fast as they can be constructed. In the past six months it has shipped over $150,000.00 in merchandise out of Wellington and its payroll during this period has been over $40,000.00. Right now it is on the eve of a significant development that can mean much to the prosperity of our community. Contact Ralph Owens or some of the other officials if you want to learn more about the possibilities of this enterprise and what it can mean to our economy.

Newell McDaniel of Dodson says alfalfa is the durable and versatile crop for profit in this time of declining revenue from cotton. He points out that it is exceptionally well suited for this area of Texas and Oklahoma and lists among its numerous advantages that it can make use of poor wornout soil on the surface by making use of the richer soil farther down without the expense of deep breaking, etc. The roots of the plant will go down 25 feet and on much of our land there is subsurface moisture at levels much shallower than that.

Newell, the old tennis player and the father of the famous baseball playing sons, can really warm up on the subject of alfalfa if you will listen long enough and there is a lot of experience and hard commonsense in what he has to say. In this area Alfalfa will produce three cuttings of hay and one crop of profitable seed in a single year. It is a high protein feed with a rich assortment of essential vitamins. It is a natural in the profitable growing of hogs. I think we would benefit by hearing more from Newell McDaniel.

Now that the Mets and the Orioles have the world series settled for contest this Saturday, I suppose it is time to reprint a story about a World Series great of other decades. Lefty Gomez was one of the greats in pitching in the '30s and not so great in other managerial capacities later. Once coaching at third base he found two of his runners sliding into third base at the same time. Taking a look, he said "Oh hell!" and slid in to join them.

For the first time since he became coach at The University of Texas at Austin, Darrel Royal had football practice on the Sabbath, and he said they needed it. Perhaps he thought the ox was in the ditch although it has been a long time since an athlete with a nickname like Kiwanis Will Serve Pancake Supper Fri.

The Wellington Kiwanis Club will hold its annual Pancake Supper Friday, Oct. 10, from 5 to 7 p.m., according to Sam Adams, president of the club.

The money raised from the annual affair goes into the club's underprivileged children's fund and is used to help needy cases during the year.

The menu this year will consist of hot cakes and country style sausage patties with a choice of coffee, milk or chocolate milk for a drink.

Last year, which surpassed

Isbell as chairman of the committee in charge.

Nurses will be present to administer the shots, Mr. Morris said.

Dr. Holcomb emphasized that it is important for children to start their immunizations within the first few months of life, completing them by the time they are about a year old.

"Even though schools require that every child entering school for the first time must be immunized against certain diseases, parents should not wait that long to protect their children," he declared.

It was emphasized that there is no charge for the shots given in this clinic, and no parent should feel the family cannot afford these, Mrs. Sessions explained.

In addition to the clinic sponsored during the Fair, there will be two follow-up clinics, one on Nov. 15 and the other on Dec. 13.

Ox played for the Longhorns. The wire stories said that the first Texas team in the Navy game retired never to return early in the second quarter. They will not retire in the second quarter when they meet the Sooners next Saturday, for the Big Red is loaded with talent and power. If the Longhorns should lose there will be good people from Southern Methodist and Baylor who will say that is what Royal deserves for making his players train on Sunday.

Now that the ordeal of playing Iowa Park is over, the Rocket fans can look forward to the remainder of the season in which the boys in red and white will win the majority of their remaining games. As a matter of fairness in scholastic population none of these schools such as Wellington, Memphis, Shamrock, etc., should have been in the same classification as Iowa Park for the past two years; but that is the arbitrary standard the Interscholastic League has set up. A team stays in its old division for two years after its enrollment has made it eligible for a higher or lower classification.

all previous records, over 400 people were served during the two hour period. Kiwanians do the cooking and serving of the supper.

The price for adults is $1 and 50¢ for school children. Tickets may be obtained from any Kiwanian or at the door on Friday evening.

Rockets

is better than most of them do. Our defense was not up to par with the offense.

"We were playing with 14 kids, and Iowa Park shuttled 33 players in and out... three different teams... and that wore us down. We made some costly mistakes that gave them two or three touchdowns.

"I don't want to take anything away from Iowa Park; they have a fine club, but actually we made a team that is playing 4-A football," Coach Amoret said.

Wellington's Larry Robinson received a sprained ankle in workout Monday. As yet, it isn't known how serious this is or how much it will hamper him in the Electra game.

the proteins of the body are broken down and evaluated in relationship to various diseases. He also did work with thyroid chemistries and in toxicology.

There he worked with all of the new, modern automated equipment now used in the field of medicine. These, Mr. Hood explained, enabled the laboratory to run a greater number of tests at much lower cost to the patient.

Mr. Hood is certified by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and is a member of the American Society of Medical Technologists. He was licensed by the State of California, which has the most rigid requirements for licensing personnel of any of the states, and he is a member of the California Association of Licensed Medical Technologists.

His original training was received while Mr. Hood was serving in the Army, and he continued his training while he was stationed in Italy. He received a degree in bacteriology and chemistry from Texas Tech University in 1966, and while he was a student there he worked as a medical technologist at Methodist Hospital.

He was a member of the Business Men's Club in Lubbock. Reared in Wellington, Mr. Hood was graduated from high school here in 1957. His wife is the former Elizabeth Hurst, Gribble. The couple has two children, Marc and Caron.

Council Hears CAE Report on Flood Control

Two representatives of the Corps of Army Engineers met with the City Council Monday night, Oct. 6, to give its preliminary report on a proposed flood control project immediately north of Wellington which would protect the town from future water damage.

Mayor John Coleman said the Council does not intend to take up the Corps proposal, which would have a total cost of $375,000. Two hundred thousand of this would be borne locally and the remaining $175,000 by the Corps of Army Engineers.

Formal action on the proposal was postponed until the next meeting of the council, he said.

John D. Hill and Ernest T. Kimbrough told the council members that the water from an area north of town is channeled onto the town section by Highway 83 and the railroad, and therefore it ceases to be a local program.

The proposed CAE project would be on the east side of Highway 83, with a levee and drainage ditch to begin one-half mile north of the town section.

It would then follow the same drainage area as a project which the City has discussed with the State Highway Department.

The CAE men told the council that their project was designed to care for any floodwaters the city might experience in the next 100 years.

The Council also made a second payment of $12,000 on the new sewage disposal unit and discussed a traffic problem at the high school, Mr. Coleman said.

Farm Bureau

Retiring officers and directors who will be replaced at the meeting, in addition to the president, are Ray Null and Selba Rainey, vice presidents; Jerry Scott, secretary, and these directors: George Barton, John Brim, Dee Coleman, Doug Coleman, Danny Davis, L. Committees were announced. Assisting Mr. Knoll with the barbecue are Alvin Horton, L. A. Davis, Gus Gooch, Gilroy Rummel, John Brim, Les White, Mr. Yarbrough, Dee Coleman and A. C. Patterson.

The serving committee is headed by Mr. Moreman and includes Farris Wood, Doug Coleman and Neil Davis. The chair committee is made up of Danny Davis, Jerry Scott, Troy Thomason and Leslie Moore, while wood will be provided by Earl Patterson, Ronnie Hartman, Wayne Martin, and Albert Fulcher.

Memory of R. R. Crawley

Robes Dedicated by First Methodist Church

New robes for the chancel choir of First United Methodist Church were dedicated at the service Sunday, Oct. 5 on World Communion Sunday.

"Nearly all the money for the purchase of these 32 new robes was given in memory of R. R. Crawley, a member of the choir for many years," said Mrs. Jack Davis, choir director. "It was a spontaneous thing, and seems to have come to the minds of many people in the weeks following this death. A few donations were made in memory of other people."

The robes, a rich turquoise color, were worn for the first time at the dedication service.

This came as a part of the regular morning worship. The litany of dedication came immediately before the choir sang as its anthem one of Mr. Crawley's favorites, "My God and I." The choir closed the dedication with the communion hymn sung at the altar.

Members of the committee in charge of planning and purchasing were L. B. Bratten, Mrs. W. O. Vaughan, and Mrs. Raymond Ford. J. B. Oney was in charge of final preparation of the robes for wearing.

Claude Black Hurt in Wreck

Claude Black, 65, escaped with broken ribs when his car collided with a train 10 miles from Pampa Sunday morning, Oct. 5.

Mr. Black, who has been living here, was working in Pampa.

The impact threw Mr. Black into the back seat of the car, which was demolished, according to his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Black.

Mr. Black is still hospitalized in Pampa but is able to sit up, she said.

with the points almost touching. There will be a series of step-tuos and other formations, a counter march back into the diamond, moving down to the north end of the field. Again the band will counter march to the music of "Trio of Rifle Rangers" and leave from the south end of the field.
