April Blizzard Strikes County

An April blizzard such as the county receives not more than once in a generation swept through Saturday night and Sunday morning, April 7 and 8.

In depth, it is estimated that around five inches fell in the north part of the county, and from two to three inches south of Salt Fork. However, hgih winds drifted the snow, sweeping some fields bare and piling drifts to three feet in some east-west roads.

No loss of livestock has been reported, even among newborn calves, according to County Agent Don Reeves.

He did express concern for wheat damage, and Dwane Scott, farm demonstration assistant for the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration Program on Wednesday took numerous samples of wheat to the Bushland Experiment Station to determine the extent of damage.

Wheat that has been grazed will be less likely to be damaged, Mr. Reeves said, and any damage there may be will depend on growth at the time of the storm.

Highway department maintenance crews worked throughout Saturday night and Jake Meadows, maintenance superintendent, reported that drifts across the highways were highest in the Quail area, where at least five cars were stranded for a time. Highway Department crews and deputy sheriff Alvin Minatrea worked to get them through.

Rain and then sleet preceded the snow, and this produced glazing on some roads. However, even before the snow quit falling, melting had set in, and all surfaced roads were clear and much of the snow gone by Sunday evening.

This storm, mild in comparison to that which fell in areas farther north and west, found a number of residents out of town and unable to return home, and visitors in Wellington unable to reach air terminals to continue travel.

This April 7-8 date is about as late as the county ever receives snow, and last April blizzard of major proportions came in the late 1930s. This was a much heavier snowfall, immobilizing travel for several days and resulting in the loss of considerable livestock.

WINNING GRASS TEAM

Bank Deposits and Assets at Financial Record for County

Deposits in Wellington's two banks have risen just under $3 million dollars in the last year to bring the present deposit figure to $15,929,759.69 as of March 28, 1973 - the highest figure in the history of Collingsworth County banking history.

For the same period assets rose a little more than $3 million, to bring that figure to $17,215,501.46, again an historic high.

These figures were revealed in the March 28 call by the Federal Reserve Bank and State Banking Commissioner.

Deposit figures now stand at around $2.5 million over those at the end of the first quarter of 1971.

But more startling, deposits in the county banks have risen almost $5.4 in just three years, since the first quarter call of 1970. Deposits at that point were $10,543,909.11.

Wellington bankers themselves were surprised at the deposit rise in the last year. Part of the increase is due to the bumper crop with harvest running well into 1973, and even more of the money not being received until after the first of the year.

It is likewise a good year for the cattle men, who saw only a continuously rising market until the end of the quarter.

The deposit figure a year ago was $12,970,952.19; in 1971 it was $12,394,303.65; in 1970 it stood at $10,543,909.11.

The March 28, 1973 assets of $17,215,501.46 compare with $14,028,040.18, at the end of the first quarter, 1972; and of $13,409,242.23 for the same period of 1971. Assets in 1970 were $11,523,863.48.

Demand deposits, the working money of the two banks' customers, rose $1,554,693.00 from a year ago, now standing at $7,866,741.28, compared to $6,312,048.28 at the end of March 1972; of $6,741,976.00 at the same time in 1971 and $5,710,073.97 for 1970.

The increase in time and savings deposits was only a little smaller, $1.4 million. The figure now totals $8,063,018.41, in comparison to $6,658,903.91 a year ago; $5,552,327.65 two years ago; and $4,743,834.56 three years ago.

Loans and discounts are up a little less than a million dollars, from $7,292,379.86 a year ago to $8,182,219.18 on March 23.

Undivided profits now are $417,864.85 now compared to $363,309 a year ago.

City Voters Pick Wilkins, Hatch, Jenkins

Tom Wilkins and Lynn Jenkins were elected members of the City Council in balloting Saturday, April 7. Billy Hatch, without opposition, was elected mayor.

Henry Sullivan received 121 write-in votes for a place on the city council, and an additional 5 votes for mayor. He is a former member of the City Council.

Mr. Wilkins polled 146 votes and Mr. Jenkins 127.

Two other candidates were listed on the ballot. Bob Barton received 107 votes and incombent Bob McAlister 102.

Hiram Cudd, a former mayor, was given a write-in vote.

Mr. Hatch will be sworn in as mayor and Mr. Wilkins and Mr. Jenkins as council members at the next regular meeting, Monday, April 16. They will take over their duties Monday, May 7, according to Mrs. Lorene Jenkins, city secretary.

Safe Driving Class Short of Students

Only 10 persons have signed up for the Defensive Driving Course which opens here Tuesday, April 17, despite the fact that its completion offers a 10 per cent reduction in auto insurance.

Mrs. Margaret Vines, Chamber of Commerce secretary, said that as many as 25 can be enrolled.

The two-hour sessions are scheduled on four nights, Tuesday, April 17, Thursday, April 19, Tuesday, April 24 and Thursday, April 26. All will be in the Heritage Room except the April 19 class, which will be in the Farm Bureau Hospitality Room.

Don Hatcher of Pampa, safety director for the Texas Department of Public Safety, will teach the course, for which there is an $8 charge to cover the cost of books and other class materials.

The 8 sections of the course will offer:

Section 1 - "Preventable or Not?" Is there such a thing as a perfect trip? What is a preventable accident? Who prevents it? Are you putting your license on the line every time you get behind the wheel just because there is some traffic law of which you are not aware?

Ballinger Man Athletic Director and Head Coach

A new head coach and athletic director has been named for Wellington High School. He is James Williams, who holds the same position with Ballinger High School, Supt. Thayne Amonett has announced.

Mr. Williams fills the vacancy created when newly-elected Teddy L. Allen of Mineral Wells tendered his resignation recently.

The new head coach has resigned at Ballinger, effective Friday, and he and his family will move here during the week end. He will begin high school duties in Wellington High School Monday, April 16, Mr. Amonett said.

"This will give Mr. Williams an opportunity to become acquainted with the boys he will coach and to work with them during the off-season program," the superintendent explained.

The new head coach and athletic director was selected a Little All-American from San Angelo Junior College, now Angelo State College, in quarterback position. He transferred to East Texas State University at Commerce where he played at quarterback position for the 1958 through 1960 season. He was one of the team captains his senior year.

At ETSU Mr. Williams received The Dallas Morning News Athletic Award three consecutive years, he was named to All Conference and All Texas teams and received the Most Valuable Player Award.

He served in the U.S. Army two years and went to Ballinger in 1966 as freshman coach. In 1968 he was named head coach and athletic director with the beginning of the 1971 season.

He is married to the former Barbara Shytles of Ballinger, who holds both Bachelor of Art and Master of Education Degrees.

The couple has three children, whose ages are 8, 7, and four years.

Norwood Church Opens Revival On April 15th

Revival services will begin at Samnorwood Baptist Church Sunday, April 15, and continue through Easter Sunday, April 22.

The Rev. James Henry, pastor of Hyde Park Baptist Church, Denison, will be the evangelist and Tom Wilkins will lead the singing, according to plans announced by the Rev. Elvis Pitts, interim pastor.

Rev. Henry was pastor of Travis Baptist Church, Memphis, before going to Denison, and he has served as pastor of several other churches as well. He is a graduate of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Ft. Worth.

"His sermons will be evangelistic and he will speak to the needs of the people," Rev. Pitts said.

Mr. Wilkins formerly was music director of First Baptist Church in Wellington.

"I extend to each of you a special invitation to attend these services," said Rev. Pitts.

He has served the Samnorwood Church as interim pastor since January, and in May he will become pastor of the First Baptist Church at Martha, Oklahoma.

Farmers Co-op to Hold Annual Meet

The 46th annual meeting of stockholders of the Farmers Co-op Gin will be held Saturday, April 14, at 2:00 p.m. in Bura Handley Community Center.

Gin officers and directors have announced that more than $85,000 in rebates checks will be distributed at the meeting. This amounts to an average of $5.16 per bale on the 18,091 bales ginned during the 1972 season. The precise amount of rebate, however, will vary, depending on whether the grower caught his seed, and other factors.

A program of much interest to cotton growers will be presented . A representative of the Plains Cotton Co-op will be here to show a film on new cotton harvesting and ginning equipment and how they coordinate, such as stacking cotton in the field and gin machinery that will best handle this cotton. Labor saving devices will be pictured as will machinery for blending cotton at the gin instead of the mill, according to Jack Kopp of the Co-op staff.

During the business session, new directors will be elected and later officers will be named from the group.

There will be door prizes and the Wellington State Bank will serve coffee and donuts.

Public Invited to See Work at Museum

"Collingsworth County Museum Board cordially invites you to come by 1404 15th Street to see how work is progressing. Both your interest and your help are needed," Clyde Drake, president, announced.

A working budget for the fiscal year was adopted at the regular meeting held Monday, April 2, and approval was given to move forward with plans presented by the various committees.

The information desk, the records and business corner is ready for use. A sign for the grounds is being built. Modular wall displays which will house exhibits to tell the story of local history are planned and are being built as fast as volunteer labor and available funds permit.

"The library room is taking shape. It is already a pleasant place to read the manuscripts, biographies, old newspapers and related books which are being collected. This material is not to be checked out, it can be used in the library room only," said Mr. Drake.

"Significant artifacts which you might be willing to loan or give to the museum should be listed at the museum so that they can be fitted into the planning," he concluded.

No Opposition Voiced in School Trustee Election

Trustee candidates in the three school districts ran without opposition in the election Saturday, April 7, and there was only a sprinkling of write-in votes.

Wellington's three candidates were running for re-election. Richard Nall polled 79 votes, Glen Taylor 77 and David Baumgardner 84.

At Samnorwood, Oliver Wischkaemper, running for the first time, polled 64 votes and J.H. Oldham, seeking re-election received 69.

minister of the Christian Church 22 years, he has never attended services in the Christian Church in Wellington. "He was not converted to Christ until he was serving with the Armed Forces in the South Pacific in World War II," explained Mr. Waugh.

He studied for the ministry at Oklahoma City University and Midwest Christian College in Oklahoma City, graduating in 1951.

His first pastorate was in Valley Center, Kansas, with a church membership of 42 which had grown to 700 members, the largest in the town, 7 years after when he left to become senior minister of First Christian Church in Dodge City, Kansas. That church grew to a membership of 2,000 and was ranked as the largest Christian Church in the state in attendance.

Since 1963 he served several years as Chairman of the Directors of Midwest Christian College, received his degree of Doctor of Divinity for outstanding work in the field of evangelism and Christian education and became executive vice president of Midwest Christian College.

His next work was a 7-year plus tenure at First Christian Church, Hugoten, Kansas, where he completed a new sanctuary, educational building and parsonage, valued at one-half million dollars and debt free.

He became minister of the church in McAllen a year and a half ago. Since that time the church, only four years old, has reached 224 in attendance and had more than 100 new members, built a new educational building and enlarged paved parking facilities. Plans are under way to expand the sanctuary.

It Makes Sense

All insect senses function through organs far different from ours. The main organs of smell for insects are the antennae. They contain olfactory pits or cones that enable the insects to detect odors.

Dr. Johnson, twice listed in Who's Who in the Midwest, has been a featured speaker on various conventions in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and also the North American Christian Convention. He is presently serving in his 12th year as a member of the North American Convention Committee.

"It will be good to return to Wellington, the place of my boyhood, but most of all to return as a Christian and a minister of Jesus Christ," said Dr. Johnson.

Fix-It Tip

Good jimmy-proof locks are needed on doors to help thwart burglars. The ordinary spring latch that locks doors when you slam them is not enough.

All outside doors should be equipped with the kind of lock known as a deadbolt. Instead of a slanted bolt, it has a square bolt which must be turned with a key from the outside and with a handle on the inside.

If an outside door has a glass panel through which someone could reach the lock after breaking the glass, a double barrel lock should be installed. The double barrel lock must be opened with a key on the inside as well as the outside.

Never let clothing or other fabric articles lie around damp or wet. Dry soiled clothes before putting them in the hamper. Wash out dishcloths and hang them to dry. Spread out washcloths and damp towels.

Stretch out wet shower curtains. It is the wet curtain left bunched together or sticking to the wall or tub that is most likely to mildew.

Wash soiled garments and household fabrics in plenty of hot sudsy water; rinse well and dry thoroughly and quickly. Fabrics dried slowly may get sour and musty smelling—a sign of mold growth.

Home Management

By Lynn Bourland

COLLEGE STATION -- Of all the Homemakers's many resources -- time, energy, knowledge and skills -- time is the only one that's limited for all and the one most lacking in management.

Only by recognizing the extent of her resources -- and then managing their use effectively -- can the home manager meet the many demands on her time, energy and skills.

Lynn Bourland, specialist in the home management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University, explained that the underlying secret of successful home management is in the careful use of resources, aimed at achieving family goals.

"But the goals and values should be decided cooperatively through family discussions.

"These discussions help determine what is the most important in terms of demands on her resources -- that is, what will provide a sense of security and achievement for the family and individual.

"Once the goals are determined in this way, a plan is in order," the home management specialist indicated.

In making the plan, several principles of time management should be observed.

First, the homemaker should become aware of how she uses her time.

When this is done, she should classify her activities into groups -- work, maintenance or free time.

"Identifying and correcting ways in which she kills time and is diverted from her work is important to the plan. At the same time, disorganization causes need to be found and remedied."

Miss Bourland advised the homemaker to recognize and eliminate excessive involvement.

"She needs to visualize what goals and values compete for the time."

To help solve the problem, the individual should make a realistic schedule for maximum time use. Using energy-saving work habits also helps make the most of time, the specialist added.

"Time is only one resource to be managed by the homemaker, but the manner in which it's managed will influence the management of the others.

"Effective use of time in managing the home is one of the ways today's homemaker can stretch dollars, gain leisure time and conserve health and energy to enjoy life with her family," Miss Bourland concluded.

LETTERS from the People

Dear Editor:

I am seeking information about Art Names. During the 1930's and 1940's he operated a traveling tent show which I think played in this area. I am searching for information about him and his show with the ultimate hope of writing his biography. I would like to hear from anyone who knew him who would be willing to correspond with me about their memories. I would also like to hear from anyone who might have pictures, letters, poems, or other memoriabilia about Art Names or his troupe.

Sincerely,

COLLEGE STATION -- Texas cotton farmers can look forward to another good crop year if weather conditions don't affect production too severly, believes Charles Baker, marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Overall, the cotton picture looks good going into the 1973 season," says Baker. "In many cases, the situation is similar to last year. Crop contracting is active in southern areas of the state, with many farmers contracting for good prices -- up to 35 cents a pound. The demand should again be strong this year, perhaps more so than last year since acreage allotments have been cut by 13 percent throughout the United States."

The 1973 crop should get off to a good start with favorable soil moisture levels over all the state.

On the gloomy side, reduced government payments and increased production costs will lower net income for the coming season, points out the economist.

Looking at the demand picture, Baker expects world consumption of cotton for 1973-74 to be up one million bales over the record 57 million bales for 1972-73.

Carryover in the U.S. last August was 3.4 million bales, the lowest in 20 years. By August 1 of this year, carryover is expected to be up a million bales even though exports are expected to increase form 3.3 million bales last season to 4.5 million this year.

"Texas farmers will produce about 3.5 million bales this year compared to 3.9 last season," reports Baker. "Most will stay close to their allotments as cotton prices are expected to be somewhat lower while feed grain prices are zooming. However, some of the set-aside acres that have been freed recently may encourage additional plantings."

Nationwide, production for 1973 is expected to total about 12.5 million bales, down from the 13.5 million bales last year. The 1972 crop was the largest since 1965.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Ammons and children, Diane and Jeffrey of Dumas and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ranes and Patty of McKinney visited over the week end with Mr. and Mrs. James McDanel and other relatives.

School Board Organizes for Coming Year

The Wellington School Board met Monday evening, April 9, when three newly re-elected trustees were sworn in for new terms.

These were Tiny Taylor, Richard Nall and David Baumgardner.

They were also returned to the offices they have held during the last year: Mr. Taylor, president; Mr. Nall, vice president; and Mr. Baumgardner, secretary.

Last Capital

Danville, Va., served as the last capital of the Confederacy. Here Jefferson Davis heard the news of Lee's surrender at Appomattox on April 8. The following day he fled again to Union capture in Georgia.

If your six year old saw something like this, would he know how to phone for help?

That's why we're running this ad.
If there are any six- or seven-year-olds around your house, teach them how to report emergencies. Tell them to dial "0", give their name and tell our operator where they are and what's wrong.
With older children, train them to dial emergency numbers direct, since that's the fastest way to call for help.
But don't stop there. Copy down the emergency numbers listed on the inside front cover or first page of your telephone directory. Add your family doctor's number. And the number of the nearest hospital. Next, tack up the list near your phone.
Then get your kids to memorize it, in case it gets lost.
By the time they're through memorizing those numbers, they're going to have every grownup in the house knowing them, too.
Which is also why we're running this ad.

Our Dollars Can Hasten the Day When Cancer Is Conquered

This is Cancer Crusade month, and this is the one drive to which the county has been most generous in its giving -- for Cancer, second greatest killer of diseases, is the one perhaps closest to us.

Cancer in its many forms has stricken a large number of Collingsworth County persons, of all ages, and a considerable number go regularly to medical centers for treatment or check-ups. Yet there is optimism.

Since the middle 1940's, the cure rate of one in every three persons stricken has been achieved, yet two of these three are still dying. If nothing is done to change the trend, 52 million Americans living today will be stricken with cancer at some time in their lives and 32 million will die of it.

But to make this more understandable, let us look at those around us -- our neighbors, our friends -- who are diagnosed as having cancer. With some a cure is achieved. Others, for whom no cure is possible, become its victims and leave a void in our community.

The conquest of cancer is a national goal, sponsored by a federal program, in addition to the magnificent job which the American Cancer Society, of which the Cancer Crusade is a part, has done for a quarter of a century.

When we in Collingsworth County give to this drive, we are doing our part toward the conquest of this disease.

Public's Business Made Public

Although not a "perfect" bill from the standpoint of the press, Texas governmental bodies will be conducting more of the public's business in public as a result of the new Open Meetings Law passed by the House Tuesday.

The House measure, HB3, is the same as the amended Senate bill approved a week ago. Gov. Briscoe is expected to sign the measure.

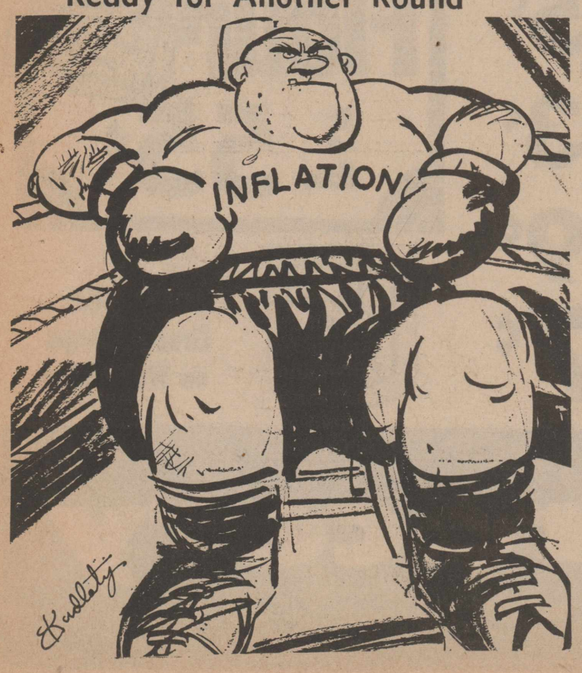

Even though the bill has some short-comings, it is considerable improvement over the initial offering, which in many respects was considered more ineffective than the last legislature's bill. New restrictions on actions of governmental bodies as a result of the bill include clearer, more restrictive definitions of what constitutes a meeting, a deliberation and a quorum. This was necessary, although an early provision that would bar members of a public body from casually discussing business over a cup of coffee was considered too restrictive by most.

Better provisions for adequate advance notices meetings will add a practical aspect to public deliberations. If a governmental body is allowed to have "public" meetings with no advance notice, it in effect can have a "private" meeting at any time its members desire.

An informed public is better served than an uninformed public. The Texas Legislature has taken a long step toward assuring the right of every citizen to know what is going on in the halls of government and deserves commendation for its interest in a better served citizenry.

Ready for Another Round

The Capitol NEWS

By Bill Boykin

AUSTIN, Tex. -- The complex job of rewriting the 97-year-old State Constitution began officially last week with initial work sessions of the new Constitutional Revision Commission.

Commissioners outlined plans for a series of public hearings in 18 areas.

The hearings will be held between now and next fall in Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, McAllen, San Angelo, Lubbock, Longview, Wichita Falls, El Paso, Amarillo, Abilene, Midland-Odessa, Laredo, Tyler, Lufkin, Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange and Austin.

Chairman Robert W. Calvert, former Texas Supreme Court judge, said the hearings may "determine largely whether people accept the final product."

The 37-member Commission heard advice from a large group of experts, then divided into seven sub-committees to study specific areas of the Constitution which one of the advisors labeled an "appalling" document.

Revision Commissioners received these key bits of advice:

* Do the best job they can of streamlining the Constitution, but be prepared for the legislature to "water down their recommendations."

* Don't try "to solve the problems but make clear who solves the problems."

* Sweep out detailed property tax provisions . . . get rid of the grants and loans prohibition and provide "home rule" for counties.

The Commission will be backed by a statewide advisory committee.

Revision drafts must be completed by November. The Legislature will convene January 1 as a constitutional convention.

OPEN MEETINGS BILL PASSES – An amended version of legislation to strengthen state laws requiring that the business of state government be conducted in public has been finally passed by the Senate.

A much-revised version of the bill to shield newsmen's sources of information, meanwhile, advanced to the senate calendar with Jurisprudence Committee blessing.

The Texas Joint Media Committee representatives and "Common Cause," the people's lobby, termed the open meetings bill as passed by the Senate an improvement over both present law and the Jurisprudence Committee bill.

One controversial section of the latter was amended to allow closed sessions on "negotiated contracts" only for gifts or donations to the government. The bill would allow private sessions of governing bodies to discuss purchase, exchange, lease or value of real estate -- but not the sale of property. Also stricken from the Committee bill was a provision for closed sessions with attorneys on "possible avoidance of litigation."

Remaining as exemptions from open meetings guarantees are a wide range of discussions of pesonnel matters including "employment evaluation."

The revised shield bills would allow forced disclosure of information and sources on mandamus by the State Supreme Court which could be sought by any individual to prevent "substantial harm or injury . . . . or substantial injustice."

VEE REVACCINATION URGED -- Texas Veterinary Medical Association called for immediate revaccination of all horses for Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE).

The Association said 100 per cent immunity can be established and reservoirs of the disease eliminated. It urged revaccination of all horses vaccinated in 1971, vaccination of all newborns, those six months of age and older and those coming into the state. Length of immunity is uncertain.

COURTS SPEAK – Persons who have sexual relations with wives or husbands of others can be sued for damages, the State Supreme Court held.

The High Court turned down an appeal of a Dallas lawyer who lost his license after a jury found he asked a client for $500 more than his legal fee, allegedly to prosecute an assistant district attorney.

The Supreme Court set a hearing April 25 over whether Austin could sell 32 acres of park land to a school district without an approving vote of local residents.

The Court of Criminal Appeals overturned convictions for sale of heroin (an 1,800 year sentence from Ector County) and possession of marijuana (25 year sentence from Tarrant County) due to judicial error.

A Lipscomb County youth ordered fined and jailed for aggravated assault on a deputy sheriff he called a "pig" won a new trial on appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals, which held the boy's contention that he was resisting what he considered unlawful arrest should have been presented to the trial jury:

SHORT SNORTS -Gov. Dolph Briscoe went to Washington to protest that new federal regulations would destroy the social services program in Texas for non-welfare recipients and increase welfare rolls.

A bill to set up a "little Hoover commission" on reorganization of the executive branch of state government finally won Senate approval and now goes to the House for consideration.

New state bank charters are being sought in Houston, Austin, and Comanche.

Of 7,572 roadside park facilities in the nation, 1,059 are located in Texas, according to a U.S. Department of Transportation survey.

August and September primary election dates received Senate approval.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where preacher Billy Graham faux pased and had to backtrack when he recommended a program of eunuchizing all convicted rapists.

It seems that a big bunch of people threw a hyssie at the thought of de-sexing the uncontrollably sexed, same as they do when anybody suggests that we should go back to the habit we once had of executing murderers.

And it may be the people who got so upset about Billy's idea are just environmentalists who want to save the world from running plumb out of rapists.

Land of Big Ranches Setting of New Book

MATADOR (Special)- The land of the big ranches and the wild West will break into print Sunday, April 15 with the publication of a voluminous History of Motley County.

Texas' newest county history, "Of Such As These-A History of Motley County and Its Families," has been authored by Eleanor Mitchell Traweek, daughter of a pioneer Motley County newspaperman and a lifelong resident of the north central rolling plains that make up one of Texas' most colorful counties.

Motley County, the home of the Matador, the Milliron and other pioneer Texas ranches has a vivid history all its own and Mrs. Traweek, wife of Motley County Attorney, Howard Traweek, captures most of it in her unique 400-page history.

The book combines geneology and the history of the Southwest with deftness and humor. While it concerns settlers of a particular locale, its appeal is not limited and will find interested readers from the Caprock to Texarkana and from the Red River to the Rio Grande Valley.

"Of Such As These," published this spring by Nortex Offset Publications of Quanah and Wichita Falls, will make its first public appearance at an autograph party to be held Sunday, April 15 at Traweek House in Matador. Both the author and the illustrator, Conny Martin of Lubbock, will be on hand to autograph the books.

Motley County has changed in the almost 100 years since its designation, but the author maintains that some things there remain the same . . . . . "Bob Whites still call in the cool of the evening; dogies bawl at branding time; cowboys move with their customary swagger; and the people who love their sunburned section continue to be proud of their heritage."

Author Eleanor Traweek is a graduate of Texas Tech with majors in both music and English and is a former student of the Philadelpha Conservatory in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. She received her Masters degree from Texas Tech where she was a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Sigma Tau Delta Honor Societies.

For two years she was a teaching fellow in the English department at Tech. She was an English instructor at South Plains College in Levelland and formerly taught in the Lubbock Public School System.

She is the author of "Legend of the Land" in Singers and Story Tellers, a Texas Folklore publication. The Traweeks are owners of Traweek House, which in 1964 was dedicated as a Texas Historic Landmark. They have one daughter, Nancy, a junior medical student at the University of Texas Medical School in Galveston.

Eleanor Traweek, left, looks over sketches for her new book, "Of Such of These, a History of Motley County and Its Families," with Illustrator Conny Martin. The two were high school friends.

Social Security Tax Rule Cited

Have you received social security benefits in 1972 and also earned over $1680 during the year? If so, a report of your 1972 earnings must be filed with the Social Security Administration no later than April 16, 1973. This applies not only to people who received checks throughout the year but also to these individuals who were paid benefits for only a part of the year. For example, a student who received checks only for January through May and did no work during that time must file a report if he earned over $1680 from June through the remainder of the year. Also, individuals who retired during the year and did no work after retirement must file these reports if their 1972 earnings before retirement exceeded $1680.

Forms for filing social security reports of earnings were mailed to most beneficiaries during the early part of 1973. However, those who failed to receive a reporting form can obtain one by contacting the nearest social security office.

PCA Officers, Directors at Houston Meet

Rolling Plains Production Credit Association officers and directors go to Houston April 12 for the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank's annual meeting and 50th anniversary celebration at the Houston Oaks Hotel.

PCA board member participants include Lasater Hensley of Guthrie, chairman, Dean Decker of Childress, vice chairman, Mack Claburn of Anson, Winfred C. Mann of Clarendon, and John Paul Perrin of Haskell.

J.R. Gleaton, PCA president and R.C. Cobb, vice president and secretary, both of Stamford, will accompany the group.

A congressman, governor and president highlight the Houston bank's meeting program, Gleaton pointed out. Speakers include Rep. John Melcher, D-Montana, a member of the House Committee on Agriculture; E.A. Jaenke, governor, Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D.C.; and W.H. CAlkins, president, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston.

Gleaton said the more than 500 meeting participants represent Texas organizations which obtain their loan funds from the FICB of Houston. These organizations last year made loans to Texas farmers and ranchers totaling more than $1.3 billion.

Annie and Her Gun On Stage at CJC

Two Wellington students have roles in "Annie Get Your Gun," presented by the drama department of Clarendon College Wednesday and Thursday, April 11 and 12, in the college Fine Arts Center.

Mrs. Norma Selvidge of the CJC faculty is directing the production which will begin at 8:00 p.m. each evening.

Music for "Annie Get Your Gun" is provided by the CJC 18-piece orchestra, directed by Kern Pigg, who is in charge of the college music program. The songs from that show are some of the most popular of the current era, and include "Doing What Comes Naturally" "They Say It's Wonderful," "I've Got the Sun in the Morning," and the exciting "There's No Business like Show Business."

Four Wellington boys are members of this orchestra, Jerry Bowen, Michael Lynn Bellew, Kenneth Porter and Jerry Maxwell.

This musical was made famous on broadway some years ago by the singing and acting of Mary Martin in the role of Annie Oakley.

The cast abounds with such famous characters of the old west as Annie, Pawnee Bill, Buffalo Bill, along with assorted cowboys, Indians, dancers and singers.

"This should be one of the finest productions ever presented by the Clarendon College Fine Arts Center," said Mrs. Selvidge.

BUFFALO BILL FROM WELLINGTON
Buffalo Bill of Clarendon College's presentation of "Annie Get Your Gun", is Wellington's Jerry Maxwell. He has a part in both the music and acting aspect of the show.

Meat Price Freeze Will Hurt Expansion

COLLEGE STATION -- President Nixon's decision to freeze the retail prices of beef, pork and lamb may have long-reaching effects on future production plans of farmers and ranchers, believes Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Production costs of farmers and ranchers are continuing to increase. Since there is no freeze on these inputs and the producer knows now that he will not receive any higher prices for his animals, he may just become 'fed up' with the whole situation. This could mean a pullback in resources and less expansion. And that's certainly not what is needed at this time."

Just at a time when producers should be expanding their herds to meet the increased consumer demand for red meat, they are caught in a situation that may 'choke' some of them out of production or at least cause them to slow down on their expansion, notes the Texas A&M University specialist.

"Right now farmers and ranchers need to be enticed to continue to increase production," Uvacek stresses. "Higher prices have done this. Unfortunately, expansion takes time. You just don't produce more beef or more pork or lamb overnight.

"Some analysts already project a shortage of beef in the second half of this year," points out the marketing specialist. "This shortage could become more critical in the wake of the ceiling on meat prices."

Consumers will probably see less meat in the grocery stores of the future and will be paying more for it, unless livestock producers are given some incentives for profitable production, contends Uvacek.

Grain Sorghum Set Aside Now Only 10 Percent

The Wellington ASCS office has received official notification that the 25 percent set aside acreage requirement on feed grains farms has been reduced to 10 per cent, according to Bob Weatherly, county executive.

"No other provisions of the feed grain program have been changed, and payments will remain the same as when the 25 per cent set aside was in affect," said Mr. Weatherly. Announcement of this ruling was made from Washington some time before local offices were notified.

The set aside was reduced to free more acreage for additional grain sorghum, corn and soybeans.

The payment rate on grain sorghum, the only one of the three crops grown here, is 30 cents per bushel times the farm yield, Mr. Weatherly explained.

Many Apply at UT Law School

AUSTIN, -- The University of Texas Law School, one of the leading public law schools in the nation, receives applications from more than five times the number of students it can accept each year.

Last year 525 students entered the UT Law School out of 2,900 who had applied.

According to Associate Dean T.J. Gibson, an applicant is considered on the basis of undergraduate grade-point average in combination with his score on the Law School Admission Test.

Deadline Set to Certify Wheat

Wheat growers have until May 1 to certify wheat acreage, Bob Weatherly, ASCS county executive, reminded this week.

"You need to certify your wheat acreage even if you do not have a wheat allotment, if you want to substitute it for feed grain," he explained.

Police Escort at Funerals Praised

Praise for the escort which Wellington Police Department provides for funeral processions came this week from Mrs. L.A. David of the Rolla Community.

Mr. Davis was the officiating minister at the service held for Mrs. J.A. Dobbins of Amarillo on Wednesday.

Raymond Minatrea was the policeman escorting the funeral cortage from Kelso Funeral Home to Highway 203, north of town en route to burial service at Quail.

"They got us out of town and on the highway," said Mrs. David. "We think it is a good thing. More people were stopped beside the road that you often see, and this shows a reverence that seeks to be leaving our country."

"Things are changing fast, and if we can hold onto some of these customs, it will make Wellington look good."

Mrs. Davis contrasted this to some of the difficulties in other towns which do not provide police escort for funeral procession.

Mrs. F.G. Roby of Houston is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. J.M. Orr. She will return home at the week end after being here two weeks.

Quail News

By Mrs. G. T. Stephens

The blizzard over the week end here was probably a record breaker for being late in the season. The wind Saturday was high and cold, with a little drizzle rain occasionally.

By night, it was colder and the snow started early. Sunday morning, there was an estimated two inches of snow on the ground, with drifts several feet high in places.

The damage to the fruit crop was 100 per cent loss. It also ruined the early blooming flowers, the tulips, iris, and nipped all the buds in the other early plants. However, I have heard no reports of stock losses in the immediate area.

Z.J. Neeley, Sr., has been a patient in the Hall County Hospital in Memphis since Friday, April 6.

Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Self of Napa, Calif., visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Blevins recently.

Jerry Barton was a dinner guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Canada and family Sunday.

The Quail 7th and 8th grades and part of the 5th and 6th grades, attended the 16th annual Panhandle Science Fair at the Tri State Fair Grounds at Amarillo Saturday, April 7.

The group made the trip on a school bus, driven by their science teacher, David Knox. They were accompanied by Mrs. Knox and Mrs. Ross Oatman. Seventeen students made the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. G.T. Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. James O. Miller of Memphis spent last week in Lubbock with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Poteet and Mike, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Helm.

Mrs. Helm is the daughter of the Millers.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Oatman of Bend, Oregon, arrived Monday for an extended visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Oatman and Mrs. Jennie Oatman. They left Bend Friday. The trip usually takes two days and one night on the road. They have made the trip many times. However, they were almost twice as long en route this time, due to the snow and icy roads. The blizzard had dumped snow on the highways, making the impassable in places, especially through Wyoming. Mrs. Oatman said they, along with many other travelers, had to stop at various places and wait until the roads were cleared. The couple formerly lived in the Quail community. She also said that Monday was their oldest daughter, Mrs. Janice Jones, 33rd birthday. She was born at Quail. At one point when they stalled in the snow, Mr. Oatman got out of the camper to look the situation over and high winds blew the door to on his thumb, almost cutting it off. He had to have emergency treatment at a hospital before they could continue.

Mrs. R.E. McGowan and son J.D. Adkinson of San Angelo visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Blevins Saturday Morning. J.D. is in the National Guard. Another son, Bill, is in service stationed in Massachusetts presently.

Mrs. Louella Welch of Amarillo spent last week with Mrs. R.D. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Boyett spent last week in the home of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Boyett of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Oatman attended the funeral of his uncle, John House, 87, at Peacock, near Aspermont, recently. His survivors included two sons, Floyd of Peacock, and Denver of Houston; three sisters and two brothers.

SHURFRESH MILK • FOR GOODNESS SAKE

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

PEOPLE who have fruit trees have been coming to the newspaper office since Monday morning to report that the fruit crop has been killed for the third consecutive year. Claude Savage says that all of his fruit is gone; but he added that a few fruits such as grapes might make. John Roberts and any number of others say the same thing. Dwain Scott believes that the prospects for a fruit crop is equally as dim over this entire area.

A FEW DAYS before the wet snow and freeze of April 7-9, Louise Thomason phoned to ask if I had my hose ready to sprinkle my apricot trees in case it looked like a killing frost. She said that she and D.C. had their hose in place ready to sprinkle their apricot trees. Tuesday, I called to find out how the Thomason's fared with their sprinkler system during the cold spell. The strong north wind and the blowing snow intimidated them and they did not turn on their sprinkler system and their apricots perished.

R.L. Templeton likes to be different. Tom Cunningham says that R.L. offered to bet that he would have some peaches on his Running Water Farm in the Quail area. Mr. Cunningham said his highest bet on anything was a ten cent drink at the fountain, I would not take R.L.'s offer for a different reason. He could be correct about having some peaches left in his protected sandy acres.

* * *

THE REASON I say Judge Templeton could be accurate in his observation is that I have two protected peach trees in my back yard. Right after hearing the Tom Cunningham statement I went out in the yard to inspect the Ranger tree which is south of a pine tree and the Dixie Red which is a little more exposed. The chill factor induced by wind in relation to temperature applies to fruit just as it does to cattle and human beings. The bud in the Ranger peach tree seemed to be alive still. (I won't mention Ranger Peach trees to Ronald Coleman -- his have frozen for three straight years). Dwane Scott says I will know about mine for sure in three days.

IT WAS continued dry weather in Russia that brought about the wheat deal last year. Now the weather experts say Britain faces drought over the next few months on a scale experienced only twice in the last 170 years. The major rivers such as the Thames in England and the Don in Scotland are carrying about half of the normal flow for this time of the year. There is an old saying that when one part of the earth receives more than the usual amount of precipitation, another part of the globe will get less than normal moisture.

WHEN I was in Houston last winter, I wrote a story about the land sinking due to the water being pumped out for domestic and industrial use. There was a story in the papers this week about the San Antonio monument sinking due to the same cause. A bill has been introduced in the Legislature that would prevent the pumping of such water. The sponsors claim that if the pumping were stopped today, the ground in that area would still sink another four feet. They claim that when the land sinks a foot, the sea water comes another half mile inland.

MISSISSIPPI water for West Texas will be discussed at a meeting at the KoKo Palace Convention Center in Lubbock at 2:00 p.m. Thursday, April 12. At that time three government agencies will report on the intensive study they have been making for the past five years. Up to date Congress has provided more than $7 million to finance the project. Communities are invited to send representatives.

City Council Approves Telephone Rate Increase

The Wellington City Council granted a rate increase amounting to approximately 3½ per cent to General Telephone Company in action taken Monday night, April 2.

Announcement of the vote was made by Lyman Daniel, city manager.

This was a compromise rate increase, Mr. Daniel said, and affects all types of service except one and two party residential phones, on which there will be no increase.

The increase was voted after Bill McMorries, engineer with an Amarillo company, presented a study of General Telephone Company rates and recommended that no increase be granted.

John Allen, assistant revenue requirement and tax director, San Angelo, and Jim Davis, Memphis division manager, presented the telephone company rate increase request.

The new rates will become effective May 19, Mr. Daniel said.

The City Manager also said that the General Telephone requested a 11 per cent rate increase, and the compromise increase was agreed upon by the city council because of the cost of fighting the case through the courts. The telephone company in turn promised better service, he added.

The council also asked that some plan be worked out that the toll between Wellington and Dodson be eliminated.

Harold Gattis, local manager for Lone Star Gas Company, appeared before the City Council the second time to request an automatic adjustment clause and 1.2 cents rate increase. This was denied and Mr. Gattis is to meet with the Council May 7, Mr. Daniel said.

Mr. Daniel also reported to the council that:

- The control cable to the new wells is burned out, apparently struck by lightening, and is being repaired.
- A new gas pump was installed in the city barn.
- a new riding mower has been bought for use at Ellison Park and Marian Airpark Pool.
- A cat and dog vaccination will be held when a date can be set up with a veterinarian.

In a second meeting of the City Council Monday, April 9, results of the Saturday City Election were canvassed.

The council was also notified that the Farm Bureau has offered to pay the registration fees, room and board, of two firemen at the Texas A&M University Firemen's School.

Authority was given Mr. Daniel to hire all city personnel except the police.

Purchase of an electric typewriter for the office was announced.

Jury Fails to Reach Verdict In Will Case

A 100th District Court petit jury reported to Judge Robert Montgomery Tuesday afternoon that they could not reach a verdict in the case regarding the will of the late Mrs. F.O. Masten. Upon receiving this report, Judge Montgomery discharged them.

This action is on an application to probate a will purported to have been executed by Mrs. Masten. It was filed for probate in the County District Clerk's office in May 1971, a little more than four years after her death.

A petition opposing the probation was filed in early June, 1971, by Mr. Masten, through his attorney, Paul Spillman.

The devisees named in the will were 10 church-related colleges and churches. Two of these, Abilene Christian College and Tipton Orphan's Home, have withdrawn.

This case came before Judge Montgomery Monday afternoon, April 2, and the court began taking testimony late Tuesday. This was completed and the arguments to the jury heard Monday afternoon, April 9. It was submitted to the jury about 9:00 p.m. One juror became ill and Judge Montgomery recessed the jury until Tuesday morning.

Trio Attends Regents Meeting

Three county men, members of First Christian Church, have been named to the board of regents of Dallas Christian College.

They are Sandy Parsons, Charles Waugh, minister of the church, and John Carson of Quail.

They attended a meeting of the board in Dallas Thursday, April 5, when the regents approved construction of the fourth new building for the college.

While in Dallas, Mr. Parsons visited his grandson, who is a sound engineering student in Bell and Howell Technical Institute.

Holiday Decorations Approved for US83

Christmas decorations for Highway 83 along the east edge of Wellington through holiday seasons were approved by Chamber of Commerce directors Monday evening, April 9.

Garner Altom and Robert Owens, who are in charge of this work, are conferring with two suppliers of this type of decorations, and the final selection will be an ornament that is sturdy enough to withstand high winds, but at the same time will lend beauty to that part of Wellington's business district during Christmas.

The directors also approved a training program, "What is the Future of Small Business," to be held here by the Small Business Administration, Lubbock, on May 10.

The course will be taught by J.B. Hair, SBA staff member, and the course will be limited to 25 persons.

Dan Hiett, vice president, was in charge of the meeting in the absence of President Don Welch, who was ill.

Others attending were Lynn Jenkins, Mr. Owens, Mack Saied, Jr., Jimmie Kelso, Bill Hatch, Mr. Altom, C.T. Hubbard, Charles Darter, Bobo Castleberry, Billy Moseley, and Mrs. Margaret Vines, C-C secretary.

Enthusiam High For Hay Camp Club

Wellington area residents gave enthusiastic response to A.B. Dean as he explained the operation of the Hay Camp Country Club in a public meeting Friday, April 6.

Forty memberships were taken at the end of the meeting and that number has grown to approximately 90 for this county alone.

At this time, he announced that the opening date for Hay Camp Country Club is July 15.

Wellington was the first town in which Mr. Dean made the country club presentation, but within the near future, Hollis, Childress, Mangum, and possibly other area towns will hear of the new Hay Camp Venture.

Mr. Dean explained the operation of the club, by-laws, facilities, membership fees and the benefits to be derived from charter memberships.

He went over diagrams for construction of the golf course and explained blueprints for club house construction.

Charter membership will remain open until July 15.

Mr. Dean defined the various membership classifications: charter, resident, non-resident, women's membership, summer membership, winter membership, military and clergy, and junior.

Work on the 9-hole golf course is progressing, and work began on the tennis courts Friday, April 6.

Ward's Store To Demonstrate Electronic Oven

A demonstration of an electronic oven will be held at the Montgomery Ward Catalog Sales Store Saturday, April 14, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman have announced.

Demonstrating the oven will be Mrs. P.M. Scott and Mrs. Gary Killian, homemaking teachers in Wellington High School.

Pirmarily, this will show the time-saving element of cooking with an electronic oven, it was pointed out. An example of this is baking a potato in 5½ minutes instead of an hour, as in a conventional oven, or cooking a roast at 7 minutes per pound instead of 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman have invited the public, and especially all homemakers, to attend.
