

Three picked for command honors

Three base people were picked recently by Headquarters, Air Training Command, as the best in their fields throughout the command for 1982.

MSgt. David C. Drake, 64th Field Maintenance Squadron, was tapped as the Aircraft Maintenance Technician-Supervisor of the year. From the Resource Management deputate, Daniel A. McIntire, base budget officer, was picked as the command's top civilian budget officer, while 1st Lt. Darrell G. Smith, chief of the Cost and Management Analysis Branch, was chosen as ATC's best officer in that field.

The names of all three individuals will be passed on to the Air Force-level contests in their respective fields.

Sergeant Drake is non-commissioned-officer-in-charge of the pneudraulic shop of the 64th FMS. As such, he is responsible for both pneumatics and hydraulics maintenance on all the T-37 and T-38 aircraft assigned to Reese, along with all associated ground equipment. He manages specialists dispersed to six different work areas on base and provides maintenance support to the Accelerated Co-pilot Enrichment Program of the Strategic Air Command, in which Reese aircraft are provided to three SAC bases to help co-pilots keep their piloting skills sharp.

"TSgt. Drake sets the standard of personal excellent within the maintenance complex," said Robert H. Holland, shop foreman, in his nomination.

Dan McIntire, was described in his nomination for the ATC award as "the finest budget officer in Air Training Command," is responsible for the entire budget of the wing, some $34 million in fiscal 1982, including $360,000 in unfunded requirements.

He has "a broad working knowledge of the budgetary process, a detailed grasp of the 64th Flying Training Wing mission, a natural ability to work harmoniously with others and an untiring drive," said his nomination. During his stint as budget officer, the section has received superior ratings on three higher headquarters inspections.

Lieutenant Smith has been responsible for a number of cost-saving initiatives and programs to streamline the management of the base, according to his nomination. He was responsible for turning the Child Care Center from a resource drain into a profit-making enterprise, developed management reports and briefings for senior base personnel, formed the Productivity Enhancement Council and served in a wide array of other capacities around the base.

"Lieutenant Smith represents the finest in our military officer corps and is my best," said Maj. William S. Wrench, comptroller, in nominating Lieutenant Smith for the award.

Pilot replaces his navigator wings

by Sgt. Doyle Tillman
Public Affairs Specialist

"I like telling myself where to go better than telling someone else," explained Capt. Mark E. Willis.

Captain Willis took four of Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 83-01's five top class honors during pilot graduation ceremonies here Oct. 29.

Entering the Air Force in May 1977, Captain Willis earned his commission through Embry Riddle Aeronautical University, Daytona Beach, Fla., in the AFROTC program.

As a junior officer he entered navigation training at Mather AFB, Calif., and graduated in Dec. 1977. Now a navigator, the Dexter, Maine, native's first assignment took him back to New England. He received specialized navigation training for the KC-135 and proceeded to Pease AFB, N.H.

In Nov. 1981, he and fellow classmates of 83-01 arrived here to begin their pilot training. The navigator turned pilot swept his class honors being cited as a distinguished graduate, earning the Leadership and Flying Training awards and receiving the Air Training Command Commander's trophy.

A pilot who enjoys flying and guns (hunting and target), Captain Willis expects that his experience as a navigator "should help immeasurably to his future experiences as a pilot."

Married with three children, he will attend specialized training in the F-15 "Eagle" before moving to his first permanent base Langley AFB, Va., as a pilot.

Also receiving awards were: 1st Lt. William A. Ehrenstrom, distinguished graduate and Leadership award; 2nd Lt. Richard P. Martell, distinguished graduate and Academic award; Capt. Arthur F. McDaniels, Academic award; 1st Lt. David B. Glade, II, distinguished graduate; and 2nd Lt. Alan M. Tempin, distinguished graduate.

Col. John R. Hullender, base commander, presented the awards, but guest speaker Maj. Gen. William P. Acker, vice commander, ATC, Randolph AFB, Texas, presented the ATC Commander's trophy and wings to each of the new pilots.

The graduating pilots were filled with anticipation, their family, friends and guests with pride. A pride that for one woman brought tears of joy. And last, but not least, the new students awed at the ceremony, but hopeful that in a year they too would be accepting their aviators wings and making "the dream a reality."

Five earn degrees through CCAF

Five Reese individuals recently accepted degrees from the Community College of the Air Force. The graduates of CCAF brought the base total to 11 for 1982 according to Bill Trafton, Educational Services officer.

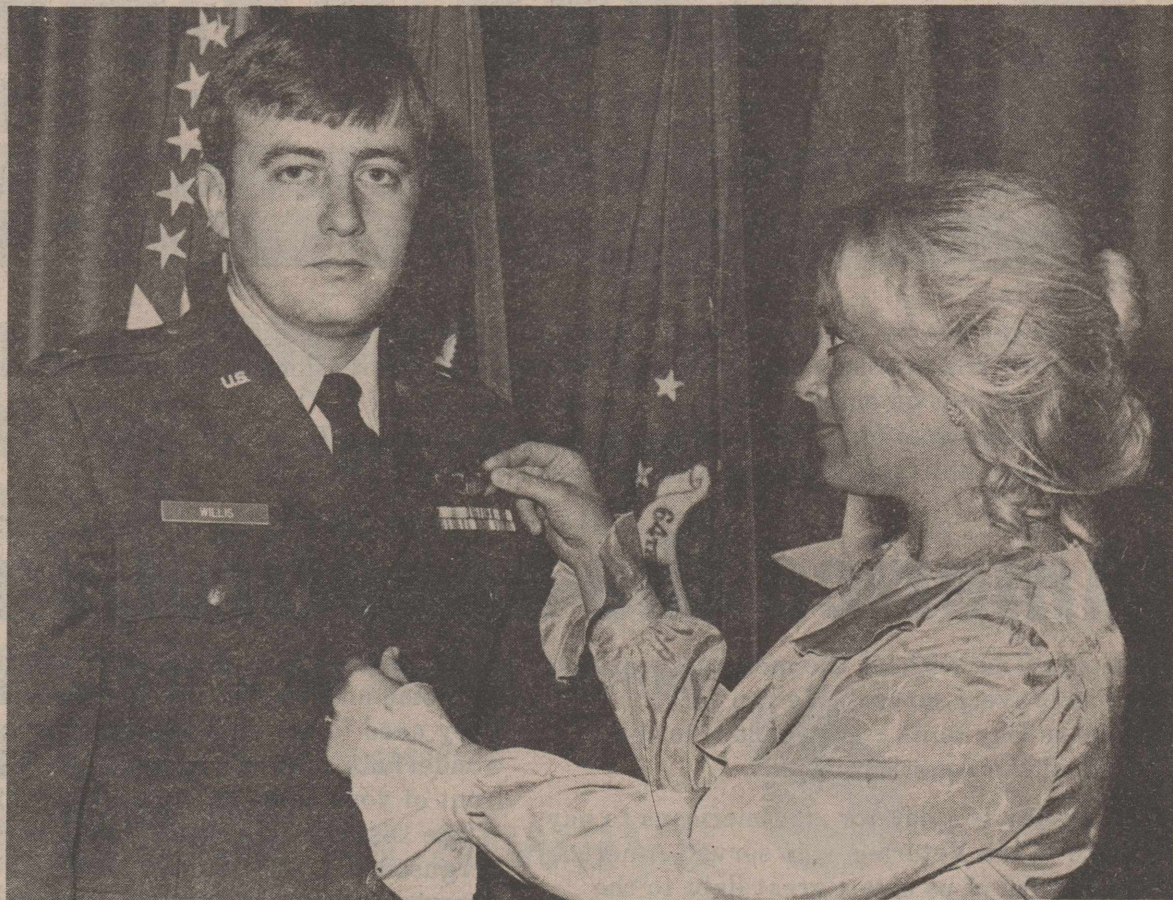

In a brief ceremony Oct. 29 Col. John R. Hullender, base commander, presented MSgt. Jose Vera with an Associate in Applied Science in Aerospace Ground Equipment technology. Sergeant

Vera has a bachelors degree from Waylane Baptist University in 1981 and is now enrolled in Wayland's masters program.

Colonel Hullender also presented TSgt. Rex Baker with his AAS in Radiology technology. Sergeant Baker also has both an associate and bachelors degree from Midwestern University.

TSgt. Jerry Heath received his AAS in Weather

General Ryan salutes veterans

by Gen. Thomas M. Ryan Jr.
Commander, Air Training Command

On November 11—Veterans Day—the nation pauses to salute the millions of men and women who have served honorably in America's armed forces.

In this century alone, nearly five million of our citizens served in World War I, more than sixteen million in World War II, almost six million in the Korean conflict and close to nine million in Vietnam.

These veterans came from very diverse backgrounds—from every state in the union and from every segment of society. Yet in time of crisis they all united in a common bond of sacrifice and determination to defend freedom at any cost, often with their lives.

We who now bear that awesome responsibility should feel particularly proud to be a part of this year's tribute to American veterans of every time and place. I salute each of you for the selfless and dedicated way in which you are carrying the banner of liberty passed to you from those who have gone before.

Reese finishes FY82 among ATC leaders

by Sam Lanham
Reese Energy Conservation Manager

Fiscal year 1982 has come and gone and the people of Reese have once again demonstrated their leadership abilities by being among the leaders not only in our category of bases (Category B, less than 4.5 mil. sq. ft.) that we will compete against for the $100,000 energy conservation prize, but also among all of ATC in Energy Conservation. The charts below show how well Reese ranked in FY82 in the energy categories that are tracked by ATC. Motor vehicle fuel goals (MOGAS and Diesel) were zero growth from FY80, while the facility energy goal was to use 12.5% less energy than the base year of FY75.

As you can see by the above charts, Reese did one of the best jobs in ATC in FY82 in conserving energy. However, we cannot afford to sit back and rest on our last years accomplishments in FY83. Our facility energy goal for FY83 is 15% less usage than the FY75 baseline, and our fuels goals are still zero growth from FY80 in all areas. As our mission continues to increase, it will become more and more difficult to meet our energy goals. We need your help, if we are to continue to have a successful energy conservation program at Reese. Remember, conservation is up to you. No one else can do your part.

America the beautiful, land of the free...

Would it be without the men and women who so bravely served? We can return Veterans Day to its rightful place in the hearts of the American people.

Thursday is a day for all Americans to pay tribute to the Veterans who served America proudly. All of us owe a great debt to the men and women who fought America's wars.

In honor of Veterans Day, the Disabled American Veterans encourage you to drop in at the nearest V.A. Hospital or a local Nursing home and visit one or two Veterans. They need to be remembered. It would be wonderful if each of you would fly a FLAG in front of your home on November 11th.

The Disabled American Veterans, R.L. Ferguson, Chapter 44, will have an Americanism Program at 5012 50th Street, 7:00 p.m. Thursday. Each of you are cordially invited to enjoy a traditional Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings, FREE of charge. The program will open with the posting of the colors by the Reese Honor Guard. Guest speakers will include Mayor Pro-Tem Allan Henry, TSgt. Thomas Sawyer, Director of Education at the NCO Professional Military Education School and Johnny Goodman, Past National Junior Vice Commander of the Disabled American Veterans. Taps will be played. The colors will be retired by the Webelos, Den No. 2, Pack 157, led by Wayne Schwab.

CARE Line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Richard E. Hearne, 64th Flying Training Wing commander. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers are urged to use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line Ext. 3273.

WE RECEIVED ANOTHER CALL on a rumor that lice had been found in the Child Care Center.

It is true that an isolated case of head lice was identified there and treated immediately at the base hospital. Hospital personnel inspected the center for further infestation and all toys, beds and other items the child may have contacted were washed and disinfected.

Let me assure everyone that the staff at the Child Care Center is very much concerned with the welfare of the children under their care and are always watching out for signs of any problem.

"WHY," ASKED SOMEONE from the maintenance complex, "can't the dining hall be open when we have to go to work?" The person has to go to work at 7:30 a.m. Saturdays and the dining hall doesn't open until 7:30. We're working on this problem, but we need the help of everyone using the dining hall. We try to make the dining hall hours reflect as much as possible the needs of those who eat there regularly. That means people with meal cards have to communicate with their squadron commanders and their supervisors to make sure these people know if, because of scheduled duty hours, our people are unable to make it to the dining hall on time. If there is a problem we'll do something about it.

COL JOHN R. HULLENDER, our base commander, got a pat on the back from a staff sergeant involved in one of the recent mobility processing exercises. The colonel checked in on the mobility group during their processing at the base chapel and, to use the sergeant's words, explained "what he felt about the mobility processing, and our need to be ready for war." The man went on to say that "the few words he said and the time that he spent with us went a long way. I'd just like to thank him for taking the time."

I'd like to add my personal thanks to Colonel Hullender. It's important for everyone involved to understand what they're doing and why, and the best people to let them in on the big picture are the senior people. Thanks for the call.

FINALLY, IN LINE with the upcoming Veterans' Day observance, I'd like to pass on to everyone the thanks Reese received from a member of the local chapter of the Disabled American Veterans. The DAV had come on to the base for their "Forget-Me-Not" campaign and had a chance to talk to some people about the DAV.

I'm glad to have been able to offer our services to this group because they've earned the gratitude of our country.

Women's health week nears

Women's health week begins Nov. 15, during which dependents of active duty and retired members can receive physical examinations.

Preventive medicine, taking care of people before a problem develops, a major concern of health care providers throughout the Air Force. The examinations offered during the health week are not normally available to dependents due to limited time and resources according to Capt. Carolyn Jaskowiec, Reese Health Education Coordinator.

But, because the Air Force has a Health Education Program and sponsors this health week, dependents can get physicals.

The week-long women's health program consists of an initial screening of the patient's medical records, immunization record and health survey. During the week strong emphasis will be placed on health problems directly related to women. Sample topics include the need for a monthly breast examination and annual Pap smears.

After the initial screening the necessary lab work, x-rays, dental, optometry, hearing, electro cardiograms and OBGYN appointments will be scheduled.

Due to limited space those with small children are urged not to bring them to the clinic. For more information pick up a brochure at the base exchange, commissary or either of the clubs, or the hospital. Call 885-3285 to set up appointments.

Are those repairs worth it?

Think before remodeling. The staff judge advocate says that a homeowner should look closely at remodeling to determine if it's worthwhile or only cosmetic.

By cosmetic, the JAG explained that the repairs will make the house look better without really improving its structure.

It is advisable to get cost estimates for repairs whether you or a contractor does the work. It is also important to determine what you want to fix and how much to spend.

One of the most important things to do if you choose to get a contractor: Shop around for estimates and get the contracts in writing. Then, if you wish, consider taking the contract to the Legal office, Bldg. 800, for an attorney's examination.

Policy change for military pay

The Accounting and Finance Section's military pay unit urges patrons not to start, stop or change allotments the day before, after or on a military payday. The only exceptions are emergencies.

Personnel are also asked not to make pay inquiries until the actual pay day. By observing these changes members of the military pay unit can attend to the job of helping those transferring in or out, those under-or over-paid, those not paid and situations that may arise.

Know your cosigning responsibilities

A person who cosigns for another has the same liability as the borrower.

By cosigning, a person lets a financial institution or creditor know that the debt may be collected directly from the cosigner. The creditor holding a bad debt does not have to take any action against the original borrower. If the cosigner is available and more capable of making the payment, the lender may hold the cosigner liable.

Advice from the Legal office is not to sign any notes or loans for any reason. While having a friend requires one to be a friend, the influence of money can often sever friendships rather than bond them.

Commissary closes for holidays

The Reese commissary will be closed Thursday and again Nov. 25 in observance of Veteran's Day and Thanksgiving Day respectively.

Correction on the new NCO lounge

Last week's Roundup mistakenly reported that the new NCO lounge at the enlisted club would be open to all enlisted people—besides tech sergeants and above—as long as those folks below E-6 were not in uniform.

Sorry, we were wrong. Only those people below the grade E-6, or GS-6/WS-3/WG-9, who are dependents or dates of, and accompanied by personnel in grade E-6 or above may use the lounge, and then only when not in uniform.

Military pay and you

All military personnel should update their local mailing addresses after each move especially those who have just arrived and have their mail sent to general delivery. Address changes can be made at military pay, Bldg. 800. Room 105.

Those military members whose social security numbers end in 3 should stop by military pay to recertify their dependent basic allowance for quarters rate by Nov. 30.

Those with legal residences in New York, New Jersey or Oregon must recertify their state income tax withholdings before Dec. 31. If you don't get the recertification form before Nov. 15 then stop by. Failing to recertify SITW could result in state income tax being withheld.

Head bagger sought

The commissary bagger operation is in need of a mature, disciplined adult, preferably a retiree or military spouse. If you are interested and want more information contact Capt. Patricia Andrepont, Ext. 3809.

Field interviews conducted

Field interviews? A field interview is a conversation held in the area where an individual is first encountered by security police after an incident or a person looks out of place. From the interview the security police can learn the person's name and their business in the area in question.

An example: The base exchange alarms sounds at 10 p.m. When the security police arrive, a patrol spots John Doe. The policeman approaches and fills out the field interview for use later.

The interviews can be used after the incident to identify witnesses and/or suspects.

For more information about the field interview cards or their use, contact the security police Crime prevention Unit, Ext. 3613.

Sixth Annual Enlisted Awards banquet set

The NCO Academy Graduate Association will sponsor the Sixth Annual Enlisted Awards banquet Dec. 3 at the Enlisted Open Mess beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Cocktails formally get things underway followed by dinner at 7:30. Uniform of the evening is winter mess dress or semi-formal uniform.

The banquet will honor all Airman, NCO and Senior NCO of the Year nominees for 1982. For tickets contact unit first sergeants or NCOAGA members.

Because of the upcoming holiday season and for planning purposes, those who want tickets must get them before Nov. 15. There are limited numbers of tickets so those desiring to attend should get their tickets early. For more information contact SMSgt. Charles Roach, Exts. 3561 or 3563.

Air War College seminar entry deadline nears

The Air War College Seminar program enrolling deadline is Nov. 22, but eligible colonels, lieutenant colonels, lieutenant colonel selectees from any of the U.S. Armed Forces, federal civilian employees in grades GS-13 or above and a limited number of Air Force majors (active duty, Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve) can begin enrolling immediately.

The AWC seminars provide opportunities for those not selected to attend in residence to benefit from the AWC curriculum. The seminars meet on the same schedule Air Force wide to help those on temporary duty or PCSing meet their attendance requirements.

For more information about the AWC Seminar program contact the Education office, Ext. 3634.

Chapel seeks food, etc., for holiday baskets

This year the chapel is again sponsoring a holiday pantry food roundup to give food baskets to needy Air Force families at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Due to economic conditions we are anticipating a greater need this year than ever before. Anyone wishing to donate food items to the pantry may do so through their units or by bringing the items to the chapel. Please bring items by Nov. 21 for the Thanksgiving baskets and by Dec. 19 for the Christmas baskets.

The following items are needed: canned fruits, vegetables, juices, baby food, soup, peanut butter, jelly, powdered milk, flour, sugar, cereal, dried beans, paper products, soaps, tuna, canned meats, packaged dinners, fruits, canned vegetables, vegetables, powdered drink mixes, sandwich spreads, and staples of all kinds.

Nominees for Board of Directors, Credit Committee being accepted now by the Reese Federal Credit Union

The Reese Federal Credit Union will accept nominations and recommendations for the Board of Directors and the credit union's Credit Committee through Nov. 30.

People interested in either position should submit a nomination and a statement of qualifications. Biographical data should include the nominee's name, current position title, employer, length of membership in the Reese community and/or F.E. Credit Union and a 50 word or less statement of qualifications for the office desired.

Nominations should be directed to the Nominating Committee in care of the Supervisory Committee, P.O. Box 333, Reese AFB, Texas 79489. Nominations may be hand carried if desired.

Pep slates Thanksgiving fest

All Reese people are invited to the Pep, Texas, Thanksgiving festival Nov. 25.

The festival will feature a Thanksgiving dinner from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., carnival attractions all day, an auction at 4:30 and a country dance band at 9 p.m.

St. Philip Neri Church will sponsor the get-together. Adult tickets $5 and children's are $3.

The festival will be held in the parish hall located on Highway 303 in Pep.

Don't forget Santa's Mailbag

There is still time to get a letter to Santa's Mailbag and have it returned by Christmas, but the Dec. 1 deadline is getting closer.

Children must write the letter to Santa Claus and then a family friend or relation writes a return letter though it were from old Saint Nick himself.

Then both letters and a return self-addressed stamped envelope should be sent to Det. 2, 11th WS, Eielson AFB, Alaska 99702.

The answer letters, complete with North Pole postmark, will be returned to the child (or children) in time for Christmas.

CHAMPUS amends nonavailability rules

Certain CHAMPUS beneficiaries are no longer required to get a nonavailability statement for in-patient care if they reside within a 40 mile radius of a Uniformed Services Medical Treatment facility.

If the beneficiary is enrolled in a health insurance plan which is the primary payor to CHAMPUS and it pays 75 percent of the covered services, the statement is not required, according to the modified requirements in the FY 82 Appropriations Act.

Before taking advantage of the new rule, it is advisable to be sure you have the proper papers to show your insurance coverage and what it pays. Without the papers the CHAMPUS fiscal intermediary could deny benefits and require the statement.

To be sure you have the proper materials check with Robert A. Gregorio, Health Benefits advisor, Ext. 3521, at the base hospital.

Christian fellowship offered

The Chapel is interested in providing opportunities for single base personnel to enjoy Christian fellowship and become acquainted with other singles. This month there will be a singles fellowship at the Chapel on Saturday at 7 p.m. with refreshments and entertainment. On Saturday Nov. 20, at 12 p.m., there will be a Thanksgiving dinner for singles at the Chapel. Reservations for the Thanksgiving Dinner should be made by Nov. 17 with either SrA. Steve Tuell or Chaplain Hines at Ext. 3237.

Thanksgiving dinners for all

Unfortunately not everyone can be home with their family during the upcoming holiday season. For that reason volunteer families are being sought to open their hearts and homes this Thanksgiving to single airmen and officers.

If you would like to invite someone over for Thanksgiving dinner then contact your squadron first sergeant or Capt. Michael J. McGovern, Ext. 3800 or 3809.

Gym locker fees being refunded

The fees collected from patrons for using the rental lockers at the base gym are being refunded. If you paid the fee and have not yet received the refund contact the NAF office, Ext. 3750.

Christmas bazaar ready for sale

The officers' wives' club annual Christmas bazaar officially gets going tomorrow morning at the recreation center at 10 a.m.

During the six hour bazaar shoppers can get an early start on their Christmas shopping while helping the OWC raise money to be used for other projects and charity work.

Santa Claus will be there too for the little ones. Santa will be in the children's corner of the bazaar where he will be having his picture made with the kids.

AFROTC has assignments for colonels

The Customer Service Unit has an updated list of AFROTC assignment opportunities for colonels in 1983. For more information contact the Customer Service Unit, CBPO, Ext. 3276.

Service coat and slacks to be required

Beginning Jan. 1 the service coat (blazer style) and slacks will be mandatory clothing items for enlisted women. The semibox style coat may be worn until its phase-out date is announced. For more information contact MSgt. Duke Gray, Ext. 3643.

Crafts shop schedules arts, crafts classes

The Arts and Crafts Center is gearing up for the Christmas holidays by offering a long list of classes for artists and artists-to-be.

The classes range from pen-and-ink drawing to lettering to matting and framing. See the Family News calendar for the complete schedule of classes.

technology during the presentation ceremonies. Sergeant Heath plans to enroll in Wayland's bachelors program.

SSgt. Rick Rook received his bachelors from Wayland in August. His AAS in Management technology was presented during the ceremonies.

Colonel Hullender also presented SSgt. Donald Lents with his AAS in Aircraft

Powerplant Maintenance. Sergeant Lents already has his bachelors degree from Embry Riddle Aeronautical University. His grade point average was consistant at 3.5.

SSgt. Michael Brennen

received both his AAS in Aircraft Pneudraulic systems technology and his bachelors from Wayland this year. And, he is already attending Officer Training school at Lackland AFB, Texas.

Library reopens in Bldg. 15

CELIA CEFFALO, base library technician, sorts through book cards. It's business as usual since moving the library into Bldg. 15, formerly the base exchange.

The library has reopened its doors, but in a new location, Bldg. 15, located across from the Simler theater parking lot.

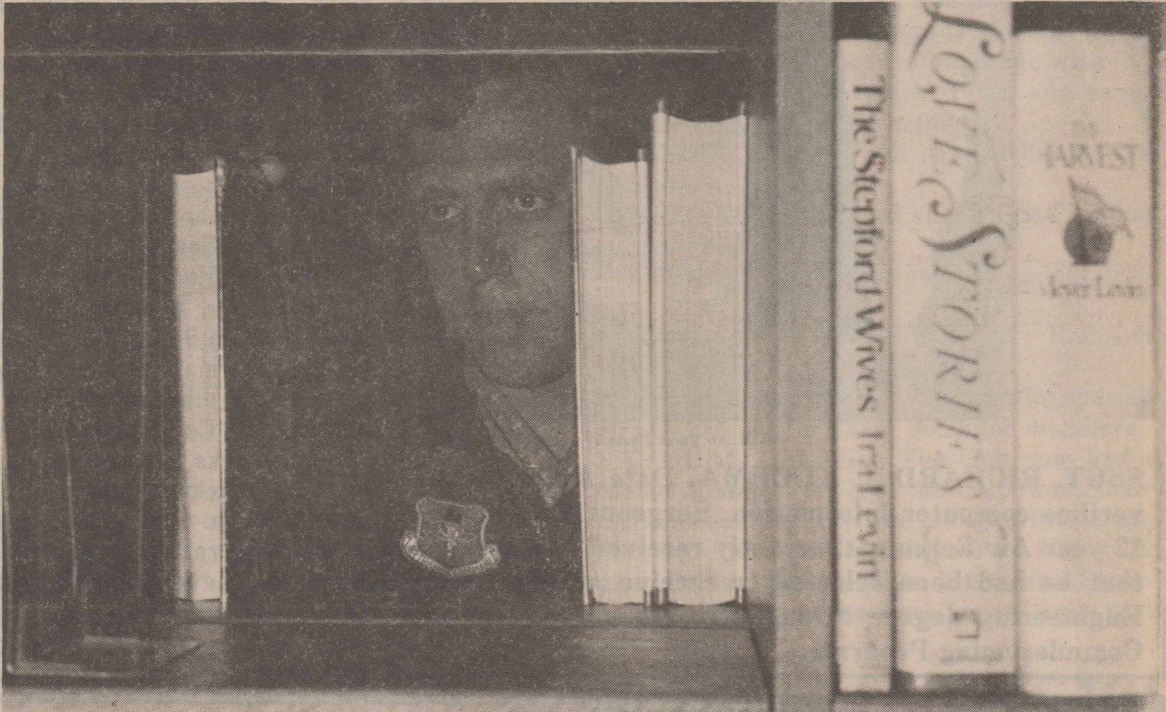

The library will be open Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m. and it will be closed for legal holidays and Sunday.

Story hour for children will remain 10:15 to 11:15 a.m. and 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Story hour is held each Wednesday.

The library has acquired three new items since its move. It now has carpet, several new book shelves and a new checkout counter. New subscriptions are arriving daily. New books, fiction and nonfiction, are also arriving too.

The Reese library has taken on a new appearance and a new location, but it still offers patrons the same service they've become accustomed to.

The base librarian Mary Rinas pointed out that books checked out, are due back on the 15th or the 1st days of each month. She also reminded the community that the library is free for all to use.

New midwife

Capt. Christine Farthing, a certified nurse midwife, recently joined the USAF Hospital Reese's Obstetric staff. Before her assignment to Reese she was a midwife at Dyess AFB, Texas.

Before becoming a nurse midwife she served as an obstetric nurse at Scott AFB, Ill., and at the U.S. Air Force Academy, Denver, Colo. She is certified by the American College of Nurse Midwives.

During her assignment here, she will be teaching new classes to all obstetric patients. Courses taught will include: breast feeding, caesarean-section births and a special class for repeating C-section births. She will offer a quick review of the labor classes to offer to those unable to attend the four week-long series of classes. She will also offer a sibling class for children three and older that are expecting a new brother or sister.

For more information about attending any of these classes stop by the OB clinic or call Ext. 3593.

As a nurse midwife, Captain Farthing is legally licensed to practice normal obstetrics and to work in association with an obstetrician to provide patient care.

The nurse midwife continues to provide care for the expecting mother as long as the baby is progressing normally. The caring doesn't end with birth, the nurse midwife continues working with mother and infant to help the mother learn proper ways to take care of her new born and to provide emotional support.

CHAMPUS eases up on signature requirements

Aurora, Colo.—Physicians who have only limited contact — or no contact at all — with their CHAMPUS patients, will no longer have to get the patient's signature on the CHAMPUS claim form.

The signature obtained on a CHAMPUS claim form by the hospital or other institution will suffice when certain specialists bill separately for services during the patient's hospital stay. The new rule applies to radiologists, pathologists, neurologists, cardiologists and anesthesiologists who accept CHAMPUS assignment. When such a provider does not accept assignment, the claim form still needs the patient's signature.

Relaxing the signature requirement is one of many moves to speed claims processing and make it easier for physicians to accept CHAMPUS assignment. CHAMPUS officials note that when a claim is returned because of signature problems, as many as 30-60 days may be added to the processing time. Most claims are otherwise processed within 21 days of submission.

In addition to speeding up claims processing, the change is expected to help CHAMPUS avoid up to $150,000 annually in administrative costs from claims returned because of signature problems.

Project Warrior

The B-24 Liberator by Martin Bowman.
Chicago, Illinois, Rand McNally & Co., 1980,
128 pages, $14.95.

Many books have been published on aircraft, especially those of the 1939-45 war. Although fighter aircraft have been the most popular subject, bombers have not been neglected. Of the many bombers of that war, the British Lancaster and American B-17 have received the most attention, then and now. Yet more consolidated B-24 Liberators were built than any other U.S. aircraft, but this bomber has not received coverage equivalent to its numbers or value to the war effort. Martin Bowman's book is an effort to remedy the situation. He is well qualified to write such a book, having written a history of the Second Air Division, the USAAF Unit that bombed Germany from Britain with B-24s.

Like most recent aircraft books, The B-24 Liberator relies extensively on oral accounts of crew members. It is lavishly illustrated with clear photographs, more than six pages of which are in color, and is printed in a large format. Bowman's book holds its own on these three points and is clearly ahead on a fourth: The author provides broad coverage of the

"Lib" beyond its well-known bombing role, from its duty in antisubmarine warfare, to dropping agents behind German lines, to its use by the U.S. Navy. This approach strikingly indicates the wide geographical range and job versatility of the four-engine aircraft.

Yet the book can only be rated average. The B-24's story is too complex and vast to be told adequately in 127 pages shared with so many illustrations, and the attempt to show the scope of the plane's employment results in an unbalanced and fragmented account. Bowman does not compare the Lib's service in the various theaters or various roles to indicate its overall value. Finally, he does not tell of the aircraft's faults or the criticisms that were made of it. Lieutenant General Jimmy Doolittle, for example, wanted to exchange all the Eighth Air Force's B-24's for B-17s because he rated the former an inferior combat bomber. That is not to say that the B-24 was not a successful aircraft; it was, but it had its faults and critics like all aircraft. Why can't we, some 35 years after World War II, tell the unvarnished truth?

Therefore, while this book is probably as good as the others on the aircraft, it is no better. For those who flew the Liberator or for those who have not seen the other books, Bowman's effort is worth seeing. Few others will wish to do more than just browse through it, though, for, in short, it is just another World War II aircraft book.

THE MEANING OF "POINTS" ON HOME LOANS

Many people have heard the word "points" in connection with home buying and wondered exactly what it means.

First of all, a point equals one percent of the total amount of a home loan.

When a new loan is secured, sometimes a certain number of points is charged by the lender. This is to make the yield on the loan sufficiently attractive to those investors who could lend money elsewhere at higher rates of interest.

Points fluctuate from day to day, depending on the availability of mortgage money.

According to the circumstances and the type of loan, points may be paid by either the buyer or the seller, or divided between the two parties.

Douthit, Lewis and Allen lead scoring

by Sgt. Doyle Tillman
Public Affairs Specialist

In the toughest set of basketball games yet the women's varsity suffered two more losses. This time losing to the women's varsity squad from Sheppard AFB, Texas.

Reese's Patricia Douthit lead the base women scoring 24 points in the first game. Teammates Dora Lewis and Kristie Allen fought hard to support a win earning 15 and 13 points respectively.

The Reese squad, although eager and ready for Sheppard, failed to contain the scoring drives of Sheppard's Debra Graves, Wvette Williams and Robyn Russell. It was a mistake that probably cost Reese both of the weekend games.

Graves sank 32 points in the first matchup while teammates Williams and Russell cleaned up with 20 and 10 points each.

When the buzzer sounded Sheppard had achieved victory, 74-61. It was a victory that they fought for because according to Reese coaches "things are picking up."

During the Sunday matchup things got worse. Reese was starting to hold Sheppard, but they did the same to Reese.

Lewis and Allen again surfaced as leaders for the base women's varsity scoring 21 and 14 points respectively. But, try as the Reese team might, they could not stop the three-some of Graves, Russell and Williams.

Graves continued to lead the way for Sheppard laying in 19 points. Her companions aided her as they had the day before. Russell sunk 15 points and Williams copped another 11.

Sheppard won 61-45.

And, while the weekend was not all the Reese girls would have wanted it to be their coaches remain optimistic.

In fact, Coach Joel Birdsong said that "this weekend's games will be the turning point" in the women's season. Most of the Reese team was new to basketball on a competitive level he pointed out, but "now they're getting in shape," he added.

The girls go for that turning point game tonight at 5 p.m. and tomorrow at noon when they take on the Holloman AFB, N.M., women's varsity at the base gym. Even though the women are getting better with each game Birdsong pointed out that base support really helps.

Varsity basketball

Men's tournament begins tonight

by Sgt. Doyle Tillman
Public Affairs Specialist

With the 1982-83 basketball season getting a fast start, Reese has already planned the Reese Varsity Invitational Basketball tournament.

The Reese invitational begins shooting at 7 p.m. tonight at the base gym. The tournament is double-elimination and officially gets going after the eight participating teams draw for their opponents.

Teams coming to the Reese tournament include: the Dyess AFB, Texas, men's varsity; the Goodfellow AFB, Texas, men's varsity; the Kirtland AFB, N.M., men's varsity; the Cannon AFB, N.M., men's varsity; the Altus AFB, Okla., men's varsity; and the men's varsity from Fort Bliss, Texas. The Shallowater Sharks from the Lubbock City League will also be there.

Basketball play will begin at 8 a.m. tomorrow and the finals will begin at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

What about the Cannon games last weekend? There were none for the men's varsity. The Cannon varsity called and explained that they couldn't make it.

Consulting team plans visit

Col. Richard E. Hearne has invited a management consulting team from the Leadership and Management Development Center, Maxwell AFB, AL. to visit Reese. LMDC consulting teams differ from most outside visiting agencies in that they come by invitation only and do not "up-channel" the results of their visits.

The first team visit will take place Nov. 12-19. During that visit consultants will talk to managers and administer an organizational assessment survey to nearly three-quarters of the base population. Survey sessions will be conducted Nov. 15-18.

The survey is designed to provide people the opportunity to express their feelings honestly, yet anonymously. Questions on the survey will address how people feel about their jobs, work groups, supervisors and overall organization. The results are intended to identify strengths and weaknesses within our organizations. The information should indicate how our people are working together. That information will be used to make Reese an even better base at which to work and live.

Essentially the survey is a window through which a "snapshot" is taken to reflect the climate of the organization at a given point in time.

Individual survey answer sheets will not be identified by name or SSAN. None of the completed questionnaires will be seen by anyone assigned to Reese. Col. Hearne encourages participation in the survey and responding to each statement thoughtfully, honestly and as frankly as possible. Only in this way can the survey results be helpful.

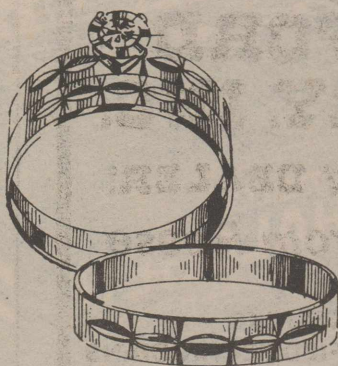

A schedule of sessions for completion of the survey is being prepared and personnel will be notified of the time and location of their particular session.

This month's special is a trio set under $500!

Just when you're ready to set the date, you can get the bride's engagement and wedding ring plus the groom's wedding ring in one diamond trio set for one beautiful price. Set in

Softball champion returns after season

by Sgt. Doyle Tillman
Public Affairs Specialist

The recent softball may be over, but for softball champion Kim Case its memories will linger on.

Case, a member of the Reese women's varsity softball team, played with the Reese team at the Air Training Command District playoffs at Laughlin AFB, Texas, during July.

Although the Reese squad finished third, Case was selected to continue the season with the district championship team from Lackland AFB, Texas.

Case and the Lackland team went on to the ATC Regionals at Laughlin.

Williams AFB, Ariz., took the regional championship and Lackland took second.

After her showing in the regionals Case was selected to play on the all star ATC team as the starting catcher. She, along with her ATC mates, went on to Sheppard AFB, Texas, for softball play against other command teams in the Air Force.

When the dust settled Case was selected to play for the Air Force team. During mid-August the interservice action began at Sheppard.

The Air Force stole first place leaving second to the Navy. It was the fourth year in a row that the Air Force has captured the interservice women's softball title.

The Air Force team was not the last stop for Case's 1982 softball season, she was chosen to play for the All Armed Forces Women's Softball squad.

As a member of the Armed Forces team, Case traveled to Nashville, Tenn., to play in the class "A" nationals. She has since returned to Reese.

In a brief interview, Case attributed her success in softball to having roughly 14 years in the sport. She also expressed her thanks to her boss and fellow 64th Field Maintenance Squadron Flight Line Support Branch members for their support throughout her summer softball career.
