

Skyrockets Play Paducah Dragons Here Friday Night

The Wellington Skyrockets will play the third game of their season, and their third non-conference tilt, Friday night, September 26, when they meet the Paducah Dragons on Powell Field.

Both teams have made a good early-season showing, and so far as can be determined, they are about equal in strength. This will be the first time they have met in several years.

Paducah opened its season against Chillicothe with a 12 to 0 win, then followed this up Friday night by handing Crowell a 16 to 6 defeat. Both these losers generally stand well up in their districts, and Floydada, one of the top teams of the lower Panhandle defeated Crowell by only a slightly larger margin than did Paducah.

A fast backfield that packs plenty of power is one of the chief assets of the Dragons, while their line so far has proved one of the steadiest on the field.

All Rockets are in tip-top condition, Coach Al Duncan reported Wednesday morning, and early season rough spots are being ironed out in hard practice sessions this week.

No changes are expected in the starting lineup, but Coach Duncan stated he may shift Sam Raburn from the backfield to guard and Kenneth Winter from that place to the fullback position.

The starting lineup for the Dragons, along with the weight of each player, will be:

Billy T. Sandlin, 140, end; Billy Goodgame, 160, tackle; Leroy Stone, 185, guard; Eura Overstreet, 140, center; Bill Harrison, 190, guard; Roy Max Winton 160, tackle; Troy Haston, 150, end; Rudy Rochelle, 180; Bobby Stewart, 150, Joe Sandlin, 165, and Goryn Lee, 175, backfield.

Willoughby Is on Austin C. Team

Playing on the starting lineup of the Austin College Kangaroos at Sherman this year is Joe Willoughby, who just a few years ago was wearing the red and white of the Wellington Skyrockets.

Willoughby, a 6-foot, 178 pounder, is proving a fast quarterback on the team. He is an Army veteran.

Coach of the Kangaroos is also a former Wellington man, Bill Pierce, who was game warden here for a short time before the war.

Pierce, who played football under Knute Rockne, at Notre Dame, had considerable college coaching to his credit before going to Sherman this year.

The Kangaroos opened their season Saturday against Southeastern State College, Durant, Okla., on their home field. Their game for this week will be with East Central State College at Ada, Oklahoma.

Alfalfa Rebate Due Growers of Seed Not Certified

Farmers who had alfalfa acreage turned down for certification can call at the office of the county agent, J. W. Thomas, and Miss Joyce Wynn will make the refund of 20 cents per acre made for certification, Mr. Thomas stated this week.

The county agent's office during recent weeks has been moved from the third floor of the court house to the second floor, to the office occupied during the war years by the Selective Service Board.

N. Carolina Visitors Given Cowboy Hats

North Carolina FFA boys and the accompanying instructors who visited the Mill Iron Ranches over last week-end were each presented with a "real cowboy" hat with a bright red lining.

Herman Childress, employee of the Doggin's Men's Store, approached ranch officials with the idea and it was immediately accepted. Visitors were met as they arrived and no time was lost in getting them in at least part cowboy regalia.

In all, 22 hats were given to the visitors, and before inspection trips over the ranches were completed the North Carolinians fully realized the usefulness of the broad sombreros.

ROCKET TOUCHDOWN PLAYS

Pictured above are the three touchdown plays of the Rockets in the game against Dalhart, which Wellington won 23 to 0. Top left shows Robert Fulton still on a dead run after taking a long pass from Benny Moore for the first counter. Top right is Tiffin Young racing around the last Dalhart tackler. Center is Bill Combs 22 only two steps away from the goal line and the third touchdown. All three were made on passes. Gilbert Resigns School Office

Harry Gilbert, tax collector for the Wellington Independent School District and its business manager since January 1, 1945, has resigned from that place and on Thursday, September 25, he will join the Higdon Motor Company as bookkeeper and parts man.

Mr. Gilbert, in addition to his school duties, handled certain duties for the city and his offices have been in the city building.

No one has been employed, either by the school or the city, to take his place, N. C. Beam, president of the school board, said Tuesday evening.

Reserved Seats Are Still Available for Home Football Games

A few reserved seats remain for those football fans who have not yet secured their tickets, Principal Boyd Russell announced this week. They may be secured by contacting him.

These are available either for a single game at $1.00 or the season at $3.00.

General admission tickets may be bought at the high school each Thursday. These are 75c.

Four members of the Wellington Masonic Lodge attended a school of instruction for certificates held in Childress Saturday, September 20. They were Alf Wynn, A. A. Henard, Dick Sweat, and J. M. Strong.

Members of Lodges from towns throughout the lower Panhandle were in attendance.

Quails to Open Basketball Season With Norwood Tues.

The Quail boys and girls basketball teams will open their season Tuesday night, September 30, when they meet the Samnorwood teams on their home court.

Friendly rivals for more than a decade, the meeting of these teams is looked forward to for the fun, the sports thrills, and the athletic skill they reveal.

Samnorwood has played three games and every player is in good shape. Quail youths, while they haven't matched a game, have put in some hard practices and their

Bobby Karnes, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Karnes of the Houselog community, south of Wellington, died near Faulkton, South Dakota, Monday evening, September 22, when the tractor which he was driving overturned, his parents were notified that night.

Funeral services have been tentatively for Thursday afternoon at 4:00 p.m. at the Methodist Church, with the Rev. Noel Bryant, pastor, in charge, assisted by the Rev. S. T. Greenwood of Alanreed.

The accident occurred on a highway near Faulkton, but there was no witnesses to it, according to information that has reached here. It is believed that the tractor overturned as young Karnes rounded a curve in the road with it.

The youth had spent the summer working with a harvest crew under the direction of J. I. Crawford of Wellington, his aunt, Mrs. Willie Smith, said. He and Curley Smith remained to plow land which Mr. Crawford had leased at Faulkton and were to return home later. Other members of the party had left during the week end.

Wellington Seniors Name Officers

Wellington seniors named Walter Johnson president of their class in a meeting held recently. Other officers named were Jimmie Terry, vice-president; Benny Karnes, secretary; Jerry Bollen, treasurer and John M. Jones, reporter.

Miss Wanda Kidd was chosen sponsor.

Following the election of officers, the group discussed the annual senior trip to be taken next spring. Boyd Russell, principal, told the class that they might go to any point they chose.

The place will be definitely chosen later in the year.

West Texas Gin Installs New Drier In Wellington

A. C. Parrigan, manager of the West Texas Gin, announced the installation of a Lummus drier and cleaner. This is the latest drier on the market and frankly we are more than pleased with the results.

Out of the first twelve bales that we ginned every one turned out to be strict middling. Of course we can only gin what the farmer has and we can't make middling cotton out of something that was damaged in the field; but we are pleased with our new equipment.

Mr. Parrigan also said that W. J. Moore, representing the M. F. Jones Co., would be buying cotton at the West Texas Gin this fall.

New Machinery at Farmers Co-op Gin

Preparing for the new cotton season, the Farmers Co-op Gin has just completed one of the most important improvement programs in its history, Dick Sweat, manager, has announced.

New machinery costing more than $28,500 has been installed and all other machinery was completely overhauled to put it in top condition.

All new cleaners were put in, Mr. Sweat said and all burr extracting machines in both units of the gin are new. A new natural gas motor was installed.

A new Hardwick-Etter 24-shelf drier was put in each unit, which doubles the drying capacity of the gin over what it was in past years. The cleaning system consists of a new 7 cylinder cleaner and a new 9 cylinder cleaner in each unit.

Mr. Sweat announced at the same time that Bert Lisman, an experienced cotton buyer, will be located at the gin for the convention. (Continued on Page Eight)

Purveyer Stallion Registered in American Assn.

E. C. Puryear received notice this week that his quarter horse, Joe Sunday, had been accepted for registration with the American Quarter Horse Association. The stallion previously had been registered with the National Quarter Horse Breeders Association. The bay stallion is a six-year-old and has won a number of awards in quarter horse shows.

Mr. Puryear recently sold some 6-months old colts to the J. T. Stewart Plantation at Bradley, Ark., for $150.

Baptist to Meet In Wellington October 2

A world-wide program of relief and evangelism in which each Baptist Church in Texas will be asked to participate will be described at the annual meeting of the North Fork Association in the Baptist Church at Wellington, Thursday, October 2.

Representatives from 28 Baptist churches in this area will report on the progress of their various organizations and departments during the past year and make plans for the coming months.

Dr. J. Howard Williams, executive of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will stress the importance of every church member's sharing in the world relief program soon to be outlined by the Executive Committee of the Baptist World Alliance.

Recently returned from the World Alliance meeting in Copenhagen where he saw the dire need of the people, Dr. Williams has said, "What all of our people can do immediately will not be enough to relieve the starving nations. We must not be selfish in days like these. We need the strength of character that comes from giving."

He also emphasized that "Every car load of food and clothing sent must be steeped in the gospel. The people in these war-torn countries are hungry physically but more so spiritually."

Dr. Williams will urge the representatives of the Association to give emphasis to the stewardship campaigns being conducted in the Baptist churches of Texas this fall, to aid their churches in planning financial programs to meet not only their own but world needs. It will also display new literature offered free to the churches for use in the campaigns.

Youth Center Officers Hold Business Meet Wednesday Evening

Youth center officers and committees will meet Wednesday night, September 24, Cameron Beam, chairman, has announced.

A nominating committee will be named to select officers for the coming year. Membership cards and other items of business will be discussed.

The center is open each Friday night, and attendance this month has been good, Mr. Beam reports.

Old Knee Injury Dogs Rocket Star

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Russell were informed last week that their son, I. D., who is now enrolled in Texas A & M at College Station, will not be able to play football with the Aggies as originally planned.

Undergoing a doctor's examination, an old knee injury he received while playing football in high school showed up and he was disqualified from playing.

At the present, he is planning to play basketball when the season opens.

English Proves Trouble Spot for City Students

Almost half the sophomore students in Wellington have a knowledge of English equivalent to the sixth grade or less. And a similar portion of the junior students have an English knowledge of the seventh grade or less.

These aren't anybody's conclusions or guesses. They're the actual results of national standardized English tests given the Wellington high school students—the same test that is given to students of those grades throughout the nation.

Standardized tests are required of high school students in Texas, and in Wellington, the sophomores and juniors have completed their tests, while the Freshman results will be known within a few days. Seniors were not included in this survey since English is an elective subject in the fourth year of high school.

The problem isn't a local one. It is widespread and it's worrying

Countians Take Honors in Fair At Childress

Countians having entries in the Childress Fair, held last week-end, came home with some of the top honors of the event, including at least one grand championship.

Miss Amber, a palomino mare belonging to Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Dukeminier, was judged grand champion over all mares in the show and reserve champion in the pleasure saddle class. She also placed first among mares foaled in 1945. Miss Amber took these honors over particularly strong opposition.

Jimmie Star Dust, a stallion foaled the same year, and owned by Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Dukeminier, was third in his class.

Prince Gold Dust won for Horace Small first place among stallions foaled in 1944, while Jimmie Clay, a stallion foaled in 1945 and owned by Guy Clay, was third among quarter horse stallions foaled in 1945, and Reno Clay, also owned by him, was second in the grand performance.

Methodist Women Plan Sale

Women of the Methodist Church have announced a rummage sale to be held each Saturday during the autumn months at Santa's Shack, owned by Mrs. Clyde Drake. This location is just south of the Electric Shoe Shop.

The sale will open at 9 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

All members of the Methodist Church are urged to bring their used clothing or other used items that they wish to donate for the sale.

The money will be used in projects sponsored by the women of the church.

More Information Needed to Direct Workers to Area

Mexican laborers will again be available to help in harvesting this year's cotton crop, but probably not in the numbers needed, County Agent J. W. Thomas told growers this week as he outlined the procedure for securing pickers through migratory farm labor centers.

The two centers in the county, at Wellington and Dodson, are now open, and a few cotton pickers have already come into the area.

Under this year's regulations, a farmer needing pickers must furnish the county agent with his name, the amount of cotton he has, the average expected yield, housing and fuel available and the price he is paying for pulling. This information will be sent to Russell E. Patterson, Box 59, Abilene, who is employed by the Extension Service for this purpose. Or the farmer may write direct to Mr. Patterson, giving the above information.

Crew leaders are relayed the information and will make the trip here to the grower direct.

Mr. Thomas stressed the necessity of giving the full information and giving it accurately.

There are now about 80,000 Mexicans working in the Texas cotton fields, coming northward. This is only a small portion of the labor needed, although in this area it is expected that local workers will furnish much of the remaining help needed.

A number of local farmers have reported that they have already received letters from Mexican workers they employed last year, stating they will return when the cotton is ready.

Insurance Co. Honors Stowell

Ralph Stowell of Wellington, district agent for the Republic Life Insurance Company, was designated as "Man of the Month" for the company in August.

"This is a distribution and an honor sought by every agent in the organization, since it carries with it the knowledge and prestige of being top man for that month," Lawrence J. Stowell, manager of Amarillo, said.

"This is most unusual in view of the fact that Ralph has only been with us since June, and he had to top a field of 175 to 200 men to get this production. If I were a Hollywood producer, I could only say that this was stupendous, colossal, magnificent."

"Ralph does not claim to be a super-salesman. When asked the reason for his success he said, 'I am no super-salesman. It just seems that my friends and neighbors like the modern plans that Republic National Life has to offer. I have worked hard in seeing as many of them as I could, but it never occurred to me that I was leading the agency force, and I never dreamed that I would be honored by being named the man of the month.'

"I believe that Ralph's many friends in and around Wellington will be interested in knowing of this well deserved honor he has earned," the insurance company manager continued. "Certainly, the Republic National Life is very proud of Ralph, and so far as I know, no other man in the history of this company has achieved this honor in so short a time."

Nored High Bidder On Cocke House

Darrell Nored was high bidder on the 10-room, two story residence known here as the Cocke home which was sold Saturday, September 13, by the Wellington school board.

His bid was for $2,626.

Mr. Nored stated that he has bought the lots 1100 block on West Avenue, across the street north of the Church of Christ, and will move the house to that location. At the same time he said he recently bought one of the Army Barracks put on sale at the Altus Army Air Field and that he plans to move it to that location also. Both buildings will be remodeled, and in addition to making their home here, Mr. and Mrs. Nored will convert the remainder of the space into modern apartments.

Careful Driving Urged as School Season Starts

AUSTIN — With the back-to-school movement of more than a million Texas boys and girls, Geo. Clarke, managing director of the Texas Safety Association, today urged the motoring public to "regard every child pedestrian as a human caution sign to prevent a repetition of last year's shameful child accident record."

Automobiles last year caused the death of 470 children in Texas. The greatest number of victims were teen-agers, while the next greatest number were youngsters five to nine years old.

Clarke said the 1946 child death record reflected an urgent need for increased home training, since in the majority of the fatal accidents, deaths were caused by unsafe acts of the children themselves.

Clarke said that blueprints for a safer Texas for children are being drawn by the school committee of the Association in cooperation with the Department of Public Safety, State Department of education and other State and local organizations. He pointed out that 1946 produced a "bumper crop" of babies, and that steps are being taken now to provide for their future safety, as well as for the million children now in school.

Clarke said that the concentration of the mass movement of school children into a few short periods each day will bring increased hazards and motorists should use extreme caution and be on the alert for the unexpected actions of children.

Playing in the streets last year caused the deaths of 22 per cent of the child victims; 32 per cent were killed while they crossed between intersections; 17 per cent were struck down as they ran into the street from between parked cars. In addition, 18 per cent were killed at intersections and eleven per cent when riding bicycles.

Clarke emphasized that most of these accidents were preventable. The providing of adequate playgrounds for children and safety instruction from parents are important factors in reducing the number of deaths of children, he said.

Legal protection authorized under the new Uniform Traffic Code, which went into effect September 5, will be extended to cover safety habits of pedestrians and should do much to cut the total of deaths resulting from crossing between intersections, jaywalking, stepping from the curbs before the signal lights change, and other unsafe procedures.

The reckless driving provision and the specific hand-and-arm signals stated in the Code will afford added protection to children in and around school buildings and to those who walk to school.

The school boy patrol will be of inestimable value in helping their "big brother" policemen, especially at crossings near elementary schools, Clarke said.

Legal protection will be extended, for the first time in Texas history, to school children in rural areas who ride school buses. Under the new Code, school buses will have to conform to rigid safety standards, and the bus driver will accept full responsibility for the safety of the children while enroute from home and school. He will escort small children across the street, but at no other time will be allowed to leave the bus.

School bus drivers will be trained in safe practices and first aid in institutes to be held at various sites over the State. According to the department of education, it is compulsory that school bus drivers from independent school districts attend these one-day training schools.

More than 40,000 students will receive driver education and driver training in 403 junior and senior high schools this year. Students are given examinations by driver license examiners at the completion of the course and are issued licenses only if they are qualified drivers and if they are at least sixteen years old.

Safety education will be taught in some form in most of the elementary schools in Texas.

Institutes to train the teachers of driver education and safety education will be conducted as a joint project of the department of education and the Association.

School plant inspections will be

If the rain makers keep at it, the price of dry ice is likely to take a jump. And there's no sign of a let up soon, except as nature gets there first with the raindrops.

U. S. Weather Bureau meteorologists say conditions have to be just right, as set up that way by nature, in order for the dropped dry ice pellets to bring rain out of a cloud. Some folks say mortals have no business monkeying with the elements this way.

Sleeping sickness is plaguing horses in this part of the country again. Several cases reported in southeast Texas, after 400 deaths in Louisiana. This is the eastern type encephalomyelitis, transmitted by salt water mosquitoes. But like the western type, experienced farther inland, can be prevented by the "chick" vaccine. Veterinarians are urging vaccination. It was just ten years ago that the first great wave of this equine malady swept in a southeasterly direction across this section, killing thousands of horses of all kinds. The following year the vaccine came

Dr. E. R. Alexander, professor at Texas A. and M. College, said in Fort Worth last week that 98 percent of the irrigation water being used in the Panhandle and South Plains is from storage and none was being replaced. The water is from wells, and the underground supply is being depleted. The only way to build up ground water in most places is through the use of protective covering on top of the soil, he pointed out. Even so, it takes time.

The Texas Brucellosis (Bang's Disease) Advisory Committee of twenty representatives of breeds associations, cattle raisers, veterinarians, departments of the A. and M. Telephone companies the country over share many problems—one of them is the record number of daily long distance calls now being made. Along with this is the fact that most companies are operating with limited long distance facilities. This naturally slows long distance service sometimes, especially during peak hours. So, if you have a short wait occasionally, it simply means that lines are busy here, or along the route to the city you are calling.

Drivers Urged to Study Closely the New Traffic Code

Most of us know that a new state traffic code went into effect on September 5, but few of us have learned exactly what the points of the law are.

Newspapers throughout the state are being urged by highway patrolmen to help familiarize the driving public with the new code. In a nutshell the laws were designed to bring about common sense driving. The rules apply to all drivers everywhere in Texas, whether they reside in the biggest city, Houston, or dear old "Skunk Creek."

The rules are also a part of a nation-wide plan already adopted or recommended for adoption in other states to provide easy-to-remember uniform laws wherever you go in the United States.

Among the most important of the new up-to-date rules of the road are the following. In order to familiarize yourself with these simple rules, we urge our readers to check the list carefully.

1. Driving under influence of narcotic drugs is punishable by fine up to $500, by imprisonment up to two years, or both.

2. Driving recklessly or "without due caution," is punishable by a fine from $1.00 to $200.00.

3. Like fine is provided for not driving on the right side of the road, except when passing another vehicle, on multi-lane highway otherwise marked, when road is under construction, or on one-way arteries.

4. A driver turning left must yield right-of-way to any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction which is so close as to constitute a hazard; but after that car has passed and after giving a signal for a left turn, he is then entitled to the right-of-way from other vehicles approaching from the opposite direction.

5. Arm and hand signals are uniformly required as follows: A. Left turn—hand and arm extended

7. Coasting with the clutch disengaged or gears in neutral is prohibited.

8. Following fire apparatus closer than 500 feet or parking in the same block where such apparatus has stopped is prohibited.

9. Crossing fire hose is unlawful.

This is the time of the year to make plans for the annual flower show; but weather conditions were so severe in August and early September that it is doubtful if there will be enough flowers to make a showing. This week Mrs. J. M. Strong will make a survey of the parched flower gardens and an announcement either pro or con will be made next week.

Cotton is grading higher this fall than in many years. The staple is short due to the dry weather; but the grade has ranged from middling to strict middling. Two bales have been reported to the paper that the Government classed as good middling. In case you want to know middling fair is the highest grade for cotton. Staple has to do with the length of the cotton fibre and grade has to do with its quality, whiteness, freedom from trash, etc.

Since boyhood when I listened to my father discuss cotton over the phone with brokers and buyers, I have thought that the manner of listing the names of various grades of cotton was a travesty on the English language. Middling fair is a name for the highest grade struck me as being silly. It did then and it still does. Now I wonder if it was not coined for the same reason that the chant of the tobacco auctioneer came into use—namely so that the grower would not know exactly what the traders were talking about.

If I should be designated to make up a list of names for the grades of cotton, it would go something like this: worst, bad, poor, fair, average, good, excellent supreme deluxe. This may be one more grade than they have; but at least a grower could understand where he stood.

Bill Hughes devotes his column this week to the visit of the boys from North Carolina to the Mill Iron. From the standpoint of reader interest it is one of the best he has ever written. It gives you a look at our own pasture land through the eyes of boys who live where rainfall is abundant.

Priscilla Chase is the newest addition to the staff of The Leader. The name sounds a bit like New England and sure enough New Hampshire is the state where she was born, although she spent most of her life in Massachusetts. Don't expect her to talk very different from the average Texan, for she spent four years in this state studying journalism at the University of Texas. After graduation she returned to New England to write publicity for the American Guernsey Cattle Club; but decided that she had rather live in Texas. She worked her way through the University as assistant instructor in botany. So if any of you want to know anything about plants or Guernsey cows just call by the office and ask for Miss Chase. Also turn your society items over to her.

Al Duncan has some reserve seats for the home games of the West Texas Buffaloes for sale. These seats have been reserved for Wellington people because six of the leading players on the squad are former Rockets. Last week the Buffaloes held mighty Tulsa to a 26 to 13 victory which is not bad. You can see the Rockets on Friday and West Texas on Saturday. If you want any of these reserve seat tickets, see Al Duncan this week.

Wellington fans whose spirits rose so high when they read of the 20 to 0 lacing Perryton gave Shamrock failed to note one thing. Perryton won mainly because they recovered seven Irish fumbles. Shamrock outplayed them during the first half. There will be a ding dong battle and it won't be at Dumas when the Red and Green tangle in November. Still, I'll take the Rockets.

Here is a beautiful piece of writing about flowers that Rev. Noel Bryant published recently in The Methodist Bulletin:

Few of us ever take the time that the late Dr. George Washington Carver did in his query with flowers on his early morning treks through the woods surrounding Tuskegee Institute. Holding a tiny

But if we do not care to spend our time searching for the secret behind the flower, we can have an appreciation for its beauty and fragrance.

Only a few churches in West Texas can boast such a flower garden as you will find at the Methodist Church in Wellington. It is will not spend a little money for almost unbelievable that people will not spend a little money for flowers, shrubs, trees, grass, water and labor, yet few churches have beautified their grounds.

Many of you have had a part in making this possible through your gifts and we appreciate it. We believe that you want to see it continued.

Flowers from the church yard have been used to decorate our sanctuary and class rooms each Sunday during the past three months. Texas has the best cotton crop since 1940. This is the forecast of September 1, not a final report but the most important of the season because it comes when harvest throughout the whole southern belt is under way. In some thirteen states on a million and a half farms whole families will be in the fields from dawn to dusk, highways will be jammed with the fluffy lint moving to 10,000 gins as nearly 12,000,000 bales worth $1,750,000,000 go to market. It is the glamorous season for the old Southland.

The indicated Texas crop—3,150,000 bales—will be worth more than $500,000,000 for lint and seed if the price is maintained. That would be one of the great value crops in Texas cotton history. In 1923, under conditions similar to this season, the crop was worth $736,000,000. But the greatest crop in the state's history, 5,628,000 bales in 1926, was valued at only $346,000,000.

It would be easy to depict a roseate future for cotton were it not for so many abnormal factors that surround the industry, from grower to shipper to processor. How long, it can reasonably be asked, will cotton be artificially supported? Is not the 31c price recently the reflection of subsidy at home and foreign demand that is subsidized too? With dollars vanishing, can foreigners continue to buy?

A greater danger from an abnormal price is this: It is too high to compete permanently with rayon and other synthetic fibers. Artificial fibers from the laboratory are already a challenge to wool, silk and other natural fibers. Cotton will survive only as it meets competition at a price

• Elections

If there's a town in the country that's had more elections in 1947 than Hereford we'd like to hear from it. We've just finished one, there's another coming up—and still three months in the year to go. The only alarming thing about this most essential of democratic process, however, is the fact that, on the average, only about a third of the qualified voters have bothered to go to the polls—Jimmie Gilentine in The Hereford Brand.

• Military Men

A little warning to those who would push military heroes into politics... military experts have not fared so well in civilian politics... they can't be a genius in everything they undertake... although it is possible, and we do have some men who are showing capabilities in government affairs. Washington was commander in chief of our Continental Army as well as being our first president and filled both in an admirable manner... so we can't be too hasty in passing judgment on Eisenhower, Marshall, MacArthur and Wainwright... even though history may tell us otherwise—W. C. Stewart in Electra Star.

Encouraging in the report is the Texas yield of 183 pounds an acre—encouraging, that is, from the Texas viewpoint. This is fifty pounds greater than last year and fifteen pounds over the 1936-45 average. It is still the lowest of any state except Oklahoma.

Not until cotton's cost of production can be brought down to around 7c a pound by complete mechanization and greater yield, not until the export market is cleared of impediments, not until the whole industry is placed again in the hands of private operators can cotton's future be declared sound. This year's money crop is gratifying, but it should not delude real thinking on the problem—The Dallas News.

Fisher Continues As Service Officer

Rolly Fisher, County Veterans Service officer, pointed out this week that, although the Childress office of the Veterans Administration no longer serves Collingsworth County, he will remain on duty in that capacity as an employee of the county.

According to Mr. Fisher he is not directly connected with the Veterans Administration in any way. His work remains the same, such as advising veterans on G. I. insurance, Claims, On-the-Job training, schooling, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Bura Handley were Fort Worth visitors during the first part of this week.

Ten Little Servants

Ten little servants, waiting in a line,
Call on one to do the wash—and still you have nine!

Nine little servants, working long and late,
Ask one to cook your meals—and still you have eight!

Eight little servants—working like eleven!
Call on one to clean for you, and still you have seven!

Seven little servants—you don't need candlesticks
When this one lights the house for you—and still you have six!

Six little servants, electrically alive,
This one sews a handy seam—and still you have five!

Five little servants to help with every chore;
One breathes a little breeze—and still you have four!

Four little servants—such activity!
One can iron all the shirts—and still you have three!

Three little servants—if you're feeling blue,
One will entertain you—and still you have two!

Two little servants, whose work is never done!
One keeps the food fresh, and thinks it's rather fun—

One tells the proper time from sun to setting sun.
(Dependable electric service makes these servants run—
And saves you lots of elbow grease. Suppose you had none?)

Yes, electricity is always ready to take the work out of housework. And it costs so little! Matter of fact, if yours is the average family, you're getting twice as much electricity for your money as you did 20 years ago. What other item in your budget does so much for so little?

Substitutes Will Move Fast Under New 1947 Grid Rules

Several new rules went into effect last week with the opening of the 1947 Texas Interscholastic League football season.

Most obvious, from the point of view of fans and players alike, is the new substitution rule.

Subs going into or leaving a game are expected to show more speed and enthusiasm than ever before . . . or else, their teams are going to draw some slick penalties for slowing the game.

Under the new rule, substitutes do not report to officials, but merely dash on the field and take their places while the man they replace dashes back to the bench. The reason for all the rushing around is that substitutes have only 25 seconds in which to accomplish the shift and clear the field for action. Otherwise it's an automatic five-yard penalty for old alma mater.

The new rule may pose some funny situations. A slow man, for example isn't likely to get a chance to get in the game while his team's at the far end of the field. On the other hand, coaches may become reluctant to send in a substitute for an unusually slow or winded player when he's too far from the bench . . . say, at the opposite corner of the field . . . for fear he may not make it to the sidelines in time for the next play.

Two or more players may be substituted at the same time, and no player is required to report to officials; but they've all got to get on and off with considerable dispatch.

Another new rule this year regards the try for extra point following a touchdown. If an attempt is made to kick goal, and the kick is blocked, the ball is automatically dead. There'll be no more dashing across the goal line after a blocked placement, and defending wing men can rest easy in the knowledge of a job well done after they've felt the old leather bounce off their chest.

Another rule change which won't be obvious to fans is the fact that this year the ball will be moved in from the sidelines a distance of 17 yards, 2 feet, 4 inches instead of the former 15 yards even. Someday maybe all plays will be started from the center of the field. Then all the offensive teams will be very happy, and defensive players will be sad indeed, and the game will be wide open on both ends.

Be Sure That Your Lights Are Right, Garrison Warns

By Col. Homer Garrison, Director Department of Safety

Fix your lights so that you can be seen by the other fellow and your brakes so that you can stop, and you'll be all right under the new traffic law, which went into effect Sept. 15.

You must have two burning headlamps and a burning red tail light. The only thing which every motorist has to have after Jan. 1, 1948, which he may not have now is a little white light over the rear license plate. Formerly, reflectors were enough on trailers of all kinds, but after Jan. 1 a burning red tail light is required for any vehicle whatsoever on the road. Trucks and busses under 80 inches wide must have in addition to other lights a stop light and two red reflectors on the rear.

Trucks or busses over 80 inches wide or having an actual or registered gross weight in excess of 3,000 pounds must have the following lights besides the headlamps, tail light, license plate light, stop light, and two red reflectors: Amber clearance light at front outermost top corner on each side.

Hubert Mauldin and wife to I. T. Judd—one acre out of the southeast one-fourth of the southeast fourth of section 3, block 15, and all of lot A, Bradley Addition, and a portion of lot B, block 8, Bradley Addition, Wellington.

O. F. Burgess and wife to William V. White—2 acres out of the northwest corner of section 20, block 11.

The Central Baptist Church of Wellington to the Fundamental Baptist Church of Wellington—lots 15 and 16, block 158, Wellington.

Red clearance light at back outermost top corner on each side.
Red side marker near rear on each side.
Amber side marker near front on each side.
Amber side lamp near front on each side.
Red side lamp near back on each side.

When disabled upon the highway, all types of trucks, busses, and trailers must have three properly spaced warning devices such as pot flares, electric lanterns, etc.

All brakes must be capable of stopping the vehicle going 20 miles per hour within a distance of 30 feet on a smooth, level surface and must be maintained in good working order so as to be applied evenly on all wheels. Any type trailer having an actual or registered gross weight in excess of 3,000 pounds must have a separate set of brakes thereon.

Gospel of Christ

(Rom. 1:16)

DIVINE AUTHORITY

All things religiously are to be offered by divine authority, and that authority was vested in Jesus Christ.

"All authority hath been given unto me in heaven and on earth." (Mt. 28:18) Therefore, we must act only by that authority to act by divine authority.

Moses was once commanded to gather the Israelites together and speak to a certain rock, and the water they needed would be supplied. God did not order him not to roll the rock; not to smite the rock, because the order to speak excluded all other acts. To speak to the rock was divinely authorized, and when Moses went beyond and smote the rock he was punished. (Num. 20: 1-10)

Jesus commanded believers to be baptized. (Mk. 16: 15, 16) To baptize believers is authorized, but to baptize unbelievers is excluded, whether they be young or old. This baptism is for the remission of sins. (Mk. 16: 16; Acts 2: 38; 16: 22; 1 Pet. 3: 21) To baptize for the remission of sins is divinely authorized, and therefore baptism because of remission of sins, or any other reason is not authorized by heaven.

We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lazy (even though Pete Swanson's missus claims he sleeps till seven A.M.). But the hardest working man of all is Doc Hollister—on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation.

And as Doc says—fun is a personal thing. For the missus it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a mellow and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parcheesi or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing—so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the home.

Doc doesn't have much time himself. After a hard day, he'll relax before the fire with a glass of beer—and wait for the phone to ring again. And from where I sit, Doc deserves each well-earned minute of that relaxation.

Efforts to secure a north-south hard surfaced road through the west part of the county have been renewed and plans for the work will be laid Thursday night in a meeting at Quail, called by Noah Cunningham, chairman of the old committee.

Representatives from Collingsworth, Wheeler and Hall counties will be present.

"Our purpose is not to create any conflict with the present road plans or set up for the county, but we do want to send a delegation to Austin to see about getting this road in on the federal program that is in the making," Mr. Cunningham declared.

Other members of the committee pushing the road, which will go through Quail, are Z. J. Neeley, Ben Farmer, Henry Wischkaemper, and Pat O'Hair.

The meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m.

have a knowledge of English equivalent to that of a fourth grader. Eleven sophomores and four juniors have a fifth grade rating; twenty-three sophomores have a sixth grade rating, the largest in any single group. There are 19 with 7th grade rating and 13 with an 8th grade knowledge. Six rate at 9th graders, just one grade below where they should be.

There is one lone sophomore whose knowledge of English is what a sophomore should have, according to the test.

On the other hand, there are two whose English rating is that of a junior and one who has the command of the language that a graduate should have.

Junior tests show that 27 have a rating of a 7th grade student, 9 of the 8th grade, 10 show a freshman rating; 14 a sophomore rating, and 6 a junior rating—their own class. Two rate as seniors.

"These tests have nothing to do with whether a child fails or passes his work. It simply 'finds' the child, so that his instructor will know just how much and what type of instruction he should get," a member of the English department said.

"What we are asking for is parental cooperation. We wonder if the parents know just how their children rate. We will be happy to discuss this with them at any time, and we are confident that their help will go a long way toward helping us correct the situation," the teacher concluded.

Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Orr returned Tuesday from Lake City, Colo., where they have spent the last two months at their cabin. Dr. Orr reported that snow was already falling on the mountains, and in the valleys leaves of the aspen trees had turned yellow and red. They remained an additional week just to see the brilliant fall coloring of the forests, he said.

While in East Texas they visited Mrs. Shank's sister, Mrs. B. I. Smith at Kirvin. They also visited the family cemetery at Cotton Gin, where Mr. Shank's father and mother are buried, and went to the old school grounds where both Mr. and Mrs. Shanks attended school before they were married.

Rockets Spin Over Dalhart Wolves 23 to 0 in First Encounter of Teams

Combining excellent passing with hard running the Wellington Sky-rockets sent the Dalhart Wolves back home on the short end of a 23 to 0 score on the local field last Friday.

The heavy Dalhart line made three rousing goal line stands that turned back scoring attempts; but they could not compete with the versatile Rocket offense in mid-field in which hard running—by four backs and an end were mixed with passes that were made in the main by Benny Moore with Bill Combs and Robert Fulton throwing just enough to make it confusing. Wellington's running attack was working in fine fashion but the three touchdowns were made by the air as Moore passed to Fulton, Young and Combs.

Dalhart had a hard time solving the shifting Wellington defense which the Rocket captain, Walter Johnson changed as the offense of the Pack changed. In fact it was a little hard for an average sports writer to keep up with such changes as Fulton at end going back to kick, pass and run or to watch for Sam Raburn in the backfield on offense and then find him playing tackle on the strong side of the line on defense while John M. Jones had moved over to guard and Kenneth Winter had dropped from guard to a line-backer position. However too much praise could hardly be given to the defensive play of the whole Rocket team or to the blocking of the line and for that matter the gallant fight of the Dalhart backfield.

The first break of the game went to the Dalhart Wolves following an exchange of punts. After failing to gain the Pack punted to the Wellington 20. On the first play the Rockets were penalized 15 yards back to their own 5. Fulton standing behind his own goal line got off a good punt to mid-field, where little Archie Archuleta, who played a swell game all evening took it and raced it back to the Wellington 25-yard stripe.

It was here the Rockets demonstrated that the Wolves were in for a hard evening, for the rugged Rocket defense held for the first two running plays to two yards and then took over when two passes were batted down.

Sparked by the sensational running of Bill Combs and the passing of Moore and the pass receiving of Robert Fulton, Tiffin Young, Bill Combs and Kenneth Strickland, the Rockets picked up two first downs to go to their own 49 where the Pack line stiffened. This time Fulton took no chances with the fast Dalhart backs and punted out on the Dalhart 18-yard line. John Martin, Dalhart's 165 pound quarter-back, brought it out 8 yards on an end run and then hit the line for a first on the 28; but a penalty for backfield in motion forced them to punt two plays later and Kenneth Strickland ran the ball back from his own 40 to the Dalhart 45 to make the set-up for the first Rocket touchdown. A neat pass from Benny Moore, who chunked splendidly all evening hit Bill Combs for a 14-yard gain and a first down, and the same combination worked again for a 10 yard gain and another. Raburn hit the line for four and on the next play Moore cocked his arm and shot a long one to Robert Fulton who took it in the clear and raced over for the touchdowns. Fulton's try for point was square between the uprights as were his two later attempts and the Rockets moved ahead 7 to 0.

From their own 25 the Rockets started another drive soon after their first touchdown. After a 22-yard run-back of a Dalhart punt, the Rockets started from the Dalhart 35 and moved up to the Dalhart 10 yard line where the Pack made a magnificent stand and took over by stopping the Rockets 1 yard short of the goal.

After a punt Wellington started again from the Dalhart 42. A pass to Tiffin Young picked up a first down and another to Fulton made a second to the Dalhart 11 yard line; but a third attempt was intercepted by Bill Parsons and the Wolves again punted out to the 40.

This time Benny Moore did not waste any time on short passes and behind excellent shielding work on the part of the Rocket line took his time and then heaved a long one to Tiffin Young who eluded the Dalhart back and went over for the second touchdown with Fulton's kick bringing the score up to 14 to 0.

The half ended with Wellington's flashy Gaston Williams intercepting a Dalhart pass on his own 40 yard stripe and racing it beautifully back to the Dalhart 30 before the pistol sounded.

In the second half Wellington turned on a strong running game after the Dalhart kick off and marched straight down the field. Combs, Raburn, Fulton and Strickland alternated in carrying the ball from their own 39 down the field to the Dalhart 13. A 5 yard penalty set them back to the 18 and Moore shot a beautiful pass to Bill Combs who took it on the goal line and went over.

Wellington did not score again but did launch another drive that paved the way for the two points they made on a safety. With Raburn and Combs doing great running the Rockets marched from their own 22 up to the Dalhart 5 yard line where they lost the ball on downs. Raburn blocked the attempted punt and a Dalhart player who recovered the ball was downed behind the goal to make the score 23 to 0.

Wellington did not score again but continued to remain on the offensive as substitute Gaston Williams looked good on running as did Walter O'Neil on pass snatching in this period.

The starting lineup follows:

Wellington	Pos.	Dalhart
Fulton	LE	Dyer
Jones	LT	Dawson
Bullington	LG	Giblette
Johnson	C	Michilette
Winter	RG	Phillips
Bollen	RT	Phillips

New Equipment To Serve You Better

We have just installed a Lummus Drier and Cleaning system which is the very latest type of drier on the market today.

It not only dries your cotton when it is damp but it takes the trash and dirt out of it before it even hits the burr machine. It is working so phenomenally well that every single bale that we have ginned up to the present time has been classed middling. Naturally we can't add anything to your cotton; but we can give you the best sample possible for we have the equipment and the experienced ginners to do it.

As you know we have five 80-saw stands which gives us the capacity to gin your cotton promptly without rushing the job thereby giving you the best in sample turnout.

We will have a buyer at the gin at all times to assist you in marketing your cotton.

Six Rockets Slated for WTS Football Team

CANYON — Noel T. Cudd, Jr., Charles Hester, Ernest Kendrick, Freeman Melton Jr., and Boyd Williams are leading candidates for their respective positions on the 1947 West Texas State College football team. Noel and Charles are battling each other for the left guard position while Ernest and Boyd are both trying for the left halfback slot. Melton will be a probably starter in the quarter back position.

Boyd, Noel and Charles are squadmen and have 2 more years of varsity eligibility left. Ernest and Freeman are freshmen. This is the last season freshmen will be eligible for the varsity in the Border Conference.

During his long coaching career which started in the late '20's at Wayland College, Kimbrough gained a reputation for fielding versatile offensive teams.

This season Kimbrough will use the T-system, and has developed plays to best fit his material and to best fit his notion of foxy football. Passing is utilized in the Kimbrough attack in such a way as to make for spectacular entertainment for fans. His aerial attack is not the only weapon which strikes with lightning suddenness. He has added to and improved upon his ground offense which always has been replete with quick opening plays and slick ball handling.

When indications pointed toward a vastly increased attendance for this season, Athletic Director W. A. (Gus) Miller set about to do two things so Buffalo and Kimbrough followers throughout the Panhandle could have opportunity to see games in Canyon.

The first was to double the seating capacity of Buffalo Stadium. This has been accomplished with the erection of permanent seats on the East side of the gridiron. The second was to place advance season tickets on sale in as many cities and towns as was possible.

In Wellington these advance tickets for the Buffs' four home games may be bought from Al Duncan whose supply is limited.

Making season reserved seats available throughout the territory served by West Texas State has met with hearty response, Miller said.

"Although we probably could dispose of all the choice seats in one or two of the larger cities in the area, we decided to pro rate them to as many places as possible. We felt this was best because in this way we could assure fans in more towns of having reserved seats without having to wait in line or to be disappointed after driving to Canyon," Miller said.

The Buffaloes first home game will be played on the night of Oct. 11 against the Texas Mines Muckers in a Border Conference contest. Kickoff time is 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Taylor and daughter returned to Austin Thursday after visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Forbis.

Mrs. W. E. Hall is home from Hereford where she has been visiting for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Fielding and two sons, Dale and Garland returned last week from an interesting tour of the coast of Harlingen and Brownsville. They visited in Fort Worth, Dallas and Harlingen with their daughters and families.

Maurice Newlett of Oklahoma City, was here over the week-end visiting his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hurd and other friends.

Texas has one ranch that is larger than the entire state of Delaware.

"Zero-Zero" to "CAVU"

By BILL HUGHES

Several years ago I delivered an aeroplane for the Navy out of Columbus, Ohio, to Norfolk, Virginia. My route took me among other places across North Carolina. As I remember the country it seemed a solid mass of trees spreading across numberless hills and dales (not so little hills, either) with many rivers and streams. At the time, it never occurred to me that one day I would be comparing notes with Carolinians on differences in agriculture and livestock of that country and the Panhandle of Texas. As I had, I would have paid attention to things other than navigational landmarks.

For the past three days, Mill Iron has had company. Fourteen future farmers of America with five instructors, the FFA Administrator, Representative from the college, and an enthusiastic booster of FFA, himself, a dairyman, came out to take a look at Texas, and to see the home of the bull calves which they received last year through the Sears Roebuck foundation and out of the Mill Iron 1946 calf crop. These fourteen boys represented a cross-section of the state of North Carolina, and were selected to make the trip out of 50 boys on the merit of their work.

The vast Texas spaces of which they had all heard, even in reality were beyond their imagination. That cattle could live, let alone grow fat, on these prairie lands was a thing that they were still shaking their heads about when they departed on their return journey home this past Monday. If they had not seen the cattle actually fat, sassy, and contented, they would have put it down as another Texas whopper.

Friday night the boys came to Wellington where they watched the Skyrockets vanquish Dalhart and afterwards very much enjoyed their invitation to the youth center. Two doubts in their minds were at once dispelled—one, the quality and ruggedness of Texas football—two, the vivacity, charm, and beauty of Texas girls. They gave them both a solid whistle of approval.

Because like most ranches today, Mill Iron does not rough their stock more than is absolutely necessary (weight being a premium) and hence employ the traditional cowboy loop only as a last measure—using instead the corral, chute, and squeeze, the boys were disappointed not to find the men racing the plains, lassoing animals all over the place. However, this disappointment was more than compensated, for at Samnorwood Saturday night where they took in their first rodeo. Right off the reel, Guy Bell caught his calf and tied him in just a fraction over 16 seconds. They were not only seeing it done in the flesh, but they were part of the crowd, and could taste the dust like it can't be done at the movies. They saw a brahman toss its rider and chase him out of the lot. They were close enough to the broncos to see that something more than long legs were needed.

They loved it—and how!

That they rode the range in jeeps was taken as a matter of modern practicality. They rolled through the dust full of curiosity, questions, and pranks, punctuated by numerous humorous wise-cracks at the expense of everything including themselves. Several mounted horses here and there along the way to have their pictures taken. None of them tried to climb on from the right side, that I know of, but one boy after a short lope, stopped his mount, dropped the reins on the ground and then dismounted. He couldn't seem to understand what it was that everybody was so hilarious about. Another boy climbed into the saddle, tried to keep his seat by gripping the horses belly with his spurred heels and wondered why the critter headed for the mesquite like a cannon ball. Still a third was overheard to remark that these Texans sure let their equipment go to the dogs, for example not sewing the ends of the reins together.

The boys may have been a bit green about this cowboy business, but by and large they had a keen eye for both the good and the bad points of a beef on the hoof. Only the Texas girl was able to distract their attention from what they had come to see. Besides this understandable and mutual distraction, they also found a number of weeds in our pastures that were native to North Carolina—the ragweed for example. As a result of these finds, they promised to send

Fire Department Called to Put Out Grass Blaze

The Fire Department was called Monday afternoon, September 22, to put out a grass fire which extended across several vacant lots in the 1400 block on Childress Street. There was no damage to property.

Darvin Nix and son, Tarzan, who spent the latter part of the summer in Montana, Wyoming and Idaho, returned home early this month for the latter to enroll in school.

some seed of a legume grass, which they have, and which they feel will grow here. It is used there to furnish supplemental grazing, but more important they are experimenting with a means of erosion control.

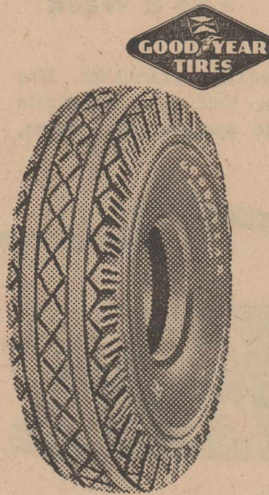

It may be truthfully stated that a good time was had by all with knowledge and understanding gained both ways. In spite of the difference between reality and the story book, I believe that Texas maintained all of its romance and glamour. While the friendliness and hospitality of the Texas people is a real and living thing in the memory of those boys who in parting, warmly expressed their feelings on this score.

County Girls to Roundup At College Station Sept. 4

By LORA BETH KELLISON

The annual Texas 4-H Round-up was held at College Station, Texas, on September 4th and 5th. Those attending from this County were Ida Louise Knoll, Samnorwood; Helen Carreker, Dozier; Lora Beth Kellison, Dodson; Jimmy Leggett; Wellington; Ronnie Gooch, Samnorwood; Mrs. Alfred Knoll, Samnorwood, Miss Riley and Mr. Thomas.

Mr. Knoll took the group to Vernon where the representatives and sponsors from several surrounding counties met. We left Vernon at 7:30 A. M. Wednesday on a chartered bus which took us to College Station. We had an enjoyable trip getting acquainted with the boys and girls from neighboring counties.

Miss Riley met us when we arrived at 6:30 that afternoon and helped us to find our room assignments. After registering, we bought our meal tickets then went to the concrete slab where the entire group gathered for a "sing song" singing was led by Jane Farwell, National Recreational Leader. After the singing, a humorous picture was shown, "Love Laughs at Andy Hardy."

Thursday morning, following recreational hour, the boys and girls were divided into fifty-four groups for the purpose of group discussion. There were about 25 in each room and they were divided into three groups. Each group elected a chairman to supervise the discussions. Three of the Collingsworth County delegates were elected Chairman of his or her group, they were Jimmy Leggett, Helen Carreker, and Lora Beth Kellison. The subjects used were all of interest to every 4-H Club boy and girl. After a lively discussion was held by each group a boy and girl was chosen from each room to go to semi-finals. The most debated questions were used for this next division. I was chosen as one to participate in semi-finals. The discussions were carried on in the same manner as the previous one. One of the most debated questions was: "Six months or a year of Military Training is a good thing for boys and girls." This subject was used in both semi-finals and finals.

The final discussion was held in Guion Hall before the entire assembly of boys, girls, adult leaders and agents. I thoroughly enjoyed the group discussion; it was the most inspirational part of the Round-Up.

I wish that every 4-H club member might be allowed the privilege of attending the Round-Up.

By IDA LOUISE KNOLL

The things I enjoyed most while I was at the 4-H Round-Up were the National 4-H Club camp reports and the Dress Revue.

On Friday, September 5, every one assembled at Guion Hall. After group singing which was led by Walter Jenkins and Jane Farwell, the club camp reports were given. The 4-H girls who attended the national camp at Washington, D. C., were Elnora Miller and Eloise Woodruff, the boys were Duane Boenig and Bobbie Joe Griffin.

A group picture of 4-H girls, boys, and adult leaders was made on the west side of Guion Hall; the picture was made in the shape of 4-H.

After the picture was made the group returned to Guion Hall for the Dress Revue. The stage was beautifully decorated with a large pair of green and white scissors hung in the back ground with three spools of thread tied to the scissors. The strands of thread were blue, red and yellow.

There were eighty contestants from over the state entering the three classes of costumes: school dress, nice dress, and wool dress or suit. Mrs. Opal Fox Sterling from the Fox studios in Dallas directed the Dress Revue. Joline Dyer of Houston was the over all winner and received a trip to Chicago as a reward. Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, Clothing Specialist, presented the awards. Other than the trip to Chicago, four electric sewing machines, twenty nine electric irons, and four pairs of pinking shears were presented to the winners.

I really enjoyed my trip to A. & M. College and I wish that every 4-H club boy and girl could have a chance to go to a 4-H Round-Up.

By HELEN CARREKER

Our 4-H trip to A. and M. College was a most wonderful trip.

One of the most amazing things was the fact that we were entertained every minute we were there.

On the night we arrived, Miss Jane Farwell of the National Recreation Association directed Melody Time.

Later we all attended a picture show, which was held on a huge concrete slab. The show "Love Laughs at Andy Hardy," was very interesting.

The next morning at eight everyone assembled in Guion Hall for group singing. This singing was led by Jane Farwell and Walter Jenkins, Music director of the First Methodist Church in Houston who has been directing singing at the State 4-H meetings for fifteen years.

At ten fifteen everyone was divided into groups, for a discussion on 4-H Club work. These discussions were quite interesting. Out of each group there was a boy and a girl chosen for the final discussion group.

That same afternoon there was a recreation period led by Jane Farwell. At this time we played games and sang songs. At five we watched the Texas Aggies practice football.

That night there was another Melody Time after which there was an Amateur Show at Guion Hall. There were many 4-H members participated in this show, but "Wild Bill Boyd" won by singing "I'd Trade All of My Tommorrow's for Just One Yesterday". For this honor he was permitted to sing over the radio Saturday morning. The Dress Revue and the Rifle Contest winners were also presented on the Farm and Home Hour.

The next morning Mr. Jenkins and Miss Farwell led the group in songs and games again.

The most of that afternoon we spent visiting exhibits and touring the campus.

That night there was another Melody Time followed by a 4-H party attended by approximately fourteen hundred boys, girls, adult

C. T. Painter Dies on Plains

Claude T. Painter, former Quail resident who had made his home at Muleshoe for the last year, died at the Amherst hospital Monday evening, August 25. He had been in failing health for several years.

Mr. Painter farmed near Quail for 17 years before ill health forced him to leave the farm. He and Mrs. Painter lived around Quail and Wellington until June 1946, when they went to Muleshoe to make their home. He was able to be up most of the time until his condition became worse in early July.

Mr. Painter was born Sept. 8, 1873, in Springfield, Mo., and at the time of his death he was 73 years, 11 months and 17 days of age. He was converted and united with the Missionary Baptist Church in 1914, and from that time he

His friends knew him as a kind and loving husband and father and a man who was loved by all who knew him. He had a good word and a smile for all those came in contact with him.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, August 26 at the Main Street Baptist Church, Muleshoe, with the Rev. E. M. Robinson, pastor, in charge, assisted by the Rev. V. A. Hansard of Amarillo and the Rev. Clyde Coffman of Hicks Chapel, Goodland. Burial was in the Muleshoe cemetery.

Pall bearers were Releford Jones, Cecil Jones, Virgil Nowell, Jim Claunch, Harvey Grigsby and Glenn Phipps. Flower girls were Silva Coffman, Mrs. Virgil Nowell, Mrs. Wilton Vaughn, Mrs. Glenn Phipps, Mrs. Hazel Cherry, Mrs. Releford Jones, Mrs. Jim Claunch, Mrs. Cecil Jones, Mrs. Morris Childers and Mrs. Ray Griffith. Safe hands guard the future of Texas

They're kindly hands—stern when needed—but understanding always. They are hands of Texas teachers, hands in which lie the future citizenship and culture of our state. These are the hands which conserve the glorious traditions, the manners, the customs and knowledge of the past.

But knowledge is of little value unless it can be put to use for the benefit of mankind, and it is the responsibility of our teachers to give it that value. So, too, other groups in the state give value to many of the things we hold most dear.

United Gas gives value to a natural resource that might otherwise remain worthless in the ground. By providing a market for natural gas, by constructing pipe lines between wells and consumers, United renders a great service to the state. This is practical conservation, for it gives value to this finest of fuels, stimulates industrial development, creates jobs, and benefits all the families in Texas.

Fire Prevention Week Proclaimed For October 5-11

AUSTIN — Governor Beauford Jester officially proclaimed October 5 through 11 as Fire Prevention Week in Texas.

The Governor, in calling upon every citizen of Texas to actively participate in Fire Prevention Week, stated that "when there is a universal scarcity of nearly every commodity needed to feed, clothe and shelter not only our own people but the starving and war-torn world, the continued annual destruction of a half-billion dollars in irreplaceable material resources not only becomes more tragic but wholly inexcusable, and cannot continue without permanent impairment to the people of Texas and the United States, and of the world."

"The rising fire loss in Texas and the United States with its tremendous sacrifice of life and destruction of property has become a vital national problem affecting the welfare of all our people," the proclamation stated.

Fire prevention was observed annually as "Fire Prevention Day" for some thirty years until 1920 when President Wilson proclaimed "Fire Prevention Week" to include the date of October 9, stated Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner in commenting on Jester's proclamation. This date is the anniversary of the great Chicago fire of 1871, which wiped out the entire business section and a large part of the residential properties in the south and southwest parts of that city.

"Since the Chicago conflagration, fire prevention have progressed from a rule-of-thumb method, an occasional practice, to the status of a science," the Commissioner said. "Sound rules of fire safety are now well established and are available to all. They may be easily obtained in printed form and in expert advice covering construction, protection and organization against fire, from the local fire chief, members of the National Fire Waste Council, such as the National Board of Fire Underwriters, National Fire Protection Association, United States Forest Service, and many other national fire protection and fire safety organizations. They may also be obtained from all fire insurance organizations and representatives."

The United States Chamber of Commerce from its inception in 1912 has recognized the enormous and useless destruction each year of the nation's wealth by fire and has been one of the nation's leading organizations in the crusade to reduce the annual toll of fire waste.

In 1922 the National Chamber organized the National Fire Waste Council, Hall stated, which comprises thirty-one national organizations actively engaged in promoting fire prevention and protection. At the same time the Inter-Chamber Fire Waste Program, featuring an annual contest among the participating cities, was inaugurated.

Nearly 600 chambers of commerce with their cities engage actively in this program and their continuous, systematic efforts have made a notable contribution to reducing and controlling the nation's fire losses. Many of the participating cities have reduced fire losses as much as 50 per cent, and some as little as 10 per cent, of their previous losses.

"The people of Texas were shocked at the explosions and fires that partially demolished Texas City in April this year," Hall reminded. "They were equally amazed at the destruction by single fires of the LaSalle and Winecoff Hotels. Many other fires of serious destructive nature have occurred since the end of the war; and today an aroused state should undertake in whole-hearted support of Governor Jester to eliminate the men-
