Blalock Will Ask Seating Of Regulars

(By The Associated Press)

MARSHALL, Texas, July 14. — Myron Blalock, national Democratic committeeman from Texas, said today that he would recommend that the regular Democratic delegation from Texas, headed by former Gov. Dan Moody, be seated at the national convention in Chicago.

In a prepared statement, Blalock said: "At the Chicago convention I expect to recommend that the regular delegation named at Austin and headed by Mr. Moody as chairman, be recognized and seated, excepting such members of that group, if any, who do not intend to support the nominees of the party."

Must Support Nominees

"It is only fair," continued the national committeeman, "to expect those sitting in the party councils and conventions to support the nominees of the party. By the same token that one expects participants in the state convention to abide by the will of the majority, one also expects participants to abide by the will of the majority of the national convention."

(The regular Democratic delegation was instructed by the state convention to vote in the electoral college for national party nominees only if the national convention met certain conditions, including restoration of the two-thirds rule and re-establishment of the right of the party to fix the eligibility of their members.)

To Fight For Resolution

"I intend," continued Blalock's statement "to go before the convention committees in support of the resolutions to be proposed by the Texas delegation in an effort to restore the two-thirds rule with reference to the nomination of candidates for president and vice president, also the resolution supporting states' rights and those favoring the right of Democrats to fix the eligibility of their members in Texas and other states.

"It naturally follows that electors selected by Texas Democrats at the polls in November should cast their vote in the electoral college for the nominees of the Democratic party for president and vice president. Otherwise there would be no reason to the nomination of candidates by the party. I feel that all loyal Texas Democrats will support such a program. Let the majority rule within our party."

GERMANY SAYS GROUP BOUND BY INSTRUCTIONS

DALLAS, July 14. (AP)—E. B. Germany, a presidential elector and a leader of the regular Texas Democratic delegation, said here tonight "the Texas delegation can't pledge support of the nominees until it knows if the platform planks demanded by the Texas Democrats are acceptable to the national convention."

In a prepared statement, Germany said "if they (the credential committee) allow us to participate in the national convention, they are on notice that failure to accept the Texas program by the national convention will automatically release the Texas delegates and the Texas Democracy from any moral obligation to support the national ticket. The delegates to the national convention are not free agents, but are the accredited representatives of the Democracy of Texas and in good faith must do everything commensurate with the program of the Democracy of Texas."

CAB Advises Limit On Airline Service

WASHINGTON, July 14. (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics board said today it appeared advisable under present conditions to limit feeder line and pick-up air service operations to an experimental basis.

In a formal opinion, the board also left open the possibility that it might approve operation of commercial aircraft by railroads, bus lines and other surface carriers. Whether surface carriers should be allowed to enter this field has been a major issue before the board.

The board's opinion commented on the report of Examiners William J. Madden and Albert F. Beitel, who were instructed on March 27, 1943, to investigate the problems involved in extending airservice to smaller communities.

Man Offers Eye To Blind Servicemen

YPSILANTI, Mich., July 14. (U.P.) —An unidentified Ypsilanti war worker today awaited takers on his offer to give one of his eyes to some blind serviceman because he is "deeply moved by the plight of men who have lost their sight in service of our country."

The man made the offer in a letter to the local newspaper, Ypsilanti Daily Press.

Editors protected his anonymity, but revealed he is 30 years old, employed at the Ford Willow Run bomber plant, is married with one son, and is in good physical shape.

He has three brothers in service.

Nazis In Mad Frenzy Of Failure Start New Savagery . . .

Europe Faces Darkest Hour

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 14 — A Nazi "reign of terror" throughout occupied Europe was reported officially today to be increasing in savagery as the enemy's desperation grows with the relentless approach of his day of defeat.

Some authorities suggested that Hitler and his Gestapo leaders, in a final mad frenzy of failure, are now moving into a period of blood lust and ruin that will make the hour of Europe's liberation its darkest hour.

From Secretary of State Hull came the statement that a reign of terror has begun. In London, another state department official, Herbert Claiborne Pell, said he believed the Germans would attempt to wreck occupied Europe as preparation for another war.

Pell said that by such violence —"beyond anything the world has seen"—the Germans would seek to weaken their neighbors permanently while they remained relatively strong.

It was reported wiping out of the Grecian village of Distomo and mass killings of Jews in Hungary which prompted Secretary Hull today to denounce atrocities anew and to promise that punishment will be dealt out to the Nazi perpetrators. More than 1,000 persons were reported killed at Distomo in dispatches from Ankara.

Of the massacre of Jews in Hungary "by the Nazis and their Hungarian Quislings" Hull declared that the number of victims is already great and "the entire Jewish community in Hungary which numbered nearly 1,000,000 souls is threatened with extermination."

He said the United States "will not slacken" its efforts to rescue as many of the people as possible and he declared that "the puppet Hungarian government by its violation of the most elementary human rights and by its servile adoption of the worst features of the Nazi 'racial policy' stands condemned before history."

Japs Break Through Lines On Guinea In Bitter Fight

PARATROOPERS HIT NOEMFOOR — American paratroopers are shown here floating down from transport planes to assist in the capture of Noemfoor island, Dutch New Guinea, which U. S. forces occupied July 2. Yanks float majestically to earth right in the middle of a beach landing. Note chutes on the ground.

Confusion Marks Fierce Struggle

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Superior numbers of trapped Japanese broke through American lines in the swampy jungles of northern New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

American outposts resisted so fiercely in the bitterest fighting of the long New Guinea campaign that the attackers were forced to reorganize.

Fighting was confused. Elements of both armies battled on each side of the Driniumor river along which the United States defense line ran. Fihgting was within 21 miles of the main American concentration at Aitape. Unprotected Nipponese in the rear were pounded unmercifully by American attack planes and bombers.

GUAM RIPPED AGAIN

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, July 14 (AP) For the tenth straight day, Guam was ripped by bombs and rockets of Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's task force Thursday in a continuing action which suggested impending developments against that former U. S. outpost.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced tonight in a press release the firing of ammunition dumps, gun positions and other installations on Guam in the July 13 attack by carrier planes. (Yesterday Tokyo radio told of the assault but added that a battleship also had twice bombarded Guam Thursday).

Thursday's raiding force also hit Rota, an enemy-held island between Guam and newly conquered Saipan. All planes returned from the Guam and Rota attacks.

Japs Beaten In West

Nearly 300 miles to the west, U. S. Sixth Army troops seized Sawar airfield without opposition as resistance suddenly collapsed in the Maffin Bay area of New Guinea where the Allied advance had long been stalemated.

A freighter loaded with men and ammunition was sunk by heavy bombers off Halmahera island, about 300 miles south of the Philippines, MacArthur's goal.

Six Japanese admirals have escaped public disgrace by dying in action in the last six weeks.

Three were killed in Nippon's losing battle for Saipan in the southern Marianas where Tokyo radio reported yesterday an American carrier task force attacked Guam for the tenth straight day.

Unprecedented Attack

The persistent shelling and bombing of Guam is unprecedented in the Pacific war.

Tokyo radio claimed Japanese planes, flying from conquered U. S. air bases in China, wrecked 89 aircraft on the Kwelin airdrome. Kweilin, one of the few remaining bases of the U. S. 14th

Early Arriving Convention Groups Divided On Wallace

CHICAGO, July 14. (AP)—Early arrivals for the Democratic national convention divided today into Henry A. Wallace and anti-Wallace camps on the topmost issue of a vice-presidential nomination. They found themselves united, however for a short platform with a sturdy foreign policy plank.

"It won't be Wallace," said Rep. Thomas D'Alesandro, jr., of Maryland, but other delegates in hotel lobby interviews declared Wallace still is very much in the picture.

To Convene Wednesday

The 29th party conclave will convene Wednesday to give President Roosevelt a fourth nomination. Most of the platform builders came on the scene during the day and, at an organization meeting, decided to start public hearings Monday. The platform subcommittee is headed by Representatives John McCormack (Mass) and Mary T. Norton, New Jersey.

Word filtered through hotel lobbies that National Committee Chairman Robert E. Hannegan will arrive tomorrow, possibly with a tentative platform and the latest "lowdown" on presidential wishes for a running mate.

Failure of a pro-Wallace statement to materialize at the White House puzzled party members here.

Nod From FDR Expected

The vice-president's associates in Washington had been predicting President Roosevelt would voice a preference for the former agriculture secretary.

D'Alesandro, a member of the resolutions subcommittee, said Maryland "will not go for Wallace." He added that the free state's 18-vote delegation would "sit around and watch which way the wind is blowing" before deciding whom it will support.

Pro-Wallace sentiment was expressed by Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, who said: "I think Wallace's name will go before the convention and I expect to vote for him."

He added the Florida delega-

Wallace Well Out In Front In Poll, Gallup Announces

NEW YORK, July 14. (Special) —Henry A. Wallace continues to be the popular choice for vice president among the rank and file of Democratic voters, George Gallup, head of the American Institute of Public Opinion, announced tonight on the basis of semi-final, returns of an Institute poll conducted this week. Wallace received more than four times as many as Senator Alben W. Barkley, who was in second place.

Among eight vice presidential possibilities, the popular ranking as of today in the poll, was:

Wallace 64 per cent, Barkley 14, Byrd 6, with the remaining 16 per cent of the vote divided among Byrnes, Rayburn, Douglas, Stettinius and Truman.

The poll, Gallup said, is a report of rank and file sentiment, and not the sentiment of party leaders or delegates whose vote will be the determining factor in Chicago next week. Final returns on this poll will be reported Wednesday.

Mounts Given Ten Years In Slaying

WAXAHACHIE, July 14. (AP)— O. L. Mounts, Ennis railroad special officer, last night was convicted of murder by a district court jury and given a ten-year prison sentence in connection with the slaying of Ennis Policeman Jack Lummus here.

Mounts pleaded innocent on the grounds of self defense, asking a suspended sentence if convicted. The state sought to prove through witnesses that Mounts shot Lummus when Lummus had interceded for a friend with whom Mounts had engaged in a dispute at an Ennis cafe.

Army Plane Crashes In Tennessee Storm

CHATTANOOGA, July 14. (AP)— A twin-engined plane carrying Army personnel crashed and exploded in an open field on the southeastern outskirts of the city tonight during a heavy rain and windstorm. The craft's door bore two stars—designation of a major-general.

Three bodies were found in the widely scattered wreckage, which included four partially opened parachutes.

Former Lubbock Man Drowns In Canada

C. A. Pierce of the Lubbock hotel received word late Friday evening that his son, George Edward Pierce, who was at White Horse, Canada, with a construction gang, drowned there. No further information was received.

Pierce was a resident of Lubbock many years and attended school here. His body will be shipped here, the father said.

Nazi Pilots Turn To Suicidal Efforts

LONDON, July 14 (AP) — The Berlin radio said tonight that selected German fighter pilots now were ramming American bombers in suicidal efforts to down the big ships.

Air Minister Goering, said the broadcast, had sent a "letter of appreciation to the luftwaffe assault squadrons which are new special formations for the defense of Germany against American raiders. They consist of airmen whose homes were bombed out and who now specialize in close combat and ramming enemy aircraft."

Reds Capture Pinsk, Break Niemen Line

By RUSSELL C. LANDSTROM
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Saturday, July 15 — The Red Army, pushing westward along a line less than 20 miles from East Prussia, reported today it had broken the Nazis' Niemen river line southeast of Grodno and was closing within seven miles of that big strong point in part of a general advance from the Latvian border region to old Poland.

Among more than 315 towns announced as captured yesterday against slowly stiffening opposition was the German redoubt of Pinsk, 100 miles east of Brest Litovsk, nearly completing liquidation of the Pripyat marshes resistance.

Silent On Nazi Report

Before Grodno, which dispatches this morning indicated was doomed to fall shortly, the Russians announced capture of Verstelishki (Wiercieliszki), seven miles east, and Zhidomlya, eight miles southeast, but were silent on German statements that Soviet patrols already had twice been driven from Grodno itself.

The troops approaching Grodno reached the Niemen river on a wide front, a Soviet communique supplement said, and in a fierce engagement crossed to the west bank of that historic stream which Napoleon crossed in the summer of 1812 to launch his illstarred invasion of Russia.

Moving In Great Bulge

Northwest of newly-taken Wilno, the Russians reported capture of Zholsi, 30 miles from Wilno and only 20 miles southeast of the big Lithuanian city of Kaunas. They were moving up in a great bulge all through that area.

Other outstanding captures of Friday as announced in the regular midnight communique and two orders of the day from Marshal Stalin included Wolkoysk and Skidel, on the approaches to Bialystok and Grodno in old Poland, and the railway station of Opochka, 24 miles east of the Latvian border.

Described As Key Point

A German broadcast tonight quoted a German high command statement as saying Opochka was a key point in one of the "barrier systems" holding back the Russian advance.

A supplement to the Soviet communique said at least 2,500 Germans had been killed and 800 captured in the Opochka sector.

The Germans appeared to be stripping East Prussia of everything except the means of immediate defense.

The London Daily Mail reported that entire war factories were being moved to the interior of Germany proper and quoted a Geneva dispatch as saying 300,000 foreign workers had been withdrawn.

Refugees Pouring Out

Stockholm dispatches said German refugees from the Baltic states were pouring southward.

Closest announced approach to East Prussia was the capture of Druskeniki, a railway town slightly less than 20 miles southeast of the Suwalki district that the Germans annexed to East Prussia in 1939, and 16 miles northeast of Grodno.

At Wolkowysk, a German Major General Engel, commanding the 4th Infantry division, surrendered, it was announced in the Soviet midnight communique, broadcast from Moscow.

American Tanker Is Torpedoed And Sunk

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia, July 14. (AP) — Sinking of the American tanker Harrisburg was disclosed today with the landing of a group of survivors who said the ship had been torpedoed by a German submarine off the Colombian coast.

(The dispatch did not make clear how many of the crew had survived the sinking.)

MORE GREEKS SENTENCED

CAIRO, July 14 (AP) — Twelve ringleaders of the mutiny in the Greek First brigade last April were sentenced to death by a court martial today, bringing to 18 the death sentences in connection with the Army and Navy mutinies.

Special Boards Named For Pearl Harbor Attack Probe

WASHINGTON, July 14. (AP) — Heads of the War and Navy departments today created special boards to inquire into the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

The Navy court will convene Monday to begin its study. A similar board of officers appointed by War Secretary Stimson will hold itself ready for a separate inquiry.

The action complied with terms of a congressional resolution which directed an investigation forthwith "into the facts surrounding the catastrophe."

The Army board is headed by Lt. Gen. George Grunert, who was instructed to hold sessions "at such times and places as are required." Grunert is commanding general of the Eastern Defense command. Other members are Maj. Gen. Henry D. Russell, member of the War department manpower board now stationed at Columbus, Ohio, and Maj. Gen. Walter H. Drank, commanding general of the Army Air Forces Air Service command, with headquarters at Patterson Field, Ohio.

Secretary Forrestal said the Navy court of inquiry, headed by Adm. Orin G. Murfin (ret.), as president, will convene at the Navy department here. Two other members of the court are Adm. Edward C. Kalbfus, (ret.), and Vice Admiral Adolphus Andrews (ret.). The judge advocate general will be Comdr. Harold Biesemeier, of Modesto, Calif.

The court of inquiry will study the circumstances of the attack and is not a step toward opening of court martial proceedings against the commanding officers at Pearl Harbor at the time. These officers, Rer Admiral Husband E. Kimmel of the Navy, and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short of the Army, have been awaiting court martial since for alleged dereliction of duty.

Yanks In Normandy Gain On Wide Front

13 French Towns Taken; German Blow Beaten Off

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Saturday, July 15.—The American First Army pushed south today with gains up to three miles, took 13 French towns, pinned down the coastal stronghold of Lessay with artillery fire and hurled back the stubborn enemy in the center with a blow that menaced the big lateral road linking up the German front.

"The whole U. S. Army front from St. Lo to the sea is on the move," said supreme headquarters, and the night communique declared salients had been driven into enemy defenses before the Lessay-St. Lo road. Some of these positions were less than two miles from the highway.

Sweep Around St. Lo

The communique located the gains on both sides of the Taute river, below Auxais, from 2¼ to 3 miles from the highway, and front dispatches presumably based on later information placed vanguards within two miles in fighting farther east.

Stalled before St. Lo, the Americans began sweeping around to the north, and supreme headquarters said one thrust carried to the outskirts of Le Mesnil Durand, three and a half miles northwest.

The biggest gains came northwest of Lessay, where doughboys sped three miles south and captured St. Germain-Sur-Ay, Lessay's harbor. Germans on a spit of land jutting out two and a half miles west had escaped the trap and fled across the Ay river.

Closing in from the north, where Americans in Beauvais, less than two miles away, were firing into Lessay, other troops seized Laulne, three miles northeast of the coastal anchor.

Nazis "Withdraw"

Nazis Quit Battle, Yanks Plunge On

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, July 14—German resistance to the advancing Americans on the Fifth Army front has suddenly withdrawn, front-line dispatches reported tonight, with the doughboys making gains up to five miles along most of the line in a bid to enter the big port of Livorno (Leghorn) possibly this week-end.

French Take Center

While hard-fighting French troops celebrated Bastille day by capturing the important communications center of Poggibonsi, 21 miles southwest of Florence, after two days of combat in the outskirts, the Americans were moving up against enemy artillery fire described as merely harassing, and against small rear-guard groups of eight to ten German riflemen. An unsuccessful counter-attack by eighty Germans nort hof Castellina was described as a comparatively big action, in sharp contrast with the yard-by-yard fighting advances of the past fortnight.

In their thrust toward the Arno river, the Americans still were running into minefields and demolitions, but the character of German opposition had weakened noticeably during the day after some hard close combat yesterday.

American troops, also digging fiercely into the strong outer defenses of the enemy's "Gothic line," captured the village of San Luce, almost due east of the prized port of Livorno, and tonight were fighting forward over successively lower ridges toward the Arno valley in flanking drives on Livorno and Pisa.

Close-Quarter Battle

In a bloody, close-quarter bayonet and hand grenade engagement the Americans first cleaned out the village of Pastina, two miles south of San Luce, and then repelled a furious Nazi counter-attack as they pressed on through the latter village and dug in on nearby high ground.

Near the center of the 150-mile battle front, British Eighth Army troops drove the Nazis off high ground east of Arezzo and captured Monte Santa Maria. South of Arezzo, British infantry ambushed an enemy patrol.

Upper Tiber Valley

In the upper Tiber valley, the British seized three more commanding heights and patrols pushed within two and a half miles of Citta di Castello. Farther east, Indian troops advanced several miles and repelled German counter-attacks near Colle de Orci. Polish troops made slight gains near the Adriatic and were reported less than eight miles from the port of Ancona.

Mediterranean air forces flew some 1,800 sorties yesterday and last night, concentrating their heaviest blows on railyards and bridges in northern Italy. Six Allied planes were missing, though no enemy fighter opposition was encountered.

Heavies Lash Oil Refineries

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Saturday, July 15.— American heavy bombers from Italy attacked four oil refineries and railyards in and near the Hungarian capital of Budapest yesterday as the worst weather since D-day held operations from the west to no more than 1,000 sorties.

The German radio reported at 1 a. m., however, that raiders were over the Hannover-Brunswick region of the Reich in a night continuation of the daylight attacks on Europe.

Heavily loaded RAF bombers out at low altitude just before nightfall in what appeared to be a cross channel mission—probably the Nazi robot launching sites—and a short time later another force headed for France, flying well above the clouds.

Robot Areas Pounded

RAF Lancasters with fighter escort attacked the flying bomb installations in northern France yesterday afternoon without loss and a small force of Liberator heavy bombers followed pathfinder planes to Amiens and bombed that Somme rail center by instrument.

Approximately 50 fighter-bombers harassed rail lines back of the Normandy front, engaged about 50 German fighters, and shot down six for a loss of four. They damaged 50 freight cars and three locomotives.

Fliers from fields in Normandy struck targets of opportunity despite low-hanging clouds, but because of the weather the brunt of the assault was borne by the airmen from Italy.

Budapest Attacks

In a continuation of the steady effort to destroy Nazi oil supplies and communications, between 250 and 500 of the Mediterranean Mustangs, hit the Fanto, Shell Koolaz and Hungary Petroleum company refineries outside Budapest, and the Petfurdo refinery five miles to the southwest.

Liberators singled out the last target, while the first three, having a total yearly capacity of 358,000 tons of crude oil, were hit by Flying Fortresses. Liberators also attacked Budapest's Ferencuaros railyards.

The raiders ran into considerable fighter opposition over the targets and a number of the enemy were destroyed.

Nazis Lose Track Of British Refugees

IRON, Spain, July 14 (AP)—German railway officials were forced to admit today that they did not know the exact location of three train-loads of British refugees enroute to Lisbon to be exchanged for approximately 900 Germans.

It was apparent that Maquis (French underground) leaders who control the territory between Bordeaux and Toulouse alone could say when any of the trains could get through.

Industry Cool To Lifting Of Ban On Postwar Car Models

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 14.— Members of the automobile industry advisory committee displayed a lack of enthusiasm today at news from the War Production board that they are free after next week to design new passenger car models against the day of Germany's collapse.

Without a dissenting voice, the top automobile executives reported that their designers and engineers are still so tied up with a continuing and even increasing burden of munitions work that it probably would be impossible to offer cars very radically different from the 1942 models.

Plans Called Unrealistic

Members of the committee said also they preferred to pass over two major items on WPB's meeting agenda, on grounds that it was "unrealistic" to make plans now which might be affected by unforseeable circumstances in the future.

The meeting therefore broke up without action on these two widely heralded proposals:

First, a request that each company present figures on the minimum production rate at which it could reasonably resume the manufacture of passenger cars. WPB officials have aimed at an industry-wide starting goal of about 2,150,000 a year, about half of 1941 production.

Parts And Materials

Second, the so-called "blue order" plan, under which each manufacturer would place orders for parts and materials for civilian cars, the orders to be filled at some later time when WPB gives the go-ahead signal. The plan was offered as a means of clearing up priority and paper work ahead of actual reconversion, besides revealing potential bottlenecks.

The industry representatives gave warm approval, however, to the WPB order, to be issued July 29, permitting manufacturers to place purchase orders now for machine tools which will be needed when limited production is resumed.

Middle West Support Predicted For Dewey

ALBANY, N. Y., July 14 (AP)— "Tremendous" middle west support for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was predicted today by Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Republican congressional campaign committee chairman.

At a press conference after a two-hour meeting with Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, Halleck said Dewey would be elected and "we will have a Republican House of Representatives." There are now 212 Republicans in the House, where 218 is a majority.

Halleck, who placed Wendell L. Willkie in nomination for President at the 1940 Republican convention, expressed belief Willkie would back Dewey. He added, however, that he had not talked with or seen Willkie recently.

Out in New York, Willkie laughed and remarked, "I don't believe I have had a talk with Charlie in two years."

Ceilings On Canned Meat To Be Reduced

WASHINGTON, July 14. (U.P.)— The Office of Price administration today extended its previously announced 10 per cent reduction in meat ceilings to include the canned variety and said that consumers would receive the full benefit of the cut.

OPA explained that because retail prices are based on a percentage markup over cost price, any reduction in the original cost of the meat ingredients would automatically bring a drop in the ceiling price to consumers.

The order is effective Aug. 4.

BACKS FAVORITE SON

RALEIGH, N. C., July 14 (U.P.)— Former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels said today on his departure for the Democratic national convention that the North Carolina delegation would definitely present the name of Gov. J. Melville Broughton for the vice presidential nomination.

Polio Victim's SOS Brings Speedy Aid

DALLAS, July 14 (AP)—The second SOS in two weeks from an 18-year-old paralysis victim in an iron lung at Groesbeck, Limestone county, brought aid today.

The respirator in which Troy Lewis has been living several months faltered. Mrs. George Pittman, Texas representative for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, sent out an emergency call for a replacement. Three were offered. One was trucked to Groesbeck today. Tomorrow Lewis is to be transferred to the new tank-like enclosure while the old lung is brought to Dallas for repairs.

Last June 29 the lung failed to function at all, and technicians sped to the scene and repaired it while Lewis urged them on for fear he would die outside the instrument.

NEGROES FAVOR DEWEY

CHICAGO, July 14. (AP)—A poll today of 220 delegates to the wartime conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People showed 132 favoring Dewey for president and 88 for Roosevelt. Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, who took the poll, announced.

July 14, 1944.

DEAR:—

This has been a week filled with interesting news for civilians and the military personnel.

Of interest to thousands of Tech exes is announcement that Dr. William Marvin Whyburn has been announced as successor to Dr. Clifford B. Jones as president of Texas Technological college. He is a 42-year-old Texan and nationally celebrated mathematician who has been on the faculty at the University of California at Los Angeles for the past 16 years. In addition to his work at the university, Dr. Whyburn has been serving as a mathematical consultant in manufacture of certain war materials.

The new president was a member of the original Tech faculty in 1925-26, serving as associate professor of mathematics. He will not take up his duties here until in September.

Although first primary is next Saturday, absentee voting is continuing light, according to Ed D. Allen, county clerk. Less vacations at a distance undoubtedly has affected the total.

Campaigning has continued lighter than any time we can remember, due mainly to tire and gas shortages. The candidates send or bring their cards to voters and a number has spoken over KFYO.

Only 48 absentee ballots had been voted here by mid-week.

South Plain's largest wheat crop since 1929 has been cut and much of it remains on the ground, due largely to labor shortage on farms and at terminal elevators. Markets are glutted because there is no sufficient labor coefficient to unload wheat at storage elevators.

Wheat on the ground is subjected to the vagaries of South Plains weather and incidentally we have had such marvelous rains recently prospects are good for another big cotton crop. Rainfall last Sunday night in Lubbock amounted to 2.03 inches.

Former Lubbockites now in service have been home on leaves and are we ever glad to see them!

Lt. Vernon Herndon, Hilton hotel manager on leave until victory, has gone to his new station in San Diego after visiting here with friends. Previously stationed in Hawaii, Lt. Herndon is completely well after an illness caused by stomach ulcers.

Pfc. A. L. Hawkins, jr., USMC, is in Lubbock on leave after 23 months in the Southwest Pacific and will report to San Francisco July 20 for re-assignment. He is one of the 1,200 out of the First Marine division back home on the rotation plan.

Capt. Chas. E. Arnold, who recently returned to the U. S. after completing 30 combat bombing missions over Europe, is spending a few days in Lubbock, visiting his wife and friends at LAAF. He wears the DFC, Air Medal, three Oak Leaf clusters and the Presidential Citation ribbon with two clusters.

Maj. Jack Payne of El Paso, operations officer at South Plains Army Air field, has been transferred to Sheppard field.

After writing our letter last week we discovered that Lt. Chas. Snure's cabelgram stating he was all right was sent before the date on which he was listed as missing.

Lt. E. F. Peschau, jr., son-in-law of Col. Thomas L. Gilbert, now of the Pacific wing of the transport command, is believed to have died in the crash of his plane into the ocean in the Central Pacific combat area where he served as a bombardier. His wife and small daughter are making their home with Mrs. Gilbert in Lubbock.

Memorial services were held in Rotan this week for Lt. James R. Counts, jr., 25, who was killed in action over Germany May 24. He was a bombardier on a B-17. Mrs. Counts, the former Juanita Walker, is a nurse at Lubbock General hospital.

Flight Officer John W. Jones of Ralls, graduate of Class 43-5 at SPAAF, has been admitted to the McCloskey General hospital, being among the first group of the D-day wounded to arrive at the hospital. He described his precarious moments in a glider over the Normandy beachhead. He was wounded in the left arm by a machine gun five minutes before he set the glider down.

Pfc. Jack W. Cook, son of Mrs. J. W. Cook of Lubbock, was featured on "We the People" program radio program Sunday night. Wounded while engaging the enemy in battle with other members of his Marine unit on Saipan island, Cook is now in a Naval hospital.

Charles Akey, who has served as golf pro at the Lubbock Country club for more than seven years, has resigned and his post will be taken by Herbert Schroeder, veteran Dallas golf pro. In recent months, Akey has been busy with war work as a flying instructor at a local field.

A number of new fighter songs for Texas Tech college will soon roll off the presses of Thornton Allen and company, according to Dr. Clifford B. Jones.

Goodbye for a while.

Eyes will lose their tired look if a speck of vaseline is spread very thinly over the lids.

SPAAF Graduation Set This Morning

With several weeks of the most intensive training in the AAF Training command behind them, a big group of glider pilots will receive silver wings with the engraved "G" in graduation ceremonies this morning at South Plains Army Air field.

The graduation program has been set for 10 o'clock in the post theater at the field. Close friends and relatives of the graduating officers will be in the audience.

Capt. Elmer W. Browning of Humbolt, Tenn., operations officer of a training group at SPAAF, and Lt. William W. King of Coleman, Texas, operations officer of a glider training group, will present the men with their wings. Capt. Harry M. Davis of San Antonio, school secretary, will administer the oath of office. Music will be furnished by the SPAAF band.

Highlight of the ceremony will be the presentation of specially engraved silver glider pilot wings to the outstanding soldiers and best athletes of the group.

Several Texans are included in the group.

Flight Engineer Lands Safely After Plunge From Superfortress

ENID, Okla., July 14. (U.P.)—The presence of mind of a civilian flight engineer aboard a B-29 Superfortress in not pulling the ripcord of his parachute while in the sub-stratosphere was credited today with saving his life.

How Joseph E. Claymore, 38, of the Oklahoma Air Service command, was thrown from the Superfortress while on a routine high altitude flight near Enid, was not disclosed. He received only minor lacerations on his head and legs when he landed in a field south of the Enid Army Air field.

Falling through space in the sub-stratosphere reminded Claymore, a veteran of World war II, of being drawn into a giant air tunnel. The pressure was terrific, he said, but having been advised in advance on the proper procedure for parachuting from a high altitude, he delayed pulling the ripcord until he was sure there was sufficient oxygen.

News Briefs

Pledging Greek-letter social fraternities at the University of Texas recently were three South Plains boys, it was announced by Herschel R. Gipson, assistant dean of men. They are Karl Bowen King, jr., Kappa Alpha, and Robert Spencer Dennis, Phi Psi, both of Lubbock; and Ralph E. McLaughlin, Kappa Sigma, Ralls.

Word has been received by Coach John A. Bost of Brownfield that his nephew, Sgt. James Weldon Mellody, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Mellody of Royce City, has been missing in action since June 24. Sergeant Mellody, an aerial gunner on a B-26 bomber and holder of the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf clusters, attended Texas Technological college three years prior to his enlistment in 1942.

J. W. Deering, sr., of 1301 Twenty-fifth street, received a letter Friday from his son, Pfc. Harold W. Deering, which he believes to be the first news from any Lubbock boy who fought at Saipan. Private Deering, a Marine corps rifleman, wrote no details of fighting, but related he had a number of "Jap souvenirs."

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—The development of a new flight instrument, enabling a pilot to execute all aerobatic maneuvers without visual reference to the ground, was announced today by the Sperry Gyroscope company.

The attitude gyro—as the instrument is called—provides the pilot with a picture of his position in relation to the earth's surface at all times.

MANDEL REPORTED KILLED

Scurry County Rodeo To Close Tonight

SNYDER, July 14. (Special)—A record breaking crowd is expected for Saturday night's final round of the Snyder-Scurry county eighth annual rodeo, closing after a four day run here.

Prize offerings total $2,500. Second night winners in the cowgirl sponsor event included Mrs. Boyd Epperson of Jacksboro and Helen Barron of Lamesa who tied for first place, time 11 4/5 seconds. Close second with a timing of 3 seconds was Judy Hays, representing the ZT ranch.

Wood Byrd copped first place in 20 seconds for round one of the wild calf belling and Gaston Brock was winner of round two in 16.2 seconds. Clay Smith, jr., was acclaimed number one calf roper in 15 seconds.

Rodeo dances have attracted heavy crowds and a complete sell-out for tonight is predicted by Jesse Koonsman, association president.

Candidate Freed On Bond After Fight

FORT WORTH, July 14. (U.P.) — Marvin Beaty, candidate for State Representative, was free under two $1,000 bonds today on charges of assault to murder growing out of the political-meeting stabbing last night of State Rep. Marvin B. Simpson, jr., and his father, Marvin B. Simpson, sr.

The legislator, now a lieutenant, junior grade, in the Merchant Marine, and his father were stabbed during an altercation following young Simpson's speech asking re-election to the legislature.

Beaty surrendered to police and admitted stabbing the two men, saying he used a pen knife when he feared he would be hurt. He said he was struck during the fight.

The elder Simpson still was in a serious condition in a local hospital today, while the son was at his home and had hopes of resuming his speaking schedule tonight. Beaty said today he would fill his speaking engagements.

Dusty bulbs and lamp shades waste electricity, giving from 20 to 50 per cent less light.

EX-SENATOR DIES — Fairfax, Va., July 14. (AP)—Former United States Senator Joseph Little Bristow of Kansas, a joint author of the 17th amendment providing for election of senators by a popular vote, died of a heart attack at his country estate near here today. He was 83. A former Kansas newspaper owner and editor, Bristow had been a fourth assistant postmaster general from 1897 to 1905. During that time he conducted two investigations into postal frauds, resulting in a reorganization of the United States and Cuban postal systems.

Penicillin Tests As Syphilis Cure Begun

WASHINGTON, July 14. (U.P.)—Mass tests of the use of penicillin as a cure for syphilis in the early stages have begun and, if successful, they will arm science with a "powerful new weapon" against the disease, the Office of War Information said today.

The OWI on the basis of reports from the U. S. Public Health service said allotments of penicillin are now being received by the 36 rapid treatment centers established throughout the country for treatment of venereal diseases, and that the first patients are now being treated.

Some time will elapse, however, the OWI cautioned, before the precise effectiveness of the use of penicillin against syphilis can be determined. The "wonder drug" already has proved highly successful in the treatment of gonorrhea cases which would not respond to sulfa drugs.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands: One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

In The National Interest

REGARDLESS of the personalities involved, the attention being paid in both major parties this year to the identities of their vice presidential nominees is good for the United States.

In national elections of the past, little attention has been paid in either party to the quality of the second man on the ticket. He usually has been chosen because of the accident of his residence in a doubtful state. Strangely enough, the only major party vice presidential nominee who has been able to carry his home state in any of the last three national elections was John Nance Garner of Texas in 1932 and 1936. In the 1940 contest, Wallace of Iowa and McNary of Oregon each saw his home state cast its electoral vote for the opposing ticket.

It has been both unfortunate and dangerous that an office of such potential importance should have been made a political football. Of the 31 men who have served the United States as President, six have died in office, three by assassination. This mortality rate of one in five has been very high, considering that the welfare of a great nation is involved. It is a rate which should demand that any man selected as a vice presidential nominee be of presidential stature. He should be chosen with full thought to the possibility that he might become President.

The Republican nominee, Governor Bricker of Ohio, seems to measure up to this standard. If the Republicans should win next November, it will be re-assuring to know that a man of his quality will be at hand to carry on should anything happen to the President.

Furthermore, leaders in the Democratic party seem to be giving more thought to the vice presidential nomination than in a great many years. Perhaps these studies will come to nothing. But is a favorable indication that they are thinking in terms of a vice presidential nominee selected for reasons of quality instead of political ideality or geography.

Seed of this kind will produce its harvest eventually, if not this year. And the harvest reasonably can be expected to be a stronger, sounder government for the United States.

More Bungling Bureaucracy

EXPERIENCES with the new wheat crop offer the most recent reasons for the widespread lack of confidence in much of official Washington.

As everyone should be well aware, Washington has been screaming for months on end for record crop production. "More food for victory," has been the cry. Innumerable conferences have been held — including several in Lubbock. So what happens?

Well, so far as wheat is concerned, the farmers have delivered in a large way. They have produced the crop. And what do they find? The elevators and other places of storage already are overflowing. Cars to move the wheat are inexcusably inadequate, with full allowance for war conditions, to move the crop, if there was a place to store it. Millions of bushels are being dumped upon the ground where some of it, if not much of it, is sure to spoil unless relief is immediate. And there is neither promise nor prospect of early relief.

Meanwhile, many of the administration officials are playing the old game of passing the buck. Some insist it was their job to get the crop produced, and not to take care of it after it was produced. Others alibi that they could not anticipate the conditions that have arisen. Presumably no one in the administration gave much thought to the question: "What will be done with the wheat, if we get it?" Surely, if anyone had done a little thinking along this line, some sort of preparations could have been made to take care of some of the crop. Or, they could have discovered that facilities were lacking to protect the wheat and could have recommended other crops which could be cared for. Instead, they waited for the farmer to discover at the time of harvest that he would have to care for his crop as best he could.

The whole thing is more than slightly unsatisfactory. If the administration bureaucrats set up a clamor for all-out food production next year, they need not be surprised if wheat farmers retort: "Why? So that it can spoil on the ground?"

"Don't put off until tomorrow that which you can do today"—for by then there will probably be a law against it or a higher tax on it.

Nine times out of ten the person who asks you a question isn't seeking information. He either wants to tell you his answer, or he's trying to start an argument.

The One Minute Sermon

I will extol thee, O Lord; for thou hast lifted me up and made my foes to rejoice over me.

O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou hast healed me.

O Lord, thou hast brought up my soul from the grave: thou hast kept me alive, that I should not go down to the pit.

Sing unto the Lord, O ye sanits of his, and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness. Psalms 32: 1 through 4.

The day was interminable for Pinky. It worried the old man to watch him worry. A dozen times that day he tried to drop encouraging little hints to Pinky: First, the fact that Timothy had been down there before. "Don't you remember, Pinky, when your mother was sick? I sent him that time." Pinky only nodded. And then for a while the old-man tried just talking about Timothy—remarking how, for all his faults, Timothy's was one of the finest characters in this world. He reminded Pinky of how, just before Timothy died, he got up out of his death bed, yelled for a hammer and nails, and nailed that banging shutter there at the bedroom window. Nailed it fast and then went back to bed and died. "Energetic to the last."

"Oh, he's energetic enough," Pinky admitted, then with sudden intense feeling: "Look, you don't have to try to sell him to me. I've loved him all my life. Only, I just happen to know how he is about errands."

Evening was worse. God made a great effort at dinner. Julie said, afterwards, that she'd never seen him so nice and putting himself out so much, to make things so pleasant. But that was because Rion was there—and because Emily was watching Rion's face so eagerly and was so pleased when God talked to him just like anybody, like he was one of theirs.

But afterwards, when Emily and Rion had found their own corner of the porch, the old man just sort of hung around like one lost. Then, finally, muttering something about "going out to turn up the stars a little brighter—have a messenger out, you know," he started down the steps.

"Want to come, Pinky?"

"If you don't mind."

Pinky sat at the base of the large rock that was known as Lookout Point, waiting for God to come down. The old man had gone up to the top of the rock a few minutes before with his star-lighter. Maybe it was a few minutes. Maybe it was hours. All time was like that to Pinky. But now he heard him climbing down.

"My, that was a job." God was panting a little. "Funny thing happened, too. One little star . . . I was raising all hell with it . . . couldn't get it to brighten a bit. Know what, son?" The old man sat down beside him, shook his head, chuckled faintly. "It wasn't a star at all . . . it was the taillight of an airplane!"

Pinky shook his head. "Excuse me, Father, for changing the subject, but—"

"You're not changing any subject. It's on my mind too, Pinky."

"Will Timothy come by this way?"

"Should."

"But look—" Pinky's gray eyes were filled with tenseness. "you must know what happened! Why don't you tell me?"

"Because I don't know, Pinky. I've been afraid to look."

They sat in silence for a while. Then suddenly: "Father, why don't you destroy all that mess down there?"

"That's what they don't understand, I'm not a destructive person, Pinky. I've tried. I just can't."

"But if you just got angry a little."

"Oh, I've been angry—" and the old man told him about all the times that he'd brought storms and floods, but how it hadn't done any good. "They just don't listen to that anymore."

"Maybe a miracle?"

"There's even less hope for that. Don't you realize, Pinky, how they've out-miracled me for the last half century?"

Never had Pinky felt so sorry for him as he did now, and yet the old man wasn't really bitter about it. He told Pinky of how he had once opened the sea, and of how man now drew music and words right out of the air. He mentioned the visions that he'd shown them down through the years . . . and yet what were visions compared to the miracle of seeing something in a tiny box that was happening hundreds of miles away?

Faintly, in the distance, they heard the weird ghostly shriek of air-raids sirens.

"Lights going off again all over the world." God shook his head, then looked up at the sky, and a glow of pride came into his eyes and into his voice: "They'll never put my stars out though!"

Pinky had fallen asleep. But there were voices somewhere now, and he struggled to wake. Timothy's voice and the old man's. He forced his eyes open, saw the two of them standing in front of him—not looking at him though, but bending over a tiny bundle. And there was a voice from the bundle too . . . the small, thin, crying voice of a baby.

Pinky sprang up, in wild terror. "You got there too late!"

Timothy turned to face him, and there were tears in his eyes. "Don't you want to look at her, Pinky? She's so darlin'."

Sobbing, Pinky turned and fled down the narrow path which led back to the town.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

THE last luncheon of The Banshees, that famous club of artists, writers, publishers, newspapermen and others prominent in the professions and in public life, was given in honor of S. S. McClure, 83-year-old publisher and editor.

There was singing and comedy and other entertainment, and then the venerable guest of honor made his speech.

Only four minutes had been allotted to him—the Banshees don't like speech-making—but when he had used up his time, 300 blase men shouted "More! More!"

So, McClure, a bit feeble on his feet but as strong as ever in mind, went on.

He told of how he persuaded Robert Louis Stevenson to go to the South Seas for him, he told of other famous authors whom he had signed up, and the audience listened, spellbound, to every word.

Then, McClure told of his own career. How he came here from Ireland, as a boy, with just a dollar in his pocket. How he went looking for jobs and did all the usual menial chores of the young immigrant.

But when he told of his marriage and how his wife struggled with him and helped him climb the ladder of success and shared his joys and his sorrows alike with him, there were tears in many an eye, and every last one of the celebrities present realized that, after all, success is not in how high you go but in how you act and what you put into life while climbing.

When his talk was almost done, McClure said that he did not think he was qualified to give advice to others.

"But if I were asked," he said, "what I consider the most essential things in life, I would say, after many years of living, that they are kipdness and integrity."

KINDNESS and INTEGRITY.

Here is a wealthy man, a man who has hob-nobbed with kings and millionaires and giants of mind and pocket-book, who gives as his most important qualifications for success two character traits which are within the reach of everyone.

You are limited in brain power. You can't get rich unless you have the knack of making money. You may not have the power of speech that makes you a great politician, the power of thought that makes you a great author, the power of creation that makes you a great artist, the power of grasp that makes you a millionaire.

But kindness and integrity are yours from earliest childhood. You need not acquire them, but you may lose them.

What none of your other gifts or talents may get you, kindness and integrity will—happiness and the joy of living.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

SIDNEY HILLMAN'S overnight revision of his fourth-term money-raising schemes was not actuated by fear of administration harassment. The CIO political boss's plan to tap war workers for a $5,000,000 fund, if necessary, had been approved by Attorney General Biddle and by the Democrat-controlled Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures.

In public and private utterances FDR's real "national chairman" had given assurance that these two agencies would not molest him. So his aides were amazed when self-assured Sidney announced a change in the method of collecting cash—which may cut down contributions.

Hereafter, instead of demanding large gifts from industrial unions, ranging from $1,000 to $10,000 dollars, he will depend on each individual worker to send in whatever amount he feels he can afford.

SMART: The explanation lies in the attack on CIO political activities made before the War Labor board by T. F. Patton. He appeared as counsel for corporations opposing the Hillman-Murray attempt to obtain higher wages for their men by smashing the Little Steel formula.

The Patton barrage went unreported because these hearings have dragged for months and reporters have lost interest in them. The war and 1944 politics yield hotter news for the front and inside pages.

But the steel firms' lawyer made a deep impression on board members representing industry and the public, especially Frank Graham, the able and conscientious president of the University of North Carolina. Hillman's scouts told him of the incident and he scurried for legal and political safety. Sidney is smart, no matter what may be said of his current role.

STRIKES: Quoting from WLB's own decision, Patton recalled the fundamental reason for granting maintenance for membership and check-off rights to the unions. It is these two provision that have made the CIO numerically powerful and have filled its treasuries.

The first stipulates that employes cannot withdraw from a dominant union unless they resign during a specified 15-day "escape period." The second requires that the employer deduct union dues and turn them over to Hillman's internal revenue men. The advantages to the organizers and leaders in Washington are obvious.

The benefits, the lawyer stated, were extended with the expectation that they would tend to make unions strong and responsible. It was anticipated, and so the board declared, that the arrangement would terminate plant disputes and forestall strikes. Citing the record, Patton argued that they had not produced these beneficial effects.

MONEY: Then he charged that Hillman was using check-off collections not to improve industrial relationships but to pile up a fund for "political blackmail."

Well-paid lobbyists and politicos in Washington, he said, assessed the amount of payments and used them secretly for partisan and personal purposes. Next, Patton delivered a blow which shook Sidney's back teeth.

Union members, he pointed out, have no voice in determining how their money shall be spent. Many of them, presumably, do not favor a fourth term or the leftist candidates nominated and backed by the CIO and its affiliates.

He also presented evidence showing that workers had tried to quit Hillman's organizations by taking advantage of the 'escape clause." But the letters containing their resignations have been left unopened deliberately until the period for taking a walk had expired. In short, the revolt has been suppressed—or not recognized—by the garment worker from Manhattan. These disclosures reveal why Hillman recently re-tailored his New Deal suit of clothes.

BONDS: Treasury experts privately plead guilty in a serious miscalculation in planning the War Loan Drive.

The over-all total of 16 billion dollars was obtained, but purchases by individuals who will hold the securities ot maturity has fallen below the quota. Moreover, the blunder may mean that fairly immediate redemptions will run into millions, thus defeating the purpose of the sale.

The mistake lay in permitting negotiable issues to be sold. That tended to play into the hands of speculators who cash their holdings even on a fractional increase in value. It furnished a market for brokers who would have had to buy these types anyway, and permitted them to make a patriotic virtue of necessity. Hoy long they will keep these bonds is a $64 question for Secretary Morgenthau.

The situation has had curious repercussions in farming areas, where the largest auction buyers walk off with heifers, cows and sows contributed as rewards by the local gentry. The town banker or merchant was able to top all bidders by taking the negotiables in large amounts. His poorer neighbors could afford only a few hundred dollars' worth of the long-time, noninterest-bearing notes. So the big shot drags down the animals his townspeople have given and gets his picture in the paper—and later may sneak to the nearest Federal Reserve bank to redeem his stuff.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

NEW YORK business executives are more worried than they care to admit about the uncertainties of reconversion. Problems of transition and employment are stupendous and complicated. Many blueprints have been sketched but Washington procrastinates in putting them in force.

One difficulty is a new clash over policies. One faction wants to dispose of federal surplus property at bargain prices to big corporations. Another demands that it be placed within the reach of smaller firms and individuals.

Donald Nelson, despite Army-Navy objection, sticks to his original order that excess aluminum and magnesium shall be realesd for civilian goods. A powerful bloc in the WPB held up his decree on the ground that it would give an unfair competitive advantage to some branches of the metals industry.

These disputes are not political in the narrow partisan sense; they are battles between rival groups of industrialists and economists, each fighting for its own theory or self-interest.

ASLEEP: Practical suggestions for reconversion are found in surveys made by the Truman committee, in the Baruch-Hancock report, the 16-point recommendations of the Senate Postwar Economic Policy and Planning committee and proposals by other researchers.

Private organizations and industrial associations have worn out mimeograph machines piling up documents on the subject. A special committee of the House also is at work.

Business will be handicapped in making arrangements for production and jobs until the authorities distribute the rule book. But Congress has recessed. When its members return from vacation, they will shy from offending voters until after November.

This unwillingness to accept responsibility prompts the Magazine of Wall Street to charge: "Republicans are as asleep at the switch as the Democrats in planning for unwinding the war econmy."

Somebody must have been telling the OPA some facts of life. It has just released this statement: "Cabbage seed (Brassica capitata) is the seed used to grow cabbage."

Roosevelt said in 1936 that we had a rendezvous with Destiny. From the way things have shaped up since, however, we'd say it was a blind date with Fate.

"The modern woman is fast learning to give and take," asserts an editor. If so, she is taking an elementary course in giving and a post-graduate course in taking.

A woman can't wrap a man around her little finger if he has a backbone.

Chilean Federal Policemen Get Instruction In Austin

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, July 14. (AP)—Despite temperatures soaring near the 100-degree mark, six Chilean federal days in Austin boarded a train for their return trip carrying heavy overcoats and gloves.

The reason: Chile is chilly and they did not know what kind of weather they would encounter in the United States so the overcoats and gloves were brought along.

The South American policemen were guests of Texas police, who taught them techniques and methods long used in Texas. Only in Texas, they said, did they receive a complete course of instruction in state police methods. Previously they had visited state police organizations in New York, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Chilean police serve a year and a half in the army and then attend police academy for two years. They must speak Spanish, English and French.

Keeps His Hand In

Sheriff Rip Collins of Travis county, former big league baseball player, finds time to keep his hand in the game by managing Austin's entry in the Junior American Legion statewide baseball tournament.

TEXANS, lift your hats to the people of Floresville (population 1,800) down in Wilson county. For the second year in succession Floresville schools report sales of $253,132 in war stamps and bonds—admissions to a series of five monthly concerts, tops for the state. Floresville also had the highest average attendance at concerts among 35 competing schools.

Why should a small community purchase so many war securities?

Perhaps Editor Sam Fore, jr., of the Floresville Chronicle-Journal has the answer.

He wrote the State Department of Education which sponsors the concerts jointly with Texas Music Educators' association.

"People of all walks of life, of all races and creeds, took part in the various programs and it was a thrilling manifestation of real patriotism to see fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, buy war bonds and stamps at the band concerts for a son or brother in service.

"It was no uncommon sight for an aged Latin-American mother to bring her widow's mite to the concert, tied in a handkerchief, and say 'I want to buy a bond for my boy in North Africa.'

"Tiny school tots would save their nickels and pennies for war stamps."

Wilson county has more than 1,000 men in the armed forces. It is a diversified farming area. E. F. Woolsey, jr., is chairman of its War Bond committee.

Good Reminder

Maj. Gen. Harry H. Johnson, a Texan and the Allied Military Government's administrator for Rome, once commanded the 56th cavalry brigade with headquarters at Fort McIntosh, Laredo, where he had placed above the door of the guard house a sign reading:

"All who enter here help Hitler."

UNIVERSITIES, like business establishments, expand and enter new fields of competition.

University of Texas President Homer P. Rainey explains that the school is one of four in the South that hold membership in the Association of American Universities.

He says therefore that Texas is not competing so much with other institutions in the South as it is with the Universities of Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and California.

In his annual report given at June commencement exercises Dr. Rainey said the University of Texas now probably ranks sixth or seventh in the United States with respect to total endowment. (The university's permanent fund now totals $43,466,947). Harvard university is in first place with a $150,000,000 endowment. But Texas probably is second or third among state universities on the basis of productive endowment. Four or five of the top institutions—based on endowment—are private schools.

Off The Cuff

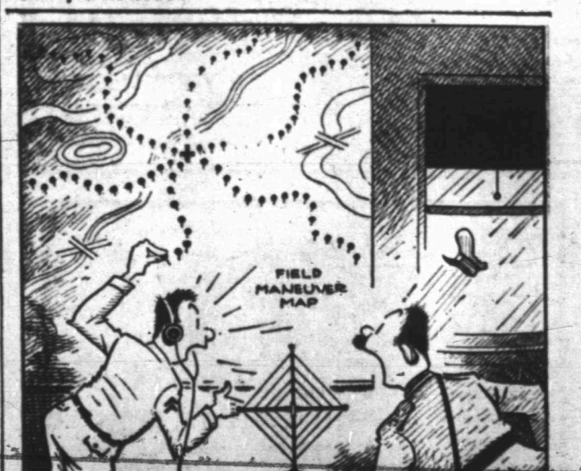

The chaste walls of the capitol will blossom with a mural depicting the jurisdiction of one important state department. Details will be announced soon. The health of former Vice-President John N. Garner, who now spends his days tending his pecan groves in Uvalde, is fine, say recent visitors. Garner celebrates his 75th birthday next Nov. 22. University of Texas news service advises that Dr. Otto Struve of McDonald Observatory at a meeting in Philadelphia gave support for "the so-called self-absorption or expanding shell hypothesis as an explanation for emission lines in the spectra of certain stars against the more sensational gravitational hypothesis." The number of cases in the Criminal Appeals court this year was considerably below that of last year but one justice looks for an increase at war's end. Many criminals and potential criminals are now in the armed forces, he says, either through clemency or acceptance of service rather than prosecution.

LEADERS LACK BIDS

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Favorites were plentiful in today's stock market but, as in the past several sessions, many leaders lacked sound bids and were left to languish in the minus ranks.

Ahead were Bethlehem, General Motors, N. Y. Central, Pressed Steel Car, Goodrich, International Harvester, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, Philip Morris and Douglas Aircraft.

DALLAS, July 14. (AP)—During the past school year Texas school boys and girls bought $20,980,846.92 in war bonds and stamps, the War Finance committee of Texas said today.

The figure was based on reports by 175 Texas counties with 1,278,861 participating students. Committee officials estimated that an average of $20 per pupil for those participating was invested in the nine-month period.

Committee Chairman Nathan Adams said "we must give credit to the Texas director of our schools-at-war program, Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, for a magnificent job."

tion, likewise with 18 votes, is divided on the vice-presidential question and will caucus Monday on it.

Mrs. Norton said she would be for "whomever the President wants."

The New Jersey congresswoman herself has been mentioned for second place on the ticket, but she said she didn't believe the time was ripe for a woman in that position.

While word came from the big 72-vote Pennsylvania delegation at Harrisburg that it would go to the man the President desires, Gessner T. McCorvey, chairman of the Alabama State Democratic Executive committee, said at Mobile that "a number" of party chairmen in 14 southern states agree with his suggestion that Dixie delegates unite behind a strong southerner for the second place nomination.

McCormack, House Democratic leader, told reporters the platform markers should "take realistic action if we are going to prevent another war 25 years from now."

Roosevelt Is Platform

"I think the platform is Roosevelt," D'Alesandro asserted.

"Roosevelt has got to win or fall on his record the same as a congressman wins or falls on his."

Pepper, carrying around a 400-word proposed platform of his own making, said: "We want a short platform and one that says what we mean. We will not write a platform like the Republicans did, that will permit us to go either way. Our obligation is to chart the country's course through victory to a permanent peace."

airforce in eastern China, is 18 miles southwest of Hengyang, scene of the fiercest fighting in China this year.

Chungking admitted the Japanese had again encircled Hengyang and pushed 32 miles farther down the Hankow-Canton railway toward the coast. Apparently fearful of the fall of Hengyang, Chinese military authorities ordered civilians evacuated from Lichow, more than 200 miles southwest of Hengyang and 100 miles southwest of Kweilin.

Area Heavily Bombed

American air forces heavily damaged enemy installations at Tengchung, encircled keypoint of Japan's defense of the Yunnan province sector of the Burma road. Chinese were attacking the eastern gate of the walled city.

The war in the Pacific was all-American, despite a determined and well-planned attack by 45,000 by-passed Japanese on northern New Guinea.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz promised his forces would use Saipan, once "the principal fortress guarding the southern approaches to Japan," as a base for further cracking the enemy's inner defense line.

"Soil Conservation" Day Is Proclaimed

AUSTIN, July 14 (UP)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson by proclamation today designated Aug. 18 as a day for "soil conservation."

The proclamation said that since enactment of the soil conservation districts' law by the Texas legislature, more than 100 soil conservation districts have been established, involving 300,000 farms and ranches, totaling more than 96,000,000 acres.

"Soil conservation is the foundation for a more rewarding agriculture, a sound economy and a guarantee of adequate soil resources to provide for the present and future needs of our people," the proclamation said.

Normandy Front

On some parts of the Lessay sector, the Americans advanced against waning resistance, particularly on the east where they drove to Pissot, less than two miles due east of the anchor town, supreme headquarters announced at midnight.

But the Germans were known to have from 11 to 12 divisions on the American front, apparently massed for a desperate defense.

In abandoning the point of land west of Lessay, the Germans yielded without a fight the villages of Sallenel, La Gaverie, Fenouillerie and Frocqueville.

Take Town And Withdraw

In the center, midway between St. Lo and Periers, the Americans captured the crossroads town of Les Champs de Losque, then withdrew under strong German pressure.

On the British flank, supreme headquarters disclosed the Tommies had withdrawn from hill 112 in the Odon-Orne wedge and described this as a withdrawal from an untenable position left in no-man's-land.

Unable to advance frontally against the ruins of St. Lo, the Americans deepened the line on the south in a drive which overran La Barre de Semilly, two miles east and took the highest ground in that sector. They now control four of the nine roads leading into the city.

Nazis Thow In Reserves

The Germans threw reserves in to try to hold the tide, and loosed fierce tank counterattacks to slow the advance along the 48-mile front, but it appeared their recklessness had cost them dearly in the center.

Here, north of Periers, the doughboys swept up four towns, linked forces moving out of the marshes, and fought to high and dry ground, in some places strewn with corpses and littered with more than a dozen tanks wrecked in an abortive German attempt to cut the beachhead in half.

The seizure of Auxais, Esaubris and La Vincenterie, all a few miles north and east of Periers, put the Americans on firm ground within two miles of the Germans' vital lateral road from St. Lo to Periers and added to the menace to both strongholds.

Stalemate At Caen

While the U. S. armed might was liberating French towns and territory on this independence day for France, a stalemate continued on the Caen front where the British were building up for fresh battles.

The Germans, however, improved their positions east of the Orne river northeast of Caen with the capture of St. Honorine Chardonnerette in recent counterattacks, supreme headquarters revealed.

The weather was bad again, and only fighter-bombers were out in force, attacking German rail communications to Normandy. One group attacked a German headquarters near Lessay.

The Gallup Poll Reports:

U. S. Is Evenly Divided On Subject Of Beer For Navy

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 14.—Unlike the British "Tar" who has from time immemorial received his daily ration of "Nelson's Blood" (rum) while at sea, the U. S. sailor can slake his thirst only on dreams of a foam - topped beer at the next port—sometimes many weeks away.

GALLUP

Vice Admiral H. K. Hewitt, obviously a sailor's sailor, recently recommended that the U. S. Navy lift its shipboard ban on beer so that battle-weary blue jackets could look forward each day to something besides the foam on the waves. Secretary of Navy James Forrestal has, however, met all queries on the proposal with "No such change is being contemplated."

Disappointed sailors can take some comfort from the knowledge that at least one half of the "landlubber" public with opinions is in sympathy with them. The other half thinks things should remain as they are.

Field reporters questioned a cross-section of the voter population across America on the issue as follows:

"An officer in the Navy says he thinks all Navy men should be permitted to have beer on board Navy ships. Do you agree or disagree?"

The nation-wide vote:

Think Beer Should Be Allowed 46%
Think Beer Should Not Be Allowed 46
Undecided 8

Sentiment in the present poll contrasts with nation-wide sentiment on the general issue of national prohibition. Whereas the country stands evenly divided in today's poll, surveys on prohibition have shown the country about two to one opposed to any return to another "dry era."

At the same time, the present poll finds the same general patterns in sentiment on the question of beer for the Navy as have consistently obtained on the general issue of prohibition.

Farmers Oppose Idea

A majority of farmers are against beer for the Navy. An equally high majority of urbanites—residents in cities of 100,000 or more—think it is a good idea. More women and older voters 50 or more years of age are opposed to the idea than favor it. More men and young people 21 to 29 favor the proposal than oppose in.

Generally, those favoring beer on shipboard say, "It would be good for morale . . . good to relax the boys . . . they ought to have anything they want . . . civilians and the Army have it, why not the Navy?" Principal reasons of those opposing lifting the ban are, "It will hurt efficiency . . . might start young boys in bad habits . . . might go to extremes."

Burned U. S. Ship Is Towed Into Port

HALIFAX, July 14 (AP)—Censorship today permitted disclosure of the fact that the United States transport Wakefield, which burst into flames off Halifax in 1942, was towed into this port after 2,000 persons aboard had been saved. It was announced some time ago in the United States that the Wakefield had been burned.

The twisted hull of the former luxury liner Manhattan lay at a dock in Halifax for weeks. Every inch of woodwork aboard the vessel had been burned away and great steel beams and plates had buckled under the intense heat.

The Wakefield eventually returned to sea. Given temporary repairs here, she was towed to the United States to be refitted for another war role.

Beer Cache Taken From Slaton Negro

Members of the Lubbock district office of the Texas liquor control board announced they had confiscated 18 cases of quarts of beer and two pints of whiskey from the home of a negro in the negro section of Slaton Friday night about 8:30 o'clock.

The negro was not at home at the time of the raid, but his wife was brought to Lubbock and placed in the county jail. She was not booked, they said. The beer and whiskey were hidden underneath the house. Officials said the negro was receiving $1.30 per quart for the beer.

Members of the board making the raid were T. E. Backus, Frank Mitchell and C. D. McClain.

Cigarette Shortage Is Expected To Continue

DALLAS, July 14 (UP)—Dallas wholesalers said today the current shortage of cigarettes will continue until the European war ends and probably will grow more acute each month.

The wholesalers said the shortage now is worst among popular brands of cigarettes but soon will affect all brands.

The expanding quantity of cigarettes being sent overseas, short inventories of leaf tobacco and an increasing shortage of cases and containers were given as reasons for the cigarette famine.

BY, OF, and FOR THE PEOPLE

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Editor, The Avalanche: Long before any steps were taken to provide Old Age Pensions in Texas, I was an enthusiastic advocate for a plan to provide help to the old people. During the eight years I was privileged to serve in the state legislature, I never lost an opportunity to help bring about a more worable plan for the old people.

Although I am entirely out of politics, I have lost no interest in the cause for the old people. I was interested to know how we are getting along with the program of taking care of our old folks. In order to inform myself I went to the records in Austin and made a personal investigation. I believe your readers will be interested to know what I found.

The best way of determining our progress is by way of comparison. I found that in 1940 we were spending only $15,672,177 for public assistance. This amount included both state and federal funds. In 1943 we spent $44,337,874.82 for Old Age assistance; we spent $1,276,596 for aiding the blind; and we spent $2,967,554 for aid to the dependent children who have for some cause lost one or both of their parents as bread winners. In other words, our state is now spending $48,500,000 for those who need assistance against $15,672,177 four years ago. In 1940 we were giving aid to only 119,717 old people against 182,765 in 1943. Only one other state in the union, Oklahoma, has a greater per cent of those over 65 receiving assistance. Some of the other states which pay larger pensions have only a small per cent of those over 65 on the rolls. For instance, California pays $47.26, but only has 26 per cent of those over 65 on the rolls. Texas pays over $21 and has 48 per cent of those over 65 on the rolls. In Texas the average monthly payments made in 1940 was a little over $9. In 1944 it is over $21.

It was interesting to find that our state ranks next to the lowest state in the union on the cost of administering welfare programs. By comparison, I found that the relating administrative cost to total expenditures, counting both assistance and administration, reveals that for the nation administrative expenditures amounted to 5.6 per cent of the total. In Virginia the ratio is 13 per cent; in California 5.0 per cent; in New York 10.2 per cent; in Louisiana, 9.6 per cent; and in Texas only 2.9 per cent of the total amount spent for administrative purposes. Only one other state in the union has a smaller per cent—Colorado shows 2.6 per cent. This is the record I am giving you and it is open to anyone who wishes to investigate.

I think that the legislature, along with the governor, should be congratulated for the tender recollection of those who are in need and who are unable to help themselves.

The record also shows that the deficit of approximately $33,000,000 in the general fund has, during the last two years, been practically wiped out. Two years ago there was a strong pressure to have the state issue bonds, and take up the deficit in the General Fund. Our governor was against this idea. He said that with the proper handling of the state's finances and by practicing the strictest economy he believed that the obligations could and would be met. His prediction has come true. Today there is scarcely any deficit in the general fund.

I think God, that in my declining years, that I can truthfully say that it is my belief that the general situation in Austin is wholesome and that the taxpayers are getting some consideration.

To the Old People, I want to say that it is my honest belief that your interest is being guarded; and that a stime goes along, additional funds will be provided necessary to more adequately meet your needs.

Very truly yours,
Ben F. Cathey,
Lubbock.

Tropical Storm Off Bahamas Reported

MIAMI, Fla., July 14 (AP)—The weather bureau advised that a tropical disturbance of increasing intensity was centered about 200 to 250 miles northeast of Nassau, the Bahamas, tonight, but offered no threat to the Florida coast.

The presence of strong winds and probably gales over a small area caused the bureau to advise precaution in the extreme northeast Bahamas island group.

Ocean temperatures range from 28 degrees Fahrenheit in polar regions to 85 degrees in the tropics.

Goebbels Launches Softener Attempts

NEW YORK, July 14. (AP)—The Office of War Information said today that German Propaganda Minister Goebbels "has launched an implicit appeal to the United States and Britain to soften their demands for unconditional surrender."

Quoting a broadcast reported by the FCC, OWI said the German DNB agency gave this paraphrase of an article by Goebbels in Das Reich:

"He said that all nations, for the time after the war, are longing for quiet and relaxation, national progress, far-reaching social reform, economic prosperity and undisturbed happiness. All this, however, must be achieved not at the expense of happiness of other people, but must be secured out of their strength. The Germans, in fact, have never wished for anything else but what the people throughout the world, belligerents and non-belligerents alike, are expecting from peace today in the fifth year of war."

Goebbels contended Germany had never "proclaimed the same program of extermination and destruction as our enemies," and OWI said his appeal for a softer attitude by the Allies was contained in passages in which he discussed the Versailles treaty and declared that the world was "an organic structure in which every big power has to fulfill its special task." By implication, Germany was included as one of the powers with a "special task" to perform.

Gen. McNair Goes To Overseas Post

WASHINGTON, July 14. (AP) — The first shift in the top-level command of the Army in more than two years was disclosed today with the announcement that Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, ground forces commander who has been called "the brains of the Army," has been ordered overseas on an important assignment.

Lt. Gen. Ben Lear, former Second Army chief, still remembered for his disciplinary orders to a group of soldiers in the "yoo hoo" incident at Memphis in the summer of 1941, already has succeeded McNair as commanding general of the ground forces.

No hint of the nature of McNair's new job was given but the War department stressed that it was important.

General Buried With Beloved Doughboys

U. S. FOURTH DIVISION CEMETERY IN FRANCE, July 14. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, jr., was buried tonight in the French soil on which he fought in two wars against German aggression.

He lies among 2,000 doughboys he loved and who gave their lives in battle in the same cause for which he wore out his restless heart.

The general, who died of a heart attack induced by exhaustion, was buried with pomp and pagentry in a stirring military ceremony that will never be forgotten by those who witnessed it.

Three volleys rang out under the darkening twilight as the red soil of Normandy received the body of General "Teddy."

Crew That Shot Down First Jap Planes At Saipan Had Long Wait

SAIPAN ISLAND, Marianas, June 29. (Delayed) (AP) — The American anti-aircraft battery that shot down the first Japanese planes over Saipan waited more than two years for a crack at the enemy.

The unit, headed by Capt. George E. Champion, of Brownwood, Texas, and Kansas City, Mo., was activated in April, 1941, at Camp Davis, N. C. It wasn't until last night that the Japs gave these gunners their first chance for action.

The AA crew blasted two Jap planes out of the air in 10 minutes.

S/Sgt. Cassy Garelis, of Detroit, Mich., said they were the first Japanese planes he had ever seen. He added "it was just like in the movies."

Cpl. Joe Carvajal, of San Diego, Calif., aircraft identification expert of the crew, reported the first enemy plane sighted was a two-engined "nick." The guns roared and the corporal said "we must have hit the gas tank the way it burst into flames."

Kansas City Banker Dies Of Hemorrhage

KANSAS CITY, July 14. (AP)—Norris Broaddus, 60, president of the Stock Yards National bank since 1928, died early today at St. Luke's hospital in Kansas City.

Kiwanis Rally To Defeat All-Stars

Coming from behind with the determination that made them the champions in the American League first half, the Kiwanis Cardinals roared to an 8-6 victory over the All-Stars Friday afternoon at Chapman field before a crowd of better than 200 fans.

The Kiwanis pushed over two runs in the sixth to tie the ball game, then pushed over two winning runs in the seventh after trailing in the ball game since the first inning when the All-Stars bounded away into an early lead.

Nice Fielding Done

It was a great ball game all the way, and turned up some of the fielding gems of the season. Billy Tatum figured in two of the sensational bits of fielding uncorcked for the fans, once on the giving end, and again on the receiving end.

Tatum started the ball game with a smashing drive toward left field that looked ticketed for a base knock when it left the bat, but Bobby Griffin, all-star shortstop, went to his left and stabbed the ball with his gloved hand for the first putout in the game.

In the third inning Royce Ellison lofted a foul fly over by the fence. Tatum stormed over, reached across the fence and snared the ball as he bounced back off the wire.

In the sixth inning, Manuel Gallegos again robbed Tatum of a hit when he nipped the Kiwanis rally after the game had been tied. Gallegos made a beautiful play on Tatum's hit into right, and whipped the ball down to first for the putout that stopped the drive.

Final Play A Gem

Perhaps the best fielding gem of the day came in the final play of the ball game as Jack McDonald, Kiwanis shortstop, came up with Griffin's smash to short with a quick stab, and nipped the runner at first on a close play.

The boys showed a great improvement over the early season all-star game, and to a man they all showed the good effects of good coaching from the leaders who have made the game click this summer.

Buddy Manor started the All-Stars off to an early lead with a looping single into left, but was forced at second by Bridge. Bridge took second on Parham's wide throw to first in attempting to complete a double play. Laquey beat out an infield hit to short, and Eddins was hit with a pitched ball to fill the bases.

Griffin smashed a single past short to score Bridge and Laquey and send Eddins to second. Stanley forced Griffin at second, and Eddins took third. Eddins scored a moment later while Stanley was being run down in a goose chase after being picked off first.

The Kiwanis scored in the second inning when Parham doubled down the third base line and scored on Louder's single to center.

The All-Stars scored two more in the third inning. After one was out, Laquey was hit with a pitched ball, and moved to second on a passed ball. Fred Eddins then smashed out a long triple to score Laquey. After Louder had thrown Griffin out, Etanley dropped a Texas Leaguer into left to score Eddins. Tatum then made his great catch on Ellison's foul to stop the rally.

The Kiwanis had its big inning in the fourth when three runs were pushed across the plate. Parham was hit with a pitched ball, and stole second. Cook made a nice play on Houk's grounder, throwing out the batter and holding Parham on second. Schmidt beat out an infield hit to Griffin. On a double steal, Parham scored when Griffin's cutoff throw was high to the plate. After Louder had popped out, Mahle smashed a single past third, scoring Schmidt. Higginbotham tried to pick Mohle off first, threw wide, and Mohle took second. Travis smashed a single back through the box to score Mohle.

The All-Stars scored their last run in the fourth on Gallegos' long triple over the left fielder's head and an infield out.

The Kiwanis tied the score in the sixth when Schmidt singled, stole second and third while Louder was walking, and both runners scored when Hise dropped Griffith's throw to first on Travis's grounder.

Parham opened the big seventh with his second double of the ball game, and stole third. Houk hit to third, and Turner threw wild to first. Houk took second and Parham scored with the winning run. Schmidt got his third hit of the game, a single that scored Houk to make the game sure.

Gromek pitched all the way for the Indians, giving up only eight hits and fanning 10 Brownie batters. Bob Muncrief, St. Louis veteran, engaged the rookie in a tight mound duel, yielding 11 hits.

Roy Cullenbine was Gromek's chief supporter, banging out his 11th home run of the year, a double and a single.

St. Louis opened the scoring in the fifth on Chet Laabs' triple and Mark Christman's single. The Indians matched it in the same inning on a hit, Vern Stephens' error and an infield play. The teams tallied one apiece in the seventh, the Browns on a squeeze play and the Indians on Cullenbine's homer.
