Along The Waterfront

Fishing in the Yacht Basin at Rockport has been very good this past week. Sunday was especially good with some real nice catches being made. Several trout landed were in the 4 and 5 pound range.

Countless mullet were snagged with triple hooks as anglers using spoons with trailers scraped the bottom of the basin where the mullet has gathered as a result of the recent cold weather.

Bait was scarce with the prospects getting better as the weather warmed up considerably.

Mrs. Otto White of Coffey, Mo. caught a 7 1/2 pound trout in Rockport basin on Fleming's pier. Mr. and Mrs. White are guests at Idylwild Motel for the second winter in Rockport.

Few DWI's Go Scot Free In Local Courts

With DWI cases in Aransas County during 1962 exceeding those filed in 1957 by more than 800%, convictions kept pace with the increase, and out of 42 cases filed, convictions were obtained in all but five cases, three which are still pending.

This compares favorably with the previous year (1961), when 43 cases were filed, and convictions obtained in 39 of them.

The record in this county for cases filed shows that there were five in 1957, six in 1958, and nine in 1959 and 1960.

In 1961, the court assessed minimum charges of $50 and costs, with three days in jail and loss of driver's license for six months in 33 cases. Two were assessed $75 and costs, plus the other penalties; two were assessed $100 and costs; one man was given a year in the penitentiary, another five years suspended sentence, another was placed on probation for three years were dismissed.

In 1962, there were 31 fined the minimum of $50 and costs, with loss of driver's license and three days in jail; in two cases juries found the defendants not guilty.

In one jury trial, the defendant was found guilty and given a suspended sentence of six months. A juvenile was fined $25 and costs; another defendant was assessed $200 and costs, plus the other mandatory penalties.

In one case of second offense DWI, the grand jury returned no indictment, two others that were indicted have not yet been tried, and there are three straight DWI cases still pending.

Only one county, Live Oak, in District 7, headed by Allen Wood of Corpus Christi, exceeded Aransas, racking up a total of 263.4% of its quota of $50,000.

Kenedy County, met its quota of $20,000 for 100% participation; Nueces County sold 94.6% of the quota set for it, far outstripped all the rest put together with sales of $3,971,733.

Water District Bill Introduced

The bill by Rep. Leroy Wieting of Portland to establish an Aransas Conservation District was in the House legislative hopper last Thursday and the Portland legislator asked for earliest consideration of the measure because of "the public importance in expanding development of such projects and facilities."

The new district would encompass all of Aransas County except certain areas already under the jurisdiction of other water districts. The new agency would have authority to sell bonds, call bond and tax elections and levy taxes to pay off the bonds if the voters approve them.

The bill named six Aransas County men to compose the district's first board of directors. They are Glen Ellis, Grady West, J. L. Baughman, R. L. Fleming, Matthew Scott and Harold Picton.

Ellis and West would serve until April 1964, at which time the first of the series of even-numbered year elections would enable citizens to elect replacements. Baughman and Fleming would hold office until April 1966. Scott and Picton would be appointed to full terms running to April 1968.

The bill specifies that members of the board must reside and own land in the territorial limits of the proposed district. The agency would be empowered to develop an adequate supply of fresh water and to process, transport and distribute same for municipal domestic irrigation and industrial purposes.

The bulkheading will consist of six by nine foot concrete slabs, with tongues and grooves to join them together on their long dimension. These slabs will be embedded in the ground and a continuous cap poured along the length of the wall, which will be anchored on the inshore side.

INDESTRUCTIBLE—It's old, but still runs. The battery never fails and the tires never go flat. This 1925 Chicago truck used daily by workers at a St. Louis, Mo., suburb has no battery. Tires are solid rubber. No body rust because the body is made of wood.

The new marina at Palm Harbor, three miles south of Rockport, is officially open this week, under management of Estelle and Alton Dotson.

Dotson said that the boat ramp is free, and that all services for fishermen are available, including bait, boats, outboards and similar items, as well as a snack bar, picnic area, and boat stalls.

The marina is situated just off the Intracoastal Canal and is popular with outboarders and fishermen, because it provides access to many miles of sheltered waters. From it, boaters can reach as far as Ingleside and Aransas Pass, as well as Redfish Bay without having to cross the rougher waters of the larger bays.

Testimony Continues In Hall Murder Case

Parade of Witnesses Tell of Events

Leading Up To September 3 Slaying of Horace R. Hall In Waterfront Cafe

As the Pilot goes to press Thursday, testimony was resumed in the Nelson trial.

Two witnesses described the slaying of H. R. Hall, 54, last Sept. 3, as testimony in the trial of John W. Nelson, Jr., 41, got under way Tuesday afternoon in Judge John W. Miller's 36th District Court.

Nelson, a seafood dealer, is charged with murder with malice in the killing of Hall, who operated an Aransas Pass marine supply store. The shooting took place in Holiday Club, a waterfront cafe at Conn Brown Harbor, in Aransas Pass.

Mrs. Jerry Carter, of 432 South Rife, Aransas Pass, under questioning by District Attorney John Flinn, of Sinton and Defense Attorney Luther Jones, of Corpus Christi, detailed events on the day of the shooting.

On Sept. 3, she said, she was at work at the cafe, which is owned by her husband's father. Hall came in shortly after 9 p.m., Mrs. Carter said he had been drinking and while there talked loudly about Nelson, with occasional outbursts of profanity.

While Hall was there, Mrs. Carter said, Nelson entered the cafe, without attracting Hall's attention, and Mrs. Carter's sister, Billie Jo Grice, told Nelson that he'd better leave which he did.

Later Hall left, to return about noon with his wife and children. George Wilson, of San Antonio, was in the cafe at the time, and Mrs. Carter said that she and Wilson had talked a little bit about how "wild" Hall was acting.

According to her, Hall left his family waiting for food and made a telephone call at an outside pay phone, borrowing the cafe's telephone directory and leaving beer which he was drinking in front of the cash register. He returned to his table, noticed that he'd left his beer and started to the front of the cafe to pick it up, just as Nelson came in through an outside door near the cash register.

According to Mrs. Carter's testimony, Hall started cursing, accusing Nelson of being "the cause of all my trouble." An exchange of words followed between the two men, with Nelson protesting that he didn't want any trouble. During this exchange, Nelson pulled a gun which he pointed at Hall, telling to "go on and leave me alone," Hall said Mrs. Carter, cursed Nelson again and told him to go and shoot. After further words, Mrs. Carter said, Hall slammed his beer bottle and glass down, and cursing Nelson again, told him to go ahead and shoot.

"The first shot didn't seem to hit," Mrs. Carter said, but the second one struck Hall on the left side of the neck and what was described as a fountain of blood resulted, with Hall falling backwards and Nelson firing other shots which Mrs. Carter said, she was incapable of counting.

"I just stood there and looked," she said. Then she turned her back and when she turned back to the scene of the shooting again, she said Nelson was leaving the cafe.

Mrs. Hall, she said, came running from the booth where she and the children had been sitting. Wilson corroborated Mrs. Carter's statements about their conversation, and Hall's wild appearance, and said that when Hall started for the cash register, "I thought he was coming for me!"

Then he heard a man's voice behind him and realized that Hall's attention was fixed on someone else, who he afterwards learned was Nelson. He elicited a laugh from everyone when Prosecutor John Flinn asked what he did when the argument started.

"I went out the door," Wilson said.

Asked if he heard the shots, Wilson said "I heard all six. I was standing there waiting for them."

Afterwards, Wilson re-entered the cafe and saw Hall's body on the floor.

Mrs. Wilson, who never entered the restaurant, but who had been outside near the truck they used on fishing trips from San Antonio, told of caring for the Hall children until relatives came.

The only other person who saw any portion of the killing was David Redmon, handy man around the Holiday Club, who said he had just stepped up out of the kitchen into the door leading to the room in which the shooting took place, and when he saw the gun in Nelson's hand, he said: "I just froze."

Dr. William Tinnerman, who performed an examination of Hall's body after the killing, testified that Hall had been struck with a bullet just above the left wrist, with another in the fleshy part of the upper arm, just below the shoulder, had a burn from a third just on top of the left shoulder; had a fourth bullet wound in the neck, where the bullet had punctured the jugular vein; and a fifth below and a little behind the left ear. The bullet which this, he testified, had apparently hit the front portion of a vertebra and been deflected downwards.

Wednesday morning Mrs. V. (continued on page 8)

FISH KILLS VERY LIGHT THIS YEAR

The possibility exists that salt water fish have become acclimated to cold water this winter through the gradual build-up of cold weather, according to Ernest Simmons, Coastal Fisheries Supervisor of Region V, Game and Fish Commission. The two recent spells of freezing weather on the lower coast have not produced any significant fish kills. Although many fish were stunned by the cold and swam slowly near the surface where they could be scooped up in dip nets, most of them apparently recovered. Some fingerling redfish in the upper Laguna Madre were killed as were many other small fish, but the majority of our large fish suffered no lasting ill effects.

Biologists have refrained from commenting on the two freezes until Baffin Bay can be thoroughly checked for the possibility of a kill of large trout which had sunk to the bottom. Constant checks of this area have revealed no such kill thus far.

Although temperatures dropped almost as low this year as they did during the terrific fish kills of 1951 and 1962, the low temperatures were of much shorter duration. Biologists believe that the gradual cooling of the water this year and the short periods of extreme cold are what have prevented a fish kill of major proportions so far this year.

Mr. Simmons said, "We've been lucky so far, but winter is not over yet and we could still be hurt by an extended period of extreme cold weather."

MAINTENANCE TEAM CONTINUES TO HEAD BOWLING TOURNAMENT

The Radar Maintenance Section of Rockport Air Force Station continues to lead the squadron league, with the air police, communications and electronics, and communications sections trailing respectively. A/2c John Kelly rolled a 665 series, with a high game of 233, as high scorer of the week.

In the Aransas Pass Coastal Bend League, the Rockport AFS team leads the pack by seven games.

On Jan. 21 T/Sgt. Dave Yates thrilled the entire bowling alley, when he rolled a near perfect 288. Yates rolled a spare in the first frame and then rolled ten consecutive strikes. This accomplishment will win him a century patch for bowling one hundred pins over his established average.

He was awarded a "250" pin, on the night of Jan. 28, for being among the few to surpass 250 pins.

ROCKPORT AFS
TEAM IN FINALS
The Golden Eagles of Rockport Air Force Station are now in the finals of the 32nd Air Division Tournament. The Eagles led by All-Star Don Isom, have won three games, while losing only one to the undefeated team from Texarkana Air Force Station.

Should they defeat the Eastern champs, they will become the champs of the entire division, and compete in the Air Defense Command tournament, at Colorado Springs.

MEETINGS AND MOVIES SCHEDULED BY SOCIAL SECURITY

To apply for social security benefits is a very simple matter. H. M. Cleveland, district manager of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi says that you can get assistance in filing your claim at the Corpus Christi office, or at any of eleven other locations in this area where social security field representatives meet with people to assist them in filing their claims for benefits.

Information regarding these locations is available from your postmaster. In addition to claims assistance, the office issues social security numbers, and they inform wage earners and self-employed persons and their families of their social security rights and responsibilities.

Social security representatives frequently schedule talks at group meetings. Timely and interesting programs for civic, church, or school groups can be arranged. In addition, films are available which can be presented either with or without a speaker. Requests for talks or informational material should be addressed to the Social Security Administration, 530 South Water Street, Corpus Christi.

TRICKING A SQUIRREL

Many squirrel hunters in Texas use dogs to rout out their game. If you hunt this way, here is a trick that will get a treed squirrel to show itself every time.

Carry a number of small dog biscuits with you that may have been dipped in beef broth the night before. When a bushy-tail is treed and sticks to the far side of the tree, let the dog smell the biscuit, then chuck it to the other side of the tree.

Dog will go after biscuit and squirrel and will scamper around tree to where you can shoot it.

MISS MARTHA HANNA MAKING EXCELLENT PROGRESS IN COLLEGE

Supt. J. D. Gray, of the Aransas County schools, recently received a letter commending a graduate of Aransas County High School. The letter, from Clarendon Junior College, reads as follows: Dear Sir:

It is a pleasure for us to report the special progress of Martha Hanna, a graduate of your school. The scholastic requirement to the election to the honor roll is a 2.6 grade average, or an "A" or above in all subjects pursued during the grade reporting period. This record is a compliment to the results of the high school instruction given her while attending your high school.

Not only has Martha done good work scholastically, but her excellent conduct and her loyalty to both the curricular and extra curricular activities of the college is added credit to her.

Sincerely yours, Oliver J. Abel, Dean-Reg. Clarendon Junior College

PRESS NAMES DAN BLOCKER 1963 TEXAN OF THE YEAR

Austin.—Dan Blocker, a really "big" man was the recipient of the Texas Press Association's 1963 "Texan-of-the-Year" award.

Announcement of his selection has been made by George Baker, president of the newspaper association and publisher of the Fort Stockton Pioneer.

The presentation to Dan Blocker, 300-pound co-star of the NBC-

TV show Bonanza, will be made at TPA's Mid-Winter meeting at the El Tropicano Hotel in San Antonio on Saturday evening, Jan. 26.

Blocker, known on TV as Hoss Cartwright, was born in Bowie County, Texas, Dec. 10, 1929. He grew up in the Texas Panhandle and received his education in Texas.

Weighing 14 pounds at birth, he pulled the scales to 105 pounds by the time he entered grade school. He became known among his friends as "The Big'n." At age 10 he worked alongside grown men at grain elevators and could whip any of the local toughs, regardless of their age.

Despite his extraordinary strength, Dan Blocker had other ideas than pushing his weight around as a strong man. When 12 years old he enrolled in the Texas Military Institute at San Antonio. At that time he weighed 200 pounds and stood six feet tall.

From the military institute he went to Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene for a semester, then to Sul Ross State College at Alpine, on a football scholarship, to major in physical education.

He changed his major to drama before he was graduated in 1950.

From Alpine he went to Boston for summer stock. Then, as did most young men of his time, Dan Blocker received greetings from The President and went overseas for a whirl at Korea.

When he finished his army hitch, he came home with the stripes of a first sergeant, to further impress Dolphia Parker, his college sweetheart. They were married on Aug. 25, 1952. They now have four children, twin girls and two boys.

Blocker returned to Sul Ross shortly after his marriage to work on his master's degree. He left classes for one year to teach in the high school at Sonora. Upon receiving his Master's degree in drama and English, he taught school at Carlsbad, N.M.

In 1956, he went to Los Angeles for graduate work at UCLA. Almost immediately he was chosen for a feature role in a Gunsmoke episode, where he made more money in four days than in a month of teaching.

Since that time his rise to stardom has been rapid. He has played in many significant TV roles and today has top billing with Bonanza.

The Texas Press Association, on behalf of its 76 member dailies and 432 weeklies, has presented "Top Texan" awards on two previous occasions. In 1961 the honor went to Paul Richards of baseball fame, a native of Waxahachie, who at the time was manager of the top-ranking Baltimore Orioles.

Last year the "Texan of the Year" award went to Van Cliburn, world renowned pianist from Kilgore, Texas.

Selection of the "Texas of the Year" is made from nominations by Texas editors and publishers. Nominees must be well known Texans, outside the field of politics, now residing beyond the borders of the state, but bring fame to the state by outstanding accomplishments in their chosen fields of endeavor.

Mrs. Bobbie Cole and daughter are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Boone and boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mundine and Mrs. Sherman Mundine visited Melvin Jones Sunday. Jones is still in Citizen's Memorial Hospital in Victoria. Sherman Mundine and grandsons, Harold and Jackie Mundine, visited Mr. and Mrs. Leo Morish in Port Lavaca, Sunday.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank everyone who has been so nice to me while I was in the Naval Hospital, for all the cards, flowers and visitors, and to those who brought Mom to the hospital every day.

Lincoln-Haseman Nuptials Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Haseman, III, 629 Monette Drive, of Corpus Christi, announce the marriage of their daughter, Verna Anne, to Mr. Joseph Edmund Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Lincoln, Sr., 245 Ohio, on Jan. 11.

A consecration service was held at the Parkway Presbyterian Church Saturday afternoon, Jan. 26, with the Rev. A. F. Swearingen officiating.

The wedding vows were exchanged in front of a setting of assorted white flowers. The bride wore a silk crepe costume with pink crepe hat and matching accessories. She carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds on white tulle with flowing pink ribbons.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Claude Crews, Jr., of Kingsville, Miss Karen Fennessy and Glenn C. Lincoln, Jr., of Houston, brother of the groom.

Miss Fennessy wore a powder blue dress with a nosegay of assorted spring flowers tied with blue ribbons. Mrs. Crews was attired in pink and carried a nosegay of assorted flowers tied with pink ribbons.

After the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, circled with a white tulle cloth, was centered with a silver basket holding arrangements of white asters and stock. On either side were silver candelabra holding tall white candles. Miss Sharon Watson served the tiered wedding cake and Miss Janet Haseman, sister of the bride, served fruit punch.

Mrs. Jason Montgomery of Victoria, cousin of the bride, presided over the bride's book.

The bride was graduated from W. B. Ray High School and attended Del Mar College and the University of Texas.

The groom is a graduate of Ray, attended Del Mar and is a student at Texas A&I College.

The couple will live in Kingsville at 315 N. Third Street.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Lee Brundrett, Sr., Herby Mills, Mrs. Norvell Jackson and N. F. Jackson of Rockport; Mr. and Mrs. Jason Montgomery of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Crews, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Odom of Kingsville; Glenn C. Lincoln, Jr., of Houston and Mrs. Roy L. Moss and Mrs. C. B. Thames of Hearne.

LOUIS BAUER PASSES AWAY

Louis Bauer, 83, of Nixon passed away Friday at his home from a heart attack. He was the father of Elmo Bauer formerly of Rockport, now living in Aransas Pass. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in Nixon and burial was in Cost Cemetery, at Cost, Texas.

Surviving are his wife, four sons and two daughters. Oscar Bauer, a nephew, attended the funeral services.

Mrs. J. P. Keith and family, Mrs. W. L. Burton of Phoenix, Ariz.; and Miss Gladys Rutan of Hollywood, Calif., spent the weekend in Port Arthur. The Rutans are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Keith.

Mrs. Rohan Will Take Sea Cruise

Rockport friends of Mrs. George J. Rohan of Waco, will read with interest the following clipping, which appeared along with her picture, in a recent Sunday issue of the Waco News-Tribune-Times-Herald:

Mrs. George Rohan of 311 Crescent Road will leave next Sunday on a three-month cruise to 22 ports of call and 19 countries.

She will take a train from Dallas to New York. At noon next Sunday she will board the ship Rotterdam of Holland-America Line and begin her trip down the Suez Canal Zone through the Arabian Sea to Colombo, Ceylon, the Bay of Bengal, and then through the Strait of Malacca.

One of the unusual places she will see is Port Aden in Saudi Arabia. It is said to be the place where Adam and Eve lived and where Noah's Ark was built.

She says she must take both winter and summer clothes. Weather will be cold in New York but extremely warm as she travels near the equator.

In India, she will visit Jaipur, Fatehpur Sikri, and the Taj Mahal. Jaipur is called the pink city. Mrs. Rohan has been told, because a maharajah liked pink and ordered every building painted that color. To this day no one is allowed to change the color of any building. Fatehpur Sikri is called the abandoned marble city. People left it after all water sources dried up, and it can be compared to American ghost towns except that it is far more elaborate.

In the town of Agra, Mrs. Rohan will visit the Taj Mahal. Shah Jehan built this structure for his wife who died in childbirth as a monument to their love.

Mrs. Rohan will return by way of Honolulu, Hawaii, San Francisco, Acapulco and Balboa through Panama Canal to New York. She will be back in Waco the last week in April.

Mrs. Earline Ballou and Mrs. Mary Thompson spent the weekend in Baytown.

HALL MURDER CASE—

ginia Hall, widow of the slain man took the stand and described the sound of the shots as like someone hammering—like someone beating on something.

She said, under questioning that she took the children out of the Holiday Club then returned to where Hall was lying on the floor. Saying that the only thought was to get him to the hospital, as it never entered her mind that he was dead. She took his car keys out of his pocket she said, and picked up his billfold, and then saw "blood like a faucet—it was like a faucet of blood," presumably referring to the neck wound which, Dr. Timmerman testified Tuesday, had pierced the jugular vein.

Mrs. Hall testified regarding her relations with Nelson before meeting Hall, and said that he had given her $600 at one time through A. N. Garrett, for whom she formerly worked, to pay down on a house in Oak Park where she was living when she met Hall, and that Nelson was very generous. At other times, she said, he had given her chairs and items for the house.

She had met Nelson, she said, after she had been divorced from Hugh Jackson, by whom she had a son. Nelson had proposed marriage many times, but she had always refused, "numerous, numerous times." She met Hall while dating Nelson but had never gone with him until after she had quit Nelson. She testified that Hall was married at the time, and that they were married in 1960, after he had divorced his previous wife, by whom he had four sons.

At the time of the marriage, Mrs. Hall said, she had already borne Hall's child, a girl, now four years old. Cross questioning by defense attorney Luther Jones brought out the fact that she and Hall had lived together as man and wife in Freeport for two years before he and his first wife were divorced. Asked by Jones as to Hall's drinking habits, she said that Hall was too much of an individualist to have habits, but that when he wanted a drink he took one. She denied that he was an alcoholic. Most of her life with Hall had been extremely pleasant; he was a gun enthusiast and so was she, and then Mrs. Hall went on to describe a home where there were guns on the floor, on the coffee table, "You sat on them," she said, "and they were under the bed—everywhere." He had fifty pistols when he died, she stated.

She said that she and Hall had repeatedly tried to get Nelson to leave them alone, denied that Hall had ever threatened "to do her bodily harm; denied that Hall had ever threatened to kill Nelson; and didn't remember until it was brought out by cross examination that she had fled from home one cold night near Christmas, 1961, with her little daughter in her arms, dressed only in night clothes and denied that she had told the people who had picked her up that her husband was after her with a gun. And time after time she denied vehemently that Hall had ever threatened to kill Johnny Nelson.

She also denied the fact that he had ever called a brother in California, before she and Hall were married, and told this brother that she had sort of made a mess of things and that this man by whom she thought she was pregnant was crazy. She also denied that Hall had ever left Aransas Pass to go to Alabama with the expressed intention of "beating up his former wife."

Mrs. Hall was excused from the witness stand at noon.

When testimony was resumed after the noon recess, defense attorneys Luther Jones, William Ellis and Weldon Cabanis offered a number of depositions from various people.

The first was from Joseph Humphrey, policeman at Kenner, La., near New Orleans Moissant International Airport.

In his deposition, Humphrey said he had arrested Hall in March of 1961 when Hall refused to leave the plane on which he had arrived from Texas and which was held up at New Orleans by mechanical difficulties. When he searched Hall, he found a .44 Magnum in a shoulder holster, a snub-nosed .38 caliber Smith and Wesson in a small handbag, accompanied by a bull whip, a hunting knife, a pocket knife and a box of 44 magnum bullets. Upon questioning, Hall announced that he was en route to Alabama to beat his ex-wife. Misdemeanor charges were filed against Hall, who was charged with carrying a concealed weapon, and he was marked hold for the FBI. However, Humphrey said, he understood that these charges were later dismissed. Questioned as to whether he knew that Hall had a license to deal in fire arms, Humphrey said no.

In a deposition made by Mrs. Anna R. Haas, of Fairhope, Ala., Hall's ex-wife who later remarried, she detailed conversations with Hall in which she alleged he made threats against the life of the defendant in this case, John Nelson, Jr.

Hall had returned from Texas, where he had been on business, and learned that Virginia Hall's first husband, Hugh Jackson, had called the then Mrs. Hall to tell her that Hall and his (Jackson's) ex-wife (still known as Virginia Jackson) were having an affair.

Mrs. Haas (at that time still Mrs. Hall) said that Hall apparently blamed Nelson, although she didn't know why, and that he threatened to kill both Nelson and Jackson to make them stop meddling.

In another conversation, Mrs. Haas said, after she and Hall had separated, he once more threatened to kill Nelson. Hall wanted to divorce Mrs. Haas who was his wife then, to marry Virginia Jackson, to legitimize his child that she had borne, then to divorce Virginia, and remarry his first wife.

At that time, she said, Hall detailed plans for killing Nelson in such a manner as to make it look like self-defense, "for ruining our marriage."

Mrs. Haas told of another time that Hall threatened to kill Nelson and when questioned about her former husband's drinking habits said she had seen him drink two quarts of tequila in a day, and said there were times when he would drink steadily and constantly for weeks. Mrs. Haas, in her deposition, said that Hall would drink anything alcoholic except bourbon.

In another deposition, this by John Morris, of Bay Minette, Ala., other threats were detailed by Morris, in which Hall said he would use a bull whip and make Johnny Nelson and Hoger Hoss crawl and beg for their lives before he killed them, and said he was waiting for a good opportunity.

Gene Webster testified that he had talked to Hall just a little while before his death, and that Hall, in a voice which Webster said could be heard by the Hall children (before whom, Mrs. Hall had testified earlier, Hall never used profane language) as they and their mother sat in the booth at Holiday Club. Hall stood and cursed Johnny Nelson in the foul est language possible, Webster said. Webster, disturbed by the language and fearing trouble, started to leave. Just as he reached the door, he said, Hall ran by him, headed for the Hall properties which were farther up Conn Brown basin. Webster followed in his car, to see what all the excitement was about, and saw Hall out the mooring lines on Oscar Galjour's $35,000 shrimp boat, the Hilda G.

On his way home, Webster testified that stopped and called Police Chief Felix Turnbough from the police station and told him what had happened. And he testified that he told Turnbough that if Horace Hall saw Johnny Nelson, there was going to be trouble.

Galjour took the witness stand after Webster, and said that Hall had called him on the phone and told him that he wanted the boat moved immediately. "It was partly in front of Hall's property," Galjour said, "and partly in front of Patterson's, for it was having a radio fixed." Galjour said that Hall didn't tell him that he had cut the boat loose. However, without finishing his lunch he went to the waterfront and found the Hilda G adrift. He and one of his men were able to get a line aboard the boat and retrieve it, he said, as the wind was light. He then went looking for Hall, only to find he had been killed.

Both Galjour and Webster, in answer to questions by defense lawyer Luther Jones, said that Hall bore a reputation as a dangerous and violent man, and that defendant Johnny Nelson's reputation as a peaceful man was good.

Mrs. Nancy Tate, of Ingleside, followed Galjour, and told of picking Mrs. Hall and her child up on Christmas Eve, 1961, just before midnight, dressed only in their night clothes.

"We had been down and my husband checked his boat to see that it was all right and were returning home," Driving along Huff Avenue, Mrs. Tate said, they had to stop their car to keep from hitting a woman with a baby, who was in the street, waving her arms. Mrs. Tate said one of her children was sitting beside her and that this lady yanked the door open and piled in on top of them. I heard "get going quickly, my husband's after us with a gun," Mrs. Tate said. She and her husband looked back and saw a man and got going quickly. The woman and child were in their night clothes, Mrs. Tate said, and she gave the woman, Mrs. Hall her coat. Mrs. Hall said her husband had been moody and brooding all day and had said:

"Tonight's a good night to celebrate and a good way to celebrate is to kill my family."

Mrs. Hall was almost hysterical, Mrs. Tate said, and then proceeded to tell of the remark made by the little girl, then about three. "Mommy," she said, "why don't we get a gun and kill him?" Following Mrs. Tate, Mayor A. N. Garrett and his wife testified regarding a difficulty they had with Hall, in which Garrett got hit on the cheek in a scuffle at the home which Virginia Jackson was occupying in Aransas Pass before she married Hall. While Garrett went for the police, Mrs. Garrett said, and Hall was gone, Virginia Jackson, who was almost hysterical, had called her brother in California and allegedly told him she'd made a mess of things; that she thought she was pregnant by Hall who was crazy, and that she couldn't go through with the marriage they had planned.

Garrett returned with Aransas Pass Chief of Police Felix Turnbough before Hall. When Hall returned, Turnbough relieved him of a snub-nosed .38 Smith and Wesson revolver he was carrying, and so testified on the witness stand later. Cliff Kinkade, who operates a diesel repair service and gun shop, testified that he inventoried Hall's guns after his death and found 38,470 rounds of ammunition, 33 pistols, 3 automatic shotguns, and 14 rifles.

Laura Edwards, of Wharton, former Freeport baby sitter, testified that Hall was a violent man and had threatened her with a pistol, when he returned home unexpectedly and found Virginia Jackson, who called herself Mrs. Hall, gone.

Chief of Police Felix Turnbough gave testimony on Hall's prowness with a gun, and said he had told his men if any of them ever received a call that there was trouble in which Hall was involved to take another man with them. Roy Truett told the jury of trouble involving Hall, Nelson and Vivian Green in his Anchor Drive-In. Dallas Garrett testified that Hall had knocked him off the dock into the harbor as he was walking along the public easement between Hall's property and the harbor. He said he didn't try to crawl out there because he was afraid of Hall.

Mrs. Billie Jo Grice testified as to events in the Holiday Club on the day of the shooting, but said she did not actually see the slaying. She testified that when Hall was in earlier in the day, before the shooting, that the right-hand pocket of his baggy Bermuda shorts bulged.

Felix Turnbough testified as to various events on the day of the shooting, gave a description of the snub-nosed .38 caliber pistol he had recovered from Hall at the Jackson house during the fracas with A. N. Garrett, and said that Hall refused to sell it later because it was his, Hall's personal gun.
