Wrong Vault is Blown by Yegg Band At Vernon.

Vernon, Texas Oct. 6.—The First Guaranty State Bank was saved from robbers this morning at 1:30 by yeggmen not knowing the vault of the bank and that of the Vernon Abstract Company, which joins, have separate walls. The robbers wrecked the abstract vault with nitroglycerine and after seeing their mistake and hearing a posse coming in on them, made a hasty retreat.

Ed Clapp sleeps over the bank and on hearing the first charge thought it a shot in the street, paid no attention, but the second charge jarred the building and he promptly got out of bed and informed the officers. The job is believed to be the work of amateurs. The concussion knocked the books and other things to the floor of the bank vault.

H. T. Kimbell, Ginner and Cotton Buyer.

I have purchased Davis' New Gin and have it well equipped with all modern machinery. We solicit your patronage and will do our best to please you. Special care taken with planting seed. Remember our prices on cotton are always the top. We save you all the trouble we can give us a trial.

Yours truly,
H. T. Kimbell, Ginner.
Leslie Wooldridge, Mgr.

Uncle Sam's Chief Statistician A Texan.

Paris, Texas—Leon M. Eastbrook, formerly of Paris has been appointed Statistician of the United States Department of Agriculture by Secretary David F. Houston. Mr. Eastbrook left here six years ago to accept a position as clerk with the Federal Government at Washington, but since that time he has received several promotions. In his last official position he supervised the seed distribution division. Mr. Eastbrook succeeds Victor H. Olmstead, at a salary of $4,000 per year.

A Birthday Dinner.

Many of the young people of Wellington and country enjoyed a fine birthday dinner last Sunday, given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Withrow in honor of Mrs. T. S. Somerville, Mrs. Kate Eads and Master Floyd Cline everyone had an enjoyable time. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Somerville, Mr. and Mrs. Everatt, Mr. Mallard, Miss Carr, Mr. Jim Withrow, Miss Palmer, Mr. Palmer, Miss Wade, Mr. Spraggins, Miss Cline and Miss Spraggins and many others. In the afternoon the young folks departed wishing them many more happy birthdays, and attended the singing at Fresno.

A Guest.
If you want a farm loan, see Buster.

The Stork and the Grim Reaper.

The stork was fairly active during the month of September in Collingsworth County, the record for the month being fifteen births. Of this number 40 per cent were girls and 60 per cent boys, or to give the actual figures 6 females and 9 males. The Grim Reaper's toll was very light, as but one death is recorded for the month.

At The Gem.

A brand new high priced curtain, making the motion pictures show up the very plainest at the Gem Theatre. Also the new pictures now being displayed are more catchy and of more absorbing interest. Without doubt, we can offer you the best "what is" in the motion picture line. Come out and see. Programs on every week night. Matinee at 2:30 on Saturdays.

17 1-2 cents for eggs at Pritchard Grocery Company.

A. & W.'s Innovation.

A fine piece of machinery and at the same time one exhibiting almost human intelligence is the new cash register at the A. & W. Big Store. The machine is the best made for this work. Aside from showing the amount of the sale and totaling the sales of the day, carrying with it the figures on a paper check, which is the extent of most of the registers, this machine will also show and carry the credit items, in single and totals, as well as the cash items in single and totals. It also numbers each ticket and shows the number of customers for the day; also makes original and duplicate tickets, showing the number of purchase, the amount and whether charged or paid. Thus the customer and the store has a ticket from the machine recording the features of the sale.

The A. & W. Big store, is always progressive and the manager, J. L. Anderson, is to be congratulated upon the success he is meeting with here.

W. H. Billingslea Hurt by Mule.

W. H. Billingslea of Quail was in the city yesterday at the gin with a load of cotton. While passing in front of a team of mules hitched to one of the posts of the shed at the gin one of the mules reared up and pawed Mr. Billingslea in the face. The accident happened about four o'clock yesterday afternoon and Mr. Billingslea did not regain full consciousness until about midnight. His forehead and nose were badly bruised up and considerably swollen this morning, but fortunately no bones were broken nor no deep cuts were made in the flesh. Mr. Billingslea in a talk to the reporter this morning said he thought he would be able to go home today. He complained of considerable soreness in his neck and shoulder but he thought he would be alright in a day or so.

Wellington Men Active In Oil Fields.

The Wellington Oil Development Co. seems to have been exceedingly fortunate to get holdings adjacent to and in line of development of the richest oil field near Electra. The oil map appearing in this week's Leader on page 7 shows the location of this land and other information in regard to the field that may prove useful information to you. Look up the map. This company incorporates in its membership E. A. Wells, J. I. Penrod, C. E. Litchfield, F. H. Royal, H. C. Wells, and associates, some of the most substantial and conservative citizens of our town.

Paper at Dodsonville.

The "New" is a new venture at our sister town of Dodsonville. The first number was issued on Thursday of last week and flies at the mast head the name of T. V. Wakler as publisher. A town that expects to make any material growth needs a newspaper and here's wishing Mr. Wakler better success than his predecessors.

Rebeccas to Organize

Mrs. Carl Wall of Aberdeen is in Wellington as District Deputy to organize a Rebecca lodge. We understand the new lodge will have 25 charter members.

Prohibitionists of Collingsworth.

The pros. of Collingsworth county are called to meet at the Court House in Wellington, on Saturday afternoon October 18th at 2 o'clock for the purpose of selecting a delegate to the state meeting called for the 25th inst. to meet at Dallas (during the Fair) to determine on a candidate for Governor of Texas, to represent the views of the prohibitionists in next years campaign.—By authority of O. W. Alexander.

Contract Not Let.

The report has been circulated that the contract for the new school house has been let. The President of the Board of Trustees tells us that this is an error. He states that the board has only a verbal understanding with Mr. Biffle, the contractor building the new Methodist Church, for him to go ahead and draw up plans and specifications pending the sale of the bonds. Then when the bonds are sold if they approve the plans and specification it will expedite the matter of beginning actual construction on the building; However, the Board is hopeful of an early consummation of the sale of the bonds and expect work to soon start on the building.

Cunning Cupid.

On Last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. Bowman pronounced the words that forever linked the hearts and lives of S. J. K. (Kan) Hayhurst and Miss Nettie Vincent. Mr. Hayhurst is the popular head-bookkeeper at the Famous Mercantile Co. of this place, and is a man of exceptional business ability and unquestionable integrity.

The bride has been employed in the telephone central office here for a long time, and is very popular among the young folks of the town.

The Leader joins their numerous friends in extending congratulations.

New Hotel Going Up.

Carpenters have the frame work up and are well under way in erecting a new hotel building for G. A. Wilkerson. It will be a two story structure and is located near the depot on lots north of the Roy Jackson meat market.

Save yourself a midnight journey. When you think of some household remedy you haven't got RIGHT THEN is the time to get it. If baby takes the cramps, have you got a remedy in the house? If you get headache, toothache, earache or any other kind of ache, pain or trouble, BE READY for it by having on hand a complete line of household remedies to tide through on until the doctor comes.

A Lost Bank Check

WHEN a bank check is lost, it does not mean that the money is lost. If the check is drawn in favor of a definite individual or business house, it must be indorsed before it will be paid at the bank. Payment should always be stopped on any check that has been mislaid or lost, that is security against having it paid on a forged indorsement. A check is the safest and best form for making remittances in payment of personal, household or business expenses. Deposit your money in this bank and pay your bills by check.

Well here I come again after so long.

There has been quite a number of happenings since I came last, one was the death of the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Yeager's. He was only sick a short time before he died.

Everybody is picking cotton these pretty sun shiney days.

Some are pulling boles here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilson and family also Mrs. Kiziah Morris and little granddaughter Lila spent Sunday across the river visiting Mr. Murphey and family.

Annie Painter spent Saturday night with Opal Wilson.

E. L. Wilson and family took dinner at C. C. Pior's Sunday.

Ruby Daniels and Beulah Crow took dinner at Mr. Brewer's Sunday.

Quite a numbers of others went to Lillie Sunday.

Elsie Wilson was the guest of Ruby Daniels' Saturday night.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown was quite sick Sunday.

F. Gilbreth and family also Ethel McFadden were the guest of C. W. Gollighugh and family Saturday night.

Quite a number of men out this have sown wheat.

Mr. Henry Brisbin and family visited Mr. Brisbin's daughter Mrs. Mamie Aaron and family Sunday.

Mr. Henry Mitchell had business at C. W. Gollighugh's the other day.

Well I will ring of this time and try to come sooner next time.

Cy.

Lillie News.

Cotton picking is the order of the day here now, most people are making more than they thought they would before they picked any.

Mr. I. P. Messick is visiting relatives in Okla., for a few weeks.

The singing at Mr. Philipps' Sunday afternoon was well attended.

Mr. Bartlett from Plymouth was in our community Saturday.

George Hawkins and family and Miss Virginia White spent Sunday at E. L. Tarpley's.

Russell Messick spent Saturday night and Sunday with home folks.

Mrs. Edgar Philipps was shopping in Wellington, Wednesday.

Clarence Spencer and family visited at Dr. Peoples Saturday.

Several wagon loads of cotton pickers came in from Kelly Saturday. They certainly found plenty of cotton picking.

Grandma Pearson visited at Mr. Messicks Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Williams, spent part of last week at Mr. Elie Haralson at Wellington.

Some Accidents in Neighboring Counties.

Allen Mullins, 13 years old, was accidentally shot and killed at Deep Lake near Memphis, Sept. 25th, while he and an older brother was hunting. Custis Cudd, aged 13, was drowned Sept. 24th, while wading in Parker creek near Memphis. He stepped off into a deep hole. Near Quanah, Lena Tidmore, 15 years old, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid, because her parents refused to allow her to keep company with a 19 year old boy of the community.

Houselog Items.

We are having some pretty weather, if it continues a few weeks the farmers will soon have out all of their cotton.

There is a right smart improvement going on in this community. Herman Sanders has his lots and new barns built and will build his residence soon. Herman is one of the rusing young farmers.

Ernest James, has built him a barn on his place, I guess the next will be a house and then a cook.

Mr. C. A. Woodruff is breaking sod and sewing it in wheat, he also has a new well and wind mill on his new place.

Miss Annie James of the city, visited her brother, Willie James, Saturday and Sunday.

Sunday School is progressing nicely now. Willie James is Superintendent, everybody that can, come to Sunday School at 3 p. m.

Mr. F. Wyly has been very sick the past two weeks, and is very little better at this writing.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff and daughter, were in their buggy going to church, and they met an auto, it scared their horse and it jumped in the fence and turned the buggy over, they all escaped any bad hurts. Mrs. Woodruff had a few bruises.

I will come again.

Topsy.

To Cotton Raisers.

The report to the effect that we have sold out to or in any way have any connection with any oil mill is absolutely unfounded and positively false. No oil mill people or any one else outside of the firm name have any connection whatever with the Hall & Harrison Gin. Anyone having any idea that we have any such connections are invited to inspect our partnership papers at the First National Bank.

The business is being, and will continue to be, conducted as it always has been. We truly appreciate the patronage of the cotton farmers and at all times endeavor to give the very best service. Bring us your cotton to gin.

It never happens that a man and his wife are killed on the same joy ride.

The Wilbarger County Fair is in progress at Vernon, the dates being the 10th and 11th.

Some wise people never realize how little they really know until the children get old enough to ask questions.

The Panhandle State Fair is in progress at Amarillo, and Collingsworth county failed to provide an exhibit.

This is a curious old world. If you have no money you are snubbed; if you have too much you are investigated.

In Swisher county it is said that already a dozen men have announced their intentions of being candidates for office next year.

It is reported that Altus will have a union depot, to be on the site now occupied by the present Wichita Falls & Northwestern building.

We read a caption a few days ago that impressed us as having a whole lot of truth in it, and it was this: "If you don't love your wife somebody else will."

He that assumes an "I-am-holier-than-thou" attitude towards his fellow men is said to be a target for lies. If telling lies against any one is ever excusable it is in such cases as these.

Be glad of life, because it gives you a chance to love and to work and to play, and to look up at the stars, to be satisfied with your possessions, but not contented with yourself until you have made the best of them; to despise nothing in the world but falsehood and meanness, and to fear nothing except cowardice, to be governed by your admiration rather than disgust; to covet nothing that is yours neighbor's except his kindness of heart and gentleness of manners; to think seldom of your enemies, often of your friends, and every day of Christ, and to spend as much time as you can with body and spirit, in God's out-of-doors these are little guide-posts on the foot-path to peace.—Henry Van Dyke.

A Posted Man.

There is no man in public life who is better posted concerning the affairs of the Indians than Hon. John H. Stephens, congressman from this district. The Indians were his neighbors when he went to congress, and the land controlled by them in Oklahoma was leased to cattlemen of Texas who were making fortunes off the stupidity of the Indians and the graft of the Government officials who were at the head of the Indian affairs. Mr. Stephens realized that the growth of Northwest Texas depended to a large extent upon the development of the Indian country adjoining Texas. He at once set about to have this land purchased by the government and opened to settlement. He succeeded and today the better part of Oklahoma is that adjoining Texas along Red river. The settlement of that country caused the building of railroads. The building of the Frisco into Quanah and Vernon and the building of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern can be attributed solely to the settlement of the Indian country in Western Oklahoma. The people know this and recognize that they owe Hon. John H. Stephens for the position of affairs in this section today.—Childress Index.

No man in the National Congress has a finer record than does our Mr. Stephens, and when the votes are counted at the next election, he will still be Congressman Stephens.

Killing Negroes No Crime.

Five negroes went into a store in Brazoria county and raised a fuss with the proprietor, who reached around and got a Winchester. The negroes ran, yelling their dirison at the storekeeper. Now this storekeeper was not gifted with a very mild temper, and it immediately rose to 212 degrees. So he cut down on the five negroes, and shot four of them hand running, and shooting at the other, killed a hog instead. The shooter was arrested, indicted and tried. He was acquitted of killing the four niggers, but one of the jurymen insisted on finding him guilty of killing the hog, and the jury so rendered the verdict, on the theory that a man who shot at a nigger and killed a hog ought to be made an example of.—Quanah Observer.

In an explanatory notice to the above article the Observer seems to marvel at such a decision, but the NEWS man does not wonder at it in the least. Who ever heard of a white man being punished in South Texas for killing a negro! Of course such a crime is murder, but it is a hard proposition to get a South Texas jury to look at in that light.—Exchange.

Bonham Merchants Assist in Marketing Cotton.

The merchants of Bonham have organized a company to offer the farmers top prices for their cotton. The company does not care to deal in cotton, but will take it where the regular buyers refuse to pay the highest market price.

The business men of Texas are beginning to realize that they can become most useful on the marketing side of agriculture and the Bonham movement deserves the consideration of all cities.

The business men can employ their energies to no better advantage than to assist the farmers in getting the highest market price for their products.

Industrial Texas 1913.

The Texas Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association has issued a booklet entitled "Industrial Texas, 1913" which gives a statistical analysis of the material affairs of the State.

The production and consumption of each product is balanced and profit and loss shown. The report shows that out of thirty-five agricultural products listed, we have a surplus in only two—cotton and rice. The statistics cover the growth of each line of industry from the beginning of the census reports to the present time and contain a complete resume of the progress of the agricultural, manufacturing and mining industry of the state.

GONE UP IN SMOKE

One-half of your coal—and it did you no good. Hard luck that. But there is a way to fix it. Here's how:

That stove of yours has seen its best days. You need a new one. You know it—but you have let things drift along.

Meanwhile, you have been losing HALF of every hod of coal you have put in it. Of course, you knew it, but you did not think of it that way. You know that half of every lump is gas. Fail to burn that gas and it is like throwing into the ditch half of every dollar you spend in coal.

Rather extravagant? Yes?

The ordinary stove made of a lot of separate castings leaks air. They leak air at the wrong place. Places you can not control.

RESULT—the best part of your coal—the 14,000 cubic feet of common illuminating gas that is in the average ton of $3.00 soft coal—goes up the flue unburned.

You have lost it. It has gone up in smoke.

Save that gas—mix it properly with air and you have the hottest kind of a blue flame. But there is only one way to do this—

Buy the only heater that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

It leaks no air.

This is the heater that mixes the gas and air and gives you all the heat in the coal.

This is the heater that burns any kind of coal and makes a ton of $3.00 soft coal do the work of $8.00 hard coal in a high priced base burner.

This is the heater that is a joy and comfort to the housewife. It makes no dirt or smoke in the house.

This is the heater that saves labor—fix it in the morning and at night and FORGET IT THE REST OF THE TIME.

This is the heater that gives a steady, constant heat from soft coal or lignite.

This is the heater that will hold its fire untouched for a day and a half.

This is the heater we sell you under a guarantee that is as "good as old wheat at the mill." Burns soft coal, lignite, slack, hard coal or wood.

It is just the kind of a heater you want. Come in and see it.

A knight of the Grip, weighing about 250 pounds, and trying to swear big to correspond with his avoirdupois, was taken into custody by Night Watchman J. B. Gillespie Wednesday afternoon, and in his appearance before the Mayor's court anted up a few shekles as a fine for using profane language on the streets.

Dr. G. W. Durham arrived with his household goods last Friday and with his family is domiciled in the Judge Myers residence. Dr. Durham and family comes well recommended. Infact, quite a number of our home people knew them at their

Miss Jessie Service, the able assistant at the postoffice, is sick and not able to be at her post of duty.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Glenn went over on a visit to Memphis Monday, returning home Tuesday. Mr. Glenn says that Wellington seems a very busy place when compared with Memphis. He said that he did not see but one bale of cotton on the streets while there and that on the trip going and returning he never saw but two bales of cotton on the road going to Memphis.

There is possibly as little drunkenness in Wellington as in any city in the state of similar population. In fact, you hardly ever see a drunken man on our streets. But occasionally someone will imbid too freely, as was the case last Saturday when Night Watchman Gillespie was obliged to make an arrest for this offense.

FOR THE SAKE OF YOUR FAMILY

EVERY household should have its family druggist. Such a druggist should be carefully selected and should be loyally supported if reliable. Do not favor a druggist because he has the largest store or because he claims to give the lowest prices. Reliable service is the chief consideration and if you find a store with ideal service, prices will likely be right to.

There are mutual advantages in having a family druggist—a regular trading place. You will become familiar with the resources of his stock and the quality; he will become acquainted with your requirements and will be able to adjust and assist you.

We want to be your Family Druggist. Get Acquainted with us.

Read every word carefully and while you read thoughtfully study the above Oil Field Map

Oil is Under this Land----Reasons:

1. About thirty months ago, when oil was first discovered at Electra, the theory advanced by oil experts was that the oil stream ran in a north and south direction; dry holes dug several miles to the north and to the south of Electra permanently exploded that theory.
2. The theory that the oil stream ran in an approximately east and west course was then put forward. Have subsequently discovered facts and conditions proved the correctness of this theory? Let us see.
3. The proved and partly developed oil field is now more than forty miles long. Petrolia is forty miles a little to the south of east of Electra. Burk Burnett is twenty-four miles from Electra and is slightly north of a line connecting Electra and Petrolia.
4. Eighteen months ago there were practically no drilling operations whatever going on east of Electra, that is, out towards Burk Burnett and Petrolia; now, wells in groups and clusters, and no two groups more than four or five miles apart, may be seen forming, as it were, a beautiful chain binding together these three towns of petroleum fame. This chain is at present reaching westward from Electra. Even at this early date it is half the distance to Harrold—the first town to the west.
5. At Petrolia the fields are narrow; at Burk Burnett it is some wider, while at Electra it attains the respectable width of from two to four miles.
6. The production per well in the Electra group is greater than in either the Petrolia or Burk Burnett group or in any of the intermediate groups. As a general rule, the farther west the greater the production. Westward the torch of the oil field takes its course.

7. The Electra group of oil wells now extends about four miles west of Electra. There are between 200 and 400 producing wells west of a north-south line drawn through Electra. Only a few months ago the number was not nearly so great. Like a huge animate creature, the proved oil field gradually creeps westward, and as it proceeds it increases in size.

8. The land under consideration is but two miles from actually producing wells.

9. As is shown by the above map, it is directly in the east-west air-line, projected through the heart of the wells which cluster about and between Petrolia, Burk Burnett and Electra, and out to the west of Electra.

10. In the air line a dry hole has never been found.

11. A disinterested and well informed person, a man who worked in the Pennsylvania petroleum fields twenty-five years ago, says that it is practically an utter impossibility for a stream of oil that is between two and four miles wide, and that has been running in an almost straight air line for more than forty miles to turn and change its course so abruptly as to miss a strip of land lying directly in front of its center and a distance of only two miles. Then, could it miss the land under consideration?

12. One of the leading financiers of Electra, a man who heard the first startled cry of the infant oil field as it sprang from the bountiful womb of mother earth; who saw it as it grew older; throw off its swaddling clothes and develop into one of the most resourceful petroleum fields of the world, declares that indications point to the one conclusion, viz: that under this land there is abundance of oil. Here it might be added that since the farther west the greater the well production, as a general rule, that perhaps some of the biggest producers of the whole field may be brought in on this or adjacent land. Near the tank farm, and within three miles of this land, there is an 1,800 barrel per day well. In a short distance of this well is a well that produces on the average 1,400 barrels daily. An interest in one of these wells would be worth while, would it not? To say nothing of the land you have on which to locate a well of your own.

13. What is the belief of the oil companies? Their opinion must necessarily be interpreted in the light of their actions. Virtually all the land around, and for a distance of one to four miles west of this land that can be leased at a reasonable price, is under lease. Again, it might be stated that to the south, to the west and to the north, there are six derricks each within less than two miles of the land under consideration. It is reported that in the very near future a few more derricks will be erected still closer in. It will not be a surprise then, if at any time a gusher should be brought in in very close proximity to this land. In that event its value would ascend to dwell among the stars.

That there is petroleum beneath the land under consideration the reasons set forth above viz.: that it is directly in the east-west air line; that the field is swinging westward directly towards it, and is now only two miles from it; that the opinions held by experienced men and oil companies are favorable; and finally, that wells in every direction from it are making excellent showings, cannot fail to prove beyond any reasonable doubt.

BEAUTIFUL MEDALS TO BE AWARDED AT TULSA DRY-FARMING CONGRESS

Any man who wins a prize at the International Dry Farming Congress and Exposition at Tulsa will at once achieve a reputation that is more than national. Good farmers would compete if the value of the prizes were but a penny each, for the honor in itself is worth while.

The Congress, however, never does things by half nor in the ordinary way. Its prizes for the Tulsa Exposition will be greater in value than those of any other fair or exposition in the United States on similar classes of entries, but they will not be given in money except in a few instances.

Nearly all fairs give small cash prizes which are quickly spent and as quickly forgotten. The International Congress will give specially engraved and embossed medals, together with bronze and solid silver cups and trophies and farm machinery, in practically all of its competitive classes.

Beautifully engraved gold and silver awards, bearing the winner's name, will be given in more than 500 individual classes for sheep and threshed grains, vegetables and roots and fruits. For district exhibits, where more than one farmer enters his products, solid silver or bronze trophies, ranging in value up to $400 each, will be given. For individual collective exhibits and in the sweepstakes classes, the prizes will be farm machinery, some of the single prizes ranging in value as high as $1,250 each. Every machine will be the best of its kind manufactured in America, and will be especially designed to do proper work in assisting the western farmer to produce better crops and more of them per acre. This year's prize list totals a greater value than has ever before been given at any International Dry-Farming Congress or Exposition.

OKLAHOMA'S PRIZE CROPS TO HAVE EX- CLUSIVE BUILDING AT TULSA DRY-FARMING CONGRESS

Exhibits from every part of North America are today enroute to Tulsa to be shown at the International Dry-Farming Congress and Exposition beginning October 22. From Cape Breton Island to British Columbia and north to the Peace River country the Canadians are bringing their best crop products. From Maine to Oregon, Florida to Southern California and south to the City of Mexico advances have reached Tulsa of shipments now on the way. It is a certainty that the early statements made concerning the scope of this great Congress and Exposition were in no wise unfounded.

Foreign delegates to the International Congress from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Nicaragua, Venezuela, Guatemala, Belgium, Mexico, Russia, Colombia, Italy, Turkestan, Roumania, Hungary and China are either on the way or are packing their trunks in their home lands, while official advances are coming almost daily from other countries which have appointed delegates. The Canadians are planning to visit Tulsa in train loads, while the Canadian exhibits, collected at Regina, Saskatchewan, and shipped on September 27, are expected to arrive in Tulsa this week.

Advices from all sections of Oklahoma indicate that more than fifty counties will have special exhibits, while individual entries for the big prizes are coming from every quarter of the state. It is certain that the Oklahoma Kafir Corn Palace, built by the state to house Oklahoma exhibits, will not be large enough to supply the demand, and it will probably be necessary to house all individual exhibits in a second Oklahoma building. The Kafir palace is now complete except for the addition of its kafir decorations. It is 84 by 225 feet in size and contains nearly 20,000 square feet of floor space.

The United States government exhibit was also shipped to Tulsa last week. F. Lamson-Scribner, director of exhibits for the department of agriculture, writes that his collection this year will excel any similar show ever made by Uncle Sam. The whole exhibit is expected to be in place in the special government building, 60 by 105 feet in size, by October 15. It has cost $20,000 to prepare the government show, and it is estimated that other outside exhibitors have already spent nearly $200,000 in assembling their shares of the big world-show at Tulsa.

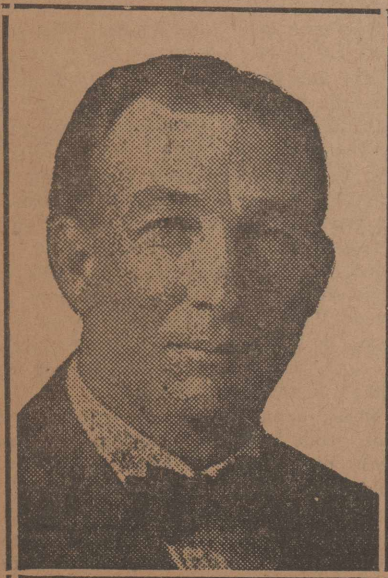

In addition to the two buildings named, four others, each 60 feet wide by 150 feet long, are now ready, thus completing the gigantic task set months ago for the exposition officials of building a world's agricultural fair from the ground up in six months' time.

A special open rate of two cents per mile has been granted from practically every point in the United States to and from Tulsa for this occasion. It is the first time in the history of the state when special rates have ever been granted from so wide a territory.

Local railroad and street car schedules have had to be entirely revised to accommodate the expected crowds. Under the system planned, however, 6,000 people every hour can be carried between the city and the Exposition grounds, while the hotels and homes of Tulsa will be able to properly house more than 20,000 visitors nightly during the ten days of the Congress and Exposition.

MEN WHO ARE PUSHING THE BIG TULSA SHOW

No set of men have ever worked harder to make an exposition successful than that behind the International

O. D. Hunt.

Dry-Farming Congress at Tulsa. Two groups of men control its work. One, known as the Oklahoma Board of Control, is headed by O. D. Hunt, president of the Queen Bee Stove company of Tulsa, and one of the most prominent business men of the city. His associates are L. K. Cone, C. S. Avery, William Stryker, Eugene Lorton and C. A. Sanderson, all of Tulsa.

The second is known as the International Board of Governors. Its head is W. I. Drummond, of Enid, Oklahoma. With him are the Honorable W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan, Regina; Honorable George Harcourt, deputy minister of agriculture for Alberta, Edmonton; C. R. Root, of Denver, Colorado; W. M. Jardine, of Manhattan, Kansas; A. M. Ferguson, of Sherman, Texas; O. D. Hunt, of Tulsa, and John T. Burns. Mr. Burns is the permanent secretary of the Congress and the man who, through his peculiar ability for organization, has made it the most important farm organization in the world today. Mrs. Eleanor L. Burns is secretary of the International Congress of Farm Women, a branch of the Dry-Farming Congress, and through it she wields a mighty influence on the lives of tens of thousands of women in many nations.

SINGING AT BUCK CREEK

On the Second Sunday in October there will be an all-day's singing at the Buck Creek school house, and a large attendance and a good time expected. Dinner on the ground. The Leader is authorized to extend an invitation to everybody to attend, and Sacred Harp singers especially are urged to come.

Eulogy of President Wilson.

While preaching to thousands of people at the Lamar Street Tabernacle at Fort Worth, Dr. J. Frank Norris said this about President Woodrow Wilson:

"True men are the hope of the world. Great courages men are raised up to meet every emergency. The common people do not go long without a leader. President Wilson is the product of his times, just as Moses was the product of his day. We want to know the secret of power of this remarkable man by whose moral force great economic measures become the law of the land, by whose word a strike involving great railroad systems and 100,000 employees is settled and by the influence of whose personality the powers of evil have fallen like dead men.

"Back of his superb scholarship, back of his keen intellect, back of his shrewd political acumen is the great and humble heart of a Christian man who believes in God.

"He is an orthodox Presbyterian. It is a coincidence that the only two Democratic Presidents in fifty years were both Presbyterians. The three greatest personalities in America today are the President, Secretary of State and Ex-President Roosevelt—all three Presbyterians.

"In fact, Presbyterians have furnished more Presidents than any other four denominations together. This may be an accident, but I don't think so. It is not because they are so numerous, for they are a long ways from the top of the list in point of numbers. Is there not something in the fact that more than others our Presbyterian fathers emphasized religion in the home?

"President Wilson believes in and practices the Old Book, every line of it. He preaches that righteousness exalteth a nation, and that sin is a reproach to any people. He boldly declares his faith in the Bible teaching of sin and its punishment, of the necessity for regeneration, of the prayer life, of rewards for the righteous, and condemnation for the wicked.

"Such a life at the head of the nation accords great encouragement to the common man. By such an example, pure religion is exalted and advanced."

WHERE QUALITY COUNTS

Panhandle Skunk Farm.

From the exchanges which come to our table, there seems to be a new and growing industry in the raising of skunks for the pelts in many sections of Texas. This new spirit of industry has struck here and our townsman, W. L. LaRoe, is preparing to engage in it. He has a small farm near town where he has fenced off five acres where he proposes to raise skunks. He is advertising in these columns for certain kinds of these animals and is offering what appears to be a good price for them. He wants all he can get, and should he realize his expectations, this five acres of skunk farm will be the best result getter of any land we know of. He reasons that if he can secure four or five hundred breeding skunks the pelts from the increase will bring from five to six thousand dollars annually. He tells us that he will try to breed the increase to solid black as that color brings the highest price. The Herald will watch this new industry with some degree of interest and see what it will amount to.—Tulia Herald.

A GOOD TIME ON "THE TRAIL"

PLENTY OF FUN BOOKED AT TULSA, OCT. 22-NOV. 1.

Amusement Section of Dry-Farming
Congress Named For Noted
Author.

Like every other world's fair and great exposition, the International Dry-Farming Congress at Tulsa, Oklahoma, October 22 to November 1, will have its boulevard of amusements and concessions. In this instance it will be known as the "Irving Trail," bringing to mind the historical "Tour of the Plains" by Washington Irving in 1832.

Washington Irving passed through the present townsite of Tulsa on this tour and camped on the Lost City hills overlooking the Arkansas river and valley.

On the Irving Trail will be assembled the greatest aggregation of high class shows and wholesome amusement ever seen in Oklahoma. The attractions will line both sides of the trail, and at night the boulevard fun and frolic will be a blaze of electric illumination.

Among the feature attractions on the avenue will be one of the greatest carnival companies in America; a wonderful congress of cowboys, cowgirls and Indians participating in the sports and pastimes of frontier life in the west, and a typical Osage Indian village, containing in primitive surroundings hundreds of men, women and children of this richest tribe of Indians on earth.

Flashing uniforms and martial music will also be marked features of the Congress and Exposition. One of the best concert bands in the country will furnish daily music. The United States government is sending the artillery band of forty pieces from Fort Sill, Oklahoma, one of the finest military bands in the service, to Tulsa for the entire ten days. A big detachment of United States troops from Fort Logan H. Roots, Arkansas, will act as military escort to visiting governors, senators, congressmen and foreign dignitaries and will be seen in daily maneuvers on the exposition grounds.

PREPARED FOR MONSTER CROWDS

TULSA TO PLAY THE HOST IN GREAT STYLE.

Ample Accommodations For Visitors
to Dry Farming Congress,
Oct. 22-Nov. 1.

To properly arrange details for the handling of huge crowds is a big job in any convention city. On the first day of October, however, the citizens of Tulsa had completed plans to fully entertain the largest number of people ever gathered together at any place in Oklahoma. Today Tulsa can give every assurance of adequate and comfortable accommodation for her thousands of visitors during the International Dry-Farming Congress, October 22 to November 1.

Every hotel, every rooming house and every restaurant in the city has been busy preparing to take care of the enormous influx of strangers and facilities have been increased to handle with ease, a daily attendance of over 10,000 people.

Bureaus of information will be open day and night near the railroad stations and visitors will be furnished with full information as to the location, prices and equipment of hotels, rooming houses, restaurants and private homes. Hundreds of private families are preparing to serve meals to their guests at moderate prices and every business man in the city has agreed that there shall be no increase in the price of accommodations or necessities during the Congress and Exposition.

EXPERIENCE MEETING AT TULSA

Old World Famous to Describe Successful Dry Farming Methods.

How to grow next year's crops on this fall's rain.

This is the big secret which will be told to the world at the International Dry-Farming Congress in Tulsa beginning October 27. Many men say it can't be done, but there will be hundreds of other men at the Tulsa Congress who have actually succeeded in doing it and who will be glad to tell how.

One man from South Africa will tell how he grew seventeen bushels of wheat and twenty-five bushels of corn per acre in 1912 on one-half an inch of rainfall between planting time and harvest. Another from Stratton, Neb., will furnish proof that he raised 32 bushels of 62-pound wheat this year on four and a quarter inches of rain between January 1 and August 30. A third, from Peyton, Colorado, will be there to give the details of how he raised 2,000 bushels of wheat on 100 acres of ground with but four inches of rain from the day he planted the wheat to the day he cut it.

These men, and many others, will insist that they get good crops in bad years principally by knowing how to hold the moisture of an entire year in the soil for use when needed by the growing crops. For five full days these men will tell what they have done, how they did it and how much net profit they made, and they will point to a solid ten acres of good crop samples.
