Major Projects to Start On Release of Huge Federal Fund

WILBARGER ROADS

Vernon Officials See Help For County in New Highway Board

Releasing of federal funds, amounting to $6,500,000 to the state highway commission, which was announced Tuesday, will result in the early completion of the Wichita Falls-Fort Worth pike, H. J. Adair, publicity director of the chamber of commerce, said Tuesday night.

Concrete Road

It will also result in the construction of a concrete highway through Montague and Wise counties instead of a gravelled road, which officials of the two counties intended to construct on the Gulf-Colorado highway, Adair said.

Highway construction in Archer county will also be hastened, said Adair, due to the fact that when the county has disposed of bonds that the federal appropriation will be available immediately.

Wichita county will receive no material benefit from the releasing of federal funds, said Adair, as at the present time there are no highway projects in the county under construction or proposed, which would be entitled to federal financial aid.

The state highway commission several weeks ago, according to Adair, indicated that one of the first road projects to be undertaken by the state after the receipt of federal funds would be the completion of the Gulf-Colorado highway.

Early Completion

"As this highway connects Wichita Falls and Fort Worth," said Adair, "announcement that federal aid would be given means the early completion of the Wichita Falls-Fort Worth pike."

Plans of the Montague and Wise county officials to construct a gravelled road on the Gulf-Colorado highway will have to be changed due to the fact that federal aid is only available on permanent roads, preferably highways constructed with concrete.

WILBARGER COUNTY WILL CLOSE HARROLD GAP

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, March 29. — Since Federal funds to the amount of $6,500,000 for 1927 will be released to the State Highway Department, according to an announcement made Tuesday, actual construction on the gap of highway between Harrold and Oklaunion and other Wilbarger county projects should begin within two months, County Judge J. V. Townsend said Tuesday afternoon.

If the federal aid is released on Wilbarger county road projects within three weeks, the appropriations from the State Highway Commission should be made within a month, bids on the work will be advertised for thirty days and actual work begun in two months, Judge Townsend said.

Funds to equal the appropriations from the Highway Commission are now available for the county road work, but it will be necessary to have a bond issue to provide Wilbarger county's part of the funds for the new bridge across Pease river, according to the county judge.

Appropriation for the bridge and the Harrold-Oklaunion gap are expected to be made first by the Highway Commission as soon as the federal aid is released. Federal aid has been withdrawn on highways 5 and 28 in this county, Judge Townsend says. Since it will likely be necessary to vote a bond issue for the new bridge, it is not known just when construction of the bridge can begin, he said.

PROGRAM BLOCKED FOR LAST FOUR MONTHS

AUSTIN, March 29. (AP)—Blocked for four months by financial and departmental troubles the state highway program for 1927 and 1928 virtually got under way today with the announcement that federal road aid, withdrawn near the close of the last Ferguson highway commission's term, will be regained before a month.

About $6,500,000 will be available to the state during 1927 from the national government and about $4,500,000 in 1928, federal authorities to re-enter the program actively with money within two or three

LONE ROBBER FLOUTS POLICE

Dallas Officers Unable To Locate Hi-Jacker

DALLAS, March 29. (AP)—Dallas police were still puzzled Tuesday over the escape of a lone robber who is alleged to have taken almost $6000 from a crap game in a Dallas hotel Sunday.

Though guards were placed at elevators and stairways shortly after the robbery the men disappeared. The money was taken from six men who were playing with dice in an upper room. The robber, who had frequented the room during the afternoon and evening forced the men into a closet at the point of a pistol and escaped up the money.

As he was leaving the room a friend of the players was walking toward the door. The robber told him "the coppers have raided the game" and darted down a stairway.

A man occupying a room he had not been assigned to was questioned today but was turned loose.

"Idle Talk" Blamed For Ruin Of Many Reputations By Evangelist

It is possible for one person to hide a thought from the other people in the world, but the thought cannot be hidden from God, Dr. W. E. Biederwolf said Tuesday night in his sermon at the union revival tabernacle.

The text was taken from the Book of Revelation, 20th chapter, 12th verse; "And the books were opened."

Knows Every Thought"

"You may be able to fool the world and convince the people that you are a Christian when you are not," said Dr. Biederwolf, "but you are not fooling God, who knows every thought that passes through your mind."

Too many men and women speak "idle words" which cause the shattering of good reputations, said the evangelist.

"Many good reputations have been ripped into shreds by 'idle talk' which does not contain the least resemblance to truth," said Dr. Biederwolf.

Jesting about the name of God or Jesus Christ is the lowest kind of humor, said Dr. Biederwolf.

NEW WELL IN VERNON FIELD

Old Producer Brought in On Fluhmann Tract

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, March 29.—Murchison & Fain's Fluhmann No. 7, two locations south of the old discovery well on the Fluhmann tract, began flowing at about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning when it was drilled into the sand at 1468 feet. It was impossible to determine the well's production Tuesday morning, but oil men were of the opinion that it would rank well among the producers of the new field.

With the completion of the Murchison & Fain company's No. 7, the interest of the oil fraternity here now is centered on the Atlantic company's Wilbarger county No. 1, as practically all other operations have been suspended for the present.

The Wilbarger county test, which is located in the Day Land & Cattle survey, was drilling below 1100 feet Tuesday, and is expected to pick up the Fluhmann sand within a few days. Completion of this well will mean that Wilbarger county revenues will be augmented by oil royalties, as the property is owned by the county.

JURY ACQUITS TWO IN THALIA POSTAL THEFTS

Finis J. Jones Convicted In Robbery of Postoffice

VERDICT CRITICIZED

Liquor Law Violators Draw Heavy Fines in Federal Court

Two acquittal verdicts and one of guilty were returned Tuesday by a jury in federal court in the cases of Finis J. Jones, William J. Price and J. Albert Holt, accused of robbing the Thalia postoffice.

Acquittal verdicts were returned in the Price and Holt cases and Jones was found guilty on the third count of the indictment, which set out that he was apprehended by the officers with a part of the alleged postoffice loot in his possession.

Sentence Deferred

Judge William H. Atwell, before whom the cases were brought to trial, deferred passing sentence on Jones.

That the action of the jury was not satisfactory to Judge Atwell was evidenced by his statement to the jurors after the verdicts were read. Judge Atwell said:

"You are the judges of the defendants' guilt or innocence but I think you have made a mistake."

Price and Holt were taken into custody following the arrest of Jones, the testimony in the trial set out. A metal box, which had been lodged in a safe in the postoffice which is alleged to have been moved from the building by the robbers, was discovered in an automobile which Jones was driving, the arresting officers testified in the trial. Price and Holt were arrested as accomplices in the robbery a short time after the arrest of Jones. The arrests were made at a point several miles from the place where Jones was taken into custody.

Deny Acquaintance

An alibi defense was offered by Price and Holt and they denied being acquainted with Jones until they met him in jail after the arrests were made.

Fourteen pleas of guilty to violating the prohibition law and nine pleas of guilty to the violation of the narcotic law were entered Tuesday before Judge Atwell.

Judge Atwell deferred passing sentence in the narcotic cases. The sentences meted out in the liquor cases follow:

Plead Guilty

B. S. Franklin, $125 fine; R. F. White, $75 fine; Herbert R. Ayres, 30 days in jail; John Blaine Newland, $250 fine; L. V. Seafus, 65 days in jail; Beatrice Seafus, $25 fine, seven days in jail; Allan B. Johnston, 30 days in jail; Jesse F. Lewallen, 30 days in jail; Johnnie Jones, 60 days in jail and forfeiture of his automobile; Alvin Reed, $150 fine; George Pratt, $25 fine; John K. Laidler, $125 fine; Walter Wright, 30 days in jail and F. O. Gault, $50 fine.

Pleas of guilty to violating the narcotic law were entered by Floyd Tidwell, Thomas H. Erwin, Charles H. Harper, Henry C. Meserang, Oscar Woodruff, Roy Ford and George Thompson.

Coleman Woman Identifies Fugitive Convict As Slayer of Her Husband

ABILENE, March 29. (AP)—O. C. Wells, admittedly an escaped convict was identified here today by Mrs. J. A. Mitchell of Coleman, as the slayer of her husband in the Mitchell store at Coleman a month ago.

The identification was made at the county jail in the presence of local officers, and Clem Calhoun, district attorney. Mrs. Mitchell walked to the cell where Wells was confined, took a look at him, and in a high-pitched voice shrieked, "oh you killed him." She fainted in the arms of Deputy Sheriff Rucker of Coleman who accompanied her here.

Mitchell was killed at his filling station at Coleman the night of January 27, in the presence of his wife and his 10-year-old daughter, Josephine, and his small grand-daughter.

An unmasked man entered and demanded that everyone throw up their hands. Mitchell was holding a broom and motioned as if to strike the gun from the invader's hands. He fired point blank, the bullet lodging in Mitchell's chest, resulting in death. The intruder then fled. Since then officers of half a score of Texas counties have been probing clues.

Wells was arrested here a few days after he was alleged to have shot and seriously wounded Jeuhs Hart, a negro, in an affray in the east part of the city. The negro has recovered and Wells is charged with assault to murder in connection with the case. He is being held in the county jail.

Wells escaped from the Harlem prison farm January 1, he was convicted at San Angelo on a charge of stealing automobile castings.

SOVIET WOMEN LEAD IN LOOT OF FOREIGNERS

Communist Sentiment Fostering Anti-Alien Outbreaks by Cantonese

AMERICANS FLEEING

Yangtze Valley Alame With Anti-Foreign Feeling Dispatches State

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Upwards of 200 Americans are cut off from rescue in inland Chinese towns, it was learned officially today.

Grave fears are felt for their safety, since reports to the state and navy departments indicated that anti-foreign outrages are spreading rapidly.

They are for the most part missionaries who failed to heed repeated warnings of American representatives in China to evacuate to the seacoast and river ports.

SHANGHAI, March 29.—The Yangtse Valley, and all that section of China now occupied by the Cantonese forces, is being rapidly evacuated by Americans and other foreigners.

The situation today is serious. A tremendous wave of intense anti-foreign feeling is sweeping the country, which is aflame with bitter sentiment.

ANTI-FOREIGN TENSION GROWING IN CHINA.

SHANGHAI, March 29. (AP) — Alarm at the growth of anti-foreign agitation in Nationalist China has pressed northward to districts threatened by the Cantonese advance, and refugees, most of them Americans, are moving out of southern Shantung, Anhwei and southern Honan provinces.

The local Chinese Commissioner at Changsa, on the Siang-hiang in Honan province, after a slight encounter between several Chinese and a party from the British gunboat Woodcock, today demanded withdrawal of the British warships at that Nationalist controlled city.

The commissioner demanded also that the British sailors involved in the clash be turned over to the Chinese authorities in order that "drastic action" might be taken against them. When extra-territorial rights further were withdrawn from all Britishers in Changsa, the British authorities ordered the evacuation of their nationals from that city.

Women Lead Rioters.

The Japanese consul, who arrived today, from Nanking where he had a narrow escape from death, last week said armed women communists led the Cantonese soldiers who looted the Japanese consulates. The consul agreed with other reports made here by refugees that the looting and outrages were carried on systematically.

The apparent object of inflaming anti-foreign feelings, while additional refugees from various sections of central China, including Hankow continued to flock today to Shanghai and the coast, seeking safety from the anti-foreign campaign. The defense of foreign settlement in Shanghai was further coordinated today.

Major General John Duncan, commander of the British defense force, visited Captain Uyematsu, commander of the Japanese marines, and discussed the general situation as to defense of the international zones.

Subsequently Major General Duncan conveyed to the authorities British sympathy on the attempted suicide of Lieutenant Kamao Araki, who was in command of the guard at the Japanese consulate at Nanking at the time of the outrage there last Thursday.

Lieutenant Araki, who is in a grave condition, sought to kill himself aboard the Japanese flagship Tone this morning after reporting details of the sacking of the consulate. Apparently he was weighed down by a sense of responsibility for the events there, although it was stated he had held the fire of his force of seven sailors only because he feared shooting would mean the massacre of those under his protection.

Evacuation Rapid.

The evacuation of Hankow by foreigners is proceeding rapidly. Today the steamer Suiwo arrived here with 285 refugees, all but one of whom were Americans. Most of them were members of the Scandinavian-American mission from the interior. The Americans still remaining in Hankow, it was said, numbered 139, including 39 women and 17 children.

With the situation in Hankow described as disturbing, 350 Americans left the city between Thursday and Sunday, most of them coming from the interior. Those remaining will be evacuated as soon as possible.

Reports from Peking say all the American members of the staff of Peking union medical college, alarmed by the Nanking incident, are planning to leave for home immediately. The police in Peking, which is the capital of the northern government, are actively engaged in a hunt for Nationalists agitators there.

Female Denizens of Murderer's Row Reduced As Juries Vote Acquittals

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Only Florence Stokes, pretty red headed miss remains of three women who a week ago were in murderer's row at the county jail. She is scheduled to go on trial for the slaying of her sweetheart, within two weeks.

Mrs. Bertha Heilman and Mrs. Alma Olson, both of whom killed their husbands, were acquitted by juries. They told their story in a straightforward, undramatic way.

But pretty Florence has a dramatic story. She killed James Glennon when he sought to desert her, just when she believed she needed him most. And then, according to her story, he calmly handed her a gun and told her to use that because it was quicker than drowning. Instead she killed him.

Florence is pretty, has beautiful clothes and wears them well. The trial is expected to be dramatic.

10-Year Tee-Totallers Scarce In Wichita Falls, Judge Finds In "Poll"

Men who have not taken a drink of alcoholic beverage in 10 years, were scarce Tuesday afternoon in the federal district court.

Judge William H. Atwell, presiding in the court, discovered this fact when, during trial of a man charged with possessing one quart of gin, he requested all men who had not taken a "drink" in 10 years to raise their hands.

There were approximately 150 men in the court room.

Two raised their hands.

Judge Atwell's courtroom "liquor vote" was taken at the conclusion of a lecture he delivered on the evils that befall the imbiber of intoxicating fluid. The man had testified after entering a plea of guilty, that he was arrested when officers found one quart of gin in his car. The gin, he testified, had just been bought by the defendant for the purpose of individual consumption.

When the "courtroom vote" was ascertained, Judge Atwell remarked to the defendant and court attendants:

"We must be in the wrong crowd."

GOD'S EYE ON MAN'S RELIGION

Deity Will Not Be "Fooled" By Futile Humans

God or Jesus is uttered then that person is a heathen or a lunatic," said the evangelist.

Dr. Biederwolf's sermon in full follows:

"And the Books Were Opened" —Revelation 20:12.

This is one of those passages of scripture that rises up to meet you as you approach it, and instead of reading through it, and passing on as you do with the more ordinary passages, you stop and draw back a bit, realizing that what is before you is the introduction to something so divinely awful and solemn that mortals like ourselves can only hesitate and tremble.

This is not the only mention of books of this kind in the Bible. In Phillipians, 4:3, we read the book of His remembrance and we come more than once across the mention of a book which God has written.

It is plain from these passages that God has been using a system of bookkeeping of His own and that He has been writing the story of your life and mine.

God's Record Perfect.

Some people write their own biography. Some leave money to have it done. Sometimes friends do it for them. But God has a better record than any man can write. And in God's record everything goes down. In these man-made records the bad is usually left out. Every once in a while we discover something about some of our greatest men that was never in their biography. But God's record is a perfect one. The good deeds are there but the bad ones are there, too.

I once saw the details of an awful crime thrown on the canvas by means of one of Edison's many marvelous inventions called the Cinematograph, which means the writing of movements, and gives us our moving pictures. Every action of the criminal from the time he planned the crime until the dastardly deed was consumated was there in what seemed to be living reality.

And I thought as I came away that some such panoramic records of my actions and deeds done in my body are being taken by the Cinematographic process by God. I have heard as you all have the world's master voices in marvelous life likeness through the phonographs which means the writing of sound. And I have thought if a man can do a thing like that what a perfect record God must have of every idle word which has fallen from your lips and mine. No one has yet come along with a mentalographic instrument for the writing of thought.

Mental Telepathy.

I went one day to see an exhibition of what was called mental telepathy, and a master of the occasion who professed to know another's mind, told me actually what was in my own, told me of the purpose of a journey I was making and much of the detail incident to it. How it was done, I do not know, I went outside shaking my head as some of you are shaking yours, for there is so much fraud in the world that connoisseurs must forgive the common run of us if we are sometimes just a bit skeptical.

But mental telepathy has come to the place where the least we can offer it is our respect. And I thought as I went out, if a man could really do things like that shall we wonder if God is really making a record of the very thoughts of our minds, the very desires of our heart and the very purpose of our soul.

The Fisk jubilee singers used to sing: "He sees all we do,
He hears all we say."
And they might have added: "He knows all we think."

My God's a-writing all the time.

No wonder the psalmist prayed, "Search me and know my heart, try me and know my thought, and see if there be any evil way in me."

God Is Keeping Books.

God is keeping books. He is making a record of your life and mine, and what I would have you know now is, that one day the books will be opened and you and I will be there to face the records, and before us in panoramic reality, the past will all live again and by it we are to be condemned, or by it we are to be justified.

Judged for Our Words.

Your words will be there. "But I say unto you, that every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give an account thereof in the day of judgment." Matt. 12:36.

"Out of the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaketh," and the idle words that fall carelessly and thoughtlessly from the lips are the ones that reveal the real nature of our hearts.

I preached a scorching sermon one night on sin and hit out pretty hard on a great many of the common ones. I thought I had covered the ground pretty well and at the close a sanctimonious looking dame swept by and said, "Well, I'm thankful what you said don't apply to me." I said, "Anyway you're a very good woman, and as she walked away I remarked, "What a lovely creature she must be." Some of the ladies had stood by and overheard it all, and one said, "Who is that woman?" "That woman, why," they said, "She's the worst old gossiper in town."

There's a lot of you old scandal mongers around here who will have an awful account to square if you don't quit lying about people. I know some of you don't like what I am saying, but it don't cut any figure with the program, for I am telling the truth. You tell everything you know and some things you don't know. For some of you hear something derogatory about some one and you don't even wait for your hat. You peddle it all over the neighborhood and rip somebody's reputation into shreds and never walk to see whether it was the truth or a lie. It was the truth, you'd be a lot more decent if you'd keep your mouth shut.

Like a woman who went into a newspaper office and leaned up against some paper with some mucilage on it and it stuck to her. She went down the street and the people grinned and she didn't know why. She got home all worked up and said: "Husband, is there anything wrong with my back?" He looked up and saw the paper sticking there in black letters, "Daily News." "No m," he said, "there's nothing there that don't belong there."

And then some people think it's an evidence of smartness to trifle with the name of Jesus or to jest about the Son of God.

A Trifler Called

Like some young men out in a village grocery store. They were criticising the Bible like a lot of empty-headed nincles that don't know anything about it, and bragging about their skepticism. One of them who seemed to be the leader, at last said: "Why, for a $1 bill I'd sign away all my rights in Jesus Christ forever." An old farmer who had just stepped in and who understood human nature pretty well, heard him say it. He said: "What's that young man?" and the young fellow pushed his chest out, and with a swagger repeated the sentence. "Well," said the farmer, "here's the money." And he pulled a bill from his wallet and handed it to the storekeeper, and said: "Give it to him when he writes what I dictate. Now young man take this pencil and write." And as the old man dictated, the young man not to be bluffed, began to write, "I, A. B., in the presence of these witnesses, do hereby for the sum of $1 received, sign away, once for all and forever, all my right in—" and he laid down the pencil and said to the old man: "I was only fooling."

Just so do men flippantly take the name of Christ on their lips criticise the word of God when they know little or nothing about it; deny the deity of the glorious Son of God and carelessly regard His blood as uncommon, when God has written it down and "by your words ye shall be justified, and by our words ye shall be condemned." "And the books were opened."

And then the things you have done will be written in the books. "For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that every one may receive the things done in the body whether it be good or bad." 2 Cor. 5:10.

God Sure Paymaster

God is a sure paymaster. A Godless, un-Christian farmer, more prosperous than his Christian neighbors, one time wrote to the editor of a Christian paper and said: "I planted my grain on Sunday; I cultivated it on Sunday; I harvested it on Sunday, and threshed it on Sunday. It is now October; my barns are full of grain; I have more money in the bank than any of my Christian neighbors. I am more prosperous than any of them. Account for that will you?" The editor replied: "God does not make full settlement in October."

"There is one thing you seem to forget," said Richelieu to Anna of Austria. "God is a sure paymaster. He may not pay at the end of every week, or every month, or every year, but I charge you to remember that He always pays in the end."

Must Give Account

Listen to me, man, you can live a profligate and dissolute life, debauch your being, and disgrace your loved ones, but you will have to give an account to God. You can squander your wages in a poker joint and rob your wife and child of what ought to go to them. You can live in lust and like a beast, debauch your body and poison your offspring with your own contaminated blood, but God will settle your account one day.

You can make money your God, and consummate your Godless iniquitous trust to hammer down wages and hold up prices, but justice will one day be measured out. You can profane God's holy name and pollute the sanctity of God's holy day with needless pleasure, but God will not hold you guiltless. You can live for society and squander time and every asset of life, worth living, but one day God is going to judge you for it, and when you stand face to face with your record there is one thing you can count on. You will be ever ashamed of the amount of sin against God. And there will be no escape, for the door of mercy will be forever shut.

And then the secret things will be there in the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ, according to my gospel. Rom. 2:16.

God Knows It All

There is something about your life that no other human being knows. But God knows.

I read sometime ago of a woman who killed her husband by driving a nail into his skull. She covered the wound up so successfully that she was never suspected and her husband was buried. Several years she lived on comfortable with her secret, but one day the grave digger dug up this man's skull and there was the nail. He of course took it straight to the woman, and when she saw it she threw up her hands, and cried: "My God, found out at last."

Friends, it will be exposed at last, and all the things you do under cover of darkness will be brought to light in that day. You sin and think your sin don't find you out here, it will find you out hereafter.

You sir, talk of your mortality, and you, my dear woman, boast of your purity, and say that God will save you because of your goodness. What if a photograph of your heart, of its secrets, desires, its lust and its past imaginations were thrown on a screen before this audience, and the audience knew whose heart it was! But one day that will be true, for "in that day God shall judge the secrets of men."

You may hide the secret in your own breast, and you, woman, with that black page in your history may feel quite uncomfortable over your reputation in society, but some day if you do not repent and be forgiven, the whole world will know, for God will make it manifest.

"And the books were opened."

But listen! "And another book was opened, which is the book of life, and whosoever was not found written in the book of life, was cast into the lake of fire."

And that is where I trust your name is written.

In Mal. 3:16 I read: "Then they that feared the Lord spake often one to another and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and the book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and thought upon His name."

When the disciples came to Jesus rejoicing over the miraculous power He had given them, and the things they were able to do, He said to them: "Notwithstanding not because of this, but rather rejoice because your names are written in heaven."

The Book of Life

Alexander rejoiced because he had conquered all the worlds, and then wept because there were no more worlds to conquer.

There have been glad moments and proud moments in almost every one's life, but the world does not hold one thing over which a man may rejoice, whether it be military achievement, or spiritual power that is worthy of the least to be compared as a reason for rejoicing, with the fact that your name may be written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

I'd rather have my name written in that book than to have a quit claim deed on all the gold and silver and diamond mines in the world. Money is alright and fame is alright and honor and pleasure and worldly emoluments are alright. But if I couldn't have these and have heaven, too, I would say: "Lord, I care not for riches neither silver nor gold,
I would make sure heaven; I would enter the fold;
In the book of thy kingdom, on its pages so fair,
Tell me, Jesus, my Savior, is my name written there?"

And thank God, I know my name is written there, because I've got the word of Jesus for it.

I know my name is in that book—not because I am worthy, but because He is worthy, and for His sake, whom I believed, I know God has written it down.

Say, you can laugh at God and reject Jesus Christ and live in sin, but the time will come when you'll have to die.

God pity you if you have no hope in Christ when that hour comes and when the books are opened.

U. S. Aid Will Plug Road Gap

weeks, W. R. Ely, member of the commission said. This year, the state will be credited with funds withheld during the suspension period thus accounting for the large 1927 figure.

Major projects have been at a standstill since the federal road board cut off aid, regarding the financial condition of the highway department as unsatisfactory and maintenance of highways into which its money had gone, as poor.

Road Men Confer

The new highway commision, working since its induction into office in an attempt to straighten out financial tangles yesterday held a meeting with federal road authorities asking the return of aid.

Ely today said the commission was able to show ability and willingness to pay current debts and a disposition, satisfactory to national officials, to fill the requirements for aid although the highway department treasury yet is not on a sound footing.

Re-entering active road building, the commission today for the first time alloted state aid. Shackelford county was granted $27,500 state money toward construction of one-inch bituminous surface on highway No. 23 from Albany to a point near Moran and Robertson county was granted $15,000 to erect an approach to a bridge over the Brazos river on highway No. 43.

The commission plans, however, it was learned some time ago, to cancel allotments made by previous commissions totaling about $5,000,000 on the ground that they are illegal since money sufficient to pay them was not available when they were made.

No indication as to what projects will be affected could be obtained.

Many Aid Requests

Numbers of requests were made by county delegations in the commission's hearing today.

Delegates from Harris county presented a problem which threatens, they said, to prevent the county from obtaining about $260,000 federal aid on a section of the Old Spanish trail through Houston.

Bonds totaling $6,000,000 were voted by the county, part of which were to be used in aiding in concreting the section, with the understanding the route should be through the heart of Houston. The federal government will not allow aid unless the route is taken to a point not nearer than four miles to the business center.

R. A. Thompson, state highway engineer, was instructed by the commission to advise with federal authorities seeking their approval in the route as planned when the bond issue was voted.

Other local highway issues one involving the alleged failure of the last Ferguson highway commission to pay all the sum contracted for to a road builder for work in Coleman, also were discussed.

COAL MINES TO END OPERATION

Present Wage Scale Called Excessive By Owners

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, March 29.—With but few exceptions, all of the unionized bituminous coal mines of the country, employing approximately 350,000 men, will close down indefinitely at midnight March 31, notwithstanding the resolution adopted by the policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America at Indianapolis Monday, permitting the continued operation of mines under the terms of the old contract.

This was made known here today by Rice Miller, president of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, who has been in communication with the coal operators of the other states comprising the central competitive field.

Mr. Miller said he had no doubt but what the other soft coal operators would stand firm against any compromise with the union at this time. To continue working the mines under the terms of the old agreement, Mr. Miller said, would permit John L. Lewis, president of the Miners' union, and his policy committee to dilly-dally along indefinitely without an agreement with the operators.

Then when he caught the operators in a pinch, after the present stupendous surplus stock is exhausted and with winter coming on, he would be in a position to force a contract favorable to the union, but not to the coal producers.

"The proposal of Mr. Lewis' policy committee that the miners continue at work under the present wage agreement is not acceptable. The operators must have a wage agreement that will permit them to reduce the cost of producing coal. I take it the mines of the state will be closed pending the making of a new wage agreement. We are willing at all times to discuss with the union or our employes the making of a new contract. Our executive board will meet tomorrow."

Some of the union coal operators in Ohio and western Pennsylvania have signified their intention of reopening their mines after April 1, with non-union miners. This cannot be done in Illinois, because none but union miners can be employed here.

With approximately 100,000,000 tons of bituminous coal above ground, consumers will not realize that there is a strike in the soft coal fields for at least 90 days, if it continues that long. There has been only a slight increase in the prices of bituminous coal as a result of the threatened suspension of mining.

FARMERS GIN MAKES PROFIT

Co-Operative Project Earns Shareholders Gain

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, March 29.—A profit amounting to $26,000 was made by the Farmers Co-operative Gin at Crowell this season and will be prorated back to the stockholders, according to the amount of cotton they have had ginned, on a basis of approximately $5 per bale. No farmer was allowed to take more than $25 in stock and this had paid a dividend of 10 per cent.

The success of this co-operative gin is a fine demonstration of the possibilities of co-operation and proves beyond question that there is profit in such co-operation, for this money will go back into the pockets of the farmers who have stood together and worked for the success of their plant.

No Easy Money Left

CROWELL, March 29.—Easy money will no longer be found in Crowell by undeserving solicitors, promoters of "fakes" and worthless advertising schemes, as a result of action taken by the Foard County Chamber of Commerce to combat the class of people who make their living through unnecessary soliciting and fake schemes. The need for such action has long been felt and hearty co-operation of Crowell and Foard county merchants has been promised in the operation of the plan adopted by the chamber of commerce directors. By this plan consideration will be given no solicitor for any purpose or promoter of any scheme unless a letter of endorsement can be produced from the Foard County Chamber of Commerce through its [illegible] committee, composed of H. L. Kimsey, W. R. Womack, Tom Reeder and Mack Boswell. Rigid investigation will be made by this committee of all matters brought before it and no letter of endorsement will be given unless the proposition is found to be strictly legitimate and deserving of local support.

Through proper operation of this plan, thousands of dollars will likely be saved to the community, according to those experienced in the plan.

BIG POTATO CROP

CROWELL, March 29.—Large crops of sweet potatoes will be planted in Foard county this year by a number of farmers in this section, according to recent announcements. J. W. Beverly of Crowell expects to plant five acres on his farm, west of Crowell. S. W. McLarty, M. L. Cribbs, J. E. Young, J. R. Prescott, Fred Ballew, Ralph Gregg, E. M. Key and F. L. Farrar and probably others of the Rayland community, will each have several acres planted to sweet potatoes this year.

The sweet potato crop of Mr. Farrar last year yielded him 200 bushels to the acre and were sold at from $1.25 to $1.50 per bushel. The W. A. Walker farm near here has a curing plant of 10,000 bushel capacity and in case the market will not consume the potatoes when they are harvested, this plant can be of great service in curing the potatoes so that they can be stored and kept in good condition.

$3500 Barn Fire Loss

CROWELL, March 29.—A loss of approximately $3,500 was suffered by I. W. Middlebrook of the Margaret community when the barn at his home burned down early Thursday morning, destroying 30 tons of maize, 400 bushels of corn and all the harness, ten tons of cottonseed, one wagon, a number of farm implements and killing six work mules and injuring two others that may die.

Origin of the fire is unknown and was discovered too late to extinguish it or save the property. No insurance was carried.

Cotton Shipments Double

CROWELL, March 29.—Cotton shipments out of Crowell to date have almost doubled those of last year and this city has served as a concentration point for the greater part of the cotton grown in this section. Over 18,000 bales have been shipped out of Crowell over the Orient railway this year compared to 9600 bales coming to Crowell last year to be weighed. Cotton production in Foard county this year will likely be around 25,000 bales.

RIOT SENTENCE AGAINST PAIR

Oklahoma Governor Delays Execution of Penalty

Special to T. . Record News.

ALTUS, March 29.—Governor Henry S. Johnston has issued a stay of execution in the sentence of R. B. Perkins and D. T. Tays, convicted of riot, and sentenced to serve a term in the state penitentiary.

The stay of execution was recently received by J. L. English, sheriff of Jackson county, and was for 46 days, which time will be up May 2, 1927.

Perkins and Tays were convicted of riot in district court here in April 1924 as a result of an alleged flogging of a local man by these men, said to have been identified as members of the Ku Klux Klan.

The criminal court of appeals of Oklahoma handed down a decision November 16, 1926 affirming the sentence of the district court here.

The stay of execution sent Sheriff English was signed by the governor and attested by Graves Leeper, secretary of state.

POSSE IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Oklahoman Claims Officers Mistreated Him

BARTLESVILLE, March 29. (AP) The story of an alleged attempt on the life of John Hoffman, Washington county farmer, by a mob of about 30 Kansas and Oklahoma peace officers early in February was told for the first time today in a suit for $100,000 damages filed in district court on behalf of Mr. Huffman, by his attorney, W. B. Allen.

The defendants named in the suit are all of the officers whose names are known at this time. The names of others will be added, it was said, in an amended petition to be filed later.

Those named today are Clifford Hough and Ed Hazlitt, deputy sheriffs of Washington county; Robert D. Sanford, sheriff of Tulsa county; Henry Lowery, chief of police of Nowata; W. D. McGrabb, sheriff of Montgomery, Kan.; C. P. Cather, chief of police of Coffeyville, and Bill Armstrong, who recently turned state's evidence against Everett Bible, in a murder trial in Montgomery county, Kansas.

It is related by the petition that more than a score of rifle and revolver bullets pierced the shack in which Hoffman lives and that he was wounded during the firing. He did not return the fire and the officers broke into his home without a search warrant and searched the place, the petition relates.

An excuse given later by some officers who participated was that Bill Armstrong had told them that Matthew Kimes, well known Oklahoma outlaw, was hiding in the Hoffman home. Hoffman, who is a bachelor living alone, also says that after he walked out of the house with his hands in the air several shots were fired at him.

Crowded houses are greeting every showing of "The Scarlet Letter" at the Majestic theater, the last day being today. The film is an elaborate production of Nathaniel Hawthorne's dramatic tale and has been hailed as one of the remarkable picture successes of the season.

The story features Lillian Gish in the tragic role of a Puritan woman, who, to shield from the intolerance of the Puritans the man she loves, wears a letter of shame on her breast throughout a lifetime. It affords the famous star of "The Birth of a Nation," "The White Sister" and "La Boheme" one of the most appealing and heart-gripping roles in her entire career.

Lars Hanson, famous Swedish star, makes his American debut in the new picture as Miss Gish's leading man, and Henry B. Walthall, the "Little Colonel" of "The Birth of a Nation," is playing with Miss Gish for the first time since that memorable production.

A complete replica of the first Puritan settlement in America was constructed for the massive presentation of the famous classic. It is Miss Gish's first picture since her big success in "La Boheme."

COURT UPSETS DIVORCE GRANT

Pretty Wife Proves She's Victim of Lies

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, March 29.—A divorce granted Bernard Gordon, scion of the wealthy owner of a motor car company, on grounds of infidelity, was set aside today by Judge Sabath, who had granted it.

This action followed fresh testimony supplied by Mrs. Gordon herself, a pretty young woman.

"When Bernard took me home after our elopement last October and introduced me to his parents," she today told the judge, "he was threatened with immediate disinheritance if he didn't get rid of me.

"He then suggested that I go to Denver, while he obtained a divorce. In the meantime, he said, he would win his parents over. I agreed. I received love letters from him almost every day. The divorce proceeded. He won. Then he wrote me, saying he was through with me. 'Get back the best way you can.'

"Judge, I pawned my engagement ring and came back. Then I learned for the first time that he had charged me with infidelity."

WIDOW? NO!—SHOW. OH!

VENICE, Italy.—An American press agent slipped into Venice unobserved by the local constabulary, and at once the town went cuckoo. Local papers carried an advertisement inserted supposedly by a wealthy widow, who sought a second husband. Candidates for her hand blocked traffic in the street; tax collectors wanted to know why she hadn't paid toll on her riches; salesmen besieged her for orders. There wasn't any such advertiser; but a local opry house was playing a revival of "The Merry Widow."

Music Study Club Honored At Lovely Spring Luncheon

In a setting of lovely spring flowers and American beauty roses, which added color and fragrance to the spacious new home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weeks, tables were arranged for a 1 o'clock buffet luncheon Tuesday, when Mrs. Weeks was hostess to members of the Music study club.

Preceding the luncheon a discussion of next year's program for the club was held, and Mrs. Joutte Bonner, president for next year, outlined her plans, which included four musical mornings with guest privileges. Mrs. Ray Eyssen, chairman of the program committee, gave her report, as did Mrs. Walter Robbins, who reported on the purchase of some books the club will use for research work.

Covers were laid for Mesdames Fred Barron, Jouette Bonner, Ray Eyssen, S. M. Goso Jr., Bruce Greenwood, O. B. Kiel, Alfred Miller, O. E. Nicholls, Walter Robbins, C. Y. Tully, F. E. Van Wormer, Walter Priddy, Wayne Holmes, W. L. Underwood and Miss Adele Ray.

Southern Presbyterian Women Close Year's Work

With reports showing the year's budget more than raised, and statistics portraying rapid growth in membership, the Woman's Auxiliary of the First Southern Presbyterian church held its last session of the church year in the form of an inspirational meeting at the home of Mrs. J. E. H. Railey Monday afternoon.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. J. A. Bass and Mrs. J. R. Johnson was program leader.

"The Twelfth Day" was the topic for the afternoon and corresponded to "The Twelfth Night" in that it marked the end of the church year, showing the work done in the past 12 months. The setting, as given by the auxiliary president, Mrs. George Fleming, was one of "Lights and Shadows in the Auxiliary Forest," the lights symbolizing the work accomplished, and the shadows, the weak spots. The close of the address was dramatized by the circle chairmen and secretaries marching in with large green posters representing trees, each showing the year's work in that particular circle.

Following a brief talk by the pastor, Dr. Gaines B. Hall, complimenting the auxiliary on its work, Miss Winola Watt of Weatherford who is the guest of Miss Vivian Railey, gave a vocal number accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. R. Kirkwood.

An impressive installation service was conducted by Mrs. J. E. H. Railey in which Mrs. T. N. Colligan, vice president, and Mrs. O. C. Dickson, secretary, Mrs. R. S. Riggs, secretary of young people's work, and Mesdames T. M. McKinny, C. Hosmer and T. L. Wilde, circle chairmen, took offices. Mrs. E. C. Cooley gave the installation prayer.

After the program, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served to Mesdames George Fleming, R. C. Anderson, F. R. Johnson, A. F. Kerr, H. E. Wilson, R. E. McBee, R. S. Riggs, J. A. Bass, T. King's Painter.

Alfonso, gay King of Spain, has had his portrait painted. The artist was an American woman, Miss Margaret Brown of Boston, and the work was done in the royal palace at Madrid.

Although Alfonso has never deserved the reputation of being a woman hater, this is the first time a member of Spain's royal family has ever posed for a feminine artist. It seems fitting that so ardent an admirer of the "weaker" sex should be the one to break down the iron tradition established by the ancient dons.

Miss Brown's commission was from the New York Yacht club, in whose rooms the portrait will hang when it arrives on this side.

A color scheme of green was carried out in the decorations and refreshment course, and three tables were arranged for the games.

Miss Merle Taylor won the high score favor, a bridge set, and the honor guests were remembered with vanity French dolls.

MODISH MITZI Spring Coats are Trimmed With Bows By JAY V. JAY

Just before Mitzi and Eleanor go out to do a little shopping Mitzi looks over the contents of her wardrobe and remarks that nearly all of her spring dresses are trimmed with bows—quite as they should be. (Mitzi wears a skull cap and Eleanor's hat is trimmed with flowers).

But speaking of bow trimming for dresses, it's just beginning to be noticeable that spring coats are also going in for this sort of trimming. The navy coat in the window, with its lines of horizontal tucking, has a tremendous bow of black taffeta on one shoulder.

This smart coat which Mitzi meets on the street is also navy blue and is trimmed with rows and rows of narrow cire ribbon. Wider ribbon is used for a soft collar and for a bow on one shoulder. Mitzi begins to think she hasn't done the styles justice in her coats.

This wrap of crepe satin with both the dull and shiny sides used is practically a clinching argument in favor of bow trimming for coats and it's highly probable that Mitzi will do a little intensive shopping—it's most proper to have one's coats and dresses match!

Mother's Reward Comes in Love From Children If She Raises Them Properly

You'll Have the Reward of Loving, Appreciative Children If You Give Them a Healthy Heritage, a Peaceful Home and a Mother and Father Who Are Friends to Them as Well as Parents.

Give your children a fair deal.

To give life is a far more serious matter and involves a greater moral responsibility than to take life. If you kill a man or woman, he or she suffers a very short time, probably not more than a minute or two, but if you bring a sickly, neurotic child into the world, you doom it to a lifetime of pain and misery.

Every child has a right to be born of clean, healthy parents, and unless you can give to your children untainted blood you are defrauding them of the inheritance that is due them. Worse than murderers are the fathers and mothers who make a helpless child pay with a deformed body or a diseased mind for their own sins.

Don't be synthetic parents.

We have found a substitute for almost everything else under the sun, but human ingenuity has never yet been able to devise anything that will take the place of a real father and mother. No incubator is as soft and warm as a mother's breast. No bedtime stories heard over the radio form character as do the little talks and prayers that mother whispers to a sleepy little head as she tucks in the covers at night. No high-priced schools can ingrain into a boy such traditions of honor and honesty as can his father.

Parenthood is the biggest job and the most important one that any man and woman can ever undertake, and unless they are going to give it their personal attention and bring to it every bit of intelligence that they have, they should let it alone and join the race-suicide squad. No woman has a right to have children unless she is willing to stay at home and take care of them.

Of course, it means endless sacrifice. Of course, it means endless work and worry. But that's the price you have to pay for making a success of every profession in the world.

And no man has a right to turn the task of rearing his children over exclusively to his wife. He is just as much a father as she is a mother, and bringing up a child is a two-handed job that requires both a man and a woman working together to accomplish satisfactory. Children need a father's firmness, a father's broader outlook, a father's authority to supplement their mother's love and tenderness.

It's because there are so many mothers who never let their children interfere with their bridge games, and who drive their children to the street to keep them from cluttering up the house; and so many mean who think that a father's sole duty consists in paying the bills, that is responsible for the hoodlum youth of today.

Give your children a peaceful home.

A child's whole life is affected by the atmosphere in which it grows up. The police records show that nearly all of the delinquent children, nearly all of the boys and girls who go astray, most of the youthful criminals, are the children of divorced parents and come from broken-up homes. Psychoanalysts say that children who are reared in homes where there is continual bickering and quarreling between the father and mother are prone to all sorts of nervous disorders.

One eminent psychopathist stated not long ago that he had never known a man or woman to have a nervous breakdown who was brought up in a peaceful and happy home, and who was the child of parents who loved each other.

Perhaps you have made a mistake in marriage. Perhaps your wife isn't your soulmate. Perhaps your husband does fall short of your ideal of a fairy prince. Perhaps the partner of your bosom does irritate you in a thousand ways.

But be fair, be just to your children. Don't make them pay for your blunders. Keep a home together until they are grown and no longer need it. Cut out the quarrels if you have to bite off the end of your tongue to keep from uttering the snappy comeback that is on the end of it. There will be plenty of time to get a divorce, if you still want it, when they are safe and will no longer be the hapless victims of it.

Get acquainted with your children.

You have to establish an intimacy with your babes while they are still in the cradle. You can't do it after they are grown. You have to make doll clothes with your little girls and have pillow fights with your little boys and go to the circus with them and tramp with them and get excited over tops and kites and detective stories if you expect them to talk freely to you, and to know what they are thinking and hoping and planning to do.

There are lots of foolish parents who believe that their children will love them and confide in them just because they stand in the relationship of parents and children. That's silly. Parents have to win their children's affection by their sympathy and understanding. And if all that you have done is to be an incarnate "don't" in your family, and ridicule little confidence your children have made you and wet-blanket all of their plans, you may be very sure that your 20-year-old son and daughter will never tell you anything they do or think of doing. They could confide more easily in the policeman on the corner of the street.

Sell yourself to your children.

Put yourself in a favorable light before your children. Take as much trouble to make yourself as charming to them as you would to a stranger. Consider their feelings. Try to entertain them and make life pleasant and agreeable for them. Believe me, you will find that it pays.

Did you ever consider that a child's mental picture of its father is nearly always a kill-joy, and of its mother as nagger? Father seldom speaks to the child without forbidding it to do something it has already done, and mother is one eternal don't-do-this and don't-do-that.

Don't put yourself in this unattractive light. If you have to deny a child something on which its little heart is set, take the sting out of the refusal by explaining why you have to do it and making the child realize how you sympathize in its disappointment. If possible, substitute some other pleasure for the lost joy. About 99 times out of a 100 mothers say "don't" just from force of habit. They forget that it rasps a child's nerves to be just as much as it does a grown person.

Try using the same tactics on your children that you would in selling your best customer, or in playing up to the woman to whose parties you wanted to be invited, and see how marvelously it works.

DOROTHY DIX.

The last three "Commandments for Parents" will be printed Friday.

IN THE GLOW OF THE CAMP FIRE

Members of the Camp Fire guardians training course assembled in the ladies' parlor of the First Presbyterian church on Monday evening for their council fire.

The members filed in, wearing either the ceremonial gown or the dark skirt and white middy. The members formed a circle and gave the hand-sign of the fire and sang "Wohelo for Aye."

The seven candles were lighted representing the seven crafts in Camp Fire, in which girls earn honors. Mrs. A. A. McIlheran gave a talk on homecraft, showing how the Camp Fire program centers around the home, tying the girl closer to her home and making her more interested in cooking and other household tasks, as, care of the children, social leadership and various other phases of life which make better daughters, wives and mothers of our girls.

Miss Hazel Schultz gave an inspiring talk on "Nature Lore," showing the practical value of earning honors. "I have studied botany in school, but the information and contact with nature made in school work is not as impressive as that the Camp Fire Girl learns through personal observation. Nature study creates a new world for most of us. We live in worlds such as the school room, the business office, and other worlds. The hikes and contact with the out-of-doors world brings us close to the growing things and to the Creator. Nature study contributes something invaluable to the Camp Fire Girls' program." Miss Schultz told the Indian legend of the beautiful Indian Maiden, Lelinaw, who was transformed into the stately pine tree. The group sang "America, The Beautiful."

Miss Ola Atkinson gave a talk on the "Health Craft," discussing the value of the health charts and earning of honor beads which establish wholesome habits of personal hygiene and give instruction in first aid, encourages interest in sports, and develops a happier, healthier girl.

The group sang "Perfect Posture." Nell June Smith, talked on "Thrift, or Business Craft," discussing merits of thrift charts and interest stimulated toward earning and spending of money as well as punctuality in school work.

Gladys Mackechney discussed "Handcraft," telling of the many ways Camp Fire Girls can earn the handcraft beads.

Mildred Leita, Thrift, Tex., talked on "Patriotic Citizenship," showing the Camp Fire Girl is made to feel the sense of responsibility toward her community and the idea of service to others is encouraged. Bible readings and service to church or other religious institutions comes under citizenship. The group sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

Lillie Mahoney talked on "Camp Craft," mentioning the value of the summer camp as well as honors earned on hikes, for the trail blazing, map making, camp cooking and Indian lore.

Miss Atkinson gave the Camp Fire Girls' Credo.

Gladys Lewis, guardian of one of the groups in Fairview school at Thrift, was awarded honor beads, and was initiated as a woodgatherer, wearing the ceremonial gown for the first time. Miss McIlheran explained the significance of the ceremonial gown as a "mantle of girlhood" to be worn with dignity and reverence. Everything on the gown represents something in the girls camp fire work.

The "count" resume of the course was given in a clever, original poem written by Nell June Smith.

Mrs. J. A. Kemp awarded the certificates to the graduates. Mrs. Kemp made an impressive talk of appreciation for the Camp Fire Girls' program.

"I have heard about Camp Fire, and knew it was a fine work, but I had never realized what a really beautiful and complete program you have. As I think back over my life, I realize how much a program of this kind would have meant to me. Your stress on the home life is a wonderful thing. I like your nature program and your laws of seeking beauty in nature, as that is invaluable in any life. Your business as thrift is fine too, as every girl should know how to take care of money. I like to think of the man as the provider and the woman as the distributor. Knowing how to spend money intelligently is just as important and even a harder task than earning money. I have received a great message tonight, of an organized program that is doing a tremendous work, and I congratulate you new members who are taking up this work."

Guardian certificates were awarded to: Ola Atkinson, Edith Crump, Gladys Mackechney, Hazel Schultz, Mrs. Bert Dimock, Mrs. A. A. McIlheran, Evelyn Holley and Miss Nell Smith.

Assistant guardians certificates were awarded to: Lillie Mahoney and Mildred Leith.

Interested member certificates were awarded to: Mrs. Anna Barnhill, Mrs. A. W. Ayres, Miss Leola Greer, Miss Gladys Lewis, Mrs. A. A. Brackett.

Rev. Dan Grieder made a short talk expressing his appreciation of the ceremonial and the splendid Camp Fire work. Miss Ida Moore expressed her appreciation as a council member and as principal of a school where a fine group of girls are working in Camp Fire.

Evelyn Holley told an Indian legend. Edith Crump, in behalf of the members of the training course, expressed the appreciation of Miss McIlheran who had conducted the training course and presented her with a little pin, in white gold in the form of a friendship bow knot.

The ceremonial was closed with the singing of "Mammy Moon" and "Lay Me to Sleep."

WEDDING BELLS! CLANG!!!

It's all over now!

This guy Cross, which engineers this colyum when I ain't has gone and got married.

Wedding bells and daffodils! Ain't spring wonderful!

Me, I been married a long time.

Because o' that I ain't so smart as I used to be. Only some smarter, which this guy Cross ain't yet.

* * *

Man, this last two weeks has been a whole lot tougher on me than it has been on Cross. All this time this guy Cross has been fixin' to git hooked up in tandem, Me I hadda do his work. Me, I've gotta a job of me own around this place which ain't no cinch sometimes.

But a guy don't get married but once—for the first time—so I guess I'll have to charge it up to Mr. Cross' inexperience. Me, I been married before—one time—and ain't got over it yet. But I'm one o' these sick guys that don't wanta get well because any time I want some money all I gotta do is to get it from my wife which she took all of it away from me on payday. She's smart, she is, that Mrs. Mickey McGuire. You see I work at night and every morning she wakes me up early to help feed the family canary and manicure the dishes excep' on payday morning. She lets me sleep as long as I want that day, or until she's been down to the office in the family Stutz (built in Michigan) and collect the weekly stipend. I bet that woman puts knockout drops in me coffee to keep me asleep. But Blondy he don't know anything about the likes of that yet.

* * *

Talking about daffodils. That guy Cross must've been livin' on daffodil wine the last two weeks, he's been that daffy. The other day he come down to the office an' told the boss he was goin' to get to work. The boss holders "hooray" an' me I utters a heartfelt "amen," but I must've hollered mine out too loud because that goofey guy changed his mind and went out to see his girl, which is now his Mrs. But I'm glad they got married now. It's a cinch we'll see more of the benedict around the office now. That is later.

* * *

There's another thing this guy Cross ain't learned yet, besides not bein' able to wake up on payday in time.

It's the little matter o' buyin' groceries. Wait'll you see him comin' out of a cash-and-carry with a armful o' potaters and onions. I'm a layin' for him. I ain't never forgot the time he razzed me when I showed up downtown shovin' a wicker wheelbarrow an' it wasn't full o' bricks either.

He'll be comin' down to the office wearin' a string aroun' h's thumb and then he'll haffta phone friend wife just like the rest of us an' ask her what it was she wanted him to get that she tied the string aroun' his thumb for.

Speaking o' that family Stutz (that bein' a short way o' spellin' stutterz, which is how she runs most o' the time) that British feller which has got his picture on this sport page has got some fast automobile. His car made 207 miles per hour at Daytont Beach yesterday. Some sea breeze! Me, I got me pencil out and did some figgerin'. At the rate he was goin' it didn't take him but 67-94ths of a second to go the distance of a city block. While a feller could take one 20-inch step, that British major was goin' six blocks. Chain lightnin' ain't no faster.

* * *

Tyrus Raymon' Cobb has got hisself in dutch again with Judge Landis. This time it cost him $100 bucks to get square for gettin' sassy with Umpire Wilson, which guy Tyrus don't like. Las' time Ty got in trouble he landed a $65,000 job. Mebbe Judge Landis is collectin' his commission for his part in that game-throwin' fiasco.

* * *

It ain't gonna be long now until them Spudders 'll be in action again. Them Okmulgee boys is comin' over to play a three-game serious beginning April 1. Them Spuds is goin' good now which is liable to make them Oklahoma boys remember it's April Fools Day when the sun sets Friday.

It's all over now!

Hume's Slants Too Much for Longhorns

AUSTIN, March 29. (AP)—A case of too much Hume cost the Texas Longhorns the second game of the Texas-S. M. U. series. The S. M. U. Pitcher completely silenced the big bats of the Longhorns and scattered their seven hits effectively to keep down the Texas attack. He also knocked a long home run over centerfield fence in the sixth inning to score the winning run ahead of him. Muelder, who worked the first six innings for the Texas team was ineffective and was touched for 10 hits. Baker who relieved him was effective for the last three innings but was sent to the box too late to stave off the Mustang victory.

Home runs by Walker, Harris, Speer, and Hume featured the game. Craig, Speer and Hooks led the Mustang attack. Davis' error in center field of Howell's liner cost the Longhorns a winning run in the second.

BLACKS STOP REDS 13 TO 6

Hot Grid Contest Waged By Coyote Squads

By MACK (ICHABOD) TURNER

Smashing and tearing into the opposing line with vim and gusto, Coyal Francis' Black clad warriors took their second victory from the Crimson team of B. D. "Red" Ewing, 13 to 6. It would be a hard matter to select any one outstanding star on either team, for there were many that were playing good football.

It was a much better team of the Reds facing the Blacks on the Junior college grid Tuesday afternoon than those that lost to the same team some time back by the count of 16 to 0. The team showed much better form, and made the score Tuesday show their advancement.

Coach Ewing has been pressing his charges hard and has a team that looks much better than they did at their first game. While the Reds were improving so noticeably, the Blacks were also smoothing over the rougher edges and getting things down much better.

To Play Ranger

It will be hard to pick the men that will face the Ranger Bulldogs off hand. There are many that will be left off of the list that have fought hard and played well for the right, but were nosed out.

Smith and Hicks were probably the best looking players on the Reds' backfield. This pair ripped through for many flashy gains and played some good defensive ball. Ramey, Perkins, Hanks, and Hutchison were playing some good ball on the line.

The punting of Duncan Perkins is worthy of much comment. This young player was getting good yardage with his boots and many times his toe averted danger from the Reds' goal.

Long Sprints Score

The Blacks scored both of their touchdowns on long-end sprints by Chick Chewning while a long pass by Smith to Harvey was the way the Reds shoved over their touchdown.

Early in the first quarter Chewning broke off around an end for a touchdown, but try for the extra point failed. Late in the first half, the Reds surged down the field to the 20-yard line and there they were halted for a moment by the powerful defence of Jim Turner, but Smith stepped back and heaved a 35-yard pass into young Harvey's arms and the latter stepped over the goal line for a touchdown. Again the trial for extra point failed.

Sparkling Plays

During the first half there were many bits of sparkling play pulled, and it was warmly greeted by the fans. Flying tackles and long runs featured the game throughout.

Ed Bell and Jim Turner of the Blacks, were head and shoulders above the others on the defense. Time and again one of this pair would plough through the line and spill some opponent before he could get started with the ball.

Bill Habern waged both a sterling attack and defense for the Blacks. This former Junior high school center was shoved into the backfield and there he played a great game. He made several sensational tackles and several good runs.

In the Reds' line for the first half, it was Ramey and Hanks that shone brightly. This pair was blocking many a grand march down the field.

Score in Third

Four sweeping end runs by the Blacks gave them another touchdown in the third quarter. Ray George started it off with a long gain around the left end. Chewning swept back over the right end for another long gain. Red Habern then cut loose over the left end again for about 20 more yards. Chewning then cut back around the right end for a 18-yard gain and a touchdown. Watson place kicked a perfect goal for the extra point.

For the rest of the game, George, Chewning, Watson and Elliott continued their battle for the Blacks. Shorty Hicks led the Reds' defense for the last part of the game. Hicks made several nice gains through the line, but could never get within thrusting distance of the goal. He was greatly aided by Martin Hodgkiss for the honors in the Reds' attack.

Last Play Thrills

The last play of the game was one of the leading lights in the game. Watson attempted a long end run, but was turned back by an army of Red warriors. After running back for several yards, he cut back to the other end of the field and ducked and dodged his way through the Reds' line for about 40 yards, but only a 20-yard gain.

It is from the members of these two teams that an eleven will be chosen for the Coyotes to face the Ranger Bulldogs in about three weeks. In the meantime there may be another inter-squad clash.

TIGERS RUNNING BASES

Members of the Detroit Tiger squad are putting in some strenuous base running practice at San Antonio. Manager Moriarty has let it be known that he is intent upon reviving that department of the game to a higher degree than has prevailed in major league circles in recent years. Practically all of Monday's practice session was occupied with players tearing around the paths and a major part of future sessions are to be utilized similis

Mystery Car Dashes 207 Miles Per Hour at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 29. (AP)—England shorn of its golfing and other titles by invading Americans, tonight laid claim to one title about which there could be no doubt—the world's automobile speed record.

Invading American shores, Major H. O. Segrave, intrepid British racing driver, today sent his flaming red "Mystery Sunbeam" automobile over the sands of the beach here at an average of 203.7958 miles an hour in two one-mile speed trials. Malcom Campbell's 173.22 miles an hour, established in England and Tommy Milton's American mark of 156.04 were dwarfed by the giant twin 12-cylinder motor car.

His face blistered by wind and his wrists sore from holding the huge machine on the beach, the Englishman's thoughts turned to home. Surrendering his mount to a companion, Major Segrave talked with friends at the Daily News in London by radiophone. He told them of his achievement.

Folks Listen In

The racer understood his wife and his father had listened in on the conversation.

A hot mid-morning sun beat down on the white sand as Major Segrave jockeyed his machine into position down a lane lined on each side by thousands of persons. In the face of a quartering wind he began the northward trip. For four miles he battled the wind as his mount gathered speed, for the drive over the mile measured course.

In 17.24 seconds he had traversed the mile, an average of 200.688 miles an hour.

With the wind to his back, he turned about for the final trial. The timing devices reset, he plunged forward on his roaring return. His white, strained face could be seen as the machine careened past the judges' stand, caught in the wind and swerved, sweeping down course flags, and righted itself to go on to the finish.

Indelible Record

The whirling wheels had left only a faint trace in the hard packed sands, but on the records of the American Automobile association they placed an indelible mark. The south bound mile was made in 17.29 seconds, an average of 207.0155 miles an hour.

Major Segrave came to America to reclaim for England some of the glory lost in the realm of sports and made good by carrying out his threat to travel 200 miles an hour or more.

Giant of Racers.

According to Mayor Seagrave, his speed pet is unlike any other car in the world except for its magnetos, plugs and the steering gear which is the same used on all high-powered Sunbeam cars.

And size! "Billy" Perkins, captain of the team of mechanics, tuning up the Seagrave car, expresses it this way:

"If ever they make anything bigger than this it will have to be a flying traction engine."

Nothing, says Major Seagrave, could be made more powerful than this cannonball on wheels and still be called a car.

The Seagrave racer, named the "Mystery-S" was designed by Louis Coatalen, famous automobile and airplane designer. Between March and November of last year Coatalen's entire staff was occupied with the task of preparing the 7200 separate drawings required for the job.

If you'd like to park one of these Mystery-S cars in your backyard garage, delivery will cost you about $100,000 not counting tax and freight. It develops 1900 horsepower.

The two engines transmit their power at a common gear box placed in the center of the car, which in turn transmits through three speeds to the rear wheels.

The car is 29 feet 6 inches in length and 6 feet across at its widest part. From the driver's seat which is only 15 inches from the ground, it is possible to see only 200 yards in front. Says Major Seagrave:

"It is not necessary to see further at those speeds."

Coyote Track Team Takes It Easy On Eve of Big Invitation Tourney

The Coyote track team has been taking things easy of late in order to be in better shape for the second annual invitation track and field meet set for Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon. The team will be in fairly good condition for the big meet and the Coyotes are hoping to carry off the high honors. Raymond Mitchell, Filmore Meredith and Truman McCoy are being counted upon to carry the Coyotes through in the dashes. Powell and Giles in the mile run. Allred in the half-mile, and Pinney in the hurdles.

There are several more that are showing much promise and outclass the favorites of the meet.

Captain Roy Porter is still considered out of the running for the high jump and pole vault, but he will be back with bells by the time of the district meet. He may also get into the Oklahoma relays the following week at Norman, Okla.

About 20 schools are expected at the meet, and any others that care to come are invited avers Coach A. Y. (Bud) McCallum.

Pirates To Play Tigers In Texas

San Antonio Series Will Open Wednesday

By Universal Service.

SAN ANTONIO, March 29.—The Pittsburgh Pirates rolled into town today for the start of the two-game series with the Detroit Tigers tomorrow afternoon. Manager Donie Bush intends to start either Johnny Morrison or the bespectacled Lee Meadows in the box for the Buccaneers, while George Moriarty, boss of the Bengals, has primed his star southpaw, Earl Whitehill, for duty, with Lil Stoner, right-hander, his second choice.

Glenn Wright, Pirate shortstop, who sprained a hand recently and has not been playing, will be at his regular position, Bush said tonight. Pitcher Vic Aldridge, whose arm has been bothering him, is feeling fit and may twirl the Thursday game here.

The Tigers went through a long drill today in preparation for their first big league opposition.

OLYMPIC ENTRY

Agnes Geraghty, a student of the Newtown high school, Elmhurst, L. I., is the national breast-stroke champion. She is the holder of the world's records for the 100 meters, 200 yards and the 400 meters distances. Miss Geraghty holds all American records for the breast stroke up to 440 yards. She is an apt student and is as versatile in her studies as she is in the water. She is also a gifted musician, plays the piano and sings. Is "handy" about the home and is a splendid cook. Miss Geraghty is a member of the "Women's Swimming Association of New York," 154 W. Fifty-fifth street, New York City.

SPORT A LA CARTE

The supreme decision of the supreme court of Florida, adverse to pari-mutuel gambling, which automatically closed down the horse and greyhound racing plants of that state, will undoubtedly prove to be beneficial to boxing.

Boxing in Florida, while illegal, has long been tolerated. Previous to the advent of night greyhound racing, boxing had enjoyed its full quota of popularity. However, during the past several winter seasons the lure to wager and the strong opposition of the numerous greyhound tracks placed boxing in a precarious position. The crowds kept dwindling until but a handful of the faithful turned out to witness the encounters.

Naturally, with poor attendances the promoters could ill afford to show high-class talent, as the stars of pugilism witnessing the little gatherings, would not consider boxing on a percentage basis. They often wanted guarantees that would eclipse the gross receipts of not only one, but several shows. This was especially true at Miami.

Ed Dougless, Miami's pioneer promoter of boxing, erected a splendid outdoor arena at a cost of approximately $50,000. The arena was especially erected to cater to the usual big throngs expected to visit during the winter seasons.

With the death knell sounded for gambling at the race tracks which unquestionably will benefit boxing, it is probable that boxing will come into its own in greater volume.

With Pompano race track definitely closed to the running of the horses, the site will be turned into a boxing arena. Benny Murphy, a promoter of various enterprises, of New York City, will open the track to boxing with an all-star program on April 2. Murphy will be playing a difficult long shot. Pompano is located midway between Miami and West Palm Beach, each a distance of approximately 30 miles distant, and both being the cities that he must draw from to make the venture successful.

Murphy's first card, an after-program, with feature, according to present plans, four 10-round bouts. It includes Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, opposing Bermondsey Billy Wells of England; Billy Britton, of Kansas, and Jimmy Francis of New Jersey; "Farmer" Joe Cooper, of Indiana, and Lou Vida of Georgia; "Cowboy" Frankie Osner of Tulsa, and Jimmy Manning of New York.

But one boxer of potential possibilities has been developed in Florida recently. Young Manuel, a southpaw lightweight of Tampa, gives promise of developing into a star. He has never been defeated and recently won the lightweight championship of Cuba, when he defeated Cirilin Olano, the recognized champion of the island republic. Among Manuel's recent victims have been "Cowboy" Frankie Osner, Joe Cook, of New Orleans, and the latest being Sammy Vogel of New York City. He has twice defeated Arturo Schackels, the great Belgian lightweight, once at Tampa, and again at Havana.

Genaro Pino, the flashy flyweight and bantamweight of Cuba, who holds both belts emblematic of these championships, given by the national boxing commission of Cuba, intends to invade the middlewest this summer. Pino, who resembles the late Joe Gans in every resepect in boxing skill and movements, intends to make his headquarters in Chicago.

This exceptionally clever performer, who easily can scale in at the flyweight poundage, will prove to be a worth-while opponent for the American leaders of his division. Pino has long been conceded the cleverest boxer that ever strutted his stuff in Florida and Cuba.

FIRST DERBY PURSE $2850

Now Horses Run Annually For $50,000 Prize

(This is one of a series of articles on the Kentucky Derby, America's racing classic of classics. The articles are based on interviews given Warren Brown, by Col. M. J. Winn, vice-president and general manager of the Kentucky Jockey club, the man who has done more than any other individual to raise the standards of thoroughbred racing in America.)

By WARREN BROWN
Universal Service Correspondent

The value of the Kentucky derby to Aristides, first winner, away back in 1875, was $2850.

Its value to the winner of the 1927 renewal will exceed $50,000 by a considerable amount.

The value of the derby, during the early years of its running, varied from the purse won by Aristides, to the purse of $5460 won by Riley in 1890. Generally it exceeded $4000, though in 1895, when Halma won, it dropped back to $2970, the third lowest figure on record. Vagrant having won $2950 in the second renewal of the derby.

From 1896, when Ben Brush won, until 1913, when the longest shot of all the derbies, Donerail, came home in front at 92 to 1, the purse remained fixed at $4850. Donerail took down $5475, and the following year, when Old Rosebud set the mile and a quarter derby record, of 2:03 2-5, which has never been equaled, the purse was almost doubled, Old Rosebud getting $9125 for Owner Applegate. In 1915, the value of the derby went over the $10,000 mark, for the first time, Regent, the winner, and the only filly that ever did win a Kentucky derby, drew down $11,450 for her owner.

George Smith's Victory 8, 1916, netted the owner $9750, but this marked the last time the derby purse ever fell below $10,000. In fact, it was the last time but one, that the derby purse did not show a gradual increase, until 1921, when Col. Winn determined to make the event $50,000 added to the winner.

The odd occasions were in 1917-1918, Exterminator getting $14,700 in the latter year, while Omar Khayyam drew $16,600 in the former.

"Have you ever considered raising the purse from its present fixture?" I asked Col. Winn.

"Yes, I though about it quite seriously a few years ago," he said. "I considered raising it to $100,000 added. It was pointed out to me that it would be extremely difficult for eastern racing associations to keep pace with that sort of a purse, and having the best interests of racing at heart, I gave up the idea. It is now practically certain that the derby purse will always remain $50,000 added.

"My problem now is not one of purses. It is one of patrons. Year by year our derby crowds increase. Our stands have grown, until they extend practically the entire length of the stretch.

"We are making improvements this year that will tend to increase the comforts of our patrons, but even that will not suffice.

"It seems now that our only recourse is to build straight up, triple deck the stand, if necessary.

"The only other alternative would be to imitate the Yale bowl, and build around the course, and I am afraid that this will not be practical.

"No, indeed, derby purses, derby entrants, derby odds, are no longer my source of worry."

Macaroni King To Return to Labors

Three Wichita Falls baseball athletes will bid Spudder park farewell Wednesday, one for all time and two of them perhaps not for so long.

Marvin Smith, shortstop, has been sold outright to Pittsfield of the Eastern league. But Sam Jones and Floyd Trexler, outfielders who make the voyage with Smith, still are Spudder property, so it is understood generally. Jones and Trexler, both classy gardeners, may be seen in Spud spangles again some day.

Manager Carl Williams shoved the squad through a sharp workout Tuesday afternoon after which the boys cleaned up and journeyed over to Ross' wrestling emporium as guest of the mat fraternity last night at the Reynolds-Grip controversy.

Turgeon Improves

Petey Turgeon, handicapped the past week or so by a charley horse and an injured index is rocking along nicely. He's just about ready to step out and buzz with the boys again. Horse has run away and finger's healing rapidly.

Howard Fitzgerald, the famed outfielder, will be back in harness Friday against Muskogee. The macaroni king has been packing around a damaged digit, also, but the hurt's healing.

Williams expressed elation at the run-getting ability displayed by the team in the 11 exhibition games played so far. The club scored 94 times. That's an average of 8 1-2 runs per game. Four of these tilts, you recall, were against the Chicago White Sox. Two were with St. Paul of the American association. A couple with Frederick and three with Oklahoma City of the Western.

Mann Pleases

The pilot couldn't help a couple of chuckles either over the hitting and fielding talent displayed by Johnny Mann, the shortstopper from Macon. Some of the boys didn't think Johnny would cram the agate for much, but in those 11 contests he whacked out an exact average of two safeties to a game, slamming 22 hits in all. His defense work has been little short of the sensational. Swede Swenson, the newcomer at third, has fielded brilliantly and the past few days has been coming along nicely with the stick. He appears to be getting his eye on the ball and before long will be whamming the leather with the best of 'em.

LATZO FIGHT OKEYED

NEW YORK, March 29. (AP)—The New York state athletic commission today approved a world's welterweight championship match between Pete Latzo, titleholder, and Joe Dundee, under promotion of Humbert J. Fugazy, after Tex Rickard had withdrawn his objection to the contest. The bout will be held at the Polo Grounds June 4.

The Great Grip Meets Master

Jack Reynolds Keeps Claim To Welter Tiara

The great Grip has met his master.

For Buffalo's bullet-head conceded victory after 43 minutes of speedy, clean, nonetheless bitter battling Tuesday night at the Palace to wee Jack Reynolds of Indianapolis, world's welterweight championship claimant.

For a period it looked as if the veteran Charley Grip might topple the welter king of them all. Especially so did he appear on the verge of victory when after losing the first fall in 26 minutes under the excruciating pain of a leg split, he tore back, rallied under a series of headlocks and a flying mare to retaliate with a headlocking sally of his own that evened the match in 12 minutes.

Reynolds Speeds Up

But Reynolds surprised his most ardent admirers by the manner in which he went after Grip on the rubber return. So fast did the Indiana flash work that hardly before Charley knew what was happening, Reynolds had tied him down in a short arm scissors from which he could not extricate himself. The great Grip broke one of these deadly holds merely to be snared in another. It was his death knell, so to speak. For with Reynolds applying pressure on a leverage that seemed sufficient to break an arm of iron, Grip gave up, asked for mercy, cried, "Give it to him! Give it to him!" sweat rolling from his temples, forehead wrinkled in agony. The victory fall had been scored in the brief span of four minutes.

The match had been billed as a championship affair. But she wasn't. Grip came in overweight. He was announced as having tipped the scales at 146½ pounds at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Reynolds was said to have weighed 144.

Gorman Rough

Jack Gorman, the idol of San Angelo matdom and one of the most well-liked athletes to ever appear in Wichita Falls, scored a bloody triumph over Billy Londos, the Greek. Jack fought an uphill battle. He lost the opener in five minutes to a body and arm lock combine. Gorman came back in a hurry and fighting as if his life depended on the outcome of the match he ripped into Londos with both mitts flailing, kicked and slashed his way to balance the falls in 12 minutes with a toe hold and hammer lock. He beat the Greek out on the final comeback in 14 minutes. Gorman got away with application of several headlocks when suddenly, Londos, pretty groggy, tried for a crotch hold and body slam, but tilted backward too far, losing balance. He flopped over on his shoulders with the full force of Gorman's body catching him in the ribs, knocking him cock-eyed and making the process of scoring the fall a simple one.

Londos' weight was announced as 149, Gorman's 141.

Farmer Burns, generally granted the greatest wrestler the world ever has known, still good at the age of 66, gave a short lecture and mat demonstration with Gorilla Cosu as a subject. Burns, also officiated in the main event, Cosu refereed the Gorman-Londos affair.

Ty Cobb Fined $100 For Ruckus

Landis Fines Baseball Star For Flouting Umpire

SAN ANTONIO, March 29. (AP)—Ty Cobb must pay $100 for his part in an argument with Umpire Frank Wilson of the National league, which resulted in a forfeited game, Judge K. H. Landis, baseball commissioner, announced today.

Cobb and Wilson were old enemies when Cobb was pilot of the Detroit Tigers and Wilson was umpiring in the American league. Wilson is with the National league now and when he was selected to umpire a game in Florida recently between the Boston Braves and the Athletics, Cobb refused to take his regular place in the Philadelphia outfield.

His remarks from the bench caused an argument which finally resulted in a forfeiture by the Athletics. No fine was levied against the club.

The father, Dr. Thomas de la Barra, is the first foreigner to secure the decree of doctor of philosophy at Glasgow university.

BALL LOOP TO HAVE 6 CLUBS

Southwest Oklahoma League Is Organized

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, March 29.—The Southwest Oklahoma baseball league was definitely reorganized and put under way Wednesday night when six towns of this section of Oklahoma and Wellington, Texas, met at Mangum for reorganization.

Altus, Wellington, Mangum, Lone Wolf, Hobart and Frederick were represented while Hollis and Elk City, members of the league last year, did not send representatives.

J. C. Jacobs, of Lone Wolf, secretary of the league last year, was elected president this year to succeed Dr. J. B. Hollis, of Mangum, who has been president for the past two years. Cecil Byers, of Wellington, was named vice-president, and Hutton Bellah, of Altus secretary.

The four towns of Altus, Wellington, Mangum and Lone Wolf, signified their readiness to go ahead with another season of organized baseball and should Hollis or Elk City fail to re-enter or either one of them, then Hobart and Frederick or both will be invited to take their places.

Dr. Hollis was appointed to draw up schedules for the leagues and a meeting was called for next Sunday afternoon to be held in Mangum to get all details worked out. Altus was represented at this meeting by C. W. Holt, J. R. Raines, Tom Kizziar and Hutton Bellah.

Each club will be limited to twenty players at the opening of the season and this list must be cut to 13 men within five weeks after the season opens. The schedule will open Sunday, May 1, and the first half will consist of 15 games for each team, two games a week, and the second half of twenty games.

The winners of the first and second half will meet in a little world series for the league title as last year, which title Lone Wolf now holds.

The league was organized on the same basis as last year with the same fees, penalties and rules as were then in force. Hobart sent a delegation of 10 men to the meeting and announced that Hobart was ready to go anytime and and assured the league of sufficient financial backing to carry through the season.

Hollis and Elk City will be given preference in the league and should they both stay in, then the question of an eight town league including Hobart and Frederick will be discussed Sunday afternoon.

During a terrific windstorm recently a stampede of a circus audience at Shepparton, Australia, was averted when the band played the national anthem until the "big top" could be lowered.

GIANTS AND PIGMIES

THERE are giants and pigmies in every land. William Allen White of Kansas is listed as a giant. He is Kansas born, Kansas bred, but he isn't a shriveled localism. As a publisher his name is nation wide; as a writer he has thousands of admirers wherever Old Glory floats. Indeed he is listed as one of the great editors of America.

William Allen has been doing Texas. He is a republican of the independent type. He ran as an independent for governor in Kansas two years ago to enter a protest against klan domination of his party and ran second in the balloting. While in Texas he was interviewed. "Coolidge will probably seek the nomination again," he said. "He will get it if he goes after it and he will more than likely be elected. The democrats have a chance if they conduct their campaigns on the issues. Al Smith and those New York babies have an idea they will put him over in the convention, but they won't. If Smith just had enough sense to drop out, that would eliminate William Gibbs McAdoo and the democratic party would be in a position to fight with the hope of winning."

The issues? "Chiefly our foreign policies with respect to Mexico and the Latin-American country. Dollar diplomacy and so on." William Allen White, politically speaking, isn't hidebound. He likes Coolidge but he doesn't like Coolidge politics. William Allen is of and for the west. He doesn't hate the east. He is an all-American. He believes the Eighteenth amendment is here to stay and no doubt he is guessing correctly.

Mark Sullivan and William Allen White, who vote the republican ticket and reserve the right to criticise republican office holders and republican legislation, are in agreement that prohibition is in the constitution to remain there, that the democrats are in for another monkey and parrot time next year and that Coolidge will be re-nominated and re-elected—unless the democrats do what Mark and Bill tell them to do, which is to relegate Smith and McAdoo and pick an unknown for the first place on the democratic ticket.

Coolidge is going west to spend his summer vacation but not too far west. He forced the appointment of Roy Haynes for chief prohibition enforcer and in doing this he captured the Anti-Saloon league bag and baggage. Now Andrew Mellon will be delegated the job of holding the wet republicans in line and it will be easy for him to cover the ground marked out for him to cover.

Republicans are masterful political strategists. They have a superb machine or organization that is nation-wide. They hope to tap the golden chests of Big Business. They are ready for the campaign of 1928.

CUTTING OF OIL PRICES

A RECOGNIZED authority on the petroleum industry, in a review of conditions says there is general belief among the producers that the cutting of oil prices by the leaders have been overdone. He predicts that a reaction is coming and will make its influence felt in the near tuture. He submits interesting figures.

Production is now around 2,400,000 barrels a day. Current rate of import is 200,000 barrels a day, giving a daily average supply of 2,600,000 barrels a day. Against this average supply of 2,600,000 barrels, he says there is an estimated daily average consumption for 1927 of 2,550,000 barrels daily.

He predicts that the high point of consumption will be reached in August or shortly before the coming of the month and he further predicts that consumption is likely to be nearly 200,000 barrels daily higher than the average of the year. Thus a high point of 2,750,000 barrels or even 2,800,000 barrels is entirely possible.

His conclusion is this would be some 100,000 to 150,000 barrels a day above the present rate of production. Much of the crude in the Mid-Continent territory where much price slashing has been done, is sold in the New York and New England territory.

Of course, the Seminole field came in, and this resulted in the development of 300,000 barrels of flush production. This is the reason why it is costing independent producers in the West Texas fields $400,000 a day. There is money in petroleum and the giants of the industry know how to make it.

As for the independent, they are compelled to grin and bear it. As for the wildcatters they know how to take the bumps. In the pioneer days the wildcatters placed Texas on the map. A wildcatter takes a gamblers chance. If he wins he is happy; if he loses he scouts for prospects in an unknown field.

ZONING ORDINANCES VALID

AGAIN the right of the municipalities to enact zoning ordinances has been sustained by the supreme court of the United States in a case from Minneapolis. The order of the lower courts in the Minneapolis case which was brought by Charles B. Berry was affirmed without comment. Berry did not challenge any specific restriction, but contended that zoning ordinances as a whole constituted unconstitutional interferences with property rights.

The supreme court interpreted its recent decision in the zoning case from Euclid, Ohio, as having established the validity of zoning regulations as proper restrictions upon property rights, leaving open only the question of the reasonableness of particular regulations.

Many Texas cities have their zoning problems. An important zoning measure was enacted by the 40th legislature. There are two or three blow holes in it. These punctures were made by third house gentlemen. All the important cities of Texas are interested in the decree handed down by the court of last resort. Dead as the dodo is the contention that zoning ordinances as a whole constitute constitutional interferences with property right.

AIMEE ON THE TEXAS ROAD

AIMEE SEMPLE M'PHERSON is on the road. She pitched her tent in Dallas for six sermons. Box office receipts are heavy wherever Aimee appears. California courts and newspapers gave her ten million dollars worth of publicity. She won the verdict out there. This is harvest time. Business is business.

A STORY OF MYSTERY, SUSPENSE AND LOVE

"THE SOB-SISTER"

He sank to the ground with a grunt.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED:

DIANA BROOKS, beautiful daughter of ROGER BROOKS, owner and publisher of the Catawba City Times and a chain of nine other newspapers, had been kidnaped and then released. Her father is engaged in a persistent fight against the corrupt administration of Catawba City and through the medium of the Times, redoubles his scathing attacks on politicians of the Ring and defies the underworld.

A few days later Brooks himself disappears. In an attempt to locate him, DONALD KEENE, literary editor and TEDDY FARRELL, his ward, and Bob Slater, are entombed in a cellar for 50 hours. Teddy saves Don's life and out of gratitude, he asks her to marry him. Although deeply in love with him, Teddy refuses, knowing that he does not really love her.

Brooks reappears to find that his newspaper stock is being manipulated. He suspects JOHN W. WALDEN, member of a prominent law firm, of being involved in the plot to wreck the Brooks' organization.

Don believes himself in love with LOLA MANTELL, Diana's cousin. Teddy, accompanied by DINNY MORRISON, a young reporter in love with her, attends a dance given by Diana's social set at a country club. Diana's escort is JOHN WALDEN JR., who has long been in love with her. Diana behaves very recklessly and on the way home, Walden makes her unwelcome advances. She fights him off and runs back to the clubhouse.

NOW READ ON:

* * *

CHAPTER XXI

The clubhouse, she figured, was not more than half a mile distant at the most. She did not, however, remain on the highway but ran along the fields keeping a parallel course with the road. The moist earth of the freshly-ploughed acres sunk under her feet. She lost one of her pumps, stumbled, almost fell, but fought forward through the darkness, desperately.

Her tulle frock was a shredded wreck by the time she glimpsed the lights of the clubhouse. The rear of the building apparently was deserted. Diana found a telephone in the butler's pantry. She gasped with relief as she heard a voice tell her to "hold th' wire. Mr. Keene has just come home!"

Then at last it came: "Donald Keene speaking."

"Oh Don—this is Diana! Walden got—nasty... I'm at the clubhouse. ... Dress torn. ... I'm a sight. ... Can you come out?"

"I'll be out right away!" Don shouted back. "Where are you?"

"In th' rear—come to th' back door. I'll be waiting there. I must not let any of th' crowd see me in this shape. Hurry, Don!"

The girl's lips were parched with the fever of drink and excitement. Her cheeks, to which the color customarily glowed, were drawn and bloodless. She stepped softly about looking for water. At the kitchen sink she bathed her hot face and drank avidly of the cold water from the tap.

Drawing back into the shadow of the rear vestibule she waited for Don. A guarded footfall came to her ear. She peered toward the pantry. Walden! He had followed her.

She cringed further into the darkness, hardly daring to breathe. She was in no immediate danger of discovery, out in the ballroom a few stragglers were still dancing, and she wanted to avoid the disgrace of a public altercation with Walden.

He semeed fired with a demoniacal purpose. After searching for awhile she heard him moving away toward the front of the building.

The wait for Don seemed endless. Fully twenty minutes must have passed before she heard the welcome sound of grinding brakes. In another moment footsteps crunched on the gravelled walk and she saw Don vaguely outlined beyond the screen door, barely a yard from her. She emerged and addressed him in a whisper.

"Don, I'm coming right out!"

He held the screen door open. Just as they descended the steps another figure sprang out from around the corner. It was Walden.

"She goes home with me!" He swore, and lurched toward them grasping Diana's arm.

"No, she doesn't, Walden," returned Don evenly. Then: "What in hell is th' matter with you, man?" and he jerked the other aside roughly.

Walden struck out, the blow landed on Don's cheek, and hurt. Don returned the blow. The two men grappled.

Diana was panic-stricken, but still avoided an outcry. Walden was landing two blows to Don's one. He outweighed his adversary by fully forty pounds and the other was weak from his recent illness. Don, very apparently was fighting a losing battle.

Diana groped about for a weapon of some kind. She could find nothing. Then she remembered seeing a mop in the butler's pantry. She darted inside, snatched up the utensil and flew back to lend Don a helping hand. And a helping hand was what Don was needing at that moment.

The darkness made it difficult for her to distinguish between the two men until she heard a curse. For just an instant the two separated and she made out the form of her enemy.

The girl grasped the handle of her weapon with both hands. She raised it high and then with all her strength brought the soggy thing smashing down on Walden's head.

Fascinated she stared for an instant at the still form lying at her feet, terror-stricken at what she had done. Then she turned to the friend who had come to her rescue. Don, too, was looking down at his now fallen adversary.

"My God, Dia!" he gasped, "I hope you haven't—"

But she evidently hadn't, for at that instant the man on the ground emitted another grunt, rolled over and then sat up. His gaze fell on the girl standing a few feet away.

"Well," he articulated with slow deliberation, "I'll—be—dammed! Huh!"

With that he climbed awkwardly to his feet, swayed for a second or so and then lurched off without another word or look at his erstwhile opponents.

The girl turned to her companion.

"C'mon, Don!" she gulped, holding out her hand, "let's go!"

By the time Walden had reached his car standing at the side of the road the two were speeding safely on their way toward home.

"I've been a fool, Don," she told him. She was like a penitent child. "I realize now," she went on sadly, "that I behaved very badly tonight. You might say that Walden was partly justified in his beastliness. Th' whole thing is wretchedly disgraceful. I'm so ashamed." She was sobbing.

Don tried to sooth her.

"You didn't do anything so awfully wrong," he assured her gently. "I didn't dream Walden was such a cad. Don't worry."

She stole a look at him. He was looking at her with a bantering smile, attempting to efface her remorse with small talk.

Diana listened, pondering at the same time the difference in men. Don would not have taken advantage of her abandoned performance. How fortunate Lola was to have won the love of a man like him.

The rose-tinted fingers of dawn were just touching the horizon as they approached the Brooks' place. The first streaks of day replaced the arc lights of the street. The latter were extinguished as the two drew up before Diana's home. A milkman clattered past them.

"I'll leave th' car here and walk up to th' door with you. It's late, I mean you'd better go in as quietly as possible," Don explained.

Diana acknowledged his consideration with a nod.

They stood for a moment after reaching the door, gazing out on the seemingly lifeless landscape. The girl's oval face was pale, but calm like a summer moon in the woods. The night's terror had lent to her eyes a beauty almost fantastic.

In light moods those eyes were gray. Now they glowed black. Her bronze hair was swept back from her forehead creating a dusky frame.

"Good-night, Don—or shall I say good-morning?"

Her lips drooped sadly.

He took her face between his two hands and looked down into the mystic depths of her sea-green-gray-dusky eyes. They were like live jewels.

Suddenly he bent over and pressed his lips almost roughly on hers.

Diana gasped. Don heard a brief, throaty laugh and the next moment he was alone. He turned and walked meditatively out to his car.

He had not planned to do this thing. Impulse ruled him. Why, hang it all, it was for that, virtually—what he had done—that Diana had jumped from Walden's car—that she had refused to ride with him.

All that Walden had been guilty of was an attempt to kiss her. About the only difference, after all, in his and Walden's act was that he had succeeded, whereas Walden had been punched in the nose and finally knocked cold with a dirty mop! . . . Girls certainly were strange creatures, he reflected. . . .

And Diana? What was she thinking of him now? He wondered. They had grown up together, Diana and him. . . . But—gad! She was beautiful. . . . Funny he had never noticed just how exquisite she was until now . . . the thoughts that spun fragmentarily through his brain as he drove home. . . .

The rosy dawn had lengthened into the golden promise of day when he let himself into the house with his latch-key. He fell asleep immediately. . . . Diana, huntress and pale goddess of the moon, sought his favor. . . . Helen of Troy, who seemed too personified by Lola Mantell, visited him in his subconscious fancy. He, Donald Keene, was some kind of a god and Helen of Troy was intriguing to betray him.

He chuckled over this dream as he was taking his shower bath a few hours later.

"That makes me a little tin god—a devil with th' ladies!" he told his mother with a laugh after he had described his dream to her at breakfast.

(To Be Continued)

Walden's sinister purpose begins to reveal itself in tomorrow's chapter.

BO BROADWAY ..... By Joseph Van Raalte

NEW YORK, (EFS.)—Sherwood Anderson, back from Europe the other day, voiced the belief that "the only salvation for sound immorality is to restore long skirts." Abbreviated dresses, he thinks, deprive the male imagination of necessary exercise.

When a celebrity returns from abroad he is met on the steamer at quarantine by ship-news reporters who expect him to unleash at least a couple of epigrams and one mot, bon or otherwise.

All the wa yo nthe trip back across the ocean the pore lit'ry feller moons around the deck, unhappy while others are gay. When his fellow passengers are clustered round the grand piano on little gilt-legged chairs, lending ear to the concert; when they are gathered in the smoking room flirting with the mirth-provoking details of auction bridge the hollow-eyed nov'list is running round in circles, grinding his teeth and pleading with memory to assist him in the manufacture of a not-too-obviously caged wise crack for the eager-eyer reporters at the journey's end.

If all the ignorance that is daily aired by celebrities on returning steamships were laid end to end, the idea of interviewing passengers who return to the city on the Albany night boat and the Twentieth Century. The possibilities in the suggestion are far-reaching.

A troup of midgets were holding forth at the Palace last week and along about Wednesday afternoon the stage manager's nerves began to get frazzled.

"Dad burn it," he said, "I sure will be glad when this bill closes. You can't take a step back stage here without finding yourself up to your knees in midgets!"

"I don't mind being a grandfather," said Allas Jones, perusing the birth column. "The thing that does annoy me is the realization that I am married to a grandmother!"

He stood on the steps of the Ritz with the glad, effulgent look of the leading man in a Saunday roto yeast ad. His suit was clam-shell gray. The "bewler" cocked over one eye and pressing heavily on his port ear must have set him back at least 15 bucks. The initialed corner of barred lavender chiffon perspiration mop peeped coyly from his breast pocket. His it would circle the earth in a bet a mile wide.

One of these days a brilliant New York editor will inaugurate stick, his shoes, his tie, his early Wop shirt, all were fascinating fragments of a "chic ensemble."

But his socks were the crowning glory.

They were of the finest silk, woven in large white squares on a robin's-egg-blue background, interspersed with patches of drawn work.

They were probably the dizziest pair of socks that have hit New York this season.

"Look," said I to the Duchess. "You owe it to yourself not to miss those socks."

But her azure glance had embraced them long ere I spoke.

"Yes," she said, languidly, "I saw them."

And in her poor, broken way she added:

"That is what you might call sox appeal."

Of course it's too late this year; but next season in her seventeenth of March newspaper advertising, Anne Nichols can read up her "Abie's Irish Rose" copy with the line:

"We Should Pray in Public"

SCRIPTURE: Read — Psalms 116:1-14.

"Worship Jehovah, in holy array" (I. Chron. 16:29). "I will pay my vows unto Jehovah, yea, in the presence of all his people" (Ps. 116:14). "And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and good works; not forsaking our own assembling together as the custom of some is" (Heb. 10:24, 25).

See—Psalms 35:18; 95:6; 122:1, Isaiah 66:23.

MEDITATION: Must we not recognize the great fundamental truths in mass psychology? In crowds feeling is infectious. Here souls are responsible and dynamic. In the mob it means evil; in the congregation good. The congregation is the power-house of the spirit; the worshiping throng is peculiarly susceptible to God's mind. The great gatherings of Easter-time have behind them the law of the spirit; furthermore this law reaches out into public morals. When the community can pray it is in touch with moral power.

"Worship is the homage of the heart, and the heart can only pay homage to that which is already in it."

Hymn

Sun of my soul, Thou Saviour dear,
It is not night if Thou be near;
O may no earth-born cloud arise
To hide Thee from Thy servant's eyes!

When the soft dews of kindly sleep
My wearied eyelids gently steep,
Be my last thought, how sweet to rest
Forever on my Saviour's breast!

Come near and bless us when we wake,
Ere through the worl'd our way we take,
Till in the ocean of Thy love
We lose ourselves in heaven above.
—John Keble, 1820.

PRAYER: Thanks for co-laborers.

Pray for—molders of public opinion; modern Pharisees.

Collect—Heavenly Father, whose tender mercies compel our love, we thank Thee for the gift of Christ our Saviour. In Him our short-comings are filled up; our sicknesses of soul are healed; our rebellions of spirit are quelled. For salvation full and free we bless Thee. In the presence of Thy outpouring of love our selfishness stands revealed. Breathe into us of Thy spirit that we may be strong to forsake sin, to overcome temptation and to live in the light which Christ supplies. O our Father, grant us to know something of Thy passion of love. Help us to proclaim the gospel to all mankind. Record our pledge before Thee that we will exalt the things of the spirit. Amen.

Corpus Christi Woman Had Spent Hundreds of Dollars In Vain Search for Relief From Nervous Indigestion

"Utterly unstrung and almost hopeless," is the way Mrs. W. R. Smith of 607 Artesian St., Corpus Christi, Texas, describes her condition at the climax of a breakdown, 3 years ago.

"I had spent hundreds of dollars for different remedies and treatments," she continues. "I was almost a skeleton after years of severe dieting, had to spend many days in bed, and frequently failed to get any sleep till after midnight. Going to bed was like a nightmare.

"A few bites of food would feel like a ton of lead in my stomach, and gas would create such pains I would be in agony for hours.

"My sister, who had taken Tanlac and who thinks the world of it, got me to try it. Tanlac helped me immediately. Six bottles left me with energy to spare and feeling strong and happy. Now I work every day, helping my husband conduct our 'Do Drop Inn,' and have gained over 30 lbs. Tanlac is wonderful!"

Many have had experience such as Mrs. Smith relates. If you have tried other treatments without benefit, turn now to Tanlac. Tanlac is Nature's own remedy—safe, pleasant and effective—made from roots, barks and herbs. Ask your druggist for Tanlac—today!—Adv.

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.
Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache dryness. No struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh disappears.
Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.
It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.—Adv.

KID DUGAN By Dick Dorgan

Dear Al—

You would think this was my first year in the league the way this here Cobb treats me, and I'm going to make a showdown of it. I always heard he was hard to get along with from some of the ball players on the Detroit club so I set out to be nice to him just as soon as he joined. I never mentioned that argument he had with Judge Landis last winter although I might. One of the bushers was sucker enough to and got punched in the nose but Cobb knows better than punch me in the nose. He says to Connie the other day after I was pitching,

"Connie if you keep Keefe in that box, I'll be wore out before the season starts. You'd better get one of these mechanical jack-rabbits they have down here to play the outfield."

Yours,
Jack Keefe.

CONSOLIDATED-COSDEN WELL MAY OPEN NEW TERRITORY

SAND TEST RUN AT 1325

Wildcat Is Two Miles North Of Phillips Pool

The wildcat well being drilled by the Consolidated Oil company and J. S. Cosden, 12 miles southwest of Harrold in Wilbarger county and on the W. T. Waggoner ranch, is promising to open up a new pool for that area.

The Halliburton test was run to a sand encountered at 1325 feet and drilled 3 1-2 feet with the result that considerable oil rose in the drill pipe. Pipe is being set and the sand will be bailed.

This test, located in section 57, block 4, H. & T. C. R. R. company survey, is approximately two miles northeast of the Phillips Petroleum company pool, which is the nearest production. It is on a tract of 320 acres.

Testing of the sand will be watched closely as a sizeable addition will be made to Wilbarger county's productive territory if this test makes a commercial well.

News of The Fields

SHAPPELL, BARTON-DERDEN

The Shappell Oil company has made location to drill its No. 1 Barton and Derden in wildcat territory three miles west and slightly north of Mankins in Archer county. The location is 1470 feet east of the west line and 150 feet north of the south line of block 7, McKinney and Williams survey.

PETROLEUM-CRANFILL, WILSON

Petroleum Producers and Cranfill are taking one foot at a time in the sand topped at 1510 feet in their No. 1 L. F. Wilson, located in section 111, A. T. N. C. L. survey. The well is showing up for a producer but no estimate can be made in its present condition.

FAIN-M'GAHA, FLUHMAN

In 25 feet of sand topped at 1473 feet, the Fain-McGaha Oil company No. 7 Fluhman, section 30, block 9, H. & T. C. survey of Wilbarger county, is estimated to be good for 300 to 400 barrels. Nos. 8 and 9 are rigged up but a better crude market is being awaited for the spudding of these tests.

SIMMS, WAGGONER

The Simms Oil company ran the Halliburton to a sand at 1923 feet in its No. 2 J. & J. Waggoner, located in block 12, H. George survey, Wichita county, and the test produced salt water. Although this is the deepest sand to be encountered in this sector, the well will be drilled ahead.

BRIDWELL-HEYDRICK FRANKEL

Bridwell and Heydrick have made location for their No. 1 Frankel et al in the south 65 acres of section 328, Waggoner Colony lands, Wichita county. The location is 150 feet from the northwest corner of section 328 and east of the Sheldon pool. This company's No. 1 W. T. Waggoner in section 3, H. & T. C. survey, Archer county, is drilling at an approximate depth of 1800 feet.

HARRIS, FARMER

Ted Harris was drilling below 1400 feet and due to hit the pay some time Tuesday in his No. 2 L. F. Farmer, located in the W. C. Winters survey.

SUN, GREEN

The Sun Oil company is making a small producer at its No. 3 Green located in the Jos. Levins survey of Archer county. The sand is at 1959 feet and is being given a shot to induce a more liberal flow of petroleum.

TEXAS, WAGGONER

The Texas company and Golding and Cochran are to put down their No. 2 J. & J. Waggoner four locations west of the No. 1, located in the H. George survey, Wichita county, which is an average pumper at 1270 feet.

BRAZOS VALLEY

BRYAN, March 29.(AP)—Interest is again tense in the oil development in progress in Brazos bottom on the C. A. Harris farm 10 miles west of Bryan. The Harris No. 2 and the Varisco No. 1 are both down near the oil sands and developments are expected within a short time. Leases have been taken on a body of land just across the Brazos river in Burleson county and development wells will begin on it soon.

PRODUCTION DECLINES

TULSA, March 29.—The Seminole production declined over 6900 barrels the past 24 hours, which ended Monday morning, making 326,271 barrels from the same number of wells. Of this total, Seminole proper made 222,914 barrels; Searight, 28,990 barrels; Bowlegs, 39,311 barrels, and Earlsboro, 36,116 barrels.

SAND IN OUTSIDE WELL

LAREDO, March 29. (AP) Livingston and Richardson have set casing in their No. 1 well east of the Randado field in Jim Hogg county to make a test of sand that picked up at 1365 feet. This well is fully a half mile east of production.

Panhandle's First Gusher Does 603 Bbls. On Birthday

AMARILLO, March 29.—The Panhandle field's first gusher well, the Dixon Creek Oil company's No. 1 Smith, in the southeast corner of the northeast of section 14, block Y, of M. & C. survey of South Hutchinson county, was two years old on Monday, March 28.

It was originally completed for 235 barrels on March 28, 1925, and had fallen below ' barrels a day when it was deepened in the spring of 1926, and came back for around 6900 barrels. The well has never been shot and has been cleaned out frequently and deepened several times.

A few weeks ago it was put on the pump, being operated electrically, and Monday it made 603 barrels. Its weekly average was 550 barrels a day.

Officials of the Dixon Creek company say the No. 1 has made more than 1,300,000 barrels of crude oil to date.

OIL KING BUSY

TAYLOR, March 29.(AP)—Fritz Fuchs, Thrall oil king of 1915, has just returned from Jacksonville, where he has secured several oil leases near the big gusher, hoping that he will again be lucky and bring in another big well. Mr. Fuchs states that the well is estimated as producing between 10,000 and 15,000 barrels.

RICHARDS AND M'KEE

BROWNWOOD, March 29.(AP)—Among the wild cat wells recently started in Brown county is a test by M. L. Richards and S. I. McKee of Wichita Falls on the Sheffield tract, seven miles south of Bangs. The well is shut down, but drilling will be resumed Tuesday.

FREESTONE BOOM

EXPORTS HELP WHEAT PRICE

Foreign Demand Felt in Pit Reaction

BY CHARLES J. LEYDEN.

Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Buying interest in the wheat market today was stimulated by reports of increased export activity and substantial price gains were recorded, the market closing around best prices for the day. The other markets reflected this improved tone of wheat and advances were made in all instances, with rye relatively the strongest. Volume or trade was moderate.

May wheat opened at $1.33⅜@1.33¾, eased off to $1.33⅛, rallied and from then on moved upward with only moderate interruptions, closing at $1.34½@1.34¾. July opened at $1.28½, declined to $1.27⅞, advanced to $1.29½@1.29⅝ and closed at $1.29¼@1.29⅜. It was believed that one of the big local shorts covered wheat and there was selling by some of the larger pit longs.

Final quotations represented advances of ⅜@⅝c for the day on wheat, ½@⅝c higher on corn, ½@⅝c higher on oats and ⅝@1⅛c higher on rye.

Export sales were reported at 500,000 bushels, including 400,000 bushels at the Gulf, but there were claims of big Canadian business. Liverpool wheat closed ⅝@⅝c higher to ⅝c lower, latter for October. Buenos Aires wheat closed ½c higher.

Following an early depression, which was due principally to the action of wheat, the corn market rallied and ruled firm during the balance of the session. Local bulls were more aggressive on the buying side, partly because of the small receipts and the unsettled weather. Offers were light throughout the session. General buying interest in this market is held in check by the big stock of corn here, for which there is only an indifferent demand. Primary markets received 469,000 bushels corn compared with 532,000 bushels a year ago.

Oats followed the general course of the other markets, prices rallying from an early depression and ruling moderately higher from then on.

Rye scored a sharp advance on short covering and buying by local investors.

MARKET GOSSIP

J. H. Baldwin and Co., brokers, basement Bob Waggoner building, today received the following from New York, New Orleans and Chicago connections:

Wheat: Market showed a firm undertone during most of the session. Wheat at the seaboard has advanced in premiums with a much better inquiry as well as some sales. The large business in Manitobas is said to have been worked direct abroad, and even with navigation due to open very shortly there was talk of some rail shipments being made from Fort William to the seaboard. Winnipeg market showed relatively more strength than Chicago and created a more bullish sentiment locally. Domestic milling demand seems to be confined largely to the choice qualities, as medium and low grades are still neglected, with flour business quoted as extremely slow. New crop reports were more conflicting. The Kansas state report was construed as generally favorable and made no mention of abandoned acreage but the secretary of the Kansas Grain Dealers association stated that his reports indicated there would be considerable abandonment in parts of western Kansas. In the extreme southwest additional moisture was received over night and predictions were for further unsettled weather in most parts of the southwest. With a continued betterment in the export demand, even though principally for Manitoba wheat, and further firmness in winter wheat premiums, some better prices might be realized here, but we feel that advantage should be taken of all strong spots on which to make sales, at least for moderate turns.

Corn: Market was a little easier early, but soon firmed up as selling pressure was lacking and the light receipts, along with firmer cash basis, created local bullish sentiment. Indications are for a small movement for some time, but nevertheless shipping demand fails to show any improvement at this market, although other points are experiencing a better demand. We feel that there must be some evidence of our large stocks being reduced if advances are to be maintained.

Oats: Market was influenced largely by the action at the close. A fair shipping demand prevails, while receipts are moderate. Weather is generally favorable for spring work.

Rye: Prices were higher following the action of wheat and due to further reports of moderate export sales. A liberal portion of the Duluth stock is expected to move out at the opening of navigation to fill recent sales. Further foreign demand might result in higher prices.

Stocks: Extensive profit taking in high priced leaders that made new high records early on the day, together with liquidation and short selling in some of the weakly situated industrials, carried the market off to a generally lower close. The frequent reactions keeps the market in a good technical condition and provides attractive opportunities to pick up seasoned dividend stocks.

Cotton: Adverse weather reports were a source of strength in cotton today. There is too much rain and lack of high temperatures. Liverpool also displayed a firm tone, with good sales of spots. The market displayed firmness and gained a few points under a light demand. Fear of high water damage in the Mississippi valley is developing also and caused some support.

YAM FOR DAM CAUSES JAM

MINNEAPOLIS.—A watchman at a General Electric dam on the Mississippi river here telephoned the police the other night that the ice jam which had piled against the dam, had moved out. "The yam?" asked the sergeant, a Scandinavian. "Yes," said the watchman, and the police sent out warnings which caused a scramble by flat lands dwellers for the higher places. "The dam has burst," the word ran, and folks in the lowlands are now hoping that the next time an ice jam moves out leaving a dam intact no Swedish dialect will be involved in reporting the occurrence.

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, March 29.(AP)—The cotton market was more active and higher today on buying which appeared to be influenced by relatively steady Liverpool cables and more unfavorable weather in the south. July contracts sold up to 14.50 and closed at 14.44, the general market closing barely steady, but from 13 to 17 points net higher.

The opening was steady at an advance of six to eight points in response to the relatively firm showing of Liverpool. Some trade buying was reported in old crop positions which was supposed to include price fixing for both domestic and foreign account, and the continent was said to be a buyer in the Liverpool market before trading here started. Covering by shorts in new crop positions, and commission house buying in the early new crop months, gave the market a very steady undertone, and was sufficient to send prices up to 14.28 for May and 14.71 for October or 19 to 25 points net higher on active positions.

Unconfirmed rumors of the breaking of a levee somewhere in Arkansas, may have contributed to this advance, but the market met increased offerings around the 14½-cent level for July. Closing prices were several points off from the best under southern selling and realizing.

Private cables said the Liverpool market had advanced on trade calling with Manchester and continental buying in the absence of selling pressure, but reported a small cotton cloth business with sales of yarns considerably below production.

Port receipts today 34,513; U. S. port stocks 2,542,243; exports today 20,938, making 8,627,890 so far this season.

FORT WORTH, March 29.(AP)—Wheat lead corn and oats in the slight advance scored Tuesday on the local market. At the close wheat had scored a gain of practically two cents over the close of Monday afternoon. Corn and oats were about half a cent ahead.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, March 29.(AP)—Evidence of export transactions of unusual magnitude strengthened the wheat market today, although at first prices were inclined to sag. Closing quotations on wheat were firm at ⅜ to 1 cent net higher with corn ½ to ⅝ cent up. Oats showing ⅜ to ⅝c gain, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to 17 cents advance.

Corn developed independent firmness owing to scantiness of receipts. Shipping demand from the east, however, remained laggard. Oats followed corn.

Provisions were irregular, influenced by conflict of impulses from the hog market and from grain.

HUBBY, 9, IS DIVORCED

CONSTANTINOPLE. — Mustapha Kemel, reform ruler of the new Turkey, recently promulgated a new divorce law. One of the first cases heard was that of a 17-year-old girl who divorced her "husband" to whom her parents had wedded her sight unseen, under the old law. The divorced husband is 9 years old.

"HELLO!" SAYS "DEAD MAN"

WATERLOO, Iowa.—Sorrowing relatives buried Charles Turneaure, 80-year-old Civil war veteran, the other day. Twenty-four hours later Turneaure walked into police headquarters and said: "Say, what's all this I head about me being dead?" The man buried was Richard Atkins, another octogenarian veteran, resembling Turneure.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, March 29.(AP)—Irregularity in price movement developed in today's stock market, but powerful influence in sponsoring a group of high priced rails and industrials, nevertheless succeeded in marking them up to new high record. Firmer call money rates, incidental to the heavy demand for funds in connection with quarterly payments, and the renewed weakness of several specialties probably inspired much of the selling in the general list. Final quotations disclosed a long list of one to five point gains, interspersed with a small number of net declines of a similar character.

U. S. Steel common touched a new top at 166⅝, General Motors at 183¾, Commercial Solvents B at 294½, Delaware and Hudson at 199½, Baltimore and Ohio at 115⅝, and Rock Island at 88½. Other new highs included Dupont, All America Cables, International Telephone, R. H. Macy, Hays Wheel, Remington Typewriter, Underwood Typewriter, and several others.

On the other hand, American Brown Boveri, Electric Refrigeration, Dodge Brothers A and the preferred and The Wilson company issues sank to new low levels for the year, but the selling was believed to reflect special situations within the companies involved.

Reduction of over $38,000,000 in brokers' loans last week had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment. Wall Street also was inclined to the belief that the strength of some of the high priced issues represented pure investment buying attracted by the fact that current yields, even at the prevailing high quotations, were better than on most high grade bonds. With indications that $400,000,000 will be distributed around the end of the month in the form of dividends, interest and bond redemptions, it is considered logical to assume that at least part of these funds will find their way into stock market channels.

Publication of several additional February railroad earnings reports, bring the total to 63 class 1 carriers, brings aggregate net income of these carriers last month above that of the corresponding period last year. A compilation of the first returns made an unfavorable comparison, but it now appears as though the total February net of all class 1 carriers may reach $70,000,000 as against slightly less than $63,300,000 last year.

Revival of activity and strength in the Missouri Pacific issues was accompanied by rumors that plans were under way to clear up the accumulation of dividends on the preferred. Chesapeake and Ohio lost ground today, but Wall Street heard that an early resumption of conferences between the Van Sweringens and the minority interests which is opposing the merger plan was likely.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent and held steady at that figure all day. There was no change 1 ntime money and commercial paper rates.

Foreign exchanges were slightly reactionary, with demand sterling ruling around $4.85⅛ and French francs around 3.91 cents.

WOOL SALES STRONG.

BOSTON, March 29.(AP)—Sales of foreign wool to be shipped abroad have reached a sizeable total, according to the best authority. Prices abroad have been maintained for some time on higher levels than have prevailed here. A continued strong demand for wool in markets of the foreign consuming countries at these higher price s stimulated the inquiry which has resulte d in this recent movement.

BANKS BOOST INTEREST RATE

Call Money Dearer Tuesday On Stock Exchange

BY BROADAN WALL.

Universal Service Financial Expert.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Stocks closed irregular today on a wave of profit taking but toward the close offerings were well taken and prices hardened. Banks called approximately $15,000,000 in loans and the renewal rate was advanced from 4 to 4½ per cent. The stiffening in the money rate is only temporary and is coincident with the April 1 dividend and interest payments.

Wheat and cotton were higher. In foreign exchange French francs and Italian lire were a shade lower; sterling showed little change.

High grade investment rails were strong. Delaware and Hudson sold close to $200 a share but if the company's hidden assets were known the stock would be selling much higher. Delaware and Hudson was called to the attention of readers of this column several points lower. A report was current in Wall Street today that competitive bidding for control of the D. and H. was under way. A rumor also was current that should certain interests acquire control a new president would replace Loree. Certain interests, it is said, are opposed to Loree's trunk line plan.

Lackawanna met profit taking sales. If this road is guaranteed a $9 dividend by Delaware and Hudson it is selling out of line compared with the latter. Profit taking appeared in Atchison but the stock recovered part of the loss. Erie first preferred was slightly higher on talk that directors would place the stock on a $4 basis tomorrow. Texas and Pacific and Wabash were prominent among the low priced shares and there were speculative purchases of Gulf Mobile.

General Motors sold at a new peak. G. M., it is estimated, will earn $6 for the first quarter. Other automobile shares, with the exception of Dodge, were neglected. Dodge sold at a new low and selling developed in the preferred stock following the news that the company was not negotiating with Durant in connection with a merger. Kelsey Wheel, however, was mentioned in connection with a consolidation with Hayes Wheel. Durant is one of the largest stockholders in the latter corporation. Durant could use the Kelsey Wheel company in a combination of automobile companies.

Pipe stocks are coming into popularity again. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe was quiet but heavy trading developed in Universal. The demand for small Cast Iron Pipe is increasing due to the improvements in rural communities throughout the country for sewers, etc. The patents in which the two companies are interested greatly reduce operating costs. Universal, it is said, is negotiating to take over Walworth and a few other companies turning out trade-mark goods.

Steel common sold at the highest price in its history. Net earnings for the first quarter, it is estimated, will equal $4 a share. Youngstown Sheet and Tube held steady. The company's earnings for 1926 showed an increase of $1.96 a share over 1925. Equipment stocks were featured by a sharp rise in Baldwin which closed nearly five points higher. A price well above 200 is predicted for the stock in speculative quarters.

One reason for the buying of the equipments is the contention that if the railroads are to enjoy prosperity they will enter the equipment market on a larger scale. Westinghouse Air Brake was higher. This company's earnings last year showed an increase of $4.50 a share over 1925.

Allied Chemical was active and strong. The company owns a large block of Steel common, Texas Gulf Sulphur and other issues in the limelight. The appreciation in price of its holdings and prospects of higher dividends should make for greater income. DuPont was in demand following talk that the company had received a large munitions order. National Biscuit was quiet although there have been rumors that the dividend would be increased to $7 a share following its acquisition of the Fleischmann company on an exchange of shares on a two for one basis.

One reason for the sharp rise in wheat prices was the report that two million acres of wheat were abandoned in Kansas. Traders in corn and oats are calling attention to the farm reserve figures issued by the government on March 1. The figures showed 25,000,000 less of corn and 42,000,000 less of oats than actual consumption compared with last year. Feeding in the first half of Buar was larger than last year, indicating a larger consumption and a prospective increase before the end of the season.

Reasons for the strength of cotton are the large exports; late start for crop reports; a decrease in acreage and a scarcity of deliverable grades in the south. Contracts in the summer months are held mostly by spinners and must be liquidated with the actual cotton.

Home Ownership Campaign Approved By Wichita Falls Real Estate Board

Plans for a "Own Your Own Home" show in Wichita Falls were discussed Tuesday during the weekly luncheon of the Real Estate board held in the Kemp hotel.

The plans were outlined by William A. Stone, executive secretary of the Texas Real Estate association, during an address made at the luncheon.

Following Stone's address, the members of the board present went on record as being favorable toward considering sponsoring an "Own Your Own Home" show some time within the next two months.

Stone announced that he would be absent from Wichita Falls for the next six weeks. The board will take up the consideration of the show upon Stone's return to the city.

Otto Stehlick, in a short talk before the board, advocated the appointment of a committee to confer with the chamber of commerce relative to devising plans for obtaining money to loan manufacturers in Wichita Falls for the expansion of business. Stehlick also suggested that effort be made by the board and other citizens of Wichita Falls to induce railroads to establish trunk lines through this city.

Delegates will be entertained in the home of Mrs. Oliver Harriman, president of the Camp Fire Girls. A full program is outlined for the delegates.

Activities report given by the executive committee included the discussion of the local bulletin "Flickers" which has created new interest among council members as well as the girls. Splendid work has been done in the past six months in organization of new groups and growth of the Guardians association. The annual summer camp will be held from June 13 to 27 at Crateville as in previous years.

Those attending the meeting were: Dr. Wratten, retiring president; Guy Rogers, Julian Bobo, Marvin Smith, Frank Quiesser, J. W. Bradley, the Rev. W. D. Cook, the Rev. Leslie Miller, Mrs. Arch Dawson, Miss Ida Moore, Rex Watland and Mary McIlheran.

C-C PROTESTS LOW FIRE RATE

Additional Credit Deserved Here, Claim

Protest against the 12 per cent fire credit allowed Wichita Falls for 1927 by the state insurance department will be made Thursday morning in Austin by Hubert Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce.

Harrison will appear before the insurance commissioner in company with representatives from other West Texas towns who will appear to protest the fire credits allotted to their communities.

Wichita Falls was granted a three per cent increase in fire credit over that of last year. In 1926 the credit in this city was nine per cent.

Business men of Wichita Falls, according to officials of the chamber of commerce, are of the opinion that this city is entitled to a larger fire credit in view of the small amount of property damage by fire Wichita Falls had during 1926.

Three Children Die From Chewing Poisoned Weed

LAS VEGAS, N. M., March 29. (AP)—Three of 10 children, who, playing along the banks of a creek during school recess yesterday afternoon, found some white roots and ate them, thinking the sweet-tasting plants were white parsnips, are dead today. The roots proved to be water hemlock parsnips and the children yet alive are experiencing convulsions. It was said they would live if they have the strength to resist the pains.

AD CLUB HEARS AGENCY HEAD

El Paso Man Speaks Here At Luncheon

"An advertising agency is the outgrowth of conditions that exist in a town," A. H. Wheeler told members of the Advertising club at their luncheon Tuesday at the Kemp hotel. Mr. Wheeler is here with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, and is manager of the Wheeler Advertising agency of El Paso.

The speaker discussed two forms of advertising in his talk. That of personal letter advertising and service advertising. In illustration of personal letter advertising, he told of an experience of his own in which the manager of a dry cleaning company sent a letter with the bill to each customer each month. Mr. Wheeler told of looking forward to this letter every month, which was sent, regardless of whether his customers had an account there that month.

In discussing advertising by service, the speaker told of how a store might lose trade by refusing to grant a customer claims in unsatisfactory goods. He said that by refusing to refund a few dollars a customer might cause him to lose many orders.

A. S. Piemental of Houston made a short talk on "Outdoor Advertising." Mr. Piemental said that what advertising needs today is the truth of advertising, on the part of the men that actually sell the various forms of advertising.

Spoonts Drug store and Bailey Printing company contributed the attendance prizes.

AUTO DEALERS MEET

Wichita Falls Association to Seek State Convention.

The regular meeting of the Wichita Falls Automotive Dealers association was held in the show rooms of Dixon Motor company, Sixth and Lamar Tuesday evening, the majority of the dealers being present. A number of routine matters were disposed of after which plans of the coming spring automobile show were discussed. Definite plans have been made and spaces alloted for the 1927 spring show to be held April 7, 8 and 9, in the new building now being constructed for the Browning Storage and service station at 807-9 Travis.

Accommodation has been arranged for exhibiting about 70 cars. By an agreement the association selected the Phonograph Shop to furnish musical entertainment during the show, other features will be added.

An invitation has been extended to the association to attend the Texas Automotive Dealers association, meeting in Dallas to a banquet on April 14. Ed Parmenter was appointed to confer with the dealers in an effort to get as many members as possible to attend this meeting in an effort to bring the 1928 convention to Wichita Falls.

Found in Copenhagen, where she had gone as a stowaway in a ship from Hull, England, 15-year-old Florence Lamb has been sent back home.

Court Calls Make Life "Tough" For Night Police Force—On Duty 24 Hours

Consider the night police officer.

The night "hall" of the Wichita Falls police department always has sleepless nights but since the opening of the spring term of federal court many of the night men are having both sleepless nights and days.

They work all night for months to round up criminals and then when court opens they must remain awake during the day to appear as witnesses.

But that would be all right, according to one officer, if they didn't have to go back on duty that night to resume the never ending drive on lawlessness. So several of the night men are putting in 24 hours a day just now without any added compensation.

The night side of the force goes on duty at 6:30 o'clock in the evening and off at 6:30 in the morning. A majority of them have their orders to appear in court by 10 o'clock a. m. which ruins chances for a nap and in most instances they find that it is about time to go on duty again when the court is through with them.

There are no substitutes, no "extra board." It is either 24 hours a day for most of the night men or no night police protection for Wichita Falls while the court grinds.
