Unveil Deal To End Rio Border Rifts

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — President Nixon and President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz said today they have agreed to re-establish the middle of the Rio Grande as the boundary between their two nations to resolve century-old disputes along their 2,000-mile border.

DOZEN MILES

In a joint communique as they were winding up a 26-hour visit here, they also established fixed 12-mile maritime boundaries in the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific Ocean.

A treaty will be drafted to be submitted for approval by the senates of both nations.

The two presidents emphasized their belief that the agreement approved in this Pacific coast resort "is an historic achievement." They predicted "the resultant treaty will be one of the most significant agreements between their two governments in this century."

NARCOTICS WAR

During the 2½-hour meeting Thursday afternoon President Nixon also proposed certain new measures he said "would result in significant improvement" in the waters received by Mexico from the lower Colorado River.

The issue involves salt content stemming from irrigation on the U.S. side. Further study and proposals were called for on this matter.

In their statement, Nixon and Diaz Ordaz reaffirmed their determination to suppress the illicit international traffic marijuana, narcotics and dangerous drugs, which they said "has endangered the well being of both countries." They called on their attorneys general, who also met here, to promote the "closest cooperation" in the drug control effort.

The two chief executives hoped to end territorial controversy forever between their two nations by setting the boundary between Texas and Mexico in the center of the Rio Grande.

TRIGGER-HAPPY
No Evidence Of Sniper At Kent State

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A staff member of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest said today 29 Ohio National Guardsmen "fired a minimum of 54 shots in 11 seconds" when four students were slain here May 4.

The commission, concluding a three-day hearing on the Kent State University campus, also was told?

—The FBI found no evidence of a sniper on the campus at that time.

'TERRIBLY SCARED'

—Guardsmen involved in the shooting incident appeared "terribly scared . . . they felt they were going to be overrun."

—On the day before the shooting Guardsmen had shown some students how ther guns were loaded.

Atty. George Warren of Lansing, Mich., a commission staffer, reported no evidence of a sniper. He also said the FBI established that 45 Guardsmen did not fire their weapons.

Dennis Durand, a Marine Corps veteran and a Kent State student, said he acted as a police informer on student activities before and during the incident.

'RING LEADERS'

Durand, 30, said there appeared to be six or eight "ring leaders" and that on two days they talked of attack on an Air Force ROTC building, destroying an ROTC supply depot and burning the Kent State president's house, "preferably with him in it."

Durand, head of a Kent State veterans association, said he was in a campus crowd the day of the shooting.

Bomb In Lap Fib Captures Big Jetliner

MIAMI (AP) — A stocky Latin man who said he had a bomb in his lap hijacked a jetliner and 81 people to Cuba Thursday without entering the cockpit.

The plane's pilot, Capt. Robert Hedgecock, never saw the man until Cuban officials hustled the hijacker off the plane and snatched the brown attache case in which he claimed he had an explosive device.

Hedgecock, 40, of Atlanta, said his Delta Air Lines plane had just leveled off at 9 p.m. EDT, after take-off from Atlanta to Savannah, Ga., when stewardess Judy James, 22, also of Atlanta, told him of the man with the bomb.

In an interview at Miami International Airport after they returned from Cuba at 2:51 a.m. today, Miss James said the man first approached her at the rear buffet as he came out of a lavatory.

"Look at me when I talk to you and don't panic," the pretty blonde said he told her in Spanish-accented English.

"I have an explosive device and I'll use it. Inform your captain to head for Havana."

She went to the cockpit with the message and said Hedgecock replied, "Tell the man that we're going to Havana and ask him if he would like to come up in the cockpit."

The pilot said the man declined the invitation, apparently because "he didn't want others to know he was the hijacker."

The pilot said he wanted to keep the hijacker's identity secret to protect him from other passengers who might try to overpower him.

Average Pay Of Workers Tops $121

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs posted the third straight monthly rise of four-tenths of one per cent in July. However, the government factors were considered, it represented a slight easing of the nation's worst inflation in 20 years.

Price increases for food, transportation, medical care and some housing costs were the major factors in last month's rise that pushed the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index up to 135.7.

EARNINGS UP

The figure means it took $13.57 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the July hike, on a seasonally adjusted basis, was three-tenths of one per cent. This was the same as the seasonal figure in June and was the smallest two-month rise in more than two years, on a seasonal basis.

The bureau also reported that average weekly earnings of approximately 45 million rank-and-file workers rose $1.02 to $121.07 per week. After adjustment for price increases, this represented a slight rise in purchasing power, but purchasing power was still nearly one per cent below a year earlier.

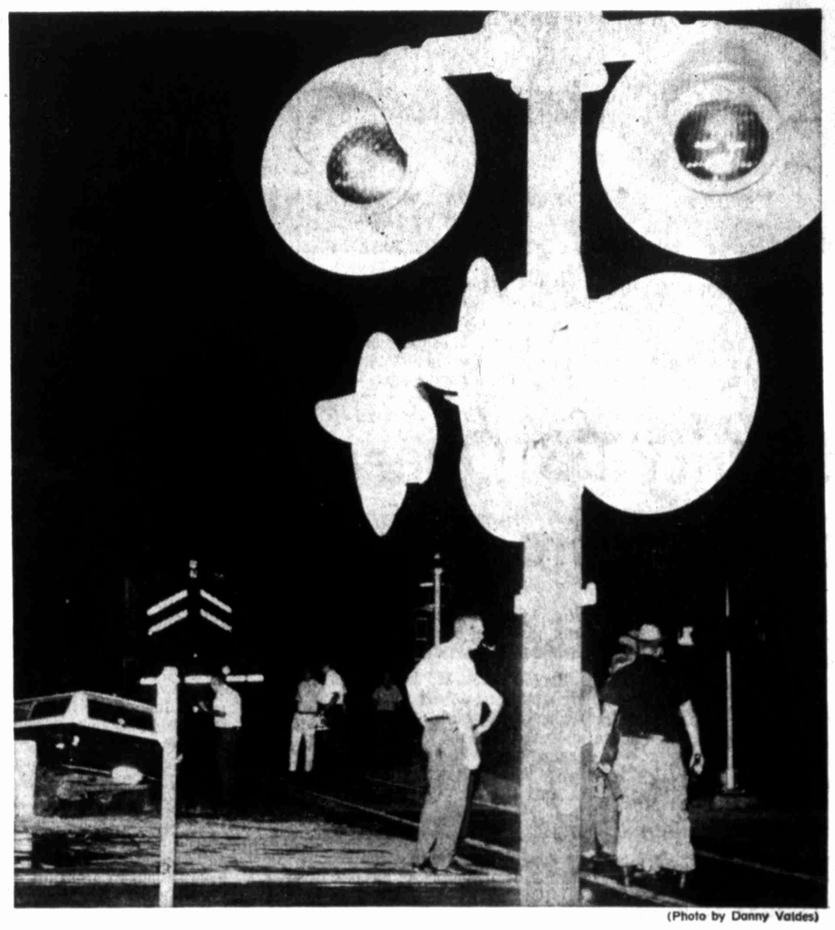

Consumer prices were 5.9 per cent above July of 1969, a slight drop in the 6 per cent rate of inflation that has prevailed for the past year and a half.

FOOD PRICES

Food prices rose slightly more than seasonally in July, with larger increases for eggs, bakery and dairy products, the bureau said. Meats, poultry and fish rose less than usual for July, and vegetables declined.

The report said over-all food prices rose five-tenths of one per cent, housing was up four-tenths, transportation rose six-tenths and medical care seven-tenths. The only major category to decline was clothing, down six-tenths of one per cent.

There was a smaller increase for houses and a slight decline for used cars, two major items that had risen considerably during the spring, the report said.

TRUCK-TRAIN COLLISION — Officer Leo Holden investigates the scene of a railroad crossing mishap that hospitalized Melvin Blum, driver of the pickup truck, with serious injuries received when his truck collided with a train at the North Birdwell Lane crossing of the T&P Railroad.

Local Man Hurt In Train-Truck Crash Thursday

Melvin Blum, 607 Elgin, is listed in serious condition today in Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital with injuries received Thursday night when the pickup truck he was driving was in collision with a Texas & Pacific Railway Co. switch engine.

The accident occurred at 9:48 p.m. The impact of the crash tossed truck and driver 30 feet into a roadside ditch. The truck was headed south on North Birdwell Lane and the train was going east on the T&P tracks at the time of the collision. Damage to the truck was estimated at $1,600. Police listed Thursday's rain as a possible factor.

Slow, Heavy Rains Soaking Texarkana

By The Associated Press

More slow, heavy rains fell on Texarkana today, bringing the 24-hour total to 7.8 inches. But the welcome downpours caused no distress.

Fresh thunderstorms boomed across Texas, particularly in the area of Comanche in Central Texas where 1.19 inches fell. A correspondent at Conner's Gap near Comanche reported 2.5 inches.

The Texarkana rains today followed heavy downpours Thursday which flooded some homes and streets.

But creeks carried off excess water easily today.

By 9:30 a.m., Texarkana had received 2.11 inches since 2 a.m. and the rains continued. Heaviest rain fell after 6 a.m.

The Northeast Texas downpours were the first good moisture in three months. One observer said, "The firemen are getting a little rest" after fighting grass fires during the drought.

The turbulence which has been occurring almost each night this week, concentrated in North and West Texas.

Thunderstorms roved the countryside also from around Abilene and Brownwood northward past Childress, Vernon and Wichita Falls, toward the east through Fort Worth, Sherman and close to Texarkana, and nearly as far south as Austin.

At the same time showers dampened parts of the Panhandle around Amarillo and Perryton, a South Texas area from Schulenburg to near Lufkin, and the Upper Texas Coast around Galveston and Beaumont.

Police in Texarkana meanwhile reported conditions nearly back to normal 24 hours after that city's deluge of almost five inches of rain in four hours Thursday.

Traffic was moving again by Thursday night over streets blocked by high water on the Texas side of Texarkana and residents returned to houses where water rose as deep as three feet before subsiding. Most of the flooding came from Swamp Poodle Creek, which flows within four blocks of the business district.

To Cut Supplemental Pay For Korean, Thai Troops?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted on the eve of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's Asian tour to cut supplemental allowances for South Korean and Thailand troops fighting in Vietnam.

The action, which could be overturned in a Senate-House conference, came Tuesday despite a warning by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., that it could prompt the two countries to quit the war and slow U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

STRONG REACTION

It could stir a strong reaction in South Korea and Thailand, whose leaders frequently have expressed concern about statements and actions of antiwar senators.

Agnew leaves from California Saturday for the Asian visit. He will meet with leaders in South Korea, Thailand, South Vietnam and Taiwan.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, sponsored the amendment, which passed by voice vote after an endorsement from Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee.

It is aimed at a practice, spotlighted in recent Senate hearings, of giving allied troops larger supplemental allowances than American forces receive for combat. Their over-all pay, however, remains far below the U.S. level.

Fulbright said the highest special combat allowance for American forces in Vietnam is $65 per month while a Thai lieutenant gets $120 from the United States.

The payments stem from agreements under which the Asian nations send troops to Vietnam.

DOROTHY DROWNS DOZEN PERSONS

MIAMI (AP) — Flash floods in the mountains of Martinique drowned 12 persons and injured many others during the passage of Tropical Storm Dorothy across the French island, the National Hurricane Center reported today.

A deluge of 12.32 inches in nine hours hit the capital of Fort de France, causing considerable local flooding.

Winds reaching a top speed of 60 miles an hour in gusts did little damage, however.

Weakened slightly by her collision with the mountains, Dorothy packed a punch of only 50 miles an hour as she struck out almost due west across the Caribbean Sea.

CLASSES AID BIBLE FUND

More gifts from Sunday School classes (there were investments from individuals, too) help bring the High School Bible Fund along the way today. The total, something over $1,000, represents about one-third of the sum needed to carry on the distinctive work in Big Spring High School, where students have an opportunity to study the Bible in its literary, historical and moral perspective.

This is a unique program to give young people a rich background. You are invited to help sustain these classes, sponsored by the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship. The Herald cooperates as a clearing house, and if you will have a part, make your check to "Bible Fund" and mail it to The Herald for acknowledgment.

Welcome Rain Measures .45

Unofficial rainfall measured nearly three inches in Forsan Thursday, however, official measurement at the U. S. Experiment Station here was only .45.

Colorado River Municipal Water District records show 1.6 inches of rain at the Lake Spence pump station, giving Lake Spence 2 inches of runoff and rainfall. The Martin County well field measured .3, and .2 was measured at the Big Spring reservoir field station. No rainfall or runoff was reported at Lake J. B. Thomas.

Heaviest rainfall apparently was in Forsan, where 2.9 inches was measured. The TESCO field unit measured .71 and Fairview gauged rainfall of .3. Slight rain was also reported in Knott, Elbow, Coahoma and Luther. Neither Vealmoor nor Vincent received any rain.

MANSON MISTREATED IN JAIL?

'It's Like Kicking A Dead Man'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sullen and scowling, Charles M. Manson told the judge in the Sharon Tate murder trial that he was being mistreated in county jail, and "it's like kicking a dead man."

Manson is seeking a "cease-and-desist" order against the sheriff's department.

"I have not heard or seen any evidence thus far of interference with the preparation of your case," Superior Court Judge Charles Older said after listening to Manson for 45 minutes Thursday.

YEAH, STRONGER

He postponed the rest of the hearing on the Manson motion until today so the trial could go on.

The shaggy-haired, bearded Manson took the witness stand, with the jury absent, before the regular court session. He said he was receiving "barbaric" treatment and was forced to go through "a lot of confusing procedure" in jail.

But he added: "It makes me stronger. I can't be discouraged. I don't know what discouragement means."

Manson, 35, leader of a nomadic clan, is on trial with three women followers in the murders of Miss Tate and six others.

'SHAKEDOWN'

Manson said that several times daily he had been subjected to "shakedowns" in which deputies made him disrobe and then probed his body.

He said he wasn't allowed to have pencils and paper and that mail from his friends was stopped while "hate mail" was allowed to get through. He said a "dark screen" interferes with vision and voices when he interviews prospective witnesses.

"The mental aspect is much more cruel than the physical," he said. "If someone comes in and beats you up it's all over . . . But I have to go through your sex paranoia and your insecurity over and over."

Under cross-examination by a county counsel, Manson said the skin searches had dwindled lately; he had plenty of pencils in court and had interviewed three witnesses in the attorneys' room of the jail.

TRAGIC DEATHS

In trial testimony, the prosecution called a series of witnesses who described the bloody scene at the Tate mansion the morning of Aug. 9, 1969, when the blonde actress and four others were found slain.

The defense said outside the courtroom it had offered to accept details of the death without witnesses, but that the prosecution refused.

"Unfortunately, we agree that there were a tragic series of homicides at the house on Cielo Drive," said Paul Fitzgerald, representing Patricia Krenwinkel, 22. "We just contend that these defendants didn't perpetrate them."

CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

Three officers—Jerry DeRosa, William Whisenhunt, and Roberts Burbridge—testified that they were among the first at the estate and described the arrest of caretaker William Garretson, 20, who was released after questioning.

Burbridge and DeRosa both noted that brightly lit "Christmas tree lights" glowed on a split rail fence around the mansion and floodlights were on. Key state witness Linda Kasabian has said the estate was dark on the murder night, except for a small garage light.

Miss Tate's maid, Winifred Chapman, told of arriving for work and finding the bodies—a scene she couldn't describe.

District FB Queen Contest Slated Here Saturday Night

Brenda Jackson, Howard County Farm Bureau Queen, will compete with five other county queens for the District VI Farm Bureau Queen title tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

Brenda is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Jackson, Gail Route. She was last year's winner of the local contest, also.

Robbie Cline, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cline, was runner-up in the beauty contest and winner of the "talent find" contest. She will compete with two other talent winners tomorrow night.

H. L. (Hub) Baker, secretary-treasurer of the Texas Farm Bureau, will be emcee for the contest. Bill Reid, state director of the Farm Bureau, will welcome the guests and contestants to the pageant. Ed Cumbie, area field representative, will introduce special guests and the judges.

Jeanette Nichols, 17, Knott, will provide the music for the contest. Jeanette competed in the Howard County beauty contest.

Other contestants are Kiki Scott, Dawson County queen, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Scott, Rt. 2, Lamesa; Dolores Schwarz, Nolan County queen, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schwartz; Rt. 1, Loraine; and Pat Ferguson, Kimble County queen, 17, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Lewis Ferguson, Junction.

Becky Mebane, Scurry County queen, 16, daugher of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mebane, Rt. 1, Snyder; and Evelyn Schwarz, Tom Green County queen, 17, daugher of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Schwarz, Rt. 2, Miles.

"Talent find" contestants are Evelyn Schwarz and Caren Murr, Kimble County.

Jean Ann Block, reigning Texas Farm Bureau Queen and last year's District VI winner, will crown the new district queen.

Couple Files Suit Against Cook's

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Hammon, 2303 Marshal, have filed suit in 118th District Court asking $10,000 in damages from Cooks Department Store and an employe, Frances Marie Kissinger.

The suit resulted from an incident in which Mrs. Hammon was accused of shoplifting in the store. The Hammons are alleging that the incident caused Mrs. Hammon personal humiliation.

Couple Goes On Trial For Death Of Daughter

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The trial of Robert Eugene Monteith, 24, Abilene, and his 19-year-old wife for the alleged murder of an infant daughter will begin Monday in 32nd District Court in Colorado City with Judge Austin McCloud presiding.

Both are being held in the Mitchell County Jail, according to sheriff's officers.

Judge McCloud ordered a venire, which has been summoned to appear by Sheriff Lewis Claxton. Barring further delays, jury selection will begin Monday at 9 a.m.

The couple's three-month-old daughter died Jan. 17 in an Abilene hospital following what the state alleges was a beating Jan. 10.

Criminal district attorney Ed Paynter, Abilene, will be the prosecuting attorney, assisted by 32nd district attorney Weldon Kirk, Sweewater.

The couple will be defended by court-appointed Abilene attorneys Bob Hanna and Nelson Quinn.

The trial was moved from Abilene on a joint change of venue motion filed by Paynter and defense attorneys.

Protection For Foreign Envoys Cut

NEW YORK (AP) — Police protection for foreign government interests in New York is to be cut nearly in half starting at midnight.

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary announced Thursday that 50 of 106 patrolmen assigned to diplomatic posts would be withdrawn at that time and protection at 17 of 37 locations housing foreign interests would be eliminated.

However, patrols outside the major United Nations missions and consulates are to be maintained at present levels, he said in a statement.

Leary said the move had been under consideration for several months and was ordered after "extensive discussion" with the State Department and the U.S. mission to the United Nations.

Under the revisions, the Police Department will discontinue assignments to locations where foreign personnel lack diplomatic immunity, he said, thus eliminating police guards at private buildings where foreign governments have purely financial or political interests.

In recent weeks, off-duty policemen have picketed to protest assignment to fixed diplomatic posts, shopkeepers have complained that such duties were keeping patrolmen from walking beats, and the city has unsuccessfully sought federal assistance in providing protection to foreign missions and consulates.

Task Force Plans New Ordinance

Members of the chamber of commerce "seal of approval" task force voted Friday to draft a proposed city ordinance requiring all agencies and nontaxpaying businesses to register with the chief of police before soliciting citizens for funds.

The ordinance, which must be approved by the chamber's board of directors before submission to the city commission, would call for any organization asking donations locally to explain the method and cost of solicitation, the use of the funds and, among other things, the time of the last fund drive.

Chairing the task force is chamber vice president John Burgess, who, along with City Attorney Herb Prouty will draft the proposed legislation.

DEATHS

Helen Pearson, Saturday Rites

Helen Louise Pearson, 53, died this morning in a local hospital. Services will be at 3 p.m. Saturday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. John Beard, pastor of First Christian Church, officiating and burial in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mrs. Pearson was born June 2, 1917, in Comanche County and married Jack Pearson Oct. 5, 1940, in Odessa. They moved to Big Spring in October, 1947. She was a bookkeeper for Valley Copperstate Freight Lines, where her husband is branch manager. She was a member of the American Legion Auxiliary and the First Christian Church.

Survivors include her husband; one daughter, Beverly Carol Martin, Big Spring; one grandson; her mother, Mrs. William Wells, Monahans; two brothers, W. S. Wells and Billy Wells, both of Monahans; and one sister, Mrs. Evelyn Montgomery, Louisville, Tex.

Connie Conwell, Funeral Pending

Connie Conwell, 17, niece of Mrs. C. H. Arbuckle, 3613 Hamilton, died Thursday afternoon in a Galveston hospital. She was scheduled to have a kidney transplant earlier this month, but complications forced doctors to postpone the operation.

Howard County residents had come to the aid of Mrs. Arbuckle earlier this year as she sought funds to help Connie's parents pay for the transplant.

Funeral is pending in Amarillo.

Connie was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Conwell, 4415 Cline Road, Amarillo, and lived in Big Spring about 10 years ago while her father was employed as a custodian in the Big Spring Independent School District.

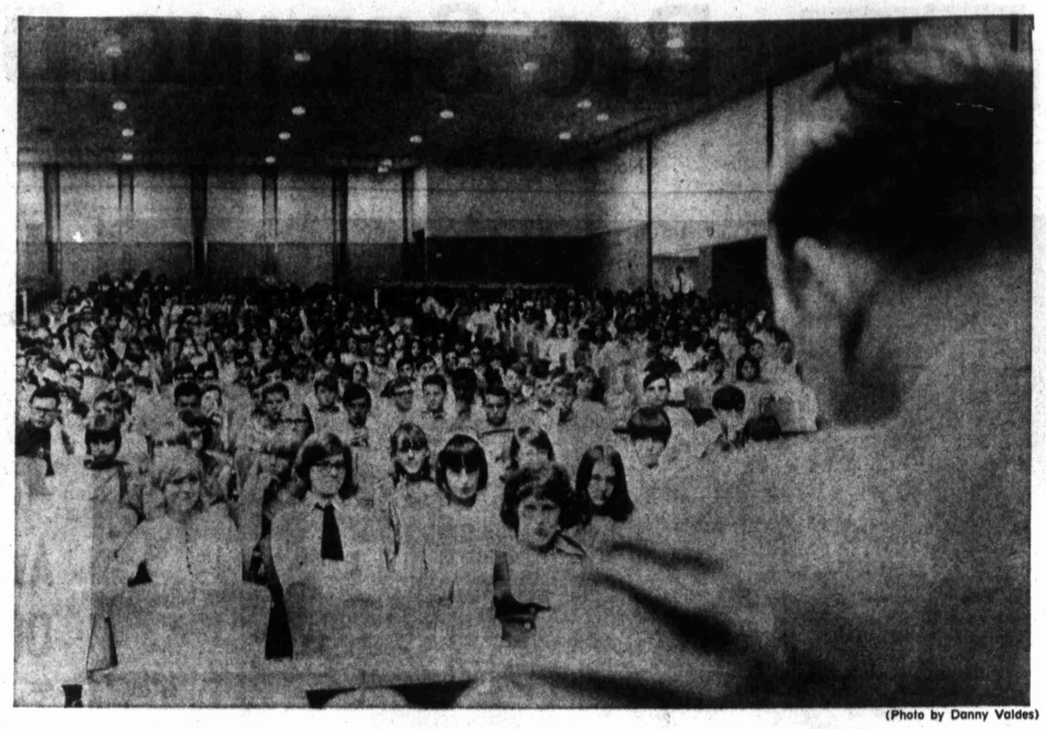

Survivors include her parents; three brothers, Billy Conwell, Derrell Conwell and Jonathan Conwell; two sisters, Doris Conwell and Vera Conwell, all of the home; and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. W. C. Humphreys, Abilene.

Charles Stewart, Buried Sunday

Services were held Sunday in Marianna, Fla., for Charles Edward Stewart, 25, who died Aug. 12 in a Big Spring hospital. Burial was in the Marianna Cemetery.

Mr. Stewart was born May 11, 1945, in Marianna, Fla. He joined the Air Force in 1966 and was stationed at Webb AFB. He married Margaret Cockerham June 20, 1967, here and was sent to Vietnam in 1968. He returned to Big Spring after his discharge from the Air Force in January, 1970, in Little Rock, Ark.

Survivors include his wife Margaret, Big Spring; two daughters, Joyce Kathleen Stewart and Nancy Charlene Stewart, both of the home; his mother, Mrs. Thelma Stewart, Marianna; two brothers; two sisters; and his maternal grandmother.

Court Will Be Held Behind Quentin Walls

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Court will be held Monday for the first time behind the walls of 118-year-old San Quentin Prison.

"We're trying it out on an experimental basis," Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin County Superior Court said. He will preside.

The possibility of such court sessions for San Quentin prisoners was raised in the aftermath of the Aug. 7 San Rafael courtroom kidnap-shooting in which a judge and three of his abductors were killed. A San Quentin prisoner's case was involved.

Wilson said the Monday session would involve only pretrial proceedings.

The session will be held in a large room of the In Service Training Building inside the prison's main gate. The judge said press and public will be admitted subject to some restrictions.

Warden Louis S. Nelson said newsmen need only their press cards to get in, but that members of the public will have to undergo search, provide identification and possibly explain their interest.

Nelson said he thought the innovation would invite a court test of the constitutionality of holding court in prison.

"If I were a defendant in such a court I would do that," he said, adding a man might consider the site a prejudice against him.

Marin County Administrator Allan Bruce said the prison courtroom will contain all the semblances of a court session four miles away in San Rafael —judge, flags, bailiffs, lawyers, spectators.

Drill Stem Tests Run In Wolfcamp

Mobil Oil Corp. is preparing to test Wolfcamp perforations after running drill stem tests at four levels and setting 7-inch casing at No. 28 Owen-Chalk located in Howard County nine miles north of the Credo, North Wolfcamp field in Sterling County and nine miles southeast of the Hutto, South Wolfcamp field of Howard County.

A drill stem test at Wolfcamp levels at 7,363-7,438 feet was open two hours, gas surfaced in seven minutes, and recovered was 648 feet of clean 35.5 gravity oil plus 713 feet of oil cut drilling mud. Sample chamber recovery was 675 ccs. of oil and 3.06 cubic feet of gas. Flow pressure was 147-187 pounds with initial shut-in pressure at 2,821 pounds.

A drill stem test at 7,850-7,900 feet in a one-hour test, recovering 1,215 feet of gas and 45 feet of oil-cut drilling mud. Sample chamber recovered 2,000 ccs. of oil cut mud with flow pressure of 40 pounds, one-hour shut-in pressure 375 pounds, and three-hour final shut-in pressure, 1,421 pounds. The third drill stem test at 8,977-9,027 feet was open an hour and 30 minutes, recovering 570 feet of gas, 180 feet of drilling mud, and 165 feet of salt water. Flow pressure was 13-133 pounds, one-hour initial shut-in pressure 3,479 pounds, and three-hour final shut-in pressure 3,425 pounds. An Ellenburger drill stem test at 9,145-9,300 feet, open 95 minutes recovered 900 feet of drilling mud and 834 feet of salty sulfur water, with flow pressure of 536-4,085 pounds, one hour shut-in 4,089 pounds, and two-and-a-half hour final shut-in 4,085 pounds.

Seven-inch casing set at 9,233 feet was perforated at 7,416-7,441 feet and at 7,370-7,380. Preparations are being made to run a retrievable bridge plug with packer and tubing to test Wolfcamp perforations at 7,416-7,441 feet. Wellsite is 2,170 feet from the north and 480 feet from the east lines of section 113, block 29, W&NW survey, and is 14½ miles southeast of Big Spring surrounded by production in the Howard-Glasscock field.

A FREE MAN — Brian Flanagan, 24, of Southampton, N.Y., leaves Criminal Courts Building in Chicago Thursday night following his acquittal of charges of aggravated battery and mob action, stemming from last October's "Four Days of Rage" by Weatherman faction of the Students for a Democratic Society. Chicago corporation counsel Richard Elrod was temporarily paralyzed during the protests.

Rebuilding After Celia

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Two and one half weeks after Hurricane Celia blasted its way across the Texas Coast, a second-phase in the lengthy recovery process has begun.

The urgent first phase began when the violent lady crashed through a seven-county area on Aug. 3.

Now with life struggling to return to normal, the long-range second phase is in progress.

Great strides have been made since the disaster, according to George Hastings of the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Various agencies have told Hastings that some services have been reduced or eliminated.

SHELTERS CLOSED

The departure of the last family from the Robstown storm shelter Tuesday means that all shelters now are closed.

Mass feeding by the U.S. 4th Army, Red Cross and Salvation Army has ended. Nearly half a million meals were served.

Electric power is 95 per cent restored.

The Meadowbrook one-stop aid center will close at noon Saturday. Coles Junior High School and the Boys Club one-stop centers in Corpus Christi remain open.

Debris clearance by the Army Corps of Engineers still is in full operation. Corps contractors have removed over 63 million cubic yards of material so far.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has received 240 mobile homes for use as emergency housing. A total of 1,300 applications have been approved to date.

Over 500 loans have been approved by the Small Business Administration while 11,000 applications are being processed now.

DEBRIS CLEARANCE

An advance allocation of $400,000 by the Office of Emergency Preparedness has permitted debris clearance from farm, feeding lots and around farm homes by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in seven counties.

Some 330 farmers have asked for debris clearance from 9,665 acres of farmland and 82 feedlots and homes, at a total cost of $69,600. Also 95 miles of fencing which blew away will be replaced at a cost of $15,200.

Hastings, southwestern regional director for the Office of Emergency Preparedness and Celia disaster coordinator, said federal recovery officials will remain in the disaster area for at least several months.

New Staff Judge Advocate Appointed At Webb AFB

Capt. Richard N. Norris recently assumed duties as staff judge advocate at Webb AFB, making him the top legal advisor to the commander and the base personnel.

The captain replaced Maj. Duane Feichtinger, who has left for an assignment in Thailand.

Capt. Norris entered the Air Force in June, 1963, when he was commissioned a second lieutenant through the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Iowa State University. The captain then delayed his entry into active duty and returned to school to study law. In 1965, Capt. Norris completed his law requirements and subsequently entered into active duty. For two years he was stationed at Dow AFB, Maine, till he was transferred to Bitburg AB, Germany.

CAPT. RICHARD NORRIS

A native of Iowa City, Iowa, the captain and his wife, the former Jean Smith, Des Plains, Ill., have two children: Bradford, 3 and Andrea, 2.

Soil Scientist From Here Attends National Meet

Dr. Paul T. Koshi, research soil scientist with the U.S. Experiment Station here, is scheduled to present a paper at the National Soil Science Society of America meeting in Tucson, Ariz., beginning today.

The paper, "Effect of Seedbed Configuration and Cotton Bur Mulch On Lint Cotton Yield and Soil Water Use," presents the results of a three-year study at the Experiment Station to determine if a mulch of cotton burs will conserve soil moisture under West Texas climatic conditions.

The study has revealed, according to Bill Fryrear, director of the station here, that without any surface cover only 35 to 45 per cent of the rainfall between mid-January and mid-June is stored in the soil profile for future use by growing plants. Addition of cotton gin trash on sandy soil progressively increased the organic matter content of the soil and improved the water-holding capacity of the soil; making it more resistant to wind erosion.

Dr. Koshi is participating in discussions on other papers dealing with soil and water conservation problems. He will also take part in field trips at Las Cruces, N.M., and Tombstone, Ariz., to learn more about improving the vegetation on semi-desert soils.

EGYPT REJECTS SPY PLANE PLAN

'Pretext For Espionage'

By The Associated Press

Egypt today rejected American surveillance of the Middle East cease-fire by satellite and U2 spy plane, calling the plan a "pretext for espionage." Political circles in Israel said this showed Cairo had "something to hide."

Such reconnaissance, "even if undertaken over Israeli-held territories, could provide Israel with additional advantages in the present delicate circumstances," said Cairo's semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram.

SURPRISE, SURPRISE

The Egyptian statement came as a surprise. When the United States announced earlier in the week that it was undertaking reconnaissance and had informed Egypt, it was generally understood that it was being done with Cairo's consent.

Al Ahram said Egypt's stand had been known all along. It added that the United States "must adopt a neutral stand regarding this issue" if it is interested in seeing peace in the Middle East.

Al Ahram said Egypt also had turned down an American suggestion for Soviet high-level reconnaissance. But both the U.S. suggestion and the Egyptian rejection were formalities because the Soviet Union already has large numbers of military personnel on duty with Egypt's air and missile forces, and needs no high-flying planes or spaceships to keep it abreast of developments.

EXPLOIT RIFT

In Israel, opposition parties demanded that the Israeli parliament be recalled from its summer vacation for an urgent debate on Israeli-American relations, and the state radio said the lawmakers probably would return to Jerusalem on Monday.

The opposition was expected to try to exploit the rift between the U.S. and Israeli governments over Washington's refusal to give full backing to the Israeli charges that Egypt has violated the cease-fire by moving SAM antiaircraft missiles closer to the Suez Canal truce line.

The Arab parties to the cease-fire, Jordan's King Hussein and Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, were meeting in Cairo to discuss strategy at the coming indirect peace talks which U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring will hold. The two Arab leaders also were expected to reach some agreement on ways to deal with the Palestinian guerrillas who are trying to sabotage Hussein's peace efforts.

'FIRST ROUND'

Israel informed Jarring that it would prefer to have the peace talks near the Middle East rather than in New York, but an Israeli spokesman said his government did not make the preference "an absolute condition."

Egypt and Jordan proposed earlier in the week that the three nation's delegates to the United Nations begin the talks there, and today the independent Israeli newspaper Haaretz said this idea had a certain advantage. It said if the ambassadors got the "first round" out of the way, "the possibility would exist of solving outstanding problems via the foreign ministers in the second round."

Big Spring Man Lauded At A&M

COLLEGE STATION — Jerry M. Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Conley, 614 Colgate, Big Spring, has been named a distinguished student in veterinary medicine at Texas A&M University according to Dean Alvin A. Price.

Conley is a first-year student in the College of Veterinary Medicine professional program. Distinguished student status is awarded students who earned a 3.25 or better grade point ratio out of a possible 4.0 during the summer trimester, Dean Price explained.

Midland, Ector School Suits Moved To El Paso

AUSTIN (AP) — Federal suits for alleged racial segregation against the Midland and Ector County (Odessa) School Districts have been moved to El Paso.

Five other districts—Austin, Temple, Hearne, Calvert and La Vega—still are to appear in U.S. Dist. Judge Jack Roberts' court here next Monday.

The Justice Department sued 26 districts in federal court for alleged failure to comply with desegregation guidelines, and the Texas Education Agency recently completed a series of meetings with 16 of the districts.

Officials from Galena Park and Sulphur Springs districts reached agreement with officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

A LOVELIER YOU

Fight Nailbiting With Frequent Manicures

By MARY SUE MILLER

A teen Lovely asks: Have you any suggestions about how I can stop biting my nails? Nothing I have tried works. My hands look awful.

The Answer. Most nail-biters claim they "just can't stop." Yet they are well aware of how unattractive the habit is of itself, and how ruinous to the appearance of the hands. What most may not realize is that, in time, chewed nails become permanently thick and stubby.

There are several practical deterrents to the habit. The best is to give your hands three complete manicures a week. You might start off with a few professional manicures so that you learn the proper method.

A manicure must include soaking the hands, oiling and pushing back cuticles, tidying the nails however ragged with an emery board, and massaging the hand complexion with lotion. Polish may take the form of buffing and-or enamel. Brush-on nail strengtheners come recommended, too.

How does this help? Well, the hands look so scruffy with chewed-up nails that they get little care. Right? Right! With manicure, appearances improve to the point where nibbling seems a waste of a feminine plus, not to mention the time and money spent in acquiring it.

If pride does not then break the habit, try cocooning your fingertips in transparent plastic tape or false nails. Both are too icky to bite. Should all else fail, ask your doctor to unravel the cause of those raveled nails. It's a jitter problem.

LOVELIER HANDS

Do you have a hand problem? Send for "Lovelier Hands," a booklet that covers every step in your quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed: how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

American Legion To Hold Initiation

Mrs. Ollie Bransom presided at the American Legion Auxiliary meeting of Unit 355 Thursday, announcing that new members will be initiated at the next meeting, Sept. 3. Membership dues will be raised from $3.50 to $4.50 as of Oct. 20 in compliance with a department raise. Mrs. Ernest Grubaugh, membership chairman, announced that 56 members have paid their dues for 1970-71 and urged all to pay before Oct. 20.

Mrs. E. N. Rea, hospital representative, announced that the Veterans Administration Hospital will hold an orientation for volunteers at 10 a.m., Sept. 15. Mrs. Rea said there is a need for volunteers in recreation and in the "comfort items" project Mondays from 1 to 4 p.m. Members donated $5 to Big Spring State Hospital for the Christmas program. The door prize was won by Mrs. Grubaugh.

Rex McKenneys Are Vacationing

WESTBROOK (SC) — The Rex McKenneys are vacationing in San Antonio, San Marcos, Rio Frio, Garner State Park, Del Rio and Ciudad Acuna. They were accompanied by Martha Sparks, Colorado City, and Mrs. Clayton Bettle, Big Spring.

The Hoyt Robertses are guests of the Dick Kennedys of Odessa this week.

Visiting with the Larry Bells of Odessa were the W. A. Bells, Westbrook, and Carole and Pat Bell, Brownwood.

Returning to Nacogdoches with Mr. and Mrs. Keith Williamson were their daughter-in-law and grandson, Mrs. Howard Williamson and Gregory. The Keith Williamsons will return to Westbrook Sunday.

Travelers Visit Family, Friends

WESTBROOK (SC) — Visiting the A. C. Moody family was Mrs. W. T. Wyatt, Sweetwater, and her sister, Mrs. Bobbie Henderson and daughter, Mrs. Charles Jefferies of Colorado City.

The S. W. Websters, Stanton, were guests of the Altis Clemmers. — The Clemmers' granddaughter, Stacey Clemmer, Cisco, is spending the week with them.

The Jimmy Moody family is home from a vacation in Galveston where they were joined by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Moody, Hico. They also visited the Ray Moodys in Seguin.

Mrs. T. A. Whitesides and sons are visiting her parents in Farmington, N.M.

Ruth Bible Class Appoints Committee

WESTBROOK (SC) — A nominating committee was appointed Tuesday by the Ruth Sunday School Class, First Baptist Church. Mrs. Hilton Parsons was hostess. Chairman of the committee is Mrs. Gerald Rollins, with Mrs. L. M. Dawson and Mrs. Floyd Rice as members. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. A. G. Eitzen Hosts Patio Party

Mrs. A. G. Eitzen, 2601 Carol, was hostess Friday for a patio party for Big Spring Credit Women. A covered-dish supper was served on tables covered with blue and white flowered cloths. Games were played and a cake was auctioned. Guests were Mrs. E. E. Reynolds, Mrs. H. H. Sanford and Mrs. Mary Reed.

Candidate Introduced At Coffee Thursday

Mrs. Jack McGlothlin, of Abilene, candidate for Republican committeewoman for the 24th Senatorial District, was introduced to Big Spring women at a coffee Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. R.B.G. Cowper, 902 Mountain Park. Mrs. Akin Simpson was cohostess.

Accompanying Mrs. McGlothlin was Mrs. Richard Bacon of Abilene, committeewoman for the Republican Women's Clubs in the district, which includes Big Spring.

Mrs. McGlothlin is the immediate past president of the Abilene Republican Women's Club and co-chairman of the Paul Eggers campaign in that city. She also assisted her husband when he was city chairman of Sen. John Tower's campaign. Mrs. McGlothlin is the mother of two girls and a boy, ages 4, 9 and 11.

Although she is unopposed, an opponent may declare herself in the running anytime up until the convention Sept. 15 in Houston. Mrs. McGlothlin is succeeding Mrs. Mary Doss, committeewoman for the past six years, who has moved out of the district. Mrs. McGlothlin believes that more women are becoming involved in government.

"Women are getting braver and venturing into politics," observed Mrs. McGlothlin.

"They are better informed," interjected Mrs. Bacon.

"And as they understand politics better and find it less confusing, they will take a greater part," added Mrs. McGlothlin. "Women are becoming more concerned, too."

Compelling Mrs. McGlothlin to run for committeewoman was the "important election coming up in '72," she said.

"I want to draw the districts closer together and set up the small towns for the primaries," Mrs. McGlothlin declared. "Some people don't know how or where to vote, we want to show them how to go about it, so we get everyone out to vote and have a real two-party system."

Following the coffee, Mrs. McGlothlin and Mrs. Bacon returned to Abilene, where they will be hostesses at a reception for George Bush Jr.

Coffee and hors d'oeuvres were served from silver and china appointments at a polished table. Forming the centerpiece was a melon ball-filled watermelon shell circled with blue carnations, white daisies and mint leaves.

Guests included Mrs. John Max Milan of Midland, a former local resident.

Installment Credit Talk Given To Credit Women

Mrs. George Weeks discussed "Installment Credit For the Consumer" at the Big Spring Credit Women meeting Thursday in Hotel Settles. There are two types of installment credit, credit advanced to finance the sale of wholesale or retail goods, and credit for cash in personal loans. Both types involve regular installment payments.

The first type of credit supplies money for consumer purchases, so he does not have to delve into his savings for large purchases. The other type of credit supplies cash to help in an emergency and the customer deals directly with the finance company. In the credit advanced for the purchase of goods, the customer deals with the store. If the store sells its account to a finance company, the customer will then deal with the finance company. Due to former abuses of interest rates, fiance companies are now regulated by laws.

Following Mrs. Week's discussion, Mrs. C. W. Mahoney demonstrated how to fill out Federal Housing Administration forms. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. A. G. Eitzen. The next meeting will be Sept. 3.

Newcomers Club Plans Luncheon

Two new members, Mrs. David Dill and Mrs. Nolen Chafin, were welcomed into the Newcomers Club Wednesday at the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Mrs. Jimmy Newton was hostess.

Mrs. Robert Nass won high in bridge games, and Mrs. Dill placed second. Bridge-O was won by Mrs. William Archibald.

A bridge luncheon was planned for Sept. 1 at the Officers Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base. All newcomers to Big Spring are welcomed to attend. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Archibald, 267-8834.

Store Documents For Evidence

Anyone who does not have birth or baptismal certificates should put aside other evidence that can be used as proof of age when the time comes to apply for Social Security benefits.

Such evidence could be an old insurance policy, military records, family Bible or marriage record.

To Apply Rouge

Applying rouge evenly on both sides of the face, and with just the right amount of color, requires skill and just a little luck. If there is too much color, rather than try to rub away the excess, put a dab of cream on a tissue and blot it up. Set the color with a cotton square dampened with good quality witch hazel. Use the same pad to bend the makeup at the hair line and throat.

READY FOR CONVENTION — Jaycee-Ettes will be hostesses for the Area 1-C Jaycee and Jaycee-Ette meeting which began here today. Here, five of the group hold ditty bags of sundries donated by merchants which will be presented as gifts to the women visitors. From left, they are Mrs. Max Moore, area secretary; Mrs. Ben Faulkner, area vice president; Mrs. A. J. Pirkle, local first vice president; Mrs. Ken Gafford, convention chairman; and Mrs. Bob Taylor, local president.

Brunch Fetes Bride-Elect

Miss Lanelle Etchison, bride-elect of Chris Boyd of Lamesa, was honored at a brunch Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Bobby Brown at Lamesa. Mrs. Alma Brown was cohostess.

Joining Miss Etchison and her wedding attendants were her mother, Mrs. Bill Etchison of Ackerly, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. W. G. Boyd, Lamesa. The couple plan to be married Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church at Lamesa.

Guests were seated at quartet tables accented with brandy snifters holding miniature bridal couples, turquoise and white carnations and babies'-breath.

Yarn Craft Shown To Plate Pushers

Mrs. J. L. Rankin demonstrated the making of flowers and pictures from yarn when the TOPS Plate Pushers met Thursday in the Salvation Army Activity Room.

Mrs. K. C. Webb presided as 10 members reported a total loss of 17 pounds, with the fruit prize going to Mrs. Rankin. Members planned secret pal gifts which will be boxes filled with diet recipes, reducing hints and notes of encouragement or admonishment.

"Obesity is considered beauty except in European countries and America," said Mrs. Ray Menges in quoting a publication.

It was announced that a TOPS workshop will be held Aug. 29 in Ropesville. The next local meeting will be Thursday.

Family Supper Held At Church

A family night supper was held Wednesday at North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church. The Rev. Paul Crow, pastor, Mrs. Crow and son of Lamesa attended. Rev. Crow spoke on "Faith and Grace." Members plan to hold family suppers on the third Wednesday of each month. The women planned a bake sale and bazaar Sept. 19, to be held in the First United Methodist Church.

TROPHY WINNERS — Ronald Dooley, left, David Buchanan, center, and Carol Jean Sitton, right.

Youths Win Awards For Christianity

Trophies were awarded to six youngsters Sunday at Airport Baptist Church for their outstanding Christian work during the church's recent revival.

Carol Jean Sitton, 12, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sitton, 1802 Wallace, was awarded the first place trophy. Carol is in the seventh grade at Goliad Junior High.

A second place trophy went to David Buchanan, 12. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Buchanan, 1605 Harding. He is also in the seventh grade at Goliad.

Ronald Dooley, 22, was awarded a third place trophy for his work. Dooley is the son of Mrs. Clyde Dooley, 704 Creighton.

Three additional trophies were awarded to Patsy Lewis, Mike Schults and Dean Sitton after Sunday's service.

St. Mary's Sets Annual Fall Fest

Members of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, 1009 Hearn, have begun preparation for their 12th annual fall festival, scheduled this year for Sept. 19-20.

"It used to be only one day, but we have had such good response in the past that we decided on a two-day festival this year," said Walter Schattel.

The festival will include a barbecue dinner inside the church hall Sept. 19 while hotdogs are served outside at the booths. The next day a Mexican dinner will be served inside the hall, with German sausages available outside.

The booths will include 15 different games open from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. daily. Co-chairmen for the event are Bill Sneed and Allen Herridge. Cash prizes of $500, $100 and $50 will be given away.

Fears And Duty

NEW YORK (AP) — Declaring that "white racism is an expression of the power of evil," the Rev. C. Freeman Sleeper, of Trinity College, writes in a new book issued by Abingdon, "Black Power and Christian Responsibility," that Christians must rise above their fears and desire for security to "identify ourselves" with the black drive for change. It involves danger, he says, but the gospel demands it.

Church Of God Youth Meet In Dallas Confab

ANDERSON, Ind. — Under the banner, "Free To Live In Christ," over 5,000 young people from all parts of the country are in Dallas this weekend for the 27th International Youth Convention of the Church of God.

Delegates were to focus attention on five mass meetings in Dallas Memorial Auditorium and a dozen youth ministry seminars to be held in several downtown hotels.

Heading the principal speaker list was to be Mal Goode, ABC correspondent at the United Nations and president of the Association of Radio-TV-News Analysts.

Convention director, Kenneth G. Prunty, director of youth ministries at the Church of God's general offices in Anderson, Ind., announced the biennial convention format would include "encounters" and "happenings" — along with the seminars — in addition to "simply speeches by our convention guests."

Among key leaders with Goode will be Kirby Brumfield, West Coast television producer, director and actor; Vincent Guerra, former New York City drug addict now associated with "Turning Point," a program of drug education, prevention and rehabilitation in Miami, Fla.; Dr. R. Eugene Sterner, Church of God radio minister heard on over 375 stations around the world; and Rev. Ronald Fowler, Akron, Ohio, outstanding young Negro leader.

Other personalities include folk singer Gene Cotton; Mrs. Willie Barrows, of the Chicago "Operation Breadbasket" program; and Leroy Falling, Albuquerque, N.M., a leader with the Navajos in the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Top leaders from across the country in the Church of God will direct the youth ministry seminars dealing with drugs, campus life, communications, war and peace, sexuality, racial concerns, marriage and family life, Black experiences, environment and pollution, poverty and affluence.

Climax to the convention comes with a "Celebration of Discipleship" at John F. Kennedy Memorial Plaza.

Convention president is James R. Cook, Bedford, Ind. He will be the last to hold the post since Dallas delegates will elect seven persons to form a planning panel for the 1972 International Youth Convention — a format to be followed in future years.

The panel, joined by Rev. Prunty and Dr. Donald A. Courtney, executive secretary-treasurer of the church's Board of Christian Education, convention sponsor, will elect its own chairman and secretary.

Peace Agency Receives Grants

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Two grants totalling $440,250 have been made to the joint Committee on Society, Development and Peace (SODEPAX) working to make Christianity more relevant in the world and to enlist it in the cause of order and peace.

Sponsored by the World Council of Churches and the Roman Catholic Commission on Justice and Peace, the agency received $300,000 from the Swiss-based Humanum Foundation and $140,250 from the Ford Foundation.

Structure Change

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Taking over as the new acting dean of students at Harvard Divinity School, the Rev. Edward Wright Jr. observed, "The whole structure of theological education is up for grabs."

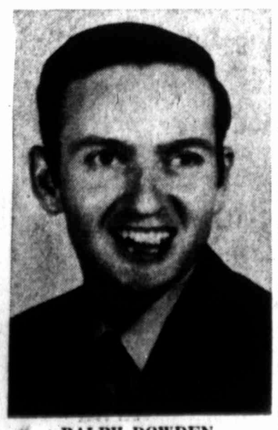

Are Russians Reviving Religion?

HONG KONG (AP) — One charge leveled by Red China against the Soviet Union in the flareup of antagonism between the two Communist countries, is that the Russians are promoting a revival of religion.

The purpose, says Peking Radio, "is to intoxicate the Soviet people, speed up all-around capitalist restoration and maintain the tottering rule of the revisionists."

First Methodist Names Music, Youth Director

Ralph Dowden is the new music director at First United Methodist Church, as well as the head of the Music Department at Howard County Junior College. Dowden and his wife, Betty, have two children, Kevin, age 6, and Jennifer Lynn, age 2.

RALPH DOWDEN

A native of Nederland, Tex., Dowden was educated at Stephen F. Austin State College in Nacogdoches, Tex., where he received his bachelor of music in 1966. He received his master of music, in voice, from North Texas State University in Denton, Tex., in 1969, where he is a candidate for a Ph.D. in music theory, with all work completed except for dissertation.

Dowden has served as music director for several churches in East Texas and North Texas, along with filling positions as tenor soloist in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, including most recently the tenor soloist position at Temple Emanu-El in Dallas. He comes to First United Methodist from Lover's Lane United Methodist in Dallas, where he was the director of the boy's choir (4th, 5th, and 6th grades).

Dowden and his wife often sing together for civic organizations, as well as in their church.

Lee Leads Gospel Troupe In Appearance Wednesday

John Lee, choral and instrumental conductor, will direct the Continental Singers and Orchestra in a sacred concert at First Baptist Church Aug. 26 at 8 p.m.

The Continental Singers are a touring group of 40 college-age musicians from all over the United States. There are 20 in the choral and 20 in the orchestral units of the troupe. Lee joined the Continental Singers in 1968.

In 1968, Lee and the rest of the group made an Oriental tour during the summer. The singers toured South America in 1969, and Lee served as assistant director.

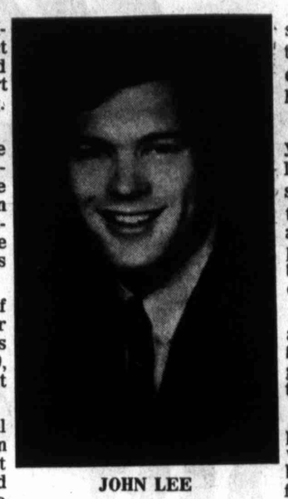

Lee received his formal training at Baylor University in Waco, and served as student director of the Chapel Choir and Religious Hour Choir. He also performed as a soloist at Baylor and on NBC-TV's presentation of "Tell It Like It Is."

Recently, Lee has served as music advisor for World Record Inc.

He is presently serving as conductor for the group as it performs a 75-day tour of the United States and Bermuda.

The Continental Singers have been featured in live concerts, television and radio. The group has grown from one group of 20 singers and 20 musicians to five such ensembles. They have performed in 40 countries and nearly all of the United States, crossing the continent 25 times.

In their foreign appearances, the Singers have appeared for missionaries, national leaders, and on military bases for the enlisted and wounded men. At each performance, the group tries to "shed a fresh and positive light on the life of Christ and the Life of the Christian."

JOHN LEE

The members of the Continental Singers are college musicians who have been selected from individual auditions that usually take place after each concert. Each new member is required to provide approximately one-half of the money necessary for a 10-week tour. Civic clubs and youth groups help by sponsoring one of the performers. The balance of the funds is raised through the summer appearances.

Before beginning the summer's tour, the group holds a week-long rehearsal on a Southern California campus. The Singers will stage a series of 75 concerts during the summer. On the average, a distance of 100-700 miles is covered each day in the group's Greyhound-type bus.

At each concert site, the young people set up complete lighting and sound systems, stage structures and an orchestra pit. After the stage is set, a rehearsal is held. Each performance is comprised of two hours of music and three costume changes.

All equipment must be disassembled and loaded into the bus after each concert, and the group is on the road bound for the next appearance.

To cut down on expenses, the practice of staying with families who are hosting the concert has been established. This has been found to be an "especially exciting and educational experience when traveling overseas. It also becomes an opportunity for some good American public relations work," according to members of the group.

The Continentals are an interdenominational group. Their presentation of gospel music is designed to appeal to any age group from any background.

The Continental Singers will appear throughout the United States this summer, as well as in Europe, Latin America, Canada, the Bahamas, Puerto Rico, Jamaica, Haiti, Barbados, Japan, Taiwan, Sweden, Germany, France, Spain, Italy, Holland, Hong Kong, Philippines, Thailand, India, Israel, Greece, Panama, Venezuela and Trinidad. America is represented in all of these countries by one of the five troupes of the Continental Singers.

The Continental Singers

Wednesday, Aug. 26, 7:45 P.M.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Hundreds of Big Spring people are still talking about the program of the Continental Singers and Orchestra here last summer.

Well, there's good news!

The Singers and Orchestra will be back again at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 26. The First Baptist Church has graciously made its auditorium available for the world-touring group.

Made up of 20 singers and 20 instrumentalists, most of whom are either young professionals or who are majoring in music, the group will be under the direction of John Lee, who has been with Continental Singers the past three seasons. Last summer he was assisstant director for the group touring South America, and this year he has headed singers and players touring the United States and Bermuda.

There is no admission for this marvelous evening of stirring anthems, hymns ,spirituals and folk adaptations. Please hear them.

JUDGE ORDERS RICHARDSON SCHOOLS

Desegregate In Four Days

DALLAS (AP) — The Richardson School District has been given until Monday at 4 p.m. to come up with a desegregation plan after its lawyers failed to agree on a settlement privately with federal government attorneys Thursday.

"There are no black schools and no white schools — just schools," said Dist. Judge William M. Taylor Jr.

School board president Stanley McCaleb has called the busing of pupils an "unworkable" plan, but if Richardson officials are to meet the court's deadline, they will almost certainly have to resort to busing.

SECOND OF SIX

Classes are scheduled to begin Tuesday at Richardson schools.

The Richardson decision was the second of six in North Texas. Justice Department attorneys agreed to the Ferris School District's desegregation plan at a meeting Wednesday at Judge Taylor's court.

Garland, Lubbock and San Angelo were scheduled for hearings today. Wichita Falls is slated for next Tuesday.

During Thursday's session, crowded with teachers, parents and Richardson school board members, Justice Department lawyer John Conroy called the present Richardson set-up a dual school system. He said "well over 900" of the 1,095 black pupils there came from the Hamilton Park area, where the local school was clearly a black facility serving black pupils.

BLACKS ATTENDING

Richardson School District lawyer Henry Akin Jr., argued that there were blacks attending the other Richardson schools—132 among 2,714 Anglos at Richardson High School and 101 among 1,796 whites at Lake Highlands Park.

The judge noted previous judgments which insisted "there must be a unitary system now."

Judge Taylor suggested, as he did in the Ferris schools situation, that the contending parties meet privately in the jury room to see whether they could not come up with a solution acceptable to both.

The court then recessed.

DUAL FACILITY

The judge issued his order that a desegregation plan must be drafted within four days after the closed-door conference broke down. He suggested Richardson school officials work with representatives of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to expedite a plan.

He stressed that the opening of classes Tuesday of next week should not be delayed.

The main point of argument centered on the Hamilton Park School which has an enrollment of 737 blacks; that is 73 per cent of all Negro pupils in the Richardson School District.

McCaleb claimed there was no workable solution to desegregating it. But Conroy countered, saying: "We contend that Hamilton Park was established as a dual facility and is still operating as a dual school facility for grades one through nine."

Richardson schools operate under a neighborhood school plan, said Akin, wherein pupils attend schools nearest their home.

He questioned whether the existence of an all-black school put the district in violation of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

"It is the contention of the Richardson School District that it does operate a unitary school district," he insisted.

Judge Taylor declined to accept Akin's argument and ruled that the black school must be ended.

NO TROUBLE?

Meanwhile, the lawyer for the Ferris School District, Warrick Jenkins of Waxahachie, said no trouble was expected putting into effect the agreement reached Wednesday with federal officials.

In that ruling, Taylor ordered the Ferris District to close its all-black Dunbar school and assign all pupils to the Ferris school, pending construction of a new unitary facility to be ready by the start of the 1971-72 school year.

The six North Texas school districts were ordered by the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans to hold preliminary conferences on desegregation before school starts and to postpone briefly the opening date of school if necessary to facilitate desegregation plans.

A total of 26 suits were filed by the Justice Department on behalf of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare on Aug. 7 against school districts whose form of integration did not meet HEW guidelines. Nine cases were filed in Tyler, seven at Austin and four at Houston.

SCATTERED DEBRIS — Wreckage of two houses is spread over a large area after a storm with winds up to 90 miles an hour swept through parts of Northern Ontario Thursday. By Thursday evening, police said there were six known dead in this general area, scores injured and hundreds left homeless. Damage to the city of Sudbury, Ont., has been estimated at $6 million.

'Big Thicket' Tourist Bait

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — The Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation and the Big Thicket offer vast opportunities for tourist industry development, according to Democratic U.S. Senate nominee Lloyd Bentsen.

Bentsen visited the Indian reservation near Livingston Thursday and then took a helicopter tour of the Big Thicket area in East Texas. Bentsen has endorsed previously Sen. Ralph Yarborough's bill to create a 100,000-acre Big Thicket National Park.

Said Bentsen: "The proposed Big Thicket National Park would give Texas another outstanding tourist attraction as well as preserve some important ecological features which are a treasured part of our heritage.

"The southern hardwood forests have all but disappeared," he said. "We have an unusual opportunity here to preserve an inspiring sample for the benefit of future genrations."

DEAR ABBY: Why do men and women at so many parties insist on segregating themselves?

My husband and I recently left such a party rather early because of sheer boredom. The women sat on one side of the room and talked about their children, clothes and other women. While the men sat on the other side rehashing every baseball, basketball and football game played during the last five years. They also complained about their jobs. These couples are college graduates in their mid thirties.

The men seem to resent any attempt to change the subject of their conversation, and the women couldn't care less about anything other than their homes and families.

The purpose of a party is to meet new people, discuss different ideas and viewpoints and to get away from the household routine and daily grind of the office.

There must be something a guest can do to break up the hen sessions and the locker room boys.

BORED IN ATLANTA

DEAR BORED: Not in that crowd. You and your husband should find other friends. There are plenty of young people in Atlanta who can offer more stimulating conversation than you describe. If you aren't involved in civic and political things you ought to be. That is where the action is. Dullards deserve each other.

STARS

DEAR ABBY: Last night my husband and I were dining out and we received the shock of our lives. The husband of one of my best friends was also dining out with another woman! I am sure it wasn't innocent. You can tell the way people act around each other.

Should I tell my friend about her husband's rendezvous? Or should I keep my mouth shut? I am hesitant because there are children involved, and I wouldn't want to be responsible for breaking up a home.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: In that case, the answer is obvious. Keep your mouth shut.

STARS

DEAR ABBY: I am 57 years old and a grandmother, and I've always acted my age and dressed my age. My daughter, who is 23 is after me to wear shorts, especially to picnics and outings where there are folks of all ages present. Abby, I am quite slim and I don't suppose I would look too bad in shorts, but I just don't think it's becoming for a woman my age to wear them. I feel much more comfortable in a dress or slacks.

Do you think I'm an old stick-in-the-mud, Abby? I want to please my daughter but I must please myself, too. What do you think? "GRANNY GOOSE"

DEAR GRANNY: If you feel uncomfortable in shorts, don't wear them. I'm sure your daughter means well, but don't let her talk you into anything. Especially shorts.

STARS

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

The bidding:

Opening lead: King of ♣

An interesting application of the uppercut provided West with the means to establish a second trump trick for himself and thereby assure the defeat of South's four spade contract.

West opened the king of clubs on which East followed with the eight. The encouraging signal was given because East did not wish to induce his partner to shift to another suit. West continued with the queen of clubs on which his partner played the ten. Since East had not high-lowed, it was clear that he held the missing club, so that a continuation did not appear inviting.

West had book in his own hand and he surveyed the dummy to see where an additional trick might be deve oped. It was obvious from South's opening bid that the declarer had virtually every missing high card—the ace of hearts and king of diamonds assured that he had no losers in the red suits. Unless East held some unexpected value in trump, the situation appeared hopeless.

Presently West saw a way to promote an additional trick provided his partner had some intermediate cards in spades. He continued with a third round of clubs, deliberately presenting South with a ruff and discard. Declarer trumped with North's four of spades and then led a spade from dummy.

East played the nine of spades, South put up the jack and West was in with the ace. Now came a fourth round of clubs. East made telling use of the ten of spades by ruffing in with that card. South overruffed with the queen and cashed the king, however by now West's eight of trumps was established as the setting trick.

Maj. Love New Chief Of Students

Maj. James A. Love, former flight commander in the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron, returned to Webb AFB from his temporary duty assignment to become the new chief of the student branch, replacing Maj. Paul P. Adams, who left Webb for an assignment in Thailand.

A member of the squadron since his assignment here in November, 1966, Maj. Love held a number of positions within the squadron prior to his last position. He started at Webb as a line instructor pilot and later served as administrative officer and a member of the check section.

Prior to coming to Webb, Maj. Love was stationed in Taiwan where he was with a Lockheed C-130 Hercules squadron's standardization evaluation team.

He entered the Air Force in January, 1955, with a Reserve Officer Training Corp commission which he earned while getting his bachelor of science degree in business at Louisiana Tech. He received his Air Force wings at Laughlin AFB.

A break in service between 1959-1963 saw Maj. Love working as an accountant for the Pan American Petroleum Corporation. During the four-year period, however, he flew with the reserves. He returned to active duty and was stationed at Dyess AFB, Tex.

The major and Mrs. Love and their two children, Joi Lynn and Leah Dawn, have been active in church affairs at Baptist Temple Church.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There are a considerable number of delays attending almost anything you try to put in motion today, so try to make good use of this day by a relaxed and casual attitude. Let conditions work themselves out and enjoy pleasures that do not require watching the clock. Keep cheerful.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You want to handle property or financial matter but find it hard because others are not willing to help you with your problems. Improve property yourself, then all is fine. Take it easy tonight.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) To get out of that rut, go out and do more interesting things, but do them, even if you get a late start. Take those treatments that increase vitality. Be clever with others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have so many uncompleted tasks to take care of so don't run off to have a good time with others just now. Help to alleviate the suffering of others. Be gentle and kind with them.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You want to go out socially but friends are busy so forget it and avoid arguments Go after personal aims with a strong will. Be persistent and you find you win out with others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have some matters to handle out-of-doors that are annoying, but do them so you have free time for more important things in the next few days. Show gratitude for the support of a higher-up. Be happy tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) This is a good time to study new interests but not to make any radical changes as yet. A letter you may receive could be very disturbing, but pay little attention to it. Be happy with loved one tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Although you feel like playing, there are responsibilities you must attend to. Show you are a responsible person. Show little kindnesses to mate. It will be appreciated.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you are forceful with an associate to get him to do what you desire, you will meet with sturdy stubbornness and nothing will be accomplished. Use a more tactful manner. Reconcile past differences.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Now is the time to get those tasks accomplished for which you have little time during the busy work week. Persevere. Do those things that please coworkers, also. Evening is fine for fun with friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Stop looking for others to accompany you. Instead find the right recreation outlets that suit your mood most right now. Don't take any unnecessary risks. Avoid getting into serious trouble.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Stop adding fuel to the argument brewing at home or it could result in trouble. Use a more conciliatory tone instead. Eliminate whatever has been causing the trouble. Be wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Trying to push success in some deals you are working on could only bring resentment with associates and get you into trouble. Be more efficient. Add comforts, inventions that are helpful.

CONCERNED ABOUT DRUG USE — Frank A. Bartimo, the Pentagon's assistant general counsel for manpower and reserve affairs, waits to testify as Vice Adm. William P. Mack leans forward to answer a question at a Senate judiciary subcommittee hearing in Washington.

Armed Forces Drugs Exaggeration Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pentagon official reports 58 narcotics raids during the first half of the year netted only 29 U.S. servicemen in Vietnamese bars, houses of prostitution and private homes where dangerous drugs were available.

That testimony Thursday by Frank A. Bartimo, the Pentagon's assistant general counsel for manpower and reserve affairs, prompted Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., to ask about other witnesses' reports that operators of such places were tipped in advance so Americans could flee.

'YOU SCARE ME'

Bartimo told Dodd's subcommittee he had "heard the same thing but I cannot indulge in rumors or guesses."

"You scare me," Dodd said. "I don't think you yet believe it is a serious problem."

"I repeat," Bartimo said, "I do believe it is a very serious problem" and such things are "undoubtedly true—but I'm giving you hard, responsible statistics."

Dodd, saying he wants to help the drug victims, contended "it has taken four years to get the Pentagon to recognize there is a problem."

While Dodd's subcommitete was completing its latest hearings, the alcoholism and narcotics subcommittee headed by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, was said to be considering a possible visit to Vietnam, perhaps only by staff aides, to investigate the situation on the spot.

NO EVIDENCE

Vice Adm. William P. Mack, head of a Pentagon task force panel: "I do not know of any case where the national security has been jeopardized by drug abuse."

He also said there is "no evidence of drug involvement" although he personally feels drugs played a part in the alleged My Lai massacre in Vietnam. He responded when questioned about a former Army squad leader's testimony earlier this year that some squad members smoked marijuana the night before the unit participated in action leading to the alleged massacre.

Mack also said that while there may be some instances where some platoon or squad members might endanger colleagues by using drugs, "we don't at this moment view that what we are trying to do in Vietnam is endangered."

HIGH FIGURES

Mack reported Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has approved the Pentagon task force's recommendations which include a trial program of amnesty for drug users who volunteer to try to rid themselves of the habit.

Bartimo insisted there has been an exaggeration of the size of the problem of illegal drug use by servicemen. Reliable surveys do not substantiate "the estimated 50 per cent, 75 per cent or 80 per cent use sometimes quoted in the media," he added, but put it at a "ballpark figure of 30 per cent" mostly involving marijuana.

Says Universities Victims Of Change

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' colleges and universities may have to be remodeled in order to find the cure to student restlessness, a conference of college administrators was told Thursday.

"The great problem of our universities is to find the way to recapture the elemental enthusiasm for knowledge," said Dr. M. Bruce Thomas, dean of Trinity University, San Antonio.

He spoke on "an atmosphere of learning" at a conference on "personalizing higher education in Texas," sponsored by the College Coordinating Board, the University of Texas' Hogg Foundation for Mental Health and the governor's office.

"Student restlessness—which Thomas called "a hard fact of academic life"—demands personalization.

"It is tragic that this deep satisfaction has so often erupted into senseless violence and destruction—tragic because dissatisfaction is the fuel on which the educational process runs.

"You can't educate a satisfied man.

"In order to channel the rebellious energy into the constructive processes of education, institutions may have to be reshaped and cherished ideas about education discarded.

"Time and time again when talking about creating an atmosphere in which learning can flourish, we come back to the word freedom. It is I believe the single most important condition for learning, and it must pervade every facet of university life," Thomas said.

"It is my contention that the maturing student must be allowed much more freedom to pursue interests he has already developed. . .like the student, the universities are in many ways the victims of rapid change."

Explosives Jar Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — An explosion was felt aboard escort vessels three minutes after a ship with 5,000 tons of bombs and ammunition was scuttled 118 miles off the Maryland coast, the Navy says.

There was no damage to the vessels, which were about five miles from the sinking Liberty ship Davis Hughes.

The ship went under at shortly after noon Thursday after taking water through open seacocks for five hours. No further details were announced.

The Hughes was similar to the ship used Tuesday to dump nerve gas and rockets off Florida. The sinking was the 20th of the Operation Chase program to dump obsolete munitions and warfare gases into the sea.

ACCUSES FELLOW SOLONS

Creating Courts In 'A Slaphappy Manner'

AUSTIN (AP) — The "hodgepodge" of Texas courts indicates "irresponsibiliby by the legislature," says Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi, chairman of a special committee studying the court system.

Hale said Thursday courts have been created in a "slaphappy manner."

His committee was scheduled to wind up a two-day hearing today, the last in a series of public meetings across the state.

Hale said he has tried to make the hearings "high-class bull sessions" with witnesses, mostly judges and lawyers, swapping ideas with the legislative group.

'BOLD STEPS'

The committee already has met in Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Lubbock, El Paso, Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston in preparing its report on possible changes in the court system for the 1971 Legislature.

Associate Justice Jack Pope of the Texas Supreme Court said Thursday lawmakers need to take "bold steps" to change the courts.

"When I look at the judicial system of Texas I cannot say I like it," Pope said.

He recommended that the 1971 Legislature completely rewrite the judicial section of the Texas Constitution.

Pope also proposed eliminating some types of courts—which he did not specify—and allowing judges to serve in different types of courts, without special appointment, to make better use of judicial manpower.

Hale asked Pope if he thought, for example, a district judge should be allowed to sit on the Supreme Court.

4-4 DEADLOCK

"I think so," Pope replied, mentioning that occasionally a justice disqualifies himself from a case, setting up the possibility of a 4-4 deadlock on the nine-member court.

Associate Justice Joe Greenhill of the Supreme Court presented the committee with proposed legislation increasing the penalties for contempt of court.

The maximum penalty now, Greenhill said, is three days in jail and-or a $100 fine. His proposal would raise that to 6 months and-or $500 for petty contempt and one year and-or $1,000 for serious contempt.

Contempt in a justice court or municipal court could be punished by a fine of $200, or confinement for 20 days in jail, or both.

Hale said, "It seems to me we ought to write some safeguards" into the proposal "to protect lawyers and citizens from judges who lack the degree of judicial restraint to be a judge."

Confirmed Diphtheria Cases Continue Climb

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Confirmed diphtheria cases in San Antonio had risen to 56 for the year today with two more children added to the list in a steadily growing epidemic.

Health officials also counted nine suspected cases of the disease, which has taken two children's lives this year.

An estimated 20,000 persons received diphtheria shots at immunization centers Thursday, officials said, raising the total of inoculations to about 80,000 since Aug. 10.

The mass immunization drive continued today with health workers aided as before by military medics and volunteer doctors and nurses.

Officials at the main center in the municipal auditorium said they were administering as many as 1,600 shots per hour at peak periods of the day.

The long lines of residents seeking shots were reported flowing more smoothly. One survey showed the waiting times varied from 10 minutes to half an hour.

Spokesmen for the health district warned those requiring a series of shots rather than boosters that they must return a month from now for their next inoculation against the throat infection.

Three shots are required for children under 5, two for older children and adults.

Dr. Sidney Brockman, a public health physician, said health district employes had been on the job 11 hours a day and were beginning to grow weary.

Dr. Jack B. Lee, president of the Bexar County Medical Society, said offices of most physicians in the county have been packed with people waiting for shots.

A poverty agency planned to start busing residents to immunization centers today. One bus shuttled back and forth Thursday between a clinic and one of the county's poorest Mexican-American communities 11 miles from here.

Discharged Teacher Sues Trustees At Crystal City

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP)—Four Mexican-Americans, who hold a majority over Anglos on the Crystal City school board, have been sued for $200,000 by a teacher whose contract was not renewed.

The suit is one of a series of developments in this Southwest Texas city, which was hit by a long Mexican-American school boycott last winter.

Representatives of three education groups came here last week to investigate the school board's suspension of John Briggs as superintendent.

Briggs took his post only last month. He succeeded John Billings, who resigned after the boycott.

It also was disclosed Thursday that Hal Stalling, school district business manager, has resigned, effective Sept. 15.

Mozelle Willmon has filed suit in federal court at Del Rio over the board's failure to renew her contract.

Among the four defendants is the school board president, Jose Angel Gutierrez, a founder and past president of the Mexican-American Youth Organization who set up a Mexican-American political party in this area.

Also named in the suit are trustees Eduardo Trevino, Arturo Gonzales and Mike Perez.

Gutierrez and two of the three other defendants won election to the school board last April, giving Mexican-Americans a 4-3 majority.

The four-man majority refused to renew Mrs. Willmon's contract in May, despite recommendations from her superiors. She unsuccessfully sought a public hearing.

School board minutes show that Gutierrez said he was against rehiring her for "personal reasons."

The Mexican-American majority suspended Briggs as superintendent Aug. 6.

Last week, Briggs said, representatives of the National Education Association in Washington, the Texas State Teachers Association and the Texas Classroom Teachers Association investigated his suspension.

The three groups agreed, he said, that the suspension had been handled in a "most improper manner and that a hearing should be held." Briggs already had demanded a public hearing.

Welfare Change In South Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — A new South Texas region of six counties will begin operation Sept. 1, the state Department of Public Welfare announced Thursday.

Headquarters of the new region will be in Laredo.

M.J. Raymond Jr., now program director of the Edinburg region, was named regional administrator for all department programs in Webb, Duvall, Jim Wells, Jim Hogg, Zavala and Starr counties. All formerly were in the Edinburg region.

The Edinburg region will continue to service Cameron, Willacy, and Hidalgo counties.

PRAYER: O Father, I get into such distressing mental moods. Help me to catch the spirit of courage and optimism from persons who really have cause to see only the worst but who live victoriously.

Man And His Environment

The durability of our ecology is coming hard up against the determination of some to challenge that durability. The results are confusing because we know so little — positively — except that it is increasingly wise to insist upon more testing, more data, more experience before we do very many more dramatic things to nature's resources.

That fact was emphasized in conflicting views on how much spilled oil the oceans can absorb. A group of scientists preparing for an international conference on world pollution problems said the oceans can absorb all the spills now being made. Expert oceanographers — and there aren't many of them — at Woods Hole, Mass., says an oil spill off the New England coast is growing as a threat, not being absorbed.

The threat, they say, is in the food chain — marine life to humans. The unknown factor among several — is what happens when a pollutant affects any part of the food chain. Humans are remarkably adept. They build immunities. They are also quite clever at finding new ways to kill themselves — from gorging with the safest of foods to hanging on the edge of life with near-lethal doses of drugs. But those are options taken individually.

We suppose a certain amount of doomsday talk is necessary to get action on the very obvious problems of dirty water and air. We know the beaches would be ruined if there weren't public opposition. It's doubtful that any money spent on cleaning up the environment is wasted, really. But that job is so monumental that it is necessary to act on the best hard data that can be found.

Place Your Bet With Uncle Sam

To have a job like being president of the National Crime and Delinquency, a fellow named Carl M. Loeb Jr. has gone pretty far afield.

He stood right up before a congressional committee and made a proposal that the government ought to legalize, computerize and operate all gambling in America.

He didn't say whether it ought to be operated by a cabinet-level executive. He didn't even suggest he would know how to make the system work, in case anybody wanted him to take over the supervision. He merely offered the opinion that by taking gambling away from the crooks it would make everything all right, and the government would get all that sucker money now going to the mob.

He neglected to mention that some states can't even do very well with a race lottery, not to mention handling other forms of gambling, including the friendly Friday Night Straight Flush Club.

He wasn't called upon for views on other aspects of the congressional hearing on crime problems: loan sharking, drug traffic, prostitution and infiltration of gangsters into business and labor organizations. We submit that Mr. Loeb think a little more in depth, if he's going to turn over all these operations to the government.

Improper U.N. Sanctions

WASHINGTON — Fifty-two members of the U.S. House of Representatives took an unprecedented step the other day when they wrote a letter to the new British prime minister, Edward Heath, urging his government to relax economic sanctions against Rhodesia.

The United States has followed the same policy as Great Britain — imposed by the United Nations — against trading with Rhodesia because of disapproval of the political treatment of its black population. But the members of the House, led by Representative Odin Langen of Minnesota, Republican, pointed out that the recent victory of the British conservative party, which campaigned on a platform of conciliation with Southern Africa, should make possible now a British move to get a relaxation by the United Nations of the economic boycott against Rhodesia.

THE CONGRESSMEN, in the letter to Prime Minister Heath, wrote:

"Our official and national policy has hitherto been one of support for the United Kingdom in her efforts to effect a reconciliation without bloodshed with her runaway colony. However, after five years of inconclusive efforts, the government of Rhodesia has finally severed all connections with the mother country. The imposition of strict economic sanctions against Rhodesia, by vote of the Security council of the United Nations, has resulted neither in the economic collapse or breakdown of that country's financial structure, nor has it forced her leaders to come to terms with the British government at the bargaining table."

THE LETTER also directed attention to the fact that Great Britain and other countries have lost a valuable and growing central African market, and that the boycott has been depriving the United States and the free world of the principal source of strategic chromium ore. The blockade against oil imports by Rhodesia has been costly to the British and unsuccessful, as Rhodesian needs have been supplied by South Africa and Portugal.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that the State Department here has shown a strong interest in the communication sent by the members of the House to the prime minister of Great Britain. Many of the representatives are confident that the State Department will assist them in their efforts to persuade London to make a joint effort with Washington to bring about an abandonment of the economic sanctions by the Security Council of the U.N.

IRRESPECTIVE of the merits of the controversy over Rhodesia, the problem of who shall vote and what form of government shall be established within a country is a matter entirely to be determined by the people themselves. If the same principle were applied in all cases — as, for instance, in regard to eastern European governments — the U.N. Security Council could be asked to impose sanctions on the dictatorship countries which now tell the small nations what kind of governments they may have.

THE MOSCOW REGIME, however, holds a veto in the Security Council and could prevent any such step from being taken. So it turns out that the weaker nations in the world can be interfered with, while the major powers can continue to meddle in the internal affairs of the other countries and impose sanctions of their own without any punitive action by the United Nations.

Billy Graham

Before I found the Lord and became a Christian I had been married and divorced three times. After all these failures how can I make my life count? B.K.

After so many failures, perhaps you are fitted to live a very useful life. Having faced so many problems, you are certainly in a position to, at least, advise many people what not to do. Having had a lot of trouble yourself, you will have sympathy and understanding for those who face similar problems. The Lord has a way of even using our failures as stepping stones to success, and if you put yourself unreservedly in His hands, you will enter the greatest period of usefulness of your life.

When you think of it, most of the people whom Jesus called when upon earth were human failures. Peter denied His Lord, and lied when asked about his discipleship. Paul had an infirmity that crippled and hindered him. James and John, smitten with pride wanted to be first on the list of disciples. But despite these impairments, Christ wiped the slate of their past clean and used them mightily. He can do the same for you.

What Others Say

When Secretary of State William H. Seward paid the Russians $7,200,000 for Alaska in 1867, many Americans complained that he had been cheated on his "icebox." The Senate has now, 103 years later, just voted to pay some 140 times this amount, or $1 billion, to the state's 55,000 natives to settle old claims. On top of this, 10 million acres of land are also being turned over to them.

This step is a welcome move in meeting at least one of the deep moral obligations which America as a whole owes the native peoples who were first on its shores.

Alaska remains largely virgin territory. Its native population is small. It yet has few of the past and present problems afflicting the rest of the country. It can and must become a showcase of both ecological care and justice for the native peoples.

Value Of World's Monies Diluted

NEW YORK (AP) — As usual, Dr. Franz Pick is angry, even though he has removed himself from the scene of battle for a few days to vacation on the southern shore of Long Island.

Even at rest, the 72-year-old "conscience of currency" cannot forget that the value of almost all the world's monies are being diluted. And he won't forgive the sinful governments, the United States included, which permit values to deteriorate.

Pick doesn't believe that currencies simply erode; that's too passive, and it suggests a trend over which humans have no control. Not so, Pick maintains.

"Governments are responsible for their monetary destiny," he states unequivocably. And when they permit inflation, they are "debasers" of currency—and much more than that if you wish to hear Pick to the end.

To hear Pick use the word "debased" in a Bohemian accent, enriched by years of education in Germany and France, is to know he is emotionally involved in his subject, and that if he had the power, debasers would be sentenced to hell.

Nevertheless, he must deal with debasers. The 103 currencies he monitors as consultant to foreign central banks and United States and foreign companies are continually being debased. He is particularly upset about the dollar, and he has railed against U.S. policies. As a result, says his assistant, "The Treasury wouldn't give him the time of day."

A sample of his distress is contained in a recent copy of Pick's World Currency Report, called "The Constant Dollar," an ironic title because the contents are devoted to showing the fickleness of American money.

Government reports on purchasing power, he points out, are based on 1958 equalling 100. The year is arbitrary; you could choose any year for the base, call it 100, and measure purchasing power from that date.

That's what upsets Pick. Why 1958, he asks? Why not 1940, which he claims was the end of stability and the beginning of a long, sometimes interrupted, inflationary spiral.

Based on 1958, the dollar was worth 73.6 cents in July. But, based on 1940, the dollar was worth only 35.9 cents. In other words, the choosing of 1958 disguises about half the purchasing power lost since 1940.

The International Monetary Fund also is criticized. That organization, he argues, "threw an even wider veil of oblivion over monetary expropriations by deciding that 1963 should be the basic year for measuring worldwide increases in the cost of living for more than a hundred countries."

Under the IMF method of computing, the dollar is worth 78.3 cents. "Despite the impact of these Washington-influenced techniques," wrote Pick, "the author will not hesitate to disregard them." The "logical" value of the dollar, he maintains, is less than one-half that and is heading toward 34 cents by the end of the year.

'Hams' Way To The Top

NEW YORK (AP — Any woman in the world would be happy to buy pork chops from a butcher as handsome as Alain Delon—no matter how heavy a thumb he put on the scales.

But the actor, who once whacked up hams in his stepfather's pork shop in a Paris suburb, is now cutting a wider swath as an international matinee idol.

At 34, tall, dark, blue-eyed and handsome, Delon is strikingly reminiscent of the late Tyrone Power. In the latest of his 30 or more films, "Borsalino," which he also produced, he is co-starred with Jean-Paul Belmondo. They play a couple of small-time rogues who wind up dominating the Marseilles underworld.

Vanity is about the only buffer an actor has between himself and the rude shocks of this world, and many a one believes his career to be the most important thing in the universe.

Alain regards his craft with a more Gallic practicality.

"A statesman, a scientist or a writer can put his stamp upon his time," he said, "but not an actor. There is a difference between creativity and interpretation.

"I don't have the vanity to want to be eternal. A famous painter might paint your portrait, and it might be eternal—but you wouldn't be eternal.

"It is only the creation that is eternal. It remains. The individual is dead."

Alain put down his butcher knife at 17 and spent four years in the French marines. He worked briefly as a porter before journeying with a group of actor friends to the film festival at Cannes, where he caught the eyes of producers.

His youthful experiences left Delon with some intense and positive views about living.

"Life is a constant fight, but beautiful," he said. "You fight every day for what you believe, but it is worth it. It is all too short anyway. It is a race run so fast it is a shame.

"I want to live for myself and the few people I love. I want to do only the things I believe in deeply, so that I can look in the mirror at my face and not be ashamed."

Divorced more than two years ago from his actress wife, Nathalie Delon, Alain is devoted to his 6-year-old son Anthony.

"I worry only about him and no one else," he said. "All my life is him. He is the continuation of myself.

"I am almost of the past. He is the future.

"He is so sensitive, so touching—and so sensible. I'd like him to be a surgeon."

Discussing his own personality, Alain said he felt his best quality was "a sense of friendship," and his worst fault lack of self-control.

"I lose my temper over things, big or little, when people are weak or mean. There is too much hypocrisy in life."

Wants Powers Better Defined

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, chairman of the House foreign affairs subcommittee, has forecast new legislation defining the war powers of the president and Congress.

Zablocki said he felt this type of legislation would be more important than present efforts in the Senate to limit the president's powers through an amendment to the foreign military sales bill.

To Your Good Health

One Cause Of Lack Of Fertility

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been troubled by irregularity of menstrual cycle and inability to have children. Six months ago my doctor told me I have Stein-Levinthal Syndrome.

He says the condition can be corrected by surgery and that if I have the operation I will be able to have children. Will I be able to, and will I have regular periods?

I am 26 and have one adopted child, and am trying to decide whether to try the operation or to adopt another baby.

Would you describe the condition in layman's terms?

Mrs. G.E.J.

As I've remarked before, there is no single cause of infertility. Stein-Levintahl Syndrome is one. It is an endocrine (glandular) disorder involving menstrual irregularity, excessive hair growth, infertility, and cysts of the ovaries.

The operation used for this condition is called a wedge resection, meaning removal of a wedge of ovarian tissue. This often corrects the problem — resumption of ovulation, normal menstrual periods, lessening of hair growth, and a return of fertility.

I say it "often corrects" these difficulties — there is no guarantee that it will. In some cases the use of steroids (cortisone-type hormones) is also necessary.

Keeping in mind that success is likely, although not guaranteed, I would say that chances are good — chances of becoming fertile and of overcoming the other problems. Even though, in some cases, the wedge resection does not succeed, the number of cases in which it does succeed would seem to me to make it well worth the effort, rather than giving up without a try.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do you have a booklet on menopause which is designed for husbands to read so they can better understand the problems that this plase of the life cycle poses for our wives? C.P.

Not exactly — but in my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," I make the comment that "an understanding husband is a blessing" for a women experiencing menopause. I'd suggest that you read the booklet, because it contains the same information that I'd offer if I wrote one just for husbands. If you'd like a copy, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Thosteson, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim

I Wish I Could Remember That

I'm just like that wunnerful writer Jim Bishop, it's impossible for me to remember a joke longer than five minutes. I'm easily convulsed by a funny story and by the time I mumble: "That's one I must remember" I have forgotten it. There's a block in my block.

I THOUGHT Rowan and Martin's line: "I had a date with a frigid girl last night. Every time she opened her mouth a light went on," was funny. Three jokes later — nothing!!!

I have written "cue lines" to jokes on a pad, and then lost the pad.

Sometimes a gag will remind me of two or three others in a similar category. Someone on TV said she had bought a parakeet. "Does it talk?" she was asked. "Sure it does," came the response. "Well," her friend said peevishly, "what does it say?" The woman shrugged: "Who can understand parakeet?"

I THINK Mark Wachs, who wrote a book about funny stories, told a better one when he painted a word portrait of a bunch of geese flying south for the winter, and one far back, said: "why do we always follow that idiot leader?" and the other goose, flapping silently, said: "He's got the map."

Or the one about the jerk who asked for a parrot and got an owl. In a month, he met the shrewd owner of the pet shop. "How's that bird I sold you?" he was asked. "Is he talking much?" "Nope," said bright eyes, "but he sure is doing a lot of thinking."

"SAY, DOC," said a phone caller at 2 a.m. "What am I gonna do for a broken leg?" "Limp!" roared the doctor, and hung up.

Then there's the double reverse gag. Man walks into bar holding a duck. Bartender says: "Buddy, watchew doon with that pig?" "This ain't no pig," said the customer. "It's a duck." "I wasn't talking to you," the bartender said. "I was talking to the duck."

On second thought, I like limping jokes.

Saleslady to customer: "What's your pleasure, sir?" "Truthfully," the man said, "making love, but I came in to buy a hat."

The fat man in a haberdashery who moaned: "The only ready-made thing I can use is a handkerchief."

WACHS, who not only writes funny stories, but is also a public relations expert, said of marriage: "No wife ever gets what she expects, and no husband ever expects what he gets."

The secretary quit; caught the boss kissing his wife. The car salesman who asked: "What do you want most out of a car?" and the customer said: "My son." It's easier to raise boys than girls — you don't feel so bad when you belt them.

Father to little boy: "Son, you may have noticed that mother is getting heavier." "Yep," the kid said. "Well," dad said, "that means that the stork is going to fly over our house." "Holy smoke," the little kid said, "I hope he doesn't scare momma. She's pregnant."

THERE are a thousand salesmen jokes, but I like the observation that a good salesman is a man who sells merchandise that doesn't come back to customers who do. Or, an art dealer is a man who sells paintings he hates to customers who don't understand them for three times what they're worth.

I was always a sucker for the oldie about the rich Texan who was buried in the Cadillac with the air conditioning and hi-fi set on.

"Man," said a grave digger, "that's livin'."

The sillies too: What did the man say to the wall? One more crack and I'll plaster you.

Nixon Neglecting Domestic Issues

WASHINGTON — The Nixon victory in putting over the new phase of the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile may prove in the long run more costly than a defeat. A victory for more billions for arms is in dramatic contrast with the President's veto of money bills for education and housing.

If wringing out the Federal budget could have any effect on the spiral of rising prices it would be another matter. But there is little reason to believe that the size of the Federal deficit for the current fiscal year is in any sense a controlling factor in the fight on inflation. Too many other elements are involved and above all one critical decision of a thrust so far-reaching as can hardly be exaggerated.

THE PRESIDENT let it be known that he will ask for no new taxes in the foreseeable future. Taxes are a sure way to dry up excessive spending and thereby contribute to bringing down prices. In another context, however, the tax decision is of even greater import. Without a substantial increase in Federal revenue no real attack on the ills that plague the nation — pollution of air and water, the fantastic rise in crimes of violence, the lag in education — is possible.

This reporter travelling in the Midwest and the West for two weeks returns convinced that only through massive Federal help and stern leadership by the President, calling for sacrifice in meeting the bill for long-neglected needs, is their hope for salvation.

CRIME AND the invocation to law and order offer a striking example of the contrast between good intentions with whatever flourish of rhetoric and the grim realities. Chief Justice Warren Burger speaking to the American Bar Association in St. Louis made for the second time an earnest plea for new correctional institutions. With few exceptions today's dangerously overcrowded prisons are schools for every form of vice and crime.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE was appealing to states and municipalities to provide the funds for new prisons and reform schools. In locality after locality, however, bond issues to provide such institutions have been voted down. With the hodgepodge of state and local taxes prevailing almost everywhere and with rising levies on property to pay school costs, the taxpayer is in no mood to add new burdens at the city and state level.

CALIFORNIA not long ago rejected a $246 million bond issue for three new medical schools and the complex of hospitals and clinics that go with them. With retirement for age the numbers of doctors in the state is steadily declining, as the population rapidly increases and medical costs shoot skyward. Medical care for those who have been barely able to pay their own way and for the poor is steadily deteriorating.

THE LESSON in every field is plain. As critics have pointed out, what the Nixon Administration proposes for the fight on pollution is pitifully inadequate. With the rhetoric of the Nixon message on ecology envisioning a disaster if swift action is not taken, the deed falls far short of the words.

The signs, tentative though they still are, indicate an upturn in the economy ending the year's downward slide. But at least it can be only a partial recovery with unemployment at 4½ or 5 per cent. One-fourth of the nation will remain at the poverty level with all that this means in human loss and human degradation.

The Nobility Of An Honest Job

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the subject will be contemptuously marked trivial in this capital of the cosmic, but for that very reason a personal note seems mandatory as a salaam to Wilfred Dennison of Oxon Hill, Md., one of the last of a splendid breed.

WILL DENNISON is a small building contractor. He toils in a business that does not enjoy universal affection among householders, especially in this unhappy-go-lucky age.

Thus, when the conversion of an unused porch into a room to accommodate the roughhousing of two boys became imperative, I faced the ordeal with craven foreboding. Nothing good could come of the project, and the cost would strain the pocketbook of a Kennedy.

BUT THERE was nothing else for it. The job had to be done to reduce the rate of attrition on the rest of the house. Gloomily, the contract was awarded to Will Dennison of Oxon Hill. And, almost at once, something wonderful started to happen.

I had received cynically Will's pledge that the work would start on a certain date. To my astonishment, he and his helper, Bill Ashby, arrived on the appointed day — not to sit around over cups of coffee and think about the project, but to have at it.

DOWN CAME the porch screens, to be piled neatly in the driveway. Within a few days, the porch had been extended and the studding put in place. The Dennison-Ashby team not only seemed to know what they were doing, they eschewed drawing me into any discussion of the procedure.

More, they proved themselves veritable Renaissance Men of the building trade. When the roofer failed to appear, they did the shingling and guttering. They painted. The carpeting man declared coldly he could not cover the floor until fall; Dennison and Ashby put it down. They brought in two of the best bricklayers in the Western Hemisphere, youthful Bob Sealock and Ernie Miller, also of Oxon Hill, whose contribution was a work of art.

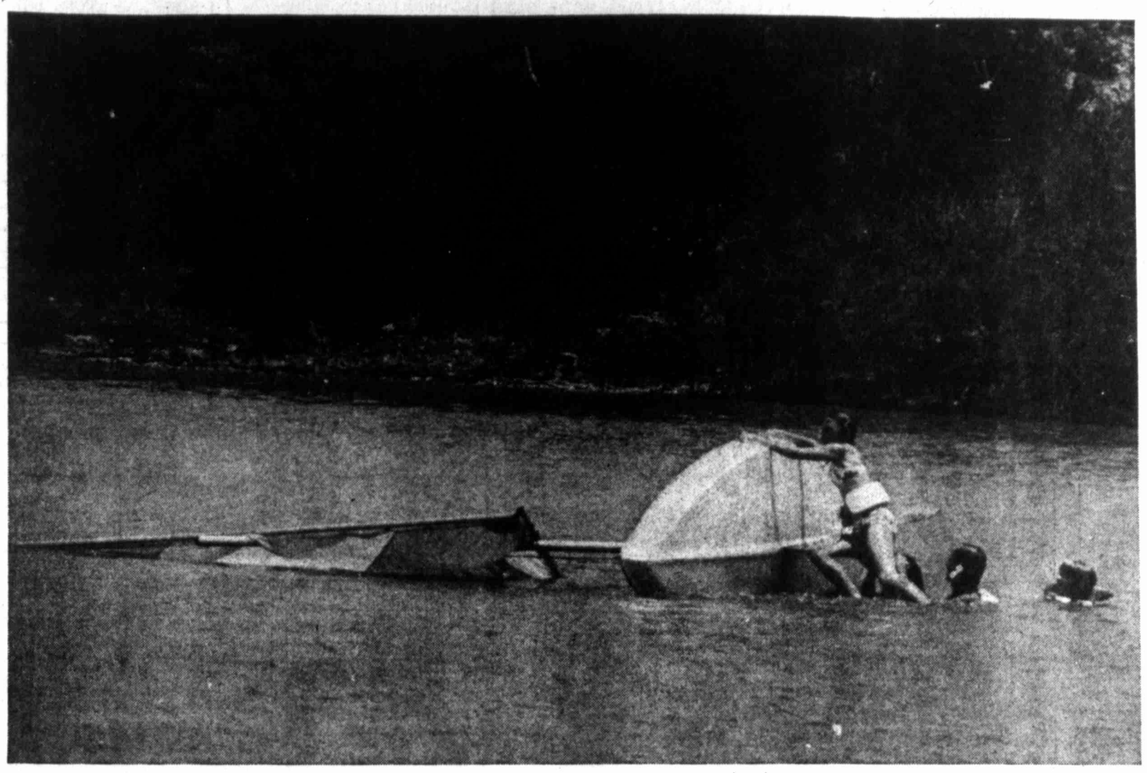

BUT, TARRY. Besides all these wondrous things, Dennison and Ashby performed every little "while-you're-here" odd job the mistress of the manse could conceive. They fixed a closet door in a bedroom, a battered screen door, the master's desk. They altered a bookcase and moved it into the addition. They even bolted into place a new basketball basket.

"I can't charge you for this stuff," said Dennison. "I'm not in that business."

FINALLY, incredibly, they finished the job on time — indeed, a few hours ahead of the deadline. And before they left they cleared up and raked up and swept up every last sawdust-grain trace of their stay.

Will Dennison and Bill Ashby and Bob Sealock and Ernie Miller will never make it in this world we've made. They're too square. But they can knock on this door, any time.

Summer Ends- But Wasn't That Fun?

By GORDON ZEIGLER

A youngster begins his summer vacation like a house on fire. There are things to do, places to go. Ideas have been creeping into mind ever in that twinge of spring fever those last few hot weeks of school. If only summer would come. There are so many things to do.

Kids too young to be on the job did as youngsters have for eons and eons — invent their own fun.

The neighborhood gang forms up for the long haul. Little girls and boys, begin plying their minds to come up with time worn projects — building a clubhouse, digging a cave in the back yard (sorry about that, Mom and Dad), or opening the neighborhood cool aid stand to name a few. Baseball, football, basketball, they were not all in season, but rotation breaks monotony. Games of all types appear around the neighborhood.

Just plain playing, that's the life of youngsters.

For the older youths there were other diversions.

YMCA programs took up the morning time for many kids. The swimming pool was a great hangout. It was good for staying out all day, swishing around in water until tired as a worn out dishrag and sometimes staying too long made for a tingling burn.

Girls activities centered around Rainbow, Girl Scouts, or other organizations. Several Big Spring Rainbows attended the state Grand Assembly. Some Girl Scouts attended camp. Two girls attended Bluebonnet Girls state in Austin, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Boy Scouts kept many young men busy. Several attended this area's Council camp in the Davis Mountains near Marfa. Two Big Spring youths were counselors there for the summer. Several youths went to American Legion Boys State, one went on to Boys Nation.

Meetings, trips with family or friends highlighted the weeks of summer, brightening up those slow moments, making for something to look forward to.

Those lucky enough to gain summer employment added to their savings or earned enough money to meet other wants or needs.

Volunteer service to hospitals, charity organizations, vacation bible schools, Girl Scouts, added to the fun.

The older youths enjoyed dances, private parties, a fishing trip, skiing at a nearby lake.

Family vacations highlighted the summer for many, making it a togetherness affair for Mom, Dad, Brother and Sister.

But summer wasn't all fun. That is when youths were most suscaptible to taking care of chores around the house. But that was fun too, when the chore was finished, that is.

Riding clubs and play days gave girls and boys alike a chance to compete with others and their horsemanship interests took up much summer time.

The Junior Rodeo figured for many to be a highlight. Big Spring's annual celebrations — Cowboy Reunion Rodeo, Fourth of July Let Freedom Ring, Old Settler's Reunion, and the Starlight Specials may have figured for many as things to see and do in the hometown.

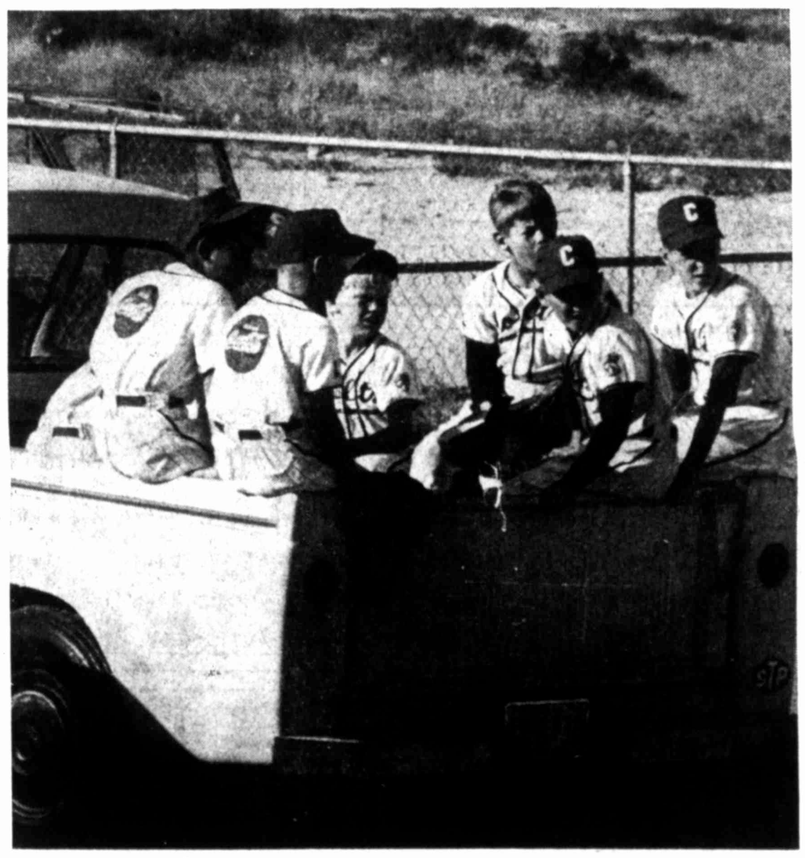

Free time was good if you found something to do you liked to do. It was boring at times, unless impatience was remedied by developing an affinity for good old laziness. Reading or TV helped. Even some constructive projects were completed.

The character of summer continued to change through June and July. What began as an opportunity to top all opportunities turned into dragginess.

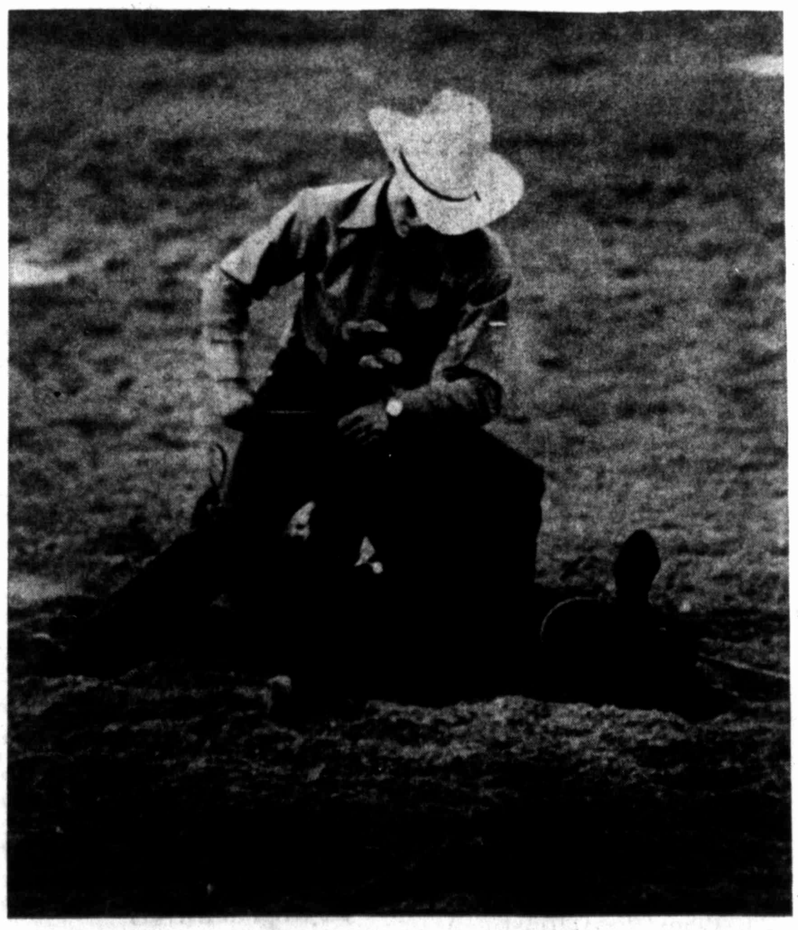

Then it dawns on you that school starts only three weeks from now. What happened? There is too much to do and not enough time to do it. Activities are reaching a frenzied pace. But, no doubt on the first day of class youths will be wondering, "Why did summer go by so fast, I could have done so much more."

Just as always, summers seem like they will never end, then end too soon.

DEBBIE PRIMPS AFTER SWIM WIN — Debbie Meyer of Sacramento, Calif., tries to fix her hair while catching her breath after leading qualifiers in the 400-meter free-style during the National AAU swimming championships in Los Angeles Thursday. Debbie, holder of three world records, went on to win the finals in 4:24.34, breaking her own world mark of 4:24.50 which she set here during the 1968 Olympic trials.

MASS EXAMS A SUCCESS

The Howard County Medical Society tried something new in offering physical examinations to area footballers this year and Dr. Pete Rhymes, team doctor for the Big Spring Steers, pronounced the operation an unqualified success.

Upwards to 600 boys from six area schools underwent the physicals in the local high school gymnasium. The exercise embraced two sessions and consumed about six hours.

Doctors and aides from the VA Hospital, Webb AFB, Big Spring State Hospital, Dr. John Fish and ten physicians from Malone and Hogan Clinic shared the chores.

Athletes from Garden City, Forsan, Sands (Ackerly), Stanton, Coahoma and Big Spring underwent the examinations.

Dr. Rhymes said this would be the procedure for such examinations in future years, not only for football but other sports.

Sikes' Putter Gives Him Two-Stroke Edge

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Raindrops kept falling and so did the putts, sending veteran Dan Sikes into a two-stroke lead in the opening round of the $160,000 Avco Golf Classic.

"It's probably the best putting round I've had in my life," the 39-year-old non-practicing attorney who retains membership in the Florida Bar Association said Thursday.

"I've been playing golf for 20 years and this must be the best putting I've ever done," Sikes said after mastering mammoth greens for a six-under-par 66 at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

A RECEIVER FOR A FLANKER — All-Pro wide receiver Roy Jefferson, left, Thursday was traded by the Pittsburgh Steelers to the Baltimore Colts for flanker Willie Richardson and a high 1971 draft choice. Jefferson, 26, holds the Steelers' record of 67 receptions in a single season, set in 1969. In seven years for Baltimore, Richardson caught 178 passes for 2,674 yards.

EARLY STARTER

Carrying an umbrella, Sikes was an early starter in the bulky field of 153. He got off to a watery start, taking three putts for a bogey four on the first green.

However, the drawling veteran from Florida quickly adjusted to the sprinkles, reacting like a duck. He registered four consecutive birdies starting with the second hole, and finished with a total of eight birds despite three three-putt greens on the 7,212-yard course.

"I had a couple of other chances for birdies with reasonable putts, but I guess I had collected my share," Sikes said.

"This is a nice start, but the important thing is the finish. I usually get tangled up somewhere along the line in 72-hole tournaments such as this. The older you get, the more you run out of gas."

Sikes, winless in two years on the PGA tour, came within one stroke of Pleasant Valley's competitive course record. He stamped himself as a top threat for the $32,000 first prize.

However, he had plenty of contenders waiting for him to falter in the second round today. Just two strokes back were Billy Casper, Bobby Mitchell, John Schlee and local product Joe Carr. The four just missed in bids to overtake Sikes in the first round, each settling for 68.

BUNCHED AT 69

Defending champion Tom Shaw, Dave Eichelberger, Don Bies, Tom Aycock, Jim Colbert and R. H. Sikes were bunched at 69. Then, another stroke back with 70, were U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf, Bob Goalby, Herb Hooper, Lou Graham, Lionel Hebert, and Lloyd Monroe.

Gary Player and Dave Stockton, the newly-crowned PGA champion, were tied with a flock of entries with 72s.

After three-putting from 20 feet on the first hole, Dan Sikes earned his birdies with putts of 15, 10, 12, 8, 12, 25, and 30, and 10 feet.

"The second hole was the key," Sikes said. "Everything seemed to go right for me after I holed that 15-footer downhill."

Pitchers Take Lead At Bat To Post Wins

By The Associated Press

Mel Stottlemyre and Ron Reed switched their talents to slugging, and the right-handed pitchers came out with a pair of victories—and a draw.

Stottlemyre took his frustrations out against Minnesota, ripping a two-run, seventh-inning triple that enabled the New York Yankees to nip the Twins, West Division leaders of the American League, 4-3 Thursday night.

Reed, Atlanta's tall curveballer, drilled a run-scoring single in the middle of a three-run second inning as the Braves trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 6-2 in the only other major league game.

Reed also came out with a no-decision in an exchange of blows with teammate Rico Carty prior to Wednesday night's game, the Atlanta Journal reported.

The incident between Carty, the major league's leading hitter with a .357 average and Reed, now 6-5 after missing half of the season with a separated shoulder, occurred in the Braves' dressing room and involved the removal of Little League bats by Carty from Reed's locker.

Club officials confirmed the incident but said: "It was just a case of a couple of guys getting a little mad. It happens with all clubs sooner or later." Carty previously had been involved in a fight with Hank Aaron aboard a plane in 1967.

Leo Cardenas drove in a pair of Minnesota runs with a homer and sacrifice fly and George Mitterwald socked a homer for the Twins, now five games in front of California.

Kapp Threatening To Sue Minnesota

By The Associated Press

Joe Kapp and the Minnesota Vikings are still $1 million apart and money alone can't bridge the gap between Jim Nance and the Boston Patriots.

In contrast, all that stands between Roger Brown and the Los Angeles Rams is a 29-pound weight lag. But it appears that Brown's gain will be the Fearsome Foursome's loss.

While a lawyer for quarterback Kapp threatened the Vikings with a multimillion dollar court suit and the Patriots reached an impasse in contract talks with fullback Nance Thursday, the Rams quietly "retired" defensive tackle Brown, a 10-year National Football League standout, because of his 329-pound impost.

COULD BE GOOD

"Roger had three fine years for the Rams and I'm sorry to see him go," said Coach George Allen. "He has at least three more good years . . . if he takes care of himself."

Big Roger reported to the Rams' training camp at a not-so-svelte 334 pounds—about 34 over his playing weight—and was barred from practice pending a drastic reduction. But, despite rigorous efforts, he managed to shed just five pounds before the club lost patience.

The former All-Pro performer, acquired by Los Angeles in a 1967 trade with the Detroit Lions, was placed on the reserve list.

Attorney John Cook, representing Kapp, the NFL's No. 1 holdout, charged that the free agent quarterback's negotiating efforts were being sabotaged by "gentlemen's agreements" among the club owners.

"If Joe is unable to play football because of those tactics," Cook told the San Antonio News, "they (the owners) will be confronted with a multimillion dollar anti-trust and fraudulent connivance suit."

Nance, who, like Kapp, played out his option last year, had been bargaining through representatives with the Patriots for several months. But the club said Thursday that the negotiations had been broken off.

"While the financial terms were satisfactory for both parties, and have been for several weeks," Pats President William H. Sullivan Jr. said, "there were certain conditions desired by Nance and his advisors that the Patriots felt they could not grant without giving up some of the prerogatives of management."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The University of Florida's John Reaves, who had the most completions and the most passing yardage among college passers last season, downgrades the talents of Oklahoma's Jack Mildren, who played his high school ball at Abilene Cooper.

Says Reaves of Mildren:

"All he did last year was hand off to Steve Owens."

Reaves was miffed because one publication listed Mildren among the nation's top returning 15 quarterbacks but omitted him.

Mildren, of course, was much more than Owens' valet in 1969. Voted the Big Eight sophomore offensive player of the year, Super Jack completed 79 of 192 passes for 1,319 yards and eight touchdowns. He rushed for another 345 yards and seven TDs. That's 1,664 yards worth of total offense.

Mildren, as 5-AAAA buffs well know, can do it all. He'll break for the long run, throw when the opposition is set up for the rush and scramble not unlike Fran Tarkenton. Oklahoma will go with a new protype offense with veer-T options this fall and Jack's game is tailormade for it.

Mildren, incidentally, was awarded the Jan Myers trophy for the best student-athlete at OU last year. He logged a 3.67 average on a 4.0 system as a freshman.

Mildren, whose brother Richard will join him at OU this fall, broke for a 78-yard touchdown run in the Sooners' 37-8 win over Pitt last year. Against Nebraska, he completed 15 passes, a school record.

Jack's pitching arm was suspect prior to last season but his first varsity aerial was completed for 68 yards and a TD (against Wisconsin). It sailed 40 yards through the air and the receiver, Joe Killingsworth, didn't even break stride when he caught it.

Reaves, let it be said, had high praise for SMU's Chuck Hixson, although his laudatory remarks of the Mustangs may have been a way of complimenting his own skills.

Said Reaves of Hixson:

"He's real good. He led the nation in passing the year before I did."

The Florida ace snorted when he saw the names of Notre Dame's Joe Theismann and Rex Kern of Ohio State on the elite list, adding:

"All Ohio State and Notre Dame quarterbacks seem to make that list every year."

* * * *

Houston rallied only about 600 more fans for the recent Texas Coaches Association All-Star football game than did Dallas in 1969, a fact which Dallas writers were quick to point out.

Officials of the association would like to at least double attendance at the game in order to get off a financial nut.

They might start by reducing the price of the ducats. The fans are being asked to pay nearly twice as much as they ante up for their regular season high school games. That amounts to sandbagging, if a breadwinner takes his family.

The all-stars may be talented but invariably most of the fans never heard of most of them.

* * * *

The anvil chorus of pro football buffs who reason the Hessians-for-hire are asking too much in the way of benefits (knowing full well it will be the fans who pay in the end) is growing.

One vocal critic has been so bold as to picket for the following concessions from the game:

- Make the NFL provide maid and baby-sitter service on the day of the 'big game.'
- Let the family of the fan use as an income tax deduction his favorite player.
- Issue an accident-injury policy to all fans to cover mishaps from the local spa to the stadium and back to the pub, no matter what the condition of the fan.
- Give every local fan, at age 65 and over, lifetime box seats to all home games, a free cushion, two beers, a hot dog and an autographed copy of George Halas sticking pins into a doll resembling the head lineman.
- Give fans a dollar per diem in preparation for the exhibition season beginning July 15, owners should provide each season ticket holder with a bottle of Gator Aide for each home game, an Exergenie (to get the fans in shape for those long walks from the parking lots and up stadium steps) and a first aid kit, including tweezers for stadiums with wooden seats.
- Allow fans more access to players, like entry into dressing rooms, so that they may gather material for in-depth anthropological and gossip studies with an eye toward eventual revealing fan-slanted books about players.

If any or all of those demands weren't met, the fans could strike — and that, dear hearts, would be the most effective boycott ever to hit any industry.

Sul Ross Drills Begin Tuesday

ALPINE — Football workouts at Sul Ross State University here get under way Tuesday. Athletic director and head football coach Richard Harvey said some 75 candidates would report in Monday with physicals scheduled for that evening and the workouts to begin on Tuesday.

Four different sessions are planned with freshmen and transfers working out at 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. daily while lettermen and squadmen will report at 10:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Thirty-one lettermen are slated to return along with 10 squadmen from a 1969 team that posted a 4-5-1 Lone Star Conference record. Harvey said he expects about 29 freshment and transfers to report in hopes of making the 1970 squad.

An intra-squad scrimmage is planned for August 29 with the freshmen to meet the varsity lettermen at Jackson Field.

Tucker Planning To Play Football

Claude (Snake) Tucker, Jr., 511 N. Lancaster, Big Spring, has received a talent award in athletics for the 1970-71 academic year at Yankton College, Yankton, S.D., it is announced by Don Allan, dean of students.

Tucker was a split end in high school and will be contending for a position on the Greyhound football team, which had an 8-1 record in 1969 and was champion of the Tri-State conference.

Another former Big Spring athlete, Harold (Pee Wee) Jones, is expected to be a starting offensive tackle as a senior, coach Bill Bobzin siad.

A liberal arts college founded in 1881, Yankton is the oldest institution of higher learning which originated in Dakota Territory.

Robstown Gridder Is Death Victim

ROBSTOWN Tex. (AP) — Richard Yzaguirre 18 a Robstown High School senior and letterman football player died in a Corpus Christi hospital Thursday. He had been in a coma since Tuesday.

A relative said the youth had complained of headaches on his way home from football practice Monday night.

His family tried to awaken him Tuesday and was unable to arouse the youth.

Shower Doesn't Dampen Fervor

Persons attending the Quarterback Club's annual barbecue Thursday evening were forced under cover because of lingering showers but nobody complained.

Banker John Currie, who attended the function, described the weather as "beautiful" and no one disagreed. Currie also said he believed the booster organization should stage these sort of things several times a year, if that is what it takes to break drouths.

The party was originally to have been in the amphitheatre but was moved to a pavilion in another part of Comanche Trail Park. Hundreds were fed. Many wound up with soggy plates but most everyone rejoiced.

The sound system installed for the occasion created an echo and QBC co-captain Paul Shaffer abandoned it in time.

Head coach Clovis Hale was brought to the dais and, in turn, introduced his fellow coaches and the Big Spring High School players.

Hale expressed great confidence in his system and the community which will support it, explaining:

"The only way to be good is to think you're good . . . We can't do it without your support."

Before he introduced his coaching aides, Hale said he thought his was "the best staff ever put together because we work together and believe in what we're doing."

Grant Teaff of Angelo State University, chief speaker of the evening, said he was impressed by the fact that the fans would show up in such numbers in that kind of weather.

"One of the keys to success," he remarked, "is overcoming adversity such as we encountered here tonight."

Teaff also expressed the opinion that Big Spring had "the finest young coach in the state in Clovis Hale." He then congratulated the Quarterback Club on its Gold Rush 70 campaign.

He urged the footballers present to (1) set themselves a goal, (2) be self motivated and (3) lead a God-directed life.

The QBC brought three dozen gold-colored windbreakers to the rally for sale and they melted away like hot cakes. Most of the purchasers found the weather perfect for wearing them about the premises.

Shaffer promised to place more on order, if there is a market for them. The jackets are priced at $6 each. The QBC officers have urged the fans to wear gold-covered gear to all the games involving the Steers this year.

MORE THAN 30 TEAMS LIKELY

Stanton Meet Nears

STANTON — Sixteen teams had entered the first annual Stanton Partnership Golf tournament at 9 o'clock this morning and a spokesman for the tournament committee said at least 30 teams were expected to declare themselves eligible by the deadline for entry, which arrives at 9 o'clock this evening.

The 36-hole event gets under way Saturday and continues through Sunday. Entry fee is $35 per team.

Shotgun starts will be used at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. each day. No more than 52 teams can be accepted for the tournament, since the course boasts only nine holes. That would mean 104 players would be on the layout at one time.

Teams will qualify for flights Saturday. Their Saturday scores, of course, will count toward their tournament aggregates. Should as many as 52 teams enter, two of the flights would have 11 teams, the other three 10.

A set of three woods will be awarded to each member of the winning team in each flight. Each player of the runnerup tandem gets a golf bag. Two dozen golf balls go to the players on the third place finishers while fourth place winners get one dozen golf balls each.

A shower which fell at the course Thursday served only to settle the dust but did cool things off, a member of the club stated. Tournament officials are hoping the temperatures will cool down over the weekend.

The Stanton course was opened late last year and the club now has about 100 members. The greens have withstood the hot weather well and are in good shape. The fairways, of course, have been slow to come along.

Kill-For-Pay 'Dirt' Dished Out At Trial

ANGLETON, Tex. (AP)—The murder trial of Charles Harrelson, charged in the kill-for-pay slaying of Alan Berg, moves into another day today.

A will drawn up by Bernard Weadock, leaving half his $10,000 reward for finding Berg's body to prosecution witness Sandra Sue Attaway, was entered Thursday into evidence.

Harrelson's lawyer introduced the will, dated just five days after Berg's body was found.

The Attaway woman, 26, is Weadock's girl friend and was Harrelson's companion when the slaying occurred. She was granted immunity from prosecution Aug. 13, the first of three previous days she had testified at the trial.

She has maintained that Harrelson, 32, shot and strangled Berg after she lured the victim from a Houston nightclub on May 28, 1968.

The Attaway woman testified she did not know Weadock was going to collect the reward for finding the body until she was arrested and returned to the Brazoria County jail two days after the body was found. She was living with Weadock in California at that time.

She was asked if Weadock once told someone that he and the Attaway woman sat in a motel room for several hours discussing how they could collect the reward, offered by the slain man's father, without getting in trouble with the law.

"As a matter of fact," the lawyer asked, "wasn't it on the way to California that you cooked up this plot to pull the switch on Charles Harrelson?"

Heavy Losses Listed, B52 Operations Cut

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces within sight of Phnom Penh slammed mortars into Cambodian defense lines across the Mekong River from the royal palace, a military spokesman reported today. But hard fighting reported Thursday within six miles of the capital eased off.

Heavy losses were reported on both sides. The spokesman said at least 19 Cambodian troops were killed and 124 wounded. He claimed 500 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed, a claim that foreign observers generally viewed with skepticism.

The spokesman said while some enemy troops fired a few mortars into government positions directly across the mile-wide river from the royal palace, the bulk of the enemy force was about six miles northeast of the capital. The mortar fire "was just a probe to check our defenses and draw them out," he added.

The Cambodian forces retreated about two miles southward to Prek Kraboa from Prek Tameak late Thursday after Prek Tameak was overrun by heavily armed enemy forces. The Cambodian spokesman said the withdrawal was a tactical move to permit allied bombers to hammer the enemy.

Only small ground skirmishes were reported in South Vietnam, and the U.S. Command began cutting back its B52 raids. The Pentagon announced Thursday that the giant high-altitude bombers would be reduced to an average of 1,000 sorties a month, a sortie being one flight by one bomber. The average rate recently has been 1,400 a month, informed sources said.

Qualified sources said all B52 raids in the future would be flown from U-Tapao Air Base in Thailand. The B52s that have been flying from Guam and Okinawa will be held in reserve.

One source linked the reduction to President Nixon's troop withdrawals.

The cut in B52 operations is the third since January, 1969, when the number of sorties was at a peak of 1,800 a month.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command in Saigon said Viet Cong gunners shot down a U.S. Army observation helicopter 12 miles outside the Vietnamese capital, killing one American and wounding two Americans and two South Vietnamese.

For nearly eight weeks, 75 per cent of the B52 sorties have been flown against North Vietnamese supply depots, staging areas and infiltration corridors along the Ho Chi Minh trail in eastern Laos and similar enemy targets in the northern provinces of South Vietnam.

Informed sources said the eight-jet Stratofortresses flew 30 to 35 sorties today, compared to slightly under 50 a day prior to the cutback.

The Laotian government announced that a total of 250 North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao soldiers were killed and another 256 wounded in fighting in Laos in August, although there has been no significant military action recently because of heavy monsoon rains, a Defense Ministry spokesman in Vientiane said.

Welfare Reform Urged By Bush

DALLAS (AP) — Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., said Thursday the welfare system could cost taxpayers $12 billion by the year 1975.

Bush said the nation needs welfare reform, but not a guaranteed annual income.

"We have launched a decade of reform—postal reform, welfare reform, revenue sharing, draft reform and manpower training reform," Bush told Dallas businessmen.
