Million Steel Workers May Strike; 480,000 Miners Out

Major British Groups Attack Devaluation

By THOMAC C. WATSON
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Britain's Labor party was besieged tonight by mounting labor and political attacks over its devaluation of the pound which may lead to a new general election and possible fall of the government.

Britain's drastic cut in the value of the pound sterling, followed by similar currency slashes by France, Canada and a dozen other countries, has brought political opponents and British workers out in full cry against the Labor government.

Parliament Meet Urged

Opposition leaders have demanded the government reconvene parliament by no later than next week for debate and a possible test vote on the Labor government's action, announced last night by Sir Stafford Cripps.

If the devaluation of the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 is not upheld by the House of Commons in a vote of confidence Prime Minister Attlee's next step would be a move for a general election, probably this fall. It would be the first since 1945.

Many labor leaders have plainly indicated they are not going to accede willingly to the government's plea that they put off wage and other demands until the country is out of the financial hole.

Union Members Defiant

Rank-and-file union members have been even more defiant and in many cases repudiated their leaders when they supported the government line.

The London railway workers have voted a slowdown to start Wednesday midnight to enforce their wage demands. Other unionists have insisted they are entitled to some wage increases despite the government's plea of poverty.

Cripps warned Sunday night that stern measures may be adopted to pull Britain out of her economic morass in the wake of the pound devaluation.

France was the latest nation to devalue its currency but the cut in relation to the dollar was one of the mildest—only about six per cent for a starter as compared with Britain's 30.5 per cent.

Wild speculation greeted the currency devaluations with street "stock market" operations in London on gold securities where frantic bidding sent the stocks soaring in value.

French Finance Minster Maurice Petsche announced the government's decision to devalue the franc after a cabinet meeting. He said the value of the currency will

Prices Squeezed By Devaluation

By T. E. APPLEGATE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—Lower dollar prices for many raw materials and finished products in most of the world emerged today from the wringer of devaluation.

The squeezing of prices in the first business day following devaluation fell far short of the 30.5 per cent by which Britain and other countries reduced the dollar value of their money.

What will be the extent of the thorough shake-up of price structures remained to be determined.

Reaction Limited

There were many factors yet to be fitted into the pattern—how much manufacturing costs aboard may rise and the effect of such charges as distribution and shipping costs on eventual retail sales prices.

First reaction in United States markets was relatively limited.

Lower prices were paid for many commodities including wool and wool tops, rubber, hides and cocoa, sold on contracts for future delivery.

But the reductions were generally small, in terms of total price.

Some Prices Move Up

At the same time, Britain and those who followed her in devaluing currencies had to pay more in their markets.

Rubber prices at Singapore were marked up nearly 7 malayan cents a pound. Australian wool prices at the Sydney auctions moved up

Tax Rate Of 72 Cents Set By Officials

County Budget For 1950 Is Approved

A 1950 county budget of an estimated $829,033.91 was adopted and a 1949 county tax rate of 72 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation was set Monday by Lubbock county commissioners court.

The budget figures $109,542.26 over the estimated budget for 1949.

The tax rate compares with 70 cents for last year.

Permanent Fund Boosted

County Auditor Joe Boyd said the two-cent increase in the tax rate was largely attributable to requirements of the permanent improvement fund. Only one cent to the $100 of assessed valuation had been levied in that fund in 1949, as compared with three and a half cents for 1950.

A club house to cost approximately $10,000 will be completed at Monroe, and a similar one is promised for Precinct 1, a mile south of Five-Point theater on land donated by George P. Kuykendall. Those improvements, together with possibly others, caused the fund to be increased, Boyd told the court.

Totals Are Given

Boyd gave these estimated figures of revenue sources, and their comparison with 1949, shown in parenthesis:

From ad valorem taxes, $388,800 ($292,959.25); delinquent taxes, $8,450 ($6,052.94); all other revenue, such as automobile registration, trial fees, stenographic fees, terracing, and the like, $431,783.91 ($420,479.46).

Expenditures Are Listed

The 1950 expenditures as estimated by the auditor follow:

Administrative (operation), $190,956.04; judicial and law enforcement, $120,847.12; health, $2,400; agriculture and livestock, $14,594; county library, $15,650; education (county superintendent's traveling expenses), $300; all road and bridge expenditures, $187,636; capital outlay (all new equipment), $104,306.75; payment on indebtedness, $131,209; transfer to charity

Fog And Light Rain Again Forecast For South Plains Area

Fog and possibly drizzling rain again was expected to clamp down on Lubbock and parts of the South Plains early this morning as cool weather continues its hold over the area.

Ceiling zero weather moved in over Lubbock and the Weather Bureau Station at Lubbock Municipal airport about 10:40 p. m. Monday but lifted only to have low clouds and more fog start moving in again early today.

The Weatherman said there was a possibility that the low hanging overcast would bring light drizzling rain to the area early this morning. The forecast called for continued partly cloudy weather with a low of 64 and a maximum of about 79. Monday's low was 62, the high 76, the lowest maximum in the state.

Rain Hits Other Areas

Monday night's fog did not hamper any airline flight, but a similar foggy condition early that morning interrupted early schedules. Only a light drizzle was recorded at the Weather bureau Monday.

Meanwhile, other sections of the state were hit by thunderstorms and heavy rains, The Associated Press reported.

A number of telephones were knocked out of commission at Laredo in South Texas, where rain was accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning.

In Dallas, high winds ac-

Ford Workers To Walk Out If Agreement Not Reached

DETROIT, Sept. 19. (INS)—The UAW-CIO today announced 150,000 Ford Motor company employes will be called out on strike September 29 if a contract agreement is not reached by that time.

The union ultimatum was handed Ford negotiators although both UAW President Walter P. Reuther and Ford Vice President John S. Bugas admitted progress had been made during current talks. However, Reuther tempered his admission by saying:

"We have made some progress, but not the kind of progress necessary for a settlement."

Coal Walkout Hits Railroads

By TROY GORDON
INS Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19— Some 480,000 mine workers in 19 states stayed away from their jobs today, thousands of railroad workers faced temporary layoffs and strike violence erupted in West Virginia.

Soon after the miners' protest against a threat to their welfare fund had become a complete "unofficial strike" the Pennsylvania railroad announced 15,000 shop and maintenance-of-way employes will be furloughed Wednesday.

The road gave as its reason the "disappearance of coal traffic and the generally lower level of business."

Three Men Beaten

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad said it will lay off 3,450 shopworkers for six days beginning Friday. The Reading railroad, which claims it is "America's biggest anthracite carrier," announced it will lay off 1,040 workers, mainly in Reading, Pa."

At Clarksburg, W. Va., police reported three men were beaten as a 1,000-man force of roving pickets moved through the central section of the state.

The men reported beaten were identified by officials of the Freeport Gas company as Stanley Robey, 45, Leondis Haught, 40, and Joe Allen, 38. None was seriously injured.

Police Are Alerted

Harrison county police also said that 13 truckloads of coal had been dumped at a mine near Clarksburg. All available county police were ordered on duty to prevent further violence.

The miners claim the walkout is their own answer—and not that of their president, John L. Lewis—to the refusal of some operators to continue payment of the 20-cent-a-ton pension and welfare royalty on all coal mined.

(In Washington, Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal producers, blamed Lewis for the strike and said the miners are "apparently acting, as is customary, on a nod or a wink" from the UMW chief.)

Strike Order Denied

The shutdown was virtually 100 per cent effective. A few of the miners reported at their scheduled time, but went home when word of

Lamesa C. Of C. Holds Meeting

LAMESA, Sept. 19. — Such a heavy burden has been placed in recent times upon the American home that the security and stability commonly associated with it has almost been destroyed, declared the Right Rev. John E. Hines, bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal church of Texas, in an address last night at the fourth annual membership meeting of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce.

Bishop Hines, one of the outstanding churchmen of the state, had as his topic "Keeping the Republic." He spoke before a crowd of approximately 225 persons.

Two Suggestions Made

At the outset, Bishop Hines reminded his listeners of Benjamin Franklin's comment made soon after the United States became a republic: "You have a republic," the statesman said, "if you can keep it."

The balance of Bishop Hines' address dealt with two suggestions for keeping the republic:

First, he said, "American home life must be redeemed." and sec-

FLUSHING MEADOWS, N. Y., Sept. 19. —A keynote of hope and peace for the world was struck today by delegates of the Soviet and western nations in a preview of the fourth UN assembly opening tomorrow.

The 59-nation gathering will start its three-months session at 9 a.m. (CST) without fanfare in the auditorium of the 1939 World's Fair grounds.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, arrived in New York by plane today as head of the Russian delegation.

He declared that Premier Stalin's health was never better. On the outlook for the assembly he said:

"The Soviet delegation is confident that the United Nations is, as the head of the Soviet government, Premier Stalin, said, a serious instrument for the maintenance of peace and international security.

"I have no doubt that the General assembly can solve successfully its tasks provided its members display a sincere desire to cooperate with each other and act according to the UN charter."

STATE DEPARTMENT SEEKS MORE URANIUM FOR PROGRAM

Canada And Britain Expected To Request Broader Exchange Of Atomic Secrets By U. S. At Meeting

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Britain and Canada are expected to urge on the United States a broader exchange of atomic secrets, in three-power talks opening here tomorrow.

The United States for its part will request Britain and Canada to agree to give this country a maximum share of uranium ore out of the total production available to the western powers. This ore is the raw stuff of atomic bombs and the western powers get most of what they have from the Belgian Congo.

The conference also may involve vitally important—but very hush-hush — strategic questions since the atomic bomb is a trump weapon in the arsenal of the west.

However, what these questions are—whether, for example, they include the possibility of stockpiling bombs in Britain—is a tight secret.

In the background of the whole meeting, officials said today, is the fact that America's absolute monopoly over the bomb is gradually running out. Britain is striving toward bomb production and American scientists believe she will be successful. As British and Canadian experiments are expanded they require more and more uranium.

The atomic conference stems originally from the wartime partnership of the three English-speaking nations in the research, development and production of atomic bombs. But it arises more immediately out of President Truman's conference at Blair House last July. That meeting was supposed to be secret but the secrecy rapidly fizzled out when the list of ranking officials attending the meeting provided evidence that, as it then seemed, something big was in the making in atomic energy.

Mr. Truman himself disclosed what was up when he told a news conference on July 28 that the American-British-Canadian partnership was under review and that "exploratory conversations" among the three governments would be held. He promised then and the State department recently reaffirmed that promise, that no decisions would be made until after he has consulted with Congress.

Demos Open Drive In West

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—The Democrats wheeled out three of their biggest guns at the Western Democratic conference in San Francisco today in the opening of a campaign to capture the west in the 1950 elections.

More than 1,500 national and regional Democratic leaders heard Vice President Alben Barkley, Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan and Secretary of the Interior Julius A. Krug expound the administration's program to develop western resources.

Public Power Backed

Barkley, speaking at a public meeting tonight, placed his party solidly behind further public power developments.

The vice president declared that "regardless of propaganda" there is a "scarcity of power, not only in the west but throughout the United States as a whole."

Barkley wrote off private enterprise as a factor in the development of electric power projects. He declared no private organization "can or will be expected to develop a whole river valley along the lines of . . . the Tennessee Valley authority."

Farm Record Reviewed

In a strong appeal to farm groups in the west, Barkley reviewed the record of Democratic administrations in reclamation and land conservation.

He pointed out that this year alone, the government will spend $400 million on its important reclamation program, more than "the total amount expended on similar projects in the 30 years prior to 1933."

Barkley reminded his listeners that in 1933 no program for protection of the 282 million acres of public lands was in existence but that today 139 million acres in grazing land are being operated "on conservation principles."

GOP Attacks Scored

He cited the Interior department's promotion of a commercial synthetic fuels industry explaining that it is believed the bulk of the nation's oil supply must sometime come from coal and shales.

He declared:

"However much we may extoll

U.S. Claimed Goal Of Red Aggression

Texas Solon Urges Arms Bill Approval

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—Sen. Connally (D-Tex.), asserted today that the overseas arms bill must be passed because Russia has 5,000,000 men under arms who are "intended to kill people" and the U. S. is the ultimate objective of Soviet aggression.

The Senate foreign relations chairman declared that the $1,314,010,000 arms-aid program is necessary to keep Russia from "picking off" free nations "like pigeons in a shooting gallery." Connally told the Senate:

"Everyone knows that Russia when she thinks the hour is here will strike and strike with all her might to crush the free governments of the earth."

Reserves To Be Kept Up

Connally opened the historic debate on the arms bill with a warning that Russia has increased her armed strength to 5,000,000 men for aggressive purposes. He departed from his prepared address to emphasize his belief that the huge Soviet forces are intended for aggressive action against non-Communist nations.

Meanwhile, Senate Armed Service committee Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) revealed that American military leaders plan to keep enough reserve weapons in the United States to equip 4,500,000 troops if necessary over a two-year period. U. S. forces now total 1,607,000.

Tydings said that if any weapons are withdrawn from the stockpile to be sent abroad they must

TNT-Packing Girl Found Loaded With Machine Gun Belts

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 19. (AP)—A half pound of highly explosive TNT and two belts of machine gun ammunition were found in the purse of a 15-year old girl arrested here Friday, police disclosed today.

The girl, Georgianna Henry, of Milwaukee, Wis., was picked up at the request of her parents, who said she had run away from home, police reported. She was arrested in the company of Pvt. Alfred Pasmzelka, 19, a Fort Lewis soldier, in a private home.

The soldier was charged with obtaining the explosives at camp.

Negro Is Given Life For Slaying

SILVERTON, Sept. 19 (Special)—A 110th jury this afternoon, after slightly more than an hour's deliberation, adjudged George Holland, a negro, guilty of murder with malice in the Aug. 2, 1947, slaying at Ralls of Crosby Sheriff J. J. Pierce, and recommended a punishment of life imprisonment.

The defendant accepted the verdict, which was signed by W. Coffee, jr., as foreman, and was sentenced by District Judge Alton B. Chapman.

Holland was convicted in a former trial of the case, in the 72nd district court of Lubbock county, and a recommendation of death was made by the jury. The

Hopes Fade In Steel Talks

By GLENN M. GREEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—CIO chief Philip Murray warned today that one million steel workers will walk out next Saturday midnight unless the industry agrees to the pension and insurance benefits recommended by President Truman's fact-finding board.

Murray, head of the steelworkers union, made his statement as the government failed to lift the steel strike threat from the nation.

He issued his ultimatum as he left a conference with federal mediation Director Cyrus Ching, who presided all day at efforts to break the deadlock.

Talks Resume Today

Ching said the talks will resume tomorrow at 10 a. m. in a dogged attempt to head off the paralyzing strike. He admitted, however, that industry showed no signs of accepting Murray's terms.

Murray was asked if the mills would "go down" Saturday night "unless the companies agree to bargain on a non-contributory program?"

Murray replied simply: "Yes."

A presidential board recommended last week against a fourth-round wage hike for steelworkers but approved a 10-cent-an-hour pension-insurance program, paid for by the companies.

Murray insisted today that the report be the basis for new contract talks. Management refused to negotiate on that basis.

"No Conclusions Reached"

Ching said that "no conclusions were reached today" but hinted the government might have "some suggestions" to lay before both sides tomorrow.

He said he had urged the parties "to think over the situation overnight and come back to discuss it some more tomorrow."

Murray said the steelworkers union was ready to discuss "details" of how the board's recommendations should be put into effect but not the amount nor the non-contributory feature.

Recalling the 10-cent amount fixed by the report, Murray said: "We will stand on that finding."

John A. Stephens, vice president of the U. S. Steel corporation, was non-committal to newsmen, declining to say whether there had been any change in the situation.

Ultimatum Issued

Murray, at the beginning of the day-long sessions, made his stand clear by issuing a virtual ultimatum that the board's findings last week provide the negotiation basis.

Those findings, he pointed out, call for four cents an hour for an

13-YEAR TASK COMPLETED

Amarillo Author Writes Story Of Famed XIT Panhandle Ranch

By FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 19—"I'd like to autograph a million of 'em," said Lewis Nordyke, Amarillo writer, today as he signed his name for paying customers lined up to buy his new book "Cattle Empire," the fabulous story of the famed XIT Panhandle ranch.

"I hope they don't run out of books like they did in Amarillo Saturday," grinned Nordyke. "I'd never autographed a book before. I was just plain scared. Now I'm an old hand."

Authors, artists and publishers were in Dallas to help open a big addition to a bookstore. It is almost as big as the new bull barn at Amarillo fairgrounds.

Press Dignitary Presented

One of the dignitaries was Henry Z. Walck, president of Oxford university press in the United States. Oxford press has been making books for 500 years, including millions of Bibles. He came to Texas for the launching of a Bible book "In Our Image," conceived by Houston Harte, San Angelo publisher, and illustrated by Guy Rowe, the artist. A third new book of special Texas interest is "Frontier Justice," by Wayne Gard, Dallas writer.

Until the Harte-Rowe Bible book came out, the Amarillo writer thought he had about the biggest subject in the world in the story of the 3,000,000 acre XIT ranch. A lot has been written about the other books so here are some sidelights about Nordyke and his scholarly, yet readable story of the XIT, the most Texan of the current literary offerings.

Daily Story Told

It is Nordyke's best story. And he has been telling yarns for years.

When he was an Associated Press editor in Texas the staff knew they couldn't get any work started until Louie had time to tell his daily story. His departure to the Panhandle literary field increased not only the wealth of Texana but expedited the AP wire report as well.

For years he has been writing for national magazines. One even enticed him to Philadelphia as an editor. Nordyke stood it for about nine months and headed home for the brakes of the Canadian.

Some Nordyke stories are brief. His brother is a Texas Ranger. When Louie sold his first big-money magazine story, he shouted the news.

Early Drama Included

"I've sold a story to the Reader's Digest, for $600!"

"What is the Reader's Digest?" asked the Ranger brother.

"Cattle Empire" is the full-length sweep and drama, the story of empire and politics of the last free days of unfenced Texas. The story began in 1875 when Texans decided they must have the biggest and handsomest capitol in the land. The state traded 3,000,000 acres in the Panhandle to Chicago promoters and financiers, sight unseen. Nordyke's book tells the astonishing story, with fidelity to its facts and humor.

In Dallas toward sundown today, Nordyke was a little tired, but he goes to Fort Worth tomorrow for another round of the bookstores.

"I've got writer's cramp, from autographing, and the shakes like a politician, from shaking hands with the customers. I love it," he said.

Governor's Chair Wanted

Only one thing could make him happier than he was signing books. That would be to sit as governor of Texas under the high dome of the capitol, built by the 3,000,000 acre spread of the XIT. He is his own dark horse candidate. His friends don't quite know whether to take him seriously, but Texas could do worse—and has! That's another story.

At home in Amarillo, Dot, Nan and Trilla—mother and daughters—the three Texas girls to whom "Cattle Empire" is dedicated, can be happy with Dad Nordyke that a long writing job is done. As Trilla says:

"The family has been talking about that book all my life." Trilla is only nine. Her father has been writing it for 13 years, the last five a major research and writing project. During the period, Nordyke rejected 20 magazine assignments in order to finish the XIT book.

Idea Came Early

The birth of the idea is even older. Years ago as a youngster Nordyke climbed the long winding stairs of the capitol at Austin; scratched his name on the wall with thousands of others. On that expedition he first heard the story how Texas got her magnificent capitol building by swapping three million acres of so-called worthless land to a bunch of Yankees.

For years he tugged on the story, piecing it together, searching, interviewing, reading 60,000 letters in the Panhandle museum, talking to old timers, writing, rewriting and polishing until one of the finest of all Texas stories was ready for the public.

Breathless, wide-eyed youngsters will continue to climb the capitol stairs and scratch their names on the high walls, but they can dream other dreams about stories to tell.

Lewis Nordyke has written this one, the fabulous story of the XIT. It is a master's example of the reporter's work.

Final Rites To Be Held For Roscoe Webster Here Today

Services will be conducted at 10 a. m. today at Rix Funeral home chapel for Roscoe Webster, 56, of 2515 Twenty-third, who died early Monday at his residence after an illness of six weeks.

Rev. J. Ralph Grant will officiate.

Pallbearers will be Ray Chapman, Paul Brenneman, Walter Clark, B. C. Pollard, Glen Ridge and J. F. Nicholson, jr.

Burial will take place in Tech Memorial park.

He was a railway postal clerk for the Fort Worth and Denver railway and had lived here since 1934.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Rex, and a daughter, Imogene.

Lubbock Minister To Describe Foreign Travels To Lions Club

Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister of Broadway Church of Christ who returned to the United States about two weeks ago following three months' trip abroad, will address Lubbock Lions club at its luncheon at 12 noon today at Hilton hotel.

He will give his observations on conditions in other lands.

Dr. Young visited England, Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Germany, Italy, Egypt, Israel, Spain and Portugal. In his party were his wife; his mother, Mrs. M. Novel Young, sr., of Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. and Mrs. Batsell Baxter of Nashville, and Mrs. A. M. Burton of Nashville.

Rabbits still abound in Australia, farmers report, but hares have largely disappeared — because they do not go underground like rabbits and their young are easy prey for hawks, foxes and wild cats.

Gifts Ease Scarcities Brought By War

Finns Express Gratitude For Parcels From Texas Friends

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

HELSINKI, Finland — Mention Texas in Finland and immediately you get a bright happy smile from a Finn.

A woman member of Parliament who had just come from speaking in behalf of bettering living conditions for housewives and children shocked me beyond measure at a tea party one afternoon when she said: "Have you ever heard of Fort Stockton? Well, these shoes I have on came from there."

She is Mrs. Margit Borg-Sundman, president of the National Council of women of Finland. Her council honored six American newspaper women with a reception.

Women Feel Grateful

Mrs. Borg-Sundman said the Finnish women of her organization felt very grateful to the Women's Literary club of Fort Stockton. She mentioned with tears in her eyes the letters from Mrs. F. G. Baker. When I told her that I was positive that Mrs. Baker and I had been college chums, she embraced me. She also mentioned hearing from Miss Montgomery of the Literary club.

"When there was no cloth to wrap newborn babies—when we were using paper—the women of Fort Stockton sent us layettes. They sent us shoes, raisins, coffee, cocoa, sugar and rice. Through their gifts, we had something to distribute among our families at Christmas—otherwise, the children would have had no Christmas during one very hard year."

Other Incident Cited

Mrs. Borg-Sundman explained that the war orphans and working classes got more aid generally than did the poor intellectual class. That is why the families of central board members of the National council were so thankful for the parcels from Texas.

This was not the only incident.

Once I was walking through the park with a newspaper woman who works for the largest paper in Helsinki. Her job is to translate "Felix the Cat," "Mickey Mouse," "Little Nancy" and "Dagwood" from American into Finnish for the daily paper.

"Do you know San Antonio, Texas?" she asked. "The shoes I have on came from there. They were a gift to a relative of mine who could not wear them, so she gave them to me. I think some day I go to that San Antonio. It must be nice."

Borger Letter Quoted

Finland has many friends in Texas, as shown by this letter published in Finland. It is from H. E. Hardeman of Borger.

"I am just an old (60 years old) repair man, who does not have many customers now. Have a small room built on the side of my garage, at home, out in the edge of town, where I repair radios and electric refrigerators, by myself. Am not rich, have just a living.

"I have had hard times in my life. But I have found that the good Lord takes care of those who love and serve Him. My prayers go out for Finland, and the brave people, who deserve better things. Be of good cheer my friends.

"By parcel post today, I am sending you 7 one pound cans of coffee, 6 bars of soap. It floats, which interests the children. One pound of Kraft caramel candy, which will interest the children. Three pairs of cotton socks for men. Eight old picture magazines we like over here. The contents cost $6.00 and mailing cost about $4. You have the trouble of deciding who gets the . . . coffee and soap and candy. A rather difficult job, with so little supply."

Funeral Services Set Today For Movie Actor Frank Morgan

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19. (INS)—Funeral services for actor Frank Morgan, who died Sunday in his sleep, will be held Tuesday at All Saints Episcopal church of Beverly Hills.

The body of the beloved film trooper will then be taken to Greenwood cemetery at Brooklyn, N. Y., for burial.

Morgan, white-haired star who captivated millions of radio and screen fans with his "double-take" mannerisms, died in his sleep at the age of 59.

His death stunned the film industry. He apparently had been in excellent health and only last Thursday completed a role with his good friend Clark Gable, in "Key to the City."

Sunday afternoon his wife, Alma, noticed that he was breathing heavily. After trying unsuccessfully to rouse him, she summoned a fire department inhalator squad and two physicians. But Morgan was dead.

Morgan, who with his brother Ralph, appeared in many stage and screen productions, also starred on his own radio programs.

The brothers were heirs to the Angostura Bitters fortune. Their real name was Wupperman.

Morgan, a graduate of Cornell university, was an ardent yachtsman. In 1947 he skippered his schooner, Dolphin II, to victory in the annual California-to-Hawaii yacht race.

Fat Is Not a Nice Word When Applied to the Body

Don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulgy person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for a physician. Never take any treatment for a gland condition without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "Battle of the Bulges" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry, either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a strenuous diet—take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation diet over a protracted period. Within the last year or so, several diet and vitamin "plans" have appeared on the market, which means cut down on the food intake and fortify with vitamins for hunger distress. But as mentioned above, you can't keep this up very long and when you quit — back comes the fat.

An exhaustive survey recently made among Texas druggists showed one outstanding reducing aid is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It allows you to eat plenty. You eat all you want but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you from eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates.

Nearly one and a half million bottles of this preparation, called Barcentrate has been sold in Texas in the past four years.

You can get a four-ounce bottle of Barcentrate from any Texas druggist. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice and take just two tablespoonsful twice a day.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose that ugly fat, the makers agree to refund your money. Adv

Rail Management Official Says Talks Off Until Walkout Ends

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19. (INS)—The head of management negotiators in the 11-day-old Missouri Pacific railroad strike told four striking brotherhoods today he will not negotiate with them so long as the walkout continues.

Guy A. Thompson, trustee in bankruptcy for the railroad, made public his latest answer to the operating brotherhood's refusal earlier in the day to accept his arbitration plan.

Thompson's letter said, in part:

Outside Pressure Denounced

"You merely reiterate what you have insisted upon since our first meeting . . . that we negotiate again in an effort to settle these claims while the strike is on.

"That, I am unwilling to do.

"If, and when, I negotiate with you upon these claims, I must be in a position to consider them upon their merits and reach conclusions free from outside pressure or coercion of any kind."

Earlier today the unions turned down a proposal by management to review all of the 282 grievances which led to the strike and to turn over to arbitration all claims not settled by direct negotiations.

Partial Agreement Reached

However, the unions said they would agree with part of the proposal submitted Friday by Thompson.

Roy E. Davidson, chief spokesman for the strike committee, said the unions would agree with the offer to negotiate 142 of the claims in dispute.

Management has offered to yield on 59 of these claims and the unions on 83 others.

Officials of the railroad estimated the cost of the strike thus far to Mopac and the 25,000 workers idle exceeds $8 million. Industries in the 11 state area served by the line have also suffered.

Scottish Fishermen Haul In Small Sub

LONDON, Sept. 19. (INS)—The crew of a Scottish fishing vessel told today of one "big fish" they had to free.

The crew of the boat "Nil Desperandum" reported hauling in their heavy nets to find they had become entwined in the conning tower of the small submarine "Alcide."

When the captain of the sub angrily protested, the crew said they got the nets free and the underwater ship submerged.

State Board To Seek Ruling On New Textbook Contracts

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP) — The State Board of Education today voted to ask the attorney general if it can extend existing textbook contracts under the new multiple list law.

The new law provides that teachers may select the textbooks for their classes from a multiple list of texts approved by the board. Heretofore, that system applied only in elementary grades with the board selecting the specific text for courses in the upper grades.

Under the former system, a textbook publisher by contract held a monopoly whenever one of his texts was chosen for an upper-grade subject.

Board member Gilbert N. Denman of San Antonio said he believed an attorney general's opinion was needed to determine if the board has power to renew any of the contracts made under the former system or whether all new contracts must be made this year.

COMEDIAN ON PROGRAM — One of the featured performers of, "A Trip to Wonderland," musical revue to be presented nightly before the grandstand at the Panhandle-South Plains fair here next week will be Larry Griswold, trampoline comedian. A trampoline is a contrivance resembling a bed but equipped with springs which enables the performer to leap to heights of more than 20 feet. Griswold, performing from a high-diving board, combines comedy with difficult acrobatic feats in his act—one of more than a dozen included in the two-hour revue.

Missouri Businessman Pleads Guilty Of Using Mails In Fraud

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 19. (AP)—Harry J. Murphy, bankrupt Tarkio, Mo., businessman today pleaded guilty to 41 counts of using the mails to defraud.

Murphy, accused of defrauding farmers and machinery dealers in Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas, entered his plea before federal District Judge Richard M. Duncan.

The judge deferred sentence until Oct. 22.

Murphy, a man of many enterprises during the rush for hard to get machinery after the end of the war, was indicted by a federal grand jury at Kansas City last April. In 86 counts he was accused of using the mails to defraud and violating the national stolen property act.

The name of the 37-year-old Tarkio man became a magic word throughout the wheat belt in the spring of 1947. Farmers were desperate for harvesting machinery. Word spread that Murphy could get machines when no one else could.

Wheat farmers and dealers left deposits with him for machinery. But when the harvest came, few of the machines were delivered.

Then came the crash. There was a rush for bankruptcy court. Will R. Christian, Ulysses, Kans., wheat farmer claimed he had deposited $144,000 with Murphy. Kenneth Cook, Vega, Texas said he had placed $84,000 in the hands of the Tarkio man.

A statement filed with the bankruptcy court showed liabilities of more than $900,000 and assets of $78,000.

Moisture Lowers Cotton Seed Price

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19. (AP)—High moisture content is lowering the price Louisiana and Mississippi growers are receiving for their cottonseed, a bi-state survey showed today.

Mississippi gins paid an average of $43 a ton last week, with prices ranging from $40 a ton in the southern and north central sections to $45-47 in the delta.

Moisture content was ranging from slightly above 12 per cent to 16.16 per cent.

To obtain the government support price of $49.50 the seed cannot have a moisture content above 11 per cent.

In Louisiana prices ranged from $40-$50 per ton, averaging $43.80.

After the American Revolution, loyalists fled to the Bahamas where they started a boom in cane and cotton plantations— a boom which faded when slavery was abolished in 1838.

Lubbock Youth Enrolls In Austin Theological School

AUSTIN, Sept. 19 (Spl)—Ralph D. Bucy, son of Mrs. R. T. Bucy of Lubbock, has enrolled today as a junior, or first-year student at Austin Presbyterian Theological seminary, to study the ministry.

He was graduated from Lubbock High school in 1944, served in the U. S. Marine corps for two years, assigned to the Pacific area, and obtained a bachelor of arts in English from Texas Technological college this spring. He was student supply pastor at Levelland Presbyterian church for seven months this year, and has had various other preaching engagements.

At Tech, he was president of the student religious council, member of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, member of Alpha Chi, national honorary fraternity, councilman on the Presbyterian Student association, representative to the P. S. A. in Montreat, N. C., and on the Assembly's youth council.

Burglar Caught On Job Says He Needs Money For Trial

DALLAS, Sept. 19 (AP)—A safe burglar caught in the act today had a ready explanation:

"I'm going on trial tomorrow and I needed some money."

Delbert A. Bowers, 30, and Elroy Brooks, 29, were caught by two patrolmen who watched a while first while the two worked on a cafe safe with a sledgehammer and punch.

Bowers trial tomorrow is on theft and burglary charges.

For about 30 years early in the 19th Century, small American handmade glass cup plates commemorated in pictures and lettering everything of headline interest concerning American ships.

Patients' visitors have stolen 179 towels, 15 sheets, 19 woolen blankets, 113 pillow cases and 23 children's blankets from the Provincial Hospital in Port Elizabeth, South Africa, recently.

Highways and By-ways..

The first definite route of travel in Texas extended from near the present city of Eagle Pass through San Antonio to Nacogdoches and eastward. It was later known as El Camino Real, the King's Highway.

Famed for superb highways, Texas is also striding forward in the development of its by-ways—the farm-to-market road system which contributes so much to the comfort and convenience of all of its citizens.

By investing in Texas county and district road bonds during the past forty-six years, Southwestern Life Insurance Company, exclusively a Texas institution, has had a substantial part in aiding this State's road-building program.

Such investments not only assure continuing security and protection to owners of Southwestern Life policies, but also work for all Texans as capital in the development of one of the State's highly essential resources—its highway network.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

CYNTHIA Lowry, Associated Press staff writer, who is traveling abroad, wrote an interesting column on conversation at lunch with two women: English and French. Since England is in the limelight at present we thought our readers would be interested in the reaction of this particular woman, which seems typical.

Writes Miss Lowry:

I had not been in England and asked if the food situation was really as bad as written accounts indicated. The Briton answered sharply, with an edge to her voice that was almost unfriendly.

"Great Britain is poor and she is always going to be poor," she responded. "We British persist in treating our situation as if it would be gone tomorrow. We won't face reality. But things are not going to be any better for us, and we might just as well face up to it. We must reduce our standards of living."

"Why do you say there will never be a recovery," I asked, "Because with loss of India, the Empire is lost?"

"No, not just because of India," she said. "In the other days England was great because we made things that other countries wanted. Now those countries can make things for themselves and other nations don't have to buy them from us."

SHE looked at me a little antagonistically.

"After all," she said, "there's nothing disgraceful about being poor. It is honorable poverty. We became that way because we persisted in trying to save all of Europe from Hitler."

I said—with rather poor manners, too—that while it was true the British Isles undertook the defense of Western Europe, she was also defending herself as well.

"But if the situation is as black as you say," I continued, "why don't some of the British go to Canada or Australia?"

"You don't know the problems," she said, "I know some families who would like to go. But the colonies don't want old people. And there are some families with children who aren't just right—crippled, even, from the blitz—and they aren't wanted either."

"You Americans with your dollars," she said, "you don't have a thing to worry about."

I said that maybe we had a lot of dollars but the average American didn't see many of them. She laughed and told a bitter little joke about the British dentists and doctors who had to go to the Riviera to try to spend the huge amounts of money they were making under the British national health insurance.

READING about the devaluation of the pound Monday we found ourself wondering what the attitude of the Britains will be if export goods are marked low in the stores alongside of the home goods. When we were in London last spring and looked at cashmere sweaters and tweed suits we found our interest low because they were so much more expensive than they would have been in either Canada or America. Then the prices for home and foreign consumption were the same, or so we thought.

We think many times tourists in England must have resented a statement that we ran into time and again: You Americans have all the money in the world.

U. S. To Extend Trade, Dollar Agreement To Other Countries

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The U.S. today promised France and all other Marshall plan countries they will receive the same trade and dollar benefits accorded to Great Britain.

This assurance was given French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman at a lengthy conference with Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other American officials.

The degree to which France and other European nations may benefit was pointed up by the announcement that Britain will be permitted to purchase $175 million of Canadian wheat with Marshall plan dollars as an emergency step in alleviating the British crisis.

This announcement was made by ECA chief Paul Hoffman, who also set aside approximately $30 million to help Britain pay for "vessel disbursements." This involves bunker fuel and port and harbor expenses while British ships are in U. S. ports.

Hoffman said ECA is "exploring the possibility" of making "other non-agricultural commodities and services" eligible for Marshall plan financing.

The ECA administration said Agriculture Secretary Brannan agreed to British purchase of Canadian wheat as "fully warranted." The move has been attacked severely by Republican Senators. Brannan said it will be beneficial to U. S. farmers as a whole.

Under the old rules, if a grain or other surplus existed in the U. S., ECA countries had to make their purchases in this country.

After opening the economic talks, Schuman later went into a political conference with Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Bevin on further Western maneuvers in the cold war with Communism.

French Minister Assured

Schuman, just arrived for the Washington talks and this week's meeting of the United Nations General Assembly, got his assurances of equal economic treatment with Britain in short order.

The Acheson-Bevin-Schuman political conference concentrated on reaching a common approach to Communist expansion in the Far East, developments in the Balkans where Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia is defying Russia, the situation in Germany, and the prospects of writing peace treaties for Austria and Japan.

When Customs officers at London airport asked a recent passenger if he had anything to declare, he opened a suitcase and said: "One bottle of brandy"—and the bottle, 50 years old, worth $80, rolled out and broke on the floor.

Seed House To Be Completed

One of the least-known construction projects in Lubbock is being rushed to completion neck-and-neck with the advent of the bumper cotton harvest.

It is a huge seed house being erected at a cost of $40,000 by the Lubbock Cotton Oil company at the east end of Seventeenth street.

It is probably the "best-hidden" major construction project in Lubbock, because it has been impossible to see any evidence of its construction either from the entrance to the cotton oil mill or from adjoining streets.

Third For Company

This seedhouse, the third to be built by the company, will measure 100 to 190 feet, containing 19,000 square feet of floor space.

Like all other seedhouses, it is shaped in the form a pile of cotton seed naturally takes, when dropped from a certain height, thus eliminating most of the pressure on the walls.

The structure, to be 80 feet high, is being constructed of sheet metal on steel frame. It is designed to hold 7,500 tons of cottonseed.

It contains a fan room on one end, a machinery room on the other. Cottonseed is blown in from unloading dumps through the top.

"We have to accumulate enough cottonseed during the harvesting season to keep the mill operating throughout the rest of the year," it was explained by George A. Simmons, manager of the company. "We expect to have the building completed in about two weeks."

H. R. Bundock of Lubbock was in charge of constructing the concrete floors and foundations for the structure. The steel was fabricated by Austin Bros. Manufacturing company of Dallas and erection is being done by H. D. and T. J. Crigger of Dallas.

Two large mobile cranes are being employed in the erection of the steel framework.

Great Britain's first adhesive postage stamp was made in 1840 and bore a portrait of the young Queen Victoria.

Esther May, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. May of Stamford, found the 7 1/4 pound mite yesterday when she went to investigate a pitiful squeal.

The tot's only wardrobe was a Sept. 4 issue of the Abilene Reporter-News.

The dozen nurses caring for the baby at a Stamford hospital named her Karen Elaine.

"Fifty people here in Stamford want her," said May, one of Stamford's leading jewelers. In addition, Abilene and Wichita Falls each reported half a dozen offers.

The Reporter-News gave the baby a complete layette—in exchange for the Sept. 4 Reporter-News in which she was found.

Elderly Minister Dies From Effects Of 30 Days Fasting

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 19 (AP)—A 70-year old negro minister is dead of the effects of 30 days of almost continuous fasting.

The Rev. Taylor L. Lee, pastor of the God in Christ church, died in Portsmouth hospital yesterday. His wife said he had abstained from food to emulate Christ's 40 days of fasting in the wilderness.

Dr. S. Gerard Griffin said it was "a plain case of starvation."

Ancient Greeks believed Proteus a sea-fairy, could change his appearance almost at will.

AFTER a decade of research to discover effective anti-decay formula

Amm-i-dent's scientists studied the human mouth, learned that the acid-producing bacteria (Lactobacillus acidophilus) always present in cases of decay, could be reduced by Carbamide and Dibasic Ammonium Phosphate.

A large group of patients, like the Kovels, tested new formula for 3 years. Results: 87% reduction in decay for Mrs. Kovel! 64% for daughter! No cavities yet for boys. Average for group tested: 43.5% reduction.

Once Amm-i-dent powder was a success, work began on a toothpaste. Tests proved that Amm-i-dent Toothpaste could stand extreme heat, cold, moisture—without hurting anti-decay content. Now, it's here—safe and effective!

VISHINSKY HEADS RED GROUP

Russia Expected To Increase Veto Lead In New UN Session

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—For the benefit of those U. S. newspaper readers and radio listeners who wouldn't lift an eyebrow if UN sank into the primordial ooze of Flushing Meadows, or vice versa, let me give you a little preview of the fourth annual assembly which opens Tuesday.

In fact, try to stop me.

Please remember in advance that I am the man who predicted, without a hat sponsor, that the Indians would lick Custer, but not the New York Yankees; that the pound would be deflated in mid-September, a note I flashed in an exclusive understatement from Bermuda last summer; that Babe Ruth's real first name was George—a scoop I had nearly 48 hours ahead of Danton Walker.

Vishinsky Aroused

Andrei Vishinsky, one of the most dangerous men in the world today, for he is the most articulate spokesman of a philosophy which seeks sleeplessly to enslave the world, has been tapped on the shoulder and ordered to rouse a bit of rabble at the impending assembly meeting. That makes it important.

He will speak bitingly of the Atlantic pact; call it a vicious affront to the peace. He will depict the U. S. as a monstrous aggressor harboring to its evil breast the A-bomb it built, while a great ally, Russia, has to work for it. His diatribes will pack all the colorful false premises, and warped reasoning, of the celebrated Russian civil engineer who was showing an American visitor around the subway system of Moscow.

Subway Story Retold

For those who have spent the last four years under an old rock, we'll repeat that one.

The engineer took the visitor into a wonderful looking Russian subway station. He pointed out the beautiful murals, the cleanliness of the platform, the indirect light, and many other boons.

"But this is what we call the rush hour," the American said. "And no trains have come through here since we arrived several hours ago."

The Russian bristled. "But what about your lynchings in the south?" he demanded.

The UN session will be one of those, plus the veto. And our papers and radio will faithfully play up the Russian reasoning.

Slavs, Soviets Seated Together

By a wonderful break in the draw, the seating arrangement at Flushing Meadows has turned into a net snafu. The custom in UN is to draw the nations' names out of a hat (Homburg). As it turned out, the Russian and Yugoslav delegations' names were drawn in such a way as to seat the Tito gang immediately behind the Russian mob. All business they have, including clashes, will have to be conducted in braille, I guess, for secrecy's sake.

Tempus fugits. At the last assembly meeting a yug named Ales Bebler, Tito's leading spokesman, did everything but polish the boots of the Russian delegation. Matter of fact, that might have been his job. Now, this former chief of the goon squad which executed Mikhailovich's men in gross lots, is on the other side of the fence, or curtain. He'll attend to whatever rapping of the Soviets we hear in UN between now and Christmas. If he gets knocked off some night, which is possible, his place will be taken either by Kardelej or a fellow named Joza Vilsan.

Chinese Group Nears End

This session probably will be the last one the western-minded Chinese delegation attends. It is doomed. There is a feeling around UN that the Russians have a fresh batch of Chinese Reds stashed away in a New York hotel, waiting to be installed (with our inevitable blessing) as representatives of more than 400,000,000 who do not know them.

Their seating will mean that the Communist world will have two vetoes on the Security council. Which is redundant.

The American delegation plans to get politely indignant about the way the minority rulers of Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria have been kicking around the terms of the peace contract to which we are a party. The contract guaranteed the protection of human rights, and civil and religious liberties, all of which have been ruptured by the Communist governments in charge.

Reds Will Steal Ball

But as soon as we bring up these questions, Vishinsky will make a long speech about some other topic. He will wave his arms vividly and speak very harshly, as if the Red army were about to move into Graustark, and he will steal the propaganda ball away from us while we're running for a touchdown. Wait and see.

Other questions on tap at UN this time (and please remember that UN has no power to accomplish anything except sway public opinion—which has no ballot) have to do with the disposition of the Italian colonies; the problem of what to do about 800,000 Arab refugees made more homeless than ever by the partitioning of the Holy Land; the status of the city of Jerusalem, which Israeli doesn't want to see become internationalized; and, maybe, China. UN is trying to duck the last topic, though the rights of nearly half a billion human beings are involved.

Should make quite a session, even though our surly pal Gromyko is missing for the first time. The Reds will increase their veto lead, which now stands at 38 to practically nothing. It's a pity nobody reads about UN, that nobody in the land which pays for the meetings gets around to saying even politely, "Now, just a minute . . ."

Services Slated Here Today For Houston Polio Victim

DEVALUATION JOSTLES STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP)—Devaluation on a world-wide scale only jostled the stock market today.

Losses outnumbered gains though changes either way were mostly in fractions. Gold stocks, stayed on the plus side.

A burst of hard-hitting selling came at the opening. Prices were chopped down fractions to a point.

A labored rally got under way and continued until late in the day when buying interest slackened.

Turnover was 1,300,000 shares.

Two angles to the cut in the dollar value of sterling startled Wall Street. One was the timing. Few financial expected the reduction this weekend. Second was the size of the cut — guesses had ranged between $2 and $3.30 instead of the announced $2.80.

Otherwise brokers were agreeably surprised. A lower price for sterling introduced a note of realism into world trade relations. Some domestic companies would probably be hurt in the international currency adjustment but the economy as a whole would be expected to benefit.

Businesses deriving any appreciable part of their income from overseas operations might be headed for trouble.

The price adjustment process will continue for weeks and months, a thought which deterred many traders.

The steel and coal strike threats also hurt.

Touching new highs for the year during the day were Homestake Mining at 43⅝, Dome 18⅛, McIntyre Porcupine 87½, and Howe Sound 27¾.

Higher were Standard Gas and Electric $4 pfd. 36 ¼, Allied Chemical 183, Dow Chemical 49¼, and Southern Pacific 36⅛.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — Cotton futures were easy today in slow trading. News of the devaluation of several foreign currencies brough in an early flurry of selling, but the market later rallied partially on mill buying and short covering. Most traders felt that the currency changes would not have much effect on the cotton situation since most of the cotton exports are being financed through ECA dollars and other government programs.

The Bureau of Census reported August cotton consumption at 664,133 bales which was slightly lower than trade expectations of 675,000 bales.

Late afternoon prices were 10 to 20 cents a bale lower than the previous close. Oct. 29.88, Dec. 29.69 and March 29.55.

Cotton futures weakened in late dealings on increased New Orleans and commission house selling which more than offset a good demand coming through mills.

Futures closed 50 to 70 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP) — British devaluation of the pound caused selling and considerable nervousness in grain futures today.

Prices dropped rather sharply. Wheat was off more than 2 cents at times, corn more than a cent and soybeans 4 cents.

Traders believed the British action might mean fewer U. S. grain exports. They also thought that lower prices for raw materials generally might result eventually in lower parity prices for grains.

Wheat closed ⅝ to 2¾ cents lower than the previous finish, September $2.08⅝, corn was down ⅝ to 1¼, September $1.26½, oats were off ½ to ⅞, September 67¾, rye was 3 to 4½ cents lower, September $1.42, soybeans were down 3½ to 4¼ cents, November $2.28-42.27¾, and lard was 13 to 35 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $11.97.

ALPINE CLIMBERS? NOPE—Except for their hard hats and jackhammers, these men working high on the sheer rock face of a canyon wall might be mistaken for mountain climbers. But the scene is Hungry Horse, Mont., site of what will soon become the world's fourth largest concrete dam, across the Flatbed River. These jackhammermen are drilling holes to prepare for blasting the canyon wall down to the solid bedrock that will support the dam. So steep is the wall that two men are required on each jackhammer.

Three-Engine Jet Is Built For Air Force

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—An experimental three-engine jet bomber, designed to support ground forces, has been built for the Air Force by the Glenn L. Martin company of Baltimore.

Military officials made a joint announcement with the company today and gave a few details of the radically-designed warplane, but withheld expected performance.

Now called the XB-51, it is the first three-engine bomber ever ordered by the Air Force, and the first three-engine jet plane built. Only two planes, to be used for test, have been ordered. The first one is expected to fly within a couple of months.

The new bomber is distinguished by its long fuselage, wings swept back like an arrowhead, its horizontal tail plane sitting atop the upright tail section, and two engines hung on pylons from the fuselage just ahead of the wings. The third engine is in the tail section.

The wing span is 55 feet and the length is 80 feet.

Victim Of Leprosy Contracted In Japan Camp Leaves For Home

CARVILLE, La., Sept. 19 (INS)—A 56-year-old grandmother who contracted leprosy while a Japanese war prisoner is en route to her New York home tonight following her release from the government leprosarium in Carville.

Mrs. Hans G. Hornbostel and her 68-year-old Army major husband, who remained devotedly nearby during her three-years of government - ordered treatment, left Carville yesterday by automobile.

Dr. Frederick Johansen, medical director of the leprosarium, announced Mrs. Hornbostel's release and said she would continue treatments in New York. He said she was "greatly improved" although the disease had not been technically "arrested."

The homeward journey climaxed a story which tugged the nation's heart strings when Mrs. Hornbostel was committed to the institution in 1946 after she and her husband, a survivor of the Bataan death march, were repatriated from a Manila concentration camp.

Amarillo Gold Sox Defeat Albuquerque, 5-3, In Playoff

Lagomarsino In Four-Hit Victory

AMARILLO, Sept. 19. (AP) — A four hit pitching job from Steve Lagomarsino and timely swatting from Paul Halter whose three singles drove in four runs, gave Amarillo a 5-3 triumph over Albuquerque here tonight as the Gold Sox took the third clash of the WT-NM Shaughnessy finals. The Dukes won the first two.

Lagomarsino was solved for two singles and homers by Dick Gyselman and Jim Fiscalini. He fanned seven batters, had good control, walking three and hitting one with a pitched ball. Amarnillo achieved eight against lefthanded Tom Breinsinger, who was thumped for two in the first. The Sox kept the lead all the way.

Breinsinger was quite a pitcher too, after a wobbly start. Four of Amarillo's hits came in that first. The thick set southpaw scattered four others the rest of the way, but two of them were Halter singles with runners ahead and another, a big homer to center field by Dick Gentzkow.

Jerry Folkman and Crawford Howard opened the unusual first with singles. Doug Lewis fanned, then Halter unloaded a liner to left for two runs. He threw to second and was held at third on Gentzkow's hit on a slow roller to short. Breisinger tossed out Carr, then threw into the dirt against Ted Clawitter, causing Gentzkow to break for third. Halter hadn't tried to score, but was erased, Fiscalini to Len Attyd to Ray Hamrick to Attyd.

Lagomarsino walked Allen Maul, hit Gyselman, passed Fiscalini in the third. After Attyd fanned, Maul scored while Hamrick was forcing Fiscalini at second. Gyselman was trapped off third and called out for deliberate interference with Clawitter's throw to Halter.

Gyselman hit his homer in the sixth and Fiscalini punched one in the eighth. Lagomarsino retired the Dukes in order in the important ninth.

Halter drove in his third run in the fifth with two out after Howard had walked and Hamrick bobbled on Lewis. It was a sharp blow to right but he was erased at second after Cliff McLlain had thrown to Attyd who relayed nicely.

Gentzkow hit the first pitch of the sixth over the center field wall. Jerry Folkman led the seventh with a single and was bunted to second. Lewis fanned again but Halter swatted a single to left for the run.

Hershel Martin will start another southpaw, Don Ferrarese in the fourth game of the playoff finals Tuesday night. Amarillo will counter with either Jim Reynolds or southpaw John Joslin.

Offensive Battle Slated When Oklahoma Meets Boston College

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 19 (AP) —When the University of Oklahoma meets Boston college Friday night, it will be an offensive battle with plenty of scoring and a chance for the Sooners to win.

That's the word of Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson, who spoke to Monday quarterbacks here today.

"Frankly, I don't know what chance we have," Wilkinson said. "I'm glad to get to stand up here now while I still have the prestige of a good team once."

The University of Oklahoma won the Big Seven Conference crown and Sugar Bowl trophy last season and has ten straight victories to its credit.

Notre Dame Tangles With Indiana

Top-Ranking Elevens Battle This Weekend

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP)—The college football season, just born, grows up in a hurry this week with four of the country's five top-ranking teams facing sinewy foes.

The south and southwest particularly cut loose just as if it were the middle of November.

Michigan runs against a Michigan State rival that finished strong last year.

Notre Dame plays Indiana and North Carolina engages North Carolina State.

California is the only member of the upper bracket ticketed for a mild afternoon, the Rose Bowlers tackling St. Mary's of California. The Golden Bears won their opener Saturday from Santa Clara, 21-7, while St. Mary's was bowing to Oregon, 24-7.

Oklahoma has a neat job cut out for it in Boston college at Boston Friday.

The south gets right down to the business of separating the men from the boys.

Tulane, regarded by many Dixie observers as the class of the Southeastern Conference, plays Alabama. Vanderbilt meets formidable Georgia Tech. Kentucky opposes Louisiana State and Tennessee takes on Mississippi State.

The Southern Conference, meanwhile, elects to test its muscles against the Southwest, with league champion Clemson invading Rice Institute. Wake Forest clashes with Southern Methodist and South Carolina meets Baylor.

The Pacific Coast offers an intersectional jewel in the meeting of last year's big upsetters—Navy and Southern California—at Los Angeles. Navy tied Army, 21-21, and Southern Cal tied Notre Dame, 14-14, in late season shockers.

Army, which was unbeaten and untied until the Navy draw, plays Davidson. The big game in the east sends Villanova against Penn State.

U.C.L.A. provided the mian surprise of the first busy week-end of football by whipping Oregon State, 35-13.

Other main results saw Stanford roll over San Jose State, 49-0; Villanova whip Texas A. and M., 35-0; Texas Christian down Kansas, 28-0; Wake Forest beat Duquesne, 22-7, and Washington edge out Utah, 14-7.

Hardin Leads In College Scoring

(By The Associated Press)

More than half of Texas' 29 senior colleges playing football have been defeated or tied.

Fourteen have unblemished records and five of those have not yet played a game. Four of them will swing into action this week. They are Rice, which meets Clemson at Houston; Southern Methodist, which plays Wake Forest at Dallas; Texas A. and I., which meets Howard Payne at Kingsville, and Baylor, which plays South Carolina at Waco.

The lone hold-out is Texas Lutheran college, which does not play until next week.

Of the nine undefeated and untied teams that have seen action, Hardin leads the way with two victories, 85 points and no points scored by the opposition.

This week Hardin plays Arkansas Tech at Russellville, Ark.

The standings of the undefeated, untied teams:

Team	W	L	Pts	Op	Pct.
Hardin	2	0	85	0	1.000
Texas	1	0	43	0	1.000
Texas Western	1	0	47	6	1.000
West Texas State	1	0	41	7	1.000
Texas Christian	1	0	28	0	1.000
Trinity	1	0	24	7	1.000
Sul Ross	1	0	31	20	1.000
Stephen Austin	1	0	19	7	1.000
Hardin-Simmons	1	0	13	7	1.000

Saturday's schedule—Hardin vs. Arkansas Tech at Russellville, Ark., Texas vs. Temple at Philadelphia, Texas Western vs. John Carroll at El Paso (night), West Texas State vs. McMurry at Canyon (night), Texas Christian vs. Oklahoma A. and M. at Fort Worth (night). Trinity vs. Southwest Texas State at San Marcos (night), Sul Ross vs. New Mexico Military Institute at Alpine (night), Stephen F. Austin vs. Mexico City college at Nacogdoches (night), Hardin-Simmons vs. Cincinnati at Cincinnati (night).

Bodyguard Assigned To Johnny Bratton

CHICAGO, Sept. 19. (INS)—Welterweight boxer Johnny Bratton was assigned a body guard tonight by the Illinois state attorney's office to protect him from alleged threats of assassination by Chicago gamblers.

Illinois boxing commissioner Joe Triner requested the armed protector for the Chicago pugilist in the wake of a charge by Bratton's managers — Howard Frazier and Danny Spunt.

Frazier testified before the Illinois Boxing Commission today that he had to payoff gamblers to save the lives of Bratton, Spunt and himself.

Secretary Truman Gibson of the International Boxing Club claimed, meanwhile, that he also was threatened by a telephone caller last night for arranging a match for Bratton with Beau Jack in Chicago, Sept. 30.

These developments came out of a meeting of the Illinois Boxing Commission—a meeting that was scheduled to decide whether Bratton should be allowed to substitute for Kid Gavilan in a match against Beau Jack at the Chicago Stadium, Sept. 30.

Frazier and Spunt asked that Bratton's bout be cancelled since they do not approve of the fight.

The English language is spoken today by more than 270 million people, of whom more than half are Americans.

Three Players Make Schoolboy Honor Roll

(By The United Press)

Three backfield performers from different sections of Texas held top honors today in the newly released Texas schoolboy football honor roll.

The three—Jack Newby of Amarillo, Johnny Linney of Longview, and Kenny Paul of Houston Lamar—shared the no. I honors, but they were closely trailed by a host of other young gridders.

The nominations were made in a poll by the Dallas Morning News of sportswriters throughout the state.

Newby carried the ball 14 times and netted 124 yards rushing. He scored three touchdowns on fine runs and passed for another. A performance which led Putt Bowell of the Amarillo Globe-News to say, "Newby figured in the most spectacular plays seen in Amarillo in years.

George Wright of the Houston Press singled out Lamar's Paul. He said Paul, a blocking back moved from guard, "Did grand linebacking and blocking jobs," and delivered the block which made possible Lamar's game-winning touchdown in its 6-0 game with Texarkana.

Quarterback Linney of Longview sparked the Loboes to a 32-0 victory against Jacksonville. He ran for two TD's and passed for two others. Linney's performance was outlined by Tony Zoppi of the Longview News as "The greatest individual one in Lobo stadium in years."

Ducats For Aggie-Tech Game Must Be Claimed Thursday

Tickets for the Texas A & M-Texas Tech football game must be claimed not later than Thursday night at 6 by all persons desiring to go to San Antonio for the game this weekend.

Morley Jennings, Tech athletic director, said that there were plenty of tickets available, but that all tickets not claimed by 6 p. m. Thursday would be returned to San Antonio.

This will be a "college game," in that students are being urged to attend the game and special preparations are being made for over nine special buses. It also is understood that the band will make the trip.

Cecil Isbell Resigns As Head Coach Of Baltimore Colt Team

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19. (AP) — Cecil Isbell has resigned as head coach of the Baltimore Colts, the All-America Football Conference club's board of directors announced today.

Walter Driskill, the Colts president and general manager, succeeds the former Purdue mentor at the helm of the floundering Colts.

Mentors Speak At Quarterback Club

Coach Dell Morgan found bright spots in Texas Tech's 43-0 loss to Texas, Coach C. R. Pattison noted some weak points in Lubbock High school's 47-0 thumping of Childress, Coach Damon Hill saw victory for Dunbar High school over Amarillo and Coach Allie White discovered five or six boys on Tech's freshman team that ought to help the varsity in 1950.

The mentors took over the spotlight at the Quarterback club's weekly meeting in Hotel Lubbock last night and appeared to have a good time, as some 200 fans asked questions and listened intently.

Pattison Speaks First

Pattison, speaking first, said that he was proud of his team, but that he still had trouble with the spread formation. He praised the way his team hustled, tackled and blocked, saying that the boys acted as though they wanted to play football.

The Lubbock High school coach warned that fans ought not to be misled by the defeat of North Side (Fort Worth) 25-13 by John Reagan of Houston last week. He declared that John Reagan had the best team in the City Conference and that North Side played them a tight ball game. He admitted that Childress didn't have enough to really prove just how good the Westerners were.

Discusses Texas Game

Morgan discussed the Texas game, showing where the Raiders made mistakes that cost them heavily. He also paid tribute to the work of several Techsan players, who played superb ball. He admitted that no team would beat the Longhorns in the opening game at this time of the year in Austin, but remarked that he wished the Raiders had made fewer mistakes so that they could have played a closer game.

The Raider mentor, however, found solace in the fact that the center of the Tech line was strong, that there was enough offense to promise better things in the future and that several sophomores came through with good performances.

White Surveys Frosh

Hill announced with characteristic modesty that the Panthers had opened the season Friday night at Hobbs, N. M., and had managed to luck out a 40-12 victory. He also announced that the Dunbar team would play Amarillo at Chapman Field in Lubbock at 8 p. m. Thursday. The public is invited to attend.

White was introduced to the crowd and then asked to survey Tech freshmen prospects. He gave a rundown on the probable first team and told a little history on each player. The Picadors open their season here Sept. 30 against West Texas State college fish.

Pictures of the Abilene Christian college-Texas Tech football game concluded the meeting.

McMurry, WTSC To Tangle At Canyon

ABILENE, Sept. 19—When the McMurry Indians engage the West Texas State Buffaloes Saturday in Canyon, it will mark the renewal of a football rivalry that began in 1926.

The two colleges have fought eleven grid battles with McMurry holding the edge in the win column, having won six to the Buffaloes' five.

McMurry handed West Texas State four straight defeats at the beginning of the series, holding the Buffs scoreless in the first three games. However, the Buffs came back to take the next four games and to hold McMurry scoreless in two.

The largest score recorded in the series was a 21-0 victory for the Indians in the first game, in 1926. The Buffaloes took the last game by clouting the Indians 20-0 in 1940.

The McMurry Indians were champions of the Texas Athletic Conference in 1948. West Texas State was a runner-up in the Border Conference loop.

An eight-man track squad will represent the U. S. June 6 in the British International meet in London.

Brooklyn's Rex Barney Hurls 4-0 One-Hit Decision Over Chicago

Phils Slow Down Cardinals, 4 To 3

CHICAGO, Sept. 19. (AP)—Phil Cavarretta's eighth-inning single spoiled Rex Barney's bid for a no-hitter today but the Brooklyn speed artist pitched a brilliant one-hit, 4-0, shutout against Chicago.

The 25-year-old righthander who hurled a no-hit, no-run game against the New York Giants, Sept. 9, 1948, the last in the majors, faced a total of 28 batters. He walked the leadoff man in the first, fifth and seventh innings before Cavarretta singled. Three fast double plays helped him out of the difficulty.

Bob Rush, who worked the first six innings, gave up all Brooklyn runs and six of their eight hits. Roy Campanella led the Dodger attack with two singles and a double.

Two errors were charged against rookie Bill Serena, up from Dallas.

SPAHN HURLS BRAVES TO 6-2 WIN OVER CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, Sept. 19. (AP) — Warren Spahn won his 19th game of the season today as he hurled the Boston Braves to a 6 to 2 victory over Cincinnati. The game was a re-play of a contest yesterday which ended in a 1 to 1 tie. The Braves had only a 3 to 2 lead going into the ninth but they clubbed Kent Peterson and Ewell Blackwell for three runs in that frame to clinch the game.

PHILADELPHIA PHILS BEAT ST. LOUIS CARDS, 4 TO 3

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19. (AP) — Rookie outfielder Eddie Sanicki drove in three runs with a home run and a fly tonight as the Philadelphia Phillies cooled off the redhot St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3, behind the steady pitching of another rookie, southpaw Johnny Thompson. The loss cut the Redbirds' lead over the second place Brooklyn Dodgers to a game and a half.

NEW YORK GIANTS DOWN PITTSBURGH PIRATES, 6-4

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19. (AP)—Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh left fielder, smashed his 50th home run of the year tonight to establish a National league record but the New York Giants nipped the Pirates 6-4 as Dave Williams homered in the first of the 10th with one on.

Kiner, who got his circuit clout in the second inning, became the first player in the National league twice to hit 50 or more homers in a season.

Miller Takes Lead In Western Tourney

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19. (INS)—An automobile dealer from Atchison, Kan., named Clancy Miller posted a par-71 today to take a two stroke lead on a field of 136 entrants in the 47th annual Western Amateur golf tournament in St. Louis.

Miller matched par figures on both nines of the wind-swept Bellerive country club. He played the outgoing nine holes in 36 and still had a 35 on the backswing despite bogeys on the last two holes.

A pair of St. Louis golfers—Hord Hardin and Jack Geiss — and Bob Winninger of Oklahoma A'& M took 73's.

Name players like Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N. C., and Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia had considerable difficulty playing the ribbon-like fairways of Bellerive course in the wind.

Stranahan had 76; Chapman scored 77, and McHale needed 78 strokes.

The lowest 64 scorers after tomorrow's second 18 holes of qualifying will compete in match play.

Lubbock Preps For North Side

Stroud Is Star In Childress Tilt

The Westerner football practice left a lot to be desired Monday by Coach Pat Pattison, and the workout lasted until dark as he sought to correct mistakes that always crop up on Monday.

Before the drill the team viewed action pictures of the Friday night game with Childress, which Lubbock won 47-0, and the team started preparations for the coming tilt with North Side of Fort Worth on Friday night in Jones Stadium.

The visiting Steers are expected to field a ball club that is hard to handle, offensively and defensively, and the game will be one of the best seen here all season.

Blocking assignments was the main point covered in practice Monday as the linemen let the defensive forward wall crash through in early practice and swamp the intended ball carrier or passer. The offensive and defensive teams in the scrimmage were slow to react, but hard work this week should get the team to operating smoothly.

Defensive and offensive standouts in the Childress game were many, but the performance of Wayne Stroud from his left halfback post was very encouraging. The chunky speedster carried the ball nine times from scrimmage, accumulating 121 yards for an average of better than 13 yards each try. Stroud scored three touchdowns and kicked four extra points for a 22-point total for the night. He returned one punt 14 yards.

Substitute Tommy Fisher had the best average per carry. He ran the ball one time, picking up 63 yards.

Malcolm Young scored one touchdown, carried the ball nine times and picked up 77 yards from scrimmage.

Quarterback Bobby Brown ran five times from scrimmage to gain 55 yards, scoring one touchdown on a 30-yard sweep, and racked up 106 yards on punt returns, making the most spectacular runback of the night with a 70-yard sprint that stopped on the Bobcat 10-yard stripe.

Although handling the ball but four times, right Halfback Charlie Williams gained 46 yards from scrimmage and played a fine defensive game. He averaged 11½ yards each carry.

Other touchdowns were made by Mac Taylor on a 25-yard run, and Don Rawls pushed one across from nine yards out. Morris Turner gained 34 net yards on four tries, and Billy Tooke picked up 15 yards on two carries.

FOOTBALL BROTHERS AT ABILENE — These five pairs of brothers are all members of the Hardin-Simmons university football team, which is scheduled to meet Texas Tech in the final game of the year in Lubbock. The Cowboys opened their season last Saturday night by eking out a 13 to 7 victory over North Texas State in Abilene. Hardin-Simmons has been made the favorite by many pollsters to win the Border Conference championship this year. Shown above are, left to right, Nolan and Chick Tiger, Raymond and Burl Troutman, Howard and Bob McChesney, Ed and Paul Petty and Verne and Leslie Stamper.

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

Lubbock's Westerners, after an easy time with Childress, run into tougher competition this week.

North Side's Steers, who invade Jones stadium Friday night, probably are one of the top three teams on this year's Lubbock schedule—and the strongest team to come here this fall (as both Amarillo and Odessa are to be played there).

Despite that 25-12 loss to John Reagan (Houston) last week, the Steers are one of the top choices in the Fort Worth city chase. A T formation club, North Side last year gave Lubbock an all-out tussle before going down, 21-14, and in 1947—well, let's just forget what the Steers did to the Westerners in that one.

After last week's explosive showing against Childress, I expect this week's Westerner game to draw one of the season's best crowds here. Fans who saw Lubbock seemingly want "more of the same," while many who haven't seen Pat Pattison's speed merchants in action probably will turn out following widespread favorable comment on last week's performance.

Lubbock's crushing win over Childress is particularly remarkable when one takes into consideration the fact that the Westerners did all the damage on the ground—and against a tightly-packed defense, at that. Childress used what amounted to an 8-2-1 setup through much of the last half, and still the Westerners continued to roll.

When Lubbock unfurls its passing game, the team should be a thing of beauty to watch.

As for Texas Tech's loss to Texas—well, my worst fears were realized. Those Longhorns did it again.

I think Coach Dell Morgan summed up the disaster pretty well in his brief comment, "They whipped us good." That is exactly what happened, and any attempts to "explain away" this one would be futile. The Longhorns simply drubbed the Raiders, from start to finish from goalpost to goalpost.

Some observers who saw the game maintain that, from tackle to tackle, Tech had superior line play. Maybe so, but if this is true, then Texas certainly must have a couple of wheelhorse ends!

In Texas A&M this week, Tech may find a Southwest conference club that it can beat. The Aggies were woefully weak in practically all departments against Villanova, and apparently are the conference's feeblest team. If the Raiders don't get by the Cadets, there's little cause to hold out hope of defeating either Baylor or Rice.

Reports from Seagraves indicate that the operation of the public address system at last week's Eagle-Big Spring "B" game was warmly received by Seagraves fans. Rev. Charles Brinkley, Presbyterian minister at Seagraves who is an ardent sports fan, used a portable microphone to follow play up and down the sidelines, giving fans the lowdown on every play—the ball carrier, tackler, etc. Incidentally, Seagraves' team showed in its opener that it's a vastly improved club this fall . . . Did you notice that Post, which finished fourth in the Oil Belt league regular-season play, upset first-place Sundown in the playoffs? It just goes to show that you never know what to expect in a Shaughnessy . . . 1948 Lubbock Westerners footballers who now are on college athletic scholarships include Bill Bridge and Denton Lambert, backs, Texas Tech; Bob Rooker, end, SMU; Ted Vaught, end, TCU; Lloyd Willis, guard, New Mexico; Jack Hensley, guard, Texas; and Leon Stuart, center, Odessa Junior college.

Arkansas Preps For North Texas State

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 19. (AP)—Don Logue, tricky sophomore ball-handler and bullet passer, today appeared to have nailed down the starting quarterback assignment for the Arkansas Razorbacks' 1949 grid opener Saturday.

The 168-pound Fayetteville boy and Halfback Buddy Rogers, a junior were moved up to the first backfield, joining veterans Leon Campbell and Ross Pritchard, on the basis of their showing in Saturday's intra squad game. Capt. Alvin Duke, counted on as a starting halfback, has a slight ankle sprain and is taking things easy.

The Porkers, who will meet North Texas at Little Rock in a night opener, worked hard on offensive timing and pass defense this afternoon.

Southern Methodist Works On Defense Against Wake Forest

DALLAS, Sept. 19. (AP)—Southern Methodist's Mustangs worked at defending against Wake Forest plays today and coach Matty Bell said the exhibition was "not very good."

Bell has a squad of ineligibles and transfers, which he calls the T team, using Deacon offensive plays. He said the team made ground consistently against the SMU defenses.

Oilman Glen McCarthy Trys To Buy Cleveland Browns Eleven

CLEVELAND, Sept. 19. (AP)—Oilman Glenn McCarthy of Houston tried to buy the Cleveland Browns' franchise and move the football team to Houston, coach Paul Brown said today.

But the team was not for sale, Brown quickly added.

The Browns are three-times champions of the All-American Football Conference. McCarthy has been reported in the market for some time to get Houston into the circuit.

Mercedes Puts In Bid For Softball World Series Title

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 19. (AP) — Mercedes, Tex., put in a strong bid for the championship of softball's World Series here tonight by turning back the Okmulgee, Okla., Oilers, 4 to 1.

It was the Oilers' first defeat in the double elimination tournament and left Mercedes undefeated.

STYMIE RUNS THIRD

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (INS) — Stymie, the nation's top money winning race horse, seems to be contenting himself with small additions to his bank roll these days. The Hirsch Jacobs horse, finishing third behind Stunts and Three Rills in an allowance race at the Belmont Park opening today, added $500 and now has won $912,235.

Hardin Indians Go Through Light Drill On Offensive Plays

WICHITA FALLS, Sept. 19. (AP)—Coach Billy Stamps today sent his Hardin Indian football team through a light drill, polishing offensive plays for an intersectional game Saturday with Arkansas Tech at Russellville, Ark.

The Indians drilled especially on their aerial game and a new set of plays from the split-T formation, which they used to run up lopsided scores of 40-0 against Daniel Baker and 45-0 against Eastern New Mexico university in their first two games.

Bert Linam Gains Win In 10-Round Bout With Minelli

Linam weighed 145½, Minelli 144¼.

Pancho Gonzales Expected To Turn Professional Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (INS)—Pancho Gonzales, the National Amateur tennis champion, is expected to turn pro tomorrow.

He is to sign a contract calling for a guarantee of $50,000 to make a tour with Jack Kramer, the professional champion.

Bobby Riggs, like Kramer and Gonzales a former amateur champion, will promote the tour.

TIL Teams Two Less Than 1948

AUSTIN, Sept. 19 (AP)—The number of Texas High schools playing Interscholastic league football has declined by two.

A total of 845 schools will have teams this year, compared with 847 last year, the league announced today.

Dr. Rhea Williams, athletic director, attributed the drop to school consolidations under the Gilmer-Aikin program.

The number of City Conference schools competing remained the same, 26, as last year.

A gain of one school in AA Conference resulted when Thomas Jefferson High school of El Paso entered competition this year. Conference A lost one school to drop to 227.

Conference B showed the largest gain, with 340 schools competing for an increase of 16 over last year.

The six-man Conference was hard hit, however, by consolidations and lost 18 schools from the 1948 total of 185.

Claude Harmon's five stroke margin of victory in the 1948 Masters golf tourney is the largest in the history of the competition.

Williams Tops Junior Circuit

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP)—Ted Williams of Boston, who led in five American league batting specialties a week ago, took over a sixth—most runs batted in—last week.

The Red Sox star belted in nine runs during the week to raise his total to 153. He took the honors from his teammate Vern Stephens.

Through games of Sunday, Sept. 18, Williams was the top batter with a .351 percentage; had scored the most runs, 143; made the most hits, 188; and the most doubles, 39, and homers, 40. Dale Mitchell of Cleveland had the most triples, 23.

Otherwise there was slight change from the preceding week among the top ten batters. Vic Wertz of Detroit dropped from ninth to tenth with his .298. Hoot Evers of Detroit climbed from a tie for tenth to ninth with his .301. Roy Sievers of St. Louis dropped from the top ten.

George Kell of Detroit ranked second with .341; Bob Dillinger of St. Louis was third with .316; Dom DiMaggio of Boston fourth with .313; Mitchell fifth with 312; Cass Michaels of Chicago sixth with .307; Johnny Pesky of Boston seventh with .306 and Bobby Doerr of Boston eighth with .305.

Leadership in the pitching division went to Boston's Ellis Kinder, whose 21 victories and five defeats was good for an .808 average.

JACKIE ROBINSON'S LEAD IN BATTING ON DECLINE

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Jackie Robinson's lead in the National league batting race which once measured some 35 points now has melted to three points over runner-up Enos Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals.

With the Dodgers and Cards engaged in rough-and-tumble pennant scrap, Slaughter continues to hack away at the mark of the Brooklyn second baseman who has set the pace for months.

Averages including Sunday's games showed Robinson hitting .344 to .341 for Slaughter. Stan Musial of St. Louis, third in the race, trails Robinson by 12 points at .332.

Back of the first three there is a 22-point drop to Bobby Thomson of New York, fourth at .310 Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati is fifth at .308.

Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh, hot on the trail of Babe Ruth's all-time homer record, hit three more during the week to make his total 49. He also gained ground on Robinson in the runs batted in race. Robinson still leads with 120 but Kiner has 118 RBIS.

Robinson leads in total hits, 192 and stolen bases, 32.

Lopat Hurls New York Yankees To 6-0 Shutout Over Cleveland

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Lefty Ed Lopat boosted the New York Yankees' American league lead over the idle Boston Red Sox to three full games today with a five-hit shutout of Cleveland, 6-0.

Lopat's second straight scoreless job left the Indians, defending world champions, on the brink of elimination. Now fourth, a half game back of idle Detroit, Cleveland trails the Yanks by 9½ games with only 11 to play. While they play Boston the next two days, the Yanks will meet the Chicago White Sox.

With injured Tommy Henrich back in harness, starting his first game since he hurt his back at Chicago Aug. 28, Lopat copped his 15th win at the expense of Bobby Feller.

Catcher Kovach Is Ordered To Kilgore

LONGVIEW, Sept. 19 (AP)—Over protests of the Gladewater club, President J. Walter Morris of the East Texas league today assigned catcher Steve Kovach to Kilgore for the remainder of the final round Shaughnessy playoff against Gladewater.

Kovach was with Marshall during the regular season. On the Kilgore roster he replaces catcher and manager Joe Kracher, who has an injured arm.

The Gladewater club had rejected Kilgore's request to add Kovach. But Morris said league directors had agreed any club whose catcher was injured during the playoff could secure replacement. He ordered Kovach to report to Kilgore "In the name of fair play and good sportsmanship."

Tech Drills For Aggies

Light work for some of the squad and scrimmage for the remainder was on the docket for the Texas Tech football team yesterday afternoon as they prepared for the Saturday night game against Texas A & M this week.

Coach Dell Morgan, with several bright spots in last Saturday's defeat in mind, went after mistakes made by the Red Raiders that cost the Techsans heavily. His theory is that if he can correct the mistakes and polish the bright spots, the Raiders will have a 50-50 chance against the Aggies.

Emphasis this week will be on strengthening the play of the defensive ends and defensive halfbacks. Texas had little trouble running the ends and little trouble passing into halfback territory. Aggie scouts are certain to have noticed the deficiency and Tech will have to strengthen its defenses along these two lines.

Yesterday the varsity partially scrimmaged and partially ran dummy scrimmage. One group was sent against a rugged freshman team and the results of last week's experience showed up. The Raiders were blocking better and opening good holes through a first year line that only last Wednesday stopped the Raiders flat.

The stress in the drill was blocking of defensive linebackers, a phase of the game Saturday that was only fair from the Tech standpoint. Raider backs were doing a better job of taking out the back defenses, making it possible for the ball carrier to move downfield.

Meanwhile other members of the varsity squad went through a long offensive dummy scrimmage at the other end of the gridiron. Emphasis in this group was on offense, with particular attention laid to passing. Much of the dummy drill showed up weakness in the ends getting into the open to receive, although Raider wings had better than fair success against the Longhorns.

Trainer Mason Gorby reported that the injured players on the squad were making good progress and all but Fullback J. W. Thompson probably will be ready for the Texas Aggie game.

Tackle Rex Pinson, who underwent a minor operation last week, was in uniform yesterday. Tackle John Andrews, who has missed both games so far with a deep shoulder bruise, also probably will be ready. Halfbacks Walter Maloney and Herman Bailey should be ready to go. Maloney has recovered from the charley horse that kept him in Lubbock last weekend and Bailey, although still on the doubtful list, was taking a workout.

End Jack Davis, who wrenched an ankle Saturday, may not be able to play much, if at all, Saturday. He is hobbling on his bad ankle, but was not suited up yesterday.

British Groups Rap Devaluation

be determined when the bourse—French stock exchange—opens tomorrow.

He estimated the franc would drop about six per cent in relation to its dollar value. This would represent a change of 350 to the dollar instead of the former 330.

The rate of 330 to the dollar was the official free market one although the government maintained the much higher rate of 272 franc to the dollar as the official import-export rate. The new 350 value for foreign trade thus represents a devaluation of about 27 per cent. The government said the old rate will be maintained for some Marshall plan goods already ordered.

CANADA MAKES CHANGE

OTTAWA, Sept. 19. (INS)—Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott announced tonight in the House of Commons that Canada's dollar is being devaluated by 10 per cent.

This was in line with speculation during the day that the Canadian dollar would be discounted ten per cent in relation to the United States dollar.

Gold Mining Shares Jump

The devaluation still leaves the franc above its black market value, however. After British devaluation last night the dollar rose in value from about 375 franc over the weekend to around 385.

It was considerably less drastic than predicted but may hit a lower level in bourse trading.

Meanwhile in London gold mining stock shares jumped as much as 25 per cent in value in the frenzied trading by thousands of clerks and brokers in Throgmorton street outside the closed exchanges.

Sir Stafford Cripps, British chancellor of the exchequer, told a news conference there will be no further price increases "at the present time," but acknowledged he must study the question further.

Conservatives Call Meeting

Britons felt the devaluation most sharply in price increases of wheat and flour announced by Cripps when he told his nation and the world the pound had been slashed in value from $4.03 to $2.80.

Winston Churchill, leader of the opposition Conservative party, joined Liberal party leaders in demanding that the ruling Laborites reconvene parliament not later than next week to discuss the devaluation.

Churchill said he has called Conservative party leaders to meet Wednesday to discuss the situation.

Government officials in dozens of other capitals throughout North and South America, Europe, Africa and Asia met to discuss their governments' course of action.

Other Nations Act

Australia, Denmark, India, Norway, South Africa, Egypt, Ireland, New Zealand and Israel devalued their currency last night to bring it into line with the new British pound.

Iceland, Finland, Iraq, Holland, Indonesia, Burma and Straits settlements followed suit although in the case of The Netherlands and Indonesian guilders the rate was not announced.

Sweden devalued the crown to a new rate of 5.18 to the dollar as against the former exchange of 3.60 to the dollar. The rate of exchange with the pound remained at 14.50 crowns.

Belgium and Switzerland are not expected to devalue their currencies especially since the Swiss franc is considered the "hardest"—most valuable—currency in Europe.

Hungary Hikes Exchange Rate

The first iron curtain reaction came from Hungary which announced it is upping the exchange rate of its currency, the forint, from 46.96 to the pound to 28.90. The announcement of British devaluation was printed without comment in Moscow newspapers. No indication of Russia's plans are given by the Soviet government.

Canada is expected to announce a reduction of from 15 to 17 cents in the value of the Canadian dollar in an effort to preserve the export market with Britain, its largest overseas customer.

Western German leaders, in the course of forming the first government for the new federated republic, indicated they would like to devalue the West German mark now pegged at 30 cents. Its "free exchange" value is about 20 cents.

Italy Delays Action

Italy held in abeyance any action until the return on Wednesday of Finance Minister Guiseppe Pella from Washington but the lira sagged in black market trading to 663 to the dollar.

The Syrian government announced it will not devalue its pound.

Two South American countries, Brazil and Argentina, which have a large trade with Britain are unlikely to devalue their currency as regards the dollar and they are awaiting developments before realigning them on the pound.

Argentina's economy especially is affected since virtually the whole of the nation's meat exports go to Britain.

Selling Prices Frozen

South Africa, which normally operates with a very free economy, froze all selling prices at the prevailing rate.

Although normal foreign trade was at a virtual standstill in Europe, black markets accurately represented the new rates as the dollar gained in value and the pound shrank.

In Britain, Cripps plea to workers that they not make any further wage demands and to employers that they hold salaries at present levels received a setback from one union group.

The shop stewards of the national council of engineering and allied trades denounced what it called "propaganda" against "legitimate wage claims." This group is seeking a pay raise of a pound a week.

There is general expectation that besides the rise in the price of wheat and flour some increases also will be necessary in the case of tobacco the majority of which comes from the dollar area.

UN Opens Today

sembly in Paris a year ago, Vishinsky seemed in vigorous health.

Romulo Victory Assured

A total of 18 foreign ministers, including all big four members, will be on hand in the auditorium tomorrow.

Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines, whose election to the assembly presidency on the first ballot is assured, predicted that the session will be described in the future as "the peace assembly."

The Soviet bloc will vote against Romulo because he has been assigned by the Philippine president with the task of organizing an anti-Communist front in the Pacific. He will become the first president to be elected on the first ballot.

Immediate Action Slated

Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium won on the second ballot four years ago in London; Dr. Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil was elected on the third in New York, and H. V. Evatt of Australia was chosen on the third in Paris.

Romulo said he will get the assembly into action from scratch, confining his acceptance speech to one minute. On the three-months session ahead, he said:

"The climate for peace is far more favorable than it was in Paris. World developments are such that we can work constructively in the assembly. After four years, the foam has been blown off by the hard facts of life. People no longer look for the impossible but primarily for concrete accomplishments."

World Situation 'Better'

UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie concurred in the viewpoint that the world situation "is a little better" and cautiously predicted that some of the former tough problems would be solved. He has in mind issues like the Italian colonies, the Balkans and Indonesia.

Warren R. Austin, permanent head of the United States delegation to UN, also foresaw positive results. He asserted that "The atmosphere prevailing is the kind in which reasonable men can come together."

Arms Bill Pushed

Red Tanks Called Best

Tydings quoted Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, as saying that in event of a third world war 40 or 50 well-equipped divisions could withstand a European aggressor "for months, and perhaps turn the tide."

The senator contended that placing too much confidence in the U. S. Air Force and the atom bomb is "the most delusory thinking of which the human mind is capable."

Tydings said that the Russian air force surpasses America's in some numerical categories but observed "I don't think it the equal of ours."

The Maryland Democrat added that Russia's 5,000,000 soldiers are backed by "the finest tanks on the face of the earth."

Early Passage Foreseen

Democrats and Republicans agreed to step up action on the arms measure and the consensus of senators was that a bill will be passed this week, with the final figure perhaps whittled down from the amount now asked.

Majority leader Lucas (D-Ill.) called a night session for Tuesday and indicated hope that the bill will pass by Thursday. Minority leader Wherry (R-Neb.) said the Republicans will cooperate and suggested a Thursday night session if necessary.

As Connally fired the opening barrage for administration forces, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) predicted that the Senate will make some slashes in the arms funds for non-Communist Europe. But Knowland said he doubted that the cut would be as drastic as the 75 per cent slash urged by Sen. George (D-Ga.).

Fund Slash Proposed

The bill would give "teeth" to the North Atlantic defense pact by making a billion dollars in arms funds available to European members of the alliance.

The measure also calls for $75 million to combat Communism in China if the President decrees such an outlay and the remainder of the fund would go to the Philippines, Korea, Iran, Greece and Turkey, for defense purposes.

Connally told the Senate that free Europe's defenses now are so weak that without U. S. arms aid the pact nations could not "fight the gallant and effective delaying action they did in two world wars."

Wherry announced that he will support the George amendment for a 75 per cent cut in foreign military assistance funds. Administration supporters hoped to counter the slash move with the argument that the bill would deter Russia from any "Pearl Harbor"—type attack.

Waggoner Ranch Foreman Hurt When Helicopter Crashes

VERNON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The veteran foreman of the Waggoner ranch was injured Monday when the helicopter in which he was herding cattle plummeted 50 feet to the earth 10 miles north of Seymour.

Tony Hazelwood, who has rounded up many a herd with a horse, was flying in a helicopter piloted by Wayne Schlesinger of Houston and accompanied by Sherman Kennedy, Waggoner ranch pilot. Schlesinger and Kennedy were not injured.

Hazelwood was in a Vernon hospital Monday night with three fractured ribs and lacerations of the face.

"From now on, we'll stick to horses in herding our cattle," he said.

Youth Is Held In Theft Probe

Police and members of the district attorney's staff last night were continuing questioning of a young Latin-American arrested early Monday by officers investigating theft of a coat belonging to a Lorenzo man. The suspect was being held for investigation of misdemeanor theft and burglary.

Wilson Yardley of Lorenzo Star route, they said called the police at 12:15 a. m. Monday and said a blue suit had been stolen from his car parked in 300-block Ave. H. at a cafe.

Name On Tag

He said the coat should have his name on a cleaner's tag.

At 12:24 o'clock, a call was received by police saying a prowler had been sighted in 200-block Ave. K and that someone had gone into a window of a residence there.

The police sent squad car patrolmen there, and Sgt. Blakney, seeing a window pane broken, called for whoever was in the place to come out. Hugh Hayes and R. A. Thompson stationed themselves at entrances. The suspect came out, and Blakney went in and found a blue coat draped across a chair.

It had Yardley's name in it, on a tailor's tag.

Thefts Reported

The suspect said the place belonged to his brother who, he claimed had gone to New Mexico.

He denied having been out of the house all night, and said he had bought the coat at an Amarillo second-hand store.

Two cedar chests, four silver dollars, a wrist watch, a variety of keepsakes and an unannounced amount of "change" were reported stolen Sunday night from Mrs. W. E. Bledsoe of 703 Thirty-sixth, when her premises were burglarized.

Prices Squeezed

5 to 10 per cent in terms of the devalued Australian money.

What price benefit on imported goods the American consumer may derive will depend on the eventual balance reached between prices on foreign and domestic markets.

One importer in New York predicted a 10 to 20 per cent drop in prices of British woolens sold here; imported whiskies might show a smaller drop; a New York dealer cut 20 per cent from prices of British automobiles, without waiting to see what their manufacturers would do to their selling list; a chinaware importer forecast "a reduction—we don't know how much."

Brokers Take To Open

Trading in stock shares here and abroad reflected business views of prospects in the economic shakeup.

In Britain, which is gambling with devaluation to encourage exports, stock exchanges were closed. But brokers took to the open air and bid shares sharply higher in street trading.

On Wall street, an initial burst of selling faded out, but final quotations were a few cents to $1 a share lower. Disputes in coal and steel industries were credited with affecting market sentiment perhaps more than the devaluation, although the British move could give American producers more competition generally.

Gold mining stock prices went up everywhere.

companied a thunderstorm and blew over a 70-foot television receiving aerial. Lightning hit a house.

A thunderstorm damaged a building and powerlines at Baytown. Powerline damage interrupted service to the old Goose Creek oil field area for more than two hours. Lightning hit the Baytown Elks building and tore off a corner of the coping. More than two inches of rain fell in 20 minutes.

It was at places like Baytown, along the Gulf coast, that rain was the heaviest. Taft reported 3.58 inches, Corpus Christi 2.13, Refugio 2, Sinton 1.5. Beaumont, however, had only .19 inch.

Smithville, in Central Texas, had 1.55 inches, and Bernham, in southeast Texas, reported 2.73. Other Texas points reporting rain were Del Rio, Palestine, Laredo, Ozona, San Angelo, Lufkin, Victoria, Marfa and Texarkana.

Court of Criminal appeals reversed the judgment and remanded the case for a new trial.

Venue recently was changed to the court of Judge Alton Chapman upon motion of Judge Dan Blair of the 72nd district.

Defense Offers No Evidence

The court of criminal appeals held that Holland had been deprived of his right to file his bills of exception.

In today's trial, just as in that at Lubbock, the defense did not offer any evidence. It had sworn witnesses, but did not call them. No motions were filed, newsmen were informed.

The state was represented by 110th District Attorney John Stapleton, Crosby County Attorney Lloyd Wicks, jr., 72nd District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr.

The defense was conducted by A. C. Cooke and Bryan B. Dillard, of the Lubbock law firm of Dillard, Cooke and Dillard.

It required approximately one hour to complete the jury. The state completed its evidence before noon. After the noon recess, the defense announced it would close without offering evidence.

Earlier Fire On Great Lakes Ship Reported By Crewmen

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 19 (AP)—Two crew members revealed today that 24 hours before the S.S. Noronic became a flaming trap, there had been a smaller fire in one of her staterooms.

"That was why someone found a fire extinguisher empty when he tried to use it," said crewman Marvin Brown, 16, of Sarnia, Ont.

Brown and Harry Brain, 22, also of Sarnia, told of the stateroom fire. Brown said he had seen some of the crew standing around unaware for a while of the bigger blaze Saturday night. It was this conflagration which turned the Great Lakes pleasure steamer into a fiery shell, taking at least 121 lives. Eighty-four passengers still are among the missing, but many of them may have returned to their homes without reporting their escape.

Phillips Youth Is Located Working In Store In City

A 17-year-old Phillips youth, object of a four-state search launched by his hometown newspaper when his mysterious disappearance in Kansas July 7 resulted in fears of foul play, was reunited with his father here Monday.

The youth, Linnie Lee Creacy, who "dropped out of sight" while following the wheat harvest, told sheriff's officers and Texas Rangers that he had been in Lubbock for about two weeks, working in a furniture store and living in a downtown hotel. He said he had followed the harvest as far north as the Dakotas.

Returns To Home

Chief Deputy Sheriff George Eubank located the youth by following directions of an anonymous telephone call. The Morning Avalanche carried the youth's picture and a story giving details of his disappearance Monday following an interview with his mother, Mrs. M. L. Creacy and a Borger newsman. The pair drove to Lubbock Sunday in search of information concerning Mrs. Creacy's son.

The search focused on Lubbock after Mrs. N. D. Morrisson, of 1608½ Broadway, told Borger newsmen she had seen young Creacy at a theater here Sept. 10. Mrs. Morrison formerly lived at Phillips and was a schoolmate of the youth.

Creacy's father earlier had expressed the fear that his son's body "might be found somewhere in a shallow grave."

The youth merely told officials that his father had accused him of damaging the family truck and had asked him if he couldn't better express his responsibility.

"I just decided to show him I could make my own way—and I've been making it," Creacy said.

Farm Roads Meeting Is Held At Dimmitt

DIMMITT, Sept. 19. (Special)—Col. Joel I. McGregor, vice-president of the Texas Rural Road association, made the fifth stop in his county-to-county campaign to improve the farm roads of Texas here at a meeting held at 8 p. m. today in the county courthouse.

The meeting attracted 45 persons who elected County Judge Robert Estes president of the new local group. Willis Hawkins was selected as vice-president and Swain Burkett as treasurer. Joe Cowen was chosen secretary.

The first special meeting of the local road group was called for Sept. 29.

Judge Otho Dent of Littlefield, state president of the road association, was present at the meeting tonight.

"I am simply amazed at the response and enthusiasm that I have encountered on my tour to organize the people of the state in better farm road programs," Col. McGregor said at the completion of the meeting. "I will stop at Littlefield Tuesday night, Tahoka Wednesday night and Levelland Thursday night to wind up my tour," he announced. "However, we plan to start a new tour series by the middle of October."

Charging Texas' natural resources are fast being exhausted, the Rural Roads association is carrying its fight to the state legislature for a severance tax on all such products. Money so raised would be used only to build roads and other permanent improvements in the state.

Russians Agree To New Austrian Talks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Russia belatedly agreed today on a new attempt to settle the long east-west dispute over Austria's future.

Talks will open in New York on Thursday.

American officials expressed some skepticism over the outcome, but said the discussions may provide a clue to Russia's immediate intentions in the cold war.

Youth Breaks From Snyder City Jail

SNYDER, Sept. 19 (Special)—Police here were searching tonight for a 19-year-old jailbreaker who fled the city jail shortly after he had been picked up with two juvenile companions for questioning in connection with a series of motor scooter thefts in several Texas cities.

Vernie Head, deputy sheriff of Scurry county, said the youths were in possession of two stolen vehicles at the time of their arrest. It was believed they might also have been involved in the burglary of a school at Hermleigh earlier today.

The trio was arrested about 7 p. m. after Sweetwater police had warned officers in the area to be on the lookout for two scooters stolen there. At the city jail where they were placed in the "run around," the older youth managed to pry open a door and run from the station.

Deputy sheriff Head said scooter thefts had been reported at Abilene, and Brownwood and it was believed the trio may have abandoned one set of scooters in each town, stealing more as they traveled their way across the state. All said they lived in Fort Worth.

Lamesa C-C Meet

ond, "not only must we redeem the American home, but also we must redeem education."

"There is an inevitable tie between home life and national life," Bishop Hines declared. As a matter of sociological history the home is the basis for our culture, he pointed out, but added that "such a burden has been placed upon the American home that security and stability connected with it has largely been destroyed.

Spiritual Rootage Pulled Up

"If the home has failed, then the task of the school and the church is made harder because they in turn are burdened," he said.

"Home life is tremendously valuable in our American estate."

Going to his second suggestion for keeping the republic, Bishop Hines declared that "one of the most vital factors is education."

However, "for decades we have been busy pulling up the spiritual rootage from our educational system and have not bothered to put it back," he declared.

He pointed out that many of the nation's major colleges and universities were founded by the church, and traced the influence of the secular world upon private schools.

Criminal Age Drops

In 1776, he said, 100 per cent of the material used in educational textbooks was devoted to moral and spiritual emphasis, while at the present time, less than one per cent is concerned with such emphasis.

As a correlation, he pointed out that the average age of the nation's criminals has become steadily younger.

He reminded his listeners that "this republic was founded not upon man's achievements but upon man's faith in God."

"There is a question in the minds of many as to whether the republican way of life will survive the Marxist, atheistic influences confronting it," he said.

"There is also a question in the minds of many others as to whether the republic can survive a moral secularization."

Program Presented

The dinner meeting was held in the cafeteria of Lamesa's beautiful new high school building.

Connally Baldwin, president of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, presided. Invocation was offered by Rev. Julian Atwood, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lamesa.

A chorus composed of 12 young Lamesa matrons, directed by Richard Crawley, sang three songs. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. B. Miller.

Out of town guests at the meeting were introduced. They included David Nicholson, manager of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce; Houston Crump of Odessa; Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce; Miss Edith Gates, secretary of the Big Spring C-C; Douglas Orme, president of the Big Spring C-C; Jim Carle of San Angelo; Dewain Davis of Midland; Virgil Crawford, president of the Brownfield C-C.

F. W. Groce and Earl B. Collins, of Lubbock; J. M. Crook, assistant manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. A. A. Reagan, jr., of Dallas; L. G. Dardy, of Seminole; H. C. Kyle, of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce: Joe Hussey, Odessa; L. A. Wilke, of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; and Charnell Jobe, a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Other special guests were State Sen. and Mrs. Kilmer B. Corbin of Lamesa, and State Rep. and Mrs. Preston Smith of Lubbock.

In conclusion of the program, the audience sang "America the Beautiful."

the virtues of the purely private enterprise, we are bound to recognize the fact there are fields in which there must be governmental cooperation..."

Brannan speaking at a panel discussion on land earlier in the day, called Republican charges that "a welfare state" will result from democratic programs a "scare campaign."

The secretaryy laughed at Republican attempts to label the Democratic program a welfare state saying that all the GOP offers is "a no welfare state—no welfare for any of us."

Farm Subsidies Urged

Brannan also lashed at Republican attitudes toward the west, charging them with regarding the region as "a colony of the east—a colony to be exploited."

The high administration official whose controversial farm program has stirred heated debate warned that "fear of abundance" could result in a "creeping paralysis" for the American economy.

County Budget For '50 Okayed fund, $6,000; transfer to officers salary fund, $25,000; transfer to health program, $16,000; reserve held, $14,135.

That makes the total $829,033.91.

Payments To Start Oct. 1

The budget is based upon round-number valuations of $60,000,000, less 10 percent figured off for delinquencies.

The 1948 valuation was $47,000,000 in round numbers.

Collections on the current tax roll will commence Oct. 1. Penalty and interest will be added Feb. 1.

H. B. Bryan, who took over the tax office several weeks ago, has done virtually the "impossible" it was said. All rendered property is now on the tax rolls. He has about two weeks in which to work up the unrendered rolls.

County Judge Walter Davies presided at the court session. Commissioners are R. O. Short, George G. Green, Ottis Isom and Pat Corley.

Miners Walk Out

the walkout was passed around.

Several non-union miners operated and the rival progressive miners of Illinois stayed on the job.

UMW officials insisted Lewis did not call the strike. The UMW chief has made no public comment on the walkout, but it was he who warned his men last winter to "tighten your belts, guard your savings and be prepared to all-starve together."

Official Is Optimistic

There was no immediate indication of the possible length of the strike. One union spokesman in Pittsburgh said:

"I'm optimistic. I think there might be some good news out of the meeting tomorrow."

He referred to the resumption of negotiations between the UMW and the southern operators in Bluefield, W. Va. The northern and western operators are due to meet with Lewis at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Wednesday.

The miners are angry because all payments of their welfare fund have been stopped. Lewis and the other two trustees of the fund halted all benefits last week because the reserve was disappearing rapidly.

Contracts Claimed Expired

Miners were quick to explain their anger was not directed at their chief, but at the southern operators who have stopped paying the royalty. The operators claim their contracts with the UMW have expired, and therefore they are not obligated to pay the royalty.

The miners, who had been on a three-day week since July 1, adopted a "no pension, no work" slogan to replace their former "no contract, no work" tradition.

The idle miners were determined in their strike. Questioned about how they would get along without even the slim checks they had received under the three-day week, they shrugged and answered:

"The hospitals are full of people who wouldn't be able to get treatment if it wasn't for the welfare fund."

No immediate hardship in industry was expected to result from the strike. Stockpiles are estimated at 60 million tons or more. Some small industries might be hit soon if the strike continues, and an early cold spell would empty the bins of domestic users and their dealers.

Steel Strike Threat

insurance program and six cents for pensions.

Although the mediators said the talks were "tough going," Ching declined direct comment on the prospects of averting the strike. He said:

"We are exploring the positions of both sides. We are just getting the feel of the situation. Things aren't far enough along to make any predictions."

John A. Stephens, U. S. Steel vice president, who presented industry's point of view to mediators, also refused comment, explaining:

"We don't want to interfere with the mediation effort by saying anything. The meetings are still on."

Kaiser Is Absent

The mediators said Henry J. Kaiser, head of the Kaiser Steel corporation, declined to attend the meeting because he expected to "negotiate a mutually satisfactory agreement" with the union when his contract expires Oct. 15.

In his statement, Murray said that "of course" neither party was bound to the fact-finding report in advance but added:

"The real question is whether the parties will accept the recommendations now that they have been rendered by the board as the basis for a prompt settlement."

"We are ready and we will proceed to negotiate with any and all companies and to conclude a prompt settlement on the basis of the board's recommendations.

"It is in the national interest that all parties do so if the strike in the steel industry is to be averted."

Senate Beats Down GOP Solons To Okay Carson For Trade Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Beating down Republican opposition, the Senate approved today President Truman's selection of John J. Carson to be a member of the Federal Trade commission.

It confirmed the nomination 45 to 25 on a roll call vote which saw only six deviations from party lines.

Carson, 59, is a former Indianapolis and Washington newspaperman who most recently has been research and information director of the Cooperation League of the U. S. A. His economic views came under heavy fire from GOP senators.

HARSH MEASURES PROMISED

Germany's New Boss Stresses Future Anti-Nationalism Policy

(Editor's Note: Dr. Konrad Adenauer, in his first signed article following his election last week as Germany's first chancellor since Adolf Hitler vanished in the ruins of Berlin, herewith outlines the political blueprint of his government. The 73-year-old Catholic Christian leader who was fired as mayor of the Rhineland city of Cologne by Hermann Goering in 1933 pledges his government will "invoke the harshest measures" against any resurgent nationalism. He cites the restoration of Germany into the family of nations as his major goal.)

By DR. KONRAD ADENAUER
(Chancellor of the federal republic of Germany; Written expressly for International News Service.)

BONN, Sept. 19.—The Federal Republic of Germany will make it its business to watch out for any signs of resurgent nationalist tendencies and is prepared, if necessary, to invoke harshest measures to combat them.

Whether such latent radicalist or nationalist forces will regain strength and political influence depends entirely upon the success or failure of this first federal German government, particularly in the social and economic fields.

Swift Restoration Favored

At this junction, however, I regret that abroad there is so much talk about a resurgent nationalist movement in this country. These reports are grossly exaggerated and are not borne out by facts.

It is my firm belief that the quicker and more effectively Germany is being restored into the family of European nations and of the civilized world as a whole, the lesser the danger of a new or resurgent nationalism in Germany.

What then is our program for the next four years?

Our thinking is guided by the firm knowledge that Europe is the bastion of the Atlantic pact nations whose natural outpost is of course Germany. In turn, the security of the entire west hinges on the state of orderliness in this part of the world.

Arms Not Enough

However, with the present progress of modern science and the current vacillating world situation, such security must not rest on arms alone.

Man alone can vouchsafe this security and the only formula for ensuring it is first to solve the social problems of Europe and within it, those of Germany.

For this reason it is our intention to pursue a policy whose keynote is the solution of just such problems.

First we must take care of refugees and all those whose existences were uprooted by the war.

Resettlement Necessary

We cannot build bastions on running sands.

The resettlement of these refugees and displaced persons is a "soil conservation" measure which is in the interest of the entire West.

In particular we are counting on the continued help of the United States which in the past took such a splendid lead in the recovery of Europe and Germany in particular.

We must not be let down at this stage.

What is our main program then? It is nothing short of German's incorporation into the family of Europe, for without Germany, the European union is but an incomplete structure.

German Membership Desired

To realize such a plan, the first step must be to give Germany membership in the European union, even if for the time being we are denied participation in the council itself.

The Federal Republic of Germany already stands pledged to contribute its utmost so that it can again become a full member of the European family and the world. Our best contribution is to put this country on its feet, in every sense of the word.

Only in this way can we fulfill our maximum effort towards the security of a free democratic world.

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (U.P.)—Gov. Allan Shivers' office received the resignation today of Rep. William S. Jameson of El Paso as a member of the 51st Legislature.

Jameson in his letter said he was resigning to move to San Saba "where I have taken up permanent residence and become engaged in the practice of law." He will become a law partner of Rep. Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba.

Tech Graduate Holds New Post At Abilene

ABILENE, Sept. 19 (Special)—Learning by doing is the opportunity being offered Abilene high schoolers this fall through the medium of a new course being offered here by Leroy Crews, a graduate of Texas Technological college.

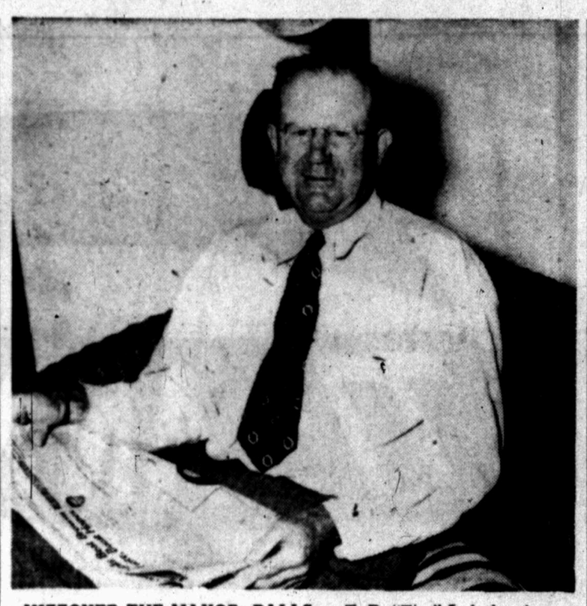

Called "Distributive Education," the subject is augmented by cooperating businessmen who accept the high school students as part time workers in learning specific types of business, especially retailing.

Crews, who graduated from Tech with the Bachelor of Business Administration degree last June, teaches the group for two hours each morning and then supervises the positions he secured for them through the local concerns.

Aim of the course is to better acquaint and equip graduates of the Abilene public school for jobs in the business world and to give them a better background for success.

Crews attended Tech in 1932 for the first time and is a former basketball letterman there. He served with the Far Eastern air force in World War II and was discharged in 1946 as a staff sergeant.

The odds against women giving birth to quadruplets in the United States are about 650,000 to 1.

SELF SUPPORT IS SEEN

Foreign Aid Chief Hoffman Says Devaluation Will Help Europe

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Foreign Aid Chief Paul G. Hoffman said today that British and other currency devaluations "give added promise" that Marshall Plan countries will become "self-supporting" by June 30, 1952.

Hoffman called the action of Britain and the other countries joining her in devaluing their currencies "a bold and imaginative measure of far-reaching importance to the European recovery program."

The State department formally disclaimed any U. S. responsibility for the British decision but termed it a "constructive economic step" fully approved by America "as an appropriate measure in the present circumstances."

Must Meet Deadline

Meanwhile, Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), labeled the British decision to cut the dollar value of the pound sterling from $4.03 to $2.80 "courageous" and said that "if consistently maintained it should be a major recovery step."

Sen. Malone (R-Nev), declared however, that the new pound value still "means a false and dishonest value when measured against the dollar standard." He said the pound "should be allowed to reach its level of true value in the markets of the world."

The Marshall plan ends on June 30, 1952, under present law, and Hoffman has emphasized that western European countries must meet the deadline.

Other Moves Seen

Hoffman predicted that the drastic currency move will be followed by a considerable number of trade and currency measures in Europe which will greatly ease the interchange of trade.

He declared, however, that the sharp cut in the pound and in other currencies "is not a cure-all for Europe's problems."

Hoffman said the British believe they can sell sufficient goods in the U. S. as a result of the devaluation to much more than offset the 30 per cent loss in her purchasing power in this country resulting from devaluation.

Hoffman emphasized that the U. S. is interested in three subsequent steps to further still more the process of European recovery. These are:

1. The substantial curtailment of the quantitative restrictions on trade, which he described as the most rigid form of trade barrier.

2. Greater convertibility of currencies throughout Europe and the elimination of various false currency rates.

3. Removal of tariffs, which he commented is now an amateurish form of trade limitation.

Abernathy Man Gets Suspended Sentence

Suspension of five-year sentence was allowed Cleon Higginbotham, 21, of Abernathy, Monday afternoon under recommendation of a 99th district court jury that heard him plead guilty of statutory rape of a 13-year-old Lubbock girl.

The girl's mother took the stand and recommended that the defendant be given "another chance," counsel said.

Both sides closed evidence at 3:20 p. m., after the state had called several witnesses, including the complaining witness, her mother, and a nurse. The state also introduced a birth certificate showing the complaining witness' age, and a confession of the defendant.

The defense called four fact witnesses, including the defendant, and these reputation witnesses: J. W. Strickland, Hale county deputy sheriff, Andrew Holt, Abernathy justice of peace, and W. A. Richter, Abernathy postmaster.

A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney, prosecuted. The firm of Berry and Ball represented the defendant.

More Than 40 To Try For Education Posts

Candidates File For New Board

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. — Filing deadline for the first State Board of Education election in Texas history found more than 40 candidates for the 21 places today.

Elections will be held on a congressional district basis Nov. 8. Only three of the 21 districts had unopposed candidates at 5 p.m. The deadline for applications to reach the secretary of state was midnight tonight.

Senate Approval Required

Creation of an elective state board of education was an important part of the Gilmer-Aikin education laws passed by the 51st Legislature this past session. At the same time, the Legislature abolished the statewide elective office of school superintendent. It authorized the new board to appoint a state commission of education.

In the past, a nine-man board of education has been appointed by the governor. His appointments were subject to confirmation by the Senate. The new elective board's choice for commissioner also will require Senate approval.

Prominent Candidates Enter

The Nov. 8 special elections have attracted several politically prominent candidates.

Grover Sellers of Sulphur Springs will run in congressional District 1. He is a former attorney general of Texas. He was an unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1946.

Leon Coker, 46, of Naples will oppose Sellers.

Roy G. Baker of Sherman, former president of the National Young Democratic clubs, filed his application from District 4 today.

Baker's entry provided last-minute competition for Paul Mathews, 45, of Greenville. Mathews is supported by a group headed by Greenville school Superintendent J. A. Anderson.

Members Seek Reelection

Former state Senator William C. Graves and Dr. J. F. Kimball, both of Dallas, will challenge one another in District 5.

Three members of the present board of education will seek election. They are Jack Binion of Houston, District 8, Vernon D. Singleton of Dallas, District 5, and Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, District 17. Binion and Singleton have two opponents each; Mrs. Perkins, one.

Two candidates had not gotten their loyalty affidavits in at 5 p.m. Midnight was also the deadline for candidates to meet that requirement to qualify for a place on the ballot.

Full List Given

The full list of candidates, by districts, at 5 p.m. was as follows:

New Member Added To Tech Research Setup

Wider Use Of Texas Cotton To Be Sought

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

Wider use of Texas cotton in fiber manufacturing may be the result obtained in a few years by the cotton research committee at Texas Technological college, which has added Dr. Lyle E. Hessler, formerly with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, to its staff.

Experimentation with cotton mill adjustments and fiber technology will be under the direct supervision of Dr. Hessler, who comes to the Tech campus as a research associate from the government's Beltsville, Md., headquarters.

Education Program Planned

"We hope to show the mill operators that Texas cotton is just as good as that grown east of the Mississippi for many types of cloth weaving," Dr. Hessler said in outlining his future work here.

Texas cotton has long been considered inferior in many respects for mill spinning because of its shorter staple, Dr. R. C. Goodwin, head of the Tech research committee pointed out.

"The undesirability of cotton from this area for weaving has been largely due to the lack of knowledge in how to adjust machinery to handle it," Dr. Hessler said, however.

It will be the aim of the research here to find ways of making local cotton adaptable to spinning and to show mill owners that its use will be cheaper for them.

Improvements Are Sought

Shorter staple of Texas cotton, and more especially that produced on the South Plains, is caused by climatic conditions, soil and seed varieties, Dr. Hessler explained. Studies are now underway to determine whether a seed variety not used here might improve the staple length.

Tech's research in the field of fiber technology is part of a three-fold plan underway here and at the University of Texas and Texas A and M. Texas is concerned largely with marketing, while Texas A. and M. deals with seed and breeding.

Dr. Hessler himself was with the department of agriculture for 13 years and worked in Austin, the University of Kentucky and in Beltsville. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota with a degree in biochemistry, backed up by a minor in bacteriology.

Full Study Slated

Studies of the physical properties in South Plains cotton and methods in which they can best be utilized as a spinning fabric will be included in the research committee's studies. As the program develops, further uses of cotton will be sought and a chemical laboratory for scientific research is planned.

In explaining the need for research of this kind, Dr. Hessler reminded that practically all Texas cotton was exported before World War II and that those markets have been largely shut off since that time. Domestic millers have for many years considered cotton from this area as a sort of drug on the market, unfit for successful weaving.

"It will be our job to find new and more economical uses for Texas cotton and better methods of weaving it and to convince millers our product is as good as that produced from longer staples," the research associate asserted.

Nine men are now included on the Tech research committee, which will make use of data compiled from time to time by the government in their studies.

Inspection Tour Is Slated In Cochran County Wednesday

MORTON, Sept. 19 (Special)—A field inspection tour for Cochran county farmers and business men will take place Wednesday, September 21.

The tour will end at the Morton court house square at 1 p. m. and will end at 5 p. m., according to Cochran county agriculture agent Homer E. Thompson.

Included on the inspection trip will be:

Conservation practices, wind breaks, grass seeding on dry and irrigated land, bench leveling, weed control, results of cotton insect control, terracing and contour cultivation. Routing of the tour can be obtained from Thompson if late starters want to join at some point on the route.

In the free-swimming stage the young oyster larvae is a favorite food of many ocean creatures, including other oysters.

Tech Increases Teaching Staff

Seven late additions have been made to the teaching staff of Texas Technological college for the fall semester, it was announced Monday by Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Tech.

Included are instructors in civil engineering, psychology, geometry, marketing, mechanical engineering, library, and cotton research.

James E. Platz has joined the library staff to become assistant librarian in charge of circulation, while Dr. Lyle E. Hessler has been chosen as research associate in the field of cotton research. Both men will be concerned more with other phases of work rather than with instruction, however, Dr. Wiggins pointed out.

Tech Grad Returns

Edward L. Holt, who holds a master's degree from the University of Colorado will be assistant professor of geology. He comes to Tech from the West Virginia Institute of Technology.

Adrian C. W. Bowden will be instructor in civil engineering. He holds a degree from Tech. Milton Thompson, who received his master's degree at Tech, is returning as instructor in education and psychology after doing work towards his doctorate at the University of Texas.

Warren Rice and Robert W. Friedberg will be instructors in mechanical engineering and marketing, respectively, to round out the recent additions.

Lubbock Agent Gets Diploma From College Of Underwriters

Odie Hood, representative of the Southland Life Insurance Co., was among 289 life underwriters from all over the U.S. eligible to receive C.L.U. diplomas from the American College of Life underwriters at a recent meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio.

A C.L.U. (Chartered Life underwriter) designation after the name of a life insurance man, indicates that he has completed the equivalent of at least two years of college study in life insurance education.

Educational standards for the C.L.U. examinations have universal respect in insurance, professional and academic circles because of the fact that recognition is given life underwriters who need to know more than the principles and practices of life insurance itself. Their calling deals ultimately with economic and sociological problems, with the principles and psychology of salesmanship, private and corporation finance, banking and commercial credit, thrift, investment, taxation, contractural relations of many kinds, trust arrangements, and the management of estates.

THREE ADMIT TREASON GUILT

Accused Red Names Dulles As Link With American Spy Ring

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

BUDAPEST, Sept. 19.—Three former high-ranking Communists testified today in the Hungarian treason trial they were paid to act as American spies but one failed to recognize the picture of the man he said hired him.

Dr. Tibor Szoenyi, a top official of the Hungarian workers party; Andras Szalai, another former political leader, and one-time police Col. Bela Korodny pleaded guilty to treason against the Communist government.

Dulles Claimed "Agent"

They were the fourth, fifth and sixth defendants in the trial to make ready avowals of guilt that almost certainly will result in death penalties for them.

Dr. Szoenyi named Allen W. Dulles, brother of U. S. Senator John Foster Dulles, as the "contact man" for American espionage in Switzerland and for the Balkans.

When he was shown a picture of Dulles, a wartime leader of the U. S. Office of Strategic Services, Szoenyi failed to recognize him. He explained this by saying it was perhaps "because he is wearing glasses in the picture and didn't wear them in Switzerland."

(In the United States, Dulles laughed off the charges and said of the Communist regime "they are the greatest inventors of fairy stories that I have ever known." He said he never met Szoenyi.)

Falters In Testimony

Former Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk, Lt. Gen. Gyorgy Palffy, highest ranking officer in the Hungarian army, and Lazar Brankov, Yugoslav embassy counselor in Budapest, already have made confessions of guilt.

Korondy testified he organized on Rajk's orders, a special armed police force to arrest and, if necessary, assassinate deputy Prime Minister Matyas Rakosi and other pro-Russian Hungarian Communist leaders.

Szoenyi also faltered in his testimony in telling of his alleged meetings with Dulles.

At one point the former top Communist said he frequently met Dulles between September, 1944 and March, 1945. A few minutes later Szoenyi said he had his last two talks with Dulles in November, 1944.

Szoenyi said of the November, 1944, meeting with Dulles:

"He instructed me to infiltrate with my friends in the Communist party of Hungary, to reach high positions and seek to spread American influence and also to obtain confidential information.

"Dulles also told me to transmit information through Colonel Cicmli, chief of the Yugoslavian military mission in Hungary."

The prosecution has repeatedly sought to link Marshall Tito's Yugoslavia, ousted from the Cominform bloc, with the United States and U. S. counter-intelligence.

Trial was scheduled to begin today but when the case was called Hanks' attorneys presented a doctor's statement certifying that Hanks is confined at a Corpus Christi hospital.

Movie Beauty's Engagement To Virginia Socialite Called Off

WARRENTON, Va., Sept. 19(INS) The three-month engagement of cinema beauty Elizabeth Taylor and socialite William D. Pawley, jr., today foundered on the Hollywood rocks.

The strapping 28-year-old Pawley, who looks like a matinee idol himself, disclosed that "Miss Taylor and I have mutually agreed" to end the much publicized betrothal.

Pawley made the announcement at "The Plains," Warrenton, Va., estate of his father, a former ambassador to Brazil and a millionaire utilities magnate.

Young Pawley, who himself is vice president of a Miami transit company, admitted that the movie committments of the raven-haired 17-year-old actress "had something to do" with their decision to call it a day.

He said: "The whole matter was handled on friendly terms."

Pawley added: "Liz is a very sweet girl, very sweet."

"This courtesy is contagious!"

One of our party-line customers decided the other day that the others on his line deserved a round of applause, and he wrote us a letter about it. He said:

"I am writing this note to compliment my party-line associates for their thoughtfulness in sharing the line. They are what makes party-line telephone service extremely enjoyable and satisfactory.

"If they try the line while I'm using it they very gently lift the receiver; and when they hear a conversation going on, they—also very gently—replace the receiver.

"Also they limit the length of the conversations. I have yet to wait more than two minutes for them to release the line after I have tried it to make a call.

"This courtesy is contagious; they have me doing it."

Party-line service is the choice of about half our customers in normal times when anyone who wants it can have an individual line. But today a good many party-line customers are waiting for the individual lines they would have if equipment were plentiful.

We want to be able to give everyone the service he or she prefers. Where equipment in neighborhoods permits it, we are making some progress in that direction now, despite the continuing heavy demand for telephones from those still without any service.

What we are working to do is eventually to get everyone the type of service and as much service as he or she wants. We appreciate your understanding.

Acheson Warns Years Of Strife In Caribbean Area Must Halt

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson said tonight that the years of warlike turmoil in the broad Caribbean area must stop.

Acheson called on Latin-America to join with the United States and end it. He made it clear this country will strongly oppose "aggression" or plotting against any nation of this hemisphere."

The security system which culminated in the Rio treaty "is now facing a crucial test," the secretary declared. This treaty among American Republics pledges each to assist if another suffers armed attack.

Acheson made the Caribbean issue a cardinal point in an address stressing this country's determination to encourage the growth of Democracy in this hemisphere and to extend a helping hand for economic development.

Policy Is Reviewed

He gave a full dress review of this nation's Latin-American policy before the largest gathering of top Latin-American diplomatic and economic leaders in many years. It was a dinner meeting of the Pan American society of the United States.

Last Wednesday, a five-nation peace committee, including the United States, appealed to the American republics to rid themselves of the Caribbean legion or other armed revolutionary groups. It called for observance of non-intervention.

Caribbean feuding has been marked by two attempts of the legion to invade the Dominican republic; an effort to bomb Caracas, the capital of Venezuela; a rebel invasion of Costa Rica from Nicaragua, and gun-running from revolutionary plots.

Acheson said the nations of this hemisphere "must abide by our regional commitments and maintain peace in our own midst.

"If all . . . proceed along these lines, as we in this country intend to do, there is no reason why any nation in the hemisphere should fear aggression."

Wherever aggression or plotting against any nation of the hemisphere occurs or is threatened, "we shall use our strongest efforts, in keeping with our international commitments, to oppose it," he said.

Acheson dwelt at length on the controversial subject of diplomatic recognition of revolutionary governments in Latin America.

"Recognition is not synonymous with approval," the secretary observed. U. S. policy is not inconsistent with "our encouragement of democracy," he added.

Acheson ticked off our three major regional objectives:

1. The security of the United States and of the hemisphere.
2. Encouragement of Democratic institutions.
3. Positive co-operation in the economic field to help attain the first two aims.

NEW OFFICERS NAMED

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—Dr. Louis Travis of Jacksonville was named president of the private hospital and clinic association of Texas at its annual meeting here yesterday. He succeeds Dr. E. O. Nichols, jr., of Plainview. Other officers named included Dr. Cary Poindexter, Crystal City, vice president, and Dr. Neil D. Buie, jr., of Marlin, secretary-treasurer.

Polio Victims Are Reported Recovering

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 19. (Special) —Three of the 11 new polio cases from the Panhandle and the South Plains that have been admitted to West Texas Polio center here over the weekend are residents of Lubbock.

Jerry Singleton, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Singleton of 280 Allen; Cecil Kaiser, 20-year-old route 5 farmer; and Kenneth Wayne Williamson, 17-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williamson of 2806 Maple, are the latest Lubbock victims to the disease that apparently is once again on the upgrade in West Texas.

The conditions of the victims are good, nurses at the polio center announced late tonight. Only one of the three, K. W. Williamson, has suffered any paralysis so far, they revealed.

In addition to the 11 cases reported at the center over the weekend, two "possible" cases have been admitted since Friday.

The most recent admittance was Joe East, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. East of Quail. The child was barely able to breathe on arrival at noon yesterday, nurses said, but a quick tracheotomy and a trip to an iron lung revived the boy and today he was reported improved.

LUBBOCK GIRL RECOVERING IN ABILENE HOSPITAL

ABILENE, Sept. 19. (Special)—Among the recent polio victims from the Panhandle-South Plains area is Miss Margaret Ann Bartlett, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Bartlett of 208 East Wabash, Lubbock. Miss Bartlett, who contracted polio three weeks ago, is reported as improving at Hendrix Memorial hospital here.

She was a spring graduate of Lubbock High school.

Mass Violence Imminent At Cotton Mill, Official Declares

TARBORO, N. C., Sept. 19. (INS) —The superintendent of Tarboro's Hart cotton mill today warned that mass violence is imminent at the strike-bound plant—minutes after he himself was allegedly pounced upon by a striker.

Violence flared anew at the mill, idle since May 12, when three striking members of the CIO Textile Workers' union were arrested for assaulting mill Superintendent Marcus Carter and negro Clarence Knight.

Knight was one of 85 employes to return to work since mass picketing was ended by a court order last week.

Police said Carter was attacked by Clarence White as the mill executive left his office at noontime.

The pair exchanged blows but were separated before any damage was done.

Only a few hours before, two negro union members, Dave Owens and Wilson Boyd, were arrested for slugging and beating Knight.

Carter charged that unionists had "constantly molested" people since last Thursday when strikers agreed to obey the anti-picketing order in the face of threatened action by the North Carolina highway patrol. Carter said the restraining order still is being "flagrantly violated."

In ancient times pearls were symbols of sorrow. They were believed to be tears of God.

Jury Acquits Judge Of Murder Charge

ATLANTA, Sept. 19. (AP)—A jury acquitted tonight Judge Robert Carpenter of attempted murder after a five-day trial.

The jury was out 59 minutes.

The judge's eyes promptly filled with tears and he put his arm around his lovely, 20-year-old stepdaughter, who also fought hard to keep from sobbing aloud.

As soon as the jury announced its verdict, the courtroom broke into cheers, despite an earlier warning by trial Judge Virlyn B. Moore that he would tolerate no demonstration.

The handsome 44-year-old civil court judge was charged with shooting in the face John Lockwood, 53, his one-time best friend, later attorney for Mrs. Carpenter in a divorce suit.

He said on the witness stand he fired at the former Philadelphia lawyer to foil an attempt to steal his wife, money and good name.

British Devaluation Cushioned By Decline In Other Currencies

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Twenty-four hours after Britain's long-anticipated devaluation of the pound there were some outstanding factors which remained to be assessed.

Many effects of the action had been discounted for months as it became increasingly apparent that it was inevitable. More exports to the United States, higher prices in Britain, devaluation by many connected countries — all these things were expected and the only uncertainty about them is a matter of degree.

Cut Deeper Than Expected

But the cut was far deeper than had been generally expected. An average of the forecasts would have produced a pound rated at between $3 and $3.20, and the latter was the most widely talked figure. At $2.80 the pound was cut to the free market price.

The question immediately arises whether Britain, forced to take her pride under her arm and to undergo important risks to her own standard of living, may have acted deliberately to force all other currencies down and so to cushion the effect on prices of the things she must import.

Other Currencies Disturbed

Sir Stafford Cripps says the deep slash was decided upon to make sure that there would be no thought of further devaluation, and with the idea that the pound could be raised if circumstances permitted.

But an immediate effect has been to disturb the currencies of some countries which have been highly stable—especially Switzerland, Belgium and Sweden—and to make further cuts likely in France and Italy, which already had devalued and were in pretty good financial shape.

It was enough to raise the question of whether the dollar might eventually be affected, as it was 18 months after Britain went off the gold standard in 1931. Already many world prices are being reset to reduce the actual increase in dollar purchasing power which the British action seemed to have created.

The 3,000 islands of the Bahama group extend over a distance of 630 miles.

Devaluation Likely To Cut Wool Price

BOSTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Wool may be a little cheaper, as a result of the devaluation of the British pound, but not much, the Boston wool market expected today.

Counteracting the price drop attributable to devaluation, President John G. Wright of the Boston Wool Trade association said, is a climb in prices at wool auctions in Sidney, Australia.

Fine Australian ("seventies") he pointed out, recently sold for $1.60 here. Operations in black market sterling, he added, made that wool available for $1.50.

The devaluation of the pound sterling, he said, dropped that price to $1.12.

However, a 15 per cent climb in wool prices in the Australian auctions, means a cost per pound of $1.29.

He said another 10 per cent rise expected in Australia and Europe would bring the price up to $1.40.

"The price as far as our importers go," he said, "is down 30 cents today, but it may be 20 cents tomorrow," Wright said.

The Boston market is waiting to see the effects of the devluation, and they should be varied, he said.

He reported very few fine wools in the Boston market right now. Replacement costs in the primary markets, he said, would determine the value of the wools here.

Waco Publishing Company To Begin Constructing New Plant

WACO, Sept. 19. (U.P.)— Newspapers, Inc., publisher of the Waco daily newspapers, this week begins construction of a new $500,000 plant.

H. M. Fentress, president of the firm, said the plant would be located at Ninth street and Franklin avenue.

Besides housing the Waco newspapers, the plant will include general offices of Newspapers, Inc., which also publishes dailies at Austin and Port Arthur.

Among new equipment planned, Fentress said, is a 40-page press.

Las Cruces Woman Dies Of Injuries Received In Crash

EL PASO, Sept. 19. (AP)— Mrs. Juan Madrid of Las Cruces died today of injuries received in an automobile accident 18 miles west of Las Cruces, Saturday night. Her husband is in a hospital here with a fractured skull and a broken neck.

The Madrid car collided with a car driven by Carlos Amos, 15. He and four passengers were hurt.

POLITICAL MOVE

Mr. Justice Minton

WHILE the President's selection of Sherman Minton of Indiana, as an associate justice of the U. S. Supreme court will add no great legal distinction to that body, Mr. Minton at least has a background of judicial experience. These observations assume, of course, that the nomination will be confirmed.

The nomination obviously was dictated by political considerations. There has been nothing outstandingly distinguished in Judge Minton's career. He was a mediocre New Deal senator who was decisively defeated for reelection in 1940, despite the Roosevelt landslide, after one term in the office. His service as a U. S. Circuit court judge has been no better than ordinary, at best.

But, as a senator, Mr. Minton was one of the most vigorous and vocal of New Dealers—particularly when President Roosevelt made his unsuccessful attempt to "stack" the Supreme court. So, when the voters of Indiana kicked Minton out of the senate, Mr. Roosevelt took care of him, first by appointing him an administrative assistant and, in 1941, by nominating him to a circuit court vacancy.

As a senator, Minton also became the close friend of Harry Truman, then senator from Missouri. Mr. Truman's loyalty to his personal friends has been demonstrated too often and too recently to require comment. And it assuredly did not militate against Judge Minton as a Supreme court possibility, as viewed by the administration, that his record should appeal to the more leftist and socialistic elements.

His nomination was a reward for political loyalty. It should mean votes for the administration from the leftist fringes in the national elections of 1950 and 1952. Definitely it has the earmarks of a "good move politically." And considering Mr. Minton's background of judicial experience, his appointment is not likely to impair the quality of a rather mediocre supreme judiciary, even though he probably won't improve it.

Same Old Stuff

THE assurance by Sen. J. William Fulbright, of Arkansas, that Congress will, without doubt, repeal discriminatory federal taxes on oleomargarines next year calls for a resounding Bronx cheer.

Americans have heard that story before. They were given the same assurances early during the congressional sessions of 1948 and 1949. Each time the repeal was approved overwhelmingly by the House. Each time the powerful butter lobby managed to get it stymied in a committee dominated by dairy state senators.

Mr. Fulbright and other senators who have given lip support to the repeal measure offer the lame excuse that it isn't their fault that the entire senate has not been given a chance to vote on it. If they were as eager to get action on the bill as they pretend, they could force a showdown. Instead, they supinely have allowed about 20 dairy state senators to bottle up a bill which unquestionably would be passed if the senate should insist upon the opportunity to vote on it. Even the butter lobby acknowledges this.

In view of the past record, most Americans cannot place faith in "assurances" like those now offered by Senator Fulbright. He, in common with all senators, must share the blame for a course of action which has blocked, rather than carried out, the wishes of the vast majority of the people the law makers are sworn to represent fairly, impartially and protectively against the greed of selfish interests.

We have a sneaking suspicion that a neurosis is nine-tenths laziness. We have never known a neurotic who was much good at working.

All work and no play makes jack—most of which the person spends in his later years in an unsuccessful effort to regain his health.

Old Faithful Is Getting Ready To Blow Again

Steps To The Moon

By ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Gaynel Teare has accepted Fritz Freyman's proposal of marriage, even though she had been previously asked by Barry Bainbridge, young Detroit millionaire, to be his bride. Gaynel, however, has many problems to settle first. Her family, which she has supported since her father's death, must now get along on its moderate income, and not rely on Gaynel's salary. Gaynel also owes Barry money which he advanced for an emergency operation on Gaynel's younger sister Pat. But the hardest task will be to tell Barry, who is waiting for an answer to his proposal. Gaynel decides to tell Barry on the way home from a football game at Ann Arbor. But while they are at the game, Barry spies Denny, Gaynel's brother, with Madeline Day, a widow with whom Denny is infatuated.)

XXVI

BARRY put the glasses to his eyes. He said, after he had located them, "It's Denny, all right. And Madeline. Shall we try to make our way over? It would take quite a bit of doing. But I think we've got time."

"I told you I haven't any desire to meet Denny's new flame." Gaynel supposed she was being nasty. But that was the way she felt about it. "I didn't suppose you knew the lady well enough to call her by her first name," she added.

Barry said he didn't. Except that the one time they had met through Denny, Mrs. Day had asked him to.

"Hum, how sweet of her!" Gaynell was having another look, thanks to the glasses. "She isn't exceptionally pretty. And she looks older than Denny."

"I expect she is. But that wouldn't matter. Any more than it matters that she isn't pretty."

Gaynel put the glasses down to look at Barry now. "What is there about her then?" she asked. She was simply dumbfounded at Barry's defense of this woman. He must have been taken in, too.

"You've heard of that indescribable something, haven't you?" Barry returned. "There's no word for it, really. Unless it might be 'glamour,' and that poor word has been so overdone and misused."

"It certainly has," Gaynel said. She put the glasses to her eyes again; then put them down as abruptly. "Have I got it, Barry?" she asked. "Glamour, I mean."

HE regarded her gravely, as though giving the matter his most serious attention. He shook his head. "No, but you don't need it, my dear. You have youth and beauty, joy and gayety—oh, lots of other things."

"Thank you," Gaynel said. "But I believe I'd rather have that indescribable something." She knew what it was. Fritz had it. Besides youth and good looks and laughter and fun. It was what made him irresistible. Disarming. Barry, with all his dark, lean attractiveness, with all his fabulous wealth, did not possess it. At least not for her.

"Maybe that's it," she said aloud. "Glamour is that something that one person has for certain people; that something that does not exist for anyone else."

"That's a good definition, in a way," Barry said. "Only in that case, my dear, you should have it for me, since you're the one-and-only girl, you know."

"You know me too well!" Gaynel put in quickly. Perhaps that was why Barry did not have it for her. "Glamour means uncertainty, the call to adventure that lies in the heart of all of us . . . mystery. That is the word for it." Perhaps she was not really the one-and-only girl for Barry, as he thought. She was no mystery to him. He had taken her pretty much for granted for a long time. Now he was more eager because he was not sure of her. It might not be so difficult now to tell him about Fritz. He would get over it, even though he might think he would not. Barry would find someone else who possessed that indescribable something for him.

The whistle blew for the start of the second half and Gaynel once more became part of the shouting and slightly hysterical crowd. Time lost its meaning for her, and it was with a start that she suddenly became conscious of Barry's voice making itself heard above the roar of the crowd.

"There's only one more minute to go. Don't you think we'd better get a head start and beat the mob?"

He was not the only one to think of that. Already people were beginning to leave their seats. The first big flaky drops of snow melted as soon as they found a resting place. By the time Gaynel and Barry had located the car, which was no easy task with row after row of cars parked as tightly as the proverbial sardine, it was raining a fine, steady drizzle. By the time they got onto the main road it was necessary to practically creep along, as the long line again formed a sort of procession.

GAYNEL thought, I'd better get it over and done. Before we get out of this parade and hit it up a bit. Before this opportunity slips through my fingers. But oh, dear! how to begin. She had a sort of letdown feeling, anyway, after so much excitement. She doubted if her vocal cords could ever be the same.

"It was grand, wasn't it," she sighed, whipping off her hat and shaking the drops from it; slumping down so that she could rest her head against the back of the leather cushion.

Barry was pretty much occupied with his driving. The cars in back were honking impatiently for more speed ahead. The rain, which was coming down in sheets now, did not help any.

"Talking about glamour," Gaynel went on, "I think it's something one person must feel for another—to be really in love. What I mean is, you can be awfully fond of a person—as I am of you, Barry, and you are of me—but unless there's that glamour, too, it's just fondness, at least it's not the real thing. There's not that mystery . . ."

"What are you trying to say?"

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

"DO you believe in Magic?"

That is the question one of my readers asked me in today's mail.

He explained that he had been at a performance the night before where a man who called himself a magician had done some of the most astonishing tricks, tricks that could not be called anything else but magic.

BRANDEIS

"Is there such a thing as magic?" asked this reader. "Do you believe in magic? Can you explain it?"

Quite a dish to digest, isn't it? But I can answer his questions without a moment's hesitation.

Of course, I believe in Magic, but not the kind to which any questioner refers.

There definitely is such a thing as Magic, the kind in which I believe.

Magic, according to the dictionary, is something that seemingly requires more than human power; that is startling in performance; that produces effects which seem supernatural.

The first evidence of magic in life is Birth.

Who can explain it? What human being can create another human being by himself alone?

The magic that begins with Birth goes on.

The new-born baby is conscious of everything around him. In a few weeks he smiles, he notices things, he recognizes his mother and father. Then he walks and talks and grows and develops. He begins to think and to assume responsibilities.

Isn't that Magic?

Can you explain it? Can anyone explain it, any more than one can explain the growth of lovely flowers and stately trees from tiny seeds?

LOVE comes into the boy's or girl's life.

There, indeed, is Magic for you! Love, with all its beauty and all its sorrows; the love of a mother for her children, of a husband for his wife, the love of two sweethearts for each other.

Would you want any better proof than that that Magic exists?

What else but Magic is Faith? The faith for which people have dared and died, the faith that is the seed from which all Progress and all Success must grow?

What else but Magic are the Soul and the Conscience which keep men from evil and are the fountain from which all decency, charity and kindness flow?

There is Magic in laughter and Magic in tears.

There is Magic in healing. There is Magic in remembering and in forgetting.

There is not a minute of the day that does not contain the very Magic of being alive.

Yes, dear reader, I believe in Magic just as I believe in God, the great Magician.

IN FEUD WITH LEWIS

Murray Holds Lead

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Scotsman Philip Murray walks around with a cat-and-canary smile these days as he thinks of the shock which his proposal to settle the steel dispute gave to his old enemy at United Mine Workers headquarters here—UMW President John L. Lewis. It is what the CIO leader calls a "g-r-r-rand victoree" in his slightly burred accent:

TUCKER

Two human factors influenced Mr. Murray and his young associate, Walter Reuther, as much as the consideration that a wage boost at this time would have upset an economic applecart that seems ready to hit high speed for the 1949-1950 period ahead. John L. figured in the Murray-Reuther decision, and so did the CIO's friend in the White House, Harry S. Truman.

RINGERS: Mr. Murray believes that he threw two ringers around the Lewis neck. First, he caught up with his UMW rival by winning a pension-and-welfare system for his million followers.

Inasmuch as the union pattern in steel is usually basic to all key industries, installation of a pension system will have broader repercussions than it did among UMW's 400,000 members.

Thus, Mr. Murray may become known as the father of a general retirement plan in American industry, not Mr. Lewis.

DIFFICULT: Mr. Murray's acceptance of a no-raise agreement may also prevent John L. from getting an increase for his miners in his current negotiations with the operators. The outcome in steel will stiffen the coal operators in their bargaining.

Moreover, the leaders of two other key industries involved in wage disputes—automobile and electrical workers—are friends and co-CIO bosses with Mr. Murray. It is probable that he will persuade them to settle for pensions and benefits, without insisting on wage upping.

If that should be the result of the steel deal arranged by President Truman, Mr. Murray and the industry's representatives, it will be difficult for Mr. Lewis to hold out for more money. He would be accused of selfishness and lone-wolfishness.

Thus the Scot would stand forth as the nation's leading labor statesman, a role which Mr. Lewis has occupied hitherto.

BREAK: Mr. Murray also won his executive committee to acceptance of the presidential fact-finders' proposals by arguing that industrial peace at this critical moment would be a great political break for President Truman.

"He has been our friend when we needed him," he pleaded, in effect. "Let's stand by him now."

He pointed out that the White House had "bypassed the hated Taft-Hartley Act" in handling the problem to show that the statute was not necessary to maintain industrial stability. To reject the offer, he continued, would renew demands for the pending, Senate-passed substitute, and weaken all future efforts to repeal the existing law.

A series of strikes precipitated in steel, he noted, would hurt the Democrats in the 1950 and 1952 campaigns, especially in Ohio, where organized labor will seek the defeat of Senator Taft next year. Even at the sacrifice of more money now, Mr. Murray declared that a go-along attitude would pay dividends in the long run.

Thus there was as much politics as economics behind the steel deal.

ACHIEVEMENT: Sir Stafford Cripps and Foreign Minister Bevin have been given assurances that more American money will be forthcoming for European recovery when the Marshall Plan gifts and loans are terminated in 1952. It was their greatest dollars-and-cents achievement at Washington, in their opinion.

The post-Marshall Plan financiers will be the Export-Import bank and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, commonly known as the World Bank. The latter agency was organized at Bretton Woods under Anglo-American auspices, but with this country as the largest contributor to its capital. Export-Import is a government concern and controlled by whatever Administration happens to be in power.

ACE: The four-year operations of the World Bank reveal that its untapped resources will be used as an Anglo-American ace in the game of international poker.

Before operation of the Marshall Plan, three beneficiary countries — France, Netherlands and Luxembourg—borrowed $497 million at 3 per cent on deposit of satisfactory security. The only borrowing from M.P. participants after that program became effective amounted to $43 million. The balance of $173 million in loans has gone to Finland and Latin-American countries.

Three-quarters of all these advances have been financed in the United States. The Administration has exerted influence to create an American market for the World Bank's bonds. Congress has authorized national banks to deal in them. It has also given this agency the right to sell its securities or any guaranteed by it without registering with the S.E.C. Forty states, under Washington prodding, have made them eligible for institutional investors.

England has already applied for loans for development of its "colonies and dependencies," which include present and former fragments of the Empire.

BOYCOTT OF SPAIN ASSAILED

Policy On Tito, Franco Scored

By U. S. SEN. MARGARET CHASE SMITH
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, — I don't like the idea of doing business with Tito, The Yugoslav premier is just as much a Communist as Stalin. He is just as opposed to our American way of life. It is only three years ago that his forces shot down our American planes and killed our American boys. He has never disowned Communism. In fact he claims that he sells a better brand of Communism than Stalin, himself.

SEN. SMITH

I think our government officials, including those of the State department, feel the same dislike for Tito and all that he stands for. Yet they have promised to deliver a 3-million-dollar steel mill to him. They are extending a U. S. credit of 20 million dollars to him to buy American machinery. England, to whom we have loaned so much money, is lending Tito 36 million dollars. He may get a 50-million dollar loan from the World bank, which is principally financed by the United States.

Companion To Franco

Now compare this new foreign policy of the United States toward Tito with our policy toward Generalissimo Franco and Spain. Until recently Tito has been teamed with Russia in fighting the cold war against us. Popular belief is that Franco did what he could to help Hitler during World War II and still remain technically neutral. Tito is a Communist. Franco is a Fascist. But they are both really totalitarians and operate in much the same way. About the only really basic difference between them is their attitude on religion. At one time their major difference was their attitude on Russia. Tito being for Russia, Franco being against Russia. Now they are both against Russia.

THIS religious difference certainly should make us favor Franco over Tito. But our government continues to boycott Franco and suddenly starts playing ball with Communist Tito. Why?

It would be nice to think that the difference in our foreign policy was a matter of principles—a matter of morality. The State department has attempted to justify its Franco Spain boycott on the grounds of principle. But certainly our foreign policy on Tito can't be based on principle. The only answer is that we adhere to principles only when it is expedient.

The disillusioning truth is that nations act according to the dictates of materialistic expediency rather than moral principles. The only consolation to moral idealists is that in the majority of cases moral principles and materialistic expediency dictate the same, rather than different, course of action or policy. Fortunately, the politically expedient, immoral policy in the Tito case is the exception rather than the rule in our foreign policy history.

Move Blow At Russia

As you know, the political expedient in the new pro-Tito foreign policy of the United States and the Western powers is that Tito's break with Stalin and defiance of Russia is the first real crack in the Iron Curtain of Russia and her Communist satellites. In the hope of widening that crack the United States and other Western powers are going to give support to Tito in his defiance of Moscow. The more the Communist countries can be divided from each other, the less the threat of successful Russian aggression and domination through fear.

TITO has added something new to the concept of Communism. He says that each country should run its own brand of Communism instead of taking orders from Russia. This disunity in the Communist family of nations will spread to the other Balkan countries if Tito can continue successfully his defiant independence of Russia.

This disunity and independence is being cultivated by American aid to Tito. Immoral as it may be by normal standards, it may produce a great moral gain—real peace.

Lest we grow too confident from this favorable break, it could be a super double-cross to throw us off guard.

Former Chinese Ambassador To Moscow Killed By Assassins

HONG KONG, Tuesday, Sept. 20. (AP)—Gen. Yang Chieh, 59, former Chinese ambassador to Moscow, was assassinated last night. It was believed the first postwar political killing in Hong Kong.

Yang was shot, authorities said, by two men who gained entry to his flat on the pretense of delivering a letter. An opponent of the Nationalist-Communist civil war, he was awaiting ship passage to Red China to attend the political consultative conference in Peiping.

The conference will meet soon in plenary session to set up a formal Communist national government for China.

Devaluation Of Pound To Mean Higher Living Costs To Many

By GLENN WILLIAMS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Sears, the janitor at the apartment house where I live, is a little Cockney who earns five pounds a week. He has just learned that the pound has been devalued.

The pound was worth $4 when he went to the local pub last night. Today, as he goes to work, it will be worth only $2.80.

But Sears can't tell a bit of difference in the "quid" (pound) in his pocket. His quid will buy just as much tomorrow as it did Saturday.

Prices To Go Up

That state of affairs won't last long, however. In a couple of weeks his bread and flour will cost 30 per cent more. Like all Britons, Sears and his family eat a lot of bread.

Other things will have to go up too. That's because about one-sixth of the things Britain buys abroad—both food and raw materials—come from countries like the United States or South America, which either won't devalue at all or will do it on a smaller scale.

So Sears will have to strap his belt a little tighter, make his old macintosh last through another rainy winter and forget about that new set of kitchen chairs he was going to buy, simply because prices will go up and he can't afford them.

New Demands Threaten

He may resent this new intrusion into buying power and ask for a raise. In fact, railwaymen, machinists and several other union groups already are demanding more money to cover the price increases.

If they get their raises it may touch off inflation by raising the cost of production, thus raising prices still more.

Sir Stafford Cripps, the chancellor of the exchequer, said over the radio that profiteering and wage hikes could not be given without throwing away the gains that are sought, from this drastic revision of money values. Gains are anticipated in sales of goods to foreign buyers—export trade by which Britain lives.

Neither Sears, nor the exporter, nor even Cripps will know whether that ideal has been reached until many months have passed—time enough to show whether Britain is moving towards prosperity.

MEMORY LINGERS ON — Hitler is by no means dead as far as best-selling publications on the Berlin newsstands are concerned. This display on fashionable Kurfurstendamm shows various papers rehashing legends of Hitler, Mussolini and Goebbels. Some of the headlines read: "Goebbels Without Mask—The Case of Lyda Baarova," "A Woman Saved the Party," "Mussolini as Lover," and "Hitler as Strategist." One illustrated paper explains it handles the subjects from a "human point of interest."
