To The Weatherman
DEAR VILLAIN: Tough, aren't you? With the thermometer registering 3 below here the other night, I sat in front of the fireplace and was thinking about you and your actions of last summer, when we were sweltering with the mercury around 110. It doesn't seem possible you could be so two-faced. It's bad enough to send sub-zero temperatures and a stinging north wind, PA PAMPA but when you try to stuff a mid-summer thunder and electrical storm in the same package, it's going a bit too far. I've had plenty, thank you.
PA PAMPA.

To James M. Collins
DEAR JIM: I see by the papers that congratulations are due you on your recent election to head my Board of City Development. That is an honor of which I know you are proud. It gives you further opportunity to serve your community in still a greater measure than has fallen to your lot in the past. And I know my citizens all appreciate the splendid work you have done for them as an active civic worker, head of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and as chairman of the all-important highway committee of the BCD. Good luck to you in your new civic career.
PA PAMPA.

To Judge W. R. Ewing
DEAR JUDGE: Your comment in that youthful divorce case the other day was refreshing. If only married couples and those contemplating taking the step will heed your advice, there should be fewer disturbances on the matrimonial seas. Yes, indeed, judge—marriage is a serious business, and it is high time that moderns come to the realization of the fact.
PA PAMPA.

To Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith
DEAR FOLK: I got a great deal of pleasure out of your family photograph and reading about your Christmas reunion with your 12 children. Rearing a family of splendid young men and women like that is no easy matter in these trying times, and you are to be congratulated. I'd like to wager, too, that your formula for success in this highly complicated domestic business was made up more of common horse-sense than from "book larnin' and such." Am I right?
PA PAMPA.

To The Public of Pampa
DEAR FOLK: I rather suspect that those of you who contributed to the Pampa Supplementary Relief Fund have felt pretty good the past few days over your generosity and the success it has brought to my needy families during the severe cold snap. With WPA curtailed and many families being without means of subsistence it has been a God-send to them.
PA PAMPA.

To Charles I. Hughes
DEAR JUSTICE: I chuckled a bit when I saw where you, as well as the bride, blushed when you performed your first official act in your new office the other day—that of giving the marriage vows to my Pampa couple. You may as well get accustomed to it, Mr. Hughes, for there are many things that go with public office. Your soul no longer is your own, you know. It now belongs to that great American public which you are sworn to serve to the best of your ability.
PA PAMPA.

To Old-Timers
DEAR BENEFACTORS: Guess most of the public knows by this time that proceeds from your holiday benefit dance made the school cafeteria fund richer by $187.50. That's a good deed, and the money you have turned into the fund gives assurance that school children from needy families will not go hungry this winter.
PA PAMPA.

To Chris Martin
DEAR CHRIS: Now that you have been installed as president of Pampa Kiwanis Club for 1937, I'll have just a word to say to you, too, in the way of a congratulatory note. From what I have learned of your plans and your committee appointments for the year, I know that Kiwanis is going to keep up its good work during the coming 12 months. And, to out-going president Bill Jones, there is due a word of commendation for the splendid term of office he has just completed. Without our civic clubs, this would be a pretty dull business community.
PA PAMPA.

To Judge F. Young
DEAR JUDGE: I read in my favorite paper what you had to say about that January electrical storm the other night, it being your opinion, based on an old saying that when it lightnings in January we can expect a heavy frost on the same day in May. I had never heard that one, but you were pretty convincing about your past experiences in this connection, they tell me—so about all I can say is that I hope the charm doesn't work this time.
PA PAMPA.

To The God of War
DEAR MARS: Nertz to you, you mug.
PA PAMPA.

I Heard...

That consternation has seized local newspaper editors recently. Lines are already formed when two new magazines, Life and Look, arrive and they are gobbled up quickly. Then hundreds are turned away.

ANDERSON TO EXPLAIN ACT

JOBLESS PENSION LAW TO BE DISCUSSED THURSDAY

The complicated Texas Unemployment Compensation act will be explained to employers and employees of this section Thursday night when R. B. Anderson, chairman of the commission, will speak in city auditorium at 7:30 o'clock. He will be introduced by Travis Lively, president of the Pampa Credit association.

Mr. Anderson is being brought to Pampa by the Board of City Development whose directors urge every employer and many employees as possible to attend the meeting. Mr. Anderson will speak briefly at the Lions club luncheon at noon.

Some of the questions to be answered by Mr. Anderson will be: When will payments of benefits to workers start under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act? Who will benefit and how? As an employee, suppose I lose my job. What benefits may be expected? What size business will be included in the act, and many other vitally important issues.

AUSTIN, Jan. 9 (AP)—Prospects of a harmonious commencement of the four-months general session of the legislature next Tuesday grew today with announcement by Rep. Homer Leonard of McAllen that he would not be a candidate for the speakership of the lower house.

Unless County Comes To Aid of Project

Unless Gray county comes to the rescue of the Pampa WPA sewing room project, which is the sole means of livelihood for between 45 and 50 women and girls, it will be closed down permanently. Mrs. Buena Burchfield, supervisor, revealed yesterday afternoon.

Upwards of 180 persons in the families represented by the sewing room workers will be affected if the approximately $1,300 monthly payroll is stopped by suspension of the project.

Calvert Likely To Be Speaker

ANSWERING a query as to what taxes he would recommend to reduce the deficit in the general revenue fund, over which he has expressed apprehension, the governor cryptically said "Some!" then he remarked he was attempting to reconcile figures of the tax commissioner, the auditor, the comptroller and "myself" in order to get a true picture of the state's finances.

"I want to point out," he said, "that the deficit is due, not to the cost of government administration, but chiefly, to four things: The relief, voted without new taxes; the increase of $4,000,000 in rural aid; the $3,000,000 appropriation for the Centennial, and the remission of taxes to many counties included in water conservation districts."

Indication of age assistance would again be a controversial issue, as seen in a statement by Rep. Jap Lucas of Athens that he would favor giving pensions "to everyone over 65 years of age" even though the

MORE THAN $200,000 TO BE DISTRIBUTED THIS SPRING

According to the annual report submitted by Ralph R. Thomas, county agent of Gray county, there was paid to farmers in Gray county, who cooperated with the Agricultural Adjustment programs, a total of $304,913.96 in the year 1936.

This amount includes $283,844.45 in wheat payments, together with $16,332.94 for Bankhead certificates sold in 1935, most of which went to McLean; and payments for 1935 cotton program, $4,636.57 represented the final payment under the 1936 corn-hog program.

Over $200,000 will be paid this spring to farmers who participated in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation program. Under this program there was diverted to soil conserving crops or practices a total of 31,760 acres. There were 1,015 acres diverted to the planting of legumes. There are approximately 200,000 acres in cultivation in the county.

According to this report 16,343 acres of land were terraced or contoured in the county during the year, of which 10,419 acres on 111 farms was done under the supervision of the county agent. This included 353 acres of pasture land which was terraced or contoured.

Judge Todd Does Not Want Hat, Want Ad Says

Ex-Judge James E. Todd is having trouble these wintry days. The former justice of the peace never wears a hat—winter or summer, and acquaintances took it to heart when they saw him going hatless down the street in the sub-zero temperatures of the past few days.

Some feared he would catch his "death of cold." Others worried about the icy Panhandle wind blowing through his stubby crop of hair.

They began offering to buy him a new chapeau. And that's when the trouble began. Mr. Todd, in order to make it clear to everyone, inserted a classified ad in today's NEWS pointing out that he never wears a hat and that he doesn't intend to wear one no matter how low the mercury goes.

EVACUATION OF PLANTS ASKED BY EMPLOYERS

WORKERS DETERMINED TO CONTINUE THEIR STRUGGLE

(By The Associated Press)
AUTO-LABOR AT A GLANCE
Conciliator efforts in General Motors strike controversy continue; breach apparently still wide. United automobile workers outline its pre-negotiation demands, asserting determination to "continue this struggle."

Corporation reiterates "stay in" strikers must evacuate plants before start of negotiations. General Motors employees out of work in 15 cities total 93,849.

Anti-strike organizations formed at Flint, Mich., and Anderson, Ind. Governor Frank Murphy says strike "can be and should be" worked out.

DETROIT, Jan. 9 (AP)—Statements of stipulations by the United Automobile Workers of America and General Motors Corporation served to emphasize tonight the breach in their positions in the automotive strike deadlock which several days of conciliation efforts have failed to close.

The week-end shutdown found 93,849 General Motors employees idle in 15 cities because of strikes, parts shortages or lack of markets for products of the plants employing them.

Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan and representatives of the United States Department of Labor have conferred with corporation officials and union leaders in efforts to bring them together to start negotiations.

Despite the seeming impasse, Murphy said late today, "I believe both sides want to work a settlement. It can be and should be done."

A few minutes earlier, the United Automobile Workers listed their pre-negotiation demands as union recognition (whether as sole bargaining agency for General Motors employees was not specified), and a written guarantee that if "stay in" strikers are withdrawn from plants they hold, the corporation will not remove equipment or attempt to re-open the plants. They also demanded immediate cessation of anti-strike activity such as circulation of petitions, "organization of vigilantes," and "threatening or coercion of employees."

The union's statement given to the governor said, "You have already informed us that General Motors will not subscribe to such a guarantee," and expressed determination "to continue this struggle with all lawful means at our disposal until genuine and effective collective bargaining is accorded to the employees" of General Motors.

The company's position was outlined in a statement issued by Knudsen and which contained a letter he sent Friday to Gov. Frank Murphy, who had been seeking to compose the labor dispute between General Motors and the U. A. W.

"General Motors corporation representatives," said the letter, "immediately upon evacuation of its plants by those employees engaged in sit down strikes, will meet with

C-C Speaker Won Oratory Contest In Civic Event

Recently an oratorical contest on the subject, "What Chickasha Needs Most" was held in Chickasha, Okla., and it was won by the Rev. George Davis, pastor of the First Christian church of that city who represented the Kiwanis club. On Tuesday noon, in the basement of First Methodist church, Rev. Davis will speak at the regular monthly chamber of commerce membership luncheon.

The luncheon will begin promptly at 12 o'clock so that merchants will not be kept from their places of business more than an hour and a half or less. Tickets available at the chamber of commerce headquarters in the city hall are 50 cents.

Jim Collins, newly elected president of the Board of City Development, will preside. Rev. Davis will give a chamber of commerce talk here, discussing the needs of such an organization and what one can accomplish. He will come to Pampa highly recommended by the Oklahoma City chamber of commerce and other Oklahoma organizations which have heard him talk.

There will be no meeting of the Junior chamber of commerce Tuesday, the Jaycees joining the senior body in its meeting.

COLD COVERS ENTIRE STATE

PLAINS TEMPERATURES ARE SLIGHTLY HIGHER

The back of Pampa's cold wave apparently had been broken late Saturday night despite the weatherman's forecast of "continued cold."

The lowest temperature registered Saturday on the Daily NEWS government thermometer was 7 1/2 degrees above zero at 6 a. m. Maximum reading for the day was 17 at 3 p. m.

Last midnight the mercury had dropped back to 12, still a big jump above the sub-zero and zero temperatures of the two preceding days.

The cold snap is expected to fade entirely by Sunday night, if the weatherman knows his business, and by Monday afternoon Pampa and the Panhandle would be experiencing comparatively warm weather.

(By The Associated Press)

Shivering Texans reconciled themselves Saturday to a bitterly cold week-end with freezing temperatures reaching as far south as the Rio Grande and little relief being in sight for snowy North Texas.

Light snow filtered steadily down in a vast area extending from New Mexico almost to the Louisiana state line but snowfall had ceased in the Panhandle and temperatures there were slightly higher.

Amarillo's low was six above zero while the northern plains were several degrees warmer than the sub-zero levels of Friday, when the

The tanker Ruth brought the one-time co-leader of Soviet Russia to Tampico from Norway, where he had been living in exile until Mexico invited him to come here and Norway expelled him.

He looked well. His gray goatee was trimmed neatly and his hair was bushy.

He referred to the execution of 16 men in Moscow—including Gregory Zinoviev and Leon Kamenef,

GENERAL WAR AGAIN FEARED BY EUROPEANS

CLAIM GIBRALTAR IS BEING MENACED BY GERMANS

BY JOHN EVANS,
Associated Press Chief of Foreign Service.

Two great British and French fleets are spreading into long lines of warships to keep the world from mixing in Spain's civil war. They answer the German challenge.

More than a hundred warships steamed toward Spain as the world learned of French allegations that Germans were assembling opposite Britain's Gibraltar, 14 miles across the narrow entrance to the Mediterranean.

France charged Germans were there by thousands, fortifying Cueta and building barracks for others to come. Germans there might menace French colonies and cut off her great reserve of troops in the next war.

Britain saw the danger of a general war but saw particular danger to her "Road to India" through the Mediterranean.

In Spain the war goes on. For nearly six months dead have crumpled there by the thousands while Europe argues.

Steadily the war in Spain has widened until a dozen nations are involved. Almost quietly, tens of thousands of "volunteers" have joined in the fighting. There are French, Russians, British, Germans, Italians, Poles, Americans, Portuguese, Belgians, and others on either side.

Each of the two men was said to be about 25 years old. Before leaving the building, the only business structure in Swearingen, they tore the telephone from the wall.

FEAR EXPRESSED FOR TWO LUBBOCK GIRLS

LUBBOCK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Fear was expressed here today for the safety of two 16-year-old girls who ran away from home January 2 and were traced to Snyder and Fort Worth where the trail ended last Sunday.

The girls, Merle Blair and Joyce Florence, high school juniors, hitchhiked out of Lubbock lightly attired, with no baggage and only a little change in their pocketbooks. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Blair, of Lubbock, and Rev. and Mrs. Preston Florence, of Seminole, are particularly fearful of their daughters' well-being since the advent of lashing winter weather.

Neither family could advance any reason for the girls' actions.

SCOUTMASTERS MEET MONDAY

MEMBERSHIP PROBLEM TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING

The regular Scoutmasters' round-table discussion will be held at Scout headquarters in the city hall, Monday evening, Jan. 11, at 7:30 o'clock. Walter F. G. Stein, president, announced that plans will be made for Boy Scout week; that the membership situation will be discussed. Every Scoutmaster in the city is urged to attend.

TROOP 80

BY ED TERRELL, Scribe.

The snow and cold weather cut attendance of Boy Scouts to 20 at the regular meeting of troop 80 Thursday evening at the First Methodist church.

The following faithful and intrepid boys braved the blizzards to attend one of the best Scout meetings in weeks: Billy Mounts, Jack Smith, Doyle Auda, Keeton Rhoades, Max Brewer, Bert Isbell, Jimmy Schoffner, all from the Road Runner patrol; Bobby Fraley and Howard Jensen, leaders, from the Wildcat patrol; Ira Van Houten from the Buffalo patrol; Soren Jensen, leader; June Roland, Jimmie Sanders, Robert Harrison, James Van Houten from the Thunder Bird patrol; Jack Chou, assistant leader; Maxie Lee Roland, Buster Wilkins, Ed Terrell, from the Dan Beard patrol. Junior Kurtz was a visitor and probable member. The scoutmaster was present.

Games were played in the church basement before the meeting. These included basketball, ping pong, the snake, pyramiding, stink base.

The meeting opened with the Scout oath led by Max Brewer. Ed Terrell led the Scout benediction. Assignments for the next court of honor were announced. Boys who fall to meet the assignments will be fed for troop 16 if troop 80 loses the contest. The next court of honor will be held Jan. 25. Troop 14 will provide the program. It was decided troop 80 will volunteer to give the next program if some other troop doesn't beat them to it, and if somebody does beat them to it there won't be any treat shed.

Boys who were absent from the Scout meeting were asked to get in touch with the scoutmaster to receive his court of honor assignments.

Billy Mounts and Maxie Lee Roland passed part of the first-class tests. James Van Houten passed part of his second-class tests.

TROOP 14

Patrol leaders' meeting was held on Tuesday afternoon at 6 p. m. All patrol leaders and assistants were present. Plans for the next year's intra-troop contests were made, the patrol rosters revised and LeRoy Malone appointed assistant to the fourth patrol.

The patrol leaders' meeting will be held regularly from now on and all assistant scoutmasters will take part. The programs for each individual meeting will be planned and all complaints and corrections made at these meetings.

Troop meetings were held at Sam Houston school Friday night. Assistant Scoutmaster J. G. Cargile led a half hour of games. At 7:30 all uniforms were inspected and the 25 per cent parts of the uniform discussed. The scoutmaster then explained the rules of the new troop contest and gave examples. Points will be given for accomplishments at attending troop meeting, hike, being on time, wearing uniform, court of honor attendance and other items.

The troop will present a program on the next court of honor. Plans were made following suggestions made by Assistant Scoutmaster Stribling. After assigning test cards to the Scouts present the meeting closed with a happy "O'Grady Says" game. Losers were dismissed as soon as they made a wrong move. Next Scoutmasters and patrol leaders meeting will be held Tuesday at 6 p. m. Troop meeting on Friday at 7 p. m.

Patrol meetings: Flying Eagle, 7 p. m. Saturday (Cargile's).

Wolf, 7 p. m., Thursday (Stribling's).

Attendance at last troop meeting: No. 4 patrol—Billy McNul, P. L. Coyote patrol: Baldwin Stribling, P. L.

Flying Eagle patrol: Joe Cargile, P. L.; Eugene French, A. P. L.; Raymond Perkins, Maben Hill, Mark Bratton, Jeff Pirrie (Raymond Harrah excused).

Guests: Robert Stewart, LeRoy Thomas, Senior Patrol Leader Jack Hessey, Assistant Scoutmasters J. G. Cargile, W. W. Stribling; Scoutmaster W. F. G. Stein.

TROOP 20

Boy Scout troop 20 met at the Scout hut in the regular meeting Thursday night. The meeting was opened with the Scout oath and laws and closed with the Scout benediction. A number of games were played.

Those present were Floyd Cockrell, Jack Horner, Leonard Cockrell, Claude Lard, Elnos Hall. The scoutmaster, Lee Bowden, and assistant, Ely Foville, were unable to attend, and the boys held the meeting—Claude Lard, reporter.

Unique Shingles.

Joseph's coat of many colors had nothing on the cabin of the Ocean City, N. J. Boy Scouts.

The Scouts conceived the novel idea of saving money by shingling their cabin with old automobile tags. They started with 3,499 tags and have 700 left over in case they build an annex.

The license plates, dating back as far as 1911, are from eight states. They were collected by the Scouts who scoured the garages and attics of their friends and found plates saved for no apparent reason over a long span of years. The "shingles" after being placed over heavy tarpaper have been painted to prevent rust.

Honored For Protecting Forests.

Scout Robert Kaufman of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has been awarded a gold medal by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters for his meritorious service in fire protection work in the Lackawanna State forest. The Scout won the award for his outstanding work in fighting fires, developing safety strips, cutting and burning brush hazards, and assisting in the construction of fire roads and trails. He also served on the forest patrol in that section.

Banks Help Scouts Save for Camp.

Nine Staten Island, N. Y., banks are helping Scouts save for camp next summer. Under the plan boys deposit 50 cents weekly in the bank they select. The plan is similar to the Christmas club idea. Scouts participating are given a coupon book. After paying regularly for 34 weeks, the Scout has sufficient funds for two weeks at camp in addition to round trip transportation. For taking part in this savings arrangement the boys are allowed a special rate at the Scout camp.

Survey Shows Boys' Gang Tendencies.

The gang spirit in most boys is evidently satisfied by what the Boy Scouts of America has to offer them in that line. If charts reveal anything.

The Scout organization at Santa Barbara, Calif., has just completed a large map of the city on which is spotted by means of colored pins the homes of the 500 Scouts of the city. Besides showing that the organization has taken root in rich and poor sections alike, the survey reveals that one of the most important elements of Scouting growth is the tendency of boys to go with their "pals."

"There is an astonishing number of pairs of Scouts living on the same block," says Scout Executive Calvin McCray of Santa Barbara. Social service workers of the city are in record with the statement that since the Scout organization became active, there has been a decrease in juvenile delinquency of near 50 per cent.

COURT OF HONOR.

A Boy Scout court of honor for the Scouts of Whittensburg and Borgerville will be held Monday, Jan. 25. The place will be announced at a later date, according to J. M. Kernan.

BRITISH NAVY PLANS TO BLOCKADE SPAIN

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP)—The British navy will blockade the entire Spanish coast unless Germany, Italy and Russia agree "at once" to halt the influx of men and arms to Spain, the Sunday Referee declared tonight.

The blockade was mapped by Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and was approved by the cabinet today, the paper stated, after France already had agreed to the "startling decision."

The cabinet is prepared if necessary, the paper asserted, to search every ship going into Spain and to ignore German, Italian or Russian protests.

Eden will call a meeting of European powers within the next few days to give them a last chance to agree to an effective scheme for banning aid to Spain, the Referee said.

The belief had grown that Great Britain and France were preparing "effectively" to intervene in the Spanish civil war, fearful of German activity in Spanish Morocco.

The foreign office was ordered on week-end duty to study the new problem, regarded as a menace to Britain's Gibraltar naval base and to French Moroccan tranquility.

AUSTIN, Jan. 9 (AP)—The University of Texas board of regents today took no action on the football coaching situation. Lack of a recommendation by the athletic council to replace Jack Chevigny, for three years headmaster and recently appointed chief attorney in the state tax department, was given as the reason for inaction.

TROOP 19

BY CLEO NIPPER.

LeFors Boy Scout troop 19 held its regular weekly meeting Monday night, the monthly play night. The following games were played, crow and crane, left-handed, fire and spud. Following the games the troop was reorganized for the year 1937. The following Scouts and Scouters attended:

Jack Green, Wilburn Fitzgerald, Claud Johnson, Robert Madison, Fred Barnett, Farris McCoy, Dalton McCay, Walton Hughes, Phillip Kennedy, Harold Ellis, Paul Jenks, Russel Jenks, Maynard Johnson, Ben Cheek, Floyd Stephens, E. BCD ADVISORY BOARD BALLOTS ARE MAILED Nomination ballots for selection of a chamber of commerce advisory committee, to serve with the directors of the Board of City Development, were mailed to members today. Recipients of the ballots are urged to nominate five local men and have their ballots in not later than Tuesday night at 6 o'clock.

Returns will be tabulated by the retiring advisory committee, sponsors of the election, and the 10 names receiving the highest number of votes will be placed on another ballot which will be mailed to the voters on the nominating ballot. They will select five names and the five getting the largest number of votes will be declared the advisory committee for 1937.

8,000 GERMAN TROOPS WILL LAND IN SPAIN

PARIS, Jan. 9 (AP)—A new contingent of 8,000 German troops will land tomorrow, France heard tonight, in Spanish Morocco, focal point of European war fears.

Alarmed by the reports and determined to invoke military action against German activity in Morocco if necessary, officials sought formal confirmation of the movement of troops which were said to be from Munich barracks and aboard Nazi transport ships.

"There is an astonishing number of pairs of Scouts living on the same block," says Scout Executive Calvin McCray of Santa Barbara. Social service workers of the city are in record with the statement that since the Scout organization became active, there has been a decrease in juvenile delinquency of near 50 per cent.

VARIOUS GROUPS SEEK TO STOP NEW YORK FIGHT

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—The boycott of the James J. Braddock-Max Schmeling heavyweight championship fight picked up momentum today.

The Jewish war veterans of the United States, 250,000 strong, threw their support to the non-sectarian anti-Nazi league, the A. F. of L. and various Catholic and Protestant organizations seeking to stop the fight from being held in this country.

Harry H. Schaffer, commander-in-chief of the veterans, announced here he is notifying the 150 posts throughout the country to withhold support from the fight.

The boycott was launched by the anti-Nazi league as part of its program to oppose German goods, shipping and services.

Some of the country's biggest names are members of the league. Samuel Untermyer, New York lawyer, is president. James W. Gerard, war time ambassador to Germany and Mayor LaGuardia are among the vice presidents and J. David Stern, publisher of the Philadelphia Record and the New York Post, is treasurer.

Although Madison Square Garden and the 20th Century Sporting club, joint promoters of the fight, continued to withhold comment, belief was general along Broadway that the battle is doomed.

Kentucky's production of all types of tobacco in 1936 is estimated at 219,410,000 pounds, three per cent less than in 1935.

A PROFESSOR VENTURES INTO BLUNDERLAND

Just to add to the gaiety of nations a learned psychiatrist in New York has discovered that "Alice in Wonderland" is a subversive book, full of dreadful things that are apt to affect the minds of small children very terribly.

This gentleman unburdened himself before a recent meeting of the American Psychoanalytic Association. He announced that Lewis Carroll's venerable classic has elements of cruelty, anxiety, danger, and destruction and he doubted that children should be allowed to read it.

For one thing, the book contains "preponderant oral sadistic trends of cannibalistic character." There is in it "the expression of an enormous anxiety." Space and time are all mixed up in the narrative. People are forever being deprived of things, or threatened in the most heartless way.

For instance: Alice does not get anything to eat at the famous tea party. The poem of "The Walrus and the Carpenter" is full of cruelty. The lobster gets cooked. The Queen of Hearts wants to cut off everybody's head. The head of the Jabberwock is cut off. There is, altogether, "a continuous threat to the integrity of the body in general."

Nor is that all. The stability of space is threatened. Bottles start to fly, candlesticks grow longer, a train jumps over a river. Everybody falls down, from the Red and White Knights to Father William. Time is distorted, too, so that it occasionally runs backward.

There is even worse to come. The Walrus and the Carpenter go out into the sunshine when it is night. The White Knight carries a little box upside down so that the rain can't come in, but the food and clothing which the box contains have fallen out. His horse has spiked anklets to protect it from the bites of sharks.

All this, as the learned psychiatrist points out, is simply ridiculous. Worse yet, it is confusing. And, as the psychiatrist says, "we may ask whether such a literature might not increase destructive attitudes in children beyond the measure which is desirable."

Now the funny part about it all is that the scientific gentleman is entirely correct in that "Alice in Wonderland" does have in it all the things he mentions. And yet they add up, not to something subversive, unwholesome, and harmful, but to a lovely fairy story that has given exquisite pleasure to whole generations of people.

And right there is where the magic of the literary artist comes in. Out of the most unlikely materials he creates harmony and beauty. Carroll did it with materials out of psychiatry; Mark Twain did it with an illiterate child, a town bad boy, and a group of riverside wastrels and vagabonds; Dickens, with poverty and failure and crime and the riff-raff of a great city.

Such miracles can't be analyzed. It takes an artist to perform them. A learned attempt to pass judgment on the separate pieces results in a good laugh rather than in enlightenment.

'MORAL EMBARGOES'

As a result of the shipping of nearly $3,000,000 worth of used American airplanes and motors to Spain, cynical foreigners get a good laugh out of our "moral embargo" policy.

The government's attitude seems legal and logical, but the effect is immoral and absurd. It has tried to prevent shipment of war munitions to Spain, and on the whole has succeeded very well, but has been handicapped by lack of specific authority.

The law which empowers the President to prevent the export of war materials applies technically only to international wars, not to civil wars. In the latter case the government, it is explained, can only use moral suasion with American exporters. Thus Washington officials say they approved the present shipments reluctantly because, when the shipper insisted, they had no other recourse.

Congress should soon remedy this defect. It is desirable not only for the sake of decency and humanity, but for our national safety.

GETTING ACQUAINTED

If nations are to be friends, they must be acquainted with each other. There has been surprisingly little acquaintance between the United States and its score of Latin-American neighbors. Communication has been chiefly thru business contacts and diplomatic channels, with a little sightseeing now and then.

Closer contact is provided for in the agreements arrived at in the Buenos Aires conference. There is to be freer exchange of information along many lines. Colleges and public school systems will get into touch with each other. There will be exchange of publications on geography and trade. Things will be made more convenient for tourists.

All this will promote the learning of the Spanish and Portuguese languages by our people and the learning of English by our neighbors. Nations do not really know each other until they know each other's languages.

Editorial of the Day

INITIAL LETTERS
(Topeka Capital)

Perhaps you imagine when the administration at Washington got out its large assortment of initial letters of government projects that it was a new idea.

Not so, not so. Back in 1688 the Jacobite party in England, Scotland, and France got out a right clever collection of initial letters itself. The members of that party were the supporters of the Stuarts who had been chased off the English throne and they did not get over their grudge for a hundred years. It was not until 1788 that a couple of Scotch bishops would allow the name of King George III, to be mentioned in the ritual prayers.

In fact, even now there can be found in Europe defenders of what they call the legitimate succession, just as there are still advocates of the restoration of Bourbon kinds in France. The present legitimate heir to the Stuart line is Prince Rupert of the tiny little country of Bavaria. The French revolution just about put the Jacobites out of business. But a few remain after all these years who still pay reverence to the names of King James and Prince Charles of the Stuart line.

There was invented a Jacobite alphabet, or rather a combination of initial letters which were the forerunners of the AAA, the NRA, the PWA, etc. The Jacobite alphabetical indicators were as follows:

A. B. C. A. Blessed Change.
D. E. F. Damn Every Foreigner.
G. H. J. Get Home James.
K. L. M. Keep Loyal Ministers.
N. O. P. No Oppressive Parliament.
Q. R. S. Quickly Return Stuart.
T. U. V. Tuck Up Whelps (Guelphs).
X. Y. Z. Exert Your Zeal.
So the world hasn't changed very much after all.

Washington Letter

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—Holiday conferences of President Roosevelt, some of his closest advisers, and certain labor leaders who really count at the White House resulted in several decisions of major importance as to forthcoming proposals for labor-industrial legislation.

1.—Instead of seeking to legislate a national maximum work week of 30, 35, or 36 hours, as proposed by various labor leaders, the administration will support a bill to delegate to a board or commission the power to set maximum hours and minimum wages in industries whose business obviously is of interstate character.

2.—The administration proposal will be exclusively a "labor bill," in that it will cover only wage and hour regulation. It will have no provision as to anti-trust law exemptions, price-fixing, or trade practices such as characterized the NIRA.

3.—Roosevelt is now willing to meeting the U. S. Supreme Court issue head-on. The new wage-hour law, if passed by Congress, will be the wage of battle. The administration will not participate in any movement to obtain a constitutional amendment or otherwise to curb the court's ruling on that measure.

If the court should declare the law unconstitutional, Roosevelt—judging by the way he is now leaning—would summon the power of organized labor behind him and attempt to jam through a constitutional amendment with all possible speed.

The conferees agreed that it would be impractical to try to make an arbitrary wage-and-hour standard apply to all industries. They believe that it would be unwise at this time to attempt federal regulation of wages and hours in small towns, local industries, and the service trades, after the manner of ill-fated NRA. But the steel, automobile, coal, textile and other major industries will be regulated if the administration has its way.

Any legislation passed with administration approval will aim at ending a condition under which "sweatshops" frequently leap across state lines to obtain cheaper labor.

Roosevelt has in mind a federal agency governing wages and hours which would be modeled along the lines of the New York state minimum wage board. The law under which that board operates (applying only to women and children) has been declared invalid by a 5 to 4 U. S. Supreme Court decision and the reasoning of the court in various cases has indicated that, barring a change of attitude, any federal legislation of similar type would also be declared unconstitutional.

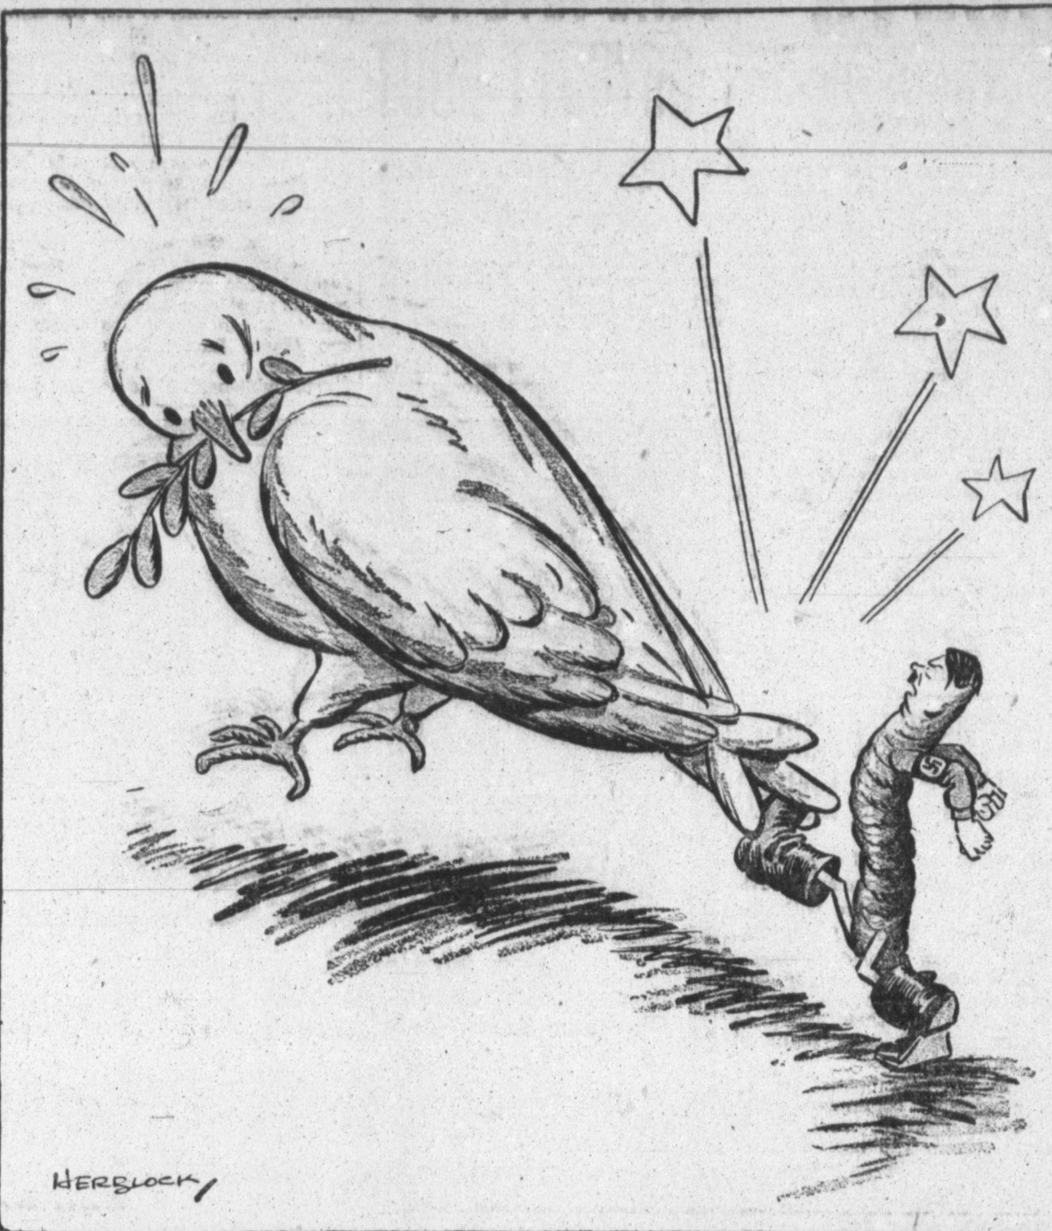

Nevertheless, it has been pointed out that in the last 20 years 10 justices have voted for minimum wage legislation and only seven against, the seeming paradox being due to the fact that liberal justices have come and gone faster than conservatives on the court.

A definition by Congress of "commerce among the states," as referred to by the Constitution, is part of the plan. Under narrow court interpretations, interstate commerce comes to include little more than railroads with tracks running across state lines and production is regarded as "local."

In a world full of propaganda, question everything you read or hear.

If "a watched pot never boils," maybe this governmental watching will keep the Stock Exchange from boiling over again.

SOME DAY THE BIRD WILL TURN

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK.—Notes on the big town, jotted here and there on a quick round-up:

Stealing in major department stores is prevalent than usual this season, there being only a total of 12 arrests in the two major stores over the Christmas holidays. Most arrests are made by women who are paid to keep an eye on the customers. Usually they browse around, pretending to shop or to examine merchandise. When a thief is detected, he is allowed to leave the store before an arrest is made. This is necessary, because the suspect can always claim to have been "looking" at merchandise if collared inside the store.

Incidentally, not all the scholarly looking gentlemen you see in the reference rooms of the libraries are seekers after knowledge. Many of them are detectives, looking for law-breakers who are known to frequent libraries and art galleries. There are also library detectives to keep an eye on fidgety looking individuals who might want to make off with a couple of books.

In the morning mail comes an attractive photographic history of Katharine Cornell, a brochure which traces her career in the theater and contains information on the many character roles she has played. Aptly titled, "A Gallery of Stage Portraits," it includes "Little Women," Miss Cornell's first important role, and all the others up to and including "The Wingless Victory," now being seen. A valuable bit of reference to have around, for which, much thanks.

As usual, a New Year's m. treat was the breakfast in the kitchen at the St. Moritz, that vast, copper-clad cathedral of S. Gregory Taylor's 50th street hotel. More than 600 guests "dropped by" to partake of the menu, which was, as always, tasty and filling.

Jim Tully, Lee Tracy, Capt. Irving O'Hay, Rex O'Mally—colorful Don Juans, is each an Irishman and New York loves them. Yet, more than all, New York sighs for Jimmy Walker, who ruled a metropolis with one hand and played a piano with the other. With Walker out of politics, as one observer wrote, "New York is like a thrilling drama with its chief actor missing."

Even Boswell couldn't have put it better than that.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by DR. JACQ GILDSTON

WINGED DISEASE. Certain diseases, like the common cold, influenza, measles and smallpox, spread as if their agents were carried on invisible wings. In former times, many believed that air, especially night air, contained invisible disease-producing entities called miasms.

Ancient thought was confused on this matter, but not entirely in error. In many places the air at evening and night time was frequently full of humming mosquitoes, which carried and spread the debilitating fever.

It has remained for modern science to demonstrate how the air indeed is frequently the carrier of "winged diseases." These demonstrations were first made by Pasteur and more recently in a very ingenious way by Doctors William and Mildred Wells, of the Harvard School of Public Health.

The subject has certain vital applications touching on the importance of adequate ventilation, and on the hazard of the uncovered sneeze and cough.

The respiratory diseases are among the most debilitating and destructive of those to which man is subject. It is estimated that 85 per cent of the deaths from infectious and parasitic diseases occurring in the United States are from those diseases in which the responsible germs gain entrance to the body through the nose and throat.

Cold and bronchitis, influenza and pneumonia, and tonsillitis occupy the first three places and cause considerably more than half of the total cases of illness. The diseases spread through the naso-pharynx (nose and throat) cause a total of 218 sick days in bed for every 100 persons.

The control of a medium through which a disease is spread, however, is the total cause of illness. The disease is spread by the medium. The elimination of the mosquito and the consequent control of malaria. Again the purification of drinking water

Q. In the Matanuska Valley in Alaska how many days in a year do they have a temperature above freezing? S. W.

A. The climate of the valley runs a yearly average of 102 days with out frost and as many as 130 frost-free days in a year have been known.

Q. How many Federal Civil Service employees have been retired? What is their total retirement pay? J. L. S.

A. The Civil Service commission says that the total number of persons retired since the Retirement Act went into effect in August, 1929, is 77,634. The number of persons now on the rolls is 51,900. The annuities paid at the present time are approximately four and one-half million dollars a month, or fifty million dollars a year.

Q. Do all dentists undertake to straighten teeth? R. E. C.

A. Of 70,000 practicing dentists in the United States, about 22,000 are doing teeth straightening in some form, but it is said that of this number only six per cent have studied orthodontia.

Q. What is the postal rate for letters carried by the China Clipper? J. W. J.

A. The rate of postage for mail carried on the China Clipper is 25 cents for one-half ounce to Hawaii; 50 cents to Guam; and 75 cents to the Philippines.

Q. Is there a memorial to the late Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico? J. W. B.

A. A national memorial committee is planning a series of lectures in Washington on political and economical subjects to continue the ideals and work of Mr. Cutting. The plan of the lectures was described by Senator Cutting's mother as the most useful, constructive, and appropriate memorial to her son.

Q. How many tons of 5-foot coal are there in an acre? H. T.

A. Coal in a one-foot vein runs about 1,000 tons to the acre. In a five-foot vein it would run about 5,000 tons to the acre.

Q. How are congressional investigations started? Can the President order one? R. E. C.

A. Congressional investigations are started by a resolution of the House or Senate. The President might recommend but he could not order one.

Q. What became of the Cardiff Giant? H. J.

A. In 1934, it was discovered in a warehouse at Fort Dodge, Iowa, where it had been stored for many years. A group of business men of the city sponsored a last tour of the curiosity. In August of that year the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce rented and exhibited the Giant until it was purchased in 1935 by Gardner Cowles, Jr., children's peace of mind, and they again.

—That there is something bigger and finer than self expression, personal freedom and personal happiness seems forgotten. The world is like a crowded market place where each man is grabbing what he wants with no thought for anyone else. It is not a happy world, even for the best and biggest grabber.

Only when the children learn forgetfulness of self, thought of others, self control and the duty each man owes his fellow men, can they attain real joy and contentment. And these lessons they can learn only by the example of those about them.

Chapter XXII

Stumbling along as rapidly as he could on the slippery footing, Bob came to the top of the canyon with a triumphant glance back over his shoulder and turned down the trail. More than once he tripped and fell, bruising himself against sharp, hidden rocks, but he dared not take time to watch his steps. Time had become the all-important factor. If Betty were still alive—and Bob would not let himself believe she was not—he must get help from Santa Fe at once. With official permission to search the house, he was sure he could find her.

Breathlessly he pushed on, noting that Pearl John had had a narrow pathway cleared. The cold wind, whistling between the high canyon walls, made him draw his coat closer about him, but the shivery nervousness that gripped him had nothing to do with the weather. At any minute he expected to hear foot steps behind him. More than once he paused and held his breath as some noise came to his straining ears. If he could make it down to the plains, some motorist might come along who would give him a lift. Weakly he fought on, conscious now that his bruised head was aching with a dull, persistent throb.

He remembered then that he had Vasquez to thank for his discomfort. In his mind Bob went over the scene in the library. Pearl John de Forest certainly had used high-handed methods—tying him up and leaving him, unconscious, to come out of it or not. What kind of a man was de Forest, anyway? The rest of the family had seemed to be on the verge of lunacy but Bob had figured Pearl John to be different. He had grown to like him, in fact. But now—now he could believe anything of him.

As for Ramon Vasquez—on the surface, Ramon seemed polished and agreeable enough, but once or twice Bob had caught an expression in his dark eyes that he could not understand. Outwardly Ramon was everything a guest should be, clever and good company. Bob felt sure, though, that there were depths to his nature that were not apparent on first acquaintance. Was he in love with the beautiful Angelique or was he more taken with Betty? Perhaps it was only his own jealousy that made him see significance in Ramon's attentions to Betty.

One thing Bob was sure of—that Angelique was devoted to the handsome Vasquez. Her flirting with the other men was nothing more than a gesture.

Carefully he skirted a boulder that rose on one side of the trail and waited a moment in its shelter to take stock of his location. Was that sound from behind only the steady whine of the wind? Bob decided his imagination was getting the better of him, and started on, his thoughts once more on the strange household he had left behind.

There was the thin-faced archivist, still lying in a coma. How did they know that he was what he said? What if the professor were only pretending that he could not speak or move? And that wooden-faced Indian who had guarded the top of the trail down the canyon? Why a guess there, anyway? And where was the Indian now?

If the old lady had not died Bob would have thought she had had something to do with the death of her nephews. Maybe she did, at that. She had not been one-half so feeble and half-witted as she seemed. He was convinced of this and Betty thought so, too. Betty—where was she now? The thought lent wings to Bob's feet, and he strode ahead with added speed.

Then he heard a noise and turned quickly. Someone was coming from behind him. He listened a minute, decided it was more than one person, and that they were coming with all the speed of familiarity with the trail. Bob hurried his own pace—then turned his ankle against a fallen log.

The sharp pain made him dizzy for a moment, but he hobbled a few steps farther before he fell in the snow. Nearer and nearer came the pursuers. Now they were just of Des Moines. It is now stored in the basement of Mr. Cowles' home.

When she had finished and realized that the terrible walk alone in the darkness was over, Betty crept into Bob's arms and wept softly. At last she dried her eyes, saying in a shamed tone, "You'll think me a regular baby, crying like this, but it was dreadful not to know where I was or what might happen. Every time I thought I was safe, I'd hear a noise, and I wouldn't let myself."

Bob pressed his cheek against her soft hair. "I think you're the pluckiest girl in the whole world," he told her. "Wait a minute—let's strike a match. I want to look at you."

"Count your matches, Bob," she told him. "If there aren't very many, you'd better keep them to help us get out of here."

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
At a mass meeting called by the chamber of commerce, citizens started a petition asking for a city commission form of government.

A. C. Sallor was elected commander of the American Legion post.

C. H. Fisher was employed as city secretary.

The Gulf No. 8 Worley-Reynolds was brought in at a depth of 3,036 feet, 100 feet past the supposed pay depth, and created interest in a possible deeper oil pool.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
Officers checked the "confession" of a LeFors man who insisted that he committed a murder in Henryetta, Okla., 20 years before, despite lack of evidence at Henryetta.

R. W. Bargris, veteran aviator, was killed in a gasoline explosion in the local airport hangar.

Sandies 20. Harvesters 14, in a basketball game.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
Fred A. Hobart of Pampa was re-elected vice-president of the American National Livestock association, as it met in Phoenix, Ariz.

Ladies night was observed in the Kiwanis club as new officers were installed. Bill Jarratt succeeded Guy McTaggart as president.

HARVESTERS STAVE OFF BORGER RALLY AND WIN 26 TO 22 STRUGGLE

PAMPANS PILE UP 10-POINT MARGIN EARLY

BORGANS MAKE GAME INTERESTING IN LAST HALF

By ARCHER FULLINGIM
Playing without their regular center, the Borger Bulldogs basketball team overcame a 10-point lead amassed by the Harvesters in the first quarter, and tied the Pampa cagers twice in the last quarter. But they could not maintain the pace, and the Harvesters won another game 26 to 22.

The Borger center was dismissed from the team just before the game started for breaking a training rule, according to the Borger coach. He was high-point man in recent games played by the Bulldogs.

The Harvesters, working like a clock, were leading the visitors 10 to 0 at the end of the first quarter. The lead had been cut 14 to 6 at the half, and 20 to 18 at the third quarter.

Smart basketball probably won the game for the Harvesters in the final minutes. Three members of the team passed the ball among themselves beyond the scoring zone until they had broken up the Bulldog defense then they dribbled in and shot a couple of baskets which were enough to win the battle. Ayer was in fine marksmanship today, and all of his five field goals were of the long-distance variety. He shot the last two goals of the game.

Rives was Borger's hot shot. He made five field goals and three free shots, but he missed six charity tosses. Badgley, Borger guard, swished the net for three near-center baskets.

Dewey, who had not been able to practice for a week on account of a lacerated finger, played part of the game, but his lack of practice showed up; although he did some fine passing and excellent in defensive tactics. The Harvesters passed the ball better than usual.

Noblett looked better than he has in several games. For the most part, his performance was outstanding. Unable to click in recent games, he was "on" last night, and observers felt that if he continues to improve, the 1937 Harvesters basketball team would also make its mark. Ayer went like a house afire throughout the entire contest. However, his passing was a great defensive and passing game, and it is a matter of obvious knowledge that when he begins to hit the basket, the starters had better show similar improvement. The fact that Dewey was "off" was apparent. That boy handles himself in a loose-jointed manner that bodes well for his basketball future, but of course the way he handles himself does not count unless he can make baskets and keep the other fellow from making them.

Heiskell also hit the basket from difficult angles, scoring six points in that manner. He continued to be one of the most elusive men on the court.

The most encouraging thing about the team was that it appeared to be functioning as a team and not as five individuals.

That a rocky road lies ahead of the Harvesters was indicated in stories of the Panhandle Panther quintet told by the Borgans. Friday night the Panthers came to Borger and smothered the Bulldogs 30 to 12. That makes it appear that Panhandle at the present time has the strongest team in the district. However, the district tourney is weeks and weeks away and there are many reasons to believe that Coach Mitchell can develop his "greenhorn" team into an aggregation that may take the measure of Pat Gerald's veterans. Pampans learned that C. Sparks is still playing at center for Panhandle and that he scored 13 points against Borger, while his teammate, Galloway, scored 14 points.

PAUL DEAN HOPES TO JOIN CARDS AGAIN
DALLAS, Jan. 9 (AP)—Paul Dean, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher forced into retirement last season because of a sore arm, said today he hoped to rejoin the team at its spring training base in Bradenton, Fla. "I mailed an application for my reinstatement last Tuesday," Dean said, "but I haven't had a reply yet. My arm never felt better and I'm not worried about it a bit."

Grant Makes Donald Budge Appear As Novice At Miami Basketball Over The Panhandle

TEXAS LOSES TO MUSTANGS

With three first place championships to their credit, the Quail basketball quintet will enter two additional tournaments during the next two weeks. It was announced today by Noah Cunningham, coach.

On Dec. 11-12, the Quail boys entered the Lella Lake tournament and won the first place trophy; the following week-end, Dec. 18-19, they swept through a long list of entries to win first place in the Quail invitational tournament, and on Jan. 1-2, they repeated their feat by taking the first place in the Wheeler tournament.

The tournament last Friday and Saturday the Quail boys went into the finals, where they met the Wheeler quintet and won their final game by a score of 38 to 18. Jack Love of the Quail team was also presented with first place individual award for his sportsmanship and efficiency throughout the tournament.

The Perryton Rangers beat the Borger high school last week to the tune of 31 to 40. The game was very exciting and hard-fought. At the half the score was 17 to 18 in favor of Perryton. However, at the last of the second quarter the Rangers were hitting their stride, and the second half was featured by much shooting. Scollenger was high point man. G. Morris and Pittman tied for second place honors.

On Saturday night the Rangers beat Allison 18 to 24. The Perryton team gained the lead from the opening whistle and never relinquished it. Joe Scollenger and George Morris tied for high point honors with six points each. Much of the scoring was made from the tip-off. Lilly and Stewart were outstanding in the way of guard play. Pittman passed the ball with considerable accuracy and assisted in many baskets.

The Rangers have lost but one game this season and this one by the margin of two points. Pampa was just lucky to take that game. The Rangers have beaten Spearman, Booker, Pampa, Groom, Conlen, and Allison. The second string has beaten the Pampa "B" team twice and has not been defeated.

Last Tuesday night the Panhandle Lakers played a game from the Lakeview five, with a score of 27-7. The Panhandle girls met defeat at the hands of the visiting players.

USGA RETURNS TO ITS OLD QUALIFYING ROUND

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—The day of rugged individualism in American amateur golf is over.

For competitive and financial reasons, the annual meeting of the United States Golf association today tossed out the all-match play form of combat which for the past three years has turned the amateur title tournament into a golfing Donnybrook, and returned to the former system of a championship qualifying round.

Effective with this year's championship, to be played over the links of the Alderwood country club at Portland, Ore., Aug. 22-23, survivors of the customary sectional qualifying round will engage in a two-day 36-hole medal test. The low 64 scorers will swing into match play, with all matches up to the semi-finals at 18 holes. The semi-finals and finals will be 36 holes.

The system is an innovation in the sense that, while returning to the old pattern, the championship quota has been increased from 32 to 64. Thus, there'll still be a chance for the Longhorns of the links to stampede the favorites, especially in the four 18 hole rounds to be played on the third and fourth days.

NEW RULE MADE LEGAL FOR FORWARD PASSING

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (AP)—Handing the ball forward in the backfield to an eligible forward pass receiver, was made legal under the National Federation of High School Athletic associations football code today at the annual meeting of the rules committee.

Heretofore, the ball had to be handed to another player either laterally or backward.

The committee also adopted a change in its rule governing fouls involving disqualification. When a disqualification foul, such as shoving, is committed, penalty of 15 yards will be assessed in addition to removal of the offender from the game.

Another alteration provides that the penalty for a forward pass thrown from beyond the line of scrimmage shall be five yards and loss of the down.

TEACHERS BEAT AGGIES
COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 9 (AP)—The Sam Houston Beacrats took the lead midway in the first half of a basketball game here tonight and defeated the Texas Aggies, 30 to 24. Cliff Dotson, Beacrat center, was high scorer with 11 points, but a major share of the Teachers' victory honors went to Mack Runnels, guard, who played a classy defensive game and made three goals from far out in the court.

METHODISTS TROUCE LONGHORNS 27 TO 16

DALLAS, Jan. 9 (AP)—Sparked by the sensational shooting of J. D. Norton, flashy sophomore forward, the Southern Methodist university Mustangs made their 1937 Southwest conference basketball race debut tonight by trouncing the University of Texas Longhorns, 27 to 16.

Norton alone outscored the entire Longhorn team, putting the mesh eight times with tosses from the field and twice from the free throw line for 18 points.

At the half-time intermission, the red and blue, which had trailed most of the first half, boasted a 14 to 10 margin.

The victory enabled Coach Jim St. Clair's Methodists to start in a three-way tie with Rice and Texas Christian for the conference leadership. This, the second defeat in two nights for Jack Gray's orange and white, gave their title hopes a severe setback.

Norton was more than an offensive hero. He was the ball handling star of the night and, when dropping into the back court in a new guise, he was waiting developments before taking a stand.

Government attorneys said they expect the Supreme Court will be requested to review one of the pending cases.

The college of William and Mary in Virginia was the latest to object. Yesterday it formally denied the government's right either to compel a state institution to collect taxes or to levy and collect taxes from a state institution.

In Atlanta Tuesday Federal Judge E. Martin Underwood enjoined the government from collecting football game taxes from the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech.

TEXAS TECH DEFEATS ABILENE CHRISTIAN

ABILENE, Jan. 9 (AP)—Coach Bugs Morris jugged his Abilene Christian college lineup tonight, and for twenty five minutes the Wildcats gave Texas Tech a good ball game. The Matadors led only 20 to 17 five minutes after the second half began, but Garrett and Case, forwards, and Snowgrass, guard, moved on a scoring streak for eleven straight points, Tech winning 43 to 20 for a sweep of the two game series.

Garrett led the winners with 11 points, but all of Tech's ten more, except Wiginton scored a point or more. Stone, Hudson and Parker of the Wildcats each tallied five.

MATTSON REFUSES TO PAY TO 'WRONG PARTY'

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 9 (AP)—A reliable source said tonight Dr. W. W. Mattson, father of kidnapped Charles Mattson, 10, "positively would not" pay $28,000 demanded ransom until sure he is dealing with the "right party" and the boy is "alive."

"The doctor is greatly confused by the attempts of at least two persons to 'muscle in' on my hi-jackers," the source, who could not be named, declared.

A sudden dash by federal bureau of investigation agents yesterday morning was attributed by this source to intervention by hi-jackers.

TROPHY TO L. S. U.
DALLAS, Jan. 9 (AP)—The Foreman and Clark trophy, emblematic of the national football championship, won by Southern Methodist university in 1935, will be sent to Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge immediately, James Stewart, S. M. U. athletic director, said today. The Tigers were awarded the trophy for the past season under the ratings of Deke Houglate, Los Angeles grid statistician.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 9 (AP)—An eight game schedule for the 1937 Creighton university football team was announced tonight. The schedule includes: Nov. 25, Texas Tech at Lubbock.

FIGHT CALLED DRAW
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9 (AP)—State Athletic Commissioner Joseph H. Rainey announced tonight that Al Ettore's disputed victory over John Henry Lewis here last Monday night would be entered on the books of the commission as a draw.

SCHOOLS PROTEST ADMISSION TAX

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—The hoary old questions of states rights confronted the government today in a new guise—the objections of state-supported colleges to pay the federal sports admission tax.

Already four schools have informed the internal revenue bureau they will not pay the 10 per cent tax. Other institutions are waiting developments before taking a stand.

Government attorneys said they expect the Supreme Court will be requested to review one of the pending cases.

The college of William and Mary in Virginia was the latest to object. Yesterday it formally denied the government's right either to compel a state institution to collect taxes or to levy and collect taxes from a state institution.

In Atlanta Tuesday Federal Judge E. Martin Underwood enjoined the government from collecting football game taxes from the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech.

Views Conflict in Farmers Meeting

TEMPLE, Jan. 9 (AP)—Conflicting views over production control echoed from the meeting of the Texas Agricultural Workers' association today.

H. G. Lucas, Brownwood, president of the Texas Agricultural association, and John E. Owens, Dallas, championed production control as vital to solution of the farmers' problems, while Carl Fritche, managing director of the Chemurgic council, Dearborn, Michigan, denounced crop control and advocated a program based on industrial use of surplus farm products.

"If we are going to have parity in the farm income we must have controlled production and distribution of farm crops the same as industry," Lucas said, naming as another essential crop insurance for protection against poor crop years and restoration of farm ownership.

Owens said agriculture must face its problems through politics, economics and farm financing, declaring that farmers need to present a united front to attain legislative ends, economic regeneration to keep control of their business and money to operate their farms.

THREE LEAD IN GOLF TOURNEY

COOPER AND TWO DARK HORSES IN DEAD HEAT

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 9 (AP)—"Light Horse Harry," Cooper and two "dark horse" entries, Jules Huot of Canada and Art Bell of Pasadena, rode out of the shadows of the Griffith Park golf course in a dead heat late today to take the lead at the 36-hole stage of the $3,000 Los Angeles open.

Cooper posted a 70 with his first round 69 for a 36-hole card of 139. Huot, former Canadian pro champion of Quebec, snatched five strokes off the par-71 course for 66, putting it with a first round 73 for another 139.

Bel, young Crown City pro, thrilled a gallery of several thousand and with a 67 to go with his 72.

One stroke back were two more "dark horses," Zell Eaton of Oklahoma City, with 73-67-140, and Al Krueger, baseball player-pro golfer from Beloit, Wis., with 70-70-140.

Grouped in the 142's were three of the greatest money players in the country, Horton Smith of Chicago, with an even par 71-71-142, Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., with 72-70-142, and Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis, with a 70-72-142.

Tied with them were Gray Madison of Phoenix and Sam Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, West Va., and one stroke back were five more pros who refuse to be counted out of the battle which ends with the 18-hole finals Monday.

The 143 listed Jimmy Hines, Garden City, Long Island, who won the meet last year, long driving Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee, Pa., Paul Runyan, the iron master from White Plains, N. Y., Willie Goggin, of San Bruno, Calif., and Al Zimmerman, young Portland, Ore., pro. VIEWS—24

[QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING]

"How are a Bank's investments made?"

THE most important function of a soundly-managed bank is to keep most of its deposited funds employed at the best rates of interest consistent with safety. A considerable portion is, of course, put to work in local loans. Other investments are made depending upon legal requirements, local conditions and business conditions generally.

All investments are made under the directions of our officers and investment committee. From a variety of sources—files, business and statistical services, industrial, state and municipal reports, information developed by correspondent banks—we constantly collect investment information. We diversify our investments according to rules of sound banking, and give proper consideration to long and short term maturities, to marketability, fair yield and—above all—to soundness. Upon request we shall be glad to tell you more about our investment policies.

States are on the way to the war. The once gay Madrid is besieged. Bullets and bombs from the air have littered the streets with bodies. Several hundred thousand Spaniards, brother against brother, have died in the struggle over whether Spain shall be ruled by the "left" or the "right."

It is what is called the worldwide line-up between fascism and communism. All 27 nations in the "non-intervention committee," in London, pledged "hands off."

Then they squabbled. They quarreled over aid someone else was charged with giving the side they didn't support. They disagreed over what constitutes neutrality.

France called for "neutrality" on the 13th day after the civil war and on a Friday.

Five months of "neutrality" brought only recognition that men and munitions from the outside were fanning the blaze in Spain.

While French and British war craft gather around Spain, Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy and Reichswehr Adolf Hitler of Germany, the two fascist leaders, have before the world their answers on how to be neutral. Their Thursday notes to Britain are similar. They would take out of Spain's fight all the foreign elements and patrol the borders to shut off supplies.

France and Britain announce no plan of action. Their navies, they say, are going to "maneuver."

Germany and Italy backed the Spanish insurgent fascists under General Francisco Franco. Both recognized him as the real government.

Russia favored the Madrid socialists and communists. Premier Leon Blum of France and his socialist and communist supporters felt likewise but professed neutrality for two reasons:

1—France was divided because there is something of the same fight there politically.
2—If France openly aided Madrid, she knew Germany and Italy would act quickly and Europe's dreaded World War would be on.

There is something besides principle at stake. France believes a fascist Spain and a Nazi Germany on her frontiers might bring fascist rule in France.

Germany believes Spain may go communist if Madrid wins and thus tend to spread communism in France.

Germany and Italy openly and officially declare their hatred of communism.

Soviet Russia, between Japan and Germany, two great military enemies east and west, hopes Spain will be socialist or communist thus limiting and perhaps weakening fascism in Europe.

Great Britain, a monarchy but a democracy, is between two fires but wishes above all to prevent a general war.

BERLIN, Jan. 9 (AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, hoping for colonies and raw material, has dispatched 15,000 to 25,000 volunteers to aid Spanish fascists and spent $180,000,000 on the civil war, private advisers said tonight.

There were official denials of German assistance to Fascist Gen. Francisco Franco, and Berlin spokesmen declared no knowledge of reported military and commercial activity in Spanish Morocco.

GUERRILLAS IN VICTORY OVER BORGER QUINT

Coach Bob Curry's Guerrillas whipped a similar basketball aggregation from Borger high school 14 to 7 last night in a game preceding the contest between the first teams of the two schools.

The boys of both teams concentrated on defensive tactics and were hesitant about trying for points until the fourth quarter. At the middle of the third quarter the score was 6 to 5 with Pampa leading.

Then Omer Harrell, forward, sank two baskets from the floor, followed by McDaniel, with two more. Harrell scored five points and McDaniel seven. Esslinger also looped a field goal. Other Guerrillas in the lineup were Junior Williams and Foster.

Nichols made four points for Borger and Hart three. Others in the Borger lineup were Allen, Benge, Tennyson and Williams.

LASH WINS RACE
NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Don Lash won the 3,000 meter invitation run as the Columbus council of the Knights of Columbus opened the indoor track and field season in the 106th Infantry armory tonight.

EXPENDITURE ASKED TO START WORK ON POWER PROJECT IN N. MEXICO

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Representative John D. Dempsey, of Santa Fe, asked Budget Director Daniel W. Bell today to approve expenditure of $500,000 to start preliminary work on a proposed $2,500,000 hydro-electric power project at Elephant Butte dam in New Mexico.

Reclamation bureau revolving funds, Dempsey said, were suggested as a most likely source of construction money. Bell informed him, however, the depleted bureau funds would have to be replenished by reclamation farmers' repayments during the year before funds would be available for the power program.

The New Mexican introduced a bill this week seeking an investigation of financial conditions of reclamation projects throughout the country to determine if reclamation farmers were able to resume payments of construction costs.

The electric plant, Dempsey said, would be designed to serve a considerable mining area in central New Mexico and cities and farm areas throughout the 100-mile long Rio Grande valley from Elephant Butte dam to El Paso, Tex.

The President's budget recommended expenditure of $1,500,000 during the next fiscal year on a companion enterprise, the canalization of the Rio Grande from the Cabello dam site 100 miles downstream to the Mexican border which was authorized in a Dempsey bill last year.

ing space in which to operate the sewing room, utilities, toilet facilities, and some supplies. The cost involved is reasonable in view of the high return on this contribution in so much as garments completed in this sewing room are used for relief clients in this county. Aside from the garments there is a salary which the Works Progress Administration pays of $31.50 per month per worker which supplies food and rental to that family. In each instance the family would have to be helped by charitable organizations, by local relief, or churches if this salary is not forthcoming.

Since the opening of the Pampa sewing room on Nov. 27, 1935, there has been completed 433 infants' garments, 2467 children's garments, 2139 women's garments, 1537 men's garments, as well as 42 comforters and quilts, making a total of 6,376 garments and 42 comforters. In addition to this there have been approximately 900 garments remodeled which were contributed by local organizations.

The new garments have been made from 12,429 yards of material furnished by the WPA. The local sewing room has on hand at this time 4,890 yards of material to be made up into garments for use in Gray county. To date payrolls in the sewing room at Pampa have totaled approximately $12,000 since its opening. This includes non-relief supervisory payroll.

The county's contribution to the sewing room since the opening date has been approximately $808. This includes rent, utilities, light bulbs, cabinet desks, trips to Amarillo for materials and supplies, and equipment rental. The proposed expenditure would run approximately $50 a month in addition to what the county is already contributing. This $50, however, will enable 45 women to make sufficient money with which to feed their families through the severe months.

There are also working in the sewing room at this time three youths who have secured employment with the NYA. These girls earn $12 each per month which enables them to continue their school work as well as receive instructions which are invaluable to them. Their salaries are paid by the NYA, but their instructor, Mrs. Burdfield, is paid through the WPA non-relief funds and unless the sewing room continues these girls will be without employment since the NYA does not provide supervisory funds.

The letter received by Mrs. Burdfield from her regional officer says in part:

"The reductions that will become effective in January will greatly reduce the other than labor cost on all WPA projects so far as federal funds are concerned. As interpreted for sewing rooms, this means that sponsors must contribute all costs except those of labor and materials. The increased cost which the sponsor is expected to bear include rent and utilities, sewing machines and other equipment, and findings.

This is a reasonable cost for the sponsor to bear in view of the high return on his contribution.

"It is necessary for you to make an immediate review of sponsor's contribution on all sewing projects in order to obtain accurate information as to the amount of sponsor's contribution on each project, and sponsor's financial ability to bear the expected contribution. Where it is known that the sponsor is able but unwilling to make the full expected contribution, you should be prepared to close the project."

The statistical report showed that 333 farm visits were made, that there were 398 office calls, and 810 telephone calls relative to extension work during the year. A total of 1705 individual letters were written, 26 different circular letters were prepared, and 2,565 bulletins were distributed.

Thirty-nine community meetings were attended by the agent. Copies of this annual report were sent to the Extension Service of the A & M College, and to the Commissioner's Court of Gray county.

reaching possibilities of such a program. He pictured lakes in the Panhandle and better farming thru conservation of water.

W. E. James of Alameda reported many natural locations for small lakes and even for a huge lake in the county. He said the Alameda community was full of promising places for conservation programs.

The geological survey recently conducted through this section of the county was explained by H. Otto Studer of Pampa. He said that the Panhandle should get assistance through that department as well as through government grants. Ivy E. Duncan urged the construction of a large lake where fishing and camping sites could be found. Many others spoke on the advantages of such a program if it were spread over the Panhandle on equal basis.

After a lengthy discussion the question of funds was not acted upon pending more detailed information on the need for and the method of spending of the Gray county quota.

A mass meeting will be called in Amarillo Thursday when reports from counties will be received and other important business transacted. A committee to work with Chairman Walker will be composed of the following men, named by delegations from their respective communities:

Pampa—Ivy E. Duncan and H. Otto Studer.

Alameda—T. T. Griffin and W. E. James.

McLean—C. O. Greene and M. M. Newman.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The giant General Motors corporation, which is beset by strikers, took sides today with American Federation of Labor craft unions in their campaign to crush John L. Lewis' industrial organization drive.

John P. Frey, craft union spokesman, announced General Motors' position at the same time he told newspapermen he had advised craft union members to go back to their jobs at the strike-closed Fisher body plant in Cleveland. Fisher bodies is a General Motors subsidiary.

The General Motors attitude was disclosed in an exchange of telegrams between Frey, president of the A. F. of L. metal trades department, and H. W. Anderson of the corporation's labor relations department in Detroit.

Frey asked Anderson Thursday to make no agreement with any organization that would cause the craft unions out of General Motors plants.

Childress reported light snow falling again but the blanket on the ground was only half an inch thick. The temperature there was five above zero this morning and the highest it reached yesterday was 15. It was rising slowly Saturday.

Twenty-degree weather chilled Waco and a large section of central Texas. Waco was covered with ice, largely from freezing of the rain which preceded the cold. There was some fine sleet this morning and no relief was in sight before Sunday.

Motorists, wary of the ice covered streets and roads throughout North Texas, moved at a snail's pace and held accidents to a minimum. There were no fatal crashes attributed to the cold.

$6,500 RESIDENCE TO BE BUILT IN ADDITION

Pampa's first building permit for 1937 was issued last week to W. L. Godfrey who will construct a $6,500 brick residence in the Cook-Adams addition. J. King will be the contractor. The house will be 33 by 44 feet with a basement 18 by 32 feet.

Several other residences are either under construction or have foundations staked but no permits have been taken out, according to J. R. McKinley, city building inspector.

Who issued nearly a half million dollars worth of building permits in 1936.

CONGRESS SHAPES PLAN TO FIGHT EROSION AND ATTACK DUST PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Plans were taking shape in Congress today to control damage from periodic and devastating wind storms of the future.

Representative Phil Ferguson of Woodward, Okla., has introduced two bills, one calling for $50,000,000 for loans and grants to farmers who must prevent their soil from blowing away, and the other seeking an annual $10,000,000 appropriation for the next ten years to continue soil conservation work.

Ferguson said he would ask the appropriations committee to give the agricultural department sufficient money to conduct extensive grass experiments through its dry land experiment stations.

Representative Clifford Hope, Garden City, Kas., Republican, and ranking minority member of the House agriculture committee, at the same time outlined a four-point plan to attack the dust problem both from the emergency and long-range viewpoints.

He suggested that Congress appropriate a "small sum, perhaps $2,000,000" for an agriculture department revolving fund to be available for acute needs.

WARSHIPS ANCHOR

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Jan. 9. (AP)—French and German warships anchored tonight off Morocco, where reported Nazi troop concentrations roused France and Britain to fears for peace. The Nazi pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee and a second German warship have reached Tangier, internationalized Moroccan zone, telephoned advices to Casablanca said.

Capt. O'Hay to Be Banquet Speaker

Annual Program To Be Open to the Public

An annual program bringing a special speaker, the A. A. U. W. Founders Day banquet, was planned at an executive meeting Friday afternoon for Jan. 19. Captain Irving O'Hay of Taos, N. M., traveler and lecturer, has accepted an invitation to speak there.

The organization will open this banquet to the public, as is its yearly custom. Each January some visiting speaker or musician is brought to the city as the club celebrates the national anniversary. Tickets will be available to anyone who wishes to attend, and members may also invite guests.

Mrs. R. B. Fisher, chairman of the program committee, is also in charge of ticket sales. Serving with her on the program committee are Mrs. L. L. Sone, Miss Violet Durrett, Mrs. A. J. Johnson, and Mrs. Paul Kasishke.

Captain O'Hay is noted as an after-dinner speaker. He lectured at the Texas Centennial in Dallas last summer, and recently accompanied Gov. Clyde Tingley of New Mexico to Clovis to speak. A. A. U. W. members feel that his talk will be of interest to many persons here, and are pleased that they have been able to secure him as banquet speaker.

Need for Warm School Clothes Cannot Be Met

Warm clothing and whole shoes needed by many school children during this weather were not available at the thrift room Wednesday, and several pupils were turned away without the garments they requested. The thrift room is badly in need of warm clothing or of funds to purchase it.

Members of B. M. Baker Parent-Teacher association will take their turn working at the room Wednesday of this week, when it will be open from 2 to 5 p. m.

Mrs. Frank Shotwell and Mrs. E. C. Hart of Woodrow Wilson association were on duty last Wednesday, and Mmes. E. A. Blevins, G. Hancock, and Lee Harrah of Sam Houston the preceding week.

Duties for Year Outlined in Club

Outlining work for officers and committee chairmen this year, Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, home demonstration agent, spoke to Kingsmill club Tuesday afternoon at a business meeting in the home of Mrs. Frieda Baer. Mrs. A. B. Walberg presided. Visits to kitchens of club members will be made by Mrs. Kelley on the scheduled meeting date, Jan. 27, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

A committee was appointed to report on intangible taxes and property taxes at the next meeting, with Mrs. Carl Baer on Jan. 19. On the committee are Mmes. C. W. Moot, G. H. Kuepker, and Lewis H. Davis. Mrs. Chester Nicholson led games, and refreshments were served. Guests of the club were Mmes. Anna Brooks, Charles Medford, and F. J. Hudgel.

Members present were Mmes. O. G. Smith, George L. Roberts, C. T. Nicholson, Davis, S. W. Kretzmeier, E. R. Sunkel, Carl Baer, Moot, J. E. Johnson, Roy Kretzmeier, E. C. Casey, O. A. Wagner, Walberg, Kuepker, Kelley, and the hostess.

Churches Heated For Frigid Days

Comfort during the cold weather is assured worshippers at McCullough and Harrah Methodist churches by installation of two new stoves, the Rev. Herbert Bratcher, pastor, announced.

A new class for men will be organized in the Boy Scout house at Harrah chapel this morning. The program of the class will include social activities as well as Sunday discussion periods. Mr. Bratcher will be the teacher. The class will have a separate organization and its own officers.

School Attendance At Laketon Drops With Bad Weather

LAKETON, Jan. 9.—Sickness and severe weather made inroads on school attendance the past month. Carl Carter was the only pupil with a perfect attendance record.

Five new pupils enrolled Monday. They are children of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Turner, Claude and Oliver in the eighth grade, Evelyn in the sixth grade, Nina, fifth, and Gaylon, first grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gillespie and children, Ralph, Manson, and Ann, returned Monday evening from a two week visit with relatives and friends in Mississippi and Tennessee.

DAVIS RETURNS AS EVANGELIST

Services at First Christian Church Begin Today

An evangelist who conducted a revival here just a year ago will return tomorrow to start another series of meetings in First Christian church. He is George Davis of Chickasha, Okla., who has been heard here several times.

Opening services of the revival today will be in charge of the minister, John S. Mullen. His sermon subject this morning is A Hand in the Dark, and this evening, From Darkness to Light.

Special music at both services will be directed by R. L. Allison, who will have charge of music during the revival. Howard House will act as pianist, and will also play vibraphone solos and draw crayon pictures to illustrate hymns as they are sung.

Meetings will begin every evening except Saturday at 7:30. The public is invited.

Baker P-TA Will Commence Study After Program

The study course for B. M. Baker Parent-Teacher association will start Tuesday after the regular meeting, which is scheduled at 2:30. A program featuring a talk by Mrs. W. Purviance will end with a social period in charge of Mrs. C. Simmons and Mrs. Ben Chenold, fourth grade room mothers.

Mrs. Purviance's subject will be Friendliness as a Step in Character Building. Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Guthrie will play accordion numbers. W. Postma, band instructor, will direct an instrumental solo, and the fourth grade will present a short program to entertain the group.

Meeting Conducted By Bethany Class

A business meeting in the home of Mrs. L. A. Baxter was attended by 15 members of First Baptist Bethany class recently. Mrs. T. L. Anderson was in charge. Opening and closing prayers were by Mrs. L. M. Wagon and Mrs. H. L. Watt.

Plans were made for a banquet at the church Thursday, when the class and members in service will entertain their husbands. Cookies and tea were served.

STATE LEADERS OF P-TA WILL MEET TUESDAY

Eighth District To Send Officers To Austin

By Betty Pearson Hodges
Publicity Chairman 8th Dist. P-TA
Officials of the eighth district will attend the state board of managers meeting of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers from January 12 to 14 at Austin. Representing this district are Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar of Pampa, president, Mrs. J. E. Griggs, secretary, and Mrs. J. M. Crain, state chairman of education, of Amarillo, and Mrs. W. B. LeMaster, state chairman of character education, of Perryville.

An executive board meeting of the eighth district is also planned for January 23, at Pampa, when the board members will meet at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar for a business session. Board members, principals and superintendents of the Pampa schools and president of the Pampa associations will be guests at a luncheon given by Mrs. Hunkapillar and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, district corresponding secretary.

Supt. R. B. Fisher, of Pampa schools, legislative chairman of the district, is urging that all Parent-teacher associations pass resolutions and send copies direct to their representative in the state legislature, Senator Clint C. Small, and to the governor urging their support for the child labor amendment. It is important to do this at once, says Mr. Fisher.

Mrs. LeMaster urges every unit to make plans for the observation of national thrift week, Jan. 17 to 26.

A new association is welcomed to the eighth district this week. Arney association near Happy is now organized with Mrs. Lewis Harvey as president.

Spring Creek P-TA, near White Deer, has reorganized with new officers. They are: president, Mrs. Hugh Terry; vice-president, Mrs. L. O. Putty; program chairman, Mr. W. Graves; publicity chairman, Roy Killingsworth; membership chairman, J. R. Ponds; finance chairman, Mrs. Simpson, and hospitality chairman, Mrs. R. G. Campbell. A carnival was held which cleared $28 which was used for a Christmas tree for the children. A box supper was held later which cleared $77.

G. Kinzer.

Howard House is teacher of the class and invites everyone to attend. Visitors are welcome.

Year Planned by H. D. Clubs

Yearbooks for 1937 are being distributed in Home Demonstration clubs this month, carrying programs for a new year of work. All clubs in the county are completing reorganization in January, naming standing committees, and planning for the year.

Instead of the demonstration meetings for each, the county agent, Mrs. Julia Kelley, is visiting homes of all club members. The main project this year is kitchen improvement, and Mrs. Kelley hopes to inspect the kitchen of every club member to be able to map a more helpful program on the subject.

She has also been busy reorganizing 4-H girls' clubs, and organizing several new groups, a task that she expects to complete soon.

A change has been made in the meeting date of the County Club Council, from fourth Mondays to last Saturdays in each month. The council will be preceded by an hour for county committee meetings.

The yearbook shows the following schedule of the agent's time:

Mondays—Mrs. Kelley will spend in her office at the court house.

Tuesdays—First Tuesday, Kingsmill women; second, LeFors girls; third, Bluebonnet club; fourth, Hopkins women, all at 2 p. m.

Wednesdays—First, Alameda girls at 10:30 a. m.; second, McLean women; third, Bell women; fourth, preparation of demonstration material.

Thursdays—First, training school for demonstrators and committees; second and fourth, visiting demonstrators; third, Laketon women.

Visitor in City

Mrs. Lyle Hoover of Fort Worth is a visitor in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Walters, for the next two weeks. Mrs. Hoover is the former Miss Lois Wise of Pampa. She was married last year and went to make her home in Fort Worth.

Twice Elected

Mrs. W. B. Murphy last week was elected to leadership in two Pampa organizations. She was chosen as president of the Civic Culture club for next season in the first federated club election of the year, and will assume that office next September. She was also named mother adviser to the Order of Rainbow for Girls, the duties to start at once.

Birthday Party Is Given Friday For Patsy Ellis

Four-year-old Patsy Ellis was honored Friday when her mother, Mrs. N. B. Ellis, entertained with a birthday party at her home. Games were enjoyed, some directed by Neely Joe Ellis who also sang several songs for the children.

Pink candles burned on the green birthday cake that was served with hot chocolate. Mrs. A. L. Prigmore assisted Mrs. Ellis in serving.

Guests were Dolores Ann Miller, Oma Clair Morris, Earlene Burton, Rosemary Prigmore, Earlene White, Mary Joyce Mobley, Margery Lancaster. A gift was sent by Irmagene McWright, who could not be present.

Mexican Supper Entertains Miami Club on Thursday

MIAMI, Jan. 9 (AP)—The home of Mrs. S. W. Corbin was transformed into a typical Mexican dining room Thursday evening when she was hostess to the Miami Club. The supper was a charming Mexican. All usual furniture, drapes and pictures were removed from the entertaining rooms and in their stead were brightly colored drapes, Mexican plaques, pottery, pictures and serapes. On the polished floor were Mexican rugs.

The supper tables were adorned with softly glowing candles, cactus and colored pottery. A delicious supper consisting of hot tamales, frijoles, Spanish rice, tortillas, coffee, tea and cactus candy, was served by a Mexican senorita in the person of Mrs. Bob Brown of Pampa.

During the supper Mexican music was played by the Miami string band, the members being dressed in flowing serapes and viciouso mantillas. After the supper a program on Mexican Art was given by Mrs. Pedro Dial.

Those enjoying the affair were: Mmes. S. J. Montgomery, A. J. Montgomery, E. Sides, J. W. Philpott, W. F. Locke, B. F. Talley, as guests; and the members, Miss Lucile Saxton, Mmes. Buford Low, Dial, Dale Low, Holt Barber, E. V. Ward, Miles O'Loughlin, Clark Mathers, C. V. Wilkinson and Mrs. Corbin.

Dancing Pupils To See Ballet Russe

Kathryn Vincent Steele, Mrs. Frank Keen, and several pupils of the Vincent Studio of Dancing, will go to Amarillo tomorrow to see the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. The studio plans a ballet exhibition soon.

Ballet students are asked to practice their bar-work daily, and those advanced enough for toe dancing are asked to get toe slippers at the start of this term. The Vincent studio uses the Poupoff system of Russian ballet. Mrs. Steele, a Tomaroff pupil, teaches the system of the former concert artist who was at one time a featured dancer with Pavlova.

FLANNELS COME BACK WITH 1937 STREAMLINING.

DENVER (AP)—Red flannels—shades of the 1880's—are back in fashion here.

Minus the itch and the scratch and plus some twentieth century streamlining they are conspicuous on the shelves of department store lingerie departments.

"Girls love 'em," said one saleslady. "We sell most of them to girls in their teens. A few grandmothers have bought them. But the only thing old-fashioned about the ones we have is the name. We call them shirts and drawers."

The 1937 streamliners are favorites with girls who like to ski. They wear them under snow suits.

THEATER-GOERS OFFERED WIDE VARIETY OF HIGH-CLASS FILM FARE ON PROGRAMS FOR WEEK

Crown Presents "The Big Show," La Nora Shows "College Holiday," Rex Brings "General Spanky," State, "Hussy"

First-of-the-week fare for Pampa theater-goers offers a wide variety of subjects and plots all the way from sophisticated college life, a story with a Texas Centennial background and sophisticated comedy-drama down to juvenile comedy in a theme woven around the fighting South.

Jack Benny opens at the LaNora for a four-day run today in his latest from Hollywood, "College Holidays," in which he is supported by Martha Raye, Burns and Allen and a host of Hollywood satellites.

At the Crown theater today is another of the year's big pictures with a Texas Centennial locale. It is "The Big Show," with the big Dallas exposition in the background. It features the popular Gene Autry and a supporting cast that includes Kay Hughes, Sally Payne, Christine Maple and many others. The picture will run through Tuesday.

The attraction at the Rex today and tomorrow is "General Spanky," with Spanky McFarland, the personality boy. It's a comedy-drama of the South and in the cast are Phillips Holmes, Rosina Lawrence, Christine Maple and many others. The picture will run through Tuesday.

Joan Crawford is starred at the State today and tomorrow in her famous picture, "The Gorgeous Hussy." It's a grand picture and Miss Crawford's leading man is Robert Taylor.

CROWN

Four of Republic's young talent school students make their screen debut in Gene Autry's new special singing western, "The Big Show," which opens Sunday at the Crown theater, with a cast of 30 and five orchestras in support.

The young players are Grace Durkin, Christine Maple, Mary Russell and Richard Beach. Beach was born in Denver, Colo., played summer stock in Connecticut and appeared with Madge Kennedy and other stars on Broadway, New York.

Mary Russell was discovered working in a department store in San Francisco by Louise Fazenda, noted screen comedienne, who was instrumental in securing the young lady a contract at Warner Bros. Formerly she had had considerable stage experience.

Christine Maple was a member of the Ziegfeld Follies in 1931 and since has appeared in various motion pictures as a free-lance player.

Grace Durkin, sister of the late Junior Durkin, grew up in the movie business.

Kay Hughes plays opposite Gene Autry. Others include Smiley Burnette, William Newell, Sally Payne and Wedgewood Nowell.

LA NORA

A half-dozen of the screen's outstanding comedians, aided by a cast of Hollywood's most charming young players, contrive to make of "College Holiday" which opens a four-day run at the La Nora today, one of the funniest, gayest and most hilarious comedies with music to reach the screen this season.

Martha Raye, as one of the college girls, outdoes herself with the type of comedy which has made her famous.

A madcap story which, in addition to Miss Raye, includes Jack Benny, George Burns, and Gracie Allen, Mary Boland, Ben Blue and Marsha Hunt, deals with a bankrupt hotel and the efforts of Benny, its press agent, to save it. When he runs into Miss Boland and Girardot, a couple of scatterbrains who believe in scientific mating, his troubles are solved. He gets them to take over, ostensibly to try out their theories. Benny brings a number of college boys and girls to the place and the fun begins. Gracie Allen, as Girardot's daughter, who is even more scatterbrained than her Pop, has a way of telling what will make the ideal mate for whom, and she proceeds to put her notions into practice. It winds up in crescendo of gags and music.

"Sing Me a Love Song" will be the La Nora attraction Thursday only, and "Picadilly Jim" will show next Friday and Saturday.

RECEIVE PASSES.

Selection of the winners of the Rex and La Nora theater title story contest was made from approximately 200 prepared stories in which the contestants arranged the titles of pictures coming to those two theaters during January into a photograph forming story.

First prize at the Rex theater was won by Ruby Eldridge and she will receive a two-weeks pass to that theater. Second prize, which consists of a one-week pass to the Rex theater was won by A. P. Coombes, of 115 N. West-st.

First prize for the best story constructed on the La Nora theater January bookings was won by Minny Archer of 102 W. Browning. Miss Archer gets the 2-weeks pass to the La Nora theater for first prize while W. M. Brace is given a one-week pass for second prize.

If the prize winners will identify themselves to the cashier at the La Nora theater they will receive the prizes mentioned.

MARTIN DENIES IMPORTANCE OF RANCH HIGHWAY

Says Owners Did Not Block Completion Of Road

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 9 (AP)—D. K. Martin, whose term as state highway commissioner expires soon, said today the hug-the-coast highway through south Texas ranch country had not been completed because "it was less important than other highway projects."

He denied that owners of the King and Kennedy ranches, through which the route from Corpus Christi to Brownsville would run, have blocked completion of the project.

Martin said the commission held deeds to right of way through the ranches and has held them for two years. He claimed the commission was free to proceed with completion of the highway "whenever it is deemed advisable."

At present, motorists traveling to and from the lower Rio Grande valley are forced to detour more than 50 miles around the ranches, from which all trespassers are barred. The hug-the-coast highway "dead-ends" at fences to the north and south of the ranchlands.

Martin said the "entire right of way was given outright by the owners of the King and Kennedy ranches to the state."

Regarding the impression that completion of the highway had been delayed because of opposition by ranch owners, Martin said:

"Nothing is farther from the truth, and it is grossly unfair to these owners for such an impression to prevail when in fact they gave without a quibble, and without a penny cost to the state, all the right of way necessary for the highway."

"I secured the right of way myself two years ago and it was given to the state the first time we asked for it by both the Kennedy and the King ranch owners."

Martin said he thought the highway should be built, but that there are other more important highway projects in the state and he did not believe it should be built to the exclusion of all others.

He said the commission had estimated that when it was completed, the road would carry about 300 cars a day, on the average.

The northern end of the highway is blocked now at the King ranch line in the edge of Kleberg county. To the south, it stops at the Kennedy county line near Raymondville.

R. L. Bobbitt, newly appointed member of the highway commission, was named Wednesday night to succeed Martin, whose term expires Feb. 15.

Martin said some work will soon be started on the coast highway. Grading and structure work already has been done from Riviera, in Kleberg county, to Sarita, in Kenedy county. Paving contract for that stretch will be let by the present commission Jan. 25, he said. A

ONLY 6 DAYS OF QUAIL HUNTING ON CALENDAR

JUDGMENT RENDERED. A judgment in favor of Charles M. Spurlock against George L. Spurlock was handed down in district court here Friday by Judge W. R. Ewing.

Charles M. Spurlock had sued to recover title and possession of Lot 16, Block 1, of the Ten-Acre addition in Pampa.

Eighty-seven per cent of farm women never have vacations, a recent survey showed.

The large livestock market in the world is the Union stockyards in Chicago.

Only six more days of quail hunting remain for nimrods, the Panhandle. The season closes at sundown Friday.

Hunting has been fairly good this season, addicts have reported. The south portion of the county has been a favorite spot for hunters. Several good dogs have been trained during the period open for hunting the elusive birds.

SALAD ADDS TO TASTEFUL MEAL

Two Ways to Spoil Delectable Dish Are Told

By Mrs. Alexander George
A crisp, delectable salad is frequently the difference between a tasteful meal and one that is not particularly appealing. It also provides a dietary balance in menus which might otherwise have too great meat and starch content.

Two things may ruin a salad. The first is too much or too little dressing.

A salad should be served on crisp lettuce or greens and covered with just enough dressing to blend well with its ingredients. Improper mixing or excess dressing produces a wateriness which is far from attractive.

Greens To Be Used
The other thing which will spoil a salad is to cut its ingredients up too fine. Mincing causes many fruits and vegetables to lose their identity and become mushy. Rather than to have the portions which go into salads too small it is better to have them too large.

Among the greens which may be used in salads are lettuce, tender celery stalks, red or white cabbage, water-cress, chicory and endive. Many of them may be served alone with any number of different kinds of dressing. Or they may be combined with or used as a garnish for fish, meat, vegetable or fruit salads.

Preparing Lettuce
Cabbage and lettuce are especially easy to keep crisp. Either should be washed well and placed, while dripping, in a covered container to be chilled for several hours. (The cover keeps the moisture in).

The easiest way to separate the leaves of a head of lettuce is to remove the core and place the lettuce, with the hole left by the removal of the core right side up, under the cold water faucet. In a minute or so the leaves will separate and may be used as cups to hold the salad. Gelatin salads, especially, are a boon to the housewife who likes to provide variety in her menus. Since they may be made several hours before being served they are particularly suitable for the home where the hostess herself does all of the work in preparing the meal.

Add Real Fruit Juices
In making fruit gelatin salads it is a good idea to add a little real fruit juice to the gelatin liquid. A better flavor will result than when water alone is used. In fish, fowl or other meat gelatin salads, chicken broth or bouillon cubes dissolved in boiling water will also give added flavor.

Fruit for salads which are not to be jelled should be chilled, well drained and then arranged on the salad greens. The dressing should be added just before the salad is served. (A small amount of dressing may also be mixed in meat salads before they are chilled in order to season the mixture.)

Now You Can Ski Sitting Down

Of course, it's a little trouble to get uphill, but what's that to the winter sportsman who'd like the thrill of skiing without the danger of getting all tangled up? The ski-bike solves their problems. Just sit on it (as above) and guide like a bicycle. Invented by the Marquis of Ivanrey, it was introduced at Swiss resorts.

Borger Club Has First Meeting of New Year Recently

By Marjorie Maxwell
BORGER, Jan. 9.—Cut and Shuf-le club had its first meeting of the new year at the home of Mrs. J. E. Wallace. Three guests joining in the games were Mrs. D. B. Anderson of Denver, Mrs. Pete Sher-ras, and Mrs. Jack Bauman.

Prizes were awarded to Mmes. L. C. Crumrine, Frank Snyder, J. D. Ship, and Cal Baird.

Mrs. A. O. Alexander was hostess to the Young Women's circle of Phillips Methodist church Monday, Mrs. E. J. Reeves led the program, assisted by Mmes. P. R. Hancock, Hoyt Shepherd, and Alexander.

A housewarming was given for Mrs. W. W. Brooks in her new home at Whittenburg recently, when the Rosebud club entertained and presented gifts.

Psychologists say many young men and women take up professions unsuited to their abilities because they have not fully explored their aptitudes.

Child Labor Act Is Asked by P-TA

When the forty-fifth legislature convenes in Austin next week the governor and each member of the house and senate will have had his attention called to the legislative program called to the legislative program of Parents and Teachers, according to Mrs. M. A. Taylor of Bonham, state president. Names of the congress legislative committee were also attached to the letter sent to lawmakers by Mrs. Taylor. These committee members are: Mrs. Will T. Decherd, Austin; Mrs. J. H. Emmert, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, Austin; Mrs. E. C. Quereau, San Antonio; Mrs. Stephen Channess, Austin.

Following are measures which the state congress has endorsed and is sponsoring: Adoption of the federal child labor amendment; passing of such legislation as will result in the establishment of a department of public welfare; enactment of a driver's license law to maintain the requirements of the standard drivers license law prepared by the national conference on street and highway safety; amendment of the state school law No. 2911 by inserting the word "harmful" before the word "alcoholic" by substituting the word "beverages" for the word "stimulants," and by inserting the word "other" before the word "narcotics," and further amendment of this law to make mandatory instruction regarding the effects of alcohol and narcotics in the colleges and universities that are wholly or partly supported by state funds and in the primary, secondary and high school grades of the public schools of Texas.

Reaffirmed congress support of these measures: Establishment of a children's code commission; matching of federal funds for child welfare in order to secure such benefits as will aid dependent children, and additional appropriations for the state division of child welfare to secure development of the program and permit the continuation of social security funds for child welfare services in rural areas.

NEW I.E.S. BETTER SIGHT LAMP GIVES BETTER LIGHT AT LOW COST

This is the lamp millions now use for glare-free, sight-saving light. Every child should have one for reading and studying. Gives far more and better light than ordinary lamps using same amount of current.

Here is the new Light Meter that measures lighting as accurately as a thermometer measures temperature.

Learn how "measured light" protects young eyes and old... Ask for free check-up!

Most parents unknowingly make this mistake—they assume that their children's eyes are perfect at birth and will remain so for years. Unfortunately this isn't always the case. Scientists tell us that by school age approximately one child in every five has something wrong with his eyes.

One thing important to watch is lighting... and now you can find out scientifically whether your child has proper lighting for easy reading or studying without eyestrain.

Phone now and let us measure your lighting with a new invention called light meter. This service is FREE to customers.

RESTRICT.
There is well founded knowledge current that as of February 1 speculative activity of member brokers will be restricted. It will not only affect those active on the floor of stock exchanges but will also cover partners of stock exchange firms. Partners and members will have to do their trading on a cash basis.

The pending Securities Exchange Commission ruling will make taboo any margin trading by such individuals. This, of course, will restrict trading activity since SEC figures disclose that about 20 per cent of daily activity is attributed to members and partners of stock exchange firms. Margin regulations of customers will continue unchanged.

REFUNDING.
Great Northern Railway will soon offer through Morgan, Stanley & Company—$50,000,000 of general mortgage bonds due in 1937. The new issue will carry a 3 1/2 per cent coupon. The proceeds will be used to redeem the $40,943,000 of St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railway consolidated mortgage bonds due 1943 and $10,185,000 Montana extension first mortgage due June 1, 1937.

The St. Paul, Minneapolis issue to be refunded was due in 1932. It then carried 4 1/2 per cent coupons. In that year the bonds were extended to mature in 1943. In order to induce holders to approve the plan the interest rate was jacked up 5 per cent.

SHAKEOUT.
War isn't the only reason why wheat prices continue strong. It is the fact that the fact that the best of informed circles see a sharp increase of immediate consumption. It is also pointed out that weather growing conditions down in Australia and Argentina aren't favorable.

Despite these optimistic beliefs there is a feeling of caution evident in grain trading houses. The price of wheat has advanced so sharply during the past few weeks that a shakeout is reported as overdue. This is expected to take place as soon as the European war buying halts.

UNSEASONED.
Insiders say that Cleveland Graphite Bronze has reversed the downward trend in earnings reported during the first half of the year. The company manufactures bronze bushings, washers and bearings for the automotive industry. Ford takes 40 per cent of its output while Chrysler takes 25 per cent. The balance is sold to other firms such as General Motors, Studebaker, International Harvester, Nash, etc.

REPORTS ARE THAT:

Financial circles hear of a pending advance in sulphur prices. Westinghouse Airbrake's 1937 outlook is favorable. Greyhound Corp. to eliminate unprofitable lines. Operations of Clark Equipment continue to expand. In view of better statistical position of tin industry Patino Mines has a long-pull following. Public Service of New Jersey to supply General Motor's new Linden plant with 9,000,000 kilowatt hours annually. Columbia Pictures has lost its stock trading popularity. Hayes Body currently producing 50 trailers per week—sales call for as many. For 1936 Coty did operate in the black—only a few cents a share.

Standard Gas preferred shares strong due to reorganization plan developments. Union Oil of California not a bargain at current price levels—always did sell on high earnings ratio. A Stone & Webster subsidiary has a $3,250,000 Hartford Electric contract to build an addition to latter's South Meadow unit. Southern Pacific will pay a dividend this year. For first time in seven years General Cable earned on its class A shares. United Wall Paper benefiting from new household decorating craze. And, that all building equipment company shares in speculative demand in anticipation of a real estate struction boom this year.

The government's agricultural statistics service originated in 1833 with a $1,000 appropriation by congress.

CENTENNIAL SONG BOOK
In the homes, in the schools, in public gatherings of all kinds, Texans are singing the best known typical songs of Texas—songs of the range, songs of the Texas home, patriotic songs—songs every Texan should know and delight in singing. Twenty-eight of the best songs sung in Texas have been carefully selected by competent musicians, set to music, and published in a 36 page, 6 by 9, booklet on heavy coated paper with covers in colors.

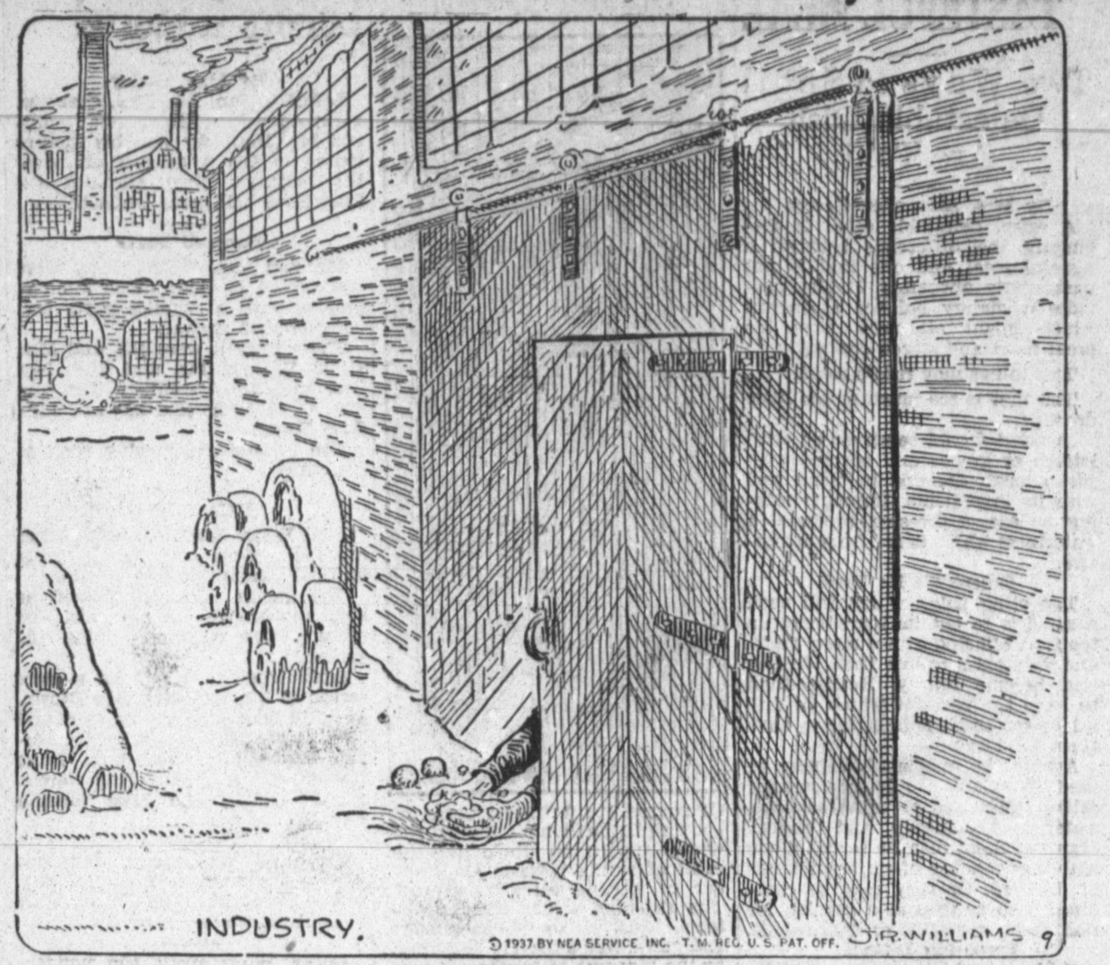

The booklet will be mailed postpaid for 25 cents. Send all orders to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Pear production on the Pacific coast is on the upward trend.

News Of Interest From Nearby Towns

Files in the office of W. Q. Word, county clerk and registrar of vital statistics, show that births exceeded deaths in Donley county during 1936 by 124. During the past year, 174 births have been registered in Donley county and 40 deaths have occurred.

From the Hedley district, 75 births were reported to December 1 and from the Clarendon district 95 births were reported with four occurring during the month of December.

With the opening by the contractor of a general office on the north side of Salt Fork river in Collingsworth county this week, preliminary work of hard surfacing the dirt gap on highway No. 4 from the Wheeler county line south to within seven miles of Wellington was launched.

Actual time for pouring the concrete, however, remained indefinite, according to D. L. Barnes, superintendent in charge.

Mrs. William Dick Rathjen of Portland, Ore., Panhandle pioneer, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Dean of Canadian, but returned to Oregon Wednesday.

Sarah Gibson, who was born in the heart of New York City, married William Dick Rathjen in 1886. They soon left for the west. This was an unusual trip for a bride—made by boat to New Orleans, then on to Vernon, Texas, by train and from Vernon by covered wagon to the Panhandle. This trip was made in company with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ficke and Fred Rohrs, a cousin of Mr. Rathjen.

The bride's dress caught fire at the first camp fire, but the groom swiftly put out the blaze. They settled in the Coburn draw on Sweetwater creek and lived near the groom's brother, Fred Rathjen. The house was of sod.

Mrs. Rathjen had pictured fruit orchards and church houses, but found only virgin soil. She later helped to organize a church. She was slight and small of stature, but no doubt had an inherited strength from her sea captain French father and from her Irish mother, thus helping her to persevere. Her father and mother had pioneered and made the gold rush to California in 1849.

Nearly 40 members of the Zyzach-Owens post, American Legion and Auxiliary of Canadian were in Pampa, Wednesday night, guests of the Pampa Legion post, together with members of the post at Panhandle.

A feed was given Canadian and Panhandle posts by the Pampa Legion. Pampa post issued a challenge to the Canadian and Canadian posts at a district convention that which ever post was last to obtain its membership quota should give the other two a feed.

Commander Jim Johnson received word from Pampa that Panhandle and Canadian posts ran a neck and neck race, with Canadian winning out with their quota by a margin of about 15 minutes.

J. O. Stovall, who has been county agent in Collingsworth county for the past three and a half years, will become county agent in Hemphill county, effective January 1, according to announcement made by Parker D. Hanna, district agent.

H. M. Cantrell, who has been county agent for Hemphill county since Mr. Hanna left Canadian three years ago next March, has been transferred to district 2.

Mr. Stovall and three children, Jane, Mary Beth and Bobby, will make their home in Canadian soon after the first of the year.

The transfer was made by the Extension Service Department, College Station.

Fifty-two Roberts county landowners met at the county court house Saturday afternoon to discuss the problem of water conservation that is now before each of several Panhandle counties. A majority of the acreage in the entire county was represented at the meeting and almost every portion of the county represented.

Judge J. A. Mead presided over the meeting and explained to the group that each of the Panhandle counties is entering into the Water Conservation Association in an effort to secure funds from the government to build dams in this region

As Woman Mayor Defied Ouster

Although armed guards remained on duty, threats of bloodshed and civil war appeared likely to give way to a court battle in the struggle for control of the Daytona Beach, Fla., city government. Mayor Irene Armstrong, upper right, remained entrenched in city hall, where she had been in power since her husband resigned. Gov. Dave Sholtz, upper left, whose term was to expire Jan. 5, fought to oust Mrs. Armstrong under special 1933 legislation. The lower photo shows three of the armed men guarding city hall under Mrs. Armstrong's orders.

and thus protect the soil, conserve the water, and aid in an improved range program.

J. R. Gillham read the minutes of the association's meeting at Amarillo, Dec. 19, the recommendations of the association, and explained to some extent what had been done by this group.

A round table discussion was held with a majority of those present giving their opinion as to the type of program that should be asked for by Roberts county. Agent Jett McMurry pointed out to the group that our county, being largely a range area with only a small proportion of prairie land, had shared to a small extent in government program and payments as compared to other Panhandle counties. The group voted to ask for as many small dams as possible with a tentative program as the equivalent of three small dams to the section of land.

This week will see the finish of a caliche base placed on the Miami-Pampa old highway 33 connecting with cement slab in Gray county, running out of Pampa, north.

The completion of this road gives the county another all-weather road. The caliche base was laid with WPA labor.

Work is expected to start soon on laying a caliche base on the River road north out of Miami. This work will also be done by WPA labor.
