Quemoy Cease Fire Is Rocked By Commie Guns

Nationalist Supply Convoy Caught By Red Shelling

By AL KAFF
United Press International

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — The Chinese Communists shattered the Quemoy cease fire today with a saturation bombardment that caught a Nationalist supply convoy on the beaches. Nationalist artillery thundered a reply in a full fledged renewal of the "little war."

The Communists shelling ceased two hours and 40 minutes after it started, the Nationalist Defense Ministry said.

The Red guns began blasting while Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was flying here from England via the North Pole in hopes of fashioning a permanent Far Eastern settlement in talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Dulles conferred by telephone with President Eisenhower in Denver during a stopover in Fairbanks, Alaska. They decided that Dulles should continue on his mission to Formosa in the hope that renewed Communist Chinese artillery attacks on the Quemoy complex would be of short duration.

Shelling Not Heavy

Shortly after they talked for 10 minutes, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced that "as the result of their conversation, it was decided that the secretary of state should continue his planned trip to Taiwan."

As this announcement was made, the Nationalist Defense Ministry here said the Reds resumed their Quemoy shelling with a bombardment against tiny Tatan Island, which is perched in the mouth of Red China's Amoy harbor and is often considered a likely invasion target.

A spokesman for the U.S. Taiwan Defense Command said "The Communist shelling was not very heavy and was returned by light Nationalist counterfire." But the spokesman was unable to give more specific information.

The Communist action appeared to be a direct slap at Dulles. The order of the day by Communist Defense Minister Pen Teh-huai ending 15 days of quiet in the Formosa Strait noted Dulles' impending arrival and accused him of interfering in internal Chinese affairs.

Caught By Surprise

Peng's announcement over Peiping Radio was monitored here an hour before the heavy Red shelling resumed. But there apparently was not time to warn the Quemoy garrison and the intense shelling came as a deadly surprise, catching a number of landing ships on the yellow sand beaches.

Nationalist Defense spokesman Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu said three ISTs on the beach and a Nationalist commercial cargo ship just off shore were able to pull out in time and were not sunk by the massive bombardment. He did not say whether any were hit.

FOR LR CLASSES

Over 400 Begin Registering Today

By BRYCE MILLER
United Press International

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—More than 400 white high school students started registering for classes today in private, segregated schools opened by the Little Rock Private School Corp. and Ouachita Baptist College.

The Private School Corporation's classes, for white seniors only, will start Tuesday in a three-story building that formerly housed the University of Arkansas graduate school. It was Gov. Orval E. Faubus' answer to Supreme Court orders to integrate.

About 150 seniors were registered there. About 250 students were registering at Second Baptist Church for classes. Ouachita Baptist College expects to begin there and at two other churches next Monday.

There probably are around 2,700 white high school students and 700 Negroes for whom public schools have not opened this year because of the integration dispute. Six or seven hundred students have transferred to schools out of Little Rock.

Officials of Philander Smith and Shorter (Negro) colleges scheduled meetings today to see what can be done about setting up private schools for Negroes.

Ouachita Baptist College registered white students for 10th, 11th and 12th grade private classes. Registration for Baptist private schools will continue through Wednesday.

W. C. Brashears, superintendent or the private school system, said classes will start Tuesday in the former graduate school center, "even if we have to hold them on the lawn under the trees."

A line on the registration cards said: "Tuition: Yes. No." Apparently students were expected to pay tuition if they could afford it.

The Baptists set up a tuition schedule of $20 for the first child in a family, $15 for the second, $10 for the third and $5 each for additional children.

Thirty-seven Little Rock high school students left in a special bus today for Hazen, 50 miles away, which offered them places in its high school.

Carpenters, painters, electricians and other workers were still repairing and putting the three-story former University of Arkansas graduate center in order.

"They may have us painted out," Brashears said, "but we will have school Tuesday somehow."

He said the corporation hopes to have school open for sophomores and juniors by Nov. 1. That is the "point of no return," according to school officials—the date past which the seven weeks lost cannot be made up.

MRS. JACK P. FOSTER
... Altrusa Vice Governor

Pampa Woman Elected Altrusa Vice Governor

By DORIS E. WILSON
Daily News Women's Editor

Mrs. Jack P. Foster was installed as second vice governor of Altrusa Club International, District 19, at the Governor's Banquet held Saturday evening in the Raleigh Hotel in Waco. Her election followed a three-day district conference of nearly 200 delegates attending from Mexico and Texas Altrusa cities; Guatemala is in District Nine, but no delegates attended from this section. Mrs. Foster is also to serve this year as district chairman of the Public Affairs Committee.

During the conference, she conducted a panel on Public Affairs, which consisted of each panel member giving the project and program that had been the most outstanding accomplishment of her club and group discussions of each president on what she felt was the outstanding public affairs project her club had sponsored. The theme for the panel was "Let's Swap Old Ideas For New."

Mrs. Foster is the current president of the Council of Clubs; one of the lay directors for the Cancer Society in this district, which includes 22 cities; state parliamentarian of District Nine Parent Teachers Ass'n; organizational chairman for the Girl Scouts of America. Mrs. Foster, who joined the local Altrusa Club in 1953, is its immediate past president, which office she held for two years; served on its board of directors and in the capacity of program co-ordinator. She is the immediate past president of Twentieth Century Club.

Also attending the conference from Pampa were Mrs. V. L. Hobbs, local club president, who was honored at the Presidents' Reception, and Mrs. W. A. Spoonemore, editor of the Local Altrusa Views Newspaper, who participated in a vocational guidance panel. Mrs. Spoonemore was named to serve this year on the district Vocational Committee.

Other officers installed at the Governor's Banquet were Mrs. Anita Christileb of Mexico City, president; Mrs. Joell Terrill Butler, Wichita Falls, governor-elect; Mrs. Etta Jane Butler, Houston, first vice governor; Miss Gloria Moores, Texarkana, treasurer; Miss Mary Nell McCall, Fort Worth, and Miss Helen Hooker, Abilene, district directors.

During the three - day conference, workshops were conducted on membership, finance, public affairs, international relations, vocational information, and Altrusa Information.

Campaign Tour Is Continued By Ike

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International

DENVER (UPI)—President Eisenhower's campaign tour to the Pacific Coast continued today under the dark cloud of renewed Communist shelling of Quemoy, a fact which required extensive speech revision for the chief executive.

Eisenhower, after a pre - dawn long distance telephone conference with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, decided to continue on schedule his plan to fly to Los Angeles where he was scheduled to speak tonight.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, said the remainder of the President's political tour to San Francisco and Chicago would, "at the present," continue as scheduled.

Meet Knowland, Knight

The President's concern over new shooting in the Far East was another major complication in his trip to California where he faced the task of generating new steam within his party and an effort to achieve some sort of public unity between the state's top two GOP candidates.

First item of business for the touring Chief Executive after his arrival in Los Angeles from Denver was a public meeting with Sen. William F. Knowland, the GOP candidate for governor, and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, running for Knowland's vacated Senate seat.

Knight and Knowland have been at odds for months over the senator's position on the right-to-work proposal also on the ballot for California voters Nov. 4. Knowland is for it, Knight against.

Little the President could do would change the basic differences between the two men, but he might be able to achieve some semblance of "one-for-all, all - for - one" public unity by bringing the two men together with him in public in Los Angeles and again in San Francisco Tuesday.

Eisenhower's first major political speech of his current 5,300-mile campaign swing was scheduled for 8:30 p.m. p.s.t. tonight from the Shrine Auditorium where the President's remarks will be carried by radio and television over 11 Western states.

The President and his wife spent a restful week end in her home town here, visiting with old friends and her ailing 80-year-old mother, Mrs. Elivera Doud, and devoting some comparatively brief moments to encouragement of the Colorado Republican ticket. Some of the state GOP forces were openly disappointed that the President was not more vocal in their behalf, but he felt he had done his share by posing with them for photographs and conferring on their races.

In truth, Eisenhower's most overt political move in Denver was in behalf of a neighbor of Mrs. Doud, young Jack Archibold, who lives down Lafayette Street from the Doud home.

Eisenhower discovered Sunday that the young man was a Republican candidate for the state assembly. He invited him to a conference at Mrs. Doud's, then sent his press secretary James C. Hagerty, down to the temporary White House press room with campaign literature for the youthful candidate and a statement that he hoped the "fine young man" would be elected. No other Colorado candidate could claim the same personal attention.

20 Listed Missing From Tanker Blast

LONDON (UPI)—An empty oil tanker exploded in the Arabian Sea today with a heavy loss of life, its owners reported in London.

Fragmentary reports here said 10 ships' officers were feared killed. But the messages raised hopes that most of the 55 Indian seamen aboard had been rescued by another tanker.

A dispatch from Bombay listed 20 men dead or missing, including the skipper, a Capt. Hannah.

Its owners said the ship was sailing empty from Bombay, India, to the Persian Gulf to pick up petroleum. Petroleum fumes in the hold were believed to have caused the explosion.

One report said the midship section, where the officers were quartered, was blown to pieces.

C-C Tickets Selling Fast

Thirty-five tickets are left to be sold for the annual membership banquet of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, it was reported today. C-C Manager E. O. Wedgeworth said that the banquet, scheduled for Oct. 30, may be sold out by the end of the week.

The main attractions this year will be Dr. Kenneth McFarland and Miss Texas, Mary Nell Hendricks.

Dr. McFarland, consultant for General Motors Corporation, Topeka, Kans., has made a good showing as a speaker here. The other drawing card will be Miss Hendricks, the Arlington school teacher, who, as Miss Texas, made the semi finals of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N. J. Miss Hendricks sang for the judges and will sing again here.

It is small wonder that 415 tickets at $2.50 per have been sold. At 450, Robert E. Lee cafeteria will be packed.

BULLET FIRED AT LOCOMOTIVE

A bullet was shot through the engine window of a Sante Fe locomotive Sunday noon as it sped south near the Hobart St. Underpass.

Police Chief Jim Conner reported no one was struck. The train continued without stopping and radioed a report back to its Pampa depot.

The bullet was apparently shot from the Hobart St. Park, but persons in the park said they heard no shots or saw no one with firearms. The shot was fired at 12:22 p.m.

Tornado Hits Labor Camp In Florida; 1 Dies

PAHOKEE, Fla. (UPI) — A tornado swept through a migrant labor camp here Sunday, killing one person and injuring 20.

The twister caused an undetermined amount of damage. It destroyed some 50 Negro workers' homes, toppled two Florida East Coast railroad box cars and tore down power lines. More than $50,000 damage was reported at a small airport where eight airplanes were demolished and one damaged.

Killed was John Gray Jr., 70, a Negro farm laborer. Highway Patrolman Register Windham said: "The tornado picked up his entire house and dumped it more than 400 yards away."

Policemen Await Answer On Pal's Shooting Spree

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two policemen sat at the bedside of fellow Patrolman James B. McDermott today, hoping he would revive long enough to say why he stepped into a Broadway restaurant on his beat Sunday morning and killed four men sitting at the bar.

McDermott, 36, a patrolman who was popular with his fellow policemen and with the people on his beat, lay near death at Roosevelt Hospital. He was shot five times by police from his own station house in a running gun battle on and off Broadway near Times Square.

Police said McDermott, a "nice and pleasant guy," father of four, and a church usher, had been under supervision of a Police Department physician for head injuries suffered in an accident in the line of duty. He had complained recently of severe headaches.

They said his ill health could have made him go suddenly on a bloody rampage that killed four men and wounded another, patrolman James Roden.

Had Arrest Records

Three of McDermott's victims had arrest records, and one of them was known as a gambler and loan shark, police said. They said it was possible McDermott was being "bled" by the loan shark, Edmund Leahy, 53, who was first to be shot.

McDermott began his minute of terror in the Pic-A-Rib restaurant at 1:40 a.m. Sunday. Manager Louis Olman said McDermott, who often frequented the place, stalked in in street clothes and stood at the opening of a partion that separates the bar room from dining tables.

"He came in, he said nothing," Olman said. "He did not have anything to drink. He opened fire."

All four of McDermott's victims were shot in the head. First he picked off Leahy, who fell backward off his stool to the floor. Then he shot Gene Cronin, 60, of Jersey City, N. J., who also fell backward. His next victim was Thomas O'Hare, 55, who sank kicking and screaming to the floor.

Plunges Through Glass

McDermott swung his .38-caliber service revolver past an unidentified man and theatre usherette Helen Collins, 27, who also sat at the bar.

The only other person at the bar, Lawrence Davion, 63, was having his nightly second shot of whisky when a bullet crashed into his head.

Pair Of Pampa Teen-Agers Will Face Multi Charges

Two 15-year-old Pampa youths, in trouble for car-prowling during Friday night's Pampa - Amarillo football game, were brought home from Amarillo by their parents Saturday.

The boys will be handled by this city's juvenile authorities on charges of drinking, destruction of property and shoplifting during a night-long escapade in Amarillo.

Two Amarillo patrolmen, inspecting the Amarillo Stadium parking lot during Friday night's game, found the youths inside a parked 1958 convertible. The convertible's top had been slit open, and the boys had been drinking.

Police said the pair had in their possession articles including an electric shaver, three necklaces, a cigarette lighter and a length of bicycle chain. Friday's arrest followed a day that began with a shoplifting incident in an Amarillo jewelry store.

After the game, the motorist who owned the convertible in which the boys were arrested came to the station to report the damage. The owner of another convertible, a 1950 model, also reported the top of his car had been cup open.

Amarillo patrolman Lisle Baldwin, who interviewed the Pampa boys in Amarillo city jail Saturday morning, said they admitted car prowling during the game.

One boy, according to Baldwin, told how he bought a $2.45 necklace at an Amarillo jewelry store Friday afternoon and shoplifted another necklace valued at $9.95.

An eye-catching item at the Soviet Industrial Exhibit in Moscow is this model of a "Sputnik of the future." Designed to carry passengers in cabins located at the rim of the wheel-like section, the device would be powered by solar energy.

United Fund Has Reached Total Of $17,442

Campaigning has raised the total of the Pampa-Lefors United Fund to $17,442, General Campaign Clyde Dickerson told the News today. This represents an increase of $395 over Saturday's total.

Of the $17,442, $180 was raised in Lefors.

This year United Fund divisions are driving for $64,000 to keep its eight participating agencies operating at maximum efficiency.

Through the seven Pampa divisions, the United Fund seeks to reach everyone in the community. The divisions are Oil & Gas, Services, Individual, Professional, Wholesale, Industrial and Retail.

Rio Grande Easing Off

By DARRELL MACK
United Press International

RIO GRANDE CITY (UPI) — The flood - swollen Rio Grande eased off a bit today after thousands of cubic feet of water was diverted into floodways and the area had the first full day of sunshine in nine days.

River officials believed the worst of the wildest flood in the Rio Grande's history was over although the river was still rising below Reynosa Sunday night, prompting the evacuation of an additional 300 persons.

At the height of the flood last week, some 14,000 were left homeless. Many began moving back to their villages on both sides of the river Sunday.

River Due to Drop

John Selleck, of the International Boundary and Water Commission office in McAllen, said the Rio Grande probably would start receding today at Reynosa, Mexico.

The newest group to leave included residents of small villages and farming communities on the Mexican side along a 25-mile stretch southeast of Reynosa.

U. S. Border Patrol Pilot Kenneth Carl flew over the area with a loudspeaker warning the residents the river was still rising and for them to get out.

The Rio Grande upstream from Reynosa was receding despite a record discharge of 43,450 cubic feet per second at the great Falcon Dam. The river stood at 29.2 feet at Rio Grande City Sunday night compared with a 30.1 foot reading early Saturday.

Some 12,000 Valley residents clogged the highways Sunday as they drove to the Falcon reservoir to see the floodwater being dumped through the floodgates.

Drain Flood Surplus

L. H. Hewitt, U.S. Water and Boundary Commissioner at El Paso said 1,700,000 acre feet of water had been spilled from Falcon dam, the surplus coming from floods of two weeks ago in the Presidio area hundreds of miles upstream from the dam.

Despite the brigher outlook, thousands were still homeless and many were marooned by high water. Campfires burned brightly on hills west of Reynosa where a thousand Mexicans waited out the flood.

Among the cities and villages to which residents returned Sunday were Ciudad Camargo on the Mexican side from which 4,000 had fled last Monday when the Rio San Juan went out of its banks.

Residents of the villages of Los Ebanos, La Grulla and Garciaville on the Texas side began moving back Sunday.

The villages of Abram and Penitas were still under water.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You are always telling teen-agers to bring their friends home. Well, that might be okay for some kids, but not me. I don't care to bring my friends home because my mother is so fat and sloppy I am ashamed of her. When I come home from school she still has her nightgown on or else she's wearing a dirty wrinkled dress. Ask other teen-agers to write in, Abby, and tell you why they don't bring their friends home. You might get some real good answers and maybe some parents would get some good hints.

A TEEN-AGER

DEAR TEEN-AGER: Your reason for not bringing your friends home is legitimate and I don't blame you. Most adults are quick to blame teen-agers for situations that have resulted from their OWN delinquency. If other teen-agers feel they have good reason for not bringing their friends home, I'd like to hear from them. No names or initials will be used.

DEAR ABBY: While on vacation, I met a local game warden quite by accident. He gave me a citation for fishing without a license when I really wasn't fishing. A few later he came into my place of business and asked me for a date. I refused at first, but he kept after me until I accepted. He told me he was getting a divorce, and not living with his wife. Others have told me he is living with his wife, but steps out on her. Should I investigate these stories, or take him at his word? After all, he IS working for the government.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: It doesn't matter for whom a man is working... if there is any question about his character. This game warden is playing games for which he has no license.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of three children who ran up a dentist bill of $210 for fillings and they are all under twelve years of age? They had their teeth fixed for school and the dentist told them not to chew tough bubble gum but they went ahead and chewed it anyway and pulled their fillings out. Their mother didn't say one word to them. She sent them back to the dentist and told him his work was no good. Don't you think their mother should give them a good lecture?

LIVE-IN GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: I think the children are like any other normal children. They will do as they please as long as they can get away with it. It's their MOTHER who needs the lecture.

DEAR ABBY: I met a West Point cadet and he seemed to like me a lot. We are corresponding. I have been signing my letters, "All my love" and he signs his, "Sincerely yours." My mother says he would probably sign his letters "With love" but there may be something in the rules at West Point that doesn't allow it. Can you tell me if his is true?

INQUIRING

DEAR INQUIRING: West Point cadets are free to sign their letters any way they wish. Have patience — a gentleman (by an act of Congress) can't be rushed.

DEAR ABBY: Tell that gal who wants to smoke so bad that she might as well smoke now as hereafter!

ALEX

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARILYN: If Jack gets pickled every night — ask for a new "dill."

PG Club Hostess To Senior Center

Senior Citzens of the community were entertained by the Pampa Garden Club on Thursday afternoon in Lovett Memorial Library. Garden Club hostesses were Mmes. Fred Hart, C. E. Aexlson, W. A. Breining, Perry Nichols, Weldon Adair, Thelma Bray, V. N. Osborn, and Loyse Caldwell.

Mrs. F. L. Trimble was awarded the door prize of a dried flower arrangement created by Mrs. Fred Hart.

Table games were played by the guests and for those who didn't play Mrs. Breining conducted a Bible quiz.

Forty-four guests attended.

Gray Ladies assisting with the transporation of citizens to and from the party were Mmes. A. D. Hills, Gladys Harkins and Vera Lard.

Altrusa members assisting were Mmes. Loyse Caldwell, Vera Lard, Louise Sewell and Jay Flanagan.

Families with small children often wonder what to do with the bathtub fleet when older persons want a bath. An inexpensive hammock for wet tub toys can be made of an empty orange bag. Hang it between the faucets and it will hold the toys and also let them dry out.

Rebekah Lodge Plans Instruction

Pampa Rebekah Lodge No. 355 met in regular session with Mrs. Lucille Kessinger noble grand, and Mrs. Ona Gray, five grand, in charge.

Members reported ill were Mmes. Laura Silvey, Cordelia Mayes and Virginia Bookout; also, Mrs. Lena Dial, sister of Clyde Gray. Eight sick visits were reported made.

It was announced that the Panhandle Circle will meet with Amarillo Lodge No. 222 on Oct. 28 and that a school of instruction will be conducted by Mrs. Helen Lamberson on Oct. 23.

Mrs. Myrtle Johnson's name was called for the travel fund.

Middle East Pilgrimage Study Continued By Harrah Methodist Women's Society

Circle one of the Woman's Society of Christan Service of Harrah Methodist Church met Thursday evening for the second of a series of lessons on the "Middle East."

Mrs. O. M. Butler gave the opening prayer. Mrs. P. D. Gross, study leader, gave a short resume of the first lesson. Area reports of Egypt, Syria and Pakistan were given by Mrs. Lela Pearl Reed, C. W. Kennemer and D. S. Buckner.

Rev. O. M. Butler spoke to the group about the Koran, Bible of the Islam religion.

Mrs. Lizzie Collins, who has a son in Iran, told of reports she received from that country, concerning oil-field work there and of man customs of Iranian People. Mrs. Gross gave the devotional, entitled "Rekindling the gift."

Circle Two of Harrah WSCS met recently for the second lesson of the study "Middle East Pilgrimage under the direction of Mrs. P. D. Gross.

The opening prayer was given by Mrs. G. O. Hall. Area reports on Egypt and Syria were given by Mrs. Dallas Hodges and Mrs. Joe Singleton. Mrs. A. L. Patrick reviewed "Methodism in Pakistan" by Rev. Marvin A. Keisler, "Assignment Middle East" was the title of the talk made by Mrs Dale Gross, taken from a T. V. production.

The devotional entitled "Rekindling the Gift" was presented by Mrs. Burl Brown.

Mrs. Gross made the announcement of the fall meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service to be at Wesley Church, Borger, on October 21.

Others present in addition to those already mentioned were: Mmes. O. M. Butler, Josephine Wright, Ray Akers, T. H. Alexander and Rev. O. M. Butler.

Mrs. Truly Named Valentine Nominee

Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Jeff Truly, 2122 N. Banks, with Mrs. Byron Hilbun, president, presiding during the business meeting.

Mrs. Yvonne McCracken was elected alternate to the City Council.

Mrs. Jack White reported on the Beta Sigma Phi area convention, which was held in Borger on Oct. 12.

Mrs. Truly was named to represent the chapter in the annual valentine contest. Mrs. Joe Fischer led discussion on the program, "The End of Life." Members were divided into three discussion groups for a buzz-session using the following topics, "How Science Expiains Termination of Life Or Species," "Death," and "The Ends of Life."

The serving table was centered with an arrangement of fall flowers with appointments in silver. Cake, decorated with yellow roses, the sorority flower, was served with coffee.

Members attending were Mmes. Roy McKee, Thelma Bray, F. L. Stone, Byron Hilbun, Hansford Ousley, S. M. Chittendon, Yvonne McCracken, Bob Keller, Jack White, Jim Poole, Joe Fischer, John Plaster, Bill Bridges, and Virginia Vaughn.

The next social event for the chapter will be a card party on Oct. 27 at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Plaster.

RUTH MILLETT

Working wives often complain that full-time housewives seem to resent them and make no effort to try to understand the working wife's special problems.

Well, here's a letter from a stay-at-home wife filled with suggestions for the working wife who wants the approval and friendship of wives who don't work outside the home.

Her suggestions are: "When a stay-at-home wife is showing off a dress she made, or a room she painted, or her flower garden, a working wife should refrain from saying, 'Of course, YOU have time for that. I don't.'

"When a wife goes to work so that she and her family can have more of the material tings, she may not have time to be active in all the clubs she belongs to. But if she isn't going to be a working member she ought to resign. Why should she expect to have all the benefits of social clubs and yet never be willing to do any of the work, pleading that she just hasn't the time?

"If a working wife accepts invitations for herself and her husband, she ought to repay such obligations in some way. If she can't find time to cook a company dinner, then, at least, she ought to invite other couples out for dinner in a restaurant.

"The working wife who depends on nonworking wives to be Brownie and Cub Scout leaders for her children, teach them in Sunday school, chauffeur them along with their own children, etc., should do something — if only write a note — to show her appreciation. And she certainly should refrain from telling these women she envies them for having time for such work. Chances are they put in as many hours of work a day as she does — for eveybody calls on the stay-at-home wife to do community jobs.

"When a full-time housewife mentions some book or article she has read, the working wife should really wished she had time to read she would find it. So why try to make the stay-at-home wife feel like a kept woman?"

There it is, working wives — some not too gentle hints on how to treat your nonworking friends.

District 19 Workshop Panel Discusses "Stepping Stones To Maturity" At Meet

A panel discussion on "Stepping Stones To Maturity" was a highlight of the Leadership Workshop of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, District 19, held in Clarendon recently. Claude Zeverly of Panhandle, District 19 vice president, was moderator for the panel composed of District 19 board members.

H. E. Powers, Childress principal, opened the panel discussion with the statement "Parents should share in their child's education by being interested in the school."

C. E. Sanders, Childress minister, gave the moral and spiritual aspects of a child's education. He stated, "A spirit of cooperation within the family for the benefit of the individual helps develop children morally and spiritually."

Mrs. Charles Mock, Childress parent, believes, "we need better educated parents. The local PTA units should teach the parents, who, in turn are able to teach their children."

Mrs. Vick Callendar, Fritch parent, in her panel comments said, "We should become better informed as an individual about our schools, from finances to teachers."

Guy Hazlett, lawyer, stated "Men have a place in the PTA also. Business men need to know and help the PTA as the PTA is for the betterment of humanity. It helps the child become a well-rounded adult and a better parent and citizen of tomorrow. Schools are the biggest business of today."

Mr. Zeverly's summation stressed these points: "Never let your child be taught by a stranger, know his teachers." Think of children as a group." "The PTA is to educate the parents, not to spend money. Public funds should be spent fairly on all children, not just one group. The public should be educated as to where school tax money goes." And in conclusion, Mr. Zeverly brought out the fact that there is no commercialism or gambling allowed in PTA fund raisings.

A get - acquainted session was held preceding the meeting with coffee and doughnuts served at 8:30 a.m. Mrs. James Lewis of Pampa, District 19 president, called the meeting to order with Rev. Berkley Sorelle of Clarendon giving the invocation.

S. C. Pinkerton, superintendent of Clarendon schools, gave the welcoming address.

Mrs. R. A. Mack, Pampa PTA City Council president, presented the theme, "Education In The Making," and reported on the Leadership Workshop held in Austin in June.

Following the panel discussions, members divided into four groups for discussion. Group leaders were Mmes. M. W. McCloy, of Morse, Lawrence Neece of Clarendon, Herbert Clift of Childress and George Collard also of Clarendon.

A buffet luncheon was served as as the noon hour in the Methodist Church.

Twenty-two towns and nine counties were represented at the meeting with 98 members registering.

Las Cresas Plans Football Dance

Las Cresas Club held its anniversary meeting in the home of Miss Marylin Shelton, 702 N. Chisty.

Miss Carolyn Wallin, president, presided during the business meeting as the secretary's report was given by Miss Alcyon Flaherty and the treasurer's report by the president.

Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held on Nov. 8.

A suggestion to have an assistant reporter was approved and Miss Vickie Payne was named to that office.

Plans were also discussed for a dance to be held Oct. 31 following the Harvester - Palo Duro Football game.

Miss Rose Smith, a former member, was welcomed as a special guest.

The next club meeting will be held Tuesday evening at 7 in the home of Miss Nancy Bailey.

Pampa Red Cross Offers Membership

Each person who contributes to the Pampa - Lefors United Fund will get a year's membership in the Pampa Red Cross, A. J. Carrubi Jr., RC fund chairman, announced.

The 1959 membership card is something that everyone should carry, according to E. V. Pemberton, first aid chairman, as it shows the six basic principles of first aid, complete with diagrams of the new method of artificial respiration.

"With many organizations stressing safety, the Red Cross membership card could be very valuable," Pemberton said.

Those who did not receive their membership cards when they contributed to the United Fund, may call the Red Cross office, MO4-7121. All members are entitled to attend the chapter's annual meeting and to vote in the election of its board of directors.

QUEMOY

fense Command flatly denied Communist Charges the Navy was still convoying Nationalist ships. It pointed out the 7th Fleet had been trimming out the vessels rushed here during the emergency and that U. S. vessels were under orders to remain 20 miles off shore.

Dulles' trans-polar converted jet tanker landed safely at an airbase outside Fairbanks, Alaska, this morning for a four-hour refueling and rest stop.

Joseph N. Greene, an assistant traveling with Dulles, said his plans at the moment were indefinite. He said Dulles had no immediate comment on the Quemoy situation but might have a statement later.

American warships ceased convoy operations during the cease fire and withdrew the reinforcements they had sent to the U.S. 7th Fleet. But the Communist said U.S. Navy vessels "intruded" in the Quemoy and Matsu areas Sunday and today.

Announces Cancellation

The Communists bombardment of the Quemoys, with heavy military and civilian casualties, began on Aug. 24 and lasted until Oct. 5 when Peng proclaimed a week-long cease fire for "humanitarian reasons."

He announced at 3 a.m. e.d.t. a two-week extension had been cancelled. The Nationalist Defense Ministry said "heavy" shelling of the Quemoy islands began one hour later on the 15th day of the cease fire.

President Chiang Kai-shek immediately summoned Foreign Minister Huang Shao-ku and George Yeh, Chinese Nationalist ambassador to Washington, for consultation. Yeh had just arrived to help prepare for talks between Dulles and Chiang. Dulles is due Tuesday.

During the Aug. 24-Oct. 5 bombardment the Communists hit Quemoy island with 474,000 rounds of high explosive shells, at one point almost sealing off the island group. Since then the Nationalist have reinforced the islands heavily.

Tragedy Hits Texas In Many Ways

United Press International

Tragedy, in the form of violent deaths, struck hard at Texas Sunday on a sunshiny fall day that lured thousands of motorists to the highways.

Traffic accidents took the biggest toll with eight lives. An eight-year-old boy accidentally hanged himself while playing cowboys and Indians, and another eight-year-old fell to his death in Palo Duro Canyon. A Negro man died from a shotgun blast following a tavern brawl.

The worst of the traffic accidents claimed the lives of four persons in a two-car collision near Van Alstyne. The victims were Mrs. Jesse W. Wilkinson, 47; her daughter, Ruth Irene Wilkinson, 7; and Mrs. Wilkinson's mother, Mrs. Lillie Brown, 73, all of Dallas, and Mrs. Elouise Watson, about 45, of Irving, Tex.

Two Die in Crash

Two persons were killed and four were injured in a three - car collision a mile north of Malone near Hillsboro.

Highway Patrolman D. A. Babb said it appeared that a car in which Pedro E. Villareal, 64, of Brandon, was riding, hit a car driven by Barbara Sonnenberg, bounced off and struck another car headon driven by Mrs. Lothar Sonnenberg of Malone.

He said Miss Sonnenberg was accompanied by a group of friends while her mother and children followed in the second car.

The dead in the crash were Villareal and Betty Sonnenberg, 8, daughter of Mrs. Sonnenberg. Villareal was killed instantly while the girl died two hours later in a Hillsboro Clinic.

Teen-Agers Steal Body

HOUSTON (UPI) — Police today said eight teen age boys admitted stealing the body of a wealthy Negro funeral home director, who planned his own elaborate funeral 20 years ago, and hanging it on the flagpole at Hogg Junior High School.

The well - preserved body was that of the late Isaac S. Lewis, who built his own mausoleum, planned his own funeral and after his Christmas Eve, 1938, death had the most expensive funeral ever conducted in Houston up to that time. Lewis was known to have been critical of inexpensive funerals.

The body was found hanging from the top of the flagpole Sunday morning. The boys were arrested late Sunday after police located other teen agers who said they had been shown the body.

Police turned six of the boys, all under 17, over to juvenile authorities. Edward Silverstain, 17, was charged before Justice of the Peace Tom Maes with the felony offense of interfering with a body. Another 17-year-old was being questioned.

Detectives said the boys admitted breaking into the Negro cemetery mausoleum and taking Lewis' body after hearing another group of boys discussing it. They told officers they thought it would be "a great prank" to take the body to Hogg Junior High, where some of the younger boys attend school.

The body was taken from the flagpole and returned to Hemphill funeral home, where it was embalmed with a special process nearly 20 years ago.

Lewis was a successful Negro funeral home operator and owned a restaurant and beer tavern. He designed his own expensive double - casket, which was gold plated on top of bronze.

His funeral cost $15,000 — the most expensive ever held in Houston at that time. His will also asked — and he was granted — that the body lie in state for 40 days and 40 nights because he said it was mentioned in the Bible and he thought it would be lucky.

Kiwanians Will Hold Installation

The Pampa Kiwanis Club will hold an installation in December for its newly elected officers, accroding to Malcolm Hinkle, president.

To be installed as president is Sam Begert, principal of Horace Mann elementary school, backed by Art Aftergut, first vice president and Bob Curry, second vice president.

Gov. Faubus closed the city's four public high schools to keep them from being integrated.

Brashears said the corporation had talked with a group that promised a building large enough to hold 600 to 650 studens and "it should be ready by Nov. 1."

He declined to say where the building was located "until it can be definitely assigned."

"If it doesn't materialize, we will have to look elsewhere; possibly take smaller buildings and scatter the schools around a bit," he said.

Brashears planned a staff meeting with the principal, O. M. Owens and the 22 teachers before doors open for registration.

West Wonders Who Was Aboard Lost Soviet Airliner

LONDON (UPI) — Conviction deepened here today that a high Soviet official may have been aboard the Soviet TU104 jet airliner which crashed last Friday, killing the 65 passengers and five or more crewmen aboard.

Radio Moscow still has not amplified its Saturday statement that all aboard were dead. But Radio Peiping said there were 65 passengers aboard, 16 of them Chinese Communist officials, and the remainder non-Chinese.

Russia was silent on the identity of the victims, but the Soviet cabinet, in an unprecedented move, decreed that a top level panel should investigate the crash at Kanash, 360 miles east of Moscow. The crash came during a scheduled Peiping-Moscow flight.

Because of the Soviet cabinet's intervention in the crash investigation and the almost unprecedented announcement of the disaster, Western experts speculated that high Communist or foreign officials might be among the victims.

Peiping named its 16 victims who included Ceng Chen-to, vice minister of cultural affairs who was leading a cultural delegation of 10 to Afghanistan. It merely described the others as "foreign friends" and "foreign experts."

Official sources in Bonn and London said four West Germans and one Briton were aboard the aircraft. The Cambodian Embassy in Tokyo said it had no knowledge of Moscow rumors the son of the Cambodian ambassador to Peiping was a passenger.

Esso Extra

Esso Extra sells for premium—not super-premium—price, but it out-performs many gasolines selling for 1c to 2c more.

Out-performs them in clean-burning characteristics: it burns so clean that sparkplugs last up to 50% longer.

Out-performs them in anti-knock operation: its octane rating is high—higher, in fact, than the octane rating of many gasolines for which motorists pay a super-premium price.

Esso Extra is the No. 1 premium in Texas . . . first in premium sales . . . first in premium performance.

Use this great gasoline in your car. You'll prefer its performance, you'll like its mileage, and most of all, you'll be pleased with its economy.

ACME INNERSPRING

This is an Acme 312 Coil Innerspring Mattress with matching box springs. Acme Mattress Company also carried complete lines of mattresses, springs, Hollywood and Foldaway beds and features orthopedic and oversize mattresses. Stop in at 817 W. Foster, inspect these lines and learn how you can save as much as 50 per cent by having Acme rebuild or renovate your mattress.

Acme Mattress Gives You Fast Comfort At Low Cost

Same day service is only one aspect of the incredible service you get when you deal with Acme Mattress Company, 817 W. Foster. Acme knocks days and dollars off a reconditioning job, giving you back a mattress that is a comfort at low cost.

Acme will rebuild your old mattress or convert it to an orthopedic mattress with equal speed. By adding cotton and a new covering, Acme gives you a mattress in which you'll never feel the springs.

You can have your old mattress reconditioned for as litttle as $10.50 or you can have it built into an innerspring for $19.50. And you can save $30 on an orthopedic job.

Acme keeps costs down and quality high by making the best use of the cotton in your old mattress. Very often, the cotton is of a higher quality than that in new mattresses and has only to be fluffed up to give you a mattress comfortable as new.

Also, Acme is located in the low rent district where it can work under bargain conditions to you.

To benefit from this remarkable service, you have only to call MO 4-6621 and a truck will be at your door. If you call in the morning, the mattress will be yours again by nightfall. There it will be, well fluffed up.

Acme has been salvaging mattresses for the past 23 years. The modern machines in expert hands do the job. Some of the operations you will see at Acme involve the felting, roll edge, renovating, tape edge and sewing machines, also the cutting tables and sterilizer.

On request, Acme will make you a cotton mattress in any size. Custom made mattresses are their joy.

Also this is a good place to get your roll away beds, bed springs and Hollywood sets. Here you will find up to the minute designs in mattress covering and 180 through 312 coil mattresses.

Gene Tollison, owner and operator, invites you in to have a look around.

Even Ike Can't Have His Cake And Eat It Too; Cable For Sale

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

As President Eisenhower tours the country, he runs into new signs along the highways over which his motorcades proceed.

One new addition to his vast collection of roadside greetings was outside Salina, Kan., where a group of young military school cadets were drawn up in as stiff attention as their excitement of the moment would permit.

Their sign said: "Hi, sir."

When the President stopped at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, he just wouldn't let well enough alone and now he realizes that some mysterious fate will keep him on his diet whether he likes it or not.

The President was leaving a tent at the national corn picking contest and spied a big cake which proclaimed "Welcome Ike" in white and yellow icing.

The political reflex—and the hungry man—came out in him.

"I just can't leave," he said, "without a piece of that wonderful looking came."

Whereupon one of the hostesses cut a big slab and handed it to him. He took it gingerly with one hand and attempted to sign a lady's authograph book with the other hand.

Several other ladies showed up with papers to be autographed and the President was hemmed in. As he tried to do everything at once, the cake seemed to explode and he started to drop it, then grabbed for it.

A cascade of icing fell over his gray suit. He grabbed for one stray bit of cake and got icing up his sleeve. Finally, he had to step away from the ladies and dust himself off. But not without leaving a few telltale spots.

When the President visited last week in his old hometown of Abilene, he stayed at the Sunflower Hotel where he last was a guest in 1954. Each time, the hotel management claims, that the President comes to town the Secret Service makes the Sunflower install new elevator cable.

As one of the hotel clerks said "we now have the largest supply of slightly used elevator cable in all Kansas."

Jacoby ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

One of my principal pleasures in a trip to New York is that I get a chance to talk to Lee Hazen and listen to some of his rubber bridge experience.

Lee was a little bitter about today's hand. His partner opened the queen of spades in response to Lee's spade overcall and Lee played third hand high. In other words he overtook his partner's queen with his king.

This promptly set up South's ace and jack as spade tricks, but they would have been tricks in any event and if Lee had not played his king on West's queen declarer would simply have ducked and West would have been unable to continue the suit. In that case South would have had all the time in the world to establish dummy's diamonds and would have made four no-trump instead of going down two as actually happened.

I asked Lee why he was bitter about the hand. It seemed to me that the two-trick set should have satisfied him.

"There was nothing wrong with the result," he agreed. "But do you know that everyone was so busy discussing another hand that even my partner wouldn't say, 'Nice play.' "

PAMPA GARAGE AND SALVAGE COMPANY

Pampa Garage and Salvage Company, 511 Huff Road, buys wrecked cars, like the one shown and salvages usable parts. Parts are available for all late model cars, including motors, transmission, rear ends, wheels, tires, starters, bearings, generators, clutches, radios and accessories. The parts you get at Pampa Garage and Salvage work like new, cost half as much.

Pampa Garage And Salvage Co. Has The Auto Part You Want

You need that part and you need it bad. Why not try Lee Roy McBride's Pampa Garage and Salvage Company, 511 Huff Road. In his vast stock, McBride has just about any part you need to keep running smoothly and can put his finger on it when you need it most.

The expanded location, a block south of Highway 60, enables McBride to move more parts at lower prices. Over 325 late model cars, 1949 through 1957, are on the lot. Motors, transmissions, rear ends, wheels, mufflers, tires, starters, bearings, generators, clutches, radios, accessories are here waiting for you. They work like new but are yours at half the cost. Satisfaction comes guaranteed if they are installed correctly.

A major operation at Pampa Garage and Salvage Company, is the daily classification, cleaning and painting of parts to get them ready for you. You can get some real deals on tail pipes, gears, windshields, windows and door glass. Pampa Garage gives a good price for wrecked and burned cars, from which it salvages its highly usable parts.

McBride has been a resident of Pampa for over 20 years. For the past 15, he has operated Pampa Garage and Salvage. His civic activities include service in the Elks Club of which he is past exalted ruler.

You would do well to make Pampa Garage your first stop when on the road for a part.

Farm Equipment Is Selling Like Hot Cakes At Present

By EVERETT R. IRWIN
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI) — Farm prosperity is giving the farm equipment manufacturing industry a shot in the arm.

Farmers getting higher prices for bigger crops in 1958 are investing a sizeable chunk of their returns in new tractors and implements, industry spokesmen report.

R. S. Stevenson, president of Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Co. and president of the Farm Equipment Institute, told the institute's convention in Atlantic City recently has industry sales are up 10 to 15 per cent.

Frank W. Jenks, president of International Harvester Co., said the farmer "is in a better frame of mind to buy new farm equipment."

Sales Are Up

A United Press International check today showed:

—Deere and Company's farm equipment sales for the first nine months of its 1958 fiscal year were up 15 per cent over the same period a year ago.

—The Oliver Corporation's sales of farm equipment in the United States and Canada for the first nine months of 1958 totaled $51,723,000, an increase of 18 per cent over the first three quarters of last year.

—Ford Motor Company's production of tractors so far in 1958 is 16 per cent above the comparable period of 1957.

—J. I. Case Co. earned $2,933,000 in the first nine months of this year, against a loss of 993,805 in the same months last year.

—International Harvester showed a 1 per cent boost in farm equipment sales in the first nine months of the 1958 fiscal year despite the fact that its two tractor plans were shut down from six to eight weeks for model changeovers.

—Allis-Chalmers' farm implement sales have been "eminently satisfactory and 1959 should be a good year, too."

Buy Bigger Equipment

An Allis-Chalmers spokesman said "the ending of the drought in the Southwest and the record wheat harvest are two big factors. Better crops in the Souhwest and Midwest and better markets have meant increased income for farmers."

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson reported recently that average farm prices in September stood 5 per cent above those received by farmers in September, 1957.

He said net farm income for the first nine months of the year was running 19 per cent above 1957.

L. E. Dearborn, general sales manager of Ford's tractor and implement division, said the company has recorded increased sales of most items. The firm produced 33,404 tractors through Sept. 30, compared with 28,689 during the first nine months of 1957.

A Deere spokesman said farmers are buying bigger equipment than formerly. He said Deere's new six-row planters and cultivators are "selling well" on today's market to farmers who formerly settled for four-row implements.

CHECKING VIOLATIONS—A new "pay as you go" form for parking violators, complete with "courtesy check" attached, is examined by St. Louis, Mo., Police Sgt. John Bauer. The violator fills in the name of his bank, mails the check for $2, and saves himself a trip to the police station.

TOO MUCH SWEETS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Magistrate A. Lawrence Acquavella Wednesday ordered Miss Yetta Klausner to stay away from the Central Park Zoo. Zoo officials complained that she was throwing their orangutan Katyboff her diet with offerings of cupcakes, French pastry and chocolate bars.

Rice-Texas Tilt Highlights SWC

The talented Texas Longhorns, ranked among the nation's mighty, face the newly - found sharp talons of the defending champion Rice Owls this week in the showdown feature of a sparkling Southwest Conference football bill of fare.

A share of the league lead will be riding in the balance as these two mid-season rivals come to grips in the Owls' own nest at Houston in one of two Saturday night loop games on the menu.

Texas Christian, which can match Rice's two victories without defeat inside the league, will be idle, but dangerous Baylor (1-0) returns to loop warfare as host to the troublesome Texas Aggies at Waco.

Disappointed Southern Methodist and downhearted Arkansas make another stab at intersectional play in afternoon contests at Dallas and Little Rock as they entertain Georgia Tech and Mississippi.

Texas Favored

Coach Darrell Royal's lustrous Longhorns, who turned in a hard-earned but decisive 24-6 triumph over Arkansas last Saturday for their fifth straight victory, seem sure to go into the Rice game as favorites.

But, that probably won't phase the slow-maturing Owls, who displayed a ferocious defensive temper and an exciting offense as they cut well-regarded SMU down to size last week with a 13-7 edge fashioned with a pair of long - range field goals by Billy Bucek and Gordon Speer.

The contest promises to be another in a long line of close thrillers the Longhorns and Owls have waged in the past, but it probably won't produce any more fireworks than the struggle at Waco.

Baylor, apparently over the jitters that cost it dearly in earlier games, exploited both sharp passing and devastating running in manhandling Texas Tex 26-7, while the Aggies fired a spectacular aerial bombardment in a futile battle against the breaks and TCU before bowing 24-8.

Aerial Duel Looms

A skyways duel between the Aggies' Charlie Milstead and Baylor's Buddy Humphrey makes this one a potential point - happy contest as the Bears seek to keep a clean league slate and the Aggies try to stay in the title running.

Baylor owns a 1-0 record alongside Texas, while the Aggies and SMU are 0-1 and Arkansas 0-4 at the halfway point of the season.

Georgia Tech's surprising tie of touted Auburn last week presages another tight, low - scoring battle such as those which have marked recent SMU-Tech contests — especially if SMU's Don Meredith can't throw off the effects of a hip bruise that has sidelined him for two weeks.

It looks like another dismal afternoon for Arkansas against ole Miss despite their spirited showing against Texas. Coach Frank Broyles' light, green charges seem to have alternate up and down weeks — and this one looms in the latter category.

SUFFERS KNEE INJURY

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Mike McCormack, veteran offensive tackle for the Cleveland Browns, suffered a knee injury during Sunday's game with the Pittsburgh Steelers and will be sidelined at least two weeks.

Top 4A Teams In Loop Play

Abilene and Breckenridge, the No. 1 clubs in their respective AAAA and AAA divisions of Texas schoolboy football, open their bids for district honors this week as big inter-district warfare is all but forgotten throughout the state.

There are exceptions, of course, such as Corpus Christi Miller at Wichita Falls, Nederland at Beaumont High and Dallas Sunset at Corpus Christi Ray in AAAA, but title play dominates the schedule.

Abilene should have things comparatively easy against thrice - beaten, once-tied Big Spring, but Breckenridge should find the going a bit tougher against a Brownwood team that's lost only one game.

Highland Park Third

Defending state champ Highland Park, which ranks a strong No. 3 behind Abilene and Wichita Falls, also plays its first district foe this week and the Scots should have things their own way against weak Denton.

Critical games dot the district slates with this week's winners favored to go on to the playoffs.

These include Lubbock High at Borger in 3-AAAA, Lamar vs. Bellaire in Houston's 10-AAAA and Orange at Port Arthur in 11-AAAA.

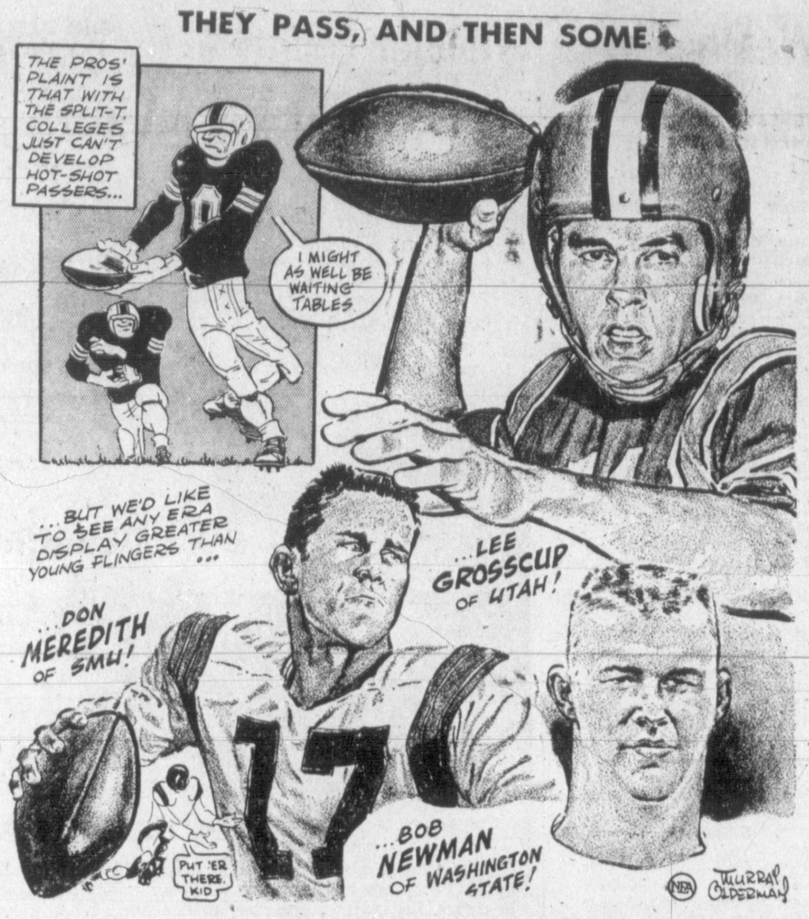
In AAA, the same may be true in such games as Andrews at Kermit in 2-AAA, Alvin at El Campo in 12-AAA and San Benito at Rio Grand City in 16-AAA.

Pasadena Advances

Pasadena may have just about cleared its major hurdle to the crown in 12-AAAA last week when it upset favored Baytown 28-0 although five loop games still lie ahead.

Last week end saw the last four perfect record teams in AAAA suffering their first blemishes, Houston Bellaire, Corpus Christi Miller and Laredo being beaten for the first time and Orange tied by previously - tied Longview. Once - tied Ysleta and Port Neches also were beaten, leaving only Longview, Tyler High and Orange unbeaten but tied.

In AAA, however, the only casualty was suffered by Fort Worth Daimond Hill, which was tied by cross-town rival Castleberry. Phillips, Weatherford, Nacogdoches, and San Antonia Sam Houston retained their perfect records along with idle Carthage and San Marcos.



Miami, Mobeetie Deadlocked In 1-B; May Stay That Way

It seems to be all over except for the bi-district playoffs in districts 2-A and 5-AA, but it's far from over in six-man district 1-B.

In fact, it looks as though a playoff game or coin-flip may be needed to decide the District 1-B title. Miami and Mobeetie are deadlocked at 4-1, following Miami's 26-20 win Friday over Mobeetie.

Mobeetie beat Miami in the season's first clash of the two squads, but no one else has beaten either team — and neither of this week's opponents appear capable of doing so.

Mobeetie will travel to Morse and Morse will invade Channing. Neither Morse nor Channing has made much of a splash in district play. Morse has lost five in a row and Channing has beaten only Morse.

Miami and Mobeetie are not scheduled against each other for the rest of the season, and only one team — Booker — seems capable of beating either squad. Booker plays both — Mobeetie on November 7 and Miami on November 14.

Quanah and Perryton pretty well settled things Friday in District 5-AA, when the Rangers downed Quanah 27-12 in the last three minutes of the game, on a 98-yard punt return and a recovery of an Indian fumble in the end zone. None of the other three 5-AA teams — Shamrock, Wellington, or Childress — appear strong enough to defeat either Quanah or Perryton.

White Deer and McLean have identical 2-0 records in 2-A competition, but White Deer is a solid favorite to take the title. This week, Whie Deer faces a fairly rough test at Canadian, and McLean has a breather at Memphis.

Borger, Lubbock Clash for Crown

Who's going to stop Borger?

That's the question being asked by District 3 4-A fans after the Bulldogs' third straight conference win Friday night — 24-6 over Plainview.

The answer to that question is, maybe Lubbock — probably nobody.

The Westerners clash with Borger this Friday on the Bulldogs' home field, in a contest which should decide the district championship. Lubbock is also undefeated in district play, with a 2-0 mark.

Borger, aside from its home field advantage, appears to be the favorite, because no loop team has so much as given the Bulldogs a good scare. Borger whipped Palo Duro 12-0 in a game more one-sided than shown by the score, trounced Tascosa 27-6, and then blasted Plainview.

Lubbock's victories were squeaky ones, 13-8 over Palo Duro and 13-6 over Tascosa. Both Lubbock and Borger have lost one game to tough teams. Lubbock lost 6-0 to the rugged Odessa Bronchos and Borger bowed 14-6 to Snyder.

In other district action this week, Plainview, Monterey, and Amarillo try to keep their slim title hopes alive. Plainview takes on twice - beaten Palo Duro in Amarillo, and Amarillo will host Monterey in a do-or-die coutest for both.

Palo Duro managed its first district victory last Thursday, a 21-20 win over Monterey. Amarillo edged Pampa 15-12 in another district contest, and Lubbock nipped Tascosa 13-6 in the other loop game.

Bisons Capture Six Straight Wins

United Press International

The Buffalo Bisons begin a well-earned "vacation" today, after running their winning streak to six games in week end action in the American Hockey League.

The Bisons, who will not take to the ice again until Saturday, edged the Cleveland Barons, 4-3, Sunday night at Buffalo.

A pair of second - period tallies by veteran center Larry Wilson provided the margin for the league - leaders, who almost blew the game when the Barons rallied for three goals in the final stanza.

In other action Sunday night, two goals by Mike Nykoluk helped the Hershey Bears to a 5-4 victory over Springfield, and the Providence Reds defeated the Rochester Americans, 4-2.

Cardinals Arrive For Tokyo Games

TOKYO (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals, including newly - appointed manager Solly Hemus and Stan Musial, arrived in two different planes at Tokyo International Airport today for a 16 game series in Japan at the invitation of the Mainichi newspapers.

The Cardinals were given an enthusiastic reception at the airport by Japanese fans who last saw a major league team when the Dodgers toured Japan in 1956.

Nine College Grid Squads Remain On Unbeaten List

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

A corporal's guard of nine major college football teams retain unbeaten and untied records today—and no less than three have what could be their toughest tests of the season coming up next Saturday.

The season's biggest wave of upsets kayoed six major perfect-record teams Saturday and claimed four of the nation's six top-rated teams. Army and Ohio State upheld their No. 1 and No. 4 rankings with ease but second-ranked Auburn's 17-game winning streak was ended by the 7-7 tie with Georgia Tech and third-ranked Wisconsin, fifth - ranked Michigan State and sixth-ranked Navy all were upset.

Army and Ohio State head the perfect - record list, of course, followed by Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana State, Clemson, Colorado, Northwestern and Rutgers. Those bounced off the list Saturday were Wisconsin, Houston, College of Pacific, Auburn, Dartmouth and Navy.

But there's no rest ahead for any of the still - unblemished nine — and that goes double for Army, Ohio State and Northwestern.

Army, easy 35-6 victor over Virginia, next faces a rugged Pittsburgh team which beat West Virginia, 15-8, Saturday and has a 4-1 season record; Ohio State takes on Wisconsin which will be sharply on the rebound, and Northwestern, a sensational 55-24 winner over Michigan, opposes Iowa. Iowa, ranked No. 13, blitzed Wisconsin, 20-9, Saturday in one of the day's most significant upsets. Ohio State, of course, walloped Indiana, 49-8.

Clemson will be the first of the unblemished teams to put its record on the line this week, the Tigers playing South Carolina (2-2) in their traditional "Big Thursday" game. Texas faces Rice (3-2), Mississippi appears o have an easy one in Arkansas (0-5), Louisiana State takes on Florida (2-1-1), Colorado plays Idaho State (3-1) and Rutgers meets Lehigh (2-1-1), all on Saturday afternoon or night.

Army stuck to straight football against Virginia, piling up 316 yards rushing and 141 passing. The Cadets scored on drives of 73, 68, 66 and 95 yards before adding a fifth touchdown on an interception. The Cavaliers did manage to suggest an Army weakness in pass defense, though, by completing 18 of 33 tosses.

Fullback Bob White scored Ohio State's first four touchdowns in a game enlivened by Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes' charge for the second straight week that the opposition was "piling on" and "roughing it up." Three Ohio State touchdowns were set up by fumble recoveries and two more by interceptions.

Georgia Tech tied Auburn on a fourth - period touchdown by Fred Braselton, followed by Tommy Well's conversion; Iowa came from behind with the help of a fumble recovery, an interception and a 68-yard pass from Randy Duncan to Bob Jeter; Purdue drove 58 and 54 yards to upset Michigan State, and Richie Petitbon led Tulane 83 and 63 yards for the winning scores in the 14-6 victory over Navy.

Seventh-ranked Texas followed up its win over Oklahoma by downing Arkansas, 24-6, eighth-ranked Mississippi crushed Hardin-Simmons, 24-0, 10th - ranked Notre Dame edged out Duke, 9-7, on Monty Stickles' 21-yard field goal; 11th - ranked Oklahoma celebrated its return to Big Eight competition with a 43-0 rout of Kansas and 14th - ranked Oregon topped Idaho, 20-6.

The three previously - unbeaten and untied teams, not among the national leaders, each lost by a single touchdown. Oklahoma State edged out Houston, 7-0, Cincinnati beat College of Pacific, 12-6, and Holy Cross toppled Dartmouth, 14-8.

Tall Boy Bidding Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — The collegiate race for basketball talent has reached football's most frenzied pace, an informed source reported today, with the bidding for human skyscrapers mounting because "only a few" coaches have the ability to get by without a height advantage.

Only a hand full of college coaches are able to improve and polish their players to what you might call a professional level.

Named among these "pro-type" coaches are such as Kentucky's Adolph Rupp, Temple's Harry Litwack, LaSalle's Dudey Moore, DePaul's Ray Meyer, Oregon State's Slats Gill and California's Pete Newell.

Stars Fail As Pros

As proof of this contention, it was pointed out that many so-called "All - Americans" fail miserably to make the grade when they get into professional basketball — even though everyone in the pro league remains mum on the subject for fear of hurting someone's feelings.

There are two principle reasons why the bidding for high school basketball stars has reached such fantastic proportions that a boy of 6 feet, 6 inches or better "has it made" even if he has two left feet.

One is that since World War II the game has become big business in colleges, with sellout crowds packing field houses at anywhere from $1.50 to $3 a head for an average of better than 25 games a season.

The other is the alumni, which has stepped in with an open wallet in a prideful effort to make the alma mater one of the powers in the newest college bigtime.

Reports of some inducements are almost unbelievable and will, quite naturally, be sneered at by collegiate officials. But these reports persist, such as a $5,000 a year payoff to one big star by a wealthy alumnus; post graduate free-rides and even scholarships for the highly coveted athlete's girl friend.

Many Added Inducements

Certainly there are added "inducements" when a much-sought skyscraper gets as many as 200 offers of scholarships, many of which entail an all - expense inspection trip to the college campus. And there is at least one whispered case where a fine player but poor student had someone else take his college boards for him.

The South and the Southwest currently are considered the biggest bidders for basketball talent but all sections are suspect when a New Jersey boy turns up in California and vice versa. The majority of colleges contend that they stick by the NCAA rules wherein only room and board and books and tuition may be provided. The South openly adds $15 a month for extras.

A new phase is the "scout." He lines up the top high school prospects in his neighborhood by ingratiating himself with the parents and then peddles them—at $100 to $300 — to eager coaches The odds are, however, that before the boy enrolls he will get an even better offer and turn up somewhere else.

The only thing certain in the whole business is that where there's so much smoke there's bound to be fire.

Out Of The Past

Whatever Happened To ...
WALT MASTERSON

United Press International

Walt Masterson, the wags used to say, was a pitcher who looked at the world through rose-colored glasses even though he spent 11 of his 15 big league seasons with the Washington Senators. Tinted glasses were Walt's trade mark. He was a tough pitcher, too, though his record won't show it because of so many seasons with second division clubs. He wound up with a 77-99 livetime record and only twice scored victories in double figures—a 12-16 with Washington in 1947 and 10-12 in his last year in 1953 after a four-year hitch with the Red Sox.

Whatever happened to Walt Masterson? Now 38, Walt operates a florist shop in Marblehead, Mass.

Braves, Bucs Place Three On Star Team

NEW YORK (UPI)—The champion Milwaukee Braves and the second - place Pittsburgh Pirates placed three players each today on the United Press International's 1958 National League all-star team.

Pitcher Warren Spahn, catcher Del Crandall and outfielder Hank Aaron were the Braves honored while pitcher Bob Friend, second baseman Bill Mazeroski and third - baseman Frank Thomas were the Pirates chosen.

The remainder of the 10 - man squad, eight regulars and two pitchers, was composed of first baseman Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, shortstop Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs and outfielders Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies. The Los Angeles Dodgers and Cincinnati Redlegs were not refresented on the squad.

Spahn, Banks and Mays were unanimous choices and Aaron missed by only one vote in the poll of 24 baseball writers, three from each city in the league. Crandall was named on 22 ballots, Friend and Mazeroski on 20 each, Ashburn on 16 and Musial on 14.

The closest vote was for the third baseman, Thomas winning with 13 votes compared to nine for Ken Boyer of the Cardinals and two for Ed Mathews of the Braves. Orlando Cepeda of the Giants polled 10 votes for first base to make the best showing of any rookie.

Browns, Colts Roll Along In National Football League

The Cleveland Browns and Baltimore Colts may gallop to the National Football League's division titles because they are shattering jinxes the way skeet shooters bust clay pigeons.

Cleveland took a two-game lead in the Eastern race Sunday and boosted its record to 4-0 by whipping the Pittsburgh Steelers, 27-10. The Browns took a 59-14 walloping from the Detroit Lions in the 1957 championship game. Since 1953, all the title game losers have bowed by huge margins and folded completely the following season.

But the Browns, rolling behind Milt Plum's passing plus Jim Brown's running, act as though they really won that last title game and figure to shatter a jinx that has haunted championship game victims in recent years.

Baltimore clobbered the Lions, defending league and Western division titleholders, 40-14. The victory enabled the Colts to retain their one-game Western Division lead and gave them a vital mental boost. It was the first victory the Colts ever scored at Detroit and marked the first time they have swept their first four games during a season.

Cards Upset Giants

While Detroit (0-3-1) lost virtually all hope of retaining its titles, the Chicago Cardinals gave the Browns a big assist by upsetting the New York Giants, 23-6. The Giants, who started the day a game behind Cleveland, now are tied for second at 2-2 with the Cardinals and Washington Redskins, who defeated the Green Bay Packers, 37-21.

The Chicago Bears remained close behind Baltimore and took undisputed second place in the Western race by defeating the visiting Los Angeles Rams, 31-10. Los Angeles entered the game tied with the Bears and slipped to a third-place deadlock with the San Francisco Forty-Niners at 2-2. The Bears have a 3-1 record.

San Francisco, with John Brodie throwing scoring passes to Hugh McElhenny and Clyde Conner, stopped a last-minute Philadephia Eagle rally for a 30-24 victory in the other game. The six contests drew 279,390 fans with the top crowd of 6,852 registered at Cleveland.

Brown Runs Wild

The Steelers shocked this big crowd by taking a first-period lead on Tom Tracy's 64-yard touchdown pass to Ray Mathews but the Cleveland defense throttled them the rest of the way. Plum threw touchdown passes to Brown, Ray Renfro and Bobby Mitchell. Brown, who may prove to be the most versatile fullback in NFL history, also ran 48 yards for a touchdown and gained 153 yards in 19 tries to boost his league-leading rushing total to 635. Brown is more than halfway to Steve Van Buren's one-season record of 1,146 yards.

The Lions started their title drive last year when they scored twice in the final seconds in their fourth game for a 31-27 triumph over the Colts at Detroit. The Lions and 55,190 rooters had visions of a similar finish Sunday when Yale Lary raced 71 yards with a fourth quarter punt to cut Baltimore's margin to 20-14. But the "new" Colts reacted by scoring three more touchdowns. Lenny More ran 11 for one, John ny Moore ran 11 for one, John Unitas passed 37 to Jim Mutscheller for another and Leonard Lyles ran 27 to score on the game's final play.

Billy Wade of the Rams completed his second pass to Del Shofner for 92 yards and a touchdown, the longest scoring pass of the NFL season, but the Bears and penalties shackled Los Angeles after that outburst. Willie Galimore scored twice for the Bears and now has seven 1958 touchdowns.

McHan Leads Cardinals

Lamar McHan came off the bench in the second quarter and sparked the Cardinals to an upset triumph over the Giants before 52,684 — largest crowd ever to attend a New York home opener. McHan threw two touchdown passes to Gern Nagler and set up Ollie Matson's three-yard scoring plunge.

Johnny Olszewski ran 45 yards for a touchdown and gained a total of 165 to help Eddie Lebaron keep the Redskins in charge all the way against the visiting Packers. Lebaron threw touchdown passes to Joe Walton and Bill Anderson. Babe Parilli of the Packers threw scoring passes to Max McGee and Jim Taylor.

The Eagles had a first down on the Forty-Niner eight in the final minutes at Philadelphia but couldn't score. On the key play in the series, the officials ruled Bob Walston was out-of-bounds at the limit of the end zone when he caught what would have been a touchdown pass from Norm Van Brocklin.

SIGN OF THE TIMES—This billboard near Batesville, Ark., wasn't intended as a reminder of the growing national debt. Close inspection shows that the billboard was not large enough for the sign, so the workmen applying the poster eliminated some of the wording and shortened Uncle Sam's neck. The sign should read: "Your Future Is Great in a Growing America."

Weather In Nation Is More Subtle

United Press International

Cooler air overspread a Florida Monday in the wake of tornado that killed one person and injured at least 20 others.

Rains eased up in the Southwest, alleviating the threat of further severe flooding along the Rio Grande River.

The Florida twister Sunday slammed into a camp for migrant workers in the south Florida vegetable center of Pahokee, shattering about 50 homes and killing John Gray Jr., 70, a Negro farm laborer.

The storm gathered over nearby Lake Okeechobee and also ripped into a small airport, demolishing eight airplanes, and blew out windows in a Pratt-Whitney aircraft engine manufacturing plant before disappearing.

Texas officials predicted the Rio Grande, which forced the evacuation of about 14,000 persons in a week of record flooding, would begin receding Monday.

The flooding occurred below the huge United States Mexican Falcon Dam which had been constructed to harness the river. Floodways, draining off the flood waters, along with clearing skies and receding tributaries helped ease the flooding.

A fresh invasion of cold air swept the Northwest Monday, reaching south through central California, Nevada, Utah and northwestern Colorado. Strong northerly winds powered the cool air mass.

Light showers occurred from Oregon into Montana and Wyoming with some snow reported in the Rockies where West Yellowstone, Mont., received a two-inch blanket of white.

Temperatures climbed in the nation's central section, with the greatest warming occurring from Kansas to the Great Lakes. Temperatures in the East ranged from near 30 degrees in New England to the 60s in Florida.

Wheeler County Farm Bureau Begins TV Booster Project

Wheeler County Farm Bureau members have voted to sponsor a television translator system in Wheeler county, a project expected to make Farm Bureau history. Kickoff day for funds will be this coming Saturday.

At a recent meeting of the Wheeler county group, O. E. Setliff, electrical engineer from Turkey, Tex., explained the technical phases of a translator system.

In essence the translator system picks up the UHF (ultra high frequency) television signal from Amarillo and re-broadcasts it on UHF (ultra high frequency). Setliff and his associates have guaranteed "grade A" reception for every television viewer in Wheeler county.

The Wheeler County Bureau reports that its system will hve two 150-foot towers, one set up in the northwest corner of the county, the other on the Bob Rogers home site southwest of Wheeler.

It was also reported that every reisdent desiring to use the system will be asked to contribute $60 toward its construction. A small monthly sum, $1, will also be paid for upkeep and maintenance.

Following its meeting Monday the Farm Bureau began compiling a card file on county residents. The file will be used in making a solicitation for funds. Only other expense for users of the translator system will be the purchase of a corner type antenna and a UHF converter. Both can be purchased for $35, not including installation.

AEC Tries To Beat Deadline

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — U.S. Atomic Energy Commission scientists met early today to determine if the weather was right for firing up to three full scale atomic test shots from balloons this afternoon.

The AEC, pressing to complete its expanded 13-shot current series before the proposed deadline on nuclear testing Oct. 31, postponed the shots late Saturday night because of "unacceptable weather conditions."

All three devices were set originally to be detonated early today, the first time three shots had been set for the same morning by the AEC.

The shots would bring to 12 the number exploded during the current series.

Weeks May Quit Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks is strongly considering resigning his cabinet post, quite possibly by the end of the year.

He told friends over the weekend that he is leaning hard toward the idea of moving back to his New Hampshire farm, but has reached no final decision.

Mrs. Weeks, the former Jane Tompkins Rankin, has not been well lately and is said to favor leaving Washington.

Weeks, 65, is one of the four remaining members of the original Eisenhower cabinet of 1953. The others are Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Some 400 "Cedars of Lebanon" still exist and are guarded as a national treasure in that country.

Fort Worth Man Lost 18 Pounds with Barcentrate

Why starve to take off ugly fat? Many diets are harmful. If you want to reduce safely, easily and without starvation diet, why not try the Barcentrate way, just as Mr. Charles M. Kennedy, 4825 Miller, Fort Worth, Texas, did?

Mr. Kennedy wrote us as follows:

"I am a satisfied user of Barcentrate and am happy with its results. I got the idea of using Barcentrate from a friend who lost a tremendous amount of weight.

"I lost a total of 18 pounds taking Barcentrate."

Just ask any Texas druggist for Barcentrate. Costs just $1.69. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off ugly fat, quickly, easily and without starvation diet, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Over eight and a half million bottles sold in Texas in the past 15 years.

TV's Little Women' Made Big Contribution To Industry

Television in Review
By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)— Thursday night, CBS-TV's one-hour special, "Little Women," made one important contribution to television: It pre-empted "Yancy Derringer" and "Zane Grey Theater."

However, it might have been more fitting if "Little Women" had pre-empted "Mickey Mouse Club." As a prime time 60-minute offering, it was, as they say in show biz, bombs away. Or, as they say in more civilized circles, simply awful.

Faced with an almost hopeless antique like the Louisa Alcott story, the decision backstage seems to have been to smother its gush in a thick coating of Richard Adler tunes, then turn the cast loose and let them fend for themselves.

Most of them fended rather peculiarly. Bill Hayes and Roland Winter decided to play it broadly. Rise Stevens decided to play it straight. And Margaret O'Brien, Jeannie Carson, Florence Henderson and Zina Bethune decided to play it — and believe me, that was a big mistake right there.

What To Say

In a swampland like Thursday night's show, a reviewer grasps at straws to find something nice to say. Okay, here are some straws: Winter and Miss Bethune did a not-bad jig to "Dance, Why Not?" and Miss Carson sang "Man of the Family" with enthusiasm. Also, no cameras or lights or scenery fell. But they should have.

CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90" turned its hand Thursday night to "The Long March," a Roger Hirson adaptation of a William Styron story. At least, the claim was that it was the William Styron story. I seem to remember it somewhat differently.

Anyway, the TV version seemed to be about the growth into manhood of one character and the breaking of the manhood of a second. In each case, a woman and the straitjacket of military life brought about the transformation.

Lacks Focus

The trouble with the "Playhouse 90" production was that it never really focused in hard and clear on itself. It spent a good deal of its time frittering itself away on fringe matters instead of digging into its own core.

Its other major trouble was Jack Carson who carried the burden of the show. Carson seemed to experience some difficulty in mouthing his lines. However, he did play a couple of scenes convincingly — one was a telephone call to his errant wife; the other a drunk scene.

One short note: Johnny Carson winds up his two weeks as NBC-TV replacement for the vacationing Jack Paar tonight and he should be huzzaed for his marvelous job. Herewith: One huzza.

The Channel Swim: NBC-TV's Steve Allen has turned over a 20-minute slab of his Nov. 9 show to Harry Belafonte. Belafonte, who hasn't been seen on American TV since August, 1957, also will appear on the NBC-TV Perry Como and Dinah Shore hours later this season.

NBC-TV's nighttime "Tic Tac Dough" may follow NBC-TV's "Twenty One" into limbo — its ratings are pretty soggy..."Dotto" and "Twenty One," now gone from American TV, hold the No. 8 and 9 spots in the latest Nielsen ratings from Great Britain.

Siobhan McKenna has signed in for CBS-TV's special, "The Winslow Boy," on Nov. 13 ... That beard worn by Eli Wallach as Stalin's secretary in the recent "The Plot to Kill Stalin" on "Playhouse 90" will get a second exposure — Wallach will wear it again on Nov. 25 when he stars in the NBC-TV's "Shirley Temple's Storybook" show, "The Emperor's New Clothes."

ARREST APPLE PICKER

KOKOMO, Ind. (UPI) — Donald R. McDermott, 52, arrested for picking two bushels of apples from an orchard, told police "I thought I might as well get them before the frost did."

MOTORIST KILLED

FORT WORTH (UPI)— Joe Sidney Perry, 27, died early Saturday when his car went out of control and smashed into a tree on the western outskirts of Fort Worth.

Steelmaking Will Reach High Capacity

United Press International

Steelmaking operations will reach 85 per cent of capacity before year end despite spot strikes in the auto industry which are affecting car production and delaying steel orders, Steel magazine reported. Signs of recovery are numerous that even conservative producers have become bullish, the magazine said.

Intercity common carrier truckers experienced a sharp decline in traffic during August, the American Trucking Assn. reported. Tonnage of freight hauled by trucks fell 6.8 per cent from August, 1957, levels largely reflecting a Teamsters' strike in the 11-state West Coast area.

Some 60 business, education and government leaders called for closer coordination of federal debt management and tax and expenditure decisions with efforts of the Federal Reserve System to control inflation. The 14th American Assembly comprised among others a former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, two Federal Reserve Bank presidents and two former members of President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers.

Detroit Steel Corp. announced it has put into production the fourth of its five open hearth furnaces because of the increasing rate of because of the increasing rate of incoming steel orders. The company said its operations now will be at 83 per cent of capacity.

War Criminal Goes Before Court Today

WARSAW (UPI)—Erich Koch, a mustached, sick little prisoner whose signature once spelled death to millions of Poles and Russians, went before a Warsaw court today in perhaps the last major war crimes trial.

Koch, who fought from the gutters of Nuerenberg to the Reichs Chancellery with Adolf Hitler and was rewarded with the overloardship of eastern Poland and the Ukraine, came out of 13 years in prison cells to stand trial for mass murder.

The indictment against Koch runs to more than 60 pages and is backed by 20 legal copybooks of sworn evidence from the survivors of the 45 concentration and slave labor camps he set up.

The copybooks told of the extermination of 72,000 Poles in the "Ciechanow district" north of Warsaw and the Bilystok area close to the present Russian-Polish border. Attributed to Koch also are the deaths of 4,000,000 Ukrainians.

Koch held membership card number 90 in Hitler's Nationalist Socialist Party. Behind him, as he went on trial, were the shadows of his old companions: Hitler, Joseph Paul Goebbels, Hermann Goering, Heinrich Himmler—dead by their owns hands; Gauleiter Karl H. Frank, Colonel-General Alfred Jodl, Gestapo Chief Ernst Kaltenbrunner, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Czechoslovakian Gauleiter Arthur Esyss-Inquart, Jew-baiter Julius Streicher, Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop—hanged at Nuerenberg.

Koch today faced the trial he avoided through sickness for five years of British captivity and six years in Polish hospitals and prisons.

In the American colonies, restrictions upon voting were very severe. Only owners of property, and in some colonies only landowners, could vote. There were numerous religious qualifications. The payment of taxes conditioned the right to vote in Pennsylvania, Delaware and Georgia. During the first years of the United States fewer than one-fourth of the population could qualify.

Skelly says:

"You start or we pay... under our Guaranteed Starting Plan"

See your Skelly dealer for full details... find out how Skelly protects you all winter long against service charges to get your engine started:

We're so confident you'll have no trouble starting when you use our products that we're willing to guarantee it. We're even more confident than that. We're willing to back up that guarantee by promising to pay, under the terms of our guarantee, if your engine should fail to start.

Here's what your Skelly dealer will do to get your car ready for our Guaranteed Starting protection:

1. Drain your old motor oil and refill with Skelly Supreme or Skelly Tagolene HD Motor Oil in the correct grade for winter driving in this area.

2. Drain transmission and differential and refill with guaranteed Skelly lubricants recommended for winter driving. (No change required for automatic transmissions or differentials with no drain plug.)

3. Test battery. All cells must register not less than 2.09 on open circuit voltage meter, or 1.250 on mechanical hydrometer.

4. Test radiator for anti-freeze. Put in enough Skelly Premium or Prestone anti-freeze to protect cooling system for temperatures in your area.

5. Fill your tank with Skelly Regular Gasoline or Skelly Supreme with Keotane, either of which must be used throughout guarantee period to keep guarantee in effect. (Naturally, we cannot guarantee the starting qualities of other brands of gasoline.)

You'll drive out with your Guaranteed Starting Certificate signed, sealed and delivered — confident that your winter starting problems are over!

And they should be. That's how confident we are of guaranteed Skelly products. If, however, your engine should fail to start any time between now and April 1, 1959 you still can't lose. Just call your nearest Skelly dealer. If a Skelly dealer is not available, call your nearest reputable garage. We'll pay for the service call, under the terms of our Guaranteed Starting Certificate.

You'll soon be getting your car ready for winter anyway and it costs no more to have it done with the finest Skelly products. You also get the extra protection of our Guaranteed Starting Plan —at no extra cost to you. See your Skelly dealer now for full details. Let us take the worry out of winter starting for you.

Which of these 2 gasolines does your car need? Both are "tailor-made" for fast starting in any weather! If your engine does not require premium octane, then high-test Skelly Regular is the gasoline for you. If your engine does require premium octane, then use Skelly Supreme. In Skelly Supreme you also get Keotane at no extra cost. Keotane "unglues" dirty carbon and lead deposits—as you drive—to get your engine Keotane-Clean. Only Skelly has Keotane for Keotane-Clean "Hot Spark" Starts even on the coldest winter morning.

Only Skelly has Keotane® for "Hot Spark" Starts

The Supreme Court

Recently to our desk has come a forthright letter from the pen of Justice M. T. Phelps of the Supreme Court of the State of Arizona. Justice Phelps has a few choice words to say respecting recent Supreme Court of the United States decisions. We include the major portion of his letter here without further comment:

I have been especially interested for more than a year in a coalition of the conservative Republicans and conservative Democrats who are aware of the drift of our government toward centralization of power in Washington, internationalism, socialism and insolvency. I inquired of Senator Russell of Georgia almost a year ago if it was not possible to consolidate these forces in an attempt to preserve what is left of the rights of the sovereign states of the Union. His response was not at all encouraging from the standpoint of the South. There is not the slightest doubt that the executive and legislative branch of governmen are violating the Constitution by the Congress delegating to the president the power to enter into reciprocal trade aggreements with other nations and that it will never willingly surrender the power back to Congress where the Constitution placed it. Congress abdicated its power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises in delegating the above powers.

I am genuinely frightened concerning the results which seem to be in the offing from the unconstitutional pronouncemnet of the Supreme Court relating to segregation. We have already witnessed from the executive branch of the government a high disregard of its constitutional powers in sending soldiers into Little Rock to picket the public schools of that state, and it is probable that we may witness other acts equally as outrageous in an attampt to force the states of Arkansas and Virginia or open their public schools. Whether they are right or wrong in this action as a result of the recent supplemental decision of the Supreme Court of the United States is beside the question. If the federal government can require any state to open or close its schools or can punish a governor of a state under any criminal provision of the federal statutes in his actions concerning local education, then there will be nothing left to the states under the provisions of the 10th Amendment to the Constitution.

I say I am frightened because the Attorney General of the United States in an address before the American Bar Association in Los Angeles recently, according to newspaper reports, declared to that great mass of legal lights that the decisions of the Supreme Court in the segregation cases are the supreme law of the land when nothing farther from the truth could have been uttered as long as that court refuses to recognize as binding upon it the previous decisions of the court on the same constitutional question. Every law student who has had one year in college knows this. But far more frightening was his pronouncement in an address in New York City since then that the United States government should surrender to the United Nations International Court of Justice, set up under the provisions of the United Nations charter, the right to overrule the highest courts of this naion with respect even to domestic questions. It is from this gentleman that the President obains his legal advice with respect to what can be done, (and what cannot be done, if anything) by the federal government in controversies arising between it and the states of the union. Action based upon such advice will unquestionably be upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States for it apparently neither recognizes any constitutional limitations upon its powers nor relies upon any of he provisions of the Constitution as authority for its decisions.

Dangerous Change

State Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo draws our attention to the Constitutional amendment (H.J.R. 1) which would put the state Legislature in virtually continuous session and pay the whole kit and kaboodle of state senators and representatives an annual sum of $7,500, plus unlimited expense.

Here is Senator Hardeman's analysis of the proposition:

"The constitutional amendment (H.J.R. 1) proposing annual sessions of the Legislature, annual salaries of $7,500, plus an unlimited per diem and unlimited 'expenses of office', for each member, should be carefully considered in view of the following:

"1. H.J.R. 1 would permit continuous sessions of the Legislature, which would not be good for either the members or the state.

"2. The proposed amendment authorizes a per diem, unlimited in amount, to each member, in addition to the annual salary.

"3. H.J.R. 1 authorizes unlimited expenses of office, which might well include transportation, publications, rent, secretarial help, clerk hire, stationery and supplies, telephone and telegraph, postage etc., "in amount and manner as determined" by the Legislature itself. (It is not unlikely that the Legislature would deal generously with itself — the only restraint being a fear of voter reaction at the next election).

"4. The proposed amendment is wholly unneccessary from the standpoint of either results contemplated or expenses involved.

"5. The proposed amendment includes a provision relating to the occupancy of living quarters in the Capitol building, by certain officials, now determined by statute.

"6. H.J.R. 1 appears to be in conflict with other provisions of the Constitution.

"7. The amendment is poorly written and, if adopted, will likely entail extensive litigation and require judicial interpretation.

"Annual session will result in greater spending. The record of the Congress attests to this.

"The proposed amendment provides for a 'Second Regular Session'. The unrealistic limitation placed on the Seond Session raises serious questions concerning the validity of appropriations for many of the State's most important functions.

"Since its provisions may not be voted upon separately, however desirable one or more features might be, the amendment should be rejected.

"I opposed this amendment in the 1957 session of the Legislature, and subsequent study has confirmed the soundness of my action."

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Typical of many inquiries I receive on high blood pressure is one from Mrs. O.K. H. Among other things, she asks what is a normal blood pressure for a woman of 42, and what causes it.

I should like to make it clear first that everyone has blood pressure. This is the pressure which the flow of blood through the arteries exerts on the walls of those blood vessels. The amount of pressure so exerted is influenced by several factors, including the elasticity of the blood vessels themselves and the thrust of the heart as it beats.

Most readers are familiar with the fact that the physician expresses the blood pressure in two sets of figures. One is the high level reached as the result of the contraction of the heart, and the other is the lower level when the heart is relaxed.

The high level is called the systolic pressure and the low is called the diastolic.

It is often significance not only in the figures of these two pressures, but in the difference between them.

It is sometimes difficult to state exactly what is the "normal" pressure for an individual at a particular age. However, there are certain figures which are generally recognized as being above or below the average.

Another point which should be mentioned in this connection is that people who make their first visit to the physician are often excited or nervous and this may increase the height of the blood pressure. Consequently, a single recording may be deceiving, and physicians like to have several measurements taken at different times before reaching a conclusion.

There are thought to be at least 5,000,000 people in the United States whose blood pressures are consistently higher than they should be. It is these who are considered to have high blood pressure or hypertension.

The AFL and CIO are distributing millions of 8-page folders, putting them in parked automobiles. The folder is about as far from the American and Jewish-Christian way of life that I have ever read. It plays on hate words — words that put fear and trembling into the reader if he does not see through the deception.

They repeatedly use the phrase "Compulsory Open Shop Laws" or "Compulsory Open Shop Tyranny." I believe they have it in at least 11 places in an 8-page folder. They repeatedly use it as the heading on every page but one.

Now, just what does "Compulsory Open Shop" mean? It means — that a man has a right to join or not join as he sees fit. He is not compelled to join or he's not compelled not to join. It really means that a man has a right to use the conscience God gave him to decide whether he wants to respect the right of other workers to use their conscience.

Under the right-to-work initiative a man is free to join or not join. In fact, everybody could be a member of the union if everybody so desired under this law, because an open-shop law permits everyone to join if they so desire. But it does prevent the employer from forcing a man to join a union or not join a union in order to hold his job.

The use of the word "compulsory" is about as rational and logical as to say we have a compulsory law for freedom of worship or freedom of the press, or we have a compulsory law to prevent people from murdering or stealing. The word "compulsory" is used in a smear form.

Of course the unions have millions and millions of dollars to spend in strengthening their monopolistic tyranny. They collect around $700,000,000 a year that is tax free to spend on putting out propaganda. On the other side, the advocates of the law are obliged pay taxes on the money they use for folders and advertising.

Now let's look a some of the statements made in this folder. It starts out with: "The real purpose of 'right-to-work' laws is the destruction of labor unions." But labor unions have not been destroyed in the 18 states in which the law exists, and the purpose of the law is not to destroy labor unions. If that was the purpose, they would repeal the Clayton amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law that exempts workers from being guilty of violating the anti-trust law by boycotting and entering into a conspiracy to injure others.

Then the folder says: "These laws prevent workers and employers from democratically negotiating a contract containing a union security clause." It is not very democratic to threaten an employer that if he doesn't sign the contract presented by the union, the union will strike and try to wreck his business and injure his customers and his suppliers. That is certainly a strange concept of democracy. And it is not a real democracy because it does not let the customers and those outside of the union vote. And as a matter of fact, whether a man should join a union or not can no more be decided by the democratic method of majority than whether a man has the right to freedom of speech and freedom of religion being decided by democratic methods.

Then the folder continues: "They force wage earners into degrading competition with one another until they are at the mercy of exploiters to cheap labor power." How can competition be degrading when I can think of no betterment to mankind that did not come from competition. Would these opponents of the right-to-work law contend that the merchants and the employer should not compete in giving values as they contend that workers should not compete in rendering a service? And if there shall be no competition to determine the true value, who should determine what wages and prices shall be? When any worker is protected from competition, some other worker and consumer is deprived of his unalienable rights to pursue happiness.

Then the folder continues: "This (degrading competition) results in taking away from millions of wage and salaried employes their 'fair share' of what they produce." Just how do the labor unions determine what the "fair share" is when they practice seniority, limiting apprentices, strikes, featherbedding, etc.? If any employe thinks the employer is making too much profit or any other employer thinks a business concern is making too much profit, they are free under the competitive system, which the union objects to, to start in business and render a better service for less money.

Then the folder continues: "A more fitting name for such laws is . . . Compulsory Open Shop Tyranny." They display these 4 words by taking about one-half the page, with a man behind a placard with his fist outside.

Then they close that page with: "These Laws Would: Cost the Wage Earner, Farmer, Businessman, Housewife." But, of course, they do not give the figures as to what they would cost.

It is hard to understand how labor unions that strike and limit apprentices and have jurisdictional disputes and practice seniority and use large forces of men in non-productive organizations can do anything but cost everybody a lot of energy and lower their standard of living because of their great reduction of production by the above-mentioned methods — just the opposite from what the opponents of the right-to-work law claim.

Maybe it isn't just an accident that the word "honesty" is so often preceded by "old fashioned."

Advice from the Old Pro

Robert Allen Reports:

Commies Advancing Extraordinary Proposals

WASHINGTON — Red China is advancing two extraordinary "peace" proposals in the secrecy-cloaked Warsaw negotiations:

A summit conference between President Eisenhower and Mao Tse-tung.

Consideration of a "wide range of Pacific matters;" foremost among them the "entire U.S. military position," including our forces and bases in Japan, Korea, Okinawa and elsewhere.

President Eisenhower is adamantly against both schemes.

This was disclosed by Secretary Dulles in his talk with Senator Theodore Green (D.,R.I.), chairman of the foreign Relations Committee. Purpose of this meeting in Dulles' home was to patch up differences over the Administration's Quemoy-Matsu policy.

No agreement was reached.

The discussion was polite and friendly. But neither official yielded anything. Both stood pat. Dulles strongly defended the Administration's position and the President's sharp letter to Green for being critical. The veteran Democratic lawmaker justified his stand with equal vigor.

At the end, as Green was leaving, he dropped hint that the last has not been heard of this tart exchange between him and the President.

"I wrote to the President," said Green gravely, "following two compelling developments. The first was an alarming report from your own Department, which I have with me right here in my inner pocket, indicating that we were on the verge of war over these offshore islands.

"The other was the emphatic view of a majority of my Committee that we should not go to war over Quemoy, and that I should make this frankly clear to the President. I wrote him only after full consultation with a majority of my Committee."

Green paused for a moment, then, tapping his coat pocket added, "This report of yours is staying here for the time being. We are following closely what you say and do."

WHAT DULLES SAID — Another startling disclosure made by Dulles was that the Reds' original seven - day cease - fire came as a "complete surprise," and neither the State Department nor Intelligence have "turned up a single clue on it."

Strongly suspected is that the cease-fire is part of an attempt to maneuver the President into a conference with Red ruler Mao Tse-tung.

"This likelihood is definitely indicated from the line the Communists have been pursuing in the Warsaw talks," explained Dulles. "They keep insisting that a full understanding can be reached if negotiations are conducted at a summit level and on a wide range of subjects."

"Do you contemplate anything like that?" asked Green.

"No. Certainly not for the present," replied Dulles. "It's very apparent from the Warsaw discussions that Peiping is bent on constantly upping its demands. For example: If we should agree to a foreign ministers conference, then at the first session they would propose a summit conference. That is the way they operate."

Another significant illustration cited by Dulles was the Communists' attempts to broaden the Warsaw discussions to include the "entire U.S. military position in the Pacific."

"They have already specifically mentioned Korea, Japan and Okinawa," said Dulles.

Green pointedly noted that he had not published his letter to the President. Also that it and the President's reply had been released without his being notified in advance.

"We were afraid details would leak out from other sources," explained Dulles.

"You will have to admit," declared Green, "that war is written all over this report from your own Department. Everything in it indicates the Chinese Communists appeared determined to take Quemoy and we were just as determined they do not do that. It was because of this alarming information and that a majority of the Committee agreed with the that we should not go to war over Quemoy, that I wrote to the President. I have not changed my view one iota."

"There have been important changes in the situation," said Dulles. "It looks more encouraging now than it did when this report was given you."

Some Foreign Relations Committeemen are urging Green to make public the State Department's report. He is still refusing to do that.

FOREIGN SPARKS — Another foreign ambassador facing retirement is planning to remain in Washington. Belgian Ambassador Robert Silvercruys, who has represented his country in the U.S. for 15 years, proposes to reside in the Capital when he retires in 1959. A fe wyears ago he married Mrs. Brian McMahon, widow of the Democratic Senator from Commecticut who authored the original Atomic Energy Act . . . Since last spring, there have been a score of ambassadorial changes in Washington. All of these 20 new foreign diplomats are relatively young men — in the early 40's . . . Brazil has acquired a giant tanker, built in Holland. The tanker is the largest possessed by any South American country.

Two professors who had been studying the Indians and their habits all summer were talking with an Indian chief one day. The chief was explaining how the Indians' descriptive language enabled them to converse about things they had never seen before. "For instance," he said, "when they first saw a horse, they said it was an animal on which a man sat down to walk."

The professors were to attend an Indian dance that evening and enjoyed the ceremonies and the dinner. They retired to a tepee at the end of the festivities and the smaller of the two professors awoke the next morning to find that his companion had already arisen. He went in search, and, noticing the chief, greeted him and asked him if he had seen his friend.

"You mean Big Dinner?" replied the chief.

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK — If you have been going to and covering theaters for a matter of 34 years, about as embarrassing a number as one can mention in polite company without a grimace or a sudden twinge of arthritis, you have certain Broadway opening nights fixed in your aging mind as having been superlative. They had a magic combination of excitement, house afire show plus a sense that these were milestones and monuments in the American theater. They advanced its form, broke through to new frontiers and created challenges. One such was "West Side Story," now about 13 months old and still a strong, virile show filled with everything a show should have.

A persistent memory of that night, Sept. 26, 1957, is of a lean, tall, rangy youngster who came out and sang "Maria," as lovely a romantic song as our show business has heard in years, and when he was finished there was a moment of stunned silence and then the roof fell in. Rarely, under any circumstance, has a lad caused such a lasting tumult in an audience.

Visiting backstage at "West Side Story" the other afternoon, it seemed reasonable to walk up one flight of stairs and go in to talk to Larry Kert, who turned out to be a relaxed, hard-working young man who divides his interests between the show, riding difficult horses at an Eastern dude ranch on weekends, giving sound psychiatric advice to an Italian greyhound momentarily becalmed by the conviction that he has sired a litter of pups whelped by an English sheep dog and working late at night in acting classes which most hard-headed professionals would describe as something he needs like a hole in the head.

He doesn't agree.

"How can anyone ever stop learning anything," he said, "and hope to have anything valuable?"

Larry Kert's L-shaped dressing-room is a rat's nest of objects. Japanese wedding tokens, Japanese wind-chimes (the wooden, not the glass, kind), Western clothes, pictures of horses, an assortment of cigarette lighters, a mound of telegrams, published dramatic plays, Oriental prints, small medals awarded to him by members of the cast for a variety of feats, some amusing, some tart and some slightly naughty. Everything is in a jumble except his brains. They are clear and work efficiently.

"I come from a horsing family," he said. "My father inherited my grandfather's riding stables in the San Fernando Valley in Los Angeles. We were Canadian before then. I have two early memories that are clear: I was just over two years old when I sat my first horse, a big roan with a back you could build a house on, and at five playing Fredric March's son in a movie. There was a long hiatus of no work after that. Nine years. I was 14 when I started doing stunt riding for movies. When I was 16 I was leaping horses off cliffs and in and out of gullies. It was fun at 16, but it advanced me a swift 1-1000th of an inch professionally. I imagine I still would be doing it if I hadn't told myself to come to New York and beat on doors. I auditioned for the role of Riff in 'West Side' but when they found I could get to High C they gave me the male lead. That's about it."

It isn't about it at all. He has a sister, Anita Ellis, who for some time has been the voice you hear when Rita Hayworth sings in a movie, and has performed other notable contributions to cinema. Now she is in New York for the new Rodgers & Hammerstein musical, "The Flower Drum Song." Actually, both youngsters have been working at the show business for a long time, since they were about this high, and it has been good for them. One reason is that neither is a knucklehead. They take their jobs seriously, work constantly toward improvement and have no time for nonsense. An atom scientist would advance himself using the same formula. Or a banker or a contractor.

Since his success in "West Side Story," the movies have stormed Larry's door asking him to come on in, the money's fine.

"I have no contempt for movies or money," he said. "I just want to wait awhile and learn my trade."

Fair Enough

Toothsome Colleague Become Court Guinea Pig

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

A colleague of mine, named Marie Torre and toothsome by her picture in the Herald Tribune, has been thrust into the status of guinea pig in a suit in the U. S. Courts to determine whether she had a legal right to refuse to tell a plaintiff in a lawsuit who the person was who gave her information offensive to that plaintiff.

The plaintiff, of course, claims to have been grievously hurt by the matter complained of. Her name is Judy Garland and my hearsay on Judy Garland depicts her as a model of personal propriety and professional class — in short, a combination of Clare Boothe Luce in the one aspect and the immortal Mary Pickford in the other. The cash value of her reputation is imponderable but probably colossal and the injury to her feelings may not be discounted on account of a long, heart-rending series of misfortunes down to the date of the faux pas that Miss Torre put in the paper.

Miss Torre got ten days for contempt. She is appealing to the Supreme Court.

With this preparation might you care to hear my opinion that Miss Torre has no privilege because no journalist has any mandate or license from the public or any public authority? (Be it noted further in these brackets that the privilege of lawyers, doctors and clergy, though a mere presumption bolstered by public acquiescence, is nevertheless a reality often invoked by the wicked for wicked ends.)

There are many societies of editors, publishers and ink - stained wretches who hold frequent conventions, mostly in New York, with forays into Washington for the jovial obsequies of the Gridiron Club and levees by the President. They include a "fraternity" of brothers about as intimate, harmonious and idealistic as a casual selection of an equal number from the New York phone book. Their founding father, in a book which I cherish as a personal gift, naively depicts this august bind in its Hoosier infancy as a collegiate version of Huck Finn's venture in Acanum.

But there are no qualifications that a journalist is bound to meet; no moral or intellectual standards that any authority may hold him to. Nor is there any slightest authority in the Constitution of law for the common assumption that the press holds credentials from the people and-or their government. Any person may be a journalist and the roster of the most prosperous and famous pundits of the era since the First World War is sufficient to discredit any claim that the magnates of this raffish impudence have been diligent to deserve privilege or even respect.

They have included an enormous and, in these eyes, unwinsome female whose basic occupation has been the management of "parties" for idle and generally worthless millionaires and parasites upon them; a lady of leaner physical appointments whose leading trait has been a gaudy array of hats more creditable to Schrafft's than to Mr. John; prizefighters, ballplayers and malignant guttersnipes from the dark doorways of the New York 'Forties.

The Saturday Evening Post has selectively published biographies of George Raft, Eleanor Roosevelt, and Mickey Cohen in a wanton affront to the standards of George Horace Lorimer. And Marshall Field took a wild fling at "the newspaper game" in New York with a filthy exploit parallel to the Communist line in which he wallowed in depravity so long even the Reds turned pale and queasy, unswallowed and slunk away.

In a visit with John Fox of Boston, who bought the grubb but historic and influential Boston Post and lost it in a weird political whipsaw, I heard this clever alumnus of Harvard Law naively declare that his personal decision to support Jack Kennedy instead of Henry Lodge in 1952 elected Kennedy and changed the course of destiny.

Agreed that Fox, a devotee of Joe McCarthy, did defeat Lodge for opposing McCarthy's earliest attack on Alger Hiss, and waiving the proposition that Fox changed the course of destiny, I pounded on the fact that he, a mere financial adventurer, by smearing black ink on white paper undoubtedly did have great power over public opinion. We agreed that, somehow, the printed word has a fearsome power over the mind of man. But, nimble as Fox is and a credit to the instruction of Felix Frankfurter, whom he abhors, he could not justify this freak nor even explain it except to say that people are indomitably stupid. They believe the printed word by whomsoever published.

Mr. Fox, himself, has suffered injustice by the same device, but we concluded that it were worse than ever to submit the press to license and regulation.

So, Miss Torre has no "privilege." But she could assert with perfect logic and unassailable truth that it is not her business to help a litigant advance a lawsuit. Let Miss Garland dig up her own evidence. But unfortunately, the federal courts in their advanced corruption wrought by judges in collusion with the racket of the bar have created a law for the financial profit of their evil trade which offers evey one of us a choice between jail for contempt or difficult, degrading service in the role of rat or squaler in suits that often are a process of extortion by blackmail under judicial subpoena.

I believe in the Constitution of the United States because it says GOVERNMENTS GAIN THEIR JUST POWERS THROUGH THE CONSENT OF THE GOVERED. I believe that our just laws should be made by the representatives whom we ELECT to Congress and not by Judges of the Supreme Court who are appointed.

If you're good at figures, I wish you'd tell me how the United States with a public debt of 275 billion dollars — a debt that is 39 billion more than the combined debts of all other nations — can continue sending foreign aid to 73 foreign countries.

Ike Didn't Reject Campaign Charge

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Meade Alcorn of the Republican National Committee cheerily told newsmen at the White House the other day that President Eisenhower didn't either repudiate the Oct. 6 campaign accusation that Democrats inescapable would lead the United States to socialism.

The question arose with the chairman because on Oct. 15 at his news conference, the President was asked this question:

"Your meeting with Republican leaders last week (Oct. 6) was followed by a statement which said: 'Nationalization and socialization of industry is the clear alternative to a Republican Congress." Do you subscribe to this?"

Eisenhower replied: "Well, I read the statement and I don't remember that it used that exact language. I believe it said that unless you supported the Republican program, that there would be a lead or direction toward the left that could eventually become socialism, or something of that kind, but I don't believe it was the same language you (the questioner) gave. Now in any event it was theirs, and I think politicians do love to make things very positive."

Alcorn Issues Reply

What the Oct. 6 statement did say was that the Democratic Party was dominaed by political labor bosses and left wing extremists to an extent that the alternative to a Republican victory this year would be:

"Either we Americans dedicate ourselves to strengthening and preserving private enterprise, using the only dependable political instrument—the Republican Party—or we are certain to go down the left lane which leads inescapably to socialism."

Newsmen generally interpreted the President's reply as a disclaimer or repudiation of the Oct. 6 statement which was distributed at the White House by Alcorn after he and other party strategists had lunched there. Alcorn last week was asked about that and replied no disclaimer at all.

"The President made some helpful suggestions," Alcorn said. "He did not write the statement. I do not regard what the President said at his news conference as a repudiation. I advise you to read what he said at his (Oct. 14) birthday breakfast, it was consistent with the (Oct. 6) statement, almost the same language."

Sysem of Responsibility

The White House text of the birthday breakfast remarks seem not to support Alcorn's belief that what was said then was almost the same as what was said on Oct. 6. At his birthday party, however, the President departed from his prepared text to go this far: That the choice in November was between "sane and sound government" under the Republicans and "radical government" under Democrats.

What he had intended to say merely was this:

"We started in 1952 to break away from the kind of government that wants to put all power, all direction of our economy and our whole population, in the hands of central bureaucracy. He wanted to restore more authority to localities, to states and above all to individuals...We wanted to remove unwanted economic controls and we did. We have tried...to keep this country on a system of fiscal responsibility — rather than irresponsibility."

Chairman Alcorn's word, "almost" is a big word covering a lot of territory but it does not seem big enough to make the White House campaign statement and the President's birthday speech sound alike.

Prague Becomes Instruction Center

VIENNA (UPI) — Prague has become a Communist center for the training of students in sabotage and subversion.

Thousands of young people, lured to the Czech capital by handsome scholarships, are educated in the techniques of violence and persuasion that will make them the leaders of the attack in their home countries, especially in Africa and Asia.

In one school run by the "international union of students," some 250 Africans presently are at work, according to reports from Prague, at least an equal number has been graduated and sent back home in recent months.

The school has the harmless name of "The Institute of Economic Studies," but its curriculum is said to range from the making of bombs to espionage and and guerrilla warfare.
