Aransas County Residents Turn Thumbs Down On Sewer System

County residents overwhelmingly voted against a proposed sanitary sewer service for parts of Aransas County during a public hearing Monday night, June 8, in the District Courtroom.

The nonbinding vote climaxed the hearing that started at 7:30 p.m. on the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District proposal to provide sanitary sewer facilities to the town of Fulton and five subdivisions in the county.

The results of the hearing — which also climaxed a study of the feasibility of such a sanitary sewer system — will go before the ACCRD for that board's decision on whether to put the proposed plan in abeyance or proceed with an application for funds to design the proposed sewer facility.

The next meeting of the ACCRD will be on the first Monday in July, but Mick Ladner, public participation coordinator for the sanitary sewer project, said he did not know whether the hearing results will be ready for consideration at that time.

The feasibility study began in 1979 under a federal Step I grant provided through the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). As a result of that study, engineers retained on the project presented a plan for providing sanitary sewer services to portions of Aransas County in Monday's hearing.

Under the plan presented to area residents Monday, the county would construct a waste treatment plant and other facilities that would serve Fulton, Oak Terrace, West Terrace, Peninsula Park, Lazy Acres and Hill's Village.

The facilities would be constructed to allow future subdivisions to tie in.

Estimated cost to the county of the project would amount to about $3 million, and the plan calls for ACCRD's conversion to a Municipal Utility District (MUD) with the power to assess benefit taxes to pay for the system.

A benefit tax would be assessed only to persons owning sewered lots. Based on 10 per cent bonds — to be paid out over 30 years — the annual tax per sewered lot would amount to $243.

Cost of operation and maintenace would run between $8 and $13 per month per sewered lot, according to estimates, and the initial connection fee would be about $500.

The connection fee drew objections from many property owners, most of whom expressed feelings that the county could not afford the proposed system at this time.

A majority of property owners asked that the Step I study results be held in abeyance and that the ACCRD not proceed further with sanitary sewer plans at this time.

COMING DOWN

Pete Tedder lossens the mural that hung for 23 years over the fountain in Roaten's Pharmacy. Now that the fountain has been closed, the mural will be given to the Rockport Maritime Museum, according to Richard Beck, owner of Roaten's. The mural was painted in 1958 by a group of students enrolled in Simon Michael's Rockport School of Fine Arts. At that time, the students ranged in age from 8 to about 14 years and include T.W. Armstrong Susan Armintrout [now Langston], Francis LeBlanc [now Iles], Phillis Ayres, Maxine Clinton, Virginia A. Holland, Nan Jackson, N.F. Jackson Jr., Sue Johnson, Susanne Kieth, David Roaten, Shelley Roaten and Edward Silchenstedt. The painters also included five students from Tivoli: David Montgomery, Ray Schwierzka, Donna Wright, Donald Wright and Scott Wright. [Pilot Photo by Pat Blair]

Rocket Will Be Launched From Matagorda

HOUSTON — Saying they can make space a paying venture, Base Services Inc. of Houston is making plans to launch the first rocket from the Matagorda Peninsula in mid July.

The July launch will be the first in what Base Services Inc. says it hopes will become a full time business of launching satellites from the Texas barrier island area.

Spokesmen for the company say the first rocket is in Sunnyvale, California waiting to be shipped to the Texas coast and then on to the Matagorda launch site.

Seeing a need for the service of launching satellites for companies wishing to conduct experiments in space 10 Houston based firms got together and formed Base Services Inc. to provide this service.

The companies first attempt will be on or around July 15 when they will attempt to place a 55-foot tall rocket into a 50-mile-high sub-orbital launch from the Matagorda Pennisula.

An abandoned military base which was used by the Air Force in World War II will act as the launch site for the July firing.

The 55-foot rocket is scheduled to arrive from California in Corpus Christi on June 27 where it will be tested and made ready for delivery to the Matagorda launch site.

The rocket will reach the 50-mile sub-orbital flight and fall into the gulf 20 miles down range according to company officials.

Spokesmen for Base Services Inc. say the first launch will cost $1.2 million. But if the firing goes well Base Services Inc. says it hopes to put weather observation satelllites in orbit 100-miles above the earth at a cost of about $2 million dollars.

A $5 million price tag was predicted for putting communications satellites into Geosynhronous orbit. This is a situation where the satellite payload turns with the earth and remains constantly 23,000 miles above the same point above the earth appearing stationary to observers on the ground.

According to NASA officials it costs about $22 million for a lower orbit and $25 million for the higher orbit. In the higher orbit a Delta rocket with a 2,400-pound payload is used.

Base Services Inc. spokemen say about 30 workers will be involved in carrying out the Matagorda launch next month where thousands are employed on the NASA launches.

Base Service Inc. says it is keeping many federal agencies informed including the Federal Aviation Administration, the Federal Communications Administration and the United States Coast Guard.

Design Work Underway On Fulton Pier

FULTON — Design of the proposed 1,000-foot-long Fulton fishing pier is underway according to the engineers for the $200,000-plus project.

Dana Bennett, representing the engineering firm of Ogletree, Gunn & Associates, made the announcement in Tuesday night's, June 9, meeting of the Fulton City Council.

In other action during Tuesday's session, Hal McKnight told Fulton council members he believes city officials "ought to start thinking about making application for sanitary sewer service for Fulton."

McKnight made the comments following an unscheduled report to the council on his observations of Monday night's public hearing on a proposed county sanitary sewer system.

In his report on the Fulton pier project, Bennett told council members that the Army Corps of Engineers has granted the construction permit for the project.

The pier will be constructed using grant funds through the federal Coastal Energy Impact program. Fulton has been allocated $217,000 in grant money for the project.

Bennett said his firm "should have bid documents and specifications ready" to submit the project to bid within the next 30 to 45 days.

He added that he has already been approached "by a number of people" who want to bid on the project.

The proposed pier will be constructed of wood and will end in a T-head. "It will be a good pier," Bennett said, adding he could not guarantee the pier will be 1,000 feet long because of construction costs.

"That depends on the contractor," he said. Bennett is hopeful construction can begin on the pier within the next two months, with a maximum construction period of six months.

The target date for completion of the pier is January-February of 1982, Bennett said, "so it will be ready for the spring, '82, fishing season."

In other action during Tuesday's session, Fulton's council appointed Harold Schearer to make septic tank inspections in Fulton under the provisions of the Texas Solid Waste Disposal Act.

Council members also approved purchase of a council table for City Hall for a low bid of $665 from Dot Construction Company.

Members also voted to frame the Fulton city maps to be presented to Aransas County fire departments, the ambulance service and sheriff's office. Presentation of the maps to these organizations was approved in last month's council session.

RFHS Choir Members Seek Funds For Trip

By Pat Blair

Efforts are underway by and for students in the Rockport-Fulton High School Choir to raise money for a trip to Vienna, Austria, in July, 1982.

The RFHS choir has been invited to participate in the 11th International Youth and Music Festival in Vienna at that time. A letter from Dr. A. Giese, president of the Association for International Cultural Exchange in that city, says the RFHS Choir, "because of its reputation for excellence" is one of only 36 choirs accepted for this honor.

The choir was selected by Craig D. Northrup, music director for the IYMF, who said he based the choice on the choir's "outstanding performance at the 1981 Texas Music Educators Association Convention" earlier this year.

Festival dates are July 7 through 19, 1982. In addition to choir students, band and orchestra students are also invited to participate in the Youth and Music Festival.

The second week of the Festival is devoted to choral and orchestral music, with opening ceremonies for the participating choirs and orchestral students on July 10. On July 12, RFHS Choir members will compete with other invited choirs in the choir competition.

Orchestral competition is scheduled for July 13 with a "Matinee of Winners" on July 15 in which the winning ensembles will combine to form the Festival Choir and Festival Orchestra.

During the remainder of the 13-day trip, RFHS Choir members will have an opportunity to perform in concert in major concert halls, churches and cathedrals in and around Vienna. They also will have an opportunity to go on sightseeing tours of the area.

The Aransas County School Board Monday night sanctioned the trip for the RFHS Choir students — who are now looking for ways to raise the money needed for the trip.

The estimated cost of the trip is about $1,397 per student from Dallas to Vienna. Choir Director Martha Luigi emphasized that the figure does not include liability insurance, transportation to Dallas and one noon meal.

Students already planning to make the trip will work individually this summer to raise the money they need, and Mrs. Luigi said a list of these students, jobs they are willing to do and how they can be contacted will be prepared and sent to

HOW DOES THIS LOOK?

Karen Hoover, left, and Jeannette Jack put up the "Newspaper Bingo" poster at Rockport's Island Surf and Sun — one of the sponsors of this year's Newspaper Bingo game. Prize money of $100 a week will be given away during each of the 13 weeks of the contest, Bingo cards will be available at all of the participating merchants — such as Island Surf and Sun — and area residents can get as many cards as they like, play as often as they like. Editorial / Opinion

Our Readers Write

Dear Perry,

Those of us in this community who are interested in bettering our public schools do certainly appreciate the emphasis your newspaper has devoted to our community school issues.

Our school board is working now to begin programming for each student in a manner that is more appropriate for each individual student.

This type of programming is difficult and time consuming for all school personnel, but the dividends passed on to our students will be noticeable from the outset. Materials circulated by the Texas Education Agency indicate that when programs match the student's ability level the school literally creates brighter students with which to work.

In other words, limited programs limit the potential of our students, and programs keyed to the intellectual level of the student have a tendency to increase the learning of all levels of students.

Also, research indicates that discipline problems in the schools are minimized by individualized programming because each child is interested and working on meaningful materials instead of "killing time" while others finish the assignments.

All the children in a school committed to teaching children at their appropriate learning level will be happier and better adjusted.

Our school district is now taking the first steps in attempting to provide just such an education. Plans are being developed to group each of the first eight grades into three large ability groups for reading, mathematics, and language arts classes.

This will, of course, reshape the educational process in a positive way and will greatly improve the instruction for all the students involved.

It is, however, appropriate to remember that this will not, in itself, meet the needs of many of our high level students. The district must begin to consider the merits of an accelerated curriculum in certain areas for student who meet the academic requirements of grade placements beyond their chronological years.

Related to this is the need for a curriculum that is simply more difficult at all levels, and particularly at the secondary level, for students who are serious about their studies or academically ready for advanced instruction.

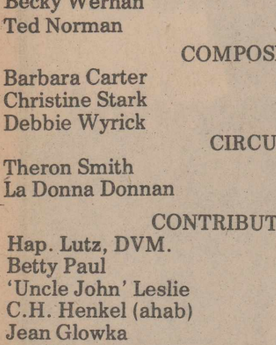

Tied into this expansion is the need for an assertive discipline program which will provide definite guides for teachers and parents to deal with student problems at school. A program such as this will free the teacher's time to deal with academics rather than student behavior problems, will provide a line of communication between the student, the parent and the school, and will give the student and the parent a chance to take part in the planning for the child's activities during the school day when problems arise.

As you can see the planned grouping of students within a grade is a positive beginning, but there is much more to be done to achieve our goals of a quality education for all the students of Aransas County.

Once more the parents already involved in our school board activities invite all the parents in the community, and all taxpayers, to take an active interest in our schools. Attend the school board meeting on July 13. Acquaint yourself with our school board members and tell them about your interests.

If you would like to talk with other concerned parents contact Nelda Lee at 729-0803, or Gayle Atchley at 729-1755.

Sincerely,
Nelda Day Lee

Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Dear editor:

Even if a problem has an easy solution, politicians will roll up their sleeves and make it a hard one. I think it's one way they have fun.

Take re-districting. Because people won't stay in one place, are always moving to some place else where they're no better off either, voting districts get out of balance and have to be re-shaped.

You can't have one Congressman representing a million people and another a few thousand, although with Senators it's excusable.

So when new census figures come out politicians begin scrambling to re-draw district lines, trying to snake them around in odd shapes to include voters they think are on their side. They stay up all night trying to figure it out.

There's a simplier method. Say you want 500,000 people per district. Divide that into the total population of some 220,000,000 or so people in the country and you get the number of Congressmen needed, around 400, give or take a few, which in some cases wouldn't be noticed anyway.

Now figure up the number of square acres in the United States, divide that by 400 or so Congressmen, and the result is the number of acres per Congressional district. Every Congressman then has the same number of acres.

But, you'll say, the number of people per square acre in some places like metropolitan areas for exceeds the number per acre in the arid West.

True. But you then assign 500,000 people by computer to a given district, makes no difference where they live, until everybody has been allotted a district. You have to vote in that district, even if you live half way across the country.

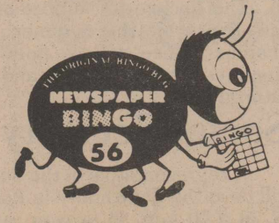

What difference would it make? Very few people ever get to shake hands with their Congressmen, even if he lives in their own city. Some don't even want to.

Now there may be some, possible a Federal judge here and there, who would recommend busing citizens to their proper voting district at election time, but there's a simplier way. Everybody votes by mail.

That way all the polls close at the same time, say at 3 o'clock in the morning five days after mail balloting began.

The TV networks would go crazy trying to announce who won before the voting is over. What would they do, stand around post offices and rural mail boxes for a week asking people how they voted?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

State Of The Region

Meinrath - On Coastal Bend Economy

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Governments

The health of the economy can be diagnosed as differently by economists as can the health of one individual by several physicians.

There is room for differences of opinion and approaches. There are some statistical facts which can be computed with an actual count of people and money.

August Meinrath, vice-president, manufacturing, American Chrome and Chemical Inc., is a spokesman for heavy industry — the manufacturing industry — of the Coastal Bend. In his opinion, the economy must be based on products. There must be something there of value for it to increase in value.

We hear opinions expressed today that we are moving from a manufacturing economy to one of services and transfer payments. "Transfer payments" is a term used to denote money which comes into the region in the form of social security, food stamps or some other form of compensation which is not directly related to productivity.

As Meinrath explains it, these other sources of money are dependent on the productivity of industry. He thinks it is a mistake to consider this money as a foundation on which the economy can rest.

The Coastal Bend is fortunate to have a broad-based economy which can keep its equilibrium despite changes which are inevitable. The products of the earth are the yield of the farm, ranch, oil, gas and mining industries. The fisheries give us products of the sea. The manufacturing industries are those which enhance the value of the raw products.

It is this manufacturing industry for which Meinrath speaks. There are smaller companies producing materials with growing payrolls.

Meinrath quotes statistics on the large plants, the major industries with the payrolls which inject money into every community and almost every retail business and service provider.

These heavy industries represent 18,066 jobs with annual incomes of $390,148,537. Information Meinrath obtained from certain of these industries showed that 17 of them — with 7,057 employees and a payroll of $150,550,936 — accounted for the support of 20,408 dependents, fringe benefits of $41,640,463 and medical and dental payments of $7,577,805 through group insurance plans.

Sixteen of the companies reported that they made purchases locally totalling $601,776,408. Seven of them reported sales of $315,392,037 in the Coastal Bend area.

Fifteen reported $270,923 in civic and charitable contributions. This in no way reflects what employees contributed.

A recent nation-wide study shows that 100 new workers in industry represents 351 people, $2,500,000 in personal income, 97 families, $1,200,000 in bank deposits and $1,400,000 in retail sales.

Meinrath says industry today is spending large amounts on protection of the environment and maintenance of acceptable standards in all "quality of life" concerns.

He cautioned that the people of the region must be aware of acceptable requirements for the accommodation of industry.

As an example, nearly all industry has some solid waste to dispose of. If there is not an approved solid waste disposal area within convenient trucking distance, long hauls will price some industries right out of the region.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

With the resurgence of the American spirit we have experienced during the crises and uncertainties of the past year and a half, this is a good time to make Memorial Day mean more than the beginning of summer and the Indianapolis 500.

Memorial Day was meant to be — and should be again — a time to remember those who were called upon to give their lives for their country. Our nation was born from a fight for freedom, and over and over again young men have given their lives for our nation.

We honor all those who have served in war over the past two centuries, but this year we should pay special tribute for those who served in the Vietnam conflict.

The entire Vietnam experience was a troubling one for our citizenry, and in the national ambivalence that surrounded it we for too long neglected to honor those who served, and those who died.

For after all of the rhetoric, after all the debate, after all the hindsight realizations about what we could or should have done in Vietnam, we have thousands and thousands of young people who did their country's bidding. We owe honor to their patriotism. We owe honor to their sacrifices.

I am gratified to see the growing appreciation of these fine people. The most tangible expression is in the form of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, to be built in Washington, D.C. and to stand alongside other monuments to great Americans.

Congress has set aside the land for this memorial. I might add that in an almost unprecedented show of unity, all 100 senators co-sponsored the legislation to authorize the memorial.

But no government money will go into the building of the memorial. All of the estimated $2.5 million cost is coming from private contributions, making this truly a people's memorial to their brave fellow citizens. The names of the more than 57,000 servicemen who died in Vietnam, as well as those still listed as missing in action, will appear on the memorial. However, the memorial will serve as a tribute to all 2.7 million who served there, also.

In addition to being a memorial to those who have already served, this memorial will be a statement to the young who will be called upon to serve in our Armed Services now and in the future. It will tell them that this nation appreciates those who give time from their lives, and even risk their lives, to keep our country strong.

The design already has been selected, and plans are to dedicate the memorial on Veterans' Day 1982. Fundraising efforts have begun all over the country, and public response appears to be good.

I would encourage my fellow Texans to participate in this effort to recognize the valor and patriotism of those who served their country in a trying and difficult time.

Flyers Destroy Bombers With 15-3 Victory

Scoring in all but the second inning and holding the Bombers scoreless in all but two innings the Rockport Flyers destroyed the Bombers 15-3 in an early game at Memorial Park Wednesday evening.

The Rockport Bombers relied on the pitching of Michelle Dingenary for the seven innings while the Flyers used Mary Randall for the first four innings then sent Nancy Barrera in for relief in the fifth.

The Bombers were held scoreless in the first inning and in the bottom of the inning Dingenary gave up two runs to allow the Flyers to take a 2-0 lead in the game.

Nancy Barrera hit a triple for the Flyers followed by a double off the bat of Norma Aleman that scored one of the runs then Rose Herrera pounded out a double.

Both teams were scoreless in the second inning but the Bombers got on the board in the top of the third to make it a 2-2 ballgame when Bomber batters scored on a series of singles.

The Flyers came back in the bottom of the third inning with four runs off the bats of Cindy Barrera with a triple and Sylvia Ayala with a double and the Flyers took a 4-2 lead over the Bombers.

The Bombers moved to within one run of the Flyers when they scored a single run in the top of the fourth but the Flyers widened their lead in the bottom of the inning with three more runs.

Cindy Barrera kept her bat hot with a hard hit triple to bring in a run then Rose Herrera drove a run in with a double followed by an RBI with a double from Mona Cowan. The side was retired when Bombers centerfielder Missy Krogsgaard caught a fly ball and fired it to second baseman Missy Guy for a double play.

The Bombers were unable to add to their score in the top of the fifth and the Flyers could only hammer out one run to take the game to 8-3 in favor of the Flyers.

The Bombers posted another goose egg in the top of the sixth and then in the bottom of the inning the Flyers rallied for five runs to take a 12 run lead in the 15-3 game.

Both teams went scoreless in the seventh inning and the Flyers won the game 15-3.

GOOD GAME GUYS

Flyers and Bombers meet on the mound for the traditional 'after the game handshake' after a game that saw the Flyers ground the Bombers 15-3. The scoreboard mistakenly shows the score to be 18-3. Someone surely is rubbing salt in the wound.

High Rollers Dump Reds 16-10

In a late evening game at Memorial Park the Rockport High Rollers beat the struggling Ingleside Reds in a high-scoring 16-10 game that saw the Reds make a comeback try in the top of the sixth inning.

The Reds took the lead in the top of the first inning as they posted three runs on the High Rollers.

But the Rockport High Rollers came back in the bottom of the inning and tied the Reds, then went on to add another two runs to make it a 5-3 game in favor of the High Rollers.

The Reds, determined as they were, collected four more runs in the top of the second inning to take a two-run lead over the Rockport girls.

The High Rollers were held to only three runs in the bottom of the inning and the fans had a thriller on their hands as the teams were locked in an 8-7 ball game with the home team leading by one.

The Reds were held scoreless for the next three innings as the Rockport High Rollers scored three in the bottom of the third and three more in the bottom of the fourth inning to lead the Reds 14-7.

The pitching of both teams showed good strength in the fifth inning and neither team could get a batter across the plate and the Reds and High Rollers both posted zeros.

In the top of the sixth inning the Reds got three runners across the plate on good solid hitting and some High Roller errors. The Reds closed to within four runs of the High Rollers.

But the Rockport girls grabbed two more runs in the bottom of the inning and that ended the game with the High Rollers taking the 16-10 win over the Reds.

Bees Dump The Darlings

Home team Bumble Bees pitcher Sylvia Morales out threw Darlings pitcher Anna Ayola in a see-saw game that saw the Bumble Bees pull off a 16-11 win at Memorial Park Wednesday evening.

The Darlings nailed on three early runs in the top of the first inning but the Bumble Bees came back with seven big runs as Larry Randall pounded out a double to drive in two runs. Sylvia Morales hit a triple with two RBIs. Marnie Wix added two more RBIs to the scoresheet with another triple for the Bumble Bees.

The Darlings were held scoreless in the top of the second inning and the hard swinging Bumble Bees took the game to 10-3 with the addition of three more runs in the bottom of the second with two of them coming from a well placed double off the bat of Sylvia Morales.

The Darlings added a single run in the top of the third, held the Bumble Bees scoreless for the bottom of the inning then both teams drew blanks in the fourth.

The Bumble Bees not wanting to fall behind in the 10-7 game hammered out six runs in the bottom of the fifth when Bees batter Lequita Lewis hit a triple to score three runs followed by a double from the bat of Larry Randall with one run scoring. Randall was tagged out trying to make it to third.

The Darlings mounted a comeback attempt in the top of the sixth and managed to post four runs in their attempt to play catch up ball.

Shelly James hit a double and drove in two runs followed with some help from Tressa Walls with a long hit single to bring in a run.

Bumble Bee short stop Larry Randall help put the Darlings away with an unassisted double play.

The Bumble Bees didn't come to bat in the bottom of the inning and won the game 16-11.

Cubs Take 4-2 Win In Pitchers Duel

Cubs pitcher Ross Roberts gave his team and their fans something to cheer about Wednesday night as he held the Cardinals to two runs while striking out 14 Cardinal batters on the way to a 4-2 victory over the Cardinals.

The Cubs got on the scoreboard in the first inning with one run off of a double and a single.

The Cardinals came back in the bottom of the inning with two singles and one run as Roberts got his first two strike outs of the game.

In the top of the second the Cubs got a batter on base with a walk then and with three stolen bases scored a run to make the game tied at 2-2.

Roberts came back in the bottom of the inning and sent the Cardinals back to the dugout with three up-three down and he had five strikeouts in the game.

The Cubs went scoreless in the top of the third and when the Cardinals came back to bat Roberts gave up a double, a single and a walk but the Cardinals were unable to score and the game was still tied at 2-2.

In the top of the fourth the Cubs came to bat facing relief pitcher Rene Vega. Vega struck out the first batter he faced then gave up a double and a single, struck out the next batter, walked a Cub, then retired the side with another strikeout.

Roberts came back in the bottom of the fourth, allowed the first Cardinals batter to reach first on a walk then sent the next three batters back to the dugout with a series of pitches that saw Roberts throw five balls and nine strikes.

In the top of the fifth the Cubs first three batters go down swinging.

In the bottom of the inning Roberts threw eleven times and sent three Cardinal batters back to the dugout again. Roberts only had one full count to worry about but squeaked by that.

In the top of the sixth the Cubs got a single and two base on balls but were unable to score but held the lead in the 4-2 game.

The bottom of the sixth saw the Cardinals with the winning run on base as the bases were loaded and with two out Roberts retired the Cardinals by puting a 2-1 pitch across the plate letter high and the Cubs won the game 4-2.

Our energy-conscious world can learn an important lesson from the candle that flickers out. The problem is not that its fuel is all gone. The fuel has been dissipated so it is no longer in a usable state.

The flickering candle conveys a religious lesson, too. Some of us burn out spiritually. Not because we lack God-given resources. Because we let those resources dissolve in a hodgepodge of confusion and doubt.

Keep close to your church or synagogue and its teaching. The spiritual resources we constantly renew cannot melt away.

The Shepherd's Staff

By the Rev. Charles Fake
Pastor, Rockport First Baptist

The radio in a large southern city blared daily the appeals of a compassionate worker with delinquents, alcoholics, drug addicts, parolees and other troubled young men. He received limited response to his appeals until one day he casually mentioned that a hungry, brutalized puppy had been left at the door of their rehabilitation center. Then the phone began to ring off the wall! "We want to help with the dog," were the cries of the callers.

But what about the people? Does anyone want to help them?

The typical response is, "We will help if it is a worthy case." Worthy? What is "worthy"?

Suppose God gave spiritual help to only the "worthy" cases. Who would He help?

The fact of the matter is that we are inherently unworthy of God's love and help because we are responsible people who have deliberately disobeyed God in many ways.

Only God's grace (His unmerited love) will help us.

God lays down no conditions. He loves us just as we are; so we must come to Him just as we are. When we do, He touches us and changes us, and we begin to grow into His likeness.

Now, back to the folks we are to help. Jesus' teachings are abundantly clear that we are to forgive because we have been divinely forgiven, we are to love because we have been divinely loved, and we are to reach out to others in need because God Himself has reached out to us in our need.

Reach out and touch someone today.

JUNE ARTIST

Marilyn Burkhardt is First National Bank's ''Artist of the Month'' for June. A native of Canada, living in the coastal bend since 1976, Burkhardt traveled throughout the world while working for a multi-national manufacturing company. She lived in Africa from 1959 until 1970 and has called it ''an artist's paradise due to the vibrancy and luminosity of colors.'' Much of Burkhardt's work is done in oils and acrylics and she is also an expert in the art of batik. With her husband Larry, an electrical engineer, Burkhardt also creates stained glass windows, window guards and custom designed sculpted doors. Five of Burkhardt's paintings will be on display in the First National Lobby throughout June.

22 Dogs, Cats Impounded By City

Twenty-two animals — 10 dogs and 12 cats — were impounded at Rockport's city pound during May, according to the report from Animal Control Officer Dick MacMurchy.

The report was presented to the city council at Monday's council session.

Nine warnings were issued to owners of loose animals during the month. No citations were written.

Of the animals impounded, three dogs were either returned to their owners or adopted and six dogs — including five puppies — were sent to the Gulf Coast Humane Society shelter in Corpus Christi.

Three cats were sent to the Corpus Christi shelter. None were returned to their owners or adopted from the Rockport pound.

MacMurchy reported that four dogs and four cats had to be destroyed because of injury or health.

The city received 86 animal calls during the month and the animal control truck logged 811 miles.

all the businesses in the area.

The list will also be published in the Pilot.

Mrs. Luigi added she is seeking donations from community organizations, such as the Rotary Club which she addressed during their luncheon meeting Wednesday.

''Donations are tax deductible,'' she emphasized. Because of a time factor, she added, ''we need pledges as soon as possible.''

''The school will not provide the money for this (trip),'' she continued. ''It will be up to the students, their parents and the community.''

Mrs. Luigi expects around 60 of her choir students will make the trip to Vienna next year. She added that it is ''imperative'' that she meet with the parents of each youngster planning to go — and she hopes to meet most of the parents at a meeting Thursday, June 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the RFHS choir room.

She is also available, she emphasized, to meet with any organizations who want to know more about the trip — and about how their members might help.

''We really need the community support,'' she added.

Shrimp Landings Down, But Forecasts Call For 'Excellent' '81 Crop

Despite a 50 percent plus decline in shrimp landings in the Rockport - Fulton - Aransas Pass, National Marine Fisheries officials are predicting an "excellent" brown shrimp crop for 1981.

And although the area shrimp catches are down, the Rockport - Fulton - Aransas Pass area was leading the rest of Texas in shrimp landings for both April and the January - through - April period.

Shrimp landed in this area in April totalled 205,800 pounds for a year-to-date catch record of 549,700 pounds — less than half the 1,119,300 pounds of shrimp brought into local ports in the same period last year.

But the remaining port systems in Texas reported landings of less than 500,000 pounds of shrimp landed since January 1 of 1981.

Total shrimp landings for all Texas ports so far this year amount to 1,701,500 pounds, compared to more than 3.1 million pounds for the same period in 1980.

The National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) reports the Gulf shrimp fleet was idle through most of April statewide, with low catches not justifying leaving the dock.

However, prospects for brown shrimp catches were reported to be looking up as NMFS officials said that "major nursery systems in Texas are reported to look better than the previous two years."

The Aransas and Corpus Christi bay systems are rated as having "good to excellent" brown shrimp crops, the Matagorda system excellent, San Antonio bay excellent, Galveston bay system good and the Laguna Madre fair to good.

A spring drought in the northern and western Gulf is credited with providing conditions favorable to the brown shrimp crop, with heavy concentrations of small brown shrimp reported from the Mississippi River to Corpus Christi.

Also helping the brown shimp were strong southeast winds that in late April aided in extending nursery areas into marshes in the upper limits of major systems.

Fleming of Rockport. Fleming was not present for the Wednesday afternoon drawing. Mary made two rugs for the giveaway — which was to raise funds for the Aransas County Little League — and Fleming gets his choice of one. Ticket sales for the giveaway brought in $700 for the Little League Association. Mary credited Esleta Schultz, Marie Knight and Ruth Blankinship in giving her help on the project. 100-Plus Artists Prepare For Art Festival

More than 100 artists have registered for Rockport's Art Festival coming up July 4-5, according to Cam Leonard, president of the Rockport Art Association which sponsors the annual event.

As Art Association president, Leonard also holds the title of "coordinator and problem solver" for the 12th annual Festival.

Money raised by the Art Association through the Festival will go into the organization's building fund for the proposed Rockport Art Center.

Genral chairman of this year's event is Estelle Stair, who said volunteers are still being sought to help with the activities. In particular, Mrs. Stair emphasized, "We need volunteers for foods."

Other chairmen for the event include Sandy Booth, artist tent assignment; beer, Virginia and Pete Lazidis; contributions, Sylvia Berry; food, Al and Elaine Vandeveer; food tent hostesses, Jane Moren; grounds, Louis Guido; hospitality, Louise Scaling.

Caroline and Bob Bernardy head the iced tea committee and Jack and Reba Rast are chairmen and Kathryn Brown co-chairman of the money committee. James Cox is in charge of the public address system, Alma Hobson is handling publicity and Rip Harrison is making signs again this year.

Cove Harbor Fees To Be Increased

Aransas County Navigation District Commissioners voted in their Tuesday, June 2, meeting to raise the fees paid by some lessees in Cove Harbor by 50 percent.

According to Aransas County Harbor Master Bernie DeForest the Commissioners review all leases every five years and vote on whether they should be raised and by how much. The commissioners are allowed to raise the fee by only 50 percent.

In the June meeting of the ACND there wre four lessees that were due for review and it was agreed to raise the fee of each by 50 percent.

The largest lessor to realize the increased fee will be Casterline Fish Company. Casterline holds a lease on more than 1,100 feet of waterfront property in Cove Harbor and presently pays an annual fee of $3,375 for the property. Casterline sub-leases a large portion of the property to Houston Oil and Mineral.

Coastal Properties, lessor of lots 10 through 17 plus another smaller area in Cove Harbor will have their $2,325 per year fee raised by 50 percent.

Cove Harbor Enterprises, lessor of lots 26 through 42 presently pay $2,231.25 for the lease will also have a 50 percent increase in their lease fee.

The smallest lessor to be affected at this time is Elva Mullinax, holder of a lease on lots 18 through 25, with a present annual fee of $1,443.75. The Mullinax lease will also be increased by 50 percent after the action of the ACND commissioners Tuesday.

Water Rates Go Up On June Billing

Effective this month, customers of the Rockport city water department will be paying an extra 10 cents per 1000 gallons of water.

The increase, which goes into effect with the June billings, is to offset a 10 cents per 1000 gallon increase in the rates charged by the San Patricio Water District from which Rockport buys its water.

"This is not an increase by the City of Rockport," City Secretary Herman Johnson emphasized. "This is an increase to offset the cost the city pays the San Patricio district."

The San Patricio Water District raised its rates from 43 cents to 53 cents per 1000 gallons as of June 1.

Rockport officials voted the increase last March when they learned of the proposed increase in rates changed by San Patricio.

Also approved in March was a proposal by city officials to charge monthly fees to offset the cost of water used by the area's volunteer fire departments.

The monthly fees are $75 to Aransas County, $25 to the City of Rockport and $10 to the City of Fulton.

Brown To Attend Coast Guard Academy This Summer

Spokesmen for the U.S. Coast uard Auxiliary Flotilla 79 announced today that John Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Brown, owners of Sail Printing in Rockport, has been selected to go to the United States Coast Guard Academy for the Academy Introduction Mission (AIM).

Brown, who competed against 70 other candidates in the eighth District came in seventh in the district and was informed that he would be invited to attend the academy to participate in the school's AIM program.

The Coast Guard Academy's AIM program is designed to assist the Coast Guard in recruitment and procurement of cadets. The program is carried out at the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Connecticut, each August.

For a five-day period each August, 175 high school juniors are given first-hand exposure to the routine of a cadet at the Coast Guard Academy and the training of a "swab".

Candidates will go through indoctrination of the Academy including a complete tour of the grounds and buildings and a guided tour of the Coast Guard cutter and training barque, "Eagle".

The candidates will be invited to lectures and may visit with department heads and faculty members on the subject in which the candidate is especially interested.

AIM candidates are also given the opportunity to talk to the coaches of the various sports participated in at the academy.

To be eligible, a candidate must be between 11th and 12th grade and stand in the top 25 percent of his class. The candidate may not be over 18 years of age nor under 15 years of age and must be mentally, morally and physically qualified.

AIM candidates must also present some evidence of leadership in school or extra curricular activities and must have some motivation toward a career as a cadet in the Academy and as an officer in the Coast Guard.

Asked what his studies would include at the academy, Brown said the cadets study "a lot" of government, some ship designing and a lot of engineering courses.

Brown said if he is accepted at the academy he is obligated to stay in the Coast Guard for five years, but he added he would like to make a career out of it.
