Wellington Will Host District 2-A Tennis Tournament April 7 and 8

Wellington will host its first tennis tournament Wednesday and Thursday, April 7 and 8, when the District 2-A University Interscholastic League championships are decided in Ellison Park.

Tournament play was one of the major objectives in constructing the type of new courts the city of Wellington put in during the summer of 1975.

The tournament is under the direction of Ronnie Glenn, high school tennis coach.

Thirty-two teams are expected in varsity competition, boys and girls singles and doubles from each of the 8 district schools, Shamrock, Wheeler, McLean, Clarendon, Silverton, Memphis, Claude and Wellington.

Besides these, the freshman competition will be played as games can be worked in, Coach Glenn said.

Play will start at 8:30 a.m. both Wednesday and Thursday and will continue until around sundown. Games will be in progress on all four courts throughout the day.

Wellington people are especially invited to come out and see tournament play, and many students will be on hand to watch. Benches will be brought in to provide seating for those present.

Winners will be determined in the best two of three sets, with six games making up each set. A match should last about an hour, although this can vary

In the wild animal menagerie will be elephants, chimpanzees, tigers, camels, lions, performing dogs, llamas, bears and American buffalo.

Converters Could Be An Off-Road Hazard

AUSTIN—Sportsmen who own 1975 pickup trucks and passenger cars equipped with catalytic converters need to think twice before driving through a pasture of dry grass during the hunting season.

Temperatures inside the converters reach 1,200-1,300 degrees Fahrenheit, twice the temperature of regular exhaust systems. Since converters are slow to cool, such equipped vehicles could start a grass fire—no way to treat a hunting lease.

Officials at the Parks and Wildlife Department say that vehicles under the 6,000 pounds gross vehicular weight rating (GVWR) usually have converters.

This includes most half-ton pickups, passenger cars and some popular off-road vehicles.

Pickup trucks with heavy-duty suspensions which place them over the 6,000 pound GVWR are free of the converters.

The U.S. Army has banned the use of converter-equipped vehicles within 50 feet of any aircraft, fuel spill, explosive area or other potentially hazard-us area.

Tests by a major oil refinery indicate that when a 1975 model vehicle runs out of fuel, the temperature increases enough to completely destroy the catalyst. Apparently misfiring associated with low fuel allows large amounts of unburned fuel to enter the converter, causing higher temperatures.

Dealers have replaced converters which have literally melted due to extreme temperatures approaching

2,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The carpeting and floor-mats of 1975 automobiles have been scorched or burned by heat from the converters.

Retirement Dinner Honors Jack Ford March 29

Jack Ford, who completed twenty-nine and one-half years with the Wellington office of the Texas Department of Highways and Transportation retired Monday, March 29. That evening, co-workers and their families honored him with a retirement dinner in the Heritage Room.

Mr. Ford was an engineering technician. The highlight of the evening came when he was presented with a handsome recliner chair and Mrs. Ford received an electric broiler-toaster.

They were the winners in an "Irish Sweepstakes" hinting at the Irish in Mr. Ford's ancestry. Decorations also carried out an Irish theme.

Co-workers paid tribute to their retiring friend.

O.V. Johnson, resident engineer who served as master of ceremonies following the buffet dinner, reminded the group that when Jack Ford joined the department in the fall of 1947, it had an engineering staff of seven. These included Clyde Drake, resident engineer, Claude Groves, Grant Wooldridge, Oran Hedger, Riley Dunson, and Glen McLain, along with Mr. Ford.

During the construction of Interstate 40 through Wheeler County, the engineering staff rose to 20. Presently, it numbers 12. Two members of the original 7 remain, Wooldridge and McLain. There were numerous anecdotes related concerning the honoree's career with the Texas Highway Department, which only a few months ago became the Texas Department of Highways and Transportation.

Mr. Ford was born and grew up in Lawrence, Mass., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ford, still live. He worked in woolen mills there before he entered the Army in World War II, and he returned there after he completed his military service.

He served in the European Theatre and went into Normandy with the D-Day invasion.

While he was in the Army, Mr. Ford was married to Miss Dela Bee Burt, a former Wellington teacher then serving in the Women's Army Corps.

They have two sons, John Ford, who teaches and coaches at Greenville, and Lanny Ford, who lives here. There are two granddaughters, Rachelle and Amber.

Mr. Ford is a member of the American Legion and while his boys were growing up, he was especially active in Boy Scout Work. He helped to coach the American Legion baseball program throughout the time it was in operation here.

Present for the Monday night retirement dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. O.V. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Glen McLain, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wooldridge,

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Long and Brent, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Gragson and Laura, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Smith and Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mauldin, Mr. and Mrs. Auther Jones and Jay, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Brown, Daryon and Derek,

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Groves, Hubert Brooks, Harry Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Ford, Rachelle and Amber, and Virginia Robey.

Mrs. Breeding Some Defrosted Food Can Be Has AbrahDC Refrozen, But Use Care

The Abra Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Buck Breeding Friday, March 26.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Breeding, the president. Mrs. Guss Gooch led the THDA Prayer and Mrs. Wood Coleman read the devotional and called the roll, which was answered with "my most helpful house cleaning hint."

Mrs. Anita Blanton, Home Demonstration Agent, presented an interesting program on "Home Safety".

A refreshment plate was served to Mrs. Blanton, Mrs. Wayne Laycock, Mrs. C.H. Caperton, Mrs. Pat Bradley, Mrs. Lois Jones, Mrs. Gooch, Mrs. Coleman and the hostess, Mrs. Breeding.

Whether or not to refreeze defrosted food is a problem plaguing many homemakers -- especially during hot summer months, Mrs. Mary Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist, noted this week.

"Under certain conditions, frozen foods thawed before they're needed may be safely refrozen to prevent loss," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

"Fruits, vegetables and meats may be refrozen if they have not completely thawed, or if they were thawed for a short time and remained in a household refrigerator.

Refrozen vegetables may toughen and refrozen fruits become soft and mushy. Such fruits still may be satisfactory for cooking, although they've lost their raw fruit appeal.

"The process of thawing and refreezing in itself does not make fruit, vegetables or meats unsafe -- but thawed foods spoil more rapidly than fresh foods and may become unsafe to eat.

Acid foods -- most fruit and fruit products -- are likely to ferment after they have thawed.

Rev., Mrs. Squyres Have Golden Wedding Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. Dewey C. Squyres of Rubidoux, near Riverside, Calif., were honored at a reception recently in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. He formerly lived at Quail and is a brother of Mrs. W.A. Gollighugh.

The reception was hosted by the couple's children and grandchildren at the Eleventh Street Baptist Church in Upland.

They were married February 19, 1926 at Plainview, Texas. Rev. Squyres became a minister at age 14 and married the former Faye Kelley at age 17. He was pastor at First Baptist Church, Allenread, Texas, at the time of their marriage.

At the reception the couple was presented with a book entitled "Golden Greetings," put together by friends, churches and institutions where they had served during the fifty years.

The couple was also presented with a color television set, purchased by relatives and friends.

The services were performed in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Missouri and California.

Rev. Squyres was minister of First Southern Baptist Church in Rubidoux from 1962 until 1969. He retired in 1973 and returned to the Rubidoux church in May, 1975.

The couple has three sons, seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Rev. and Mrs. Squyres will visit here this week end.

Fill Freezer Right Way

Guidelines for loading a freezer are simple and logical -- designed to keep food rotating and the freezer temperature at 0 degree, Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, family resource management specialist, said this week.

Be careful about adding too much "new" or unfrozen food at one time. The specialist advised that three pounds of food for every cubic foot of storage space is a reasonable addition.

"Another way to determine the amount of food to freeze at one time is to add no more than 1/15 the capacity of the freezer. After this amount is put in, wait 24 hours before adding more," she recommended.

The specialist pointed out that for fast freezing, new food should be placed near the walls or bottom of either chest or upright types of freezers.

"Keep similar foods together in baskets or on shelves. Foods also may be organized in heavy plastic or mesh bags.

"If the freezer is large, keep an inventory.

UMW Study Concludes Fri.

The Lydia and Esther sub groups of the United Methodist Women completed a study Friday morning, March 26, on "The Nation Yet to Be" written by James Armstrong. The theme was "Christian Mission and the new Patriotism".

Mrs. Jack Davis taught the first session March 5, Mrs. Cecil Masten the second on March 12, the third was brought by Mrs. Bob Hightower March 19, and the final study was led by Mrs. Cal Hurst.

The leaders discussed the fact that this country was founded on Christian principles and the fact that God has blessed us for these two hundred years makes it important that we should still have Christian leaders to fill government offices, who will seek God's guidance. It is not enough to be religious but every American should be patriotic and vote for Christian leaders.

The study pointed out the mistakes we have made as a nation as well as the things of which we are so proud.

The group was asked the nationality of their forefathers, who first settled in America. Several were of English extraction, others of Irish, German, French and one Welch. That is quite a mixture, but we all are living under the same flag, happy and free, serving the same Master, our Lord Jesus Christ.

Miss Rose Shadid, Miss Marie Shadid and Mr. and Mrs. John Shadid of Memphis were in Dallas to attend the Apparel Mart from Sunday, March 28, to Wednesday, March 31.

Mrs. James Colson, Marita Ann and Billy Jack of Lubbock visited Mr. and Mrs. Horace Clay and Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Colson. Mrs. Colson stayed until Thursday, but the two grandchildren visited all week with their grandparents.

Lemon-Fresh Beauty Easy

COLLEGE STATION--the ordinary lemon can be quick, easy, inexpensive beauty treatment, Marlene Odle, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, suggested this week.

"A few drops of lemon in a favorite shampoo leaves hair shiny and squeaky.

"A fresh lemon squeezed into warm water is a great rinse for soap-dulled hair. Rinse thoroughly with clear water," the specialist with the Texas A&M University System, said.

The lemon is a natural face astringent. Squeeze a fresh lemon into the rinse water for a fresh tingling splash. Rinse with clear water.

Keep a lemon half near the sink to rub over hands after washing 1) help remove stains and food odors.

"Stick rough elbows in two halves of cut lemons to help whiten and get rid of dry, scaly skin. If lemons are at room temperature, they'll be juicier and more comfortable."

A wedge of fresh lemon rubbed on the skin will give a refreshing relief to tired feet. It helps soften and whiten while it soothes, she said.

"Arthritis Cure Diets" Don't Cure, Specialist Says

COLLEGE STATION--Trying "arthritis cure diets" won't help the arthritis sufferer feel any better, Mrs. Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist, says.

No special diet or specific food will cure arthritis--because no food causes it, she said.

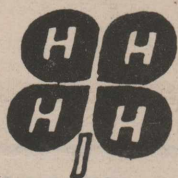

Mrs. Sweeten is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Arthritis is a chronic inflammatory process of unknown origin which causes discomfort and pain of the joints.

"And extensive research has failed to show that the absence of presence of any food or vitamin will either cause or cure any form of arthritis," she explained.

Trying to alleviate the pain, many arthritics fall victim to food faddists or self-appointed "arthritis experts" who advocate bizarre diet plans for quick, miraculous cures, she said.

"And even though medical authorities say these diets are ineffective, one survey revealed that almost 2.5 million people have tried some special diet or miracle food to relieve their pain.

Solar Total Energy Plan Set for N.M.

Solar energy must be applied on a broad front in the future if it is to make an appreciable contribution to meeting the Nation's energy needs.

With this in mind, the Energy Research and Development Administration has assigned responsibility to Sandia Laboratories in New Mexico for a project designed to show the promise of using solar energy. If successful, the concept could be applied to a variety of commercial, industrial, and residential needs across the country.

The pilot solar total energy project is designed to provide electricity, space heating, air conditioning, and hot water for a 12,000 square-foot building at Sandia by fall of 1976. By this fall the system will be operating at about 25 percent of ultimate capacity.

The equipment needed for the experiment includes solar energy collectors, insulated storage tanks, a turbo-generator, and an absorption air conditioner.

Energy requirements for the building are equivalent to about 10 residences. Approximately 8,000 square feet of solar collectors will be needed to provide the building's energy requirements.

The research work on the project is expected to provide data on the strengths and weaknesses of the system and to permit testing of parts and subsystems developed by industrial solar energy researchers.

A larger solar total energy demonstration project is expected to follow the pilot project and would involve the central collection and storage of solar energy as heat and its distribution to individual homes and businesses.

Preliminary indications are that the lowest systems costs are achieved when about 60 percent of the required energy needs are supplied by solar energy. A supplemental power source would continue to be part of the energy system and would

THE SCIENTISTS TELL ME ...

By Robert L. Haney, Science Writer
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

Germ Warfare Is Declared on Mosquitoes

Mosquitoes, those blood-sucking parasites that make life a misery for animals and mankind, have parasites of their own! And it's to the enemies of the mosquito that entomologists are looking for help in controlling these pests.

Insecticides alone can't do the job; in the last few years some species of mosquitoes have developed resistance. In many places, larger and larger doses of insecticide give less and less control.

This resistance, plus widespread concern for the safety supply the balance of the energy needs.

Sandia Corporation, a subsidiary of Western Electric Company, operates Sandia Laboratories, Albuquerque, New Mexico, for the Energy Research and Development Administration.

of our environment, has emphasized the need for a variety of control methods.

The biological approach to mosquito control offers great hope. It uses parasites, pathogens (disease) and predators to reduce mosquito populations to tolerable levels.

Entomologists with the Experiment Station say pathogens look especially promising as one answer to mosquito-related problems in Texas. Dr. Jim Olson, project leader for mosquito research, says there are a large number of pathogenic agents, discovered by scientists throughout the world, that show promise as mosquito control agents.

Among these agents, those that belong to the nematode (round worms), fungi and protozoa (single-celled animals) groups have received the most intensive study. This is because of their frequency of occurrence in natural mosquito populations and because of their demonstrated deadliness to mosquitoes under laboratory conditions.

Olson and his associates have been studying one such protozoan which parasitizes the immature stages of the yellow fever mosquito (Aedes aegypti). The parasite doesn't kill the yellow fever mosquito, but when the immature or "larvae" of other mosquito species are exposed to this parasite, it often results in a high rate of death. Some of these mosquito species are very important because they serve as vectors (carriers) of disease in Texas.

"We don't want to leave any false impressions," Olson cautioned, "that we have mosquitoes whipped. Even though the results of our preliminary investigations of this parasite look promising, we are a long way from applying this parasite to the control of mosquitoes on a large-scale basis. Many mosquito parasites look good in the protected environment of the laboratory. However, when these same parasites are subjected to the rigors of nature, their effectiveness as mosquito control agents may fall far below expectations."

So, scientists must investigate not only whether a parasite can effectively control mosquitoes in the laboratory, but also they must determine the natural factors that may limit or even eliminate the effectiveness of the parasite.

"Confinement of mosquito larvae (immature stage) in close proximity to the infective stages of the parasite appears to be one of the important conditions for effectiveness," states Olson.

"Of the 79 mosquito species known to occur in Texas, several pass their larval stages in more or less confined habitats. These habitats include everything from old tin cans to crab holes, tree holes and rock pools along rivers and creeks. On the basis of confinement, these mosquito species would be the ones that we would look to first in terms of using parasite control," says Olson.

"Resistance of some mosquitoes to infection by a parasite is also a problem. In the case of the protozoan that we are investigating, we have found some mosquito species that can resist infections even under confined laboratory conditions.

"Thus, we either have to figure out how to compromise this resistance or just accept the fact that we cannot use the parasite for the control of these particular species. Failure of a given pathogen to work in some cases is a fact of life that scientists must learn to live with. When this happens, you use the parasite where it will work and look for other parasites or other control methods that are effective in cases where your parasite doesn't work."

"The use of parasites in future mosquito control work shows a great deal of promise; however, the limitations to this approach must be recognized and accepted. I doubt there will be very many cases where mosquito populations are totally eliminated as the result of using parasites alone. Even when a parasite is effective, there are some mosquitoes that escape death.

Hence, the biological approach to mosquito control will need to be carefully and strategically blended with other approaches into integrated mosquito control programs. This will insure the continuous suppression of mosquito populations to levels that can be tolerated by man in terms of his and his animals' health.

"Anyone reading this article can help in integrated mosquito control efforts by insuring that mosquito breeding conditions are not present on your property. Any type of standing water can provide the necessary conditions required by some species of these blood-sucking flies. For example, water that collects in old tires, tin cans, pop bottles, childrens wading pools and flower pots offers breeding sites for mosquitoes. Elimination of these sites can go a long way in solving the problem in the immediate vicinity of where you live," Olson concluded.

Lone Star Asks RR Commission For Rate Relief

DALLAS--Lone Star Gas Company has filed an application with the Texas Railroad Commission in Austin to establish its current weighted average cost of gas as a part of its authorized city gate rate charge for gas delivered to residential and commercial customers. Based on February gas costs, the request would increase the gate rate by 5.45 cents per Mcf.

Lone Star's application noted that the current city gate rate, authorized by the Commission effective July 1, 1975, is $1.0399 per thousand cubic feet (Mcf) of gas. Included in this figure is a weighted average cost of gas purchased from producers which the Commission then recognized as 72.29 cents per Mcf. A gas cost adjustment, limited to 85 percent of gas cost increases or decreases, was also allowed.

Since that time, however, Lone Star states that its weighted average cost has dramatically risen to $1.0863 per Mcf as of February, 1976.

Lone Star is asking the Commission to recognize the weighted average cost in existence on the company's system when the Commission holds its hearing on this request.

The effect of the request is simply to bring the base cost of gas to a current position from which future adjustments in gas costs can be calculated.

The company's application is limited only to this element of relief and seeks no change in the present base rate or present gas cost adjustment rule.

Band in UIL Concert, Sight Reading Contest

That Skyrocket Band participated in the University Interscholastic League concert and sight reading contests at Panhandle Tuesday, March 23.

Garry Wofford, director, said the band received a Division III rating in concert playing, and this, he said was "very good." They then received a Division II rating in sight reading, which he said rated "excellent."

As an overall rating, Mr. Wofford said most bands received lower ratings and this contest was pretty stiff.

Thomas in All-Star Game at Plainview

Edward Thomas, high scoring Skyrocket, played in the second annual Panhandle-Plains All-Star Basketball Game at Plainview Saturday, March 27 at Wayland Baptist College.

Thomas scored 6 points, although his team, the North, lost eventually to the South team 111-71.

The 5-10 Wellington player was one of three captains of the North team, the others being Richard Lane of Pampa and Lewis Moore of Tascosa Amarillo.

The two 10-man teams were made up of graduating seniors who were not participating in spring sports, since the game was not sanctioned by the

County Men Represent Land Bank at Meeting

Tom Cunningham of Samnorwood and Woodrow Wood of Wellington have returned from Houston where they represented the Federal Land Bank Association of Shamrock at the annual stockholders meeting of The Federal Land Bank of Houston. The meeting held at the Houston Oaks Hotel, was attended by members of 66 Federal Land Bank Associations in Texas. There were about 550 persons in attendance.

George W. Cunningham, President, in his annual report to stockholders, reported that the demand for new loans declined from the previous two years; however, 1975 was still the third largest year in the bank's history and also the third consecutive year that loan closing had exceeded $200 million. Dr. Phil Gramm, Economist on leave of absence from Texas A&M University and B.K. Johnson, a prominent South-Texas rancher and director of the King Ranch Corporation, also addressed stockholders and guests during the meeting.

Others attending the meeting from this area were Mrs. Tom Cunningham, Mrs. Woodrow Wood and Bill H. Bratton, Mgr. of Assoc.

Democrats of Area Hear Strauss April 9

An area-wide Democratic Jubilee will be held for people of the Panhandle Friday evening, April 9, at Tri-State Fairgrounds Coliseum, Amarillo, according to Mrs. John Coleman, county Democratic chairman.

The keynote speaker will be Chairman Robert Strauss of the Democratic National Committee, Washington, D.C. and former Texan. He will describe "Opportunities and Challenges which Confront Democrats Nationwide."

Congressman Jack High-tower will be master of ceremonies and other speakers will be State Senator Max Sherman, who will extend a bicentennial salute, and Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White, who will discuss problems facing the farmers and what it means to be a Texas Democrat.

"All statewide candidates have been invited to attend, and indications are that most will be able to," said Mrs. Coleman.

"All citizens in Wellington, and throughout the Panhandle are cordially invited to attend. Tickets may be purchased at the door. This is the first time that Chairman Strauss has been in the Panhandle for a speaking engagement and we are delighted that he will be here," said the county chairman.

Handicapped Children Sought Over Texas

In a recent news conference in Austin, it was announced by the Chairman of the State Board of Education, Joe Kelly Butler, that the Texas Education Agency and the 1,121 independent school districts in Texas are beginning an intensive effort to locate and identify every handicapped child of school age who is not now in school. It is an ambitious undertaking and it is called "CHILD FIND".

The program was announced locally by James Stavenhagen, EPCO supervisor.

It will search out handicapped persons between the ages of 3 and 21—young people who are blind, deaf, physically handicapped . . . those who have learning disabilities such as language problems . . . and the emotionally disturbed and mentally retarded.

"In locating these youngsters, it will carry out the instructions of the Sixty-First Texas Legislature which in 1969 unanimously passed Senate Bill 230 which provides for public special education for every handicapped child in Texas. By order of the people of Texas through their Legislature, public education in Texas is for every child. Public schools are for the handicapped . . . today as never before," said Mr. Stavenhagen.

"How many handicapped children are there who are not in school? No one has any idea. No statistics are available. The handicapped children not in school are simply lost. Their futures are lost a little every day they're not in school. Their contributions to society are lost. The productivity and happiness of their families are lost. They need to be found. That's the purpose of "CHILD FIND," he continued.

"CHILD FIND will help people realize handicaps are nothing to hide. Handicapped people generally are very special people. They have insights and special abilities not usually developed by many individuals in our society. To help them achieve their fullest individual potential as human beings, we have special education programs in the Texas public schools," Mr. Butler said.

Today 76% of school-age handicapped children are enrolled in special education programs. It is the goal of the Texas Education Agency to be serving the needs of every handicapped child in the state between ages 3 and 21 by the year 1980. CHILD FIND is a major unified, positive "push" in that direction.

"On behalf of the thousands of handicapped children who need special education and aren't getting, we appeal to the people of this area for assistance in CHILD FIND. We believe our readers will want to know about the program and its progress. We promise to keep you informed . . . we ask that you let us know your ideas," emphasized Mr. Butler.

Funds for the implementation of CHILD FIND are being distributed throughout the state on the basis of the number of children in public schools in each region. The individual programs of the Education Service Centers are being unified by a statewide public awareness and public information program. Every person who knows a handicapped child who is not in school should phone CHILD FIND at 806/376-7463. Anyone in this area may call, COLLECT if it is long distance, to report handicapped children not in school.

Aaron Ratliff Receives Honors at Clayton, NM

Aaron Ratliff, sixteen-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ratliff of Clayton, New Mexico, formerly of Wellington, has recently received two honors. Aaron was selected by the Clayton Rotary Club to be one of two boys to receive an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C. Going with Aaron will be another Clayton High School Junior, Stephen Schaus.

Buddie Lovin, president of the Clayton Rotary Club says the club began early as a part of their Bicentennial project to search for two deserving young men who would appreciate the trip, represent the town well and, "would come back and spread patriotism during their senior year."

They were chosen because of character, leadership ability, and good scholastic standing. They will fly to Washington, and the week's activities are well planned.

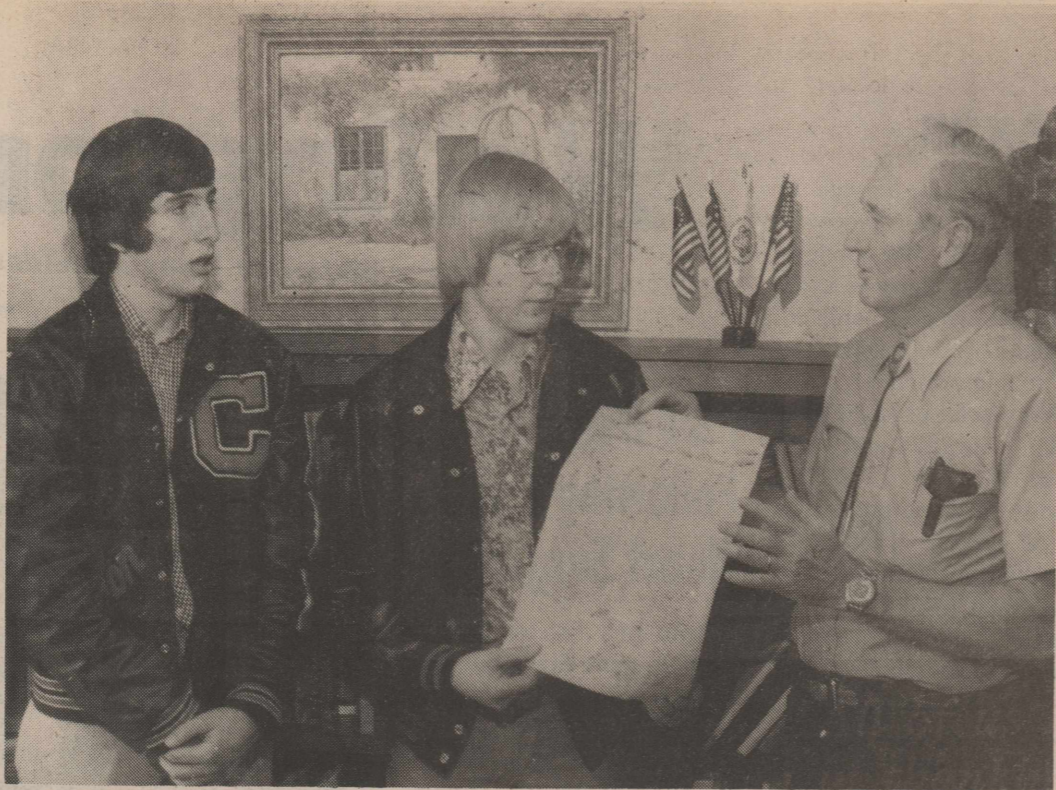

In addition to this honor, Aaron was recently chosen on the All State Basketball team in the AA class school of New Mexico. Last year, as a sophomore, he won honorable mention as quarterback on the all state team in football, and the past season, he was awarded a place on the all state second team. During his sophomore year, at fifteen, he was one of the youngest players to play in the state finals.

As president of the junior class, Aaron is an A-plus student, having a mid-term average of ninety-seven. He carries a full load including geometry, chemistry, journalism, typing, and band where he plays trombone. He is active in church work and has a full time summer job.

Aaron's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Emmert, and Mrs. Ben Ratliff live in Wellington. Both grandmothers have enjoyed going to Clayton to see Aaron play ball.

The Washington trip is planned for late May or early June.

Some snakes have been known to live for one to two years without food by absorbing the fat of their own bodies.

Large Texas Cotton Crop Looms Ahead

COLLEGE STATION -- Attractive cotton prices could mean a big cotton crop in Texas this year.

That assessment comes from Dr. Bob Metzger, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"According to a U.S. Department of Agriculture survey, Texas farmers are planning to increase their cotton acreage this year by about 10 per cent," notes Metzger. "That would mean an increase of a half million acres from the 1975 crop of 4.3 million acres. However, should sorghum and soybean prices soften before planting starts, Texas cotton acreage could move as high as five million acres."

According to the Texas A&M University System specialist, the biggest jump in cotton acreage will come in the Rio Grande Valley where producers are expected to double last year's acreage. Cotton acreage should also increase in the Coastal Bend and in the Central Texas Blacklands. All of these areas had a drop in cotton acreage in 1975 due to low cotton prices and high sorghum prices.

In the state's prime cotton country of the High and Rolling Plains, Metzger expects only a slight increase in cotton acreage over 1975 plantings because there is less opportunity for expanding the crop. The cotton acreage in the Plains has remained generally stable in recent years.

Across the Cotton Belt, cotton acreage may reach 11.2 million," points out Metzger. "This would be a 17 per cent increase over the 1975 acreage."

Despite the increased acreage, cotton prices should remain strong throughout the season due to increased demands by both foreign and domestic textile mills, believes the specialist. The "natural look" in fashion today is spurring this increased demand.

Although the position of King Cotton has been challenged in Texas in recent

FHA-HERO Activity Listed for Chapter

Wellington Future Homemakers will join the Texas Association of Future Homemakers of America to observe Texas FHA-HERO Week, April 4-10. There are over 75,000 members in 2,160 chapters who are saluting America's Bicentennial with their special activities related to FHA's involvement with our Nation's birthday.

Among Wellington girls, FHA-HERO week spells fun, and a different activity is planned for each day, according to Miss Nancy King, freshman home-making instructor.

Monday, April 4, members will observe Fifties Day, with each girls wearing something from that decade.

Mr. Irristible will be chosen Tuesday. Wednesday will be the traditional Sadie Hawkins Day.

Bicentennial Day comes Thursday, and on Friday, there will be an auction of the prettiest pair of legs!

The next major local event scheduled by the Wellington chapter will be a trip to the state FHA convention April 29 and 30, and May 1.

For over thirty years, the organization, through its FHA and HERO-FHA chapters, has provided worthwhile experiences which have helped young men and women prepare for the important responsibilities of their future as parents and adult citizens.

The results of their efforts are active involvement in home, civic and school projects, growth in individual leadership, team work experience and vocational orientation.

Future Homemakers of America President, Quitman, points out that several million young people have been challenged by the unlimited opportunities offered through membership in Future Homemakers of America since its establishment as the national organization for high school students in homemaking education and occupational programs. "FHA-HERO plays an effective role in the educational system," she stated, "by keeping us involved in activities that benefit us not only as individuals but as family and community members. In other words, FHA serves as a bridge between the classroom, the home and the community, and is the key for developing the potential of each individual member for a productive life in our society."

Future Homemakers of America is a nonprofit, self-supporting organization officially sponsored by the United States Office of Education, through the Division of Vocational and Technical Education and the American Home Economics Association. It encompasses two types of chapters: FHA chapters for students in homemaking education and HERO-FHA chapters for students enrolled in home economics related occupations courses. National headquarters are located in Washington, D.C.

The Texas Association is sponsored by the Texas

Education Agency, Austin, Texas. Mrs. Elizabeth F. Smith is the State Director of Homemaking Education and Mrs. Betty Romans is the State Advisor of the Texas Association.

High school homemaking teachers and members of the state homemaking education staff serve as advisors to the state, and national associations.

National Rural Health Week to Be April 4-10

"Improving the Quality of Rural Life Through Better Health" is the theme of National Rural Health Week, April 4-10, which is being sponsored in Texas by the American Medical Association and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Aim of National Rural Health Week is to focus attention of the medical profession and the public on rural America's health needs," points out Jack Jones, resource development specialist for the Extension Service. "Furthermore, the week aims to motivate rural citizens to become more health conscious and to improve rural-urban cooperation in health care issues."

The need for rural health care in Texas is "desperate" for many small Texas communities, notes Jones. The woes are several, from lack of proper equipment in hospitals to not even having a hospital or a doctor for many, many miles.

"Statistically, health care in Texas is in critical condition," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist. A 1970 study by the Office of Comprehensive Health Planning in Texas found the average physician-to-population ratio for rural areas of the state to be one doctor per 1,467 persons. The osteopath-population ratio for rural Texas was found to be one per 11,806. In June, 1973, 17 Texas counties with a total population of 29,004 were without physicians, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Jones cites other facts to illustrate the need for rural health care in Texas. In January, 1967, the federal government under the Medicare program classified 248 hospitals in small Texas towns as "7-C" facilities, indicating they were either understaffed or under-equipped. In June 1973, the number of "7-C" hospitals had been reduced to 63, largely because 101 hospitals closed when they could not meet federal standards.

Statistics also reveal the urgent need for improved emergency health care, says the specialist. A 1972 survey by the Texas State Health Resource's Civil Defense and Traffic Safety Division showed 29 Texas counties without emergency rooms and 13 counties without ambulance service. The survey also showed about 20 per cent, or more than 2.25 million Texans in 178 counties, have neither local, county or state public health programs.

During National Rural Health Week Jones urges Texans to familiarize themselves with the National Health Planning and Resources Development Act of 1974 (Public Law 93-641) and the 12 newly formed health service areas in Texas. These areas are designed to provide better delivery of health care for both rural and urban Texas. Citizen understanding and involvement in these regional health care planning organizations should result in improved delivery of medical services to the Texas citizenry.

Two Quail Classes Announce Reunions

In addition to the annual Quail Ex-Students reunion on Saturday before Easter, April 17, two individual class reunions were announced this week.

The 1961 graduating class will have a sandwich luncheon for all graduates and other former members of the class. This will be in the Greenbelt Electric Co-operative directors room in Wellington at noon.

Each person attending is asked to bring a sack lunch and also any pictures or other mementos of past school years.

The 1966 graduating class will have a get-together on Saturday afternoon from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. in the Heritage Room.

All graduates are asked to contact other members they may know of living in other areas. This includes anyone who at any time attended school with this class, according to Mrs. Zeldon Jenkins (Reta Ann Cummings).

Wellington's Freedom Singers from "I Love America" will perform for the general Quail Ex-Students banquet Saturday evening, April 17.

Those making up the group are Mrs. B.M. Sims, Randall Sims, Vikki Saunders, Benny Kilgo and Mrs. Billy Wilkerson. Zeldon Jenkins and Billy Wilkerson will control the sound and music.

Mrs. Sims also will give a short narration based on the bicentennial pioneer.

Quail alumni officers are Bill Lindsey, president; Earl Patterson, vice-president; Sue Harris Seale, treasurer; Reta Cummings Jenkins, reporter.

They point out that all former teachers, former board members and ex-students, as well as graduates

TETANUS

Tetanus, commonly called lockjaw, is a toxemia produced by Clostridium tetani which causes spasmodic contractions of the skeletal muscles. These bacteria normally exist in the intestinal tract of horses and are found in large numbers in horse manure. The organisms gain access to the body through contamination of wounds. Puncture wounds and wire cuts are especially favorable for this type of infection. The bacteria produce a local infection and grow for approximately 1-3 weeks until enough toxin is produced and carried to the nervous system to produce symptoms.

Clinical signs first noted are stiffness, inability to eat, and a stiff staggering gait. After 24 hours the signs become more severe showing strong muscle spasms, the tail and legs are rigid in an extended position, sweating, forced breathing, and a high temperature. These muscle spasms give the animal a "Saw-horse" like appearance. The eyes appear to have a film partially covering them which is actually the third eyelid in spasm.

A large portion of these horses die simply because adequate supportive treatment is not given. The treatment must include relaxation of the spasms, providing energy and nutrition via stomach tube or intravenously, as well as using large doses of antitoxin early. Infected horses recover slowly over a 3-6 week period.

Due to the severity of the disease, prevention can not be overly stressed. Tetanus antitoxin provides immediate protection as is needed for puncture wounds and wire cuts but it lasts for only 14 days. Tetanus toxoid can be administered for longer protection; however, it requires approximately 21 days to produce a good immunity then yearly boosters rather than antitoxin at times of injury.

Tetanus being a clostridial infection is a disease affecting the nervous tract and is produced by the toxin (poison) from the bacteria. Horses, cattle, and man are the major species infected.

Support Urged for Easter Seal Campaign

A further request for support of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its program of services to the handicapped was issued today by Jack Neeley of Wellington, who is the County Easter Seal Representative, for Collingsworth County.

The Easter Seal Society provided treatment and services for 10,768 physically handicapped children and adults in Texas last year, and this program needs to be expanded. Many people are going without services that would increase the productivity of their lives and make them happier. Increased public support of the Easter Seal Society will enable more and more of these people to be reached.

The Society is carrying out a continuing program to seek out the disabled who are doing without services and see that they receive the help they need. The Easter Seal Representative is the person to contact for services from the Easter Seal Society at Wellington State Bank.

The Easter Seal Society of Texas helps support treatment facilities in Texas where crippled children and adults who are not eligible for help from any other source are treated, regardless of their ability to pay. A complete referral program to ensure equal rehabilitation services to every person in Texas is a major Easter Seal Society service. Physical, occupational and speech therapy and orthopedic equipment purchases are also offered to help the handicapped overcome their disabilities.

The Easter Seal Appeal continues through Easter Sunday, April 18 and full support by every citizen was urged.

Lightning Sets Grass Fires on Mill Iron Sunday

Two grass fires were set by lightning on the Mill Iron Ranch Sunday, March 28, at about 6:30 p.m.

Fire Chief David Peters said the fires were on the east side of Salt Ford, several miles north of the two rural firefighting trucks and equipment wagon. They were joined by a number of Mill Iron employees, Mr. Peters said.

He estimated about 150 acres of grass was destroyed before the blaze could be brought under control.

Here's Your Chance

This Saturday, April 3, Collingsworth County voters will elect six members to important governing boards.

The men and women elected this weekend will join current members of the Collingsworth County Hospital Board, Wellington School Board, Quail School Board, Samnorwood School Board and Wellington City Council, and Collingsworth County School Board.

Now is the time for voters to voice their opinions and to ask questions of the candidates. A list of candidates appears on another page of this issue.

While it is not possible to consider every possible turn of events over the next two years, it is possible to obtain each candidate's general views on the projects that he or she feels are most important and on policies that should be continued or changed.

We are fortunate this year to have several candidates who are willing to put their names on a contested ballot and vie for a limited number of seats. There will be some winners and some losers Saturday. But over the next two years we will all be winners because matters of public policy will have been discussed and positions justified more thoroughly.

Be an informed voter Saturday.

Kotter Has a Message

One of the new really funny shows on TV networks this season is a Thursday night feature on ABC with the un-promising title of "Welcome Back, Kotter", which was a new entry in the entertainment sweepstakes last fall. It features a talented cast and some of the sprightliest dialogue being written anywhere in the media these days.

Kotter, if you haven't watched this one, is a first-year teacher returning to the inner-city high school where he had, himself, been a near dropout, and assigned to teach a class of problem-students. He plays the role with feeling which must have been born of experience, and with humor which is often inspired.

The show is funny...not slapstick funny, nor funny with the kind of ethnic humor that cuts and hurts, though it deals with the variety of ethnic types which might be expected in an inner-city situation...but it deals with good-humored realism that tickles the laugh-box and sometimes twitches the heartstrings. Its humor is often earthy but never dirty.

So it was a surprise when last Thursday night's segment was preceded by a warning from the network that "Due to mature subject matter parental discretion is advised." In other words, maybe this isn't going to be fit for family viewing. In the light of the kind of material that is being presented on the networks these days, in "prime time" and ostensibly judged fit for family viewing, this was a stern warning indeed.

So what was it that had network brass up-tight? Thursday night's episode dealt with the problem of a girl in the class, Rosalie "Hotsy" Totzie, who has a reputation for being "that kind" of girl. When she tearfully informs Kotter that she is pregnant and that one of the boys in the class is responsible, the teacher calls an extraordinary class session to lecture the young men on "responsibility" and confronts them with Rosalie. Although all of them have dated her, and afterward boasted of their prowess, each in turn denies publicly that he could possibly be responsible because, in spite of his boasting, "nothing happened". Whereupon Rosalie breaks out a brilliant smile and tells Kotter "Well I guess I'm not pregnant after all because nobody could have done it."

She has made her point...and it is a point which is not lost on the class and, we suspect, would not be lost anywhere on teen-agers who have witnessed the destruction of reputation which must take place regularly in every high school in the land where teen-age Lotharios are wont to boast, as teen-age Lotharios always have, of their romantic prowess.

In other words, we think the fearful network brass was wrong, and that this particular episode was, indeed, fit for family viewing and should have been viewed...and discussed...by families everywhere; especially families with teen-agers. It was beautifully and tastefully written and acted...and it had a "message" which needed hearing.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

AUSTIN—Pressure is on Gov. Dolph Briscoe to call a special legislative session in an effort to get relief from rising gas and electric bills.

Electric cooperatives and legislators publicly have urged emergency action.

Briscoe said he is keeping an open mind on the subject and would consider special session action if presented a program that might accomplish anything — and which could pass.

Most proposals advanced to date have centered on outlawing fuel adjustment allowances which permit gas companies to pass along costs of their supplies to customers regardless of long-term contracts.

Others have included repeal of the sales tax on gas and electricity and reforming the occupation tax on gas production.

House Speaker Bill Clayton called a two-day workshop session for April 1-2 on legislation to shift more of the gas production tax to out-of-state users.

Clayton estimated Texas consumers might save $25 million a year if the tax were shifted to a flat rate rather than percentage of price basis.

The Senate's consumer affairs sub-committee also set hearings April 12-13 on the entire range of natural gas problems including price, supply, taxation, the price pass-through and regulation.

Funds "Vanish"

Millions of dollars in Duval County funds have "simply vanished," Comptroller Bob Bullock said in a new audit report on the stormy South Texas county.

Bullock said Duval faces financial crisis, is "going broke" and cannot meet its August 1 payrolls at current spending levels.

Highlights of the report included an account of an "unknown depositor" who walked off with a quarter million dollars in public funds with no accounting.

Bullock also said Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District has collected $11 million in revenue and has only $1.6 million in improvements and fees to show for it. He said the county ignores millions of dollars in tax delinquencies and has "ex-cused" major taxpayers of hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxes.

Study Ordered

The State Welfare Department is seeking an outside opinion on how it can improve its $1 billion-a-year operations.

The Welfare Board April 15 will consider a proposal to hire a national management consultant firm to take on the job.

Top state officials recently told agency heads they should review their financial needs and find new ways to improve their productivity.

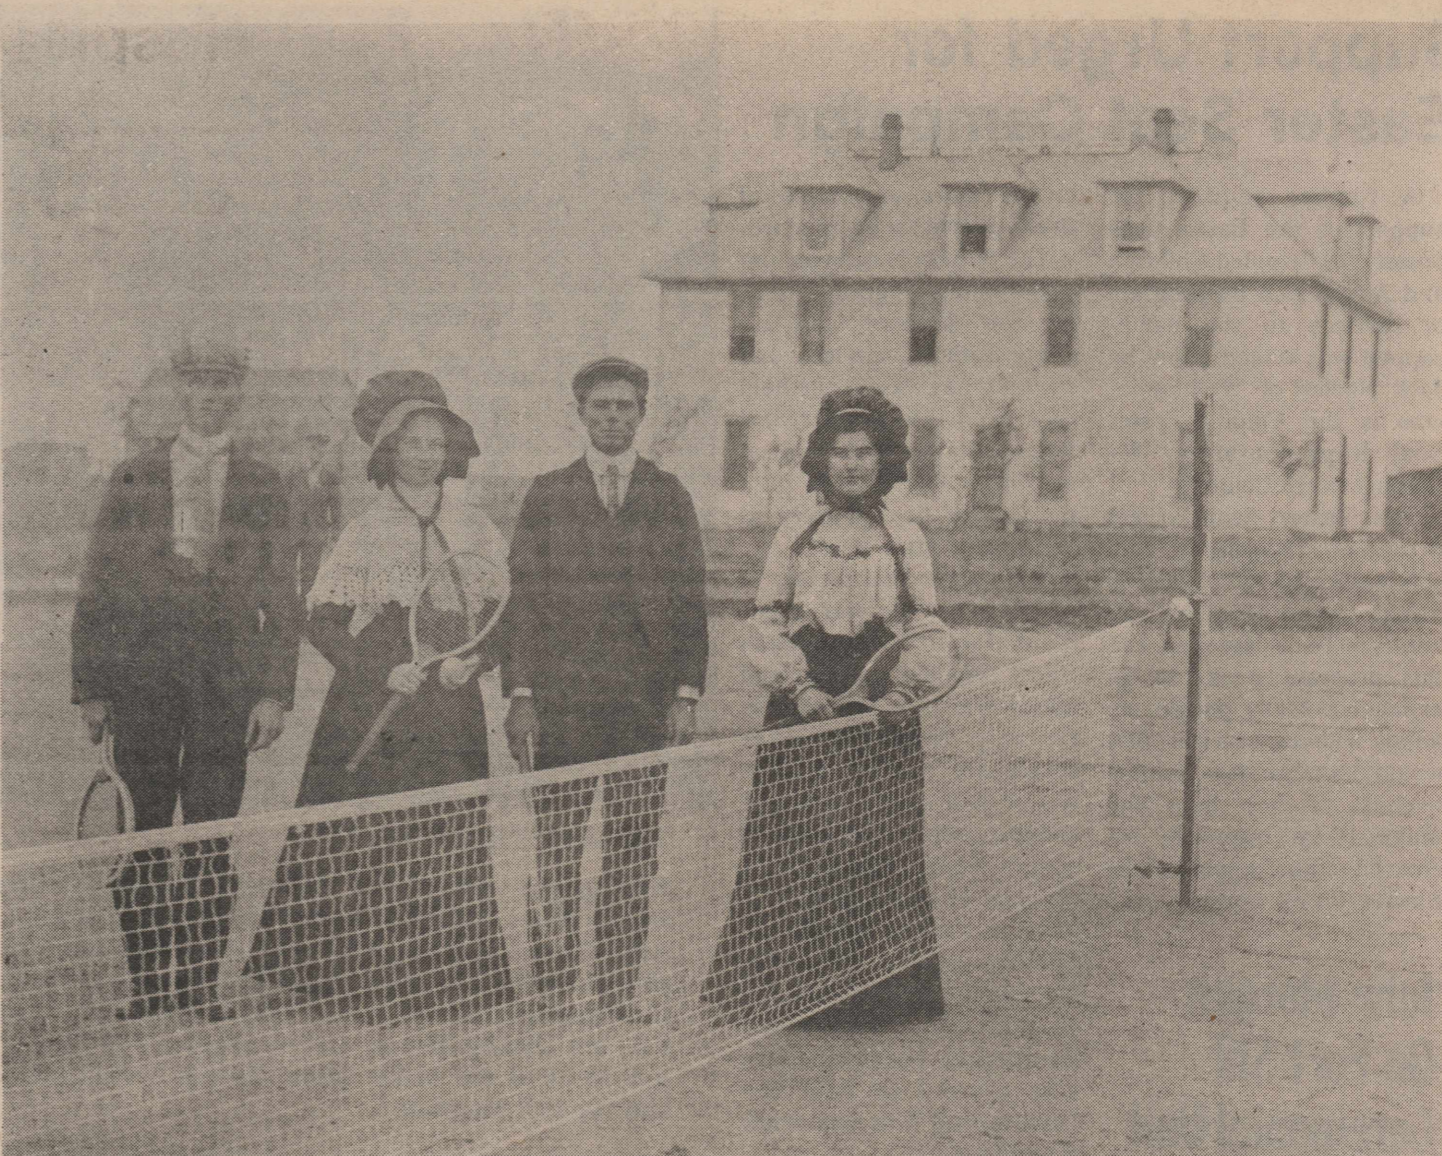

Completion of the evaluation would be expected early in 1977.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court declined to prohibit questioning of law officers about a tipster whose confidential information led to arrest of gambler Amarillo Slim Preston. The court further refused to order dismissal of three charges against Preston and another.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a life sentence of a Tarrant County man for aggravated robbery, due to improper reading of a parole law to the jury.

The Supreme Court took under review lower court rulings that rejected a $375,000 libel suit against Laredo Newspapers Inc.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill, in his 123rd opinion dealing with the open records law, said names and addresses of police officers are not necessarily confidential. He earlier held identity of undercover agents is excepted from the act.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

—Irrigation potential may be considered in determining tax value of land.

—A county may compensate retiring employees for a portion of sick leave accrued but not taken.

—A deposition taken in a Securities Board investigatory proceeding is confidential.

—Hutto Independent School District is limited to a $1.50 tax rate for both maintenance and bonds.

Appointments

Gov. Briscoe appointed 23rd District Judge Thurman M. Gupton of West Columbia to succeed retiring Court of Criminal Appeals Judge W.A. Morrison for the rest of the year.

Danny Burger has been named executive director of the Municipal Advisory Council of Texas, succeeding W.E. Tinsley.

Briscoe reappointed Dr. Warren Travis White of Dallas to the state board of trustees, Teacher Retirement System of Texas.

He appointed Gerry Gammage of Austin to the State Commission for the Deaf.

Short Snorts

Public Utility Commission members urged selection of Texas as site for a proposed federal solar energy research institute.

Comptroller Bob Bullock notified 9,700 businesses their corporate charters are forfeited for failure to pay franchise taxes.

The Texas Guard is still looking for former guardsmen who have not claimed back pay for three months service in 1972.

State prison officials report a critical growth in inmate population.

June 19 is the date of a special congressional election in District 1 to fill the vacancy created by death of Wright Patman.

Texas Water Rights Commission reversed an earlier decision and set aside a water contract for South Texas Nuclear Project, then set hearings April 12 to re-examine the entire nuclear power controversy.

There are fewer registered voters in Texas (not yet 5 million) than there were in 1972.

You can BANK on it!

By BILLY MOSELEY
Executive Vice President
CITY STATE BANK

One of the unique aspects of the American banking system is its dual nature.

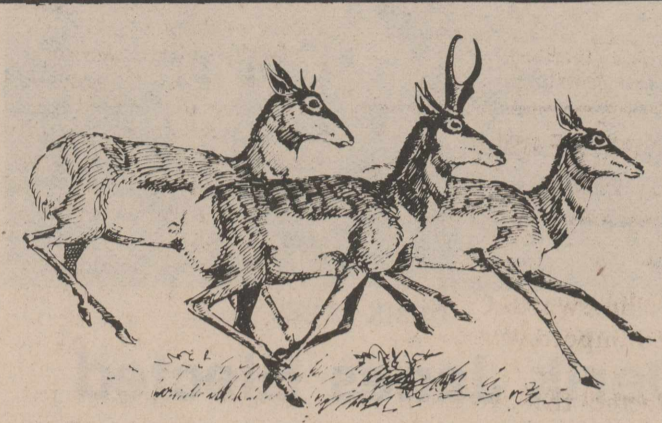

Some banks are chartered by the federal government, and most often are referred to as "national" banks, while others receive their charters from state authorities.

While banks' charters can come from different sources, services they may offer their customers are virtually the same, and both are under the same types of regulation.

The dual system came into being largely because in the early days of the Republic there was a considerable opposition to any sort of universal "national" banking system. The closest thing the United States has to a true "national" bank is the Federal Reserve System, which literally acts as a banker for the whole banking system.

As a result, states found they had to undertake the responsibility for chartering banks, and it was not uncommon until the 20th century for state banks to issue their own currency.

Draft Boards Will Terminate On May Eighth

AUSTIN--Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, State Director of Selective Service announced that all Selective Service Local Draft Boards in Texas will be terminated on May 8, 1976. Similar actions will occur in all states on that date as Selective Service continues to reduce its operational capability. On February 28th all draft board offices were closed.

Texas has 525 members assigned to the 96 draft boards of the state. These board members who have served in an uncompensated capacity were responsible for classifying Selective Service Registrants. Since all registrant processing has been halted there remains no active mission for the draft boards.

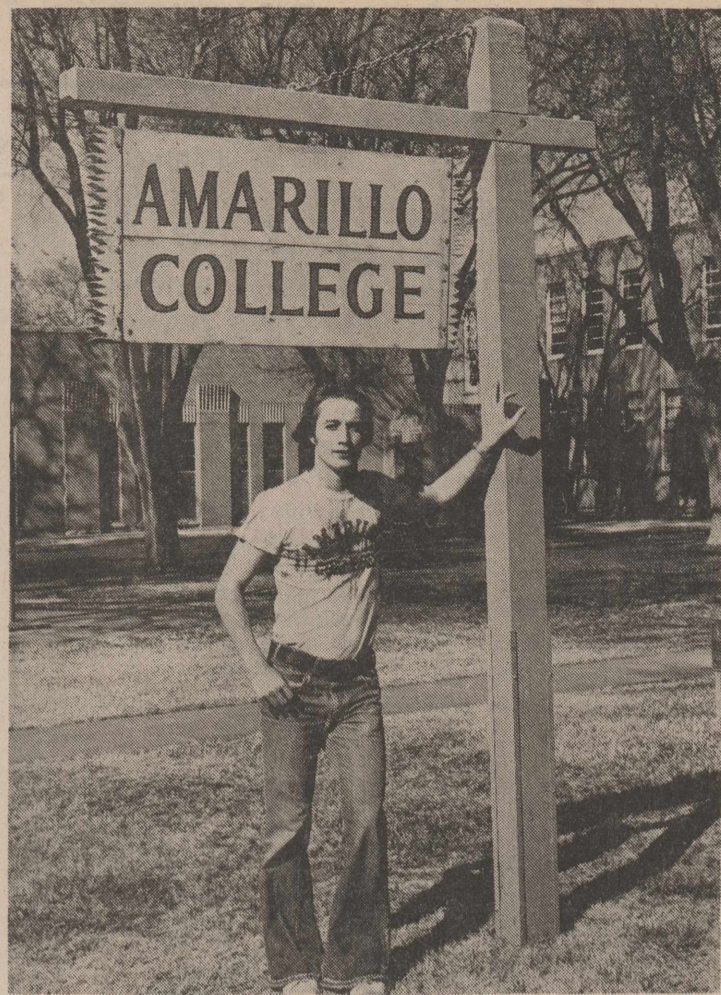

Only a small stand-by draft organization will remain to maintain emergency plans and train a small pool of reserve and national guard officers in procedures for restoring the Selective Service System in the event of a National emergency.

Members of Local Board No. 20 serving Childress, Collingsworth, Hall, Briscoe and Cottle Counties are Harley W. Hatch of Wellington, Jerry S. Dugan of Childress, George V. Deaton of Paducah and Henry W. House of Turkey.

DERIK JANES

Derik Janes Elected To AC Blue Blazers

Derik Janes has been elected to membership in the Blue Blazers, the official hosts and hostesses of Amarillo College.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Janes and a graduate of Wellington High School.

The 8 new members were selected from a list of more than 40 compiled by faculty and present members. They were screened in a series of meetings with present Blazers.

"The Blue Blazers are a self-perpetuating group and as members graduate or leave AC, freshmen must be selected to fill the vacancies," said Ann Graves, director of Student Development and sponsor of the group.

The Blue Blazers greet guests of the college president, serve as hosts at all receptions, concerts, basketball games and other athletic events. Membership is restricted to 13 and selections are determined by personality, grades and character.

Timmy Janes, brother of Derik, is a sophomore in Amarillo College majoring in chemical engineering.

Mrs. Keith Smith was in Lubbock Wednesday to visit her sister, Mr. and Mrs. David Armstrong, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Spear and Tonya. Mrs. W.W. McClaskey, her mother, who has been visiting in Lubbock for six months returned home with her.
