Q. Aren't police officers trained to disarm a man with a knife?

A. Not specifically. Officers do take training in hand to hand fighting in order to subdue a resisting, but unharmed person. They are not expected to risk their own lives when attacked and are taught when and how to use force to protect themselves or others from danger.

WATER LINE BREAK—The City's new backhoe/loader got a good workout last Tuesday when the water department crew had to dig through six inches of asphalt and eight inches of concrete to repair a split in an eight inch main water line at the busy intersection of Hickory and Second streets.

Mitchell Vets
get $663,927
VA benefits

Mitchell County veterans received and estimated $728,192 from the Veterans Administration during fiscal year 1987, according to Waco VA Regional Office Director Stephen L. Lemons.

Of this amount, $663,927 was received for compensation and pensions, $20,942 for readjustment and vocational rehabilitation, and $43,434 for insurance and indemnities.

"The $1,909,390,261 that the VA expended throughout the state during the year went directly into the local economy of the communities," Lemons said.

Last year, Mitchell County received $792,053 from the Veterans Administration.

City Police
make 5 arrests
here past week

Two women and three men were placed under arrest the past week by Colorado City Police.

Last Friday one woman was arrested at SH208 and I20 when found in possession of a controlled substance and marijuana. She was also charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Sunday another woman was arrested and charged with carrying a weapon on a licensed premises. Also Sunday a man was arrested at the VFW club and charged with assault, disorderly conduct and public intoxication. Another incident of PI was reported Sunday with one man arrested; and a man was arrested for DWI near Ed's Place.

Also during the week there was a report of a missing person, that was cleared quickly; a family violence incident, a disturbance, a theft and two reports of criminal trespassing.

Surrounding

Three counties surrounding Mitchell County—Coke, Howard and Nolan were declared as emergency drought areas last week by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

They were among 38 Texas counties to receive the designation, as of June 9, which means farmers will be allowed to hay and graze livestock on set-aside acres.

An application for the emergency drought designation has been made by Mitchell County.

Gomez suit against City
destined for federal court

The contemplated suit by the Gomez family against the City of Colorado City, police department and officers, has not yet been filed, but it is probably destined for Federal Court hearing, Attorney Hugo A. Rodriguez told The Record in a telephone interview Tuesday.

Rodriguez is associated with the law firm of Behles & Davis of Albuquerque, N.Y., who served the notice to the City of the pending suit claiming wrongful death of Sammy Gomez.

Rodriguez said "the notice served on the City, et al, is the first step in beginning such legal action." He indicated that the Gomez family has up to six months from the May 13 shooting incident to file a suit. If and when it is filed, it will be in Federal Court in Abilene.

The notice claims that on May 13, Officers Billy Ray Williamson and Pat Taylor of the City Police Department illegally and improperly entered a residence on First Street and attempted to illegally arrest Sammy Gomez. Use of unreasonable force is charged when Gomez was shot three times, twice in the chest and once in the head, resulting in his death.

Rodriguez said "we will first examine the customs, practices, procedures and policies of the police department; the method of selection of officers; and the proper issuance of warrant for arrest." If violations of constitutional rights are found, then "we will determine a reasonable monetary loss to the surviving family and the punitive damages." No specific figure has been indicated at this time.

Asked how he had been selected to represent the Gomez family, from far away Albuquerque, Rodriguez said he did not know how the Gomez family got in touch with his firm, but "I am well-known in the field of police liability cases."

City Manager Brenda Hammond said City Attorney T. L. Rees has not yet responded to the letter received from Rodriguez, but probably will in the near future.

'Pedacyclists' in mishaps

Two "pedacyclist" were involved in traffic accidents investigated by Colorado City Police the past week.

Last Friday, June 10, about 11:55 a.m. 15-year-old Mark Green was standing on the curb in the 1100 block of Cedar holding his bicycle. A unknown person driving a pickup truck crossed the street, hit the bike and knocked young Green down. The driver was reported to have stopped about a block away, looked back, then left. Green was not seriously hurt.

At 1:30 p.m. the same day, 9-year-old Evelyn Franco, apparently failed to stop at a stop sign at Mulberry and Principal Streets, and collided with a 1979 Olds sedan driven by Willie Lee Hall. The bicyclist was taken to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Saturday, June 11 at 2:18 a.m. a 1983 Chevrolet 2-door driven by Audrey Lee Weatherby of Colorado City was northbound on North 208. While attempting to make right turn at I20, the driver apparently lost control and ran into a stop sign.

A minor "finder-bender" was reported Sunday about 7:10 p.m. in the parking lot of Trucktown Restaurant. A 1980 Chevrolet pickup driven by Dennis C.

Fowler, Jr. of Loraine backed out of a parking place and into a 1987 Ford sedan, owned by Frank Swindle of Sweetwater, which was parked behind him. Damage was light.

26th fly-in
here July 4

The 26th annual fly-in breakfast will again be one of the featured events of the 1988 July Fourth-Fest in Colorado City.

Invitations have been extended to pilots throughout this area to fly their aircraft into Colorado City's Municipal Airport, the northwest Jetstrip, where they and their passengers will be treated to a free breakfast beginning at 7 a.m.

Several interesting events are on tap, not only for the visiting pilots, but for the general public as well. There will be a number of interesting and unusual airplanes on display, a parachute jump demonstration is being planned, as well as airplane rides in the offering. The public can also enjoy the breakfast, which will be prepared and served on site, for $3.00 each.

Once again, handsome trophies will be presented to the pilot coming the longest distance, the oldest and youngest pilots, the most unusual airplane and for the oldest airplane.

The fly-in has become a tradition for many area pilots who have come year after year to enjoy the festivities.

The fly-in breakfast, one of the few still conducted in the area, began in 1961 when Colorado City's new 500 by 4,000-foot dirt landing strip, 1½ mile northeast, was first dedicated.

The fly-in has continued every year, for a while on various dates in the spring, then settled on the July Fourth date for the last several years. Over the years, many improvements were made to the airport, built jointly by the City and the County, but it was finally closed about two years ago.

Colorado City's Municipal Airport is now the modern Jet strip, formerly the auxiliary landing strip of Webb AFB, Big Spring, located about 5 miles northwest of the city.

The airport is a valuable asset to the community and local residents are urged to take the occasion to go out and see the facilities, watch the aircraft come and go, visit with the fly-in pilots, and enjoy the planned events. There is no admission charge.

Anyone wanting to help with the fly-in may contact J. O. Dockrey, chairman. A planning meeting will be held Tuesday, June 21, at 7 p.m. in the Lone Wolf Electric Building. Addition help will be needed this year since the breakfast will be cooked on site.

Appraisal
public hearing

Mitchell County Appraisal Board will hold its public meeting Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, June 22-24, to hear any protests to property valuations that have been established within Mitchell County this year.

On Wednesday, June 22, the board will consider petitions and protests on the minerals and utilities values.

Hearings on property and real estate values will be held Thursday and Friday.

Valuations to be considered are those set for the various taxing entities including Mitchell County, Colorado ISD, city, hospital district, and the cities and school districts in Loraine and Westbrook.

The meetings will be held at the curriculum room in the administration building of Colorado Independent School District, 1132 Hickory, from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. each day.

Serving on the board are Lee Woods of Colorado City, chairman; R.D. McDaniel, Loraine; and Gwan Strange, Westbrook.

School board
sets meeting

The board of trustees of the Colorado Independent School District will meet in special session Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the curriculum center board room, 534 East 11th Street.

Items on the agenda include:

- agreement proposal with Rodriguez and Associates;
- open bids for high school roof;
- resignations, and;
- appointments.

The board also will meet in executive session to consider personnel.

For The Record ...

by M. Gene Dow, GM

FROM THE SCRIPTURES—"Honor your father and your mother, that you may live long in the land which the Lord your God is giving you." Exodus 20:12

Today, many fathers are waking up to special breakfasts prepared by little hands and gearing up for a day of fishing, golfing or picnicing with the family on their special day. Father's Day was only recently recognized as a national holiday.

However, the first Father's Day was celebrated June 19, 1910 with Sonora Louise Smart Dodd given credit for the idea. Over the years, there were many attempts to designate Father's Day a national holiday, but there were fears it would become too commercialized. Father's day did not become approved for national observance until 1972. Public Law 92-278 designates the third Sunday in June as Father's Day.

THE LONE WOLF SAYS, "It's surprising how much my father learned while I was away at college."

FATHER

4 Years: My Daddy can do anything.
7 Years: My Dad knows a lot, a whole lot.
8 Years: My father doesn't know quite everything.
12 Years: Oh, well naturally Father doesn't know that either.
14 Years: Father? Hopelessly old-fashioned.
21 Years: Oh, that man is out of date; what did you expect?
25 Years: He knows a little bit about it, but not much.
30 Years: Must find out what Dad thinks about it.
35 Years: A little patience; let's get Dad's meaning first.
50 Years: What would Dad have thought about that?
60 Years: My Dad knew literally everything.
65 Years: I wish I could talk it over with Dad once more.

DID YOU KNOW? The Lions Club had a lot to do with the early promotion of Father's Day. The Uptown Chicago Club organized a father's day celebration in 1920, and celebrated the event annually on the third Sunday in June, and continually worked to make it a national holiday.

History, purpose of rehab center told to Rotary Club

James Hallmark, media consultant for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene, told the Colorado City Rotary Club Wednesday that what began as a dream in 1953 has become a dream come true for the center's founder, Shelley Smith.

Hallmark, a former television personality, was featured speaker at Wednesday's noon luncheon meeting.

Hallmark said that in 1953, Smith realized the need for a facility in the West Texas to care for the physically handicapped and not charge for the services.

Smith, with the help of interested individuals, built a rehabilitation center in Abilene which started with 17 patients and a staff of three.

The center has now expanded to a campus at San Angelo as well and is expected to serve some 12,000 handicapped men, women and children from all over the Southwest in 1988.

Hallmark said the center has continued to grow from 4-6 percent a year and that the center depends upon contributions to stay open. Hallmark produces the telethon each year which also helps raised needed funds for the center.

Local youth to spend five weeks in Germany via Rotary program

An 18-year-old Colorado City youth leaves Wednesday for Germany where will live for five weeks with a German family as part of the Rotary Club Youth Exchange Program.

Don Douglas Hurt, son of Jack and Donna Starr, said he will be staying with the Schnier family in Paderborn, a city of about 120,000 persons located in the northwest part of Germany.

Starr is a charter member of the Colorado City Rotary Club. The father of the German family with whom Hurt will be staying also is a Rotarian.

The German family has an 18-year-old son, Jochen, who will return with Hurt and stay with the Starr family for about four weeks. Hurt has talked on the telephone twice with Jochen.

Hurt said the family, which also includes a 19-year-old daughter, is athletic-oriented and belongs to several athletic clubs. The family also likes to snow ski in Austria.

Hurt, a recent graduate of Colorado High School, said he is looking forward to the visit and becoming a part of a German family for five weeks.

"People are people wherever you go," he said. "I just want to go out and help improve relations."

Hurt's only expenses for the five-week stay will be his airfare to and from Germany and whatever spending money he will need.

Hurt explains that Rotary is an international club and that one of its main emphasis is on youth.

"Helping young people see the world as less impersonal and more welcoming is one of the most important ways in which Rotary serves youth worldwide," said Larry Cook, president of the Colorado City Rotary Club.

Cook added that the Youth Exchange Program is a recognized activity of Rotary International for students of secondary school age to engage in study or travel abroad for one academic year or less for the purpose of advancing international understanding and good will.

Hurt will be a freshman this fall at McLennan College in Waco where he has a partial scholarship to study theater technology.

Most people who know me can easily tell that eating is one of my favorite pastimes and eating out ranks just under that.

There's nothing I like better than to go out and leisurely eat a meal. No mess to clean up, no table to clear and no dishes to wash really has it appeal - especially for someone who was a bachelor for as many years as I was.

However, I was surprised to learn that I'm not alone when it comes to eating out.

According to the Texas Restaurant Association, despite tough economic times in recent years, consumers continue to eat out more frequently than in the past. In fact, an average Texas resident will spend an average of $667 yearly eating out.

Just how frequently?

It seems that 33 percent of Texans eat breakfast out at least once a week; 63 percent eat lunch out; and 58 percent eat dinner out. According to statistics, we Texans spend 41.5 percent of our total food dollar dining in Texas restaurants.

To me, hamburgers have been a way of life for years, ever since I got hooked on them at the old Lazy Day Drive-In on Hickory Street. The once-popular gathering place for teenagers had the some of the tastiest hamburgers that could be found, thanks to the Feaster family who owned the place and who had to put up with a bunch a rowdy teens for six nights a week.

Hamburgers are still the favorite food for Texans who gobble up $119.28 worth of them a year, 38.3 percent of their dining-out dollar.

Mexican food is the second most popular food in Texas, accounting for nearly 10 cents of every dollar spent dining out. The third most popular food is pizza, with each Texan spending 7 cents of every dollar followed by pizza, fried chicken, seafood, cafeterias, cafes and diners, breakfast and 24-hour restaurants and barbecue.

I'm surprised barbecue is at the bottom of the list. Some of the best barbecue in the world can be found in Texas, especially in this part of the state.

My dad was a barbecue lover. Every time he had the chance, he would take us out to eat barbecue. When we lived at Silver and came to Colorado City, we would usually eat at the old Roundtop Cafe on East Hill where the Buckalew family had a special knack for barbecue and all the fixins'.

Of course, after eating out at Fort Wood, I'd have to add buffalo burgers to my list of dining out dollars.

Letters to the editor

Help!

TO THE EDITOR:

I wish to relate a tale of apathy. Perhaps apathy is too strong a word, maybe benign indifference.

There is an old widow woman, who lives south of the city. She lives alone. Her only contact with the outside world is a telephone, and a VERY rutted road. Therein lies the tale. This road isn't fit for a mule team, much less a car! This road is so impassable, at times the gentleman, who cares for her, goes as far as he can by car, then must go the rest of the way afoot, often carrying her groceries.

He has appealed to the powers that be, but was brushed off by the ol' bureaucratic non-answer, "We'll see what we can do." I say

Omitted

Dear Editor:

Some names were omitted from the list of people who helped with Project Celebration. We certainly want to recognize these individuals and thank them for their support:

Vince Ariaz, Blaine Lemons, Robert Lemons, Jan and Bobby Lemons, Shirley Delaney and David Stubblefield.

Signed,

Project Celebration Committee

the time for inaction is over. Let the powers that be either make the road, her life-line, passable for cars and emergency vehicles, or place her in a home where she'll be cared for.

I respectfully ask that you do not print my name or address, for there will be those who will accuse me of wanting to gain glory by slinging muck at a local government already under fire. That is NOT by intent. I simply wish to help one old widow woman.

Yours truly,

My friend Joe Clendon stopped by the other evening.

He's only four, so sometimes he forgets we're friends and threatens to have his dog bite me. But we're friends, nonetheless.

Trust me.

"I've got a mud ball in my hand," he said as he walked down the middle of the street toward my house. It's OK for four-year olds to walk down the street in Buffalo Gap - at least it's OK on Tonkawa Trail where Joe and I live.

The road is there mainly for dogs, rabbits, cats, and of course an occasional road runner. As long as no two of them use it at the same time, the carnage is minimal.

But getting back to Joe and his mud ball. He's got his arm cocked and he's about to throw when I say, "No, you're not going to do that, Joe. You're not going to hit me with that mud ball."

"I am to," he said.

"No, I don't think you are," I said, trying to think of a good reason why he shouldn't.

"Why not?" he said.

"Well, because you're a good boy, and nice boys don't throw mud balls at old people."

"Why not?"

"Because it makes 'em dirty."

Having only recently discovered the joys of mud, Joe looked puzzled. The stuff made your face feel good. It helped decorate your T-shirt and your shorts. Mud, it seemed to Joe, is almost as fun as finger-paint, and a whole lot cheaper.

So naturally he was disappointed I hadn't allowed him to plaster me with his mud ball. Instead, he reluctantly threw it into the shinnery, ordering his dog Rambo to go get it.

Rambo did as instructed this time, but it was obvious his mud ball chasing days are numbered.

The story on Rambo is this: Some scummy, low-life, no good, rotten animal abusing moron from out of town dropped the brown, black and orange pooch off in Buffalo Gap a couple of months ago. He had obviously rationalized that Rambo would fit in better here than in some fancy segregated neighborhood in a big city where the pedigrees would make him feel inferior.

Rambo had first approached Clark Brannon's house on the day of the dog dumping. But Clark had dirty-looking him to my house. I, in turn, had dirty-looking him to the next house, and so on and so on.

When he got to Joe's house, the only thing dirty was Joe's smiling face. After a few minutes, Rambo's face was just as dirty, and, well, what can I say, it was a match made in heaven.

Fortunately Rambo isn't the smartest dog that ever lived. If he was, he wouldn't go running into the shinnery where rattlesnakes might give him a sore nose, just so he could fetch a mud ball for little Joe.

The reason I say fortunately is because if Rambo had a photographic memory, he might have remembered me dirty-looking him off the property. And if he'd done that, he might have obeyed little Joe's command to bite me.

"No, no," I told Joe, once again.

"C'mon, bite him, bite him, bite him," said Joe, bending over and shouting into Rambo's ear, just in case the dog was hard of hearing.

When that didn't work, Joe gave Rambo a hint by prying his mouth open. But even then all Rambo would do is lick Joe's face.

Naturally I breathed easier, and within a couple of minutes Rambo had pushed up beside me, hoping to get a neck rub, which of course he did. Now that he's got a home, I figure it's no longer necessary for us to maintain a hostile relationship.

By this time Joe was sitting down in the street with a stick so he could poke the gravel out from between his toes. "Nice house," he said, trying to butter me up.

"I don't have any ice cream," I told him.

"Nice garage," he said.

"Thanks Joe, I've always been kind of proud of that garage. It looks a lot like everybody else's garage, doesn't it?"

Mox Nix, the family step-cat, was looking out the storm door while this was going on. As usual, she was not amused by the conversation. She also indicated she'd like to come outside. When the door opened, though, she refused, indicating the kid had to go away first. She wasn't wild about Rambo being in her yard, either, but she didn't appear overly concerned about him.

"Joe," I said, "You're mom's going to be looking for you. The way I figure it, if you take off running right now, you'll just be able to get there by sundown."

"Come on Rambo, let's go," he said in a burst of excitement. A moment later all you could see was Joe's bare feet and Rambo's orange tail.

Mox Nix soon made an appearance on the front porch, stretching her front legs first, then the back ones, before turning over on her back and letting all four paws extend into the air as she slept.

It doesn't happen often, but every once in a while I get a strange feeling - a feeling that somewhere along the way, we have moved outside the mainstream of American society.

Manage lawn to cut water bill

When the weather turns dry, don't just turn on your lawn sprinkler and then gripe about your high water bill.

By watering, fertilizing and mowing your lawn properly, you can reduce your water bill as much as 40 percent, said Mike Mauldin, Mitchell County extension agent.

"Conservation by the homeowner provides the only solution to high water bills and excessive water demands during the hot and usually dry Texas summers," said Mauldin.

In small cities where industrial demand for water is low, lawn watering may account for as much as half of all the water used during summer months. Even in larger cities, lawns get 30 to 40 percent of all water supplied by municipalities.

"Most Texas lawns use about 2 inches of water per week during the summer, and most of this usually comes from irrigation," said Mauldin. "However, as little as 1 inch of water per week can keep lawns alive and green."

Exactly what can a homeowner do to reduce the summer water bill? "First, water your lawn only when grass starts to show signs of drought stress," said Mauldin. "Look for discoloration and wilting. If leaves roll up in the late afternoon and footprints remain after walking across the lawn, then water within 24 hours."

"Once you've decided that your lawn needs watering, do it right," he said. "Most homeowners don't water their lawns properly. They either water too often, causing grass to develop shallow roots and making it a prime target for insects, diseases and temperature extremes, or they water too infrequently and apply too much water at one time, resulting in a lot of runoff."

When watering, soak the soil to a depth of 4 to 6 inches," Mauldin said. In heavy clay soils, watering for 15- to 20-minute periods may be necessary to prevent excessive runoff.

"Cutting back on lawn fertilization can also reduce watering," said Mauldin. Applying fertilizer in the spring and fall will generally keep your lawn healthy. Fertilizing during the summer, especially with nitrogen fertilizer, will green up your lawn, but it will also increase grass growth and water use.

"Mowing less often and cutting your grass at taller heights also will keep your lawn in better shape during hot, dry weather," said Mauldin. "St. Augustine grass lawns do well when mowed at a 3-inch height, and bermudagrass lawns can be cut at a 2-inch height."

Obituaries

Ina Mae Trigg

BRECKENRIDGE - Ina Mae Trigg, 80, died Thursday, June 16, at an Abilene hospital.

Funeral services were at 11 a.m. Saturday at the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Marc Childress and Dr. Kent Marrs officiating. Burial was in Breckenridge Cemetery, directed by Melton Funeral Home.

Born in Fort Worth, she was a longtime resident of Breckenridge. A homemaker, she was a member of First United Methodist Church, Woman's Club and Woman's Forum.

Survivors include her husband, Dan Trigg of Breckenridge; two daughters, Margaret Sparks and Dorothy Hudson, both of Colorado City; a brother, Jack T. Cone of Dallas; six grandchildren, Mary Margaret Cox, Sally Neff, Jeane Bolin, all of Colorado City, Allen Sparks of Plano, Joe Hudson of Weatherford and Scott Hudson of South Lake.

Pallbearers were Robert Cox, Mickey Neff, Hobie Bolin, Allen Sparks, Joe Hudson and Scott Hudson.

ONION GROWER - Ross Hargrove of Colorado City shows some of the huge onions he grew in his backyard garden on 18th Street.

'Wedding' planned at center

You are invited to a special evening of fun at the Loraine Senior Center Tuesday night, June 21.

Starting at 6 p.m. will be a pot luck supper that has a reputation for being a "winner" everytime. Immediately following supper, a Beautiful Wedding Ceremony is planned for Tillie Sue Holman and Bubba Joe Mahon (T. L. Holman and Royce Mahon,) with the Most Reverend Will Taylor officiating.

The wedding party will include:

Mother of the bride, Bobby Hamrick; father of the bride, Buster Lewis; mother of the groom, Lewis Claxton; father of the groom, Homer Hart; flower girl, Bennie Black and ring bearer, Jack Ritchey.

Bridesmaids are Ralph Gage and Harris Hamilton. Luther Wright will sing the couple's favorite song with Corene Taylor accompanying at the piano.

A reception will follow that includes wedding cake and punch.

Vacation Bible School slated

Vacation Bible School, sponsored jointly by the First United Methodist, St. Luke United Methodist, All Saints Episcopal and First Presbyterian churches will be held June 27-July 1 at the First United Methodist Church, Third and Chestnut streets.

Theme is "Jesus, Our Friend and Teacher".

Open for children ages three years through the sixth grade, the school will be from 8:30 a.m.-noon on Monday and from 9 a.m.-noon Tuesday through Friday.

Pre-register, if possible, by calling the church office at 728-5296 or Debby Carlock, director, at 728-5559.

Transportation will be provided for those who need it.

Methodist women begin new study

On June 8, the United Methodist Women of Loraine began the study entitled "Toward Health and Wholeness." Mrs. Brenda Martin is conducting the study. It will take three sessions to cover the material.

Mrs. Lola Fay Bennett, official study leader brought a brief introduction of the book authored by Cathie Lions and Dannie Nita Barrow. Mrs. Bennett stated that three tracts must be kept open to maintain complete wholeness. Namely they are the spiritual tract, digestive and renal tracts. The spiritual tract gives nurture to the soul and daily guidance for living a Christian life. The other two tracts must function well in order that complete wholeness is to be enjoyed. The purpose of the study is to give Christians the Biblical/theological concepts of health and wholeness. Jesus is the model we hold in the total healing ministry.

All women of the church are invited to attend.

Those attending were Mmes. Lola Fay Bennett, Brenda Martin, Syble Walker, Eldie Bryant, Ruth Richburg, Mattie Neeley and Effie Wheeler.

Films to be shown at library

Films to be shown on Wednesday, June 22, at the Mitchell County Public Library, at 2 p.m. are:

Little House 8 min. Animated film of a little house in the country which gradually becomes surrounded by the big city.

Hans Christian Anderson's Ugly Duckling 12 min. Animated story of the ugly duckling who is mistreated and laughed at until he grows up to be a beautiful swan.

Nat the Great and the Sticky Case 13 min. Nate uses inductive reasoning, deductive logic and nonlinear thinking to solve the problem of a missing Stegosaurus stamp.

REV. JON FARRIS
...new Methodist pastor

Dorn, St. Luke churches get new pastor

The Rev. Jonathan (Jon) Farris will fill the pulpits of Dorn Chapel and St. Luke United Methodist Churches this Sunday.

Rev. Farris was assigned to the local churches last week at the Northwest Texas District Conference, and has moved to Colorado City of Amherst, where he was pastor of the First Church for a year and a half.

His hometown is Crosbyton. He is a graduate of Texas A&M and attended seminary school at Oral Roberts University at Tulsa, OK.

Rev. Farris is 29 years old, and has a twin brother. He is single.

Coloring contest to promote VBS

Christian Temple Church is sponsoring a coloring contest to help publicize its Vacation Bible School, scheduled July 11-15.

Contest categories are 1-3 years, 4-5 years, 1st and 2nd grades, 3rd and 4th grades and 5th and 6th grades.

Any child wanting to participate can pickup a picture to be colored at Cornerstone Bible Book Store and return it there before the deadline at 5 p.m. next Friday.

The pictures will be displayed at Cornerstone Bible Book Store. Prizes will be awarded for each age category on Saturday, July 2.

ALL-STATE BANDSMEN - Colorado High School bandmen Daneshu Lusk, left, and Catherine Blassingame and Amy Chitsey, right, brought home UIL state medals from the solo/ensemble contest held May 28-30 in Austin. Not pictured are Sunnye Biggs and Jody Webb. Chitsey and Biggs earned an excellent rating and medal for their individual twirling solos. Blassingame, Lusk and Webb received a first division rating on their ensemble. Webb also received a first division rating for his clarinet solo and a second division rating on his piano solo.

Looney homemakers meet June 8

The Looney Extension Homemakers Club met Wednesday, June 8, at 2:30 p.m. in the Lone Wolf Medallion Room.

The meeting was called to order by Juanita Coker, vice president. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the treasurer's report given.

Iva Prescott gave the council report. Prayer was led by Etta Lee Gibson. Recreation was a quiz given by Beatrice McGuire.

Plans were made by the club members to attend the recreation workshop June 16. Also, the Looney E.H. Club will have a covered dish luncheon July 14 at Lone Wolf Medallion Room at noon.

Several members plan to attend the state meeting in Abilene in September. Linnie Williams was elected as a delegate to attend.

Others attending were Lena Bullard, Pearl Wood and Lonnie Pruitt.

The next meeting will be Thursday, July 14, and will be the last one until September.

Auxiliary given update at meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 9178 met Thursday with Bonnie Story, president, presiding.

It was reported that ice cream was taken to the McDonald Veteran's Home.

A check has been sent to the VA hospital in Big Spring for the birthday fund and coffee day of their choice in the recreation room. Each patient who is in the hospital receives a gift on his birthday.

Some of the members are planning to attend the state convention in El Paso July 22-24.

Estella Rivera, newly elected president, will have charge of the July 14 meeting at 8 p.m. at the post home.

Mae Dunn to retire from FmHA

Mae Dunn, County Program Technician for the local sub-office of the Farmers Home Administration, will be retiring June 30, after nearly 25 years service.

A public reception in her honor will be held in the office lobby in the G-Kell Building from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. She first went to work for the federal agency, which is a branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture on August 12, 1963. During this time, she has worked under six different supervisors and two state directors. The current supervisor is Alton R. Pyburn and Dennis Cumbie is the assistant County Supervisor. As a sub-off for the Sweetwater FmHA, her supervisors are here about three days a week. The local office is located in the G-Kell Building on north Highway 208.

Thus, in her position she has been the main contact with borrowers seeking loans from the agency. Most of the loan types handled are farming operating loans, farm ownership loans, housing loans, soil and water improvement loans, repair loans, business and industrial loans and administering emergency loans.

When she took the position in 1963, she replaced the late Effie Copeland, who had served for more than 27 years. Her replacement has not yet been named, with the selection to come through the Civil Service.

Mrs. Dunn said "it has been a rewarding job with a feeling of being of service to people". Upon her retirement she said she just wanted to rest for a while, then she and her husband would do some traveling.

White Sox win on Colts error

An attempted pick-off throw turned into disaster for the Colts at A.W. Phillips Field Thursday night.

The V.F.W. Post 9178 White Sox, 4-1, scored two runs on the play for an 8-7 win that extended their Junior Teenage League lead to one and one-half games.

Gabriel Salazar and Avan Ceballos worked the mound for the White Sox while Doug Koch took the loss for the Colts.

The visiting Colts, 1-4, drew first blood with one run in the top of the first inning.

Second baseman James Turner led off for the Colts and took a base on balls then stole second and third base.

Colts right fielder and catcher Joey Arispe singled to score Turner for a 1-0 but the Colts didn't score again until the top of the fourth inning.

The White Sox answered with two runs in the bottom of the first. Ceballos, who also played third base in addition to pitching, led off with a double.

Jaime Rivera followed Ceballos and struck out but reached first base with a passed ball on strike three.

Hits by Salazar and Jesse Gonzalez scored Ceballos and Rivera for a 2-1 White Sox lead.

Sox right fielder Tracy Lentz led off the bottom of the second inning with a single and scored on a single by Salazar for a 3-1 Sox lead.

The Colts took a 4-3 lead with three runs in the top of the fourth. First baseman Danny Luera led off the inning with a single then stole second and third.

Pete Rivera Jr. got on with a walk and stole second base. Chris Majors singled on an error to score Luera and Rivera and scored himself on another error.

The White Sox used a score by Ceballos to tie the game at 4-4 in the bottom of the fourth.

Ceballos hit for single and took third on an error by the Colts left fielder. Ceballos advanced to third on a wild pitch and stole home to make it 4-4.

After holding the Colts scoreless in the top of the fifth the Sox went up 6-4 with two runs in the bottom of the inning. Johnny Martinez singled with two outs and nobody on then stole second base.

Second baseman George Ramsey singled to score Martinez and Mike Humphrey doubled to score Ramsey.

With the time limit closing in on the teams the Colts scored three in the top of the sixth for a 7-6 lead. Jeffrey Potter led off with a single, stole second and scored from second on a Sox error at third base.

Turner and Koch reached base on a walk and a single, respectively, and scored on Arispe's single to left.

Koch retired the first two Sox batters in the bottom of the inning and appeared to have the game in hand but then gave up a single to Salazar. Salazar stole second and third with Gonzalez at bat.

Gonzalez got on with a walk. Koch threw to first on an attempt to pick off Gonzalez. Gonzalez was caught off base but ran to second to elude the tag and Salazar scored in the process to tie the game at 7-7.

The throw to second to get Gonzalez ended up in the outfield and Gonzalez advanced all the way home to win the game.

A TRIBUTE

Every so often God places a unique individual on this earth to serve as a beacon. An example. One of God's own children, my father leaves footprints in history, in my personal experience, that are unexcelled. An unassuming man, my father cheated no one of either their dignity or their money, living his 70 year tenure on this earth. And in the final analysis that trait was the best measure of his own dignity as a human being. The passing of this gentle man creates a momentary fear in all of us who walked in his shadow as we reach out for the strength of the beacon he provided us by the example he set. When the history of mankind is finally published, the finest version and vision will reflect Howard Hardcastle.

Thank you, dear God, for the brief glimpse of yourself.

Garza attending police academy

ALPINE - Janie Priscilla Garza of Colorado City is one of 14 students attending the Sul Ross State University Police Academy in Alpine this summer as the first step toward certification as a trained police officer.

Garza, 1986 graduate of Colorado High School, is a junior criminal justice major at Western Texas College in Snyder.

Her future plans include continuing her education and working with a small police department. She is sponsored by the Sul Ross Criminal Justice Department.

The students attending the 10-week academy take both academic classes and field instruction, as well as a physical conditioning course, to enable them to pass the state licensing board test and prepare them to work as police officers.

Students will complete 441 hours of classroom instruction, including 225 hours of academic training, 190 hours of non-academic training and 26 hours of physical education.

Terry named to honor roll

BROWNWOOD - Patrick Joseph Terry, a 1982 graduate of Loraine High School, has been named to the honor roll for the spring semester at Howard Payne University.

Requirements for this honor include having a 3.50-3.64 grade point average. Only full-time students are eligible.

Terry, an HPU senior, is the son of Dr. Joe Terry of Loraine.

POUND PUPPY - Blackie, a six-month-old male part Lab, is available for adoption from the city pound located at the Mitchell County Veterinary Hospital, Highway 208 South. Blackie has had all his shots. For more information about him or other pets available for adoption, call 728-8055.
