Argentina Military Head Denies Rumors Of Public Executions After Rioting

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 9. (AP)—General Justo, newly appointed commander of the national military forces, tonight denied rumors current earlier in the evening that two alleged leaders of last night's disturbances had been publicly executed in the Plaza de Mayo.

Nothing officially was said about the execution, but it was rumored that Chief of Police Tellechea of San Martin, a suburb, had also faced the firing squad and that other adherents of the deposed President Irigoyen would be shot before long.

Martial Law

Strict martial law was put into effect, with soldiers in war equipment everywhere and particularly around government buildings, while foreign press correspondents were warned, under penalty of summary expulsion, not to send any messages out of the country without the approval of the government's censor.

It is understood that a number of Irigoyenistas are under arrest, including six deputies. Fifteen alleged enemies of the revolution were seized last night and condemned to be shot, but it is not known whether the sentence was carried out.

Irigoyen Held

Among those under arrest is the former president, Hipolito Irigoyen, who has been ill in the infantry barracks at La Plata since he was ousted Saturday. After he resigned the government informed him he was free, but he was arrested after the outbreak. His personal physician, Dr. Meade, also is held.

The newspaper, La Nacion, said tonight that the former president would be brought to Buenos Aires as soon as his health permitted. His condition today was reported weaker.

G. O. P. INVITES 'ALL' VOTERS

George Butte Heads Party On 'Fighting Chance'

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Sept. 9. (AP)—Openly bidding for the support of all voters, irrespective of previous party affiliations, the Republican state convention adopted a ramified platform, certified the nomination of state candidates and re-elected officials of the state executive committee before adjournment today.

The motif, "a fighting chance," ran throughout the deliberations and was re-echoed in the final address of R. B. Creager of Brownsville, whose direction of Republican affairs in Texas was unqualifiedly approved by the convention.

Dr. George C. Butte of Austin was pictured as a candidate for governor worthy of the support of all Texans—"a representative of the people, an honest public servant, a sincere prohibitionist and student of civil government."

Demo Split Seen

Mention of his chances for election by splitting the Democratic party, which was declared to be torn asunder by the primary campaign, brought repeated cheers from the delegates.

The platform, partially outlined at the morning session by Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth, temporary chairman, was enlarged to 19 planks in the final draft.

Several resolutions were adopted, including one "deprecating" the attack of Senator Smith W. Brookhart upon Creager's patronage record, a copy of which was sent to Senator Brookhart.

After adding a plank calling the attack on R. B. Creager, Texas national committeeman, by Smith W. Brookhart, Iowa senator, Malicious and unwarranted, the platform was adopted late today.

Lucey Chairman

Nomination of state candidates was certified and officials of the state committee were re-elected and the convention adjourned late today.

Capt. J. F. Lucey of Dallas, personal friend of President Hoover, was elected permanent chairman and in accepting the post, denounced the present state administration.

"The government of this state in the last two years," he said, "has been perhaps one of the greatest failures of state civil government in history."

He cited as an instance of "waste," the calling of five special sessions of the legislature, "without the passage of a single constructive measure."

Platform Voted

The platform reaffirmed the party's belief in a two-party system

Condemned Man Adjudged Sane

ANSON, Texas, Sept. 9. (AP)—Joyce Shepard, 28, alias Bill Smith, today was held sane by a jury in district court here, and Judge W. R. Chapman fixed Friday, Oct. 17, as the date for his execution for the killing of two Fisher county officers in October, 1927.

Shepard had half a dozen wild outbursts during the hearing. He was looking through a window, apparently gazing at space, when the jury verdict was read. But when deputies started to take him back to jail, he jumped backward, cried "huh, huh," and led his captors out of the courtroom almost running.

Little Hope Held For Ambassador's Mother

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 9. (INS)—Little hope was held by physicians today for the recovery of Mrs. Frank A. Gibson, 72, mother of Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium. Mrs. Gibson has been seriously ill at her home here following a cerebral hemorrhage a week ago.

FIRST GAME OF TITLE SERIES OPENS AT 3:30

Wiltse Expected to Receive Call to Stop Cats In Opener

FANS TO CROWD CITY

Wichita Pins Hopes On Champ Infield and Flock Of Sluggers

By FRED D. THOMPSON
The Record News Staff

Bringing to an end a siege of paper warfare the like of which probably has never been seen in the Texas league, Carl Williams' Spudders and Frank Snyder's Cats will open today a battle of flesh and blood for the baseball championship of the Lone Star state.

The beginning of actual hostilities between the two teams will either prove or disprove a mass of statistics that has been piled sky high of late by paper warriors the state over. Two teams of such equal balance have rarely met in a Texas league play-off, and the specular strength of one pitted against the strength of the other has been on the lips of baseball fans continually since it first appeared evident that the Meowsers of Cowtown were headed up the hill in the second half, while the Spudders were losing their grip after a sensational triumph in the first semester.

And now for a repetition of essential facts:

Two Games Here

The championship will be awarded the team winning three out of five games. The first two games will be played here today and Thursday. Friday will be an off-day. The remaining games will be played in Fort Worth beginning Saturday.

Today's game will start at 3:30 o'clock, promptly. The gates will open at noon. Stores of the city will not close either day, according to the Retail Merchants' association, but it is understood the majority of merchants have entered into an agreement whereby part of their hired help may get off to see Wednesday's game, and the remainder Thursday's game.

There will be plenty of tickets for everybody, though most of the choice seats have been sold. If you have not purchased a ticket they may be secured at any of the following places today: Renfro's Drug store No. 1, Eighth and Scott; the Hamilton building cigar stand; the Noble-Gray cigar stand in the First National bank building; the Holt Pharmacy in the Holt hotel building; the Miller Drug store, Ohio and Eighth; and the City National bank building cigar stand. Or, if you prefer, at the baseball park. Things are likely to be rushing there, however.

Secretary Guy Airey announced there were about 400 reserved seats available on the third base line. Several hundred others will be thrown open to the public if a demand is made.

Managers of the two teams Tuesday maintained their traditional silence on the subject of batteries, but it was a sure bet Carl Williams would give Hal Wiltse the nod, with Jack Crouch certain to be behind the plate. Dopesters from Fort Worth looked for Manager Snyder to pitch McCabe Wednesday and Stoner Thursday, saving Whitworth for Saturday's game in Fort Worth. The only way to find out definitely who will be who, however, is to be on hand when the batteries are announced a moment ere the carnage begins.

Fort Worth fans will begin flocking into the city early this after-

FORT WORTH, Sept. 9.—When the Cats left Fort Worth for Wichita Falls Tuesday night, Manager Frank Snyder announced he would use the same lineup as played regularly during the last few weeks of the season. The batting order, too will remain unchanged.

The skipper refused to say what pitcher he will use in the first game but clubhouse chatter has it that Dick McCabe will get the call. The Buffalo lawyer has won three games off the Spudders this season and has never lost a verdict to the team.

Frank Meyers is expected to catch.

PANAMA CABINET MEMBERS QUIT

PANAMA CITY, Sept. 9. (US)—The entire cabinet of President Florencio H. Arosemena resigned today, following heated discussions over the president's acceptance this morning of the resignations submitted by three cabinet ministers yesterday.

President Arosemena, who yesterday stated he would resign himself if that were the proper way to clear up a tangled governmental situation, occupied himself tonight, however, with plans for forming a new ministry.

The resignations of the three ministers submitted yesterday were outcomes of terrific debate in the chamber of deputies regarding alleged expenditures which produced a deficit of $160,000 in the national treasury, and the discontinuance of expensive diplomatic posts.

Co-Op Receives Record Delivery

DALLAS, Sept. 9. (UP)—Texas farmers set a new record for co-operative marketing of cotton by delivering 9,800 bales Monday to pools of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, and were within 800 bales of the world's record for one-day deliveries, now held by the Oklahoma Cotton Growers association, headquarters here announced tonight.

The largest previous delivery in this state was 6,271 bales in 1924 but the Oklahoma association has on several occasions passed the 10,000-bale mark, with a record of 10,686 bales received on Oct. 15 1928.

Monday's receipts brought total deliveries for the Texas association this season to 116,000 bales.

Five Die as Mexican Ship Crashes to Earth

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 9. (UP)—Five persons lost their lives in an airplane tragedy today, two of them women, when a government owned machine crashed near Merida, Yucatan.

Dr. Salvador Perez Cossio, his wife and daughter, were the three passengers killed in the wreck. The two pilots, Jorge Llerenas, and Adolfo Reyes, died of injuries suffered in the accident. The machine, forced down near Meridia, burst into flames and was destroyed, reports from Merida said.

Car Loadings Show Sharp Weekly Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (US)—A sharp upward turn in car loadings, barometer of industrial activity, was reported for the week ended Aug. 30 by the American Railway association today.

The total, 984,504 cars, was an increase of 43,955 over the preceding week, increases being reported in the loading of all commodities. Loadings were 177,596 cars below the high 1929 level, and 132,207 below those of 1928.

Entombed Man Saved From Lake

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9. (INS)—Buried alive under a city pumping station on Lake Pontchartrain for more than 24 hours, Capt. N. A. Danise, 60-year-old diver, was rescued early this afternoon.

Unconscious, but still alive, he was brought out of the water at 1:05 p. m. after a crew of 200 men had labored since noon yesterday to save him. Physicians said he would recover within a short time.

A large barge was sunk near the entombed man and by driving down sheet piling rescuers succeeded in forming a pen and pumped most of the water out, and brought the benumbed diver onto dry land.

Loses Rope

Danese went down Monday morning at 11 o'clock to complete repairs to a leaking dock where the canal runs into Lake Pontchartrain. He had made the mistake of hold-

COMPANY SUES PAYNE HEIRS

Cancellation of Insurance Policies Sought

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 9. (AP)—The first step of what gave promise of a heated court fight was taken today when attorneys for the Lincoln National Life Insurance company filed suit in the United States district court here to cancel two insurance policies, one on the life of A. D. Payne and the other on his wife, whom he killed June 27 with a dynamite explosion which demolished the Payne family automobile.

Timed Death

The policy on Payne's life was for $10,000, dated Aug. 28, 1929. He waited until the policy had been in effect a year and a day before ending his life with an explosion in his cell in the Potter county jail here, after midnight of Aug. 29. It was believed he hoped in this manner to avoid the suicide clause in his insurance policy.

Payne wrote in his diary, in the last entry, that he had waited long enough for his children to collect the $10,000 insurance. The insurance company was expected to argue that Payne contemplated suicide before the year had elapsed.

The policy on Mrs. Payne's life was for $5,000 and was issued several months ago. Payne was the beneficiary.

Children Named

The suits filed today were brought against the three orphaned children of Payne and Sid Payne, his brother, their guardian. The instruments filed named Sid Payne of Tulia, temporary administrator of the Payne estate, representing the children. He was appointed temporary guardian of the children a week ago. The hearing has been set for Sept. 15, to make his appointment permanent.

Sid Payne was expected to take steps immediately to attempt to collect both policies. It appeared that only one of the several policies involving Payne would be paid without protest. That one was issued by the Southwestern Life Insurance company 14 years ago, for $2,500.

Homer Callaway, attorney for Sid Payne, said the beneficiaries expected to collect the $10,000 policy of Payne's that was one year old, as well as the one issued in 1916, and on the three policies carried by Mrs. Payne, totaling $11,000. Two policies for $5,000 each issued to Mrs. Payne carried double indemnity clauses.

Annual Registration

A closer organization of the profession was urged by the state president, who was introduced by Dr. C. W. Stevenson of Wichita Falls, district president.

"All physicians should support the proposed amendment to the medical practice act which would require annual registration," he said. "This is the only way of segregating legal practitioners from those who are practicing illegally."

Other speakers and their subjects were as follows: Dr. O. T. Kimbrough of Wichita Falls, "Conditions of Urinary Tract Due to Adnexal Disease"; Dr. E. H. Bursey of Fort Worth, "Thrombopenic Purpura Hemorrhagica"; Dr. C. W. Castner of Wichita Falls, "Prevention of Mental Deficiency by Sexual Sterilization"; Dr. W. E. The guests were welcomed Tuesday morning by Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., and the invocation was de-

Veteran Senator Loses to Huey Long

Governor Runs Ahead of Senator; Couzens Leads Osborn And Blease Trails in South Carolina

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9. (AP)—On the face of approximately one-third of the total precincts in Louisiana, Gov. Huey P. Long apparently has won the Democratic nomination for the United States senate over the incumbent, Senator Joseph E. Ransdell.

Returns from 510 precincts out of a total of 1,423 gave Governor Long a majority of 3,631, the vote standing, Long 44,621; Ransdell, 40,990.

Governor Long was leading Senator Ransdell by 6,936 on 388 precincts out of a total of 1,178 in parishes outside of the city of New Orleans, the total being Long 28,760, Ransdell 21,824.

In the city of New Orleans Governor Long trailed Senator Ransdell by 3,305 on returns from 122 precincts out of a total of 245, the vote standing Long 15,861, Ransdell 19,166.

The third congressional district, considered one of the key districts in the election where each candidate fought hard for votes, gave Governor Long 8,050 and Senator Ransdell 3,292 on returns from 93 precincts out of a total of 142.

SHAW LEADS IN COLORADO VOTE

ELECTION ENDS BITTER CAMPAIGN

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9. (UP)—Several detachments of the Louisiana national guard "stood by" at the outskirts of New Orleans tonight as election officials here and over the state tabulated ballots which will determine the winner of the Democratic nomination for United States senator in today's primary election.

The campaign was one of the bitterest in Louisiana since reconstruction days, and indications were that the heaviest ballot in recent years had been polled. Election officials at Shreveport, Monroe, Lake Charles, Baton Rouge and other large cities in the state reported that in many precincts the vote almost totalled the number of persons registered.

New Orleans rested easier tonight. For two days the city had been under threat of martial law, after Governor Long, angered at opposition in the city, threatened to place troops over New Orleans "to see that I get a square deal."

Apparently he was satisfied with the manner in which the election was being conducted, for only one unit of the Washington artillery was moved from Jackson barracks, mobilization headquarters, to an unannounced destination.

The troops, however, were still being held in readiness tonight.

The political careers of Long and Ransdell were at stake in the primary today. Senator Ransdell, with 32 years of service in congress behind him waged a terrific battle with Long, 36 years old and serving the second year of his term as governor.

Long's political career dates back only a few years, when he was elected a railroad commissioner. He

CHILDRESS GIRL DIES ON TRAIN

Body of Opal Coley Taken From Locked Room

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Sept. 9.—The body of Miss Opal Coley, 20, of Childress was taken off a passenger train here early Tuesday evening after the train crew had forced open the door of a dressing room when the young woman failed to alight at the Childress station.

Miss Coley held a pass entitling her to ride to Childress. Porters reported that she did not leave the train and investigation led to the locked door behind which the body was found.

Dr. C. Z. Seidham, Memphis physician, declared after an examination that Miss Coley came to her death from natural causes. The young woman boarded the train at Wichita Falls Tuesday morning, train officials said.

The body will be forwarded to Childress for services. Miss Coley is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Coley; four brothers, Ray Coley of Little Rock, Curtis Coley of California, A. J. Coley Jr., and Tyrol Coley of Childress; one sister, Marian.

Chillicothe Man Shot to Death

Special to The Record News

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, Sept. 9.—Homer E. Wilson, 38, considered as one of the leading merchants of Chillicothe for the past four years, was found shot to death in his car near his farm about four miles west of here early Tuesday evening. A note addressed to his wife and giving financial troubles as the reason for the act was found beside the body.

B. M. Gentry, justice of the peace, returned a verdict of death from self-inflicted gunshot wounds. The 12 gauge shotgun with which Wilson's head was almost blown away was found, covered with blood, in the seat of the car.

Wilson's body was found slumped over in the front seat of the car. The back seat was splattered with blood, indicating to investigating officials that the muzzle of the gun had been fired point-blank into Wilson's face.

The letter found in the car gave instructions to Mrs. Wilson as to what she was to do with his insurance policies. Two young men employes of Wilson, a grocer, saw him Tuesday morning looking over his insurance papers.

TAX REPEAL PLANK OUSTED BY BIG VOTE

Nominee Formally Given Party Banner As Meet Closes

CONVENTION HALL, Galveston, Sept. 9. (AP)—An attempt to defeat one of the platform wishes of Ross S. Sterling, gubernatorial nominee, launched late tonight in the last hours of the state Democratic convention, lost overwhelmingly and the candidate avoided being placed in what his friends described as a dangerous position politically.

The only dissension in what will go down in history as one of Texas' most harmonious political gatherings came near the close, when the platform committee was hastily reassembled to strike from the declaration the proposal that a constitution amendment to eliminate the ad valorem tax be submitted to the people for ratification.

Love Protests

Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas and Paul Page Sr., of Bastrop fought for inclusion in the platform of the proposal and submitted a minority report after the committee voted overwhelmingly to keep it out.

Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston took the other side of the controversy and during the debate he and Mr. Page had a near run-in, as the Bastrop man got up and challenged the Galvestonian's argument, the two shaking their fingers at each other angrily.

STRONG DRY PLANK ADOPTED

CONVENTION HALL, GALVESTON, Texas, Sept. 9. (AP)—A demand for prohibition enforcement claimed to be the strongest ever offered to the party in Texas was written tonight into the platform to be submitted to the floor of the Democratic state convention.

At about the same time the committee on platform, sitting as a whole, approved a sub-committee's recommendation, inspired by the forces of Ross S. Sterling, the gubernatorial nominee, that a plank declare for construction and maintenance of state roads out of funds derived from traffic, or more specifically, the gasoline tax. Perhaps the last chance for any serious discord vanished with the adoption of that plank. It had been believed the only chance for trouble would be in a possible dispute over the state wide highway bond issue proposal which Mr. Sterling supported in his campaign, that is, many believed there might be a major disagreement if the candidate insisted on having the plan in the platform.

Repeal Opposed

The prohibition plank was double edged. It expressed "unalterable opposition" to any attempt to repeal or emasculate prohibition, and the last part requested the legislature to take whatever steps were deemed necessary to afford the governor facilities for absolute enforcement. The plank was submitted by Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas and was passed by a vote of about 16 to 10 (the exact figures could not be obtained because of the rapidity

U. S. Bluejackets Quell Food Riots In Storm-Stricken Santo Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republican, Sept. 9. (US)—Guarding against a recurrance of yesterday's food riots, a detachment of bluejackets from the U. S. S. Ghepko today took over the transportation of foods trucks from wharves to hurricane relief bases.

The appearance of the armed American sailors had a calming effect on the suffering populace of Santo Domingo, who formed meekly into bread lines at the ration stations today to receive the doles of food and water from Red Cross relief workers.

Other gunboats are due tonight to aid in restoring a semblance of order in the stricken city and to help administer relief measures.

The greatest relief felt so far was the turning on of a meager water supply, assauging the thirst of victims and allowing better cleansing facilities for physicians treating the injured. The injured and wounded are estimated at 15,000, about 3,000 of which must be treated for serious infections and diseases.

Second Negro Near Death as Mob Violence Flames Anew in Georgia

DARIEN, Ga., Sept. 9. (US)—Mob violence flared anew here today. Its second negro victim within the last 36 hours lay near death, his body punctured with bullets.

The negro, "Bubber" Bryant, was expected to die momentarily, physicians saying he could not live more than a few hours. He was found in a swamp near here.

He was the second victim of a posse of irate citizens out to avenge the death of Acting Police Chief Robert L. Freeman. The first, George Grant, was shot to death in his cell yesterday by the mob soon after his capture.

Freeman was killed in a gun battle with the negroes early yesterday morning. Seeing the negroes loitering about a bank, Freeman sought to question them. When he did they opened fire, killing him instantly.

Woodward Applauded

With most of the formalities disposed of and the permanent organization perfected, only the report of the committee on platform and resolutions was awaited before the nomination of Mr. Sterling by Cone Johnson of Tyler.

State Senator Walter C. Woodward, temporary chairman and keynoter, received a warm response to his plea for a re-united party and the tenor of his speech was picked up by United States Senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally and Gov. Dan Moody in appeals for the party to go forward in a united front, both nationally and in the state.

Murphy Townsend of Dallas was chosen permanent chairman of the convention and Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston permanent secretary.

All proceedings were with the unanimous consent of the delegates. There was no dissension from any source, the partisans of former Gov. James E. Ferguson, whose wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, was defeated in the run-off primary by Mr. Sterling remaining in the background if, in fact, any were here.

Ferguson Absent

Mr. Ferguson was absent for the first time he had missed a gathering of this nature in years.

The attendance was not large, less than half of the 6,000 seats in the City auditorium being occupied. Enthusiasm was not lacking, however, and the Sterling management of the campaign was in apple pie order.

Senators Sheppard and Connally and Governor Moody were cheered frequently as they appealed for a reunited front on the part of democracy and the governor, who will surrender the reins of government affairs in power, bore down hard on the roseate future for the state and party under the leadership of the Houstonian.

The convention recessed at 6:10 p. m., until 9 p. m., when it planned to consider the platform. An effort to have the convention adjourn over until tomorrow was defeated.

Hobby Chairman

William P. Hobby of Houston, associated with Mr. Sterling in the publication of the Houston Post-Dispatch and probably closer to the nominee than any man, was chosen chairman of the important platform committee. Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston was made vice-chairman and Ernest May of Fort Worth, former assistant attorney general, secretary.

Judge W. O. Huggins of Houston, editor of the Houston Chronicle, was named chairman of the new executive committee, succeeding D. W. Wilcox of Georgetown, who was the committee head for four years.

Committee Named

Members of the committee were named by districts as follows: District 1, J. I. Wheeler of Texarkana; 2, W. C. Hurst of Longview; 3, Frank B. Guinn, Rusk; 4, Will E. Orgain, Rusk; 5, D. F. Standley, Beaumont; 6, W. C. Campbell of Palestine; 7, Carl Estes, Tyler; 8, W. H. P. Anderson, Paris; 9, Cecil Murphy, Gainesville; 10, A. H. Eubanks, McKinney; 11, Carr P. Collins of Dallas; 12, H. CONVENTION HALL, Galveston, Texas, Sept. 9. (AP)—Ross S. Sterling of Houston, who only 20 years ago was a country merchant in Liberty county, tonight was acclaimed the Democratic nominee for governor of Texas.

Democrats of Texas in convention made him the party standard bearer as the last act of one of the most harmonious political sessions in the history of the state, and this in face of the fact there were 11 candidates for the nomination in the first primary.

Mr. Sterling won the nomination in the second primary over Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in one of the warmest campaigns the state has ever experienced.

Platform Unopposed

Mr. Sterling's ideas of government were incorporated in the convention platform, the candidate dictating the principles enunciated therein without opposition from any source.

Mr. Sterling was greeted with an ovation when he walked out on the stage and took his seat between Jesse Jones of Houston and Edgar Witt of Waco, nominee for lieutenant governor.

Governor Moody did not appear on the platform until he was invited to speak. He had sat with the delegates on the floor and heard his name cheered when Senator Woodward spoke of the achievements of his administration.

Moody Speaks

After Senator Connally had finished speaking there were cries from the floor of "Dan Moody; let's hear from Dan." Myron Blalock of Marshall presented the motion asking the governor to speak.

The governor said the convention was "the culmination of one of the most important political campaigns in the state.

"The people again registered their fidelity and their faith in the principles upon which free government must be supported if it is to survive," Governor Moody said.

Cone Johnson of Tyler, who has served on the highway commission with Mr. Sterling for the past four years, nominated the candidate. Mrs. Alex Adams of San Antonio and Mrs. Lee J. Rountree of Bryan, recently elected to the Texas house of representatives, seconded his nomination.

"All Texas" Governor

Mr. Sterling responded with a speech in which he recalled his Texas citizenship and mentioned his pioneering in the Lone Star state.

"I will be the governor for all Texas and all the people of Texas," he said.

"I heard a great deal about the things I did not do and about the things I did do. But I want to tell you I came out all right, although a bit weary. I am glad to be here as your nominee for governor.

Allred Nominated

"I hope you will not be disappointed in the big fat boy. I shall be grateful all my life for the big vote given me."

As he spoke Mrs. Sterling and their daughter, Miss Norma Sterling, sat on the platform surrounded by friends.

C. I. Francis of Wichita Falls was the next speaker. He "introduced" James Allred, nominated to the attorney generalship. Mr. Allred was not able to be here, but sent a message styling himself a "humble nominee of the greatest political party ever known."

Auditorium and Golf Course Pay City $14,978

Recreation facilities in Wichita Falls netted the city $14,978.34 during the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1929, and ending March 31, 1930, it was revealed Tuesday in the office of City Clerk W. E. McBroom.

This year's figure showed an increase of $767.63 over that of 1929, the total for the previous year being $14,210.72. The Weeks park golf course cleared $9,449 and rentals from the Memorial auditorium totaled $5,529.34 during 1930. In 1929 the golf course took in $8,548.17 and the auditorium $5,662.55.

Entombed Diver Saved From Lake

ing in his hand the rope that usually is tied around a diver's body. It snapped out of his hand, and he was barely able to move. Only the air line from his diver's helmet connected him with the surface. His associates in a boat were afraid to pull on the air line for fear of breaking it.

All through the day and night and until past noon today men worked a hand pump in the boat and kept a steady flow of oxygen moving down to the trapped diver. A hundred men tried to extricate him, but it remained for another tough old diver, Fritz John, 65, who has never failed to rescue a man from the water yet, to bring him up.

Pilings Sawed

Sheet piling was driven down until a pen was formed around the diver's watery prison, relieving pressure. John went down in his diver's suit and quickly learned Danese's predicament. He was pinned behind three pilings with one resting across his body.

With grappling hooks two of the pilings were hoisted, and John sawed the third in half and they were raised. Then he shook hands with the captain in the bottom of the canal, rose to the surface and gave orders to pull. Soon the helmet of Captain Danese bobbed up out of the water to the cheers of the group on the bank.

He was brought ashore, weak and exhausted. Hospital internes came forward. He waved them aside and staggered into a shack.

"Thank God for all the people who helped save me," he mumbled. "I never gave up hope," he added as he continued to chew the gum he had carried below with him.

LANE GIVEN 5-YEAR TERM

Jury Returns Verdict In Statutory Case

Jack Lane, indicted by the July grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to commit a statutory offense, was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary Tuesday by a jury in the 89th district court. Lane's trial opened before Judge P. A. Martin Monday afternoon.

An indictment against H. H. Ward on a charge of swindling by check over $50 in connection with the purchase of articles from the J. C. Penney company here was dismissed by the court without trial when the case was brought before Judge Martin Tuesday. Attorneys for the defense contended, according to Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney, that the allegations in the indictment placed ownership of the purchased articles with the assistant manager of the store, whereas the law requires that ownership should have rested with the store itself or with the actual manager instead of with the person who made the sale.

Trial of Curtis Rogers on an indictment charging theft over $50 in connection with the stealing of oil well equipment from an oil lease near Burkburnett was begun Tuesday afternoon. Testimony was almost completed and arguments will be heard before noon Wednesday. Sam B. Spence, district attorney, and Mike Anglin and George W. Anderson, assistants, prosecuted the cases in the 89th court Tuesday.

Physicians Make Terrell President

livered by Dr. C. M. Simpson, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church.

Enlistment of the physicians themselves as the first step in a campaign for periodic health examinations was stressed by Dr. Holman Taylor of Fort Worth, secretary of the Texas Medical association, at a banquet at the Wichita club Tuesday evening which closed the convention activities.

"If you are asked to make a complete physical examination and fail to do so, and your patient has a dormant disease which later develops in a more serious form, you are responsible," Doctor Taylor said. "It is important that some sort of agreement on the type of examination be made before we launch such a campaign.

"There are numerous means of publicity which should be employed. Buy advertising in the newspaper and on the radio, and don't expect too much free publicity. Plan how to utilize every medium.

Urges Campaign

"Newspapers are willing to help you when they are convinced that your purpose is laudable and when they know you are not seeking free advertising, or starting a controversy.

"A periodic health examination is the next step in public health work in Texas, and it is my hope that such a campaign is launched immediately."

Doctor Taylor spoke in the place of Dr. N. D. Buie of Marlin, who is attending the state Democratic convention at Galveston.

Musical numbers were furnished by the Greathouse Conservatory of Music. Mrs. Earl Nutter and Miss Charlene Kinder were each presented in a group of vocal solos, with Miss Thelma Adams accompanying, and Mrs. Flora Greenwood played the violin, accompanied by Miss Annette Walsh.

Following Doctor Taylor's talk, stereopticon slides were shown.

Dr. C. W. Stevenson of Wichita Falls, retiring president, had charge of the program, assisted by Dr. Austin F. Leach of Wichita Falls, retiring secretary and treasurer. New officers were introduced, as were also Mrs. T. C. Terrell of Fort Worth, officer in the state auxiliary; Mrs. T. P. Lynch, president of the Wichita County auxiliary; and Mrs. George T. Singleton of Wichita Falls, also a state officer.

Jury Refuses Damages to Autoist Who Sued Owner of Mule After Crash

Special issues in the damage suit brought in behalf of Ira Miks against D. W. Wiley on a claim growing out of a highway accident alleged to have been caused by a mule owned by Wiley were answered Tuesday by a jury in the 78th district court in favor of Mr. Wiley. Mr. Miks' claim for more than $2,000 damages was refused and a value of $25 placed by the jury on the mule which was killed in the accident.

The jury found that it was not through negligence on Wiley's part that the mule was on the highway instead of confined within the fence bordering the road. The verdict was reached in spite of the ruling of Judge W. W. Cook that stock laws in Clay county, attacked by the defense as having been illegally put in effect, were valid. Defense attorneys contended that two separate elections should have been held in 1888 at the time the stock laws were passed by the county commissioners court, one to cover horses, mules, jacks and jennies, and another to cover hogs and sheep. Both types of animals were included in the regulations passed in a single election.

ARTIST OFFERS VAST PROJECT

Borglum Presents Stone Mountain Plan

ATLANTA, Sept. 9. (UP)—A noted sculptor's conception of "the greatest historic panorama ever sculptured by man"—in memory of the heroes of the Confederacy—was formally presented to citizens of Atlanta by Gutzon Borglum, creator of the uncompleted Stone Mountain memorial.

As preconceived by Borglum, the memorial would consist of about seven and one-half acres of carving on twice the scale of the present group, which would be abandoned. The sculptored head of General Lee, for example would be nearly 50 feet high.

Dispute Settled

"I beg of you to forget Atlanta, forget the South, even forget America," he told several thousand Atlantans at a civic meeting, "but remember to leave to posterity the things by which it can say, for time immemorial:

" 'Here was a people—and what a people!'"

Borglum was introduced by Mayor-elect James Key, who told of successful efforts to compose differences which have hampered the work in the past, told of the outright deed of the needed property to the city by the Venable family, owners, and said:

"He has told me that on Stone mountain he wanted to do his biggest work, and carve upon its walls the tragedy, not of defeat, but of the suffering and sacrifice of a great people."

To Cost $2,500,000

A similar note was struck by Dr. M. Ashby Jones, St. Louis pastor formerly of Atlanta and a leader in the original project, who said:

"Stone mountain is God's challenge to the city of Atlanta and to the South, daring you to translate into its granite the definition of your civilization and story by which your children and your children's children shall remember you."

Cost of the proposed new project would be approximately $2,500,000 to be solicited in part by general public subscription and administered by the city of Atlanta. Time for completion of the work would be about five years, as it would include a system of memorial parks and boulevards.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

THE above are a few samples. Our complete schedule includes low pressure for every make of car—come in and see yours.

Let us show you how the Blowout-Proof Tire makes this luxurious low pressure an actual feature of economy.

HERE AGAIN is proof that there is no other tire like the Blowout-Proof Tire . . . It challenges every comparison—for easy riding as well as safety.

Just look at the comparative air pressures in the chart . . . Note the astonishing low pressures which the new General Dual-Balloon permits.

Standardized tire construction today demands more or less high pressure—but so unique, so different is the patented construction of the Blowout-Proof Tire, it lets you enjoy tremendously reduced air pressures with absolute safety from blowout.

The result is the smoothest, most luxurious riding ease ever achieved in any tire.

But that is not all. Added to this superlative comfort you will have soft, skid-safe traction far beyond anything ever imagined in motoring.

Naturally, the remarkable success of the Blowout-Proof Tire has made it a target for wide imitation. But here is an easy way to distinguish the genuine Blowout-Proof Tire from any substitutes offered by the industry: Compare the recommended pressure for all other tires with the remarkable low pressure made possible by the Blowout-Proof Tire.

After all, this low pressure is the real acid test of safe tire construction. Every motorist at some time forgets to watch air pressure. That's when the only tire that is safe from blowout is the one that is built to stand the abuse of neglected pressure.

The Dual-Balloon is "fool-proof." It can run as low as half pressure for days at a time without the disastrous flex-breaks from internal friction which cause blowouts in other tires.

In all the industry it is the only tire that offers these advantages of low-pressure comfort and high-speed safety.

SPECIAL . . this week

We will gladly equip your car for a week's free trial with no obligation to buy. Just put on the tires and run them—note how shock-proof and skid-safe—tires you can trust with your life regardless of road or weather.

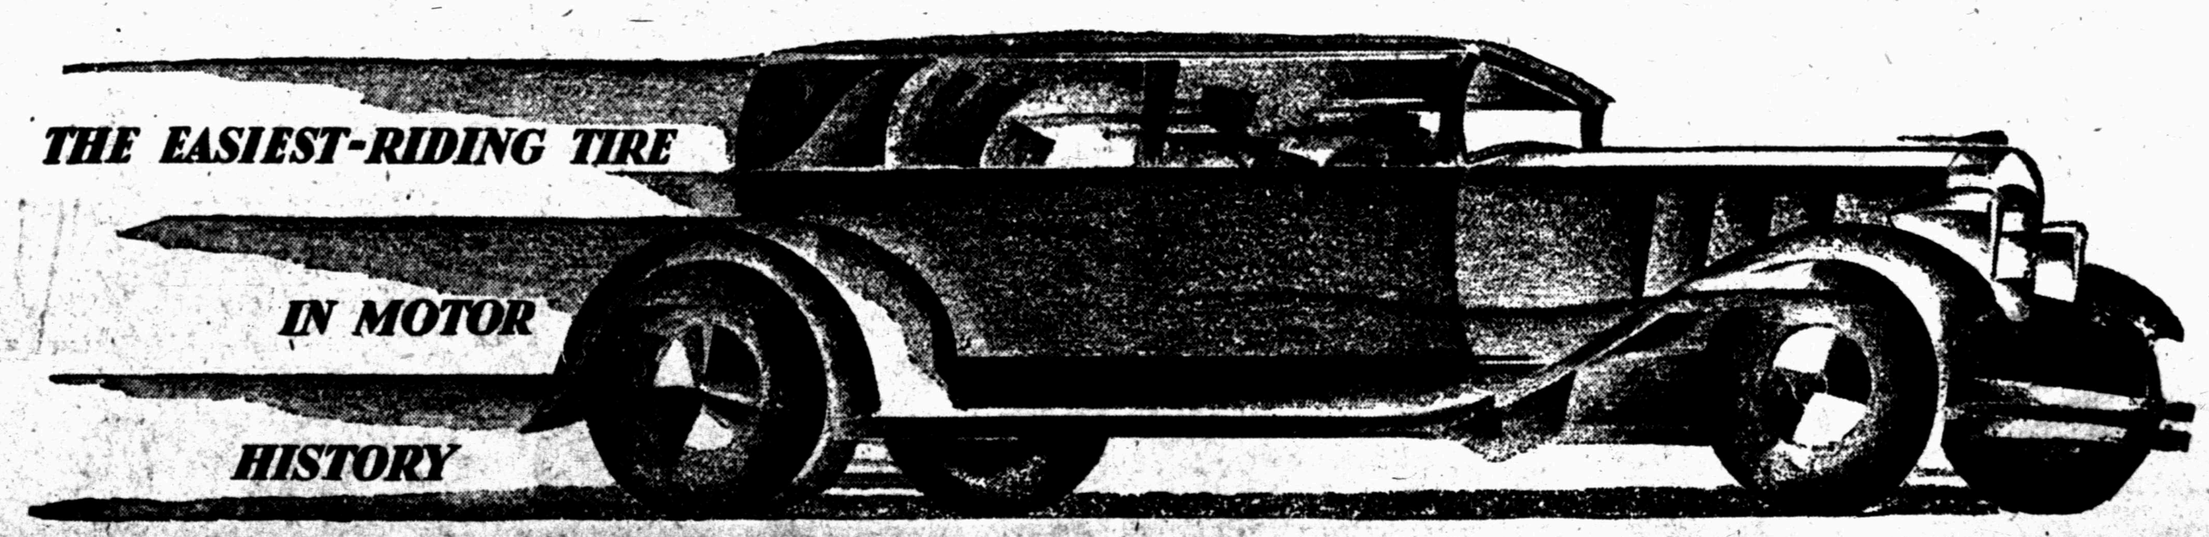

Tire prices have never been so low, and if you have any thought of equipping within the next two years, now is the time. In addition, our special trade-in offer will further reduce the cost, and we'll gladly finance your tires on any terms to suit you.

Wichita Auxiliary Hostess To Visitors At Luncheon

Zinnias in all of autumn's glowing colors were used in the loggia and dining room of the Woman's Forum clubhouse Tuesday when members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Wichita County Medical association met there as hostesses to the visiting women of the Northwest District Medical association who are in conference in the city. Mrs. O. M. Marchman of Dallas, state president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. K. V. Kibbie, district councilwoman, were special guests of honor.

Mrs. T. P. Lynch, president of the local organization, with Mesdames C. R. Hartsook, Curtis Atkinson and J. C. A. Guest, made a charming receiving line in the loggia.

Luncheon was served in the beautifully decorated dining room where pastel crystal and lace doilies made the colors of the autumn flowers more striking. A delicious luncheon was served.

Mrs. Lynch was a graceful presiding officer and at the close of the luncheon, introduced Miss Daisy Wharton, director of the violin department of the University of Wyoming, who, accompanied by Mrs. F. R. Collard, played two exquisite numbers, "Gypsy Dance," by Natchez and "Les Adieux," by Sarasate.

Both Mrs. Marchman and Mrs. Kibbie made addresses that were of deep interest to the members and splendidly given. Mrs. Harry Fuller of the Greathouse Conservatory read "Danny" in a manner that held her audience.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. T. G. Rogers of Decatur, Agnes Downs, Decatur; Mesdames F. A. Schoonover, Fort Worth; H. Porter Brown, Fort Worth; T. C. Terrell, Fort Worth; O. W. Marchman, Dallas; K. B. Kibbie, Fort Worth and Mrs. W. O. Padgett, Graham. Others for whom pretty place cards were marked were Mesdames O. F. Marchman, L. D. Parnell, Curtis Atkinson, A. P. Adams, F. R. Collard, R. H. Graham, J. C. A. Guest, C. R. Hartsook, Eggdorf, R. E. Hilburn, Q. B. Lee, O. W. Wilson, H. D. Prichard, Austin F. Leach, H. P. Ledford, W. R. Parker, J. B. Nail, W. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

A young man came into our home Monday morning who has often hunted with our son. We have known them to be lost on storm-tossed Lake Wichita and have not been able to sleep until we heard of their safety.

He asked us to write our son of the game he killed on the first hunting day, grinning over what we had said on the subject in a previous column.

"When he comes home Christmas," he said, "I want to arrange a big hunting trip. We'll spend about three nights camping out and have one more good time!" And when we exclaimed over the three nights, he assured us with a grin that on our account they'd just camp one night.

So it goes with sport. And somehow, we thought of the particular sporting event that occupies most of our spare time.

Before we came to the state of Texas, the game of dominoes seemed to us a mild and simple one. If we didn't play bridge, the family indulged in a game of solitaire—so mean and savage a game that in the days of the late war, we dubbed it "German."

But it has come to the point where we dub dominoes "sport, but vicious sport." The people who play dominoes shouldn't be anything but casual acquaintances—unless they are enemies.

In the beginning, it is a harrowing thing to have one whom you have a right to think cares for you, make you draw all the dominoes left in the deck and then not let you block him in a play.

And when the same person remarks to you "I thought you would play that," the annoyance is worse than a fly that keeps lighting on one's nose.

"Thank you," from your opponent, is another thing that rouses all the ire of a patient person. It implies that you played a domino so unwisely that you could see no further than your nose.

Then dominoes are such long, long games. If a person beats one game, two must be played to give the loser a chance; then if the second player wins, the best two out of three must be settled.

Should one's opponent get almost all the fives and blanks, it is nothing but luck—exasperating luck. Of course, if one gets them oneself, it's a matter of playing them well.

There's no kindhearted friendship shown in the game. It's cut-throat. It's almost better to kill birds than to kill kindly feelings. The only remedy we know is a half-hearted game and that isn't worth a fig.

Dix Tells Youth 'Signs' to Follow In Picking Wife

Dear Miss Dix—How can a fellow tell whether the pretty young stenographer whom he considers leading to the altar will make a good housekeeper or not? He has no chance to go sneaking around her kitchen to see if she likes to help mama and he has to accept on faith the delicious cake that she said she made with her own hands. By what signs can you know that she doesn't positively bate children, as I have heard some women say they did. Must a man enter marriage with such important matters left in the dark? Your advice that one should exercise as much judgment in choosing a wife as in buying a car, is not practicable because the facts are not as obtainable in one case as they are in the other. —CYNICAL YOUNG MAN.

Answer—How come? Of course, you have to take something on faith in every transaction because it is not possible to reduce anything to an absolute certainty. In picking out a car, for instance, no matter how carefully you examine the mechanism, there is always a possibility that there may be an unsuspected flaw in the steel of which it is made, or some mistake made in the assembling of the parts.

But if you use good judgment in selecting your car, there is not much danger of your not getting your money's worth and right here I am tempted to say that as you are largely guided in buying a car by its make, you will be equally wise in selecting a wife by the family she comes from.

By which I mean to say that a girl who comes from good, honest, self-respecting stock is just as sure to make you a good wife as a high grade automobile is certain to make you a good car. There are manufacturers whose name on a car are a guarantee of its worth, and a fine mother puts her stamp on her daughter.

You wouldn't buy a second hand car and expect to get the mileage out of it that you would out of a new one. You wouldn't buy a damaged car that has been in all sorts of wrecks and smash-ups on whoopee parties and expect it to be as fine and strong as one that you have just taken out of the shop and that had never been used. You wouldn't expect a flimsy little car to stand the strain and do the work of a high-powered truck.

Then don't be silly enough to marry a wild girl, and one with a tarnished reputation, and expect her never to look at any man but you and to be satisfied to settle down to domesticity. Don't marry a fool and expect her to be wise. Don't marry a frivolous, dress-crazy girl and expect her to be thrifty, and to want to spend her time juggling pots and pans. Don't buy a flivver and expect it to turn into a Rolls-Royce. Such miracles never take place.

But it is foolish for a man to say that he cannot prognosticate what sort of wife a girl will make. She tells him that every day in every way and he must be as blind as a bat and stupid beyond belief if he doesn't get the tips she hands him.

Keep your eyes open, son, and observe. Will Mary Anne be a nagger? How does she treat you now? Is she forever correcting you and finding fault with the way you have your hair cut and the kind of a hat you wear and the color of your necktie?

When you take her to a place of amusement, is there always something wrong about the seats or the program or the people next to her? Is she always too hot or too cold or too something? Does she never let a thing rest, but says it over to you a thousand times? Does she harp upon the same topic forever and a day?

Will Mary Anne make a selfish wife? You don't have to marry to find that out. Observe whether she always considers her pleasure or yours, whether you do what she wants to do or what you want to do. Notice whether she runs you into debt for amusements, or saves your money.

Will Mary Anne want a family or a Pekinese pup? One look at her face when she sees a baby will settle that question. If little children run to her, and her arms instinctively form themselves into a cradle, then she will want babies of her own, but if she draws away from sticky little fingers and regards children as brats, her husband will walk the dog of an evening instead of cuddling his children about his knees.

By what I mean to say that a girl who comes from good, honest, self-respecting stock is just as sure to make you a good wife as a high grade automobile is certain to make you a good car. There are manufacturers whose name on a car are a guarantee of its worth, and a fine mother puts her stamp on her daughter.

You wouldn't expect a flimsy little car to stand the strain and do the work of a high-powered truck.

Then don't be silly enough to marry a wild girl, and one with a tarnished reputation, and expect her never to look at any man but you and to be satisfied to settle down to domesticity. Don't marry a fool and expect her to be wise. Don't marry a frivolous, dress-crazy girl and expect her to be thrifty, and to want to spend her time juggling pots and pans. Don't buy a flivver and expect it to turn into a Rolls-Royce. Such miracles never take place.

But it is foolish for a man to say that he cannot prognosticate what sort of wife a girl will make. She tells him that every day in every way and he must be as blind as a bat and stupid beyond belief if he doesn't get the tips she hands him.

Keep your eyes open, son, and observe. Will Mary Anne be a nagger? How does she treat you now? Is she forever correcting you and finding fault with the way you have your hair cut and the kind of a hat you wear and the color of your necktie?

When you take her to a place of amusement, is there always something wrong about the seats or the program or the people next to her? Is she always too hot or too cold or too something? Does she never let a thing rest, but says it over to you a thousand times? Does she harp upon the same topic forever and a day?

Will Mary Anne make a selfish wife? You don't have to marry to find that out. Observe whether she always considers her pleasure or yours, whether you do what she wants to do or what you want to do. Notice whether she runs you into debt for amusements, or saves your money.

Will Mary Anne want a family or a Pekinese pup? One look at her face when she sees a baby will settle that question. If little children run to her, and her arms instinctively form themselves into a cradle, then she will want babies of her own, but if she draws away from sticky little fingers and regards children as brats, her husband will walk the dog of an evening instead of cuddling his children about his knees.

As for whether a girl knows how to cook before she is married or not, that is desirable, but not all-important. The main thing is whether she prefers a kitchen to a career. If she is domestic in her taste, she will make no bother about giving up her job because her own home will look beter to her than any office and she will feel that she is going into her kingdom when she takes possession of her own cottage or apartment.

Any intelligent woman can learn to be a good cook in three months' time if her heart is in her work and she will be the better housekeeper because of the order, promptness and efficiency she has been taught in business.

And she will have more respect for a dollar, having earned her own money herself.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—My father was killed and my mother was injured in an accident. I am grief-stricken, but I am trying to decide whether it is wiser to keep on working in the store where I am employed and where I can make enough to secure the proper care for my mother, or whether to marry the young man I love and ask him to make a home for me, my mother and brother. He is so good and kind he is willing to attempt this, but money is scarce with him. Would you advise me to marry him now or wait until he is making more?—ALICE.

Answer—There is no more cruel tragedy in life than that of a girl who has to lay her heart as a sacrifice upon the altar of her family. And, more is the pity, it happens so often, and so seldom does the poor victim even get any appreciation from those for whom she has given up her happiness in life.

In your particular case, Alice, I see nothing for it but for you to ask your sweetheart to wait until circumstances are improved. Perhaps your mother will get well and be able to go to work and help to support herself and surely in a few years your brother will be able to take care of himself. Don't make the mistake that so many self-abnegating sisters make of slaving themselves to death to put younger brothers through college. Make him shoulder his share of the burden just as soon as he is able. He will make a better and more useful man for it.

If you marry your sweetheart now, you will simply crush him and wreck his life. To load him down with the support of an invalid woman and a young boy in addition to his family obligations will make an old man of him before his time. He will be harried with debt. His spirit will be broken and he never will have any opportunity to rise in the world because he can never save a penny. He will never even have enough ahead to risk giving up a poor situation in order to look for a better one.

Many a man who marries a woman on a generous impulse, and because he loves her and is so sorry for her, comes to hate her when he realizes that she has saddled the support of her family on him.

Don't do that to the man you love. Wait for a better break and if you and he both work it will surely come.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a man of 40. Seven years ago I came to this country. Three days before I left for America I married and left my wife over there. Being a professional man, I have worked very hard and have made a success. All of this time I dreamed of the day when I could bring my wife over here and we could be reunited. At last she came, but I hardly recognized her. I find that we have nothing in common. Nothing to talk about even. She mortifies me continually. People think she is my maid. Such embarrassments have killed all the affection I had for her. And I have fallen in love with an American girl who is what I am now. What shall I do?—A PITIFUL MAN.

Answer—You are indeed pitiful and so is your wife, because the estrangement that has come between you is nobody's fault. It is just the tragedy of growth. You have gone on, she has stayed put. You are the result of your environment, she of hers, and there is no way to bridge the gulf between you. Probably she is just as miserable as you are, and my suggestion is that you send her back to the ol dcountry from which she came and give her enough money to live on over there.

But it is because men so inevitably change when they leave home to seek their fortunes that I urge them not to hamper themselves by getting engaged before they leave home. That is a ball and chain that drags many an unwilling bridegroom to the altar with a girl that he has outgrown.

Circle officers were elected in the business meeting and it was announced that the next meeting will be a social one to be held at the house of Mrs. M. Staniforth with Mrs. Daisy Dean assistant hostess.

Mrs. W. B. Reeves dismissed the following members with prayer: Mesdames Dave Shepherd, Bert King, Tom Martin, Daisy Dean, Wyatt Parrish, W. B. Reeves, J. B. Maples, F. A. Rosser, Ralph Hines, J. W. May, M. Staniforth, W. E. Floyd and Ted R. Williams.

Wichitans Pay Up Delinquent Taxes

Unusual response had been made Tuesday to notices of delinquent taxes due sent out by the county tax collector's department during the last few days, according to the report of Guy C. Raley, county tax collector, who announced that almost $3,000 had been collected on the 1929 deliquent tax roll within the past three days.

The notices mailed out to delinquent taxpayers, he said, covered the 1929 roll and any previous delinquent taxes due. Although the response had been favorable, taxpayers who have not yet paid their past due accounts were urged by Mr. Raley to pay them at once, since suits will have to be filed in court in order to collect the taxes if they are not paid before next year's tax roll becomes delinquent. Wayne Somerville, county attorney, is making preparations to file more than 2,000 such suits covering the 1928 and previous rolls within the next few days, he said Tuesday.

County Court Hears Embezzlement Trial

The first of four charges of embezzlement against Jerome A. Moore, formerly connected with the Auto Dealers Salvage company here, was brought to trial Tuesday in the county court at law, with John Davenport representing the defendant and L. V. Abernathy, assistant county attorney, prosecuting the case.

Rebuttal testimony from the prosecution and a few additional defense witnesses will be heard before the case is argued before Judge Irvin J. Vogel and jury Wednesday morning. It is charged that Moore failed to enter certain sales at the salvage company on the books, keeping the money for his own use.

Ordinary novels run to four and five volumes when printed in Braille type for the use of the blind.

Six Pretty Girls Complimented At Farewell Dinner

A group of a dozen charming young society maids and men who have played bridge together for almost two years, enjoyed an unusually lovely affair Monday evening at the Wichita club when the girls were honorees at a closing party before several of them left for college.

A chicken barbecue and swim at Westmoreland was the midsummer entertainment offered the girls and was a most pleasant occasion, but the Wichita club courtesy was reported to be the prettiest during the gathering of the group.

An unusual decorative motif had as a final setting place cards for the girls lovely enough to be table decorations—tinted hand tooled leather portfolios. A delicious five-course dinner was served.

Honorees during the evening were Misses Laura Lee Hampshire, Marjorie Bright, Elizabeth Langford, Ruth Moore, Jane Moore and Mary Tancred. The hosts were Byron Blum, Isadore Cohen, Pat Hardage, Field Scovell, Harold Thomas and Arch Cameron.

Executive Board Meets at Nursery For Autumn Work

In a building fresh from fall house cleaning, with newly painted halls and everything shining, the executive board of the Federated Missionary societies held their first fall meeting Tuesday morning at the Day nursery. Mrs. G. D. Ellis, president, welcomed the members after three months' vacation.

Reports from different committee chairmen were made and among others, Mrs. W. H. Downing made an unusually interesting report on the jail work which has gone on during the summer. Services at the county farm which were discontinued during the summer, will be resumed Sept. 21 when the First Baptist church will have charge of the service. On Sept. 28, the First Southern Presbyterian church will hold the meeting and the first Sunday in October, Highland Heights Christian church will be in charge.

The story telling hour, so much enjoyed by the children, has been carried on every Saturday morning in the summer. In the three months since the last meeting, 4009 children have been cared for at the Day nursery according to Mrs. Datson's report. Plans were discussed for entering the community chest program.

Members present were Mesdames G. D. Ellis, Ray Belcher, Daisy Dean, Harry Hines, Henry P. Ledford, M. L. Chamberlain, Harry Weeks, J. E. H. Railey, S. E. Trevathan, W. W. Cook, W. H. Downing, J. Wichitans Return From Proration Conference

P. B. Flynn, E. H. Eddleman, T. O. Shappell, R. A. King, W. D. Brookover, Merrill Blair, Fred Sehman, and W. P. Barkley, members of a committee representing the North Texas producers, returned Tuesday from Dallas where they attended the state proration meeting held at the Adolphus hotel.

The meeting, which was also attended by a number of representatives of the major purchasing companies of the district, was called by Chairman Robert Penn for the purpose of making an effort to agree on some plan that would eliminate from the present proration schedule inequalities and the apparent discrimination brought about by the various schedules of the different companies, and to come to some agreement where a more uniform proration could be perfected.

According to information given late Tuesday by A. K. Presson, Junior college registrar and assistant principal of the high school, high school and college registration reached 1,400 for the final totals. Few, Mr. Presson said, are expected after Tuesday.

GOOD TO TAKE FOR DIZZINESS

Constipation Troubles Relieved by Black-Draught, Says Kentucky Man

Hopkinsville, Ky.—Hundreds of people in Hopkinsville know Mr. Dale Harris, of 102 South Kentucky avenue. Mr. Harris knows Thedford's Black-Draught, from having taken it for a number of years. He says:

"I often come in from work with a bad feeling in my stomach and head. I have a dizzy feeling in my head and am constipated, so I fix me a dose of Black-Draught immediately to guard off a spell of illness.

"I have always found Black-Draught to be perfectly satisfactory in every way, and would recommend it to any one as a safe and powerful medicine when a purgative is needed.

"It is a good idea to keep a box of Black-Draught in the medicine cabinet so at a moment's notice you may take some when dizzy spells and constipation occur."

Thousands of others have reported that many disagreeable symptoms, due to constipation, have gone away after they had taken Thedford's Black-Draught. Insist on the genuine—

HIGH BOND SET FOR GUARDIANS

Pair Will Handle Fortune For Slick Heirs

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 9. (AP)—The largest personal bond ever asked in an Oklahoma county probate case was fixed today for Mrs. Berenice Slick and Charles F. Urschel when C. C. Christison, county judge, appointed them joint guardians of the three children of the late Thomas B. Slick, independent oil operator. The bond will be $1,000,000. Neither guardian was present in court, both being represented by attorneys.

The fact that Slick never voted in Oklahoma and never established a residence in the state, although he operated in oil here 25 years and amassed a fortune of $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 in doing it, was brought out at the guardianship hearing.

Since 1905 when Slick first came to Oklahoma, he has maintained his home in Clarion, Pa., and cast his vote there. The will, originally filed in Clarion, will be filed here within a few days to probate his Oklahoma holdings, his attorneys said.

Roomer Questioned In Death of Little Girl

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 9. (INS)—Police today held Jack Stamfer, a friend of Mrs. Eulia Appel, to question him concerning the murder of Mrs. Appel's daughter, Marberine, 8.

Stampfer, who previously had been questioned and who formerly roomed at the Appel home, was held at the order of Chester Crumpacker, St. Joseph county coroner.

On the day after the child had been kidnaped, Stampfer called on Mrs. Appel. He told her not to worry and predicted that the child would be back home the next day. On that day the child's body was discovered.

Check-Raisers Swindle Housewives of Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. (INS)—Police were concerned today with Chicago's latest racket, a swindle scheme based on the sale of ginger ale which has been successfully used to obtain more than $50,000 from housewife victims, it is reported.

The racketeers, posing as ginger ale salesmen, solicit homes selling bargain packages, insisting that payment be made in checks. The checks have been raised, some to sums as high as $9,000. Reported losses range from $400 to $9,000.

Gold Star Mothers Honor Marshal Joffre

PARIS, Sept. 9. (AP)—The American War Mothers association of Missouri, represented by 81 mothers, here with party "R" gold star pilgrimage, today presented Marshal Joffre with a gavel made from the wood of an apple tree on a farm at Laclede, Mo., where Gen. John J. Pershing was born.

The gavel was accepted by General Goumaud, military governor of Paris, for Marshal Joffre. Mrs. Tenna Caylor, Kansas City, made the presentation.

Quick Relief From Asthma Spasms

It's foolish to run chances with those wheezing, gasping spells associated with Asthma and nasal or bronchial irritations at night, when you can get prompt relief in just a few minutes' time. How? Go to your druggist and get a box of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes right now. It's little short of magic the way this "smoke" treatment clears the passages. Usually the first few puffs restore free, easy breathing.

One Atlanta, Ga., woman says she knows if she has a bad breathing spell she will be able to get to sleep in a few minutes after smoking one of these medical cigarettes. No tobacco—just a special combination of medical herbs, whose soothing vapor has a clearing action that opens up air passages as nothing else can. Ask for the New Stronger Cigarette.

Scientist to Study Unexplored Heavens in World's Largest Balloon

AUGSBURG, Germany, Sept. 9. (AP)—A tall, lank, quiet physicist hopes to take off this week in the largest balloon ever built, and fly twice as high as the peak of Mount Everest to make scientific observations in the stratosphere, as the unexplored upper regions of the earth's atmosphere is called by scientists.

Auguste Piccard, a disciple of Albert Einstein, will attempt to fly these heights with a companion, Charles Kipfer, and will risk his life to make observations in atmospheric levels never before visited by man.

Most of the knowledge of the stratosphere, the atmospheric regions more than six and one-half miles above the earth's surface, has so far been obtained through use of sounding balloons without passengers, by study of electromagnetic radiation, and by poring over spectrum photographs of the aurora borealis.

The balloon Piccard will use is 30 meters in diameter, whereas the Gordon-Bennett balloons are 15 meters in diameter. Piccard's balloon will contain 14,000 cubic meters of gas, whereas the Gordon-Bennett balloons contain 2,200.

To replace the customary basket-like gondola, Piccard, who also is an engineer, constructed a hollow aluminum ball seven feet in diameter and weighing 220 pounds. There will be hardly room for Piccard, his companion, and their vast array of scientific instruments, inside the gondola.

Gas Line Repaired After Explosion

ALVA, Okla., Sept. 9. (UP)—Repairs were completed today to the Amarillo-Kansas City gas line, which was damaged near here last night by an explosion.

Cause of the blast, which startled farmers living in the vicinity, was undetermined. One section of pipe was hurled almost 200 feet.

Neale Appointed Head Of Idaho University

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 9. (INS)—Dr. M. G. Neale, widely known educator, today had been appointed president of the University of Idaho, according to announcement here.

Civil Service Workers Warned Out of Politics

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—Federal employes working under civil service rules have been warned than any undue participation in election campaigning may mean the loss of their jobs.

The civil service commission said today warnings against political activity on the part of classified employes of the service were being posted in all federal buildings.

The political activities of unclassified employes and postmasters, the warnings say, are clearly limited and must not be extended unduly. Similar warnings have been issued in recent years.

Will in Agony

LONDON.—His will was more important to Isaac Smith, 60, than a hospital, when he was struck by a train which mutilated both his legs recently. Suffering extreme pain, he patiently made out his will, witnessed its signature by bystanders, and then submitted to being taken to a hospital, where both his legs were amputated.

Fish Fancier Fabricates Fairy Folderol For Fun

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 9. (AP)—This may sound fishy, but it's vouched for as true.

Kenneth and John Fisher were arrested by Art Fish, deputy fish warden, charged with possessing unlawfully a truckload of fish.

Fish said Al Fishburn called his office to report the Fisher brothers' truck loaded with fish upset. Fish said the Fishers said they were fishermen, but Fish put the fish in cold storage until the court decided whether the fish the Fisher brothers possessed were theirs or whether Fish could confiscate the Fisher brothers' fish.

Several witnesses to the shooting of Lingle have identified pictures of Forsythe as the man who dropped a pistol and a left-hand silk glove in the Illinois Central pedestrian tunnel after Lingle was killed. He has been hunted all over the country in recent months. Word reaching the police was that Forsythe had returned to Chicago and that his attorney would surrender him to Roche tomorrow. He is said to have an alibi for June 9.

One Business Goes Ahead
A New Noah's Mistake
Our Red Institute

By EMILE GAUVREAU

The only business you hear about constantly these days that seems to be going briskly is the American enterprise of racketeering. For instance, an assistant district attorney in Brooklyn reveals that in three years $250,000 was paid for protection in the laundry racket. It has got to the point where you even have to pay a gunman for the right to wear the shirt on your back.

Here is the way the laundry racket works: The gangs steal the laundry trucks, then offer them back to their owners for sums ranging from $100 to $1,000. The payments are made in instalments, but if these are delinquent the blackmail (called "protection" by the racketeers) is increased.

The men running these rackets are armed. If they are caught with revolvers, they produce police permits signed by gentlemen higher up, while an honest citizen would be arrested if found with a gun in his home to protect his family from these organized criminals. People are so weary of crying "graft" that the protest has turned into a moan. Racketeering in New York may be compared to the hundred-headed hydra which grew a new head every time one of them was cut off. Sometimes it looks to the pessimistic as though Jeffersonian democracy is failing us, and that the old-time hereditary rule gave the people a cleaner and safer government.

In Kentville, N. S., a negro Noah, Pryor James, pays with his life for his belief in another flood. He insisted on making a wet voyage of it, and stoked up his ark with plenty of home brew. The local police, more reverent and God-fearing than the new Noah, decided that, in the interests of religion, the journey was to be a dry one, and they paid Noah a visit. Noah opened fire. The police proved more expert at this and put an end to the whole enterprise, including Noah.

Anyone of our 50,000 speakeasy proprietors could have told the Noah that, after stocking his ark, he should have gone into the business of selling the liquor. He would be alive and making money yet. The speakeasy gentlemen could have told Noah what to do when the policemen visited him, too.

Because it proved a free forum for discussion on Russia, the Williamstown Institute of Politics is now being branded as "red" and "pro-Moscovite." Mr. Easley of the national civic federation announces that "America will not barter away its principles for Soviet gold."

The question that Easley should answer is: What are these American principles? To the anthracite mine operators they are one thing. To Ford they are quite another. Principles, as we all know, adjust themselves easily to the demands of business. If the business interests ruling Washington required Soviet recognition, principles would be conveniently forgotten. England, Germany, and France also blubber about principles when they have to. But just now, seeing their opportunity, they are dealing with Russia on the friendliest footing and filling their coffers with gold.

Some bright mind, looking over the list of Mr. Gerard's "64 rulers," decides to find out what they would do to revive trade. Many are on vacation trying to forget business. One gentleman, Mr. Sidney Mitchell, head of Electric Bond & Share company, sticking to his job, says, "The remedy is more work and less talk." That's good advice. The trouble is that there are some 5,000,000 people out of work and you can't blame them for talking a bit about it.

Black, among other colors, is to be the style in fingernails this fall, according to cosmeticians. It is understood there is considerable support for the vogue among young school boys.

Irving Berlin is to write a campaign song for Heywood Broun, candidate for congress. It's too bad the name isn't so pronounced that Irving could get in a refrain about Broun Eyes.

A capital letter can sometimes make an awful lot of difference, as witness the linotyper who referred to the group investigating Communist activities as the fish committee.

Deep-Water Fishing

REGARDLESS of the number and names of persons who appear at Archer City soon in an effort to obtain aid of the county commissioners there in opening more shoreline to the public at Diversion lake, hundreds of Wichita Falls citizens will be sincere supporters in the movement.

Condemnation of sufficient land for roadway to the water front a short distance above the dam is to be sought. Those conversant with the plan declare that its sponsors will carry the matter to the United States supreme court if necessary in a determined effort to obtain free admittance of the public to more shoreline on Diversion lake.

Taxpayers here who have paid heavily toward the creation of the two large lakes which supply irrigation waters, and who have invested considerable amounts in equipment for the subsequent enjoyment of those waters, will feel that they are entitled to the free use of the lakes so long as no damage is inflicted upon adjoining lands. They recall with proper significance that prior to the building of the two dams, little if any restriction was imposed upon any who desired to fish in the Wichita river anywhere along its course. Since they have spent millions of dollars to build the lakes, they fail to see the propriety of their exclusion from the lakes which their money created.

The small strip of ricky shoreline in question admittedly has no value in itself for any purpose. In their effort to obtain use of this area for the use of the public in approaching the waters of Diversion lake, those citizens who go to Archer City to support the petition will have the hearty support of thousands who will not be present. In fact, amendment of the present control over the shoreline to the two lakes promises to become a paramount issue in local political campaigns for state offices. Those who raised a crop desire to eat of it.

Do Children Hate School

WE must have our little jokes whether they fit in with the facts or not. One of these little jokes is the distaste of the child for school. There will be many a cartoon, many a rhyme, and many a joke printed this week to show that Mary or Johnnie are returning to school with great reluctance. The truth is that most Marys and Johnnies are happy over the re-opening of school.

They are happy because they are rejoining their classmates from whom they have been separated during the vacation period. They are happy because of the opportunity for play. But they are happy also because their study is made interesting for them and perhaps because of their contact with a teacher who inspires them. There may be exceptions here and there both as to pupils and teachers but exceptions prove the rule.

School years are joyous years for the great majority of children and of the months of these years the months when school is in session are the most joyous months of the year.

There may have been a time when school was as distasteful as it is pictured by our humorists but that was long ago before it was discovered that the interest of the child could be so effectively used in his education. Humor often disregards facts and uses as its vehicle conditions that have long passed. Maybe that is why it is humor.

Unrest in South America

POLITICAL conditions in South America have been stable for a good many years; consequently it is more than ordinarily discouraging to read of revolts, threatened or actual, in two countries at the same time.

In Peru the revolt seems to be an established fact, and there is more than an even chance—judging from the cables—that the deposed president, Leguia, will suffer in the traditional Latin-American way.

Just at present it is not quite clear what is happening in Argentina, but it is quite evident that there is a very menacing situation for the government there. Argentina has generally been considered the foremost nation in South America, judged by our own standards; it is dismaying to see it lapsing into the habit of armed revolt.

Fortunately, there is no indication that our own government will be required to take any action in either of these cases. Peru and Argentina, after all, are not Nicaragua. Our marines can stay north of the equator.

The "Prosperity Plank" Dies

POLITICAL writers have not been slow to point out that the platform issued for the current campaign by the Republican party makes no mention whatever of the 1928 platform's bland assertion that national prosperity could best be obtained by electing a Republican administration. Every other plank in the 1928 platform is mentioned; that one is quietly left out.

It may be that this will prove a long step towards healthier political campaigns. In point of fact, this country's prosperity depends very little on the administration at Washington. If the present G. O. P. platform sets a style by recognizing that fact we shall all be better off.

In the future, it may be, we shall be able to fight out political campaigns on the fundamental issues instead of letting the "prosperity issue" divert our minds from the real points at stake.

On Broadway

(Copyright, 1930, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

It will be fun, for me at least, to resume radio gabbing on Sept. 10. . . . There is a wallop in the breathlessness and nervousness that grip you waiting for your guest star to show up. . . . The crowding in of several sentences in the few minutes allotted . . . The problem of keeping from faltering or stumbling over a swift sentence, a syllable or a scoopee containing too many s's . . . It will be a thrill, again, to hear that heart-thumping march-tempo'd "Give My Regards to Broadway" . . . The tap on the shoulder from the time-keeper signalling "one minute to go" . . . All of which hastens the blood thru my veins and keeps me from getting bored with myself . . . Gotta have excitement . . . Gotta have a reason for being incessantly charged with zip . . . Never believed the theory that too much work laid a guy low . . . It's a short life at most . . . That's why I want to crowd all of it in before some kid with a new idea comes along . . . Gotta ask Ruth Etting to distinguish my first broadcast, again . . . With her new version of "Swingin' in a Hammock" . . . That doll is so hot she leaves me sun-burned.

Well, just as I suspected . . . That blast by the Brooklyn contemporary about the alleged unscrupulous "tabloid columnist and a theatrical weekly editor" pulling a "shake" on a woman proved that someone misinformed him . . . Confronted by the four lads doing columns, he confessed that he did not believe the story he got from hear-say . . . He was incensed, he said, over the tone of a confrere's article . . . He didn't like its "venom," he said, which made him believe that the columnist cooperated with others to extort coin . . . When one of the most respected locals vouched for the tab paragraphers and added: "None of them accept a gratuity of any sort because they love their jobs so well they wouldn't risk losing them," the accuser altered his original comments . . . Too many of us serve as targets for this sort of abuse . . . We cannot stop mice from threatening other with: "If you don't do as I say I'll have you written up in the papers by a frien dof mine!" . . . A dime will bring anyone a grand if it can be honestly asserted that this bureau ever peddled itself . . . Never call a four-flusher names . . . Call his bluffs.

Wonder if they know that Coste's first name in French means "God given" or "heaven-sent?" . . . The power of the printed word is terrific . . . That Velma Ebsen eyeful who was cheered here for her stepping, class, and charm in that second rate Atlantic City cafe still is buried under the avalanche of offers from producers in New York and Hollywood . . . Maybe she'll amount to something some day . . . Hope so . . . Somebody gave me a little push once . . . Funny crack, Bugs Baer's: "They ought to call them miniature golf curses" . . . Some proofreader probably will spoil it. . . . Hellinger, it seems, is the highest paid proofreader in town, haw! . . . So I'm not allowed to see certain shows . . . Instead I use the time at the office and do two or three thousands words for a magazine and make extra sugar . . . While my poor comrades have to risk having their evenings spoiled . . . I'm having it so tough . . . I'm laughing with tears in my eyes.

Swell idea that gag used by motorists who can afford to . . . They keep a 10-spot neatly folded in their folded licenses . . . When a cop halts them for speeding and inspects the license the money usually alters his temper . . . Not bad . . . Oh, the hideousyncrasies of some people! . . . Amazing how some folks react to certain stuff . . . That heartache letter from "J. S." frixample . . . Loaded with pain because her man done her wrong, she jotted down her madness and wondered what to do about it . . . Hell, I never was good at Arithmetic and Love so I took a run-out powder on her . . . Hundreds of letters from readers . . . Half denouncing her for being a chump . . . The rest offering advice and sympathy . . . I win, heads or tails . . . My racket is hardly different from the newsie on the corner . . . We both peddle papers . . . What a dull world it would be, anyway, if the cast contained only heroes and heroines . . . Gotta have villains! . . . Someone has to come in second . . . On second thought Al E. Smith and Jack Dempsey still are champions . . . And they came in second.

"What's on your mind this very minute?" June asked me as we sat there watching the floor show at the Harlem hot-spot . . . "I was just thinking," I said . . . "I know," she snapped, "but I'm curious. Just what goes on in your mind." . . . "I was merely looking at people and thinking how a person could be sitting with the one he or she adored and never realize that only a table away sat someone else Who Also Mattered. Over there, frinstance, is a woman with her sweetheart. They are going to be married soon. Two tables away sits the guy she really loves and with whom she keeps rendezvous whenever she can get away. She probably can't help it. At that other table it's a horse from a different stable. The woman with him isn't his wife. His wife is in a 46th Street hideaway right now with The One She Goes For. Get it?" . . . Must be terrible to be found out . . . And a guy is a sap to wise a pal, too, even when he knows he is being crossed . . . They never appreciate the tip . . . Instead they usually quit talking to you . . . Woman-flesh Being All That Matters.

They tell me that Hatfield, the feudist, who was the Capone of his time, will have his life yarn put between covers, due in about two months . . . Be a bandit and a bum and become a big-shot! . . . Talk about swift romnacing . . . Margaret Quimby met her new husband, J. Irving Walsh, a realtor, at the Club Abbey only a week ago! . . . Nearly choked from laughing over that costly "scoop" that took place at the Daily News office yesterday after Coste arrived from Paree by plane . . . They decided to beat the town with Mrs. Coste's statement about her husband's achievement . . . So they transatlantalk phoned her—putting on their star reporter (who savvies only English) to jot down her remarks . . . The cost was $45 per minute, the interview consuming five minutes . . . And she would only gab in French! . . . Did their faces get purple?

O. C. AIRPORT BONDS UPHELD

Court Sustains Validity Of Issue

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 9. (UP)—Validity of the $425,000 Oklahoma City airport bond issue was upheld for the second time today by the state supreme court.

The court sustained the issue several months ago in a suit brought by Charles H. Ruth, but at that time Justice J. W. Clark dissented and in his dissenting opinion held that a public park is not a public utility and that the bonds were not legal unless approved by three-fourths of the voters.

Public utility bonds are valid, Clark pointed out, if approved by the majority of the voters. This question had not been raised in the Ruth suit so another suit raising this question was filed in the Oklahoma county district court by J. W. Schmoldt.

The court in the present opinion held that a public park is a public utility and that only a majority of the voters were required to approve the bond issue.

Hoover Tightens Immigration Laws

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (INS)—As an aid to the unemployment situation President Hoover announced today he had instructed the state department to tighten up the immigration laws.

Acting Secretary of State Cotton, following conferences with consular officers, ordered stricter enforcement of that clause which permits exclusion of any one liable to become a public charge.

The new policy will be directed in European countries, it was announced. It already has been in effect for some months with respect to Canada and Mexico and has resulted in a material decrease in the immigration from those countries.

The president, in making the announcement, pointed out that all other countries had tightened up their immigration laws since the general business depression and subsequent unemployment waves.

Mine Workers to Meet In Indiana Sept. 17

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 9. (INS)—A meeting of the international executive board of the United Mine Workers of America will be held here on Sept. 17, according to the announcement of John L. Lewis, mine union president.

Although Lewis said that "routine affairs" would be discussed, it was reported that steps to curtail the advance of the "rump" mine union, formed at Springfield, Ill., with other union disputes would be discussed.

Q.—How is a leg of lamb boned?—C. D.

A.—In boning, first take out the irregular aitch or pelvic bone at the large end. Cut into the meat on the thinnest of "stifle" side and lay back a flap of meat deep enough to expose the leg bone and permit its removal. You will have a pocket here for stuffing, or the leg may be sewed together and roasted without stuffing. A good sharp, thin knofe is needed for boning. A boned leg of lamb "goes further" as the slices are more even and attractive.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on How To Get Ahead

Out of 100 men with an equal start in life, only one will die rich, and two others will leave their families comfortably provided for. Fifteen others will leave from $2,000 to $10,000; not enough to provide comfort, but some help to the dependents. The remainder will leave nothing.

These facts constitute a sermon on saving that should be indelibly stamped on the memory of every youth.

The booklet, How to Get Ahead, not only preaches this sermon effectively, but tells in a practical, helpful way how the habits of wise spending and wise saving can be acquired. Send for a copy and try the budget and account system. You can always drop it if you don't like it and it will have cost you nothing but a little time. However, if you try it you will never drop it. Use this coupon and enclose 10 cents in coin or stamps.

In the interests of Republican harmony we respectfully request that Commissioner Woodcock be restrained from taking sides. His attempt to dictate to the voters of this state at the eleventh hours is deliberate and contrary to the hands-off policy of President Hoover in all primaries. Immediate action requested."

NOW is the time to learn how 1 match can heat your home all winter

LIGHT YOUR GAS FURNACE THIS FALL
. . . . . TURN IT OFF NEXT SPRING

WHY LIVE in one or two rooms of your home during most of the winter? You can just as easily have every room comfortably warm. If at your winter parties you spend half of the time adjusting fires . . . opening and closing windows . . . wondering if everyone is comfortable . . . then automatic heating will be especially interesting to you. One match ends all of your winter heating problems when you install a gas furnace. You merely light the furnace in the fall and it heats your home automatically all winter until you turn it off next spring.

Your husband will be bragging that he tends his own furnace. Then with a smile explain that winding an 8-day clock is all the attention his new gas furnace requires. He will proudly invite friends down to the furnace room on a tour of inspection—a furnace room spotlessly clean.

When questioned about the mechanics of the furnace, he will naively admit that he doesn't know a gasket from a gadget, but why should he? There's not a single moving part to get out of adjustment, become noisy or wear out. Why, it "orders its own fuel as it needs it," makes its own adjustments to changes in outside temperatures . . . holds the temperature inside comfortably uniform . . . and never varies over one degree!

You already know that natural gas is always clean . . . always cheap and easily handled. Now learn the extra convenience of heating your home with a modern gas furnace. Enjoy the new warmth . . . safety . . . dependability . . . and efficiency that it brings you. Give your family the luxurious comfort of a perfectly heated home this winter. We invite you to make an appointment for our representative to call and discuss your heating problem now—without obligation, of course.

Saving the Eyesight

Those who are trying to build up strength must avoid eyestrain. The eyes use up more nervous energy than any other organ in the body, and for this reason eyestrain wastes vitality quickly.

Such disorders as stomach trouble, headache and nervousness are but a few of the ways in which your eyes affect your whole system if they continually drain your energy.

Eyestrain and fatigue go hand in hand. When your eyes tire easily, smart, blur, or the lids feel weighted down, nature is giving you a friendly signal that your eyes are abused and need a rest.

Other sysmptoms of eyestrain are: Severe aches over and in back of the eyeballs, sometimes a dull ache in the back of the head or neck. The lids may become tender and the edges red and feel as though small particles were under the lid, the eyes become over sensitive to bright lights, and pain at the end of the day.

Many people become so used to having tired eyes that they squint without knowing it and do not realize that their eyes need help. It has been estimated that 90 per cent of the people suffer from eye trouble at some time in their lives. It is impossible for one suffering from eye trouble to see in a normal, relaxed way, and although many people are able to struggle along by straining their eyes, the final result is injury to their health. They may endanger not only their own lives but those of others if they drive automobiles, as they are unable to see exactly where they are going or to estimate distances correctly.

Modern eyes are profoundly overworked. Nature no doubt originally meant man to live outdoors and look over great distances, but now most people have to make their living by close work which demands constant concentration on the part of the tiny eye muscles, and after eight hours of punishment during the day the eyes are usually subject to several more hours of overtime in the evenings.

Millions of eyes suffer from wrong lighting, especially while working. Sharp, glaring light over a desk causes the eyes to tire easily. Many homes, too, are not illuminated in a way to save the eyesight. Another way to tire your eyes is to read in bed with the light at a wrong angle.

In some cases, you can avoid eyestrain by wearing a shade or using colored lenses when driving, but if your eyes tire readily it is a good plan for you to have them tested. The science of optometry gives us the opportunity of seeing more, reading more and removing needless eyestrain through proper fitting of the eyes with lenses.

The need of perfect eyesight was never so great as it is today. Protect your eyes from eyestrain and have them examined if they tire.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question—H. F. asks: "Does a rise in temperature of from one-fifth to three-fifths of a degree signify any bodily disease? This rise comes sometimes in the morning, but generally in the afternoon."

Answer—Such a slight rise in temperature does not indicate any specific disease. Most people are below normal in temperature during the morning and come up to normal in the afternoon. Normal temperature undoubtedly varies with different people.

Diet for 2½-Year-Old

Question—Mrs. G. asks: "Will you suggest the proper diet for a child of 2½ years? He does not seem to be ill, but has rough red spots on his cheeks at times, and is unusually cross and irritable after taking his afternoon nap."

Answer—Try giving him four feedings of milk a day, using eight or 10 ounces of milk at each feeding. At the second, third and fourth feedings give him a good-sized dish of minced spinach, carrots, string beans, summer squash or celery. It is a good plan to use also one of the vegetables raw along with the cooked ones.

Eczema

Question—J. O. H. writes: "I am 50 years old and have had eczema for 12 years. Will you kindly name the foods I should use? Is there a sanitarium that you would advise for a few weeks or longer if satisfactory?"

Answer—Take a fast for a few days and follow the menus I give you each week in this column. Any ordinary case of eczema can be cured by the use of a correctly balanced diet. No sanitarium treatment is necessary if you will follow the proper regimen at home.

The explosion tore away most of the front part of the two-story house, tossing the members of two families from their beds to the floor. The attorney and his wife were asleep on the second floor.

Motorists, too....

Confirm Conoco's Challenge

Now Your Fellow Motorists Tell of Their Experiences, and Urge that You Use This Revolutionary

NEW GERM-PROCESSED OIL

.....The Dollars and Cents Value of Penetrative Lubricity is Proved by Car Owners all Over the Country....Day in and Day Out Users of Motor Oil Verify Every CONOCO Claim

IT ALL BEGAN last November with the vigorous introduction of the new CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil... The big news about this oil was its peculiar ability to penetrate metal surfaces. Too, it was positively stated that the greater oiliness of this new oil would increase gasoline mileage, resist dilution, and reduce the 40% to 60% of motor wear which other oils permit during the starting period of your car... There were skeptics, of course, but many were the new customers who appeared at Red Triangle stations... Soon it seemed as if everyone was talking about this new lubricant. Then came the Pike's Peak Tests, and Germ-Processed oil won first honors on 14 salient points over three other nationally known oils. That started something! More talk, and more new users for CONOCO... Then, before the Pike's Peak furore had died down, CONOCO entered the Indianapolis Speedway Race. After 500 miles at 92 miles per hour, CONOCO emerged with another record: The first stock oil to "place" in the money in this famous race. At Altoona, at speeds up to 120 miles per hour, this performance was duplicated, three of the first five cars using Germ-Processed oil. AAA Contest Board officials certified that only regular stock oil was used in both races, identically like the oil sold at CONOCO stations... And while all of this was going on, every-day drivers who had read our claims, and tried our oil, were making tests of their own. We told the world that the tenacious film of this new oil would protect motors in emergencies, on the strength of the oily-film in the metal alone! These motorists proved it for themselves. We said: "This oil will make winter starting easier, because it is thoroughly de-waxed." They proved it. We said: "This oil will withstand the withering heat of summer operation because of its oilier character." They proved it... It's your fellow-motorists talking to you now. Read their stories, selected at random from the hundreds of voluntary statements which have been sent us.* Compare these impartial accounts of the value of this oil with what you know about other oils you have used... Then decide if you will begin using it yourself... today!

From MONTANA

From Helena, Montana, comes the story of a mechanic who couldn't remove the Germ-Processed film from the cylinder walls of a motor belonging to Mr. Hirsch of that city. Neither gasoline nor naphtha could remove this metal-penetrating film, and now the mechanic recommends CONOCO motor oil to all his patrons.

From WYOMING

Frontier, Wyo., coal miners ride 5 miles daily to their work. When the thermometer dropped to 20 below zero January 6, only two of twenty cars would start. Both were filled with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil. The other miners switched to CONOCO, experienced quick starting all winter with this oil.

From VIRGINIA

The speedometer said 3,681 miles when W. W. Winborne, Jr., of La Crosse, Va., had the crankcase of his car filled with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil. It said 5,156 miles before he drained it, and none was added. The motor was in perfect condition after running 1,475 miles on CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil.

From MISSOURI

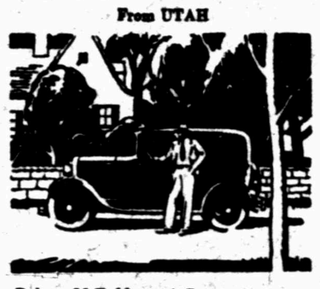

W. M. Happel, of Palmyra, Mo., double-disked and plowed 50 acres with his tractor in 95 hours running time. Tractors are usually drained daily, but Mr. Happel used just one fill of 3 quarts of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, added only 4 quarts. The tractor ran without heating.

From TEXAS

The oldest car in Denton County, Texas, belongs to Fred Kelsay, and J. D. Whiteside. On April 2nd, after several months use of Germ-Processed oil, these men removed the drain plug and drove their 1917 Chevrolet 61.4 miles without oil. Affidavits of the owners and witnesses affirm the fact that no damage was done to this motor. Now they're boosters!

From UTAH

Robert McFadden, of Provo, Utah, examined the CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil in his Model A Ford after running 1,045 miles and found that it "looked and felt almost as good as new." He writes: "Germ-Processed Motor Oil is far ahead of any other oil I have ever used."

From NEW MEXICO

On his daily run of 100 miles between Mogollon and Silver City, N. M., Roy Henry's truck must climb 3,000 feet in 10 miles, mostly in low gear. "Used to change oil every 10 days," he writes, "CONOCO still in crankcase after 25 days ... still in good shape. Easy starting ... lasting qualities ... best ever."

From OKLAHOMA

After he had run 1,000 miles on a fill of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, Alexander Leitch, of Ponca City, Okla., had a sample of it tested by a chemist. He writes, "Viscosity ... very high considering the service. Dilution ... low ... Sediment and cold tests favorable." Only 2 quarts were used by Mr. Leitch.

From NEBRASKA

"Finest ever used," says C. W. Knott, of Lincoln, Neb. He filled his Ford with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil at 727 miles and did not drain until the speedometer showed 2,618 miles. One quart was added. Mr. Knott praises Germ-Processed oil after running 1,891 miles on one fill. Resists heat in long run.

From COLORADO

Clyde Frasee, of Denver, Colo., filled his car with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, added half a pint at 500 miles, did not drain until 1,236 miles. "The CONOCO oil was still in good condition," he says. "Used during coldest weather—13 below zero ... does not congeal ... starts easier ... body to it after a long, hard drive."

* These voluntary and unpaid-for statements and affidavits will be shown to anyone requesting eye-proof. All are on file at the CONOCO offices in Ponca City, Oklahoma

In the Pike's Peak Tests, three other nationally known oils were tested side by side with CONOCO. More than ten thousand observations were made by the AAA Contest Board observers during these tests. After each oil was tested, all motors were torn down and inspected. Every motor part was micrometer measured, and notations made. The results which were made public following the tests were startling and revolutionary. Fourteen points of excellence were granted CONOCO by the impartial authorities who supervised. Outstanding among these points was the fact that motor wear with Germ-Processed oil was reduced 76.4% over the average of the other three oils.

SPUDS LEAD IN OFFENSIVE WHILE CATS HAVE DEFENSIVE EDGE

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Today's Hymn

The Snydermen went up the hill
To fetch the faery bunting
The task required a mite of will
And, off and on, some grunting.

The Snydermen went up the hill,
A toiling pack o' Cats
They hadn't strained with might and main
Since the days of Jakie Atz.

The Snydermen went up the hill
In search of fame and glory
And not until in Spudderville
Did they find the going gory.

The Snydermen went up the hill
In search of Dixie dough
And not until in Spudderville
Did they find the going slow.

The Snydermen went up the hill,
But this is getting old
It's time to bear down to the point
And get this story told.

To-wit, that even if they did
They fared like Jac kand Jill
And wished they'd never seen or heard
Of any kind of hill.

Chief Carlos Williams and his men are in the thick of a fight again, and it's hotter than seventy times seven. The goal he seeks is nothing new, it's what he did with his merry crew in 1927.

To continue, an accurate estimate of the ability of both teams is printed on this page in a story giving the comparative averages of the players on both sides. Read it and get acquainted with the averages before you go to the game today, and you will get more out of it.

Well, there's not much to say today. On the eve of the grandest battle of all, we find ourselves entirely dumb. We've said all there is to say, to-wit, that we're going to win that pennant. Now we're going to conserve energy for use in writing about the three victories that are coming to the Spudders. So long. See you down at the park this afternoon.

But wait. Here's a letter that must be answered.

"Dear Rambler," it starts off. "Will you please settle this argument between two fans. Who did the Spudders finish the season with and was it the day Bettencourt played every position? (Signed) Fat Young and Jim Parker, Thrift, Texas."

Ho-hum!

Well, Mr. Parker and Mr. Young, the Spudders finished the season Sunday with the Fort Worth Cats, the day Larry Bettencourt did not play every position.

There was only one man in the league who played every position in the last game of the season, and he was Papa Pratt, skipper of the Waco Cubs. You probably read about that game and got it confused with the Spudder contest. The Wacoans shifted around, Pratt playing a different position each inning, the outfielders playing in the infield, the infielders doing the pitching, etc., and to cap the climax they won the game. Between you and me, if Papa Pratt had pulled such wild tricks all along he probably would have finished somewhere else than in the second division.

Teams Enter Play-Off Evenly Matched in Games Won and Lost

In the complete Texas league season, the Wichita Falls club, winners of the first half and Fort Worth, victors in the second half, divided evenly their 22 inter-club games. To add to the even character of the inter-club series, each team won five of its victories on its home lot and six in the park of the other club. Fort Worth, however, won but three series from the Spudders while the latter captured the odd game in six, one being split. In the first half, Wichita Falls won five and lost six to the Cats. In the second, Snyder's men turned the tables, winning six and losing five. Fort Worth has blanked Wichita Falls twice, once 1-0, while the Spudders have won but one game from the Cats by the calcimine route. Fort Worth has twice beaten Wichita Falls by one run, the latter winning four contests by this margin, including the only extra inning game in which the two clubs hooked up this year. Fort Worth has made but one Garrison finish to beat the Spudders while the latter has once come from behind to win in the ninth and twice has broken ties in the last frame, including the 10-inning game. Neither club has used more than three pitchers against the other. In five games between the two this season, the starting pitchers of both clubs finished the battle. In the other games, Fort Worth has used one pitcher in three, two pitchers in 10 and three in four, while Wichita Falls has used one flinger in five, two in 11 and three in two.

In comparative figures, Wichita Falls has a distinct offensive edge while Fort Worth has a better fielding average. In man for man figures, the Wichita Falls club outhits Fort Worth at every position except in the box, second and third base, with a practical stand-off existing at first base. On the whole, the Panthers have better fielding averages at a majority of the positions.

The following averages on the two clubs are official except for the final three games of the season played at Wichita Falls, for which newspaper boxes were used in the compilation:

TITLE SERIES OPENS TODAY

Wiltse and Crouch to Lead Spudders

noon. John Boswell, chamber of commerce secretary here, was advised a special train, leaving Fort Worth at 7 a. m., will arrive here at 1:30 p. m. bearing some 300 Cat rooters led by D. W. Carlton, convention and aviation manager of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce. According to his announced intention to "make Fort Worth fans as comfortable until the game starts, and as miserable as possible thereafter," Mr. Boswell announced he had planned a suitable reception for the Cowtowners. A reception committee headed by Walter Cline, and a brass band will be on hand at the Denver station when the special arrives, Mr. Boswell announced. The committee will be composed of Horrace Robbins, chairman of the sports and recreation department of the chamber of commerce; Mayor Walter Nelson Jr.; J. S. Bridwell, chamber of commerce prexy; Jerry Vinson, skipper of the Junior chamber of commerce; J. Alvin Gardner, Texas league president; and William E. Huff, president of our Spudders.

Local fans are urged to be on hand with automobiles with which to transport the Cat fans to the Kemp hotel, which will be their headquarters while here.

Three times this number of Fort Worth fans are expected to make the trip to Wichita Falls by automobile, swelling the total number of visitors from our neighboring metropolis to something over 1,500.

Those coming on the special train are expected to stay here through Thursday to see the second game of the series, it was announced.

Spudder Power

So much for the important details. There probably will be some sort of opening program down at the lot, although the details as to what local citizen, if any, was to throw the first ball, etc., had not been worked out by the busy Spudder officials Tuesday.

Skipper Williams, who has cut out a sizeable niche for himself in the hall of fame since he joined the Spudders years and years ago, is within a whisper of his second Dixie championship pennant, his husky crew of Oilers having won the bunting in 1927. With the sturdy sensational infield, and the massive hitting power drawn together in his 1930 edition, he should be able to overcome the brilliant pitching that has been responsible for the spurt of the Cats—but this, once again, is entering into paper warfare, and the real battle is too close at hand to be bothering with pencil and pad.

CHICKS WIN PENNANT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 9. (AP) Memphis emerged from today's game at New Orleans winner of the 1930 Southern association pennant when the game was forfeited to the Chicks in the last of the ninth with one out.

Great Backfield Looms as Strong Point in Amarillo's 1930 Eleven

By JERRY E. MALIN
Record News Correspondent

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 9.—If the Amarillo High school football eleven of 1930 is to enjoy the success of the past few years in interscholastic competition, Coach Blair Cherry must develop a pair of ends from the most inexperienced squad of boys possible. Out of the 75 players who first reported for training camp, not one had played at end. One former junior high school tackle out for the 1930 team, was sent in to take an injured end's place last year, but the final whistle blew before the lad could get in a single play.

A capable center and understudy must also be developed. Although Cherry has three men who have had experience at this position, none have shown enough ability in both offense and defense to justify being called a regular.

Good Backfield Seen

To offset the dearth of ends and centers and to make the outlook a trifle rosy for the former North Side, Fort Worth mentor, five good-looking backs have been cavorting about in scrimmage and signal drill with all the appearance of strength in this department. Lead by the galloping Burl Bufkin, captain and star of last year's team, these five boys give promise of developing into the best all-around backfield ever to represent the Golden Sandstorm on the gridiron. Odell Fowler, Richard Scandlon, Joe Hancock and Herman Dees are the other members of the backfield.

Plenty of tackles and guards are at Cherry's beck and call and he has been calling them all during the past week, seeking the most powerful combination to work with his fast-stepping backfield. Mike Montgomery, guard of last year, and with Buffkin the crop of returning letter men from the 1929 squad of 22, has been one of the sensations of the camp. He is a husky youngster, full of the type of ginger that, fortunately, is infectious, and as co-captain, leads the line play. At the other guard is Johnny Foster, a trifle small, but fast and alert. Bill Allen and John Estes, both big men and hustlers, appear to have the tackle positions sewed up. Jim McKnight, reserve center of last year and understudy of the all-state center, Fred Nicklaus, and Leslie Cazzell, a first-year man, are being used at center.

First Game Sept. 20

The Golden Sandstorm plays the first game of the season here Sept. 20, against the Lawton, Okla., team. The Lawton eleven for several years has been conference champions and is expected to give the Sandies a tough tussle in the initial contest.

Following this game will come a district No. 1 championship game with the Quanah Indians. The Indians failed to kick up much dust last year, but with a wealth of new material, several letter men and a new coach they may prove to be the dark horse of the district. This contest will be played on Sept. 26 and the very next day the ambitious Sandies play the non-conference Norman, Okla., eleven that gave them one of the toughest battles of the season last year.

Conference Teams Hit Training Grind

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.

DALLAS, Sept. 9. (AP)—Like a string of thoroughbreds waiting at the barrier, seven Southwest conference football squads fretted tonight as they awaited tomorrow's sun. When the golden orb appears over the horizon another race will be on its way.

For several days the football warriors have been mobilizing at their respective bivouacs, receiving equipment and generally getting set for the grind. There will be no delay in getting down to business when the seven head mentors and their corps of assistants call all hands out tomorrow.

Two coaches, Francis Schmidt of the champion Texas Christian university Horned Frogs and Jack Meagher of the Rice Institute Owls, will need every minute at their disposal to whip bulky squads into shape for opening games. The Frogs open against the Denton Teachers a week from Friday, and on the following day the Owls will encounter the Southwestern university Pirates.

Schedule makers at the other five schools were more considerate, giving their coaches until Sept. 27 to tune up their machines. On that day Southern Methodist will open against Howard Payne, University of Texas against the Texas College of Mines, Texas Aggies against Southwestern, Arkansas against College of Ozarks, and Baylor against the Denton Teachers.

For the first time in several years, every Southwest conference coach was able to resume where he left off last November. Ray Morrison, starting his ninth year at Southern Methodist, was the dean of the section's mentors. Morley Jennings ranked next, with three years at Baylor behind him, and Clyde Littlefield opened his third season as head coach at the University of Texas. Fred Thomsen at Arkansas, Francis Schmidt at Texas Christian, Jack Meagher at Rice and Matty Bell at Texas A. & M. all were back for their second semester.

With four schools promising to have exceptionally powerful elevens and the other three far from downhearted at their prospects, the impending scramble for the title held by Texas Christian was expected to be one of the hottest in the 15-year history of the conference. In the "strong" group, offhand, were the Christians, Southern Methodist, Baylor and the University of Texas. Every one of the quartet must be conceded a chance at the championship.

Although a return victory for the Horned Frogs would upset all precedent, a majority of critics were inclined to favor the Fort Worth entry. Coach Schmidt will miss his stellar quarterback of last year, Howard Grubbs, and five regular linesmen, but he has a wealth of reserve material from 1929 and a sparkling lot of sophomores from which to round out a contender.

The Baylor Bears might prove a real surprise package. In fact, they were a surprise last year because they did not win. The team returns in a body and with a year's added experience.

With Shelley, Perkins and Elkins back for another campaign, the Texas Longhorns are assured a capable backfield, with only the quarterback post to be filled. Graduation took several outstanding stars from the line, including Capt. Gordy Brown and "Big Un" Rose, all-conference end, but there are plenty of huskies to take their places.

Mendlandt Leads Field In Rifle Championship

CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Sept. 9. (UP)—Sergeant H. W. Wendlandt, United States infantry, Fort Snelling, Minn., was leading a field of 1,659 entrants as the first two stages of the national individual rifle match were complete today. Wendlandt, with a score of 99 out of a possible 100, was one ahead of Sergeant E. R. Cook, Tucson, Ariz.

FLOCK FURTHER FLUSTERS RACE WITH VICTORY OVER CUBS

PHELPS BLANKS LEADERS, 3-0

Robins in Virtual Tie For Second Place

BROOKLYN, Sept. 9. (AP)—The strong right arm of Ray Phelps, freshman star of the Brooklyn pitching staff, threw the National league more than ever into a four-cornered fight today as he pitched the Robins to a 3 to 0 victory over the Cubs in the first game of Chicago's eastern invasion.

Phelps shut out the National league champions with five hits, scattered through as many different innings, and put the Robins into a virtual tie for second place with the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost a 2 to 1 decision across the river in New York.

Brooklyn is only one point behind the Cards and both teams are only 2½ games behind Chicago.

The Robins scored a run in the first inning on a swinging bunt with two out in the eighth when Babe Herman drove his 31st home run into the left field bleachers with one on base.

Through the rest of the game, Phelps and Pat Malone, Cub pitching ace, engaged in a close duel. Score:

GIANTS 2, CARDS 1

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—An old-fashioned pitchers' battle today with the veterans, Clarence Mitchell and Burleigh Grimes, as the principals, enabled the Giants to gain a game on the two leaders of the National league pennant race with a 2 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. The triumph placed the fourth-place Giants only three games behind the league leading Chicago Cubs and a half game behind St. Louis and Brooklyn.

For six innings the duel progressed without a score with the Cards getting three hits off Mitchell's left-handed spitball hurling while Grimes allowed only one more. All the scoring came in the seventh, the Cards taking a brief lead only to see the Giants go ahead in the same inning. Score:

A'S DEFEAT TIGERS, 3-1

Detroit Bunch Outhits Champions

DETROIT, Sept. 9. (AP)—Jim Moore, recruit outfielder late of Dallas, Texas, batted out a home run in the fifth inning of today's game, scoring Bing Miller ahead of him to provide the margin by which the Athletics defeated Detroit in the series opener, 3 to 1.

Moore's circuit blow enabled Lefty Grove to mark up his 26th victory of the season. Except for that moment of weakness, Earl Whitehill pitched on even terms with Grove in a hurlers' duel. Score:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—Offerings were lighter after yesterday's active selling and there were moderate rallies in cotton on trade buying and covering during today's trading. New December which had declined to 10.90 following yesterday's government crop report advanced to 11.15 and closed at 11.13, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 6 to 13 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 to 8 points under continuation of yesterday's selling movement which was encouraged by relatively easy Liverpool cables. There was considerable covering and trade buying, but it was supplied by the early offerings with the market soon showing net losses of about 10 to 13 points. Trade buying increased around 10.77 for the new October and 11.17 for March, however, and the market later was quiet and comparatively steady.

Some southern selling was reported here on the early decline but offerings from that source were comparatively light during the day and contracts appeared to become scarce after the early selling had been absorbed. Buyers did not show much disposition to follow up the advances and the midday recoveries met some liquidation and local selling, but the demand picked up again on moderate setbacks and the highest prices of the day were reached in the late trading. New October sold at 10.98 and March 11.42 making net advances of 11 to 14 points on the more active positions. Closing quotations were 2 to 4 points off from the rest under realizing.

Market Takes Encouraging Stand Against Renewed Selling Pressure

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (US)—Displaying an impressive resistance to selling pressure, the stock market today more than held its own from the price standpoint. There was plenty of excuses upon which to base selling, but actually the volume of offerings was moderate and whatever selling appeared in the principal issues was well absorbed. The market itself is winning many new friends by its refusal to yield to discouraging news. The fact that on setbacks in price only light offerings are induced emphasizes the changed sentiment now dominant in the speculative market. There is an attitude of hope which was notably absent not many weeks ago. A decline in wheat close to its record low levels had only temporary influence on stock quotations. The gasoline price war in the East was a factor only on the oil group. In other words the market seems to be isolating such news and ignoring it more or less from the general standpoint of the entire list. Transactions again were on an active scale, approaching the two-million-share mark. The close was generally firm.

The market had been under light pressure until the afternoon when the public utility shares suddenly revived. Their strength was maintained to the close and led to expectations that the weekly power-consumption figures will show an increase. The utilities, selling on an average close to 20 times per share earnings, naturally are meeting only light investment demand, but the more speculative issues in the group harbor a substantial short interest which has become stubborn. Strong interests are sponsoring the utilities, particularly the Electric Bond & Share group. The extensive short interest provides ample basis for sharp advances in favored utilities. In a few such issues, of course, fundamental influences are responsible for buying, such as the expectation National Power & Light will figure in important expansion plans.

Notable strength in leading merchandise issues, with Woolworth as the leader, likewise was instrumental in reviving hopes that actual betterment of trade will be witnessed in the near future. Woolworth has been particularly well bought in the knowledge that its sales recently have shown an uptrend. Macy was also in demand. This company is recognized as an outstanding enterprise in its field and certain to benefit immediately from any revival of public merchandising buying. Tobacco stocks were also in demand, American tobacco reaching the best level of the present movement. Buying of American tobacco is of investment character, based on the company's excellent record and expectations that its 1930 earnings report will make amazing reading. Liggett & Myers, in which buying has been for the account of a leading investment group, also advanced into new high territory. Oil stocks as a group were heavy, as selling continued on fears the price war may spread into other territories.

United States Steel continued to ignore repeated prophecies that the corporation's unfilled tonnage report would disclose an enormous decrease during August, estimates placing the drop as high as 400,000 tons. Nevertheless, the point made here that the unfilled orders figures are less vital than in years past was more widely appreciated and the stock advanced close to its high of last week and closed up a point.

Furthermore, the influence of the official disclosure of the lower tonnage my be offset either by further expansion of operations or by a cheerful statement by the corporation's management reaffirming its bullish remarks of mid-summer.

It is not at all unlikely that the bull contingent in the stock market will make a forceful demonstration tomorrow to offset any possible adverse influence created by the steel figures. It is understood that several of the largest and most powerful factors on the constructive side of the market have been lining up for just such an effort.

Commercial Solvents, in which a powerful buying continued, reached a new high. Demand for the stock is attributed to well-informed interests. The motion picture shares were quiet. Young Spring and Wire eased fractionally as its sponsors lessened activity but renewed aggressiveness was promised for the near future. Railroad stocks were inclined to softness, but firmed toward the close on hopes that the near future will disclose actual evidence of increased traffic. Many Railroad dividends depend on the volume of traffic developing over the next two months.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—Cotton gray goods markets were steady today. Mills were holding prices against some bidding engendered by the previous day's crop estimate. Fine goods were inquired for. Spot raw silks were unchanged here and in Japan. Burlaps were again on the easy side for future shipment due to low August exports to this country, with the spot market here fairly steady.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 9. (AP)—There was a fair demand in the domestic wheat market here, but nothing doing in the export market. Offerings were light. There also was a fair demand in the corn and oats markets, but here also the offerings were light.

Estimated receipts: Wheat, 16 cars; corn, 4; oats, 4; barley, 10; sorghums, 7, and hay, 5.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points freight paid:

Wheat—No. 1 ordinary hard milling any protein 92½@93½c.

Corn—No. 2 mixed $1.00@1.01; No. 2 white $1.01@1.02; No. 2 yellow $1.11@1.12.

Oats—No. 3 white 49½@50c; No. 3 red 52@53c.

Sorghums—No. 2 yellow milo $1.92@1.95; No. 2 white kaffir $1.68@1.72.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. (AP)—Oppressed by the weight of hedging sales from the Northwest and by weakness at Winnipeg, Chicago wheat closed today at almost the season's bottom levels. Wheat values were on the downgrade from the start with only a mild rally or two to check the steady descent. Scattered selling by Chicago operators and commission houses forced values down until only a fraction separated the final quotations from the lowest levels reached this season. A lack of foreign demand, gloomy reports as to the French wheat crop this year and continued heavy movement of the spring wheat crop northwest were all weakening factors. Corn was unsettled, but prices averaged higher. Sufficient buying by commission houses developed to more than offset the weakness engendered by the downward trend of wheat.

Wheat closed nervous and unsettled 1¼@1½c net lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛c lower to ⅜@⅝c higher, oats ¼@⅜c down, and provisions ranged from unchanged to a decline of 17c.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—September (offers) 84c; December 87¼c, 89⅛c; March 90⅝c, 93⅜c; May 93¾c, 96⅛c; Corn—September 96⅝c, 98½c; December 91½@91⅝c, 93⅝@93⅜c; March 93⅝c, 95¼c; May 95¼c, 97⅝@97½c.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 9. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Cattle trade around the 11-market circuit was stimulated by light to moderate receipts. Demand was broad for light weight fed steers and yearlings at strong to 25c higher prices. Weighty fed steers were rather draggy and at most centers failed to show any strength.

Other killing classes at points where supplies were curtailed, were on a firm to 25c higher basis, but St. Louis, with a liberal run of grass steers, reported such offerings as steady to 25c lower. Moderate interest was displayed in replacement stock at steady values. Chicago scored $12.70 on choice light yearlings while at Omaha finished 1,421-pound beeves realized $12.50. Medium quality Texas cake fed in Kansas City brought $8.50 and $8.75. Aggregate receipts estimated at 41,000 were 23,500 less than last Tuesday and 3,500 short of a year ago.

Industrial Traffic League Meets Sept. 16

Determination of policy toward various problems affecting shippers and carriers in the Southwest will comprise the work of the Texas Industrial Traffic league in a meeting to be held at Austin on Sept. 16, according to a communication received by Dudley B. Foy, assistant manager of the local chamber of commerce, and third vice president of the league.

Revision of freight rates which will permit rail lines to compete with movement through the Panama canal is being sought by a number of railroad companies, it was said, and the attitude of the league toward this matter is expected to be formulated. Proposals of the Texas and Pacific railway to construct a rail line from Big Spring to Amarillo and Vega, and of the Southern Pacific to take over the Cotton Belt railway, also will be given the attention of the league.

According to Mr. Foy, a spirited fight will be precipitated by the effort of the Texas and Pacific to extend its lines northward from Big Spring.

J. W. Chatham of this city also is a director in the league, which includes about 200 chambers of commerce and civic organizations' representatives in its membership.

America 'Going to Hell on Red-Hot Axles,' Evangelist Here Declares

"The churches are the brakes on the devil's chariot and if the people of the churches don't wake up, America is going to hell on red-hot axles because the brake lining is rotten!" Rev. Harry S. Allen told a large congregation at the Tuesday night services of the revival now in progress at the Grant Street Methodist church.

The Rev. Mr. Allen's subject for the evening was "Weighed in the Balances and Found Wanting."

"There are church members in Wichita Falls who are harboring the devil in the liquor traffic. If you know where it is and are not helping your officers find it, you are as dirty as the man who knew who killed your old father and wouldn't attempt to notify the officers. My friend, if the shoe fits, wear it. We either don't have backbone or we are lacking in common sense.

"God forbid that we should in this mad rushing life not pause to look at our reflection and see that we are in the sight of the One we expect to spend eternity with. It is time Wichita Falls was stopping and weighing itself in the balance and making up to the fact that it would be found wanting. You desecrate the Sabbath with baseball, picture shows, pool halls and numerous attractions. If half of the church members in Wichita Falls were giving one-tenth of their time to the Lord, there would be no opportunity to have a two weeks' revival. We would have one all the time. Our jails would be empty and our churches full."

Rites for Larkin Wait Word From Relatives

Funeral arrangements remained incomplete Tuesday night for Henry Larkin, 52, driver for the Perfection Water company, who was fatally injured when crushed between an automobile and the rear of his truck Monday afternoon. The body was being held by the Merkle Undertaking company pending word from relatives of the deceased in Arkansas.

J. H. Simmons, manager of the Perfection Water company, received a telegram Tuesday from relatives of Larkin but nothing was said in the message concerning funeral arrangements. It was indicated that the body would be removed from Wichita Falls and sent for burial to his home in Arkansas. The message stated further word would be sent Wednesday morning to the funeral parlor.

The accident occurred about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon on Indiana avenue near the Tenth street intersection. O. D. Reid of Knox City, driver of the car which struck Larkin, was at liberty Tuesday on bond after he had been named in a complaint charging negligent homicide in the first degree.

GOP Makes Bid For All Voters

for Texas; advocated reorganization of the educational system "to insure its improvement and reduce the cost to the taxpayer; adequate appropriations for state eleemosynary institutions; installation of the budget system in all state departments; abolishing of useless boards," including a combination of the offices of county tax collector, assessor and treasurer; strict law enforcement, with cooperation from state and county officials in prohibition law enforcement and "sweeping reform" of the criminal code; old age and mothers' pensions; amendments to make taxes payable quarterly instead of annually; conservation of natural resources; a law granting two-year equity of redemption for homes sold under foreclosure; an immediate audit of the state highway department's affairs; "unalterable opposition" to issuance of state bonds for road purposes; an amendment to the law providing that counties may retain all funds from automobile license fees collected within the counties.

Business-like administration of the state prison system; higher license fees for busses and trucks; revision of the state election laws; a protective tariff on crude oil and opposition to further immigration; reduction in "exhorbitant and oppressive" pipe line charges "now being levied by some of the major companies" and, finally, more denunciation of "political demagoguery."

Busses Attacked

The platform called attention to "the fact that we would now have a tariff on crude oil excepting the fact that only eight Democratic senators voted for it compared to 29 Republicans."

It was charged that busses and trucks "are unfairly competing with railroads and destroying public highways" and a graduated tax was recommended, "sufficiently high to equalize the relative cost of their operations with that of railroads and to pay for highways."

Democrats were "condemned" for their "unbusiness-like, wildly extravagant and scandalous management" of the prison system. Similarly harsh was the plank advocating election law revision, which called the present system "the most complex, confusing, contradictory, unfair and unreasonable election law in any state."

A highway commission to be elected from the different sections of Texas—one each from the north, south, east and west—presided over by an appointive chairman, was recommended.

THEATER TO OPEN SEASON

Dramatic Group to Give Plays Tonight

Formal launching of the 1930-31 season of the Wichita Falls Little Theater will take place at the organization's playhouse at Polk street and Avenue H. Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, when old members and friends will be entertained with two one-act plays, and will hear detailed plans for the coming year's work discussed by their officers.

Wednesday night's opening will be in the nature of an open house entertainment for all who have belonged to the Little Theater in the past, who plan to be members during the ensuing year, and friends, according to Emil Hermann, president, and F. C. McClung, director.

Thorough preparation has been made during the past month for the entertainment features of the evening's program. The first play to be given will be presented by a cast composed of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Ferrell and Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Watkins. Mr. Farrell and Mrs. Watkins established themselves with Little Theater audiences last year with feature performances in "White Collars" and other productions, while Mrs. Farrell and Mr. Watkins will be enacting their first major performance for the organization. Their play will be "Concentration."

For the second one-act production Wednesday night, Miss Dorothy Knight, Jerry Moffett and Ernest Robertson will be presented in "Mountain Justice." Both Mr. Moffett and Mr. Robertson were stellar performers in productions of the past season.

Announcement of the first play to be given on the regular season of the Little Theater for 1930-31 will be made at the meeting Wednesday night, it was said. Mr. Hermann will explain in detail also the membership plan adopted by directors of the Little Theater for the current season. Books containing seven tickets each, providing admission for seven individuals to any one or different plays, will be sold for $5, the holder of the book becoming an active member of the organization by virtue of his possession. The plan has been used by both the Dallas and Fort Worth Little Theaters in recent years, and has been found the most successful in their history, it was stated.

Members and friends were urged to be on hand promptly at 8:30 Wednesday night, in order that the plays may be presented on scheduled time for the convenience of those included in the two casts.

NOONE LEADS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 9. (UP)—Ballot returns from 238 towns and wards out of 294 in New Hampshire's primary election showed:

For governor, Republican: Winant, 19,476; Morrill, 17,206; Moore, 4,625.

For governor, Democrat: Noone, 2,535; Small, 2,035.

For United States Senator, Democratic: Noone, 2,035; Blandin, 1,664.

VERMONT DEFEATS WET CANDIDATE

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 9. (AP)—Stanley C. Wilson of Chelsea, lieutenant governor of Vermont, was leading two rivals for the Republican nomination for governor in today's primaries in returns from 38 of Vermont's 248 towns and cities.

In the fight in the first congressional district, Gov. John E. Weeks, Republican nominee, was leading on complete returns in 25 cities and towns out of 115. Weeks is a dry and polled 1,734. H. Max Drennan, St. Albans, was second with 1,029. Martin S. Vilas, who declared in favor of modification to obtain better enforcement, was third with 283 votes.

HUNT LEADING IN ARIZONA

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 9. (AP)—Former Governor George W. P. Hunt took a lead of 833 votes over his nearest competitor in the four-cornered race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination with 37 complete and 38 incomplete precincts out of the state's 502 reported tonight.

John C. Phillips, incumbent, was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

COUZENS PASSES CHASE OSBORN

DETROIT, Sept. 9. (UP)—Three of the five candidates for mayor of Detroit were less than 6,000 votes apart as returns slowly accumulated two hours after the city's polls closed.

Mayor Charles Bowles, whose administration was repudiated when he was recalled in July, but who is still in office and was an automatic candidate for re-election, was among the leaders.

Judge Frank Murphy, supported by Detroit's most powerful dailies, was in the lead, however, with Bowles a close second. George Engel, a city employe, was running a close third.

The vote for mayor in 127 precincts out of a total of 852 in the city stood: Murphy 18,294; Bowles 16,262; Engel, 13,432; former Mayor John Smith, 3,608; and Phillip Raymond, a worker's party candidate, 588.

United States Senator James Couzens, running for renomination on the Republican ticket, crept up and passed former Gov. Chase S. Osborn in scattered returns from one-third of the counties in the state.

The vote in 84 precincts out of 3,234 in the state was Couzens, 4,437; Osborn, 3,608.

DAIRYMEN TO TOUR COUNTY

Chillicothe Group to Visit Here Today

Dairymen and farmers from the vicinity of Chillicothe to the number of about 25 are expected to arrive in Wichita Falls at 9:15 o'clock Wednesday morning for a tour of several modern dairies located in and near this city, it was announced Tuesday by G. C. McGown, county farm agent and demonstrator.

The visiting party has been organized by W. M. Gourley, secretary of the chamber of commerce and high school teacher of agriculture at Chillicothe. Persistent efforts are being made in that community, it was said, to develop materially the milk producing industry. The party plans to spend the entire day following their arrival here in visiting the largest and most extensively equipped dairies in this locality.

Mr. McGown will accompany the group, and will serve as guide in acquainting them with the establishments which they wish to visit here.

STATE: John Wray in "Czar of Broadway." Short subjects and sound news.

STRAND: "Animal Crackers" with the four Marx brothers. Grantland Rice sportlight. Screen song and sound news.

MAJESTIC: Bebe Daniels in "Lawful Larceny." Comedy and sound news.

GEM: "Dr. Fu Manchu," with Warner Oland. Comedy.

There is one scene in "Lawful Larceny" which jerks it back out of the pit where lie the screen's worst pictures—the few feet of film in which Bert Roach meticulously removes a billiard cue from the reach of two angry women. Otherwise, there is nothing but women fighting over men—and a couple of rather effeminate men, at that.

Although Bebe isn't as young as she was in some of her better pictures, it is still rather surprising that a woman of her type should show such tiger-like vehemence in fighting for a he-pansy like Bert Roach or a smug tomcat like Lowell Sherman.

However, the public seems to prefer it to those which have ranked higher, and the public pays for its admission while the critics get in on passes.

Those who haven't seen "Animal Crackers" can go and enjoy Groucho do a Eugene O'Neill in the strangest interlude of all. Those who have already seen it two or three times may be forced to fall back on premature golf until the arrival of "Holiday" on Saturday. "Holiday," according to the most critical of critics, is really a grown-up picture and gives the audience credit for a little intelligence instead of injecting onerous subtitles such as "Three hours later and the child was still crying for its mother."

"Holiday" will begin at the Majestic on Saturday. Friday night's free extra matinee will bring back "The Big Pond" with Maurice Chevalier and a midnight matinee on Saturday will present Lon Chaney in "The Unholy Three." The latter is not a regular show, of course, and will entail an extra charge.

"The Unholy Three," Chaney's last picture before his death, will begin a regular three-day run at the theater next Wednesday.

POLICE HALT DEATH PLOT

Gang Leader Saved From Fatal 'Ride'

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9. (US)—Two bold attempts today to take Danny Pasquali "for a ride" in what police termed a bootleg war were frustrated.

Armed with knives, three swarthy men forced Pasquali into their automobile in the Italian district, Vito Fe Bari and Vincenzo Ambriola, his friends, forced the car of the kidnapers into the curb after a chase of several blocks and rescued Pasquali after a fist fight.

Undaunted, the three kidnapers returned 15 minutes later to Pasquali's home. This time they carried guns. Holding Pasquali's friends at bay, they were hustling him into their auto when the wail of sirens on approaching police cars caused them to abandon their intended victim and flee.

Hoo Hoo Club to Ask Archer Court To Provide Road at Diversion Lake

Residents of Section to Ask Condemnation Proceedings; New Officers Installed at Meeting

Citizens of counties surrounding Lake Kemp and Diversion lake will appear in the commissioners court of Archer county next Monday morning in an effort to obtain condemnation of lands near Diversion dam for additional approach to the water front, according to information given before members of the Hoo Hoo club Tuesday noon by C. E. Naylor, a director of that organization.

A narrow strip of rocky shore land which separates the Hoo Hoo clubhouse from the waters of Diversion lake, a short distance west of the dam, has recently been closed to members of the club as well as to the public, it was said. Approach to boat houses on the shoreline has been by way of a roadway across the strip for several years, members of the club said. The clubhouse is built on land belonging to Mrs. Herbert Griffin, while the intervening strip across which passage is asked is included in the Waggoner lands, according to the discussion.

Road condemnation process will be opened before the Archer county commissioners Monday, according to the plan described, in an effort to obtain condemnation of the small area in question as a measure of public right and convenience. It was intimated that an array of legal talent will be marshalled against the movement by owners of the land in question.

Inauguration of J. H. Crumpler, president; O. H. Stephens, vice president, and Carl LeBrecht, secretary treasurer, featured the business session of the Hoo Hoo club. Mr. Crumpler succeeds G. D. Bowie, who became a director in the recent election along with W. H. McAbee, Walter Taylor, C. E. Naylor and Maurice Stephens. C. H. Dodd of Dallas was a guest of the club.

Save Money By Remodeling That Old Building Now!
● Many old homes, stores and offices are as sound today as when first built, but they look out-of-date and, therefore, rent low. It's a real investment to remodel these buildings. Their rental and selling value immediately increase.
● Many old houses have spacious and beautiful interiors. From the outside, however, they seem shabby, old-fashioned, run-down. A few changes will both improve the looks and increase the value of such homes. A modern, light-colored stucco over the old walls, a fireproof roof or a coat of paint may be all that an old building needs.
● Ask your building material dealer, architect or contractor to make some suggestions for remodeling. You will be happily surprised to find out how easily and economically it can be done now.
