Final Decisions In Cases To Be Deferred Until District Of Columbia Court Acts On A Similar Cause

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. — Two Texas utilities companies filed suits today in District of Columbia supreme court to prevent Secretary Ickes, Public Works administrator, from advancing loans for municipal power plants in four Texas cities.

The Texas Utilities company sought to block loans of $154,000 to Post, $126,000 to Littlefield and $150,000 to Plainview, and the Gulf States Utilities company protested against a proposed $200,000 loan to Huntsville.

Endanger Investments

Both concerns claimed that their investments in the cities, valued at $520,000, would be endangered.

These suits increased to eight the number of cases pending in the supreme court. Final decisions in all will be deferred until District of Columbia court of appeals acts in a test case involving a loan to Hominy, Okla., for a similar power plant. This decision is expected at the court term beginning next Monday.

Suit Resulted From Ruling Given Here

The suit filed in the supreme court of Washington, D. C., resulted from a ruling in federal district court here June 22 by Judge James C. Wilson that Secretary Ickes was an indispensable party to the action. As he could not be served here, the bill of complaints was dismissed and Bledsoe, Crenshaw and Dupree, Lubbock attorneys, and a Washington law firm filed a new action in Washington enjoining Mr. Ickes and associates from paying out money to the City of Plainview. The two suits, that filed here and that at Washington, are alike only as regards cause of action.

Ruling Is Given

Judge Wilson ruled here that Plainview could proceed with plans for completing an agreement with Mr. Ickes for a PWA loan and grant of $423,000 for plant construction.

Possibility of the case's going eventually to the supreme court of the United States is seen.

Texas Utilities company is plaintiff in only two suits, Littlefield and Post being jointly named.

"Unprecedented Prosperity" In Six Months Is Visioned

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 1. (AP)—"Unprecedented prosperity" within six months was predicted for the United States today by Governor James M. Curley of Massachusetts.

The governor, en route to Hawaii to meet his daughter, told interviewers President Roosevelt had "lost some ground" in Massachusetts, but "had so much ground" that he could not be defeated.

Ringing Words Of Optimism Sounded

President Urges Liberals To Unite On A Common Ground; Fair Weather Is Noted

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1.—President Roosevelt made a plea for liberals to unite on a "common ground" of action today in a speech before more than 70,000 persons.

"Our own national program," he said, "owes a great debt," to the "liberal spirit" of California.

Mr. Roosevelt, in ringing words of optimism, declared "we have come through stormy seas into fair weather . . . . patience is receiving its reward. Faith is being justified. Hope is being fulfilled."

Then, pledging continued efforts in behalf of the needy, he said, "the faith of a liberal is profound belief, not only in capacities of individual men and women, but in the effectiveness of people helping one another.

"Liberals must find common ground and a common road—each making some concession as to form and method in order that all may obtain the substance of what all desire."

Much Applause Given

The president was greeted at every turn by resounding applause from the throng crowded into the big coliseum.

"Just so long as the least among us remains hungry or uncared for or unable to finde useful work, just so long must it be the task of all government—local, state and federal—to seek reasonable but progressive meaans to assist the unfortunate.

"California has many splendid examples of the usefulness of human co-operation.

"No state has been more earnest in its desire to expand the ideal of social justice."

"I can tell you truthfully," President Roosevelt said, "that in crossing the continent, I have been heartened, more than anything else, by the look on peoples' faces.

Courage Great Factor

"It is true that we who are entrusted with the responsibilities of government have labored toward this end, but the greatest factor in the improvement has been the courage of the American people themselves.

"Without your help, our labors would have availed far less.

"We have taken many steps to protect the family and the individual against many of the natural vicissitudes of life. We have moved forward to give greater security to the unemployed and to the aged. We have sought sound means to our end.

"I have but one thought of regret today. On that occasion (the Olympics) I was introduced by a very old friend of mine, a friend of every man, woman and child in the United States, a kindly philosopher—one who would be with us today but for his untimely death in Alaska.

Laughed At Facts

"Will Rogers' kindly humor saw facts and laughed at them in fantasy."

Thousands stood throughout the address.

When the party left the coliseum Mr. Roosevelt was cheered re-

Another GOP Attack Opens On Roosevelt

"Roosevelt Versus Roosevelt" Is Rallying Cry For Republicans; Say Performance Is Not Jibing With Promises

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Another Republican attack on Roosevelt dependability late today paralleled the president's appeal in Los Angeles for "progressive liberals" to unite behind the New Deal.

Each development carried its own significance for 1936.

Challenges Are Sharp

Sharpening challenges of Roosevelt sincerity, on the one hand, have indicated increasingly the campaigning ahead will be no counterpart of last year when the president personally was almost immune to criticism.

His current espousal of the liberal viewpoint, on the other hand, struck political quarters as renewed evidence of willingness to leave the extremely conservative field to the opposition.

The latest imputation of bad faith came when the Republican national committee projected "Roosevelt versus Roosevelt" as a rallying cry. The contention, in another issue of "facts and opinions," was that performance has not jibed with promises.

To Launch Program

This theme, Republican spokesmen said, will be elaborated in the Republican national congressional committee program of eight radio speeches in two months, which

Madge Malone Is Chosen As Student Court Senior Judge

Madge Malone, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Malone, 1917 Tenth street was elected senior student of the Junior High school student court Tuesday in a final run-off.

Mary Clare Barnett and Pete Cawthon were runners up in the election. Pete, however, withdrew before the final election.

Other officers elected were Henrietta Stewart, court reporter; Joyce Halsey, seventh grade judge; Bill Coker, court clerk; A. B. Sansom, sixth grade judge; Auther Ben Luck, baliff. Others nominated for the offices included Madge Johnson, Bernice Keeton, Ralph Cocanougher and Carol Clairborne.

Howard Hinson, Junior High school instructor, has been in charge of organization of the new student government. Each Tuesday morning court will be held and those who have broken rules punished.

People Warned Not To Pay, Money Into Pension Funds

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—State Auditor Orville S. Carpenter reminded many Texans today the state as yet has no old age pension law.

He said numerous requests for applications arrived daily and warned people against paying money to help secure a pension or to put their names on the "rolls."

RADIO MAN INDICTED

Talk Of War Boosts Wheat

Prices Soar Almost Four Cents A Bushel As Rumors Indicate Possibility Of Conflict In Africa Within Week

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Excited gossip that war would break out in Africa within a week created a bull market in wheat today, with prices soaring almost 4 cents a bushel.

Late trading rushed future prices well above the dollar level. December wheat touched $1.02 7-8, a new high for the season for that delivery.

Hog Prices Plummet Sharply At Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (AP) — Sharply tumbling hog prices in the face of the lowest receipts in history today marked a seasonal break in the livestock trade.

Although pork supplies were far below normal with no indication of being substantially bolstered in the near future, hog buyers forced the sharpest two-day concession in prices of the year.

All-College Pep Rally Will Be Staged In City Thursday

An all-college pep rally at Texas Technological college will be conducted Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the gymnasium or, if weather permits, on the football field, in preparation for the Wichita university-Tech football game Friday evening.

Pete Cawthon, coach, Dr. Bradford Knapp, college president, Dean J. M. Gordon and others will speak.

Mobilization For Ethiopia To Open Soon

Two Nations Steadily Prepare For Hostilities As Outbreak Of War Is Forecast During Month Of October

Tension Mounting

Italian Press Resuming Its Bitterness Toward Britain; France And England Seeking Mutual Assistance Pact

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 1. — October, the month many observers predicted would see the outbreak of war between Italy and Ethiopia, found those nations steadily preparing today for just such an eventuality.

Emperor Haile Selassie was believed preparing to call a general mobilization. He received assurances from women leaders of the country they would do their share at the front.

Consulates Evacuated

Because of the increased tension, the Italian minister to Ethiopia ordered Italian consulates in the provinces of Aduwa and Harar evacuated. Other consular agents in the interior are en route either to Addis Ababa or points outside the country.

Increasing uneasiness was noted in Rome over the fact the British fleet is still massed in the Mediterranean. Anglo-Italian tension was relaxed recently through mutual assurances but the Rome press today resumed its bitterness against London.

Authoritative circles construed the British concentration as a military sanction, far in advance of any action the League of Nations may take.

Pledges Are Dodged

Two great factors in the European situation—Great Britain and France—dickered in Paris. Negotiations for a mutual assistance pact, officials disclosed, found both nations dodging specific pledges.

France is unwilling to go further with Britain in the event of war with Italy than she expects Britain to go with her should German attack France.

Unexpectedly, the Paris government called air maneuvers near the German border. The Prince of Wales lunched at the British embassy with Premier Laval and other high French officials.

Regarded Inevitable

League delegates regard an African war as almost inevitable.

Rep. George Mahon Visits Here; To Return Saturday

Pleasure at recent PWA approvals was expressed by Congressman George Mahon Tuesday afternoon. He was in Lubbock briefly, after addressing the Luncheon club at Lamesa, speaking to a convocation of school students and visiting the CCC camp there. He goes to Plainview today, and will spend all Saturday in Lubbock.

"I rejoice with those who have benefitted from PWA approvals," he said, "and hope there may be others. The projects are of enduring value."

"I shall be glad to see my friends here Saturday," the representative said, adding that he would appreciate learning all problems of his district.

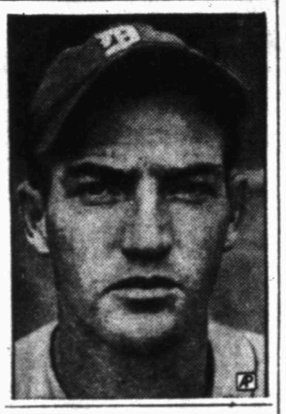

Pension Association Head Is To Run For Presidency

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—Dr. J. E. Pope, 48, head of the National Old Age Pension association, announced today he will be a candidate for president in 1936.

"I will accept nomination from the conservative Democrats or from the liberal Republicans," he said in a statement calling for wealth distribution through liberal old age pensions.

Cubs And Tigers To Launch Baseball's Big Show Today

Lon Warneke Facing Lynwood Rowe In Classic Opener

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—The new boom in American sports, given impetus this year by a succession of sensational developments on widely scattered fields of combat, tonight engulfed one of the nation's oldest, most familiar spectacles—the World series.

Baseball's big show, shaking off the chilling effects of an unwelcome blast of football weather, opens tomorrow in full panoply. It brings together the Detroit Tigers, two-time American league champions, and the Chicago Cubs, stretch-sensations of the National league pennant race, in an uproar of old-time rivalry.

Record Crowd Expected

Navin field, furnishing the starting battleground for the second straight year, likely will be packed to its capacity of 48,700, a new high for the park, when the two lanky sharpshooters from Arkansas, Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe of the Tigers and Lonnie Warneke of the Cubs, unwrap their good right arms for a pitching duel that may add a bright chapter to World series history.

With warmer, more seasonable weather promised for the opening day, it looked like a certain sell-out. Only unexpected reluctance on the part of cash customers seeking bleacher seats at $1.10 each in the huge temporary stands erected off the outfield can keep the park from being filled. All reserved seats have been sold. Speculators were getting $25 to $50 apiece for choice locations.

Million Dollar Series

It will be a million-dollar series if only five games are played, taking into account the fact that $100,000 for the radio rights will be added to the gate receipts.

The Cubs ruled favorites in the betting tonight to take the opening game, not only because they are rated the "hotter club" but because of the acknowledged prowess of their right-handed ace, Warneke. The Tigers have been slight favorites to capture the series, among wagering men, but a rush of Chicago money indicated a possible switch. It may be an even-money proposition by tomorrow. Based upon

Confession Is Given By Man In Fatal Fire

Prisoner Admits That He Set Tenement Blaze Which Took 10 Lives; Contracted To Do The Job For $50

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. — Battalion Fire Chief Jerry Palvey tonight announced that Joseph Di Chiari, 31, had confessed setting for $50 a tenement fire in which 10 persons died Sunday night.

Palvey's statement was made as Assistant State's Attorney Marshall V. Kearney prepared to ask the grand jury for murder indictments against Di Chiari and Frank Vitale, 45, who Kearney said admitted hiring an arsonist to fire his grocery store in the building for $3,000 insurance.

Six Children Dead

The fire quickly burned through the ceiling of the store and attacked the living quarters above. Of the 10 persons who died—either from burns or injuries suffered when they leaped from windows — six were children.

Palvey's brief announcement said Di Chiari sprinkled the interior of the store with an inflammable fluid, ignited it near the rear door and fled. Di Chiari was recently held to the federal grand jury on a liquor charge.

Di Chiari Named

Police Capt. John Norton said Vitale, his nephew, Joseph Vitale, and a brother-in-law, Sam Jocopelli all named Di Chiari as the actual incendiary.

With a shrug, officers said, Vitale declared he had wanted Di Chiari to start only a small blaze in the building in which 20 persons were sleeping Sunday night.

Pressed for money, his story according to Capt. Norton, was that he consulted his nephew, a tavern keeper, who proposed the fire and told him Di Chiari was "your man" for the job.

Houston Attorney For Gulf Refining Company Is Killed

MOUNT ENTERPRISE, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Harry Gustine, 46, of Houston, attorney for the Gulf Refining company and allied companies, was killed almost instantly today when an automobile in which he and his wife were riding overturned near here.

Mrs. Gustine, who was injured seriously, said her husband lost control of the car when he swerved to avoid colliding with a truck. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gustine suffered internal injuries. Mrs. Gustine was taken to a hospital at Nacogdoches.

Boy Overcome By Man's Generosity

Young Messenger Spies $39,000 In Street, Picks It Up And Returns It To The Owner—Reward? Yessir, A Shiny Dime!

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—For returning a $39,000 bank check he had found, Woody Robinson, 18-year-old messenger boy, received a dime reward today.

As the youth was crossing the street on an errand he noticed a slip of paper covered with tire marks. Picking it up he saw it was a Mississippi Valley Trust company check for $39,000 endorsed "David E. Woods, 12 Garrswold Park."

"The man seemed awfully happy to get the check back," Woody said. "He dug down in his pocket and pulled out a nickel, then told me he thought it was worth more than that and handed me a dime. I hardly knew what to say."

Woods declined to comment.

Proponents Of Bonds Gather

Approximately 225 Persons In Mass Meeting Tuesday Night To Hear Speakers Urge Favorable Action On Issue

Paralleling the fight against the $1,200,000 bond issue with opposition which preceded construction of the municipal light system, and stating that citizens of Lubbock were being misled on the facts of the election Thursday, five speakers addressed an audience of approximately 225 assembled for a mass meeting in 99th district courtroom Tuesday night.

Called by Mayor Ross Edwards to "acquaint citizens with the gas revenue bond issue," the audience responded with frequent spontaneous applause during talks by J. E. Vickers, Walter F. Schenck, W. D. Benson, sr., Rev. Benjamin D. Johnson and A. J. Richardson.

Events Are Reviewed

Reviewing events which preceded establishment of a municipal light plant here 19 years ago, Mr. Vickers, attorney, claimed establishment of a municipal gas system here a "no more hazardous undertaking."

Vocational Ag Department Planning For New Exhibit

Scarcely home from the 22nd annual Panhandle-South Plains fair, the vocational agriculture department of Texas Technological college is planning an exhibit for the next annual fair. It will be a large map made by senior students showing progress of vocational agriculture in West Texas since 1917.

According to tentative plans, the map will be 8 by 10 feet in size and will be made on basis of five-year intervals.

Junior students would exhibit the map, since present senior students will be graduated next year. C.

Pair Dead In Truck Mishap Near Amarillo

Castro County Farmer And An Unidentified Man Are Dead And Two Other Persons Are Hurt In Collision

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Oct. 1—Two men met instant death and two others were injured when two trucks collided three miles south of Amarillo this afternoon.

The dead:

F. H. Bostick, about 48, farmer of Flagg, Castro county.

An unidentified man believed to be John R. McNeill of either Canyon or Happy.

VICTIM IDENTIFIED

AMARILLO, Oct. 1. (AP)—One of the victims in a fatal truck crash near here today was positively identified tonight by his widow as John R. McNeill, 45, son of R. H. McNeill of Wichita Falls.

Two Are Injured

H. M. Horton, Castro county road commissioner, and J. Arch Johnson, Flagg land agent, were injured.

Bostick, accompanied by Horton and Johnson, was driving an unloaded truck toward Dimmitt. The man tentatively identified as McNeill was alone in the other truck.

The bodies of both men were badly mangled.

It's Safe To Hazard January Will Be Colder Than August

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP) — Weather bureau officials are wearing the pained expression usual at this time of the year when barnyard and backyard prophets begin their annual forecasts about the kind of winter ahead.

Most federal experts say reliable meteorologists will hesitate long and often before even thinking about a long-range forecast. They contend it really can't be done with certainty.

However, the harassed officials conceded today:

"It would be pretty safe to say that January will be colder than August in the northern hemisphere."

House Action Taken Monday Is Rescinded

Lower Branch Votes Tuesday And Defeats State Monopoly Proposal; Validity Of Compromise Plan Questioned

Debate Is Bitter

Dry Leader Claims Repealists Would Make Saloon Out Of Every 30-Room Hotel And 60-Seat Restaurant

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 1.—Wet leaders in the house today sought a compromise that would permit sale of liquor by the drink in restaurants and hotels in counties approving it at local option elections.

The proposal was offered after the house reserved its action of yesterday and voted 66 to 73 against an absolute state monopoly over retail liquor outlets, with sale by the drink prohibited. Representative Ed Thornton of Galveston proposed it as a solution that would satisfy opposing factions.

Validity Attacked

Constitutionality of the amendment was attacked by Rep. Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg, leader for the monopoly bloc, who claimed it would be class legislation and was not authorized by the repeal amendment. Speaker Coke Stevenson indicated he would sustain Petsch's contention but withheld ruling until Thornton presented authorities.

The house wrangled all day over reconsideration of the monopoly plan. The vote casting aside the monopoly system came after hours of bitter debate in which efforts to change votes of monopoly adherents was severely criticized.

Motion Is Debated

A motion to prevent reconsideration was defeated 68 to 71 and reconsideration ordered 74 to 67.

Rep. Harry N. Graves of Georgetown asserted repeal leaders would make a saloon out of every 30-room hotel and 60-seat restaurant or cafe in defiance of the constitutional inhibition against the open saloon while Rep. R. Emmett Morse of Houston stated wet areas would not tolerate monopoly control and would have liquor by the drink regardless of the law.

A senate sub-committee voted against including property disqualifications in a bill to provide old age pensions while its state affairs committee continued hearing on a house chain store tax bill.

The senate passed bills to appropriate $68,921 for armory rentals, $7,500 for repairs to the governor's mansion and $9,000 for janitors at Sam Houston State Teachers college.

Senate bills were sent to the house to readjust salary schedules in the educational department and to permit directors of Texas A. and M. to transfer $15,525 each of the next two years from local funds to liquidate defaulted stadium bond maturities.

La Remuda Plans Outlined At Tech

Plans are being made at Texas Technological college for La Remuda, an entertainment which will be given by Block and Bridle club Oct. 25 as successor to the rodeo which has been given the last four years.

Proceeds from the event will be given to the senior livestock judging team to pay expenses to the American Royal livestock contests at Kansas City, Oct. 19, and the Chicago International Livestock exposition, Nov. 30.

La Remuda will include coronation of a queen, a horse show, exhibits of Tech livestock, competitive events for social clubs, a burro race and a dance in the gymnasium.

The affair will be given on the football field 8-9:30 o'clock the evening of Oct. 25.

The 11 candidates for the livestock team will compete in contest Saturday afternoon and Oct. 12 the livestock pavilion. The t will be chosen Oct. 12 and will Oct. 15 for Kansas City.

ONE AND ONLY

His name, his face, his personal- ity and his talents are familiar to every movie-goer in the world. More familiar than Clark Gable's—more easily identified than Greta Garbo's. His friends and well wish- ers include the President of the United States, the King of England, the Emperor of Japan and a small boy named Smith. He is that truly amazing phenomenon of modern life—an actor whose single purpose is to bring happiness, with no thought of self. His name, if it has not suggested itself, is Mickey Mouse.

Last week Mickey celebrated his seventh birthday. He was born—a few bold, humorous strokes on a sheet of clean paper—out of the imagination of Walt Disney, on September 28, 1928. He ventured into the world of funloving humans on that date, in a vehicle called "Steamboat Willie." Overnight al- most the little figure became an incentive to the laughter of na- tions.

HE IS HONORED

HONORS have been showered on Mickey ever since, and for a youngster he has been accorded some very remarkable distinctions. For instance: In 1933 King George of England refused to attend a mo- tion picture performance until he had been assured Mickey Mouse would appear. He has crashed the Encyclopaedia Britannica, won for his maker the "extra special" award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and also gained him a place in the British Who's Who.

TRUETT SMITH, D. A.

ONCE again Texas Technological college Alumni and Ex-Stu- dents association should feel proud because of the accomplishments of one of its members. We refer to Truett Smith, former student, who has been appointed as district at- torney of the 106th judicial district by Governor Allred.

Still in his twenties, Truett al- most falls in the category of what we were once prone to term "self made men." It's true that he studied government and economics in classes at Tech college, but he took his bar examinations after studying law when he was county and district clerk in Lynn county. Ambitious, courteous, far-seeing and presenting a good appearance Tru- ett will go far in his chosen pro- fession of politics.

EXPRESSING SYMPATHY

ATTEMPTING to comfort one is a man-sized job at any time, but it had not occurred to us that ministers find it difficult. One preacher mentioned this to us re- cently.

He had spoken stumbling words as he attempted to express his sym- pathy for a father whose eyes were glazed with grief over a son. The old man sat motionless, staring out to the street as the man of the cloth told him he would remember him in his prayers and hoped surcease for him as soon as possible.

"This thing," wearily spoke the old man, "is not to be cured; it is to be endured."

A GOOD PHILOSOPHY

THAT reminds us of a bit of phi- losophy expounded by a long- time friend. She was asked what her attitude would be if her hus- band were untrue or if she dis- covered he did not love her. Her answer was "I would remember all of the happy times that we have had together; nothing could take away my memories."

One of the things for which we should feel the most grateful is the fact that pleasant happenings are the ones we remember the longest. Bad experiences fade into a distant background.

FAULTY PARKERS

AN irate young man paused by our desk long enough to give vent to a rage, which we think is justifiable. He was waving a car repair bill for eight dollars, the result of having his car fenders straightened.

The fenders were dented by someone who parked crooked, then pulled away from the curb taking from our friend's car most of the paint from one fender and leaving a mashed-in side. The thing that "burned up" our young friend was that this made the fifth time the thing has happened since he moved to Lubbock in July.

OES Marriage First In City

Miss Lois Marie Wilson Weds Eugene Knox In Brilliant Chapter Ceremony Tuesday Evening At Hall

The first Order of the Eastern Star wedding ever performed in this city was that of Miss Lois Marie Wilson, who has the office of Adah in the Lubbock chapter, and F. Eugene Knox which took place at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in the O. E. S. hall.

The Rev. Jesse R. McIlhaney of Southwestern, Baptist Theologi- cal seminary, Fort Worth, perform- ed a double ring ceremony beneath an arch of smilax and coreopsis in the east end of the room.

On the ivory satin draped altar in the center of the hall was a Bible, draped with the same material, and lighted gold candles. The room was lavishly decorated with fern, dah- lias and coreopsis, and candlelight- ed.

Candlelight Drill

Preceding the processional was a candlelight drill by 15 officers of the order who wore taffeta evening dresses in pastel shades. Each car- ried a yellow candle in a star holder.

Mrs. Randall Odom, who played the wedding marches, played piano accompaniments for two vocal solos, "I Love You Truly" by Mrs. Lottie B. Hilton and "Because" by Rex Webster. The bridal party entered to the "Bridal Chorus from Lohen- grin" (Wagner).

Mrs. L. J. Field, matron-of-honor, wore an apricot satin dress with ivory accessories and carried Amun- Ra dahlias. Little Frances Celene Chinn, as flower girl, wore blue taf- feta and carried a gold basket of petals. Little Ned Wallace Hardin, dressed in black satin trousers and ivory blouse, carried the rings on a star shaped pillow.

Wears Ivory Satin

The bride entered with her broth- er, Frank E. Wilson of El Paso. She wore an ivory satin princess dress with stand-up collar, trimmed with gold mesh. Her veil, matching the dress, had a tiara of talisman rose petals. She carried talisman roses.

Jesse F. Chinn, brother-in-law of the bride, attended Mr. Knox.

The party left the hall to Men- delssohn's "Wedding March," fol- lowed immediately by the officers into the dining room for an infor- mal reception.

The reception room was decorated with marigolds. A three tiered cake, topped with white and gold icing calla lilies, was served with pine- apple-orange punch.

Those in the drill were Mrs. Lu- ther Bynum, worthy matron; Mrs. Rafe Nabors, associate matron; Mrs. France Baker, conductress; Mrs. Anna Potts, associate conductress; Mrs. A. G. Odom, secretary; Mrs. Ernest Nelson, treasurer; Mrs. T. H. Barnard, chaplain; Mrs. Quincy Haney, marshal; Mrs. Ben Smith, assistant marshal; Mrs. Floyd Jack- son, warder; Mrs. A. T. GET EXTRA FLAVOR—EXTRA SAVINGS WITH THIS RARE MOUNTAIN COFFEE
Deliciously Different From Any Other Coffee Grown

DON'T be disappointed if you've tried twenty different brands of coffee and found them all alike. Here is one coffee you'll say is different at your very first taste. It's Folger's—deliciously dif- ferent because it's mountain grown!

Most ordinary brands use lowland coffees —all the same kind of coffee, merely sold under different names! But in Folger's you get mountain coffees—so rare and delicious that experts call them the world's prize coffees! With a winy tang and flavor that make lowland coffees taste thin and flat by comparison!

Folger's is grown on tiny plantations high in the mountains of Central Amer- ica—where there's an amazingly fertile volcanic soil, abundant rainfall, and clear sparkling sunshine in which coffee simply thrives! It is carefully blended and roasted by Folger's—and delivered fresh to your table in vacuum tins.

The very richness of Folger's flavor makes it more economical to use! House- wives tell us you can actually use ¼ less —and still get more delicious coffee in addition to the saving you make!

Exclusive hotels and restaurants—trains and planes—that cater to men who know their coffees and demand the best—serve Folger's! Enjoy its thrilling mountain flavor in your own home. Order Folger's today!

onstructive Forces Are In Evidence In Eleventh Fed

pansion Of rading Noted

ltural And Livestock In- tries Are Reported In ter Condition; Business es Are Higher

DALLAS, Oct. 1. (AP)—Continuance of generally favorable conditions in the agricultural and livestock industries, a further expansion in retail and wholesale trade, and a sharp increase in construction activity are cited by the monthly business review of the federal reserve bank of Dallas, issued today, as the constructive forces in evidence in the eleventh district during the past month.

Retail buying at larger cities as reflected by department store sales, the review states, was 13 per cent above the July volume and exceeded that of the corresponding month last year by eight per cent. "This bank's index of department store sales, adjusted for seasonal variations, the review discloses, "rose to 88.3 per cent of the 1923-25 average in August, the highest level recorded during the current year."

Expansion Shown

Wholesale distribution reflected a seasonal expansion over the previous month and in a majority of reporting lines the volume of business exceeded that of a year ago by a wide margin. Although there was a seasonal recession in collections at retail establishments and in some lines of wholesale trade, the volume of payments compared favorably with a year ago.

The review reports construction activity during August at the highest level in several years. The value of building permits at leading cities, it says, was 135 per cent greater than in July and 23? per cent larger than in August, 1934. The aggregate value of permits issued in the first eight months of the current year was 129 per cent above that for the same period last year and was the largest for any similar period in four years.

Production Higher

In agriculture, the review states that despite deterioration in some crops during August, the physical volume of production in this district as estimated by the department of agriculture in its Sept. 1 report will greatly exceed that of 1934 and some crops will be the largest in several years.

The prospective production of cotton was reduced in August as a result of deprecations by insects and lack of moisture in some areas. The continuation of insect activity remains a potential danger to the crop, particularly in those sections where the crop is later than usual.

Heavy rains in practically all sections during the past three weeks provided moisture for the majority of late crops and for fall seeding operations. Ranges and livestock are in good conditions generally and indications are that there will be sufficient range and dry feed to carry stock through the winter in good shape. There is a broad demand for young stock for restocking purposes.

Loans Are Greater

Financial statistics, the review concludes, reflected no important changes. The commercial loans of member banks in selected cities showed a seasonal expansion between Aug. 7 and Sept. 11, and their investments were increased substantially during the same period. Federal reserve bank loans to member banks on Sept. 18 were moderately higher than the low volume a month earlier.

The daily average of combined net demand and time deposits of member banks amounted to $825,316,000 in August, compared with $812,870,000 in July and $723,879,000 in August, 1934.

Yoakum Ranch Is Saved From Sale

ABILENE, Oct. 1. (AP)—A $22,000 sale of mineral rights in Yoakum county which will avert foreclosure on a 11,040-acre ranch near Plains and with it perhaps save an oil or gas well for the owner, was being completed here tonight.

The ranch, owned by L. P. Bennett of Abilene, had been advertised for sale to satisfy mortgages held on 8,000 acres, by the Agricultural Livestock Finance corporation of Fort Worth and the First National bank of Lubbock. Bennett's attorney recently secured a 30-day extension on the sale, which had been set for today.

The 8,000 acres involved is under lease to the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company and C. J. Davidson of Fort Worth has been drilling near the center of the block, with reported strong oil and gas showing encountered at 5,088 feet, oil rising 500 feet in the hole in 24 hours and gas estimated at 1,500,000 cubic feet.

The boy was removed to the home of Mrs. Milam more than a week ago. Previously the child's mother had asked a woman living on Avenue D to keep the blond infant while the mother made a two or three-day trip into New Mexico. That was about two weeks ago.

Mrs. Milam said she did not know the details of the case, but was endeavoring to locate the mother.

The boy is the youngest of 19 children in Mrs. Milam's care. Like all babies, she said, he has blue eyes. He is "quite a blond," she explained.

Building Permits For Month Of September Reach $11,010

Total of $11,010 in building permits for September, representing 18 projects, was announced Tuesday by D. A. Forbess, building inspector. The year's total was boosted to $125,250. By way of comparison, permits for September, 1934, totalled $9,920, $1,090 under the same month in 1935.

October totals started off with $1,000 today, two permits having been filed. One was for construction of an $800 tile business building, 518 Broadway, owner J. L. Edwards; the

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

His friends and well wish- ers include the President of the United States, the King of England, the Emperor of Japan and a small boy named Smith. He is that truly amazing phenomenon of modern life—an actor whose single purpose is to bring happiness, with no thought of self. His name, if it has not suggested itself, is Mickey Mouse.

Last week Mickey celebrated his seventh birthday. He was born—a few bold, humorous strokes on a sheet of clean paper—out of the imagination of Walt Disney, on September 28, 1928. He ventured into the world of funloving humans on that date, in a vehicle called "Steamboat Willie." Overnight al- most the little figure became an incentive to the laughter of na- tions.

HE IS HONORED

HONORS have been showered on Mickey ever since, and for a youngster he has been accorded some very remarkable distinctions. For instance: In 1933 King George of England refused to attend a mo- tion picture performance until he had been assured Mickey Mouse would appear. He has crashed the Encyclopaedia Britannica, won for his maker the "extra special" award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and also gained him a place in the British W Who.

Scribes Favor Cubs To Win In Six Games

DETROIT, Oct. 1. (AP)—A poll of baseball writers tonight by the As- sociated Press revealed a thin ma- jority favoring the Chicago Cubs to beat the Detroit Tigers in the World Series. Thirty experts pick- ed the Cubs and 27 named the Tig- ers as winners.

The consensus was that the series will last six games. This limit was named by 34 writers, while 15 pick- ed it to end in five games. Four suggested a seven-game affair. Four others went out "on a limb" with a prediction of four straight victories. Of these, three picked the Cubs to score a sweep while one observer figured the Tigers to make it four in a row.

Herman Does Not Live Any More

FORT WORTH, Oct. 1 (AP) — Since a freshman showed up with a rather baffled looking frog for the football game last Saturday, Texas Christian uni- versity has cherished a live mas- cot under the name of Herman.

Today, it became evident that somebody had made a mistake. Herman, who was destined for a life of adventure on the grid- iron, became the mother of nine babies at once.

Motherhood on the part of the mascot called for a hurried meeting of the Herman club, organization of 16 valiant youths pledged to cherish and protect the horned frog.

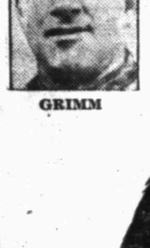

Passing over the problem of names for the babies they set- tled pretty definitely on a new name for Herman.

Herman hereafter will be call- ed Hermania.

Wichita Coach Says "Better"

Tech Rivals Here Friday Night "Loaned" Championship Last Year But Are Hot On Trail For 1935 Grid Title

(Special To The Avalanche)

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 1.—Champions of the Central Kansas Inter- collegiate conference for two straight years, the University of Wichita in 1934 "loaned," as Shocker Coach Al Gebert has said, their crown to the Kansas State college Tigers of Fort Hays.

Asked how much better his squad this year would be, Gebert simply said, "better." In order to regain the Central conference crown the Shockers, fans figure, will have to be at least two touchdowns better than last year. For it was two touchdowns, one each by Fort Hays State college and Pittsburg State Teachers college that beat them out of their crown. Hays and Pittsburg both hold 12-7 victories over the Wheatshockers.

Here's Why They Go

Backfield men! Thirteen back- field men so equal in ability that Wichita football fans are in a daze.

That's what Gebert is showing this section of football-crazy Kansas right now.

Against the Alva, Okla., Rangers Gebert started a combination of Tom Kornhaus and "Skeets" Brill at halfbacks; Orville Ward at full- back, and Paul Randels at quarter- back.

These men were hardly warmed up until Lorenzo McClain and Del- bert Moore replaced Kornhaus and Brill, "Kayo" Wuertele went in for Ward at full, and Pike Gawthrop stepped into Randels place at quarterback.

Kornhaus Is Star

Wuertele got a workout and Don- ald "Rip" Wills took his place. Gawthrop lasted almost a quarter until the diminutive Jake Ogden became strategist. McClain had time for a few of his bullet-like passes before Verne "Swivel" Harris went in.

Eugene Riggins soon replaced Wills and Ray DeHon went in for Moore.

Then the thing started all over again. The announcers lost track and the boys in the pressbox threw up their hands.

Outstanding among these men was the veteran Tom Kornhaus who made two touchdowns on sensa- tional dashes through the Rangers, one for 97-yards.

Happy Hunting Dream Is Realized By Local Men; Home From Alaskan Trip

Bill McMillan, Temple Ingram Find And Bag Abundance Of Big Game In Wilds

BY GORDON WEBB
Avalanche Staff Writer

"The greatest hunting country on the North American continent."

That was the enthusiastic report of W. G. McMillan, who with Tem- ple Ingram, returned this week from central Alaska.

The Lubbock contractor was equally as enthusiastic regarding the scenery and the possibilities of fish- ing.

The sportsmen spent two weeks in Alaska, a part of the time within 70 miles of the Arctic circle and with- in a few miles of the Yukon river.

Auto, Steamer, Pack Train

They went by automobile to Seat- tle, by steamer to Seward, by rail- road to Healy. From there they went, with an 11-horse pack train to the Wood river. Their party, which included two guides, a cook, and a horse wrangler, established a base in a trapper's cabin.

McMillan and Ingram killed three grizzly bears, one black bear, and four Dawl's white sheep.

"We were in the greatest sheep country in Alaska," McMillan said. "Game is plentiful in Alaska, and there always will be game there. Natural food is abundant."

The trip, however, was more than a hunting expedition. McMillan took motion pictures of beavers, caribou, silver foxes, eagles, and sheep.

He said he delighted in watching wild life preparing for winter. The bears were feeding heavily on ber- ries and roots. Parka squirrels were building straw nests, the sheep were moving down from the mountains, and the Canada jays were placing meat scraps in trees. Beavers were storing willow limbs.

McMillan explained that the fe- male bear gives birth to her cubs during hibernation and that they spend the following winter in hi- bernation with her—getting their first lesson in preservation during the long, cold months.

The Lubbock men saw placer, quartz, and dredge mining. They went through the much-publicised Matanuska colony.

"The colony is in a very rich, fer- tile valley," McMillan said. He added he believed persons who knew farm- ing and who were "willing to accept some of the hardships" would be successful there.

"Many colonists went up there for the trip," he declared.

After returning to Healy, from the Wood river territory, the Lubbock men went northward for additional hunting. It was this trip which took them near the Arctic circle. A heavy snowstorm, with temperature near zero, made hunting impossible.

They spent three days in Fair-

Crackers Meet Tribe Tonight

Oklahoma City Welcomes Home Wandering Indians; Series To Be Resumed Tonight At Tribe's Home Field

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 1. (AP)—The firemens' band, fanked by a goodly number of baseball fans who will forgive and forget a small thing like nine errors, will be out to greet Oklahoma City's Texas League champions and Atlanta's Crackers when they arrive tomorrow to re- sume their Dixie Series dispute.

The warriors, who hold a victory apiece as a result of the first two games in Atlanta, will be paraded downtown. Meanwhile, a com- mittee of 15 will be receiving con- tributions toward a $5,000 pennant victory fund for the Indians.

The first game of the series here will be called at 8 p. m. tomorrow. Likely starting pitchers are Jack Brillheart for Oklahoma City and Bobby Durham for Atlanta. The weather prospects are for a warm- ish, cloudless night, and the crowd prospects around 10,000.

Lubbock Cowboys To Battle Slaton Team Here Thursday

Coach Mule Davis announced last night that his Lubbock Junior high school Cowboys would renew their warm rivalry with the Slaton juniors Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in a game at Texas Tech field.

The teams played twice last year, each time to a scoring deadlock.

Vic Weber And Buck Weaver Clash In "Natural" Tonight In Main Event At Mat Hall

New York Grappler Slightly Favored Over Hoosier, Who Has Been Usurping Weber's Place In Local Sun; Supporting Card Promises Action From Youngsters And Veterans

TONIGHT'S CARD

The curtain-raiser—John La Rue, Dallas, vs. Larry Tillman, Musko- gee, Okla. One fall, or 20 minutes time limit.

The semi-final—Don Hill, Los Angeles, vs. Chesty Westcott, Chicago.

The main event—Vic Weber, New York, vs. Buck Weaver, Terre Haute, Ind.

Two superbly-muscled young athletes, both in the top-flight rank of the nation's middleweights, play grabs in the main event of the wrest- ling show at the Auditorium tonight.

The bouts mark the beginning of the indoor mat season here.

Only World's Champion Gus Kal- lio, The Masked Marvel, and Otis Clingman, are worthy matches for Weber and Weaver, and Weber holds a pair of decisions over the Amarillo Fat-Boy.

Wrestled Once Before

This is not the first battle be- tween the main eventers tonight— it's the second. They fought 30 minutes to a deadlock a few years ago at Toledo, Ohio.

Weaver probably will have the crowd pulling for him tonight. He's been here three or four months, a sort of leading man at the Arena shows during the summer to knock over the waddling troglodytes while the customers howled in fierce mirth. The crowd has never re- acted to Weber in exactly this man- ner. With his forearm slugs and business-like surliness, he impresses the fans as a sort of bad-man. In his valiant fights with rope-clawer Kallio, Weber enlisted some of the clients' sympathy.

Both Buck and Vic have toppled before that hooded hoodoo, The Mask.

Hill Meets Westcott

In the semi-final Doleful Don Hill is in for a stormy evening in company with Chesty Westcott, hairy-chested Chicagoan who is a strutting composite of villainous wrestledom.

The matches will be refereed by Gene Ellis, once a box-fighter of considerable ability, now boxing coach at Oklahoma Military college, Claremore. Because of the import- ance of the bout, Promoter Sled Allen was at particular pains to se- cure a capable official.

In the preliminary, John La Rue, Dallas leg-wrestler, takes the mat with Larry Tillman, chunky, clever Oklahoman.

Daily Program For WAA At Texas Tech Being Planned

Daily program of the Women's Athletic association of Texas Tech- nological college for the fall semes- ter was outlined in a 5 p. m. meet- ing Tuesday at the college gymna- sium.

Archery will be at 5 p. m. Mon- days, horseback riding at 5 p. m. Tuesdays, tennis at 5 p. m. Wednes- days, ping-pong at 5 p. m. and skating at 7 p. m. Thursdays, bas- ketball from 4 to 6 p. m. Fridays and tumbling at 3 p. m. Wednesdays and Fridays.

Members were asked to make pos- ters inviting freshmen girls to join the association, which will change programs for the spring semester.

Miss Magdeline Dederick was elected vice president.

Prisoners Ask For "Underworld Diamond Series"

McALESTER, Okla., Oct. 1. (AP)—The Oklahoma Penitentiary Out- laws, a baseball team featuring a nimble second sacker who has pil- fered 23 bases during the current season, challenged the touted Texas penitentiary nine tonight to an "un- derworld series" to determine the southwest prison championship.

"And we'll even play them on their own rockpile," Grinned Doc Damrell, Tulsa lifetermer who is playing manager of the Outlaws.

Quietly, and without the fanfare that accompanied the Texas prison Tigers when they made a recent trip outside the walls, the Outlaws have been meeting some of the best semi-pro teams in Oklahoma during the summer, winning 19 and losing 13 games.

"During that time the team, com- posed of trusties, has played 32 games outside the prison walls and not one member attempted to es- cape," Damrell said. "Individuals and teams in almost every town where we played wrote to the warden commending the team's sportsmanship.

Joe Louis Slips Home, But Peeks Out To Seek Ticket To World Series In Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (AP)—Joe Louis, smiling and almost talkative, came out of seclusion today long enough to meet Mayor Edward Kelly and ask if anyone had any extra tickets for the World Series games in Chi- cago.

The brown bomber, who was ex- pected to arrive from Detroit this morning, slipped into the city last night with his bride thereby spoil- ing plans for a monster reception by members of his race. The two went to their new apartment and refused to see anyone until Joe came down to the loop to keep his appointment with the mayor.

ock Lions Raise And Spend er $1,000 On Work hong Underprivileged Chil- n Of This City

r bock Lions during the year ending late in July, raised and spent over $1,000 on work among underprivileged children in Lubbock, H. C. Pender told the club yesterday in a report on its activities at the weekly luncheon. Since then, nearly all of an appropriation of $100 authorized by the directors was spent largely on assisting Mrs. W. T. Milam in her welfare work.

V. H. Moore, secretary, was program chairman, with Ed Allen and Mr. Pender as members. President Hurley Carpenter recognized three members who resumed their activities with the club at the first meeting in October. They were: F. A. Kleinschmidt, Marshall Harvey and Sam Rosenthal.

Reports Are Made

Short reports were made by members as follows: Burl Huffman on the Matador-Wichita U. game Friday night; J. W. Jackson on "The New Deal" and Sam Rosenthal on the coming trip to Los Angeles, by Texas Tech. W. H. Evans also reported on his campaign. Miss Willette Waters, club pianist, played several selections on the accordion.

Mr. Pender, in reporting on activities, said the club had aided the Crippled Children's council with a minstrel show, the club's defective eyesight committee and the annual Christmas party, as well as aid for other unfortunate children. From July, 1934 to July, 1935 over $1,000 was raised.

Some Are Placed

A committee, of which he was a member, and which included several officials and directors, recently called on Mrs. Milam to discuss what they could do to assist her in an emergency, Mr. Pender said. They found 17 children there, ranging from two months to 15 years in age. Of the number 14 were in school. Mrs. Milam said she had placed about 5 children in homes and that some 15 now were temporarily placed.

A stove, flour, some groceries and clothing for children and shoes, were purchased out of the $100 fund the directors approved. Several Lions aided by making special prices on items.

Dr. C. C. Craig, also a member of the committee, urged club members to support the "Old Clothing" matinee Friday, saying some of the clothing probably would be allotted to Mrs. Milam. Chairman Moore also reported dental work for children at the home had been donated by Dr. Craig, medical work by Dr. M. H. Benson, a Lion, and that employes of the West Texas Gas Co. and the Texas Utilities Co., were assisting in paying utility bills.

J. W. Kerley Maintains His Record For Tax Payments

As far back as Hurley Carpenter, tax assessor-collector, can remember J. W. Kerley of 2417 Thirteenth street has been first to pay his taxes—and this year was no exception.

Mr. Kerley was at the tax office at 8 a. m. when deputies and Mr. Carpenter arrived Tuesday, opening day for collection.

"It seems to me that Mr. Kerley missed being first man many years ago, when he was ill, but, so far as I recall, he has been first to pay taxes for the past eight years," said Mr. Carpenter.

Arguments In Trial Slated

Doupe Robbery Case Testimony Closes At 3 P. M. Tuesday; Witnesses Relate Escape Of Four Fugitives Here

Summation stage in the trial of William E (Bill) Doupe for robbery by violence will be reached in 99th district court at 9 a. m. today.

Judge Clark M. Mullican adjourned court at 3 p. m. Tuesday and gave defense attorneys copies of his charge that they might prepare objections.

The afternoon session was marked by introduction of only two state witnesses. Walter Posey, Lubbock banker, told of a wild flight as captive of four men, including Doupe, from the "escape-proof" jail here June 24, 1934. Others of his captors were J. B. Stephens, Andrew H. Nelson, and Ed (Perchmouth) Stanton, who since died in the electric chair at Huntsville.

Reads From Records

Floyd Jackson, district clerk, testified from the records of a former 10-year conviction of Doupe for robbery with firearms. The jury did not hear this testimony. Both sides rested and closed.

Witnesses in the morning were Deputy Sheriff Bedford Carpenter who told how he was overpowered and disarmed in the jail by the four men; and Campbell H. Elkins, then acting justice of the peace, who with Mr. Posey, was taken as hostage by the fugitives.

Refuses to Enter Plea

Charging that service on the indictment was improper, Hugh Anderson, a defense attorney, refused to enter a plea for Doupe. Judge Clark M. Mullican, who had ruled the service was proper, entered a plea of not guilty for the defendant.

Doupe sat with his wife and his pretty, young step-daughter. He smiled broadly several times, once when Elkins identified him as one of the jailbreakers.

Jurors Listed

Members of the jury are G. T. Adams, C. A. Thummal, R. H. Pettyjohn, W. M. Robinson, L. W. Fizzell, J. L. Hill, George Tannehill, H. H. Murry, T. J. Wages, O. W. Ribble, George Sledge and Claud Johnson.

District Attorney Daniel A. Blair and his assistant, Burton S. Burks, are prosecuting the case. Anderson and A. V. Weaver, jr., are defense attorneys.

Four officers were in the courtroom as the testimony began. They were Sheriff Tom Abel, Deputy Sheriff Cap Moore, Highway Patrolman John C. Keller, and Constable Ragan Reed of Slaton.

Class Officials Chosen At Tech

Texas Technological college students Monday elected 12 class officials, 16 representatives to the student council and a representative to the athletic council. More than 1,500 students voted, in the college gmynasium.

J. V. Beauchamp, Greenville, was elected athletic council representative by all students, after which classes met separately to elect the following officers:

Green Heads Seniors

Senior class—president, Truman Green, Portales, N. M.; vice-president, Bob Harding, Dallas; secretary-treasurer, Pauline Yeager, Lubbock.

Junior—president, Winburn McAlister, Weatherford; vice-president, Charles Duval, Sherman; secretary-treasurer, Lois Spraggins, Sherman.

Coffman Boy Frosh Leader

Freshman—president, Bob Shaw, Coffman; vice-president, T. J. Taylor, Crowell; secretary-treasurer, Edith Cleveland, Rotan.

Student council representatives by classes, representing arts and sciences, agriculture, home economics and engineering divisions in the order named, are:

Senior—Preston Connerly, Clarksville; John Manning, Fort Worth; Katherine Leidigh, Lubbock; Ross Watson, Mineral Wells.

Junior—Newton Smith, Quanah; R. C. Mitchell, Lockney; Mary Elizabeth Stanford, Hereford; Billy Grimes, Greenville.

Sophomore—Fred Byrd, Ardmore, Okla.; Bill Burck, Mineral Wells; Willena Nelson, Lubbock; Henry Meredith, Cleburne.

Freshman—Eron Gafford, Lubbock; Herbert C. Hoover, Post; Anne Williams, Chillicothe; and K. B. Kaiser, Sweetwater.

The student council, of which Leon Ince is president, presided at the election.

Drilling Operations Likely Will Be Resumed On Oct. 12

Drilling operations at the C. J. (Red) Davidson-Honolulu Oil Co. No. 1 Bennett, in south central Yoakum county, a wildcat, are not expected to be resumed until about October 12, although two carloads of pipe are reported en route there from Memphis, Tenn.

The pipe is expected to arrive about Thursday or Friday at Seagraves. It will be trucked the 13 miles to the operations and then strung in the hole below the approximately 3,000 feet of eight inch casing. Cementing in of the pipe will follow, and this work is expected to be finished by Saturday.

At least a week is believed necessary to let the cement set. The pipe ordered is said to be 7-inch seamless. Arrangements have been made to rush the pipe to Lubbock as rapidly as possible, so as to be taken to Seagraves on the Thursday morning Santa Fe local.

Gas pressure in the hole was reported lessening by those who visited the scene Monday afternoon. This was believed the result of small cave-ins in the lower part of the hole, where no casing has been set. Much of the 1,900 feet is believed to be in a soft condition.

Cabinet Of Bishop Boaz Is To Stage Meeting On Monday

Meeting at First Methodist church of Lubbock Monday of the cabinet of Bishop H. A. Boaz of the Northwest Texas conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was announced Tuesday by Dr. W. M. Pearce, presiding elder of Lubbock district. Dr. Pearce, member of the cabinet, said sessions will begin at 10 p. m.

Matters pertaining to the closing up of the conference year, which ends in November at the annual conference at Plainview, will be discussed by the body. Reports of presiding elders from each of the nine districts will be made, as well as reports of the several conference boards.

Officials Expected

Presiding elders expected here are: Rev. R. A. Stewart, Abilene; Rev. J. O. Haymes, Amarillo; Rev. T. S. Barcus, Clarendon; Rev. W. M. Pearce, Lubbock; Rev. W. C. Hinds, Perryton; Rev. W. L. Tittle, Plainview; Rev. S. H. Young, Stamford, Rev. C. A. Long, Sweetwater; Rev. J. E. Eldridge, Vernon.

Lunch will be served at noon by the women's missionary society of the church. There will be about 75 persons in attendance.

Several church board groups will be represented by their chairmen. Ray H. Nichols, Vernon, lay leader of the conference, probably will be here.

CORRECTION

In last night's Journal, a typographical error occurred in the advertisement of the West Texas Gas Company. "Actual Investments in Lubbock Plant Dec. 31, 1934" was published as $259,561.16 and "Bonded Indebtedness Against Lubbock Investment" as $489,219.83. This should have read as follows:

Actual Investments In Lubbock Plant, Dec. 31, 1934 — $489,219.83

Bonded Indebtedness Against Lubbock Investment—$259,561.16

Also in 1928, under "Rate of Return on Investment" a gain of 4.8 per cent was shown instead of a LOSS of this percentage.

The Gas Bonds Question

FOR the second time in half a year, Lubbock citizens tomorrow will vote upon a proposal to issue a prince's ransom in bonds to be used in the construction of a municipal gas system.

For the second time in half a year, voters will decide whether to preserve the city's stable financial basis, or to risk that stable financial basis against the possibility of getting cheaper gas.

Regardless of what citizens have been told by groups opposing the issuance of $1,200,000 in gas bonds; or what they have been told by those favoring the bond issuance, the fact remains that the question facing the voter is "do we have a good bet and what do we stand to win, or lose?"

That's all there is to it.

We know where we stand today as regards Lubbock's finances.

What is in doubt is the city's position should the gas bonds be voted, the plant constructed and placed into operation.

CHEAPER gas would be a great thing for Lubbock. The Morning Avalanche long has favored a cheaper gas rate here—and will continue to favor a cheaper rate until Lubbock gets its fuel somewhere in the neighborhood of 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, a price we consider equitable.

But do Lubbock citizens wish to issue $1,200,000 in bonds in the hopes of getting cheaper gas—gambling that large a sum of the people's money on hope, alone?

Frankly, we do not think so.

We believe Lubbock people want cheaper gas, but we do not believe they want to sink that much money merely on the possibility of getting cheaper gas.

The investment wouldn't look very good if the hopes of bond proponents fail to pan out.

THE question facing voters tomorrow is not, as some would have the public believe, one of whether to "string along" with the West Texas Gas company, or with four of the five elected city officials who favor the bonds and the municipal plant.

Instead, it is whether to go into debt to the extent of $1,200,000 to try to get a cheaper gas rate while at the same time maintaining efficient, satisfactory service.

The citizen who plods wearily to the polls tomorrow in the fourth special election since last April (the first gas election; the state constitutional election; the senatorial election) has but to answer that question to his own satisfaction, and then cast his vote accordingly.

It is as plain as ABC.

There is no trick in it.

No one is guaranteeing that $1,200,000 in municipal bonds will bring cheaper gas with satisfactory service, or that a municipal gas plant will protect or improve the city's present stable financial condition.

The question is clean cut, simple.

And the answer is up to the voter.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

"And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.

He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned.

And these signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; They shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover."—St. Mark, 16:15-18.

THE MOST FERTILE PLAYWRIGHT OF THE AGE

Adolphe D'Ennery (1811-1899) began as a dramatic author in 1831. For 68 years thereafter he wrote and produced an average of four plays a year, until he died at the age of 88. His productivity knew no bounds. About 100 of his plays ran for many years. Frequently five plays of D'Ennery's would be played on as many different stages in Paris night after night. He wrote and produced a total of 275 plays in 68 years.

SILKEN SPINDLES

by Laura Lou Brookman — © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GALE HENDERSON, pretty and 23, works in a silk mill. She and her 19-year-old brother, PHIL, support their invalid father.

STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She promises to give him an answer in a few days.

Gale goes skating, breaks through the ice and is rescued by BRIAN WESTMORE, whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian has come home after two years in Paris to enter the mill. Gale disappears before he can learn her name.

VICKY THATCHER, daughter of ROBERT THATCHER, general manager of the mill, schemes to captivate Brian.

Gale and Steve quarrel, later make up.

Vicky tells Brian she wants to get acquainted with the mill workers, on the pretense of helping them. He is pleased, agrees to take her to see Gale. Next evening Gale, who is expecting Brian, opens the door and faces Vicky.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII

VICKY smiled from beneath the insolently slanting hat brim. She said, "How do you do. May we come in?"

"Why—why, yes," Gale said. Her eyes once again sought Brian's, questioning, trying to hide the hurt that was in them. "Yes, do come in!"

She stepped back and they entered the house. Brian said, "Gale, this is Vicky Thatcher. Vicky—Gale Henderson. I know you're going to like each other, going to be friends. Vicky's come to ask a favor of you, Gale."

Vicky had turned and was surveying the room. Gale, watching her, suddenly saw it all with this stranger's eyes—the faded carpet, worn thread-bare before the door and in front of the place where her father's big chair stood; the old-fashioned wall paper that should have been replaced long ago; the "golden oak" living room table with the hand-crocheted scarf across it and the lamp with the hand-painted shade that, in Gale's childhood, had been an especial treasure; the framed, enlarged photographs of her father and mother at the time of their marriage and the tinted landscape with the far too pink roses and far too blue sky. They must be hideous, all of them, to this girl in the expensive fur coat and flippant little hat—Vicky Thatcher who flew about the countryside in her big green roadster, who made frequent trips to New York and Miami and Havana. Gale hadn't thought the room was hideous before. She'd loved it because it was familiar and because it was home. She hadn't realized how it would look to a stranger.

Suddenly, she remembered herself and said, "Won't you sit down?"

"Thank you." Vicky dropped to the chair that was nearest, sat forward and gathered her coat about her. Gale noticed the gesture, ever so slight and yet completely aloof. There was a subtle perfume in the room when Vicky moved, a perfume that was spicey and exotic and rather heady.

Gale had seen Vicky many times but never so close at hand. She was, Gale decided, as beautiful as the girls at the mill had said. Or, if not, Vicky had something that was fully as useful as beauty. Her manner of complete assurance seemed to imply that anything she wanted would be done for her. Probably it was.

Vicky turned to the young man and said, "Cigaret, Brian."

He rose and held out the open case. He offered it to Gale, too, but she declined. A moment later he flicked a lighter and held the blaze for Vicky.

Brian said, "Well, better tell Gale what you've come for—"

The dark eyes with their unbelievably long fringes rose to his "Please, Brian," Vicky said, "you put everything so much better than I do. You explain it."

Brian sat down, looking completely at ease. He said, "It's like this, Gale. Vicky's got an idea I think's a good one. She wants to get acquainted with some of the people who work in the mill. She thought there might be things she could do for them—going to see them when they're sick, visiting with the old people, and telling stories to the children. She wants to be really helpful, you understand. What do you think of it?"

Gale's voice was very low. She said, "It's very kind of Miss Thatcher—"

Brian moved one hand disparagingly. "That's not the idea," he said. "She doesn't want to go at this as though it were charity. It isn't. She's got time on her hands and wants to find a way to use it to help someone else. She's just—well, trying to help out. I think myself it's a fine thing. We came to you because I couldn't think of anyone better to take her around and introduce her. Will you do that?"

Gale hesitated. She had remembered that afternoon in Brian's office when Vicky had opened the door and seen her weeping. Did Vicky remember? Had she recognized her? And what possible construction had she put on the situation? The thought made Gale uncomfortable, just as the sight of Vicky in her furs and her audacious hat, sitting in that shabby room with her knees crossed and swinging one French-heeled foot made her uncomfortable.

But Brian was waiting for her to say something.

"I'll be glad to do anything I can," Gale said. She studied the other girl. Vicky didn't look to Gale like anyone who could be very helpful in the mill village. She couldn't imagine her bathing the Dinwiddies' baby or sitting beside Grandpa Higgins, whose fondness for chewing tobacco was always evidenced by the spots on his shirt. Vicky didn't even look like a person who wanted to be helpful. Why had Brian done this?

Gale thought, all at once, that she understood. This was his way of bridging his world and hers. He had thought that if she and Vicky Thatcher were friends the rest would be simple. That was what Brian had said: "I know you're going to like each other, going to be friends."

Oh, but that made all the difference in the world! Suddenly Gale smiled. She said, "Everyone knows everyone else here. We're all neighbors. I'll take you anywhere you like. When shall we go? Of course, I'm at the mill most of the day—"

Vicky was not looking at her, did not seem to be listening. She said, "Oh, Brian—I must have left my purse in your car!"

"I'll get it," he said, on his feet "Be back in a moment."

Vicky watched the door close behind him. She lifted her head slightly, smiled a sulky smile. "Brian's sweet, isn't he?" she said.

Vicky nodded. "Everyone thinks so," she agreed. "And so good-looking, too. I don't suppose I should tell you—but I'm going to. It's supposed to be an absolute secret, and you must promise not to tell!"

She hesitated. Gale sat watching her. She didn't know what it was that had happened but suddenly she was afraid to move, afraid to breathe. There was something fearful in the air.

The other girl went on. "It's supposed to be a secret," she said again, "but I know you'll keep it for us. Brian and I are going to be married!"

Cold, cruel eyes watched the other girl. "I've even set the date of the wedding," Vicky went on, mercilessly. "That is, it's going to be in June some time. I think June weddings are much the nicest, don't you?"

Gale's lips moved but no words came. She tried again and said, "Oh—oh, yes."

"I don't suppose anyone will really be surprised about it," Vicky went on. "That is, our friends, I mean." There was the faintest perceptible accent on the "our." "You see it's really a boy and girl affair. Ever since we were children it's been taken for granted that this would happen some time. And the relatives—Brian's family and mine—are both so pleased."

Vicky stopped suddenly. "Why, for goodness sake," she exclaimed, "you're white as a sheet! Is there anything wrong? You look as though you'd had a shock—"

"I'm quite all right," Gale said. The words sounded to her ears as though they came from a great way off. "I hope you'll be very happy."

"Well, thank you." Vicky was smiling again. "And I'm sure we will be. Everyone says we're so well suited to each other. It's on account of Brian that I'm here tonight. He's so wrapped up in the mill and I want to be interested in whatever he is. I think a husband

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

HAROLD ICKES outmatched President Roosevelt as a smart trader in battling for expansion of the PWA program beyond the limits fixed at the famous Hyde Park conference. Private word from the presidential train says the Cabinet wins another skirmish with Boon-Doggler Hopkins every time a politico climbs aboard.

What Mr. Ickes put over was this: He persuaded the President to allocate separate funds for three projects which total $60,000,000. The money for those will not come out of his regular PWA funds. He got only $12,000,000-odd as a starter but you can see why the work won't be stopped after it has started. The extra money will finance a power development in Senate Leader Byrnes' state of South Carolina, another power program in Friend George Norris's Nebraska and a state capitol in Oregon for Helper Charlie McNary.

The supposedly non-political Harold naively suggested that such worthy undertakings should have a special cut of federal pie. Mr. Roosevelt saw the point immediately. Now he is finding it hard to refuse the same extra-financial treatment to other worthy projects—and politicians.

BILLION: What Mr. Ickes expected is already happening. Senate Leader Harrison saw the President before the latter went and came out with a broad grin on his ruddy face. "We used to call it patronage," he confessed, "but no we call it 'projects'."

Pat wants $10,000,000 for Mississippi road construction. The legislature hasn't adopted enabling legislation yet, but when it does the honorable gentleman from Mississippi will get his from that special senatorial fund. Mr. Ickes is making sure of that. His staff is signing contracts so fast that they are getting writers' cramp. As soon as contracts making grants to cities and states have been negotiated the money allocated can't be touched. Mr. Hopkins enters into no contracts for boon-doggling and his treasury can always be tapped to help out a Senator.

The Ickes people aren't advertising the fact but they predict their boss will eventually handle a billion-dollar construction job, including loans and grants and the cash put up by applicants. That will be as large a sum as he had in the original PWA program.

EFFECTS: Washington may be far from Europe's war camps but a tense, pre-war atmosphere prevails wherever war and rumors of war react upon American interests—the Commerce, War and Navy and State departments.

Diplomats scan the contents of lately arrived pouches more feverishly than usual, for newspaper dispatches from many countries are censored. The Munitions commission is preparing forms for registration of shipments. Commerce experts frame special analyses of materials exported to countries within the potential trouble zone. Naval and military intelligence may hit on valuable information in these statistics. They may discover what this or that nation lacks—oil, cotton, copper, steel, aircraft, trucks—as it girds for conflict. Admirals and generals want to know how Italy's planes and ships—the world's most modern—will behave in action.

All this hustle and bustle illustrates how the world has narrowed since 1914. The Sarajevo assassination and its ominous aftermath did not upset this once placid capital so much as have recent events at Rome, London and Geneva.

FRAME: Marshals are gradually restricting the area open to visitors in the new Supreme court building. The Chief Justice's suite is barred. One or two justices are already installed in their new offices. They have all conveniences — a dining room, many big rooms for consultation, showers, etc. There's even a hall for international gatherings.

The library is richly decorated with ornate carvings. Twenty-three carat gold is used in some of the mouldings. Deep carpets and heavy velvet curtains are taking away the bareness of vast marble surfaces.

The Supreme court building is the richest and costliest, per square foot, of all public buildings. At last the third independent department of the government has a suitable habitation.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

NEW YORK rates the President's appointment of George L. Berry as coordinator for Industrial Cooperation a shrewd second move (the first having been the "breathing spell" announcement) to recapture the confidence and support of business — especially as coupled with the hint that the plan to revive government control along NRA lines will be dropped if industry cooperates properly with labor and consumers.

Major Berry's job will be chiefly to get results by diplomatic suasion. Informed sources call him an excellent choice. He is practical and an expert at reconciling differences. He has kept aloof from Federation of Labor politics. He is genuinely in sympathy with labor objectives—but conservative as to the method of attaining them. He believes in progress step by step (as Leo Wolman did)—and he doesn't like "whole hog" tactics. Big industrialists trust him despite his labor affiliations and on the other hand most labor chiefs also have confidence in him. His most difficult chore will be to try to figure some way to make employment keep pace with increased industrial activity.

It's too early to tell how industry as a whole will react to the plan. There are still plenty of bitter-enders who automatically balk at any suggestion that bears the Roosevelt stamp. They will interpret the gesture as another sign of weakness. There are others who will refuse voluntary cooperation with labor for fear it would lead straight to the closed shop. But the prospect that FDR may scrap the whole idea of legal regimentation of business is a powerful lure. Keen observers prophesy it will induce many corporations to collaborate actively with Mr. Berry—and thus at least make it harder for right wingers to maintain a strong business front against the New Deal.

PUSHOVER: New York experts in military matters believe that the Ethiopian troops are likely to play right into Mussolini's hands when hostilities begin.

They point out that the smart thing for Haile Selassie to do would be to keep his men out of a pitched battle—let the Italians enter the country and raise Cain with their morale by constant guerilla sniping and harassing their lines of communication.

But reports are that the Ethiopians are too worked up about the matter to conduct a patient war. It looks as if they will assault the Italians en masse as soon as they cross the border, even if Haile Selassie orders otherwise. That would make the revenge for Adowa a pushover.

MORTALITY: Informed sources learn that Vanity Fair will either fold up or be converted into a woman's magazine in the near future. Control of the Conde Nast publications was taken over by English investors some months ago and this is their decision.

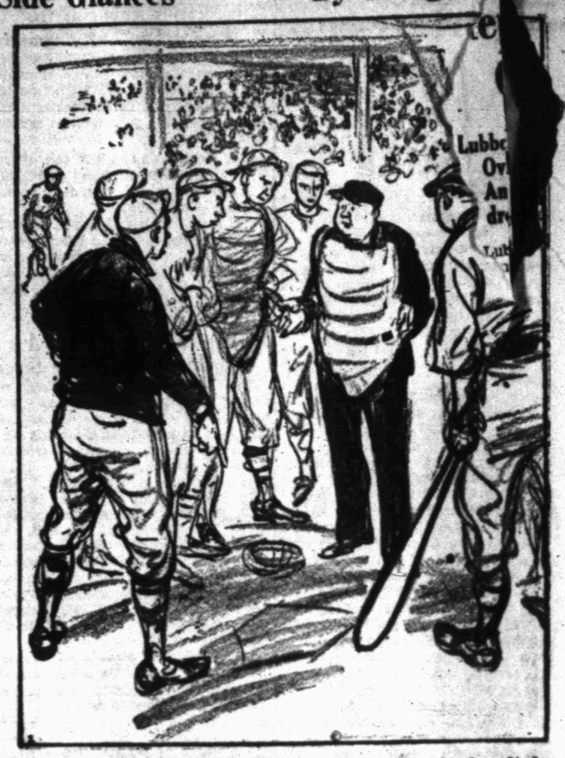

The outlook in the field of women's magazines isn't so good. It isn't certain how long the Delineator will continue. Hearst's Pictorial Review is absorbing a large investment.

It is also possible that the Tower magazines—sold in ten cent stores—may be discontinued unless a new angel can be found—which is unlikely. Shrewd observers call the rising mortality rate in the monthly magazine field a sign of the increasing effectiveness of newspaper advertising.

Youth And His Faithful Cow Again In College This Year

GRAHAM, Oct. 1. (AP)—Graham Ball and his faithful cow are back at college this year.

Graham, a farm boy, has added a new method to working one's way through the North Texas State Teachers college at Denton.

He is literally "milking" his way through school.

For the second year he has taken his cow to Denton, where he exchanges milk for room and board.

The "two sophomores" are doing well, thank you.

TARZAN AND THE FIRE GODS, No. 9

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Now the frightful sound from the heavens thundered down upon the people of Niarchus, who stood in terror or ecstasy, as each interpreted the significance of the phenomenon. The drone grew to a mighty roar. A woman screamed and fainted. Then another, and another. . . .

. . . High above them, enveloped in the cold, wet clouds, and only a few seconds removed from an inevitable crash, Lady Beth Barclay breathed a prayer and bailed out of her plane. With the utmost care she counted ten, then pulled the ripcord of her parachute. . . .

. . . The tribesmen below heard the terrifying crash of the plane against the cliff. Then they began to fall writhing to the ground, gasping for breath. It was the curse of epilepsy that the first Niarchus, centuries ago, had visited upon generations yet unborn.

But those who remained standing were soon rewarded by the appearance of a strange apparition from out the skies. And Lady Beth floated down toward these repulsive people, whose disease-wracked minds stimulated their fanatic devotion to Baal, most terrible of gods.

Rates, Rules and Requirements of Classified Advertising Of The

Lubbock Evening Journal
Lubbock Morning Avalanche
Sunday Avalanche-Journal
(Sunday Morning)

All classified advertising will appear in both the Morning and Afternoon papers—both papers counting one insertion. All classified advertising is printed in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche first and the Daily Journal of the same date, no classified originating in the afternoon paper.

Classified for Sunday's issue will appear in the Avalanche-Journal counting one insertion, as this paper is sent to all subscribers of both the afternoon and morning papers.

AVALANCHE-JOURNAL
Combined Rates:
Minimum words per insertion, 10.
One insertion, per word ——— 4c
Two insertions, per word ——— 6c
Three insertions, per word ——— 7c
Seven insertions, per word ——— 12c
Thirty insertions, per word ——— 45c

These rates are for consecutive insertions only. Additional consecutive insertions over 30 times, at 1½c per word each.

All out-of-town ads, received by mail must be cash with order. No exceptions. "NO REFUNDS" on ad stopped, after it has appeared in paper.

PHONE 13, 14 OR 15

Our experienced ad taker will receive your ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the following day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for our patrons and for one day only.

No advertisements accepted on an "until forbid" order. A specified number of insertions must be given.

We reserve the right to place an advertisement under the proper classification and reject unclean or objectionable copy.

Obituaries and cards of thanks at regular classified advertising rates.

The publishers are not responsible for copy omissions, typographical errors, or any unintentional error that may occur, further than to correct it next issue after it is brought to their attention. All advertising orders are accepted on this basis only.

Classified Advertising accepted until 6:00 p. m. on week days, and 9:00 p. m. on Saturdays and all advertising received after 6:00 p. m. will be placed under "Too Late To Classify."

For classified display advertising information—

PHONE 13, 14 OR 15

TO DISCONTINUE AN AD

Notice to Discontinue an Ad must be given after 8 a. m. and before 5 p. m., to some member of the Classified Advertising Department. We cannot be responsible for notices given before or after these hours, and to a member of some other department.

Can You Name This Ship?

Here is the last of the four famous American Fighting Ships which the Avalanche-Journal Classified Ads is presenting in its Contest.

It's a new kind of vessel, but one of the most important in America's Navy today. Do you know its name? If you do, write it down—and then get your entries ready to send to the Contest Editor, Avalanche-Journal Classified Ads, before 6 p. m. TODAY, October 2nd.

The ten persons who submit the best entries will each receive a guest ticket to the Palace Theater to see Claudette Colbert in "SHE MARRIED HER BOSS."

Initiation Staged For Aggie Studes

Thirty-five vocational agriculture department students of the New Deal Rural High school district were initiated into the "green hand" degree of Future Farmers of America at Monroe Tuesday night.

Members of the Lorenzo FFA chapter inducted the class and thus established a state record for such work in the past 12 months. A total of 219 members has been so initiated by the chapter, including classes at Abernathy, Floydada, Ropesville, Wilson, McAdoo, and Monroe.

Forty-six boys are enrolled in the New Deal department. Lawrence Shipman, graduate of Texas Technological college and a member of a Tech judging team that won international honors at Chicago last year, is teacher.

The Lorenzo team, each member of which Saturday was raised to the degree of Future Farmer, is made up of Mell Cherry, Finley Herrington, Hans Nelson, Arthur Fox, Carl Bruce, Edward Koonce, and G. S. Dowell, who is teacher of vocational agriculture in the school there.

Six Of Nine Persons Have Posted Bond; Officers Say

Six of nine persons indicted by a 99th district court grand jury before it was adjourned Monday for the term, subject to recall, had made bonds late Tuesday night, the sheriff's department reported.

Lee Tubbs, indicted for murder with malice of Jack Tubbs, his brother, posted $5,000.

The others posted $1,000 each, John Zournas, Gust Kallas, and Bill Pollard for possession for sale of beer; Harold Jones, Gust Kallas, and L. L. Ford for possession for sale of intoxicating liquor.

The other three are expected to make bond of $1,000 each this morning. They are charged with violation of dry laws.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—A last-minute flurry of selling in the rails brought liquidation into the other groups on the stock market today and the list finished with net losses of fractions to a point or more.

Up to just before the close, the general market had made headway uphill for fair gains under the leadership of the motors and specialties, some of which bumped through to new highs for the year.

Brokers said the sell-off in the rails was the result of a somewhat discouraged selling about the outlook for this section.

The ever-present spectacle of various roads failing by a wide margin to earn fixed charges was emphasized, observers said, by further Wall street reflection over the financial problems confronting the New Haven, in spite of the steadiness of the road's shares today as October 1 interest obligations were met. The shares had broken sharply the previous session.

Financial circles say that even though the New Haven has successfully hurdled its October 1 interest payments, additional obligations lie ahead which are typical of those to be met by other roads.

While the rails suffered the sharpest set-back, the industrials and utilities had smaller losses, the latter sustaining the least.

Measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market was down 0.6 of a point to 48.8. Transactions totaled 1,490,310 shares compared with 1,354,630 on Monday.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 1. (AP)—After rather slow opening trade beef steers and yearlings closed fairly active at most midwestern market with prices steady to slightly higher. Strong-weight fed steers in Chicago exceeded the 13.00 mark, a short load of medium weights up to 10.30. Majority of fed steers at the various markets ranged downward from 11.25. Short fed grassers most numerous from 7.75@9.25.

Another uneven decline of 25 to 60 was enforced on hogs, trade, however, active at the decline. The day's extreme top of 10.90 was paid at Chicago.

Fat lambs were weak to 25 or more lower and at some markets sheep shared in the decline. A few choice native lambs at St. Louis reached 9.00, while at Chicago best rangers went at 8.85.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Oct. 1. (AP)—Hogs 800 top 10.30 paid by packers for good to choice 190-260 lb. averages; packing sows mostly 8.75, few at 9.00.

Cattle 3,400; calves 1,800; short fed steers and yearlings 6.25@7.50; good fat cows 4.25@5.00; good fat calves largely 5.50@6.00; better grade stock steer calves 6.25@7.25.

Sheep 1,500; fat lambs 8.25 down; fat yearlings 6.00@6.50; wethers scarce.

banks, last place visited by Will Rogers and Wiley Post on their tragic flight.

As exhibits of their trip, they brought back the bear and sheep hides, leaving them in Denver for mounting.

McMillan and Ingram hunted with 30-06 Winchesters, model 54, and used hollow-point bullets fired with 180 grains of powder. One bullet was all that was needed to bring down a grizzly. The men estimated that Ingram's grizzly weighed at least 800 pounds.

The sportsmen intended to spend the last two days of their tour fishing, but the snowstorm ended that plan. Fish are plentiful in lakes and streams. In fact, McMillan declared, some streams have never had a hook in them. The men saw the great salmon runs.

The countless glaciers appealed to McMillan. He explained that the mighty Columbia glacier was 3 1-2 miles wide, 70 miles long, and 370 feet high. It is between Valdez and Seward, on the Alaskan coast.

"Alaska is one place to which descriptive literature cannot do justice," McMillan declared.

And he's going back to Alaska in 1937.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1. (AP)—Suddenly deciding to take notice of the Italo-Ethiopian war talk, cotton traders gave prices an upward whirl today that netted $1 a bale on the average.

Prices had held in a narrow range during the morning and into the early afternoon when aggressive buying cropped out and in active dealings prices advanced from 20 to 22 points.

The buying appeared to start in the New York market but quickly spread to the local exchange and cotton was bid up in a spirited fashion.

It was the first important movement on the market in either direction for some time. Foreigners were said to be vieing with domestic trade interests for contracts.

The market held from 3 to 8 points higher for most of the day. Then in the last hour prices moved ahead briskly as Oct. closed at 10.66, Dec. at 10.60, March at 10.69 and May at 10.77.

Port receipts 29,010; week 158,998; season 1,559,878, last season 1,225,570. Exports 49,957; week 113,180; season 677,611; last season 700,830. Port stocks 1,843,308. Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 68,437; last season 99,685. Spot sales at southern markets were 43,588, last year 33,409.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP) — Cotton was higher today on trade buying and covering which found offerings comparatively light. December sold up to 10.68 and closed at 10.67 with the general market ending firm at net advances of 18 to 25 points.

Part of the foreign buying was attributed to nervousness over the European political situation, and the strength of wheat was a factor in the late advance.

Exports today 54,362 making 695,627 so far this season. Port receipts 29,352. U. S. port stocks 1,844,070.

The range follows:

	High	Low	Last
Oct.	10.70	10.48	10.69-70
Dec.	10.68	10.49	10.67-68
Jan.	10.72	10.54	19.75-72
March	10.78	10.60	10.78
May	10.86	10.66	10.85-86
July	10.84	10.69	10.82-84

Spot steady, middling 11.05.

TICKER NEWS
Courtesy Norman Mayer & Company

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—Cotton exchange says September exports of cotton from this country amounted to 410,600 bales against 322,144 a year ago. Of this total 75,445 bales went to Great Britain, against 6,211. To France 41,146 against 6,100. To Germany 79,768 against 55,849. Rest to Europe 91,285, against 108,756. Orient 122,988 against 145,228.

Thus far this week exports 112,180 bales against 92,357 during the same week last year.

Thus far this season exports amount to 677,611 bales against 700,830 last year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. — Clevenberg says: Works Progress Administration mailed to 2,003 prospective bidders specifications for the proposed purchase of about thirty million yards of cotton textile covering a wide range. Bids to be opened October 8. Ultimate purchases expected to total 150,000,000 yards. Trade buying yesterday was again about equal to hedge selling. One explanation of large into sight figures without a corresponding volume of hedges, is that the government may be moving loan cotton from uncounted towns to more strategic counted locations.

The average price today designated spot markets middling 10.64@12.40 last year.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—Daily bureau cotton crop summary:

The best of picking weather prevails in all sections of the cotton region and many localities say that if there is no change in conditions picking will be over by the middle of October. Later localities say that the harvest will take until the first of November. An increasing number of sections claim that the crop is not holding up to its early prospects. The majority of returns from the interior indicates a further cut in the governments indicated crop figures as of October 1.

GOP Attack

Chairman Bolton opens tomorrow night.

In advance of the Los Angeles speech, differences in California Democracy between followers of Senator McAdoo and those of Upton Sinclair had been subject of comment. Mr. Roosevelt did not confine himself to the state's borders, however, in counselling liberals to "find a common ground and a common road."

Disclosure Cited

The Republican national committee arraignment here had to do with the recent disclosure, through an NRA report to Senator King (D-Utah), numbering employes of that power-shorn agency on September 7 at 2,760.

"As candidate," it said, "he (Roosevelt) denounced federal bureaucracy getting paid for things 'neither practical nor necessary,' as president, he keeps thousands on a $7,000,000 a year payroll, sitting around the corpse of the blue eagle."

Grains

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (AP)—A war market developed in wheat today, and prices whirled upward almost 4 cents a bushel.

Aggressive general speculative buying of wheat was witnessed, the main incentive coming from reports current that in various quarters war was expected within a week. Evidence of broadening of domestic demand for flour acted as an additional stimulus to jumps in wheat values.

Wheat closed buoyant at around the day's tiptop figures, 2 3-4 to 3 5-8 higher than yesterday's finish, Dec. 1.02 3-4@1.02 7-8, corn 1 to 1 1-2 up, Dec. 58 7-8@59, oats 1-8 to 1-2 advanced, and provisions 17 to 25 off.

Strained political conditions in Europe, together with alarm over drouth in Argentina, were mainly responsible for the rise in grain prices.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Oct. 1. (AP)—Estimated receipts were: Wheat 16 cars, corn 16, oats 1 and sorghums 1. Wheat No. 1 red winter 1.26 3-4@1.29 3-4. No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing 1.30 3-4@1.50 3-4. Barley No. 2 nom. 54@56; sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom. 1.13@1.15; No. 2 white kafir nom. 1.16@1.18. Corn (shelled) No. 2 white, Texas billing 76@79; oats No. 2 red 38 1-2@40 1-2.

Extension Courses Started At Tech; Others Planned

Extension courses in Curriculum Production have been organized in Crosbyton and Plainview and a course will be organized this evening in Levelland, J. F. McDonald, Texas Technological college extension director, said.

Thirty-two teachers of Crosby and Dickens counties have enrolled for the class at Crosbyton, which will be conducted each Monday evening at 7 o'clock by Dr. D. D. Jackson of the extension department. First lecture was given there Monday evening.

Doctor Jackson was to complete organization of a course in Plainview Tuesday evening.

Mr. McDonald will go to Levelland this evening to organize a class of Hockley county teachers in the high school at 7 o'clock.

The college is co-operating with the state department of education in offering four years of curriculum extension courses. The second year's course is being offered now.

Jury Finds For Plaintiff In Crosbyton Civil Action

CROSBYTON, Oct. 1. (Special)—A jury in 72nd district court this afternoon found for plaintiff in the civil action of Mrs. Grace Knight against J. H. Roberson, suit for partition of the estate of Mrs. Jessie I. Roberson, mother of Mrs. Knight.

Involved was a value of from $40,000 to $50,000, represented by more than 600 acres of land near Lorenzo and two city homes at Lubbock. The case required two days for completion. Counsel for plaintiff was composed of George S. Berry, G. V. Pardue, and John L. Ratliff, all of Lubbock.

Wife-Slayer Gets Parole; He Says People Have Gone Crazy

McALESTER, Okla., Oct. 1. (AP)—O. E. Doss, who went to prison for wife-slaying just five months before the beginning of the World war, left the state penitentiary today, thanks to a parole.

While his mother continued strenuous efforts for his freedom more than a year ago, Doss exclaimed: "Sure I can make a living when I get out of here. Anybody that keeps his head can make a living. People have gone crazy."

Doss was sent to prison from El Reno. He expected a reunion tonight with his mother and other relatives at Dallas.

Bank Depositors To Receive Cash

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Federal Deposit Insurance corporation prepared today to pay more than $4,000,000 to depositors in the Commercial National bank, of Bradford, Pa., which did not open today.

Leo T. Crowley, FDIC chairman, said he had been informed the bank cashier committed suicide after a $1,000,000 shortage had been disclosed.

Crowley said the Bradford payoff would be the largest, and the twenty-first since the FDIC came into being. He estimated approximately 90 per cent was insured. Crowley said the payoff would probably exceed the total of all previous payoffs.

advantage of our opportunity."

Mr. Schenck, mayor of Lubbock when the plant was established, cited instances of reduced taxes, made possible through municipal utilities. "What we want is to get the dollars, put them in the bank, and build a gas plant with as much economy as possible," he said.

Fights For Average Man

"Teeth can be put in the contract, bondholders are willing to take it. I'm fighting for the average man, not against the gas company in standing by the bond issue."

Concerning qualifications for voters, Mr. Schenck stated that "any regularly qualified voter, 21 years of age and having proper residence requirements, can cast a vote. This is a general election and doesn't require a property tax," he opined.

Carrying with him a Revised Statutes of the State of Texas, Mr. Benson, lawyer, disputed that there were no laws prohibiting the use of other revenues to retire the gas bonds, if payments could not be kept up from plant revenues. Referring to Articles 1113 and 1114 of the statutes, he asserted that "As long as there is one nickel owed on that plant, other revenues cannot be appropriated; and no one can be assessed any tax."

Called Better Gas

"And there's no use lying about the gas from the Hobbs field," he declared. "Truth of the matter is, that gas has 80 per cent more heat units than what is being used in Lubbock today. I've lived at Hobbs, and I never suffered any ill effects from keeping warm with a gas heater."

"I was elected on a platform to get cheaper gas, and I'm going to keep going after it," said City Commissioner Richardson. He asserted that people were paying the price of a gas plant every twelve months, exhibiting a photograph which he said would back up his statement.

In a brief forum conducted by Mayor Edwards after the speeches, the following answers were given to questions from the audience: Approximately $500,000 worth of work would be provided by the construction of the system, with workers to come from Lubbock wherever possible; no guaranteed gas rate had been obtained; any citizen could enjoin the city from collection of a property tax to meet bond payments.

Suit on insurance policy was filed in 99th district court Tuesday by Pink L. Parrish, against Texas Mutual Life Insurance company. Mr. Parrish asked that defendant be cited to appear and on hearing plaintiff be given judgment for $1,000, with legal interest and that he recover reasonable attorney's fee and a 12 per cent statutory penalty and costs of suit. He alleges that in January, 1934, he suffered accidental injury to his left foot, resulting in loss by severance, the loss allegedly coming within terms of an insurance policy issued him by defendant. He alleges defendant declined to pay claim.

Two less students than the 1934 fall semester total of 2,432 had been enrolled when deadline for registering for full-time work was reached at Texas Tech at 5 p. m. Tuesday, said the administration. Students may register for part-time work until Oct. 15.

It cost Lubbock county $667.95 to hold a special election Saturday for selecting a successor to the late Sen. Arthur P. Duggan, said J. Y. Boyd, county auditor. A total of 1,775 voted. A saving was effected through mailing of letters to election judges asking that they reduce their help to a minimum. Some judges who were entitled to four assistants used only two, for instance. Five thousand ballots were printed.

September brought no fire loss, said D. A. Forbess, building inspector. The year's total stands at $6,324.30, well under the $36,091.22 representing 1934's nine-month total. September of 1934 had a fire lost of $24,993.22.

G. E. Pitschke, branch manager of the J. I. Case company, of Amarillo will speak when approximately 30 South Plains dealers meet at 6 p. m. today at Hilton hotel for a banquet.

Burnice Walker Monday was elected president of the Texas Technological college Press club. Miss Josephine Powell, vice president, Miss Pauline Coe, secretary-treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Jones, reporter, and Fred Griffin, parliamentarian. Decision was made to meet first and third Mondays.

Death of Miss Bess Padgett, sister of Mrs. Marliss Ratliff, who with Mr. Ratliff recently moved from Lubbock to Waco, was learned late Tuesday night in a telephone call to Mrs. C. P. Brady of 1923 Fifteenth street, a friend. Death was at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday at Fort Worth. Food poisoning was believed responsible, and Miss Padgett's mother also is dangerously ill of the same cause, Mrs. Brady was informed. Funeral arrangements had not been completed.

Another blood transfusion is expected to be given Mrs. J. J. Eades of Hart this morning at Lubbock sanitarium. Two transfusions were performed Monday night. The patient underwent major surgery three weeks ago. Her condition remains serious.

Condition of Gearl Hensley, 16, son of C. R. Hensley of 511 Fifteenth street, apparently was satisfactory early this morning at West Texas hospital, after appendectomy performed late Tuesday night.

Grasshopper Horde Arouses Farmers To Fear For Crops

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 1. (AP)—Huge swarms of grasshoppers darted erratically today over parts of Kansas and western Missouri.

They filled the air at Emporia, Kas., as downtown workers went to lunch. Hundreds dropped to the streets. They flew in open doors and windows.

Hordes flew over Abilene, Kas., but few descended. Others appeared in increasing numbers near Winfield, Kas., causing farmers to fear for alfalfa, rye and new wheat crops. Swarms dropped upon downtown Kansas City.

Florida Court Opinion Raps "Contentious, Nagging Women"

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 1. (AP)—There is "probably no greater cruelty which can be inflicted" upon a man "than that which is inflicted by a contentious, unreasonable and nagging woman," the Florida supreme court said today.

It affirmed a Pinellas county court decree awarding Paul W. Nolan a divorce from Mrs. Sarah Lynda Nolan. However, the court reversed the lower court's awarding of permanent alimony to Mrs. Nolan.

Death Of Fis[h] Still Myster[y]

Tightly Locked Puzzle Bei[ng] Laid In Laps Of Biologist[s] And Scientists; Submerged Volcano Blamed

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 1. (AP) — A heavy mortality of fish in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico along the southern coast of Texas and northern Mexico has laid a tightly locked puzzle in the laps of marine biologists and scientists. Some think a similar tragedy of the sea occurred millions of years ago on the California coast, but in neither case does any one know the cause.

The phenomenon first appeared in July when thousands of dead menhaden were washed ashore on St. Joseph's and Padre islands, narrow strips of sand paralleling the coast from Corpus Christi to Brownsville. The wholesale death of Gulf fish has continued at intervals since, the dead including the game silver tarpon and thousands of fresh water fish, which floated down to salt water in swollen inland streams.

Suffocation Indicated

Dr. H. Federighi, marine biologist of the United States bureau of fisheries, Washington, examined specimens from a school of menhaden noticed dying off the coast at Port Aransas, Aug. 9. The behavior of the dying fish, he said "indicated suffocation." He dismissed a theory that suffocation had been caused by sub-marine eruption in the floor of the Gulf that liberated noxious gases, and suggested disease as the most plausible.

He based his theory on the "specificity in the fish involved; the periodicity in the occurrence of the dead fish, indicating a possible incubation period; and the fish involved are a species which school closely, thus easily spreading infection."

Others Are Heaved Up

Last week, Gulf waters heaved up other millions of dead fish of various species on the sands of the south coast. An established cause still appears hidden in the ocean's depths, but Judge F. W. Seabury of Brownsville, recognized as a competent amateur chemist, offers the explanation that the destruction of sea life was due to sulphur dioxide gas absorbed by the water of the Gulf.

Either the gas alone, he said, or sulphurous or sulphuric acids, the properties formed when the gas comes into contact with air and water, killed the fish.

Persons at the shore strewn with dead fish complained of a penetrating and acrid odor that irritated the mucous membrane. Those familiar with volcanic gas, which is largely sulphur dioxide, noted the similarity of the odor along the beach.

Liberated By Volcano

Judge Seabury therefore, reasons that the gas was liberated from some submerged volcano off the coast of Mexico, probably in the vicinity of Mount Orizaba.

"Cold water will absorb as much as 30 times its volume of sulphur dioxide gas," Seabury explained. "Furthermore it will retain the gas indefinitely unless there is much aeration."

In support of his theory he pointed to the existence of yellow patches in Gulf waters, reported to have been half a mile in length and 200 to 300 yards wide.

William J. Tucker of Austin, secretary of the game, fish and oyster commission, believes hydrographic studies of at least a year will be necessary to determine the cause.

Dr. E. J. Lund, zoologist of the University of Texas, Austin, and Dr. A. H. Wiebe of the commission, studied the problem and reported that the "gas" sensed on the shore was "volatile amines" resulting from putrefaction of the fish.

Pair Dead In Suicide Pact

Young Man, Woman Located Dead Aboard Passenger Train Tuesday; Poison Was Taken In Paper Cups

LAKE CHARLES, La., Oct. 1. (AP) Claude "Sonny Boy" Seals, 24, and Gladys Johnson, 20-year-old divorcee, were found dead in what authorities said was a suicide pact aboard the Gulf Coast line's Beaumont-Baton Rouge passenger train —in Calcasieu parish near Starks early today.

Investigating officers reported the couple mixed a large portion of poison with soft drinks in paper drinking cups and swallowed the contents.

Both Called Suicide

Dr. W. G. Fisher, deputy parish coroner, issued death certificates declaring both cases suicide from poison.

The coroner said poison powders were found in the man's pocket after his death.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Collins of Dequincy, La., directed the removal of the bodies from the train at Dequincy.

Collins said the train conductor told him he had seen the couple mix drinks in the paper cups, and swallow them, but at the time he thought they were taking only an ordinary dose of medicine.

Seals and Miss Johnson, who used her maiden name after obtaining a divorce, took the poison about twenty minutes after leaving Beaumont, Texas, the conductor said.

Emile Spreeg, a passenger, reported observing the couple in convulsions in the coach.

"The man was screaming and the girl placed her hand over his mouth to quiet him," he said.

Both left notes, authorities in Oakdale said. In one of the notes the Oakdale officers said Seals made threats to kill himself but attempted to persuade Miss Johnson "to go on living."

The officers said the note left by Miss Johnson explained that Seals wanted to marry her but could not do so because he had not obtained a divorce from his wife.

Seals is survived by his wife and two children. Miss Johnson had obtained her divorce from a Beaver, La., man.

Miss Johnson had been away from Oakdale for a week, relatives said, and had been visiting in San Antonio. Seals had been working in Beaumont for three months.

Twelve Men Are Enrolled In Course For Aggie Teachers

Twelve men have enrolled for a class for South Plains vocational agriculture teachers taught Wednesday evenings 7-9 o'clock at Texas Technological college by C. Luker.

The teachers are taking the course preparatory to teaching evening classes for farmers in their towns. The class, being offered for the first time, offers college credit.

Vocational agriculture teachers enrolled are R. L. Burdett, Lubbock; M. C. Brandon, Wilson; Lawrence Shipman, New Deal; T. L. Leech, Littlefield; Glenn Blackman, Shallowater; Bill Stubbs, Tahoka; Bill Zirkle, Meadow; L. M. Hargrave, Frenship; G. S. Dowell, Lorenzo; R. L. Faith, Abernathy; J. P. Smith, Anton.

R. L. Hooten, superintendent at Shallowater, is taking the course.

All but two of the men are Tech graduates.

Windmills And Tanks Being Unloaded For Ropes Project

Unloading of a car load of windmills and cypress tanks for the Ropesville Industrial Gardens, Inc., was begun Tuesday by E. K. Hufstedler and Son, holders of a contract to drill 34 water wells and erect tanks and towers on the project.

Construction was to begin Tuesday on erection of the towers and tanks. The windmills and tanks are made by Dempster Manufacturing Co.

Last week a car of pipe, 15,480 feet in four or five sizes, was unloaded. A second well drilling machine was received last week and put to work. Pipe will be placed in several holes already drilled.

When the machines are in first class running order, it is expected a well can be drilled in a day or two. Average depth is estimated at 120 feet. Mr. Hufstedler has 75 working days in which to complete his contract.

Receipt No. 1 For Taxes In School Office Given On 20th

Receipt No. 1 in payment of taxes to Lubbock Independent school district was issued Friday, Sept. 20, to E. H. Gillespie. Seven payments to date have been made at the schools tax office in City hall.

Although several persons had called at the city tax office to make payments, the office was not prepared to issue receipts. The City commission must approve the tax rolls first. Receipt blanks had not been received Tuesday morning, and payments will be held up for this reason, also, said Ed C. Young, tax assessor-collector.

Sheriff Not In But Man Draws A Cell In Jail

Introductory formulas of Emily Post were strangely lacking in the case of a Big Spring man who wanted to meet Sheriff Tom Abel.

The man, about 30 years old, assertedly steered a wobbly course to the office of Constable J. C. Roberts and explained he needed help to collect a debt. The constable sniffed. Just as he was about to direct the man to jail, the visitor professed a desire to meet the sheriff and asked Mr. Roberts if he would make the introduction.

The sheriff was not "in," but Parum Posey, jailer and a deputy sheriff, was.

And—a moment later—so was the visitor. Behind bars.

A day or so ago, a man in similar condition appeared at the jail and wanted "100 days in the lockup so I can sober up." The jailer assented. As he was about to lead the man off to a cell the fellow nudged him.

"Say, how about sending up a pint?" he asked. "I sure could use a drink."

Official Lubbock Greetings Given To Visiting Airmen

Official Lubbock greetings were given airmen from Kelly field who landed at Municipal airport Tuesday morning in 11 pursuit planes. The fliers, including cadets, were from the air training base and flew here from Fort Sill, Okla., en route to Roswell, N. M.

Mayor Ross Edwards, several City commissioners, and A. B. Davis and Garnet Reeves of the chamber of commerce, and several Lubbock citizens were at the port.

In the flight section were 13 officers and cadets and three mechanics. The first plane landed at 9:15 a. m., and the last one took off shortly after 12 noon. The section was the fourth from Kelly field to visit the airport since Saturday, said W. C. Breedlove, airport manager.

Bodies Of Laborer And His Wife Found; Theory Offered

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 1. (AP)—The bodies of Bill Stinson, 41-year-old laborer, and his wife, Bertha, 38, were found in Stinson's home here today.

Investigating officers expressed belief Stinson had shot his wife, then killed himself.

Twelve persons have been killed in 12 years in automobile accidents on a 12-mile stretch of the Old Spanish trail near DeFuniak Springs, Fla.

Killer Confesses Father A Victim

BUCHAREST, Oct. 1. (AP) — Police today said that Basile Tsaciuc, known to them as the youth who "murdered for spiritual pleasure," confessed that his own father was among his 21 alleged murder victims.

Believing they have in Tsaciuc a criminal with an unique mental twist, authorities decided to bring him here from Iasi for study by the nation's foremost alienists.

The prisoner today acknowledged in a matter-of-fact manner, according to police, that he was also a hitch-hiking killer.

He ralated, police continued, that he had begged a ride on a peasant's wagon, killed the peasant and his small son, proceeded to market and sold the wagon-load of chickens.

Church Gathering Reports Optimism

Optimism was expressed at completion of church programs before annual conference, by 25 pastors and numerous laymen who met Monday at Idalou in the second of a series of three monthly meetings of the 28-charge Lubbock district.

Approximately 50 or 60 persons were expected at the meeting, and more than 100 attended. All pastors except for two who were out of the state in revival meetings and one who was not enabled to attend were counted.

Reports were made on benevolences, local church finances, district finances, membership, lay work, missionary progress, women's departments, and other subjects.

On the program were: Rev. E. B. Bowen of Lamesa, Rev. L. N. Lipscomb of Lubbock, Rev. W. E. Peterson of Shallowater, Rev. W. L. Porterfield of Robertson charge, Lorenzo, Mrs. C. E. Fike of Levelland, Rev. J. A. Wheeler of Draw, Mrs. R. L. Bowman of Lorenzo, C. A. Sanford of Lubbock, and Mrs. Quincy Hames of Crosbyton.

Luncheon was served by women of the Idalou church.

O. H. Cline, one of the district lay leaders, accompanied Dr. W. M. Pearce, presiding elder who called the meeting, to Idalou.

Truck Owners Lodge Protest

Charges That Rail Commission Is Enforcing Truck Law Arbitrarily Are Given To House Committee

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP) — Charges that the railroad commission was enforcing the truck law arbitrarily were before the house highways and motor traffic committee today.

They were warmly denied by Walton D. Hood, chief of inspectors for the commission, who testified at a hearing that "the law is being enforced as it is written."

L. L. Hutchison of Dallas, truck operator, said his business had been ruined by illegal treatment, while F. J. Buckalew of Dallas corroborated part of Hutchison's testimony as to arrests.

Driven From Market

E. E. Dullahan, representing the Houston Chamber of Commerce, told of complaints that because of arrests produce buyers were being driven from the Houston market, and Rep. Jap Lucas of Athens testified "farmers, merchants and trucks in my county are scared to death."

Hood denied truckers were harassed, saying none had been arrested without cause or detained longer than necessary. He read a letter from Dayton Moses, attorney for the Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, urging his department to stop flagrant law violations by cattle truckers.

In a recent drive, Hood said, between 300 and 400 arrests were made near Fort Worth in three or four days.

LIGHT UP YOUR HOME

Mazda Lamps of standard quality are cheaper now than ever before. Insist upon a lamp of standard make and not one that is merely a "bargain." Adequate illumination, longer life, and economical use of current, we feel sure, are the primary requirements you're interested in. Standard Mazda Lamps fill these requirements.

and wife—of course we aren't that now, but we're going to be—should share the same interests, don't you?"

Gale was spared from answering as the door opened and Brian reappeared. He said, "Sorry, Vicky, but I hunted all over the car and I couldn't find that purse. You're sure you had it with you—?"

Vicky nodded. "Yes," she said, "I remember—" and then stopped, "Oh, Brian," she went on, "I believe I did leave it at home. I remember laying it on my dressing table and then coming downstairs. I must have forgotten to go up for it again. I'm terribly sorry!"

"Doesn't matter, so long as you're sure it isn't lost. Well, have you two girls got everything settled? Made all your plans?"

"I'm afraid not," Vicky told him, smiling. "We've been so busy chattering and getting acquainted, I'm afraid we did forget to talk about anything else." She turned toward Gale. "But you're going to let me come again, aren't you?"

"Come whenever you want to," Gale told her. "Come any time."

"That's sweet of you!" Vicky got to her feet. "Don't you think we'd better be going on now?" she said to Brian.

"If you're ready."

"Then I'll say good night." Vicky pulled her coat together, put out one of her hands and took Gale's. She said, sweetly, "I think you've been awfully nice about everything and I'm sure we're going to be great friends!"

Gale's eyes avoided Brian. She said, "Good night" and heard the door close behind them. For an instant she stood, staring at the chair where Vicky had sat. There was a sound behind her and she turned. Brian stood in the doorway.

He said, "Gale, if I come back can I see you alone?"

"Please—" she said, "I wish you'd go away!"

"But Gale—?"

"Will you please go?"

She heard the door close for the second time.

Opposed To The Gas Bonds

IF • IF • IF • IF • IF

IF these gas bonds, in the hands of the City Commission of Lubbock, do not bring par and accrued interest in the open markets, then are the promoters and contractors going to take the loss on these bonds because they are interested in gas rates?

IF • IF • IF • IF • IF

IF the United States Government would not loan the City of Lubbock money on our Gas Revenue Bonds, under a 4 per cent loan of $910,000 and a grant from the Government of $390,000 because the project was considered hazardous, why are the bond promoters and contractors who are interested in this gas project, but who are not interested in the welfare of Lubbock or its gas rates, so anxious to put over this bond issue?

IF • IF • IF • IF • IF

IF, during the 20 year period the interest, at 5 1-2 per cent from date, amounts to $842,050, which will have to be paid by the citizens of Lubbock, then will the bond promoters and contractors remain in this City to assist our citizens in paying this enormous burden?

IF • IF • IF • IF • IF

IF the gas supplied by the bond brokers, speculators and contractors, after the expenditure of this enormous amount of money by Lubbock citizens, is a sulphur gas, which has to be treated before it can be safely burned, then how are the housewives of Lubbock to know that such sulphur fumes will not come into their homes?
