PIPELINE TO CARRY MILLIONS OF GALLONS TO COKE COUNTY OILFIELD

Waterflood Pact Made; May Open Way For Second Big CRMWD Lake

(More on the CRMWD story on Page 6-A)

Pipeline's Route

The map shows the route of the pipeline (indicated by arrow) from Lake J. B. Thomas to the Sun Oil receiving point in northern Coke County, a distance of 51.5 miles.

Solution Of Brine Problem Would Remove Obstacle To Colorado Dam

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is committed to its third major project, which in turn may clear the way for a fourth—the most ambitious of all.

Directors meeting in Big Spring Saturday morning executed a contract to furnish Sun Oil Company with water for an oilfield waterflood project in northern Coke County. At the same time, they advertised for bids on Jan. 29 for sale of $2,750,000 in revenue bonds and set Feb. 15 as the target date for letting a contract on 51.5 miles of pipeline. The contract has now been submitted to Sun for action.

The contract calls for 3,000,000 gallons of water a day (scaling down to 588,000 gallons a day in 16 years) to be delivered to Sun's terminal point four miles southwest of Silver in northern Coke County. One million gallons a day may be in brine intercepted on the Colorado River, the remainder presently from Lake J. B. Thomas and perhaps later from a lower lake which is due to be the biggest single project for the district.

By intercepting the normal flow of the river with channel dams, the CRMWD hopes to make a substantial stride toward controlling salt water pollution which so far has stalled plans for a second major lake on the Colorado River. Thus, Saturday's action may open the way to definite planning for this lake with a capacity of 407,000 acre feet. (Lake Thomas has a 204,000 acre foot capacity.)

Eventually the new lake would be a source of additional supply for the district's member cities and other customers in this area. The district was granted a permit for the second lake in June of 1960, provided it is able to demonstrate its ability to control the salt water problem on the drainage area.

E. V. Spence, general manager of the CRMWD, said that the district would move as rapidly as possible to get water to Sun Oil Company. Eastman-Dillon, Union Securities and Co. of New York, the district's fiscal agent, have completed preliminary work on financing. This will make possible a bid opening on Jan. 29 for competitive proposals to buy the bonds. Meanwhile, Freese & Nichols, Fort Worth, the district's engineers, are drafting plans for the pipeline and are mapping the route to be followed.

It is anticipated that the bids will be for 21-inch pipe (with alternates on 24-inch) from Lake J. B. Thomas to a point about three miles south of Interstate Highway 20 some two miles east of the Howard County Line. This section will be a distance of 21.7 miles. The remaining 29.8 miles of the supply line will be 18-inches in diameter and will cross the Colorado River about two miles north of the Coke County line. No booster pump station is planned

Not a part of these bids, but certainly a part of the project, will be channel dams across the Colorado River in southwestern Scurry and northwestern Mitchell counties. Each will be connected by a 12-inch lateral line to the main supply line serving Sun Oil Company.

The channel dams are low structures which cut through the river bed to intercept the underground as well as surface low flow of the river. The flow drains to the side into a wet well, from whence it is pumped to a storage tank. The water is then pumped to the supply line. By intercepting the salty normal flow of the river, the CRMWD hopes to reduce drastically the salt content in the river. The channel dams are low enough that flood waters, which are of good quality, spill over the top and flow downstream.

It is necessary for the district to trap the intensely salty flow, which, if allowed to continue, would in time pollute the projected second lake.

The Texas Railroad Commission has issued a desist order, effective April 7, 1963, which bans the disposal in open pits of oilfield brines from the Sharon Ridge oilfield along the watershed in southwestern Scurry and northwestern Mitchell counties. This, the district contends, will stop a continuation of the major source of pollution on the river. It may take a score of years for saltwater already migrating from the pits to be leached from the sub-surface soils leading to the river.

The district's first major project was, naturally, the construction of the dam impounding Lake J. B. Thomas (and later a diversion dam and channel) and the pipeline from the lake to Snyder, Big Spring and Odessa in 1951-53. Revenue bonds in the amount of $11,750,000 were issued to finance this work. Then in 1958, another $4,600,000 in bonds was floated to finance the construction of 33 miles of 33-inch line from the Martin County field to Odessa, as well as to double Odessa's terminal storage capacity.

Of the total of $16,350,000 in revenue bonds issued by the district, $11,537,000 is now outstanding. The district does not levy a tax and finances its services solely from revenues.

From the Improvement and Extension Fund, the board of directors authorized the expenditure of $35,000 for converting the Big Spring pump station to automatic control on the microwave system; $2,240 to go to the Texas Water Commission for cooperative quality and quantity studies on the Colorado River; $50,000 to be used for auxiliary expenses in connection with the pipeline project.

The manager was authorized to apply to the Texas Water Commission for authority to construct channel dams on the Colorado River. Contracts were ratified with McCall, Parkhurst and Crowe in Dallas for legal work in connection with the bonds and with Eastman-Dillon, Union Securities and Company as fiscal agents in preparation for sale of the bonds.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Events of the past few days proved again the adage that if you don't like West Texas weather—then wait a minute. It'll change. We had everything from balmy spring days and evenings to a sandstorm to the remnants of a blizzard with near zero temperatures. Some profess it to be beneficial on the grounds extreme cold tends to kill insects. Maybe, but last year we had five below—and in August the worst bug attack ever on our cotton.

Speaking of cotton, the poor farmers are having it. Hardly had the fields dried out enough to resume stripping when a hard blow se' in. With reports reflecting 2,700 pounds or more lint cotton for a bale, operations halted lest another 200 or 300 pounds of dirt be added. Before finis is written on the harvest, it not only will be the latest, the crop may be the most costly, and the grade the poorest.

If ruggedness shown in attending the Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday evening in face of 15-degree readings can be demonstrated all year, great things lie ahead for the C-C in '63. Roy B. Reeder, after a significant year, turned over the reins to Dr. Carl Marcum. Ike Robb was fittingly recognized as the community's outstanding young man by the Jaycees, and the Chamber paid tribute to E. V. Spence, developer and protector of water supplies.

Usually, the only thing that suffers worse from extreme weather than the livestock is church attendance. For that reason, elements may not be cooperating with the opening of the new Carl Street Church of Christ. However, members likely have enough pride in

County's Frozen

Hog-killing weather moved in on Howard County with a boom Friday night and temperatures dropped to six degrees at 8 a.m. Saturday morning. Still colder weather was promised for Saturday night with a possible zero reading forecast.

The sun attempted to push through the overcast Saturday, but couldn't quite make it. The wind, blowing from 10 to 15 miles per hour made the wintry blast doubly cold. All roads in the Big Spring area were open.

Saturday's low of six degrees didn't set a record for Big Spring but it came within two degrees of the four degree reading set for the same date in 1918. Saturday's high was 14.

At 10 p.m. Saturday the sky was covered by thin clouds. An occasional snow flake fluttered to the ground.

No damage to water pipes and mains had been reported to the city's emergency crews, but M. G. McCasland of the water department said he feared some breakage when the thaw started.

"If the temperature gets to the mark forecast for tonight we will probably have a lot of broken lines because some of the smaller ones are frozen now," he said Saturday afternoon.

The Midland weather bureau forecast read partly cloudy and continued cold Sunday and Sunday night with a low of from zero to five degrees and a high of 18.

The dry weather over the past several weeks will keep the earth from freezing to any depth but some shrubs may be killed. Remembering the low last Jan. 10 of five degrees when many shrubs were killed in Big Spring, many home owners have provided some protection against hard freezes this year.

POLL TAX BOX SCORE

Total poll tax receipts issued through Jan. 11	1,318
Total exemption certificates issued through Jan. 11	863
Total	2,181

Deadline for payment of Poll tax Midnight, Jan. 31.

Off Year Poll Tax Sales Down

Poll tax sales are not exactly booming at the office of the county tax assessor and collector.

In political parlance, 1963 is an "off" year with only a few political events of importance. Such years are always slow in the matter of poll tax sales.

However, there will be a number of elections in 1963 which are of importance and in order to vote the elector must have his 1962 poll tax receipt.

Deadline for the payment of the poll tax is Jan. 31. The tax office will remain open Jan. 31—which happens to be a Thursday—until midnight to afford belated tax payers a chance to pay their taxes without penalty and at the same time get a poll tax receipt or exemption certificate.

Poll tax receipts issued through Friday stood at 1,318. Exemption certificates issued totalled 863.

Poll tax receipts cost $1.75.

Exemption certificates (for older citizens who live in incorporated towns) are issued without charge. Older voters in the rural areas are not required to have an exemption certificate in order to vote.

Cold Clamps All Of Texas

By The Associated Press

Numbing cold clamped all Texas in an unrelaxing grip Saturday. Light snow and sleet fell even in Houston.

Another frigid night was forecast with temperatures tumbling to 15 degrees below zero in the Panhandle. A hard freeze was predicted for the Lower Rio Grande Valley, where vegetable and citrus crops were threatened.

The zero weather was expected to thrust as deep as the Fort Worth and Dallas area before dawn. The coldest weather of the winter found the mercury 12 degrees below zero at dawn in Dalhart, 9 below at Amarillo and 2 below at Lubbock.

Happily, there was little snow, sleet and freezing rain with their attendant perils to travel. Snow, however, fell through the morning in far West Texas, locally heavy in spots.

Fires, as always, were a by-product of the winter storm. In Dallas, a boy, 7, perished in an apartment fire. The north side of the Brady city square in West Central Texas was levelled in a $225,000 fire which blazed in 7-degree weather. In Waco, a wood burning stove started a fire that destroyed three houses and damaged two.

Two Northside Youths Are Slain; Suspect Is Sought

Police were questioning dozens of witnesses at midnight Saturday in an effort to learn the whereabouts of a man who shot and killed two young Negroes near Emmitt's Lounge, NW 3rd and Aylford, about 9:45 p.m.

Jerry Lee Johnson, 19, 1002 NW 1st, was dead on arrival at Howard County Hospital Foundation and Arthur Roland Williams, 20, 1105 NW 8th, died a few minutes after arriving at the hospital. Both had injuries caused by bullet wounds.

Justice of the Peace Walter Grice issued a warrant for Roosevelt Carter, about 30, charging him with murder. Police began a city-wide search for the man and notified officers in surrounding towns to check all persons fitting the description.

Several witnesses gave officers accounts of the altercation and subsequent shooting. They agreed the assailant fled the scene, probably in a late model station wagon.

The gun used in the shooting, thought to be a .22 calibre rifle, had not been recovered and police theorized the man still had it with him.

Richard McGraw, 202 W. 7th, a driver for the Yellow Cab Co., was one witness.

"Several men were standing near Emmitt's Cafe," he said, "and they looked like they were about to fight. Suddenly, this other man stepped around the corner and started shooting with the rifle. The crowd scattered but two men fell." He said the rifle reports sounded like a 22 calibre. He did not recognize the rifleman.

William Handall, 808 NW 5th, also told police he saw the two men fall and heard the shots. He said he could not tell where the shots came from. He said he went to see how badly Johnson was hurt, then left to tell Johnson's mother what had happened when police stopped him.

The owner of the station wagon described by some witnesses was being questioned at midnight. Other officers were checking all outgoing T&P Railroad trains.

Funeral for both boys is pending at the River Funeral Home.

Jerry Lee Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Johnson, 1002 NW 1st. He is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

IT'S WINTER AT ITS WORST

Associated Press Sports Writer

A blizzard whipped across a section of the Midwest Saturday while wide-ranging cold cracked records that had stood as long as 86 years.

Winter at its worst spanned the continent.

It drove temperatures as low as -56 in a frigid zone that reached from the West Coast to the Great Lakes, blew snow in some Central areas, and brought snow, sleet, rain and fog to parts of the East.

At least 17 deaths were blamed on the weather.

Among the low temperatures:

West Yellowstone, Mont., -56; Laramie, Wyo., -50; Fraser, Colo., -47; Butte, Mont., -39; Idaho Falls, Idaho, -30; Sidney, Neb., and International Falls, Minn., -17; Rapid City, S.D., -16; Goodland, Kan., -19; Salt Lake City, Utah, -18; Bismark, N.D., -11; Oklahoma City -6.

Tavern Owner Witness To Developing Trouble

"I saw the whole thing."

Emmitt Warren, owner and operator of Emmitt's Lounge, NW 3rd and Aylford, gave this description of events last night, only minutes after the alarm went out for the man who shot down two young men in front of his tavern.

"It started earlier," Warren said. "This Carter is a stranger to our place and he was trying to make trouble for Roland and Jerry Lee. They was talking right back to him."

"I came around the bar and told Carter to hit the door; I didn't want no trouble in my place." Carter left, Warren said. "I knew Roland and Jerry Lee and they was good boys. They never cause no trouble. I don't know this other fellow and when he tried to come back, I sent him out again. He didn't cause me no trouble."

"A while later," the lounge operator said, "Roland and Jerry Lee saw Carter outside and they left. I saw them talking and they moved on down near J.P.'s place. (An adjoining tavern)."

"Carter had a rifle."

"That's where the shooting took place."

"I heard . . . I think it was three shots. I went around the bar and started toward the door. About that time, Roland come running in the door and Jerry Lee was behind him. I told them to get back outside. I didn't want no trouble."

"Then Roland told me he was shot and I saw the blood on his shirt and on the floor behind them. Jerry Lee ran on through and out the back door. We found him later outside and the police said he was dead."

"They took Roland to the hospital."

"I been in business over a year," Warren said, "and I never had no trouble."

His voice slowed down after his excited description of the tragedy on his doorstep. He looked up at the police officer.

"Well, not till now."

McAlister Reveals Expansion Plans

A "home-grown" manufacturing establishment, whose outlook is bright for becoming another important industrial unit in the city, has completed incorporating technicalities, is progressing on a physical plant, and planning for major production.

Interwoven corporations, Gamco, Inc., and Math-Master Labs, Inc., are the companies. The former, the operating company, is owned in part by Math-Master Labs.

Both corporations are held by a small group of Big Spring citizens. Officers of both concerns are George A. McAlister, president; Harold L. Davis, vice president; and R. Clyde Hollingsworth, secretary and treasurer.

Gamco is chartered to manufacture all types of school equipment, including chalkboards, bulletin boards, tack boards, sliderules, sliderule stands, lab equipment, various teaching aids and related items.

Branching out of the concern is another milestone in the dreams and work of McAlister, who came to Big Spring to join the Howard County Junior College faculty in 1948, saw a need for classroom items that were either not available or not satisfactorily fabricated, and began to develop such items himself.

GEORGE A. McALISTER

For a period, McAlister designed and home manufactured various teaching aids. Interest grew and demand for them expanded until he decided in 1960 to leave the college (where he was head of the math department) and devote all his time and energies to manufacturing and selling his products.

Formation of the corporations, with local men joining in financing, has been the result.

Math-Master Labs and Gamco, under the same management, soon will be housed in a new 21,000 square-foot addition to the present Math-Master Labs space on the Snyder highway. The plant is on a five-acre tract, with room for expansion.

Products of the new concern will be distributed through Math-Master Labs. The manufacturing unit, Gamco, is due to employ up to 25 people when it is in full operation in approximately a year. Currently there are 11 on the payroll.

The factory will be one of the most modern of its type anywhere, McAlister said. One huge machine, for processing chalkboard, is approximately 190 feet in length, and will produce a chalkboard surface in writing quality equal to slate.

McAlister said plans call for completion of the building and installation of equipment in March or April. The companies hope to be in production by mid-May, and ready to push their items in the school markets.

E. D. Nichols Funeral Pends

Earl D. Nichols, 75, died at his home in Wichita Falls at 7 p.m. Friday. He was a retired blacksmith and lived in the Big Spring area for 10 years before going to Wichita Falls 10 years ago. He was a member of the Baptist Church.

Funeral will be held at 4 p.m. Monday in the River Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. R. B. Murray, pastor of Crestview Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in the City Cemetery.

Mr. Nichols is survived by five sons, J. D. Nichols, and Raymond E. Nichols, Wichita Falls, John L. Nichols, Hot Springs, N. M., Robert C. Nichols, Wichita, Kan., Windle R. Nichols, Arkansas City, Kan.; 35 grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren, one great - great-grandchild; a brother, Dolph Nichols, Dublin, and a sister, Mrs. Golda Stalcup, Cleburne.

AUSTIN (AP)—Medical Society officials hope to give Type I oral polio vaccine to 250,000 Central Texans Sunday in the first mass immunization program this year.

Bids Requested For Highway Work Here

East Third and East Fourth streets, from Union to Tulane in Big Spring, will be regraded, widened, and repaved early in 1963 if bids for the 2.8 miles are accepted by the Texas Highway Department at the Jan. 25-26 meeting.

The City of Big Spring has signed a resolution agreeing to pay for curb and gutter work, which will be repaid on an assessment-of-property owner basis, and has sent a check for more than $22,000 to the highway department. The curb and gutter work will be included in the contract price of widening the streets.

The two streets are a part of Interstate Highway 20, (US 80) as a business route through the city, and the work will be completed by the time the new by-pass route is opened around the city to the north.

Bids on the two streets will include grading, structures, base, and paving, and will bring both streets to the down-town width as far as the present curbed and guttered portion running east to Union.

Additional work, to be done on IH 20, in Nolan County, includes 13.9 miles of signing, marking, and safety lighting, from a mile southwest of Roscoe to three miles east of Sweetwater. Bids will be taken on this work at the Jan. 25-26 meeting of the department.

Other highway projects in West Texas, included in the bid calling are 3.9 miles flexible base and concrete paving on US 84 in Scurry County from four miles southeast of Snyder to Snyder's east city limits; 1.5 miles grading, structures, flexible base and two-course surface treatment in Andrews County on US 385 from 2.7 miles south of Andrews to 1.6 miles north.

ASSOCIATION NEEDS HELP IN TUBERCULOSIS BATTLE

With a bigger job this year—and it promises to keep growing—the Howard County Tuberculosis Association is faced with a shrinking budget. Only $4,770 has come in from Christmas Seal requests made in December and the organization is depending on a budget of $6,000.

The tremendous job this year includes tracking down the contacts of some 17 persons who were sent to the sanitarium for treatment of the nation's No. 1 infectious disease—Tuberculosis. As each of these persons could have contacted about 10 other persons, all these must be checked to see if they contracted the disease. Many may have Tuberculosis and don't know it; it is the job of the TB association to help them find out.

Although once on the decline, TB has developed resistance to new drugs and renewed efforts to track it down are necessary. Found early enough it can be cured, but this requires patch tests and a follow-up program for which Christmas Seal money pays.

With this in mind, the local association urges residents to return the letters or reminders sent out last December. The money is important to the fight against TB in Big Spring and Howard County—your home.

Army Is Due A New Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will start within a few weeks to reshape its regular divisions into the most heavily-gunned and most maneuverable in U.S. history.

The changeover, first in seven years, will be gradual and may take the better part of two years to complete.

Fourteen infantry, armor and airborne divisions in the United States; Germany, Korea and the Pacific will be revamped. Only one division at a time will be reorganized in each area, to minimize disruption.

The Army's two newest divisions—the 1st Armored at Ft. Hood, Tex., and the 5th Infantry at Ft. Carson, Colo.—were organized under the new concept from the ground up. Their performance in field testing "demonstrated convincingly the soundness of the new division structure," the Army said.

Since 1956, infantry and paratroop divisions have been formed under what the Army calls a "pentomic" structure built around five battle groups of about 1,350 men each. The Army felt then that the three-regiment triangular division of World War II and Korea was not suitable to the nuclear battlefield.

In recent years, Army planners have seen the need for still another reorganization that would adapt divisions to the demands of fighting limited, non-nuclear wars in radically different kinds of terrain around the globe, as well as for the atomic battlefield.

Accordingly, under the new setup, the Army is converting some infantry divisions to mechanized divisions. Simply stated, a mechanized division is an infantry outfit in which everybody rides to the battle area.

Geography will determine the makeup of any given division. Thus, Army divisions in Europe will be either armored or mechanized to take advantage of the flat country and good roads. Divisions in the Far East will be heavy in infantry and light in armor. Divisions posted in the United States will have more parachute troops or combinations of battalions suited to swift movement overseas to deal with brush fire crises.

Infantry divisions now total 13,748 men at full strength. The new infantry division will have 15,845 men and a mechanized division 15,891.

As examples of heavier firepower, the new infantry division will mount 148 90mm guns compared with none in the present divisions, 135 tanks as against 125, 30 Davey Crockett atomic mortars as against none now, and four Honest John nuclear bombardment rockets as against two in the current division.

The new armored division will number 15,899 men—an increase of 1,282. It will muster 369 tanks, an increase of 29, and 94 90mm guns as compared with none in the present armored divisions.

Paratroop divisions will increase by more than 3,000 men each to a new strength of 14,558 men. The new airborne outfits will be much stronger in artillery, machine guns and mortars.

Protection For Cotton

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Harold Cooley, D-N.C., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said Saturday his committee will move swiftly "to prevent the destruction of the American market for American cotton."

He said the cotton subcommittee will resume its public hearings here Tuesday. The subcommittee will receive recommendations of Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman's Cotton Advisory Committee and of others who wish to express themselves on the problems facing the cotton industry.

Cooley has just returned from the Carolinas, where the cotton subcommittee, headed by Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., toured cotton textile centers for two days. The subcommittee gathered information on the loss of cotton markets due to importation of foreign textiles and the competition of synthetic fibers in the domestic market.

"We hope to have a cotton bill ready for House action soon after the new Congress is completely organized and ready to conduct business," Cooley said.

"It is absolutely essential that we move swiftly if any new cotton legislation can become applicable to the 1963 crop."

The committee chairman added that complete agreement in the cotton mills to pay 8½ cents per pound more for American cotton than foreign mills must pay for American cotton." He voiced hope that a remedy may be forthcoming before the 1963 cotton crop is planted.

Under the current cotton program, the government subsidizes exportation of raw cotton to the extent of 8½ cents a pound to cover the difference in price between the American cotton market and the world market price.

PRAY FOR SINNERS

By T. H. Tarbet, Preacher
Church of Christ, 3900 West Highway 80

Paul prayed for alien sinners when he said, "My heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved" (Rom. 10:1).

Was Paul praying that God save Israel without their believing and obeying? Surely not. Prayer will not set aside the word of God. We cannot ask the Lord to save people contrary to his divine law. Christ is the "author of eternal salvation to all them that obey him"; not to them that disobey him (Heb. 5:8,9). At his second coming, Christ will take vengence on them that "obey not the gospel" (II Thess. 1:8).

We should pray thtt sinners have opportunity to hear, believe and obey the gospel; that conditions be favorable for them; and many such things we may pray for. But God only answers prayer when we ask for things which accord with his fill (I Jno. 5:14). The alien sinner must believe in Christ; repent of his sins; confess the name of Christ and be buried in baptism for the forgiveness of sins (Jno. 8:21; Acts 17:30; Rom. 10:9, 10; Rom. 6:3, 4; Acts 2:28).

Annexation Question Mailed To Waggoner Carr

Answer to the question: "Can the Howard County School Board legally rescind its ruling of May, 1960 annexing Center Point and Gay Hill Common School Districts to Big Spring Independent District?" is sought in a letter dispatched Saturday to Waggoner Carr, attorney general for Texas.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, dispatched the inquiry to the attorney general accompanying his question with a list of cases which Gil Jones, attorney for Big Spring school district, says holds that the board cannot back up on its earlier decision.

He had delayed sending the inquiry expecting to receive a list of cases from attorneys for the common schools supporting the contention that the county board has the right to back up on its earlier action. He said Saturday he had received no such cases.

The county board was asked to cancel out the original annexation order. It tabled the request pending legal advice on whether such action could be taken.

Meantime, the school annexation case is now pending before the court of civil appeals in Eastland and is slated for argument Feb. 15.

The two common school districts have waged a long legal battle since 1960 to keep from being annexed to the Big Spring school district.

Midland Man Admits Theft

Midland police advised the Big Spring police Saturday that they had a man in custody who admitted taking about $26 in cash from the Childers School of Hair Dressing and Cosmetology, 611 Main, Friday night. Big Spring police checked the school and found the back door unlocked but with no sign of forced entry.

The man told Midland police he drove to Big Spring where he unlocked the door with a key and then returned to Midland. He said he knew where the money was kept. Midland police told Big Spring officers the man had been arrested there and faced several charges.

Cecil Laverne Snow of Bells, told police that cash, a check, and clothing, amounting to over $70, were taken from a Frozen Food Express truck out of Dallas while he was asleep in the sleeper, and while his partner was in the cafe eating. The truck was parked at the "66" Truck Stop about noon Friday.

A watch, valued at $50, was reported stolen from the trousers pocket of Dick Carlton, 1701 Harvard, at the high school, while he was in PE class. His mother notified police. A student was left to watch the locker rooms while the class was in the gym and he reported several boys going in and out of the rooms.

County Cotton Ginning Is Nearing Peak

Cotton ginning in Howard County hit its peak last week and the gins were running almost around the clock for the most part.

The grand rush, if the weather holds good and the strippers can continue with their work, will go on, it was estimated, for about 10 days to two weeks longer.

"It'll be just about over by then," said one ginner. "I think we'll have most of it baled by the end of the month."

Most ginners seem agreed that the total production will not go much above 25,000 bales. A few hopefully expect 30,000.

The chill weather Friday had its slowing down impulse on the strippers but there was a considerable backlog of cotton on hand. As a result the gins were busy Friday picking up on the accumulated cotton.

Dunn Wins First Round In Pecos Hospital Fight

PECOS (AP)—Dr. John Dunn won the first round Saturday in a bitter fight over official efforts to bar him from Reeves County Memorial Hospital, the only one in Pecos.

Under a temporary injunction granted by Dist. Judge William Ward of El Paso, the controversial physician is allowed to treat patients there until the hospital's board of managers grants him a formal hearing.

One of the eight lawyers representing the board, Hill Hudson, said advance notice would be given Dunn and the hearing would be held within a week.

Except for counsel on both sides, Hudson said the session will be closed to outsiders. This means accusations against Dunn of improper conduct with women patients, aired briefly in the injunction suit, will be heard only by the board, its medical staff and any witnesses who may be called.

Later, Mrs. Mary Ella Beavers, 43, told reporters she was the woman. She and her husband said it was an act of gratitude after removal of one of her breasts in a cancer operation.

The round-faced, nearly bald doctor denied pinching the breast of a patient. Asked about "an amorous love scene" with a woman whose baby he had just delivered, Dunn declared the description was "a complete falsehood."

There are 13 physicians in Pecos, a city of 15,000, and all are on the medical staff of the county-owned hospital. Dunn went to court after the hospital board served notice Jan. 2 it was not reappointing him to the staff for 1963.

Board Chairman Harrison Beauchamp was the only other witness besides Dunn in the temporary injunction case. Beauchamp said the six-member board had sworn statements from half a dozen nurses and hospital administrator Roy Ayers about improper conduct and repeated harassment of employes by Dunn.

Dunn is a John Birch Society member and says he has turned evidence over to authorities about criminal activities in this West Texas ranch and farm area.

Charging there is a conspiracy to wreck his medical practice, the physician contends his investigative work—and not his hospital conduct—is the reason behind the ouster move. He is an open enemy of Billie Sol Estes, the bankrupt Pecos promoter. Dunn claims his tip to the FBI about Estes led to Estes' downfall.

Dunn's lawyers won a ruling by Ward Friday night that cross-examination of Dunn about his conduct with women patients had no bearing on the temporary injunction. The court upheld their contention that the key issue was failure of the board to give Dunn a hearing and answer charges as required by state law.

The court session Saturday lasted only two minutes. Both sides said they would call no further witnesses and planned no more arguments. Ward then granted the temporary order permitting Dunn to continue using the hospital.

"I am very pleased with the ruling," Dunn said. "I think it is fair and just."

A hospital board member, who did not want to be named, said there was no doubt the board would simply reaffirm its decision to drop Dunn from the medical staff after letting him appear before the group.

Still to be tried is Dunn's suit for permanent injunction in the dispute and a $50,000 damage suit charging conspiracy to drive him out of town.

Backlog Of Cases

DALLAS (AP)— Judge Dallas Blankenship, presiding judge of the First State Administrative Judicial District, said Friday he plans to ask Northeast Texas judges to come here on special assignment to help delete Dallas' backlog of cases.

Communists Converging On Berlin For Conference

BERLIN (AP) — Communists converged on East Berlin from afar Saturday for an East German Communist party congress that looks as if it will be dominated by the Soviet-Chinese quarrel. Diplomats expect the meeting, starting Tuesday, may open the way for a Communist summit conference.

The end result may be a worldwide party congress, proposed by Peking. The last one, in November 1960, brought the Soviet and Red Chinese leaders together in Moscow for a biting quarrel that was only publicly—and temporarily—patched over.

The star at the sixth party congress of the East German Communists will be Soviet Premier Khrushchev. He is due Sunday or Monday after a stopover in Poland.

Khrushchev is expected to attack the Chinese Communists for wanting to take a more aggressive line against the United States and its western partners and for underrating American atomic strength.

To answer Khrushchev, the Chinese Communists have named Wu Hsiu-chuan, a member of their Central Committee, as leader of a three-member delegation. He used to be Peking's ambassador to Yugoslavia, where he had plenty of chances to get acquainted with the revisionist ideas that the Chinese accuse Khrushchev of adopting.

The Yugoslavs are also sending a delegation. This is the first time they have been invited to a party congress inside the Communist bloc since their big break with Moscow in 1948. The Yugoslavs and the Soviets have moved closer together since the Moscow-Peking split became more apparent.

Among foreigners on hand was Henry Winston, vice-chairman of the American Communist party. Winston has lived in the Soviet Union since he was freed in 1961 after serving five years of an eight-year sentence for conspiring to advocate the violent overthrow of the U.S. government. President Kennedy commuted the sentence because of Winston's eye trouble and ill health in prison.

Some sources in Poland said Wladyslaw Gomulka, Polish Communist chief, would try to mediate between the two major Communist powers. Gomulka will be coming to Berlin with Khrushchev.

An indication of where Gomulka's sympathy lies came in the news that his foreign minister, Adam Rapacki, will visit India this month. The visit will be a rebuke to the Chinese, who staged an armed attack on India last fall.

Sparking Up Salesmanship

T&P Railroad Given Plaque For Promotion Program

An outstanding program of sales promotion and advertising techniques has earned for the Texas & Pacific Railway a bronze plaque from the Railway Progress Institute.

T&P was one of four finalists in national judging.

Gratified at the award, G. A. Craig, vice president-marketing, noted that the T&P sales and marketing force had exceeded the goals set little more than a year ago. One evidence was an eight per cent increase in freight. There also were rewarding returns in increased efficiency of operation.

Getting freight traffic involves selling and service. To present the T&P story as a help to prospective shippers, salesmen have to know about the railroad, to be able to answer questions about handling, routing, time and rates.

Recognizing the importance of customer contact as the key to increased freight sales, Texas & Pacific in midsummer of 1961 embarked on a sales training and management program. Salesmen were trained to become more familiar with accounts and to arrange their schedules so there would be a minimum of lost time. This meant more time for the customers. Salesmen were fortified with educational materials, educational tours, sales seminars, marketing reports, etc.

The T&P representatives are taken on week-long tours of the railway's facilities at major cities between New Orleans and El Paso. They learn about operations, specialized equipment and services such as piggyback, yard switching. Similarly the seminars serve as intensive refreshers in salesmanship as well as an exchange for ideas and problems.

Backing this up, the T&P has many innovations, among them electronic data processing which cuts down on time-consuming reporting and which also puts in the salesman's hands daily lists which give customers instant information on their shipments.

Tshombe Slips Away, Apparently For Stronghold

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—President Moise Tshombe, slipping from United Nations jurisdiction in a secret night dash from his Katangan capital, apparently was headed Saturday for Kolwezi, remaining stronghold of his white officers and gendarmes.

The secessionist leader conferred in a hotel most of the day with some of his officials during a stopover here. He refused to discuss Congo politics with reporters or to say whether his intentions were to wage a last-ditch fight or yield to U.N. pressure to rejoin the Congo.

Then he took off by plane for the announced destination of Solwezi, a Northern Rhodesian border post 100 miles northwest of here. Solwezi is on a direct route to the Katangan mining, smelting and hydroelectric center of Kolwezi.

Tshombe told newsmen he was returning to Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, and would go to Kolwezi on Monday. U.N. and diplomatic sources in Elisabethville discounted the possibility he would return there.

In leaving Elisabethville in violation of a U.N. curfew, the secessionist leader discarded the advice of British and Belgian consuls and reports there indicated these diplomatic friends were washing their hands of him.

These diplomats were reported to feel Tshombe now faces a threat of arrest and transfer to Leopoldville on treason charges and that there no longer is any reason to hold up a U.N. military advance on Kolwezi.

The changeable Tshombe was reported only a few hours before his arrival here to be ready to knuckle under to the U.N. and agree to a subsidiary position as provincial president of the southern part of Katanga in a united Congo. But he was said to have taken fright at the last minute because of the arrival in Elisabethville of 60 Congolese nationalist officers and a delegation of Leopoldville officials.

He made the trip here in a police jeep traveling over backwoods roads.

Riot police dispersed a crowd of Africans who gathered outside his hotel soon after his arrival and shouted "Kill him, kill him."

Two in the crowd were arrested.

When Tshombe finally left it was secretly, through a back door. Scores of whites, including some beatniks attending a jazz session in the hotel, were robbed of the chance for a farewell demonstration.

Earlier, in a brief talk to newsmen, Tshombe did not state his purpose in eventually going to Kolwezi, 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville.

Losses Bring Review Of 'Copter Tactics

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A rising toll of United States helicopter crewmen and aircraft in the war against Viet Cong guerrillas has brought helicopter tactics under review. Bodies of the seven latest victims were recovered from an island in the Mekong River delta Saturday.

Of 53 Americans killed so far in a year of supporting South Viet Nam's armed forces, 23 were killed in helicopters. Many others have been wounded.

Sixteen helicopters have been destroyed, either as a result of Communist action or in accidents. Nearly all the 100 or so operating in South Viet Nam have been hit by ground fire and many have been forced down temporarily.

The crash that killed seven American crewmen Friday night was attributed to mechanical difficulty. Their H21 troop carrier flipped on its back and cartwheeled down from about 2,500 feet.

Three other helicopters had been forced down by mechanical difficulty in the same 24-hour period.

U.S. Army service crews are having increasing maintenance problems. American military leaders believe more helicopters are sorely needed. But nearly all the trained and equipped helicopter units the United States can spare already are in South Viet Nam.

"Remember, this kind of warfare is brand new," a high-ranking military spokesman said. "We have to do some experimenting and we're bound to make some mistakes. But let's not forget how much helicopters have accomplished here."

Five of the helicopter companies in South Viet Nam are equipped with the obsolescent Vertol H21s. Nearly all of these aircraft are nearing the end of their recommended flying lives.

Sikorsky H34s are also used for troop-carrying missions. The H34 is more powerful than the H21 and is considered a better aircraft. But only the one Marine Corps helicopter company in Viet Nam is equipped with H34s.

The U. . Army flies turbine-powered HU1A and HU1B escort helicopters in Viet Nam to protect the troop carriers, knocking out ground fire with rockets and machine guns. But some of these also have been destroyed.

There are various reasons for the high casualty rate.

"After all, this is mainly a helicopter war," a helicopter crew member said. "The helicopters are the front line weapon. We take casualties, but we've inflicted a lot on the enemy, too."

"You can't use these things as you would a tank," one pilot said, almost hovering, "you're asking "When you start trying to assault a strongpoint at low altitude and for hits. And the hits may kill you."

Increasingly, fixed-wing fighter bombers are being used to soften up objectives before helicopters are sent in. Use of the escort helicopters in carrying small loads of troops is under consideration. The reasoning is that the escorts are better equipped to fight their way out of a jam if they get into trouble while unloading troops.

Britain's Anti-U.S. Feeling Dies Down

EDITOR'S NOTE: Anti-American feeling has colored British political life for more than a month. Tom Ochiltree of The Associated Press, an experienced reporter in diplomatic matters, in long conversations with British and U.S. officials in London, obtained the reasons that lie behind this attitude.

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP)—Britain's recent surge of anti-American feeling receded Saturday like a fever that has run its course.

For the past week the British public has received a more sympathetic view of President Kennedy's policies. The fact he is providing the West with a sense of leadership is being praised rather than branded as arrogance.

The old friendly tone has reasserted itself in the conduct of official business between London and Washington, to the relief of leaders in both countries.

Many observers said the anti-American mood could easily return. It has been a periodic aspect of British political life since World War II in both the Conservative and Labor parties.

SCAPEGOAT

Some British newspapers and politicians, feeling a need to blame someone for the troubles of this island kingdom, have switched from Kennedy to President Charles de Gaulle of France.

They maintain the French leader is forcing a harsh set of alternatives on the British at the Common Market negotiations in Brussels.

Conservative party sources say Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has done what he can to discourage both anti-American and anti-French attitudes among his followers.

In a recent television interview, Macmillan said that of course he and Kennedy argue occasionally but their friendship allows this.

He also carefully refrained from blaming De Gaulle for blocking Britain's entry into the Common Market. He said the important thing now was to complete this task and bring a new sense of strength to the Free World.

NEW CONFIDENCE

Peter Smithers, parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, underscored the reawakened sense of confidence now governing U. S.-British relations.

In a speech to voters of his district in Winchester, Smithers said Kennedy's decisive handling of the Cuban crisis plus the Kennedy - Macmillan agreement in Nassau on nuclear problems had conferred benefits on the British as well as the American people.

As a result, he added, "The British people, in loyal alliance with the United States, may look forward to a greater prospect of safety and freedom over a longer period of years ahead than was possible before."

This is a far cry from the muttered complaints of a few weeks ago that Kennedy did not consult his allies over Cuba, treated Britain roughly by canceling the Skybolt missile program upon which the British had counted as their airborne nuclear deterrent, and now was trying to dominate the thinking of the West.

THE ROOT CAUSE

Why did the anti-American feeling develop in the first place?

Students of political currents say the root cause of all dissatisfaction with Washington is a vague feeling that somehow the United States is to blame for the erosion of Britain's imperial power.

But that feeling smolders all the time. It takes two additional ingredients to touch off an explosion. One of these involves disappointments on the domestic political scene. The other is an act or statement from the American side which the British interpret as playing down their own importance.

In the present case, Macmillan's government and his Conservative party are worried by a slowdown in industrial investment and a rising tide of unemployment. They feel frustrated by their inability, thus far, to gain admission to the Common Market.

The final spark came when Dean Acheson, former U. S. secretary of state, said in a speech at West Point Dec. 5 that Britain "has lost an empire and has not yet found a role." What Acheson said was true enough, many British commentators agreed. His accurate assessment made the remark sting all the more.

HUMILIATIONS

Then came the North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Paris and the Kennedy-Macmillan meeting in Nassau, both of which were pictured in much of the British press as humiliations for the British.

At the NATO conference the United States put forth its ideas for a multination nuclear defense force, instead of separate forces such as those of the U. S., Britain and France. This is the proposal that finally emerged from the Nassau conference where Britain was offered the Polaris missile provided it eventually integrated its nuclear force with NATO.

The same proposal was made to France, which has not yet announced a decision on it.

Now British and American sources agree that on balance the developments of the past few weeks have been favorable to Britain.

Skybolt, the plane - launched missile, has been abandoned. But in its place the British will get a proved nuclear delivery vehicle, the Polaris, at a cost London can afford.

FUTURE ROLE

The British nuclear deterrent will be linked with NATO but this tends to support the most meaningful future role Britain can assume—that of helping develop the unity of Western Europe and beyond that of the entire Atlantic Community.

Finally, the evidence does not support the charge that Kennedy is riding roughshod over his allies.

True he has offered firm leadership but Western Europeans have always said that was what they wanted from Washington.

They can't have it both ways, and after Cuba there is a growing realization that the United States must always provide a firm hand at the helm, diplomatic sources said.

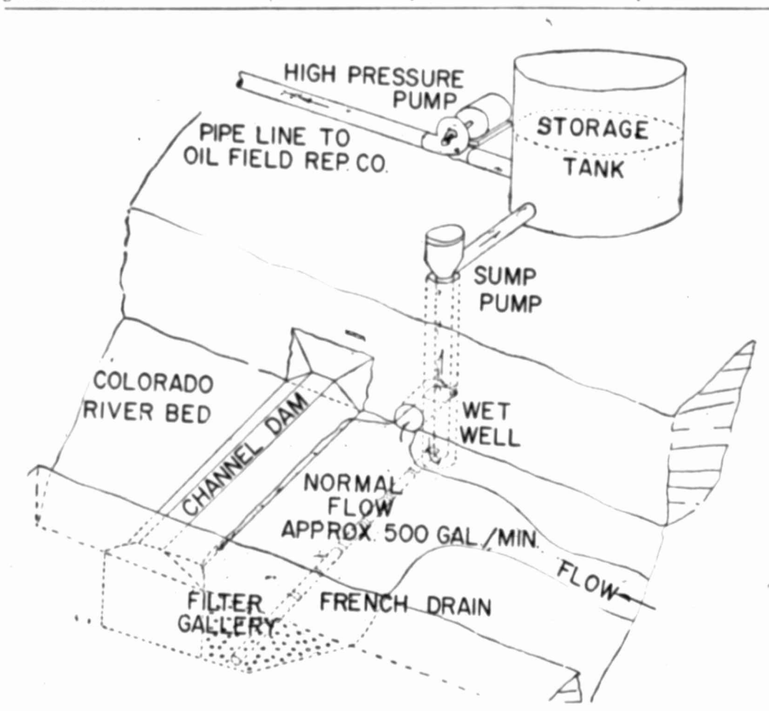
The association had $8,941,895.73 in first mortgage loans, $86,485 in loans on savings accounts, $16,785.58 in real estate, $187,200 in investments and securities, $28,017.47 in other investments. There was on hand $1,565,606.55 in cash, $18,833.54 in equipment; $432,773.63 in building.

The association listed $10,302,901.89 in member share accounts (savings), a reserve of $158,688.44 for taxes and insurances, $1,533.96 in deferred credits, $12,592 in specific reserves, $789,592.83 in general reserves and $25,677.59 in undivided profits.



How It Works

The sketch shows a cross section of how the low-water channel dams will intercept the surface and underground normal flow of the Colorado River, which now is heavily charged with salt water. The brine would be drawn off to a wet well in the bank, then pumped to storage and to the supply line taking it to the Sun Oil Company terminal. Lake Water will meet the remainder of the quantity demands.

Rates For Member Cities Set By District Directors

Water rates to the member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder were established for 1963 by directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District in Big Spring Saturday.

Under terms of the bond indenture, the district must fix rates in January of each year sufficient to care for operations, debt service and other expenses anticipated during that year.

Rates are a combination of monthly fixed charges plus six cents per thousand gallons for water delivered. It is not possible, therefore, to ascertain an exact cost per thousand until that year's consumption is known.

Charges during 1963 will be: Odessa $59.181 per month, plus six cents per 1000 for water consumed; Big Spring $22,448.33 per month plus six cents per 1000; Snyder $4,868.67 per month plus six cents per 1000.

During 1962, Odessa used 4,067,948,000 gallons (67,948,000 more than was estimated) and the actual rate turned out to be 23.52 cents per thousand gallons. Big Spring used 2,474,210,000 gallons (99,110,000 more than estimated), and the actual rate was 15.80 cents per thousand; Snyder used 610,802,000 gallons (89,200,000 less than estimated) and the actual rate turned out to be 14.77 cents per 1000.

If estimates of 4,030,000,000 gallons by Odessa, 2,400,000,000 by Big Spring and 675,000,000 by Snyder are accurate for 1963, rates should be similar to 1962. Odessa and Snyder might expect slight modification, and Big Spring's percentage of the total consumption (which is one factor influencing charges, under the rate formula) during 1962 was up by about two points.

The rate formula takes into account the percentage of participation (based on consumption) by member cities in the capital, operational and maintenance costs, plus a per mile factor on the pipeline and its allied costs.

School Census Will Begin Here Monday

Enumeration of all Big Spring children, within the scholastic age will begin Monday when census blanks will be distributed to school children to take home for parents' signatures.

Dan Conley, who has been appointed census trustee for the Big Spring Independent School District, has announced that the annual census must be completed during the month of January.

"Census blanks have been distributed to the private schools in the area with instructions to have parents fill out the blanks for the students attending these schools, if they do not have a brother or sister attending a public school," he said.

"Any child who will be six years old on or before Sept. 1, 1963 should be enumerated, whether he is attending a public or private school in Big Spring. Parents who have children within the age, but who are not attending school this year, may go to the nearest school and sign a census blank for their children," Conley continued.

Conley also said that if it is impossible for some parents to have a child enumerated at one of the Big Spring schools they should call the Administration Office, AM 4-7073, and give the information. A census blank will be sent to those parents for signatures.

"All children must be enumerated, who were born on or before Sept. 1, 1945, but not after Sept. 1, 1957," he said. It is hoped by school officials, that full cooperation will be received from all parents, especially from those with children starting to school in September.

Over 500 Attend Annual C-C Meet

Over 500 Big Springers Friday braved subfreezing temperatures to be warmed with laughter induced by Dr. Charles Jarvis, San Marcos dentist and speaker for the Chamber of Commerce annual meeting and banquet.

Highlights of the meeting was recognition to three men for their work in the community during the year. These included J. Y. (Ike) Robb Jr., who received the Jaycee's Distinguished Service Award; E. V. Spence, who received a special presentation for his public service; and Oscar Glickman, who was named top salesman in the Chamber's membership organization, the Ambassador's Club.

VISITORS

Winston Wrinkle was emcee for the meeting, recognizing about 50 visitors from surrounding cities; Jack Hendrix for his dinner music; Rev. Robert F. Polk, who worded the invocation; and other individuals who helped make the banquet arrangements in Goliad Junior High School gymnasium.

Roy Reeder, outgoing president, reviewed the work of the Chamber for 1962, pointing out the various accomplishments of committees. Dr. Carl Marcum, president for 1963, challenged the membership to continue the work started last year, listing city beautification, industrial development, more office space, continued membership expansion as among specific goals.

Other new officers introduced were Jeff Brown, vice president; and Clyde Hollingsworth, treasurer. New directors include Brown, W. D. Caldwell, Jack Davis, Fred Kasch, D. M. McKinney, Cuin Grigsby, H. W. Smith, R. W. Andrews, Jack Little, Elmo Phillips, Randall Polk, Jack Watkins, A. J. Prager, Ike Robb, Oliver Cofer, M. W. Talbot, John L. Taylor, and Schley Riley. Retiring directors include R. H. Weaver, John Currie, John Hogg, Jim Lewis, Rad Ware, and Bill Read.

ROBB

In presenting the "outstanding young man award" to Robb, Wayne Graham, president of the Jaycees, cited his long service to the community. Robb is a past president of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association; past vice president of the Chamber and newly elected board member; member of the YMCA board, has served as YMCA treasurer and finance chairman; director of the State National Bank; a Mason and Shriner; steward in the First Methodist Church; has served as chairman of the United Fund budget committee; co-chairman of the base-community division of the Chamber. Robb is a native Big Springer and was all district football player here and all Southwest Conference at SMU. He is president of the Big Spring Theatres, Inc.

R. W. Whipkey made the special presentation to Spence, pointing to his long record of public work and devotion to the public welfare and noting that "he is richly deserving of all his honors," in developing and protecting water supplies for this area.

SPENCE

Spence served as city manager at San Angelo and Big Spring (from 1931-41). After a second period of military service, he became a member of the Texas Board of Water Engineers, and was Interstate Water Compact Commissioner before assuming the managership of the CRMWD. He guided the project through the construction of the Lake J. B. Thomas dam and the Bull Creek diversion dam and channel, the oil well mounds, and the seven pump stations which boost water 700 feet up hill as far as Odessa. He also led in the enlargement of the system in 1958, and now in the planning for a second major lake. This cast him in the role of leadership in a fight against pollution of water supplies.

Wrinkle introduced Glickman as outstanding salesman, pointing out that he had sold 63 memberships to the Chamber in 1962, bringing in $2,200. Glickman is owner of the Record Shop and one of the original members of the Ambassador's Club.

A newspaper-like annual report was given to those attending, recapping the events and work of the organization during the year.

JARVIS

Dr. Jarvis literally had the gathering in stitches during his address, telling one humorous story after another in rapid-fire order. In more serious moments he reminded his audience that laughter is the mark of freedom and urged Big Springers to forget their special problems in a pursuit of happiness in order to make certain that this country is kept free.

More than three-score visitors were present from Abilene, Andrews, Brownfield, Colorado City, Dallas, Fort Worth, Lubbock, Midland, Monahans, Odessa, Pecos, San Angelo, Snyder, Stamford, Stanton and Sweetwater.

Post Office Clerks Sport New Uniforms

The boost in postal rates from four cents to 5 cents, which became effective last week, wasn't the only innovation for the post office.

The day the new postal rates went into effect, — Jan. 7 — the new order requiring clerks who tend the several windows to wear standard uniforms also became operative.

In the past, the clerks have worn whatever seemed best to them. Hereafter, under a new order handed down by the postmaster general, the clerks who come in contact with the public will be suitable uniformed and be dressed alike.

The new garb calls for a blue jacket, featuring the gold emblem of the postal service on the left breast, a white shirt and a maroon necktie. The trousers must harmonize.

The post office department allows the clerk $40 a year to pay for his jacket. He has to supply the white shirt, trousers and necktie on his own.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said that after the first year, it would probably work out so the $40 would be fairly adequate. The first year, though, the clerk may have to dig up an extra $40 to supply a second jacket.

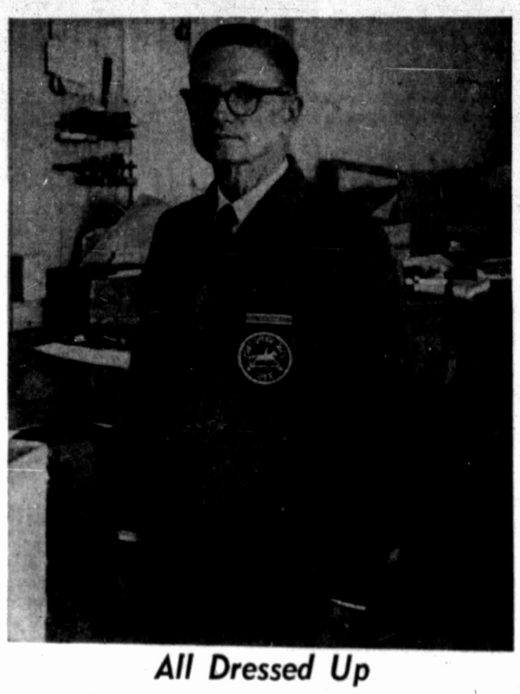
"The men will nearly have to have two jackets," said the postmaster. "And, of course, in the summer, the shirts will have to be different from the winter weights."

He said that the clerk at the stamp window, the parcel post and general mail windows will wear the uniforms.

Clerks who are now in uniforms are Orbin Daily, Bob Nunn, E. A. Nance, W. A. Cook and N. D. Cole. Cole is the relief clerk and serves in all of the windows while the regulars are at lunch or otherwise absent.

The regulations require that those clerks who are on duty as much as four hours a day must wear the jackets. Cole does more than the four hours but he is not stationed at any one window for that period of time.

Meantime, the new postal rates and the new blue jackets are much in evidence at the post office.



All Dressed Up

Orbin Daily, stamp clerk at the post office, models the new official post office uniform which all clerks are now required to wear.

Accidental Thaw Gets Blame In Food Poisoning

VERSAILLES, Ind. (AP)—Accidental thawing of turkey in a school freezer was blamed for food poisoning that affected 250 pupils and 13 teachers at Holton.

The pupils and teachers became ill after a lunch Thursday that included turkey salad sandwiches. All were reported recovering, and only two remained in a hospital Friday.

The Holton principal, Ira Whitaker, said he believed the turkey might have become contaminated because a freezer became disconnected last weekend.

Philatelic Novelty Now On Sale At Post Office

Nowhere on the new stamp appears any word or identification. Nowhere does it read "U. S. Postage."

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said that 20,000 copies of the new stamp are now on sale at the stamp window. He said that he understands the flag stamp will not be a regular stamp but will soon be replaced by the regular Washington five cent issue.

The flag stamp had been announced last year but, at that time, it was said it would not be available until late spring.

Meantime, Boatler said the most popular stamp in his stock of stickers is the old familiar 1-cent stamp.

"On Jan. 8—the day after the new five cent rate went into effect—we sold thousands of these one centers," said Boatler.

"In fact, on that date we sold more postage stamps than we have ever sold in a single day in the history of the post office—$4,400 worth. The biggest stamp sales day we had in December (during the Christmas rush) was Dec. 17. We sold $3,420 that date. I never saw stamps so in demand as the one centers and new fives were on Jan. 8."

Gary Player Retains Lead In San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Gary Player of South Africa shot a 1-under-par 70 Saturday and held on to the lead in the $25,000 San Diego Open Golf Tournament with a 54-hole score of 200.

The 28-year-old American PGA champion goes into Sunday's final round with a perilous one-stroke lead. Bill Casper Jr., who came in with a 69, and Miller Barber, a dark horse from Rye, N.Y., who fired a 66, both had third round totals of 201.

Playing the 6,800 - yard par 85-36—71 Stardust Country Club course, Player had nine hole scores of 36-34 to maintain his lead.

Deadlocked at 203 were Fred Hawkins, with a 71, and Charley Sifford, former national Negro champion, a 67.

Jacky Cupit, who started the round one shot back of Player, was still in the struggle after nine holes. But his chances were hurt when he had four bogies on the back side and finished with a 73 for 204 and a tie with veteran Julius Boros, who had a 68 to move into contention.

The 205 bracket listed five players—Art Wall Jr., 68; Butch Baird and Gay Brewer, each with 66s; Bobby Nichols, 67, and Stan Leonard, 70.

Barber, who is no relation to ex-PGA champion Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, was the surprise of the afternoon. Virtually unnoticed after his 35 on the first nine, Barber's 31 ushered him into the near lead. Barber, 31, is the present New York Metropolitan champion but he has never won a major open tournament.

Leading Scorers:

Gary Player	65-65-70—200
Miller Barber	68-67-66—201

Ponies Hang 71-68 Defeat On Aggies

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Southern Methodist slowed a torrid Texas A&M outside shooting attack in the second half Saturday to hand the Aggies their first Southwest Conference basketball loss 71-68.

The victory gave the Mustangs, twice beaten in conference play, fresh hope in the league race. A&M's loss put Texas, which beat Texas Tech in Lubbock tonight, undisputed possession of first place.

A&M wheeled to a 46-36 first-half lead largely on the shooting of Bennie Lennox and Paul Timmons.

But midway through the second half Timmons fouled out. The The Aggies held a 58-53 lead at the time.

The Aggie scoring attack slowed and SMU gradually closed the gap, tying the game at 58-58 on Dave Somerville's jump shot with 8:21 to play.

Somerville and Gene Elmore paced the second - half SMU comeback. Somerville grabbed off 14 rebounds, an SMU high for the year. Elmore poured through 18 points, 11 in the second half.

Lennox had 21 points and Timmons had 16 to top A&M scorers.

TABY Playoffs Begin March 1

The Texas Association of Bowling Youth has announced the format of its 1963 State Team Playoffs schedule to begin March 1 and end May 3.

Copied from the Texas Interscholastic League's sprawling setup, 16 TABY districts throughout Texas will send approximately 480 junior bowlers to the state tournament at Hart Bowl in Dallas.

Entries will be on a team basis at the individual TSBPA bowling center in the Scratch Division for senior boys and girls; and the Class A and B Handicap Division for senior boys and girls and junior boys and girls.

Winning teams in city tournaments will advance to the district and bi-district meets with 80 teams competing for trophies in the state tourney.

While the 1962 state playoffs were the biggest in Texas' history, the 1963 event will top any similar junior bowling tournament in the country.

Rule Relaxed

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association Saturday brought back free substitution, after a 10-year hiatus, to college football.

Ohio State Bucks Upend Michigan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State's defending champions knocked Michigan out of the Big Ten Conference co-leadership Saturday night with a come-from-behind 68-66 victory.

It was Michigan's first league loss, and left both teams with a 2-1 conference record and 10-2 over-all.

The Bucks, down by 10 points late in the slow first period which ended with the Wolverines on top by 29-25, came on strong in the final period and went ahead at 55-54 with less than 7 minutes remaining.

Bill Buntin, Michigan's 6-foot-7 and 235-pound sophomore, who commanded both boards most of the way, fouled out on the play which put the Bucks in front.

Gary Bradds, Ohio State's husky standout, paced the scoring with 33 points, while Tom Cole led the Wolverines with 17, two ahead of Buntin and Bob Cantrell.

Michigan was down by 68-65 with 7 seconds to go. Cole made a free throw, missed a second in hopes of getting the rebound with a chance at a tie, but Bradds grabbed the ball and it was all over.

It was Ohio State's 42nd straight victory at home.

Texas Longhorns All Alone Atop League

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas took over first place undisputed in the Southwest Conference tonight with a 78-58 victory over Texas Tech.

Southern Methodist's 71 - 68 defeat of Texas A&M left the Longhorns the only undefeated team in the conference.

Texas is 4-0 and Texas A&M is 3-1.

Torrid outside shooting gave the Texans a 36-28 halftime bulge. Texas exploited Tech's pressing defense in the final period to work the ball in close for lay - ups that expanded the winning margin.

John Paul Fultz was high scorer for Texas with 20 points. Jimmy Puryear, of Texas had 14 points.

Texas Tech's pace setters were Glenn Hallum and Bobby Gindorf with 13 points each.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Baylor came back in the second half Saturday night to erase TCU's 12-point lead, go ahead by five points, then barely hang on to win, 61-60, and even its Southwest Conference basketball record at 2-2.

With Bobby McKinley scoring 14 points in the first half, TCU built a 38-29 halftime margin. But in the first 12 minutes of the last half, they hit only 3 of 13 shots while Baylor connected on 7 of 10 to tie the count at 48-48.

TCU hurt its own cause after that by missing five free shots.

Cincinnati Bearcats Tip Tulsa After Slow Start

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Cincinnati's Ron Bonham went on a 20-point spree in the second half to lead the Bearcats to a come-from-behind Missouri Valley Conference basketball victory over Tulsa, 67-57, Saturday night.

Tulsa led most of the first half by margins ranging up to seven points, but Cincinnati gained a 32-32 halftime tie — the first time this season the top-ranked Bearcats have not been ahead at the intermission.

The second half was all Bonham, who put Cincinnati head to stay at 40-38 with 16 minutes, 17 seconds left to play. It was the first time Cincinnati had been ahead since it led 2-0.

But then Bonham hit 10 of 13 field goal attempts while Tulsa went more than 10 minutes without a basket from the field and the Bearcats rolled up a 10-point lead.

Bonham was the game's high scorer with 30 points, his high for the season.

Sophomore Carlos Gripado, who sparked the Hurricanes with 18 points the first half, was blanked from the field in the second period and ended with 20 points, high for Tulsa.

Porkers Lose To Rice Owls

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Kendall Rhine set a Rice scoring record Saturday night in leading the Ows to an 85-70 Southwest Conference win over the Arkansas Razorbacks.

Rhine's 44 points eclipsed the record of 43 set by Temple Tucker in 1955 against the Texas Aggies. He got 16 points in the first half and 28 in the second, which saw the Owls steadily pulling ahead of Arkansas.

Each team is now 2-2 in conference play.

Rice held the lead for all but four minutes in the first period and owned a 35-32 margin at intermissinn. The biggest Owl lead in the first 20 minutes was seven points, a cushion they held four times in that period.

The Owls never trailed in the second half and with 2:26 left to paly had their biggest lead of the night, 19 points.

Larry Phillips aided the Owls' cause with 23 points. Jim Wilson led Arkansas with 22 and Larry Wofford added 19.

Hot Hawks Rip LCC In Arena Of Icicles

LUBBOCK—The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks 'hung tough' in the Western Conference basketball race by toppling Lubbock Christian College, 64 - 51, here Friday night.

The win was the third in four league assignments for HCJC, defending titlist in the race. Overall, the Hawks are now 17-3.

The Hawks fairly well dominated the game despite the fact that the big LCC gym was frigid—the temperature stayed around 37 degrees.

Lubbock Christian now has lost four conference games, compared to only one win.

Fine rebounding by HCJC's outside men turned the tide in the Jayhawks' favor. Conroy Lacy came down with 19 rebounds while Ernest Turner captured 13. Jim Wilburn ten and Bill (Cotton) Thompson eight.

Thompson and Lacy led the Hawks in scoring, too, with 21 and 20 points, respectively.

The Pioneers were paced by Stanley Lynch, who accumulated a total of 13 points. Ned Boaz followed with 12 while Ronnie Davidson had 11. LCC now boasts a 10-10 record for the season.

The score was tied twice in the first half at 18-18 and 24-24 but the Hawks had pulled out to a 38-29 advantage at the intermission.

In the second period, the Pioneers cut their disadvantage to 43-41 with 13 minutes remaining but HCJC again pulled away.

HCJC now takes a rest for midterm examinations. The Hawks will next see action Saturday night, at which time they oppose New Mexico Military Institute at home.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Those who would fault members of the Big Spring High School basketball team or their coaches for the Steers' lacklustre start in District 2-AAAA perhaps don't realize what a handicap the locals are working under . . . Practically all other schools in the district have built their teams around boys who concentrate on the one sport . . . Big Spring, on the other hand, has three regulars and a part-time regular who didn't bounce a round-ball until they had completed the football season . . . In other words, most of the other players in the circuit have been playing as a unit since Sept. 1, whereas the mainstays of the Longhorns have been active only since Thanksgiving week . . . Abilene Cooper has only one player who played football, to cite an example . . . The provincials are playing to the best of their ability . . . For bird-brained people, one who needs psychiatric help, I cite you the individual who shattered the windshield on Oakey Hagood's car when the Goliad Junior High coach was watching the Big Spring-Cooper basketball game the other night . . . He resorted to such an act without provocation . . . The deed did no one any good and he himself might have to share part of the expense if his family carries insurance on its own car . . . In event you thought an army of people was running off the field during the last Rose Bowl game, you were right . . . A total of 71 players saw action in the game, 41 of them for USC . . . Among honorary pall bearers at the Rogers Hornsby funeral at Hornsby Bend the other day were ex-Texas League great Chet Fowler, who used to live here; Buddy Hancken, manager of the Ballinger entry when that city was in the old Longhorn League; and Tink Riviere, general manager of the great 1941 Big Spring WT-NM League club . . . During the recent Los Angeles Open, the sponsors foiled the fence climbers by applying a thick coating of grease to the top of their fences . . . Those who did risk it probably wished they'd gone ahead and paid the regular admission price.

Crosby TV Show To Offer More Golf

The South Plains College basketball team of Levelland couldn't stand prosperity . . . A couple of nights after they knocked off HCJC, the Texans blew a 79-61 decision to Frank Phillips College Plainsmen—and in Levelland at that . . . Buddy Travis, the HCJC coach, said it was almost worth losing to South Plains to watch the reaction of Marvin Baker, president of the Levelland school and formerly a member of the HCJC faculty . . . Marvin takes his defeats hard, especially when they come at the hands of his old school . . . It shouldn't surprise many followers of the National Football League to learn that more millions were bet on its games last season than at any time in history . . That's what has led to all the speculation over recurring stories that some of the games might be rigged—stories that, to date, are wholely without foundation . . . Forsan High School still needs one game to fill out its 1963 football schedule and prefers to play an 11-man game . . . The Buffaloes won't play the Big Spring B team again . . . Forsan opens play this fall at home against Dawson . . . Wayne (Red) Smith, former manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, scored a ten-strike in his speech made at the Hermleigh High School football banquet recently . . . Smith now resides in Sweetwater, where he serves as mayor . . . Those who get to see the Bing Crosby golf tournament on television will probably be occasioned to see more of the sport than they did in previous Crosby meet video shows . . . Sponsors of the recent Los Angeles Golf tournament were faced with an embarrassing situation . . . They had more trophies to award to amateur entries than they had amateurs . . . Only one simon-pure, Larry Bouchey, made the 36-hole cut-off . . . British amateur titlist, Dick Davis, competed but didn't qualify for the last 36 holes.

Poss And Spears Played Together

Jay Spears, new head basketball coach at Midland High School, and Big Spring's Delnor Poss played basketball together at one time for Water Valley High School . . . Delnor later moved to and starred for San Angelo High School . . . Spears' predecessor, Bob Todd, played minor league baseball before he took up coaching . . . Incidentally, Delnor's high school coach at San Angelo, Johnny Kiick, is now superintendent of schools at Warrensburg, Ill . . . The Andrews school board reportedly stayed in session a long time before deciding to extend the coaching contract of Glenn Frazer for one year . . . Glenn's record (72 wins, 33 losses, two ties) is hard to beat but he's been predicting for years that his enemies will 'do him in' . . . That Lubbock High School basketball team, which kayoed Big Spring here in an early season practice game, won 14 of its first 18 starts but dropped two of its first three 3-AAAA conference games . . . Ben Wilson, the Texas Negro who made good for the USC football team, reportedly got a better contract when he signed with the Los Angeles Rams than did UCLA's Kermit Alexander when the latter agreed to terms with the San Francisco 49ers and Alexander reportedly will get $17,000 per annum in a two-year, no-cut pact plus a $45,000 bonus . . . Had the Ed Pauley group succeeded in purchasing the Rams, by the way, the Los Angeles club would have played its home games in the Chavez Ravine baseball park . . . There the Ram management would have been allowed to sell beer . . . The sale of suds is prohibited in the Coliseum, present home of the NFL team . . . A San Marcos father and his two sons, the Daigles, all played football the past season—father Roland (age 39) for Southwest State college and the two boys in high school and junior high . . . The three recently appeared on the television show, I've Got A Secret.

Ex-Bryant Aide Is Named Coach

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Phil Cutchin, 42-year-old right hand man of Alabama football Coach Paul Bear Bryant, was named Friday night to take over the football reins at Oklahoma State University.

Cutchin, who has assisted Bryant for the past 11 seasons, was given a four-year contract at $16,500 a year.

OSU regents voted unanimously to hire Cutchin after he was recommended by Athletic Director Henry P. Iba and the school's athletic cabinet.

Iba said he was happy with the choice and called Cutchin one of the outstanding young coaches in the nation.

Cutchin's selection ended a six-week search by OSU officials to fill a coaching vacancy created Dec. 4 when Cliff Speegle was fired.

Tornadoes Shade Buffaloes Again

STANTON — The Lamesa Tornadoes upended the Stanton Buffaloes, 61-38, in a game here Friday night.

Though leading all the way, the Tornadoes never took a substantial lead until the end of the third quarter. At the half the score was 17-11, but Lamesa took care of that in fine fashion by taking a 37-23 third period lead and went on to their rousing victory.

Wallace Franklin paced the winners in scoring with 2 2points followed by Woodie Scott who had 14. Bob Stephenson led Stanton in that department with 15.

Earlier in the evening the Stanton B team defeated the Lamesa B, 39-31. Donnie Thompson and Ronnie Driggers led the way with nine points apiece.

Bribe Offer Not Serious, Says Accused

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Los Angeles truck driver has been jailed on suspicion of offering a University of Washington basketball player $1,000 to throw a game with the University of Southern California.

But David Donahue, arrested Friday night outside the Sports Arena, says he was "just playing around" when he made the offer to Washington guard Larry Sharp.

But, under the law, making such an offer would be a crime whatever the intent. And Donahue, about 25, was booked on suspicion of offering a bribe to an athlete—a felony.

Sharp did not start for Washington Friday night but played about 20 minutes and scored one point. Southern California won the game 64-61.

Sharp said he left some tickets at a will-call window about an hour before the game and was walking away from the window when Donahue approached him. Sharp was carrying a traveling bag with the name of his school inscribed on the side.

He said Donahue asked him whether he was with the team. When he answered yes, he said, Donahue asked:

"How about missing a few buckets for me tonight? . . . Come on, now, you can miss three or four buckets tonight and I'll give you $500."

Sharp said Donahue then produced a handful of money which included a $50 bill and two $20 bills.

Sharp said he told Donahue he wasn't interested. He said Donahue called to another man standing nearby, then turned back to Sharp and said: "We'll each give you $500."

Sharp went to his coach, John Grayson, and Grayson contacted Southern California Athletic Director Jess Hill. They went outside with an officer and found Donahue was still there. He was arrested.

Police said Donahue told them later:

"I was just playing around. I told him I'd give him $1,000 to throw the game, but I was only kidding.

"I've only got about $100 on me."

Police said they could not speculate on the legitimacy of the offer.

The Pipers B team won, 56-31, with Butler scoring 10 for Hamlin and Ron Hillhouse going into double figures with 11 for Colorado City.

Ex-Boxer Comes Back Long Way Following Long Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—Nearly a year after he fell eight floors on a construction job and was "a fraction from death," former lightweight contender Frankie Ryff is waging a tremendous comeback.

"He's coming along," said his wife Marie today, "but he's a long way from being well. Still it's a miracle that he's even living."

Ryff, who will be 30 in April, was working on a building being constructed in Rockefeller Center and training for a second comeback at the time of the accident last Jan. 19.

"He was in a coma for three months," said Mrs. Ryff. "Doctors told me he was a fraction away from death."

Ryff is being treated at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation in New York. His wife brings him home weekends to their apartment in surburban Queens.

Frankie can't walk, but he can use his right hand. He was a left-hander and the switch took time and patience. Now he can eat with his right hand. He moves around in a wheelchair.

One of his proudest moments was when he presented their daughter, Jacqueline, 3½, with a cradle he made for her doll.

Occasionally Marie brings Frankie to Madison Square Garden to watch the fights.

"He loves it," said Marie. "He feels like he's home. He gets excited over the fights and the friends and strangers who come over to him. But it's hard for me to take him too often."

Although his improvement "is miraculous," as his wife says, Ryff has a struggle of many years ahead of him.

"I don't know if he'll be able to ever walk again," said Marie. "The doctors will only say they are hopeful. In any event it will be a long, drawn out affair.

Blacker the Fish — Better the Day for Fishing

Third Period Surge Pays Off With Win

Odessa Permian picked up speed with a third quarter spurt and went on to topple the Big Spring Steers, 81-71, in a District 2-AAAA basketball game here Friday night.

Permian thus evened its league record at 2-2 and ran its overall mark to 15-4. Big Spring is 0-4 within the conference and is 9-8 for the season.

The Panthers hit 15 straight points in the third quarter, coming from two points back to ice away the decision. The Steers pulled to within five points of a tie a couple of times after that but couldn't get any closer.

Big Spring hit an amazing 65 per cent of its shots from the field the first half (15 of 23) and 53.5 per cent (15 of 28) the last half and still got beat. The Steers simply weren't able to shoot enough.

The Longhorns built a 14-7 lead in the first five minutes of play and were out front, 24-16, at the end of the opening period but the Panthers had pulled to within a point of a tie (37-36) at half time.

In the third period, the Steers were outscored by a margin of 26-18.

Permian stopped the Steers but it could not put hobbles on Eddy Nelson, who blitzed for 32 points and played far and away his best game.

Jack Mercer did almost as well for Permian. The mighty mite wound up with 28 points, connecting on 12 of 14 free shot opportunities.

The Panthers had five players in double figures. Greg Slape tossed in 14 for the visitors while Charley Morton, Richard Duzan and Bob Snoddy had ten each.

Albert Fierro tallied 13 points and Ronnie Banks 11 for the Longhorns.

Nelson banged in 18 of the Steers' first 32 points and probably would have scored even more had he not had to sit out part of the game. He picked up his third foul midway of the second quarter and coach Delnor Poss thought it wise to rest him until the half. Eddy fouled for the fourth time in Round Four and Poss again brought him to the sidelines.

The Longhorns had only one player banished to the penalty box, however. That was Banks and he didn't depart until after the issue had been settled.

Actually, Permian won the game with its free throws. Each team made 30 field goals but the Panthers tossed in 21 gratis pitches to only 11 for Big Spring.

Permian also won the B game, 56-39. In that one, Jim Ormand led the visitors with 13 points while Mike Peters tallied ten as the Big Spring pace setter.

Crosby Clambake Begins Thursday

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bing Crosby's 22nd annual National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament, where anything can happen including a snowstorm, opens a four-day stand Thursday on this picturesque Monterey Peninsula with a bulky field of 312 playing over three courses.

A $50,000 pot awaits the leading pros in the crooner's 72-hole event operating under its own special format.

Veteran Doug Ford defends the title he won in a one-hole playoff last year against Joe Campbell after the final 18 holes of play were postponed because of snow—the first time that's happened at a Crosby event where blustery, rainy weather poses no novelty.

Both Ford and Campbell posted scores of 286 for the regulation distance. The pro-amateur crown went to Bob McCallister and Los Angeles Angels' outfielder Albie Pearson, who posted a best ball total 255.

Celebrities of the business, entertainment and sports field team with the pros under Crosby's format, thus creating even more spectator interest than the usual golf tournament.

For the first three days, the big field is divided into three groups so each two-player team plays one round over Cypress Point, Monterey Peninsula Country Club and Pebble Beach. Then the field is cut to the leaders for Sunday's finale over Pebble Beach.

Defending champion Ford drew California amateur champion Dick Lotz as his partner this time, playing in a foursome with Dow Finsterwald and amateur Fred Kammer of Los Angeles.

In a baseball flavored group, Art Wall Jr. plays with Alvin Dark, manager of the National League champion San Francisco Giants, while Bud Holscher goes with Bill Rigney, winner of the American League Manager-of-the Year honors with the Los Angeles Angels.

Enjoying Successful Season

Bearcats Are Showing Much Improvement

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City High School girls' basketball team, which is coached by a one-time Bearcat star, won 11 of its first 20 games and appears to be on its way to a highly successful season.

The coach of the Tabbies is Theora Calverley, who distinguished herself as a player here several years ago.

Miss Calverley says the girls have made fine progress since the 1962-63 campaign got under way.

In the recent Lake View Maiden tournament, the Cats lost to Mertzon by a narrow margin and then easily defeated McCamey, Rankin and Brady to wrap up consolation laurels.

The team's leading scorer in Judy Hirt, who averaged 16 points a game through Garden City's first 19 games. Reta Hardy, the lone senior on the starting lineup, is averaging 13 points a game.

The third starting forward on the club is freshman Frances Cypert, who plays a steady floor game and who is developing a creditable jump shot.

Reserve forwards include Gail McDaniel, junior; Sharon Cypert, sophomore; and Ann Carter, freshman.

The Garden City defense has consistently been tough all season and is getting better.

Reserve guards include Betty Jo Shraeder, senior; Juda Wilkerson, junior; and Brenda Dobbs, sophomore.

Managers for the team are Lenda Clements, Margaret Jo Cook and Linda La Martina.

The outlook for the team is bright, due to the fact that the Cats will have so many players returning next year.

Offensive Imbroglio Due Among AFL Stars

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Both East and West grid stars predict an all-out offensive battle in Sunday's second annual American Football League All-Star game.

Kickoff time in San Diego's Balboa stadium comes at the unusual hour of 11 a.m. (2 p.m. EST) to please the nation's television watchers. The game will be shown by the American Broadcasting Co.

More than 25,000 are expected to attend. The weatherman predicts good football weather—sunny skies and temperatures in the mid 50s.

Hank Stram of the AFL champion Dallas Texans and Frank (Pop) Ivy of the runner-up Houston Oilers will be in command after the kickoff.

Stram's western team, which includes 15 all-league performers to six for Ivy's eastern squad, rules as a 3½-point favorite.

However, Ivy insisted, "Things look pretty even to me," which means the breaks will decide it.

"We've got such a well-balanced and explosive offense I don't see how they possibly can contain us in this type of game," said Stram.

The West will open with three members of the champion Texans in the backfield — quarterback Len Dawson, league passing king and Player of the Year; halfback Abner Haynes, who gained 1,049 yards, and fullback Curtis McClinton, Rookie of the Year.

Lionel Taylor of Denver, leading receiver for three years, will be at flanker back, with San Diego's Dave Kocourek and Don Norton at ends.

The East will rely on the quarterbacking of George Blanda of Houston, who threw 27 touchdown passes, and Jack Kemp of Buffalo, who started for the West in the 1961 encounter. On the recieving end of the Blanda-Kemp passes will be Houston's Jim Colclough and Ernie Warlick of Buffalo.

HAWK RELAY TEAM WINS

LUBBOCK—Howard County Junior College's crack mile relay team defeated Lubbock Christian College in a special indoor event here Friday night, winning by ten yards in the time of 3:30.8 minutes.

Running for the Jayhawks were Tommy Wise, Hurst-Euliss; Milton Marrow, Whitharrel; Don Teagarden, Dallas Jefferson; and Tommy Yarbro, Abilene High.

Yarbro had the fastest quarter, having been timed in 52 seconds flat.

The HCJC track team, coached by Red Lewis, will next see action in the Lubbock Indoor Meet Feb. 2.

Wilhelm Returns Signed Contract

BALTIMORE (AP)—The oldest player on the Baltimore Oriole roster, Hoyt Wilhelm, has returned his signed 1963 contract to General Manager Lee MacPhail.

Wilhelm, who will be 40 on July 26, will be starting his 12th major league season this year. Last season, the veteran knuckleball thrower won 7 games and saved 13 others as a relief specialist.

He is the only pitcher ever to win the earned run titles in both major leagues—1952 with the National League Giants and in 1959 with the Orioles.

Taylor Sidelined, Pro Game Tossup

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)— An undetermined stomach ailment sidelined Green Bay fullback Jim Taylor Saturday and made a toss-up of Sunday's 13th annual Pro Bowl All-Star game at the Coliseum between the Western and Eastern Conferences of the National Football League.

Taylor, voted Associated Press NFL Player of The Year after leading the league in rushing with 1,474 yards and in scoring with 114 points, was under treatment at a hospital in Burbank after suffering a recurrence of stomach pains Friday night.

Dr. J. W. Nellen, Packers team physician, said no conclusion had been reached regarding Taylor's illness but added, "it looks like he'll be in the hospital for a couple of days."

He said appendicitis was "a possibility in all cases like this," but refused to speculate further.

Taylor was in the hospital on a similar complaint earlier in the week but resumed workouts and had been expected to start for the Western Conference.

With Taylor, the West had been rated a slight favorite.

Green Bay halfback Tom Moore who filled in for ailing Paul Hornung much of the season, was summoned from Goodlettsville, Tenn., as a replacement for Taylor.

West Coach Vince Lombardi of Green Bay said, however, that J.D. Smith of San Francisco was earmarked for Taylor's place at fullback.

That would give the West a starting backfield of Johnny Unitas and Lenny Moore of Baltimore, Dick Bass of Los Angeles and Smith.

In reserve are Tommy Mason of Minnesota and Jim Phillips of Los Angeles.

The West has built an 8-4 lead over the Eastern Conference by winning the last three games and five of the last six. Much of the same cast is back again, led by pass-master Unitas, who won the outstanding player award of the game in 1960 and 1961 and threw the touchdown pass with two seconds left that pulled out a 31-30 triumph a year ago.

With Green Bay's Bart Starr around to help Unitas, New Yorks Y.A. Tittle and Dallas' Eddie LeBaron pitching for the East, both squads packed with top receivers and weather conditions ideal, another high-scoring scramble is in prospect. If there is a tie, a sudden-death overtime will be played.

Game time is 4 p.m. EST, with the Los Angeles area blacked out of the National Broadcasting Co.'s nationwide telecast.

Merkel Stomps Wylie, 62-38

MERKEL — In a District 6-A basketball game the Merkel Badgers stomped the Wylie's Bulldogs, 62-38, in a game here Friday night.

Wylie was behind by only six points at the end of the first half, 25-19, but that was only temporary as Merkel turned the game into a rout by the end of the third quarter.

MERKEL (62)—Mansfield 2-0-4; Scott 4-6-8; Reynolds 5-1-11; Lucas 6-1-13; Moore 7-0-14; Dannheim 2-3-6; Tittle 2-0-4; South 1-0-2. Totals 29-4-62.

Colts Try Hard To Build Team

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If the year-old Houston Colts don't build into a pennant contender in the near future it won't be for lack of work, determination and money.

No club last year worked harder or spent more money to sign and develop young players and few clubs have brighter major league prospects of the future. In the Arizona Instructional League this winter, the Colts had not one but two teams.

Perhaps the brightest of all Houston prospects for 1963 is Danny (Rusty) Staub, an 18-year-old first baseman, whom the 45's gave $135,000 to sign a little over a year ago. The New Orleans wonder boy capped his first full season in organized baseball by being voted the rookie of the year as well as the player of the year in the Class B Carolina League.

Left-handed, 6-2 and 190 pounds, Staub batted .293 with 23 home runs and 93 runs batted in at Durham, not bad for a teen-ager. The strapping youngster hit .343 in Arizona this winter. Another Durham grad with a "can't miss" label is Glenn Vaughan, a switch hitting, flashy-fielding shortstop and graduate of Lamar High in Houston, who hit .289 with 10 homers and 71 runs batted in.

Ernie Fazio, the 20-year-old Santa Clara star, who received a $75,000 bonus, has been switched from shortstop to second and the move has made marked improvement in his defensive play. Ernie hit .225 in 50 games at Oklahoma City last season.

John Bateman, a 20-year-old catcher from Killeen, Tex., has impressed so greatly that he is given an outside chance of making the parent club this season after just one year of pro ball. He hit 21 home runs and had 75 RBI with a .280 batting average at Modesto in 1962. He stands 6-3 and weighs 210.

The newcomer regarded as almost certain to win a regular berth on the Colts is Dave Roberts, a 28-year-old outfielder, who batted .322 with 14 home runs and 96 runs batted in at Oklahoma City. The left-handed hitting Panamanian spent the final three weeks of last season at Houston and batted .245 in 16 games.

Outfielder Ellis Burton a 26-year-old left-handed hitter who had a trial with St. Louis, was drafted for $25,000 from Louisville, where he batted .286. Ron Davis, a 20-year-old switch-hitter is regarded by Houston brass as an outfield fixture of the future. He batted .296 at Durham last year. Another outfield hopeful is 20-year-old Aaron Pointer, who hit .302 in his first pro year but fell off to .269 at Durham last season.

Few, if any of the eight rookie pitchers, are expected to make the varsity this year as pitching is Houston's strongest department. The youngster who appears to have the best chance is Wally Wolf, a 21-year-old right-hander who won 16 and lost 3 at Durham, posting a 2.87 earned run average and 189 strikeouts in as many innings.

Right-handers Jesse Hickman (4-7) and Jim Dickson (2-5) are Oklahoma City grads. Southpaws Tom Burgmeier and Alan Goldfield were 12-11 at Modesto and 8-4 at Moultrie, respectively. Conrad Cardinal, Tom Wullworth and John Haydel are first year draftees. Cardinal was 14-7 at Jamestown, Wullworth 9-12 at Dubuque and Haydel 7-4 at Dublin. A fourth draftee, infielder Jim Wynn, batted .290 at Tampa and led the Florida State League in homers with 14 and runs batted in with 81.

SCOT Conclave Slated Jan. 18

By The Associated Press

Delegates throughout the state are preparing for the Jan. 18 meeting of the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas in Austin.

* * *

One outdoors writer has summed up some of Texas' recently ended hunting seasons, basing his estimates on figures of game management experts. His estimation:

Deer season — Good, but not extraordinary.

Waterfowl — Fair.

Mourning dove—Disappointing.

Quail—Sub-normal.

* * *

Game Commission reports indicate more Texas hunters were in the field this year than last. The commission said that during the first three months of the 1962-63 hunting season, 3,946 shooting preserve licenses were sold, an increase of 1,134.

Also, 52,000 more sports fishing licenses have been sold this year than last. Resident hunting license sales, however, are down from last year.

* * *

A Southeast Texas boy may be the youngest deer slayer in the nation. He got one with one shot from 40 steps away. He is 5.

* * *

Another boy, this one 11, found that hunting comes naturally. He went with his dad on a hunt after practicing with a .28 gauge shotgun on a trap range near Lake Texoma. His score in the field was 15 shots fired, 3 pheasants and 12 quail bagged.

The 1963 international marine industry boat show will be held during September in Dallas. Exact dates have not been set. The show, sponsored by the Boating Trades Association of Texas, has been held in Fort Worth in past years.

* * *

Boating may be debated in the legislature. Many boat owners say safety law needs tighter enforcement. Some think boat registration should be handled by the Game Commission, and not the Highway Department, as now.

* * *

The legislature also is expected to look at a proposal to end commercial netting of sport fish on the coast. This subject, as well as that of improving the state's anti-pollution laws, has received the support of many sportsmen, outdoor writers and city and regional chambers of commerce.

* * *

Shooting preserve operators are in Dallas for the National Game Breeders Association's three-day convention which ends Tuesday. Most talk is devoted to panel discussions on the four major shooting preserve species — ducks, quail, pheasant and chukar partridge.

* * *

Five Texans who flew to Lisbon, Portugal last week, are making final preparation for their trip in a 55-foot sailing boat across the Atlantic to this country.

The five are Tom Miller, Dr. Stanley Clayton and Bob Sittell, all of Denton; Robert Chandler of Dallas and Dr. William Mize of Sherman.

* * *

Plans are underway for the mid-winter meeting of the Texas Outdoors Writers Association Feb. 16-18 in Port Arthur. The writers plan nutria and rabbit hunts and discussions of topics of interest to the sportsman.

* * *

Fishing outlook — Texas' anglers are expected to head for cover as a cold wave, dropping temperatures to 20 degrees in some sections, grips the state. The cold weather ended what had been a good week of fishing in most Texas lakes.

Bob Purkey Gets A Hefty Raise

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bob Purkey, the Cincinnati Reds' best-in-everything pitcher last season, signed up for 1963 after a couple of conferences Saturday with General Manager Bill DeWitt.

DeWitt said Purkey got a hefty raise, but didn't say how much money was involved.

Purkey led the Reds in most victories last year—23—and started the season with a streak of seven victories before a loss. He had only four other losses in the season, had the Reds' best earned run average—2.81—the most complete games—18—and pitched the most innings—288.

Despite Injuries, Hawks Compile Stellar Record

Despite the loss of its leading scorer, Howard County managed to win one game and lose one last week in one conference and one non-conference game.

The Jayhawks played without the services of 6-6 Walter Carter, who broke his hand in a skirmish with a Hardin-Simmons-B team player in the Howard County Tournament.

Howard County dropped a Western Junior College Conference game to South Plains, 62-59, but rebounded for an upset win over the Texas Western Frosh, 50-45, Saturday in El Paso.

The Jayhawks have the top record of any team in Region V of the National Junior College Athletic Association—15-3. San Angelo is second with a 10-2 mark.

Sammy Smith of Frank Phillips is setting a hot pace in scoring and is rebounding at an amazing rate. He is scoring 22.3 points per game, but the husky 6-4 sophomore's main suite is rebounding. In eight games, he has pulled down 147 rebounds for a 18.4 por game average.

CHEVROLET...the Quality truck!

WALK AROUND IT. SEE THE DIFFERENCES.

Start at the rear of this Fleetside pickup. Grab the tailgate and pull hard. No give. Two wedge latches keep it tight. Now unfasten them and let down the gate. Jump up and down on it. Does it sag? Notice how the chains are wrapped in rubber so they won't rattle or mar paint.

Now look at the lower side panels. Two walls. You might dent the inside one but it won't show through. The floor will never rust. It's select wood, not metal.

Now please sit in the cab a minute. Comfortable? It also is double walled and the roof is insulated. Let's start 'er up and look for a washboard road. Chevrolet coil-spring suspensions fight road shock better than other types, good for the truck, load and the driver.

There are other things. But you can see why this is a truck that does a job without a lot of pampering. It's built right. Which is why it's usually worth more at trade-in. When would you like us to deliver it?

Cuban Leader Shot, Wounded

HAVANA (AP) — Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, one of the top Communists in the Cuban government, has been shot and severely wounded in an assassination attempt, an informed source reported Saturday.

There was no confirmation of this from the government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Rodriguez, boss of Cuba's powerful National Institute of Agrarian Reform, was said to have been hit by four bullets in the leg and thigh last Wednesday.

(The Columbia Broadcasting System in New York quoted its Havana correspondent as saying Rodriguez was in a hospital and that a specialist had been summoned to treat him.)

An attempt to kill Rodriguez was made on Sept. 12, 1961, as he returned by car from Matanzas Province. A government announcement at the time said the car was riddled by bullets but that Rodriguez escaped unhurt. Rodriguez then was editor of the Communist newspaper Hoy and a chief aide of Castro.

Rodriguez is regarded as No. 2 man behind Blas Roca among the old-guard Communists in Cuba. He is considered, however, the top Marxist theoretician.

He was a party member when the Cuban Communists supported the government of dictator Fulgencio Batista, which Castro overthrew Jan. 1, 1959.

But Rodriguez accumulated a long list of titles in the Castro regime after going to the Sierra Maestra in revolutionary days to sign a Communist party pact with Castro's 26th of July Movement.

Earlier this year, he took over the agrarian institute from a Castro crony of guerrilla days, Antonio Nunez Jimenez. He also was named to the executive committee of the Integrated Revolutionary Organization—ORI — the only group resembling a political party in Cuba. The ORI will form the core of a future Soviet-style single-party system in Cuba.

Walter Eubanks Named 'Kiwanian Of The Year'

Capt. Walter Edward Eubanks, 37, of the Big Spring Police Department, was named the "Outstanding Kiwanian of the Year" at the annual banquet and officer installation meeting Saturday night at Cosden Country Club. Eubanks was one of three candidates for the award.

Outstanding work as a Kiwanian done by Eubanks, and outlined by master of ceremonies, Bob Travis, included: chairman of the Boys and Girls Committee last year; active member of the board of directors; enlisted three new members; 100 per cent club attendance; largely responsible for establishing and equipping Kiwanis Park, on the west side, and inaugurating a playground program with the cooperation of the city and businessmen; major role in establishing the Kiwanis Courts (tennis courts) at Howard County Junior College; major role in the Kids Day observance; a leader for the West Side Christmas Party; leader in the Halloween Candy Sale, and other projects.

Eubanks has also been active in YMCA activties. He was a charter member of the Y's Men's Club; was top salesman in the membership drive in 1961, and was top individual salesman, and top team captain, in the 1962 drive.

Eubanks has been with the police department since Aug. 6, 1953. He advanced from rookie to patrolman Dec. 12, 1953: from patrolman to sergeant June 15, 1956, and to captain March 6, 1958.

He has been active in other civic work, including the Ambassador's Club of the Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Texas and the National Police Officers' Assocations, and of the Law Enforcement Officers Association and BPOE Lodge.

He has attended more than 30 local, area and state training schools for law enforcement officers since becoming a policeman. His first training was with the military police while he was in the Air Force from June 1942 to Nov. 1945.

Police Chief Jay Banks said Eubanks had been outstanding in speaking and lecture engagements before clubs, schools, and organizations in the past several months, especially on traffic safety and narcotics addiction.

"He has been called on, not only by Big Spring groups, but by groups all over the adjoining areas of West Texas," Banks said.

Walter Eubanks was born Jan. 1, 1925, in Memphis, Tenn. He came to Howard County in 1936 and attended the Coahoma schools before coming to Big Spring.

After he was discharged from military service he was employed as a fireman for the Texas and Pacific Railroad until he joined the Big Spring police department.

He is married and the father of a son and a daughter. The family lives at 1423 Hilltop Road. They are members of the First Christian Church.

Slant Well Cases Set For Monday; Delay Expected

GILMER (AP)—Trial of 12 defendants in East Texas slant oil well cases is set in this East Texas town for Monday but indications Saturday were it will be postponed.

Main reason for this supposition is that most of the defendants have hired lawyers who are members of the Texas legislature to represent them. The legislature is in session and members representing the defendants are not expected to be present Monday.

The case is scheduled in Dist. Judge Looney Lindsay's court. The defendants were indicted last October by an Upshur County grand jury for various alleged violations, including bribery, conspiracy to commit bribery and theft.

The group was the first indicted on charges growing out of a state investigation last year into slant oil well drilling. Fourteen men later were indicted by a Wood County grand jury, 30 by a Rush County grand jury and 61 by two Gregg County grand juries.

All New Dodges Covered By 5-Year, 50,000 Mile Warranty

ASK US!!

WE'LL TELL YOU ALL ABOUT THE DODGE 50,000 MILE, 5 YEAR WARRANTY

Since we build a better car, we can guarantee the Power Train of our car to you for a longer period of time than can our competition!

We are confident that we lead the industry in the engineering of automobiles. We know that our power train is the best . . . bar none! Therefore, we're backing up our belief in our product with a warranty of 50,000 miles or 5 years.

It's this simple, Our warranty is better because we are sure our product is better. Don't be confused by the claims and charges you may hear, this warranty has no "gimmick." It's testimonial of our product superiority.

The power train is the "workhorse" of your car. Look at it this way . . . in order to turn the rear wheels, power must be produced in the engine and transmitted through the transmission, drive shaft, universal joints, differential and rear axle.

There are hundreds of parts in the power train . . . the majority of them are expensive, precision-made, moving parts.

Our warranty gives you three more years protection on these vital, hundreds of parts.

You do not have to return to us for your automobile service to be covered under our warranty.

Our warranty will give you better resale value from your '63 Dodge. The warranty goes right along with the car and is transferred to the retail used car buyer.

The best way to find out for sure about our warranty is to read a copy, come by and see one for yourself. We'll be glad to explain every detail.

HOUSTON (AP)—The oil industry's new chief spokesman is a Texas lawyer from one of the state's oldest oil producing areas.

Frank Ikard has a vast knowledge of the industry.

Ikard, 49 on Jan. 30, is the new president of the American Petroleum Institute, the industry's largest trade group.

He succeeds Frank Porter, 70, who died Nov. 30. Porter had been head of API since 1944.

Ikard is a soft-spoken former Wichita Falls congressman who prefers hard work to speaking.

Associates say he carries modesty almost to an extreme. Many friends are unaware he was wounded twice while an infantry rifleman in Europe. The normal 225-pound weight for Ikard's 6-foot-4 frame dropped to 135 pounds while he was a German prisoner of war.

During his fifth term, Ikard resigned from Congress in late 1961 to become API's executive vice president and a specialist on Washington affairs.

API directors had decided to bolster their Washington forces and selected Ikard to head the expanded operation. Ikard had fought many battles in Congress in behalf of oil, a major segment of the economy of his North Texas district.

Sometimes called a protege of the late Speaker Sam Rayburn, Ikard was a member of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee when he resigned from Congress.

Ikard was active in the fight for mandatory control of oil imports. Ironically, the API, for the most part, sidesteps the imports controversy since its membership includes both major importers and independent operators who want stricter controls.

Oil was discovered near Henrietta, Tex., 12 years before Ikard was born there in 1914. He later moved from Clay County to adjacent Wichita County, where oil was discovered in 1910. The two counties have produced over 750 million barrels of oil.

Ikard practiced law in Wichita Falls from 1937 until he became a district judge in 1948. He was elected to Congress in 1951.

Ikard told API's annual meeting in Chicago last November the oil industry has five main problems:

1. "The grave threat caused by Russia's economic offensive in which oil is being used as a bait for a Soviet trap."

2. Complex problems brought about by worldwide expansion of the oil industry.

3. The "continuing misguided" drive to reduce the 27½ per cent depletion tax allowances.

4. The campaign by "certain interests" to induce the government to establish a national fuels policy with end use controls.

5. The proposals for "ill-considered" regulatory legislation that could hamper industry.

Slight Dip In Basin Working Bits

A slight dip in rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin Empire was shown by the Friday survey of Reed Roller Bit Company.

The latest tabulation listed 195 working units in the West Texas-Southeast New Mexico region. This was a decrease of 10 from the 205 working units in the area on the preceeding Friday.

The total on the second weekly count in 1963 was only two below the 197 active rigs in the area on the comparable survey last year.

Despite a drop of five, from 40 to 35, on the latest survey, Lea County, N.M. held first place.

The county-by-county survey, with previous totals in parenthesis, includes:

Andrews 10(10), BORDEN 2 (4), Chaves 3 (4), Cochran 1 (0), Coke 1 (1), Concho 1 (0), Crane 10 (12), Crockett 4 (3), Culberson 1 (1), DAWSON 4 (2),

Ector 28 (17), Eddy 8 (8), Fisher 3 (5), Gaines 5 (6), GARZA 3 (3), GLASSCOCK 1 (1), Hale 0 (1), Hockley 2 (1), HOWARD 5 (4), Irion 0 (1),

Lea 35 (40), Loving 1 (2), Lubbock 0 (1), MARTIN 2 (2), Menard 0 (1), Midland 9 (10), MITCHELL 1 (0), Nolan 1 (1), Pecos 12 (12), Reagan 1 (1),

Upton 5 (3), Ward 7 (7), Winkler 5 (6), Yoakum 3 (7), TOTALS 195 (205).

Oilmen Look To Long As Industry's Leading Voice

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some oil sources in Washington are looking to Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana to become the industry's leading champion among Senate Democrats in place of the late Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma.

For years Kerr, an oil man and No. 2 Democratic member of the Senate Finance Committee, was recognized as the industry's chief spokesman in the Senate in fighting its tax and import battles.

This was because he was in a position where he could be influential in many directions. The industry, as one spokesman said, found it helpful to have him here.

Long, who now moves into Kerr's ranking position on the Finance Committee, has been an active supporter of retention of the industry's 27½ per cent tax depletion allowance. Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va., is chairman of the committee.

Long comes from an oil producing state, as did Kerr. He has fought the domestic industry's fight against imports, as did Kerr.

Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., is not a member of the Finance Committee, but he is recognized as perhaps the best informed senator on the tax depletion allowance. He often has spoken out against attacks on the present rate.

"He is a friend of the oil and gas industry and he will be depended upon on the Senate floor," said one oil spokesman.

The Texas senators and Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., also are counted upon by the industry for continued support.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, second ranking Republican on the Finance Committee, is regarded as a good friend of the industry for many years.

On the House side, oil interests will look to the same group of members for leadership in matters affecting the industry.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, may not be too vocal of his position, but the industry feels that he understands its problems.

There is Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., chairman of a House Small Business subcommittee which studied oil imports last year.

Steed's subcommittee recommended this week that oil imports, excluding residual fuel oil, be cut at once to 1 million barrels a day or not to exceed 10 per cent of domestic production for the preceding year, whichever is the lesser.

This would be some 300,000 barrels a day under the present level. The recommendation was approved by the full Small Business Committee, and a bill providing for such a reduction probably will be introduced soon.

Commission Lists Well Completions

AUSTIN (AP)— The Railroad Commission reported Saturday the completion of 123 oil and 33 gas wells during the week.

The oil completions brought the year total to 240, compared to 366 in 1962. The report showed 60 gas wells completed this year, compared to 82. One wildcat oil well was completed.

A total of 205 wells were plugged, 140 of them dry holes.

The total average calendar day allowable was 2,729,360 barrels, an increase of 1,751.

Oil Deposits

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet geologists have discovered large oil and gas deposits in the Caspian Sea area of Kazakhstan, Tass news agency reported today.

New Orleans Raids

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police squads swarmed through the French Quarter early today, making at least 31 arrests in strip joints and barrooms.

Pioneer Gas Constructs New Station At Tarzan

Pioneer Natural Gas Company has signed a contract with Bowden Construction Company, Inc., of Odessa for the construction of a new 4,000 horsepower compressor station at Tarzan, which is located halfway between Lamesa and Midland. Work on the station will start immediately and is scheduled for completion by March 15, 1963.

The new station is another step in Pioneer Natural's current multi-million dollar program to increase transmission capacity and provide additional gas supply from the Permian Basin for Big Spring, Lubbock and South Plains customers, according to T. S. Whitis of Amarillo, vice president in charge of transmission.

Last month, a contract was let to R. H. Fulton of Lubbock to enlarge the company's transmission pipelines between the Permian Basin and the South Plains areas. Twenty-five miles of 20-inch pipe are being installed between Lubbock and Tahoka to replace a 10-inch pipeline which is being removed. The 10-inch line is being reconditioned and laid as the third 10-inch line loop from Lamesa to Tahoka.

Wants Flexible Work Week

HOUSTON (AP)—An oil union president said Saturday a shorter work week is one answer to unemployment spawned by automation.

O. A. Knight of Denver called for federal legislation to establish a flexible work week.

"It is an absolute necessity that ways be found to lessen the growing impact of automation on the work force," said the president of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union.

Knight spoke to the union's district council for Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico.

He said from 15,000 to 20,000 oil jobs have been eliminated by technological advances in recent years. He said a 36-hour work week with no cut in pay could be introduced successfully now in the petrochemical industry.

Knight said most OCAW units now have received 5 per cent wage increase offers from companies across the nation. He said such an increase boosts the average worker's pay to about $3.20 an hour

PROJECT REPORTS

Runnels Multipay Field Finals 3rd Goen Well

The North Norton (multipay) field of Runnels County gained its third Goen producer and a location southeast extension with the recompletion of J. B. Randle of San Angelo No. 8 A. C. Minzenmayer.

It is a former Gardner lime producer and was finaled for a daily gauge of 85 barrels of 44.8-gravity oil, no water, flowing through an 8-64-inch choke. The gas-oil ratio was 200-1.

It is producing from perforations at 4,382-85 feet and is a natural completion.

It was originally drilled by Murray Petroleum and completed in the Gardner in 1956, that zone now being abandoned.

Site is 990 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of Lawrence Martin survey 441 and four miles northeast of Norton.

CRANE

George T. Abell of Midland No. 8 Alpha L. Suggs has been completed as the third Ellenburger producer and a location northwest extension to the Northeast Abell (multipay) field of Crane County.

It was completed naturally from open hole at 5,608-14 feet flowing 144 barrels of 40-gravity oil per day. It was gauged through a 16-64-inch choke.

Site is 9,436 feet from northeast and 990 feet from the southeast lines of section 15, block 1, H&TC survey and four miles northeast of Imperial.

GAINES

In North Gaines County, Shell Oil Company has filed applications to re-enter and deepen to 7,900 feet for recompletion in the Wichita Albany, two dual upper and lower Clear Fork producers.

They are in the Gaines County portion of the Wasson (multipay) field.

No. 11 J. R. Sharp, 1,980 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 47, block AX, PSL survey, is a south offset to its No. 17 Sharp, recently completed Wichita-Albany discovery of the South Wasson Pool.

No. 12 Sharp, 2,360 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 47, block AX, PSL survey, is ½-mile south of the above mentioned discovery.

TWO WILDCATS

Texas American Oil Corporation of Midland has filed applications with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permits to drill two wildcats in Crockett County.

No. 1 Henderson, to be an 11,000-foot prospector to try for production in both the Canyon sand and the Strawn lime is 20 miles southwest of Ozona, in Southwest Crockett, and 990 feet from south and east lines of section 9, TCRR survey, abstract 3922.

It is six miles southwest of Delta Drilling Company and Pauley Petroleum, Inc., No. 1 Henderson, prospective dual discovery from the Canyon sand and the Strawn lime, which now is in process of completion.

In Central Crockett, and 13 miles north and slightly east of No. 1 Henderson, Texas American is to drill No. 1 Meadows, as a 7,500-foot Canyon sand exploration.

It is 8½ miles west and slightly south of Ozona and 615 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 1a, block ST, GC&SF survey, abstract 4333.

No. 1 Meadows is two miles southeast of B. W. Wiseman, Jr., and Texas American No. 1 Meadows, indicated Canyon sand discovery which is cleaning up and testing from perforations at 7,116-75 feet.

FIFTH PRODUCER

The Flying W (Wolfcamp) pool of Winkler County has gained its fifth producer with the completion of Gulf Oil Corporation No. 174 Keystone Cattle Company.

It finaled on a pump for 144 barrels of 35.1-gravity oil per day plus two per cent water with a gas-oil ratio 104-1.

It is producing from perforations at 8,206-98 feet, which were acidized with 6,000 gallons.

The hole is bottomed at 9,730 feet and was originally completed in the Devonian. That zone has now been abandoned and well plugged back to the Wolfcamp for completion. It has 5½-inch casing cemented at 8,716 feet.

Site is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 2, block B-1, PSL survey, 16 miles northeast of Kermit and ¾ mile southeast of the discovery well.

CORING

In Northwest Lea County, San Boren of Midland No. 1 Robinson, scheduled 9,850-foot wildcat, is coring ahead after flowing oil and gas and water on a drillstem test in the Bough C.

It tested for 2½-hours at 9,618-52 feet with gas surfacing in 11 minutes. The volume was estimated at 250,000 cubic feet per day.

Fluid surfaced in approximately one hour and 15-minutes and flowed oil and formation water, estimated to be 10 per cent oil and 90 per cent water, for remainder of the test.

The recovery was 2,050 feet of formation water and 275 feet of clean oil. No pressures were reported as complete results of the test were not available.

Site is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 23-9s-33e, 12 miles northeast of Caprock and 2¼ miles northwest of the Lane (Wolfcamp) pool.

DEVONIAN

Marathon Oil Company No. 3 Lea Unit-Federal, ½ mile south extension to Devonian production and indicated extension to Bend production in the Lea (multipay) deep field of Lea County has been completed from the Devonian.

On potential it flowed 517.32 barrels of 58.1-gravity oil per day, through a 9-64-inch choke with a gas-oil ratio 191-1.

The producing perforations are at 14,380-388 feet and were acidized with 2,000 gallons. Flowing tubing pressure was 1,650 pounds.

It will be dually completed with the Bend from perforations at 12,902-920 feet. That gas zone is now shutin.

The hole is plugged back to 14,416 feet from total depth 14,435 feet.

Turner-Gregory Draws Location

The Turner-Gregory (Clear Fork) field in Mitchell County drew a location at M. L. Melton No. 1 Pond. The project is contracted for 3,000 feet by rotary tool. It is 467 feet from the south and east lines of section 27-29-1n, T&P survey, on a 160-acre lease about seven miles northwest of Westbrook.

Moon's Interior Believed Hot

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet scientists announced they believe inner layers of the moon have heat measuring around 1,800 degrees Fahrenheit. Tass news agency said the estimate is based on precise measurements of radio emissions.

Three Wildcats Are Staked

Locations have been staked in Chaves County, N.M. for two explorers contracted to 3,000 and 7,200 feet. The more shallow of the two will test the San Andres and was staked by Avalanche Journal Publishing Company of Lubbock.

It is No. 1-7 LE Ranch, 330 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 7-11-28e, 27 miles southeast of Roswell and 1½ miles northeast of the Chisum pool.

The deeper one was staked by Sinclair Oil & Gas Company as No. 1 O'Brien, 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 26-7s-28e and four miles northwest of Elkins. There is no nearby production.

• • •

Sunray DX Oil Company staked location for a 5,000-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Southeast Sutton County.

It is No. 1 Williamson County School Land, 467 feet from south and west lines of section 9, Williamson County School Land survey, 23 miles southeast of Sonora and 4¼ miles west of the abandoned Roberts gas pool. It is also six miles northeast of the Miers (multipay) gas field.

COSDEN
meet the 'SENIORS' of the Cosden family...
GORDON M. MARCHANT

This is the 18th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of these employes who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the company.

Gordon M. Marchant reported for duty as a yardman at Cosden Refinery on Dec. 18, 1947. Soon he was insulator's helper and on April 15, 1952, he entered the welding department as a helper. Today he is classified as an A welder, and is his department's steward for Local 826, IUOE.

Wilton, Conn., is Marchant's birthplace; however, he was reared in Philadelphia. As a teenager he joined the Army. His six years in service took him to several points in the United States, to Hawaii for two years, and to Europe as a staff sergeant with the 466th Parachute Artillery Battalion, 17th Airborne Division. A Purple Heart reminds him that he took part in the Rhine crossing.

In July, 1945, he returned to civilian life and eventually joined a seismograph crew in Wyoming. The group came here in 1946. The following year, on April 15, he married a Big Spring girl, Delma O'Brien, in a Lubbock ceremony. They moved to the north for six months but decided to make Big Spring their home.

The Marchant household includes a daughter and two sons. Dale Frances, 14 and a ninth grader at Goliad Junior High, is drum majorette and sweetheart of that school's band. Enlisted in the Boy Scout program are Gordon Jr., 13, who is a seventh grader at Goliad and plays alto saxophone in the band, and Michael, soon to be 11, who is a fifth grader at Washington School.

The Marchants are members of College Baptist Church, in whose activities the youngsters are enlisted. Although they are avid archery enthusiasts, Mr. and Mrs. Marchant give priority to their children's interests. They reside at 1808 Alabama.

Skiscapes Include An Evening's Entertainment

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

Singing and dancing to the music of "Johnny," the nimble-fingered piano player and organist at one of Ruidoso's entertainment spots, skiers of all ages are relaxed in an atmosphere of informality and fun. One blonde headed youth strums a guitar and sings folk songs during a period of intermission; a party of college youths stop the entertainment with announcement of a couple's betrothal; another young man requests Johnny's accompaniment for the Charleston.

This gaiety follows an exhilarating day on the slopes of Old Baldy, which rises magnificently above the smoking chimneys of Ruidoso. It stands stark white and glistening in the moonlight, with an occasional drifting cloud erasing it from sight.

Only a few hours from Big Spring, Ruidoso has become a melting pot for skiing enthusiasts as well as the timber-toed trekkers from over the world. Skiing clubs have been formed in many cities within a vast radius of the mountain resort, and Big Spring representation is counted among them.

Daytime, particularly on weekends, finds Old Baldy's slopes literally covered with young sportsmen. Not outnumbering but almost equaling their forces is the gallery. Lodge and club buildings are teaming with interested observers, most of whom take advantage of the gondola ride through the air, above stately pines, and up to the highest point. Here in the clouds, looking down upon the Three Rivers Country and beyond, is a glorious sight, hardly to be equaled.

On Deck

On the sundeck of the Sierra Blanca Resort lodge, Kathleen Dozier and Mrs. Al Carter are seated directly above the practice slope for beginners.

FROM THE PEAK

From this point, the ski runs take off in all directions. Other slopes are suspended from lower peaks and include Deep Freeze, which swings into Barrel Canyon, Intermediate, etc. Finally at the lower level the beginners try, too hard, to manipulate their bodies gracefully while gliding on the gradual inclines. Apparently the youngsters have no difficulty on their smaller skiis, and noted in the well equipped ski shop were short, snubbed nosed fittings for "instant" skiing.

Equipment is usually rented, though it is advisable to own your own if possible. Clothing is also important and somewhat expensive if it is fashionably tailored and of the best quality. Insulated jackets and lined woolens are prevalent, but in some of the international resorts they lean to the more frivolous fashions. Ski boots are heavy and of course lined for protection and warmth. Hoods range from the woolly wig bonnets to the ear warming knits. Sun glasses are a must, preferably the wrap-arounds.

From sheer exhaustion the skiers take breaks to sit on the sun decks or join in coffee sessions within the glass-walled interior of the large cafeteria. And here what do they talk about? Skiing—it's the greatest.

AMONGST 'EM

Former Big Springers, the Sonny Edwardses, the Bob Neals and Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards, were on the scene this week, and probably will be on the peak throughout the season, because Mrs. Neal was out for her first lesson. Capt. and Mrs. Hal Halverson and their three sons of Webb AFB, all well insulated, formed one of the many skiing families, and observing with complete abandon the beauty and excitement of it all were the Al Carters, also of Big Spring.

Two couples, the Gene Nabors and the Tommy Gages, are regular participants in the sport, beginning back in 1956 with trips to Santa Fe. They plan flying weekend jaunts to Ruidoso this season. More recent participants in the sport are Dr. and Mrs. Milton Talbot and Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Burnett.

Guild Has Talk By Rev. Pool

St. Monica's Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal Church heard the Rev. M. Gayland Pool talk on "The Meaning and Purpose of Living," Friday morning at the Parish House.

After a devotion by Mrs. Donald Lester, committees and their chairmen were named as devotion, Mrs. Jerry Mancill; telephone, Mrs. John Gochnauer; supply, Mrs. Don Grantham; visiting, Mrs. Donald Hungerford; state hospital, Mrs. Jack Burnett; and kitchen, Mrs. Donald Lester.

Members voted to help the West Side Recreation Center, and to have Easter and Halloween parties for the children at the center. A parish dinner was planned for Shrove Tuesday, Feb. 26, with Mrs. Harold Bull named as chairman.

Refreshments were served to 12 members, after which the meeting closed with prayer by Rev. Pool.

Speculation Amongst Wives On Assignments

Class 63-D will graduate from the pilot training program February 6, and while the class makes moving plans and speculates as to future assignments, Class 64-E will be arriving in Big Spring this week.

Approximately 20 63-D wives met last Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. J. W. Josey. Mrs. T. C. Lesan was cohostess. A strawberry dessert, tea and coffee were served. Among the items of business discussed was a plan to dine out together Jan. 25, the evening their husbands will be dining together for the last time. Moving plans dominated the conversation. Mrs. William C. Brandvold, a new bride from Gary, Ind., was welcomed to the group. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Fred Wriggle, who is expecting a baby in the near future.

Thirteen members of 63-G gathered in the home of Mrs. F. M. Tsuhara Tuesday afternoon to surprise Mrs. E. E. Andry Jr. with a baby shower. Cohostesses were Mrs. G. L. Gillihan, Mrs. P. T. Goldman and Mrs. C. G. Kucera. A white paper stork graced the table on which fruit cake, party sandwiches and punch were served.

The wives of 63-H attended a baby shower Jan. 9, given by Mrs. F. N. Sanchez, Mrs. R. L. Clark, Mrs. T. R. Reed, and Mrs. C. C. Large. After a short business meeting the guest of honor, Mrs. C. R. Thomas, opened a variety of baby gifts. A delicious, hot Mexican dip served on tostadas was the favorite taste treat of the evening. Frosty punch gave just the right contrast to the spicy dip.

The retiring officers of the Student Squadron Wives will meet with the newly elected officers at 8 p.m. Monday, Jan. 14, in the home of Mrs. James R. Wiltjer, 804 West 17th Street.

Red Carpet Day for 64-D wives will be Tuesday, Jan. 15. All are hoping for good weather so they may enjoy watching landings and take-offs at the flight line. The wives will become acquainted with their husbands' work at Webb.

Mexico will be the subject of a talk to be given by Bruce Frazier at the next meeting of the Student Squadron Wives, which will be at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 17, in the Ivy Room of the Officers' Club. Class 63-H is in charge of the meeting. Decorations will carry out the Mexican theme.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MOLLI HARTZOG

This last week has been one for OWC meetings. The executive board met on Tuesday to discuss the OWC spring welfare benefit. Out of the discussion came the decision to have a follies or musical production which Mrs. Lawrence Casey has offered to direct. The date for this will be April 20, the Saturday after Easter.

A lace tablecloth made in Hong Kong was presented to the OWC as a farewell gift from the 1961-62 executive board. As banquet-size covers of embroidery, cutwork and lace aren't made overnight, the cloth has only just arived but the beauty of it made it well worth the waiting for.

There are some new faces around the Webb AFB hospital these days. Two new doctors have reported to help out the staff. They are Dr. Short and Dr. Witmer, and we welcome them to Webb.

Although the year is well under way, there is still some talk about the exciting New Year's Eve party held by Capt. and Mrs. Frank Smith. As the Smiths are members of Blue Flight, the house was decorated, naturally, with little blue lights.

Mrs. J. S. Stewart has decided to journey to San Antonio along with her husband while he attends school there. Although many types of schools are held at Randolph AFB, it is a lucky wife who can accompany her husband to the big city, what with children and so forth. The men in school have very little free time, but San Antonio is such an Air Force town that it is said one has only to walk from the Base Exchange to the Officers Club and one will pass at least two friends from other places.

Reports are drifting in from all directions now that people have begun to settle down after their holiday trips. The Ladds had a trip to Boston and managed to fly "down" to New York City to take in several Broadway productions.

Other schools are the destination of more Webb couples. Capt. R. C. Hess has already left for eight weeks of school in San Antonio. Lt. and Mrs. W. M. Thompson will attend Squadron Officers School for several months. The R. E. Ballows are leaving for Operation Bootstrap soon, the Air Force sponsored higher education program.

We received a report that the Standardization check section "doesn't know what's going on." Looking into this outrageous and libelous statement, we found it to mean that there are many nominations for various assignments and a number of transfers in the offing, but that nothing is definite yet. So nobody knows precisely who is going where and when, and as no orders have been received you might say "nobody knows what is going on" in that respect.

Cedar Crest P-TA Meets

"A Handful of Clay" was the devotion given by Mrs. Kenneth Andress in opening the Cedar Crest Parent - Teacher Association program at the school Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. D. A. Hulme, president, thanked those who assisted with the Sabin vaccine program, and said that room fans had been ordered for the school. Obtaining the fans is the main project of the P-TA this year. She also welcomed three new members.

A reminder to pay the poll tax was offered by citizenship chairman, Mrs. Robert Bradshaw.

Showing samples of heroin, morphine and barbiturates, Capt. Walter Eubanks, of the local police department, told of the dangers of narcotics. He stressed that young people should be told the truth about these habit-forming drugs, and that every precaution should be taken to prevent their use.

The third grade class of Mrs. A. B. West won the room count award, with the door prize going to Mrs. Margaret Cooper. Refreshments were served by the mothers of fourth grade students.

Meet Madame President

For the third consecutive term, a combined total of six years, Mrs. A. J. Cain has served as president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Lone Star Lodge No. 375. During her 34 years of membership, she has filled almost every office. In 1962 she represented the local lodge at the International Convention of L.A. to B. of R.T. The Cains reside at 701 Goliad St., and are members of the First Methodist Church. They have four children and eight grandchildren. In past years Mrs. Cain was active in work of the P-TA and the Girl Scouts. Presently she is preparing for the 50th birthday anniversary of Lone Star Lodge of the L.A. to B. of R.T. This will be held Jan. 14, honoring two charter members and several other long time members of the organization.

Mrs. Boren Tells Of Home Missions

A history and progress report of work done by the home mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention was given by Mrs. D. C. Boren for members of the Stadium Baptist Women's Missionary Union Tuesday afternoon at the church.

The opening prayer was given by Mrs. L. H. Sims, followed by the reading of the prayer calendar by Mrs. Rex Edwards. Prayers were said for missionaries having birthdays.

Mrs. Sims continued the foreign mission book study with a discussion of the chapter on Hong Kong.

The closing prayer was worded by Mrs. A. C. Faulkner. Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. L. McKinney.

Feuding Is Called Off

ROME (AP) — Italian fashion showings for spring and summer open here Jan. 17 and switch to Florence two days later. The rival fashion factions of the two cities have all but buried their ancient feuding and will unite for the Florence showings.

Peace was made by the National House of Italian Fashion, a self-governing organization within the industry to protect the interests of Italian fashion creators and makers.

The idea of forming such a body developed when two leading designers, Simonetta and Fabiani, left Italy last season to relocate in Paris. They followed the lead of Capucci, who went to Paris a year ago.

The organization has a big job to do in organizing and regulating Italian fashion to try to give it the domestic prestige and power that the French industry has.

Rome houses that will show in Florence for the first time are Tita Rossi, Faraoni, Centinaro and Gregoriana. Biki, a Milan designer, also is on the Florence program and will make her debut before foreign buyers and the international fashion press.

Roman mainstays Fontana and Eleanora Garnett moved to Florence last July, along with Valentino, Balestra and Sarli.

Center Point Club Will Meet Monday

The Center Point Home Demonstration Club will meet in the school cafeteria at Center Point Monday at 2 p.m. Mrs. Bob Wegner, secretary, hopes to reactivate the membership. New names for secret pals will be drawn.

I. T. Davidson, left, and his brother, F. E., together will observe I. T.'s birthday, today, remembering the calf-ropin', rough-ridin' days when they were younger.

Davidson Hasn't Seen Horse He Couldn't Ride

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

"The cowpoke who said he'd rather be throwed than to pull leather just lied," according to I. T. (Bud) Davidson who this Sunday observes his 81st birthday anniversary. "I herded cattle and rode the range ever since I was a boy, and I've yet to see the horse I couldn't ride, but I still say I'd pull leather before a horse throwed me."

Davidson and his brothers, Ped, Jack, Ray and Carl, were all ranchers. He was born at Lampasas, Jan. 13, 1882, and moved in 1888 to Stonewall County where he lived until Jan. 18, 1922.

A rancher most of his life, Davidson became foreman on the J. L. and J. F. Jones Ranch, located near Rule. He transferred to Howard County at Vincent Jan. 18, 1922, remaining there until he retired because of poor health. The Jones Ranch, made up of about 26 sections, was where he and the hands worked about 1200 head of cattle plus the annual increase. The increase each year was from six to 800 calves.

WATER SCARCE

He recalls the scarcity of water and the times when there was no cattle market, as well as other hardships endured by ranchers of the day. Once, while at Vincent, he and the boys loaded a wagon with barrels to go for water about two miles away. On the way the dogs chased and killed a skunk, leaving the culprit immediately to bathe themselves in the water hole. Unaware of the dog-dipping, Davidson said they filled the barrels and returned home to find that they couldn't drink the water. Then they had to go by horseback on a four-hour ride for drinking water.

Considered to be one of the fastest riders in the breaks, Davidson says that he and his brother, F. E., were the best in their county — whichever county they happened to be in.

YARN SPINNING

Yarn spinning was a favorite pastime. Basically the stories were true, but they were improved upon, according to Mrs. Davidson who has some of her own to tell. The Davidsons are the parents of five sons, all born and reared on the Jones Ranch. They are Burl, Mike, Bill, Lloyd and Marcus Davidson.

A reunion of the I. T. Davidson family is planned for today and will take place at the couple's residence, 207 Circle Drive. All except one of the sons, Burl, who lives in Abenida, Mexico, are expected to be present. Two of the brothers, Frank E. of Forsan and Jack of Midland, are also expected. A birthday dinner will be in honor of "Bud."

Collections Of New Styles Don't Surrender To Season

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
FASHION WRITER

NEW YORK (AP) — Although it's still on the calendar and mentioned frequently by poets, the fashion industry has stopped believing in spring.

This is evident to fashion writers previewing the American couture collections Jan. 11-14, which were arranged by Eleanor Lambert, former New York Couture Group Press director.

Let the birds come and go when they may, declare the informal group of designers that make up what is called Fashion Circle, they will no longer surrender to the trite style dictates of time of year, or even time of day.

The people who can afford the clothes of such designers as Christian Dior of New York, Adele Simpson, Sarmi, Scaasi, Jean Louis, Rudi Gernreich and the like don't have to fret about elements. They can choose their climates to fit their clothes and be there by jet within hours.

Thus, the collections of these couturiers cannot be classified as to season simply by color, or fabric, or to the degree of cover up, or uncover.

OLD RULES OUT

Fleecy, light-weight wool coats are in pastel hues, especially ice blues and pinks when it isn't even spring. These are wonderful winter colors which are being held over into the next clothing season by popular request. But just as frequent in the new collection picture are stark blacks, and shadowy blues and browns, once called fall tones.

Conditioned by the hidebound style rules of the past, women always expect to find wispy chiffon in summer and slinky crepes and wools in winter. But these seasonless designers are dishing up both for any kind of weather. They also serve up bulky tweeds and bushy woolens as often in June as they do in January.

The designers do give the fur rage a short reprieve, but not those other ingredients of the muffled look, scarves and stoles.

BARE ARMS AGAIN

Ever since Jackie Kennedy started it, women have dutifully shivered in collarless, sleeveless shifts. And very often the necklines of their dressier dresses dipped daringly down to there.

Consequently, the spare, bare costumes in the new collections do not necessarily stamp them as for sunshine and the June moon glow.

The two extremes, bare and covered, are happily sharing fashion honors from one end of the year to the other.

FANCY THAT

It never did hibernate, scoff the designers. At least they, the couturiers, have done their part to stimulate a year 'round romantic spin by stitching into their garments such necessary ingredients as allure, femininity and mystery.

The femininity is always there, even when women spoof men by stealing their jacket lapels and their derby hats. It figures especially however, in supple (not corseted or plastered) curves of this season's collection.

The allure is there with soft, fluttery fabrics. The mystery is managed by saris, or dinner gowns that drape lean bodies like Arabian sheiks.

If this sounds slightly like fall, or winter it is only because it is intended.

Einsteins Honored At Supper

Concluding parties, in a series being given for Lt. Col. and Mrs. Leonard Einstein, included a supper held last evening at the Big Spring Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Garrett were host and hostess for the affair.

Fifteen guests were seated at a table, centered with an arrangement of red and white stock, in the Gold Room of the club.

After the supper, guests went to the Garrett residence for the remainder of the evening.

Col. and Mrs. Einstein are leaving soon for his new assignment in Wichita Falls.

Coffee Honors Mrs. J. S. Fry

A coffee, honoring Mrs. John S. Fry, was held Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Charlie Forgus. Approximately 20 guests were served from a lace covered table, which was centered with a fruit arrangement on a lazy-susan.

Mrs. Fry and her husband are moving to Denver, Colo., where he has been transferred.

Chin Chucker

Mrs. James Merrett chucks the chin of son, Jay, as Merrett returns the baby's smile. Mrs. Merrett is still commuting to Odessa, where she will continue teaching school until the end of the term. At that time she will join her husband in the operation of their new business.

Interest In Baking Led To Own Business

By JO BRIGHT

You might say that as an engineer, James W. Merrett makes a heck of a good baker. Merrett started out at Arlington State College majoring in engineering, but became fascinated with the art of baking and switched to that.

To Marry

Miss Sara June Gregston and Freddie Lee Doshier will be married in June, the parents of the bride-elect have announced. The bride-elect is a junior at Lamesa High School and is employed by the Dawson County Public Library. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Lamesa High and attended Texas Tech. He is employed by Doshier Pump Service. The wedding will be performed in Sunset Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrett have recently acquired both a new home and business here. Moving from Midland, where he was associated with the Cross Keys Restaurant, the Merretts have leased Price's Barbecue and hope to make it one of the most popular eating spots in town.

Both the Merretts were raised in or near Fort Worth. She received her bachelor of arts degree from Texas Christian University, and has been teaching in the Bonham Junior High School of Odessa for the past six years. She has been commuting to the school since moving here but plans to discontinue the long-distance job at mid-term. She may return to teaching in the fall, should there be a suitable opening in the local school system.

The Merretts were married in Odessa on Thanksgiving Day of 1957. Their son, Jay, is almost seven months old, a blue-eyed youngster with an engaging smile. His mother keeps him with her at the restaurant part of the time so he has little trouble meeting strangers.

Merrett learned a great deal about his profession while serving two years with the Army in Germany. As a mess sergeant, he was able to learn about the preparation of food in great quantity. He explained that the service followed a master menu, which is made up in Washington and followed as closely as possible at bases throughout the world. Often, however, substitutions were made on foods that were plentiful near the base. One difference, he noted, was the service can plan on feeding a determined number of persons for each meal, but this cannot be done in private business where the number being served usually fluctuates.

Merrett was a member of the Odessa JayCees and plans to be active with the local group. Mrs. Merrett belongs to the Classroom Teacher's Association and the Texas State Teacher's Association. They reside at 2210 Lynn St. in the Kentwood Addition.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Babies, it was not only cold outside Friday night, but inside as well at the Goliad High gymnasium where the Chamber of Commerce banquet was held. Even the men were feeling the cold . . . and all the women were bundled in their coats, if they were foresighted enough to bring them into the banquet room.

The red and white theme of the evening was beautifully carried out by the wives of the C of C officers at the head table. MRS. ROY REEDER wore a white and gold dinner dress, a perfect background for the red roses that she was given as wife of the retiring president. MRS. CARL MARCUM chose a white dinner suit with standaway collar and MRS. CLYDE HOLLINGSWORTH also was attired in white. MRS. IKE ROBB wore a becoming red frock. All of the women wore striking red corsages.

Among the out-of-town guests were MRS. ALLIE NORMAN of Colorado City who was most attractive in blue, which was a perfect color for her pretty dark hair; MRS. GORDON BYRD from Midland had the most brilliant red knit suit, just right to wear on such a cold night. Also from Midland was MRS. JACK PORTER whose knit suit of soft green was complemented by slippers of exactly matching shade.

The Garden Club Council is certainly to be commended on the decorations for the annual civic affair. In case people missed the message on the big red balloon clusters, there was on each balloon a white tag listing the many things that make Big Spring and Howard County click . . . not to speak of the people here.

* * *

Few things have happened in Big Spring that have pleased everyone like the opening of the First Federal building. All who came were as proud of the beautiful edifice as though they had a personal interest. That seems to me to be a good basis upon which to place community unity.

The ALDEN RYANS were on hand for the first day opening from their home at Luther . . . MRS. J. L. TERRY and MRS. E. D. MERRILL, long time residents of Big Spring, came together . . . and when school was out teachers came in groups including MRS. ROY ANDERSON, MRS. CHARLES PARKS, MRS. R. L. BABER, MRS. SKEET WEST, MRS. O. L. RUSE and MISS NEILL CUMMINGS to name only a few . . . Former neighbors MRS. NEILL HILLIARD and MRS. JAMES LITTLE were together for the tea in the community room. MRS. JAMES M. GEHRIG JR. was most attractive in complete black from top to toe serving coffee.

LEONARD HARTLEY, who is presently stationed at Goose Bay, Labrador, along with his young daughter, was one of the visitors on Wednesday. Leonard, a former Herald photographer, here on leave to see his new baby, had taken a cold . . . the weather down this way is a little warmer than that he has begun to get accustomed to.

MRS. W. G. WILSON has returned from a visit with relatives and friends in Texarkana.

The beauties of Japan were shown in slides, with a narration by Edward R. Murrow, when the 1953 Hyperion Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. H. Weaver, with Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin serving as cohostess.

The slides, obtained by Mrs. Ralph Caton and Mrs. Daryl Hohertz, showed scenes of the countryside, ancient temples and shrines, as well as the buildings of modern Japan.

County Salaries On Commission Agenda

Howard County Commissioners Court meets Monday to set salaries for the coming year.

The budget, as approved last fall, includes pay increases of $15 per month for the bulk of the office deputies in the court house. In the case of five deputies, the increase is to be $25 a month.

The budget was drawn by the old court. The salary schedule will be subject to approval by the new court. R. C. Nichols, who succeeds Ralph White, and Lee Porter, who is now county judge, were not on the court at the time the budget was drawn.

There is no provision for any increase in the salaries of elective officials in the budget nor is the road and bridge department crew to be given raises this year.

The five deputies whose pay boosts are set at $25 a month are Mrs. Genevieve Cass and Mrs. Helen Stanley, chief deputies in the tax office and the automobile tag office, respectively; Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, secretary to the county judge; Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy in the office of the county clerk, and Mrs. Doris Owens, secretary to the county attorney.

Porter said there is a likelihood other increases may be asked by officials. He said he knew of no plan for any increase to be proposed for any elective post although it is possible that such a proposal could be brought up at the meeting.

Porter said the public is welcome to sit in on the salary meeting.

TRIALS PLANNED

Appeal Cases Are Docketed

Wayne Burns, county attorney, is drawing up a list of 38 appeal cases pending in Howard County Court, which he is setting for trial the week of Jan. 21.

He said that County Judge Lee Porter is calling a jury panel to report Jan. 22 and that any of the cases ruled ready will be tried during the week.

The cases, he explained, are appeals which have been filed in the court in the past few months—since the 1962 session of the court at which several hundred old appeals were remanded to the original courts by Judge Ed Carpenter.

The remanding was ordered when Burns attacked the appeals as being invalid for the reason the bonds were faulty or because the complaints did not comply with the requirements of state law.

He said he had not examined the 38 new appeals which have come up from the corporation court and the justices of the peace court which he is setting for trial.

He explained that it is the purpose of the county court to keep its docket current and that the disposition of these appeal cases is essential to keep the number of pending matters from climbing.

When the cases have been called, those ready for trial will be set down and the jury panel will be on hand Jan. 22 to try them.

It will be Judge Porter's first court docket. He became county judge Jan. 1, succeeding Ed Carpenter.

During the sessions of the court at which the mountain of old appeal cases on the county court docket was handled, the court remanded 566 as improperly appealed.

Since that time, the city police have collected $3,048 in fines from some of the defendants who had appealed. There have been jail sentences imposed totalling 178 days in the cases.

All but 10 of the 38 cases set down for trial are appeals from the corporation court.

The cases set for trial include: James Royce Coyle, James Royce Christmas, Jesse Homer Maybry Jr., McAllyn Edmiston, Ray Sosa Leos, Gavino Felan, Bill Carl Turner, Jerry Arrick (two cases), Ronnie Louis Clanton, Dois Orvil Ray, William Hughes Reed, Billy G. Meek, Alvin John Blakeney, Clyde Brown Jr., H. M. Martin (two cases), Jack Wilson (two cases), Joe Edgar Hollingshead, Rodney Jordan Johnston, Kelly R. Britt, Wayne L. Bennett, Otha Lee Miller.

Convicted Man Here For Exam

Curtis Ray Roberts, under sentence of death on a conviction for an offense in Monahans, was brought to the Big Spring State Hospital Thursday for a psychiatric examination.

Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the hospital, said he would not state the findings of the staff but that he had dispatched a lenghty report on the case to the Monahans district attorney.

Dr. Harrison said that the man had been sent to the hospital cooperatively by state and defense. He said that the examination given the defendant was thorough and absorbed most of the day.

Claude Pepper Back At Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—The gray-haired, red-faced man leaned back and let the voice roll on with a river of words.

It was the same voice that used to fill the Senate chamber time and again in days gone by, a voice clearly understood yet curiously muffled, as though the speaker had a mouthful of hot cornpone.

It was the voice of Claude Pepper, onetime boyish senator from Florida and ardent New Dealer.

Now Pepper is 62 and has returned as the newly elected freshman congressman from Dade County (Miami) Florida, after 12 years in private life. And the New Deal has been replaced by the New Frontier.

"I'm 62 years young," he said in his new House office this week. "I would rather be sitting here in Congress than have any other job in the country."

He's still proud of his reputation as an orator. That reputation was built up during 14 years in the Senate, to which Pepper was elected in 1936 at the age of 36.

All through those years Pepper was a tireless champion of Franklin D. Roosevelt's liberal measures. Now he says he feels a similar kinship with the New Frontier program of President Kennedy.

"These things are not new to me, they're old," Pepper said. "I was sponsoring housing and health and research legislation before President Kennedy was even elected to Congress."

Pepper was born in Dudleyville, Ala., put himself through the University of Alabama and Harvard Law School. During his 12 years out of Congress, he practiced law in Washington and Florida and kept in close touch with the Florida political scene.

He was ousted from the Senate in the 1950 Democratic primary by the present Sen. George A. Smathers. Pepper lost in a comeback attempt in 1958 to Florida's other Democratic senator, Spessard L. Holland.

A Devotional For The Day

He laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God. (Luke 13:13.)

PRAYER: Our Father, in our weakness and infirmities, we look to Thee in faith. Teach us to trust in the healing power of Thy Son. As we receive His blessings, help us to glorify Thee that Thy works may be known. In the Savior's name we ask. Amen.

Protect Your Voice As A Citizen

This is the month in which you must qualify yourself as a voter in 1963 elections.

You must either obtain a poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate (if you are entitled to one). It's as simple as that—no if, ands, ors or buts.

This is what is known as an "off" year because there are no primary or general elections scheduled, but for good citizens, there are no such things as off years. Good citizens make sure they are qualified to vote and then, unless providentially hindered, cast their ballots.

There will be several matters up for certain—the city elections, school trustee elections on the local district, precinct and countywide levels.

With the Legislature in session, it will be a minor miracle if we do not have some proposed constitutional amendments to vote upon in November. There could be any number of other called elections on such things as bonds, referendums and special issues.

Any or all of these could be terrifically important, but unless you are qualified to vote, you cannot have an effective voice in deciding upon them. To be sure, free speech will entitle you to speak on any issue that might arise; but your opinions will have something of a hollow ring of mockery unless you can back them up with your vote.

So don't delay. Make sure that you attend to this vital duty as a citizen. Go to the tax collector's office tomorrow—certainly this week—and get your poll tax or exemption certificate.

Deserved Recognition

At its annual banquet, the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce appropriately recognized the outstanding contribution of Eugene V. Spence to the development of this area. In presenting him with a plaque, the Chamber was speaking not only for Big Spring but for numerous other communities within a hundred mile radius.

As general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District since its inception, Mr. Spence has performed a service that will long outlive him. The people of this region—and to some extent those of the entire state—are in his debt. This is true in part because of the remarkable knowledge that Mr. Spence has acquired in the field of water matters, first as a city manager, and later as a member of the Texas Board of Water Engineers, as State Water Compact Commissioner, and finally as manager of the CRMWD and co-chairman of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce water resources committee. Few if any men know as much about the ins and outs of Texas water laws and needs as Mr. Spence.

The district is due him its gratitude for sound management. He not only directed the original construction project on critically exacting timetable during a period of great emergency in such a manner that haste was achieved without waste, but he also laid the foundation of sound administration. He built an exemplary organization as well as a project. The fiscal record as well as the operation and maintenance of the system have commanded admiration on every hand.

This area, however, is in debt to him most of all because of his far-sightedness. At an age when most men have long since retired, Mr. Spence has been looking ahead with enthusiasm and determination to developing water security for another generation—and beyond. In so doing, he not only has executed solid planning for a second major lake, but he has been cast into a role of leadership to protect the purity of water supplies. There is no provincialism in this, and the time will come when all of Texas will thank him for having pricked the public conscience against pollution.

PITFALL BOULEVARD

Around The Rim

There Are Days—And Days

Before discarding it, thumbed through 1962's old diary. From a backward view, must have been a remarkable year:

Jan. 3—Dear wife said, "Don't bother about the Christmas tree, Buster. I'll take it down myself."

Jan. 5—Found bank in a mistake, had $20 more in account than I thought I had.

Jan. 6—Found didn't make a mistake, had $20 less in my account than I thought I had.

Jan. 15—Internal Revenue Service Man called and said that under the new tax reforms, the government each year will pull out a letter of the alphabet. On that year, all persons whose surnames start with such letter are exempt from income tax. Said he was pleased that this year no "W's" would have to pay.

Jan. 16—Internal Revenue Service collector at my door, said I had been victimized by a practical jokster. Some joke.

Feb. 14—Ran into Dan Cupid. Was complaining about being so many arrows. It's hard-hearted world, he said. Hard-hearted? I didn't know that's where the arrows hit.

Feb. 22—Everybody talking about a fellow named Washington. Came down from Harvard to take over Washington?

March 15—Nobody knows anymore what the "Ides of" are. Only thing I know is that the wind today was strong enough to blow the 'ide off. (Joke)

April 14—Took a trip to Washington. Met First Lady and suggested that she fix up a room in Ranch furniture, just to make LBJ feel at home. "Aw, go soak your head," she said, as she tossed me into the swimming pool.

May 1—Dear wife said, "All right, all right, let's just let the place look like a pig pen this year. Forget the mowing and the trimming and the fertilizing and the watering. You need the rest." I said "Oink, oink."

June 22—Went to bed with the chickens and got up with 'em. Still not enough sleep. Oh, yes, shortest night of the year. Lots of feathers in my mouth, too.

July 27—Went water skiing for the first time. Woke up belly first over a barrel, with people pumping me out. Good thing I am an old Navy man.

July 28—Sold water skis.

August 15—Dear wife said, "Very well, just go on the fishing trip for your vacation. Don't pay any attention to me." Went to plush mountain resort.

August 25—Home from plush resort. Went on knees to bank.

September 27—Texas A&M opened grid season. Alumni said "just wait until next year."

October 5—Agonizing screams from Webb Village could be heard all over town. Investigation proved they were coming from Tom Nelson, who couldn't adjust shading on new color TV.

November 25 — Thanksgiving. Turkey. Dressing. Stuff and stuff.

Noember 26—Went to doctor. First time he ever failed to say "You're not as young as you used to be." Just said to nurse: "Stomach pump."

December 26—Checked Christmas presents. Look, a tie I like and a shirt that fits!

December 31—It's too late to celebrate a year like this. To bed at 9 p.m. (Oh, you mean it was 9 p.m. January 1?)

Experts Proclaim A New Bull Market

The stock market has now regained more than 60 per cent of its bear-market loss. Dow theorists proclaim unhesitantly that a new bull market has begun.

Stocks rallied from their June, 1962, lows into August, and then, following the Cuban crisis in October, pushed through to new highs in November. This was the signal the Dows awaited. Moreover, the strong advance, especially in rails, since the day before Christmas, generated confidence—not only in Wall Street but in business.

AT RECENT HIGHS, railroad shares are less than a point below their October, 1961, peak. They have recovered nine-tenths of their loss. They've more than confirmed the advance of the industrials.

The reasons are obvious. During the Cuban crisis, when men and materials had to move—and fast—the rails did it. The nation has suddenly awakened to the basic facts of transportation. When bulk must move, the rails move it.

FURTHERMORE, Interstate Commerce Commission approval of Chesapeake and Ohio's purchase of stock control of the Baltimore & Ohio underlines the new attitude toward railroads. The government probably won't fight mergers and the public has become aware of the high cost of featherbedding.

Inference: The rails are out of the investment doghouse.

Rails, however, do not customarily provide bull-market leadership. That has been the rite of the industrials. Indeed, if you go back to 1959, you can argue that even today the rails are lagging.

INDUSTRIAL SHARES topped out in December, 1961, at an all-time high. When the railroads rounded their top in October, 1961, they were still 7 per cent below the highs of July, 1959.

Therefore, you can say that even though the rails have recovered 90 per cent of the 1961-62 drop, they are still in a long-term bear market.

Resolution of Cuban crisis started the bull market, just as the President's rollback of steel prices set the stage for Blue Monday—May 28.

WHEN THE PRESIDENT announced the Cuban blockade, Wall Street reeled and recovered, thundering Khrushchev also reeled and recovered, but not until he had turned weapon - bearing ships around and agreed to withdraw missiles from Cuba.

Americans regained confidence in themselves and the economy. And the rally in stocks, like a feedback, enhanced confidence some more. This has helped business.

PEOPLE FEEL poor when their stocks go down, and are less inclined to spend. When stocks rise, they feel surer of themselves and are freer with their signatures on checks and department-store-sales slips.

Ditto with business men. Plans for expenditures on plant and equipment will rise in the course of the year, if the market remains strong. This will provide the lift needed to take industrial production off its plateau. And it could spark an upturn in employment.

True, Congress could upset this optimism. Much of the confidence is postulated on a tax reduction. We expect profits to rise not only because business improves, but because corporate taxes are reduced. Also, when personal rates are cut, dividends will be more valuable. "Take-home" per dollar will be higher.

ECONOMIZERS, such as Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark.), chairman of the House Ways & Means Committee, could raise doubts and misgivings. They want a balanced budget — not a straight-out cut. If they fight a cut, Wall Street could have a sinking spell.

As I see it we'll get a cut. It may not be retroactive to the first of this year but to July. The self-interest of taxpayers is also strong. And rates are so high, they repress incentive, expansion, and are a drag on economic performance.

HOUSING — residential construction—also could shake confidence. The era of suburban living —the long haul by car to the bees, flowers and grassy coolth—may have passed its zenith.

According to the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, the "compact home"—the apartment house—is making a comeback. In 1961, a quarter of new residential starts consisted of homes in apartment buildings, as against only 9 per cent in 1956.

This results in economy of labor and materials. The cost of an apartment works out to about $10,509 as against $14,000 for a private home. So, it takes more starts today to yield the same construction fillip to the economy as in the 'fifties.

ANOTHER HOUSING deterrent is at work: Price stability. So long as the price of homes rose year after year, owners could get out when they no longer wanted in—at a profit. Now, however, buying today to sell high tomorrow involves risk. Inflation is not a sure thing.

This has resulted in an increase in foreclosures to the level prevailing in 1926-27 (see chart). However, there are three times as many mortgaged homes now as then. As the National Association of Home Builders reported in its September 6 bulletin, "concern is warranted . . . and solutions needed. But there are dangers in exaggerating what the rise implies."

Thruston Morton—Not So Dark A Horse

WASHINGTON—It can be done—and it ought to be noteworthy to the GOP in search of a national ticket for 1964. A Republican in the Sixties can run against what he described as "Kennedyism" in a predominantly Democratic State and win with 54 per cent of the vote.

HE WON ALSO against the Medicare Lobby, the Americans for Democratic Action, a furious and "monopolistic" Liberal press.

He won, despite being smeared as a Nazi-imitator and Nixonite, despite having his voting record misrepresented, despite two harangues in his State by President Kennedy, one by former President Truman and also despite a visit by former President Eisenhower, whose kiss fell on doomed brows elsewhere.

HE WON (which is important nationally), against the explicit condemnation of the N.Y. Times, with the explicit endorsement of an avowedly conservative newspaper in a contiguous State, and as a former Republican National Chairman.

He won as an "unbenighted conservative" who nevertheless refused to dump a ticket-mate of the Far Right, and got 4,500 more votes than his opponent, a nationally-acclaimed Liberal and Lieutenant Governor and former Mayor of the State's metropolis. He won in November after having, in September, come out vigorously, in an open letter to the President, for blockade and invasion, if necessary, of Castro's Soviet Cuba.

NOT TO OVERPLAY the guessing game, I'm writing about Senator Thruston Morton (R., Ky.), and I'm wondering aloud whether he might not do better against JFK in '64 than either Nelson Rockefeller or Barry Goldwater, the Left and Right extremes. I'm wondering, too, after studying news clips of the '62 campaign in Kentucky, a border State, whether there isn't a blueprint here to assuage the Republican blues and to insure the American electorate against one-party rule or punching bag opposition. A resume of how Morton did it might read:

(1). MEDICARE LOBBY: Although Morton voted against the President's plan for care of the Aged under Social Security, he also introduced a humanitarian bill of his own for Aged care under sounder, State-participation financing. He made his position clear in the very early campaign stages—then, without apology, walked away from the issue.

(2.) ADA opposition: He identified his opponent, Wilson Wyatt, as co-founder and first national ADA chairman. A group called Democrats for Sound Government took it from there. These Democrats issued a fact sheet on ADA showing the latter's proposal of things "that are bad for America," including: Federal rent-price-wage controls, abolition of the Un-American Activities House Committee, abolition of much Communist-control legislation, Red China's diplomatic recognition and accreditation to the United Nation, free trade and food shipments to Red China amnd ADA's stated policy that "we should welcome the Castro regime into the South American Alliance for Progress."

(3.) LIBERAL PRESS: Morton denounced the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, which he said had a "monopoly in the Louisville area and in many other areas of Kentucky," for "muzzling" the press.

(4.) The smear: Unknown persons defaced Wyatt's posters with stencilled markings of the Jewish Star of David, encircling a Communist Hammer and Sickle. The Liberal press insinuated Republican complicity. Morton riposted that he had spent 51 months on active military service in World War II against Nazism—leaving others to recall that Wyatt had sat out the war as a Federal bureaucrat.

Where's The Freedom Of The Press?

WASHINGTON — The news blackout in New York and Cleveland has produced jibes from parts of the world where authoritarian control of the left or the right is exercised over the press. You say you have freedom of the press, these jibes go, but what about this claim when in two of your leading cities there is no right to print?

WITH NO END in sight in either city, the newspaper strikes are causing serious concern over the validity of what has long been considered a constitutional guarantee. If it can be abrogated for an indefinite time by one or more unions then it must be considered a highly qualified guarantee if it is in fact a guarantee at all.

The President, the Secretary of Labor, the Governor of New York and the Mayor of New York City have all undertaken to help bring an end to the conflict in New York between the printers and the publishers. Their efforts have been in vain, with Bertram A. Powers, president of the New York Typographical Union, refusing to participate in a study of the dispute by a Board of Public Accountability named by Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, Governor Nelson Rockefeller and Mayor Robert Wagner.

AS THE NEWS blackout goes into the second month with increasing hardship and inconvenience extending far beyond the employes immediately affected, thought is being given to how, if and when the strikes are settled, a way can be found to insure that this cannot happen in the future. In short, how can the guarantee of the right to utter and the right to print be made real in an era when powerful trade unions control the vital processes in the complex business of publishing a metropolitan newspaper.

AN EXAMPLE is under study here in which both labor and publishers got together in agreement that freedom of the press was a right at least equal to that of freedom of labor. And, what is more, they did something about it.

In 1947 printers strike shut down the newspapers in Copenhagen, Denmark, for four months. Vincent Naeser, an owner of the Berlingske Tidende, one of Europe's most influential and distinguished newspapers, asked Professor Hakin Stangerup of the Copenhagen Graduate School of Economics to conduct an inquiry into the economics of newspaper publishing in relation to the concept of a free press.

THE BOOK WRITTEN by Professor Stangerup, summarized in a pamphlet in English, describes the way in which in neighboring Sweden the publishers and the printers reached accord on a system of arbitration that has prevented both strikes and lockouts since it was established in 1937. A series of strikes had shut down Swedish newspapers concluding with one in 1919 that resulted in a two-months blackout.

The newspaper publishers association, including conservative, liberal and all shades of opinion except the Socialist press, decided to stay out of the over-all Employers Association because they believed they should never agree to a general lockout such as might be called by the Employers Association. Their reasoning was that publishers "have not only the right but also the duty to furnish the public with newspapers."

A CAREFUL distinction was also made between printing establishments and newspapers. Led by Sten Dehlgren, for many years editor of Dagens Nyheter, also one of Europe's most respected newspapers, discussions were held with the printers. They finally agreed to separate for bargaining purposes the employes of printing establishments and of newspapers. In other words both sides came to recognize the interest of the public in the continuity of the press.

THERE FOLLOWED extended negotiations concluded with a 10-year voluntary agreement under which all disputes were to be submitted to a three-man court of arbitration. The terms of that agreement as signed by both sides include: ". . . the just demand of the public that the papers are published . . ." The basic agreement has subsequently been renewed on two occasions. The relationship between the printers and the newspapers has evolved in such a friendly fashion that only twice has it been necessary to resort to the Court of Arbitration to settle a dispute.

THIS EXAMPLE may have no significance in this country where the fierce rivalry between competing unions for leadership in the wage struggle is a conspicuous feature. But union leaders themselves are said to be more and more concerned about the growing public antagonism toward the labor movement. George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, reflects this feeling. Meany is said to have been willing to act as arbitrator in the New York strike. The publishers were sympathetic to arbitration. The printers pointed out that they have traditionally opposed arbitration.

A WISTFUL HOPE has been cherished that the President might feel justified in invoking the Taft-Hartley Act. Under the 80-day cooling-off period presumably the issues of the strike could be threshed out while the papers were printed. But the language of the act says the President may intervene when a strike or a threatened strike "will imperil the national health or safety." And that language is apparently not broad enough to cover the nation's political well-being, which is dependent on news and comment.

Dad's Bad Habits Can Affect Children

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My nine-year-old son bites his nails and wets the bed every night. With three other children plus a dog, I would give anything to stop this. The boy is on the small side.

My husband drinks and gambles constantly. We argue a great deal over his habits. Could this have anything to do with my son's trouble?—MRS. J. H.

A perfect set-up for raising an emotionally disturbed child!

There are various tricks that youngsters adopt when they are upset and anxious — nail-biting, pulling their hair, thumb-sucking, wetting the bed.

Some habits, like thumb-sucking, are normal in infancy and disappear readily—unless something is wrong. It's the same with bed-wetting. If a child doesn't soon outgrow it, something is wrong.

A physical disorder, or a urinary infection, can be the cause of bed-wetting. For that reason I warn parents to have the child examined before resorting to any of the many measures, devices and gimmicks that have been designed to stop bed-wetting.

All the same, where the real cause is anxiety and unhappiness, there's little use in trying to solve the problem except by correcting what is wrong.

It could be, in this case, that bickering at the table hurts both the child's appetite and digestion, and faulty nutrition can very well be at least part of the reason for his small stature.

It sounds as though your husband is the sick one. Until he recognizes what a mess his self-centered behavior is making of the home, perhaps not much can be done.

He creates fear, resentment and disrespect in a child who is old enough to see what is wrong but is helpless to do anything about it.

I hope that your clergyman, a marriage counselor, or perhaps even Alcoholics Anonymous (if your husband reaches the point at which he will make use of that fine organization) can help him mend his ways.

Lacking that, the youngster is in a difficult spot—and what about the three other children?

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 14 and recently have had whitish discharges daily but have never had menstrual periods yet. I wonder if this is a preliminary sign. What do you think?—M. F.

It is quite likely a preliminary sign and happens rather often. If the discharge is irritating or increases, then you should probably be checked by your doctor, because certain rather common (and perfectly innocent) infections can cause this, too.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: My father, aged 77, suffered a mild stroke. Are there exercises that can help his coordination? His left hand and leg are affected but his speech is o.k.—N. S.

Yes, exercises or other forms of physical therapy are often helpful, especially in milder strokes, but it is impossible to generalize, because cases vary so much.

Your physician, or better yet a rehabilitation center which specializes in such things, can best recommend suitable exercises or other measures.

Some victims have helped themselves a good deal just by conscientiously doing simple "exercises" using the affected parts. For example, raising and lowering a small weight with the partially-paralyzed arm keeps the muscles toned up and gradually improves coordination so that more complex movements gradually become possible. Don't anticipate much improvement too soon; it isn't easy and it won't bring complete recovery as a rule, but with persistence it will help substantially.

* * *

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Money Value Goes Down And Down

WASHINGTON—Taking a pad and pencil in hand and doing a little figuring, this correspondent finds that, in the time he has been writing a daily dispatch about national affairs from Washington, the annual expenditures of the federal government have multiplied 136 times. Next year's spending, for instance, is to be $100 billion, whereas in 1916 it was only three-fourths of a billion.

IT ISN'T, of course, the same dollar it used to be. Thus, in terms of the purchasing power of the 1916 dollar, the federal spending today would be figured at $36 billion. So, on this basis, it has gone up 49 times since 1916. Yet the population of the United States is only twice what it was in that year.

Another way to look at it is in terms of gold. It would have cost only 36,000,000 ounces of gold in 1916 to get the equivalent of the federal expenditures in that year. Today it costs 2,857,000,000 ounces of gold to equal the federal expenditures of the coming year, or about 80 times what it cost in 1916.

THERE HAS BEEN in the interim, to be sure, a revaluation of gold. In 1934, it went from $20.67 an ounce to $35 an ounce. It has stayed at that price ever since, though lately the gold producers abroad have been agitating to have the official price here raised by the United States government.

As expenses grow and deficits enlarge, the value of the monetary unit, expressed in terms of gold as well as goods, tends to go down. Adam Smith, the famous economist, in his remarkable book, "The Wealth of Nations," published in 1776, described the tendency of governments from the days of the Republics of Greece and Rome to devalue the monetary unit and thereby cheat the people.

SINCE 1916, the dollar has gone down from 100 cents to 36 cents in purchasing power. If this decline continues over the next few decades, the dollar itself may be worth ten cents or less in comparison with the preceding decades.

Two world wars and the Korean War have, to be sure, sent the federal budgets upward, but somehow, even when the wars are over, there is an inclination to keep up the high level of spending. Today, the "cold war" is costing more money per year than the annual outlay at the time the United States was participating in World War I. Expenditures, on the other hand, for non-armament purposes are rising faster than those necessary for armament.

A STRANGE DELUSION has emerged from the pens of many of the present-day economists. They argue that bigger and bigger deficits mean more and more prosperity. There are some professors who contend that bigger deficits should not be constant but only intermittent so as to stimulate growth. This is the view being accepted by President Kennedy. It has been proved fallacious throughout history, and doubtless will be again.

Deficits cause the dollar, in effect, to be devalued as prices rise and the purchasing power of the monetary unit itself declines. The gross national product grows bigger, but if the dollar is worth only 36 cents, you have to have three times as many dollars for the same purchasing power. Thurs in terms of 1916 dollars, the gross national product of about $560 billion today would be only $202 billion.

UNFORTUNATELY, not every segment of the economy is able to move up its prices to meet inflationary effects. This produces hardships which disrupt the whole business process in a free-enterprise system. Under dictatorships, the government fixes prices and arbitrarily says what the monetary unit shall be worth.

It's true governments never stop functioning and they are never formally adjudged bankrupt. But governments, instead, tamper with the currency and gradually devalue it, so that the dollar, for example, will buy less and less. The only way out then is to try to earn more dollars, or collect more dollars by higher and higher taxes, or stop spending more than is collected.

DEVALUATION has been found necessary by various governments in Europe and Latin America in recent years. This has brought temporary relief, but over a span of time the remedy wears out and the disease recurs. Only then are the lessons of experience really learned—at least for a while.

Outstanding Youth Will Be Announced

By KAREN KEE

During the past few weeks, the YMCA has really been kept busy making plans for the new year.

Over the holidays about twenty girls and boys attended Youth and Government in Austin. Accompanying them were their sponsors, Mrs. Jane Thomas, Lana Lewis, Robby Robinson, Wade Choate, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Leach. The four-day program got under way Thursday evening with the election of Don Eggleton of Houston as Governor. Big Spring was proud to see their nominee Robert Mahoney later elected as Chairman of the Legislators' Council.

Friday the "Senators and Representatives" devoted their time to hearing bills from all over Texas in the hearing committees, and the judicial delegates began hearing a trial in which they acted as the jury. The day was climaxed with the Governor's Banquet and Ball which were held in the Commodore Perry and Driskell Hotel. Saturday the youth actually took over the capitol and held all day sessions in the House and Senate, debating, passing, and failing hundreds of bills. Of the five bills which Big Spring took to Austin, four bills passed committee hearings and three bills passed on the floor. Freddie White and Karen Kee were chosen as the outstanding committee team. They were the head of the hearing committee on state affairs.

About 300 people welcomed in the new year at the New Year's Eve dance sponsored by the YMCA council. The Classics will be back again at the end of the month to play for a dance.

Last Monday, the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y clubs nominated four girls and four boys for the Outstanding Youth Awards which will be presented at the annual YMCA banquet, Jan. 29. Persons nominated for the two awards include Brenda Cowper, Sara Homan, Nancy Haralson, Karen Kee, Freddie White, Danny Coates, Ronnie Crownover, John Fish, and Robert Mahoney.

Speaking of the banquet, tickets will soon be available at the YMCA. Young people are especially encouraged to attend to hear an outstanding speaker of Tyler, who is noted as one of the best speakers on youth of Texas.

Science Club Hosts Guest Speakers On School, Careers

By CAROLYN WILSON

Hello again! I sincerely hope each and everyone of you had a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. I hope everyone enjoyed their vacation.

This last week has been that dreaded time again — six weeks texts, and then next Thursday and Friday mid-term tests begin. The usual schedule for these tests is: even period classes on Thursday, and odd period classes on Friday.

In the last Student Council meeting boy and girl of the month were elected. Kay Porter and Butch Fraser, both juniors, were chosen. Kay, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Porter, is a member of the National Honor Society, FHA, Student Council, also a cheerleader and starting guard of the CHS girls A team. Butch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fraser and a member of the FFA, National Honor Society, Student Council, and an active member of both the football and basketball squads. Congratulations!

COAHOMA

Wednesday during the regular time class meetings were held. The juniors are making preparations for their annual Junior Play and the Junior-Senior Banquet. The seniors are working on their play to be given in February.

Plans are also being made for the FHA Sweetheart Banquet on February 14. The banquet will be held in the activity room and each FHA member is allowed to bring one guest. The sophomores are in charge of decorations for the banquet and the juniors have planned the menu. The freshman girls will work in helping both the sophomores and juniors.

Monday night, the Science Club had its monthly meeting with four guest speakers. The men spoke on college and careers. The meeting was very interesting and refreshments were served afterwards.

Thursday afternoon, the annual induction services of the National Honor Society were held. Ten new members were inducted and a number of sophomore students were recognized as probationary members. Refreshments were served afterwards in the activity room.

Tuesday night the A team boys played their first district game of the year. The game was played with the Roscoe team and the CHS team lost by a small margin. On the same night the A girls played the Sand's team and the Coahoma girls won over the Sands team for the first time this year. The score was 36 to 33.

'Barabbas' Continues Its Run At The Ritz Theatre

"Barabbas," the screen spectacular based on the character in whose place Christ died on the Cross, will continue its playdate at the Ritz Theatre through Tuesday.

"The most mysterious man in history," is one way to describe Barabbas, for virtually nothing is known of this enigmatic figure before or after the trial of Christ, yet he changed the course of the world. Nobel Prize winning author Par Lagerkvist rescued this strange character from the archives of forgotten men and built around him a fascinating, provocative story of his life after the trial of Christ under the title "Barabbas." The novel was made into a motion picture by Dino De Laurentiis for Columbia Pictures release with Anthony Quinn portraying the title role.

Barabbas was the convicted killer and thief who was pardoned and given his freedom when Pontius Pilate sent Christ to the Cross in his place. This is the only hard fact known about his life, either before or after this history-making event.

At the time, according to the story, Barabbas was in a dungeon and did not know that he had been chosen to go free until he was brought from below by a Roman guard and told to be on his way. Doubt and fear set in, especially as he saw the world go dark as Christ died on the Cross.

From that moment on, he is haunted by the memory of Christ, and Lagerkvist's story is from then on his search for faith and belief, during almost 30 years as a slave of the Romans.

From Lagerkvist's compelling novel, Christopher Fry, noted playwright and poet, fashioned the script, and it was from this that Director Richard Fleischer transferred the story of this mysterious man to the screen. Filmed in Technirama and Technicolor, "Barabbas" also stars Silvana Mangano, Arthur Kennedy, Katy Jurado, Harry Andrews, Vittorio Gassman, Jack Palance, Ernest Borgnine and many others.

Preaching A New Gospel

Silvana Mangano preaches the new Gospel to the people of Jerusalem in this scene from the epic production, "Barabbas," which continues its showing at the Ritz Theatre through Tuesday. Co-starring is Anthony Quinn who has the title role in the story of what happened to the man whose place Jesus took on the Cross.

Five Finger Exercise

Maximilian Schell and Rosalind Russell play starring roles in the Columbia Pictures release, "Five Finger Exercise," based on the successful Broadway play. The film is now at the State Theatre on a double bill with "Watch Your Stern." Schell is a member of the notable German family which has given several stars to the cause of show business.

'IN SEARCH OF THE CASTAWAYS'

Disney-Jules Verne Combo Seen Again On Movie Screen

For sheer imagination, you can't beat a combination like Walt Disney and Jules Verne.

For fast-moving entertainment, you can't beat Disney's version of the late French author's adventure story, "In Search of the Castaways."

The Burbank producer wisely chose talented English teen-ager Hayley Mills and venerable French charmer Maurice Chevalier to lead a bold band of adventurers across two continents in search of a shipwrecked sea captain. The talented twosome fit together like champagne and caviar; one effervescent, the other mellow.

Disney puts his top performers through a whirlwind, globe-girdling obstacle course; the adventurers encounter an earthquake, an avalanche, a volcano, a giant condor, a man-eating jaguar, a swarm of alligators, a mammoth waterspout, a flash flood, bloodthirsty mutineers and Maori cannibals.

As Hayley Mills' first screen beau Michael Anderson Jr. is impressive, and young Keith Hamshere, who played "Oliver" on the London stage for two years before being signed by Disney, insures a bright future in motion pictures with his portrayal of Michael Grant, Hayley's younger brother.

The lively, appropriate music of the brothers Robert M. and Richard B. Sherman, which includes "Grimpons," "Enjoy it" and the title song as sung by Chevalier and Miss Mills, adds fun and zest to the adventure drama.

Disney produced "In Search of the Castaways" with the same light touch — a tongue-in-cheek mingling of comedy and suspense in the action sequences—that made his "The Swiss Family Robinson" such a delightful boxoffice success. The film is a Buena Vista release.

British - born Stevenson, who holds the record in number of motion pictures directed for Disney, piloted "In Search of the Castaways," as his sixth directorial chore for the famed Burbank producer.

Stevenson—his full name is Robert Louis Stevenson, a distant cousin to the writer of the same name — maestroed "The Absent Minded Professor" two years ago and "Old Yeller," both among the biggest boxoffice winners in the vast Disney stable of productions.

His other pictures for Disney were "Johnny Tremain," "Darby O'Gill and the Little People," and "Kidnapped."

"The Man Who Changed His Mind," "To The Victor," and the box-office winner, "King Solomon's Mines," brought him to the notice of David O. Selznick. In 1935 he left England for America under a long term contract as Selznick's staff director.

Among his outstanding successes were "Back Street," with Charles Boyer and Margaret Sullavan; "Jane Eyre," with Orson Welles and Joan Fontaine; "Dishonored Lady" with Hedy Lamarr; and "To the Ends of the Earth," with Dick Powell.

In 1952 he switched to television handling the reins of "Gunsmoke," "Alfred Hitchcock Presents," "Fireside Theatre" and "Twentieth Century Fox Hour," among others. In four-and-a-half years, he chalked up some 100 television features and wrote 15 TV scripts.

Imitator

Hayley Mills puckers her lower lip in imitation of the real thing which made Maurice Chevalier famous. These two co-star with George Sanders in "In Search of the Castaways," a Walt Disney production based on the novel by Jules Verne. The film begins Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre.

Tanganyika's Independence Monument is pictured on one of its four new stamps, the 2 shilling 50. Other stamps depict a groundbreaking scene, flag raising on Mt. Kilimanjaro and the presidential emblem.

As the year 1963 commences there is much evidence that there will be new postage stamps of interesting design emanating from the United States Post Office Department—although not a large quantity.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day announced that six commemoratives and three regular postage stamps have already been approved for 1963. Six additional commemoratives, to be announced later, will round up the program of 15 special stamps for the year. Three commemoratives had previously been announced.

On the regular issue front, a distinctive Andrew Jackson 1-cent

regular will replace the Washington and a new 5-cent Washington has become the basic stamp for first class mail. On the 1963 agenda will be a commemorative honoring Amelia Earhart. She becomes the first woman so honored on a U.S. commemorative stamp since 1948. It will be an 8-cent airmail issued on July 24, her birthday anniversary.

Also to be commemorated will be Montgomery Blair, postmaster general under Abraham Lincoln. The Blair stamp, probably a 15-cent airmail, will be issued about May 11.

Also on the agenda will be an Eleanor Roosevelt stamp and a science stamp scheduled for next fall, the latter to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the National Academy of Science. The design of this stamp will result from an art competition to be sponsored by the National Gallery of Art.

Upcoming for March 24 will be a stamp commemorating the 300th anniversary of the granting of the Carolina Charter.

A Food for Peace commemorative will be issued in June to coincide with the Washington meeting of the World Food Congress, in which more than 100 nations will participate.

The above are only a few of the issues to be released this year. There definitely will be a 1963 Christmas stamp, the second in the series which began in 1962.

Norway has issued a new stamp commemorating the 150th anniversary of the birth of author Camilla Collett. The 50 ore is red and the 90 ore is blue. Each stamp also bears the dates 1813-1963.

Sounds Like A Lot Of Blarney

EMMETSBURG, Iowa (AP)—They've started manufacturing blarney again and you can buy a can today.

The Chamber of Commerce of this northern Iowa community is getting ready for its annual St. Patrick's Day parade and celebration.

Included in the first shipment was a case for President Kennedy —O'Kennedy for the occasion.

Or maybe the chamber announcement is just so much blarney.

DEAR ABBY

Give Her A Practice Run

DEAR ABBY: The growing trend toward teen-age marriages didn't worry me until my 17-year-old daughter told me she and her 19-year-old boy friend wanted to get married. They have gone steady for two years and he is a nice enough fellow, but I'm sure they don't know what they are letting themselves in for. How should I handle this?

MRS. G.

DEAR MRS. G.: Say, "Fine, but first I want to give you a little sample of married life. You manage this home for the next two weeks. That means getting up in time to prepare Dad's breakfast . . . fix his lunch (if he carries one), do the dishes, make the beds, vacuum, sweep, scrub the bathroom, prepare all the meals, do the laundry and ironing, wash the windows and Venetian blinds and do all the marketing. Meanwhile, I'll get up at the time you usually do and spend the day as you spend it (including an hour on the phone.) Then I'll borrow some soiled diapers so you will be prepared for the chores of early motherhood." If daughter understands what will be expected of her in marriage, and still wants it in a hurry, give her your blessings.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if you have ever heard of anything like this, and explain it to me. I am of one religion and my husband of another. We have a 15-month-old baby girl who has never been baptized because my husband wanted her baptized in his religion, and I said I would rather see her not baptized at all than agree to that. Now my husband says he wants to take her and get her baptized—but not in any special religion; she will just be baptized. It's a no-religion baptism. Have you ever heard of such a thing? My mother says she thinks he is trying to pull a fast one.

YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The mode or rite of administering baptism in the Christian churches is fixed by the disciple or doctrine of each church. There is no such thing as a "no-religion" baptism since baptism is a religious ceremony.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 16. She is very attractive and mature for her age. She has fallen in love with her teacher and he is in love with her. He is 30, married and has children. He has told his wife he loves my daughter and his wife won't give him a divorce. Why should she want to hang on to a man who doesn't love her? Don't you think this man and my daughter have a right to happiness together? Abby, if you could see them together you would know it is true love and not infatuation. What can be done?

QUESTION MARK

DEAR QUESTION: It is conceivable that a 16-year-old girl could have a crush on her teacher, but how her MOTHER could condone, encourage and permit such relationship to grow is beyond me. Your daughter has no business going with a married man. Consult a professional counselor for your daughter's sake. You, too, need to have some twisted notions straightened out before you can give your daughter proper guidance.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I always thought a girl should confide in her mother and I used to until I found out she was telling all my business to my aunt who has the biggest mouth in Philadelphia. Please, Abby, tell parents that the young people deserve to have their secrets kept, and if their parents don't do it they shouldn't cry and wring their hands when they discover their children are keeping secrets from them.

BETRAYED

DEAR BETRAYED: I know you are right and I hope this inspires thoughtless adults to think twice before betraying the confidences their children have entrusted them with.

Ideological Chief Denounces Jazz

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's ideological chief in a speech published last week denounced American jazz and modern Western art.
