City And County School Districts Select Trustees Today

LOCAL ISSUES STIR INTEREST IN CAMPAIGN

Four City, Three County And 30 Rural Trustees To Be Selected

BALLOTS ANNOUNCED

Committee Urges Voters To Write in Name Of J. T. Harrell

Direction of the public schools of Wichita Falls and of the 16 common school districts of the county for the coming year will be determined in the school board and trustee election to be held all over the county Saturday.

Four members of the Wichita Falls school board, three members of the county board of trustees, and 30 rural school district trustees are to be named. The candidates chosen through the election Saturday will serve during the next two years, the other places on the various boards, falling vacant in 1930, to be filled through the election next year.

Heavy Vote Expected

Because of the widespread interest developed during the last few days through the work of a number of Parent-Teacher association leaders to secure the election of J. T. Harrell, a heavy vote is expected in the city board election. The official ballot will carry the names of only four candidates, one for each of the four places to be filled, but certain members of the P.-T. A. associations are urging voters to scratch one of the printed names and to write in that of Mr. Harrell. Mr. Harrell has refused to become a formal candidate and make a race for the position, but his friends and supporters are urging that he will accept if elected.

The ballot will carry the names of Paul Scott, C. H. Clark, Mrs. T. B. Smith and Carter McGregor. All except Mr. Scott, who made his first announcement two weeks ago, are asking for re-election. W. B. Chauncey, president of the board, is retiring from the race this year.

Polls will be opened at the Reagan Junior High school at Eleventh and Broad street at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and will remain open until 7 o'clock in the evening. Qualified voters of Wichita Falls will at the same time be given opportunity to vote for J. Tom Haynes, unopposed candidate for election on the county board of trustees for the county at large.

Local Issues

Local issues in several of the Wichita county rural school districts have developed a sharp interest in the district trustee election, according to a pre-election sur-

Fairchild Accuses Higher-Ups Of Making Him 'Goat' In Dry Killing

GENEVA, Ill., April 5. (UP)—Eugene Boyd Fairchild, prohibition informer, charged with perjury in the killing of Mrs. Lillian de King of Aurora, continued today to accuse "higher-ups" and declared he would not be the goat for Kane county officials.

Fairchild signed the affidavit which led to the raid on the home in which Mrs. de King was killed by a shotgun charge fired by Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith. Smith had knocked down her husband, Joseph, with the butt end of his shotgun and was wounded later by Gerald, the De King's 12-year-old son, who seized a revolver at the side of his father.

Smith was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in the verdict of a coroner's jury which held the killing as "unnecessary" and that the Fairchild warrant appeared to have been made falsely.

FAIRCHILD

It developed in the testimony that Fairchild had not made a purchase of moonshine in the De King home as the affidavit for the warrant had charged. Fairchild who had disappeared the day following the shooting returned to admit the falsity of the affidavit and disappeared following the coroner's jury verdict.

"Miller and Shults both knew that Philip Johnson had made the 'buy'," Fairchild said today. "They told me everything would be all right. I am tired being pushed around by the Kane county officials and will tell my story when the time comes."

Fairchild was taken to Aurora today for arraignment but the procedure was postponed until Monday to allow his attorneys more time to investigate the charge. His bond was fixed at $1,500 which his father, Boyd Fairchild, sent word he would furnish.

Atty. Gen. Oscar Carlstrom today announced in Chicago that his office would not assume charge of the prosecution of those indicted by the Kane county grand jury which meets next Monday, April 8.

Soprano Sues Otto Kahn for Libel, Claiming Banker Ruined Her Career

Rosalinda Morini Says Banker's Reversal of Opinion Has Reduced Her to Poverty

NEW YORK, April 5. (US)—Rosalinda Morini, beautiful coloratura soprano, explained tonight that she had sued Otto Kahn, famous banker and patron of the arts, for $250,000 because, she alleges, he reversed his opinion about her vocal ability and reduced her to poverty.

The suit, which became public today, charges "malicious libel" and grew out of the fact that Mr. Kahn said in an advertisement that he never praised her voice.

"The world will be surprised when my whole story is told," the singer said.

Kahn in Europe

Mr. Kahn, who left a week ago for Europe, naturally could not be asked for his version of the case. London dispatches say he has gone into seclusion there.

"It will be seen that my operatic career has been ruined," Miss Morini said, "and Mr. Kahn's wrath—for which I am not to blame—has reduced me almost to poverty.

"The frown of the man who is the overlord of the Metropolitan Opera company has reduced me to the position where I cannot secure even a concert engagement.

"And yet he granted me two auditions, one before Signor Gatti-Casazza of the Metropolitan himself, and he praised my voice saying it was 'one of the most beautiful he had ever heard.'

Says She's Crushed

"Why, then, did he print an advertisement in the Musical Courier denying his own words? It's that advertisement which has crushed me, causing concert managers to

ESCOBAR SAYS ARMS GAVE OUT

Federal "Savagery" to Be Avenged, Rebel Says

(By The Associated Press)

Federal pursuit penetrated well into the state of Chihuahua and on towards Santa Rosalia Friday as the main Mexican federal column of General Almazan rested on its arms at Jimenez and La Reforma after a decisive victory over 2,100 rebel infantry.

General Escobar, insurgent commander-in-chief, telegraphed a statement to the Associated Press declaring he had abandoned his base at Jiminez after a four day attack by federals because of shortage of ammunition. He declared the rebellion would continue to the bitter end and conferred over new plans with his aides in Chihuahua City.

Escobar charged federal troops with "savagery" in "shelling the ambulances where our wounded were being given treatment" and declared that his men would "avenge the bloodshed in the battles of the last few days by the most abominable tyrant Mexico ever had."

Ambassador Morrow reported to the state department that the Mexican government believed the rebels had put their full strength into the battles in and around Jimenez.

General Almazan's army probably will remain a day or two longer at La Reforma and Jimenez until the railroad line to Torreon has been repaired. Then an offensive against Chihuahua City will be launched.

MURDERED GIRL BELIEVED ONE OF SIX MISSING

Los Angeles Police Follow Mysterious Tips Trying To Solve Case

RIVER GIVES UP BODY

Movie Colony and Stock Yards Combed After Study of Killing

LOS ANGELES, April 5. (AP)—A police search into the lives of six missing girls and women spread out today as authorities tried to find a clue to the identity of a girl's torso washed up on the banks of the Los Angeles river near Compton. The crime was believed to have been committed within the past two days.

The missing persons were all reported within the past week.

Police tonight had failed to uncover any clue about the scene where the body was found.

Death Two Days Ago

An autopsy disclosed that the young woman was not an expectant mother as at first had been believed, but that the body had been subjected to mistreatment after death, which probably came two days ago.

Investigation was divided into three phases: A search for the head and limbs, which the autopsy revealed had been severed by an expert; a search through the records of the missing persons bureau and the pursuit of mysterious "tips" which led searchers for a "fiend slayer" to the stockyards district, and to the motion picture colony in Hollywood.

Man and Son Held

Police said the body was that of a young woman between 15 and 22, of medium build and complexion.

Especial attention was paid to the reports of six missing girls and women who have disappeared within the past two days, but efforts to compare the descriptions of the missing ones with the mutilated body were without result.

BODY OF TEXAS WOMAN IDENTIFIED

Sheriff Weisder advanced a murder theory. He said he thought the woman was killed with an axe or some similar weapon.

Three other bodies have been found in the clump of brush in past years.

Creager Feels 'Honored' By Brookhart's Attack

Texas G. O. P. Chief Describes Patronage Prober as "Most Preposterous American Public Man"

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, April 5. (AP)—Calling on the public to "judge between the word of President Herbert Hoover and that of Senator Smith Brokhart" as to the record and standing of the Republican party in Texas and its leaders, R. B. Creager today issued the following statement in reply to one by Brookhart earlier in the day:

"An attack by Senator Brookhart is almost like getting a distinguished service medal for bravery on the field of civic battle. He is one of the most preposterous figures in American public life.

Quotes Mercury

"There is a fairly accurate picture of him in the leading article in the April American Mercury where the following language is used in describing him: 'There is little intelligence or moreal fiber in him. Brookhart runs heavily to simplicity. Not infrequently it reaches the intensity of the scatter-brained. His wits don't seem to help him a great deal save to lead him to false conclusions. His gullibility makes him an easy mark whenever occasions, whatever the situation, require. Brookhart, simple man that he is, glories in the resultant public attention'.

"Lies Proven"

"Brookhart charges me with being mentally dishonest. I have publicly branded him as a falsifier and have proven that, at least in two specific instances, he lied.

"As to the record and standing of the Republican party in Texas and its responsible leaders, the public may judge between Senator Brookhart and President Hoover, who in his statement published in every newspaper in the country expressed in unqualified language his confidence in the Texas Republican organization and its leaders.

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—Chairman Brookhart of the senate patronage committee reached into a file of correspondence today and drew out a sheaf of letters, telegrams and affidavits to show that large sums of money were contributed by federal office holders to Republican campaign funds in five southern states.

In Mississippi, affidavits collected by the post office department disclosed that 110 postmasters gave more than $12,000 to the Republican funds, some of the money going to E. P. Booze, husband of the negro Republican national committeewoman. While nearly all said the subscriptions were voluntary, some of the affidavits inferred that the money was paid in return for postmastership appointments.

EL PASO, April 5. (AP)—Dates for the 11th annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here still are undetermined, Homer D. Wade, manager, announced here today.

Renewed efforts will be made to get a pledge from the president to attend, Wade said. If necessary the convention will be postponed until early fall.

SCHOOL VOTE GETS INTEREST

City and County Districts To Name Trustees

vey made by Burl Bryant, county superintendent, Friday afternoon.

The question of consolidation has become an issue between certain candidates in more than one district, the superintendent said. In other districts candidates are running on a platform of a revised financial scheme, designed to cut down expenditures. In all these districts where the issues are sharply drawn heavy votes are expected Saturday.

Interest centers in the contests in Sunshine, Allendale, Rocky Point, Cashion and Enterprise, Mr. Bryant said, several candidates having announced for each place in those districts.

A Great Discovery

When Pasteur discovered, in 1852, that the infection of wounds was caused by malignant bacteria, he performed a service of inestimable value to mankind. Since then medical science has been producing better and better antiseptics, to kill these germs that may enter the smallest cut and give us diseases such as typhoid, tuberculosis and lockjaw. Now, all you have to do to be sure that these dreadful germs will not infect a wound, is to wash that wound, however small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the modern antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozone, in a size to fit your needs and purse, from Miller Drug Store.

CREAGER FEELS HE'S HONORED

Texan Quotes 'Mercury' To Answer Attack

and a former Tennessee postmaster asserted that he contributed $200 and two hogs for his appointment. An Alabama physician said he believed appointments were being "given to the highest bidder in the state."

Texas letters and memoranda, put into the record at the request of R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman for that state, revealed that a large number of officeholders, many of whom were recommended by Creager, had been regular contributors over a period of years. Nearly all of the letters praised Creager's methods, but some did the opposite.

"Creager," Brookhart said, "is intellectually dishonest. The charges laid before this committee indicate that Creager has demoralized his organization in Texas. The immoral purpose of these contributions is unexplained."

Insurance Stock

Among the Mississippi affidavits was one from R. K. Haxton, postmaster at Greenville, which declared that he gave $2,125 to the Republican organization there. Of the amount, he said, $500 went for stock in an insurance company. It was explained to him, he said, that "as the officers were men of strong Republican influence in the state, it would be a mighty good thing to take some stock."

W. T. Heslep, postmaster at Indianola, Miss., said he gave $425, and C. V. Taylor, postmaster at Clarksdale, Miss., said he contributed $555.

He was told, Taylor declared, that "if he paid the money he would receive the postmastership appointment, but if he did not pay, he would not be the successful applicant."

J. G. Sullivan, president of the Winter Garden, Texas, Chamber of Commerce, in a letter, said that Roy Campbell, collector of customs at Laredo, Texas, was found guilty of several charges, including smuggling of gold and illegal transportation of liquor, by a committee which investigated his office. The records showed Campbell was the writer of one of the laudatory Creager letters and was a contributor of the committeeman's campaign funds.

Nathan Burkan, attorney for Mr. Kahn, had only this to say:

"There is no basis for this suit. I am not certain now what will be done to counteract it."

Misc Morini is a 24-year-old New Jersey girl who made her debut at Carnegie hall three years ago after studying five years in Europe and in New York and Philadelphia.

Soon after that, she said, Mr. Kahn's secretary telephoned her to call at his office to discuss the possibilities of her joining the Metropolitan company.

Second Audition

She called, she related, and was surprised to hear him say he would like to have her in the Metropolitan and that he would arrange an audition with Gatti-Casazza. She added that they talked further and he seemed to lose interest in her. The audition was held but she did not talk to Mr. Kahn then.

"The next year," she went on, "After I had signed with the American Concert company, it was arranged for me to sing again before Mr. Kahn and several newspaper reporters.

"Mr. Kahn was very friendly and came upon the stage and shook hands and said he could only stay five minutes. He remained two hours while I sang aria after aria for him.

"Was he pleased? Well, just look at these newspaper clippings."

When he consented to speak to a Universal Service representative, Mr. Kahn had only one little rejoinder to all inquiries:

"I have nothing to say."

Mr. Kahn arrived at Plymouth last night aboard the Ile De France.

They will be constructed under the regulation rules and boxed in to give better grounds for the game, he said.

Electric lights will be hung over the courts so that followers of the game who find it impossible to play in the day time will be given a chance to use the courts at night.

FARM CLUBS TO MEET IN ALTUS

Annual Session to Open April 10

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., April 5.—The program, ranging from discussions of vital interest to special demonstrations, and a group of talks, has been completed for the annual meeting of the Jackson County Federated Farm clubs here April 10.

Mrs. Clifford Woods of Ozark Valley, president of the Jackson county federation will preside and talk on the subject, "Where We Are Going, Why We Are Going, and How to Travel." This will be given as an outline of the work of the federation, its purposes and program for the benefit of new members. Mrs. Woods will emphasize the educational agricultural course as directed by the extension department of the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college as vitally related to the work of the farm women.

Meet in Courthouse

The meeting will be held in the offices of the county home demonstration agent, Miss Emma Burgess, in the Jackson county courthouse.

Plans for the summer recreational camp at Sulphur April 23 to 26 will be made. The group will decide whether to send delegates representing the federation as a whole, or one from each farm club.

Arrangements for observing national egg week in Jackson county, the first week in May, will be worked out at this time. Plans are expected to be completed for a two-day egg show in the county in cooperation with the movement. Plans will also be made for participation in the state egg show to be held at Stillwater.

Naming of contestants for the master home makers' contest will be an outstanding feature of the program. Qualifications of the leading home makers in this county will be recognized at this time, with probably three women to be named by the federation. These will be entered in the state contest for the selection of the five master farm women of Oklahoma.

To Elect Delegates

Representatives from Jackson county will be named to attend the annual farmers' week July 30 to Aug. 3, when each adult club of the county will be eligible to send two delegates. Means of sponsoring the delegation to this affair at Stillwater and the number to be sent will be discussed. Other discussions will include the extension program in this county.

D. P. Trent, director of the extension work of the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college at Stillwater will be one of the speakers.

About 75 women will attend the meeting.

WAR WEDDING AT SANTONE

Mexican Flier Weds Texan; Returns to Front

SAN ANTONIO, April 5. (INS)—Capt. David Borja of the Mexican federal air force was hastening toward the war front today, following his marriage here yesterday to Miss Madeline Derudder of this city. It was the first time war wedding bells had pealed in San Antonio in more than 10 years.

Immediately following the ceremony, the groom left for Torreon. He flew from Torreon to Neuvo Laredo Wednesday and continued his journey here by automobile.

The young married couple at first planned to return to Torreon together, but after the ceremony it was decided for the bride to remain here at the home of her father.

"She was willing to go," Captain Borja said, "but Torreon is no place to spend a honeymoon just now. I will be back for her before long."

Miss Derudder, daughter of a San Antonio music teacher, met her aviator husband in the City of Mexico when she went there in January of this year as companion and governess to Princess Glogia Maria Beatriz Arrabela Pignatelli Aragon de Cortez, 2-year-old daughter of Prince Antonio Pignatelli Aragon de Cortez of Italy, Duke of Terranova and Marquis del Valle Oaxaca, a direct descendant of Hernando Cortez and a first cousin of King Emmanuel of Italy, whose home is in the Mexican capital.

Miss Derudder was engaged to teach the young princess English in preparation for an education in the United States.

Mrs. Borja is an accomplished violinist and speaks four foreign languages.

'Battle of Romney' Moves Across Atlantic

By ROBERT WELLES RITCHIE

LONDON, April 5. (US)—The "battle of the Romney" has transferred itself to this side of the Atlantic.

Breaking his silence at Lausanne, where he is staying for his health, the Duke of Sutherland said today:

"I cannot show my picture of the Duchess of Sutherland in public as Al Nichcolson challenges, but if Nicholson cares to arrange with the agent of my Sutton Place estate, he can go there and see for himself the only original Romney portrait of the Duchess of Sutherland."

Nicholson replied:

"I challenged the duke to show his picture alongside the one I have repurchased from Howard Young of New York, and which is now being returned to me.

"I am sorry he finds it impractical to accept. I shall look at Sutherland's picture, but when mine returns I plan for the public to have a chance to view it and judge for themselves whether it is a copy or the veritable original.

"My Carleton street gallery is not large enough, but I shall secure one big enough to accommodate all who are interested."

Through his secretary, the Duke of Sutherland said: "I believe the disputed picture is obviously one of the copies of the original Romney portrait, of which three are known to exist.

Maybe there are more. At least, one of them hangs in the gallery at Sutton place. My understanding is that they were all done by a struggling young painter commissioned by the late duke.

The most fun offered the public for a dime is a wavy automobile track known as the Ocean Wave Wichita now has one, four miles out Henrietta road. Drive out and try it once. A pleasant surprise awaits you.—Adv.

Mystery of Sea Baffles Agents After Day's Quiz

PHILADELPHIA, April 5. (UP)—The mystery ship Nomad tugged restlessly at its moorings tonight, almost as much of a mystery as when customs agents found it idle at sea, its captain missing and three men aboard in what customs agents declared was a stupefied condition.

Leland H. Ross, prominent New Yorker, was brought before federal authorities today and charged with attempting to smuggle liquor into the United States. But United States Commissioner Patterson said the government had proven no case and Ross was dismissed.

Meanwhile customs agents tried to decide whether to make further charges against Ross and two seamen, Harry Bush and Richard French. The agents claimed to have found the three aboard the vessel in the stateroom of which were 40 bottles of liquor bobbing around with the roll of the vessel.

Neither Bush nor French was charged today with attempting to bring the liquor into port.

Ross tried to clear up the mystery of what happened to Capt. John Schofield. He told a harrowing tale of nine stormy days at sea and of how Schofield tried to fix a disabled rudder and was washed into the sea.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

My doorbell pealed; the door opened and a voice said, "Get your hat and come with me to the police station." It was Miss Katherine Henricle, head of the Children's Aid Society of West Texas.

The thought of going to the police station startled me. I'd been there once when I ran over an amber light. But that, I reflected, was when amber lights were new and more respected; possibly my brief carreer as a police character was forgotten. So I "got my hat" and rushed.

The night captain was facing a pitiful group of six. A mother—surely not much more than 30—a baby of about 1 year, a little girl and three boys just stair-stepping up to 8. The children soiled and bedraggled. The mother red-eyed, soiled and bedraggled. If women must do wrong, not caring for themselves, how can they help thinking of their children?

A sordid story. The father was already in the "cooler" sobering up. The mother, who had "tasted also" of the bootleg liquor, not safe to trust with her own children over night. So the captain called on Miss Henricle and, always ready, Miss Henricle said yes, she could take them to one of the nursing homes.

The grimmest tragedy sometimes has laughter hiding close. As the captain walked with the mother to the docket—telling her she would be taken care of over night, and Miss Henricle would see that the children were well cared for, the little boys scuttled out the front door—all three of them—and ran like scared rabbits. There were some four or five men in front of the station, and it took all of them to catch the lads. They dodged and ran forward and backward. Laughable, but how sad! To think that children would have things like this to look backward to. Why preach sermons on temperance and on eugenics? Living examples of intemperance and improper parenthood facing us all the time are stronger than sermons.

In the car, headed for the nursing home, the children were perfectly content. The oldest boy opened a grimy hand to give Miss Henricle 15 cents, which he asked her to keep for him. I put my arm around the baby to steady her and she caught my hand and all the way to the nursing home, kept patting it gently and looking up at me with wide, blue eyes. The oldest boy talked more freely than any of the others. He didn't go to school, he said, because he didn't have clothes. His mother had said he could go to school when he was old enough, but when that time came, they couldn't afford it.

When asked if his father did work, he said no. His father was in the army and was gassed and had T. B. We gathered that his father must draw a pension and they were living on that.

This was my first visit to a nursing home. It was not what I had thought. The man and woman who were taking care of eight little girls and two boy babies, were the cleanest, cherriest, most motherly and fatherly looking couple one could wish to see; and the children were happy. Some—fatherless and motherless; some—wards of the juvenile court—but all happy with the mothering of a motherly woman.

Our little strays seemed quite content. They watched the girls in the home show off all their nice little stunts for our benefit; their eyes were wide as they watched. Those little girls! One couldn't help noticing that when they passed they invariably said, "Pardon me," or its equivalent, if they thought they were stepping over the border line of courtesy. I wonder why some person who wants to add to the world's happiness, and who has adequate means, doesn't help in these nursing homes. They need larger quarters; they couldn't be cleaner than the ones I saw.

Miss Henricle went after the children the next day and turned them over to their parents bathed and clean and happy. The father had paid a $15 fine; the mother had listened to a lecture. Wanderers, the people were; traveling about the country in their Ford. But the mother said she had learned her lesson and she was really and truly thankful to both Miss Henricle and the night captain. "He is such a nice man," she said.

We talk of "tomorrow." Tomorrow in our nation is determined by our children.

I believe that state laws should prevent marriage unless people are physically fit.

I believe in the work of the Children's Aid society. I saw eight little girls crowding hungrily around Miss Henricle to kiss her good night and then I saw her warmly turn to the five dirty little waifs we had taken over and give them each a hearty kiss. They looked as if they did not know much about love.

"Ye have read, ye have heard, ye have thought . . . give answer, what have ye done?"

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, April 5. (US)—A man in Omaha shook his wife till her teeth really did rattle—I mean they actually did.

A fellow on the coast pushed his wife off the running board of his car when she trailed him and then stepped on the gas.

A man in Pittsburgh bought his wife a ticket to the west coast and then wouldn't buy her one to come back.

A Chicago husband gave his wife a good allowance provided she cooked him three meals a day and all of them were good.

All brothers under the skin!

And the reason others like to read about these things is that a certain type of man dares to do the things that to others are abhorrent, so they retain their inhibitions. There doesn't breathe a man with soul so dead that at some time or other he hasn't wanted to shake his wife, at least until her hat was on crooked.

And the little things that men do to women when they are told before a judge, accompanied by tears and sobs, and an especially well made-up countenance, always sound so fiendish.

Men usually stand silent before the bar (of justice) because if they said, with tears: "Your honor, she pulled my hair and scratched my face," while it might have hurt and might have been a highly improper procedure, they would get only a roar of laughter from the spectators. I don't know why, but people laugh at husbands so easily.

One big he-man announces: "I hate managing women!"

He tells how one night he was in a small town visiting his home folks, and he and a girl in the town got on a street car. The girl pushed the stop button, and when they go to the door, she hopped off first, leaving him to follow instead of help her.

"And when we got to the sidewalk," said the big fellow, who is now a big boy in a big town, "I took her by the shoulders and shook her till her hat really fell off. (He meant it actually did.) And I said to her, 'Don't you ever get off a street car first when you are with me, or push the stop button, either.'"

And the lady remarked, between clenched teeth: "What makes you think, you big noisy elephant, that I'd ever get on a street car with you again?"

"But that's like some girls," said the big fellow. "They want to open doors and ring for elevators, and hop out of automobiles first, and drive your car for you—no wonder the men let them go home alone!"

If the big boy is looking for an excuse, that sounds plausible.

WE WOMEN

by Betty Brainerd

METAPHYSICAL WHIMSY

OUR MOODS have seasons, and also the day. The dawn is nature's golden notice of renewed life and hope. But there is an undertone of death in that gray yet precise period when the moon and the sun meet half-way and, having come to an impasse, cast a shroud upon all life. I do not like that moment before sunrise. I do not know why. But I like the sunrise itself.

Noon is like a hot kitchen stove, before which a dog on a mean, rainy day lies contented.

Of all the seasons of our moods and the day, I like evening best. The dusk should be put to music by a master, and the theme, to enlarge upon a line out of a fine song, should be "Evenin' comes to comfort me and set my memory free."

I suspect I am verging upon the sentimental, but there is no man or woman who breathes with soul so dead that he or she is not consoled and soothed by the caressing, velvet touch of evenin' . . . a'comin' so slowly, so beautifully . . . accompanied by the miracle of changing colors in the west.

And there is, it seems to me, something of the contrast between the sexes in the various moods and seasons of the day.

I am willing to concede morning to man, but the twilight is for women. It is nature's sincere apology.

". . . evenin' comes to comfort me and set my memory free."

A dear friend of mine, Virginia MacFayden, once wrote a novel called "Windows Facing West." I think it is a lovely title. Come to think of it, windows, too, were made for women, especially windows facing west.

Through windows that face the west we apprehended the impossible—the fourth dimension of happiness. The dipping sun is a gazing ball in which only dreams are tangible.

Open fire-places are for men—though women have the same silent partnership in the delights of an open fire that men share with us in the dusk.

And in both we realize the full meaning of Maeterlinck's transcript of the old Swiss saying; "Speech is Time, and Silence—Eternity."

In the dusk we live long and happily.

And life itself strangely becomes just an illusion—just an illusion!

It's the Forbidden Fruit Aspect Of Married Men That Makes 'Em Alluring

Straight Talk to the Girl Who Prefers Married Dates—Does the Marriage Contract Include Housekeeping?—The Man Who Is "Too Young to Be Good to his Wife.

Dear Miss Dix: Why are married men so much more attractive than single men? I have never seen a single man that I cared for, but I like most of the married men I have met and have fallen in love with some of them. So my problem is: Should I go out with married men as I do, as they are the ones I prefer, and I think that all is fair in love and war? —M. L. R.

Answer: The lure of the married man for girls is that he is forbidden fruit. That is what our first mother fell for and she bequeathed her appetite for it to a lot of her daughters and granddaughters.

There are loads of girls who are adventurers by nature. They love the bright face of danger. The more risky a thing is the more fascination it has for them. If they had been born boys they would have been aviators, sailors, soldiers, discoverers, wanderers, tramps, steeplejacks, but denied by their sex this outlet for their restless spirits they take out their lust for peril in flirtations with married men.

They know that they are playing with fire and that they are not only risking their good names but their life's happiness as well. They are gambling with their hearts for stakes and the fact that the game is so hazardous is what makes it fascinating to them.

"Stolen waters are sweet," says the old proverb, and it is the fact that she has no right to the kisses of the married men that give them, to this type of girl, a thrill and flavor that the kisses of the unmarried man do not have, and it is the fact that their meetings must be secret and they tremble at being discovered at every rendezvous that envelops them in a haze of romance that the call of a boy friend at her home would not have.

Also the girl to whom married men are especially attractive has a streak of cruelty in her nature. She gets a kick out of knowing that she is torturing the man's wife. She likes to know that the wife is writhing in helpless jealosy. She enjoys bringing her own youth and beauty in contrast with the wife's age and fading charms. It gives her a sense of triumph to take a man away from his wife, and she glories in the power that she holds in her hands of breaking up the other woman's home and depriving their children of a father.

That is what makes the married men more attractive to you than single men, M. L. R. It is not the man himself. The married man is no better looking, no better groomed, no more intelligent, has no more of a way with women than has the single man. In fact, as a general thing, he is older, stouter, less of a sheik in looks. Nor should his line sweep any girl who has a grain of intelligence in her head or a particle of principle in her soul off her feet.

For what is there alluring in the cry-baby man who is forever whining about the mistake he made in his choice of a wife and pouring his matrimonial troubles into any pretty little feminine ear that will listen? And what attraction is there in a man who is disloyal to a wife and a traitor to his children?

And what is there so fascinating about a man who is so selfish that he wins a girl's heart knowing that he cannot offer her honorable marriage, that his attentions can only compromise her and that he can only doom her to a life of anxious waiting for the crumbs of affection that he can surreptitiously bestow upon her?

Believe me, my dear child, a love affair with a married man is always a losing game fr the girl. Better set your affections on some nice, clean, honorable young man whose love will lead to the altar instead of into a sordid intrigue. And before you decide that all is fair in love, consider how you will like to have some younger and prettier girl take your husband away from you. For you know every year there is a younger and prettier girl crop. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix: I am engaged to a young man and very much in love with him, but he insists on our starting housekeeping as soon as we are married, but I am not willing to do this. He is able to furnish a lovely home for me, but I wouldn't know how to keep it lovely. I don't know anything about housekeeping and have told him so, but he doesn't seem to care. What shall I do? —HELEN MARIE.

Answer: Either break the engagement off and refuse to marry the young man or else go to work and learn how to be a good housekeeper.

I don't think a woman can do a more dishonest thing than to marry a man who wants a home and refuse to make it for him. The wife who does not keep her house clean and tidy and give her husband good, well cooked food is a quitter. She reneges on her end of the matrimonial partnership and is as contemptible a cheat as the man would be if he refused to work and make the money to pay for the home and the food.

No girl, unless she is a besotted fool, will marry a man without knowing that he has some way to support a family and that he has a good job. If men would bring a little bit more intelligence to the selection of a wife no man would marry a girl unless he knew she was a competent housekeeper and that she was able and willing to make a good home for him. The fact that men take it for granted that every girl is born domestic and with a knowledge of how to cook and budget an income brings untold misery on the world and is at the base of half of the divorces.

So I entreat you, my dear girl, to give your young man a square deal and if you don't intend to keep that lovely house lovely call your engagement off and give him a chance to find some girl who will.

But, let me tell you, you will make a terrible mistake if you do, because housekeeping is one of the most fascinating occupations in the world. Don't think of it as drudgery. Think of it as a fine art. Think of yourself as an artist who makes a beautiful picture out of furniture and rugs and draperies. Think of yourself as a creative artist who composes harmonies on a gas range.

It is a pity and a shame that your mother hasn't taught you how to cook, but if she has neglected your education there are plenty of cooking schools to which you can go, and, anyway, any girl who can read can make herself a chef in six months if she so desires.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young girl and have been married just a little over a year. I love my husband dearly and he says he loves me, but he does not care to take me anywhere, not even to the movies on Sunday. Every night he dresses up and goes out by himself and stays until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, and when I tell him that I think he should stay at home with me he says: "I am young yet and I have to have my good times." I am working out and helping him save up for a new car, but he says when he gets it he won't drag me around in it. What is the cure for that sort of husband? —MRS. B.

Answer: None, as far as you are concerned. By the time he is ready to settle down you will be so old and worn out and disgusted with him that you won't care whether he comes back to you or not.

You are an idiot to give him your money to pay on a car in which he will take other women joyriding. Spend what you make on dolling yourself up and go out and amuse yourself. It may attract his notice.

Your husband should have remembered that he was young and wasn't ready to settle down before he married and took upon himself the responsibilities of a wife.

Mrs. J. H. Massie was hostess to the Coterie club Thursday afternoon in one of the most interesting meetings of the season.

Mrs. Massie and Mrs. Anna Witherspoon made a trip through Mexico last summer and Mrs. Witherspoon was present and discussed vividly the high points of the journey. At the close of her talk, Mrs. Massie showed moving pictures taken at the same time, illustrating splendidly the fascination of old Mexico.

The program was particularly timely because of the news interest in Mexico at the present time. Mrs. Massie gave a brief sketch of the history of Mexico and Mrs. Harrison discussed the topography and resources of that country.

Two new members have entered the Coterie, Mesdames Rhea Howard and W. E. Young.

The luncheon served was strictly a Mexican meal, carried out in every detail. Covers were laid for Mesdames E. B. Bailey, E. P. Bass, C. W. Boller, C. P. Burton, A. D. Collins, H. M. Harrison, A. C. Holmes, J. H. Massie, J. C. Mytinger, Horrace Robbins, Joe Hutchinson, Rhea Howard and W. E. Young.

No one under 25 should be under weight

Everyone should eat enough

A FOOD scientist, known throughout the length and breadth of the country for his sane and progressive views on health, emphasizes the danger of being under weight, especially for young people. "No one," he says, "under 25 years of age should be under weight. Weigh your children," he says, "and feed them enough. They must not lose weight. A loss of weight may indicate the beginning of disease."

Feeding children is sometimes a problem. How many mothers find it difficult to get children to eat healthful cereals and cooked fruits! The answer is that these beneficial foods should be sweetened to taste so that the children will find them delicious.

Growing children, especially young girls of high-school and college age, often take up the fad of dieting for slimness. This may be extremely dangerous and may make the girls susceptible to tuberculosis and numerous other diseases. Medical authorities warn us that many women injure their health permanently by extreme dieting.

The important question of food must be approached sensibly. See that no growing person in your family is permitted to be under weight. Make a variety of healthful foods tasty and appetizing with sugar. Active children use energy so rapidly that they need a ready reserve of energy to draw upon. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. HE SPENT $5,000 IN SEEKING HEALTH SAYS CONTRACTOR

"Sargon has given me the most remarkable results I ever experienced in overcoming a skin eruption, which world famous skin specialists diagnosed as 'Psoriasis.'

HARRY KROMBERG

"During the past 12 years I spent over $5,000 seeking relief. I got no lasting results. During my visit in San Antonio I read of the Sargon treatment. I also noticed an article where leading physicians of America and Europe declared that skin eruptions frequently occur from a sluggish condition where there is faulty elimination of a system filled with toxic poisons. So I bought two bottles of Sargon and one bottle of Sargon Soft Mass Pills.

"Sargon toned up my whole system while Sargon Soft Mass Pills stimulated my liver and regulated me perfectly. I am on my fourth bottle of Sargon and second bottle of the pills, and am happy to say I am a well man. My skin has a natural, healthy color. I gained eight pounds and am enjoying good health in every way.

"I am so thankful for Sargon that I feel that it is my duty to inform the general public of these facts. I will be back at my Long Island home the first week in May and if anyone will write me at 214-05 Bradish Ave., Bayside, Long Island, N. Y., I will be glad to answer them."

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; in Electra from Lough's Drug store, and in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.—Adv.

Giles of Austin, will visit the Dickson Colored Orphanage at Gilmer, which it is proposed the state take over, and the East Texas State Teachers college at Commerce. Another committee, composed of representatives from that section, will inspect the West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon and the Texas Technological college at Lubbock.

Ages of Canyon Pastor's Survivors Total 240 Years

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, April 5.—Rev. T. F. Robison, who recently died in Canyon at the age of 91 years, left two brothers and a sister living in Quanah whose combined ages total 240 years. They are A. M. Robison, 87 years; Mrs. Altha Shaw, 85 years; and W. B. Robison, 68 years. These three people live together, W. B. taking care of his sister and brother, who are both almost totally blind and unable to get about but very little.

Rev. T. F. Robison was among the first Methodist preachers ever in this section of Texas, coming here in 1881. Old timers recall the hardships of preachers in those days, when no salary was paid, and preachers had to eke out a living by other means. Rev. Robison hauled wood from the Pease river, farmed, and did odd jobs of any kind he could get. He raised a family of eight children, seven of whom survive him.

Herbert Kaufman's
DIVIDE AND RULE
Daily Editorial

SOVIET RUSSIA, through an obviously inspired statement in one of the Moscow dailies, reluctantly admits the breakdown of its paternalistic program.

The present government undertook to monopolize everything, from raw materials to the regulation of retailing. In its devouring greed for authority, it gobbled all the instruments of production and distribution—Bolshevism, having bitten off more than it can chew, is suffering from acute indigestion, and begins to search for relief and correction in private remedy cabinets.

The people-at-large are threatened with starvation, and a full Pandora's chest of economic ills.

Confusion and bewilderment are omnipresent—Lenin's fantastic structure is tottering to collapse.

There's a shortage of grain in the farming districts, and an insufficiency of living necessities in the cities. Bread and meat are reduced to ration-card issues. Esau would have his pottage pot!

Ranting theory and peasant intelligence aren't proving substitutes for specialized experience, and amateur industrial direction isn't wearing any medals for skilled management.

Socialism thus demonstrates its utter incapacity to compete with stable systems! Capitalism still waits on a competent successor.

Initiative demands opportunity and rewards commensurate with enterprise.

Men do not think or strive greatly without guarantees of proportionate benefits from originality and thoroughness.

THE PRIMARY responsibility of every state is to stimulate general enthusiasm, multiply common resources, and create fresh wealths.

But when folk are not permitted to profit accordingly, they do not bestir themselves to extra effort; individualism is the motive of progress here, there and everywhere.

Neither brains nor hands ever deliver beyond pay-envelope specifications, except under incentive.

Wherever there's a winning organization—wherever dividends are being regularly met and corporations are piling up surplus—both rank and file are getting a whack at the plums, and are incited to high-pressure by assurance of promotion in ratio to merit and efficiency.

Wherever establishments are withering and headed toward deficit, penurious and purblind ownership has convinced employes to expect nothing from pains-taking and record-breaking.

There's a hidden spring in each of us, and the cashier holds the key that winds it and sets ambition going.

Bonaparte's image, Carnegie's creed and Marshall Field's portrait should be standard office equipment—to remind hog-it-allers and thunder-thieves of the baton packed in every Napoleonic knapsack, and the partnership habit of the steel king and the merchant prince who never kept a good man down nor denied ability its right to control.

"Divide and rule" is a phrase of twin significance; as all those who don't share with the authors of their prosperity eventually discover—just about one jump ahead of bankruptcy.

Sovietism isn't making the grade anywhere.

1848—Beginning of the present city of Sherman, when Samuel Blogg purchased 40 acres, donating it for the Grayson county seat.

1852—First election in Corpus Christi after the incorporation of the town, resulting in B. F. Neal's election as mayor.

1862—Albert Sidney Johnston fell at the battle of Shiloh.

1917—The United States declared war on Germany that brought more than 200,000 Texans into the service before its completion.

A New York critic says the talkies, in bringing to every Main street the music shows of Broadway, will give the small towns a new kind of civilization. They may be able to overcome it, however.

Two worthy magazines are serving their subscribers in a unique way. They have undertaken to print all that was left unsaid from 1921 to 1927.

The Massachusetts legislature has a bill that would permit deer hunting with bow and arrow. Probably a conservation measure.

Off for a Hollow Tree

IT IS not hard to feel a good deal of sympathy for the Indianapolis gentleman who fled to live in a hollow tree because the radio in his own home was kept going night and day.

The man was 69 years old, and lived with his son's family. When he made his exodus, he explained later, he was driven to it by the fact that "a fellow can't get any sleep at all" with the radio going at all hours. The police, who took him in on a vagrancy charge before they knew what it was all about, turned him over to a police magistrate, who finally induced him to return home and make one more effort to acclimate himself to a constant outpouring of song.

Probably a good many of us, at one time or another, have felt a sneaking longing to make tracks for the tall timber and find a suitable hollow tree. We don't know much about the peace and quiet of the deep woods, except by hearsay, but there are times when they look good to us.

Our modern civilization is designed to appeal chiefly to the eye and ear. There is an enormous amount of stuff to look at, and an enormous amount of stuff to listen to, and these two phases of it generally take up so much of our spare time that we can't exercise our other faculties.

Usually this suits us fine. It is pleasant and it keeps us from worrying. But now and then a man—particularly if he be verging on the three-score and ten mark, as this Indianapolis man was—is apt to get the feeling that life is slipping away without being really tasted.

For we realize, down deep, that there ought to be a little bit more to life than a mere collection of surface impressions. Nature, as Thoreau remarked, has provided man with an admirable cushion, whereon he may sit and look up at the stars, and out of star-gazing and similar idle pastimes there is apt to come a wisdom and a peace that are beyond price.

This wisdom and peace grow out of the discovery that the world is infinitely more mysterious, infinitely more beautiful, infinitely more terrifying than is ordinarily dreamed. It is not a blind machine, nor is it a heedless, self-sustaining bit of cosmic ingenuity in which pettiness and sameness are dominant. It is a thing of infinite depths and infinite vistas, and we, stumping about bravely on the tiny patch with which we are familiar, are integral parts of it. Lost souls we may be, but nevertheless there are nobility and high destiny in us.

That is the sort of realization that doesn't come in the midst of blaring, man-made noise and hectic activity. It dawns on a man slowly, when he has leisure and quiet to make himself receptive to voices that the hum of daily life can drown out.

Perhaps a hollow tree would be too cramped and harsh a place for a city dweller. But at least it would give him a chance to hear things that city noises drown out. The Indianapolis man's idea wasn't as bad as it might have been.

Music Is International

THERE is an internationalism to great art that goes far above and beyond the bounds of ordinary national feeling. When the French republic held funeral services for Marshal Foch, the whole proceedings, naturally enough, were as nationalistic as possible. Foch was preeminently a French hero; no one would have dreamed of suggesting that Germans join in honoring his passing.

Yet the funeral music which sounded in Notre Dame and the streets of Paris as Foch was laid to rest was written by Germans. The magnificent funeral march of Siegfried, written by Richard Wagner, and the great "March Heroique," by Ludwig van Beethoven, were played by Frech bands, for the funeral of a great French warrior—and no one thought of implying that there was anything incongruous in it.

Great music has no nationality. It is the property of each nation that can appreciate it.

A Tip for Mr. Average Man

ONCE AGAIN the stock market has gone into a phase which is utterly unintelligible to the lay observer. One day prices start whirling downward, and it looks as if the long-anticipated slump has really begun. But the next day they go back up, many of them to even higher levels than before; and on succeeding days the new firmness is well maintained.

Even the expert prognosticators disagree as to the future. Some see a sharp bear market in the offing, and others, equally qualified, see just the reverse.

Only one thing is certain. At a time like this Mr. Average Man has no business touching the market at all. Unless he has phenomenal luck, he's apt to get his fingers burned rather badly.

A Preposterous Suggestion

THE PRIZE for sheer effrontery ought to be awarded, without further delay, to the American who wrote a circular letter to the hotel and restaurant men of Paris, begging them to revise their methods of cookery so that American tourists could eat as they are accustomed to eat at home.

This man, it should be known, manages parties of American tourists, and says he has taken at least 7,000 of them about France. Many of them, he said, suffered indigestion due to French cooking; would the Parisian chefs be so kind as to revamp their style?

There are many reasons for going to Paris. Not the least of them is the fact that the cooking there is different, and in 99 per cent of the cases infinitely better, than the cooking in this country. For an American, fresh from this land of hot dogs, lunch counter doughnuts and abominable coffee, to ask the Parisian cooks to adopt a new style is nothing short of preposterous.

THE CAUSE OF EDUCATION

As wonderful as is the conception of America as being a land in which free education is extended every youth up to a certain age, regardless of creed, color, race, parentage, position or wealth, more glorious still is the thought that there are millions of men and women in this country who serve faithfully, intelligently and unselfishly as members of school boards, as members of P.-T. A. organizations, as members of trustees, and on other important committees, not on pay but purely in response to duty's and the people's call.

FOONERVILLE FOLKS By Fontaine Fox

The Day Book of a New Yorker
Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, April 5—New York citizens are coming to the aid of their police in a remarkable effort to reduce crime. In the greater city, crime has mounted steadily, year by year. The increase in the past 18 years has been 104 per cent. This increase has occurred in spite of a police effort that is, by every standard that can be applied, efficient. Arrests have increased, as have convictions. But the crime roll goes steadily on.

The citizen, or some of the representative ones, discovered one thing the police have known for years. That is, a great deal of crime is done by persons who have served terms in prisons. The man once convicted has very little else that he can do but continue to commit crime. He cannot, in the ordinary course of events, get a job, because employers will not knowingly hire an ex-convict. It is a case of commit crime, before starvation.

Then it began to be realized that such men are not criminals because they want to be. At least, not all of them. They are criminals because they cannot get jobs.

So New York is starting in a humble way to get jobs for the men. The effort is called "the Marshall Stillman movement." It now has one factory operating where 60 men of criminal record have been employed for periods ranging to more than a year. Not one has gone back to his old trade. The work is under the general chairmanship of John McEntee Bowman, who incidentally is owner of one of the greatest hotel chains in the United States.

Greater than Aladdin's genie of old is the soulless mechanistic demon that has begun to command the ways and byways of our New Bagdad. No slave of a lamp is this creature, but master of a myriad of lamps. He serves not one mortal but millions.

This unassuming robot is called, in more practical terms, the relay box which controls New York traffic. It looks like a modest radio set but without the aid of humans, it makes traffic lights go on and off at regular intervals.

Seeing large lines of automobiles awaiting for the lights to change, one finds much to wonder about in contemplating man's growing subservience to machine rule. Nor am I one to decry it. Regulation, at least in traffic, is a good thing, and if machines can bring order out of chaos then they are merely obeying Heaven's first law.

Gruesome it is, I suppose. They call him the Blood Emperor. But his real name is plain Robert F. Gardiner, a hard-working young business man, whose job it is to provide blood donors for hospitals and physicians when a transfusion is demanded. Gardiner has at his beck and call 300 men who are ready to give their blood night or day for stipulated sums.

There are, I understand, about 10 such agents, or "middlemen" between the hospitals and the blood donors. And many men, who otherwise have no occupation, earn their livlihood by giving their blood.

Some time ago I recorded that an attempt would be made to revive old Miner's Bowery theater, which half a century ago was quite the acme of theatrical entertainment. Only a few days ago it burned down, on the very eve of its re-opening. "Under the Gaslight," an old melodrama by Augstine Daly, was to have been revived there.

The attempt to reopen Miner's was in line with the popularity of reviving old melodramas of our grandfather's days. In Hoboken, this movement has been successful. But Miner's, which stood for many years empty, in the midst of the desolation of the old Bowery, was destined never to open its doors again.

It was the first burlesque house in America and many famous stars of other days played there.

Another version of the beggar in spats. I ran across one the other day. He had a "Blind Man" sign on his chest and held out a tin cup with one hand, while the other clutched a stick that tapped persistently and appealingly on the pavement.

At first I was kindly disposed toward him, and then I glanced toward his feet. Spats decorated them. Spats! At first I was prone to turn away but the nerve of the man, if that be the case, changed my mind and I dropped in a dime. His audacity was worth the price.

The Once Over
By H. I. PHILLIPS

Scene: The White House at Washington, D. C. President and Mrs. Hoover are checking upon equipment, paraphernalia, etc., left by the previous administration.

PHILLIPS

Mrs. Hoover: Now there's a lot of stuff, dear, we won't want, and we might as well get rid of it.

The president: Throw out anything you don't like.

Mrs. Hoover: Dear Me, I just don't know where to begin! I don't see how the Coolidges ever kept so much junk around. Now take that ship, the Mayflower; what'll we do with that thing?

The president: Don't you like it?

Mrs. Hoover: I think it's terrible.

The president: I don't care much for it, either. I'll get rid of it some way.

Mrs. Hoover: I hate to throw it away. Isn't there comebody who would like it . . . someone who really needs it.

The president: I can't think of anybody at the moment.

Mrs. Hoover: There must be some one to whom a ship like that would be a godsend. Don't we know anybody who is poor and in need?

The president: Yes, but they're all Democrats. We couldn't give the Mayflower to a Democrat.

Mrs. Hoover: Aren't there any needy Republicans?

The president: Not so soon after election. I could give it to Bill Donovan, I suppose, but it would stir up jealousy. I'd better just phone the junkman to come and get it.

Mrs. Hoover: And what about those big stuffed sofas down in the stable?

Mrs. Hoover: They look like stuffed sofas.

The president: That's because they've never had any exercise.

Mrs. Hoover: Well, what should we do with them? They're no ornament.

The president: Couldn't we store them in the attic for the present?

Mrs. Hoover: Certainly not.

The president: Well, I'll have a man call and take 'em away.

Mrs. Hoover: And what are we going to do about Mt. Weather?

The president: That's the place Coolidge bought so we could have a place to go in the summer, eh?

Mrs. Hoover: Yes. Wasn't it mean of him?

The president: It proves what I've always suspected; he didn't like me.

Mrs. Hoover: Well, what will we do?

The president: We'll just ignore it and go some place else for the summer.

Mrs. Hoover: And another thing: what about that old handball I found in the cellar? It was all dust and dirt. I think it was left over from the Roosevelt administration.

The president (eagerly): Handball?

Mrs. Hoover: Yes.

The president (with enthusiasm): Goody, goody! Don't you dare throw that out. It's just what I want. Where's Mark Sullivan? Where's Will Irwin: Gee, we'll have some fun.

(He goes to summon the gentlemen).

These Nervous Women!

A New York husband was arrested yesterday on his wife's charge that he tried to cut off her leg with a saw after a family dispute. The husband's side of the story has been received by this department. He says he did it all in a spirit of fun.

"The trouble with most wives," he said, "is that they can't take a joke. She should have known I didn't mean it. I had no intention of sawing all the way through."

There was a fire in a New York building occupied by the Flea circus the other night. All the fleas were saved by the presence of mind of a fireman in calling loudly for them to jump.

If we go to war with England over the I'm Alone how can the war office fix it so the "wets" will fight in the same company with the "drys"?

Tree Nursery Secured By Lamesa Organization

Special to The Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, April 5.—A nursery has been located at Lamesa through the efforts of the civic department of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce. Ben Moore, former postmaster of O'Donnell, has purchased a track of land one-half mile north of the city limits from Judge J. E. Garland. Nursery stock will be planted out immediately, according to Mr. Moore. Moore will establish on this property his home and other improvements. His plan is also to make a park of part of the acreage. This business has been long needed.

Colored Bishop to Speak in Mangum

MANGUM, Okla., April 5.—Mangum will be visited by the bishop of the colored Methodist church on April 21, according to Rev. E. L. Springs, pastor of Friendship colored Methodist church here. He is Bishop Nelson C. Cleaves of St. Louis, and the entire citizenship has been invited to hear him.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He whose religion does not teach him respect for the religion of others, needs a change of creed."

PILES OF JUNK OFFEND WADE
C.-C. Head Urges Towns To Move Dumps

STAMFORD, Texas, April 5.—Just preceding National Clean-Up week which is from April 21 to April 27 this year Manager Homer D. Wade of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce issues a service letter to secretaries of chambers of commerce throughout West Texas and other supporters of the regional organization concerning the unfavorable impression made upon tourists by the sight of the acres of ground used as dumping grounds for worn out automobiles.

"Our West Texas towns," he writes, "are laying claim to civic attractiveness yet in many instances their magnificent appearance is marred by an acre of broken up, cast-off, rusty automobiles, and other machinery dumped on the roadside just outside of the city limits.

"This practice of parking unsightly junk on or near our public highways detracts in every possible manner. It should have the frown and the opposition of every man, woman and child in West Texas, who appreciates the beautiful and abhors the unseemly."

He proposes, that since this junk must be disposed of, a sentiment be created that will dictate that it be piled upon ground that does not come within sight of the people who travel the public highways. "Cannot property owners be induced to prevent these ugly places by refusing permission to those who have no regard for civic pride to dump their worn out machinery in places where it will not become an eye sore to the passers by?" he asks.

Manager Wade's appeal to clean up the junk piles of machinery is prompted by his observations in his extensive travels over the state.

Morgan's Companion Denies Abusive Language

WASHINGTON, April 5. (INS)—Rep. John C. Schafer, Republican, Wisconsin, one of the party of congressmen-junketers who returned from Panama last week, doesn't believe Rep. William M. Morgan, Ohio's dry congressman, brought in four bottles of liquor as New York customs inspectors charge. Schafer does know, and he said it today, that there was no abusive language directed at the inspectors.

Schafer was standing right next to Morgan on the pier, he said, and if any unpleasantries were said he would have heard it.

Lady Was Discouraged, But Began to Gain Strength After Taking Cardui

TOLL BRIDGE PARLEY HELD

Relief Action to Be Taken Next Week

SHERMAN, Texas, April 5. (AP)—Texas and Oklahoma officials conferred here today on the toll dispute over the Red River Bridge company bridge between Denison, Texas, and Durant, Okla., and later left for Dallas to confer with Atty. Gen. Claud Pollard.

R. M. Tilley, assistant attorney general of Texas said before leaving here that some definite action to relieve the people from paying the present high toll rate would be taken up next week.

"We believe the Red River Bridge company has no authority to collect the high rate now exacted," Tilley said.

W. C. Lewis, assistant attorney general of Oklahoma, said he expected the Oklahoma legislature to pass a bill at a proposed special session to allow his state to acquire toll bridges by purchase.

Both Lewis and Tilley said temporary injunction granted several weeks ago by the District of Columbia court to retain present tolls until after a hearing on the injunction would not deter action they planned to take next week against the bridge company.

"TWIN" CARS—

Yet One Out-Climbs the Other!

Two cars, "twins" in every respect—weight, design and motor power—yet one out-climbs the other, picks up without the slightest knock and throttles down smoothly in traffic.

This difference in operation is not a mechanical difference. It is the result of an even-burning gasoline that automatically develops its maximum power at the exact moment required to deliver the greatest force to the pistons.

Magnolia ANTI-KNOCK Gasoline not only thus gives your car greater power, quicker acceleration and eliminates knocks, but it does so without the use of chemical compounds injurious to valves, pistons, cylinders, carburetor and pipe line. It is a pure petroleum gasoline.

SPUDDER RALLIES FALL SHORT AND SOX TAKE OPENER, 8-7

SMITH CHECKS CHICAGO TEAM

Fitz, Swenson, Clancy And Reynolds Bat Hard

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

Our Spudders almost won a ball game yesterday. Almost, but not quite. They spotted the Chicago White Sox three runs in the first inning and a brace of tallies in the third round. The big five-run lead was held by the wan socks in the face of late Spudder rallies and Lena Blackburne's men took the opener of the three-game series out at the orchard. The score was 8 to 7.

Harold Wiltse, lefthander hook expert, was not in his usual excellent form and the former Red Sox and Brownie was nicked for seven runs and eight hits in the five innings he toiled. Loose support in the first round, when three errors figured in the Sox run-getting, was largely responsible for Hal getting away to a bad start in front of his old enemy.

The contest had several bright spots from a Spudder viewpoint. Cy Smith, the big rookie righthander from the Piedmont league, took up the mound burden where Harold left off and gave a glittering performance. In addition to turning back the hostiles runless he held them to four hits in the four frames he worked.

Cy Pitches Out of Holes

Smith twice pitched out of bad looking situations. In the seventh he retired the side after the bases were filled with none out and in the eighth he prevented scoring after the hose had runners on second and third. Wiltse struck out four and passed two.

The batting of Howard Fitzgerald was another feature, though nothing to cause a raising of the eyebrow. Great hitting by this truly great ball player is nothing new. But it did cause the Chicago sports scribes up in the coop to wonder why he is playing in the Texas league and not in the fast time—and perhaps they were thinking Lena could use him. Anyhow, Howard led the Spudder attack with three hits, including a triple and a double, drove home one runner and scored three tallies himself.

Silent Swede Swenson was up to his old tricks of hitting in the pinch. Twice the Swede delivered with opportune knocks, one a double that sent two mates home and his other blow a single that also scored a comrade. Fitz and Swenson thus accounted for all the Spudder tallies.

Spudders Get 11 Hits

The Spudders hammered Grady Adkins for 11 hits, a very encouraging performance in view of their impotent stick work in the Tulsa series. Except for their erratic work in the first inning they played fast ball afield and the savage clouting in late rounds that resulted in two scoring rallies was reminiscent of past great Spudder teams, and indicates more glories ahead for J. Alvin Gardner's hirelings.

Adkins was the first Sox pitcher to go the nine-inning route when he stayed in all the way yesterday. Grady held the Spudders hitless until the third inning and turned them back in order up to the third when Wiltse singled with two out. He limited Galloway's gallopers to two more blows until the sixth and seventh, when seven knocks were made.

While Fitzgerald and Swenson were leading the Spudder attack, Bud Clancy and Carl Reynolds were going about the business of winning the game for Chicago. Clancy hammered two home runs, his third in two days and smashed a single driving home one run and scoring three himself. Mr. Arthur Shires doubtless will be rejoining the Sox soon now in an effort to regain his job.

Reynolds whaled four blows, including a home run and two-base smack and was the batting leader of the day.

A brace of hits and three errors enabled the Sox to tally three runs in the first inning. Metzler walked Benton fumbled Kerr's bounder but threw out Metzler at third, Kerr going to second. Clancy singled to left, scoring Kerr. Reynolds hit to short—left for a base, Clancy holding second. Turgeon booted Hunnfield's grounder, Reynolds scoring, and Hunnefield went to second when Benton muffed Eldred's throw-in. Watwood struck out. Turgeon threw out Redfern.

The Sox scored two more in the third. Clancy led off with his circuit smash over the right field wall. Reynolds singled to center and stole second. Hunnefield rolled to Bean, Reynolds going to third. Watwood's long lift to Fitzgerald scored Reynolds. Redfern hoisted to Turgeon.

Bud Hits Second Homer

Another pair of counters was tallied by Chicago in the fifth. Clancy hit his second home run, also over the right field fence, and Reynolds hammered a mighty drive over the left field barrier.

The Sox scored one in the sixth after Cy Smith had fanned Autry and Adkins. Metzler strolled and stole second. Kerr singled to right, scoring Metzler. Clancy filed to Fitzgerald.

Wichita Falls counted two in its half. Turgeon was safe on Hunnefield's error. Fitzgerald doubled to the right-center wall, Turgeon stopping at third. Bennett flied to Reynolds. Swenson smacked the left field boards, Turgeon and Fitzgerald scoring. Kerr threw out Bean, Reynolds as under Eldred's lift.

The White Sox filled the bases with none out in the seventh, but Smith bore down, struck out Redfern, caused Autry to ground to Swenson, forcing a runner at the plate, and Turgeon took Adkins' pop.

Spuds Rally in Seventh

The Spudders rallied in the seventh and drove in three tallies, after two were out. Benton singled to left and went to second on Turgeon's one-base blow through short. Fitzgerald's third hit of the game, a single to right, scored Benton and sent Turgeon to third. Bennett hit sharply to short, Turgeon scoring and Fitzgerald stopping at second. Swenson again came through, his single to center scoring Fitzgerald. Kerr tossed out Bean.

Chicago had runners on second and third in the eighth but Hunnefield rolled to Smith for the third out.

The Spudders approached to within a run of tying the count with a tally in the eighth. Eldred led off with a base on balls. Snyder flied to Metzler. Eldred went to second on a wild pitch, Eldred scoring, and Smith gained second when Metzler threw over Autry trying to catch Eldred. Spiers struck out. Adkins threw out Turgeon.

Three Spud Lefties Wear Glasses

S. & S. Commercial Studio Photo

Baseball has known many oddities and the annals of the game even record a third baseman who was left-handed. The Wichita Falls club of the Texas league boasts the possession of three left-handed pitchers who wear spectacles. Tossers who wear glasses, while not uncommon, are a rarity. But for one club to have three southpaws who are adorned with the "cheaters" every minute on the diamond as well as off, is one for the book.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Milt Steengrafe, veteran righthander and Fred Stiely, rookie southpaw from the New York-Pennsylvania league, will be Skipper Jim's hill selections today, in the second game of the series.

It is again reiterated that today's game, and ALL exhibition contests, start at 3 o'clock.

Six of the nine White Sox who played yesterday are native Texans or went up from leagues in the Lone Star state. They are Adkins, Autry, Metzler, Reynolds, Watwood and Redfern.

Bill Bean played his first game for the Spudders and played good defensive ball.

George Watwood, kid outfielder acquired from Shreveport, has made a fine impression with the Sox. Chicago baseball writers traveling with the pale hose say he looks like a great prospect.

Glenna Captures North-South Golf

Collett Beats Virginia Van Wie, 4 and 3

PINEHURST, N. C., April 5. (AP)—Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, R. I., won her fifth north and south women's golf championship today with a 4 and 3 victory over Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, her opponent in the finals.

Compared with yesterday's hard fought semi-final round with Miss Marion Turpie, of New Orleans, when the southern girl forced Glenna to the 18th green to nose out a 1 up decision, today's match was little more than a workout for the national champion.

Arkansas Hands 5 to 1 Lacing to Northwestern

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., April 5. (AP)—While their veteran ace, Denton Brewer, was holding Northwestern university to three scattered hits, the Arkansas university Razorbacks bunched their blows in the first inning to defeat the Big Ten team, 5 to 1, today in the first of two contests here.

FOUR NATIONAL NINES ARE SET

Remaining Quartet Still Experimenting

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, April 5. (UP)—Four National league managers practically have settled on the lineups of their clubs, while the other four still are experimenting with various combinations.

No further changes are planned in the lineups of the Chicago Cubs, the New York Giants, St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies. On the other hand the lineups of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Reds, Brooklyn Robins and Boston Braves remain uncertain.

Rogers Hornsby, national league batting champion, is the only new figure outside the pitcher's box, in the ranks of the Cubs.

Only minor changes have been made in the Giants. Andy Reese temporarily has won the second base job from Andy Cohen. Fred Leach, obtained from the Phillies in a trade for Lefty O'Doul, has the call for left field. Art Veltmann, speedy Texan, possibly will win an alternate outfield berth.

New Cardinals

New faces will be seen at shortstop, third base and possibly in right field in the Cardinals' lineup. Charlie Gelbert, Rochester flash, apparently will hold down the shortstop job. Fred Haney, former Detroit infielder, is slated to play third base leaving Frankie Frisch at second base. Manager Billy Southworth or Wally Roettger, who broke his leg early last season, will play right field.

The Philadelphia Phillies probably have been strengthened by the addition of Lefty O'Doul in left field and Homer Peel, Houston recruit, in center field.

Donie Bush has been confronted by numerous handicaps in selecting the Pirates' lineup, and other changes may be made before the season opens April 16. Earl Sheely, former Chicago White Sox first baseman, has made good at the initial sack and Adam Comorosky, who was around last season, probably will play regularly in the outfield this season.

Hendricks Has Worry

Third base has been giving Jack Hendricks, manager of the Reds, the most trouble, but Clark Pittinger, who filled the role of utility infielder last year, probably will start the season at the hot corner. Ever Swanson, a Pacific coast league star, apparently is headed for a regular outfield job.

With Glenn Wright's arm still an uncertain quantity and Jake Flowers, last year's regular second baseman, on the sick list, Manager Wilbert Robinson is having a great deal of difficulty in selecting his infield. Bill Rhiel from Atlanta and Max Rosenfield, who came up from Birmingham as an outfielder, may break into the infield. John Frederick, Memphis star, is battling hard for an outfield berth.

As many as half a dozen changes may be noted in the Boston Braves when they take the field April 16. Freddy Maguire, formerly of the Cubs, will be at second. Rabbit Maranville or R. J. James, Omaha rookie, will be at shortstop. Joe Dugan is competing with Lester Bell for third base. Al Leggett from Reading has won a regular catching job.

Germany Bans Buelow As Schmeling Manager

BERLIN, April 5. (AP)—The German Boxing association, acting as judge and jury in the controversy between Max Schmeling, heavyweight, and his manager, Arthur Buelow, today decided to suspend Buelow's license as manager until further notice.

The decision entitles Schmeling to make his own contracts.

Schmeling has been seeking to have the German boxing authorities cancel his contract with Buelow and turn over his affairs to Joe Jacobs, New York fight manager.

CUE RECORD SET

MONTREAL, Quebec, April 5. (UP)—Ralph Greenleaf, former pocket billiard champion, set a new world record in a match here tonight when he made a continuous run of 245. The previous record was 208.

Greenleaf was playing Antonio Courteau, Montreal champion.

GEORGE BARR, umpire of the Texas league, working the spring games here, not only is one of the best arbiters in the Roberts circuit but is in quick in repartee. But Barr left himself wide open for a wise crack the other day that had all its hearers laughing—and George joined in the merriment at his expense. Harold Story, expert photographer, was taking a picture of three Spudder lefthanders who wear spectacles.

HOUSTON BUFFS who went to major league teams this spring are not making impressive showings with their respective clubs. Bill Hallahan may be back shooting southpaw hooks at the Spudders unless he shows speedy improvement. Hallahan was batted hard Thursday by the Macon club of the Sally league—a class D circuit. Bill is as wild as the proverbial March hare, dispatches from St. Louis sports scribes with the Cards say.

Heinie Schuble, who cost the Detroit Tigers $35,000, apparently has failed to make the grade at shortstop. Erratic fielding, marked by the same weakness shown in the Texas league last year—a tendency to overplay the ball—has made Schuble a disappointment.

Outfielder George Watkins has been sent by the Cardinals to Rochester of the International league. Red Worthington is another gardener with the Rochester club.

Carey Selph was figured as the regular Cardinal second baseman, but now it seems that Bill Southworth will retain Frankie Frisch at the keystone bag with Fred Haney at third.

◇ ◇ ◇

MEANWHILE, as movie subtitles said before the days of the squawkies, Spudders of 1928 continue to rate highly with their big league bosses. Tom Jenkins is fighting for a regular place in the St. Louis Brown outfield and Herb Cobb seems likely to be retained by Dan Howley.

Mike Cvengros probably will stick with the Chicago Cubs.

◇ ◇

FRED FUSSELL, member of the Spudder Dixie champions of 1927, recently was fined $100 by Manager Bush of the Pirates. . . . Fred was said to have broken training. . . . Nolen Richardson from Fort Worth still is bidding for a job with the Detroit Tigers. . . . Pitcher Harold Elliott, drafted from Waco by the Cards, has been sold to the Phillies for the waiver price.

ST. EDWARDS COPS

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—St. Edwards university defeated Southwestern Texas State Teachers college here today, 3 to 2, in a well played baseball game.

The lid will be pried off the golfing season this week-end at golf and country club. First of numerous events to be held there this winter is to be staged today and tomorrow—a three-flight handicap tournament for members.

Bill Strachan, professional, announces the tournament and that monthly club competitions are to be held.

Phil Hesler, new pro at Weeks Park club, lost no time in getting down to work. Hesler is on the course or in the clubhouse for long hours, attending to his duties and getting acquainted with new and old members.

Among the stars playing over the country club course recently were Tommy Cochran and Dudley Golding, foremost golfers of West Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. McCallum played a twosome at Weeks park. Don Faichner also banged the elusive gutta percha around over the muny course.

YANKEES BEAT DALLAS, 12-11

Three Homers, 1 by Babe, Help Overcome Lead

DALLAS, April 5. (UP)—The New York Yankees uncorked long range artillery, driving out three homers, to overcome a first-inning lead amassed by the Dallas Steers today to defeat the Texas leaguers, 12 to 11.

Dallas made a race track out of the diamond the first inning and knocked Zachary out of the box with seven hits and one walk which netted seven runs.

In the third, Lou Gehrig lammed out a home run with two men on bases. Meusel and Durocher were on base when Grabowski smashed out another homer.

With the score tied at 11 all, Babe Ruth stepped to bat and batted the ball into the bleachers for a third home run.

The feature of the game came in the fifth, when the Steer center fielder, falling on his face when he caught a short fly, initiated a triple play which was affected.

Morse, Steer second baseman, made five hits at five times at bat.

PELICANS DEFEAT SPORTS, 12-10

SHREVEPORT, April 5. (AP)—In a game featured by 24 doubles, three triples and two home runs, the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern association defeated the Sports, 12 to 10, here today. Score:

New Orleans	310 061 010—12
Shreveport	103 410 010—10

Danforth, C. Williams and Anderson; Owens, Lane, Thompson and Tobin.

EXPORTERS PLAY GALVESTON TEAM

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 5. (AP)—Fifteen Exporters headed by Manager Robertson left for Galveston today where Saturday and Sunday they meet the Dr. Pepper's, semi-pro club.

CHARLIE ROOT DEFEATS BUFFS

HOUSTON, April 5. (AP)—Charlie Root flashed great form today, pitching the Cubs to an 8 to 3 victory over Houtson in their second exhibition game.

PANTHERS TO PLAY TIGERS 2 GAMES

FORT WORTH, April 5. (AP)—The Fort Worth Panthers, comfortably seated in the stands watching other ball players work the past two afternoons, start performing again tomorrow.

They open a two-game series with the Detroit Tigers.

Training Camp Chatter

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 5. (UP)—George Gerken's long hit in the 11th inning gave the Kansas City American association team a 3 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Browns today. The hit scored Bob Seeds, Blues' right fielder, who had doubled. It was the first game with the rearranged infield, Dan Howley having given up hope of developing a rookie third baseman and moved O'Rourke back to that position, with Melillo at second.

REDS TRIM NASHVILLE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 5. (UP)—Cincinnati's Reds continued their winning streak over Southern association opposition here today by beating the Nashville Volunteers, 2 to 1, on Vanderbilt university's playing field. Donohue went the first seven innings for the Reds in air tight fashion. Allen led the Reds' offensive with three hits in three swings.

RED SOX VICTORS

NORFOLK, Va., April 5. (UP)—The Boston Red Sox gathered 18 hits, including four home runs, here today, beating the New Haven Eastern league club, 19 to 2.

PIRATES BEAT TIGERS

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 5. (AP)—Earl Sheely hit a home run over the left field fence here today to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 10 to 8 victory over the Detroit Tigers. The blow came in the last half of the ninth with two on. It was the Pirates' second straight over the Bengals.

Paul Waner, who signed a contract here Thursday, failed to make his appearance in uniform today.

ROBINS BEAT MOBILE

MOBILE, Ala., April 5. (UP)—The Brooklyn Robins won their third straight exhibition game when they defeated the Mobile Southern association team here today, 11 to 5. In the last half of today's game the Dodgers' infield had Care, Rosenfeld and Rhiel on the bases and Hendrick at short. Dave Bancroft will be able to cover short in tomorrow's game with the Cleveland Indians at New Orleans.

CARDS CRUCH CRACKERS

ATLANTA, Ga., April 5. (UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals made 14 hits, seven of which were for extra bases, as they trampled the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern association today, 13 to 5.

Hafey and Haney slammed out three safeties, one of Hafey's being a home run into the deep left center field stands with the bases filled in the fourth inning. Gelbert also got a homer and a triple.

BARONS BLANK NATS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 5. (AP)—A dinky home run by Andy Moore of the Birmingham Barons was enough to defeat the Washington Senators here today, 1 to 0. Moore's hit came in the fifth inning with two out and it appeared to be only a single but it was fielded badly by Goose Goslin and rolled to the fence for a homer.

Three hits, two of them by Joe Judge, were all the Senators could gather off the offerings of Bob Hacty and the veteran southpaw Slim Love.

A's TROUNCE BRAVES

RICHMOND, Va., April 5. (UP)—The Philadelphia Athletics won the deciding contest in their seven-game series with the Boston Braves today by the one sided score of 11 to 2. Yerkes Young, Philadelphia southpaw, pitched splendid ball after the second inning while the veteran Percy Jones had to retire under the Philadelphia bombardment in the seventh.

The March

The days march by to spring again
Where April lanes now wait beyond,
Where dogwood shines across the glen
And old ways call the vagabond;
The days march onward as we go
Full ankle deep in April snow.

The weeks march by to May again,
Where youth is riding down the world,
Where each keen spirit leaves its den
To find the far blue sky unfurled;
The weeks march on to some old dream
By winding road or singing stream.

The years march by—but not to spring;
With endless tread they come and go,
The summer moons have taken wing
To twilight and the winter's snow;
The years march to the setting sun
Where spring and winter are as one.

As I Works

"Is the golf swing more like the baseball swing or the matter of throwing a baseball?" asks L. D. It isn't a direct copy of either one, but it carries many of the main principles that apply to both. In throwing a baseball the weight comes completely on the back foot, the right foot for a right hander, with the left foot usually off the ground. In hitting a golf ball or a baseball the majority of the weight should come at one time to the right foot on the back swing in order to bring about better balance for the forward swing. The bad golfing habit of carrying too much weight on the left foot through the back swing is also one of the main faults of baseball swinging. "Any number of young hitters have their habit," says Max Carey, the Brooklyn star, "and some of the old timers have it also, a fault cuts about 30 points off their batting averages." The late John Montgomery Ward, a great ball player and a good golfer, was one of the first—probably the first—to see that the main fundamentals of hitting a baseball and a golf ball were the same. One of these fundamentals is letting the body work in unison with the hands and arms, not against them. This comes easier in throwing a baseball, for the simple reason that the average kid starts throwing a rock or something else about the time he learns to walk. And at that more lithe and more imitative age he has the fundamentals of throwing without ever having to think about them. But let him try to throw something—a baseball or a rock—for the first time when he is 30 years old, or older, and see what happens.

On the Eve of Hostilities

The early pennant pickers, who favored the Yankees and the Cubs, can still stand by their selections without any great amount of worry. Not that either is a sure winner, but both have shown most of the stuff that wins a pennant.

The Cubs should have more trouble winning than the Yankees, for the simple reason that competition is keener with the Giants, Cardinals and Pirates disputing the right of way. Miller Huggins believes the Yankees are stronger than they were last year—and much better fortified in reserve talent. This will make a big difference if young Rhodes, Lary and other reserves are as good as they look to be. The Yankees were about 13 games ahead last summer when the call and the need came for reserves. A few reserves would have kept most of this lead. Huggins believes he has enough help now ready on the bench to rush in and plug any gap.

He may never get any such jump on the field as he got last spring and summer before the crash came. The Yankees also will have more competition from the Athletics, Tigers, Browns and others than they had a year ago. But they still look to be about the best ball club in the game with Ruth still around. The combination of Ruth and Gehrig is much the toughest spot any pitcher has to face in any tight game.

The complexities of the pugilistic swirl can be understood when there is much doubt as to whether the best of the heavies is any better than the champion light heavyweight — whether the champion light heavyweight is any better than the champion middleweight—and whether the champion middleweight could whip the best of the welterweights. And the complexity continues to grow in view of the fact that all the leaders of the different divisions are extremely slow in supplying any proof.

The First Chirp

Yesterday I heard spring's golfing call—
Today my clubs are back against the wall. —G. L.

Cheer up, old-timer—another day and then
You'll be right back in all the traps again.

Hundreds of golf courses are now open for the new season and how the incurable slicers dread it.

Risko Is Victor Over Von Porat

Johnny Upsets Dope in Decisive Triumph

BOSTON, April 5. (UP)—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, upset pre-fight dope tonight by defeating Otto Von Porat, Norwegian contender for the heavyweight title, by a wide margin.

Both fighters weighed in at 193.

Risko, whose defeat at the hands of Max Schmeling in his last appearance in the ring before tonight's battle was believed to mark deeline, appeared to have come back from his slump.

He went after the Norwegian from the bell, peppering him freely with rights and lefts and registering almost at will, while Von Porat backed away and kept on the defensive during the entire 10 rounds.

All but the seventh round went to Risko by varying margins. The seventh was practically even, though Von Porat might have been given a shade there.

Von Porat's much-touted right failed to make its appearance tonight against the aggressiveness of Risko, and the few blows that the Norwegian landed were for the most part light body blows.

Notre Dame Nips Mustangs, 6 to 5

DALLAS, April 5. (AP)—Notre Dame's touring baseballers won their sixth straight victory over Texas teams when they downed Southern Methodist university here today, 6 to 5. The game was devoid of thrills, both teams erring frequently. Score:

Notre Dame	211	100	100—6	9	2
S. M. U.	110	000	300—5	7	4

Donohue, Rust and Lordi; Collins and Drye.

Hoover Now Can See Ball Games

President Gets Season Pass From John Heydler

WASHINGTON, April 5. (US)—John Heydler, president of the National league, today presented President Hoover his season baseball pass.

It was handsomely engraved, bore the seal of the United States and the names of the President and Mrs. Hoover. As symbolic of the G. O. P. it was contained in a case made from elephant hide.

The ticket bore the numeral 1, the first issued. With one exception the season passes given to the president always have been so numbered. The late President Wilson was offered ticket No. 1, but asked that it be changed to No. 13, which he considered his lucky number.

This is the fifty-fourth year that baseball passes have been issued to presidents, few of whom have been "fans." President Heydler said President Hoover talked about the various clubs and was familiar with the early season progress being made in the training camps. He expects to attend many games.

Baer Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

NEW YORK, April 5.—The law is a terrible thing on land and sea. Witness, being duly deposed and sworn, hereby testifies to the best of his knowledge:

Whereas, one U. S. Legislator, having voted dry five times, was apprehended smuggling four bottles of good old Schnapps into the United States.

He voted dry five times. He only smuggled four bottles.

Therefore, he has a vote left over for emergencies.

Wine is a mocker and strong drink is raging. He, who is overcome thereby, shall inherit the works.

Corroboration makes irrefutable evidence and irrefutable evidence makes somebody a liar.

Get yourself a good lawyer, my boy. When we say a good one, we mean one who needs only three more diplomas to become a druggist.

Do not trust yourself to the mimeographed morals of expert witnesses. The only trustworthy witness we ever saw was in a glass case in the museum of Egyptology. And he was stuffed with bribes.

What makes the feathers all the lighter is that accused person also voted for the Jones law with good intent.

His good intent was that he didn't intend to allow Jones to snare him.

The Jones bill plasters you ten thousand dollars for the first offense. And puts you in jail for five years so that there will be no second offense.

The worst kind of jury duty in the world is when you are standing in front of one.

There is justice for the high and low. But it is tough when you are caught in the middle.

The valves of our compassion flutter for the legislator who voted dry five times and belched wet once.

The most tremendous flights of oratory, the sublimest logis of genius and the clearest vein of authentic hokum have all been confounded and discredited by a thin, reedy hiccup.

True, those four bottles were brought back from a tour of inspection of the canal zone.

But it seems the canal was the esophagus. The inspection was less solid than liquid.

We do not know what will happen in this trial. It is a misdemeanor to hypothecate the law. All we know is that justice has been blind for centuries. Now, it seems to have lost its sense of taste and has also acquired an earache.

IRISH WIN AGAIN

BROWNWOOD, Texas, April 5. (AP)—By hammering out an 8 to 2 decision over the Daniel Baker college Hill Billies here today, Notre Dame made it two straight over the local school and added to its string of baseball victories since invading Texas diamonds.

ATHENS CAGERS IN SEMI-FINALS

Texans Beat Tennessee Five in Humid Weather

CHICAGO, April 5. (AP)—A team of six foot plus athletes from Athens, Texas, today successfully battled mid-summer temperatures and College Grove, Tenn., to go into the semi-final round of the national high school basket ball tournament at the University of Chicago. The score was 22 to 7.

A temperature of 80 degrees—said to be the hottest April 5 day in Chicago in 56 years—had a visible effect on both teams, but the towering Athenians came through in a poorly played contest. Both teams were sluggish in advancing the ball and time and again mussed up shots which in preceding games were good for two points.

College Grove, which yesterday eliminated a favorite in Wheeling, W. Va., combatted not only the heat but hard luck at connecting with the goal.

The Texas state champions worked the ball in close where the Tompkins brothers and Sumner would make their six feet and more of height count. But even the Texans found their scoring ability hampered by the heat.

Bennie and John Tompkins teamed together to give Athens a 4 to 3 lead at the quarter and in the second period Sumner came through to roll up the advantage of 12 to 5. The third period, which ended 15 to 7, was the worst of the game. Neither team could hold onto the ball, pass or shoot. A changed lineup, however, sent Athens rapidly ahead in the last period.

Babe Hunt Aids Boxing in West

Huge Crowds Watch Oklahoma Heavyweight

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 5. (AP)—Babe Hunt, the "big gusher" of fisticuffs from the Oklahoma oil fields, has injected new life into boxing turnstiles of the Southwest.

The fistic game was hobbling on crutches until Hunt came along. Numerous shows had been financial failures. No boxer had appeared to draw the crowds.

Hunt, a scrawny youth working in the oil fields, appeared in a few bouts two years ago and looked good. Since then he has fought 44 scraps that drew record receipts in many cities that never before had staged a successful fight.

Recently the Babe has averaged $2,000 a week profit. During the past two winters he has fought nearly every week in Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Wichita, Kan., or Ponca City, Okla., his home town. He has won 22 fights by knockouts, 18 by decisions, drew in two and lost two.

Hunt claims the heavyweight championship of the Southwest. His future may depend on whether ring contests are legalized in Oklahoma by the legislature. Since 1921 prize fighting has been held a violation of the state law, but ring contests have been allowed in Oklahoma City for several years.

Dixon Named U. S. Davis Cup Captain

PHILADELPHIA, April 5. (AP)—Fitz Eugene Dixon, Philadelphia, has been named captain of the United States Davis Cup tennis team. He succeeds Joseph W. Wear, Philadelphia, who temporarily assumed charge in France last summer after William T. Tilden had been declared ineligible.

John F. Hennessey, Indianapolis; Wilmer Allison, Fort Worth, Texas; John Van Ryn, Orange, N. J., and Frederick Mercur, Harrisburg, Pa., Davis candidates, will begin working out at Willow Grove, Pa., May 6.

Diegel Practices in Rain For Ryder Cup Matches

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—Leo Diegel, professional and Canadian champion, was the only member of the Ryder cup team to try his golf shots in the rain today. Believing rail will fall some time during the matches in England, Leo and Bill Mehlhorn, who will make an independent invasion of the British golf course, played nine holes with Jimmy Iaw and Willie Klein.

Horton Smith, baby of the Ryder team, who outscored his elders during the winter season, was prevented by a cold from joining the others.

Errors Let Longhorns Defeat Rice by 5 to 3

HOUSTON, April 5. (AP)—Cecil Keith of the Rice Owls and Johnny Railton of Texas university today tied up in a hillock duel, the Longhorns winning, 5 to 3, due to boots by Keith's mates. Not an earned run was scored by either side.

Inability to Understand or Express Language

Some time ago a school teacher patient of mine brought one of her pupils, a girl of 12, for examination. This little girl had been considered very backward in school, as she seemed to obtain no benefit from her books. The child was well built, intelligent, and apparently healthy. After putting her through a number of tests, I discovered that she was able to remember anything that she heard, but was unable to remember anything coming to her through her sense of sight. She could, however, read quite well, but she could not recall what she had just read unless she spoke out loud and listened to herself reading. She wrote quite well with her right hand, but when I asked her to perform various intricate actions she invariably performed them with her left hand. Upon questioning the mother, I learned that the little girl was naturally left handed, but had been forced to use the right hand much against her will.

We often find this type of aphasia resulting from forcing a naturally left handed child to use the right hand in expressing itself. After the child was placed upon a short fast and then allowed to use its left hand for a few months, she finally developed the ability to memorize from her books.

The term, "aphasia" includes a variety of defects such as inability to express by speech, writing, or signs, or to comprehend either in spoken, written or sign language. Aphasia is caused by some lesion in the brain affecting the expressing or understanding of language. However, a diagnosis of aphasia cannot be established until the doctor is sure that the organs of sight, hearing or speech are intact.

Aphasia may be caused by a blow on the head, tumors, epilepsy, or the breaking of a blood vessel in the higher brain centers controlling the intellectual processes; or, there may be a transient aphasia due to functional disturbances such as fever fright, anger, toxins of uremia, infectious diseases, exhaustion, or from vegetable and mineral poison.

Some form of aphasia is often present in young children of decidedly nervous temperaments, although it may not be recognized without a careful examination. Many children find a difficulty in developing the power of speech. They are sometimes born with a lack of development to the speech centers in the brain, but by careful training, such defects can often be at least partially overcome.

When the adult develops aphasia, the chance of recovery is not as great as in children, but sometimes takes place if a radical constitutional treatment is adopted. If a blood clot has formed on the brain this must be absorbed. The fasting treatment has proven best for the purpose of not only absorbing blood clots but for getting rid of effects of an injury to the brain from blows or toxins. It is remarkable to see how young children of slow speech will show a sudden improvement after a few days' fast allowed by a carefully restricted diet. Dull children who would otherwise grow up with only meagre intellectual powers can thus be helped and their whole mental lives changed by a few days of fasting and then the establishment of a regulated hygienic regime.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Bone Abscess

Question: Mrs. D. K. R. asks: "For years I have had small abscesses appear on my limb, out of which would finally work small pieces of bone. The doctors here do not seem to know of any cause or cure, and said my case is the 40th on record. I am 65 years old. Will you kindly advise me?"

Answer: It is difficult for me to determine the cause of your trouble without making an examination. The description you give sounds similar to tuberculosis of the bone, but it seems that your doctor would have undoubtedly discovered this had it been the cause. It is also possible that you may have injured the bone of your leg with a blow, causing chips to be produced and, due to lack of bone-building elements in your diet, the healing has not occurred as it should. I am sending you an article on Ulcers and Abscesses which will give you some helpful advice.

Water

Question: H. J. G. asks: "How much water should a healthy person consume during the 24 hours without overworking the kidneys. And how long should a healthy person be able to retain it—that is, how often should a healthy person urinate during the 24 hours?"

Answer: The amount of water drunk during the day depends upon the amount of exercise taken, the weather, the amount of seasoning in food, and the proportion of fruits and green vegetables used. If one uses plenty of green vegetables and fruits it is not necessary to drink much water. The kidneys eliminate only part of the water taken into the body. Much is also eliminated through the breath, skin and bowels. A person living on a well balanced diet may get along with as little as one quart of water a day, but this may be increased to several quarts in warm or dry weather, or if highly seasoned or concentrated foods are used. A good test is to only use as much water as is necessary, to keep the urine straw-colored during the whole 24 hours.

Wildcat Blows Tools Up In Hole

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, April 5.—On a block of 76 sections in two counties, Gulf Production company today was considered to have a fair chance of developing production in its No. 4 O'Brien as the result of three showings of gas and one of oil, the last at 2565 feet, in lime. Gas blew tools up in the hole at 2545 and 2565 feet and there was gas at 2555.

The wildcat is in the center of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 19, block F. Gunter, Munson, Maddox Bros. & Anderson survey, 15 miles northwest of Atlantic-Delmar's No. 1 Hayzlett, northwest offset to Shipley and others' No. 1 Hayzlett, Ward county discovery well, and eight miles southeast of Simms Southwest No. 1 Sealy, fartherest south producer in Winkler county.

Lime was topped higher than in any of these tests, somewhere between 2350 and 2395 feet. Surface elevation is 2657 feet.

Their No. 2 Alice Bodine, in the southwest of the northeast of the southeast of 24-11-3w, cored shale and sand showing oil and gas from 4874 to 4895 feet and is coring ahead at 4905 feet.

Sulphur Water Trouble Attacked by Gulf Co.

Special to The Record News.

MIDLAND, Texas, April 5.—Disposal of sulphur water which is a big problem in the Winkler field, will be attended in a new manner by Gulf Production company on the Hendrick ranch. Gulf has taken a surface lease on 1,000 acres of its sulphur water disposal experiment.

The thousand acres is a limestone sink. Shallow holes will be drilled in the porous limestone and the sulphur water piped from the wells of these holes. It is believed the limestone formation at this point will absorb 10,000 barrels of sulphur water.

The sulphur water kills grass and makes an objectionable loblolly about the wells unless it is caught in expensive dykes and allowed to evaporate, or else ditched off to a creek or low place.

TULSA.—Greater Seminole field registered another slump today, this morning's gauge showing an output of 376,677 barrels, a decrease of 3,055 barrels from yesterday. During the past two days the field has fallen off 10,049 barrels due to proration. St. Louis pool contributed largely to the decrease, dropping 1,852 from yesterday and 6,147 during the last 48 hours. That pool today registered 104,498 barrels from 334 wells.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—An early decline, influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables, was followed by advances in cotton today on trade buying of near months and covering in later deliveries. Buying was attributed largely to uncertainty of weather developments over the week-end and was sufficient to send prices up from 19.80 to 20.03 for July contracts. July closed at 19.97. The general market closed steady at net advances of 9 to 13 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 5 points to an advance of 1 point and showed net losses of 6 to 10 points in the early trading.

May declined to 20.35 and December to 19.79 under this early pressure.

Offerings were readily absorbed, with trade interests buying old crop position. There also was some commission house demand as well as covering in later months. The latter seemed to be stimulated by apprehensions that rains expected in the Southwest would work eastward over the week-end and the strength of near months had a sympathetic influence on later deliveries.

May sold up to 20.55, or 14 points net higher, while December advanced to 19.98, or 11 points above yesterday's final quotations.

There was some realizing on this bulge, but closing prices were within a few points of the best. At the close, May was 59 points over October, compared with a difference of 61 points at yesterday's close.

Cable advices reported continental and Bombay buying in Liverpool, supplied by liquidation, and said there was a pessimistic feeling in Manchester, with producers losing ground.

Exports today, 38,013 bales, making 5,971,097 this season. Port receipts, 1,915. United States port stocks, 1,631,876.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 5. (AP)—Cotton prices worked slightly higher today under covering prompted by prospects for unsettled weather in the western belt, bullish weekly statistics and a firmer stock market. Considerable realizing developed on the bulge but it was absorbed at moderate setbacks in late trading. July contracts traded to 19.95, or 13 points above the early low. The option closed at 19.88 for a net gain of 7 points. The general market closed steady at a net advance of 7 to 12 points.

Despite relatively easier Liverpool cables the market opened steady. Map indications of unsettled weather in sections of the cotton region brought out a slight demand in early trading and prices advanced to levels 3 points above yesterday's close. This gain was lost, however, in a wave of profit taking that carried May off to 19.69, July 19.76 and October 19.57, or 5 points under yesterday's close.

For the remainder of the morning session the market was quiet, but prices gradually improved owing to fairly bullish weekly statistics and the firmness in stocks. The highs of the day were made in afternoon trading when May traded to 19.86, July 19.95 and October 19.76, or 17 to 19 points above the lows and 12 to 14 points over the previous close.

There was a renewal of realizing in final trading and active position eased off 4 to 7 points from the top. October showed the maximum gain of 12 points, closing at 19.72.

NEW YORK PETROLEUM ROYALTY CORPORATION

The New York Petroleum Royalty corporation is one of the comparatively new companies which have grown up with the development of the investment in royalty rights in the petroleum business. It was organized under the laws of Delaware in 1927, solely to acquire, to hold and to trade in royalty interests in oil and gas leases. The leases in which it is interested at present are largely in the Seminole field area, but through two subsidiaries it also has interests in Texas and Mexico.

In the year extending from Aug. 26, 1927, to Aug. 31, 1928, the company and its subsidiaries showed an income from crude and gas royalties of $116,691, a total income including royalty sales of $216,389 and a net income of $98,170. This was equivalent to $19.16 a share on the $7 preferred stock and 54 cents a share on the common.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding includes 5,125 shares of $7 cumulative preferred stock of no par value and 139,050 shares of no par common. The royalty increased its capitalization in October, 1928. The initial dividend at the stipulated rate was paid on the preferred June 30, 1928, and has been maintained since. On the common an initial dividend of 25 cents a share was paid June 30, 1928, and this quarterly rate has been maintained since.

As of Aug. 31, 1928, total current assets were $88,586, total current liabilities $39,843 and net working capital $48,743. Book value of the common amounted to $4.83 a share.

Three Price Trends Noted During Session; 'Warning Fear' Lessens

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 5. (US)—Three distinct price trends were noticeable during the course of today's market. The opening witnessed scattered selling inspired by the latest federal reserve board pronouncement which, when more thoroughly analyzed, failed to disclose immediate threat of drastic action. An ensuing rally gained substantial proportions under leadership of United States Steel, but profit-taking in abundance wiped out most of the gains and the close was highly irregular and on the average lower.

The railroad stocks failed to maintain their enthusiasm of the preceding day, but remained fairly firm.

Individual high-grade stocks are being searched out for specific movements, and in this respect American Can appears a favorite. Coincident with the renewal of activities by the exchange member most closely affiliated with the issue, a heavy demand also appeared from another powerful group, the combined buying pushing the stock to within a fraction of its record high price. American Can this year will probably enjoy its most profitable period, it was pointed out, with the probability that it will earn more per share than National Biscuit. Both stocks are sponsored by the same powerful banking group, and the latter has proved quite liberal in treatment of stockholders. American Can finished the year with a net working capital of more than $43,000,000, while its surplus of $52,787,870, if current estimates of the year's earnings prove correct, may be enlarged to above $60,000,000 by the end of 1929.

United States Steel was turned over in large blocks and at one time showed an advance of almost 3 points, but closed one-half point above the previous close. Interest was revived in big steel by an exhaustive analysis of a leading firm which held out a promising outlook for stockholders. General Motors also shared in the mid-day boom, but selling here also wiped out the advance and closed stock off more than a point. Copper stocks were under continued pressure induced by unfavorable remarks of a prominent staistical organization.

Conflicting interpretations of the Federal Reserve board statement was responsible for the highly irregular tendency of prices. On the one hand it was argued that the board admitted that developments since its Feb. 7 warning have been reasonably satisfactory and that the increase in loans since then has been chiefly in commercial borrowings.

The opposite view was that the board apparently was not entirely pleased with the pace of the "improvement" and desires to hasten the liquidation of credit. The recent Harvard economic service bulletin forecasting a trade let-down also was taken seriously in some quarters.

American Safety Razor shares were lower, despite indications that the company is benefiting materially, whereby its blades are distributed with Mennen shaving products. It is understood that many new customers have been gained by American Safety Razor as a result of this affiliation. American Safety Razor is also stated to have built up a sizeable "trust fund" of several million dollars which has been invested in leading securities. Short covering was responsible for much of the strength in various issues, but National Bellas Hess moved up 3 points in response to favorable sales figures. St. Joseph Lead was lower, despite report that its leading sponsor was planning renewed operations in anticipation of important developments within the company. Rail shares were quiet and oil stocks were in supply. Sinclair will probably enlarge its capital in the near future to provide funds for contemplated expansion.

MID-WESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 5. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Hog trade around the 11-market circuit was fairly active on early rounds at 10 to 25c higher prices, but the close to packers at a few markets was slow with part of the early advance erased. The day's extreme top of $11.80 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings were around 61,250, a decrease of 4,500 from a week ago and 9,500 heavier than the corresponding day last year.

Fat lambs were on a firm to unevenly higher basis with several of the river markets reporting gains of 25 to 35c. Aged stock was in limited supply with values steady to 25c higher. Choice fed wooled lambs in Chicago scored $17.75, while best wooled skins at Kansas City and St. Joseph realized $17.35. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 60,300 against 30,029, last Friday and 33,154 a year ago.

The cattle supply approximated 9,900, an increase of 2,500 over a week ago and 3,500 heavier than a year ago. Although trade on killing classes was draggy at a few centers, no material price changes were registered. Weighty steers in Chicago cleared at $14, and the same figure was secured at St. Joseph on choice light weight steers. Most all killing classes are closing the week at values unevenly higher than a week ago.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: With fuller realization of the very large business done in the first three months of the year, there is an evident tendency to take rather cheerful views of the possible uncertainties facing trade and industry in the second quarter. For one thing, the current volume of final distribution compares exceedingly well with that done in the like period of last and preceding years. In most industries, too, the March and first quarter's outputs set up new high records for those periods, and the recessions visible in a few lines do not seem to be regarded as seriously as in other years. That the net results have been, on the whole, satisfactory seem borne out by the smaller number of failures and the lessened liabilities reported for March and the three months' period by Bradstreet's.

Weekly bank clearings $13,771,420,000, a decrease of 1.1 per cent from a year ago.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, April 5. (AP)—Broadening out of European demand for wheat from North America put considerable strength at times today into the wheat market here. On the bulges in price, however, selling enlarged, especially from the Southwest, and the advances proved transient.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, ranging from ⅛c net decline to ⅜c rise, with corn unchanged to a shade lower, oats unchanged to ⅛c up and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15c.

Export business in North American wheat today was estimated at 1,000,000 bushels, and was said to include some hard winter wheat from the United States. The market influence of such factors was largely discounted, though, by Kansas City messages which said export bids there were 5c out of line. It was said that European importers were bidding for United States hard winter wheat, and that unsold quantities both of Argentine and Canadian wheat afloat are smaller. Under such circumstances, nervous fluctuations in price here continued right up to the end of trading, and the finish was indecisive.

Corn as well as wheat advanced after early declines, but again eased off. Smallness of receipts of corn tended to promote upturns in price, and so too bid unfavorable conditions for field work in the Southwest. Shipping demand here, however was only fair. Oats were relatively firm, with eastern buying a factor.

Provisions reflected a better export call for lard and a 25c advance in hog values.

$10,000 ASKED FOR ARREST

Complaining Witness Sued By Archer Man

Alleging that a "false and malicious" complaint had been sworn out against him causing his arrest and incarceration, H. Leary of Archer county Friday afternoon entered suit for $10,000 damages against J. T. Collie, the alleged complaining witness in the cause.

Mr. Leary declares that the defendant caused a complaint charging him with the theft of $685 worth of oil field equipment to be filed. He alleges that he was later arrested and incarcerated in the Young county jail at Graham but that the Young county grand jury failed to bring in any indictment against him.

The plaintiff sets forth that the complaint was made with a view of obtaining possession of the goods involved and that the complaining witness knew that he, Leary, was not guilty of the alleged crime.

CANADA FILES I'M ALONE NOTE

Dominion Protests Sinking Of Rum Runner

OTTAWA, Ont., April 5. (UP)—Canada formally communicated with the United States government today over the sinking of the Canadian schooner I'm Alone by a United States coast guard craft.

The contents of the communication which was lengthy were kept secret but it is known definitely that it was in the nature of a protest against the sinking of the craft and the subsequent loss of one life.

It is understood here that among the various contentions of the communication are:

1. That the sinking of the I'm Alone was a violation of international law.

2. That the sinking was beyond the provision of the treaty between Great Britain and the United States.

3. There is no admission that the I'm Alone was in waters in the territorial jurisdiction of the United States.

It was understood here that the British government was in agreement with the Canadian attitude on the matter and that France also agreed. France's interest comes through the fact that the seaman drowned with the sinking of the craft was of French nationality.

RELIGION HELD 'BEST SUCCESS'

Crimm Tells Value in Friday Night Sermon

Preaching on the subject of "First Things First," Rev. B. B. Crimm, cowboy evangelist, told the crowd which gathered Friday night in the tabernacle at Yale avenue and Twenty-second street that the only success in this life is getting right with God.

"The man who goes through this life and fails to prepare himself for another life has made a miserable failure," Crimm declared. "The most important thing is to put God first.

"Lots of people strive in this life for money but money is sometimes a curse instead of a blessing. The only substantial thing is a good old-fashioned case of Holy Ghost religion."

Rev. A. G. Anderson, pastor of the Methodist church at Electra, led the congregation in prayer.

T. E. Carroll, musical director of the First Methodist church at Electra, sang a special song.

On Saturday night Crimm will preach on "The Easiest Way to Hell Out of Wichita Falls."

LUBBOCK RAIL HEARING ENDS

Santa Fe Officials Confident At End of Quiz

Special to The Record News

LUBBOCK, Texas, April 5.—After five full days the Interstate Commerce commission hearing on applications of the Santa Fe and Texas and Pacific railways to build into Lovington and Lea county, New Mexico closed this afternoon and Examiner H. C. Davis, instructed those interested in the case to file briefs by June 15.

Railway officials, attorneys, witnesses and others were hurrying to catch trains for their respective homes soon after the hearing closed and the parting words between opposing forces were much more friendly than many of the arguments during the five-day hearing procedure.

Santa Fe Confident

Members of the Santa Fe camp are much more confident of victory after today's proceedings which included testimony by witnesses from Lovington, N. M., who testified in behalf of the Santa Fe's proposed line. A number of Lubbock citizens offered testimony in behalf of the Santa Fe, which is expected to have much bearing on the case.

The appearance of the Lovington witnesses on the stand in behalf of the Santa Fe was quite a surprise to those attending the hearing due to the fact that quite a number of Lovington citizens have testified earlier this week in favor of the Texas and New Mexico railway.

Lubbock Witnesses

Lubbock witnesses showed that Lubbock is the logical market for Lovington and Lea county and that Lubbock is by far the largest market adjacent to the section.

Gordon Cone, mayor of Lovington, was one of the chief witnesses in the Lovington delegation. Other Lovington witnesses include B. A. Chrisman, R. R. James, Charles W. Fairweather, J. B. Hobbs. The witnesses contended the larger area for agricultural development possibilities in the section lies 15 miles or so on each side of the Santa Fe's proposed extension, and that the Santa Fe would best serve both the cattle interests of the county and present and future agricultural interests.

The children got out on the White House lawn the other day and rolled Easter eggs. Some of the Washington people were surprised, as the only thing they had seen rolled in Washington was logs.

Mayor of Brownwood Waits Jury Verdict

BROWNWOOD, Texas, April 5. (AP)—Palmer C. McInnis, mayor of Brownwood, awaited the finding of a jury tonight in his trial for assault with intent to murder Clyde Maner, 22, near here Nov. 11. The case went to the jury tonight after two days of testimony.

Maner was beaten and shot through the legs after his automobile had been stopped on the highway. He recovered from the wound and appeared to testify against Mayor McInnis today.

McInnis declared he attacked Maner because he believed Maner had given his son liquor. After striking Maner, he said he was forced to shoot in self defense.

Central Texas Whisky Plant Is Captured

WACO, April 5. (AP)—Five whisky stills with a combined capacity of 2,250 gallons, 5,950 gallons of whisky mash and 153 gallons of whisky were confiscated in one raid today near Elm Mott by prohibition agents. Three men escaped into the underbrush.

Katy Officers Are Re-Elected at Meeting

ST. LOUIS, April 5. (AP)—Directors of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad company were re-elected at the annual meeting of stockholders here today. The directors will meet April 17 in New York City to elect officers.

MOODY GOES FISHING

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—Governor Moody left today for Galveston, where he will spend several days fishing with friends.

General Escobar denied the revolutionists looted banks in the cities they captured. However, the general also promises restitution, when the revolution is successful.

REVIVAL HERE DRAWS CROWD

Many Out of Town Residents Hear Robinson

Large crowds at three services Friday featured the closing day of a brief revival campaign conducted by Rev. Bud Robinson, veteran evangelist, at the First Church of the Nazarene, Fifth and Burnett streets.

Meetings were held at the church at 10:30 in the morning, and at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Large numbers of visitors from Ryan, Okla.; Frederick, Okla.; Byers, Bowie, Electra, Burkburnett and Grandfield, Okla., were in attendance at the closing meeting Friday night, when Rev. Mr. Robinson gave the story of his life.

The aged preacher reviewed briefly the 21 years of his life prior to his conversion, including his advent to Texas as a small boy soon after the close of the Civil war. Following several years spent in the saddle as a cowpuncher, he said, he came in contact with a gospel meeting, and was converted "with a six-shooter in one pocket and a deck of cards in the other." Unable at that time either to read or write, he set about the task of learning, and the Bible was his first textbook. During the 49 years of his ministry, he has become the author of 12 books, of which more than a half million have been sold.

A 30-minute song service, with accompaniment by the church orchestra, under the direction of L. C. Messer, preceded the service. Rev. Mr. Robinson announced that he would leave Wichita Falls Saturday morning, but expressed his intention of returning next year.

Frazee Named Summer Recreational Director

C. C. Frazee, physical director at Wichita Falls high school, has been named as city recreational director for the summer months, George D. Fairtrace, city manager, announced Friday.

Mr. Frazee was recreational director last year and will be chief aide to C. C. Bunnenberg, city park director, in staging the park department's recreation program this summer.

Mr. Bunnenberg said Friday that the department was planning the largest program this year that has ever been held in Wichita Falls. It is planned to have free shows and vaudeville in at least one part of the city each night in the week.

The program, under the tentative plans which have been made by Mr. Bunnenberg, will get under way about the middle of May.

Kelly Field Flier Sets Texas Speed Mark

DALLAS, April 5. (AP)—Lieut. J. C. Burwell of Kelly field, San Antonio, was believed to have set a new speed record from San Antonio to Dallas when he flew the 270 miles in one hour and 28 minutes today.

Earl Carter To See Sister

Wichita Prisoner Granted 10-Day Furlough

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—Governor Moody issued furloughs to four inmates to the penitentiary today. Among the recipients was Earl Carter, Wichita county, serving 18 years for robbery with firearms. He was allowed 10 days to visit his sister, dangerously ill at Weatherford.

CARTER CONVICTED OF BAKERY ROBBERY

Earl Carter, granted a furlough Friday by Gov. Dan Moody, was convicted over three years ago for robbery with firearms of a Holliday street bakery here, and given 18 years in the penitentiary, Sam B. Spence, district attorney, said. R. C. Cade was given eight years, and Henry Helms, now under the death sentence in connection with the Cisco bank robbery over a year ago, were given five years on the same charge. Helms subsequently was pardoned by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson. Cade is still in the penitentiary.

Hull Sounds Rally Against Tariff Policy

WASHINGTON, April 5. (US)—Democrats in the house may be hopelessly outnumbered in the showdown on the tariff bill, but Rep. Cordell Hull, Democrat, of Tennessee, a member of the ways and means committee, today sounded a rally call for a fight against proposals to give the president what Hull termed "despotic" control over tariff making.

WOMEN SHRIEK IN LONG QUIZ

Governor's Alleged Language Shocks Spectators

BATON ROUGE, La., April 5. (US)—Samples of language alleged used by Gov. Huey P. Long today caused women to squeal and rush from the galleries and made even hardened legislators blush and object to further testimony.

The scene was in the lower house of the legislature where the members were hearing evidence on 19 articles of impeachment against Governor Long.

Article 14 was being reviewed today. This charges abuse of public officials and private citizens, but only one witness repeated verbatim the alleged expressions of the chief executive. Women who failed to heed the request that they vacate during the hearing did so when the witness was only nicely started. On motion of the membership later, witnesses used "blankety-blank" and let the legislators use their imagination.

Further use of the imagination was also found when Seymour Weiss, assistant manager of the Roosevelt hotel, in New Orleans, was recalled to the stand to complete his story of the governor's "whoopee" parties.

Weiss continued to dodge his questioners saying:

"I feel it would be discourteous to the governors and ladies who were guests of Governor Long to tell about the party."

All except $2,000 of the $6,000 appropriated for entertainment of the national governors' conference had been accounted for yesterday by Weiss, who said Governor Long had given him carte blanche in spending the money. Weiss, however, balked on explaining where and what the $2,000 was used for.

"It was spent on a party—not for liquor," Weiss said, "but I can't tell you any more."

"If you told about the party would it incriminate you and others?" he was asked.

"Yes," Weiss replied, "I'd rather not talk about it."

So Weiss was excused. He left the stand mopping his brow with a handkerchief.
