Deadline Set on
Wheat Allotments
For New Farms

Farmers on land on which no wheat was seeded for any of the years 1951, 1952, and 1953 may apply for a 1954 wheat acreage allotment, according to J. A. Coleman, chairman of the Collingsworth County Production and Marketing Administration Committee. To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for any of those years, the farmer must apply in writing to his county PMA committee by June 30, 1953.

Blank application forms are available at the county PMA office for use in filling requests for allotments.

Mrs. B. D. Burden
Dies Unexpectedly
On June Third

Mrs. B. D. Burden, a Collingsworth County resident for 42 years, died Wednesday, June 3, following an illness of only three days. Her death from a heart attack came unexpectedly.

Funeral services for Mrs. Burden were held Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Chester O'Brien, pastor, and the Rev. Robert Webb, pastor of Faith Baptist Mission, officiating.

Pal bearers for the service were Frank Langford, Robert Posey, Billy Hatch, Luther Sullivan, Troy Gardner, Steve Owens, Buddy Poteet, Buck McKinney and Harold Drummond.

Flower bearers were members of the Rebecca Lodge. Burial was in the Wellington cemetery under the direction of the Ellis Funeral Home.

Mrs. Burden was before her marriage Miss Cuna Graham. She was born December 5, 1876, and at the time of her death she was 75 years, five months and 28 days of age. She was born and grew up in Lamar County, and was married there to Mr. Burden on February 13, 1901.

Shortly afterward they moved to the Indian Territory, living in Jackson and Greer Counties for a few years before coming here in 1911. They had farmed during their entire residence here.

Mrs. Burden was a member of the First Baptist Church and for many years she was a member of and active in the Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Burden is survived by her husband, B. D. Burden; two children.

Double Tragedy in K. A. Wood family

Father and Daughter
Former Residents, Die

Tragedy struck twice in the K. A. Woods family, long-time county residents, during the past week, in the deaths of Mr. Woods at Lubbock on Saturday, June 6, and of his daughter, Mrs. Hec Ward of Tulsa on the preceding Tuesday, June 2. They were the father and sister of El Wood of Wellington, and uncle and cousin of Mrs. Roy Bounds and Mrs. Mary Mauldin of Wellington.

The family had resided at Quail and Wellington until 1933, when they moved to Lubbock.

Mrs. Ward died in a Tulsa hospital at 4:00 p.m. Tuesday of sclerosis of the liver, an ailment from which she had suffered several years. Almost two years ago doctors had told Mrs. Ward that her condition would be fatal within two years.

Mr. Wood's death Saturday evening was attributed to a heart attack, and was the first from which he had suffered. Mrs. Bounds said. He was at home alone, since Mrs. Wood and their daughter, Mrs. Blanche Hutton, were still in Tulsa. Lying on a cot in the yard when stricken, Mr. Wood called to neighbors, who in turn notified his children and rushed him to a hospital. He died within a few minutes.

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Ward at Tulsa Wednesday. She had previously requested that rather than sending flowers, her friends make contributions to the state cerebral palsy fund, since her small daughter is suffering from that ailment.

Mrs. Ward was the former Ber-

Twenty Cars Wheat Delivered,
Crop About Half Harvested

Approximately 20 cars of wheat have been delivered to buyers at Wellington and Dodson, and this year's crop is estimated at around 40 per cent out of the county as a whole, a check by The Wellington Leader Tuesday evening June 9, showed.

Ed Crowder, manager of the Farmers Co-op at Dodson, estimated that the crop through that section was about 50 per cent out, with most of the farmers making a little better yields than they had expected. A right smart of six and seven bushel wheat is being harvested around Dodson and Arlie, he said.

The best yield reported in the Dodson section was L. C. Hill, who is cutting 16 and 17 bushels per acre from his land at Arlie.

Most of the wheat sold at Dodson is grading No. 1. "It's a very good grade and handling nicely," Crowder said.

Some growers selling at Wellington have expressed disappointment in their turnout. A few who at the beginning of the season thought they would cut 6 to 7 bushels per acre are making two and three, or are barley paying the cutting.

On the high side of the harvest, however, Robert Posey reported 14.23 bushels per acre on an accurate count, and Fred Cox Jr. of Loco has been harvesting 15 bushel wheat.

A considerable amount of wheat sold on the Wellington market has been No. 2, with some No. 3 wheat. Tests range from 59 down to as low as 54 pounds.

Around 40 per cent of the wheat is estimated out.

All cutting so far has been confined to the south half of the county, with no grain yet delivered from north of Salt Fork.

All wheat so far has been put in the government and stored either here or in Fort Worth elevators. The loan price is $2.06½ and $2.07 per bushel for No. 1 wheat, around 15 above the market price.

Completes Year as President

More 4-Lane Highways
Urged By Cudd Before TMTA

Closing out his year as president of the Texas Motor Transportation Association, Wayne Cudd of Wellington told that group in its annual meeting that Texas should concentrate on four-lane highway construction rather than string a long with maintaining its approximately 1,600 miles of "clogged" two-lane roads.

Cudd addressed the TMTA at its Friday session. The convention, held in Fort Worth, began Thursday, May 4, and ended Saturday.

A partner with his brothers Hiram Cudd and Noel Cudd in Cudd Brothers Trucking, Wayne Cudd was the first livestock hauler to head the 600-member TMTA. He moved up to that office after having served as second vice president in 1950-51 and first vice president in 1951-52. He has been a member of the board of directors since 1947, and will remain as chairman of the board during 1953-54.

In addition to heading the Texas Motor Transportation Association, Cudd is president of the Midwest Interstate Livestock Carriers Conference.

His talk before the Fort Worth group was reported by the Fort Worth Star Telegram as follows:

"Texas should concentrate on four-lane highway construction rather than string along with maintaining its some 1,600 miles of 'clogged' two-lane roads, Wayne Cudd of Wellington, president of the Texas Motor Transportation Association, urged here

"Texas is getting its farm-to-market roads and its urban freeways," Cudd said at the TMTA's convention at Hotel Texas, "But the state's primary system of highways is out of date."

Cudd quoted Governor Shivers as declaring Texas stands "in danger of seeing its splendid primary deteriorate because of lack of funds."

He quoted E. H. Thornton Jr., chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, as reporting, "Competent engineers of this state have concluded that when a two-lane road develops a traffic load of 4,000 vehicles per day, it has reached its maximum economic capacity."

Texas has 1,972 miles of highways that carry 4,000 or more vehicles per day, Cudd declared.

The state has only some 300 miles of four-lane divided highways.

"Those 1,672 miles of two-lane highways carrying 4,000 or more vehicles per day are the clogged roads of Texas," Cudd said. "Vehicle traffic over the clogged roads in 1950 amounted to 12,000,000 miles per day."

"But while traveling over those clogged roads," Cudd went on, "vehicles owners in 1950 paid $23,422,635.82 in motor fuel taxes and registration fees."

Maintenance cost of those roads was $3,029,938.56, Cudd reported. The amount needed to replace the roads is $5,718,109.80 per year, Cudd added. That left $14,674,587.46 to be split among the schools, counties and other State Highway Department and farm-to-market road expenditures.

On the other hand, Cudd maintained if four-lane divided highways were built to replace the remaining 1,672 miles of clogged roads, there would be an increase in the traffic load because the roads would be able to take care of more traffic and there would also be millions of dollars in added revenue from gasoline taxes.

Cudd estimated that in the next 20 years the additional revenue would enrich county road and bridge funds by $36,000,000 and the public schools by $63,000,000. And, he added, $408,000,000 would be available over a 20-year period.

"We know we've got a road problem in Texas," Cudd said. "But I feel we should build roads where the traffic is. You make a profit on these heavily traveled roads."

"Texas should concentrate on four-lane highways because they show a profit and can carry the traffic today and tomorrow," Cudd said.

Elevated to the presidency of TMTA to succeed Cudd was William L. Wise, Fort Worth, of Miller Truck Lines. George Howard of Howard Van Lines, Dallas, is the new first vice-president; Frank Leach of Texas Company, Dallas, second vice-president; and Carl Stoune, Central Forwarding Co., Austin, treasurer. Jim Taylor, Austin is the Executive directors.

Cudd has carried the association through what he called a "quiet year." He represented the association at Austin throughout the session of the legislature, keeping members posted in proposed legislation affecting the trucking industry.

During his term, approximately 150 new members were added to the Association.

Game Meeting,
Pictures Here
On June 18

Collingsworth sportsmen will have an opportunity to express their wishes concerning changes in the state game laws, and also see two films sponsored by the State Fish and Game Commission Thursday night, June 18, G. P. (Slim) Davis, district game warden, has announced. The meeting will be held at the district court room beginning at 8:00 p.m.

The two films will be "The Outlaw of the Cameron," and a safety picture, Mr. Davis said.

Preceding the pictures, Mr. Davis, who has headquarters at Shamrock, and A. S. Jackson of Canadian, biologist for the Game and Fish Commission, will discuss with the local group the game prospects for the coming fall season, and answer any questions that may come up.

Local sportsmen and landowners will be given an opportunity to make their wishes known concerning game seasons, bag limits, etc. Mr. Davis said.

"If we can get a representative number of people of the Panhandle out at these meetings, expressing their wishes, the Commission will act on the wishes of the majority," he declared.

The first picture to be shown, "Outlaw of the Cameron," shows the hunting and capturing alive of a 124-pound mountain lion — an incident in which the hunter, a member of the State Fish and Game Commission, lost part of his trousers to the animal. The lion is now in the zoo at San Antonio. This picture is in color.

The safety picture deals specifically with fire-arms safety.

The public is urged to attend.

Rev. Russell D. Allen, former pastor of the Cactus Union Church at Dumas has been transferred to the Wellington Methodist Circuit, it was announced this week.

Rev. Allen will pastor four churches in the circuit. They will include Loco, Fresno, Salt Fork, and Aberdeen. He will visit each church once a month. The first Sunday he will go to Fresno, then Salt Fork, Loco, and Aberdeen in that order.

He was born and reared in Fayetteville, Arkansas and has been in Texas only one year.

He is 29 years old and is married and has four children.

County 4-H Girls Win Right to Compete in State Contests

Collingsworth 4-H girls added honor on top of honor during the past week along the route that is taking them straight into state competition the last of this month. Altogether, seven county girls will compete in the state events.

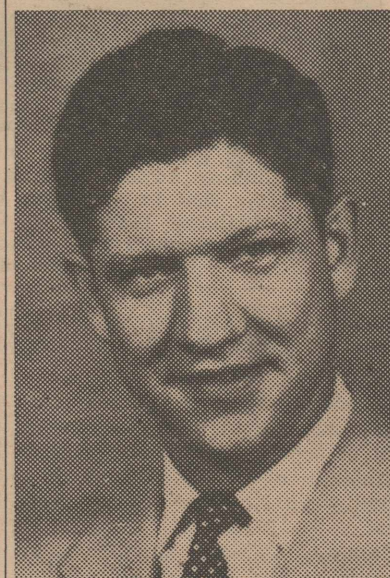

Marilyn Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hunt of Dodson, was among the top six girls of District 1, the Panhandle area which forms the blue ribbon group to compete in the dress revue at the 4-H Club Roundup at College Station June 25, according to Miss Mary Trammel, county home demonstration agent. The six girls to compete in the state event were selected at the district contest in Amarillo Saturday, June 6.

At the same time, Joyce Amerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Amerson of near Samnorwood, won first place in the district speaking contest and will also compete at the Roundup.

At other contests held at Camp Don Harrington near Amarillo earlier last week, Glenda Phipps was first place winner in the individual demonstration of an electrical item. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Phipps of the Cross Roads community and a member of the Quail 4-H Club. She demonstrated an electrical cord repair.

She also will compete in the individual electrical demonstration at the Roundup, and her win entitled the county's electrical demonstration team to compete at state. These girls are Patsy White of Quail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boge White, and Cynthia Akin of Wellington, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Akin.

NEW WELLINGTON PASTORS

More Danger from the Driving

Funny Things Can Happen During A Storm

After it was all over and no damage done, Wellington has agreed that some pretty funny things happened during the 15 or 20 minutes that the twister hung southwest of town early Friday afternoon.

And nearly everybody has agreed there was considerably more danger from some of the wild driving than there was from the funnel shaped cyclone that stayed in an open field.

The funnel was first seen by J. H. Williams, official observer for the city during stormy periods. Mr. Williams turned on the storm warning on the fire siren — two blasts, and a minute later repeated it.

That was all it took to empty the business section in what is probably the shortest time in its history.

Ironically, the one car accident that occurred during the confusion was in no way connected with the storm — the driver didn't even see the twister. A representative of the Jones Construction Company of Odessa, he later told Harold Drummond of Drummond Paint and Body Shop that at the northeast corner of the town section, he applied his brakes, they grabbed, threw his car out of control and into a tree. The car was a total loss, Mr. Drummond said. "He told me he didn't even see the twister, but if he had it would probably have scared him to death," Drummond added.

Anita Savage, daughter of Claude Savage, was undergoing a tonsillectomy when the storm was first seen by St. Joseph's Hospital personnel.

Ambulatory patients were asked to step from their rooms into

A twister which formed about five miles southwest of town Friday afternoon, June 5, at 1:30 gave Wellington its first storm warning of the year as it dipped to the ground in an open field and kicked up a big column of dirt, hung in the vicinity about 15 minutes, then dissipated.

This was but one of three twisters which formed about the same time, one which appeared to be almost over Wellington and the other in the vicinity of the Frank and Cliff Campbell ranches about 12 miles south of town. These latter two never reached the ground and many residents were unaware they ever formed.

More damaging than the cyclones, however, was the hail accompanying them, which in the Loco area destroyed hundreds of acres of small cotton and feed, damaged roofs of several houses and at least one car.

Thursday night hail also fell in the Ring community, with damage to one car reported to an insurance agent here, and with some damage reported to small crops. This same low-hanging cloud passed over the Samnorwood area where lightning struck the Orville Cunningham home.

Wellington received .4 inch of rain during the Friday storm. From Loco, Mrs. George Adkins, Wellington Leader correspondent, reported:

"Friday we had 1/2 inch of rain along with some small hail, but in other sections of the community only a sprinkle fell. Along the highway, rain and hail fell in heavy amounts. Willie West reported hail stones as large as a child's rubber hand ball, John Wolf lost 450 acres of cotton due to the hail. Mr. and Mrs. Wolf visited their farm over an hour after the storm and found lots of hail still in the beds. Others in the hail strip included John Brim, J. I. Thomas who lost a large field of early cotton. Mr. Mabery, who reported feed and cotton damage. Tiffin Young Sr., Mr. Wynn, W. A. Morrow and Mr. Barjenbruch. Neighbors who were in Hollis that afternoon said the hail strip extended to north of that town with farmers bringing in hail stones as large as baseballs.

Willie West, who was in the south edge of the hail strip was extremely lucky. The Arthur and Herman Belew combine crews lacked one round and cutting out the corners finishing Mr. West's wheat."

Also J. I. Thomas and J. W. Aaron, who live in the Pleasant Point community, reported hail damage estimated at about $200 each to the roofs of their homes.

Durant McInnis at Fresno reported damage to his house and the house on the J. V. Brookshear farm at Fresno was also damaged.

J. W. Thomas, here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Thomas, had hail damage estimated at $150 to his 1953 Mercury.

In the Dodson section, only a shower fell and no hail damage was reported in that immediate section. Ed Crowder said, however, that hail was heavy northeast

First for County

Junior 4-H Camp Set
For Friday, Saturday

Junior 4-H Club girls of the county will hold their first camp Friday and Saturday, June 12 and 13, when they combine crafts study with recreation, Miss Mary Trammel, county home demonstration agent, has announced.

The camp will be held at the VFW hall, beginning at 10:00 a.m. Friday and continuing until 4:00 p.m. Saturday.

Girls 13 years and under will participate. 4-H girls 14 years and older will attend as camp leaders and will be in charge of recreation and tin-craft instruction.

A study of electrical items will be made, and representatives of the West Texas Utilities Company and the Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-operative, Inc., have been invited to speak.

Noel Calloway, highway patrolman, has been invited to discuss safety.

After registering Friday morning, the girls will meet for assembly and singing and the election of captains. There will be a flag ceremony, camp fire, electrical work, recreation and nature study. During the afternoon electrical and tin-craft demonstrations will be given, followed by swimming, and in the evening, a camp fire will highlight the activity program.

Saturday's program will follow along the same lines. Three groups are helping the girls. The VFW is furnishing the building, the VFW Auxiliary is paying their fees at the swimming pool, and Bill Burden of the Coca Cola Bottling Co. is furnishing them with soda pop.

A charge of $3.00 will be made for each girl to cover the cost of her meals and supplies used.

Each girl, before leaving the camp, will make a pin-up lamp for her room, and also tin-craft articles.

Study Management Problems

Couch to Washington
On National Co-op Board

Orval Couch, a member of the management advisory committee of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association, returned recently from a meeting of that committee held at the national office in Washington, D. C. He was accompanied by Mrs. Couch and their children Lynn and Carolyn.

The ten men on the committee represent every part of the nation, and during the Washington meeting they studied management problems that face all co-operatives. They also outlined problems to be taken up in management courses.

Meeting with the group for part of their sessions were Anchor Nelson, administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, and Bill Wise, deputy administrator.

In addition to Mr. Couch, the committee included Walter N. Cook of Vermont; Ira H. Griffin of Georgia; H. H. Shattuck of Mississippi; A. B. Mueller of Indiana;

E. D. Beach of Iowa; Virgil Herriott of South Dakota; Irvin H. Smith of Nebraska; R. B. Kelly of Missouri and Harold Ebaugh of Montana.

Salt Fork Soil Conservation Dist.

Robert F. Wilder has under construction an earthen stock tank on his place north of Salt Fork River. Walter Starr is contractor for the dirt work.

Approximately 2,000 cubic yards of dirt will be moved to construct the dam for this tank, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation, said. When completed, the dam will be about 11 feet high, and the tank will hold water to a depth of about 12 feet. It will cover an estimated .3 acre and will hold about two acre feet of water. The entire drainage into this tank is off native pasture, so no silting should result, Squyres said. Wilder lives in Amarillo.

The tank was built under the PMA program, with the SCS furnishing the technical work.

The three Henard brothers are planting blue panic grass this spring.

Ed Henard is putting in 35 acres at his farm just north of Salt Fork River on Highway 83. Using the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District Drill, he is planting it in 40-inch rows, at the rate of a pound and a half per acre. A sudan-type grass, blue panic has the advantage that it is a perennial and will furnish earlier grazing, Squyres explained.

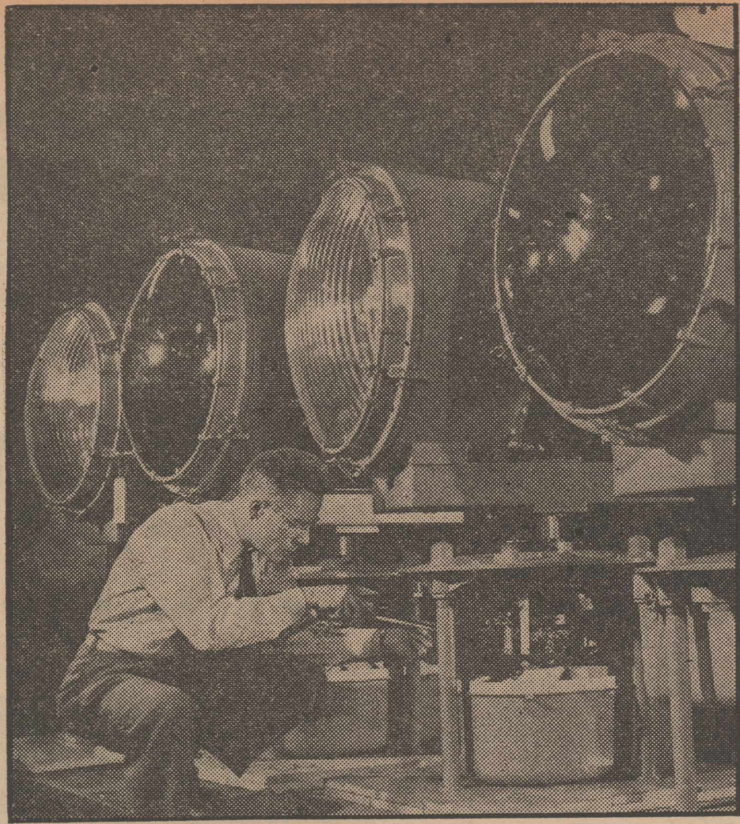

Dan Henard has also planted a patch of blue panic and will irrigate.

John R. Henard already has 30 acres of blue panic up, has irrigated it several times, and has had some grazing from it. Although blue panic is ordinarily easy to get up, Henard had a rough time with his due to weather conditions, but he finally got a stand.

When this field of blue panic is established, Henard should be able to pasture a cow per acre.

L. A. Gilmore, on his farm just west of Wellington, has planted and up to a stand 120 acres of sand love grass and white clover mixture, using the Salt Fork District drill.

The grass and clover are now from one to six inches high, and is normal in a field this time of year, the weeds are thriving. Gilmore is now fixing to mow the weeds.

Squyres said that the SCS recommends that the weeds be mowed out of such a field at least twice, although this should be done at a time when farmers are the busiest.

Gilmore probably will get grazing out of the field this year, Squyres added.

Both Bob Wilder and Andy Bell, who have pasture land near Salt Fork north of town, are resting pastures this season so native grass will have a chance to go to seed.

"That's an awfully good practice, especially after a year like last year," Squyres commented.

The Salt Fork Soil Conservation district recommends that pastures be given a chance to rest at least every third year, from around July 15 to September 15, to let the grass seed.

This can be done with a little planning, by providing a sudan patch for this period, or doubling stock up in another pasture.

Two farms in the Aberdeen section have been terraced, one owned by Miss Florence Johnson, and the other by A. S. Whitson. The Soil Conservation Service furnished technical work on both of these.

J. C. Hartman Jr., on his farm west of town, is sowing 35 acres to a grass mixture, using weeping love grass, sand drop seed (a native grass), side oats, grass, blue gramma, western wheat grass, sand love grass and buffalo grass. He is using a Salt Fork District drill for this work.

Charles Allen, co-operator of the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, who owns land near the river on Highway 83, is planting 10 acres to some improved variety grasses, and will irrigate and fertilize this field.

Allen is using orchard grass, perennial rye, smooth bromegrass and fescue.

Since this is a sandy-land area, he will irrigate rather frequently, using less water at each irrigation than is used on tighter land.

By fall, or at least by December and January, he should be able to graze two to four head of cattle per acre, Squyres said.

It is nothing uncommon for a pasture of this type, handled along the lines that Allen plans, to 800 to 1,000 pounds of beef per acre.

The long-range benefits of a terracing program can be seen on the P. W. Phillips farm near Dozier.

Mr. Phillips put in his terrace system in 1922, and this makes him among the first in the county to use this conservation method.

He has what neighbors and soil specialists alike describe as "sure a good farm," and his production through the years has been consistently above the average.

"I wouldn't try farming again without them," Mr. Phillips recently told Fred Squyres of the SCS. "And if he hadn't used terraces on his land, as much slope as it has, he wouldn't have much left, but as it is, his farm is as good as ever," Squyres added.

The terrace system has been overhauled once and they were checked by the SCS the other day, and they are still in good condition.

Jimmy Agee is spending his summer in Wisconsin with a pipeline construction crew. This will be the second summer he has worked for this group. He left June 3 for his job and will not be back until about September 1, his mother, Mrs. J. C. Agee, said.

Mrs. Troy Marsh of Quail left recently for Lamesa, where she will work during the summer as a checker in the grocery store owned by her uncle, J. H. Clay, who also formerly lived at Quail. Mrs. Marsh has been making her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Saunders and attending school while her husband is in service.

John Gordon Thomas has gone to the Methodist Assembly at McMurry in Abilene this week.

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

Let's Keep Wellington Clean for Summer

One of the most distinct services we of Wellington can render ourselves this summer is keeping the city clean — as clean as it was a few weeks back when a representative of the State Department of Health made his inspection tour here, and remained overnight to praise city officials on their work.

Fly season is here and with it the season of disease carried by flies. The big clean-up job that Wellington citizens did this spring when they had hauled out of town more than 50 loads of rubbish, besides what they burned, will go a long way toward keeping the city disease free this summer.

Directing the city's over-all health program is W. R. Ritter, who serves Wellington and Shamrock half time each as city sanitarian. Mr. Ritter, high in his praise for the co-operation he has received in Wellington, when he here recently, did urge special care on the part of the city residents this summer.

Wellington enjoys one advantage from a sanitation standpoint that is unusual in this area, the blanket garbage pick-up at no cost to its citizens. This has been another big step forward in the city's cleanliness picture. Another in Marian Airpark Pool, which always ranked at the top in the area from structural standpoint, and which has always met all rules and regulations from a health standpoint.

It will be only a little work to continue keeping Wellington clean, but it will pay off in big health dividends.

STRICTLY FRESH

The son of a southern liquor store owner won first prize for his essay on the evils of alcohol. Guess his word blend caught the spirit of the theme.

A Windsor, Ontario, civil defense "raid" victim realistically painted with "gruesome" wounds, was rushed to the operating room by an unknowing ambulance crew. Realism stopped when doctors brought out scalpels. He'd give his time but a pound of flesh was too much.

A Wyoming man consoled the loser of a five dollar bill, saying, "Everything blows into my yard." When he got home the bill lay on the grass. How the five got there sounds fishy, to say the least.

A Kansas Couple went to Kalamazoo, Mich., to get married because the town's name appealed to them. We suppose they honeymooned in Oshkosh or Ypsilanti.

Nor was there any incomplete-brethren.

ness in Paul's conversion. It was from the pagan city of Antioch, the place where the disciples were first called "Christians," that Paul began his journeys as a missionary.

His first journey was small in comparison to his later travels. His companion on that first journey was Barnabas, the same man who endorsed Paul when the disciples at Jerusalem were inclined to fear and distrust him.

Accompanying them was a young man named John whose surname was Mark. Later this companion was the cause of a sharp controversy between Paul and Barnabas. Paul refused to take him on the next trip.

But in defense of John Mark, it may be said that Paul, for whom no danger was too great or terrifying, may have been too exacting a leader.

The world owes a great debt to this John Mark because later he wrote the Gospel of Mark. It is the simplest and most direct of the Gospels and gives us a valuable portrayal of the Master's life and work.

Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek has an odd idea this week, which we publish without comment. May be a few Yankees living around here.

Dear editor:

All my life I've heard it said the Yankees have more stamina than the Southerners, more drive, more get-up about em, if you want something done, give it to a hard-drivin' Northerner, don't turn it over to a drawlin' slow-movin' Southerner, and while this never has bothered me, in fact, it suits me fine, I recognize the wheels of industry and commerce and literature have got to keep turnin' and if the Yankees want the job I'm perfectly willin', never did see a wheel that had a place on it to fit my shoulder, but there are some Southerners who don't like it.

They resent it. They argue about it. They get up before daylight to prove they've got as much energy as anybody. Now while it never has affected me that way, I figure energy is something you don't have to prove, it's like money, you spend it recklessly to prove you got it and you wind up without any, personally I've always conserved my energy, feelin' that energy still inside me was better than energy used up goin' up one row and down another, but as I say, while this claim of Northern superiority in this field of endeavor or never has bothered me, it has a lot of Southerners.

I believe though I have run on to some evidence that will win the argument for the South.

I noticed in an article in a magazine the other day which I borrowed from a barber shop in town where I was visitin' for social purposes, not professional, where there are now six survivors of the Civil War still livin'.

And here's the overwhelming fact that ought to end the argument from now on: Out of those six survivors, five of em are Confederates. The South had the stamina to out-survive the North five to one. In fact, you might say, from sheer numerical strength, in the final analysis the South won the war.

This is such a satisfyin' conclusion, such devastatin' proof the South has more energy and staying-power than the North, that as far as I'm concerned that ends my argument and I intend to rest on my laurels from now on. The South can rise again if it wants to, but as for me, personally I'll continue sittin'.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The tales continue to grow about the tornado last Friday. Some are true and some are fantasy. There is the story of the family that locked their child in the house and took out for the cellar. There is another about a woman who thought that her pick-up was going dead, jumped out, kicked off her shoes, raised her skirts well above her knees and took out down the road. There are many others that you will find in another part of the paper.

Our photographer and sports reporter, James Glascock, and Farrel Kent, a former great of the Skyrocks, took out, in a pick-up. They drove east to highway 89 and turned north which was a common sense thing to do BUT instead of going on north at a leisurely pace they turned east on the Mangum highway and parked under a tree. If the tornado on Buck Creek had kept moving in its tractory and stayed on the ground it would have blown our photographer and printer from here to yonder.

By contrast the seemingly fragile Virginia Robey backed out her car carefully and went to see about her mother. And she got her to a safe place in plenty of time. That is the cool headed redhead in action.

What was the writer doing at this time. I will tell you. He was looking in two directions. My wife and son were at the swimming pool. My mother and sister were at the old home place about a mile distant. Louise and Henry barged in the front door just as I was phoning my mother. I went over and picked up my mother and my sister, waited a time for the 80 mile an hour traffic to ease on highway 83, then brought them down and helped mother into the cellar. By that time all signs of danger had passed.

Goat Hopper is going to open a trading post just west of Owens and Scott Grocery on 8th Street. He hopes to have it open by the first of next month.

Somebody has complained to the mayor about my and Johnnie Crawford's dogs. Evidently they think Josephine belongs to me — sometimes I wish Horace Small had left her in the country. A mayor's life is not a bed of roses. Important things like gas rates, taxes, water supply are not such a headache. It is things like dogs, cats, and chickens that make him wish he had never asked for the office in the first place.

Several merchants have asked us about resuming dollar days. We will be delighted to do if enough representative firms of different lines are interested.

A salesman says: "Women like to shop on the sunny side of the street while prefer the shady side." That might be right most of the year but what about this kind of weather. Another observation of this same salesman: "When a man shops alone, he spends an average of $5.30; but his wife, shopping alone, spends $6.14. Together they spend $8.92." The obvious moral is to leave your wife at home and do all the buying yourself.

News of Men in Service

By MRS. G. T. STEPHENS
Bobby T. Thomas, R. M. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas of Quail, Texas, who has been in the Navy since February 11, 1952, graduated May 22 from Radio school in Bainbridge, Maryland. He sailed on the battleship U. S. S. Iowa (BB-61) soon after his graduation on a cruise that will take him to ports in Scotland, Sweden, Denmark, Cuba, and a second trip through the Panama Canal en route back to his home port in Long Beach, California. From Long Beach, he hopes to return home to Quail for a well deserved leave.

Thomas spent twenty-nine months in the National Guard at Wellington and was discharged on February 11, 1952. The same day he was discharged from the guard he volunteered and was inducted into the Navy.

He spent from June until November, 1952 in Japan, Hawaii, and Korea aboard the battleship U. S. S. Iowa. In November when he returned to the states he was on temporary additional duty until December, 1952. At this time he was enrolled in radio school at Bainbridge, Maryland. He stayed here until graduation.

Bobby expects to return to Japan and Korea in early 1954.

A/3c J. E. Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bell, is home on a 17-day furlough. Bell has been stationed at Sheppard Field at Wichita Falls for the past 7 months. During that time he went to airplane mechanics school.

Airman Bell will leave for Camp Stoneman, Calif., on June 23 for overseas duty in the Far East.

Nelda Terry Club Sweetheart

Nelda Terry, daughter of Mrs. Osa Black, was elected sweetheart of the Kiwanis Club by the members of the Club in their regular weekly meeting, Friday, May 29, according to Tom Hunter and Cicero Gulley, club members.

Miss Terry will be a junior in Wellington high school when the fall term of school opens. She has taken part in many activities during her first two years in high school. She is a very accomplished pianist. As part of her duties as sweetheart she will play the piano for all the Kiwanis meetings.

Miss Terry succeeds Tanya Smith as sweetheart.

Misses Terry, Nancy Elliott, and Joyce Amerson of Samnorwood appeared on the program Friday, June 5. Misses Terry and Elliott entertained the club members with musical selections. Miss Amerson gave the speech she won first place with the next day, Saturday, June 6, in Amarillo.

Senator and Mrs. Clint Small visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin O'Neil and other relatives during the past week.

Methodist Revival Opens June 21 at Fresno Church

Revival services will begin at the Fresno Methodist Church Sunday evening, June 21, according to Rev. Russell Allen, pastor of the Wellington Methodist Circuit. The opening service will be at 8:00 p.m.

A special program of good gospel music and singing will be featured before the evening evangelistic service. Miss Jean Ham, 13-year-old pianist, will preside at the piano, while the singing will be led by a former member of the Stamps-Ozark Quartet, Charles Marshall. Rev. Allen will do the preaching.

"Miss Ham has already dedicated her life to evangelistic music and she has been playing for four years. The way she plays the piano and the way Marshall leads the singing will thrill your heart, Rev. Allen said.

On Wednesday, June 17, prayer meeting will be held at the church. Then we plan to have some cottage prayer meetings, he stated.

The revival will run indefinitely. I hope that we will have good crowds because they will get a lot out of the services, Rev. Allen commented.

Rev. Allen's first sermon will be on "Make Believe Religion."

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Wells and children were visiting friends and relatives in Wellington over the week end. Mr. Wells, who has been in Washington employed by the Department of Commerce, was on his way to Houston where he will work in the First National Bank.

In a beautiful and impressive ceremony, Miss Elaine Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Thompson of Hereford, became the bride of Dan Trew of Hereford, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Trew, Sunday morning, May 24.

The wedding was in the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Don Roots, pastor of the First Christian church, Hereford, conducted the double-ring ceremony before a background arrangement of white shasta daisies and gladioli and fern flanked by tall white tapers burning in seven branched candelabra.

Miss Caren Conklin presented a musical concert of wedding music, playing "I Love You Truly" and "Because." She played the Lohengrin bridal chorus from Wagner as the bride's party entered and gave DeBussy's "Clair de Lune" as background for the ceremony.

Lighting the candles was Miss Lynn Thompson, sister of the bride. She wore an orchid nylon dress over pink and a pink daisy corsage.

The bride's attendants were Miss Sallie Womble, cousin of the bride, who served as maid of honor, Miss Nell Trew, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Womble was a flower girl.

Miss Womble wore a dress of blue and white with a wide white collar and a wide white sash. The bride's dress was a wide white sash. She carried a bouquet of pink daisies. The bridesmaid's dress was identical to the honor attendant's in pink and her flowers were blue daisies.

J. B. Trew served his son as best man. Phil Trew of Plainview, cousin of the bridegroom, was groomsmen.

The bodice, fashioned with short sleeves and a V neckline, was embellished with rhinestones and a wide satin sash. She carried a white Bible topped with a single white orchid, showered with white satin streamers and knotted with white carnations.

The bride's mother wore navy blue sheer with pink accessories and a pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy sheer dress, using white accessories and a carnation corsage in white.

Following the wedding the bride's parents were hosts at a breakfast given in Hotel Jim Hill.

Table decorations were the three tiered wedding cake and two small arrangements of pink and blue carnations. Other decorations were shasta daisies and Dutch iris.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to the Pacific Northwest, including Grand Canyon, Salt Lake City and Yellowstone National Park, the bride was wearing a two-piece beige straw cloth frock featuring red accessories and a small white hat. She wore the orchid lifted from the wedding bouquet as a shoulder corsage.

The Draft Law and Regulations

How does a local draft board consider a draft registrant's case when it comes before the board in the manner governed by law and regulations?

The members of a board sit around a table — and the file containing the man's papers are placed before it by the clerk. The board then considers the man from the following standpoints, based on information in the file:

1. Is he on active duty in the military service? (1-C.)
2. Is he a conscientious objector who has been ordered to a civilian job. (1-W)
3. Is he to old for service under the law? (5-A)
4. Can it be determined at the board level whether he is physically, mentally, or morally unfit for service? (4-F)
5. Is he a minister of religion or divinity student? (4-D)
6. Is he subject to exemption as an alien? (4-C)
7. Is he a public official deferred by the law? (4-B)
8. Is he a World War II veteran as defined by the law? (4-A)
9. Is he subject to deferment because of his dependents (3-A)
10. Is he eligible for deferment as a member of the armed forces reserve or a student taking military training? (1-D)
11. Is he a student in a college or university deferrable under local board authority? (2-S)
12. Does he meet the requirements for farm or other civilian job deferment? (2-C and 2-A. respectively.)
13. Is he a college or high school student subject to deferment by law for a short period? (1-S.)

14. Is he one of the two types of conscientious objectors? (1-O and 1-A-O.)

If the evidence in the file indicates to the satisfaction of the local board that he is eligible for none of these, then the registrant is considered available for military service. (1-A.)

Vacation Bible schools for the Baptist churches in Wellington have completed one of their most successful schools that has been held in recent years, according to Rev. Chester O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The colored children at the Booker T. Washington school had one of the best enrollments that they had in recent years. One hundred and forty-three were enrolled and the average attendance was 131. The Faith Mission had 115 enrolled and about 100 in attendance daily. The First Baptist church enrolled 232 and 199 were present on the daily average, Rev. O'Brien stated.

The conclusion of both the Faith Mission and First Baptist was the annual all-church picnic. Approximately 400 persons were in attendance at the Pan-Fork Baptist Encampment last Friday evening, June 5, he revealed.

The young people left early and spent the afternoon in playing games and swimming. The evening Bar-B-Que was served to members of the church and the guests present. After the meal a film "The Flame" was shown to the entire group. It showed the horrors of the Korean War and how it affected the population, Rev. O'Brien commented.

QUAIL CONTINUES TO HOLD TOP PLACE IN SALT FORK LEAGUE

Quail continued to stay among the top teams in the Salt Fork League despite their losing the second game of their double-header with the Childress Orioles. The Quails took the opening contest 8-7 but ran into a shattered defense in the fifth inning and lost the nightcap 21-2.

The game was played at Quail under unfavorable conditions. High winds and blowing sand caused discomfort to fans and players, alike.

Leland Bonneau turned out to be the ace of the day as he set the hard-hitting Orioles down in fine fashion. He limited the Orioles to only five hits in the first encounter.

Raymond Neeley, "the Robin Roberts of Quail," suffered his first defeat for the season in the night-cap as Childress exploded. Before the fire could be brought under control they had gained 11 runs. During this fifth Neeley was retired and Calvin Tow came in the game to control the Orioles. However, he was lifted in favor of Sam Morris, who went the rest of the game. Seven errors were committed by the Quails during the second game to help account for their first league loss.

Quail's top hitter in the first game was A. C. Price. Price got three for three. Leland Bonneau, catcher for the Quails took swatting honors in the second canto as he banded out three for three.

Quail will journey to Childress this Thursday night, June 11, to play the Orioles in an exhibition game. Game time is at 8:00 p.m. at the Fair Park. Then Sunday, June 14, Quail goes to Wheeler for a double-header.

Rev. V. F. Love New Pastor of Assembly of God

The Rev. V. F. Love, with his family, has arrived here to take up his work as pastor of the Assembly of God. Coming here from Colorado City, he succeeds the Rev. Austin Jolliff, who has moved to Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Rev. Love was pastor of the Colorado City church for ten years, and under his direction there a new church and parsonage were built and paid for.

No stranger to Wellington, Rev. Love has conducted two revival meetings at the church here. The first was 21 years ago, shortly after he entered the ministry, and the second was about nine years ago.

He has held many revivals throughout the southwest, and was pastor of the Assembly of God at Memphis for more than five years before going to Colorado City. He also was pastor of the church at Wheeler, Iranan, and Tatum, N. M.

He was reared at Floydada and entered the ministry at the age of 19.

Rev. and Mrs. Love have two daughters, Shirley, 13, and Patricia, 7. Shirley is an accomplished musician, playing both the piano and accordion. She also assists with special singing at church services.

of town, toward the Sandy community, and damage had been reported from that section to crops and buildings.

The twister, which formed about three miles east of Rolla, dipped to the ground on the Porter Loving farm along Buck Creek, uprooting several large trees. No other damage was reported.

Lightning which struck the Orville Cunningham house Thursday night tore a large hole in the roof, knocked down a piece of sheet rock, blackened wall paper, and destroyed all electrical and light fixtures, as well as the floor furnace and telephone. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham are in Canyon, where he is attending the summer session of West Texas State College.

Neighbors, knowing of the incident, met at the Cunningham home the next day to help clean up the damage.

That same night, damage amounting to approximately $125 was reported by J. W. Boen of the Ring community to his car.

Sheryl Morris was a tonsillectomy patient in St. Joseph Hospital recently.

the hall of the hospital; in rooms of other patients windows were closed and the Venetian blinds pulled; and one patient in the southwest corner of the building was moved from her room.

"No one was excited," Sister Josephine Therese said later. "I was much more scared by the fast driving on the street between the hospital and clinic. I was sure we'd have accident patients." There was one phone inquiry as to what to do for a woman who fainted.

At Marian Airpark Pool, Donald Briggs was giving a swimming lesson to a group of 8 to 12 year old youngsters, and a number of smaller children were in the wading pool. Mrs. Barney Glenn and Doyle Wayne Ingram, life guard who has been through one tornado, saw the funnel first. The mammals were more excited than the children, some of whom were reluctant to get out of the water. Small Peter Hughes, who was with Briggs, wasn't at all concerned about himself, but he worried about the colored man who had brought him to town.

The switchboard at the telephone office lit up like a Christmas tree, Mrs. C. A. Bradford, chief operator, reported.

"If Wellington had blown away, I believe half the people would have gone with their telephone receiver in their hand," she commented.

The girls had often discussed what they'd do if a cyclone ever came — but not a one of them appeared excited nor looked as if she'd like to leave." Linsmen Franklin and Odis Killingsworth went to work at the board and so did the information operators.

Most cellars in town were filled to capacity.

One family, in its haste, locked one of their children in the house and started across town to a cellar, missing the child half way there. "I don't know why we locked the house. We never do ordinarily," the woman reported.

A surprising number of women admit they got to the cellar barefooted, and a few said next day their feet were awfully sore from running through goat head patches.

One woman just outside town started to a neighbors in her pickup, all at once stopped it, hopped out, kicked off her shoes and hiked up her skirt and started running. A passerby — also getting away from the storm — saw her and stopped. "I was scared the motor was going to die and I thought I could get there quicker," she explained.

Bonnie and Mack Willis report they drove to the John Harpers because they considered their own cellar unsafe — only to return home later and find it completely filled with neighbors who thought it much safer than none at all.

Sandy Parsons reported that he was working in the back of his store, walked leisurely to the front and found a building completely empty of both customers and help.

A bus-load of children had just arrived at the First Baptist church, en route to the encampment for a picnic. There was no confusion at all as Rev. Chester O'Brien and his helpers marched them into the building. Later they were distributed out to cellars in the neighborhood.

Word of the twister got around. The American Red Cross wired Miss Katherine Boverie to ask if the "tornado victims" needed Red Cross aid. Associated Press at Dallas phoned The Wellington Leader to ask about "the tornado that went through Wellington." The radio station at Shamrock, the Fort Worth Star Telegram and Amarillo News phoned down to see what happened.

At least one bank is reported to have left its doors wide open and money out as its staff rushed to safety.

An employee of one business firm locked the door while a customer stood beside her explaining he was trying to pay his bill.

moved to Tulsa about five years ago.

In addition to her mother and brothers and sisters, she is survived by her husband and a son and daughter, Chris, 14, and Amanda, 7.

Funeral services for Mr. Wood were held Monday at Lubbock. Details of the service were not known here when The Leader went to press.

Mr. Wood was born January 8, 1874, and at the time of his death was 79 years, four months and 26 days of age. After coming to this county, the family lived for a number of years in the Quail community, where he farmed. About 1925 they moved to Wellington for the children to attend school, and most of them were graduated from high school here. They moved to Lubbock in 1933.

Surviving members of the family are Mrs. Wood and these children: Mrs. Blanche Hutton, Mrs. Hank Hankins and Mrs. A. C. White of Lubbock, Rudolph Wood of Austin, Athal Wood of Columbus, El Wood of Wellington and Mrs. Doug Dozier of Childress.

Mr. and Mrs. El Wood and Mrs. Bounds attended Mrs. Ward's funeral, while Mr. and Mrs. Wood and their sons, Seldon and Lonnie, were in Lubbock for Mr. Wood's service.

Mrs. Ike Rogers had minor surgery in St. Joseph Hospital.

Anita Savage was a tonsillectomy patient in St. Joseph Hospital recently.

Douglas Is New Nazarene Pastor At Dodson

Rev. J. W. Douglas, who has served as pastor of the Polytechnic Nazarene church in Fort Worth has taken over his duties at the Dodson Nazarene Church.

Rev. Douglas is a native of Ranger, and has been in the ministry for 15 years. He had been pastor of the Fort Worth church for 6 years before moving to Dodson on Tuesday, June 2.

Rev. Douglas is already taking an active part in the church work of his community. He and his wife are helping with the joint Bible School program that the Methodist and Nazarene churches are having for the next two weeks.

The Douglas's have one son, John Allen, age 9.

Black Injured in Car Accident

Donald Black of Childress was seriously injured early Tuesday morning when his car plunged off the Buck Creek bridge on the Hollis highway.

As Mr. Black's car left the road, it took out four sections of the bridge, dived down and buried the nose of the car about 1 1/2 feet in baked earth, and bounced back upon the tires in an upright position. It did not turn over.

Mr. Black received a crushed chest and a broken arm as he struck the steering wheel in the impact of the crash.

Jimmie Kelso, who answered the emergency call with his ambulance, rushed Mr. Black to the St. Joseph Hospital in Wellington where he is resting in fair condition.

Mr. Black is the son of the late Hugh B. Black of Childress.

Dukes in Double Header Here, Quail at Wheeler

Double-header baseball will occupy both Wellington and Quail teams this coming Sunday, June 14. Wellington will stay home and entertain the Childress Orioles, while the Quails will take to the road for a two game stand with the Wheeler "nine."

In the games played Sunday, June 7, the Quail Quails split a twin-bill with the Orioles at Quail. Quail took the first game 8-7 and then dropped the second contest 21-2. The Junior Dukes took the day off.

Wellington has played the Orioles in one previous game. However, the "little" Dukes did not have their main-stay players with them and they lost by a lack of experienced players. This game will give the Dukes a little decided edge because they will be playing on their home field.

"We will open the first game at 2:00 p.m. and both contests will be 7 innings. If things work out our probable pitchers for both games will be Bobby McCutchen in the opener and Phil Handley will do the work in the nightcap. Bob McAllister is slated for the relief work if the starters tire, Paul Spillman, manager for the Junior Dukes, said.

"Ted O'Neil and Gus Barton will be on hand with the regular players to try to cop the double win for the Dukes. This Friday evening we will have a workout and a five inning practice session." Spillman urged that every player be present for the all-important workout.

In the game at Wheeler, Quail will try to hold on to its top place in the Salt Fork league by taking the double-header from the Wheeler "nine." The game time will probably be at 2:00 p.m. at the Wheeler diamond. Wheeler took Wellington in the opening league game for both teams by a 13-5 count, while Quail has played the Dukes three times. One game was a tie and the other two showed only one-run advantages for the Quails. However, Quail can hold their own and should continue to win their share of the league games.

Both county teams stand a good chance to bring home the top honors in the circuit.

Dodson Bible School Opens

Vacation Bible schools for both the Dodson Methodist and Nazarene churches began Monday morning, June 8, in the Dodson high school building.

This is a joint program worked out for both churches approximately 60 boys and girls are expected for this two-week school.

The school will open at 9 a.m. and close out at 11 a.m. each day. In this school there will be places for all age groups and a good program is slated for each day.

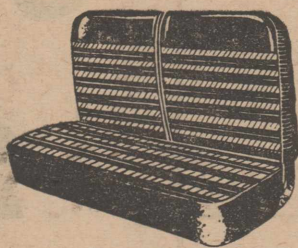

The list of workers for this school are: kindergarten: Mrs. Geneva Lowrie, Mrs. Wanda Lewis, and Mrs. Joyce Ball; primary: Mrs. John Fitzgerald and Mrs. Wilma Hightower; juniors: Mrs. Charles King and Mrs. Bynum Hightower; junior and intermediate workshop: Mrs. Tom Bowling and Mrs. Walter Roberson.
