TDCJ receives warm welcome

Part of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice (TDCJ) site selection committee that will receive the Mitchell County bid for a local unit came to Colorado City on Thursday to meet with local community leaders and explain the TDCJ and answer questions.

Mitchell County economic development leaders have until Jan. 15 to prepare a proposal for the TDCJ on this round of the site selection process.

Community leaders have been working since the referendum vote on Proposition 4 that passed with overwhelming success on the Nov. 5 constitutional ballot election.

"I want to thank you for the high - 89.2 percent - voter approval rating on Proposition 4 that was achieved in Mitchell County," said Bill Barry, Director of Management Services. "That's real eye-catching. We have looked at all the numbers throughout the state."

The proposition which was approved by the voters in Nov. of last year will provide for three 2250 bed maximum security and six 1000 bed medium-minimum security prisons, said Barry.

The 12,000 substance abuse treatment beds could be something that we construct, beds that we acquire, or beds that we renovate, he said.

"We're here to tell you about the Texas Department of Criminal Justice," said Barry, "and we feel like a lot of people in the state do not quite know what we are about and as you are aware."

TDCJ representatives who were in Colorado City for the two-hour luncheon included Barry, Terry Wunderlich, Senior Planning, Development and Procedures Analysis; David Standlee, Sr., Senior Operations and Statistical Analyst; and Alan Arthur, Pilot.

House Bill 2335 which was passed in the 71st Legislature combined three agencies to change the Texas Department of Corrections to the TDCJ, said Barry. They combined Corrections, Adult Probation and Parole into one agency.

"The site selection process has really become interesting in this state," said Barry. "We are in a site selection process at the current time that is quite different than the process was back in the 1970's."

"In 1985 our board passed a policy that said, any new facility would have to be built on existing land or land acquired at no cost," he said.

"In September of this year, we sent out Request for Proposals and Colorado City/Mitchell County is definitely on our list," said Barry.

The job of the site selection committee is to collect and analyze information that has been submitted. The analysis is based on a number of factors which include

Hospital board supports prison project

The directors' of the Mitchell County Hospital District passed a resolution in support of the efforts to locate a state detention facility in Mitchell County at Thursday nights regular meeting.

The resolution states that the Mitchell County Hospital is a 40 bed Acute Care Health Care Facility and Hospital which is located in Colorado City.

The Hospital District is responsible for the adoption of a resolution deemed to be in the best interest of the populous it represents and that Mitchell County led the state in the passage of Proposition 4 with 89.2 percent of the vote.

The resolution also notes that the economy of Mitchell County has been largely dependent on agricultural related industry and the diversification of business and industry in this area is vital to the survival of many West Texans.

It was also noted that the Mitchell County Hospital District economic strength, vitality, and survivability depends to a great degree on economic stability of the area and the region. The provision of government services will be a major diversification and provide long term economic stability.

A State of Texas prison facility would provide a great number of permanent jobs along with a multi-million dollar payroll which would represent many more millions in the local and area economy since it is estimated that it turns seven times before leaving the community and a portion of the prison's annual operating budget would be spent locally.

The resolution also states that the addition of a prison facility would assist in supporting the area hospitals, area educational facilities, other taxing entities and additional support service businesses would become necessary and existing

Strange discusses hot check fund

Clay Strange, Mitchell County Attorney, formally submitted his resignation to the County Commissioners' at Thursday's meeting and discussed the Hot Check fund.

"I'm going to be resigning effective 11:59 p.m. on the 3rd of January," said County Attorney Clay Strange.

"I enjoyed it," Strange told the Mitchell County Commissioners', "I think we've done pretty good work. I'm going to miss all of you, and I've enjoyed working with you."

Strange will be going to Waxahachie where he will be working in the District and County Attorney's office of Ellis County.

He took the opportunity on Thursday to address the board concerning the issue of the Hot Check fund.

"I don't have to tell you that this is something that is real sensitive with the merchants," he said. "They need these checks collected."

"We're just not going to be able to collect them if we don't get support from the Commissioners' to fund the job," he noted.

"It would be a pretty economical method if the County and Hot Check fund would share the expenses of the salary for an employee to work the hot checks," Strange proposed for the Commissioners' consideration.

"Over the last two or three years, in my Hot Check fund, I haven't been able to do anything but pay the secretary to collect those hot checks."

"Starting about eight months ago, checks became difficult to collect in Mitchell County, for the obvious reason that no one has any

Next issue to feature greetings

Next week's mid-week publication of the newspaper will feature the annual Christmas edition of the Colorado City Record and will be delivered Tuesday afternoon on Dec. 24.

Due to the Christmas holidays, the deadlines for both editorial and advertising in the mid-week edition will be at noon on Monday, Dec. 23.

The business office of the Record will close at 3 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 23 and will re-open at 8:30 a.m. on Thursday, Dec. 26.

Local threat proved false

Officials of the Colorado Independent School District and of the City of Colorado City responded Friday morning to what was evidently an attempt to start the Christmas holidays earlier than anticipated.

School officials noted that at approximately 10:15 a.m. a phone call was received at the Administration office by an unidentified caller who reported that an explosive devise had been planted in a restroom of the facility.

Officials with the school system notified the Police, who conducted a search of the Administration grounds and the Colorado ISD campuses.

The search was made by Colorado City Police Sergeant Tim Atkins and Colorado City Fire Marshal Billy Ray Williamson.

Specialists at Dyess Air Force Base were also alerted of the phone call and of the search that was being conducted at the campus locations.

By 11 a.m. the search had been completed with no evidence of any explosive devises to be found on school properties.

C-Court buys trucks, computer

The Commissioners' Court of Mitchell County met in a special session on Thursday morning to award bids and attend to financial matters requiring their attention.

Awarding of bids on two dump trucks and on computer equipment for the Tax Office were handled during the business session which was held in the Law Library.

A bid received from Barrett-White GMC of Tyler was accepted by Commissioners' in the amount of $49,448 each for two units.

The bids on the trucks, which will be used in Precincts 2 and 3, had been tabled at the conclusion of the Dec. 9 regular stated meeting for the commissioners' to have more time to study the bids which had been received.

Bids from four other companies had been received including Pollard Chevrolet of Big Spring, Corley-Wetsel Trucks of Abilene, R. L. Anderson International of San Angelo and West Texas Peterbuilt of Lubbock.

It was noted that the bid from Barrett-White GMC met or exceeded all specifications, as a motion was made to accept that bid.

The commissioners' awarded a bid on computer equipment to IBM of Midland, for a main-frame which will be used at the Berman Building when the Tax Office moves from the Courthouse.

The total price of the main-frame and of the set-up charges of the equipment, which include taking the Tax Office records off the computer at the Courthouse and installing them on the new computer came to $17,522.

This amount includes the equipment, $13,480; the required operating software for the equipment, $3002; and the migration of current information, $1040.

Also mentioned was that IBM will charge a monthly maintenance fee on the equipment of $66.

The Midland company was the only bid received for the Court's consideration.

In other action, Adult Probation Officer Donna Starr met with the Court to discuss getting a dedicated phone line to use to connect the office with the Sweetwater office.

She noted that the state has purchased a computer for her office the mission of the facility, operational considerations, logistical concerns, utilities, improvements, environmental factors and community resources.

Proposals to the TDCJ provide information about the background of the applicant, provide evidence that the site may be transferred at no cost to the state, provide a description of the property, a description of the required site preparation and a listing of community resources.

To qualify, communities must provide - at no cost to the state - a minimum of 300 acres, a reasonably level site or one brought to specifications. All utilities must be brought through a common corner, have paved access roads to the site, elevated water storage, must be located within 100 miles of a county with a population of 100,000 and have a geo-technical report on the property for analysis by the department.

Each proposal is weighed on its own merits, against other proposals that are submitted.

The TDCJ representatives showed a slide presentation which was a simulated walk-through of the 1000 bed unit in Snyder, which opened in August 1989, and the 2250 bed unit located in Palestine, which was opened in 1985.

The overall mission of the TDCJ is the confinement, supervision and rehabilitation of felons; and in addition, the department strives toward the re-integration of felons into society after the release from confinement.

The primary goal of the institutional division of the TDCJ is to humanely secure convicted felons by the operation of a modern and fiscally responsible correctional system. This division also provides opportunities in the area of education and maintains an on-going commitment to the work ethic.

The operating and industry budget for fiscal year 1991 exceeded $659 billion dollars.

There are currently 39 facilities housing inmates and when the prison system is completed, units will be located throughout the state.

It was noted that there are approximately 49,500 inmates incarcerated within the institutional division, 70 percent of which are below the age of 36.

95 percent of the prison population are males, and nearly 50 percent of the inmates serving sentences have been previously incarcerated within the institutional division.

The United States average cost for housing an inmate was reported at $46.43 per day, while the cost in Texas was reported to be $35.21.

Texas spends between $27,000 and $32,000 to construct each maximum security bed, which is also below the national average.

At the end of the current construction period, it was noted that the TDCJ system would have 43 prison units on-line. 10 of these units will be 1000 bed minimum-medium security prisons.

A 1000 bed prototype unit is approximately 240,000 square feet, employes a staff of approximately 317 persons with an estimated annual payroll of $5.5 million dollars and costs about $26 million to construct and approximately $8.3 million dollars annually to operate.

When current construction is complete, there will be 7 maximum security 2250 bed units in the state.

The 2250 bed prototype unit has a total of 720,000 square feet, employes approximately 800 employees with an estimated annual payroll of $16.7 million dollars and costs about $80 million to construct, with approximately $22 million required for the annual operation of the facility.

Between the years of 1970 and 1990 the overall population of Texas grew more than 50 percent, but prison population more than kept pace with that growth - with an increase of 243 percent, in addition to a rise in the crime rate of 94 percent.

The number of people under parole supervision increased by 2120 percent during this period. During this time the length of sentences being given to convicted criminals increased by 88 percent but the amount of sentence served decreased by 64 percent and the average length of sentence decreased by 31 percent.

In 1970, the average inmate served approximately 55 percent of the sentence given; whereas by 1990 only about 20 percent of his sentence was likely to be served.

In the most recent cycle, the intent to solicit proposals was begun with making an official entry on the Texas Registry on May 19, 1989. 46 proposals were received by July 31, 1989, 26 of which made the short list which was released on October 5, 1989.

From that short list, three 2250 bed units and three 1000 bed unit sites were selected in November 1989 from 12 finalists.

Additional legislation authorized four more units in June 1990, to be selected from 20 remaining site proposals. One 2250 bed and three 1000 bed unit sites were selected in July 1990 from 8 finalists.

Colorado City Mayor Jim Baum told of the changes in the confinement in Mitchell County, "In the early days, in 1881, when Mitchell County was first organized," said Colorado City Mayor Jim Baum, "had to make do with a jail that was nothing more than a tree with a chain looped around it. Handcuffed prisoners were then taken over to that tree."

"The citizens of the county then voted on a bond issue to get a nice jail - solid rock with a rock floor, rock all the way around," he said, "and two years later, the county commissioners', gencrous as they are, voted to put blankets and cots in there."

The Mayor then presented keys to TDCJ representatives Bill Barry, and Allen Sapp, Jr. "These are not just keys that will open doors in Mitchell County for you, but to be very frank and up-front, we hope they open a few doors for us in Mitchell County to."

businesses would be economically benefitted.

The economic revitalization and diversification are goals and commitments of our community as well as the State of Texas and the Mitchell County Hospital District supports Governor Ann Richard's efforts to get tough on crime in 'The New Texas."

The resolution concludes by noting that it has been resolved by the Mitchell County Hospital District to support the efforts of Mitchell County to secure the construction of a state detention facility and that the District encourages the State of Texas to serve this community of the New Texas by the location of a State Detention Center in Mitchell County.

money, the reason that a hot check was written in the first place.

"As a result, it is hard for them to pay off the check because they don't have a job," said Strange. He noted that the job of working with the bad checks has becoming increasingly more demanding.

"It's a job that requires the same kind of techniques that are used by bill collectors," he said. "A hot check person needs to bug these people, call them on the phone and ask them when they are going to get paid and that kind of thing."

"The Hot Check fund at the moment," said Strange, "is pretty well out of money."

"In order to have those hot checks worked, the County needs to pitch in a little bit of money to that secretary, possibly fund something like 8 hours a week."

"This would be enough that combined with the secretary's permanent salary from the Hot Check fund that it would allow a person to be there enough hours during the week to really work the checks, this would be fifteen to twenty hours per week."

"Eight hours a week is just not getting it," said Strange.

Strange has served as County Attorney since June 1987, when he was appointed by Commissioners' to fill the unexpired term of Pete McKinney. He was since elected to the office with a term that extends until Dec. 31, 1992.

Challenge filed by Cap Rock over wholesale power rights

Cap Rock Electric filed a challenge in District Court on Friday concerning the issue of their right to purchase and receive wholesale power from companies other than TU Electric.

"TU Electric is like Goliath; it does what it wants, when it wants and how it wants," said David Pruitt, Cap Rock's Chief Executive Officer, "We have no choice but to play David to their Goliath - our customers' livelihoods are at stake. We may be small, but we've got West Texas grit and we're going to fight for what's right."

"We're talking about people with their backs against the wall," he said. "Given the current economic conditions, these people could really benefit from lower electric costs."

At stake is the opportunity for Cap Rock Electric to immediately begin purchasing power from West Texas Utilities Company (WTU) for 20 percent less than the cost from TU Electric.

"This represents about $250,000 per month in savings to the customers of Cap Rock," said Steve Collier, the company's director of power supply and regulatory affairs.

"This $250,000 a month represents about a 10 percent decrease in monthly bills, no small matter for our customers," he said.

Cap Rock Electric began seeking other suppliers as a result of TU Electric's rapidly increasing costs, due mainly to the huge expense of the Comanche Peak Nuclear Plant.

In an announcement which was made in October, Cap Rock said it had reached a power supply agreement with Southwester Public Service Company (SPS) based out of Amarillo, to begin buying power from them in 1993.

Since that time, Cap Rock has finalized an agreement with WTU to serve all of its load until the SPS transfer is complete.

TU Electric has indicated that it will not allow the WTU transaction to proceed on the grounds that it continue to supply all Cap Rock's wholesale power.

Specifically, TU Electric is refusing to wheel such power, or deliver it to Cap Rock over its transmission system.

Collier noted that TU Electric had refused, in 1989, to deliver cheap energy which Cap Rock had contracted for with Houston Lighting and Power, costing Cap Rock's customers more than a million dollars.

"It's pretty obvious that TU wants to continue to keep our customers captive to their high rates for as long as possible, even though we represent less than one percent of their total load," said Collier.

Cap Rock Electric is a customer-owned electric utility which serves about 20,000 customers in 17 West Texas counties.

TU Electric is the largest utility in Texas and the fifth largest in the country, with over 5 million customers.

The celebration began with a family gathering at the Garcia home on Friday evening. It continued with a 10:00 a.m. mass given by Father Busch at St. Anne's on Saturday morning, followed by a reception at the Colorado City civic center. Saturday evening a dance was enjoyed by all at the civic center along with many more friends and neighbors.

The family of Moises and Juanita consists of four boys and five girls. They have many, many grandchildren. Family arrived from Minneapolis, MN; Princeton, NJ; Dallas; Hesperia, CA; San Antonio to name a few. All enjoyed the great hospitality of their hometown Colorado City.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Guelker

Guelkers to be honored

A reception honoring Jay and Esther Guelker is planned from 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, December 28, at the Lone Wolf Medalion Room.

The couple recently announced their retirement from Colorado City Electric, which they founded in 1962. The electrical repair and service company will continue its 30 year tradition under the new ownership of Tommy Guelker.

Jay and Esther have lived in Colorado City since 1953, when Jay was transferred by Texas Utilities to the Morgan Creek Plant. They have both been active in youth organizations with Jay coaching Little League and Esther working with both Band Bossters and Girl Scouts.

They are members of the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce and Jay serves as a director on the Housing Authority Board. Esther is currently the treasurer of the Ladies Golf Association.

After retirement, they plan to travel and play golf as well as still help out with the operations of Colorado City Electric and Guelker Farms.

The reception is being hosted by their children and grandchildren, Tommy, Debby, Michelle and Samantha Guelker; Carl, Sue and Cheyenne Guelker; Terri, George Robben, Dan and Jessica Sierra, and Genia, Kent, Corey and Trevor Conner.

67 new permits granted by RRC

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 11 -- The Railroad Commission granted a total of 67 new permits for horizontal wells in November, as permit applications to drill the advanced technology wells declined from the previous month, according to RRC Chairman Lena Guerrero.

By comparison, the Commission issued 80 permits for horizontal wells in October, 56 in Sept. 61 in Aug., and 71 in July, 1991.

So far, operators have applied for 838 permits to drill horizontal wells in Texas during the first eleven months of 1991, compared to 985 during the same period one year ago.

In all, the Railroad Commission has issued a grand total of 2,136 permits for horizontal wells in Texas since 1984.

The Pearsall and Giddings (Austin Chalk) Fields continue to lead the nation in horizontal drilling activity. Nineteen new permits were granted for horizontal projects in the Pearsall (Austin Chalk) in November, compared to 22 in October. Meanwhile, operators in the Giddings Field applied for twenty-nine new horizontal permits last month, led by Fayette County with 14 and Burleson County with 10.

Frio County in the Pearsall (Austin Chalk) continues to lead all others with a total of 603 permits for horizontal wells now granted. 468 of those wells have been completed.

Meantime, Dimmit County ranks second in the Pearsall Field with 170 horizontal permits issued through Nov. 30, followed by Zavala County with 167 and LaSalle County with 156.

In all, 1,096 permits for horizontal wells have been granted to operators in the Pearsall Field. Some 823 of those wells have now been completed.

Meanwhile, the Commission has issued 499 permits for horizontal wells in the Giddings (Austin Chalk) Field through Nov. 30. Burleson County leads the horizontal race there with 285, followed by Fayette County with 151, Lee County with 53, and Washington County with ten. As of Nov. 30, 296 horizontal wells has been completed in the Giddings Field.

Drilling was completed on some 24 horizontal wells during the month of November, raising to 1,398 the number of horizontal wells now completed in Texas since 1984.

Overall, operators in 71 Texas counties have now received Railroad Commission permits to drill horizontal wells. Besides the counties previously noted, 178 permits for horizontal wells have been granted to operators in Gonzales County, 87 have been issued for horizontal projects in Brazos County, while another 57 permits have been granted to operators drilling horizontal holes in Wilson County.

Horizontal drilling is a technique used to tap oil reserves that can't be recovered profitably using standard methods.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to two of your local city officials. For the time and dedication that they demonstrated on the recent issues about the regulations on the landfill.

I realize that there were others, but one cannot forget the local efforts put forth by our local officials as sometimes happens.

I am talking about your city manager, Mr. Buddy Foster, and your mayor, Jim Baum.

From the citizens of Loraine and myself respectfully.

THANK YOU

Sincerely,
Catarino G. Martinez, Jr.
Mayor
City of Loraine.

Dear Editor,

-in reference to the recent letter from Mr. and Mrs. Tim Little-

We are developing our Museum following the guide lines of the State Historical Commission.

We have been directly assisted by one approved by them.

Museums are no longer a hodgepodge of items, but are used to teach, instruct and preserve history.

Hopefully, after the first of the year, we can begin to add displays and change out some things now being shown, but all will not be out for public viewing at one time.

At present we are trying to use our space to best meet the needs of the community and our budget.

Moving the Museum has been a long and arduous job -- done mostly with volunteer labor and on a very limited income.

Every object has had special attention.

Corrosion was removed; clothes cleaned, mended and placed in acid free boxes; newspapers and clippings were sorted and stored in approved sleeves for protection. Dishes were washed and stored. Many articles had to be repaired.

Everything had to be checked for numbers. If one was not found, then a number was given. This is an on-going project.

We have had museum workshops directed by authorities from other places to teach us the proper accessioning of items, as well as their care and protection.

We always welcome constructive criticism, volunteers and donations. Do come back to see us again.

Sincerely,
L.B. Elliott, Chairman of the Board
Heart of West Texas Museum

RRC assesses fine in county

AUSTIN--The Railroad Commission assessed a total of $25,500 in administrative penalties this week to seven oil and gas operators for violations under Commission well plugging and pollution rules, according to RRC Chairman Lena Guerrero.

Robert C. Wash of Big Spring was penalized $5000 for discharging saltwater from a storage tank on the Nobles lease in Mitchell County. He agreed to pay the penalty without admitting any violation of Commission rules.

Other fines which were reported include:

-Associated Minerals Interest of Conroe was ordered to pay $3000 for one inactive and unplugged well on the H.R. Stockton lease in Wharton County.

-Kodiak Oilfield Equipment, Inc. of Rush Springs, Oklahoma was assessed $4000 for two wells on the McFall Estate lease in Yoakum County.

-Lance Oil, Inc. of Abilene was penalized a total of $10,000 for improperly plugging a well, failing to backfill a pit and for failing to repair a leaking saltwater tank on the Perry Lease in Taylor County.

Three other operators agreed to pay penalties without admitting any violation of Railroad Commission rules. These are:

-C & T Production, Inc. of Kirbyville was ordered to pay $1000 for one inactive and unplugged well on the William Crockett lease in Jasper County.

-Cone & Petree Oil & Gas Exploration, Inc. of Lubbock was assessed $500 for one well on the Sibley Taff lease in Runnels County.

-Tech Resources, Inc. of Dallas was ordered to pay a total of $2000 for failure to timely file a plugging report and for failure to backfill drilling pits on the F.A. Kuempel lease in Tom Green County.

To date in 1991, the Commission has levied more than $733,000 in well plugging and pollution penalties. Last year, the Commission assessed more than $836,000 in such penalties.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

DEAN WILLIAMSON

If you're like me, you like to get the same kind of Christmas cards that I do - the one's with money in them!

The other kind of cards that I like to get are the ones with writing all over them, not the store bought writing - the personal kind when someone at least sits down for five minutes a year and catches you up on what has been going on with their lives and family.

I like to get those kind of cards, even though I don't always send that kind of card.

Things have gotten to easy.

Someone has found an easier way to do almost everything. It doesn't matter anymore how it tastes, or how long it will last, as long as it is over with in a hurry.

I have fallen into the same trap. Why not buy cards that are just nearly ready to put in the mail, with the return address printed on the envelope and your name inside the card.

With the cards almost ready, you can seal the envelopes while you watch a football game and be done with it.

It used to take at least four-or-five days to write all the notes on the cards.

Now it is easy to by-pass all the individual notes that used to go out to all those old college room mates and old friends who distance now separates - besides, they've done the same thing.

There used to be stacks and stacks of cards in my mail-box from Thanksgiving until after the first of the New Year. Those days are gone.

No one has time anymore to sit down and write a letter.

Since someone thought of the idea of making it easy to have your name engraved on the cards and envelopes and made it so easy, it's no fun anymore - so evidently everyone has given up on the idea of sending them.

I guess someday in the future I'll sit around and tell old stories to little kids about how it was in the old days, when people sent out Christmas cards.

I used to take all the Christmas cards I got during the season and pack them away with the decorations. Then when I unpacked them the next season I would have something to get myself in the mood for Christmas and be able to remember who had sent a card the year before.

It used to take a box the size that a pair of boots had come in to store all the cards, but that worked down to a shoe box. It looks like this year I may be down to a large manila envelope.

They shouldn't have made it so easy.

No one seems to write on the cards anymore like they did in the good old days.

Back then you could find out where everyone went on vacation, if they had bought a car in the past year, what grade everyone was in; you might also receive a picture of the family, an answer to a question you might have asked the year before, and probably be warned of when they might be planning to stop by for a night or two.

Now you're lucky if you get their personal handwriting on the outside of the envelope.

Those kind of cards just aren't very interesting.

It sort of makes me think that my name has been run through a computer and I'm supposed to be glad that I was selected to get a Christmas card.

I don't like all the changes that go on in the world about us, even though no one ever asked me.

But I still have my favorite card packed away - a card with writing scrawled all over it, plus two more pages stuffed inside.

I get it out every year and look at it again - and remember what it used to be like in the good old days.

THE TELCOT ADVANTAGE
To Cotton Marketing in 1991-92

Recently, the Adjusted World Price (AWP) for cotton fell below the base loan rate, throwing a new twist in cotton marketing. As provided in the 1990 Farm Bill, this development gives cotton growers two options in marketing their loan-eligible bales.

These are:

1. Placing the cotton into the government loan and marketing the equities. Cotton can be redeemed at the lower AWP, and all storage charges are waived.

OR

2. Electing to forego the loan in exchange for a Producer Option Payment (POP), which is the difference between the base loan and the AWP.

TELCOT is the BEST WAY for growers to market their cotton this season, offering these advantages:

- SECURITY
  Growers who sell equities on TELCOT know that they will not be responsible to CCC for storage and forfeiture charges if the cotton eventually forfeits to CCC.
- SPEED AND CONVENIENCE
  When growers forego the loan, TELCOT can apply for the POP on their behalf such that when they sell their cotton on TELCOT they receive their lint proceeds "PLUS" the POP, normally within 24 hours.
- ACCESS
  TELCOT gives growers access to more than 50 cotton buyers every day.

Veterans are entitled to national burial site

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) is reminding former servicemen and women who were discharged under conditions other than dishonorable that they are entitled to burial in a national cemetery.

VA's National Cemetery System has provided burials to more than 60,000 veterans and their family members this year.

Awareness of burial benefits can often spare the family of a deceased veteran anxiety and financial hardship following the veteran's death. Burial is also available, under certain guidelines, to a veteran's spouse and dependent children. Dependents do not have to be buried in the same cemetery as the veteran.

Although families cannot reserve gravesites in a national cemetery, a veteran can make funeral preparations easier for survivors by keeping his/her discharge certificate and other military service records accessible, and verifying eligibility at any VA office. When death occurs, documents supporting eligibility should be given to the funeral director who will contact the national cemetery where burial is requested.

For eligible veterans and family members, VA handles opening and closing of the grave, furnishes a headstone or marker, and provides perpetual care. In most cemeteries, VA also provides a gravelincr.

Other burial benefits are available to veterans who may not choose to be buried in a national cemetery. VA will furnish a headstone or grave marker for a veteran's unmarked grave anywhere in the world and a memorial marker to recognize a veteran whose remains were not recovered or for other reasons were not buried. Dependents' graves may receive a government marker only in a national or state veterans' cemetery.

Veterans' families also may receive an American flag for covering a casket and a memorial certificate, bearing the signature of the President, expressing the nation's recognition of the deceased veteran's service.

Information on VA burial benefits is available from most funeral directors, national cemetery offices and VA regional offices, which are listed in the "U.S. Government" section of telephone directories. Local veterans may contact the VA Regional Office in Waco at 1-800-827-2012.

2. The Colorado River Municipal Water District has valid Texas weather modification license. The initial license was issued on December 18, 1974, and was renewed in 1976, 1977, 1978, 1979, 1980, 1981, 1982, 1983, 1984, 1985, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1989, 1990, and 1991.

3. The purpose of the weather modification operations is to increase rainfall to affect water resources. The period of the permit is March 1 through November 30 during the years 1992, 1993, 1994, and 1995.

4. The proposed weather modification operations is to be conducted for and on behalf of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, P.O. Box 869, Big Spring, Texas 79721-0869.

5. The proposed weather modification operation is to be carried out in both an "operational area" and a "target area" to cause the intended affects to occur only in the target area. The operational areas is that area described as being the area between an outer boundary which is defined by a line that encompasses the block of counties of Lynn, Garza, Kent, Fisher, Nolan, Runnels, Coke, Sterling, Glasscock, Martin and Dawson, and an inner boundary which is that of the target area.

6. The area to be affected by the proposed weather modification operation is the target area. The target area is that area described as bounded by a line beginning at a point of origin at Big Spring, Texas, and running along Highway 87 in a northwesterly direction to Lamesa; thence, north-northeast on Highway 87 to the north border of Dawson County; thence, east along the northern boundary lines of Dawson, Borden, and Scurry Counties to Highway 84; thence, southeast along Highway 84 to Roscoe, in Nolan County; thence, south-southeast to Maryneal; thence east to the Nolan-Taylor County border; thence, south along the eastern Nolan County line to the Runnels County border; thence, east along the northern Runnels County line; thence, south along the eastern Runnels County line; thence, west along the southern runnels County line; thence, north along the western Runnels County line to a point where the southern Coke County line meets Runnels County; thence, west along the southern Coke County line to a point 13 miles south of Robert Lee in Coke County; thence, north to Robert Lee; thence, west to Highway 87 at a point approximately 13 miles northwest of Sterling City; thence, northwesterly along Highway 87 to the point of origin at Big Spring, Texas.

7. The methods and materials to be used in conducting this operation are summarized herein: A licensed meteorologist will select cumuliform clouds for cloud-seeding using a weather radar display, standard meteorological analyses, forecast techniques, observations, and pilot reports to direct an aircraft equipped to dispense the seeding particles, silver iodide crystals, into the updraft air at cloud base.

8. Persons interested in knowing more about the technical aspects of the proposed operation should contact the applicant or the Weather & Climate Section of The Commission.

9. If at least 25 eligible persons make a written request for a hearing, the Commission shall hold a public hearing on this application. Children's Justice Act will help victims of abuse

AUSTIN -- "Texas will take the lead in protecting victims of child abuse with the help of a $988,657 grant from the Children's Justice Act. The process of investigating and prosecuting child abuse, particularly sexual abuse, can often be as traumatic for the young victim as the actual violation. Funding from the grant will be used to develop projects that address this tough dilemma. Thousands of abused children will be helped as a result of these projects," Terry Trimble, Deputy Commissioner for Protective Services at the Texas Department of Human Services (DHS) announced today. "This award will help respond directly to some of the basic problems of any child protective system: the continued retelling of the abuse nightmare by the child for multiple investigators, the length of time that some children stay in foster care, the lack of shared legal resources related to child abuse and neglect, and similar situations."

The funds will be distributed to several projects that share the common goal of improving the investigation and prosecution of child abuse, particularly child sexual abuse, and reducing the trauma that children experience in their contact with the legal system. Major projects that will receive grant funding include:

- children's advocacy centers - Children's advocacy centers allow a child abuse victim to communicate to a variety of agencies through one interview. This will improve the coordination of the civil and criminal legal systems to increase the effective handling of child abuse cases while reducing anxiety to children from exposure to these systems.
- litigation support of termination of parent rights cases - One reason children remain in foster care for extended periods of time is that the judicial handling of termination of parental rights cases in Texas often take several years. Grant money will be allocated to alleviate this situation through a litigation support project undertaken jointly with staff from the State Attorney General's Office.
- Texas Legal Resource Center for Child Abuse and Neglect - This project, partially funded by the Criminal Justice Act grant, will address the following problems: the need by attorneys and judges involved in civil and criminal child abuse cases for legal, medical, psychological, and other information concerning child abuse and the need for coordination and communication among all individuals who are working on the various issues presented by child abuse cases but who are separated by the vast distances unique to Texas. The Texas Legal Resource Center is located in the University of Texas Tarlton Law Library.

This is the second cycle of funding from a Criminal Justice Act grant that now totals $1,922,938 in awards of Texas. The grant is federally funded, originating from fines assessed federal offenders. A percentage of the money collected is dedicated to child crime victims. The grant was awarded to the State of Texas with DHS as the administrative agency. "The money must be used for programs relating to the investigation and prosecution of child abuse cases. At DHS we are building bridges with other agencies that deal with child abuse through joint projects funded by this grant. This will definitely benefit the child. By working together we hope to reduce the trauma of the situation as much as possible," Trimble said.

There were over 90,500 child abuse investigations conducted by DHS during FY 1991.

Candlelighting service set at First Methodist

First United Methodist Church will hold its traditional Christmas Eve Candlelighting Service again this year on Tuesday night, December 24, at 6:00 p.m. The candlelight service is a time of Scripture lessons and carols, special music, a short meditation by Pastor David Shaw, and Holy Communion, climaxing with the lighting of candles in the darkened church while "Silent Night" is sung. The public is cordially invited. A nursery will be provided.

The regular Sunday evening vesper service at 6:00 p.m. will feature a "Journey to Bethlehem" program by Pastor Shaw, using slides and tapes from his two visits to Bethlehem, one of them on a Christmas Eve thirty years ago.
