Russians Warn U. S. To Stay Out Of Cuba

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government warned the United States today that an attack on Cuba would be the beginning of a war that might turn into a world nuclear war.

In a statement read to a special Foreign Office news conference, the Soviet government accused the United States of staging provocations "which might plunge the world into the disaster of a universal world war with the use of thermonuclear weapons."

"One cannot now attack Cuba and expect that the aggressor will be free from punishment for this attack," the statement continued. "If such an attack is made, this will be the beginning of unleashing war."

Panel Recommends Zoo Be Provided

A recommendation that a zoo be established here and a report on activities of the junior college study committee highlighted Monday night's meeting of the Long Range Planning Committee of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

The Rev. Harry Vanderpool, chairman of the tourist committee, submitted the proposal to establish the zoo. He reported on consultations of the committee with Pierre Fontaine, curator of the Dallas Zoo, and other activities exploring the possibility of a zoo here.

The recommendation, which was accepted by the Long Range Planning Committee, is that a zoo be established at one of the parks beginning on a modest basis with consideration for enlargement as opportunity will allow.

The tourist committee also reported that it is studying the possibility of participating in a state program which permits placing of historical medallions on certain historic buildings in communities.

So far members of the local committee have appeared before 11 groups representing over 275 people.

In other action, Max West, chairman of the Long Range Planning Committee, named a special subcommittee to look into the feasibility of establishing a day nursery for children of Negro mothers who work. Named to the committee were Mrs. Thomas P. Hartley, Mrs. Hugh Boren Jr., Mrs. Jack Bowden and Rev. Vanderpool.

U. S. Not Frightened By Soviet Warning, Says Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the United States is not frightened by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's warning against any American attack on Cuba.

"We are a great country," Rusk told reporters. "We are not nervous or afraid. We'll proceed as we find it necessary."

Rusk made his observations after leaving a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee where he briefed members on the agenda for the forthcoming United Nations General Assembly session.

The secretary did not elaborate on his remarks about the Soviet statement.

His observations came on the heels of congressional reaction ranging from descriptions of the Soviet statement as sheer propaganda to demands for stern U.S. action to prevent the establishment of a Communist military beachhead in Cuba.

Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, led off for those who saw sheer propaganda in the Kremlin declaration, saying the Soviets "know full well they have erected a straw man for the purpose of knocking it down."

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, stated the case for the other approach. He promised support for "whatever former action" President Kennedy decides to take with respect to Cuba.

"We cannot continue to be pushed and pushed offensively by Khrushchev and Castro while we are retreating and retreating," he said of Khrushchev and Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

"They are trying to create a situation they can use for its propaganda value," Mansfield told a reporter.

"As always, we will determine for ourselves what our foreign policy will be. We do not need or want any gratuitous advice or counsel from the Soviet Union."

Lausche, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen:

"Common sense precludes the assumption that while in Cuba there are missiles of 25-mile range there are not at the same time missiles of an intermediate range. The Monroe Doctrine has been violated. There is a definite threat to our national security 90 miles from our shores."

Wilson, Solon Disagree On Handling Of Witness

By FINIS MOTHERHEAD

DALLAS (AP)—A Texas House prober accused Atty. Gen. Will Wilson today of badgering a witness as the House General Investigating Committee went into a second day of new probes into slant of well drilling.

The brief outburst came from Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi, who objected to Wilson's asking a reluctant witness if he didn't consider it his civic duty to answer questions.

Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, another committee member, said he saw nothing improper in the question Wilson was upheld by Chairman Charles Ballman of Borger.

The witness during the exchange was Robert Cargill of Longview, who invoked the Fifth Amendment 18 times.

Wilson asked him if he had not stated at one time that he had information about the Railroad Commission and its employees which would be "sort of a bomb."

Cargill refused to answer. He also refused to answer the disputed question about his views on the duty of a civic leader to express himself about conduct of public officials.

Two witnesses failed to answer when the roll of prospective witnesses was called.

One was Dist. Judge David Moore of Gladewater, who testified two weeks ago at the start of the hearings. The committee questioned him then about his interest in a well. He was asked at that time if he would take a lie detector test, and he said he would consider it. He was reported on a taping trip and not served with a subpoena for today's session.

Another missing witness was Hugh Camp, a Gregg County commissioner. Rangers were unable to subpoena him. Three other Gregg County commissioners were present.

Gregg County sources said the committee wanted to question the commissioners about whether they had given permission for Gregg County Judge Earl Sharp to be absent from his court at various times. He is undergoing medical treatment, his lawyer said.

Charges of official record stealing and bribery highlighted testimony Monday when a series of witnesses refused to answer committee questions, giving constitutional grounds.

The committee is probing railroad commission charges that nearly 150 oil wells have been drilled at a slant and not vertically and are producing oil from under land not owned by the well operators.

Time after time the Texas Houston Investigating Committee heard men under oath claim constitutional immunity against supplying requested information.

Altogether, 20 of the 25 taking the stand invoked the right not to answer a total of 257 times on the ground of possible self-incrimination.

The inquiry was a new high for the legislators opened a fortnight ago, recessed and expected to wind up with a fifth day of testimony today.

For the first time — and without notable progress in fixing responsibility — the committee disclosed a chunk of state oil well drilling and production records have disappeared.

Questions put by David A. Witts, committee counsel, and Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson indicated the vanished records covered a two-year period and dealt largely with wells since found angled to take crude from beneath property of other owners.

Of the 20 witnesses steadily refusing to tell more than their names and home towns in most cases, all likewise would not say whether they had knowledge of any wells slanted outside legal bounds — in some cases deviating more than half a mile from straight up and down. Some experts say the practice went on for more than a decade and involved oil production worth many millions.

Names of two employees fired May 14 by the Texas Railroad Commission for refusing to take lie detector tests again figured in much of the questioning. They are J. D. Murphy, accused previously of taking $75,000 in bribes, and Nelson Decker, to whom investors gators told of tracing $47,000 in unexplained income.

Murphy was district engineer and Decker an inspector in the Kilgore office of the commission, which regulates the oil industry. Efforts to serve Murphy with a subpoena have been unavailing. Decker claimed immunity and would not testify two weeks ago.

Witts at one juncture asked J. C. Stroud of Jannerville if Stroud once gave Murphy and Decker $2,000 while they were visiting an oil lease, (2) saw anyone else hand the two men money and (3) knew whether the $2,000 "was for permission to drill a slanted well."

Stroud invoked constitutional immunity 24 times in refusing to answer these and other committee questions.

The top figure for the day, however, was 44 such refusals by J. S. McCubbin, a Gladewater driller. McCubbin, J. L. Patton of Tyler and W. T. Maxwell likewise would not say whether they knew anything about bribing of Railroad Commission employees.

City Council Okays Budget For 1962-63

The Snyder City Council met for their regular monthly meeting Monday night.

The budget for 1962-1963 was discussed and officially approved. The total approved budget for the coming year is $878,215.00. The tax rate is unchanged from last year at $1.65 per $100 assessed valuation. Of this, $1,006 is budgeted for general fund expenditures and $878,215.00 is for the interest and sinking fund.

The general fund operating expense shows an increase of $22,860 in the new budget over the present budget. Most of the increase is budgeted for the street department. Other items showing increases for this year over last are street lighting, up $5,000 annually due to the addition of street lights during the present fiscal year, seal-coating for Snyder streets, up $10,000, and $10,000 has been provided for improvements to the central fire station.

The approved budget shows that an increase of $10,717 in revenue to the city is expected in the coming year even though tax revenue is expected to be some $4,500 lower. The increase is expected to be gained from additional revenue from the city's Corporation Court. The additional expenditures will also leave the city with a smaller balance at the end of the year than the starting balance.

The city's outstanding tax bond indebtedness is shown in the budget to be $1,757,000.

The City Council received and opened bids on two new dump trucks for the street department. Three old trucks are being traded in. Low bid was $4,567.46 submitted by Wilson Motors. The bid was accepted.

Other bidders were Snyder Truck and Tractor with a net bid of $4,996.00; Welborn Motors with a net bid of $5,228.12; and Lamb Chevrolet with a net bid of $5,500.00.

The Council also considered bids of six insurance companies on providing group life and hospitalization coverage for employees for the year beginning Oct. 15, 1962.

The low bid of Bankers' Life was accepted. It was noted by City Attorney Arthur Blanchard that since Banker's life was a mutual company it would be necessary for an employee's association to be formed to be the contracting agent between the company and the employees. State law prohibits a governmental agency from buying stock in a private company, and technically persons doing business with mutual companies are stockholders in the company.

The city budget this year calls for a contribution by the city of $4,250 towards hospitalization coverage for each employee. The Banker's Life rate for the individual employee is $5.72, which means that in order to be covered each employee must contribute $1.47 per month. Optional coverage for dependents is offered at $10.77 per month.

In other business the City Council approved the request of Roland Bell to transfer the taxi permit to H. E. Borden. Bell has purchased the Yellow Cab company from Borden's who has returned to Ballinger.

Approval was given the Jaycees to hold a "carnival" Sept. 19-22 in the 1900 block of Thirty-fifth Street.

The official depository for city funds was changed from Snyder

Soblen Dies In London Hospital

LONDON (AP)—Fugitive spy Robert A. Soblen died in a London hospital today and escaped the life sentence that awaited him in a U.S. federal prison for wartime espionage for Soviet Union.

Soblen, died in Hillingdon Hospital, where he had lain unconscious since last Thursday. He had taken an overdose of barbiturates, but before he was removed from Britain Prison for deportation to the United States.

Dr. Cyril Barnes, who was in charge of Soblen's treatment, told newsmen Soblen's death was due not to the drugs he had taken but rather to "exhaustion following convulsions and damage to the brain, presumably caused by hemorrhage."

Barnes explained that Soblen had taken a quick-acting barbiturate and "it had been eliminated from the body chemically 24 hours before death."

Barnes said Soblen's wife, Dr. Dina Soblen, a psychiatrist like her husband, was at his bedside when he died. She flew to London and had been at the hospital with him since Friday.

"Just before 10 a.m. there was a severe turn for the worse," Barnes said. "Death did not oc-cure suddenly, but came at his strength gradually failed."

Later, Soblen's wife was admitted to the hospital as a patient. A spokesman said she was being treated for shock.

The leukemia which Soblen claimed was killing him was one factor in the case but it was the overdose had not happened. Soblen might have lived for some years, Barnes said. Leukemia is cancer of the blood.

The death was due to exhaustion following convulsions, after hemorrhage which may have been related to the leukemia, Barnes said.

"The leukemia was not in a very advanced stage. He had had the disease for three years. It was one of those which was running a slow course. The treatment he had had elsewhere in the past had been very effective in keeping the disease under control," Barnes said.

Scotland Yard homicide detectives were called in to track down the person who smuggled the lethal drug to Soblen. Officials at Britain Prison Hospital, where Soblen was held for two months, established that it was not stocked at the hospital.

Panel Working On Trade Bill Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee goes back to work on President Kennedy's trade expansion bill today with hopes for adjournment apparently hinging on how fast it can get the job done.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said newsmen he would do his best to get the bill out of committee by Friday. He said he hopes to hold morning and afternoon sessions.

Senate supporters of the administration trade bill were hopeful they would be able to give Kennedy the broad new tariff-cutting powers and other authority he asked, as the House did earlier this year.

However, they anticipate heavy pressure for inclusion of restrictive amendments in the bill.

The Finance Committee began voting on the trade bill on Aug. 23 but laid it aside so that members could take part in the two-week floor debate on Kennedy's tax revision measure.

If the trade bill can be brought up for floor action next week, leaders in both branches said they would drive to wind up the 1962 session by Sept. 29.

The Senate passed by a 45-22 vote Monday another of the most lopsided President Kennedy's legislative list and sent it to him to sign into law. The bill authorizes the President to spend $1 million on short-range public works.

JEK Arrives At Redstone Arsenal

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — President Kennedy landed at the Redstone Arsenal Airfield at 9:32 a.m. (CST) today on the first stop of a whirlwind tour of several space facilities.

Kennedy landed after a 90-minute flight from Washington on the presidential jet.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, traveling in another plane, came in five minutes earlier for the start of the whirlwind tour.

The 3,675-mile tour will take Kennedy from Huntsville to Cape Canaveral, Fla.; to the Houston, Tex., manned-spacecraft facilities and the McDonnell aircraft plant in St. Louis, Mo.

From his reception at the airfield, Kennedy traveled through both the Army and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration research and test sites.

The Saturn, target vehicle for sending a man to the moon by 1970, occupied most of his attention.

Kennedy's four-state tour is billed by the White House as a non-political business trip. The White House says it will enable him to examine work on space programs and provide background for consideration of next year's space budget.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Space Administrator James E. Webb and Congress members directly concerned with space programs are accompanying Kennedy.

The President's interest in U.S. booster capabilities was underscored by the first stop on his schedule — Huntsville, Ala. He planned to visit Cape Canaveral, Fla., later in the day.

At Huntsville, where the Army and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration operate space development projects, Kennedy will view Saturn and Titan rockets.

Saturn is currently the U.S. hope for shooting a man to the moon before 1970. Titan is the booster for the planned Gemini project to loft two men into space and orbit them for as long as two weeks at a time.

Brief Autumn Spell Ends

By The Associated Press

Texas' brief venture into autumn ended Tuesday with temperatures warming up as the cold front that swept the state Sunday and Monday dissipated.

Forecasters called for generally partly cloudy weather through Wednesday with warm temperatures. Some widely scattered showers were forecast for South and West Texas.

Monday, violent thunderstorms raked the Laredo area in Southwestern Texas. One tornado was sighted and lightning set a $5,000 barrel oil tank afire 30 miles southeast of Laredo. It burned for hours and the loss was estimated by the owner, Mobil Pipeline Co., at $100,000.

Two Pleas Heard In County Court

Andes David Frazier, Snyder, charged with aggravated assault with a knife, pleaded not guilty this morning in County Court. His bond was set at $1,000.

The charge was filed by city police and highway patrol officers. Also in County Court Robert H. Woodridge, Dallas, pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI. He had been arrested by the sheriff's department.

Woodridge was fined $100 plus court costs of $26.35 and sentenced to jail for three days.

Red China Scolds U. S. Again Today

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP) — Red China scolded the United States today about the flight of the Chinese Nationalist U-2 plane downed over the China mainland. But neither the Nationalists nor the U. S. government gave any indication they would halt Nationalist spy flights over Communist China.

Communist Chinese newspapers called the flight an intrusion and aggression. The downing of the craft over East China Sunday, said, "should serve as a good lesson to the American aggressors."

In Washington, the State Department and the Chinese Nationalist Embassy declined comment. U-2 flights over the Soviet Union were halted after pilot Francis Gary Powers was shot down in 1960, but there was no indication the high-altitude reconnaissance flights over Red China would be stopped.

It was learned in Washington that the State Department knew to what use Nationalist China would put the U-2s it bought in the United States, and that intelligence information gathered by Nationalist pilots was supplied the United States.

Nationalist China still considers the mainland its territory and brushes aside accusations that its flights are intrusions. Other types of Nationalist planes drop leaflets and food on the mainland.

The United States conceded Sept. 4 that a U. S. U-2 may have strayed over the southern tip of Soviet-held Sakhalin and that it was considering precautions to prevent a recurrence. Nothing ever was said to indicate that the United States was halting reconnaissance flights outside Soviet territory.

Peiping radio said an air force unit was decorated for shooting down the U-2. It still gave no details on how the plane, which flies at 60,000 to 80,000 feet during reconnaissance, was downed. There was speculation the weapon may have been a Soviet-made ground-to-air missile.

Communist China concentrated its propaganda fire on the United States. President Kennedy was accused of pretending to seek peace while preparing to make war in the Far East.

There was no direct threat of retaliation. But defense minister Marshal Lin Biao broadcast a directive to the air force to "step up its combat preparedness and make efforts to be ready at all times to strike at an invading enemy plane and win new victories."

In London, the laborite Daily Herald said U. S. sale of the U-2s to Chiang Kai-shek was completely irresponsible. "Allowing an ally to do this provocative act—and pass back the results to Washington—is almost worse than if America were directly involved," the paper said.

The conservative London Daily Telegraph said the downing of the plane "is likely to evoke irritation or dismay among America's friends and allies."

Warning For Cuban Morale

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The latest Soviet nuclear war warning today reads more like a statement to bolster the morale of the Fidel Castro government in Cuba than to intimidate the United States.

Whatever view Moscow and Washington may take, Castro and his followers may be seriously worried about the possibility of some new, strongly supported invasion attempt now that they are openly taking Soviet military assistance.

The White House and the State Department withheld immediate comment on the Soviet blast. But in the circumstances, some such statement as that which the Moscow government issued today would be welcomed in Havana. It might very well have been asked by Havana because of recent anti-

Castro developments in Washington. This is not the first time that such a device has been used by the Soviet Union. In the closing months of the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration, Premier Khrushchev personally threatened on more than one occasion to use Soviet rockets against the United States if this country committed aggression against Cuba.

What may be significant about it now, however, is that it seems to mark a further decline in the American-Soviet relationship already heavily strained by such events as the unsuccessful efforts to find a settlement for the Soviet-Western dispute over Berlin.

One hint that Khrushchev intends to keep the new round of angry argument within bounds, however, came in reference to Berlin. The statement, referring to the forthcoming U. S. congressional elections, said the Soviet government is willing to take the U. S. political situation into account in considering its own Berlin policies.

The statement noted that there had been a pause recently in U. S.-Soviet exploratory talks on Berlin—which was a softly worded way to describe an almost total breakdown in the exchanges.

Unexpected Holiday
ATLANTA (AP)—More than 600 employees of Georgia Power Co. got an unexpected holiday Monday. The power failed.

A fire in the basement of the 22-story building Sunday shorted out electrical circuits.

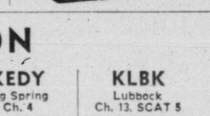

Small Child Found Safe

BRYAN (AP)—Searchers found Sophia Ann Grant, 4, safely clinging to the collar of her mongrel dog, Andy, Monday night after a 16-hour search.

The child was 2½ miles north of her home in a pasture. A physician said she was covered with ticks, but in good condition.

Louis Burkhalter and Gene Casey, both of Bryan, heard her dog bark, leading them to her. She was found at 11:45 p.m. Sophia had left home early in the morning for a trip across the road to her grandmother's home for breakfast. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Grant, said the visit is a usual occurrence.

The Grants live in Harvey, 6 miles south of here. Some 400 persons searched for the girl in an area of many ponds and creeks. Officers had feared she may have drowned.

44 Killed In Crash Of SAC Jet Tanker

By KEN JACKSON

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—All 44 persons aboard a Strategic Air Command jet tanker plane apparently were killed when the KC-135 plowed into a fog-shrouded ravine on 5,271-foot Mt. Kit Carson about 20 miles northeast of here Monday.

Thirty-three bodies had been recovered when nightfall halted the search of the 500-yard deep ravine. "It's the worst sight I've ever seen," said a highway patrolman. Aboard the plane were 39 Air Force men, all members of the 28th Bomb Wing at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D., one civilian and four crewmen.

The tanker, based at Ellsworth, was carrying the airmen to Fairchild Air Force Base near here, where they were to stay while Ellsworth runways were repaired. The jet was only 10 minutes from its destination when it crashed. Col. Floyd R. Cressman of Fairchild, one of the first to view the wreckage, said the pilot apparently tried to pull up the tanker at the last minute. Visibility was near zero at the time. Two volunteer searchers and a son of one of them found the wreckage, guided by the smell of smoke.

Bert Smith, Irving Hamann and his son, Wayne, all from Spokane, started searching after they had heard a report the plane was missing and apparently down in the Mt. Spokane-Mt. Kit Carson area.

"We decided to work our way down the steep slope," said Smith. "And as we did, the smell of smoke got stronger."

"Finally, we came across the first of the wreckage. It was smashed to pieces. Then we saw three bodies on the ground—all badly burned."

Smith and Hermann went to the nearby ranch of Barbara Rainwater and telephoned officers. "I'm glad we didn't look any farther than we did," Smith said. "I couldn't have looked any more."

A tandem tire, lodged against a pine tree, was the biggest piece of the plane intact.

The wreckage was scattered all over the side of the ravine. It was burned to a crisp. Outside of the tires, the remaining pieces were small enough to put in your pocket," said a newsman.

Fairchild Air Force Base lost radio and radar contact with the $2½-million Boeing jet at 11:10 a.m. Monday as a late summer fog swirled around the mountains. Rain was falling as the plane neared Spokane.

Air Force helicopters and a party of 300 made up of airmen and police were searching through the rain, low clouds and fog when volunteers found the wreckage.

Sterilization Is Opposed By Graham

WASHINGTON (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham has joined the Roman Catholic archbishop of Washington in condemning the voluntary sterilization program in Fauquier County, Va.

"We are in serious danger when we take on ourselves to sterilize women even with their permission," Graham told a news conference Monday.

He said the program could establish a precedent that might be exploited by "another ideology."

Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle said Sunday the sterilization program is "grossly immoral."

Sterilization in a Warrenton, Va., clinic is generally limited to married mothers with three or more children. But on some occasions, unmarried mothers of several children have been sterilized. Advice in use of contraceptives also is given.

The Human Betterment Association, which promotes voluntary sterilization when other methods of birth control fail, said in New York that sterilization is not contrary to Christian and Judaic doctrine generally.

Burning Ship Is Pulled To Beach

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—Spanish freighter caught fire in downtown Port Arthur today and half a dozen tugs pulled the vessel up the Sabine-Neches ship channel to beach it in an undeveloped area.

The fire, at one time considered contained, blazed anew after dawn when the superstructure caught fire.

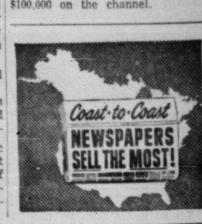

The ship is the Mar Cantabrico, loaded mainly with sulphur and lumber.

Fire Capt. Joe Richard said the "deck plates are so hot they will burn through the soles of your shoes." Firemen worked in spray from hoses to protect them from the heat.

The trip up the ship channel was about 5 miles. The blaze appeared centered in the No. 3 hold which was loaded with cressoted crossites and lumber. The sulphur aboard did not catch fire immediately, but heat caused sulphur fumes to envelop the ship and made, several firemen ill.

The 6,632-ton freighter was built in Spain in 1930. It is 421 feet long. It belongs to Cia Maritima del Nervion of Bilbao, Spain. Its last port was Lake Charles. It was en route to Beaumont, Tex. The vessel passed within 100 yards of homes valued at up to $100,000 on the channel.

MISS AMERICA STARTS HER REIGN—The new queen, 20-year-old Jacquelyn Jeanne Meyer, of Sabdusky, Ohio, Miss America of 1963, waves during a picture session at Atlantic City, N. The new Miss America, who entered the finals as Miss Ohio, is a college sophomore, is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 115 pounds and has measurements of 36-22-36. (AP Wirephoto)

Important Data In Soil Inventory

The basis of local Soil Conservation Districts is to "use each acre of land according to its capability and treat it according to its needs."

In order to do this the citizens, both rural and urban, need to know how soil and water resources are being used. The National inventory of Soil and water Conservation Needs, conducted by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with other Federal, State, and local agencies during 1957-1959 in more than 3,000 counties supplies this information, reports Gerald Johnson chairman of the Scurry and Borden County Conservation Needs Committee. The inventory shows that our land resources are adequate to meet the

Ministers Are Given Sermon Tips

"Hold on to the sermon until it takes hold of you" was the advice given by the Rev. Alan Lynch, pastor of First Christian Church, to the membership of the Snyder-Scurry County Ministerial Alliance at their September meeting Monday. He suggested that often the planned, carefully-worked out sermon could thus come to have more meaning for the hearers.

In his talk on "Ingenuity in Preaching" Mr. Lynch described various types of sermons and pointed out that the minister will have occasion to preach in many ways. Resolutions were passed concerning the loss of the Rev. Walter Mitchell, who was serving as Treasurer of the Alliance at the time of his untimely death. Plans were made for the members to serve as honorary pall-bearers for Bro. Mitchell in services held this afternoon at the First Baptist Church, of which he was pastor.

A nominating committee for new officers was named, consisting of the Rev. Harry Vanderpool, pastor of the First Methodist Church, the Rev. Jack Dean, pastor of North Side Baptist and the Rev. Hillis Herren, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, with Vanderpool named as chairman.

In the absence of Dr. Jimmie Nelson, president of the Alliance, the meeting was presided over by the Rev. Custis Fletcher, Vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church in Snyder.

Pen Is Finally Returned By HST

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — It cost only 98 cents.

But why, said the reporter, should he allow former President Harry S. Truman to make off with his old ballpoint pen?

So the Hartford Courant's Jack Zaiman asked Truman to search his pockets when the pen vanished after the ex-President used it to sign an autograph at a Democratic dinner Saturday.

Twice Truman poked through his pockets, but the pen eluded the former chief executive.

Zaiman refused to shrug off the loss, lamenting the pen in Monday's paper.

Local Republicans gave Zaiman another pen and urged him to be wary of whom he lends it to.

The missing pen was returned via a Democratic courier. Truman had found it after the dinner.

QBC 'Family Night' Slated This Evening

The Snyder Quarterback Club will stage a unique meeting tonight, but one that looks to be "sure-fire."

It's "family night," and all football players in the local system—from the seventh grade on up—are invited to attend and to bring along their moms and dads. The meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m., and will be held in the high school cafeteria.

The game film matching Texas and Mississippi in last year's Cotton Bowl Classic, presented in color and sound, will be shown as a highlight of the meeting. In addition to the players and their parents, any prospective QBC members are invited to attend.

A.I.M.E. To Host Annual Tournament

The annual A. I. M. E. golf tournament and barbecue, an affair which traditionally ushers in the wacky season hereabouts, is slated for this Thursday afternoon at the Snyder County Club.

There is an exceptional golfer in no prerequisite. In fact, it has been known to be a detriment, as the booby prizes in this particular tournament often outnumber the other awards.

Tee-off time is from 1-4 p.m., with the barbecue scheduled for 6:30 p.m. All members and guests are invited to participate, and may gain additional information from either O. C. Henderson at HI 3-4119 or Tony Hatfield at HI 3-6621.

The Yogi is also a little prankster, as are the nurses and "candy stripe girls" who attend him and visit with him, so that it's nothing unusual for them to play harmless tricks on each other during the course of the day.

Young Gilleland has nothing but praise for the candy strippers, doctors and nurses, who are daily helping to ease his confinement.

With a constitution such as his, the chances would seem excellent for him to return to the ball diamond at a future date. Right now, though, he's helping to brighten the Cogdell Hospital interior.

Yanks Gain More 'Breathing Room'

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
More room at the top for the New York Yankees after No. 400 by Mickey Mantle, a hit when it counted most by slumping Hector Lopez, and a masterful performance by a young pitcher for a rival contender.

Mantle's back in action in the American League battle following a six-game layoff with an injured side, belted the 400th home run of his 12-year career Monday night to pull the Yankees even in their close one with the Detroit Tigers, and Lopez drove across the winner with the first hit in his last 23 at bats, a three-inning single. End result: a 3-1 New York victory.

An infield single kept Dean Chance from registering a no-hitter for the third-place Los Angeles Angels over Minnesota's rump-run Twins. The 21-year-old right-hander turned the Twins away without a hit until there was one out in the eighth inning. Then Zoilo Versalles lashed a hard one up the middle which Jim Fregosi raced over to appear, but his throw to first was late and wild, permitting Versalles to reach second.

It went as an unquestioned hit, the only one Minnesota got. End result: a 5-0 Los Angeles victory. Also in the American League, Baltimore nipped Boston 2-1 on Dick Williams' 12th-inning pinch hit and Chicago edged Kansas City 4-3. Cleveland and Washington were not scheduled.

In the National League, Los Angeles maintained its half-game lead by whipping Chicago 8-1, runner-up San Francisco stayed right behind with a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh, Cincinnati overcame St. Louis 4-3 in 11 innings and Milwaukee beat New York 5-2. Philadelphia and Houston were idle.

Hank Aguirre, Detroit's left-hander, retired the first 12 Yankees in order before Mantle conducted for a mighty 450-foot blast that made him the seventh big leaguer to reach the 400-home run mark. The homer matched one by Al Kaline in the first and the last until Lopez cracked his sharp single to center off Aguirre with one out in the ninth, delivering Bobby Richardson from second base.

Ralph Terry posted his 21st victory with brief help from Bud Daley, who came on with two out in the ninth after singles by Kaline and Rocky Colavito and retired pinch batter Bubba Morton.

Chance, who came so close to notching the season's sixth no-hitter, struck out nine and permitted two walks in addition to the single by Versalles. Minnesota had two other base runners on an error and a fielder's choice.

The Angels backed up their big fast-baller with some early scoring against lefty Dick Stigman. Leon Wagner singled in a run in the first, and Fregosi rapped his first homer in the majors in the second after a single by George Thomas. Thomas homered in the fourth, and Fregosi brought in the game's final run with a ninth-inning squeeze bunt.

Williams' pinch single pinned a tough loss on Boston's Earl Wilson, who gave the Orioles only five hits before being nailed in the 12th. Dave Nicholson led off the winning rally with a single, Hobe Landrith walked and Mickey McGuire was safe on a fielder's choice, loading the bases and setting the stage for Williams' clincher.

Ray Herbert, veteran right-hander nearing the end of his finest season in the majors, won his 16th in the White Sox' narrow decision over the Athletics. Herbert was touched for 10 hits and had a rocky seventh inning, when the A's got all their runs, but went all the way.

Duke won the Atlantic Coast Conference golf title the last two years.

Bears Self-Styled Darkhorse Entries

(This is another in a series discussing Southwest Conference football prospects.)

BAYLOR
WACO (AP) — Ask the Baylor Bears for their opinion on 1962 prospects and you'll find they regard themselves as a Southwest Conference darkhorse, a strong contender for a first-division finish.

The reasons are several. First, there are 23 returning lettermen, including three starters and seven from the usual No. 2 unit of last season's injury-wrecked team. Defense, the big weakness of 1961, promises to be considerably improved. The Bears, deep in experienced guards, will switch these guards to tackle on defense, use a more forcing defense than a season ago, use the larger, less experienced tackles in the defensive middle.

The Baylor offense, which scored more points and gained more yards during the 6-5 season of 1961 than it did during the 8-2 season of 1960, could easily be a better balanced attack. For the Bears expect an improved running game because of improved line blocking.

The Bears, who Coach John Bridges said "are leaner and reported in better condition than any squad since I've been here," don't believe they can again suffer as rough a run of injuries as they did a season ago when 29 different players were used as starters for the 11 positions.

Baylor's chances, Bridges believes, rest with the amount of improvement that can be expected in line defense and blocking over 1961.

The Bears, spearheaded by junior quarterback Don Trull backed by such promising sophomores as Robert Christian and Bobby Maples, once again should have good passing and receiving. They should have more depth of good running backs, led by All-America candidate Ronnie Goodwin, who reported in best shape of his career after a summer of baseball.

Goodwin, who returns a 4.2 ball carrying average and possibly the league's best pass-receiving threat, is aided by juniors Kelly

Roberts and Johnny Roberts. Three lettermen, Bobby Norvell, Bert Tate and Don Adams, backlog the other halfback positions, while Junior Dalton Hoffman and sophomore Tom Davies offer the best power-running tandem prospects the Bruins have boasted in years.

The Bears are experienced thin at end with only three lettermen, James Ingram, Claude Pearson and Robert Harlan, but boast bright sophomore prospects in Lawrence Elkins, James Rust and Ken Hodge. The same is true at tackle where the lettermen are James Moore, Bobby Crenshaw and Johnny Jessup, but sophomores Arturo Delgado, Randall Washington, Fred Allen and Bill Simpson brighten the picture there.

All-conference candidates Captain Robert Burk and James (Butch) Maples head up the guard and center positions, respectively. Burk has top help from lettermen Ronnie Rogers, Robert Mankin and Billy Allen, and spring revelation Wayne Williamson, while Maples is backed by letterman Weldon Price and junior college transfer John Matyssek.

Catulus, the Greentree Stable bay colt who won the Juvenile and Flash at Saratoga this summer, was bred at Mereworth Farm in Lexington, Ky., and sold for $16,000 at the 1961 Saratoga yearling sales.

Tom Woodeshick, West Virginia right halfback, is a cousin of former American League pitcher Hal Woodeshick who is now pitching for the Houston Colts in the National League.

Laver Cops Grand Slam Of Tennis

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Rod (Grand Slam) Laver of Australia sat back today and waited for the professional tennis offers to roll in while he decides what he's worth in dollars and cents.

"But," he said, "right now I'm interested in the Davis Cup and I definitely won't consider any professional contracts until the challenge round in December."

Laver became the second man to score the coveted grand slam—Australian, French, Wimbledon and United States championships—when he whipped his Aussie Davis Cup mate, Roy Emerson, 6-2, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4, under cheerless gray skies at the West Side Tennis Club for the U.S. title Monday.

Only the great Don Budge had managed to pull off the coup before. Budge did it in 1938.

"He's the most valuable property in tennis," said ex-pro czar Jack Kramer. "But now that I'm out of it, I don't see how the pros can guarantee Laver more than $75,000."

Laver noted that $75,000 "isn't fantastic. I have a good arrangement now," and indicated his asking price is $150,000. However it turns out, though, Laver is certain to become a member of the pro troupe around the first of the year.

"I'd have to work three times as hard as a professional," Laver said, "but I would like to face players like Pancho Gonzalez, Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall."

So, as has become the custom, an Australian won the U.S. title for the seventh straight year. Tony Trabert, in 1953, was the last American to win it. In fact, he was the last native-born finalist.

That was hardly unexpected. But now new troubles loom in the women's division. Margaret Smith, a tall, 20-year-old blonde from Melbourne, also took the women's crown Down Under when she defeated long-time defender Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., 6-7, 6-4 in the women's final.

It was the first time in the 82-year history of the event that an Australian girl has won the championship.

"So he's going to turn pro after the challenge round," grinned Emerson. "Good. It will be nice to play someone else in these finals."

Emerson was Laver's victim in three of the four big U.S. titles. Australia, France and the United States.

Miss Hard had her troubles with both her service and the officials. She double faulted no fewer than 14 times and in the fifth game of the second set when a call upset her, she rushed to the wall at the stands and began to weep. Miss Smith won the final game at love when Miss Hard didn't even try to keep the ball in play.

"How can you play tennis when you're crying," she complained.

Man Swims Safely To West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — A 21-year-old man swam 300 yards to the safety of West Berlin today, despite gun fire from East German police.

The dramatic escape—the fifth of the day—occurred at 8:30 a.m. near the old Reichstag building. Jumping from the Marchfeld Bridge, the young man swam along the east bank of the Spree River. Apparently escaping detection until he was ready to swim across. Four shots were fired at him, West Berlin police said, but all missed.

Michigan State's retiring wrestling coach Fendley Collins developed 21 grapplers who won NCAA and AAU individual championships.

North Carolina has won the Atlantic Coast Conference cross country title the last two years.

Six-Orbit Flight Faces New Delay

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.'s intended six-orbit flight around the globe has been delayed three days until Sept. 28 to permit further time for preparation.

The decision came Monday after Project Mercury officials evaluated the readiness of all aspects. It was reported unofficially that the primary Pacific tracking ship, the Rose Knot, was not ready.

The Atlas booster rocket and Schirra's spacecraft were reported in excellent condition. They were joined together on pad No. 14 Monday and extensive compatibility checks were begun.

Schirra continued training here for the flight, which is to keep him aloft for nine hours, twice the flight time of astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. and Malcolm Scott Carpenter.

In Washington, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that a press headquarters for the Schirra flight will be set up at the Cape Colony Inn at Cocoa Beach, Fla.

This may create a controversy because the Cape Colony is the million-dollar hotel in which the seven astronauts invested part of the reported $100,000. Life magazine paid them for rights to their personal stories.

In May, a NASA spokesman said it was unlikely that any motel in which persons connected with NASA had a large interest would be used as a Project Mercury press center. Operators of other motels in the area have said this would amount to government competition.

The motel designated as press center is assured of selling out its accommodations.

People In The News

By The Associated Press
Richard W. Reuter, director of the U.S. Food for Peace program, told representatives of 30 nations attending the fifth International Food Congress in New York: "The people of America believe in this program, that the peace we seek can best come from a world of equals—living with dignity and freedom. I believe they dare to look toward the day we have banished hunger from the face of the earth."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and his daughter, Mrs. William Strawbridge Jr., previewed a new collection of primitive art at the Museum of Primitive Art in New York City with a mixture of pride and sadness. The collection was gathered in Dutch New Guinea by Michael Rockefeller, the governor's son and Mrs. Strawbridge's twin brother.

Michael, 23, disappeared in the New Guinea jungle 10 months ago and is presumed dead. Rockefeller and Mrs. Strawbridge, who supervised the search for Michael for a time, said they were proud of his work.

W. Walton Butterworth, 59-year-old career diplomat, is expected to be nominated new U.S. ambassador to Canada, according to Washington sources. A native of New Orleans, Butterworth is now the U.S. representative of the European Coal and Steel Community, the European Economic Community and the European Atomic Energy Commission.

Mrs. Caroline Rogers of Philadelphia says if people want to live a long time they should learn to live quietly and slow down. Mrs. Rogers is 100 years old.

Two Crewmen Killed In Train Crash

CRENSHAW, Miss. (AP)—Two crewmen were killed when a southbound Illinois Central freight train slammed into the rear of another freight near here.

Killed in the crash Monday were engineer J. P. Barnes, 67, and fireman Will Taylor, 60, of the trailing train, both of Memphis, Tenn.

Missile Silos Are Built To Withstand Big Nuclear Blast

By INEZ ROBB

PLATTSBURGH AIR FORCE BASE, N. Y.—The stunning complexity of the scientific and engineering feats that produce an intercontinental ballistic missile, such as the Atlas F, and its all-launcher are so incomprehensible to the average man in finding something so simple and easily understandable as a miner's lamp on every level of the 18-story silo.

"We keep them burning all the time to detect whether the nitrogen gas level gets too high," said Col. Calvin W. Fite, Jr., commander of the "Site Activation Task Force." Boiled down, the military phrase means the big, rough-hewn concrete is in charge of building the ring of 12 silos or launching sites for the Atlas F missiles that will surround Plattsburgh by January 1, 1963.

As he spoke, the colonel was ducting a guided tour of the No. 8 or Ellensburg silo for Lieut. Gen. Thomas Patrick Gerrity, Air Force deputy chief of staff for systems and logistics, who is responsible for all the force's aerospace weapons, and myself.

The No. 8 site is 27 miles northwest of Plattsburgh in pastoral country where the military car taking us to the silo was twice stopped to permit big dairy herds, monopolizing the country road, to amble past us.

But there is nothing simple or pastoral about the Ellensburg silo or the Atlas F missile it houses, one of the six Atlases already in place in the Plattsburgh area. Every statistic emphasizes the terrrible power inherent in both. Burrowed deep in the earth, the silo is 174 feet deep—or high—comparable to an 18-story building, and 32 feet in diameter. It now only houses the 80-foot-high Atlas F but is jam-packed with intricate equipment.

Let's take a look at a few of the statistics. At its ninth or bottom level, the concrete walls of the silo are two and a half feet thick. At the top, they measure nine feet. And all reinforced by hundreds of thousands of pounds of steel.

The two steel doors atop the silo what would, in case of war, open to free the Atlas F weigh 90 tons each. The concrete walls on the missile-launching platform weigh 500,000 pounds and contain more than 300,000 separate parts. And everything within the silo, including the missile itself, is suspended on four gigantic sets of springs or shock absorbers which permit the equipment to move up and down or sideways in case of blast.

"We have built into these silos an ability to withstand a forceful nuclear blast," explained General Gerrity, without explaining just how "forceful."

We moved from level to level in the silo's big freight elevator on which an old trolley car bell rang constantly when the elevator was in use, on the six top levels, noted that the core of the silo was occupied by what seemed to be a huge Christmas package wrapped in aluminum foil.

That, Colonel Fite explained, housed the missile itself, a shelter within a shelter in which the temperature must be kept cool and constant. At the 6A level, the door to this special shelter was opened. We stepped in, and there the enormous missile loomed over us. It looked like a shiny bauble rather than one of the world's most destructive weapons, waiting to carry nuclear havoc a quarter of the globe away.

The giant bird appeared as solid as Gibraltar. Yet despite all of its potential power, its steel skin is thinner than a dime. The giant would collapse like a torn toy balloon if it were not kept drum-tight by the constant pressure of helium or nitrogen gas.

The Atlas F is attended by scores of automated machines or nursemaids of the greatest delicacy and precision. These include, on the third level of the silo, a quiet special electronic brain.

Basically these are memory units," said General Gerrity, patting one of the units on top of its steel gray matter. "They deal with the preparation and firing of the missile. This is a very logical brain that will not permit the missile to fire until every system registers 'ready' in every particular."

The Atlas F, if it ever must be fired, will not be fired from the silo itself, but from the launch control center, a two-story concrete chamber buried deep in the earth. A tunnel connects the two. The center contains the actual launch console.

But the bird's not apt to go off incidentally," General Gerrity said reassuringly. "We have a system of control that will certainly inhibit any inadvertent launching or permit any individual from going berserk and firing at random. You can be sure of that!"

Jones Thinks Human Race Lost Cause

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist James Jones, who enjoys life hugely himself, feels the human race is a lost cause.

"I'm pessimistic about mankind," he said cheerfully. "I think mankind is a dead race — one way or the other."

"Either he'll be the springboard to a greater race that will be as much above present man as man is above the animals, or else he'll kill himself off," Jones says. "In either case man—as he is now—goes. The question is not whether to save mankind, but whether mankind has the guts to change."

Jones, a soldier turned author, started the literary world in 1951 with "From Here to Eternity," which sold more than four million copies. Critics now are hailing as an able sequel, a raw, realistic story of combat on Guadalcanal, where Jones himself was wounded.

Jim, the most powerful writer to emerge from World War II, looks like his prose sounds. He's a slugger — thick-chested, muscular, with a chin like a concrete dam.

Now married and the father of a 3-year-old daughter, Jim roams between Paris and the island of Jamaica. He likes to box, skin dive, and collect guns, knives, jazz records and Indian carvings. Stubborn, toughly sentimental, he likes to go on an occasional binge. But he is a laborious craftsman to whom the production of a novel is usually a lonely, arduous one-man military campaign, lasting from three to four years.

"I don't wait for inspiration—no real writer can," he says. "I just sit my behind down at the typewriter and work. It takes me an hour to get started. I just sit there until I get geared up. Then I keep at it for five more hours."

"I also like to keep in good physical shape. But I wouldn't give up living to stay in shape. There are a lot of enticements in living."

Jim put in five years in the Army, and knew some lean post-war years before book and movie sales flooded him with a tide of dollars, which he enjoys spending with both hands.

"Success hasn't changed my basic viewpoint," he said, opening a can of beer in his hotel room. "It has given me money, and I live better — which I'm not against."

"But success is like history. It's just one big lie—except for the money."

He likes to feel that he looks at the world honestly and without illusion or hypocrisy.

"Life has been great to me," he acknowledged, "but it is still scary, and for most people it is nothing but a jungle."

"You get that feeling when you are skin diving. Things sting and hurt you and don't even know it. They have no conception of what they do."

"People are like that too. But there is a hunger in man, as he is made up now, to perpetuate cruelty."

"Morally, man is now the same in peace as he is in war. The only difference is that in peace the selfish people stick in each other are only verbal."

"But man has to learn to be better than that. If he is going to evolve into a higher type of life form, he has to become a type that would prefer to accept pain rather than inflict it on others."

Junior Editors Quiz on DAYS OF WEEK

QUESTION: Who named the days of the week?

ANSWER: No one can say what particular person named the week days; these names came into use in ancient times, when many gods were worshipped. The days got their names because each one became sacred to some particular god or goddess. The Anglo-Saxon word "monendæg" meant Goddess of the Moon, so this was the Moon's day, or Monday. Tuesday was Tyr's day, Tyr being the God of War in ancient Norway. Wednesday was sacred to Odin or Woden, ruler over Valhalla. His two ravens flew around the world every day and brought him the news. Odin's famous son Thor, God of thunder and lightning, gave his name to Thor's day, or Thursday. Frigg, Odin's wife, gave us Frigg's day, Friday; she was so wise she knew everything. Saturday comes from the Roman god Saturn, god of the harvest. The Romans had a gay festival called a "Saturnalia." Among the old European peoples Sunday meant "The day of the sun." The sun was always popular in ancient mythology, worship of our own star going back to the days of the Egyptians.

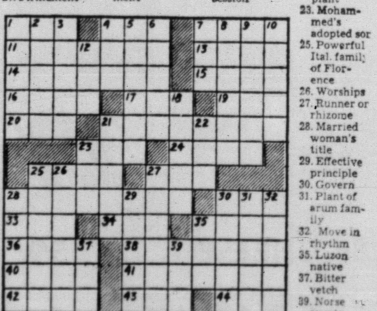

FOR YOU TO DO: Many of our ideas and customs come from the legends of long ago. These are great fun to read. See if you can find a book which will acquaint you with the mythology of the Norse gods.

(Karl Rhee Magnusson of Meade, Kansas, wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.)
