Five Die, 29 Hurt In Explosion, Fire

(By The Associated Press)

DENISON, Nov. 21—A fiery explosion that swept through a block of this city late today following the collision of a butane gas tank truck and an automobile fatally injured five persons and burned 29 others, 11 critically.

Eyewitness reports said flames engulfed victims more than half a block away from the scene and the explosion rocked homes over a wide area.

Police speculated the blast was set off by a passing train or by the exhaust of an automobile after the collision had freed the gas from the tank truck.

People All Dazed

Chief of Police Paul Borum, who called the explosion "the worst tragedy in Denison's history," was one of the first on the scene.

"It seemed that people were just standing there dazedly watching while human torches ran about screaming for help," he said.

"The explosion and the blaze was over so quickly that everyone was too stunned to act. It was several minutes before the bystanders could comprehend what had happened. It was almost necessary to use force to get the uninjured to help the injured."

Borum said H. F. Hammond of Sherman, who later died, was blown 250 feet and fell to the ground with his clothing aflame.

Clarence Scott, former mayor of Denison who was not injured, was among the eyewitnesses.

Flying Through Air

"People," he said, "were flying through the air."

Willie Mott, a maid at the home of Mrs. Ed Kilgore who was among the critically injured, said: "Everybody seemed to be running and everyone seemed panic-stricken. Everybody had their clothes burned off."

A horse in a barn a block away from the explosion was blown out of the barn and through a fence.

Many residences in the area were scorched by the blast and one burned to the ground.

A small grocery warehouse was blown to bits while a service station next to it was hardly touched.

Army Doctors Assist

Doctors from Perrin field, basic flying school at Denison, assisted local physicians in caring for the victims and plasma from Perrin was used. Nurses aides from nearby Sherman, were called to help nurses aides from Denison at the two Denison hospitals.

The dead were listed as Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Swenney, Kansas City; F. L. Nix, Denison, H. F. Hammond, Sherman and Lonnie Iker, of Denison.

Lewis Henry of Denison, another eyewitness, said Earl Vick, a

B-29's Lash Big Aircraft Center

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. — American B-29 Superfortresses engaged in their first big air battle over Japan today as they bombed Omura, giant aircraft center, for the third time in less than a month.

The occurrence of the attacks indicates that plans for the aerial offensive are progressing toward the time when the Japanese will be hit by regularly scheduled flights, increasing in frequency.

At least 20 enemy planes were certainly shot down, 16 others probably destroyed and an additional 19 damaged in fighting. A communique from 20th Airforce headquarters said it was too early to report on American losses since there had not been time for all planes to complete the long flight back to Chinese bases.

Japs Claim Many Downed

(The Tokyo radio, which customarily broadcasts extravagant claims of Japanese successes, said 70 B-29's took part in the air blow and that 14 definitely were shot down and 11 more probably. It said four Japanese planes were lost, one by crashing into superfort.)

While one B-29 task force carried out this strike, others hit warehouse and transportation facilities at the enemy-held Chinese cities of Shanghai and Nanking.

The blow at Omura was the eighth B-29 raid on the Japanese homeland and brought the first encounter, a communique of the 20th Airforce said, with "strong fighter opposition."

Hit Twice Previously

Located on Kyushu, southermost of the Japanese islands, the Omura plant has about 75 buildings, including assembly, repair and training facilities. It was hit previously on Oct. 25 and Nov. 11 and the 20th Airforce communique spoke of the third raid as a continuation of the "strategic reduction" of that major source of enemy air power.

The Superforts, heavily armed and armored, were designed with the view that they should be able

Germans Soberly Tell Of Losses

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP) — The German people got from their military reporters today a sombre account of German armies yielding ground before an Allied offensive "which has not yet reached its peak."

Abandonment of their Eschweiler salient in the Aachen sector, trapping of a German garrison in Metz, the American Seventh Army's drive to Sarrebourg, the spectacular French breakthrough to the Rhine—all were broadcast by Berlin, sometimes in pessimistic terms.

Most of the German accounts emphasized the danger to the Reich represented by the Belfort breakthrough. The situation along the Rhine was usually described cautiously as still "too fluid" for conclusions on its ultimate importance, but Martin Hallensleben, German news agency correspondent, said flatly it "might well place the Germans in a precarious situation."

Battles Of Materiel

Hallensleben said the Aachen and Metz fronts had developed into "mammoth battles of material," and added "there can be no doubt that the German defense will find it difficult to make a stand against this onrush of packed power."

More cautious, Transocean's correspondent Ludwig Sertorious said the Belfort breakthrough could not yet "actually be termed as critical," but added that it offered an opportunity to the Allies to destroy the entire Vosges line of the Germans by rolling up its rear with an advance northward along the Rhine.

Determined Japs Put Division Into Bitter-End Scrap

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 22—American troops slowly and painfully loosened the Japanese hold on northern approaches to the Ormoc valley today despite miserable weather and an apparent Japanese decision to sacrifice an entire division if necessary to hold present positions near the village of Limon.

Weary units of the 24th Infantry division—which has borne the brunt of the entire Leyte battle—yesterday repulsed bloodily the third determined enemy attack on the road block which the Americans now hold across the Ormoc highway south of the enemy strongpoint at Limon.

Japs Cling Stubbornly

Meanwhile, the Japanese in Limon clung stubbornly to their positions, which General MacArthur noted included elaborate trench systems and heavy fortifications; and the daily communique asserted that general Yamashita had apparently decided to commit the famous First Japanese division to hold the town. When Limon was first cut off from the main Japanese forces to the south, Americans estimated that a regiment of the First Japanese division held the town. However, infiltration and at least one tank-aided attack during the first hours of the road block may have permitted the reinforcement of this group. The communique indicated that the entire enemy division was involved.

Frontal Pressure

The communique said fresh troops of the 32nd division were maintaining steady frontal pressure against Limon, reducing the enemy works piecemeal when necessary. This was the only aid in sight for the hollow-eyed 24th Infantry units which—sometimes receiving their supplies by air plane and parachute—were still holding the rainsodden positions

Toll Of Japs On Islands Mounts

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Nov. 21. (AP)—American troops cleaning up the Marianas and Palau islands have increased Japanese deaths in those areas to a grand total of 63,388.

A communique by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz today covering Japanese casualties through Nov. 13 reported that a total of 3,267 prisoners had been captured in the operations which began at Saipan June 14.

The new Nipponese casualty figures disclosed that a total of 6,962 Japanese have been killed in the mop-up operations since the last officially reported totals, which were released Oct. 11.

1857 More Captured

In the same period, American troops have captured an additional 1,857 prisoners.

These are grand totals:

Saipan—Japanese killed, 26,277; captured 2,068.

Guam—killed, 17,238; captured, 463.

Tinian—killed, 6,893; captured, 316.

Angaur and Peleliu (in the Palau group)—killed, 12,980; captured, 420.

On Guam, 3,171 Nipponese have been killed since the last totals reported Aug. 18, when the battle officially ended.

Cleanups on Saipan—killed 1,133 more Japanese after the battle and captured 1,053. On Angaur and Peleliu, the patrols killed 1,510, captured 125; and on Tinian, they killed 1,148 but did not increase the prisoner total.

"Big 3" Meet Said Slated For Moscow

LONDON, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—A Paris radio report heard by the London Daily Mail's monitors said today that the next Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference will be held in Moscow, because the imminence of the Red Army's general winter offensive makes it impossible for the Soviet premier to leave Russia.

Fort Almost Halved But Crew Sticks On

SEATTLE, Nov. 21 (AP)—Boeing Aircraft Co. today told how 2nd Lt. John Bosko, Seattle, refused to "give up his ship," though his Flying Fortress was blasted nearly in two by an anti-air craft shell over Germany, and flew the plane to an emergency landing field in England.

"The shell hit the bomb bay and exploded inside, just scant seconds before the Fortress was ready to drop its bomb load on its target. By some miracle the bombs did not explode but those in the racks on one side were jarred loose and fell," said the advices from an 8th Air force bomber station. "The ones on the other side were jammed in their racks and could not be released.

zFire broke out . . . Sgt. Peter W. La Fleur, Port Arthur, Tex., tore flaming insulation from the cockpit.

Staff Sgt. Bishop E. Ingraham, Castle Creek, N. Y., went into the bomb bay and, with a pair of pliers, freed the jammed bombs allowing them to drop into the sea."

SOUTHERN END OF WESTERN FRONT—The French First Army and the American Seventh Tuesday drove into Mulhouse and Sarrebourg, respectively, in a drive for the Rhine and Berlin, while four other Allied armies farther north smashed ahead on the blazing 400-mile Western front as General Eisenhower called for more supplies so the pressure may be maintained "until Germany is crushed."

Rainey And Dobie Called In Inquiry

AUSTIN, Nov. 21. (AP)—A Senate committee today recessed until Monday, when it will hear medical branch faculty members, its investigation into the University of Texas' administrative tangle.

Making a brief reappearance, Dr. Homer P. Rainey, deposed president of the university, testified that he felt "definite forces had been working over a long time toward my removal and in such an atmosphere I had little opportunity to work effectively."

Rebuttal Testimony

He offered rebuttal testimony to that of Orville Bullington and other regents that he had not been diligent enough in seeking a permanent director of the university's cancer research hospital in Houston by declaring a long and careful search had narrowed to two men, one whose release was refused by the U. S. Surgeon General and another who declined appointment.

The declination came, he said, from Dr. Grady H. Twombly of New York.

Rainey introduced a letter he said was from Dr. Twombly declaring "I think they want a willing young clinician to run a small tumor clinic for them now."

Portion Of Letter

The letter added: ". . . It seemed to me that Dr. Bertner would expect me to give either the actual direction of the cancer institute or the credit for it to him. I am sure we would have difficulty in agreeing, and he would have great advantages in any disagreement, knowing the people of Houston as he does."

Dr. E. W. Bertner is now acting director of the research hospital and Dr. Rainey asserted that he had heard Dr. Bertner had been offered a university regency.

Dr. Rainey testified further that he now attacked significance to a statement by Bullington in which the regent declared Rainey had not been diligent in weeding out a "nest of homosexuals" in the university faculty.

Bullington Challenge

At the Nov. 1 meeting in Houston at which Dr. Rainey was discharged and three regents resigned, Dr. Rainey said Bullington declared that if Rainey did not retract a public statement of 16 instances of alleged repressive measures taken by the faculty against him Bullington would make a counter statement.

He quoted Bullington as then adding:

"If we are forced to make this statement it is going to be the end of you personally. It will blast you from one end of this country to the other."

J. Frank Dobie, professor of English and southwest folklorist, testified the regents have built a Maginot line around the university with the purpose of keeping out ideas.

He added:

"It will be about as successful as the real Maginot line."

Then he added some observations concerning his opinion of the university's situation. Noting there had been frequent references to rumors of communism in the university in testimony of regents and others, Dobie said:

"There is a hysteria over communism today more apparent than a year ago. It's about as rational as the hysteria of bobby sox girls over Sinatra.

"It seems to be founded in distrust of democracy, promoted by special interests who unrealistically are hounding the shadow of old normalcy harping instead on the handwriting on the wall.

"If any man in Texas has a liberal thought he is branded as a communist by the special interests spokesmen who refuse to recognize that this all-enveloping war is both evolution and revolution.

"A great deal of the talk with reference to communism is based on a distrust of the people knowing the whole economic picture."

Tech Brought Into Case

Dobie told the committee the "purge" didn't start at the University of Texas and declared that when John W. Carpenter of Dallas was a member of the board of Texas Technological college at Lubbock "John Granbury was fired ostensibly for some religious view he had."

"Hoblitzelle is now a member of the Tech board," he said.

"The faculty there is cowed. It has been squelched. They can't speak out. Of course, they can speak on anything that is not controversial."

Sen. Pat Bullock of Colorado City asked:

"Do you mean that men of the type of Hoblitzelle have control of the Tech board."

"Yes. I imagine most members appointed by the last two governors think in the same way. I would say Hoblitzelle's ideas permeate the board because their ideas are in harmony with his."

Lt. Dudley Brummett Missing In Action

DICKENS, Nov. 21. (Special) — Sec. Lt. Dudley K. Brummett, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. C. Brummett of Dickens, has been missing in action over Germany since Nov. 6, according to information received by his parents today from the War department.

BRUMMETT

Lt. Brummett graduated from Lubbock High school in 1936, and attended Texas Tech for three years. He was licensed for law practice in 1942. Entering the Army in Nov. of 1942, he reiceived his Air Corps wings at the Yuma, Ariz., field. Since September of this year Lt. Brummett has been stationed in England.

His wife, the former Northa West, is expected to arrive in Dickens Wednesday.

Government Study In Universities Slated

AUSTIN, Nov. 21. (AP)—A University of Texas faculty commttee will conduct a study of governments in American state universities, Dr. M. R. Gutsch, secretary of the general faculty, announced today.

The committee will study relations between general faculty, administration, and boards of regents and academic freedom and tenure rules as well as the entire educational setup in the universities, he said.

CHEVALIER CLEARED

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—The British radio said today that Maurice Chevalier, French actor, had been cleared of charges of collaboration by a committee which had been investigating his activities during German occupation.

Crop Insurance Proposal Is Said 'Gold Mine' For South

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) — The federal insurance program considered in the House today will be a virtual "gold mine" to the South if it is passed by Congress, many southern congressmen believe.

"If it is approved and works out as we expect, it will mean a new era for southern farmers, where they can plan their production on a business-like basis," said Rep. Cooley (D-NC), chairman of the agriculture subcommittee which drafted the measure.

He referred particularly to the part of the bill dealing with experimental work. Under those sections, in addition to the full program on wheat, cotton and flax, the government would try out insurance on the following crops:

Corn, tobacco, rice, peanuts, soybeans, sugar beets, citrus fruits, tame hay and other farm commodities on which adequate data can be obtained.

"Thus the South's three main crops—cotton, tobacco and peanuts—may come fully under the program, if the trials on the latter two work out as we plan," Cooley told a reporter.

Under the act participating farmers would be insured against crop losses from hail, wind, frost, flood, winter-kill, lightning, tornado, insect infestation and plant disease. Sponsors said no private company writes such over-all coverage.

Regents Said Due To Name President At El Paso Meet

AUSTIN, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Austin American will say tomorrow it has learned from "a very authoritative source" that University of Texas regents meeting in El Paso, Nov. 24 and 25, will name a new university president.

The paper did not name the source of its information.

The board voted at its last meeting to meet in El Paso, Customarily it meets occasionally at branches of the university in Houston, Galveston and El Paso, although it has not met in recent years in El Paso, where the college of mines is located.

Drive In South May Pocket German Army

Mulhouse Taken By French, Yanks Past Sarrebourg

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Paris, Nov. 21—French and American troops of the Sixth Army group battled into the citadel city of Mulhouse and drove well beyond Saarebourg to within 27 miles of the Rhine today in great encircling movements that threatened to pocket the entire German 19th Army with its back to the river.

French First Army armored forces speared into Mulhouse in a race northward from their footholds on the French side of the Rhine near the German-Swiss-French border to cut off the Germans between the Vosges mountains and the river.

Seventh Drives East

U. S. Seventh Army troops some 75 miles northward drove due east through the Vosges, captured Sarrebourg and thrust six miles farther and took Mittelbronn.

On the northern end of the great Western front the Allies still were advancing, but it was a savage slugging match in comparison with the fluidity in the south.

From north to south, the lineup of the six Allied armies was:

The British Second Army on the northern flank ground slowly ahead in the Geilenkirchen area.

The American Ninth Army surged within sight of the Roer river.

There were some signs of enemy withdrawal on the Ninth's southern front, but on its north flank resistance was ferocious.

Third Merges Holdings

The American Third Army merged its holdings inside Germany to a continuous 11-mile front running southeast from near Besch.

At Metz, Fort Queleu on the southwest surrendered with its garrison of 200 Nazis.

Southeast of Metz the Third Army registered gains up to three miles and was within 10 miles of

Reds Tear Holes In Nazi Defenses

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP)—A new Russian offensive in Czechoslovakia and northeast Hungary between Ungvar and Tokaj has torn several holes in the German defenses while a strong drive in southwest Latvia ripped for the third day into the Nazis pocketed around Ventspils and Liepaja, Berlin reported tonight.

Moscow ignored both sectors, the night Russian communique telling only of a small gain in a line-straightening operation west of Eger in northeast Hungary and the virtual clearance of the Baltic island of Saare.

Five Towns Captured

Five towns were captured in Hungary, the principal one being the railway station of Verpelet, 8 miles southwest of Egor, the Soviet communique said.

It said nothing of the continuing siege of Budapest from points south and southeast of the Hungarian capital and said there were no changes on any other fronts except in the narrow southern peninsula of Saare (Osel) island, covering the entrance to the Gulf of Riga.

There the sudden Russian attack took 18 populated places and compressed the isolated enemy into a pocket 4½ miles deep which is being shelled from all points, Moscow announced. With their backs to the sea, the Germans were in a hopeless plight. The Germans admitting withdrawing to the southwest tip of the island.

Southwest Latvia

On the mainland in southwest Latvia the much larger German forces—estimated by Premier Stalin at 30 divisions—which have been trapped for weeks, were in somewhat similar plight.

German broadcasters said the Russians had ripped through the Nazi defenses above Vainode, 35 miles southeast of Liepaja and that "medium strength" Soviet forces were being used in the drive on Liepaja and Ventspils, 70 miles north of Liepaja.

Hopes Fade For Success Of Russo-British Bloc Proposal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) — The chances that Europe will be carved up into western and eastern blocs dominated respectively by Britain and Russia are growing dimmer.

French policy appears to be the reason for this trend but there are some indications that the British are less enthusiastic about the idea than they once were. The Russians have said all along that they did not like it.

The trend is being watched with deep interest here because American policy with respect to Europe calls for no blocs, in the sense of tightly knit and potentially antagonistic groups. It calls rather for the submergence of old balance of power political systems in the interest of continent-wide and world wide cooperation.

One of the clearest statements of French policy on the subject of European political organization came today from Foreign Minister Georges Bidsult at Paris. Evidently referring to published reports that Prime Minister Churchill and General de Gaulle had more or less agreed on a western European bloc during their recent conference at Paris, Bidsult said France actually is opposed to an exclusive western bloc.

France favors, he said, an alliance in the west and an alliance in the east and will never allow itself to be limited to western Europe.

80 Nazis Smashed In Big Air Battle

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 21—Seventy-four Nazi planes were destroyed in the air and six more wrecked on the ground today as the largest aerial escort in history, more than 1,100 American fighters, fought a series of savage sky battles to protect a fleet of 1,250 Fortresses and Liberators which hit three vital German oil refineries with 4,000 tons of bombs.

Forty U. S. heavy bombers and 17 fighters were missing from the attack, although a communique said some of them may have landed in friendly territory.

FDR Joins Plea For Production

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP) — President Roosevelt said today American soldiers' lives had been lost because of the necessity of rationing shells in Europe. He joined in General Dwight D. Eisenhower's urgent plea for greater production on the home front.

Soon after Eisenhower declared at supreme headquarters that he and his soldiers want "more supplies than we are getting," the President discussed the situation at a news conference.

It is perfectly clear, he said, that not enough shells are being sent to the other side, that rationing resulted and this has been costly in life. He wanted, he said, to add his little plea to that of Eisenhower for the materials essential to the Allied strategy.

People Quitting Jobs

Part of the trouble, the President said, is that people are quitting their jobs in war plants, because they want to get into civilian production as a hedge against post war unemployment. They must be replaced, he said, by inexperienced workers who cannot produce as fast and sometimes break machines, resulting in still greater slow down in production.

Asking workers to stay on the job, Mr. Roosevelt gave as his opinion that reconversion from war production to civilian production will be much quicker than most people expect. He also expressed belief that industry in general, including the reconverted plants, will maintain "take home" pay after the war at about the same level as wartime pay even though hours are shortened.

WLB Orders Strikers To Return To Jobs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The War Labor board directed tonight that Ohio telephone operators return to work immediately or face government seizure of the facilities.

WLB hearing chairman N. P. Feinsinger gave union officials until 10 a. m. tomorrow to decide whether they would recommend that members of the state federation of telephone workers return to work.

The WLB official said that the work must be resumed before the labor board could undertake a disposition of grievances. He stressed that this had been the procedure in all strikes.

"It may be," Feinsinger told the unionists, "that this case may require special procedure. When the operators are back at work they will have the right to ask adoption of such special procedures and they will be granted within the board's power.

"The only alternative," Feinsinger asserted, "is probable government seizure. In this case, work would be resumed under the same terms as prevailed at the time the strike started."

Temperatures Go To 43 Below

The American armada flew through temperatures as low as 43 degrees below zero in order to pound the refineries at Hamburg and Harburg and the large Leuna synthetic oil plant at Merseburg.

The Eighth and Ninth Air forces marshalled history's greatest escort of Thunderbolts, Mustangs and Lightnings from bases in both Britain and France to cover the assault on the trio of zealously-guarded Nazi targets and the luftwaffe came up in strength to resist the attack.

The U. S. communique said the Germans sent up more than 20 interceptors, but the tremendous escort engaged the Nazis so thoroughly that only one bomber formation was actually attacked. In this conflict a bomber gunner shot down one enemy plane.

Seventy-three Nazi fighters, at least six of them the enemy's fast jet-propelled models, were accounted for by the American fighter pilots in a series of spectacular dogfights.

Areas Are Strafed

After the bombers were well on the way home, some of the escorting planes dropped down to strafe enemy objectives and besides destroying half a dozen grounded enemy aircraft, shot up three locomotives.

The Leuna synthetic plant was assigned to the Fortresses while the Liberators attacked the Deutsche refinery at Hamburg and the Rhenania refinery at Harburg. Bombing generally was done under adverse conditions, although some groups were able to see through to their targets momentarily through breaks in the clouds.

In all, nearly 3,500 Allied war planes ranged over Nazi territory today.

About 200 RAF Lancasters also blasted a synthetic oil refinery at Homberg in the Ruhr while a small force of Italy-based heavies of the 15th Airforce pounded on objectives in Yugoslavia.

The Hamburg, Harburg and Merseburg plants produced a to-

Mud, Snow Slow Troops In Italy

ROME, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Italian land campaign was sagged in the mud, snow and fog of the Appenines and the lower Po valley today. Only a few minor engagements were reported.

American Havoc attack bombers carried the campaign to the Germans with a 12-hour assault on one of the few crossings of the Po river left to the Germans—a pontoon bridge near Ostiglia on the main road between Modena and Verona, about 50 miles north of the front lines below Bologna.

Planes Cruise Area

Planes cruised over the crossing all night, bombing occasionally and strafing enemy traffic moving over the bridge. Results were believed to have been good, although a ground haze prevented close observation.

On both the Fifth and Eighth Army fronts activity was confined mainly to patrolling, although the Germans made a few small raids against the Fifth.

Eighth Army troops moved in after a strong artillery attack and took stoutly-defended buildings at Zuccherificio, about two miles south of Ravenna, used as a German observation post. A number of prisoners were taken.

Texan Is Member Of "The Fighting Cooks"

WITH THE 96TH INFANTRY DIVISION ON LEYTE, Philippines, Nov. 20 (UP)—Pfc. John B. Owens of Waco, Tex., is one of "the fighting cooks" — seven of the toughest hombres in the legendary 14th corps.

A heroic mess crew, headed by Sgt. Bahena of Los Angeles, the seven formed a key part of the 14th corps in the battle of Catmon hill—an action that brought commendation from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

In the battle for the hill, vehicles bogged down in the mud—but the men at the front had to be fed. So the seven fought their way through Jap snipers, swamps and river to keep the food supply going. They formed a human chain, right under Jap sniper fire, to get foodstuffs across a 30-foot river—a private battle against the enemy that lasted six days.

Fourteenth annual Thanksgiving services of Central Baptist church will be read at 8 o'clock tonight at the church, by Rev. Jack Welch, who is a co-pastor with his brother, Rev. Jeff D. Welch. The church is at 1311 Eighteenth. There will be special quartet singing. A communion service will be read afterward.

Blackwel Mattress company officials, admittedly weary of "constant answering of the telephone," asked Avalanche-Journal publications Tuesday afternoon to make this explanation to the public: It is true that a permit had been granted by the War Production board for manufacture of innerspring mattresses, but "that means nothing whatsoever for at least six to nine months." It was explained that, "regardless of priority, capacity of large manufacturers of springs is completely booked up by the armed services and springs are not available for any amount of money, not even through black markets—there is no black market for springs, because there are no springs." Blackwell company officials said they had had numerous calls from out-of-Lubbock business men after news of the WPB's announcement had circulated.

Prof. Lester Jordon, head of the department of journalism and publicity at Southern Methodist university, Dallas, will arrive here Friday to attend the SMU—Texas Tech game Saturday.

K. T. Renner, head of the department of dairy manufactures at Texas Tech, is to leave Saturday for Chicago where he will attend the War Conference of American Butter Institute to be held there Nov. 28-30. Prof. Renner will confere with members of the National Dairy Council in regard to dairy council work in Texas, also with war food administrators and government grading officials about government purchase of butter from this area.

Funeral services for William Burdine Grant, 80, who died early Monday night at his home in Matador, were held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Matador Church of Christ. Burial was in Matador cemetery, Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home of Lubbock announced.

Postmaster Amos H. Howard announced Tuesday that the Lubbock postoffice would be closed Thursday. It has been left up to postmasters as to which of the Thanksgiving holidays their offices would observe and as Lubbock businesses are observing this Thursday as their holiday so will the postoffice, he said.

Reclassification Rules Outlined

Before an agricultural worker can be reclassified, answers to four questions must be given to local boards, Lt. E. E. Benedict of the state selective service headquarters in Austin told a meeting of selective service board and USDA War board members of 19 counties of the Lubbock district Tuesday in Lubbock hotel.

These four questions are: (1) Is registrant necessary to agricultural occupation or endeavor? (2) Is he regularly engaged in agricultural occupation or endeavor? (3) Is the agricultural occupation or endeavor essential to the war effort? (4) Is suitable replacement obtainable?

Boards Determine Case

Lt. Benedict pointed out that USDA War boards are charged with the responsibility of determining what is essential to the war effort. He said further that it is ridiculous to leave a boy on the farm to plant a crop and then take him off before the crop is harvested. "If the boy is absolutely irreplaceable on a farm that is absolutely essential to the war effort, then that boy will be left on the farm. However, there are too many who do not try to get replacements; they wait for the replacements to come to them," he said.

Members of War boards were warned against basing reports on records one or two years old that are on file in their offices. "Get the actual facts," urged Lt. Benedict.

Calls are going to be increased each month, Lt. Benedict predicted, and every available source of manpower for the armed forces will be drained. Even older brackets will likely be called, he said.

Lt. Benedict was introduced by E. R. Davis of Lubock, member of the county USDA War board.

Dismissal Of Libel Suits Asked By Union

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—The AFL Teamsters union and its president, Daniel J. Tobin, today asked dismissal of libel suits seeking a total of $400,000 as an aftermath of the "battle of the Statler."

The suits, filed by Naval Lt. Randolph Dickins, jr., and Lt. Comdr. James H. Suddeth, grew out of an article published in a union magazine, The International Teamster. It was an account of a fight at the Statler the night of President Roosevelt's opening campaign address last Sept. 23.

Employes Who Have Quit Essential Jobs Not Taking Others

DALLAS, Nov. 21 (UP) — The War Manpower commission said today that only 50 per cent of the 18,000 employes who have quit Dallas industry since July have gone through the U. S. Employment Service for referral to other essential jobs. The Dallas area's November-December interregional quota of 1,260 men needed to fill high priority jobs in other sections of the nation is 35 per cent behind, the WMC said.

Hillman Expects PAC To Be Kept Up And Expanded To Rural Areas

By ARTHUR BUNDERSON
United Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO Political Action Committee, said today he expected the PAC to be kept intact and predicted that its activities, heretofore confined mostly to the nation's industrial centers, would be expanded to the rural areas, particularly the midwest.

Hillman, here for the national convention of the CIO, said the PAC, if continued, would stand as "a potent force to mobilize public awareness of the issues before Congress" between elections.

To Be Session Topic

The CIO convention will take up the function of the PAC at its business session this week. Continuation of the PAC already has been recommended by the CIO executive council and the 2,000 delegates meeting here are expected to approve its extension.

Hillman said he expected the PAC "to do its best to see that the program fought for in the election campaign is carried out" and that one of the methods to do that would be to keep the committee active.

Role To Be Expanded

He predicted that the role of the PAC between elections would be to expand into rural America, outside of the areas of industrial control where the committee proved the most effective during the campaign, and that the Midwest would be one of the regions picked for expansion.

Hillman said the region centering in Minneapolis, including the Dakotas, Minnesota and Iowa, would be one of the areas where PAC would continue to be very active.

Is Aid In Minnesota

The Democratic party carried Minnesota, classed as one of the doubtful states in pre-election polls, largely through efforts of the PAC, he said.

A resolution on the PAC advocates its continuation under the auspices of the CIO and will not become a separate entity.

Possibility of divorcing the PAC from the CIO has been suggested since the election. The resolution also says that the PAC shall "service, advise and coordinate the work of the political activities of the CIO in the field."

State Groups Planned

Offices will remain in New York, but may be separated into state organizations that would replace the present regional setup.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the president, was the principal speaker at the opening session of the convention yesterday and said the CIO was to be congratulated "on the work you have done in the election as citizens . . . which proved a real recognition of the seriousness of the times."

Great Battle Won

A great battle has been won, she said, but other great battles still remain and appealed to the CIO to go on educating groups to really think through questions, and "not as labor, but as citizens of the biggest and strongest democracy in the world."

The United States and all the warring nations had lost in young manpower much of the strength "we will wish we had in the future but that it was no longer a question of indirect sorrow, but a weight of human sorrow that enfulfs us all," she said.

The first lady warned against the temptation to let down when peace is declared and added that "we mustn't take a holiday. It would be too dangerous, and the problems that remain to be solved will be too great. This nation must be an example to all."

E. B. Germany Donates Funds For Hospital

GRAND SALINE, Nov. 21. (AP)—Dr. V. B. Cozby, prominent East Texas physician, will have a hospital bearing his name through presentation of funds by E. B. Germany, Dallas oil operator.

The presentation of war bonds with which to erect the first wing of the hospital was made last night at the celebration of the thirteenth birthday of the Grand Saline Lions club which Dr. Cozby helped organize.

Germany, native of Grand Saline, said the institution would be known as Cozby-Germany hospital in honor of the doctor and of Germany's mother, Mrs. J. W. Germany.

Small Farm Must Be Retained—Wickard

DENVER, Nov. 21. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard declared today the family-sized farm "must remain one of the chief foundation stones" of the American way of life after the war, despite the many obstacles that will come with the peace.

One of the most troublesome questions is how to maintain demand in the face of a trend toward higher farm production that started in the 1930's, Wickard said in a speech prepared for the 39th annual convention of the National Farmers union.

Some of the answers suggested by the secretary were full employment, help for low-income families to increase their purchases of farm products through "such means as the school lunch program or some variation of the food stamp plan, price supports, aid in soil conservation work and other phases of the present national farm program."

100 OCTANE GASOLINE won't grow wings on a car

EXPECT NO MIRACLES from your present car if the tank were filled with 100-octane gasoline.

Its motor was engineered specifically for the gasolines which were available at the time you bought your car. To secure the benefits of very high octane fuels, post-war motors will have much higher compression ratios, will be smaller and lighter, and will deliver greatly increased power and extraordinary mileage.

All this will be possible because of the super gasolines to be made available for motorists in the post-war period. And you have every reason to expect that Phillips will be among the first to offer these vastly improved motor fuels soon after victory.

Why? Because Phillips is today one of the nation's five largest producers of 100-octane aviation gasoline. Phillips is also one of the leaders in the war production of butadiene for synthetic rubber.

These achievements are a direct result of Phillips long years of peacetime research to extend the frontiers of knowledge concerning hydrocarbon chemistry. Other accomplishments, which cannot now be told for security reasons, flow from Phillips wartime exploration of the limitless possibilities of chemical production of new and better things from petroleum gases as well as from petroleum.

This is why we say: Every time you see the Phillips 66 Shield, let it remind you that Phillips refineries, in addition to producing gasolines, lubricants, and fuel oils . . . are also gigantic chemical plants pouring out weapons for victory.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

WHEN Johnny misbehaves and Mama gets the spanking that's news, but that's happening in San Francisco. When a child there is charged with juvenile delinquency, the parents are called in and sent to school. The classes offered are informal discussion and question and answer meetings and courses include legal responsibility of the parent, parents' responsibility for recreation and health, relationship of the church to the home, child's emotional life, his school career and the importance of a job for a child, all taught by experts in their fields.

Parents usually come grudgingly at first and then grow to like it so well that many continue to come when no longer needing sentence. Other cities are setting up similar organizations. It may be a solution to one of our most worrisome problems.

WOMAN SMOKERS

A READER proposes that we start a one-woman campaign to urge women and girls to quit smoking so there will be enough tobacco to supply the armed forces overseas. She is concerned because she has read the men in the jungles and on the beaches in the Pacific area and on the continent of Europe are running short of cigarettes or are out of them altogether.

We share her anxiety that soldiers, sailors and marines may be deprived of the pleasure of smoking but disagree that women any sooner than civilian men should be urged to give up the habit. There's nothing personal in it because we never buy cigarettes. It's just that we think grown women have as much right to enjoy a smoke as men do and since most of our friends buy their own and seem pretty generous about sharing them we can't condemn them for it.

FROM this observation point it seems that people smoke because they find the need of a moment of relaxation and they say it relieves the terrific tension of the times. We suppose it's true there are more women smoking today than ever before but, too, there are more women in the war factories and in the business world than ever before too. A number of people, both men and women, are smoking today who didn't smoke before the war and others who are chain cigarette smokers now who used to be moderate about it.

We aren't sure in our own mind what causes this critical shortage. Some say the factory output is less; others say the black market has bought them and others blame men and women and children, and men and women in uniform who buy the cigarettes and hoard them for causing the short measures. Whatever the cause, we don't see why women should be asked to give them up unless it is proved that the smokes left on the shelves are being sent to men overseas. If it came to that crisis, we are sure the smokers would send their allotment and gladly to bring a moment of relaxation and satisfaction to the ones who are really fighting and winning the war for us.

IN THE MAIL

Dear Miss Turner: As I sit at my work, thinking of what a wonderful morning it would be to run over to Esther's for a cup of coffee or what a wonderful afternoon for a foursome, I can't help but wonder what some of our husbands or sons or sweethearts would think of us. I think of the intense heat of the Pacific and its mud that cannot be described and of the cold cutting rain and snows of Europe.

I don't feel that I am a martyr or an example of one doing her patriotic duty for I know there are thousands of women just as I am, some not so fortunate, who are working. I happen to be one of those women who before the war was very contented with a comfortable home, a family of whom I was proud and I enjoyed social standing in the locality where I lived. Yes, I even had HELP all day long. I've given that all up and feel I have done no more than others. But there are many other women who have not given up their husbands or sons or anyone. I am speaking particularly of the women between 30 and 45 years of age who are qualified in a profession or a vocation but who are doing nothing to lend a hand or mind to the cause for which our men are fighting.

You and probably others will think this is resentment because of my fate. It isn't. I am proud of my small contribution to the war effort; I just resent those who place themselves on pedestals. So keep up your appeals to the Red Cross workers, teachers, nurses, secretaries and any other women who can devote time and effort to the war effort.

Thanks for your time and I hope I have contributed a thought to your column which I've read for years.

Sincerely,
A Service Man's Wife.

Amazing results shown in improving the Looks... boosting VITALITY!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach
2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Improper diet, overwork, undue worries, colds, the flu or other illness often impairs the stomach's digestive functions and reduces the red-blood strength.

A person who is operating on only a 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

At such times Nature needs extra help to restore its balance and function properly. Undigested food places a tax on the system...insufficient blood strength is a detriment to good health.

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need!

SSS Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat . . . to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality . . . pep . . . become animated . . . more attractive!

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes. S.S.S. Co.

Nelson Assigned Cabinet Rating

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—President Roosevelt has given cabinet rank to the far-traveling Donald M. Nelson.

The former WPB chairman moved his desk into the White House offices and assumed his duties as "personal representative" to the President before leaving on a second economic mission to China.

A presidential letter informing Nelson of his new status, effective last September 20, was released by the White House today after its import had been disclosed by the Associated Press.

"You will attend cabinet meetings," the letter said, "and are empowered to obtain such assistance as you may require from existing government agencies.

Vast And Difficult Job

"We have a vast and difficult job to do in achieving complete and final victory and in working out the basis of an enduring peace. Your knowledge, experience and abilities can be of great value to me in my work. At the present time, I would like you to advise and assist me in dealing with some of the most important problems now facing the American people, and to undertake specific missions for me. One of these missions, of prime importance, will require your early presence again in the Pacific theater of war."

Nelson arrived in Chungking last week with a group of steel and alcohol experts to assist in revitalizing China's lagging war production.

In accepting Nelson's resignation from WPB after a blow-up among its high officials last summer, President Roosevelt asked the Missouri-born former mail-order house executive to remain in the government for a "high post of major importance" in international economic matters.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FDR Denies He Cursed In Booth

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that he did not take the name of the deity in vain when a voting booth handle failed to work for him on election day.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked at a news conference whether anything "sinister" had come from the polling booth where he cast his ballot at the old town hall in Hyde Park, N. Y.

The facts, the President said, were that an old friend, Tom Leonard, was standing outside the green-curtained booth when he entered, pulled the lever, failed to get a click, had another try, and locked the booth.

So, Mr. Roosevelt said, he called out to Tom that the damn thing won't work.

Short Word Added

Some person—the President said he didn't know who, but he must be awfully deaf—added another short word before the damn, which he said he didn't use.

The President said that he thought for the record, he should tell the story so he would get no more letters from ministerial associations.

In a light vein, Mr. Roosevelt declared he wasn't suggesting that the White House correspondents' association take up the credentials of the reporter involved, but he said the association might pay expenses for a good ear doctor.

AFL Delegates Make Plans For New Year

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21 (AP) — Delegates to the American Federation of Labor's 64th annual convention rolled up their sleeves today to plunge into routine tasks of policy making for another year.

Only speeches scheduled for today were by Paul V. McNutt, War Manpower commissioner, and Edward N. Scheiberling, national commander of the American Legion.

These and yesterday's addresses by AFL President William Green, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, Louisiana Gov. James H. Davis and Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, Army service forces, highlighted the speaking program.

Heaviest committee chores looming for the balance of the two-week convention appeared to be those of the resolutions group which has had referred to it a score or more of resolutions affecting such proposals as labor's representation at peace conferences; inclusion of an undersecretariat of labor, representing organized labor, in the department of state; alterations in social security and labor relations laws; federal and union aid to war veterans; legislation against "racial discrimination"; provision of free hospitalization and medical care for workers and their families.

Nazi Disorders At Cologne Reported

WITH U. S. FORCES In Hurtgen Forest, Germany, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—German prisoners of war said today that disorders broke out recently in Cologne, and the gestapo is hanging civilians there for disobeying official orders.

(Swiss dispatches last week quoted travelers from Germany as reporting that a section of the Cologne inhabitants had come out openly against continuing the war, and 21 persons were hanged publicly in a single day).

Prisoners said they personally had seen evidence of anti-Nazi activity in Cologne. It included a crowd gathered around a billboard depicting Adolf Hitler in contorted caricature and bearing the legend, "wanted by the German people for mass murder."

Nazi police dispersed the crowd before the poster and tore it down, the prisoners said. The

Meeting Scheduled To Set Farm Goals

A meeting of representatives of farm groups and agencies will be held at College Station on Nov. 27 and 28 for the purpose of establishing 1945 crop and livestock production goals for Texas, it was announced Tuesday.

Suggestions drawn up by the War Food administration on the basis of prospective requirements for food and fiber from 1945 production will be presented to the meeting as a guide in fixing next year's goals, he said.

The state meeting has been called at the request of War Food Administrator Marvin Jones who has asked each state to determine its goals in relation to national needs. The sum of the state goals will become the national goal.

WFA representatives will be present to explain the outlook for 1945 requirements and also for such production factors as labor, fertilizer and machinery. Government price support announcements covering each commodity also will be given.

Wells pointed out that AAA committeemen again have been given a major responsibility to work with farmers in attaining the goals. Full participation by other agencies and groups will be needed, he said.

Leaders invited to attend the state meeting include the state AAA committee and representatives of Texas USDA War board and other agricultural leaders.

Jury Says Wilson Must Answer For Slayings

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21. (AP)—A coroner's jury recommended today that Otto S. Wilson be held to answer for the mutilation slayings of Mrs. Virgie Lee Griffin, 26, and Mrs. Lillian Johnson, 38.

The 34-year-old waiter and former janitor stared calmly at the floor as the jury found that Mrs. Griffin died of strangulation and multiple stab wounds and Mrs. Johnson of strangulation.

GINNINGS INCREASED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Census bureau reported today that cotton of this year's growth ginned to Nov. 14 totaled 9,488,233 running bales. The ginnings, excluding linters, compare with 9,929,695 bales to that date a year ago, and 10,676,552 bales two years ago. Economy hints on car care

Your Engine needs tuning for cold weather driving, for easy starting, to avoid stalling, and to compensate for low octane wartime gas. It needs lighter oil, too.

Your Electrical System Battery should be tested and recharged if necessary for cold weather starting. Also clean and tighten cable connections.

Your Cooling System needs flushing. All hose connections should be checked to prevent leaks. Replace hose if necessary. Add anti-freeze.

Your Braking System Adjust brakes so they function equally—for safety, and to save on tire wear. Reline if necessary. Check stop light operation.

Westerners Plan Offense Strategy

The Lubbock Westerners spent Tuesday afternoon mapping the plans for the offensive to be hurled at the Amarillo Sandies Thursday afternoon at Tech stadium as Coaches J. Mule Davis and Dixie White started tapering off for the game.

The club ran through the entire list of plays, and polished up some new ones designed for this game, and turned in early.

The Westerners hope of being in top condition for the Sandie battle was given a big boost Tuesday afternoon with the okay from the doctor that Billy Bob Harris, letterman end, would be in shape to go at full speed against the Sandies.

The team was given a boost in personnel with the assigning of five boys from the Cowhands Black team to the Westerner squad, and will report today to Coaches Davis and White.

Arthur Rampy and Don Austin, backs; Paul Waters, tackle; Dan Burkhalter, guard, and Louis Hawkins, end, were the ones named to step up from the Cowhand squad.

E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic director of Lubbock schools, said Tuesday night that a few tickets still remained in Sections A and U, and would be on sale again this afternoon at the Hilton hotel lobby.

Sky Giants, Ramblers Add New Line Greats

FORT WORTH, Nov. 21 (AP) — The Amarillo Sky Giants and Randolph Ramblers have been strengthened for their game here Sunday by the addition of three linemen, two on the Amarillo squad and one for Randolph.

Staff Sgt. Joe Shroba, former varsity center for Notre Dame, and First Sgt. Mark Kalastro, who played tackle for Arizona State, are working out with the Sky Giants.

Jake Messina, a 170-pound guard who starred at Port Arthur High school and later at Louisiana State university, is the addition to the Ramblers.

Schoolboys Have 29 District Champions

(By The Associated Press)

Twenty-nine of the 84 district champions of Class AA, Class A and Class B in Texas Interscholastic League football have been determined and another big batch of them will be decided this week.

Sunset (Dallas) is the only champion of Class AA to be certified. Fifteen other district titlists are to be determined, more than half of them this week-end.

WINS 14-A TITLE

FORT WORTH, Nov. 21 (AP)—Diamond Hill's Eagles nosed out the Handley Greyhounds 24-21 here Tuesday night to win the District 14-A football title.

In Class A 17 champions are known. They are: 2—Phillips, 5—Littlefield, 6—Denver City, 10—Eastland, 17—Commerce, 19—Mt. Vernon, 20—McLeod, 23—Huntsville, 24—Carthage, 27 — Aldine (Houston), 28 — Pasadena, 32 — Fredericksburg, 33—Brenham, 34—El Campo, 35—Gonzales, 38—Edna, 40—Weslaco.

In Class B champions certified are: 1—Meadow, 2—Lueders, 3—McCamey, 4—Ozona, 6—Eden, 14—Hawkins, 15—Eustace, 18—Troy, 21—Bastrop, 23—Anahuac, 28 — Mirando City.

There are many undefeated, untied teams in the state, four of them—Paschal (Fort Worth), Waco, Goose Creek and Austin in Class AA.

In Class A the top-scoring unit appears to be Ballinger, which has rolled up 327 points in seven games—an average of better than 46 per cent. The only games lost by Ballinger were to Class AA teams. Ballinger plays Winters Friday night for the District 9 championship.

In Class AA the teams play through to a state championship, in Class A to regional titles only and in Class B to bi-district championships.

Cowhands Black Win Over Ropes, 48-12

The Cowhands Black closed out the football season Tuesday afternoon at Chapman field by running wild to beat back a game, battling Ropesville club, 48 to 12.

Arthur Rampy and Don Austin led the touchdown parade, each with two counters, and Austin set up another with a brilliant 45 yard gallop. Craig, Squires and LeMaire scored the other touchdowns.

Rampy turned in the longest run of the game, a 55 yard gallop for a touchdown, and threw a long 30 yard pass to Squires, in the end zone, for another tally.

After the game, members of the team presented Coach George Philbrick with a leather billfold in token of their appreciation for his year's work with them.

Hawaii officially came under States in 1898.

Littlefield Set For Big Battle

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 21. (Special)—This little Lamb county city is going "football crazy" and street corner conversation deals with the bi-district grid battle at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Denver City.

The local butcher, baker and candlestick maker are going around town in a daze, trying to figure out the plays for Thursday's ball game. The Littlefield team, which was the first team in the state to win a district title, brought Littlefield it's first pennant in eight years.

Big Surprise Team

No one here knows how they got that way. A bunch of the kids are still around who helped to win one game and lose seven in 1943. The Wildcats did not play at all in 1942. The kids are not big, and are not fast, and it's still a mystery hereabouts how they keep running up big scores against teams that are supposed to beat them.

In nine games, the Wildcats have amassed 309 points to their opponents 44, an average of 34 points to opponents 5.

The Wildcat scoring has been well scattered between five backs and two ends, and they have no star. Perhaps the greatest scoring punch of the team is the passing combination of Billy Lyman, a back, to Homer Peel, an end, a combination that has worked for one or more touchdowns in each of the nine games.

Other Stars Shine

Oscar Arend, 140 pound halfback, has run wild in some games. Walter Sewell, 170 pound fullback,, has powered his way over for several counters. Junior Graham, 145 pound blocking back, has sneaked over a few points. Eugene Carter, who subs for any position in the backfield, has made his share of the counters. He reached his climax against Tulia, when he intercepted a Tulia pass on his own 20, and squirmed and sidestepped 80 yards for a touchdown.

The Wildcat line features a pair of "watch charm" guards in Gene Pratt and Kenneth Ware, 130 and 140 pounds respectively. Sidney "Mamma" Buell, center, is the big boy of the team at 195. Buster Owens, rangy 150 pound end, catches a pass now and then, and boots extra points. Dal Brandon and Sabin Hendrickson at 156 and 170 respectively, man the tackle positions. The team averages 155.

Coach J. Fikes, coaching his first year in Littlefield, has his charges in fair shape for the bi-district game despite the rugged battle with Tulia last Friday. Kenneth Ware, who injured his back in this game may not be able to play. Sewell, who did not play last week because of a leg injury, will probably be ready.

Red Raiders Set Defense For Saturday's Pony Game

Ways to stop the ground and air attack of the surprising Southern Methodist university Mustangs in their game here Saturday afternoon with the Texas Tech Red Raiders took up most of the time Tuesday afternoon as Coach Dell Morgan mapped the defense for the Raiders.

The Mustangs upset the Arkansas eleven last week with a surprising show of power that has the Red Raiders wondering what they will face in the annual homecoming battle Saturday afternoon.

Coach Morgan has set his sights on winning this game to even the score with Southwest conference teams for the season, as well as making the Saturday outing a huge success for the homecoming Tech exes who will be in the stands.

Morgan also spent some time in polishing the punch of the team on goal line plays, and put the boys through a lengthy session of opening those important holes on the goal line. This weakness is the Red Raider attack was brought vividly into the limelight last week in the New Mexico battle here.

With the team already crippled for the game, Morgan took on no rough work Tuesday, and avoided the chances of additional cripples before the big battle of the season on the home field.

Kenneth Young Leads Pioneers To Victory

Kenneth Young paced the Hunt Pioneers to a 24 to 0 victory over the Guadalupe eleven Tuesday afternoon in a grade school touch football league battle.

Young passed to Bobby Sexton for the first touchdown, caught passes from Wayne Stroud for the second and third scores, then capped off the afternoon by intercepting a pass and running 25 yards for the final score.

Tulsa-Georgia Tech Play In Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 21 (AP) — Once-beaten Georgia Tech and twice-beaten Tulsa, which staged a thrilling football show in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans last New Year's day, will be matched again in the Orange Bowl Jan. 1.

President Van C. Kussrow of the Orange Bowl committee announced the signing of Georgia Tech this afternoon and followed up tonight with confirmation that Tulsa had accepted a bid.

The Engineers whipped Tulsa, 20 to 18, with a last-period touchdown last Jan. 1 in the most exciting battle of the Sugar Bowl series. The classic encounter had a lot to do with the selection of the same two teams for the Orange Bowl, which goes in for color and sensations rather than perfect records.

Georgia Tech has piled up 183 points against 54 in defeating seven out of eight 1944 opponents. The Rambling Wreck lost only to Duke, in a major upset.

Still to be played, however, are games with rebounding Notre Dame and an up-and-coming Georgia team.

Tulsa has lost two high-scoring engagements, to Oklahoma A. and M. and to the Iowa Seahawks, but has scored 270 points against 112.

It will be the third bowl appearance in consecutive years for Georgia Tech and the fourth for Tulsa.

Tech lost to Texas in the Cotton Bowl of 1943. Tulsa defeated Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl game of 1942, then lost to Tennessee in the 1943 Sugar Bowl.

Floydada, Spur Battle Nov. 30

FLOYDADA, Nov. 21 (Special) The District 4-A grid champion will be determined on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 30, when the Floydada Whirlwinds and Spur Bulldogs tangle in Jones stadium in Spur.

The game was originally scheduled for Nov. 23, but was changed to Nov. 30 by agreement of school officials when it was learned that Nov. 30 will be observed generally by schools of the district in setting the Thanksgiving holidays.

Both clubs have reached this final game, undefeated in conference play. The Bulldogs, champions for the past two years, will enter the game with an advantage in weight and experience, and are expected to repeat.

In the season's play, Spur had won five, lost one and tied one while Floydada has won four, lost three and tied one. Each have won over Paducah, Lockney and Matador in conference play.

In the region one playoff lineup, only one champion has been named, this the Phillips club in District 2. Phillips won nine and lost one in the regular season, losing a 13-0 opener to Class AA Pampa, then sweeping nine in a row.

In District 1, Hereford and Friona are tied for the top, each with four wins and one loss, with Tulia in second place with three and one. In District 3, the bi-district foe of the winner between Floydada and Spur, the powerful Wellington Skyrockets are leading the conference with six straight wins, and play Wheeler this week, a team with six straight losses, and the win would clinch the pennant for Coach Al Duncan's 'Rockets.

Charley Schanz, Phillies' freshman pitcher, won ten straight games for the Yakima, Wash., Pippins in 1940.

Dupre Dogies Again Win, Team Is Feted

Dupre Dogies won again Tuesday afternoon in the Lubbock grade school touch football league, and remains undefeated, untied and unscored on by beating the K. Carter Coyotes, 18-0.

The Dogies took the lead in the first quarter when Norman Lindsey rifled a 20 yard pass to Dick Lowrey for the first score. Lindsey passed for 10 yards to Johnny Tatum in the third quarter for another score. In the final period, Lindsey and Lowrey alternated at running the ball down to the one, then Lindsey passed to Lowrey for the final score.

At the half, Captain Johnny Tatum presented Misses Mary Virginia Clark and Johnnie Sue Corcorran, football sweethearts, and Mrs. Mary V. Powers, coach of the team, and each were given a corsage. Tuesday night, they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Corcorran at a banquet.

Central Spurs Win Over Bean Bronchos

The Central Ward Spurs, paced by Don Jones, romped over the Bean Bronchos Tuesday afternoon to win a grade school touch football league game, 16-0.

Jones passed to Kenneth Meals for the first touchdown, and ran over for the second. Gene Bragg tackled Carl Ince behind the goal line for a safety, then Ince was rushed another time by the entire Spur line for another safety.

DALLAS BEATS FT. WORTH

DALLAS, Nov. 21 (AP) — Completing the season for both teams, the Holy Trinity eleven of Dallas defeated St. Mary's school of Fort Worth, 38 to 31, Tuesday afternoon on the Jesuit High gridiron. The game brought together the Catholic elementrary champions of the respective cities.

The principle of the pneumatic tire was invented in 1845.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands: One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Will The "Regulars" Quit

ANNOUNCEMENT that the Texas Regulars party will not be shelved or disbanded, but, instead, "will be continued in the future," may be taken, we think, with something more than a grain of salt.

Despite the fact that there are some grounds for the claim that the Regulars did well in polling more than 100,000 votes over a brief period of weeks preceding the November 7 election, it is not likely that the group can be held together—much less strengthened and expanded—without a "cause celebre."

Organized solely as a protest against a Fourth Term for President Roosevelt, the Regulars have nothing more to work for at this time and therefore must dig up other political goals toward which to strive at least until 1948. Conceivably, there may be issues around which the group may rally in 1946, when another state and congressional election rolls around, but between now and then there seems no standard, politically speaking, for the Regulars to rally around.

For our part, we can see many good reasons why Texas would be better off as a biparty state, rather than continue as a uniparty state.

We have said before, and we say again, that Texans would profit in many ways if the two major parties were nip-and-tuck, rather than as they are today and have been—with the sole exception of 1928—for two generations.

But we do not see where the state can be benefitted by a third party, which at best cannot become important outside Texas' borders, and which likely cannot become anything more in state circles than a protest group.

Perhaps in the future the two major political parties of the nation will be revamped and renamed—we might add "correctly named"—as "liberal" and "conservative." If that ever happens, the Texas Regulars will "have some place to go," along with many persons who voted "straight" on November 7 because of the party label involved.

But to say the Texas Regulars, as they stood in the last campaign and as they continue to stand, have any sort of a political future in this state is rash, indeed.

And because there is scant likelihood of the Regulars being able to permanently build and grow, our guess is the announcement of a few leaders that the group "will be continued" is purely a face-saving proposition on their part.

We don't believe it will be continued because we don't think it can be.

A Young Man—A Big Job

A 34-year old preacher by the name of W. A. Criswell has been thrust into a "make-or-break" position and it will be interesting to watch how he comes along.

The Rev. Dr. Criswell, for past several years engaged in the pastorate of the First Baptist church of Muskogee, Okla., has been selected by First Baptist church of Dallas to succeed the late, great Rev. Dr. George W. Truett. As Texans familiar with church matters know, the task of taking Doctor Truett's place is a tremendous one. In fact, most Baptists agree that no man can take Doctor Truett's place in the exact meaning of the phrase—at least until the years prove his merit.

George Truett was not alone the long-time pastor of the largest Baptist church in the United States. In addition, he had national and world renown and he touched more lives for good than any other preacher in the history of Texas. Professionally, he was a celebrated clergyman; personally he was an outstanding Christian. That he also was a master of church organization is attested to by the fact that he served a term as the head of the world Baptist organization.

Especially in Baptist circles, and particularly among the preachers of that denomination, there was much speculation regarding the man who would be selected as Doctor Truett's successor. When Doctor Criswell was chosen it meant that the Dallas church had decided to call a well trained and highly promising young man, likely with many active years ahead of him, rather than an older man already proven, but with a span of service likely to be relatively short. The church's decision undoubtedly was affected by the fact that it chose Doctor Truett as a young man and that the choice was a remarkably good one was borne out by time.

Texans of all denominations will wish Doctor Criswell well in the monumental task for which he has been chosen. They will give the new Dallas pastor time to prove his worth and will be slow to compare him with his illustrious predecessor. Reared in Northwest Texas, ordained and licensed while a member of Amarillo's First Baptist church, young Doctor Criswell carries not only a great honor, but an awesome responsibility, as well. From the officials of his church, and from the public, too, he should be given every opportunity to succeed.

Don't worry unduly over the fate of civilization. It has more lives than a cat. Eleven layers of civilization have been found in one excavation in Mesopotamia.

You Gotta Think Quick

THE STORY: Virgil Boggio, big-time racketeer, needs legal advice from Leo Kabateck. This necessitates his telling Kabateck the inside story of his vast enterprises. Kabateck is dismayed at their extent, which includes murder, but can't back out since Boggio holds an incriminating paper with his signature. He is to discuss fees with Boggio the next day.

IV

"You're nuts," said Boggio the next day. "For that price I could practically get the Supreme Court."

"All right," I said. "Go ahead and get it." I rose from my chair and reached for my hat, but Boggio glared at me.

"Sit down!" he barked. It was his turn to get up and start pacing back and forth, nervously clasping his hands behind his back.

"Now before we go any further," he continued, "let's make one thing clear. You're plenty smart, but so are some other young fellows. You're not the only one with brains."

This was a change of tactics.

"Look, Virgil," I said, "I'd be a fool to tell you my brains were unique in this world even if I thought so. But I'd also be a fool if I believed that someone else could step into my shoes just like that."

This remark wasn't to Boggio's liking. He reached for the phone and dialed a number. I hadn't expected anything like that, so all I could do was sit there and look at him. He didn't take any notice of me. After a moment the call went through.

"Hello," said Boggio, "I want to talk to Tony."

There was a short pause during which he glanced at me, then he turned back to the phone.

I knew Tony by name although I'd never met him. He was one of Boggio's minor satellites and apparently he'd been trying to sell some lawyer friend of his by the name of Craig. Boggio now wanted an appointment made. While he continued talking I did some quick thinking.

Boggio hung up and turned back to me. He didn't say anything; neither did I. We each waited for the other to make the first move. Finally I did. I reached for my hat and stood up. I put out my hand.

"No hard feelings, Boggio."

"No," he said. "But you're a damned fool."

I started towards the door and I could see him staring at me just as plainly as if I had eyes in the back of my head. I expected him to stop me any moment but he didn't.

I opened the door and still Boggio didn't say anything.

I walked out, closed the door behind me and breathed deeply. There was still time to turn back and tell Boggio I'd come to his terms, but I knew I'd be sunk. After that little session he'd make me look so small that I'd merely be another stooge.

I started walking down the hall and then all of a sudden decided I couldn't throw away everything just like that. I'd bluffed and lost. There was nothing else for me to do. I stopped and was about to turn back when I heard the door open.

"Leo" said Boggio, "I want to have another word with you."

There was nothing wrong with the way my brain was functioning now. So I made a couple of concessions as a sop to Boggio's pride, but still stuck to my basic demands.

"D'you want the agreement in writing?" he asked.

"I think it'll be more business-like," I said.

The wording of the contract was naturally left to me. "But write it so I can understand it," Boggio asked.

It was a comforting little document when I got through with it. It stated that on this sixth day of May, nineteen hundred and thirty-eight, an agreement had been made between Virgil Boggio, businessman, on one hand, and Leo Kabateck, attorney-at-law, on the other hand. In return for legal advice to the Boggio enterprises, Kabateck was to receive remuneration as follows: 1) a flat sum of five thousand dollars for past services, payable immediately; 2) a monthly retainer of one thousand dollars; 3) a five per cent interest in Boggio's net profits. The contract was to run for an initial period of three years, and thereafter options on Kabateck's future services could be picked up with specified increases in salary.

After we'd both signed, Boggio wrote out a check and handed it to me. I guess I was unable to control myself that time, and the look on my face must have made him sore.

"Satisfied?" he asked.

"Sure," I answered.

"There's just one thing," he said.

"What is it?"

"Leo, my young friend, you're plenty smart. We already agreed on that. But I'm no dope either. You think you put one over on me, don't you? Well take a look at this."

He pulled a slip of paper from his pocket and handed it to me. There were figures on it.

"You will notice," he continued, "that our agreement is pretty close to what I'd written here, with the exception of the 5 per cent interest. I was prepared to give you 10 per cent."

It must have been worth a lot to him to see my face fall. I didn't say anything for a moment, and then stuck out my hand.

"I have to hand it to you, Virgil," I said.

I went down that hallway again walking on air. This was the biggest triumph of my life. He hadn't fooled me with that slip of paper. He had scribbled those figures after I'd made my first exit. I could tell because he had used my pencil which I'd forgotten on the table in the excitement of my departure. When a fellow's really smart he notices little things like that.

South Is In Line For Post-War Projects

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The South is in line for $600,000,000 in post-war waterways, canals, harbors, dams and whatnot.

They're stored up in two big grab bags—a billion-dollar flood control bill, under scrutiny today on the Senate floor, and a half-billion dollar river and harbors bill, waiting for its turn.

If the flood control proposal comes through intact, $370,715,400 will go to harness rivers in the Southern states from Virginia to Texas.

The South's $261,615,080 share of the rivers and harbors bill includes the two most costly projects—the $66,000,000 Tennessee-Tombigbee and $60,000,000 Alabama-Coosa waterways.

Among big Southern projects in the rivers and harbors bill: Neches and Angelina rivers, Texas, $28,000,000, and Trinity river and tributaries, $15,000,000.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

THERE'S so much talk in the papers again about the shortage of turkey for Thanksgiving.

But why must it be turkey?

What is there so wonderful about turkey?

Oh, I know, it's a tradition which originated with the early settlers who found the wild turkey so abundant that anyone could shoot one almost out of his window.

But I think there is much more succulent food than turkey. Most of it is dry and tough. The other fellow always gets the part you like and you get what is left. (At least I always did and usually still do because the guests come first and I, the host, have to be polite.)

Now, please don't sit down and write me that I'm all wrong and have no respect for tradition.

You have your turkey if you like it. I only hope that my wife will give me roast beef or a juicy steak.

Which brings me to another point.

Last week we had corned beef—and what an effort it was to get it.

When my wife told me that she had stalked the brisket I asked her to have creamed corn with it.

"What!" she exclaimed in disgust, "corn with corned beef? Cabbage goes with corned beef. Every child knows that."

Why, I ask you does cabbage go with corned beef? Why does spinach go with tongue? Why bacon with eggs? Why must peas always be served with chicken, mint jelly with lamb, country sausage with griddle cakes, candied sweets with baked ham, apple sauce with roast pork?

I'll tell you way: Tradition.

And tradition is usually nothing but standardization.

Why can't I have cauliflower with my tongue And who ever said that pork sausage all gooed up with molasses make the griddle cakes any better?

How I hate those little embroidered guest towels that I know darn well I'm not supposed to use and that just scream at you "Don't touch me."

How I hate those vile little dried-up sandwiches at cocktail parties, or afternoon teas (if you object to cocktails.)

How I despise those suburban homes with their little evergreens set up in mathematical array, just like little boys or girls all dressed up in their Sunday clothes.

WHY don't we get some individuality into our lives?

Why must all women who can afford it, wear Persian lamb coats this year and why do all men turn down the brim of their hats at exactly the same angle and in exactly the same place?

During the recent political campaign there was much talk about the American people being regimented.

Don't you think that we are being regimented because we are ready subjects for it?

Else why have turkey for Thanksgiving if you want pork or crimson fingernails when they look like . . . ?

"I'm going to have creamed corn with my corned beef—or my wife will know the reason why not.

The News Behind The News

Ray Tucker is on vacation. During his absence, Winning The War by Albert Leman will be written in Washington.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE RECENT glowing accounts of the hitting of 14 enemy ships in the Manila area, along with brief predictions of the trap we set for Jap soldiers in the bloody Ormoc corridor, is the rosy side of the Pacific picture.

It is common knowledge among naval and military men in Washington and elsewhere that we have a much tougher and lengthier job on our hands in the Philippines than we anticipated.

The success stories—even the most insignificant—are cabled to America. The unfavorable reports of bad guessing, unexpected weather changes, logistic headaches and unfortunate breaks and blunders are pigeonholed.

It might be a sensible move to call home the advertising copy writers and press agents who clutter headquarters, from Pearl Harbor to Leyte, and to depend on dull, factual official communiques and bona fide newspaper correspondents.

Then the public could draw its own conclusions without prompting from former movie script writers who think Americans are so immature that they must be nurtured on typical motion picture scenarios with happy endings.

LOSSES: As soon as our troops were in Leyte it was announced that the Philippines had been cut in half and that the Japanese could not reinforce their surprised garrisons with soldiers from Luzon or Mindanao.

Yet every day they have been landing men. Military observers admit that at this moment there are more enemy fighters on Leyte than on the day we went ashore.

In fact, the contest appears to be developing into a Guadalcanal on a much larger scale, with heavier losses on both sides than in that furious and prolonged historic combat. We have the manpower and the materiel to stand the strain. So far as is known here, we are not in danger of being cut off. In the end we shall undoubtedly have another great victory to our credit—but at higher cost than was expected by either the correspondents or the generals.

MANILA: There is some doubt as to whether the Nipponese have 60,000 men on the island, as some estimate. No one has taken a census of the jungle-hidden foe.

But realistic military analysts also scoff at the reports published at the time of our initial attack that General MacArthur had with him approximately 250,000 men. Were this true, the current slow progress would be to our discredit, for a quarter-million Americans should have mopped up the "handful of demoralized Japs" who were said to have been caught in a pocket.

The truth is that our brave lads are doing a fine job against all sorts of odds. Yamashita is constantly strengthening his lines with fresh troops moved in at night from barges. Often we break up the maneuver and kill masses of soldiers—almost like fish in a barrel. But still they come. Tokyo doesn't seem to care how many of its men are slaughtered so long as it can stave off MacArthur's drive

The enemy is now using small transports of about 5,000 tons. This means that probably his reforcements are coming from some of the lesser, distant islands or even from Formosa. He may be holding his defenses on Mindanao and Luzon intact—not touching them at all—so they will be ready in full strength when we invade the Manila region.

It is impossible with even our great air and naval forces to blockade the Philippine archipelago thoroughly. Some ships can always slip through the cordon in darkness or in storms. But one reassuring point is that the Japs are debarking only infantrymen and small arms—rifles, machine guns etc. They haven't yet put tanks and heavy artillery on the beaches. But we have in use all kinds of massive armor. Our striking power will be greater when airfields are repaired or built for bombing planes.

MISJUDGED: Our aviators have chalked up amazing records in the skies. But some of their reports on ships sunk by them are taken with a grain of salt by the higher-ups—although the accounts are allowed to reach the cables, perhaps to dishearten the Japs. Even long experienced fliers have difficulty in identifying vessels and determining what has happened several thousand feet beneath them, especially in murky weather. And all of our boys aren't veterans yet.

As an instance, one pilot communicated to his superiors that he had sighted a Jap aircraft carrier that was loaded with planes and was being towed by a cruiser, with another cruiser acting as escort. Headquarters rushed bombers and surface craft for the kill. They scoured the seas without locating the quarry.

Finally the mystery was solved. An old hand at flying discovered the marine force which the boy had sighted. It was a small tug towing a barge piled with oil drums. Another tug was headed in the same direction. The excited beginner had spotted them from a great height and, without the slightest intention of giving false information, had relayed his misjudgment of the situation.

As Nip flat tops of all lengths look somewhat alike from on high, the size of a ship is often miscalculated even by experienced birdmen. Nevertheless, we are sinking so many destroyers that Hirohito's fleet-in-being is thrown off balance and he is having trouble providing warships to protect his merchant vessels and transports.

ENGLISH: The Japs are a fifth-rate power in steel production and in military potential. Compared with our equipment, theirs is very poor and limited.

But their men aren't so dumb as our propaganda paints them. There is scarcely any illiteracy in the enemy army. A large percentage of their Nips' ordinary enlisted men have a smattering of English, learned in high school—a knowledge which aids hostile patrols who eavesdrop on conversations within our lines.

WASHINGTON
By James D. White

A MAN left for Chungking the other day on a new kind of mission. Upon its success may depend the welfare of every American who goes to China after the war.

He is Milton J. Helmick, judge of the United States court in Shanghai until Pearl Harbor. The State Department said he will survey the Chinese legal system.

Judge Helmick is a sandy-haired man in his fifties who looks vaguely like the late Irvin S. Cobb. He is a quiet, friendly citizen who gets along with the Chinese. He probably knows more about the wide gap which separates Chinese laws from our own legal practice than any other American.

The Chinese want to buy great quantities of machinery and heavy industrial goods from us after the war. We shall have to send a lot of technical people along with the machines, so there well may be more Americans in China after the war than ever before. Most missionaries and teachers and businessmen want to go back.

TODAY, if an American soldier in China accidentally hits a Chinese with his jeep, the matter is settled through his own military authorities. But after the war an American civilian getting into a similar scrape may find himself facing a lawsuit in a Chinese court.

When Judge Helmick was on the bench in Shanghi, Americans in China were subject to the authority of his court, not to those of the Chinese. This was because America, like many other foreign nations, enjoyed "extra-territorial" rights in China which exempted them from Chinese law.

The Chinese always claimed this situation was an infringement upon their sovereignty as a nation, and in 1943 this country and others recognized this claim by signing a treaty with China which abolished the whole extra-territorial system. Thus Americans in China are now subject to Chinese law and will be henceforth.

Postwar Prosperity Will Depend On Reconversion

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Writer

AS Americans and British and Russians, from all sides, invade the "sacred soil" of the Reich, there is an almost hectic surge of interest, here at home, in the postwar problems that we have neglected so long.

The war worker wonders what will happen to him. He reads that, as soon as Germany capitulates, production of armament and munitions is going to be cut back at least 40 per cent. That means, according to the best estimates, that between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 of war contracts will be cancelled, and work on them will stop. It means, say acting chairman J. A. Krug of the WPB, that around four million man and women will be thrown out of work.

The consumer, with more ready money than he or she ever before possessed, wants some of the conveniences and luxuries that haven't been buyable of late. He wants a new automobile, or at least some new tires and a lot of gasoline for the old jalopy. He wants a new radio, an electric refrigerator, a toaster, a washing machine. There are repairs to be made to the house, electricity to be put into the summer shack, an oil burner for the furnace.

NEED QUICK SOLUTION

WHAT is anybody doing to arrange so that the four million workers who won't be needed on war production can begin to make the consumer goods that 135 millions want and, in some instances, really need?

The problem is pressing. Its quick solution means a lot more than whether four million war workers shall take a little vacation without pay, living off accumulated savings, while consumers wait a little longer for things they want to buy.

If reconversion—the liquidation of war industry and the revival of civilian goods production — is accomplished fast and smoothly, the United States may embark on an economic boom that will surpass anything in world history. Such a bloom might, indeed, become so terrific that it would create new dangers all its own—but that is another story.

On the other hand, if reconversion is too slow, this country might easily find itself back in the depths of the same depression that began in 1929 and ended only because of the artificial stimulation created by war production.

A little money, spent, multiplies itself many times in passing from hand to hand. It creates employment, earning power, spending ability everywhere it goes, in a beneficent spiral.

Reconversion to civilian goods has already been begun by some plants devoted entirely to war production until recently. Prompt, efficient reconversion is essential to post-war prosperity.

SAVINGS ESSENTIAL

IF reconversion can start producing consumer goods while the mass of Americans still have their war savings reasonably intact, then those savings will go to workers who in turn will spend them to make jobs for other workers almost ad infinitum.

On such working and spending the prosperity that disappeared 15 years ago can be recreated, bigger, better and healthier than before. But if reconversion is delayed so long that war savings must be spent for eking out an existence, while unemployed workers wait for new jobs in civilian production, there will me none of the savings left to pay for automobiles, washing machines, oil burners, new homes. In that event, this sound, natural type of economic pump priming can't take place.

Everybody has a vast stake in prompt, intelligent reconversion the moment Hitler's collapse permits. Business has such a stake, because no profits can be earned until goods are produced to be sold. Labor has such a stake, because no wages can be earned until jobs are available. Government has such a stake, because a discontented electorate usually "throws the rascals out."

Nazis In South Facing Pocket

the German border west of Saarbrucken.

On the American Seventh Army front, field dispatches said the Germans were abandoning much equipment as they fled towards Strasbourg.

New Division In Action

Another new Seventh Army division, the 100th Infantry, crossed the Muerthe river and advanced more than two miles in the Raon-La-Etape area, while the Third Infantry also crossed that stream and captured La Voivre and Hubache, north of St. Die. The 36th division operating south of St. Die, advanced two and one-half miles, taking Clefcy at the mouth of Bonhomme pass and sending patrols eastward several miles through the pass.

The French First Army, besides its great drive up to Mulhouse and possibly beyond, which was announced proudly by General de Gaulle, cleared a large area northwest of Belfort and pushed on north four miles to Giromagny and Vescemont.

Despite bad weather all along the fronts, the Allied tactical air forces were cut in moderate numbers supporting the ground attack.

Mediums Batter Area

American mediums bombed the fortified villages of Echtz, Derichsweiler and Gergstein just west of Duren as well as the Rhine rail bridges of Sinzig and Neuweid.

Flounidering forward through a steady rain and deep mud, Lt. Gen. Courtney Hodges' First Army completed the clearing of Stolberg, five miles east of Aachen; fought its way deeper into the heavily-mined city of Eschweiler, seven miles northeast of Aachen; cleared the village of Rohe, just west of Eschweiler, and pushed into Hehlrath, a village a mile northwest of Eschweiler.

Fighting was raging from house to house in Hehlrath and Hodges' doughboys beat off a determined Nazi counterattack near Heistern, southeast of Eschweiler.

Ninth Advances

Lt. Gen. William Simpson's Ninth Army troops, who repulsed a counterattack by from 20 to 30 German tanks yesterday near Schleiden, four miles north of Eschweiler, slugged their way 1,500 yards nearer the Roer southeast of Geilenkirchenn today, clearing the towns of Gereonsweiler, Freialdhoven, Aldenhoven, Niedermertz and Ungershaugen.

(Hodges' troops drove more than a half-mile beyond the village of Heistern, three miles southeast of Eschweiler, while the Nazis fought bitterly to keep their defenses from crumbling beforc the powerful assault of the First Army, a front dispatch said, adding that the fighting was hardest in woods southeast of Eschweilder.

(Capt. Ludwig Sertorious, German military commentator, said the Nazis probably would withdraw from the Eschweiler area and implied that they had not yet committed the bulk of their forces on that sector.)

British Near Wurm

Northeast of Geilenkirchen, 10 miles north of Aachen, British troops drove through strongly defended Seigfried line positions almost to the outskirts of Wurm, three and a half miles from Geilenkirchen, after beating off two German counterattacks.

Other British outfits, picking their way through a maze of mines and slush in southeastern Holland, beat forward within five and a half miles of the German Maas river bastion of Venlo and moved steadily forward on a seven-mile front.

B-29's Lash Japs

to take care of themselves against fighter-interceptors.

Consequently, military men here have looked forward expectantly to the first occasion when the Japanese would throw heavy fighter opposition against them.

Hidden By Clouds

As was the case on Nov. 11, the B-29's found Omura hidden by clouds which prevented observation of the results from bombs loosed at targets located by secret precision instruments.

It was because of this weather that part of the force was diverted to Nanking and Shanghai. Over the Chinese cities the weather was better and two direct hits on warehouses and near misses off a cargo vessel were observed at Nanking. The communique said results were "fair to good" in the attack on military storage and transhipment facilities at the big port of Shanghai

SELECTED STOCKS IMPROVE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP) — The stock market's recovery move was extended selectively today in one of the best average advances for more than two months with rails and industrials adding fractions to a point or so, on expanded volume.

The day's rise was accomplished in the face of considerable Wall Street attention devoted to the war loan drive. Individual issues were propped by cheering dividends and earnings. Sentiment, as a whole, seemed buoyed by the good battle news from the Western front.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .4 of a point at 55.2 second best comeback since Sept. 15. Of 888 issues registering, 524 were up, 150 down and 214 unchanged.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Favorable war news unsettled the cotton futures market today and prices reached new lows for the day on the close, off 35 to 45 cents a bale.

Hedging pressure was lighter, in line with a slump in sales of spot cotton at the primary markets Monday. Offerings met only scale down mill buying.

Bureau of census reported heavy ginnings of 1,206,662 bales for the first half of November which were 339,000 bales larger than in the same period a year ago.

Ginnings through November 14th were 9,488,223 bales.

Battles On Leyte

on the slopes which they occupied ten days ago.

There were indications that the use of the entire First Japanese division was intended as a major counter-attack to retake American positions on the north coast of Leyte. The American movement south along the highway to Limon, with greater speed and greater forces in concentrated areas, appears now to have broken up this Japanese plan through occupation of all strategic positions in the north except Limon itself. Nevertheless, some Japanese units have filtered through weak or unoccupied points in the American line. Some succeeded in cutting across American rear communication lines and in staging hit and run raids against command posts.

Enemy Group Surrounded

Associated Press correspondent Elmont Waite reported that one of several small Japanese parties succeeded Monday in throwing a machine gun - commanded bloc across the American arterial supply road between Carigara and Pinamopoan. American light tanks and infantry, however, pushed the enemy off the road and surrounded them on a beach Monday night. Today they were being methodically destroyed.

None of the Japanese sorties has stopped American supply lines for long; but they have added to the difficulties, which have mounted as country roads virtually disintegrated under the force of torrential rains.

have been I was, walking calmly down the street and making plans for the future.

The communique added that the American 96th division crushed an isolated enemy strongpoint west of Dagami in another facet of the many-phased envelopment movement against the Ormoc Japanese forces.

The Seventh division, on the south end of the American line, which draws a huge semi-circle around the town, repulsed another enemy counterattack, the fourth within about 10 days.

Heavies Take Up Fight

In the air, American heavy bombers were brought into service for the first time from local bases on Leyte. The big bombers —presumably liberators — were staging through the Leyte bases, that is, landing there to refuel before going over the enemy sector of the island and possibly landing on the local fields again on their way back to their main bases to the southeast.

Japanese aircraft made another attempt to raid American positions and lost six planes in the effort. American air patrols were credited with the victories.

Three At Scene Of Wreck Struck Down By Hit-Run Driver

A hit-and-run car struck down three persons as they stood on the the highway observing the results of a truck and car accident about three miles west of Ralls Tuesday night in which two persons were injured.

The first mishap occurred when a car driven by "Uncle" Billy Smith, aged Ralls man, and a truck driven by Buck Squyres of Crosbyton sideswiped as they traveled in opposite directions.

Neither Smith or Squyres was considered injured seriously, although great damage was done to Smith's car. Both suffered innumerable bruises and cuts.

Injured by the hit-and-run driver's car were Charles Spence of Floydada, Bobby Reece, 13, of Ralls and a Mr. Tidwell of the Robertson community in southwest Crosby county. Highway Patrolman Tom Laws said Spence, about 56, probably was the most severely injured of the three. He was in a Floydada hospital with a serious head injury. Reece and Tidwell received emergency treatment at Ralls and Crosbyton for minor injuries.

The hit-and-run car was believed either a Ford or Chevrolet of dark color.

Patrolman Laws was assisted in the investigation by Sheriff Roy Hillin of Crosby county and Rangers Raymond Waters and Norvell Redwine of Lubbock.

Production Plea

France, but that Adolf Hitler and his Gestapo had managed to maintain their pistol-in-the-back control of the Reich and that the war had become a fight to the death for the German people.

"To get peace we've got to fight like hell for it," Eisenhower told a press conference. "Now let's do it."

From Tour Of Fronts

Returning from a tour that took him to all sectors of the front, Eisenhower said with quiet determination that the great power of Allied armies had been thrown into the present campaign to force Germany to surrender or be destroyed. His plan, he said, was to hammer the Germans with increasing force until the highest pressure was reached on the day they finally surrendered.

"Unless everyone all the way through the nation—those at the front and those at home—keeps on the job everlastingly and with mounting intensity, we are only postponing the day of victory," he asserted.

For this last great effort, he said, he wanted and was confident that he would get, more men and —most of all—more supplies.

"I want more supplies than we are getting and I think the soldier wants more than he is getting, both now and in the future," the general stated.

Intends No Criticism

He made plain that he intended no criticism of previous or present home front efforts but was simply making a forthright appraisal of the needs of the intensifying Allied effort.

"There is a job here for every man fit for battle that we can bring in, and it's up to every man back home to give him everything he needs—that is my prescription for victory," Eisenhower said.

While he declined even to make a guess as to how soon victory would come, he said that even the Nazis were human enough to break under sufficient pressure and in the face of enough defeats and that it was his intention to run the pressure up to that point without a single lull from now on.

"I am optimistic, myself," he said, but added with a chuckle, "I do hope to prevent myself from becoming complacent."

Motor trucks for the Army are built to climb 65 per cent grades, slopes so steep that men cannot climb them on foot.

Last Effective Nazi Invader Is Driven Out As French Plunge On

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The last Nazi invaders of French soil except those hopelessly—and uselessly—imprisoned in besieged west coast ports are being swiftly driven out by French and American troops.

Outflanked by the French breakthrough to the Rhine via the Belfort gap, the position of all enemy forces still in the Alsace-Lorraine triangle between the borders of Luxembourg and Switzerland is fast becoming critical. Their retreat to the Rhine could become a distastrous rout as three Allied armies drive ahead.

Behind the fighting fronts, German air waves hummed with unusually pessimistic analyses by Nazi military commentators. They seemed to be preparing the German home front for further bad news from the west, pointing out the obvious fact that the Allied six-Army attack along the 400-mile active front has still to reach its full tide.

General Eisenhower, Allied generalissimo, confirmed that view upon his return from a personal survey of the battle lines. His directives to his generals called for ever increasing pressure until the enemy breaks. And while he would make no estimate of when that point would be reached, he was obviously hopeful that it might not take very long.

Nazi broadcasters themselves set Christmas the contemplated Allied deadline for finishing off all organized resistance in the west. They pleaded for a stand-and-die, house by house fight to prevent a major breakthrough into Germany, but very clearly visualized the Rhine itself as the last ditch defense front.

That, more than Nazi admission of the critical possibilities of the breakthrough to the Rhine in the south, indicates expectation in Berlin of a retreat behind the Rhine in the north. First word of evacuation of the Eschweiler salient in the Aachen sector on the road to Cologne came from the foe. It marks another step toward abandonment of the whole west Rhine triangle.

Allied advances measured in yards in that area means as much in a tactical or strategic sense as mile gains elsewhere on the front. Nazi analysts make no secret of their belief that it is in the north against the Aachen-Arnhem line that the heaviest Allied blows are yet to be struck.
